STORM Florida Has High Tides, Heavy Rain

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Tropical storm Debbie, a blustery disturbance with little wind punch, pummeled the Florida panhandle with rains and high tides today. Some flooding was threatened.

Boasting peak winds of 50 miles an hour, the center of the "poorly organized" storm was expected to move inland in this area this morning.

Debbie created little stir along the Gulf Coast resort stretch struck 19 days ago by Hurricane Betsy, which left 84 dead and more than $1 billion in damages in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau in an advisory at 6 a. m. EDT located Debbie's ill-defined center near latitude 29.0, longitude 88.5, or about 115 miles south southwest of Mobile, Ala.

The storm was practically stationary and the advisory said it was expected to remain stationary with indications it will weaken slowly for the next six to 12 hours. Most warnings will probably be lowered later today, the advisory added.

The weather bureau warned, however, of tides of from two to four feet from the Mississippi Sound to Apalachee Bay with squalls near the coast from the mouth of the Mississippi river to Apalachicola, Fla. A few squalls will move inland, the weather bureau said.

Indian Defense Panel Reports More Fighting

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Indian Defense Ministry said today fighting continues in the Sind Desert but reported 1,000 Pakistani infiltrators were withdrawing from Kashmir. It said they were burning bridges and houses as they left.

The ministry also accused Pakistan of "loosing what it called 'bad characters' to loot Indian villages in the Khem-Karan sector of the Lahore front in areas still under Pakistan control.

India said 27 Pakistani Rangers were killed and 26 captured in two separate clashes centered on three villages in Rajasthan State which is the Sind Desert area 600 miles south of Lahore.

India said the Pakistani infiltrators in Kashmir were returning home because they had become demoralized but said about 3,000 of the original "infiltrators" remained in Kashmir.

The United Nations truce commander meanwhile flew to the battlefield to try to preserve the shaky cease-fire. Pakistan has threatened what it called positive measures against alleged truce violations by India.

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro, in a sudden change of policy, said Tuesday night that all Cubans opposed to the Communist regime can be ferried to the United States by boat if the U.S. government agrees.

His surprise announcement raised the prospect of a new mass exodus of thousands of Cubans into Florida aboard small boats with joint permission of Cuba and the United States.

Speaking in Havana's Revolutionary Square, Castro unveiled his plan and said:

"Now it's up to the imperialists, the United States. Let's see what they do now."

Anti-Castro Cubans could leave the island in boats ferried over from the United States or in fishing boats to be provided by the Castro regime, the bearded premier said.

The tiny river port of Camarioca, near the beach resort of Varadero on the northern coast of Matanzas, would be designated as the embarkation and pick-up center, Castro said.

Boats making pick ups would have a 48-hour period to complete them, he added.

"We are not going to force people to like our revolution and our socialism, nor do we have any reason to do so," Castro told a rally of his CDR neighborhood spy organization marking its anniversary.

Cuban exiles, excited by Castro's proposal, awaited indications of State Department reaction.

The Cuban premier made a second surprise announcement, promising that "in a few days" he would clear up the mystery surrounding industry premier Ernest Che Guevara who disappeared from public life six months ago following his return from a tour of Africa.

He said he will make public "documents from Guevara" which will explain his disappearance, but he gave no indication what the document contains or where Guevara is now.

VOLCANO Death Toll Now 300; More Seen

TANAUAN, The Philippines (UPI)—The murky waters of the lake surrounding Taal volcano today gave up the remains of 300 Filipinos who perished in a holocaust that entombed hundreds more under a thick blanket of superhot lava and mud.

The lucky ones who escaped said they thought it was the end of the world. Survivors, many of them badly burned, told terrifying stories of watching loved ones die in the volcanic fury.

It was impossible to tell more than 36 hours after the long dormant mountain exploded, how many died in the gigantic eruption which seared trees 10 miles away. Authorities estimated that as many as 6,000 Filipinos lived and farmed around the base of the volcano.

The known death toll of 300 was confirmed by the Philippine National Police.

Rescue teams reached volcano island by boat today, but attempts to find bodies were hampered by up to 50 feet of thick mud which covered more than half of the disaster area. There was no sign of life.

August Costs Lowest In Three Years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Living costs fell more in August than they have in any month for nearly three years because of lower food prices, the government reported today.

The labor department said the consumer price index declined by two-tenths of 1 per cent last month to reach 110 per cent of average 1957-59 prices.

It was the first downward turn in the index in a year and the biggest monthly drop since December 1962.

LBJ Signs $21-Million Bill for Arts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson signed into law today a bill that could provide up to $21 million a year to aid the arts in the United States.

At a White House ceremony, the President shifted the attention of the Great Society from the bread and butter issues to concern for scholarship and artistic creation.

The bill cleared the way for millions of dollars in federal funds to be used for support of the creative and performing arts and the humanities.

The bill, establishing a national foundation on the arts and humanities, represented the first federal excursion into support of the arts since the 1930's, when the government

Warning to Red Cross Implies Death If Guilty

GENEVA (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam told the International Red Cross today American pilots taken prisoner will be tried as war criminals. The implication was they would be executed if found guilty.

Hanoi, in a letter to Red Cross accused the United States of "deliberately bombing hospitals, schools, villages etc." It did not openly threaten to execute captured fliers but the implication was clear in the warning, the second in two days.

The letter said Hanoi "considers in consequence that enemy pilots taken prisoners are war criminals liable to go before tribunals, but assures that they will be treated well."

The Communist Viet Cong already has executed several Americans as reprisal for the execution of terrorists by South Viet Nam.

The Red Cross said it had passed Hanoi's latest protest on to the United States. It said the letter from Hanoi was dated Aug. 30 and that a United States answer has been sent to North Viet Nam.

An American military spokesman in Saigon said that an estimated 58 American flyers now are held in North Viet Nam.

Hanoi's letter was the long-awaited answer to the Red Cross appeal in June that all nations respect the Geneva War Conventions, especially those applying to prisoners and civilians.

The United States and South Viet Nam answered the appeal at once.

"The government of Hanoi protests against the air and naval bombing which, it says, is deliberately directed against non-military objectives such as hospitals, schools, villages etc.," the Red Cross said.

"It considers in consequence that enemy pilots taken prisoner are war criminals liable to go before tribunals, but assures that they will be treated well.

"For its part," the Red Cross announcement said, "the Red Cross of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam has already protested several times to the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) against the bombing of medical establishments which are clearly marked by Red Cross emblems.

Congressman Rogers told The News the temporary appointment could extend for six months or longer, if necessary, until examinations are held and a permanent postmaster is chosen from a list of applicants.

Eight applications for the Pampa postmastership have been filed, Rogers stated. One of these, he added, has been withdrawn.

The seven applicants on the list as of this morning were William Steger, deputy county tax collector; Fred Thompson, Rogers stated the application of Ott Shewmaker, insurance man, had been withdrawn.

The congressman said examinations for the post will be held but the type of examination had not yet been decided.

Vietnamese Troops Fight Off Ambush

SAIGON (UPI)—Vietnamese government troops, outnumbered two to one, fought their way out of two Communist ambushes today at bloody Phu Cu Pass 270 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said.

American air power led the breakthrough.

U.S. pilots supporting the ground forces said earlier they saw "many Viet Cong bodies" on the battlefield. By the time the ambush attempts were broken up, the area was littered with still more dead.

It was disclosed meanwhile that a U.S. Navy pilot from the carrier USS Midway was killed today when his propeller-driven Skyraider plane was brought down by ground fire on a raid against a railroad bridge in Communist North Viet Nam.

Two battalions of Vietnamese troops — about 1,000 men — were caught in the simultaneous Communist ambushes at Phu Cu Pass.

The fighting began when a government Ranger battalion and a battalion of infantry tried to exchange positions. Two battalions of Communists attacked the rangers from East and West while two more battalions struck at the infantrymen.

U.S. Air Force, Marine Corps and Vietnamese fighter-bombers rushed to the aid of the ground forces with napalm, bombs, rockets and machine-gun fire. The Vietnamese ground troops finally managed to break through the ambush.

A U.S. military spokesman said eight Americans were killed during the week ending Sept. 25, 65 were wounded and another 6 were missing. The Vietnamese army lost 172 killed, 313 wounded and 100 missing or captured. The last figure was the lowest in 13 months.

The U.S. and Vietnamese reports on the number of Viet Cong casualties the same week differed sharply. The Americans reported 269 dead and the Vietnamese put the figure 200 higher.

Strategic Air Command (SAC) B52 bombers from Guam meanwhile made their 34th raid of the war, striking a suspected Communist logistical facility a few miles off the South Vietnamese coast in the South China Sea.

In Saigon, a terrorist attempt to set off an explosion a few yards from the U.S. Operations Mission (USOM) was foiled. Police found a hand grenade in a garbage can across the street from the USOM where many Americans pass each day.

The grenade's pin was held back by a rubber band, which melted in the heat of day and caused the blast. It is a favorite terrorist tactic to place a grenade in such a position during the night.

The heavy fighting far to the north of Saigon continued today in the Phu Cu Pass, where hundreds of Communists were killed last week. The U.S. pilots did not attempt body counts but reported spotting a number of slain guerrillas.

The Communists Tuesday launched five separate attacks within a 25-mile radius of Saigon. Two forced South Vietnamese troops to retreat temporarily from their positions.

U.S. Marine patrols Tuesday killed four Viet Cong in two actions near Phu Bai and Da Nang. There were no Marine casualties.

Site Selection Called 'Game of Charades'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An influential member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) was playing a game of charades in the political ticklish selection of a site for a $300 million atom-smasher.

"The AEC and the National Academy of Sciences have no intention of picking the site," said the lawmaker, who asked that his identity not be revealed. "They will fiddle around until January, and then leave the actual selection up to the joint committee."

The announced procedure is that the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) will reduce a list of 85 possible sites to a half-dozen or so. The AEC will then make the final selection of location for the much sought project.

"They don't dare do it that way. That project hasn't even been authorized yet," the lawmaker told United Press International. The atom-smasher, a 200-billion-electron-volt accelerator, will be the chief component in a high-energy physics laboratory. Completion is fierce for the project because, in addition to the millions of dollars it will take to build, it will employ an estimated 2,000 high-salaried scientists and technicians.

The project must first be authorized for construction, however, by the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee. After authorization, it will be eligible for congressional appropriations for funding.

Haircut May Be Up For Court Rule

HOUSTON (UPI)—A university professor debated whether to hire a lawyer and take his son's high school haircut controversy into the courts.

Dr. Louis Mackey, a member of the Rice University philosophy department, said he has an attorney in mind but has not hired him yet.

Stephen Mackey, 14, was booted out of school about two weeks ago because Lamar High School principal Harold Costlow said the boy's appearance was not conducive to proper classroom decorum. A second attempt to enroll him after his hair was trimmed slightly also was in vain. Stephen wears his hair long and combed to one side in front and full all around in a "Prince Charles" cut.

School Board Denies Hardship Case Plea

DALLAS (UPI)—A Dallas man said he had given up his fight to have his asthmatic stepson transferred back to a school three blocks from his home.

But Troy Moore said before he will let his 10-year-old stepson Richard Younkman walk a mile and a half to school, he will move to another area and close to a school the boy can attend.

The boy had been attending a school three blocks from his home but because of school desegregation rezoning, the lad was put in a district whose school is more than a mile from his home. Neither school is integrated.

Moore appealed the ruling, and the Moore family doctor wrote school officials that Richard is an acute asthmatic. He recommended that the boy be allowed to continue at his own school.

In case of bad weather, the doctor said, it would be better for the boy to go to the school nearby.

The school board turned the request down. Monday a third appeal failed when the school district census director, Homer Fuller, said he "saw no valid reason at all why the transfer should be granted."

Plane Search Called Off

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Rescue crews called off a search for a missing plane in the Rio Grande Valley Tuesday night when they discovered the plane had landed safely—500 miles away.

The search came about because pilot Allan Brooks had been misunderstood. He filed an oral flight plan with the Brownsville airport. The man who recorded the flight thought Brooks said he was flying to Harlingen—15 miles away. But Brooks said Arlington, Tex.

When Brooks didn't appear at Harlingen a search began.

Brooks heard about the search and notified authorities.

Harbison Fischer was indicted on one count, and the other three on two counts. Youngstown also was indicted on one count of price fixing.

Girl Scout Promise and Laws Are Character-Building Outline

By MRS. P. M. WHATLEY
Field Advisor

Girl scouting is a character-building program based upon the Girl Scout promise and laws. With dedication to the high ideals expressed in this ethical code, Girl Scouts promise to do their duty to God and country, "to help other people at all times", and "to obey the Girl Scout laws".

They put their promise into action by giving service to their communities, as they learn that a good citizen owes her community her support in worthwhile projects. Girls give a service in many ways to the Red Cross, to hospitals, and to other organizations and persons within the community.

On September 17, Mrs. William Craig's Troop No. 92 presented the flag ceremony for the Stephen F. Austin P-TA. After the ceremony, the troop members took care of the small children in the school for those parents who attended the meeting. The troop has offered this service to the Stephen F. Austin P-TA for this school year.

These young scouts are receiving valuable lessons in democracy and citizenship while giving service to others. They, like other girls 7 through 17, are being given the opportunity to learn to work and play together, to make plans and accept responsibility, and to carry out decisions. They are putting their promise as Girl Scouts into action.

Girl Scouts are interested in a variety of things and welcome new adventures. They are eager to explore activities related to the arts, the home, and the out-of-doors. Through the arts, girls grow in artistic appreciation, gain self-confidence, and develop life-long hobbies. Many a future homemaker's skills are encouraged through her first cooking lesson.

While participating in the camping program, girls learn democracy and self-reliance, and how to take care of themselves in the out-of-doors. Through scouting, young girls grow into maturity, accepting their responsibilities as wives and mothers and as leaders in their communities.

Many adult volunteers give of their time and talents to the scouting program, and all share a common interest—the welfare of girls. Giving guidance and direction to the scouting movement in the Pampa-Lefors area are: Mrs. J. R. Holloway, president; Mrs. James Crouch, secretary; Mrs. Jerry Sims, treasurer; Mrs. Bob Andis, chairman of the public relations committee; Mrs. John Holt, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. W. A. Gipson, member at large; Mrs. Fred Neslage, district chairman; Mrs. Eugene Turner, neighborhood chairman; Mrs. E. E. Shelhammer of Pampa, and Mrs. Francis Cox of Lefors, are both serving on the nominating committee; John Warner and A. J. Carubbi, Jr., are serving on the finance committee;

Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, and senior Scouts need your investment in their future. Volunteer workers who give freely of their time and energy need your financial backing for their efforts. The Quivira Girl Scout Council needs your support — to run council activities, to maintain professional staff and office services, to offer camping area and facilities, and national and international opportunities for our girls. Vote Due On D. C. Self Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Voting was scheduled to begin in the House today on giving self-government to the District of Columbia. A home-rule bill has already passed the Senate.

The first vote would scrap the administration's home rule bill and substitute one by Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., which would have a charter board draft a self-government plan subject to congressional veto.

This was the bill that drew the support of home-rule opponents, who apparently have given up any hope of flatly defeating a self-government measure that is being pushed hard by President Johnson.

But home-rule supporters thought they had the votes to kill the substitute and to pass the administration's bill to let the city's 800,000 residents elect their own mayor and city council.

By United Press International

Showers moved across the Texas Panhandle today and fog in parts of East Texas cut visibility to as little as a mile, but most other sections of the state were enjoying pleasant fall weather.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast chilly weather for most of Texas through Saturday, with temperatures ranging to 8 degrees below normal. Warmer weather with little or no rain was expected early next week.

Early Hearing Set for Atheist

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Gov. John Connally said he planned an early extradition hearing for Mrs. Madalyn Murray whose suit to bar organized prayer in public schools was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes Tuesday sent Connally a request to have Mrs. Murray transferred to his jurisdiction. She faces charges of assaulting police officers at her former home in Baltimore.

Mrs. Murray, 46, has been in San Antonio since Saturday when she was arrested following her expulsion from Mexico. She was released from jail Sunday on a writ of habeas corpus. A hearing on the writ is scheduled for Oct. 8, but Connally has not set any date for the extradition hearing.

Since it is a one-day contest, including the clinics and concert, it will be necessary to limit the contest to 32 bands this year. The entry fee will be $35 per group.

The stage band contest is being sponsored by the Pampa Band Boosters Club and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The Pampa stage band contest has received the endorsement of Dr. John Green, chairman of the Department of Music at West Texas State University.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool is general chairman for the contest planning. Other committeemen include Floyd Watson, finance; E. L. Henderson, arrangements; Jim O'Connor, housing and meals; Tex DeWeese and Warren Hasse, publicity. Also serving on the committee are John Brewer, president of the Band Boosters Club; E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager, and Fred Stockdale, high school band director.

Eventually it is hoped to turn the stage band contest into a national event that would attract high school stage bands from over the nation, according to General Chairman Vanderpool.

A 22-year-old Pampa man was treated and released at Worley Hospital yesterday for cuts and bruises, suffered when he fell from his car.

Ronald L. Bennett, 305 Canadian, was traveling on Kentucky yesterday afternoon, turned a corner and his car door swung open.

He reached out to shut it and fell out of the car.

The vehicle then knocked down 15 feet of picket fence around the yard of William Barton at 1161 Starkweather before a passenger in the car, James Pat Wheat, 736 Malone, could stop the car.

Damage to the car was estimated at about $375 and about $40 to the fence.

To America with love... The 1966 Chrysler

Could be we're getting too emotional. But it isn't very often you get a chance to follow an all-time sales record year with a new Chrysler like this one.

Sure, our '65 was great. But the '66 is even better.

It looks better. Moves quicker. It's got a beautiful new front end and a very dramatic new rear.

It's got a bigger and more zesty group of V-8 engines. From a 383 cubic inch to a 440 TNT with twin exhausts and twin snorkels. (A "snorkel" is an air intake horn for the carburetor — does great things for performance.)

The interiors, all up and down the line, are more luxurious and comforting. Take our new shell bucket seats, for example. It's almost as if they had been custom-fitted for you.

One thing we didn't even think about changing. It has to do with money. Five of our Newport models (real Chryslers — not junior editions) are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars with the same equipment. This includes features like power steering, power brakes, a 383 cubic inch V-8, automatic transmission, radio and many standard items like safety door handles and seat belts.

Move up to Chrysler... it's getting easier by the minute.

CHRYSLER

'NOT SO' SAYS AUTHOR

Biblical Moral Code Obsolete for Today

United Press International
The Judeo-Christian moral code says it's wrong for a boy and girl to go all the way in sex relations before they're married.

Does this ancient biblical teaching still have any validity, or has it become obsolete in the age of penicillin and the pill? Parents and pastors must answer that question in a straight-forward, factual way if they expect to influence young people. Today's bluntly honest youth will tune you out if you start talking at them in pious platitudes.

No one knows this better than Dr. Evelyn Millis Duvall, who is a very wise woman as well as one of America's leading authorities on sex. In her new book, "Why Wait Till Marriage?" (Association Press), she deals candidly with all of the arguments currently in circulation among teen-agers for overthrowing sexual restraints. "One of the loudest arguments for going all the way before marriage is that everyone else is doing it," says Dr. Duvall. "The well-known Kinsey Reports are widely misquoted as finding that premarital sex experience is practically universal."

But she says "this is simply not true." Scientific studies of sexual behavior—including the Kinsey Reports—show that among middle-class, college-bound young people, more than half of the boys and from 80 to 90 per cent of the girls arrive at the age of 21 WITHOUT having had a fling at premarital intercourse.

Another widely held, and equally false, notion is that anvulant pills and other modern contraceptives have eliminated the danger that premarital sex will result in unwanted pregnancy. The truth is that most effective methods of birth control require a doctor's prescription, which is not easy for an unmarried girl to obtain; and the readily available devices are by no means completely reliable.

A third popular canard holds that penicillin has removed the risk of venereal disease, which served as a cautionary brake on promiscuity in past generations. But public health service statistics show that wonder drugs have not stamped out VD. On the contrary, it is still a widespread menace.

"Premarital sex experience is often anything but enjoyable," says Dr. Duvall. "Given devoted husband and wife, a sense of security and an appropriate setting, and sex life can bring deeply meaningful pleasure. But the right conditions are not always present, especially for unmarried teen-agers. Therefore, the sex act itself is no guarantee of fun."

There's more—much more—in Dr. Duvall's 128-page book. She makes a cogent case for chastity, in straight-from-the-shoulder language that teen-agers will appreciate.

MOVING YANKS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 35 million persons, about 20 per cent of the U. S. population 1 year old or over, moved to a different address between March, 1962, and March, 1963, according to a recent population mobility survey conducted by the Bureau of Census.

Prosecution Enters Trial With Key Witness Missing

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Although its key witness was missing, the prosecution promised today to prove that a state highway engineer on trial for manslaughter fired the gun that killed a seminarian active in civil rights work.

Circuit Solicitor Arthur Gamble was prepared to call a procession of witnesses, including some Negro civil rights workers, to the plain wooden witness chair in Judge T. Werth Thagard's drafty courtroom.

Thomas Coleman, 52, a "citizen deputy" sheriff, was in the second day of his trial for the Aug. 20 shotgun slaying of Jonathan Daniels of Keene, N. H.

Gamble took command of the prosecution Tuesday when State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers and his top assistant, Joe Brock Gantt, were removed after Gantt had argued the state could not get a fair trial. Gamble did not reveal whatever strategy he had worked out. The jury of farmers, mechanics and local government workers returned to the courtroom from Montgomery, 25 miles away, where members were kept under guard all night in a special jury room at the county courthouse.

Thagard apparently expected the Coleman trial to wind up today. He has asked remaining prospective jurors on a 60-member panel to return Thursday for the next case. This is the murder trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins, a Ku Klux Klansman charged with the night rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit Teamster agent's wife.

The first six prosecution witnesses failed to shed much new light on the slaying of Daniels and the critical wounding of Father Richard Morrisroe, a Chicago Catholic priest, who Alexander the Great accomplished the legendary feat of "cutting the Gordian Knot."

Mexico Jets Return to Base After Guerrilla Uprising Dies

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (UPI)—Four jet fighters sent to Chihuahua after a guerrilla attack on the Ciudad Madera army garrison last week were ordered back to their base in Mexico City Tuesday.

Six soldiers, eight guerrillas and three civilians were killed in the three-hour battle fought around the military post.

Military authorities said the T33 jets, armed with machine guns and rockets, were unnecessary now. Units of the 20th Cavalry Regiment, some of them on horseback, were patrolling the mountains in the area in search of the remainder of the leftist guerrilla group, the Army said.

Military authorities believe the guerrillas will probably disband since all their leaders were killed in the battle. All are believed to be college students.

Troops and officers at the scene said they believed that the attacking band was made up of about 50 men. Government spokesmen in Mexico City said there were only 14 attackers, however, of whom only six got away. The government denied the existence of the guerrilla band for months, although the Chihuahua State Legislature, in an emergency-session appeal for better federal protection Sunday, listed six attacks by the band in the last two years.

Volcano Blast Viewed From 200 Yards Away

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following account of volcanic horror which spewed forth from Mt. Taal was obtained from a survivor whose home was only 200 yards from the eruption).

By ELINO DEL MUNDO.
As Told To...

United Press International* TANAUAN, The Philippines—(UPI)—I was a fisherman by night and a farmer by day planting potatoes and corn on volcano island.

We will never return to that island again. No force in the world can make us go back.

Look at my back. It is all burned. And look at my wife's body. It is burned too. My eyes are bloodshot and I don't know whether I am going to go blind.

I am 49 years old. I have eight children, but there are only six with me now. Two of them, 15-year-old Efrén and 12-year-old Myrna, are missing. And heaven knows where they are.

It was home when it all started and my house, which is near the edge of the water, was about 200 yards away from the actual eruption.

I don't know what time it was, but I had just returned from fishing. I had cooked a pot of rice and I was preparing to cook some of the fish I caught.

Suddenly, there was a bright illumination coming from behind me, and when I looked out of the window I saw a giant fireball spouting as if it came from underwater.

I shouted to everyone in the house and told them it has finally come. I told them "let's get out of here quick."

We all got into a banca (small boat) near our house on the edge of the water and pulled away without taking anything else with us except the clothes on our back.

The banca which we took was my neighbor's. He was shouting after me, but I did not mind him.

All I could think of was our safety. Anyway, he had another banca with an outboard motor on it. Our boat had no motor and we paddled as fast as we could. It must have been an eternity before we reached the opposite side of the island.

When we reached the shore we half walked and half crawled. Everything around was like a big boiling pot. We saw some people about to go to the mainland and we ran after them. In the confusion and the panic I never knew what happened to my two children.

I have lived on that island for 30 years, but I have made up my mind not to return there again.

There were about 300 persons living in our community. So far I have seen only two families and I don't know what happened to the rest.

Some people told me they were able to approach the island and that our community is buried under about 50 feet of mud. Not even the roof of our houses were showing.

All our belongings are buried under this. But I will never go back.

When Tears Flow Weeping and wailing in the big trial scene is something that happens not only in the movies.

In actual life too, especially in serious criminal cases, gusts of emotion often ruffle the judicial calm of the courtroom.

This raises a touchy problem. Won't the tears of the victim, or of the victim's family, stir prejudice against the person accused of the crime?

The danger is real. The poet Ovid said tears can melt iron. They can also shape the minds and conquer the hearts of a jury. In some circumstances a court will find an outburst so compelling as to invalidate the entire proceedings. Then, in all fairness to the defendant, there must be a new trial and a new jury.

In one case involving seduction, the accusing girl collapsed on the witness stand. Her mother, coming to her aid, broke into a torrent of tears.

"Nobody knows how we have suffered over this trouble!" She wailed. "Lord have mercy on us!"

Such poignant drama, in full view of the jury, was held grounds for a new trial. The court said there was too much chance that sympathy, not reason, would guide the jury to its verdict.

However, in less extreme circumstances, the law relies on timely action by the trial judge to minimize the possibility of prejudice. For example:

In a manslaughter case, the victim's aunt began weeping at the sight of his bloody clothing. The judge had the woman escorted from the courtroom to regain control of herself. He also cautioned the jury not to let the incident affect its judgment.

These steps, an appellate court ruled later, were enough to protect the defendant's rights without having to start the proceedings all over again.

After all, perfect composure is too much to expect from people who are reliving dire and dreadful events. Besides, at a second trial emotions might flare just as irresistibly as at the first.

So, within reasonable limits, the law relies on the jury to distinguish between crocodile tears, artfully shed, and honest tears, sincerely shed. And the law also relies on the jury to give, even to honest tears, no more weight than they justly deserve.

DISTAFF DECISIONS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colors and patterns are becoming as important to the outside of the house as they are to the inside.

This trend to decorator-styled exteriors has been on the increase as women have taken a larger role in making home improvement decisions, says William M. Wolfson, president of Peoples National Fund Inc., nationwide home improvement financing specialists.

Based on the company's experience with home improvements, Wolfson says husbands and wives together initiated home improvement projects in 50 per cent of the cases. But in 39 per cent, wives alone were responsible for suggesting remodeling. And when it came to a decision concerning color or style, 63 per cent of the wives made the choice.

Football Star Tried for Robbery

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — A small college football star will go on trial Nov. 1 with two confessions waiting in the arsenal of the federal prosecution, which seeks to put him to death on charges of committing the bloodiest bank robbery of modern times.

Defense attorneys for Duane Earl Pope, the 22-year-old native of Roxbury, Kan., lost Tuesday in their bid to suppress two statements given by Pope to federal officers.

U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt upheld the government request that the statements be admitted for use in the trial. Pope, who graduated in May from McPherson Kan. College, is accused of killing three persons and wounding a fourth during the June 4 $1,500 robbery of the Farmers State Bank of Big Springs, Neb. Van Pelt's order Tuesday ended a four-day pre-trial hearing on the motion by defense lawyers Robert Crosby and Wallace Rudolph. Crosby is a former Nebraska Republican governor and Rudolph, a professor at the University of Nebraska college of law. Crosby and Rudolph contended in their motion that the confessions were taken in violation of Pope's constitution rights. He surrendered June 11, one

JAPANESE PROTEST

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese government Tuesday criticized Premier using its influence as leader of the socialist nations to bring about a settlement of the Viet Nam war.

In a note sent to the Soviet Union the Japanese government said despite repeated appeals for Russian peace efforts, the Soviet Union is stepping up military aid to North Viet Nam.

By Lyle Wilson
United Press International

The humpbacked U.S. taxpayer probably would be shocked if he had to swallow all of the facts of foreign aid spending in one bitter draft. The shock surely would be sufficient to put the freehanded distributor of U.S. dollars abroad under careful review. Shocked taxpayers might paint their legs red and sortie against the nearest federal building as do our loving friends abroad when annoyed by the U.S. government. Foreign assistance spending is about 20 years old. One hundred foreign countries or thereabouts have lapped up about $100 billion U.S. dollars in those years. To the extent to which all of this spending has been for the purpose of buying foreign friendships, it has been a colossal bust. To the extent to which the spending has been to arm the free world against communism, the program has had better luck despite the tendency of some of our loving friends to fight each other with weapons bestowed by us instead of bending their attention to the Commies.

Twice as Much

The most remarkable aspect of foreign assistance spending, however, is that it amounts generally to more than twice as much as the sum the taxpayers are aware of. Another eccentricity of foreign aid spending is that the aid spenders uniformly ask Congress to give them more than they expect to get and a great deal more than they need. Congress is aware of this shenanigan and regularly reduces the aid request but rarely fails to appropriate more than the aid spenders need and, in fact, more than they are able to spend. For examples: President Johnson signed this month an authorization for spending of $3.3 billion of foreign aid funds in the current fiscal year. The idea has gotten around that this represents projected foreign assistance spending in fiscal 1966. During House discussion of this foreign aid authorization, Rep. Otto E.

Passman (D-La.) cited the facts of projected foreign assistance spending. The $3.3 billion was for mutual security. It did not by half represent the foreign spending requested by President Johnson so far this year.

Passman explained that foreign aid requests had been fragmented, perhaps for the purpose of diverting attention from the facts of aid spending.

Passman cited 14 foreign aid requests so far this year in addition to the request for mutual security funds. Passman listed the total of foreign aid-security requests in the first six months of 1965 a $7.5 billion and he remarked:

Many persons are concerned as to the lack of knowledge on the part of the taxpayer about the magnitude of our total foreign assistance program. Passman had other interesting foreign aid spending facts. In ten successive fiscal years, 1956-65, Congress reduced foreign assistance appropriations by an average of 20 percent below the sums requested. The biggest chop was 34 percent in 1964. In all instances the President and his foreign spenders complained that these reductions jeopardized the foreign assistance program and would endanger the United States. But Passman reported that in each of those 10 fiscal years the foreign aid spenders had large sums left over, unspent and unobligated at year end. The 10-year total of such unobligated funds was $3 billion.

Lana Wins Acquittal In Stabbing Trial

DUNCAN, Okla. (UPI)—The 17-year-old son of a junior high school football coach was acquitted early today of attempting to kill a teenaged beauty queen.

"I am happy. I wasn't guilty," Bert Michael Lana said between kisses from his overjoyed mother and father, who heard the jury return its verdict after four hours and 18 minutes of deliberations.

Onetime beauty pageant winner Tama Hallmark, who was beaten and stabbed 50 times on a lonely road outside Duncan Jan. 6, 1964, had identified Lana in court as her attacker. The girl, who was so badly injured that the defense questioned her mental competence to identify the youth who assaulted her, was not in the courtroom when the acquittal was announced.

"We are overjoyed, although we were sure of his innocence all along," Lana's mother said when the jury returned its finding.

Tears of joy streaming down his face, Lana's father, coach of the Duncan Junior High School football team, embraced and kissed his son.

"We feel fine about it," he said. "We appreciated everything everyone has done for us."

Lana, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, had sat solemnly through the trial which began Sept. 20. But when the jury found him innocent he smiled broadly.

New U.S. Customs Rules Alarm Mexican Border Cities

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Businessmen along the U.S. border are "frankly alarmed" by the new customs regulations that will go into effect at one minute after midnight Friday morning, said a dispatch from Nuevo Laredo to the newspaper Ultimas Noticias Tuesday.

At that time, stricter new U.S. customs laws will become operative, whereas formerly U.S. tourists could take $100 worth of goods back with them duty-free, based on the wholesale value of the merchandise, the new limit will be based on retail value. The difference is estimated at about $60.

Also, under the old laws any tourist could bring back four quarts of liquor. The new law permits only one quart every 30 days for adults only. Families were able to use their children's allotment to bring in liquor along much of the border in the past.

The newspaper said that 80 per cent of the business income of Nuevo Laredo merchants came from the sale of souvenirs and liquor, and that the new rules "will bring a profound depression to the local economy."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Staged' News Conferences

From a vantage point on high ground on the Virginia side of the Potomac River overlooking Washington, persons living there sometimes catch glimpses of goings-on in the Nation's Capital which are not ordinarily brought to the attention of folks living in parts removed from the city of make-believe.

The wizardry of TV, for example, can place the image of the Chief Executive in living rooms throughout the 50 states in an instant. But it does not reveal, and in some cases may even conceal, some of the staging and planning behind the image. The fact that the President, like most TV commentators, uses a teleprompter to effect a smooth presentation of formal statements is probably generally known and accepted as a sensible arrangement. But this matter of "staging" of the President's news conferences is a subject about which Washington newsmen are talking more and more, and writing less and less. American newsmen that is.

It is a sobering fact that Canadian and European papers are exposing more of this "staging" to their readers than American dailies and press services are disposed to report. What you don't learn from American correspondents detailed to the White House is that the President's press secretary and his assistant, the efficient team of Moyers and Laitin, bring off an incredibly well-rehearsed performance before the cameras by openly planting questions with reporters they favor (and control?) — and see to it that correspondents who refuse to play the White House game are ignored in the question period and denied recognition by the President for weeks on end. And if you think that cooperative TV and radio reporters are getting the best of the treatment, you are right, in spades.

We take it for granted that any politician wants to effect a good "image", and that his aides will bend every effort to help him to do so. What is disturbing is the fact that there are so many persons calling themselves reporters who will cooperate in deliberate deception of the public — and so many others who restrict their griping to bar-stool swearing but are fearful to print their sentiments. What exposure of the deceit being practiced at the Presidential press conference will do to his image is nothing compared with what will be done to the Washington Press Corps.

That is the report of Duane Thorin of the U.S. Press Assn., Inc. Thorin, obviously does not like the set-up.

Is This Trip Necessary?

This slogan from World War II, aimed then at conserving gasoline and other materials vital to our war effort, has been brought to mind by President Johnson's action in sending "geminants" Cooper and Conrad on a world tour. Is such a trip really necessary — or worth its cost to the American taxpayers?

We (meaning us taxpayers) have already footed the bill to send the two gentlemen on quite a number of trips around the world. We'll accept, at least for the moment, that this expenditure was justified in the interest of scientific development, national security and so forth. But even though the proposed additional circuit at lower levels of altitude will probably also be lower in cost, we seriously question that it is serving any really worthy purpose. We also doubt, unless they are of markedly different character than most of their fellow astronauts, that Messrs. Cooper and Conrad particularly relish being put on public display like some unusual animal in a road show.

A Private Job Corps

A bill to give private industry a break — specifically a tax break — on the costs of job training within industry, has recently been introduced in the House of Representatives. We find ourselves very much in agreement with the basic concept on which the bill appears to be used.

With very few exceptions, the government-run job-training programs have been noted for their lack of success. And there are several factors which would seem to guarantee that job-training by private industry will be more effective, and also more economical.

There's the experience factor for one thing: private industry has been giving job training in one way or another ever since the first master craftsman took on his first apprentice. There's a more definite purpose in a private industry's training program, and an interest in high-quality training, because a company knows just what skills its workers need. It wants to be sure that the trainee can do work that will meet company standards. About the only way a government-run job-training program can readily measure its performance is by the number of people pushed through the course. The number of trainees, rather than the quality of training, happens also to be the basis in a government program for hiring additional instructors and raising the pay of the director.

Although this new bill to encourage job-training in private industry was introduced by a group of Republican Congressmen, it doesn't strike us as being in any sense a partisan proposal (except, perhaps, to someone with a political prejudice against private enterprise). We're confident that, given the chance, private industries will do far better at job training than any government agency has done or can do, for the simple reason that a private employer wants to train a man to do a job, not just to get one.

It's been our observation that the man who can really do a job rarely has to worry about where to get one.

A thought for the day: Former President Eisenhower said: "In the final choice a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a prisoner's chains."

Cannel At Bay By Ward Cannel

How Are You, Mentalwise? NEW YORK (NEA) — While stopping at a picturesque platform in New York's most unforgettable subway system, we noticed an ad for the Reader's Digest which this month asks the compelling question: "How Good Is Your Mental Health?" Ordinarily, we would have merely entered the item on our list of magazine articles to read in December when we go to the dentist. In this particular instance, however, we hurried up to the street in search of a newsstand.

To our way of thinking, lists are very good for mental health. And so are informative articles. But nothing can compare with a solid magazine quiz that actually diagnoses your condition. We simply cannot resist tests of this sort and usually stop to read any magazine that offers a questionnaire designed to check your progress through life and tell you how you are. In that regard, we have not been so well lately. Mental healthwise, it was not the best of summers.

In June, at our last visit to the dentist, we scored quite low on three magazine tests — "Are You Living Up to Your Capabilities?" and "Will Your Child Get Into The College Of His Choice?" and "What If The Bomb Falls — Are You Prepared For War?"

Since then, if memory serves, we have made terrible grades in the following: "What If The Bomb Doesn't Fall — Are You Prepared For Peace?" "Will Your Child Finish High School?" "Are You Paid What You're Worth?" "Does Your Car Run You?" "Is Your Marriage Happy?" "Are Bad Habits Holding You Back?" "What Do Teen-agers Really Want?" "Could You Be A Company President?" "Can Your Child Get Into A Nursery School?" "Do You Worry Constructively?"

That is not the full extent of the list by any means. We can dimly recall one quiz aimed at finding out if you were basically a man or a woman and another to determine if you could make it as a teenager today. For some reason, once we have taken these tests they vanish from mind, leaving behind only a shadowy feeling of impending dissolution.

Under normal circumstances, we could never have cited the list printed above except through the kindness of the Psychological Block Corp., which devises this sort of test for many magazines on a contract basis. In any event, we were extremely eager to get to the Reader's Digest and its test on "How Good Is Your Mental Health?"

That is the only practical way to feel, we have found through many years of taking magazine tests. If you do not keep a constant check on yourself, you can become mentally unhealthy without ever realizing it.

In fact, we know several people who are already living up to their capabilities but keep trying to get ahead anyway. One fellow in particular is in for a lot of trouble, having just become a company president without even taking a test to find out if the job will make him happy.

Anyway, the Reader's Digest diagnosis of our condition turned out to be extremely encouraging. Especially as it also supplied a number of guideposts along the route to mental health compiled by experts at the renowned Menninger Foundation.

Few things are as good for mental health as guideposts, experts, renowned foundations and institutes. And so, we are pleased to report that our score was considerably higher than it has been in the past several months. It would seem that our health is on the mend, mentalwise.

Precisely what ailment we had, or what brought it on, is impossible to say. Our guess is that it was either a virus or else something connected with the atomic bomb.

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is being urged to use Red China's latest aggression against India to undertake a penetrating probe of Soviet aims, relations and policies. Top military, intelligence and congressional advisers are proposing that bold and explicit overtures be initiated for the purpose of unmasking the Kremlin's true attitude and thinking on two matters of supreme moment to the security of the U.S. and the peace of the world:

—The exact state of relations between Moscow and Peiping; whether their rancorous public wrangling is merely ideologically shadow-boxing or symptomatic of deep-rooted national, territorial, racial and other rivalries and conflicts.

—Russia's real objectives in Asia, particularly in India and other strategic Southeast Asian countries. Foremost among the advocates of this extraordinary plan, according to White House insiders, are Central Intelligence Director William Raborn, members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., outspoken member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

In the President's inner councils, they are stressing two points:

(1) If there is a genuine split between the Soviet and Red China, now is the time to bring it into the open and make the most of it. (2) If the Kremlin rulers sincerely desire to bar China from dominating Asia, they should be willing to join the U.S. in compelling Peiping to halt any further armed pressure against India.

While there have been intense backstage discussions of this proposed "diplomatic initiative," it is still highly conjectural what will be done about it—if anything.

PASSING THE BUCK — AGAIN — Primary reason for this doubtful outlook is vehement State Department opposition.

Secretary Rusk, Ambassador-at-Large Averell Harriman (who fancies himself a uniquely endowed Russian expert) and McGeorge Bundy, special White House foreign affairs adviser, are exerting their utmost efforts against the daring, bare-knuckle plan.

While favoring "close diplomatic cooperation" with the Soviet, the State Department group is not only strongly opposed to joint military pressure against Red China, but even to sounding out the Kremlin on such action.

Instead, they are insisting that everything be left in the hands of the United Nations.

This course is drawing sharp fire from the Raborn-Dodd-military group. They are pointing out that the policy of "leaving it up to the UN" already has been costly to this country in Turkey and Iran — where the U.S. has spent billions in economic and military aid and where marked coolness now prevails towards the U.S.

Turkey and Iran are supporting Pakistan. HOW IT WOULD BE DONE — In talks with the President, advocates of the plan have proposed two formulas for joint U.S.-Russian pressure against Red China.

One envisions a series of Soviet military probes in disputed Sino-Soviet border areas. The other calls for Russia and the European satellites, particularly Czechoslovakia and Poland, cutting off all oil and military-potential shipments to China.

Under both proposals, the U.S. would exert pressure on communist China in "limited air and naval action."

Also, the U.S. and Russia would withhold sending arms and other combat supplies to India, thus further implementing the cease-fire between the latter and Peiping — supported Pakistan.

Prime Minister Shastri's success — shrouded trip to Moscow last month, shortly before the outbreak of hostilities with Pakistan, is still a mystery to U.S. authorities.

Neither intelligence nor diplomatic sources have produced substantial information. The Indian leader has refused to discuss his talk with the Kremlin rulers, and they have been even more uncommunicative.

Significantly, most of the military equipment Russia has given India was used in the Pakistan fighting. Little of it is in the hands of Indian forces on the threatened Chinese border.

LIVING IT UP — UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg apparently has inflated ideas of his importance and mode of living due him. The one-time Supreme Court Justice wants a limousine and chauffeur assigned to him in Washington as well as in New York; that is, two autos and a driver for his exclusive use.

Representative John Rooney, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget, strongly disagrees with these expensive tastes. A vigorous economist, Rooney has sent word to Secretary Rusk that when Goldberg comes to Washington, he can use one of the State Department's pool autos as other transient VIPs do. . . . U.S. combat forces in Viet Nam are pondering the whereabouts of the 325th North Viet Nam Infantry Division, which was very active several months ago. Elements of this Communist division were badly mauled by the U.S. Marines in a series of engagements in August, and since then there have been no contacts with this North Viet Nam unit. U.S. intelligence believes it is still in South Viet Nam; probably undergoing reorganization and refitting to replace heavy losses. . . . If any further proof was needed, the 1965 New Hampshire Sweepstakes should leave no doubt that you can't finance government through gambling gimmicks. Started as an aid to public school financing, its backers hoped it would pay for education in the Granite State, but last year only $5.7 million in tickets were sold, which, after expenses and payoffs to winners, only left 4.8 per cent of the total school operating costs in the State available for public school aid. This year the take dropped to $3.9 million and the amount available for public school aid will be smaller. The only winners were the lucky few who held winning tickets and Uncle Sam, who will take his bite from them.

Today's smit: A newspaper reporter was interviewing the town's oldest citizen, who said: "Yes, it's my ninety-fourth birthday and I can truthfully say I haven't an enemy in the world." "That's a nice thought, mused the reporter. The old fellow admitted it was and added: "The last one died six months ago."

College students have always been noted for their hijinks. Back in 1890 Daniel Chester French, the sculptor who created the Minute Man at Concord's Old North Bridge and the Lincoln Memorial among other great works, did a bronze statue of the typical Princeton student for the Nassau campus. A succession of student pranks put the masterpiece in jeopardy and it was stored for 50 years. Now it is safely on exhibition at French's studio in Stockbridge, Mass. In other words, it's back where it started.

Thoughts while shaving: Did you know the ancient Scots, who claim to have invented golf, never used a tee? Tees were invented in 1920 by William Lowell, an East Orange, N.J., dentist, and it took a few years for golfers to accept this innovation to the ancient game. . . . And speaking of inventions, the fellow who invented the safety pin sold out for $400. He could have become a millionaire, if he had hung on. . . . C. Latham Sholes was another fellow who missed out on the jackpot. He sold the typewriter, which he invented, to the Remingtons, who were busy making firearms, for a mere $12,000 and they made millions on his brainchild. . . . But a young drug clerk in Baltimore, Isaac Emerson, found a formula for a headache cure, marketed it under the name of Bromo-Seltzer and left $40 million when he died some years later. . . . Did you ever know there were two Benedict Arnolds in American history? The best

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Senators Deal Frivolously Amid Serious, Vital Issues

By SAM CAMPBELL Business Editor

From all that I have read and been told, Oregon's Senator Maurice B. Neuberger is a very charming person.

She is, according to my information, discerning and intelligent.

At the going rate of $30,000 a year plus expenses, it might be concluded she considers her time fairly valuable.

Accordingly, you would expect lofty position to be used for lofty purpose.

The Senator might, for instance, concern herself with those vested and unvested interests who propose shipments of subsidized wheat to the Soviet Union even while American blood spends itself in the sinewy grass jungles of Viet Nam.

What She Might Do

Or she might stir the mothers of this country, as only a feminine voice can do, to holy indignation over the fact that for every hut, tunnel or den cleared of the Cong an American Marine must offer himself a living target to draw enemy fire, because tear gas is forbidden and because to grenade indiscriminately would slay noncombatant Vietnamese women and children.

Mrs. Neuberger could say to the women of this land, "Mother, you have a stake in Viet Nam. These are your sons who die. Have you forgotten, mother, the night he was born? Have you forgotten the long months when your womb was filled with life and your heart with joy? Do you remember, mother, when you held him to your breast and understood then that to give, to nourish is the essence of womanhood? You tied his shoes, mother, you sent him off to school. Yes, you watched him increase in stature and in wisdom. You snapped his photograph when he first came home in uniform. Do you abandon him now, mother? Do you take to the patio and sun yourself? Do you take heart ease, stay content, yet knowing that the stroke of a presidential pen's cutting off enemy vitals might stop the whole damnable Viet episode and bring that boy safely back to your arms?"

Thus might woman speak to woman.

What She Did

So might a woman Senator rouse womankind to meet the issue that men only deal with—speculations over how many greenbacks can be grafted over what they call the "escalation" but which described in its reality is flesh, is blood, is bone.

So might Maurice B. Neuberger win the fame she yearns for.

Is this opportunity not big enough for any opportunity-seeker? Yet how does Maurice B. Neuberger spend her time? What is she doing in her high post? Well, she is proposing that electric transmission lines be buried to help beautify the nation. She has introduced a bill that would direct the Secretary of Interior to study the problem. That's what she is doing. And why?

You're entitled to your opinion. Here is mine. Every political office holder has to have a gimmick to break into the news in order to keep his name before the voters. This is hers. I will not condemn Senator Neuberger's endeavor for newspaper space as any worse than similar attempts by her colleagues on both sides of the aisle. I shall say that in view of the somber, important, grievous conditions prevailing today — in view of the tragic drama enacted daily in scores of servicemen's families — this charming, intelligent woman has chosen a giddy role.

No worse, mind you, than the others. No worse. All about the same. May a wrathful God have more mercy on those souls than they show for that boy in Viet Nam.

Undoubtedly those persons who want to educate others are sincere and conscientious but they really cannot very well educate others or stimulate others to want to be educated until they are first rational themselves. They must be able to recognize a contradiction and see things as they really are before they can get others to see things as they are instead of as they would like them to be.

As the late Isabel Paterson said, "Most of our trouble comes from sincere, conscientious people," and most of the educators are in that class. They are more interested in trying to educate before they are educated themselves. They have been indoctrinated for years by collectivistic, fabian socialism so that they do not really believe in individual responsibility. They do not seem to understand that every right is coupled with responsibility.

That is undoubtedly the reason that people prefer to try to educate others than to educate themselves. It is simply easier, it requires less thinking, less use of the brain.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION "Why do so many persons want to educate others rather than try to educate themselves?"

ANSWER: Undoubtedly the reason is that it requires more thinking, concentration, and effort to educate oneself than to try to educate others. They are doing something without much effort.

Undoubtedly those persons who want to educate others are sincere and conscientious but they really cannot very well educate others or stimulate others to want to be educated until they are first rational themselves. They must be able to recognize a contradiction and see things as they really are before they can get others to see things as they are instead of as they would like them to be.

Dear Abby... Humiliation Should Not Be Part of Punishment

DEAR ABBY: I rent a room in the home of a very nice couple who have three children between the ages of 9 and 14. They treat me like a member of the family.

A couple of months ago, I started to notice that a few things were beginning to disappear from my room. Nothing of value, just a few candy bars. Last week I noticed that some packages of cigarettes were missing from the carton I kept in my dresser drawer, so I mentioned it to the parents. They got the children together and found that the nine-year-old boy was the guilty one. The father spanked him very hard, took away his television privileges for two weeks and made him sit on the front porch with a sign around his neck which read, "I steal."

Abby, I am sick to have been the cause of all this. Now I wonder if I did the right thing in telling the parents. The things the boy took were of so little value. Had I known the lad would be punished so severely I would have kept quiet. Help me sleep nights.

DEAR ROOMER: Yes, you did the right thing in telling the parents. You may have thwarted a tendency toward dishonesty before it grew to more serious proportions, which actually was a kindness to the child. The parents were cruel to have made humiliation a part of the punishment. But don't feel responsible for their actions.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a boy who calls a girl up and asks her if she wants to go out and park with him?

DEAR INVITED: He sounds like an efficiency expert with a character deficiency.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter signed "Depressed." The woman had called a recent bride's mother, asking if the bride had ever received the wedding gift she'd sent. (The bride hadn't thanked her for it.) The bride wrote this woman a rude letter telling her the gift had been received but she was a little late in writing her thank-you notes, and that she didn't appreciate being "reported" to her mother for her tardiness.

For nearly 21 years I have wondered who sent me a pair of beautiful milk glass vases. If only the sender would have called my mother and asked if I had ever received them, I would have been only too happy to thank her profusely. The gift came from Barker Brothers in Long Beach, California, with no card enclosed. I wrote to the store trying to find out who sent it. They replied (I still have their letter), stating they had no record of the sender. I have enjoyed the vases all these years and haven't the faintest idea who sent them. I had many friends in Long Beach at the time, but I'm sure I have one less now, through no fault of my own.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

A Flower Show with the theme "October's Magic" is scheduled for Oct. 16 in Lovett Memorial Library from 2 to 6 p.m. The four garden clubs co-operating on this show are the Pampa Garden Club, Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club, Top O' Texas Garden Club and the Pampa African Violet Society. It will be free of charge and open to the public.

A delightful indoor picnic was enjoyed by about 50 garden clubbers and husbands at the Coco Cola Co. Hospitality Room last Thursday. It was generally agreed to make this an annual affair.

House plants should now be prepared for winter. Examine those that have been indoors all summer and pick off all dead leaves. If the surface of the soil is packed and hard, scrape a little away and replace it with a rich mixture. Sponge the leaves to remove grime and insects. Examine the plants closely for scale insects, mealybugs and other pests, and if any are present take prompt and effective steps to eradicate them. It is helpful to wash the plants thoroughly with a forceful stream of water that reaches all parts, including the under surface of the leaves, provided care is taken not to break the foliage.

Plants that have been outdoors for the summer should be inspected and cleaned also. They should be brought indoors at least two weeks before the furnace is started so that they can acclustom themselves to their new environment before they are subjected to the added difficulties of a dry atmosphere.

Try to give each plant the conditions of light and temperature best suited to its kind. Do not cut down the tops of asparagus until they have been killed by frost. The longer they remain on the plant in a green condition the more food will be stored in the roots to produce next spring's crop.

Gourds having thick flesh are gathered before the first frost, but after the rind has hardened and the stems have begun to shrivel. Handle them carefully to prevent bruising; wipe them with a soft cloth and apply a thin coat of ordinary floor wax to their skins.

Thin shelled gourds of the dipper kind turn brown, become lighter in weight and begin to harden their shells at maturity. They are gathered as soon as the vines are killed by frost. Before they are fully mature the insides are removed through a hole made for the purpose, or the top of the gourd is saved off, the insides removed and the top replaced. They are then cured by being hung in a well-ventilated cool place for six months or more.

Another plant similar to the gourd is the Teasel or Dipsacus. The flower heads, when fresh or dried, are great favorites with flower arrangers or for any kind of home decoration. They are a very attractive lime or yellow green in color. The flower heads, similar to the size and shape of an egg, are very evenly covered with stiff hooked spines, or bracts, and under the name of Fullers' Teasels are used by manufacturers of woolen cloth to tease or raise a "nap" on their fabrics. Although a great deal of time and money has been spent on trying to find a substitute to Teasel heads by manufacturers, nothing really satisfactory has been found.

So far as this writer knows Mrs. H. H. Boynton first started the Teasels in her garden in Pampa and since then many other gardeners have grown them. The work of potting and re-

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and night to be as wise as the serpent and as harmless as the dove. Most everyone is tense and apt to lash out at whoever is closest and really give them a beating. But since you now have the knowledge, you can easily replace any sort of problem of the day with good results by considerate attitude.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Although out-of-town matters and persons seem important now, you would be wide-awake and wiser to handle affairs closer to home. Keep promises made conscientiously. Then you win out.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Although you want to make radical changes in order to handle responsibilities differently, be sure to do so at the right time. Get advice from experts. Follow it cleverly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You have to use tact in handling angry associates, since there is much pressure behind his or her actions. Placate others as well and avoid arguments. Don't jeopardize position.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Assure those with whom you labor that you will gladly do more than your part and you inspire them as well. Be steadfast for best results. Otherwise nothing is truly accomplished.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — The situation at home is charged with electricity, so be sure to remain calm poised. Do not argue. Buy thoughtful gifts that will certainly help a great deal to smooth matters out.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Getting routines more efficient is but a matter of finding new ways to eliminate waste and make time pay better. Reach decisions with regular partners. Be tactful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Go directly to the source of information you require instead of asking others haphazardly. Avoid signs of temper. Care in driving, walking is very necessary, too.

Flower Show Judges of this area are sponsoring Course III Flower Show School next week on Oct. 5, 6, and 7 in Amarillo. Instructors will be Miss Irene Haddox of Dallas in Flower arrangement, Mrs. A. Ecumenical Council Debates 'Marriage and Family Life'

By RUFUS S. GOODWIN, United Press International.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Ecumenical Council leaders pleaded today for the Roman Catholic Church to solve its birth control crisis, promote scientific research into sexual life and show more leniency in divorce.

Four cardinals and six bishops spoke out frankly on sexuality and birth control in a sweeping debate on a council declaration about "Marriage and Family Life." There were clashing views on the dilemmas facing the church.

Council Moderator Leo Joseph Cardinal Suenens of Brussels, Belgium, asked the gathering to proclaim to the world "it's desire to see a continuation, amplification and coordination of scientific research into the domain of sexual life, particularly in regards to marriage."

The entire Polish hierarchy requested "a clear doctrine on birth control because of wide confusion in the world today."

However, the Pope's personal theologian, Giovanni Cardinal Colombo of Milan, Italy, dimmed the prospect of changes in the church's traditional ban on all artificial means of birth control.

Asks Re-Statement.

"The statement leaves the door dangerously open to certain opinions that there will be changes of the church's regulations on chastity in marriage," he said on behalf of 32 Italian bishops. Cardinal Colombo — who replaced Pope Paul VI as archbishop of Milan — asked that "Church doctrine should be re-stated clearly."

Cardinal Suenens coupled his appeal for scientific research into sexual life with a stinging denunciation of "the wave of immorality sweeping our streets, movie screens and magazines which threatens the very basis of married life."

"This is a shame of our civilization, which used to call itself Christian," he said in asking for a vigorous council condemnation also of eroticism and the "calamitous increase of divorce."

A near Eastern prelate, Patriarchal Vicar Elia Zoghby of Egypt for the Melchites, asked for more leniency in church discipline for couples whose marriages are broken.

"We should give the separated partners of such marriages the power to live a more normal life," he said in urging some form of recognition for divorce. The Catholic Church does not recognize divorce and only grants annulments if the marriage can be proved to have never fully existed.

BEATLES' ORDER

LONDON (UPI)—The Beatles learned with some relief Tuesday night that they will not have to wear formal clothes on Oct. 26 when they go to Buckingham Palace to be invested as members of the Order of the British Empire.

They will wear business suits for the occasion.

"We would never have found top hats to fit over our mops," said John Lennon.

Queen Elizabeth will award the medals to the Beatles.

Laborites

Approve US Viet Policy

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—The British Labor Party gave overwhelming approval today to government support of U.S. policies in Viet Nam. But it urged a halt to American bombings of the Communist North and asked Hanoi to halt its "military adventures."

The Labor Party, meeting in annual conference, defeated left wing efforts to force the Labor government to disassociate itself from the United States and to condemn American intervention in Southeast Asia and Latin America.

The vote was 4 million to 2.2 million, almost two to one, with each delegate voting in behalf of his local party or trade union.

Amid delegate cheers Prime Minister Harold Wilson said he and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart were prepared to go to any lengths—"even to flying to Moscow to talk to Mr. (Soviet Premier Alexei) Kosygin"—to bring peace to Viet Nam.

Wilson rejected charges of a deal to support the Americans in return for defense of the pound sterling and claimed only the steadfast refusal of Hanoi and Peking to begin negotiations stood in the way of a peace settlement.

Stewart said, "When we say we want to see the bombing of North Viet Nam stopped we must with the same emphasis want the military adventures by North Viet Nam stopped."

Stewart also called for the admission of Red China to the United Nations and recommended a reappraisal of the world organization's operations.

MR. AND MRS. BERT KOSCHESKI ... contribute to our way of life

Pioneer Family Holds Its Patriotic Heritage

Some 25 years ago the daughter and son-in-law of a pioneer Pampa family moved to Adair, Oklahoma with their three small sons to help develop that area. They settled on a farm near the Bitter Creek Community and took up farming. There were then three young sons and within a short time a fourth was born. Today Mr. and Mrs. Bert Koscheski are proud of the record achieved by the four sons and now one grandchild. The five are all in the service of their country. Mrs. Koscheski is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Fish, who reside at 1000 Buckler. The four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Koscheski are all serving with the Air Force, while the grandson is serving with the Coast Guard. The sons are Technical Sgt. Nelson W. Koscheski, Senior Master Sgt. R. J. Koscheski, T. Sgt. Alvin B. Koscheski and Second Lt. Ted A. Koscheski, Jr. The grandson, Nelson W. Koscheski, Jr., is serving with the Coast Guard.

Foreign Commentary

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—For the second time in three years Russia has been forced to buy millions of tons of wheat abroad.

The Soviet press is full of complaints about poor farm planning, careless machinery maintenance, crops rotting in the field.

An American farm delegation returned from the Soviet countryside talking of stunted corn growing "where corn never should be planted."

Even the Soviet government agrees that something is seriously wrong with this nation's vast collectivized farm system. There is as yet no sign of agreement on a cure, but the most drastic solution of all—a breakup of the collective and state farms—is believed to be under discussion.

If this solution is accepted, it may come to be known as "zhulnism," after V. Zhulin, an obscure Kazakh agronomist who first proposed it in public.

It must be stressed that Zhulin's proposals—which amount to nothing less than a dismantling of the state-owned farms that Stalin built at a huge cost in blood and property—are far from an accomplished fact. Even if they are accepted, farm experts here believe it will be years before they can be put into full effect.

But the proposal to make profit a key indicator of Soviet industrial efficiency—now generally accepted and being implemented—was made only three years ago by an equally obscure economist, Prof. Yevsei Liberman.

That's why observers of the Soviet scene took sharp notice last month when Zhulin's proposals appeared in a front page article in Komosomolskaya Pravda, the No. 2 Communist Party newspaper.

Western experts have said often that the only solution to break up the collective farms, though they have said it would never happen. This is what Zhulin wants to do.

'Current' Pastime In Their Day

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"A shocking fad developed in France's royal court during the 18th century," says the National Geographic Society.

The nobles and their ladies passed the time between affairs d'amour by giving each other merry little jolts with a novel machine that generated an electric charge. No one in that candlelit age knew of anything better to do with electricity.

The National Geographic then goes on to say how Alessandro Volta, for whom the electric volt is named, changed all that.

By United Press International
NEW YORK—Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that the market's reluctance to give ground despite heavy selling must be considered constructive. The large volume is also an indication of the return of investment house buying.

The analyst believes the outlook for the economy remains favorable and that stock prices will not encounter too much trouble for the intermediate term. He says the major risks will be the international monetary crisis and the danger of speculative excesses.

'Killer' Back In Hitting Form For Minnesota

By United Press International
Just one hit and suddenly Minnesota's hopes for a World Series triumph are soaring higher than ever.
What did the hit do?
It proved that the Twins' injured home run king, Harmon Killebrew, has recovered sufficiently to perform that part of the game he does best—belt 'em out of the park.

23rd Homer
That was the 23rd roundtripper for Killebrew, the AL home run champ for the past three seasons, who returned to the Minnesota lineup just a week ago after being sidelined seven weeks with a dislocated left elbow. The homer produced the Twins' only runs as they bowed to Baltimore 4-2.

Completing the AL, Cleveland beat New York 6-3, Washington defeated Kansas City 6-1 in the first game then lost the nightcap to the Athletics 8-6. California whipped Boston 4-3 and Chicago beat Detroit 4-3 in 11 innings in the opener before losing to the Tigers by the same score in the nightcap.

Joe Coleman, the 18-year-old first choice of the Washington Senators in the free agent draft this summer and a high school pitcher just three months ago, made a dazzling debut in the majors, pitching a four-hitter against the Athletics. Coleman hurled hitless ball for one six-inning stretch and did not give up a run until two were out in the ninth inning when Dick Green and Bill Bryan doubled. Rookie Larry Stahl drove in three runs to pace the A's nightcap victory.

Jim Northrup socked a two-run eighth-inning triple to give the Tigers the nightcap triumph after Danny Cater's 11th inning home run won the opener for Cater. Eddie Fisher made his 80th and 81st appearances in the twin bill for the White Sox, tying the major league mark set by John Wyatt of Kansas City last year.

Rocky Colavito hit his 26th home run with two on in the fifth inning for the Indians. Sonny Siebert won his 16th game with relief from Don McMahon in the eighth. Roger Repoz belted his 12th home run with Elston Howard on base for the Yankees.

California rallied in the eighth for two unearned runs on a single, an error and three walks to beat Dave Morehead, making his first start since pitching a no-hitter against Cleveland 13 days ago. Ed Kirkpatrick and Jim Fregosi homered for the Angels.

NEW NL RECORD
CINCINNATI (UPI)—National League President Warren Giles announced Tuesday that paid attendance at National League games this season reached an all time high of 13,045,546 following Monday's games. The old record was 12,045,190 set last season.

Pampa Fullback to Miss Key Contests With Rebels, Caprock

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
The injury bug continued to plague the Pampa Harvesters today with the news that leading rusher Ted Heiskell will not be available for duty for two weeks.
The big fullback is still suffering from a torn ligament that caused him to miss the Pampa-Palo Duro game and will cause him to miss Friday night's encounter with Tascosa and next week's contest with Caprock.

"The ligament hasn't healed," said Pampa coach Eural Ramsey, "and the best thing for it is rest, so that is what he (Heiskell) will do for two weeks."

Heiskell's absence was apparent Friday night when the Harvesters offense sputtered for three quarters before coming alive to rip off three touchdowns.

But two good halves will be needed Friday night against the Rebels, who have won two straight games, following an opening game loss to Permian of Odessa.

"They are big, strong, fast and have improved every game," said Ramsey.

The Rebels were 3-4 champions in 1964 and advanced to the state semi-finals where they lost to Garland, 21-7.

Coach Pat Patterson returns 12 lettermen, only one of whom has two years experience. But the Johnny Rebs have shown marked improvement since their opening game loss, having knocked off Lee of Midland and last week surprising Lubbock in the conference opener, 14-8.

As far as the Rebels being big, they are, with an average weight of 184 pounds per man in the line and 172 pounds per man average in the backfield.

Backfield-wise the Rebels are led by quarterback Monty Johnson, who can run and throw and does both well and halfback Jim Bennett, who is a 9.9 century runner.

Johnson is a junior letterman and Bennett a one-year senior letterman. Both possess better than average speed.
The Rebel backfield is rounded out by fullback Jack Glover, a 185-pound junior with only B team experience and halfback Jerry Carter a 145 pound senior letterman.

Spearheading the Tascosa line is 170-pound senior guard,

Dick Bufkin, a two-year letterman. Teamed with Bufkin is 170 pound Richard Oliver, a junior.

At the end positions the Rebels have Bob Bennett, brother of Jim, and the Rebels top pass receiver at 155 pounds. He is a senior with one letter. On the other side the Rebs have Derk Hoving, a 185-pound junior; at center is junior Mark Hazlewood, a 180-pound junior.

Rebel tackles are 220 pound Eddie Hunter, a junior letterman and Robert Ferem, a 210-pound junior letterman.
Johnson also does the Rebels punting and kicked three times last week for 121 yards and a 40.1 average.

Bennett leads the Rebels in rushing with 121 yards on 17 carries for an even seven yards per carry average.

THE LIVING END — The nation's top collegiate pass receiver is Howard Twilley of the University of Tulsa, who set an NCAA record for receptions last year (95). BUT WATCH THE UPSETS

He also set a yardage record (1,178 yards) and scored 110 points, second best in the nation.

Top 10 To Have Easy Sailing?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds-makers figure the top-ranked college football teams can breathe easily this weekend.

Purdue, Texas, Nebraska and Arkansas—the first four in the latest United Press International rankings—are heavy favorites. Ninth-ranked Notre Dame and 10th-ranked Southern California also are prohibitive choices, indicating that this Saturday may be the easiest of the season for the ranking powers.

The roughest hurdle, according to the point spread, is faced by sixth-ranked Louisiana State, a slim two-point favorite over Florida. Michigan, the No. 5 team, is liked by eight over upstart Georgia and both Michigan State (No. 7) and Kentucky (No. 8) are six-point choices over Illinois and Auburn, respectively.

Purdue, rated No. 1, is a solid 15 point selection over Southern Methodist. Runnerup Texas rates 19 over Indiana, third-ranked Nebraska is favored by 2.0 over Iowa State and Arkansas, fourth in the standings, is regarded 13 points better than Texas Christian. Notre Dame (No. 9) is favored by 17 over Northwestern and 10th-ranked Southern Cal is picked by 12 over Oregon State.

The best games this weekend apparently will be intersectional battles.

Missouri, one of the favorites for the Big Eight title, is a one-point pick over Minnesota of the Big Ten. Another Big Ten team, Ohio state, is rated even with Washington and West Virginia is a two-point pick over arch rival Pittsburgh.

Other games:
The East — Brown 1 over Pennsylvania; Princeton 13 over Columbia; Dartmouth 4 over Holy Cross; Penn State 7 over UCLA; Army 1 over Boston College; Colgate 6 over Yale.

Dodgers Gain First Place With 2-1 Win

By United Press International
The long road that took Lou Johnson on a 12-year journey to 18 minor league cities has brought the 33-year-old vagabond of the hamburger circuit and the Los Angeles Dodgers to within a few strides of the National League pennant.

An obscure hitter even among the Dodger pogpuns, Johnson struck the most dramatic blow of the NL season to date Tuesday night when his 12th-inning homer brought a 2-victory over the Cincinnati Reds and gave the Dodgers a one-game lead over the San Francisco Giants.

It was the Dodgers' 11th straight triumph and left the Reds only a mathematical chance to tie for the pennant even if they win all their remaining five games and Los Angeles loses its last five games. More important, it gave the Dodgers a vital one-game margin over the stumbling Giants and a clear shot at a flag that seemed out of reach only 10 days ago.

The Giants suffered their fourth loss in six games when he St. Louis Cardinals hammered out 14 hits for a 9-1 triumph at San Francisco. The Dodgers have one game left with the Reds and four with the Braves while the Giants have one with the Cardinals and four with the Reds.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the seventh when Jeff Torborg singled, pinch-runner Nate Oliver stole second and Mury Willis singled. The Reds came back in the eighth to tie the score on a walk, a sacrifice and a double by Vada Pinson that stretched his hitting streak to 22 games.

In the Dodgers' 11 straight victories, they have allowed a total of 14 runs. They have won six of the 11 games by one-run margins.

Larry Jaster, a 21-year-old left-hander, shutout the Giants except for Willie Mays' 51st homer of the season in the eighth inning and the Cardinals made mincemeat of five San Francisco pitchers. Bill White led the Redbird 14-hit with a homer, two doubles and a single and Lou Brock and Julian Javier had two hits each. Giant starter Ray Herbel suffered his ninth setback after being bombarded for six hits and four runs in 4-2-3 innings.

The Milwaukee Braves whipped the Houston Astros 7-1, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 and the New York Mets edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates 1-0 in 12 innings in other NL games.
Tony Cloninger pitched a six-hitter to win his 24th game of the season for the Braves, whose eight-hit attack was led by Felipe Alou's two-run single and doubles by Mack Jones and Ed Mathews. Cloninger struck out 10 and walked only three.
Bill Faul pitched a two-hitter and scored the decisive run for the Cubs after an eighth-inning double. Chris Short suffered his 11th loss against 18 victories for the Phillies.

Bucks, Panhandle Top Area Slate

White Deer's invasion of Panhandle tops the area grid slate this week and McLean's game with Wheeler is the No. 2 attraction in the area.

White Deer (3-0) returns to action after a week's layoff and will throw a block - busting offense at Panhandle (1-2).

The Bucks have four of the area's top 10 scorers but have an offense to match its defense. In three contests the Bucks have yet to be scored on while rolling to 81 points for an average of 27 points per contest.

Wheeler (3-0) is just as impressive and has shutout two straight foes, Erick, Okla. 55-0 and Canadian 34-0. The Mustangs downed Mangum, Okla. 21-18 in their opener.

The Mustangs have scored 110 points in their three games for an average of 36 points per game.

Friday night McLean (2-1) visits Wheeler. The Tigers have won two in a row after a season opening loss to Shamrock, 27-8. The Tigers have waxed Panhandle 8-0 and Lefors 22-0, giving them two shutouts in a row.

In other area action Friday night Lefors (0-2) hosts Stratford, Groom (2-0-1) visits Clarendon (3-1) and Saturday Miami plays Silverton B at Silverton.

Thursday the Pampa Shockers journey to Amarillo for a 4 p.m. contest with the Amarillo Sandie B team.

The Shockers will be shooting for their third win of the season and second in a row.

Two Junior High games are on tap Thursday also.
Lee Junior High ninth grade travels to Sanford-Fritch for a game with the S-F B team and Lee eighth hosts Amarillo River Road in a 4 p.m. contest.

Friday Lee Seventh hosts Austin in a 4 p.m. game and Pampa Junior High Seventh goes to Dumas for a contest there.

The only Saturday contest pits Pampa Junior High ninth against White Deer at White Deer. Pampa Junior High eighth grade is idle until Oct. 7 when they travel to Dumas.

SWC Clubs Hit by Injuries

By United Press International
It's not hard to tell who's next on the schedule for a Southwest Conference football team. All you have to do is hear who the coach in question is describing as "one of the toughest we'll meet."
And so it is that when Texas A&M coach Gene Stallings refers to Texas Tech's gridders as "a bunch of big old, strong, mean-looking folks," it's a sure indication the Aggies meet the Red Raiders head-on Saturday.
If you missed that conversation, you could also come to the same conclusion by listening to Tech's J. T. King as he talks reverently about the "total effort given by the entire squad" that pushed A&M by Georgia Tech last week.

Game A Tossup
The Techs were once a strong favorite in the match at Lubbock's Jones Stadium, but the 33-7 massacre by Texas last week and the 14-10 Aggie upset changed some minds.
It's almost a "you-pick-'em" affair now, and a lot of people are going with A&M.
King would be inclined to agree with the view after Tuesday's workout at Tech, a two-hour session he described as "terrible."
King said the Raiders were "busting plays, blowing assignments and just not doing anything in general. It was the worst Tuesday workout we've had."
Stallings, still overjoyed with the Georgia Tech triumph, said he was more concerned over his outfit than with the Raiders. "I want my team to play well, and if mine plays well then that's all I can want."
Texas Christian and Arkansas meet at Little Rock in the other conference game Saturday, with the host Razorbacks a heavy favorite.
Arkansas coach Frank Broyles said the Hogs still appeared sore from the victory last week over Tulsa.
"They tried hard today, but they didn't have that zip," Broyles said Tuesday of the Razorbacks, ranked fourth nationally.

TCU, which played third-ranked Nebraska a couple of weeks ago, will meet a team with even better offense and better all-around speed in Arkansas, scout Buster Brannon told the Horned Frogs Tuesday.
Coach Abe Martin said at least two starters were on the questionable list for the Arkansas match. Defensive guard Porter Williams missed Tuesday's workout with a leg injury and fullback Kenny Post, third leading rusher in the conference, is still bothered by a sore shoulder.
Texas, ranked only behind Purdue among the nation's top teams, went through a light drill Tuesday in preparation for Indiana.
Beer and Small Return
Sophomore halfback Linus Baer and sophomore end Ed Small, who missed the Tech game last week because of injuries, were back in action for the Longhorns Tuesday. Coach Darrell Royal put the squad through a two-hour drill stressing all phases of offense and Baylor coach John Bridgers wondered Tuesday if someone were looking over him with a voodoo doll. His Bear roster already riddled by injuries lost another player Tuesday with the injury to linebacker Billy Burk, who pulled a hamstring muscle in the Tuesday practice session.

Guard Gregg Pipes and end Harlan Lane are on the doubtful list for the Florida State game in Tallahassee, Fla., Saturday because of ankle injuries. Lane caught 19 passes from quarterback Terry Southall in the win over Washington last week.
Southern Methodist's Mustangs had high spirits Tuesday, despite their 42-0 drubbing last week at the hands of Illinois, and if they can have high spirits going into a game with Purdue, ranked No. 1 in all the land, then they can have a bright outlook toward anything.
Two SMU players will be out of the game — tackle Ronnie Merritt with an elbow injury and tailback Jim Hagie with shoulder bruises.

Highlights and Sidelights

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Battle lines are forming! In the political arena, that is.

Big gloves already have been laced on the champ vote-getter — Gov. John Connally. He's in the ring and squared away — ready to battle any challenger. Question now is — will he win by default? It's possible. He has a record few will challenge.

Very likely there will be a free-for-all in most other races. Texas' second highest state office could be an exception. There Preston Smith holds forth in rather firm command as Lt. Governor.

Popular young Waggoner Carr already has proclaimed his interest in becoming U. S. Senator and is agitating senators around the ring readying for the first sign of Democratic opposition to Republican John Tower's post. This may come from Congressman Jim Wright who is slipping rope to get in shape for something bigger. But so far he hasn't entered any ring.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin has set up his training camp for Carr's to-be-vacated post as Attorney General of Texas. Most likely he will have Connally's blessing, since he was the Governor's appointee as Secretary.

State Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio is trying to decide whether he wants to take on Martin. Other possible candidates for Attorney General are former Sen. Frank Owen of El Paso, Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler, and Harris County District Atty. Frank Briscoe.

U. S. Sen. John Tower told Austin reporters that Texas Republicans will concentrate their statewide efforts on the senate race in 1966, and will field no active candidate for governor. In reference to his own race and local legislative and congressional contests, Tower predicted a good year for the GOP. Announcements this early could mean one of two things: a burned out field by '66 — or several Battles of the Century.

As opponents warm up, only time will tell. From the Capitol Dome and the focal point of all races — Austin — it looks right interesting. Meanwhile, better buy yourself a ticket while still available at the box office — er, poll tax headquarters.

A member of the State Legislature, Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin, is asking Governor Connally to submit proposed revisions in the controversial code to a special session of the Legislature. Complains Armstrong: the revision goes too far in requiring accused persons to be warned of their rights against giving statements to police.

SEEK FEDERAL FUNDS — Twenty-five Texas school districts filed early applications for a share of the $81,000,000 provided under a federal act aimed mainly at helping underprivileged children. Aid will be dispersed at the rate of about $195 a pupil for those from families with incomes of less than $2,000 a year.

First districts applying were Houston, San Antonio, San Angelo, Poteet, Lipan, Fannindale, Paducah, Longview, Dimmitt, Del Valle, Crystal City, Taft, Gonzales, Rochester County line, Dickinson, St. Jo, East Lamar, Cunningham Rural High School, Deport, Laneville, Graham, Jasper, Bandera, Giddings and Witharall.

REDISTRICTING ROW GOES ON — Attorney General Carr and the Republicans still are swapping legal broadsides over congressional redistricting. Carr, in a new brief filed with the Houston federal court, urged judges to give lawmakers another chance at reapportionment in 1967 if the 1965 redistricting act is invalidated. He repeated his earlier opinion that the law adopted this year meets the court's specifications, however, since population variance among the 23 districts is below 15 per cent.

A new GOP brief chides that the redistricting act borders on "sheer lunacy" and demands that it be redone by electrical computers rather than politically-minded legislators.

TOURIST CONFERENCE CALLED — Some 500 Texans are expected to attend a tourist development conference in Austin on October 14. Purpose is to insure better cooperation between state and community efforts to promote travel.

Governor Connally will keynote the sessions. Other speakers will include Joe McCarty, chairman of Texas Tourist Development Agency advisory board; pollster Joe Belden; Kern Tips, TIDA advertising account executive; Tom Taylor, State Highway Department travel and information division head; J. Weldon Watson, Parks and Wildlife Department director; John Ben Shepherd, president of Texas State Historical Survey Committee; and Don Epperson, Texas Tourist Council executive director.

Meetings are open to the public, says TIDA Director Frank Hildebrand.

AG OPINIONS — Attorney General Carr has ruled that either parent may consent to the RUSH-HOUR traffic bothers motorists but its effects are felt more at the airport than on the highway, according to a Federal Aviation Agency report. Surface congestion — inadequate runways, taxiways, ramp space and gate positions — is the principal cause of delay.

JOINT HEARINGS PROPOSED — Legislative budget writers are considering joint hearings by House and Senate committees as a method of abolishing controversial riders to spending bills.

Budget Board staff reviewed for members a long list of governmental studies it has been called on to undertake.

APPOINTMENTS — Thomas E. Riggs, Certified Public Accountant in Austin, has been appointed executive director of the Texas Hospital Association, replacing Bob Burkhardt who joined the staff of the State Department of Health.

Governor Connally has appointed Benjamin Orland Sims of Paint Rock and reappointed M. L. Schulz of Eola and Curtis L. Stevens of Millersview to the Concho River Water and Soil Conservation Authority.

According to recent Texas Employment Commission figures, placements of handicapped workers stood at 28,615, as compared to 26,008 last year.

Democratic Describes The Gabor

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — One thing about the Gabor family, you gotta admit they're democratic.

I mean, look at Eva Gabor, Zsa Zsa's little sister. She is living like a peasant here in Hollywood purely for art's sake as the star of a new television series.

It meant forsaking a New York townhouse, three servants, a limousine and driver, and the luxury of sleeping till noon.

But the beautiful blonde Hungarian is willing to sacrifice almost anything for her art. Now she lives in a Westwood cottage, struggling along with only one servant, arising at 5 a.m. and working until seven in the evening.

I tell you, it takes real dedication to one's artistic integrity. As Eva says: "I haven't been to a single party in the two and a half months I've been here. But I guess things are tough all over."

Actually, Eva's life isn't all that distressing. She does have a swimming pool and a living husband. He is Wall Street stock broker Richard Brown who flies to Hollywood almost every weekend to see his dedicated wife.

"But darling, I am so exhausted by the weekend I want to sleep all the time. I lose five pounds working every week, but I gain it back on Saturday and Sunday eating Hungarian salami and green peppers.

"I also swim in the pool every evening when I get home. The water is so hot you could scramble an egg in it."

As the co-star with Eddie Albert — in CBS-TV's new "Green Acres" series, Eva plays a pampered Manhattan socialite whose nutty husband gives up a prosperous law practice to move to a ramshackle farm in the sticks.

Celanese Sales Hit High Point For Nine Months

LOS ANGELES (SpI) — Celanese Corporation of America expects its earnings to be approximately $3.80 a common share on sales of about $650 million for the nine months ending Sept. 30, James R. Kennedy, vice chairman, said in a talk before The Los Angeles Society of Financial Analysts.

The figures are preliminary; actual third quarter results will be released about October 15.

Both earnings and sales for the period are indicated to be the highest for any nine-month period in the corporation's history, Kennedy said, with earnings about 24 per cent higher and sales some 28 per cent higher than those of the first nine months of 1964. (The increases are based on adjustment of 1964 figures to reflect the poolings of interest of two new subsidiaries last year.)

Celanese is a diversified international chemical company, producing a broad line of chemicals, fibers, plastics, paints and coatings, petroleum and forest products.

Noting that corporate sales have increased by more than 50 per cent over the past four years, Kennedy said Celanese management expects sales to increase at a comparable rate during the years ahead.

In planning for future market needs, Celanese has stepped up its research investments, with 1965 expenditures expected to be about $14 million for research and development and $10 million for related technical and applications work, Kennedy said.

He also reported that the corporation's capital expenditures in the U. S. alone will exceed $100 million annually over the next several years for new plants and equipment. In addition, he said, major expansions are planned in facilities of foreign subsidiaries.

In discussing corporate progress and future prospects, Mr. Kennedy cited the dynamic growth of the chemical industry, whose 1964 sales of $33.6 billion ranked it as the fourth largest U. S. industry behind food and kindred product, transportation and primary metals).
