GREATEST SINCE WAR

Power Rules Big in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — President Humberto Castello Branco governed Brazil today with greater power than any Brazilian chief executive has had since the wartime dictatorship of Getulio Vargas.

Today's newspapers published the terms of the "Institutional Act" Castello decreed Wednesday after Congress failed to approve two constitutional amendments which would have extended his powers.

The 33-article act gives him all the authority the amendments would have—and then some.

It empowers the president to: — Proclaim a six-month "state of siege"—modified martial law — or take over the government of Brazil's 22 states at any time to "prevent or suppress subversion."

— Close Congress or any state legislature at any time.

— Enact laws which automatically become effective in 45 days whether Congress has approved them or not.

— Replace Supreme Court justices at will.

— Deprive individuals of political rights.

The act also empowers military courts to deal with political offenses.

It abolishes political parties and provides that Brazil's next president shall be elected by Congress rather than by popular vote. The election is to be held before Oct. 3, 1966, on a date selected by Castello.

Close surveillance is to be kept on persons deprived of political rights under an institutional act in force last year and their movements are to be restricted. This provision apparently was aimed at ex-President Juscelino Kubitschek, whose Socialist party won gubernatorial elections in two of the nation's most important states this month.

The act is to remain in force until March 15, 1967. Its provisions can be added to or amended by the president at any time.

Justice Minister Juracy Magalhaes assured the nation Wednesday night that Castello will use his powers with moderation.

Donald T. Appell, chief investigator for the committee said the secret group was believed to consist of less than 20 Klansmen. It was not known whether it has carried out any raids, Appell said.

Williams invoked the Fifth Amendment to each question he was asked. Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., later said he had instructed Appell to pursue the matter further.

Before calling Williams, the committee wound up for the time being appearances of officials from the North Carolina realm of the United Klans of America, the largest of several Klan groups under investigation.

Klan Trains 'Underground', Says Prober

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House members today turned their investigation of the Ku Klux Klan to a mysterious "underground" team of South Carolina Klansmen armed with rifles and trained to set off explosives.

Robert F. Scoggins, grand dragon of the state's Klan, was expected to be questioned closely about the group during his scheduled appearance (10 a.m. EDT) before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Scoggins was expected to be called at 10 a.m. EDT.

Whether the committee would get any answers was doubtful. Some members predicted Scoggins would follow the lead of other silent Klan officials who have invoked the Fifth Amendment's guarantee against self-incrimination.

Following Scoggins' appearance the committee planned to call witnesses connected with the Georgia chapter of the United Klans of America.

The "underground" Klan group was first mentioned Wednesday during questioning of Furman B. Williams, a 30-year-old Klansman from Gaffney, S.C.

A 'Small' Loss Of A Little Freedom?

CHESTER, Pa., (UPI) — Mrs. Charles C. Steward likes to pack lunch for her two children to eat at school and doesn't feel she should pay to do it. The school board is equally adamant that the children should eat in the cafeteria — for 35 cents.

The Steward children, Charles Jr., 13, and Peggy, 8, were suspended for three days Tuesday because they brought lunch to the Chester Township School and failed to pay 35 cents for a cafeteria meal. Mrs. Steward said Wednesday she will hire an attorney to fight the suspension.

Robert F. Russell, school board president, said the board recently adopted a policy giving four choices for participation in the school lunch program.

The choices were: Eat a cafeteria 35 cent lunch; Bring lunch to the cafeteria and pay 35 cents anyway; Eat lunch at home; Be suspended.

"It's not that we can't pay 35 cents," Mrs. Steward said. "But the children should have the right to take their lunches without paying for food they don't even eat."

Russell said the board policy was adopted because to qualify for federal funds, total student participation was needed.

He took parents to task, saying "I feel sorry for the children."

But Dr. Neal V. Musmanno, deputy superintendent of the state department of instruction, said Russell's interpretation of the federal requirement was "totally inadequate... grossly in error."

He said the requirement is only that lunches "be made available" to every student.

"We intend to fight this," Mrs. Steward said.

But a slim possibility the mission could be advanced to November was erased Wednesday when agency officials decided on a complete switch of space machinery at Cape Kennedy's launch pad 19.

At first, engineers had hoped to forego the time-consuming task of erecting another booster rocket by using the Titan 2 left over from Monday's abortive attempt to send Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford on a "chase in space" with another satellite.

But, experts said, there was one small although telling difference: The Titan 2 booster planned originally for the Gemini 7 flight proved slightly more powerful than the rocket beneath Schirra and Stafford.

Because Gemini 7 must carry added fuel and water for a 14-day flight as well as equipment for 19 separate experiments, the spaceship will weigh perhaps several hundred pounds more than Gemini 6. It will need all the power it can get to reach the right orbit.

Borman and Lovell, both rookie astronauts, plan to spend (See GEMINI, Page 3)

Next Gemini Launching Set for December 8

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The U.S. Space Agency, sacrificing time for added rocket power, will wait until at least Dec. 8 to launch two astronauts on a trip 209 times around earth.

During the record flight, Gemini 7 pilots Frank Borman and James Lovell will try to "fly in formation" with their orbiting booster rocket, photograph other missiles launched from Earth, and talk with a ground station over a beam of light called a "laser."

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — The White House announced plans today to attempt a December or January rendezvous in space between the manned Gemini 7 and Gemini 6 spacecrafts, each carrying a two-man crew.

Property owners on State Hwy. 152 and U.S. 60 inside the Pampa city limits will meet with the City Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the Palm Room of City Hall.

The meeting will be the second called to obtain options needed for the proposed widening and improvement of Alcock St., East and West Brown Sts. and E. Frederic St., as recommended by the mayor's Highway Improvement Study Committee.

Property owners on S. Cuyler St. along the route of SH 273 met with the commission in a similar meeting Monday night.

Purpose of the meetings is to explain details of the proposed improvements and to obtain 5-year right of way options on properties involved in the proposed improvement.

The city must provide right of way, pay the cost of curb and gutters and drainage. The State Highway Department would provide the highway construction after the projects have been approved and funds appropriated.

Boat Exodus Halted; Airlift Believed Due

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The Cuban government announced today the hazardous small boat exodus to freedom across the choppy Florida Straits will end tonight at midnight.

The announcement apparently paved the way for an orderly airlift of Cubans dissatisfied with Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The planes would land in Florida and most of the refugees would be resettled in other areas of the United States.

The official government announcement from Havana said that the refugee flow would be halted at midnight, but added that all boats docked at the embarkation ports of Camarioca and Vordero would be allowed to leave with their human cargo.

Havana Radio announced Wednesday night that there were "about 200 boats" anchored at the small north coastal Cuban villages waiting to leave.

Two boats arrived early this morning with 17 Cubans aboard and more were on the way.

The Coast Guard in Miami reported one of the boats on the way across the 90-mile straits carried 125 refugees. It was identified as "The Little Moe."

The Coast Guard said today it still was searching for a missing refugee boat, the Esperanza.

"We have one refugee report that the boat may have headed back to Camarioca after running into bad weather," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

A total of 375 refugees arrived here Wednesday in 15 (See CASTRO, Page 3)

THE SEVEN finalists will spend most of the day rehearsing for the nationally televised finale Friday night when Miss Teenage America will be chosen.

Most of the finalists wept, some noisily. Several had to take a moment to compose themselves before they were handed a red rose and had a white sash pinned on them.

"Finalist, Miss Teenage America pageant" was printed on the sashes.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission will send inspection teams within the next few weeks to look over all proposed sites in Texas for a $300 million electron volt national accelerator laboratory.

Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex. of Houston said he was advised the visits will permit the inspection teams "to clarify any uncertainties that may exist and to obtain first hand additional information the proposers may wish to present."

The Texas proposed sites are Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Amarillo, Austin, Lubbock, San Antonio and Odessa.

TEXAS WEATHER

Clear Skies, Mild Temps Prevailing

Clear skies prevailed throughout Texas today with prospects for another day of mild temperatures.

Light variable winds were reported in some sections.

Low temperatures at 6 a.m. ranged from 38 degrees at San Angelo to 62 at Galveston.

Pampa's high yesterday was 72. The overnight low was 44.

No rainfall was measured for the past 24 hours, and forecasters said fair skies with little temperature change would prevail through Friday.

The mercury rose to 85 at Presidio Wednesday. It was 83 at Laredo and 80 at Lufkin.

Dalhart and Amarillo each reported a high of 71.

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—U. S. Marine patrols moved out today in pursuit of Viet Cong units who did an estimated $10 million damage to U. S. planes in simultaneous suicide attacks on two American installations.

The Communists, who destroyed or damaged 47 U. S. aircraft in the midnight attacks, were stopped before reaching their primary target, the main airbase at Da Nang, it was disclosed.

State Game Director Ladd Gordon predicted an excellent season, but he warned hunters to watch their muzzles.

"We don't want any hunter casualties to mar this year's season," he said.

The game department also warned hunters to take extra food and warm clothing on their hunting excursions. It said weather can change abruptly in New Mexico high country.

Gordon said each hunter should leave word with a family member, friend or employer concerning the area where he will hunt.

BELEAGUERED OUTPOST — Wounded defenders of the U.S. Special Forces camp at Ptei Me, South Viet Nam crowd the camp's center compound awaiting medical aid. U.S. and Vietnamese forces have held off a siege of many days duration laid by Viet Cong guerrillas.

For the first time in a week, the defenders were able to shake off clothes, crusty with sweat and dirt, and shave. A U. S. Army Catholic chaplain set up an altar inside the camp on a kitchen table — in the midst of the debris of battle — and blessed the troops.

In the trenches of the outer perimeter, where Montagnard mountain strikers live with their families, a soldier collected a rifle and two hand grenades from his eight year old son. The boy did not want to give them up. He was one of a number of women and children who had fought when the going got tough and the Viet Cong drove right to the barbed wire ringing the camp.

The planes from the Air Force and Navy had made the real difference, at times laying bombs and napalm within a few yards of the camp defenders.

"Those pilots were outstanding, and the flare ships that kept the camp illuminated at night were just great," said U. S. Army Special Forces Major Charles A. Beckwith of Atlanta, Ga.

Beckwith also spoke with respect for the fighting ability of the Viet Cong.

"I wish we could get 200 of those Viet Cong recruited on our side," he said. "They are some of the finest soldiers I have ever seen — except Americans of course. And if those V.C. are underfed, sick and have a low morale, I'd sure hate to fight them when they're well."

Judge Sends Youths to Reformatory

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Nine teen-aged Negroes — six girls and three boys — were ordered Wednesday to reform schools because they were involved on several occasions in civil rights demonstrations.

Walker County Judge Amos Gates ordered the commitments and placed on probation a youth who had not been involved in previous demonstrations.

Judge Gates said he sentenced the youths to the state schools because they were juvenile delinquents who were habitual violators of city ordinances.

Still in the Walker County jail were three adults arrested with the teen-agers Tuesday while picketing the slow rate of desegregation in the Huntsville schools. The white principal of all-Negro Sam Houston High School said the demonstrators were walking down the halls, carrying placards.

CHESTER, Pa., (UPI) — Mrs. Charles C. Steward likes to pack lunch for her two children to eat at school and doesn't feel she should pay to do it. The school board is equally adamant that the children should eat in the cafeteria — for 35 cents.

The Steward children, Charles Jr., 13, and Peggy, 8, were suspended for three days Tuesday because they brought lunch to the Chester Township School and failed to pay 35 cents for a cafeteria meal. Mrs. Steward said Wednesday she will hire an attorney to fight the suspension.

Robert F. Russell, school board president, said the board recently adopted a policy giving four choices for participation in the school lunch program.

The choices were: Eat a cafeteria 35 cent lunch; Bring lunch to the cafeteria and pay 35 cents anyway; Eat lunch at home; Be suspended.

"It's not that we can't pay 35 cents," Mrs. Steward said. "But the children should have the right to take their lunches without paying for food they don't even eat."

Russell said the board policy was adopted because to qualify for federal funds, total student participation was needed.

He took parents to task, saying "I feel sorry for the children."

But Dr. Neal V. Musmanno, deputy superintendent of the state department of instruction, said Russell's interpretation of the federal requirement was "totally inadequate . . . grossly in error."

He said the requirement is only that lunches "be made available" to every student.

"We intend to fight this," Mrs. Steward said.

Next Gemini Launching Set for December 8

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The U.S. Space Agency, sacrificing time for added rocket power, will wait until at least Dec. 8 to launch two astronauts on a trip 209 times around earth.

During the record flight, Gemini 7 pilots Frank Borman and James Lovell will try to "fly in formation" with their orbiting booster rocket, photograph other missiles launched from Earth, and talk with a ground station over a beam of light called a "laser."

BULLETIN
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — The White House announced plans today to attempt a December or January rendezvous in space between the manned Gemini 7 and Gemini 6 spacecrafts, each carrying a two-man crew.

But a slim possibility the mission could be advanced to November was erased Wednesday when agency officials decided on a complete switch of space machinery at Cape Kennedy's launch pad 19.

At first, engineers had hoped to forego the time-consuming task of erecting another booster rocket by using the Titan 2 left over from Monday's abortive attempt to send Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford on a "chase in space" with another satellite.

But, experts said, there was one small although telling difference: The Titan 2 booster planned originally for the Gemini 7 flight proved slightly more powerful than the rocket beneath Schirra and Stafford.

Because Gemini 7 must carry added fuel and water for a 14-day flight as well as equipment for 19 separate experiments, the spaceship will weigh perhaps several hundred pounds more than Gemini 6. It will need all the power it can get to reach the right orbit.

Borman and Lovell, both rookie astronauts, plan to spend (See GEMINI, Page 3)

Boat Exodus Halted; Airlift Believed Due

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The Cuban government announced today the hazardous small boat exodus to freedom across the choppy Florida Straits will end tonight at midnight.

The announcement apparently paved the way for an orderly airlift of Cubans dissatisfied with Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The planes would land in Florida and most of the refugees would be resettled in other areas of the United States.

The official government announcement from Havana said that the refugee flow would be halted at midnight, but added that all boats docked at the embarkation ports of Camarioca and Vordero would be allowed to leave with their human cargo.

Havana Radio announced Wednesday night that there were "about 200 boats" anchored at the small north coastal Cuban villages waiting to leave.

Two boats arrived early this morning with 17 Cubans aboard and more were on the way.

The Coast Guard in Miami reported one of the boats on the way across the 90-mile straits carried 125 refugees. It was identified as "The Little Moe."

The Coast Guard said today it still was searching for a missing refugee boat, the Esperanza.

"We have one refugee report that the boat may have headed back to Camarioca after running into bad weather," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

A total of 375 refugees arrived here Wednesday in 15 (See CASTRO, Page 3)

Second Meeting Set Tonight for Highway Options

Property owners on State Hwy. 152 and U.S. 60 inside the Pampa city limits will meet with the City Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the Palm Room of City Hall.

The meeting will be the second called to obtain options needed for the proposed widening and improvement of Alcock St., East and West Brown Sts. and E. Frederic St., as recommended by the mayor's Highway Improvement Study Committee.

Property owners on S. Cuyler St. along the route of SH 273 met with the commission in a similar meeting Monday night.

Purpose of the meetings is to explain details of the proposed improvements and to obtain 5-year right of way options on properties involved in the proposed improvement.

The city must provide right of way, pay the cost of curb and gutters and drainage. The State Highway Department would provide the highway construction after the projects have been approved and funds appropriated.

NEW MEXICO

Hunting 'Boom' Expected

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—An estimated 40,000 to 45,000 hunters will take to the mountains Saturday to open the 1965 deer season in northern New Mexico.

State Game Director Ladd Gordon predicted an excellent season, but he warned hunters to watch their muzzles.

"We don't want any hunter casualties to mar this year's season," he said.

The game department also warned hunters to take extra food and warm clothing on their hunting excursions. It said weather can change abruptly in New Mexico high country.

Gordon said each hunter should leave word with a family member, friend or employer concerning the area where he will hunt.

The Saturday opening date also opens the 1965 season on wild turkey in Northern New Mexico, with a season limit of (See HUNTING, Page 3)

U.S. Marines

Chase Cong

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—U. S. Marine patrols moved out today in pursuit of Viet Cong units who did an estimated $10 million damage to U. S. planes in simultaneous suicide attacks on two American installations.

The Communists, who destroyed or damaged 47 U. S. aircraft in the midnight attacks, were stopped before reaching their primary target, the main airbase at Da Nang, it was disclosed.

For the first time in a week, the defenders were able to shake off clothes, crusty with sweat and dirt, and shave. A U. S. Army Catholic chaplain set up an altar inside the camp on a kitchen table — in the midst of the debris of battle — and blessed the troops.

In the trenches of the outer perimeter, where Montagnard mountain strikers live with their families, a soldier collected a rifle and two hand grenades from his eight year old son. The boy did not want to give them up. He was one of a number of women and children who had fought when the going got tough and the Viet Cong drove right to the barbed wire ringing the camp.

The planes from the Air Force and Navy had made the real difference, at times laying bombs and napalm within a few yards of the camp defenders.

"Those pilots were outstanding, and the flare ships that kept the camp illuminated at night were just great," said U. S. Army Special Forces Major Charles A. Beckwith of Atlanta, Ga.

Beckwith also spoke with respect for the fighting ability of the Viet Cong.

"I wish we could get 200 of those Viet Cong recruited on our side," he said. "They are some of the finest soldiers I have ever seen — except Americans of course. And if those V.C. are underfed, sick and have a low morale, I'd sure hate to fight them when they're well."

Cong Siege Lifted . . . By 'Horsemen'

By JOSEPH GALLOWAY
PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (UPI)—It looked more like a moonscape — bleak, desolate, forbidding.

Cautiously, we walked west of this American Special Forces camp. There was only an occasional sniper shot. The Communists were pulling out. For the first time in a week, the camp was secure.

The First Air Cavalry dropped onto the perimeter of this triangular shaped camp. The "flying horsemen" were determined to recapture Chu Ho hill, a strategic post three miles to the west.

The Viet Cong first struck here more than a week ago, overrunning and wiping out the forward outpost location. They had gone through hell to keep it, but now they had left.

Huge areas of trees had been denuded of foliage by the pounding of American planes and artillery. There were great patches of seared earth from napalm, and huge craters — some 200 feet deep and 20 to 30 feet across — from 1,000 pound bombs. And there were still a few bodies.

At Chu Ho hill, we found three of the South Vietnamese soldiers who had been killed when the Viet Cong overran it week ago. There were three Viet Cong bodies, badly mangled and burned from the air strikes.

While the air cavalry continued its mopping up operation, checking the dozens of bunkers, hundreds of fox holes and many spider traps and machinegun positions, it was a time for brief relaxation back at the camp

Seven Pretty Teen-Agers Are Finalists

DALLAS (UPI)—Seven pretty teen-agers were chosen finalists in the Miss Teenage America contest during a tearful, noisy meeting in a hotel ballroom.

The seven survivors from among 60 candidates from all over the country were: Cynthia Anne Byrum, 17, of Charlotte, N.C.; Linda Sullivan, 17, of Dallas; Judy Jacob, 17, of Detroit; Colette Agnes Dalute, 16, of New York City; Deborah Mary Sale, 17, of Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Carol Ann Hare, 16, of San Antonio, and Le Anne Davidson Turner, 16, of Tulsa, Okla.

As each name was announced in the ballroom, contestants shrieked loudly. Those near the finalists hugged and squeezed them.

Most of the finalists wept, some noisily. Several had to take a moment to compose themselves before they were handed a red rose and had a white sash pinned on them.

"Finalist, Miss Teenage America pageant" was printed on the sashes.

The seven finalists will spend most of the day rehearsing for the nationally televised finale Friday night when Miss Teenage America will be chosen.

AEC Inspection Teams Will View All Texas Sites

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission will send inspection teams within the next few weeks to look over all proposed sites in Texas for a $300 million electron volt national accelerator laboratory.

Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., of Houston said he was advised the visits will permit the inspection teams "to clarify any uncertainties that may exist and to obtain first hand additional information the proposers may wish to present."

The Texas proposed sites are Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Amarillo, Austin, Lubbock, San Antonio and Odessa.

TEXAS WEATHER

Clear Skies, Mild Temps Prevailing

Clear skies prevailed throughout Texas today with prospects for another day of mild temperatures.

Light variable winds were reported in some sections.

Low temperatures at 8 a.m. ranged from 38 degrees at San Angelo to 62 at Galveston.

Pampa's high yesterday was 72. The overnight low was 44. No rainfall was measured for the past 24 hours, and forecasters said fair skies with little temperature change would prevail through Friday.

The mercury rose to 85 at Presidio Wednesday. It was 83 at Laredo and 80 at Lufkin. Dalhart and Amarillo each reported a high of 71.

CONVENIENT — To make it easy for people on their normal shopping rounds to help the Salvation Army help those in need, two boxes have been strategically located for clothing, shoes and small housewares. One is at the Coronado Shopping Center and another at Ideal Food Store Number One. Pampa's Salvation Army Advisory Board, represented here by Kirk Duncan, right, made the boxes possible. Captain Robert Tritton, shown here with Duncan, pointed out that it is still possible to call the Salvation Army number for pickup of items too large for these boxes.

Life Insurance
Class to Start
Saturday Morning

Jack L. Rose, assistant district manager for American National Insurance Company in Pampa, has been selected to instruct a class this fall in the Life Underwriter Training Council's course in life insurance training, according to an announcement today by D. F. Crowder, chairman.

The course is designed to help career life underwriters keep abreast of latest developments in life insurance and to broaden their knowledge and skills. The 25-week course is one part of a two-year program. Classes are held weekly on Saturday mornings from October 16 May with each period packed to cover 2 1/2 hours. The first class is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday at the American National offices, 916 W. Kentucky St.

An active participant in area life insurance affairs, Rose is secretary-treasurer of the local Life Underwriter's Association and completed his LUTC work in 1959. Rose attended Pampa High School and Frank Phillips Junior College before entering the life insurance business in 1955.

Rose recently attended a two-day regional conference for instructors in Oklahoma City, where he reviewed basic teaching techniques.

The Council, better known as LUTC, has provided the training program since 1947. More than 24,000 students were enrolled throughout the 50 states and Puerto Rico in 1,345 classes during the 1964-65 school year. The course is sponsored locally by the Pampa Association with the cooperation of LUTC's national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Ten Million Tagged for Texas Bases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly $10 million will be set aside for construction projects at three Texas air bases.

Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring will get $1,270,000 for a flight training facility, a warehouse, bachelor officers quarters and a mess hall.

Lackland AFB at San Antonio will get $6,960,000 for air-conditioning, a recruit training and housing facility, bachelor officer quarters, a service club, a library and alteration of electrical lines.

Laredo AFB will get $1,750,000 for a radar turntable, airfield lighting, a repair shop, dining hall, bachelor officers quarters, chapel annex and a theater.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Nothing could stem the panicked flight of those first 1,000 Cuban refugees.

Fidel Castro miraculously had opened the door, but to those from whom faith long since had departed, he still could change his mind.

And so, despite President Johnson's plea that their exodus from Communist Cuba be an orderly one and that they wait until agreements could be worked out, they risked death in overcrowded small boats to cross the choppy Florida Straits for freedom in the United States.

Those first arrivals — their number in the end may swell to 50,000 — demonstrated both the poverty of the Castro philosophy and of the island he promised to turn into a Communist paradise.

Each carried but one suitcase. All other property had been signed over to the state.

They answered questions reluctantly, and glanced about them when they did. For in Cuba talk can be one of the worst crimes of all.

UPI correspondent Matthew T. Kenny, observing the flow of these Cuban self-exiles, declared it to be "about the worst I've seen."

"Things," he said, "really must be fouled up down there. It was not meant as a cold description of tragedy, but rather as a simple statement of fact and it added another mystery to the deepening mysteries of the Castro regime. Just what was Castro's real purpose in permitting such exposure of the failure of his regime?"

Under previous policy he had sent his Russian-built Mig jets to machinegun the small boats

Automation May Be Blessing For Nation's Older Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Automation and changes in the economy may be more of a blessing than a curse for older workers, a Harvard economist said this week.

Prof. John T. Dunlop, chairman of Harvard University's Economics Department, said older persons probably have only one major disadvantage in applying for new job opportunities —less formal education than younger persons.

Dunlop made the statement in a paper presented at a two-day conference on manpower policy for older workers sponsored by the National Council on Aging.

Job requirements for physical effort and strength have decreased, Dunlop said. Government figures show that laborers' jobs fell from 14.7 per cent of the male labor force in 1900 to 7.8 per cent in 1960, he noted.

Maintenance, clerical, technical and professional jobs are becoming more significant, he said, adding that older workers are able to perform better and for longer periods in such occupations than in factory jobs.

Dunlop described rapidly growing sectors of the economy — state and local government, services, trade and finance — as probably more favorable for older workers than mining, construction and manufacturing, in which employment is dropping.

Finally, Dunlop said, the expected shifts in location of industries to warmer climates in Florida, California, Texas and the Southwest is a favorable indicator for older job seekers.

Dunlop suggested that private and public employers provide more part-time jobs for older workers.

Two persons may be able to share a single job, he said, if each takes responsibility for half of the working time. In occupations such as teaching, he said, a shorter work year might be arranged.

The Harvard faculty member also urged extending jobless benefits for long-service employees.

Teachers Union Growth Defined By President

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—The president of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said today the group had grown from a protest organization "to an organization of power."

Charles Cogen, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Albuquerque Federation of Teachers, said union locals, once small, were "making themselves heard only by objecting dramatically and loudly."

The locals, Cogen said, "are now often big, strong, and officially recognized" as having the task of "being critical of school conditions" and "recommending improvements for them."

carrying those attempting to escape Cuba.

From Kenny, UPI Latin American Editor Francis L. McCarthy and State Department correspondent Stewart Hensley in Washington came this consensus:

—An attempt to embarrass the United States which can scarcely refuse shelter but now must add to the $200 million it already has spent in care and resettlement of Cuban refugees. —It gives him some relief from the growing unrest of a people ill-housed and ill-fed.

—He takes a page from the book of other Iron Curtain nations, ridding himself of the aged and the non-producing while retaining those physically fit for his army and for bringing in the crops.

—He can use the sudden exodus to spot check the loyalties

To Insure Good Eating Sportsmen Should Learn to Care for 'Prizes'

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With increased wages, the shortened work week and the congestion of much city and suburb living, more and more people turn to the outdoors (or what is left of it) for their recreation. Hunting and fishing are no longer rich men's pleasures. Public hunting and fishing grounds are available to all sportsmen. Modern highway systems open many areas to sportsmen within hours of their homes.

Great numbers of men, women and children are returning to nature as a means of recreation, with the side effect that hundreds of pounds of game and fish are appearing on today's dinner tables, according to a report from the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science at New Jersey's Rutgers University.

To insure good eating, all sportsmen should learn how to care correctly for their "prize," the report adds, giving the following advice on care of venison:

Prompt care of the animal helps insure high quality meat. The first thing to do once the deer has been shot is to bleed it. The more blood that is drained out, the better the meat will keep. Dress out the deer promptly and carefully. Remove the offal and wipe out the body cavity well with a dry cloth or dry leaves. Don't use water because wet meat spoils more quickly than dry. Keep the heart, liver and tongue, because they make nutritious, palatable dishes. The liver makes good eating while in camp.

Harlan Brumsted, wildlife management specialist at Cornell University, stresses cool-

Yams Brighten Halloween Dinner

BLACK-EYED SUSAN YAMS make a colorful dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Due largely to research at Louisiana State University, the state's yams have grown bigger and richer every year. Nutritionally, these yams are an excellent source of vitamin A, a vitamin often lacking in American diets, and a good source of vitamin C.

For Halloween dinner, when gay colors are called for, this Black-Eyed Susan Yam Casserole is a good choice.

BLACK-EYED SUSAN YAMS (Serves 4 to 6)

1 jar (1 pound, 4 ounces) chunky apples and apricots
1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
4 medium Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and quartered; or 2 cans (1 pound each) Louisiana yams, drained

Combine apples and apricots, raisins and spices. Pour over yams in shallow baking dish. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 15 to 20 minutes.

SURPRISE STUFFED YAMS (Serves 4 to 6)

4 medium Louisiana yams

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 can (2 1/4 ounces) deviled ham

Bake yams in 350-degree (moderate) oven one hour, or until tender. Scoop out yams, leaving 1/4-inch shells. Reserve shells. Mash yams with butter, sour cream, salt and pepper.

Place half the yam mixture in yam shells; top with 1 teaspoon deviled ham; cover with remaining yam mixture. Bake in 350-degree oven about 15 minutes, or until thoroughly heated.

Food Buying Guide
The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Week-end shoppers generally should find ample supplies of fall harvest fruits and vegetables.

Turkey and poultry supplies continue to be high, and a careful shopper can find good buys on specials in other meats.

Check the meat counters for buys on roasts, steaks, bacon, and ground meat. Broiler-fryers and turkeys continue to be good buys in most areas—ready for the holiday season.

Vegetables buys are brussels sprouts, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, onions, po-

Difference of Cheese Is Milk Used

NEW YORK (UPI)—Blue cheese has been made in the United States since the turn of the century, but the first commercial production of the blue-veined cheese was in 1935, says the American Blue Cheese Association. It differs from the French roquefort, in that the latter is made from sheep's milk, and the former, from cow's milk. Like most hard cheeses, both are best served at room temperature, but stored at the average refrigerator temperature of 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Chicken is one of the less expensive meals and at the same time, its protein content is higher than almost all other meats.

Keep French or Italian bread in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. If it's kept in a bread box, it will dry out.

Keep Packaged Cold Cuts Cool

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — Is it necessary to keep packaged cold cuts in the refrigerator?

A — Yes. Here's the advice of a New York State Co-operative Extension Service: "Keep cold cuts in the refrigerator, tightly wrapped so that the surface does not dry out. Many cold cuts are sold in vacuum wrapped packages. These packages have had the air removed. Vacuum wrapped meats keep several weeks if the seal is not broken. After opening, use within 2 or 3 days.

"Use sliced luncheon meats, bologna and liver sausage within 3 days for maximum quality. Unsliced bologna and liver sausage may be kept longer, 4 to 6 days. Uncut dry and semidry sausage may be held in the refrigerator for 2 to 3 weeks."

Q — Will potatoes be more plentiful and cheaper than they have been?

A — The Department of Agriculture recently reported that the fall crop forecast runs greater than last year. Total 1965 output is estimated at 18 per cent larger than 1964. Sweet potatoes should be 12 per cent above last year.

With so many potatoes available, you can reasonably expect lower prices.

If your cheese comes wrapped in foil or waxed material, don't remove the wrapper. Just slice through it as you use the cheese.

Dear Abby... Young Divorcee Needs To Seek Help Now

DEAR ABBY: I am sure you have never received a problem like this in your entire career. I am a 24-year-old divorcee, and the mother of two children, ages 5 and 3. I live alone, support myself and up until I met this young man I have lived a very respectable life. The living man I am in love with is 16 years old. He is a nice person and lives at home with his family, who know nothing of this. I am well aware that this is completely wrong, and I make no apologies for it, but I can't help myself. I love him. I suppose you are wondering how a 24-year-old woman in her right mind could be "in love" with a 16-year-old kid. Believe me, I am sane and am not a tramp.

The problem is that I think I am expecting his child. I do not want to hurt this boy in any way, Abby. I would die before I would reveal his name. He is much too young to marry, but if I am pregnant, I want to keep the baby in hopes of marrying him later. If this is found out, could I be put in jail and my children taken from me? I would go to a lawyer but I am afraid he might press charges. Help me!

"LOOKS LIKE 17"
DEAR LOOKS: Go to a lawyer. He will protect you and advise you of your rights and obligations. Confide in him and have no fear.

DEAR ABBY: I have not been able to find a satisfactory answer to something that has bothered me for a long time. Maybe you can help me. How does a person know when to tip and when not to?

For instance, the carry-out boys at the supermarket. Do they get paid by the market, or do they expect tips? How about doormen at swanky restaurants and hotels who do nothing but open the door for you?

I once spent the weekend at the country home of a friend. The maid made my bed and pressed my clothes and I felt that I should have given her something, but I wasn't sure it was proper so I didn't. Also I tried to tip a hairdresser once and he informed me indignantly that he was the owner of the shop and didn't accept tips. Is there any rule to follow?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: Yes. Common sense. If you assume that almost everyone who serves the public depends on tips, you'll be right. (I happen to dislike this system, but it's true nevertheless.) When in doubt, ask.

Doormen should be tipped if they perform a special service such as hailing a taxi, or handling luggage. All beauty operators should be tipped. (Most shop owners will decline.) Servants in the home of friends deserve a gratuity for extra service. (It's not expected, but usually appreciated.) If there is a no tipping sign, don't attempt to violate it.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the southpaw problem: Can you tell me if Vladimir Horowitz, Arthur Rubinstein, or Leonard Penna-rio are ambidextrous? Also, can you tell me if Jascha Heifetz, Yehudi Menuhin and Gregor Piatigorsky are left-handed?

If those hard-working people can accomplish such miracles with both hands with equal ease, can't those natural - born lefties master the simple art of writing with their right hands without developing an assortment of emotional problems?

CURIOUS IN INGLEWOOD
DEAR CURIOUS: We would all probably amaze ourselves with the "talents" we could develop if we had to. When one loses a right hand, he can learn

Group Enjoys Party in Lefors

LEFORS (Sp) - The "Go-Get-Em" Training Union Class of First Baptist Church met Thursday evening in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Ed. Spivey for a hamburger try.

Guests enjoyed cokes and hamburgers with all the trimmings, cooked over a hickory grill.

Following the meal, a birthday cake inscribed "Geraldine and Ed" was presented as a surprise for the hosts by members of the class.

After the meal, guests enjoyed visitation and games.

Those present were Mimes, and Messrs. James Harvey, Darrel Roundtree, J. M. McPherson, H. L. Teel, Walter Jackson, the hosts and six children.

to write with his left. If both hands are gone, even the feet can substitute. But few learn Braille until they're sightless.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PUZZLED IN ATHENS": It is said that "Diogenes struck the father when the son swore." Does that answer your question?

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Use a cloth wrung out of warm soap or detergent suds to wash off the housing and stand of your electric mixer before putting it away. Rinse the same way and wipe it dry with a soft cloth.

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming
and interests.

Q. I have a course this year that's extra hard. I study and study, but I still don't understand it. Is there anything I can do to learn more quickly?

A. Maybe you're spending too much time studying—at one time, that is. Try to cover the material in half the time it usually takes you. Underscore important points. Take outline notes. Then study another subject for a while and come back to the extra hard one after that. Go over the same material again. You'll already have a basic understanding the second time, and will be able to pick up details you missed the first time through. Then review your notes. Budget your time, then make the most of your study hours!

Q. My room is so dull, it's depressing. Can you suggest anything to brighten it up a bit?

A. Cheer up your room and your mood! Make a huge bulletin board for one wall by covering beaver board with an adhesive covering in your school colors. Then arrange pennants, party favors, or pictures on it. If you like to sew, why not make new curtains in a cheery print or stripe? With a little imagination, you can have the brightest room in the house.

Q. I'm chairman of the decorations committee for an all-school party, and have to decorate the whole gym. I want to do something different, but can't think of a thing that's new. Please, rush any ideas!

A. How about a pop art party? It's really easy because just about anything can be pop art. All you need is plenty of huge pieces of paper, big brushes, and poster paint in bright colors. Recruit lots of friends (they don't need artistic talent for this). Tell them to paint a huge picture of something they might find in a grocery store—pretzels, soft drinks, oranges, apples, a cider jug, donuts, pumpkins—anything that is colorful and simple. Then cut them out and put them up around the walls, or hang them from gym equipment. You may find that decorating is as much fun as the party itself!

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

For FRIDAY, Oct. 29
GENERAL TENDENCIES — After some irritating early a.m. event you have a beautiful day for whatever has to do with getting your affairs in order. Your care and solid structure. Your own intelligent appraisal of them and making foundational changes are essential if you are to have conditions best suited to your situation.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You can get your affairs so arranged that you gain greater prestige with bigwigs. Those who have authority over you. Show image of prosperity with others. Don't complain. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You have to have a more practical outlook if you are to increase benefits — listen to those whose ideas differ from yours. Some new course should be studied thoroughly. Be open-minded.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You have an excellent lunch how to get bills, etc. handled precisely, so follow it. Get duties out of the way quickly. Evening can then be very happy with loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Get those problems tactfully settled with partners or those who are your competitors today. Show a very co-operative attitude. Then you can get new contracts.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Stop living in the world of imagination now and get right down to the practical work awaiting you. Cope with dissatisfaction on workers. Set a good example for them to follow.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Fine day for going about calling on those persons you truly admire and having a good time in general. Improve health and appearance first. Get work out of the way very early.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — Concentrate on whatever will please those who dwell under your roof. Buy what

Two Proposals Have Broad Interest Range

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI) — Educators, students and taxpayers all have a vital interest in two of the 10 constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 2—proposals to raise taxes for college buildings and to establish an $85 million student loan fund.

Both amendments are receiving enthusiastic support from the education community, but somewhat less favorable views from other quarters.

Proposition No. 1 would raise the state ad valorem (property) tax levy from 42 to 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The money would go in a special fund to be used only for construction of college buildings.

The present levy for this fund is five cents and goes for construction at 12 schools. The new levy would be 10 cents for the benefit of 17 institutions. Schools added to the eligibility list would be Arlington State, Midwestern, University of Houston, Pan American and Angelo State College.

The student loan amendment, proposition No. 6, allows the state to sell up to $85 million worth of bonds at interest not to exceed 4 per cent.

The money thus raised would be used to make loans to students at public or private junior and senior colleges. The plan would be administered by the coordinating board for higher education, but the individual schools would make the loans.

The coordinating board unanimously endorsed both amendments. They also have been endorsed by various organizations of college administrators and trustees.

Coordinating board chairman John Gray of Beaumont said "these two amendments go hand in hand" because if the loan program encourages more students to go to college, "we'll have to put roofs over their heads."

The main objection to the building fund is that its money comes from highly unpopular ad valorem taxes. Opponents say approval of the amendment would have the effect of strengthening a tax that almost everyone wants to get rid of.

Because of widely varying rates of assessment in different counties, some property owners will be charged several times as much as others in counties with low assessment ratios, opponents argue.

A proponent, Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, counters with the assertion that the tax increase is so small it could cost the owner of a $20,000 house more than $1 a year no matter how high his assessment.

Crowded Field

Reservations about the student loan amendment focus on the desirability of state government getting into a field already served by the federal government and private lending.

Although the terms under which the money would be

STUDENTS FROM PAMPA WILL DEMONSTRATE — West Texas State University students are enthusiastically supporting Amendment 1, which will be among a number of amendments to the state constitution before the public Nov. 2 for vote. Amendment 1 provides funds for construction of classroom buildings on state-supported college campuses. Getting ready to "picket" for the Amendment are Jim Crinklaw, Sue Wiens, and Judi Kitto, all of Pampa. Crinklaw is a senior, Miss Wiens a senior, and Miss Kitto a sophomore.

Employment Tax Returns Are Due

Pampa area employers were reminded today that November 1, 1965, is an important tax date. District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell, Jr. said it is the deadline for reporting and paying income tax withheld and social security taxes for the calendar quarter ended September 30, 1965.

Employers should use Form 941 to report their tax liability for that period, and mail it, along with depository receipts and full payment of taxes due, to District Director of Internal Revenue, 1600 Patterson at N. Ervay, Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Campbell said that taxpayers who made timely deposits of taxes due for the quarter in a Federal Bank or an authorized commercial bank have until November 10, 1965, to file returns.

Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide", which furnishes detailed information on this subject is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

In 1919, following the lead of the House, the Senate passed the Volstead Prohibition Enforcement Act over the veto of President Wilson.

available to students are not spelled out in the amendment, opponents note that the state will be paying up to 5 per cent on the bonds and thus could not possibly match the 3 per cent interest rate charged student borrowers under the national defense education act.

The state's bankers have taken no official position, but some oppose the amendment on grounds they can provide the loans privately on terms as good or better than those offered by the state.

MIGHTY SMOOTH

(New Turbo-Jet V8)

(Even softer Jet-smooth ride)

NOW! '66 CHEVROLET JET-SMOOTHER IMPALA

If you go by first impressions, you could get the idea this clean-honed new '66 is more car than you ever got in an Impala before. And you'd be right.

Take Chevrolet's newest V8's, for instance. They're based on the famed Turbo-Jet design with aircraft-type valves, freer breathing valve openings and other advances that deliver more efficient power than ever before.

Result: You can now order a 396-cubic-inch version with 325 hp. Or you can go for a 427-cubic-inch Turbo-Jet with up to 425 hp.

The ride, too, has reached a new Jet-smooth level of comfort. Chevrolet engineers went over the whole frame and body structure, refining here, honing there. They installed softer acting shock absorbers and even gave each body style its own specially tailored Full Coil springs.

And there's more in the way of those little extras—that come as standard equipment. Like backup lights, padded sun visors and instrument panel, outside rear-view mirror and windshield washer. More in the way of custom features you can order, too, including front-seat headrests, AM-FM stereo and automatic Comforton heating and air conditioning.

How come so many improvements have been made in a car that was already America's solid favorite? That, as you'll see when you check this one out at your dealer's, is what keeps it the favorite. Improvements.

See the new '66 Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette at your Chevrolet dealer's.

American Civilian Is Captured While Making Daring Scooter Trip

SAIGON (UPI)—An American civilian has been kidnapped by Viet Cong guerrillas while making a daring attempt to travel 200 miles up the South Vietnamese coast by motorscooter.

U. S. Embassy officials identified the missing man as Joe L. Dodd, 24, whose next of kin was identified as his stepfather, Homer Dodd, of Box 3, P. O. Okla. Embassy records showed Dodd was born in Lockney, Tex.

Dodd, an employee of the Raymond Morrison - Knudsen Construction Co., was reported missing after leaving Saigon Oct. 13 on a motorscooter with the intention of driving to Cam Ranh Bay.

Vietnamese police said Dodd was stopped by guerrillas on a highway in Long Khanh Province, about 50 miles north of Saigon and was last seen being led across a rice field. His motorscooter was later recovered. The police did not give the exact date of Dodd's capture by the Communists.

WAR APPRAISAL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former U.S. ambassador to Saigon, believes American military forces have "recaptured the initiative" in Viet Nam and are likely to keep it.

Kidney Transplant Patient Serious

DENVER (UPI)—Jose S. Nunez, 38, of El Paso, Tex., was in serious condition at University of Colorado Medical Center today after undergoing his second kidney transplant in less than two years.

Doctors said the kidney Nunez received in a four-hour operation Tuesday night had not started to function fully. The kidney was obtained from a 17-year-old youth, who died half an hour before the operation.

Nunez underwent a kidney transplant at the center Jan. 4

RESEARCHER ILL

VIENNA (UPI)—Dr. Hans Moritsch, Austria's foremost virus researcher, lies critically ill today, a victim of his own experiments.

Moritsch, 41, collapsed in his laboratory 12 days ago while conducting tests with animals and is believed suffering from the virus he was trying to isolate and define.

In 1918, the Czechoslovakia National Committee in Prague proclaimed the independence of the Republic of Czechoslovakia.

Back to the Bicycle

NEW YORK (UPI)—William F. Buckley Jr., the Conservative Party candidate for mayor and editor of National Review, offered an "ultra-reactionary" solution to New York's traffic problems Wednesday — bicycles.

Buckley suggested the city build "bikeways" 20 feet above each side of the street with parking areas for the bikes on every block.

Two Pampa Gridders Set for Frosh Game

Jim Brumley and Terry Goodwin from Texas Tech, both of Pampa, will participate when Texas A&M and Texas Tech play the second freshman football game in the history of the schools at Sweetwater's Mustang Bowl on Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m. under the auspices of Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce athletic events committee. Tech won last year's game 27-17 at Midland.

Plans are underway for a meeting of A&M and Tech Alumni before the game, including a barbecue dinner. Thousands are expected from West Texas alone to the Alumni meeting and game. Arrangements are under the supervision of Ed Aiken Jr. and Walter Maloney of Sweetwater, co-chairman of the committee and Tech Alumni.

The A&M team will reach Sweetwater the morning of Nov. 13. Tech's team will arrive later in the afternoon. Mustang Bowl, which will hold 7,000 football fans, is expected to be full for the game. Tickets are $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for students (both high school and college). Officials are members of Sweetwater officials association.

Coaches of high school teams in a 100 mile radius have been invited to bring their teams to Sweetwater for the game. High school teams will be admitted free when accompanied by their coach.

Texas Tech, by a flip of the coin, was selected as home team for the event. Tickets for the game go on sale Nov. 1. Tickets will be sold by section with no reserve seats. Center sections will go on sale first. There are 2800 center section seats.

Texas A&M exes associations are contacting former graduates to attend the event, as are Texas Tech exes groups. Final plans for Alumni group seating and barbecue will be made as former students are contacted.

Rambling With Red

RON CROSS

Maybe none of the football boys were stirred up over our Sunday story, written in an attempt to make them mad, so maybe they would win a football game but it did cause enough concern in coach Don Myers house for Mrs. Myers to write the following letter:

"This is a watchbird watching football fans. They come in a wide assortment of sizes, shapes, and types; and the watchbird becomes very amused and confused and sometimes even frustrated."

There is one football fan — a very rare type. He is interested and concerned. He knows that there are many problems connected with the football program at Pampa High School — problems that have accumulated through years of losing, and he cares enough to find out what some of them are and he knows a lot of other people are working very hard to try to do the same thing. This fan likes football; he likes football players; he even likes football coaches.

Here is another type! He is enthusiastic! He does not know what the problems are or maybe even care, but he likes crowds and excitement and bands and black coffee and maybe even football a little. He cheers when he is pleased, and he shouts things at the referees and the coaches and even the players themselves when he is not pleased, but they don't care because they don't hear. But this fan is enthusiastic; he might even pat one of the players on the back if we win!

The watchbird sees still another kind of football fan. He is loyal! This fan comes in various types, but they all have one thing in common—their loyalty. These include parents who drive long distances to attend games, and they soothe aches and pains and wounded pride when we lose and share the excitement when we win. They include cheerleaders who plan rallies and lead yells and make posters and think up slogans like, "One hundred per cent effort!" and cry when we win games because they are happy and cry when we lose because they're not happy. They include students who beat drums all night when we win and get mad and swear to back the teams with even more vigor when we lose. They include teachers who help with activities and decorations and skits and all sorts of things and give little thought to winning or losing, just that "kids" are involved and "kids" matter. But winning and losing matters too. It matters a great deal!

Then here is the kind who really doesn't care at all. He just shakes his head sadly as he leaves the stadium and says, "Tut! Tut! Pampa has never won! Guess we never will!"

And there are other kinds — the fickle ones who love us when we win and hate us when we lose. When their egos can't stand the strain of losing, they grumble and complain and make excuses. Some of them even write their sarcastic and cynical remarks in newspapers, with no thought of accomplishing anything at all.

I am a football fan!
I like football!
I like football players!
I like football coaches—
I even married one!

This is a watchbird watching football fans! What kind of football fan are you?"

Sincerely,
Mrs. Don Myers

Youth Center Seeking Basketball Teams

The Pampa Youth and Community Center will again sponsor a Men's and a Women's basketball league this winter. Both leagues will be open to the first eight teams who pay their entry fee. Entry fee is $30 plus fees will be determined by the team managers.

All entry fees must be into the Center office by 8 p.m. Nov. 22. At this time an organizational meeting will be held to draw up playing schedules and dates. The manager should attend this meeting. League play will tentatively start around the week of Dec. 1.

In the Men's League a referee's committee consisting of the manager of each team will be formed. This committee will have the responsibility of (1) selecting the referees for each game (2) setting the fee $46.

Wellington Defense To Test Buck Offense

Defense has been the pride of Wellington's footballers this season and White Deer's vaunted offense will have a chance to prove its worth when the two foes tangle at White Deer Friday night.

Both teams are unbeaten, but Wellington has been tied once and by all things, a team from across the Red River.

The Skyrockets and Hollis, Okla. fought to a 0-0 draw in the second game of the season.

The Bucks have run through seven teams without trouble, with the exception of Gruver, which held White Deer to a 7-0 win.

Other than this the Bucks have scored 25 or more points in every game and 40 or more in every game but one.

The Bucks defense is plenty to brag about also. Defensively White Deer has posted four shutouts and have given up more than one touchdown in but one game, last week against Clarendon.

The Bucks are averaging giving up 3.8 points per game and are scoring at a 36.3 per game clip.

But Wellington is the master in the defense department.

The Skyrockets have been scored on only once, in their third game of the season against Shamrock.

In their other six games Wellington has posted nothing but zeros for the opposition and have a sparkling .9 defensive average.

Scoring wise the Skyrockets have posted a 28.3 per game average. Defense will be the key at White Deer Friday night.

Also in 2-A Friday night Canadian will try to snap a seven game losing streak when the Wildcats host Memphis, winner of five of seven contests and McLean will attempt to break their 2-game losing streak against Clarendon at McLean.

Another big showdown battle looms in the Panhandle Friday night. This one at Groom.

Wheeler and Groom, like Wellington and White Deer, meet in a game that will probably decide who the 5-B champion will be.

Both are undefeated but Groom was fought to a 0-0 tie with Claude.

The Mustangs have won 19 in six games. The only team to score over eight points against Wheeler was Mangum, Okla. in the Mustangs season opener.

The Mustangs have a 32.1 offensive average and sport a 3.8 defensive average.

Harvesters to Face Another Good Passer Saturday Night

One thing you can just about count on Lubbock not doing against anybody is fumbling. The Westerners have fumbled but one time in four league games.

They have been only so-so in conference action, winning two of four games and four of six for the season.

In conference play the Westerners have managed only a 13.7 offensive average while giving up 16.7 points per game.

Pampa, bedded down in last place with Borger in the 3-4 cellar, has a 10.6 offensive average in league play and the Harvesters have given up 22.8 points per contest.

Lubbock has but two starters back from 1964 in right end Don Burrell, a 165-pounder and half-back Roy Farmer, a 155-pounder.

The Westerners do have one of the best quarterbacks in 3-4, which this year has an abundance of them, make no mistake about that.

Busty Underwood, a long-rangy 175-pounder has thrown the football 50 times in Lubbock's four conference games.

Twenty-seven of these times he has been on the money, but only one has gone for a touchdown. Three have been intercepted.

If Underwood isn't enough the Westerners have another shotgun arm in Rob Lane, who takes over when Underwood is not hitting.

Lane has thrown five times, connected three times for 56 yards. Underwood has piled up 480 yards with his passing.

Now, it's no secret the Pampa pass defense has been terrible, but things can change, especially in high school football.

Desire is 90 per cent of football and in practice sessions this week the Harvesters have shown a lot of it. Their pass defense has improved somewhat, also.

Coach Eural Ramsey said his charges have shown renewed fire and vigor, something they lacked last week.

"I think we'll be up for this one," Ramsey said, adding, "we just weren't ready for Plainview last week but we'll be ready this week."

Getting back to the Westerners, Farmer will do most of the running, when the passes aren't connecting, and run he will do.

In four games Farmer has carried 51 times for 266 yards, an average of 5.2 per carry. His running mate Ronnie Young, a 180 pound fullback has picked up 154 yards on 39 carries for 4.2 per carry.

Young has done the majority of the scoring for the Westerners with three touchdowns for 18 points.

Lane's and Underwood's most thrown at target is returnee Burrell who has made 12 catches for 236 yards and no touchdowns.

Two things Pampa can look for in their 7:30 p.m. Saturday contest with the Westerners is no fumbles and more passing.

58TH YEAR THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1965 13

Casper Sets Out to Claim $46,000 Almaden

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Ailing Billy Casper, aiming for a $100,000 year in golf, set out today to defend his title in the 72-hole $46,000 Almaden Open tournament.

Sniffing oxygen between practice rounds because of a smog-caused allergy which made breathing difficult, Casper admitted he is not as sharp as he was last week when he captured the $20,000 first prize in the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas.

"I feel discomboberated," he said after shooting a three-over-par 75 in a pro-amateur warmup Wednesday. "My balance is off, my timing is off and I just plain feel lousy."

But a sick Casper is like a sore-armed Sandy Koufax. Casper already has won $96,771.90 this year on the PGA tour and with two tournaments yet to play he hopes to join Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Tony Lema in the front ranks of golf's leading money winners.

Casper was far back in the pack Wednesday when the pro scores were posted in the pro-amateur event.

The leaders were little Jack McGowan of Largo, Fla., and Jerry Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, Calif., both shot six-under-par 66s on the 7,035-yard Almaden Country Club layout.

Steelsmith was a runnerup here last year with Pete Brown of Los Angeles and Casper. Casper finally won in a playoff.

Long-hitting Raymond Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., and Miller Barber of San Antonio, Tex., finished next in the pro-amateur tuneup with 67s while Bruce Erampton of Australia, a real threat to Casper's title, posted a 68 as did Rex Baxter of Houston, Tex., and Brown.

While neither Palmer, Nicklaus nor Player entered the Almaden, the field does include Ken Venturi.

METCALF STILL PLEASED

Ankles, Feet Hurt Randy

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

DALLAS (UPI)—Shelby Metcalf has looked hither and yon, but nowhere can he find the answer to a pleasant problem.

"There is no place I can read up on how to handle the world's greatest shotputter as a basketball player," the Texas A&M University basketball coach said.

Young Randy Matson of Pampa, Tex., decided not long ago that this business of flinging a 16-pound iron ball around all winter gets tiresome.

The 250-pound Matson, who set the world record of 70 feet 7 inches in the shot put at College Station, decided he could get more enthused about track season if he spent the winter playing basketball.

The transition hasn't been easy although Randy did just fine in basketball at Pampa High School, gathering in rebounds by the bushel and averaging about 12 points a game.

Prominent in Plans

"His feet have been sore and his ankles are hurting," Metcalf said. "It's been keeping him from going full speed. I can tell you this, he's figuring prominently in our plans."

In fact, Metcalf is considering switching his offense to a high-low post. He would set All-American candidate John (The Bomb) Beasley on the outside and put the 6-foot-6 Matson on the inside where he can use his muscles to mop up the rebounds.

Last Saturday the Aggies held their first scrimmage. In 25 minutes of play, Matson scored eight points and grabbed nine rebounds. The 6-foot-7 inch Beasley, gunning from the outside, hit 18 of 28 and made three free throws for 39 points.

"Randy's not a gifted shooter, but adequate," Metcalf said. "He's probably going to hold his own on rebounds. He's got a good 12 to 15 foot jump shot. He can drive a little and has been toying around with a right hand hook."

He said Matson, who has three years of basketball eligibility left, is a good team man and "has a tremendous attitude."

Metcalf said he probably would never find out whether Matson can hit set shots.

"If we start playing him outside we've sure got some horses inside," Metcalf said.

"We don't want to pressure him or want to expect too much from him," Metcalf said. "We're just real pleased he's on our team."

Somehow, you could tell old Shelby meant that.

Longhorns Dwell On Pass Defense

Southwest Conference teams bruised through their last day of heavy contact Wednesday for Saturday's contests, the first week the teams have settled down to strictly league business.

Texas, out of the title race but determined to show it is a better club than its past two losses indicate, had its entire squad in uniform and fit to play for the first time all season.

The Longhorns, plagued by a leaky pass defense in recent weeks, spent most of Wednesday trying to firm up that phase of their game.

Southern Methodist drilled against Texas offensive and defensive patterns in a two-hour drill. Coach Hayden Fry said it appeared defensive end George Wilmot would miss the SMU Texas homecoming tilt in the Cotton Bowl because of a knee injury in the Texas Tech fracas last week.

Texas A&M coach Gene Stallings, his morale already low after three losses in conference battle, learned Wednesday that starting defensive end Grady Allen would join offensive tackle Jack Pyburn on the sidelines for the rest of the year because of injuries. Allen injured his thigh, which began hemorrhaging after Wednesday's workout. Pyburn is out with a knee injury.

The Baylor Bears have experienced their share of injuries this season, but guard Benny Brott injured an ankle in practice and probably will see no action Saturday in Baylor's Homecoming game with the Texas Christians.

The news on the injury situation was good instead of bad at Arkansas.

Wingback Jim Lindsey, out much of the year with an injury, shined in a passing drill Wednesday, bringing praise from coach Frank Broyles that he "looked real good as a receiver."

The league's leading rusher, wingback Harry Jones, suffered an abdominal muscle pull in last week's match with North Texas State, but Broyles said it now appears the chances are excellent Jones will be ready for the game against Texas A&M Saturday at Little Rock, Ark.

Texas Tech hustled through an hour-and-a-half workout Wednesday in a drill against Rice plays.

Red Raider coach J. T. King made three changes in the lineup in a move to bolster the Tech offense. He switched John Porter from offensive tackle to defensive tackle, transferred guard Chester Howard to Porter's old spot and inserted James Cecil in Howard's vacated offensive guard position.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Those Ten Amendments

Back there on Feb. 15, 1876, Texans adopted a new constitution (their seventh) by a 136-606 to 56,652 vote. The Civil War had been over 11 years. General Grant was President. Richard Coke was governor. The population of Texas was about a million.

Galveston was the largest city with 13,818 persons. Other population figures from the 1870 census: San Antonio, 12,256; Houston, 9,382; Austin, 4,428; Dallas (est.), 3,000; Fort Worth (est.), 500. Only 157 of the present 254 counties had been organized and these covered 53 per cent of the land area.

The Texas Constitution of 1876 was 115 printed pages long, compared to the U.S. Constitution's 17 pages. It has already been amended 159 times. Next Tuesday we go to the polls to accept or reject ten more proposed amendments.

Texans usually are able to control their enthusiasm for Constitutional Amendment elections. Of the 10 amendments, the propaganda drums seem to be beating loudest now for and against amendment No. 4: proposing four-year terms for Governor and other statewide offices now limited to two years.

The four-year term proposal seems to have stirred up the most excitement — if that's the proper word for voters' attitude.

Governor Connally leads the "for" parade. Some traditionalists are "agin" it, mainly because they don't like four-year terms. Organized labor and unorganized liberals oppose it.

There's a question in our mind whether it makes much difference — two or four years. Some office holders can get things pretty messed up in two years. For others, it may take four. So, take your choice here.

We look at other amendments to be voted on Tuesday in the following light:

No. 1 — Doubling property tax for college buildings from a nickel to a dime; adding five colleges to the eligible list: Arlington State, Midwestern, Houston, Pan-American and Angelo State. This would be another tax increase.

No. 2 — Another $200 million Veterans Land Fund bond issue. This would be another tax increase. It was defeated in 1963.

No. 3 — More leeway to meet federal aid requirements in programs of assistance and medical help for needy aged, blind, dependent children and the totally disabled. This would be another step into the federal welfare state.

No. 5 — Clarifying investment policy for Teacher Retirement System. Anything that can be clarified ought to be.

No. 6 — Authorizing an $83 million bond issue for a student loan fund. This would be another tax increase.

No. 7 — Local tax exemption for certain charitable trusts giving free hospital and medical service (at present applies only to Hermann Hospital in Houston). This would be one less tax for somebody.

No. 8 — Automatic retirement of judges at 75; setting up process for removing judges for misconduct or disability. Some judges might be more capable at 75 than others at 45. Misconduct or disability obviously would seem to be just cause for action.

No. 9 — Legislature to fix $15,000 yearly salary for Lieutenant Governor and Speaker (who now get only legislators' pay); increasing legislators' per diem allowance from $12 to $20 while in session. This would be another tax increase.

No. 10 — Four-year terms for State Representatives (the same as State Senators). See comment on No. 4.

It is interesting to note that, historically, about five proposed amendments fail to every eight adopted. Each amendment submitted to the voters had to get at least 100 votes in the House and 21 in the Senate.

Bargain Isotopes

The government is having a gigantic going-out-of-business sale. Prices are slashed to rock bottom and everything must go.

You needn't form a line, however, unless you happen to have a use for items like Strontium-90, Promethium-147, Cerium-144 or Cesium-137. These are all radioactive isotopes, by-products of the fission process in nuclear reactors.

The Atomic Energy Commission has announced sharp price cuts on all of them. Promethium-147, for instance, formerly costing $5 a curie (a measure of radioactivity), will now go for 50 cents a curie, and as low as 20 cents a curie if ordered in large quantities.

Strontium-90 has been reduced from $2 to 50 cents a curie. A totally unwanted by-product when it is let loose in the atmosphere by a nuclear explosion, when properly packaged this material, like the others, has a research and industrial value.

Among other things, radioisotopes provide electric power for small installations such as arctic weather stations and sea buoys, are used in industrial thickness gauges, for the treatment of certain eye disorders and for various medical and industrial research purposes. You can't make a bomb out of them.

The AEC is cutting the prices in order to stimulate greater utilization of the isotopes and build a market, at home and abroad, for the proposed Fission Products Conversion and Encapsulation Plant to be built on the AEC site at Richland, Wash.

The FPCE will be a privately financed and run facility and will begin producing the isotopes commercially on a large scale in 1968, enabling the AEC to get out of this end of the atom business entirely.

"I am an American fighting man. I serve in the forces which guard my country and OUR WAY OF LIFE. I am prepared to give my life in their defense."

That is the first code of conduct that Congress enacted for our fighting men of all services throughout the world.

The students and leftists throughout the United States are engaged in the notorious act of demonstrating against the government's stand in Viet Nam. I do not believe that the majority of these people realize just WHY we are in Viet Nam. Let me take this opportunity to explain my belief. The Viet Cong (Communist inspired) are trying their best to FORCE their way of life on the Vietnamese. The rulers of South Viet Nam did not want to accept this way of life. So they asked the United States to help them resist this force.

Understanding the South Vietnamese position and plea for aid, the United States granted the military aid which they asked for. It is NOT just another piece of land in which the U.S. is interested.

It is a fight for life, a fight for the WAY OF LIFE of which America is so proud.

It is a fight to keep the Communists from overrunning Viet Nam and forcing THEIR way of life on the people of Viet Nam.

It is not only a fight of man against man, gun against gun, or even country against country. It is a war of OUR way of life ordained by God against the atheist's way of life ordained by Communists' rulers.

Since I've been home I've heard so many people say, "Why should we be involved?" Well folks, let me tell you, we are fighting today in Viet Nam for the freedoms and way of life that we have long enjoyed and fought for before. For, you see, if the United States stands by and lets the Communists overrun every country their hearts so desire, then soon every country in the world except the United States and perhaps a few of the more powerful allies will be Communist ruled. If this ever came about, the United States would have a very hard time keeping our own homeland out of Communist hands. So the federal government is trying to nip the Communist aggression in the bud and thus prevent a world of dictators and total communist rule.

As for the burning of draft cards, I suggest that every person who so commits this offense be put thru the basic training that every service man goes through. I would almost lay odds that by the time they graduated from "boot" camp that the government would have little worry about these agitators. For the average man upon graduation is changed, in his way of thinking, in his beliefs, in his God and country, and in his way of life.

I will wholeheartedly back the government in every aspect of dealing with these agitators.

We as Americans have a beautiful country in which we may take pride. We have a rich, full history of men fighting and dying for the freedoms we enjoy today. Yes, we had to pay a price for freedom but freedom and the way of life we enjoy now is not cheap to come by.

Why should the American people allow a handful of warped-minded minority groups try to destroy all we have fought for so many years? We should not!

Once again let me state: "I am an American fighting man. Praying for a country comprised of men who are men enough to stand up and fight for their way of life."

The church page article in last Friday's PAMPA DAILY NEWS by UPI's Louis Cassels reported that the National Council of Churches has complained to the Federal Communications Commission that the Bell Telephone System is part of "clandestine and abominable" plan for "the mass production of anonymous libel" against the National Council of Churches in the "Let Freedom Ring" series of dial-a-message.

In an article appropriately titled "Backstabbing" Cassels neglected completely and unfairly to report a fact printed by some newspapers two weeks ago: that A. T. & T. Ass't V.P., R.W. Miller, had requested af-

"Now Let Me Tell You About My Operation!"

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

The tradition of cheer leaders at football games dates from the very first intercollegiate contest between Princeton and Rutgers back in 1869. Princeton players got the idea of trying to upset their Rutgers opponents by yelling every time Rutgers put the ball in play. The yelling did upset Rutgers, but it also bothered the Princeton team because they had to put so much effort into yelling that it distracted them from their own play. For the second game against Rutgers a Princeton man suggested that those on the sidelines do the yelling instead of the players. A few students were chosen and told when and where and what to yell. That's how the tradition was born.

Today's smile: There's a story about an efficiency expert who only says his prayers on New Year's Day. The rest of the year he jumps into bed and says: "Ditto."

A fast-growing sport in the U.S. is pigeon racing. There are an estimated 20,000 pigeon fanciers here who participate in more than 10,000 races in all parts of the country every year. They have their own associations, publications and even a political lobby to exempt their birds from local health rules. And they've filed a bill in the Congress to exempt racers shipped interstate from Federal regulations. The latter has been cooped up in committee during most of the session.

Thoughts while shaving: Although President Johnson arranged a working agreement on the handling of certain governmental matters with Vice President Humphrey before he entered the hospital for his gall bladder operation, there is no such thing under the Constitution as an acting President, comparable to a lieutenant governor who takes over when the chief executive leaves the state. It was once illegal in New Jersey, where bootlegger cocktails were invented, to have a shot of whiskey with a beer chaser, or vice versa. Incidentally, bootleggers, the most lethal of all alcoholic drinks, got their name from the rugged lads in the Jersey boiler factories and foundries who liked to drink them. The food industry employs more persons than any other with a total of 1.65 million, according to a recent survey by Uncle Sam. And transportation comes next with 1.61 million. Did you know the combined length of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers (4200 miles) exceeds that of any other two connecting rivers in the world? Although we patronize tobacco stores everywhere, we never see cigar store Indians any more. They once stood outside the stores and when they became rarities they were displayed as ornaments within. Today they are collectors' items. Maybe Medicare isn't new after all. Ancient history reveals the Greeks and Romans had sickness and death insurance. And the Phoenicians even had shipping insurance, just like Lloyd's of London. However, we find no record of fire insurance in Rome in Nero's time. The old-time tavern that provided food and rest for travelers has been replaced by the motel industry. And to show you how that business is growing, there are now 6000 motels in Florida alone. The Pittsburgh (Pa.) POST-GAZETTE reported in a story: "We ask that girls not wear skirts above the toy of the knee." How's that again?

Country Editor speaking: "You're only young once, but that excuse won't last forever."

Two women were talking about their husbands in that indulgent manner they are accustomed to use when on that subject.

First Woman — John is perfectly helpless without me.

Second Woman — Harry is that way, too. I don't know what would become of him if I was away from him for a week.

Third Woman (sighed) — Isn't it a fact? Sometimes I think my husband is a child, the way I have to look after him. Why whenever he is sewing on buttons, mending his clothes, or even darned his socks, I always have to thread the needle for him.

Question Box

QUESTION: "When, if ever, can omission constitute an act of immorality?" G. E.

ANSWER: We are not sure exactly what G. E. has in mind. It would seem difficult to see how a failure to act would be an act of either morality or immorality.

Conceivably, one might consider that failing to do an act required by a moral code would be immoral.

One omission which could be considered in this category would be failure of a parent to feed, clothe and shelter his own children to the best of his ability; and to raise them to be self-respecting and self-responsible and, conversely, failure of an adult child to care for his aged parents who had cared for him when he was unable to fend for himself.

Failure to respect the private property of others, and property includes life and its products — would be immoral in our view. However, if one fails to respect property, he usually takes some action to invade another person's private domain.

Failure to speak out because it might make one unpopular or because one might lose business we would consider immoral. Ezekiel said it is one's duty to speak out if he sees someone doing wrong.

Ezekiel 18-19: "When I tell the wicked, 'You must die,' if you do not warn the wicked from his wicked course, in order to save his life, then that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but I will hold you responsible for his death. If you do warn the wicked, and if he will not give up his wickedness and wicked course, he shall die for his iniquity, but you have saved yourself." (Moffatt translation).

We would say these situations were covered by the Golden Rule of "Do unto others as you would be done by." If a person so lived that he respected all others' equal rights to life, liberty and honestly acquired property, he would be a moral individual, and would be a positive influence for good to all others.

Independence, Freedom
Don't Go Hand In Hand
NEW YORK (NEA)—At great risk to our amateur standing, we inquired here the other day into the bloody consequences of Rhodesian independence from Britain, but came out of it quite nicely by concluding that the situation did not warrant any worry.

For one thing, Rhodesia is very far away — 10,000 miles from Salisbury to, say, Hayneville, Ala.

And for another, if going it alone brings on a war to the death between the European and African Rhodesians, it will be over the purely local problem of racism.

And having said that much, we were rather glad to let the whole topic go. Rhodesia's rebellion against Britain is another example of why our career as a political analyst has been replaced by this sort of column.

From our amateur standing, it is very hard to see why people are always fighting for independence when it is freedom that they want.

We have watched a lot of people at first hand while they achieved independence — Cuba, for example, the Congo, the Dominican Republic — and it does not seem to us that they are especially freer for having thrown off the yoke of oppression.

On the contrary. From what we have seen of Fidel Castro and Kwame Nkrumah at home, it would be the grossest approximation to describe them with the word freedom.

Em battled would be more like it. Or on guard. Or locked in. But not free.

In that regard, we are fairly certain that Rhodesia can gain independence from Britain. It is also a pretty good bet, if our memory of that place serves, that the Rhodesian Africans can both be denied their voting rights and also kept at a safe distance for some time to come — through the use of special civil and military techniques, as is the case in the Republic of South Africa.

But it does not seem grammatical to use the word freedom to describe a citizenry that must sleep with a gun under the pillow, keep off the streets after dark, stay out of wooded areas, and say nothing critical of the government under penalty of house arrest.

Whether the word independence describes that kind of life we do not know. But it is pretty sure that freedom does not.

Why anybody would want to live that way is impossible for us to explain.

It is hard enough just to fulfill the daily requirements of getting to the office by 9, and home for dinner, by 7, and through the evening television programs. But having to spend all your spare time keeping your neighbors in line — well, it is not our idea of independence.

However, there must be something in the proposition. In the past four years, 116,101 people have emigrated to the Republic of South Africa to try citizenship there. In 1961, the last year for which there are complete statistics, 225 Americans came. Many others have come since then, we are informed.

It has been very hard for us to believe that information. And on a recent visit to Johannesburg, we asked for proof.

In reply, we were given a young man from Los Angeles in imitation alligator shoes who lectured to us for three hours on why he had left the United States in favor of South Africa. Boiled down to one word, the reason was independence.

His arguments, as we recall, were:

The frontiers are gone in America. There is no place left for the pioneer spirit. Whatever you make on your own is taken from you by the government to support warrels and leagards. The urge to self-reliance has been systematically killed.

He was 22 years old he said — the deadline for striking out on the pioneer quest for independence. And inasmuch as South Africa was paying his passage and helping him to get started, it seemed like an excellent way to begin pioneering.

Furthermore, he said, he had been living in the same apartment with his mother for 32 years, and absolutely had to get away once and for all.

We had the distinct feeling that he would send for just

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Setting the Record Straight
It was at a conservative rally sponsored by the great nationally circulated conservative newspaper "Human Events." The year was 1960, I believe. Senator Goldwater had finished his speech and the floor was opened for questions and answers.

"Senator Goldwater," asked a man down front, "What do you think about the Council on Foreign Relations?"

"I never heard of it," replied the Senator from Arizona.

A murmur went through the audience. The questioner said, "Senator, I guess you didn't understand my question. What do you think about the Council on Foreign Relations?"

Goldwater flushed and stammered. "I don't know what you are talking about."

Cries of No! No! were heard as the well-informed audience reacted in utter disbelief. Several people remarked to me later: "The guy's a liar or a phony!"

"No," I replied, "he's an honest man. He just doesn't know much. He hasn't done his homework. We 'super-patriots' expect our legislators to know everything we know about the collectivist conspiracy. Goldwater is a typical, conservative businessman. He's been in Washington only a few years. He probably spends most of his working time attending committee meetings and listening to Arizona visitors who are trying to get advantage at the federal trough. Then he goes home at night and plays with his gadgets or turns on the boob tube. It is an established fact that he can read. But he doesn't."

Senator Goldwater has recently been prevailed upon to declare — and in a so-called conservative magazine — that Robert Welch is a nut.

Perhaps Goldwater needs to be reminded that today's mighty oak is just yesterday's little nut which stood its ground. During the so-called Presidential campaign you well remember that a poll of psychiatrists in a newspaper survey concluded that Goldwater needed psychiatric help. I've never known a psychiatrist who didn't need psychiatric help. But regardless, many people questioned putting a man in the room with the button who didn't have all his buttons. Actually, Goldwater is a man of greater emotional stability than is Lyndon Johnson.

To change the subject, but only slightly, an old school friend of mine, now President of a large corporation, thinks I've lost my buttons in thinking there is a communist conspiracy in this country. He has informed me confidentially that the Catholics are a greater menace to our country than the Communists.

He asked in a conversation recently: "Who is Gus Hall?"

Gus Hall, as I am sure all of the readers of this newspaper know, is head American Comrat.

The point of this story is, dear reader, that anyone who doesn't know who Gus Hall is would naturally think I have lost my marbles, or that to say the least, they need rearranging. And certainly anybody who never heard of the Council on Foreign Relations would be inclined to think Robert Welch is loco.

One of the world's foremost authorities on the atheistic, criminal conspiracy called Communism, Robert Welch is a near-genius who entered college at twelve, plays chess blindfolded with the masters, and had read Ridpath's seven volume "History of the World" when he was seven. I doubt that Barry Goldwater and some other Welch critics have read that many books in their lives.

as soon as he was on his feet and independent.
