CHARITY COLLECTION — Anne Jamieson, Karen Barnes, Ann Gage and Helen Reed are shown holding an empty case of bottles which will be sold and the proceeds given to the Catholic Children's Home in Panhandle. The girls are members of Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club. The club will collect empty soft drink bottles in a house-to-house drive beginning at 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Cuban Pact Provides For Mass Evacuation

Cong Guerillas Kidnap Four US Army Sergeants

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas kidnaped four U.S. Air Force sergeants on a road about 30 miles from Saigon as they were returning to the capital by car from a nearby seaside resort, a U.S. military spokesman disclosed Saturday night.

The spokesman said air and ground units were searching a swampy area southeast of Saigon where the Viet Cong captured the sergeants at a roadblock while they were traveling by night in a rented car from Vung Tau. Their capture brought to 17 the number of Americans known to have fallen into Viet Cong hands.

Over Communist North Viet Nam, a flight of U.S. Navy jets dodged Russian-built missiles to blast a Communist surface-to-air (SAM) missile site and a bridge about 35 miles east of Hanoi.

Communist anti-aircraft fire shot down one U.S. Navy F8 Crusader jet during the raid over North Viet Nam. The pilot parachuted from the plane and landed in a heavily populated area, where there was no chance for U.S. aircraft to rescue him, a spokesman said.

Antiaircraft Downed Plane

More than 130 U.S. planes have been downed by the North Vietnamese since systematic raids on the north began last February. Six of them have been hit by Soviet-built missiles. The Crusader downed Saturday was hit by 37MM and 57MM antiaircraft fire.

In ground action, U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division soldiers sweeping a Pleiku province area around the Plei Me Special Forces camp found nearly 80 more Viet Cong bodies. A spokesman said the total Communist toll during the long battle there may be more than 1,000.

A military spokesman in Saigon said the four sergeants were kidnaped by the Viet Cong last Sunday but news of their abduction was withheld to avoid jeopardizing chance for their rescue.

The sergeants had originally hopped a helicopter for the trip from Saigon to Vung Tau, a popular seaside resort that is currently a rest-and-relaxation spot for U.S. and Vietnamese servicemen.

Klan Investigation May Result In Federal Gun Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D - Conn., predicted Saturday that the congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan will touch off a nationwide demand for passage of a federal gun bill next year.

Dodd said the public hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities "have borne out my warnings."

"The loopholes in the federal law are being used to arm these extremists," Dodd said. "For years I have warned that extremists on both sides use these loopholes to arm themselves — the Minuteman, the Rangers, the Deacons, the Klan and others."

4,000 Refugees Per Month to Come to US

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson announced Saturday that the United States will airlift 3,000 to 4,000 Cuban refugees a month to this country under an agreement with the Castro regime.

First priority will be given to the immediate or close relatives of 250,000 Cubans now living in the United States.

White House sources expected that a total of 100,000 Cubans will eventually come to the United States under the agreement announced Saturday.

Independence Crises Erupts in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith Saturday accused Britain of having "finally closed the door" to a solution of the Rhodesian independence crisis by renegeing on its agreement to establish a royal commission.

In a letter to Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Smith accused Wilson's government of putting unacceptable restrictions on work of the commission. He referred to Wilson's letter Wednesday saying that the commission should canvass all Rhodesians for opinions on the best methods of establishing independence.

This, of course, would include the colony's black majority and was unacceptable to Smith's government.

Smith's note came only two days after his government issued a decree proclaiming a 90-day state of emergency which gives the police and defense departments broad police powers.

Despite the fast-moving events, observers here felt there was little likelihood Smith would issue a Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI) in the near future. Fear of economic sanctions apparently would prevent this.

(Officials in London said Smith's letter apparently still left the door open to negotiations. Wilson was expected to huddle with advisers when he returns from Wales late Saturday night where he has been attending a family wedding.)

Smith said in his note that

Wilson's conditions on activities of the commission are "tantamount to a rejection of the proposals, agreed with you in Salisbury."

Smith and Wilson agreed to establish the royal commission last week in a series of talks here.

New Communist Code Challenge To Red China

LONDON (UPI)—The Kremlin is preparing a code of conduct for world Communism which is a clear challenge to the Peking hard-line, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

Key provisions of the code are peaceful coexistence with the West and internal development of socialist economic systems.

Western experts said Russian leaders have conferred with other Communist leaders loyal to the Moscow brand of Marxist-Leninist ideology to reach a consensus on the code.

The code seeks to outline what the Communist governments and parties can do and what they must not do in the future to avoid a head-on collision with the capitalist world, the reports said.

Official indications have come recently in a number of inner-Soviet discussions on the problem of unity of the Communist camp, the reports added.

The key elements of the code, according to the assessment reaching here from behind the Iron Curtain are:

Curbs on active Communist intervention in the affairs of other countries; liberation movements to carry the main burden of their struggle in their respective areas; continuation of Moscow as the center of the

VFW Groups Plan Special Ceremony On Veterans Day

Veterans Day on Nov. 11 will be marked in Pampa with a parade of flags and ceremony at 11 a.m. in Memory Gardens cemetery.

The observance will be staged by members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1637 and the VFW Auxiliary to honor the dead of all wars and to pay tribute to U. S. fighting men of today as well as yesterday.

The parade of flags will consist of flags loaned to the auxiliary. They will be flown from staffs with a plaque on each bearing a veteran's name. These, according to Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, auxiliary president, will be placed at intervals around the center circle, "garden of peace," at Memory Gardens.

Families of deceased veterans in the Pampa area are invited to contact Mrs. Stuckey at MO4-8105 or Mrs. Carl Wright if they wish to have a flag flown on Veterans Day in memory of a deceased veteran.

Mrs. Stuckey said plans are being made to repeat the Parade of Flags ceremony on Memorial Day and Veterans Day each year.

"The program on Veterans Day this year," Mrs. Stuckey said, "is just a beginning and we hope to expand it from year to year."

Jerry Coley, commander of the Pampa VFW post, will preside at the Memory Gardens ceremony. The Pampa National Guard unit will provide the honor guard. Special recognition will be given to Gold Star mothers.

Speakers, to be announced later, will conduct the memorial and appreciation services.

The Nov. 11 date originally was set aside as Armistice Day after World War I. It later was changed to Veterans Day for annual observance to pay tribute to the veterans of all past wars and to servicemen engaged Service personnel usually travel the 30 miles between Saigon and Vung Tau by helicopter or airplane. The missing sergeants were booked for a helicopter flight back to Saigon, but for some reason decided instead to try a hazardous after-dark trip by car.

They rented a car and a driver for the drive through the Viet Cong - controlled swampland lying between Saigon and the coast.

Moscow Opens Party With Warning to US

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union opened its 48th birthday party Saturday night by telling the United States to choose between war in Viet Nam and good relations with Moscow.

"If the ruling circles of the United States really want normal relations with the Soviet Union, they must give up a policy of aggression and military interference in the

Liberals Urged To Help Unify State Democratic Party

HOUSTON (UPI)—The chairman of the Texas Organization of Liberal Democrats (TOLD) Saturday urged Texas liberals not to desert the Democratic party.

Houston lawyer Chris Dixie denounced efforts by some liberals to form a separate "Texas Liberal Party" and urged TOLD members to operate within the confines of the Democratic Party.

There was little floor debate about the new party, but it occupied most of the backstage conversations at TOLD's organizational meeting in the Rice Hotel.

Will Nominate Candidates

Dr. William Malone of San Marcos, a college professor, filed a document with Secretary of State Crawford Martin Friday declaring the party's intention to nominate candidates for the 1966 general election.

Malone was at the TOLD meeting and said response to the third party idea was growing, but Dixie insisted TOLD has no ties to the new party movement.

"I personally have no opposition to a third party," he said, "but the concept we favor is a liberal group operating within the confines of the democratic party."

Members of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) from the University of Texas pushed a resolution through the TOLD foreign affairs committee urging immediate cessation of "aggressive military action in Viet Nam."

The group adopted a constitutional amendment to shorten its name to "Texas Liberal Democrats (TLD)," omitting the word "organization."

affairs of other states." First Deputy Premier Dmitri Polyanskiy told a Kremlin rally ushering in the 48th anniversary of Lenin's revolution.

Moscow shed its normally drab aspect and became a city of light for the celebration. Red posters proclaimed the glories of communism and colored lights hung across streets like glittering combination of Christmas and the fourth of July.

The celebration reaches a climax Sunday with a military parade in Red Square — expected to reveal four new types of tactical missiles — followed by a mammoth parade by hundreds of thousands of flag-waving Muscovites.

But Polyanskiy, who also

Sukarno Pledges 'Fitting Measures' Against Indo Reds

President Sukarno broke five weeks of silence on the Indonesian Communist Party (PKI) Saturday and openly and directly linked it with the Oct. 1 coup. He pledged "fitting measures" against the Communists.

Radio Jakarta said Sukarno, at a meeting with his cabinet, also for the first time expressed sympathy rather than disapproval of the popular wave of anti-Communism sweeping the country.

The broadcast quoted Deputy Premier Subandrio as saying that Sukarno had expressed understanding for the people who were "angered, grieved and had feelings of vengeance" (See SUKARNO, Page 3)

Castro government would not permit departure of political prisoners, young men subject to military service—between the ages of 14 and 26—and some Cubans with technical and professional skills.

Negotiations with the Cuban Foreign Ministry in the past few weeks were snagged mainly on U.S. insistence on inclusion of the political prisoners.

But the Cuban government took the position that political prisoners and young men of military age as well as certain professionals have a "legal obligation" to their homeland.

"We hope that the Cuban (See REFUGEES, Page 3)

Johnson Moves To Offset Aluminum Price Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Johnson administration Saturday denounced the industry-wide aluminum price increases as unjustified and announced plans to sell 200,000 tons of the government's aluminum surplus next year.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said in making the announcement that the industry had rejected all government proposals for disposing of the 200,000 tons. But he said it was necessary to take the action in the national interest.

McNamara rejected the use of the word "dump" to describe the disposal plans. He insisted that the timing of his announcement and the price increases announced by all major U.S. and Canadian aluminum producers over the past week was related only because of the industry's action.

However, President Johnson's chief economic adviser, W. Gardner Ackley, conceded at a White House press conference there was some relationship in the plans for disposing part of the 1.4 million aluminum surplus from the strategic stockpile (See ALUMINUM, Page 3)

Cecil Biggers Succumbs To Heart Attack

Funeral services for Cecil Biggers, 53, who suffered a heart attack at Friday night's football game at Harvester Stadium and died in an ambulance enroute to a local hospital, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Central Baptist Church with Rev. Thurman Upshaw officiating. Burial will be at 5 p.m. in Maple Grove Cemetery, Seminole, Okla., under direction of Carmichael-Funeral Home.

Mr. Biggers, former manager of Karl's Shoe Store, moved to Pampa five years ago from Borger where he managed a store for the same company. At the time of death Mr. Biggers was manager of Montgomery Ward Shoe Department.

Born April 3, 1912, Mr. Biggers was married to Miss Georgia Hair in Seminole, Okla., in 1933. He was a member of Central Baptist Church where he

UF Drive Total Up With Big Push Expected This Week

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign continued nearer its goal last week as the total collected through Friday afternoon stood at $29,033.74.

Friday's figure is an increase of some $17,700 over the previous week's report.

Campaign spokesmen said that the total is expected to swell appreciably this week when several more large donors in the advance gifts division turn in their contributions.

With "One Gift Works Many Wonders" as their theme, several hundred volunteer workers have been busy soliciting contributions in the drive to raise $77,000 to support twelve participating agencies.

General campaign chairman Mack Hiatt Jr. again asked that all workers contact their prospects and turn in the contribu-

New York Pacifists Set Fire to Draft Cards

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five pacifists protesting the military draft and U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war burned their draft cards Saturday in front of 1,500 persons and police and FBI cameras.

The pacifists succeeded in defying federal law despite the action of a heckler who doused them with a fire extinguisher in an attempt to prevent the burning.

The pacifists put the torch to the Selective Service documents in Union Square during a demonstration sponsored by four pacifist organizations.

Standing in a row on a portable platform, the pacifists, with the fire extinguisher fluid dropping down their faces, reduced their cards to ashes with cigarette lighters.

Police seized the heckler, who had produced the fire extinguisher from inside a laundry bag while standing below the platform.

The fluid from the extinguisher doused not only the pacifists but several speakers on the platform and one newsman who was alongside the pacifists to corroborate that they had burned draft documents.

In burning the cards, the pacifists ran the risk of prosecution under a new federal law which bars destruction of Selective Service documents. If convicted under it, they each could be sent to prison for five years and fined $10,000.

Only one of the pacifists was wanted by a draft board. The

Lake Erie Facing Ruin by Pollution

DETROIT (UPI)—Two high federal officials warned Saturday Lake Erie is on its deathbed.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall and Murray Stein, chief enforcement officer of the Federal Division of Water.

They called on Great Lakes Supply and Pollution Control, said the new federal Water Purification Act is not strong.

Udall indicated Erie was on the verge of a degree of pollution beyond reversal. But he said immediate action could still save it.

"I don't think it's reached the point where it's hopeless," he said. Udall and Stein addressed a conference on pure water sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union (UAW). Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, called for a "national citizens' crusade for pure water."

Secretary Found Beaten to Death

HOUSTON (UPI)—A Houston secretary who wanted to be a country music singer was found bludgeoned to death Saturday in her sports car.

Police said the body of Jacqueline Young, 25, was found in the back seat of her auto in a field off Texas 146, four miles south of La Porte in Harris County.

Dr. M. G. Miser, Seabrook deputy medical examiner, said the woman died from "one or more blows to the base of her skull."

Harris County sheriff's deputies said a tire tool, found some 62 feet from the car, "might have been the murder weapon."

Communist movement.

The guidelines amount to a recommendation that Communist nations learn to live with the capitalist countries, whether they like it or not.

The approach, which is seen as a further solidification of Moscow policy initiated by ousted Premier Nikita Khrushchev, is interpreted as a new challenge to Peking's hard line policy. Peking rejects peaceful co-existence with the West and calls for revolutionary developments everywhere, by force if necessary.

Peking's recent sharp diplomatic setbacks in the Afro-Asian world, in Indonesia and even among its close Communist followers were believed to have prompted new attempts at a showdown with Red China by some of Russia's friends.

The admission of the refugees will be carried out in an "orderly and systematic" way in accordance with United States laws and regulations.

Refugee flights will leave from Varadero airport about 60 miles from Havana and will end at Miami International Airport. Officials of the United States Immigration and Naturalization and Public Health Services will be stationed at the airport in Cuba to check the passengers.

Most of the refugees will be resettled in states outside of over-burdened Florida. Congress has authorized $42.5 million to aid the refugees. They will be permitted to leave with no more than they can carry, probably one suitcase.

Sukarno's statements were his most serious indictment to date of the three-million-member PKI, formerly a chief source of political power.

But they were coupled with an attack on western imperialism and renewed efforts by his government to patch frayed relations with the Red Chinese, targets of wild anti-Communist demonstrations.

Even as Sukarno spoke, the army continued its relentless purge of Communists.

The official news agency Antara said army paracommandos supported by air force reconnaissance were combing central and western Java for rebel remnants. The latest tally showed that about 9,000 Communists and other leftists had been arrested by the army.

Indian Offensive Pushes Pakistan Behind Frontier

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India said Saturday its troops had pushed Pakistani forces back behind the international frontier in the Ganganagar border area of India's desert state of Rajasthan.

An Indian government spokesman said that Pakistani troops had occupied certain posts near Ganganagar town, six miles inside India, after the Sept. 23 cease-fire was declared.

The spokesman said the Pakistani had been pushed back from Ganganagar and Indian forces also cleared Pakistani troops from Indian posts they had been holding in the Bikaner district of Rajasthan state.

One of the posts claimed recaptured by the Indians is Sanchu, opposite which a heavy concentration of Pakistani troops was reported.

The Indian spokesman said the Sanchu post was retaken after "stiff fighting in which three Pakistanis were killed, 18 injured and seven captured." The spokesman did not list Indian casualties.

Mapping Satellite Orbits Successfully

United Press International The United States shot a "winking star" mapping satellite through steady rain toward space Saturday in an effort to increase man's knowledge of Earth.

The 385-pound geodetic explorer rode toward a planned orbit on the nose of a new high-powered Delta rocket that was seeking its 30th success in 34 tries.

The sleek rocket, launched at 1:39 EST, was programmed to propel its top-like payload into an orbit ranging from 690 to 922 miles high.

Space agency officials said the satellite separated as planned from its booster rocket, and that the flight was proceeding normally.

Dog's Transplanted Brain Lives 3 Days

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Doctors at Metropolitan Hospital here say they successfully transplanted a dog brain into another dog and kept it alive for three days.

Dr. Robert J. White said he and his associates connected the brain of one dog to the circulatory system of another and placed it in a neck pouch built in the host dog.

The feat of keeping the brain alive for three days, was believed to be a medical first.

White said the dog's own brain was not disturbed, nor was any attempt made to connect the second brain into the dog's nervous system. But measurements of electrical activity in both brains were recorded simultaneously and at times the grafted brain seemed healthier than the normal brain.

After three days, the extra brain was removed and allowed to die, White said. The dog and his natural brain appeared to have been unaffected by the experiment.

Two years ago, White and his associates kept alive the brains of monkeys for hours outside the bodies. The brains were kept alive by machines working with reservoirs of blood and delicate pumps and valves.

Identification Is Only Requirement For Being A Jew

DALLAS (UPI) — An anti-Zionist rabbi said Saturday that anyone in the United States is entitled to be known as a Jew "who voluntarily accepts the identification and is not coerced, either by Jews or others, into an identity he prefers not to have."

Rabbi Elmer Berger, executive vice president of the American Council for Judaism, offered this definition in speaking of the topic, "What is a Jew?" to faculty and students of the Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University. Berger said that historically in the United States, the identification "Jew" is a voluntary one, meaning that it has some association with the age-old tradition of a historic religious faith.

He said that in the democracy of the United States "the degree and manner of one's personal association is solely a matter to be determined—and judged—in one's own private conscience."

"A Jew can further be a person who observes a certain combination of rituals, or who observes only some or a few of them," Berger said.

"A Jew can further be a person who observes some of those rituals but who is decedent from observers of all or some of these rituals. Again a Jew can be a person who is not of such descent but who becomes a Jew by conversion."

Non Nicotine Cigarettes Processed In Hereford

By THOMAS HOUGH United Press International

HEREFORD, Tex. (UPI) — For the millions who are smoking just as much but enjoying it less because of the health threat, Bravo Smokes, Inc. hopes it has a good thing going.

The cigarettes introduced Thursday raised smoke that smelled a little like perfume or perhaps imported tobacco. But there is no tobacco involved—it is lettuce leaves.

Thirty newsmen puffed on the new cigarettes at the introduction of the new smokes. The 35 Hereford businessmen who put up $105,000 to finance Bravo Smokes were reported to be turning down offers of $3-and in some instances—$5 for every dollar they invested.

Outer Wrappings Used The cigarettes are made from the outer wrapping leaves of lettuce in a process perfected and patented by Puzant Torigian, a New York pharmaceutical chemist.

Plans are to sell the cigarettes first in Hereford, then in Amarillo, later in Lubbock and later in Wichita Falls.

Further expansion will be "played by ear," Torigian said. He said his product is aimed "at 1 per cent of the consumer market for tobacco."

"Smoking is a habit," Torigian said. "A habit so strong, it is part of a person's personality."

Americans have a built-in tobacco mentality," he said. Smoking is certainly not good for the health, "as everyone knows," Torigian said. "But they refuse to give it up."

"We did not find a substitute for tobacco," he said. "We found a replacement for Tobacco. There are no known toxic materials in lettuce."

Sees Profit He believes the lettuce smokes will return a profit—if only from novelty sales.

The plant's capacity will only supply two-thirds of the market in Texas if one of every 100 smokers puff on the lettuce cigarettes regularly.

"But if the market grows large enough," Torigian said, "we plan to build, to build, to build."

The first lettuce leaf cigarette was introduced and is still on sale in the Miami, Fla. area, distributed by Pan Am Tobacco Distributing Corp.

Torigian formerly was associated with Perry Resnick of Philadelphia in the Miami venture but later parted company. The Florida lettuce cigarette is called "Guardian."

Texan Held On Counterfeiting

ANDREWS (UPI)—John Aldridge, 57, Odessa, arrested Friday at Andrews, was held in F. Paso County jail Saturday on federal charges of possession of plates for printing counterfeit $20 bills.

Stephen A. Byrne, agent in charge of the Secret Service at Sacramento, Calif., said charges were filed against Aldridge after $ 900 in counterfeit was seized in California. Aldridge, listed his occupation as "publisher."

The counterfeit, Byrne said, turned up last weekend. Agents first arrested Jimmy Dean Cheatham in Los Angeles and charged him with passing the counterfeit.

Later, agents seized another Texan, whom Byrne said was Chuck Conner. He had the $80,000 in counterfeit and was held on charges of possessing counterfeit money.

Negro Voters To Exert New Power At Alabama Polls

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — A Negro democratic leader vowed Saturday that no candidate for statewide office in Alabama's next year will be able to dismiss the new power of Negro voters.

Orzell Billingsley Jr. of Birmingham, chairman of the Alabama Democratic Conference, addressed Negroes meeting here to map political strategy for 1966 and seek closer understanding and equal status with white members of the party.

"From now on let us be ballot marchers and political demonstrators," said Billingsley. "We can ring bells at the ballot box that will be heard at the state mansion, at city hall in Birmingham and at the courthouse in Selma."

Predicting 225,000 Negro voters in Alabama by primary time next year, Billingsley said Negroes must immediately prepare for becoming candidates, forming campaign staffs, making political contributions and organizing at grass roots level.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My boss told me that I knew how to take dictation I'd be promoted to secretary. If I took a night course in shorthand would the cost be tax deductible?

A — No, it wouldn't in your case. Educational expenses incurred primarily to get a better job do not qualify. Expenses incurred for an educational course expressly required by your employer to keep your present job are deductible.

Q — How do you tell when an expense is deductible as a business expense?

A — The tax law lays down some general guidelines on this subject. To be deductible, the expense must be ordinary and necessary in carrying on a trade or business, or for the production of income. In addition, the expense must be directly related to the income producing property and the income must be taxable income.

To illustrate this last point, the cost of renting a safe deposit box to hold taxable bonds is a deductible expense. But if the box holds only tax-free bonds the law will not allow you to deduct the expense.

Q — I've made a sizable contribution to my church's building program. How do I handle this deduction for tax purposes?

A — If you itemize your deductions, you may deduct your contribution on your tax return for the year it was actually paid. You may deduct up to 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income for the total of this contribution and your other contributions made during the year to churches and certain other tax-exempt organizations. If your total contributions to these organizations exceed 30 per cent, you are allowed to deduct the excess on your return for the following year.

Q — Can you tell me which expense item appears the most on all individual income tax returns? Also, what is the overall total of this deduction?

A — Taxes paid have been the most frequently claimed deduction in recent years. For the latest year on which we have such figures, 1962, a total of $13 billion was claimed by taxpayers as deductions for taxes paid.

Q — My twelve-year old son just opened a bank account with the money he made from his paper route. Does he need a Social Security number for the account or should he use my number since he is a minor?

A — Since your son, not you, has earned the money used to open the account, he is required to apply for his own Social Security number. Form SS-5, used to request a number, may be obtained from your local IRS or Social Security office.

Q — With all the talk about reasonable tax administration how can the Internal Revenue Service justify its refusal to allow parents to deduct the cost of giving their children a college education? With things as they are, a college education has become a necessity.

A — The tax laws, which are enacted by Congress, do not permit parents a deduction for their children's college education. The responsibility of the Internal Revenue Service is to administer existing tax laws in a reasonable manner. Congress, however, has been considering the possibility of granting a deduction for this purpose.

Q — Is it true that the Interest Equalization Tax expires at the end of the year?

A — The initial legislation on this tax called for it to expire at the end of 1965. Congress, however, has extended the tax to July 31, 1967.

Vandals Inflict Light Damage At School

Young vandals broke into Travis Elementary School, 2300 Primrose, sometime Friday night and emptied a fire extinguisher in the hall. A Pampa police report said the work looked like that of young children. Entry was gained by breaking out a door glass.

News' Cartoonist Donates Originals to University

Pulitzer-Prize winning cartoonist Reg Manning, whose cartoons appear on the Pampa News editorial page, has donated his original editorial cartoons to the Syracuse University Manuscript Collection.

"I never wanted to be an editorial cartoonist," Manning said. "I wanted to draw a comic strip and get rich." But Manning, a bespectacled, friendly man with a warm sense of humor, became an editorial cartoonist in spite of himself.

He won the Pulitzer Prize in 1951 for "Hats." In the upper frame of the cartoon is a hat rack filled with the silk toppers of diplomats who were debating the Korean War at the United Nations. In the bottom frame a soldier's bullet-pierced helmet hangs from a wooden cross.

Manning was born in Kansas City, Mo., in 1905. Two years after graduating from Phoenix (Arizona) Union High School (class of '24), he began his newspaper career. In May, 1926 he was hired by the Arizona Republic (now the Republic) as a photographer and artist.

"In the beginning," Manning writes, "most of my art work was retouching the photos I took. They needed it."

But one day in 1934, "just to amuse myself," Manning drew an editorial cartoon. It was called "I Cover The Waterfront"; its subject was the San Francisco dock strike. His editor put the cartoon on the front page. It was widely reprinted, and since that time more than 10,000 editorial cartoons have flowed from Manning's brush.

In 1936 the Phoenix Republic and Gazette Syndicate was organized especially to give wider distribution to Manning's work. Since 1948 his work has been distributed to the almost 150 newspapers affiliated with the McNaught Syndicate. These include papers in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Europe and the Far East.

In an interview in Editor and Publisher Manning discussed his philosophy: "If I can give the reader something to laugh at after he gets through looking at today's headlines, I'm all for it." This, he explains, is the reason for the light touch he gives many serious subjects. "The way to get your views across is not to anger people or insult them, but to argue with them in an amiable way as you would with a friend," the cartoonist says.

Not all of Manning's original drawings are in the Syracuse University collection. "Hats," for example, is owned by the Pulitzer Prize trustees at Columbia University. Another, "The Prophets," is part of the estate of Bernard M. Baruch. This cartoon, which shows Baruch and Winston Churchill sitting together on a park bench, appeared in 1950. It shows Churchill saying "I keep trying to tell the people—" and Baruch replying "I know what you mean—" Soon after its publication, Baruch requested the original from Manning.

Last year Manning sent President Johnson the original of a cartoon he had requested. Aside from these and others he has given away the Syracuse collection will include most of Manning's original drawings. Included, too, will be many of the cartoonists' papers and some of his correspondence.

His signature, "Reg" followed by a laughing cactus — the smile is absent only when the cartoon deals with a grim item — reflects his desert background. Manning is the author of several books, including one in its 14th edition called "What Kinda Cactus Is That?"

Manning, whose home is in Scottsdale, Ariz., is an ardent golfer. Asked what his favorite clubs are, he said: "The Cartoonists Society and my four woods, nine irons and putter."

New Lake Road Is Opened to Public

LAKE MEREDITH (Sp) — Lake Meredith's newest access road, through Harbor Bay from Fritch, is now open to the public.

The new road is being used heavily by boaters, picnickers, and fishermen in addition to many carloads of people just curious to see the lake from a new and different angle.

The new access is reached by turning north at the west city limits of Fritch on State Highway 136. A broad flat area on the water was made available by the additional access. A boat ramp with concessions facilities is expected to be installed before spring at the site.

Cooler weather has stepped up fishing activity at the lake with many fishermen catching their limits of black bass. A few walleye pike are also being caught and returned to the lake since they are on the state game department's protected list of game fish.

State game and fish people say there should be an excellent spawn of game fish next spring to enhance the already good fishing. Black bass at the lake now weigh about 14 ounces and are about 10 inches long.

Heating is something you take for granted BUT SHOULDN'T!

The caveman, with his precious wood fire, didn't.

But then as man's knowledge advanced, more refined and dependable means of keeping the home warm began to take shape.

There was the indoor open fireplace that burned the wood of the forest. Then came the wood or coal stove with its contained fire and its flue to convey objectionable smoke out of the house.

Later more refinements were made until the central system of heating a home became almost universally adopted.

And folk became complacent—they took such heating systems for granted. Surely there could be nothing better and so they put up with the inadequacies. In fact, they felt pretty good about the whole thing almost forgetting about the cold spots, the drafts or the cold floors.

But there were engineers and scientists who felt that heating COULD be improved—that the inadequacies of existing heating systems could be eliminated. They saw no reason why the remarkable energy of electricity could not be used to provide man's most modern and adequate and clean way of heating.

So, modern electric heating came about. And, people liked it!

Already, more than 2 million American families are heating their homes with clean electricity.

Are you taking your heating system for granted? If you are, perhaps you'd like to find out about clean electrical energy for heating your home. The cost is less than you think, thanks to Reddy's low electric heating rate.

Your Public Service manager can give you the facts!

Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The Turks still ruled Palestine when a young man named Green arrived from Poland and took on the name Ben Gurion—son of the lion.
It was a name that fitted David Ben Gurion, for he was to go on from there, through the battle for an independent Israel, finally to gain the honorary title, "father of his country."

It had to be with a feeling of regret, therefore, as it must be with the passing of an era of high adventure that political commentators this week were writing an end to the career of the round-faced man with the halo of white hair who until 1963 dominated the political life of Israel.

He had, it was said, become vain and cantankerous and, as many an old man used to be, convinced that there was no other to take his place.

Stymied Arab Invaders
In 1948, Ben Gurion became Israel's first premier and he led his country successfully against the Arab invasion that followed and again in 1956 when Israel's army marched into the Sinai against Egypt.

And if, at the age of 79 Ben Gurion now is to retire permanently to his Negev Desert kibbutz, it seems unfortunate that he chose as the grounds for his last great battle an issue neither well known nor understood to most Israelis.

This was "the Lavon affair" and over it he broke with his one-time protégé, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol, broke with the party he helped to found, the Mapai, and went against his own political principles to found another party which was to fragment still further the already confusing political picture of Israel.

In Tuesday's elections, Ben Gurion's new Rafi party ended far down in the lists with no more than eight or nine members of Israel's 120-member Knesset or parliament. The Mapai, now headed by Eshkol, gained strength and once again emerged as Israel's strongest single political party.

Truth Not Known
"The Lavon affair" goes back 10 years, and its exact nature always has been clouded by Israeli censorship.

But in general it involved a James Bond-type of espionage against Egypt, clumsily handled and ending with the arrest of 13 persons and the execution of two.

As result of it, the then defense minister of Israel, Pinhas Lavon, was forced to resign.

A later cabinet inquiry found that Lavon had been found guilty on the basis of forged evidence, with implications reaching into Ben Gurion's own office. Ben Gurion fought the ruling and this year turned against Eshkol and his party rather than accept the former's refusal to reopen the old case.

As Ben Gurion criss-crossed the countryside in this fall's campaign, he proclaimed it was time to get Israel back on the dynamic road. Eshkol for his part, told Israeli's they had never had it so good.

Israel still lives in a world of crisis. But the Israeli voters believed Eshkol.

In AP Libel Suit

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI)—A jury award of $3 million to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in his libel suit against the Associated Press and the New Orleans Times-Picayune has been reduced to $2.25 million by District Judge William F. Woods.

Woods cut the award by $750,000 following a motion by Walker's attorneys. The jury had awarded the larger amount last week, but it was more than the amount sought by Walker.

Walker sued the AP and the newspaper for a story concerning his actions at the riots in September, 1962, at the University of Mississippi. An AP story said Walker led a charge of students on federal marshals.

In 1963, Yale professor Frederick Borchgrevink was arrested in Russia on spy charges. President Kennedy protested and Borchgrevink was released Nov. 16th.

RUTGERS PETITIONS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven students from Rutgers University, where a professor's stand against U.S. policy in Viet Nam Friday came to Washington with petitions from students supporting the administration.

The group presented petitions bearing signatures of more than 3,300 Rutgers students and those of 700 others at the University's sister school, Douglass College, to New Jersey's senators.

The school was injected into the campaign when a Prof. Eugene D. Genovese said he would welcome a Communist victory in Viet Nam. Republicans demanded the professor be ousted, but Gov. Richard J. Hughes, who was re-elected last Tuesday, rejected their demands.

MASS COLLISION

LONDON (UPI)—Nearly 100 vehicles were involved Friday night in a series of pileups in thick fog on an expressway in northern England. Police said at least four persons were killed and 30 injured. The highway, between Warrington and Knutsford, was closed by the police who said 40 cars were involved in one crash, 25 in another and 15 in a third.

Tom Sayers, English middleweight boxing champion of the middle 19th century, lost only one bout during the 10 years he fought in the ring. Called the "Little Wonder," he often fought heavier opponents. The fight in which he suffered his only loss lasted 61 rounds. In 1860 he fought in the first international heavyweight title match against the American titleholder, John C. Hearnan. Sayers was outweighed by 40 pounds. The match ended in a draw.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week (Nov. 7) are:

"Goodbye Darling, Be Happy" — Mary Astor; carrying the seeds of a breakdown, a young woman embarks on a world cruise that turns out to be a voyage through the dark waters of her past.

"The Money" — Theodore Pratt; a novel that depicts what happens when five young children find, keep, and start to spend $210,000.00 in cash.

"The Mighty Distance" — Georgia McKinley; ten short stories that describe a moment in life when a mighty distance manifests itself — sometimes between two people, or two races, two sexes, two generations. Sometimes it is between two ways of life in two regions of the U.S.

"Deadfall" — Desmond Cory; set in Modern Spain, the story of three complicated personalities and the fateful and fascinating inter-weaving of their paths — the story of three of the most famous and highly sophisticated thieves in all the world.

"The Most Extra-Ordinary Adventures of Major Robert Stobo" — Robert C. Alberts; a full-dress biography of a remarkable soldier and a major contribution to the understanding of a crucial era in our past.

"History of the English-Speaking Peoples" — Winston Churchill; in this new one-volume edition, a distinguished American historian has abridged the test of Churchill's famous four-volume series.

"Careers For Women After Marriage and Children" — Barbara O'Neill; tells you what training is required for positions in such new and challenging areas as remedial reading, rehabilitation counseling, and city planning.

"The Western Hero in History and Legend" — Kent Steckmesser; the author has set for himself the task of analyzing the processes by which folk heroes are created; and how these heroes take an undeserved place in the pantheon of American history.

"The New Face of War" — Malcolm W. Browne; the United States is fighting a war in South Viet Nam which is proving increasingly costly in blood and treasure. This book explains what the people in Viet Nam truly think and feel.

"Crystal-Gazing" — Theodore Besterman; a study in the history, distribution, theory and practice of syrcing.

"Reported to be Alive" — Grant Wolfkill; an American news photographer is held in brutal captivity for fifteen months by Communist Pathet Lao — and for his courage is awarded the Medal of Freedom by President John F. Kennedy.

"Helping Your Child Develop His Potentialities" — Ruth Strang; the author begins her study by illustrating how the general atmosphere of the home and school can contribute to the fullest development of a person's potentialities and by pointing out the importance of the child's own picture of himself.

"Laughing Whitefish" — Robert Traver; based on the first discovery of iron ore in Michigan in the 1840's, the author returns to the courtroom and theme of justice.

"Waters Under the Earth" — John Moore; story of the changing face of England during the silent revolution that has followed the Second World War.

Wall Street Chatter

Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson Inc. said the only technical cloud he can see on the horizon is the continuing sluggishness of the advance-decline indicator.

Thurlow says further weakness in the indicator during the next few days could develop into a more serious selloff which would be confirmed by a decline in the Dow-Jones Industrial Average below the 940 level. However, Thurlow says he sees no point in anticipating such a move until there has been further technical deterioration.

Thomson & McKinnon says that rising volume combined with consistency of the leading averages underlines increasing awareness by the public, as well as institutional investors, of the excellent long range opportunities available in soundly chosen stocks.

Tessel Paturick & Ostrau Inc. says that with the majority of its technical indicators still bullish, it would utilize all minor dips to accumulate selective shares.

Michigan State is Rose Bowl Bound, 35-0

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—With Clinton Jones scoring four touchdowns, top-ranked Michigan State clinched a Rose Bowl berth and at least a share of the Big Ten title Saturday in a 35-0 romp over Iowa.

The Hawkeyes, in a game they had dedicated to the father of their quarterback, Gary Snook, were no match against the mechanical powerhouse launched by the Spartans.

Although Snook elected to stay with his team despite the death of his father this week, he wasn't able to move Iowa. The Hawks gained only one yard rushing all afternoon and in the air notched only 85 yards, most of them late in the fourth period when sophomore Chuck Roland was doing the passing.

The eighth straight victory propelled MSU to within one game of an undisputed conference championship. Only Indiana remained on the Spartans' conference schedule, at East Lansing next weekend. MSU winds up the season the following week at Notre Dame.

Jones' heroics, which equalled a Spartan record for touchdowns in one game, assured MSU of its first trip to the Rose Bowl in 10 years. The Cleveland, Ohio, junior, running over, around and through Iowa's defense, scored twice in the second period and once each in the third and fourth.

which, despite five straight losses, had never been too far out of any game this year. But Saturday, the Hawks met a powerhouse which had too much for them.

Along with Jones, Bob Apisa, Dwight Lee, Steve Juday and Jim Raye all carried the mail. Apisa gained 79 yards, Lee 65, Juday 60, Jones 57 and Raye

37. Jones' four touchdowns equalled a MSU record that stood for 18 years. The last Spartan to score four times in a game was Bud Crane, who did it in 1947 against Hawaii.

Nebraska Rips Jayhawks

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Big mobile Nebraska brushed aside Kansas 42-6 Saturday as it continued a relentless bid for the Cornhuskers' first perfect season in 50 years.

It was second-ranked Nebraska's eighth consecutive victory, fifth in the Big Eight. Kansas, which saw a two-game win streak snapped, is 2-6.

The Huskers, bidding to become the first club to win three straight conference titles since Oklahoma did in 1954-56 were never in trouble. They held a 21-6 halftime edge.

Paced by hard-running halfback Ron Kirkland, the Huskers clicked off touchdown drives of 61 and 59 yards in the first quarter, 97 yards in the second period, and 74, 58 and 7 in the third. Substitutes flooded the field during the fourth quarter.

three yards out to boost the Husker lead to 14-0.

The third Nebraska score came midway through the second quarter on a 97-yard march highlighted by a 40-yard scamper by Kirkland. The score came on an 18-yard pass from quarterback Fred Duda to end Freeman White.

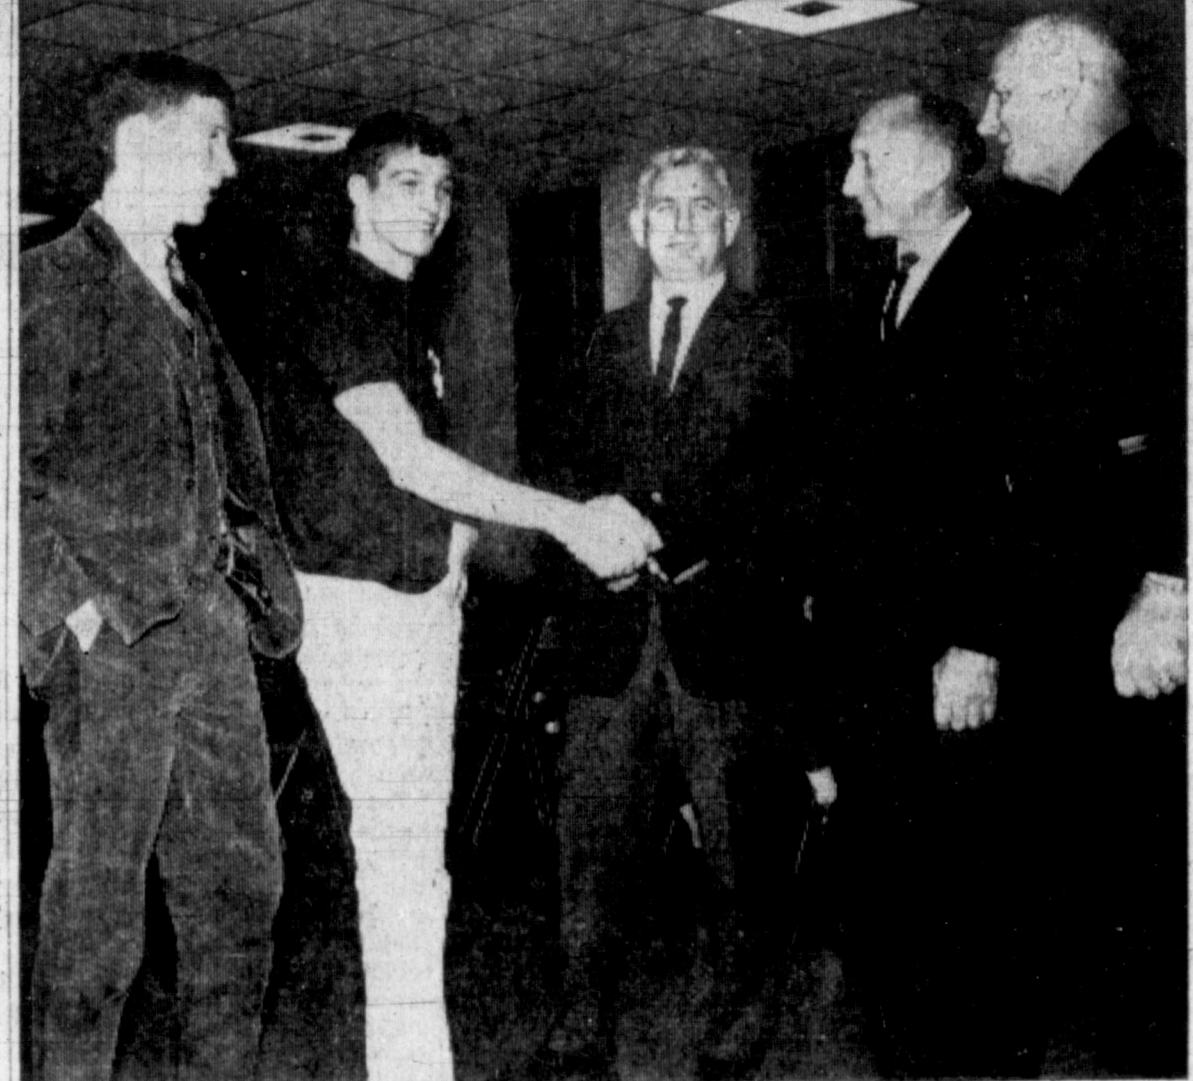

Kansas scored its only tally just before the intermission. Little quarterback Bill Fenton went over from two yards out to cap an 80-yard drive.

The Huskers, who went into the game as the leading rushing team in the nation, tallied three times in the third period, twice within a 90 seconds stand-

Razorbacks Knock Down Upset-Minded Rice, 31-0

HOUSTON (UPI)—The steamrolling Arkansas Razorbacks, ranked second in the nation, coasted to their 20th consecutive victory Saturday mauling the Rice Owls 31-0.

Upset minded Rice put up an early fight on a slick field that slightly retarded the Arkansas speed advantage, but lost the ball on three fumbles and had one pass intercepted. The Razorback defense put the rush on Rice quarterback David Ferguson, Robert Hailey and Doug Nicholson all day. Ferguson was injured early in the first quarter, and sat out most of the game.

Texas Tech Rambles By New Mexico State, 48-9

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Halfback Donny Anderson scored three touchdowns in the first half Saturday night to lead Texas Tech in a 48-9 rout over New Mexico State University in a non-conference game.

Tech fullback Kenny Baker scored one touchdown, and Jerry Shipley took a 25-yard pass from quarterback Tom Wilson, and halfback Mike Leinert took a 3-yard Wilson pass for the others.

Anderson ground out 41 yards of Tech's 56-yard drive for the Red Raiders' third touchdown, Anderson skipped through left tackle from 14 yards out and crossed the goal line standing up with two seconds to go in the first quarter.

Bohl, who went into the game the fourth-leading rusher in the nation, was the Aggies' only effective runner.

Michigan Dazzles Illinois, 23-3

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—Michigan, driving through a heavy drizzle, Saturday stopped the highest scoring Illinois football team in more than a decade, 23-3.

It was the seventh consecutive Wolverine victory over their Big Ten rivals.

High among Michigan's achievements was holding all-time America fullback Jim Grabowski, who has run up 780 yards in his first six games and broken all the rushing records in the Illinois ledgers, to 95 yards in 22 carries.

Alabama Roms Over Louisiana St., 31-7

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Alabama, sensing a bowl bid in the balmy November air, struck behind Steve Sloan's passing and Steve Bowman's running to club down Louisiana State 31-7 in a game that had been rated a tossup.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's seventh-ranked Tide kept LSU out of contention until it was too late to matter and Bryant substituted freely after intermission.

Sloan, setting a school record for pass attempts without an interception, hit touchdown passes of 45 and 6 yards and Bowman scored on runs of 36 and 2 yards.

David Ray added a 41-yard field goal for the Crimson Tide and kicked three extra points. Pat Screen, substituting at quarterback for the injured Nelson Stokley, hit Joe Labruzzo with a 53-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter for LSU but it didn't make much difference.

Stokley, the sophomore who who sparked much of LSU's early-season success, was sorely missed. He injured his knee against Mississippi last week and did not play a down today.

For Bryant it was the second consecutive victory over his former player, coach Charley McClendon of LSU. And for the slumping Tigers, it was their second straight loss, both of them in Southeastern Conference competition.

The loss eliminated the preseason co-favorites from title consideration.

The victory in the regionally televised game left Alabama in the thick of the SEC championship struggle and in good position to receive a bowl bid.

Alabama could do no wrong in the first half and LSU had trouble getting a sustained effort going.

IRISH OFFENSE ROLLS

Notre Dame Blasts Pittsburgh, 69-13

PITTSBURGH (U)—Notre Dame, ignited by halfback Bill Wolski's record five touchdowns, unleashed a better than point-a-minute offense Saturday to crush Pittsburgh's stunned Panthers, 69-13.

Wolski, a power-packed senior from Muskegon, Mich., ran wild on touchdown jaunts of 7, 4, 6, 2 and 1 yards. In between, he gobbled up yardage by darting through, around, up and over Pitt defenders.

It was one of the most humiliating defeats in the Panthers' long football history.

Larry Conjar, another pile-driving back from Harrisburg,

Pa., struck first for the Fighting Irish in the opening minute and six seconds on a 42-yard touchdown run that set the tempo for the afternoon. His touchdown came on the second play from scrimmage.

Then Wolski took over in a one-man display that sent Notre Dame to a 35-6 halftime lead.

There were other stars for the Irish during their devastating afternoon, but the one that shined brightest was Wolski. The Panthers managed to get on the scoreboard with only 32 seconds left in the first half and again with only 12 seconds left in the game. Both Pitt touchdowns came on passes.

Michigan filled the air with passes, completing only 18 out of 47 for 224 yards. Texas hit 11 out of 20 passes for 197 in the air to go with 230 yards on the ground.

Baylor got a Texas fumble on the Longhorn 18 for the first Bear score late in the third period. Billy Hayes went the final yard with only 53 seconds left in the stanza. R. M. Marshall passed the final four yards to Tommy Smith with just under five minutes left for the other Baylor touchdown.

Texas stole four Baylor passes and jumped on two fumbles by the Bears. The Longhorns lost three of their own fumbles—one of them setting up the first Baylor score.

Michigan's defense held Illinois to 130 yards on the ground and 124 yards in the air.

Wolverine quarterback Wally Gahler threw to halfback Carl Ward for the first Michigan touchdown from 10 yards out and his 39-yard peg to end Steve Smith set up the second touchdown.

Michigan's rugged offensive linemen opened the holes he kept the Wolverine ground game moving.

Sooners Down Iowa State, 24-20

TWISTIN AND TURNIN — Amarillo's fullback Mark Tiffany evades two Pampa tacklers to pick up good yardage Friday night. (See story and pictures page 12.)

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma survived a second-half Iowa State explosion Saturday to nip the Cyclones 24-20 in a hectic Big Eight Conference football game.

Quarterback Tim Vangalder rallied Iowa State to three touchdowns in the last half, but it was not enough to catch the fired-up Sooners, who played their best game of the season. Vangalder fired two touchdowns "bombs," hitting Tom Bush for 82 yards and Gary King for 32, and set up the third score with a 17-yard run.

But a gallant goal-line stand by Oklahoma on the one-foot line and a nullified scoring pass, both in the second quarter, had enabled the Sooners to roar to a 17-0 lead, and it was too much for the Cyclones to surmount.

Oklahoma, its rugged ground game eating up 299 yards, scored in every period and appeared headed for a rout when the Sooners marched into a 17-0 lead in the third quarter.

Tailback Ben Hart and Jon Kennedy scored on short runs capping drives, and Ron Shotts booted a 35-yard field goal.

Vangalder, who had overshot Bush three times in the first half and had a touchdown pass called back on a penalty, found Bush in the open and hit him on a well-executed 82-yard play.

Iowa State got the ball right back and moved from its own 39 to score, helped along by Vangalder's 17-yard scamper to the 15-yard line and a personal foul against Oklahoma. Willie Robinson scored from the one.

and the Oklahoma lead was cut to 17-14.

The Sooners took the ensuing kickoff and marched quickly to the clinching touchdown going 70 yards in 16 ground plays for the score, collected by Hart on a 4-yard run.

Iowa State collected its final touchdown a few minutes later after Cal Lewis returned a punt 35 yards to the 32. Vangalder then hit King for the score.

Vangalder hit on six of 18 passes for 148 yards while the Cyclones got 108 on the ground. Oklahoma, passing only 8 times, got 45 yards in the air. Oklahoma 7 7 3 7-24 Iowa State 0 0 14 6-20

Vols Gun Down Georgia Tech

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Eleventh-ranked Tennessee's little Charlie Fulton, a gutsy defense and a 21-point third-period explosion Saturday ripped the razzle-dazzle out of eighth-ranked Georgia Tech 21-7.

The victory, before representatives of the Sugar and Gator Bowls and Tennessee's biggest ever football crowd, left the twice-tied Vols the only major unbeaten team in the South. All three Tennessee scores came during a stunning seven-minute stretch in the third period.

Tech's victory string was snapped at five games.

Wingback Hal Wantland on a pass from sophomore Fulton — defensive back Harold Stancell and big fullback Stan Mitchell accounted for the Tennessee touchdowns and tailback Giles Smith, who replaced ailing star Lenny Snow, scored for Tech. Hot and cold Kim King, Tech's sophomore quarterback who had sparked the Yellow Jackets to 93 points in their last three one-sided victories, rolled up 144 yards in the first half.

Tech 10 yard line set up Fulton's three-yard scoring job to Wantland.

Sophomore tailback Walter Chadwick accounted for 14 yards in Tennessee's next by a pass interference call.

Mitchell leaped into the end zone from two yards out and wingback David Leake added his third straight extra point to wind up the Tennessee scoring — all in a span of barely seven minutes.

SMU Ponies Blank Texas Aggies, 10-0

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Southern Methodist fought off stubborn Texas A&M with any unyielding defense Saturday to register a 10-0 win and stay alive in the chase for the Southwest Conference crown.

With the Aggies trailing 10-0, Eddie McLaughan came in and brought the Aggies to life by hitting end Ken McLean for four consecutive first downs.

The Mustangs defense carried the team all day. The SMU offense, which rolled up 21 points against Texas last week, was unable to put more than two first downs together in any one drive.

This carried the Aggies 50 yards, but on a fourth-and-one play, McLaughan's pass to McLean was broken up in the end zone.

SMU's kicking specialist Dennis Pardee scored the only points the Mustangs needed with a second-quarter 25-yard field goal.

SMU's touchdown was set up when Richard Stark intercepted a Ledbetter pass at the Aggie 30. Mac White out the Mustangs in scoring position with runs of 16 and 5 yards around left end and then hit John Roderick perfectly for the score.

Aggie tackle Ken Lamkin got a hand on the ball, but deflected it only slightly. The ball lazily tumbled toward the goal post, hit the cross bar, and bounced on across for the three points.

One of the game's outstanding aspects was the punting of A&M's Phil Scoggin and SMU's Corky Terry and Jim Hagler.

A&M was unable to move against the Mustangs until late in the game when coach Gene Stallings replaced his starting quarterback, Harry Ledbetter, for the first time this season.

Scoggin punted 11 times for a 49.6-yard average and Terry kicked 9 times for an average of 41.4. Hagler booted two quick kicks that averaged 61 yards.

Delvin Wins Wills Masters Tourney

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Bruce Delvin of Australia capped a remarkable recovery from a recent leg operation by winning the Wills Masters Golf Tournament Saturday with a 72-hole total of 286, one stroke better than British Open champion Peter Thomson.

Delvin, who underwent an operation for the removal of varicose veins on both legs two months ago, shot a one-over-par 73 on the final round despite difficult weather conditions for his first major tournament victory since the St. Petersburg, Fla., Open early last year.

But while Delvin finally triumphed over his physical ailments, the opposite was true of U.S. Open champion Gary Player. The little South African, in the midst of his greatest pro season, was forced to withdraw from the tournament prior to Saturday's final two rounds because of ruptured rib muscles which left him in agony.

Clarendon Upsets Memphis, 22-21

MEMPHIS (Spl) — Clarendon scored a big upset Friday night coming from a 21-8 defeat to edge Memphis, 22-21.

Memphis built up a 28-8 first period lead only to see Clarendon cut it to 21-16 at halftime and score the winning points in run by David Mooring.

Memphis scored the first three times they got the football and Clarendon then scored the next three times they got possession.

Auburn Dumps Miss. St. 35-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Quarterback Alex Bowden passed for two touchdowns and set up another with his accurate but wobbly passes Saturday to pace Auburn to a 25-18 win over slumping Mississippi State.

Middies Pound Maryland, 19-7

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Sophomore quarterback John Cartwright tossed two touchdown passes and Navy's ferocious defense throttled Maryland Saturday as the Middies posted a 19-7 victory.

BUCKEYES ROLL ON Ohio State Crushes Indiana

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio State used a cast-iron defense and a battering fullback to score its fifth come-from-behind victory this season in beating Indiana 17-10 in a Big Ten football game.

The Buckeyes outplayed most of the first half, drove 64 yards in the fourth period for the winning touchdown with fullback Will Sander battering across from two yards out for his second touchdown.

Ohio for the first time in seven games broke in front with a first period touchdown but they trailed 10-7 at the half. But they rallied as they have been forced to do in all of their five victories this season.

The Hoosiers came to life in the second period for 10 quick points on a 27-yard field goal by Dave Kornowa and a 62-yard nine-play drive that ended with quarterback Frank run on a broken pass play.

Defensive back John Fill set up Ohio State's first touchdown three minutes after the opening kickoff when he intercepted one of Stavroff's passes and stepped out of bounds on the Indiana 44. Halfback Tom Barrington ran wide for 28 yards and Sander plunged over for the touchdown. It was the only Ohio State threat in the first half.

The Amarillo Sandies blew Pampa out of the stadium Friday night as they crushed the Harvesters, 41-0 behind a convincing running attack.

The win was the first for Amarillo in Harvester Stadium since 1957 and they did it most convincingly.

Amarillo scored three of its first four times they got their hands on the football, including a pass interception that bounced out of the hands of the intended Harvester receiver.

The Sandies marched 63 yards with the opening kickoff and scored in 11 plays, including a five yard penalty against them.

Mike Brewer, the only Sandie to score twice, capped the drive by plunging over from the one with 7:02 remaining in the first period. Don Whitehead kicked the first of five conversions to make it 7-0.

Amarillo wasted no time in scoring again as Ricky Warren intercepted a Roy Harper pass that bounced out of the arms of Gary McCarrell on the 25 and raced in for the touchdown.

Whitehead again kicked good and with 5:56 left Amarillo had a 14-0 bulge.

Pampa picked up a little steam and moved from their own 32 to the Amarillo 30 where on a fourth and five situation Harper could gain only three yards.

The Sandies took over and promptly drove the 73 yards in Pampa area.

Groom Advances Playoff Hopes With 22-0 Win

LEFORS (Spl) — Groom took another giant step toward the 5-B conference championship with a convincing 22-0 victory over Lefors Friday night.

The victory gives the Pirates a 4-0 league record compared to Wheeler's 4-1 mark. Groom still has two league games remaining and Wheeler one.

The victory was the Pirates seventh in eight outings.

For Lefors it was defeat number seven compared to one victory for the season and ran their league record to 1-3.

Lefors held the Pirates Larry Lamerson scoreless and Groom led only 6-0 at halftime.

Lynn King scored the first of two touchdowns in the second quarter when he went over from the three to cap a 64-yard scoring drive. The pass for the conversion failed.

King made it 12-0 in the third period when he scampered in from five yards out and Jerry Littlefield ran the conversion for a 14-0 third quarter lead.

Kyle Black wrapped up the scoring in the final period when he scooted 62 yards to paydirt. Terry Cornutt passed to Jerry Roberts for the conversion.

White Deer Rips 'Cats by 46-0

CANADIAN (Spl) — White Deer made it an easy nine in a row here Friday night whipping winless Canadian, 46-0.

The loss was the ninth for the Wildcats in as many outings. White Deer increased their league record to 4-0 and clinched the Bucks a playoff spot in the 2-A Championship.

The area scoring leader, Randy Elliott increased his margin with three touchdowns and Vernon Marlar, the Bucks fullback added two more.

White Deer scored four times in the first period and added one in the second for a 33-0 halftime margin.

Marlar started the Bucks off by diving in from the one to cap a 65 yard drive. Johnny Mooney's kick try for the conversion failed.

Elliott made it 12-0 minutes later when he dashed over from the five and Mooney booted the point for a 13-0 margin.

Elliott added his second touchdown the next time the Bucks got the ball by snaring a two-yard pass from Phillip Hart. Mooney kicked and the Bucks led 19-0.

Perryton Runs By Canyon Easily

PERRYTON (Spl) — Canyon couldn't contain Perryton's great speed Friday night and fell, 20-8 to the Rangers.

Canyon led in statistics but that was all as Al Rupprecht, Kenneth Delke and Bruce Byerley all scored for Perryton.

The Rangers led only 6-0 at halftime but broke loose in the final two periods.

Wellington Soars Past McLean, 28-0

WELLINGTON (Spl) — McLean was handed its third consecutive loss in four outings here Friday night as Wellington came back from a disastrous defeat at the hands of White Deer for a 28-0 victory.

The loss was also McLean's sixth in nine season outings while the Skyrockets ran their season record to 7-1-1 and league mark to 3-1.

Pass interceptions spelled the downfall for the Tigers as they were shutout for only the second time this season.

Jackie Needham scored three times for Wellington, one a 92-yard run in the third quarter. The Skyrockets led 14-0 at halftime and scored one in each period.

Needham scored the first Wellington touchdown on a 28-yard run. The conversion failed and the Skyrockets led 6-0 after one period of play.

Jimmy Smith scored in the second period from 12-yards out and then passed to Needham for the conversion.

In the third period Needham rambled 92 yards to make it 20-0 after three periods of play.

Needham added the final touchdown by going over from two yards out. Randy West ran the conversion.

Wheeler Surges Past Miami Warriors, 42-6

WHEELER (Spl) — Miami felt the sting of a mad Wheeler football team as the Mustangs came back strong Friday night for a 42-6 victory.

Wheeler, beaten last week by Groom in a game that ended their 19-game winning streak, collected their eighth victory in nine outings and fourth league win in five games.

Tom Smith and Bobby Vanpool scored twice each for the Mustangs, who led only 14-0 at the half. But Wheeler scored twice each in the third and fourth quarters to win going away.

Smith started the Mustangs off with a 26-yard pass from Fred Goad. Vanpool ran the conversion for an 8-0 first period lead.

Frankie Rogers got the first of his two touchdowns in the second period when he went over from the one to cap a 77-yard scoring drive. The run for the conversion failed and it was 14-0 at halftime.

Vanpool scored in the third stanza when he gathered in a pass from Goad and raced down the sidelines with the play covering 85-yards. Smith ran the conversion to make it 21-0.

Vanpool added another third period tally when he scampered 63 yards — for the score. The kick for the point failed.

In the fourth quarter Smith rambled 84 yards for a score and Gary Hardcastle kicked the conversion.

The final Wheeler touchdown came when Rogers rambled 19 yards to paydirt. Dan Dorman booted the conversion to end the Wheeler scoring.

Miami's lone tally came in the closing minutes of the game when Gary Lister plunged over from the one yard line.

Miami is now 2-5 for the season and 0-4 in conference play.

CONSERVATIONIST

M. Henderson has completed installing a complete conservation plan on his farm. He constructed a diversion terrace, has good residue management and has a good crop rotation. Mr. Henderson applied his plan with the assistance of the Great Plains Conservation Program. His contract will expire Dec. 31, 1965.

Mrs. Doshie Anderson has completed her conservation plan with assistance from the Great Plains Conservation Program. Mrs. Anderson's plan included diversion terraces and parallel terraces.

Archie L. Maness has completed his Great Plains Conservation Program Plan. He has done a good job of conservation by using a good conservation cropping system, crop residue management, contour farming, waterway and diversion terraces.

Raymond Barrett has a good conservation plan developed on his farm. He is planning to install underground pipeline for irrigation. This underground line will replace an open ditch and will save lots of water which has been lost in the past by using an open ditch—Raymond, with the help of the Soil Conservation Service, checked the output on his well with a meter which shows how many gallons per minute his well is making. Each producer which has an irrigation well should know how much water per minute his well is making so that he can plan his irrigation system better.

PARIS —President Charles de Gaulle of France, announcing he will run for re-election: "I feel I must hold myself ready to continue my task, in full awareness of the effort it involves, but at the same time convinced it is the best way to serve France."

DALLAS —Dist. Atty. Henry Wade announcing he would not oppose changing Jack Ruby's death sentence to life in prison:

Cloak and Dagger at the Department of Agriculture

The story begins on the nation's abundant farmlands. Above, a Maryland farmer surveys his rolling fields.

U.S.D.A. enumerators in every state query farmers and measure crop growth in small, randomly selected fields.

Crop reporters' estimates and yield surveys are summarized in 43 field offices, then sent to Washington.

At the Department of Agriculture, state tabulations for speculative crops are locked in special mailbox.

On report day, commodity specialists review the state figures to reach official estimate for entire nation.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is not normally thought of as an agency dealing with secret documents. But at least twice a month in Washington, D.C., USDA's Statistical Reporting Service works behind locked and guarded doors. The object is to prevent advance information about harvest outlooks from leaking to speculators dealing with wheat, corn, cotton, soybeans and certain other crops that are traded on commodity exchanges. On the day a report on a speculative commodity is to be prepared and released, data forwarded from all over the country is taken from a double-lock mailbox to the lock-up room, where all window blinds are closed and sealed, phones disconnected and guards posted. When the Crop Reporting Board finishes its tabulations, the completed reports are taken to the release room and placed face down by telephones. At a signal, waiting reporters dash to the phones to give the news to the nation and the world.

Just before release time, officials leave "lock-up."

They're off! Reporters head for telephones and reports.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
District Manager

The question is raised on numerous occasions on how and when the federal government got into the Water Conservation Area. For those who don't know, it started a long time ago. The first step toward the development and improvement of the nation's water resources by the Federal Government, was the authorization in 1820, by the Congress of the United States, for a survey in connection with navigation on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. This survey was assigned to the Corps of Engineers. Since that initial authorization, the United States Corps of Engineers has constructed, improved and maintained the nation's harbors and navigable waterways, and assumed as directed by Congress a major responsibility for the National Government's program of flood control, shore protection and other water resources.

The development and improvement of our natural water resources in the interest of navigation, flood control, water conservation and related purposes provide vast expanses of water and shore line. Since water is a prime factor in many recreation activities, these resources provide for the American people an enormous potential for outdoor recreational pursuits.

With the population explosion facing us, we are going to have more ready available fresh water than ever before. Every segment of American life should stop and take a long look at its situation in regard to what it is doing to help or impede the fight for fresh water. When the nation's industry and cities fail to take the necessary steps to stop and prevent pollution, then we may expect some arm of the local, state or federal government to move into this field. Recent news releases indicate to get the dam constructed to provide the needed water for the current and future growth of these cities. There will be nine pumping stations, two regulating reservoirs and other related facilities. The dam proper is now finished, with water at the dam more than 60 feet deep. Since Amarillo has a higher elevation than the dam area, water will have to be lifted 760 feet from the lake reservoir to reach Amarillo. Since the dam was completed early this summer some 10 inches of rainfall occurred during the month of June, with additional rain during July. The lake as of October had collected over 200,000 acre-feet of water. This actually means that there is enough water in Lake Meredith to cover 200,000 acres of land one foot deep. To further clarify this it would cover approximately two-fifths of Gray County, one foot deep.

In 1793, the Louvre Museum in Paris was opened to the Public for the first time.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent

Donald Walberg received 114 head of 360 pound heifers about two weeks ago. These heifers came from small auction sales all over Louisiana. To date he has not lost a one of these from the heavy killer in cattle "shipping fever." Thanks to some of the new veterinary drugs and sound veterinary advice, Donald now has these cattle on wheat pasture. They are doing fine.

Hubert Keahy recently ordered two loads of this same type cattle. One load of 120 heifers has just arrived. These cattle were assembled at Alexandria, Louisiana one afternoon at 4 p.m. These cattle were loaded on a giant pot-bellied truck and with its huge diesel engine winged its way to Pampa, Tex. At 10 a.m. the following morning, the truck arrived at the Keahy place. These cattle were in fine shape. Thanks to the way they had been handled before shipment and the fast transportation from the point of origin.

Change is the order of the day in the cattle business but one thing that has not changed is the fact that most of the cattle trading is done on an oral gentlemen's agreement. We used to say a hand shake. Anymore, the agreements are not even this formal.

agreements are not even this say a hand shake. Anymore, the Most of it is done by telephone. Very recently about 775 cattle involving over $50,000.00 of the above type cattle have been delivered to this county. The thing that would make this story almost unbelievable to the average person is the fact that some of the local farmers or ranchers have not seen the person from which they purchased the cattle during the trading process. One of them has never met the buyer. He asks a friend to contact him and order the cattle. Art Aftergut, who depends on the trade from farmers and ranchers a great deal says, "I just can't understand business being done like this on such a tremendous scale."

Is this bad or risky business on the part of farmers and ranchers? I would say a definite "No."

What makes farmers and ranchers take cattle traders of this magnitude into their complete confidence? The cattle trader's reputation is the only answer. He will tell the purchaser "The cattle must be as represented or they are still mine." There are no ifs, ands or buts. If the buyer doesn't think the cattle are as represented, he doesn't have to take them.

Many ranchers will tell you about the time this trader had contracted calves for thirty cents per pound and the price slipped to eighteen cents. He fulfilled every contract. This is what they call the acid test in the cow business. But this is what it takes to get big in the cattle trading business today. Supreme honesty when it hurts to be honest.

It was only a few short years ago this individual was trading in pickup load lots. Today he has the reputation of being one of the largest cattle traders in the United States. He spends about half of his time talking by long distance telephone. Many of the local operators do not have to call information — they know his number.

We will not name this individual because he is not the type person that cares for publicity. Should there ever be a "Hall of Fame" for cattle traders we feel as though he will be a charter member.

Television in Review

United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:
Coming attractions: Long-time movie star Ann Sheridan has accepted a continuing role in NBC-TV's daytime soap opera, "Another World," starting Thursday. Bing Crosby hosts ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace" again Nov. 20, and his guests include John Bubbles and Diahann Carroll. Same network's "Wide World of Sports" offers the international water ski championships at Queensland, Australia, next Saturday.

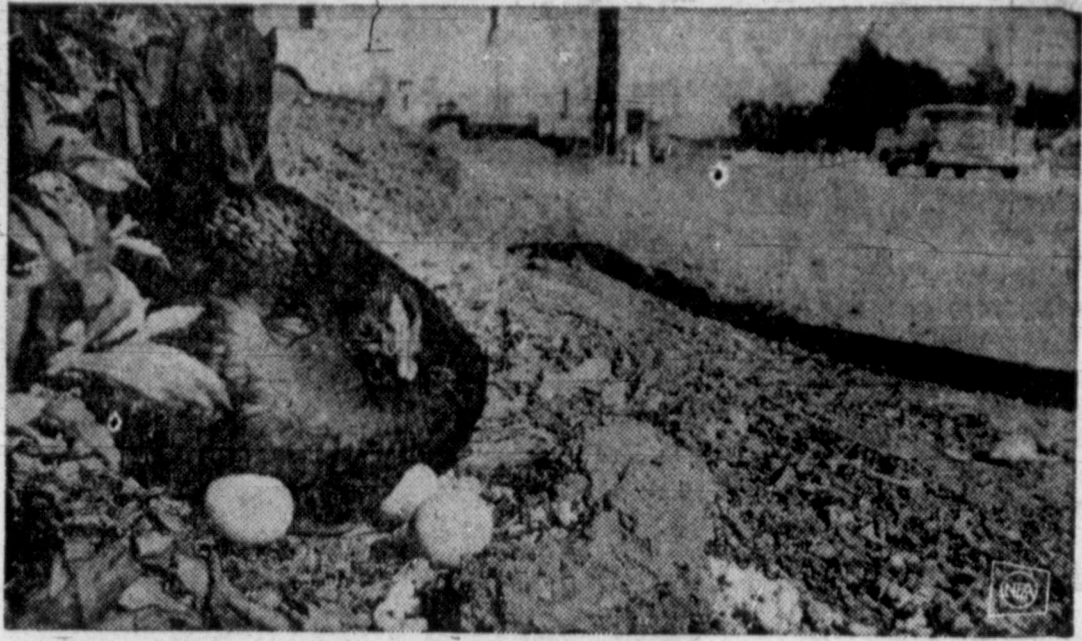

MESSAGE: The Federal Bureau of Investigation will broadcast a "public alert message" on ABC-TV's one-hour drama series, "The FBI," Sunday. A one-minute announcement calling attention to a "most wanted man" on its criminal list. The network says this will be "the first of several such public alerts to be broadcast when occasion arises." C. D. Delach, assistant FBI director, is quoted:

Video Wanted Posters
"Calling our 'most wanted men' directly to the attention of so many millions of Americans should prove tremendously helpful to us in our search for these criminals. In effect this is a modern day expansion of distributing 'wanted' posters. It will afford the FBI the largest public circulation that any law enforcement agency has ever had." The series about the FBI, a ratings success, is reported by ABC-TV to be watched in more than 13 million homes by over 36 million persons.

Student protests over American military action in Viet Nam are the subject of "ABC Scope" Nov. 20. A drama re-creating the last days of the famous 16th century humanist, Erasmus, when he had to choose between the philosophies of the Roman Catholic Church and those of Martin Luther, will be broadcast Nov. 14 on CBS-TV's "Lamp Unto My Feet". Jazz is the topic of NBC-TV's children's series, "The First Look," a week from today.

"DAKTARI" Series
"Daktari" will be the name of CBS-TV's new one-hour series that is based on the movie "Clarence, The Cross-eyed Lion," and begins Jan. 11, centering around a doctor who is doing research in Africa and has an animal compound there. CBS-TV dutifully explains that "Daktari" is the Swahili word for "doctor" — and that the lion is found in the bush and made into a pet. The program, which will be seen in color from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. EST on Tuesdays, stars Marshall Thompson, with Cheryl Miller as his teenage daughter.

FOLLOWUP: In CBS-TV's recent "Town Meeting of the World" broadcast, former President Eisenhower, U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall were questioned by students abroad via the Early Bird Satellite — and many viewers may have wondered why the youngsters from behind the iron curtain in Yugoslavia seemed more courteous and restrained than those of our allies. Here is an explanation presented by weekly "Variety":

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By Joe Tooley and Tom Beard

The middle of the nineteenth century saw one of the most significant strides in the long history of medicine. . . . the use of anesthetics to relieve pain of surgery.

Of course, a wide variety of soporific potions were known and used much earlier, but they were difficult to control and often exerted fatal influence on the heart and respiration.

Surgeons of the pre-anesthetic days either, tied their patients securely with ropes or relied on speed to finish operations quickly before the patient had much time to reflect on his suffering.

Getting away from anesthetics and into the subject of prescriptions, this is where we come in. Prescriptions are a specialty at RICHARD DRUG.

The High School Red Cross had a booth at the High School Carnival this year and the boys and girls played the part of a Japanese tea House with decorations and fortune cookies. We have heard many good reports regarding the booth and we will say—it was different! The High School band will play for the Red Cross Youth Assembly program at High School on Nov. 10 to kick off their enrollment in the school.

Mrs. O. C. Penn, teacher sponsor for Lefors School will be responsible for the favors and nut cups for the Amarillo Air Force Base Hospital for Veterans Day for November 11. We wish the public could see the children's work in all of these projects.

Producing Natural Gas for Area Use

The Pampa Daily News

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS, SUNDAY, NOV. 7, 1965

When the sun beats down at 100 plus degrees or when snow falls and the temperature drops to sub-zero readings, it is the obligation of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to supply its customers with fuel for the kitchen stove or the bathroom heater.

The natural gas wells that now feed Pampa and as far south as Lubbock were drilled in 1959. The gas comes from an underground source known as the West Panhandle Field.

Pampa gets its gas from the Gray County area which includes some 120 wells. There are 12 booster stations that gather the gas from the wells and send it to the pumping station seven miles south of Pampa.

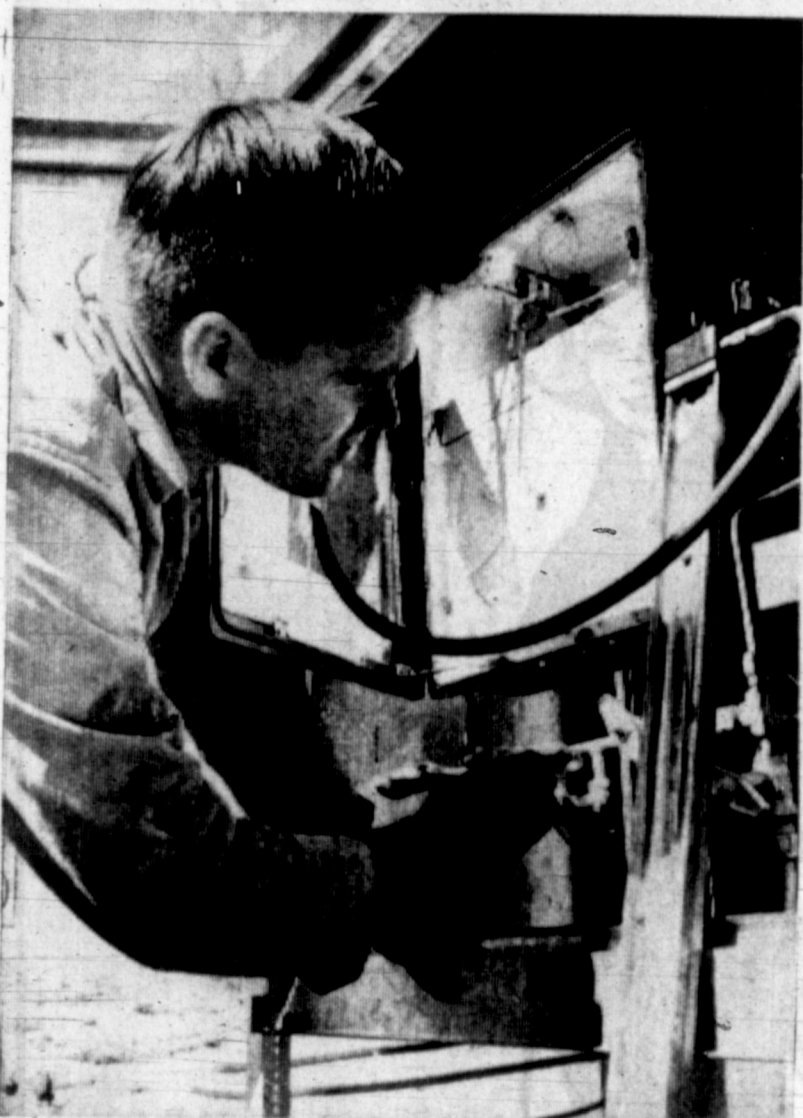

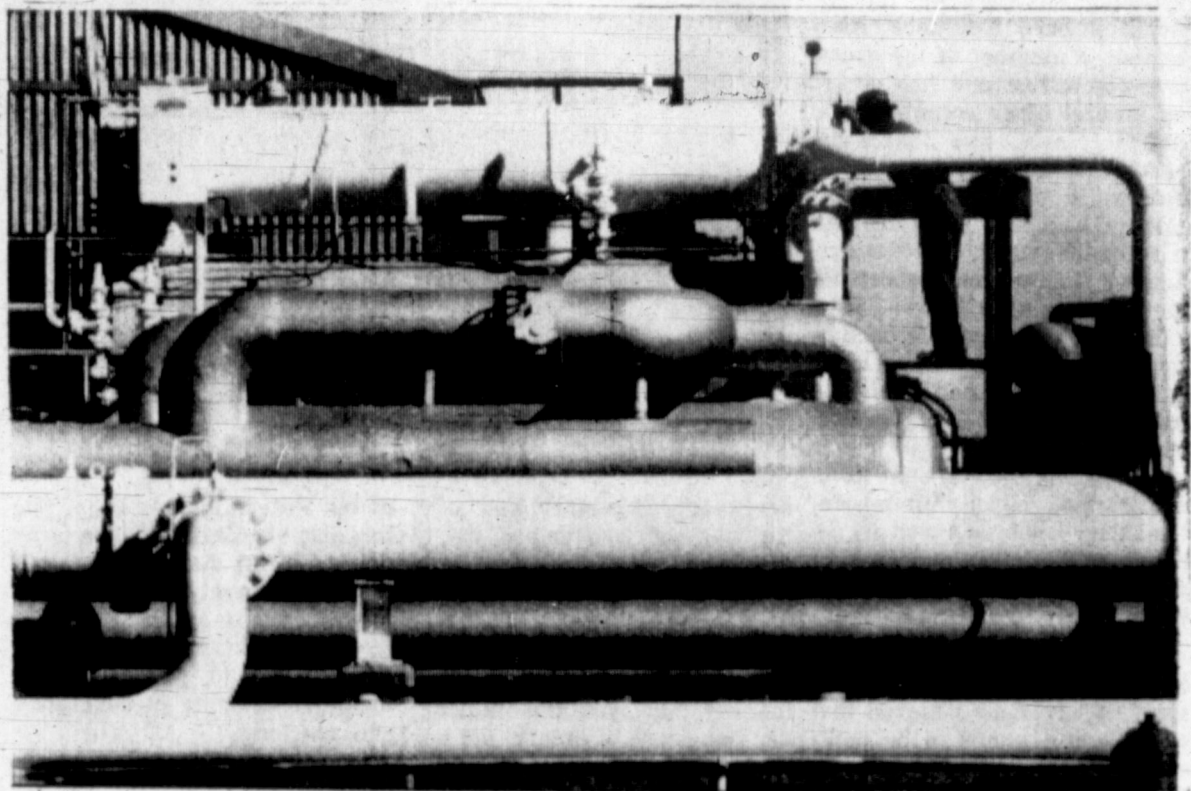

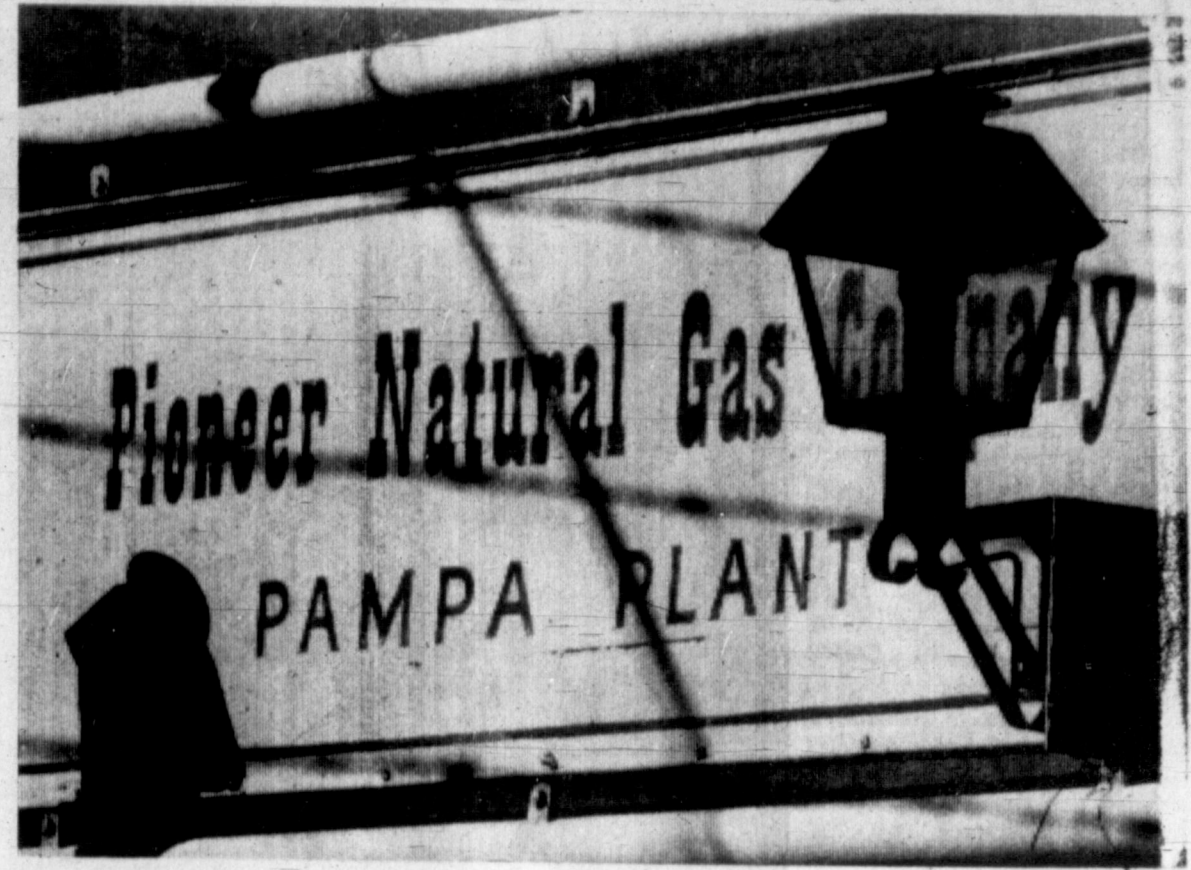

At the pumping station, all impurities are extracted before the gas is piped into Pampa.

The treatment process includes such things as heating and cooling to extract moisture and oil. Also at this stage, the law requires that a synthetic odor be added to the odorless natural gas.

Like anything consumed, the supply eventually runs out. When the day comes that there is no more gas in the field now feeding Pampa, and this will not occur for a number of years, Pioneer has a reserve field near Midland waiting to be called upon.

Few realize the equipment required and the time and money spent in providing gas for local consumption.

Here is a summary of the sights and activities that can be seen in Pioneer's gas fields and at the company's pumping stations in the Gray County field.

TOP LEFT — W. H. Wilson, supervisor of the Gray County field for Pioneer Natural Gas Co., looks over Zueb Well No. 7. It is one of 25 restricted wells and produces only about 391,000 cubic feet of gas per week.

SECOND DOWN ON LEFT — J. P. Humphrey, meter inspector for Pioneer, scales one of the meters used to measure gas taken from a well. It is Humphrey's job to check the differential of each of Pioneer's meters at least once every 90 days.

THIRD DOWN ON LEFT — Pioneer Gas uses the newest in modern equipment to insure the best service and the safest working conditions. Here W. H. Wilson uses his car's two-way radio to dispatch men needed in a certain area. The radio can also be used to locate any worker who might be lost in a storm. Each vehicle is equipped with K rations, a first aid kit and a sleeping bag for use in emergencies. These and other precautions have helped Pioneer win a safety award from the Southern Gas Association.

SECOND FROM RIGHT ON BOTTOM — These high storage tanks are located at the Pampa Compressor station. On a cold day when more gas is called for, gas can be taken from these tanks without overworking the field pumps.

Pampa Science Teacher Nominated For 1966 'Teacher of the Year' Award

Mrs. W. M. (Elaine) Ledbetter, a teacher of science in the Pampa High School, has been nominated by the committee on teacher education and professional standards of the Pampa Classroom Teachers' Association for the 1966 "Texas Teacher of the Year" award. The Texas teacher chosen becomes a nominee for the "National Teacher of the Year" award. Each year "Look Magazine" runs a feature article on the "Teacher of the Year". The teacher receives an all-expense trip to Washington, D. C. and is presented the award by the President of the United States.

Mrs. Ledbetter is recognized nationally and internationally for her success in the field of science. She has served as president of the Science Teachers' Association of Texas, as well as on many regional and state boards. She has been corresponding secretary for the National Science Teachers' Association, a member of the executive committee and has served on several other committees at national level. She has also served on a very select International Council. The Pampa teacher has been program planning chairman for the National Science Convention, moderator at the Second General Session for the Youth Conference on the Atom, which was held in Chicago in 1963, and chairman for the Regional Science Conference at Houston, which was sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. She has been much in demand as a speaker and panelist at National Science Conventions.

In discussing her philosophy of teaching, Mrs. Ledbetter says, "I have long believed that students are lamps to be lighted, and not cups to be filled." This philosophy is evidenced in the success of her students and their appreciation of her as a teacher. Since Mrs. Ledbetter organized the Pampa Science Fair in 1958 many students, from the first grade through high school, have developed outstanding projects. There have been ten finalists in the National Science Fair. Dr. Malcolm Brown, assistant professor of botany at the University of Texas, was the first to win national honors. Of Mrs. Ledbetter Dr. Brown has said, "My association with Mrs. Ledbetter in connection with my science project was the focal point in the beginning of my career in science." Avril Doucette, a recent national winner has said, "It was she who helped me to develop individual initiative and curiosity."

Co-workers and administrators alike have commended Mrs. Ledbetter for her gracious manner, her youthful outlook, her fine sense of humor and her patience and understanding. Teachers in other fields have expressed appreciation for her cooperation and genuine interest in other fields as well as in science. She holds a Masters Degree in Counseling as well as in science and has proved to be excellent in that field.

Mrs. Ledbetter was the recipient of the Pampa Altrusa Club "Woman of Achievement" award and the "Adult Leader of the Year" award in 1961. In 1965 she was listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and was presented the "Outstanding Chemistry Teacher in Texas" award.

Mrs. Ledbetter is associated with the Gray County Medical Auxiliary, serving as co-sponsor of the Future Nurses Club. She has also been active in the Gray County Heart Association and the Gray County Cancer Association. She is active in First Methodist Church, serving on both adult and youth committees and assisting in counseling and teaching.

In 1961, Mrs. Ledbetter published a book of poems, "Triumph Moment" which was illustrated by her own photography, another field in which she has been highly successful. Mrs. Evelyn Pierce Nace, president of Panhandle Penwomen, praises her for her depth, sensitivity and fine Christian influence. She is also co-author of a ninth grade physical science book, "Matter and Energy," which will be off the press this fall, and is being used now on a trial basis.

Of the many qualifications of Mrs. Ledbetter for "Teacher of the Year", the respect of parents, teachers, and students, her leadership in the fields of

'Rebel Rose, Confederate Spy' Book Reviewed for TC Cotillion Members

Mrs. Lee Fraser was hostess Tuesday to members of Twentieth Century Cotillion at 1424 Williston. Mrs. Weldon Adair, president, announced that the next meeting would be held at West Texas State University. The members voted to have a scholarship fund at West Texas University named Twentieth Century Cotillion Fund. All proceeds from the Club's annual antique show will go into this scholarship fund.

A book review was given by Mrs. Jim Campbell entitled "Rebel Rose - Confederate Spy" written by Ishbel Ross.

Mrs. Campbell stated "Ishbel Ross was a newspaper reporter born and educated in Scotland. She wrote as if she were reporting a story with a great deal of detail. In spite of myriad of detailing, Rose O'Neal Greenhow emerged as a fascinating character.

"Rose's father was killed by a Negro body servant when she was an infant. She grew up 30 miles from Washington, D. C. In her early teens she and her sisters went to live with their Aunt, Mrs. Hill, who ran a fashionable Capitol Hill boardinghouse. From her first appearance in Washington Rose's fresh beauty, quick wit and precocious grasp of national affairs captivated politics. Life at the boardinghouse was specialized preparation for a role of political influence. Her political preceptor was John C. Calhoun, vice president under Andrew Jackson." Mrs. Campbell continued, "Rose O'Neal married Robert Greenhow. A man educated in medicine and law but worked for the State Department as a translator, librarian and interpreter for twenty years. In time Rose was to bear four daughters. During this time Rose became adept at intrigue. She had a gift for conversation and her memory was an asset. She gathered information for husband as well as others. Many politicians sought her counsel. One of her great disappointments was Calhoun's repeated failures for the presidency. She became a lively social link between nations warily boxing behind the scenes. In Mexico City the Greenhows met and became involved with Limantour, who was to perpetuate the largest land fraud in American history. Rose was a plagued for years by this association.

"After her husband died Rose continued with her social position and was very close to Buchanan when he became president. Rose was his cherished advisor. As the rift with the South began Rose was the power behind the throne." Mrs. Campbell continued.

"Within two weeks after the outbreak of the Civil War Rose had committed herself to the South and become a central figure in the espionage system of the South. Her knowledge of the Union Army was largely responsible for the southern victory at Bull Run. General McClellan once stated "She knows Celleran once stated "She knows my plans better than Lincoln or the cabinet."

"In August of 1861 Rose was arrested as a spy. She was accused of trading the sweets of love for the secrets of war. Even in prison she was able to convey messages."

The speaker concluded by saying "After her release she

Mrs. Hills Presents 'Individuality in The Arts' Program to Study Club Members

Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. George Neef.

The president, Mrs. Neef, was in charge of the business meeting and led the club in the pledge to the flag. A rummage sale was set for Dec. 9-10.

Mrs. Frank Grantham, vice president, introduced the program on "Fine Arts." Mrs. A. D. Hills, speaker, presented the subject "Individuality in the Arts," stating "So many things in our society retard and destroy creative initiative. Social forces demand adherence to the norm. Standardization brought about the mechanization of our industry, also has contributed to crippled creativity. Industrial progress is necessary, but there needs to be a counterbalance so that the individual will have the opportunity to live a rich and rewarding life."

Continuing, the speaker said "During the last 20 years, progress in physical sciences has tended to overshadow advancement in the humanities improving physical conditions while neglecting the arts leaves life devoid of richness, depth and meaning.

"I believe the tide has turned and there is now a new interest in all phases of fine art. The media of communication has brought more of the arts to more people, stimulating their curiosity and interest.

As a result, there is an unprecedented movement to see, to appreciate and to experience all phases of fine arts. Across the nation new museums for art and history are opening, greater opportunity for the enjoyment of music is developing, book clubs and reading seminars whose purpose is to share in literature and drama, are growing in numbers.

"To many people, fine arts means special talents in art, music, drama and literature. Whether an individual's talents lie in the field of home making, business, or a profession he can participate in creative arts through an appreciation of the world around him. Because a special talent is required to appreciate beauty in the commonplace, those persons who have developed this talent are the most artistic. As Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "Though we travel the whole world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us or we find it not."

"Art has many definitions - it is not merely a pretty bauble or an old or unique creation but an indefinite elusive "something" that distinguishes the commonplace. In a broad sense it is the appreciation of beauty; in another sense, the creation of an artist. Art is not solely paintings or pictures, but all forms of creative effort."

"The creative artist is one of the chief assets of any nation. Every one benefits from his efforts. Artists have always been the guides, the designers, the creators. It is they who decide the shape of houses and of ships, manufactured goods, cities, and space vehicles. Because the world is changing so swiftly there will be more and more need for creative talent of ever individual. "Every one is an artist to some degree. People live in a world of their own making - and want continually to improve it. They create, beautify, arrange, decorate, plan and strive for beauty and perfection. Every one has a measure of creativity, inventiveness, and sense of beauty, whether a house wife, Thomas Edison, or a Michelangelo. Every one cannot be an Artist, but every one has the ability to acquire an appreciation of art," Mrs. Hills concluded.

Those present were Mmes. Irvin Cole, Frank Grantham, A. D. Hills, A. C. Houchin, John McKerney, W. J. Morris, George Neef, Emmett Osborne, W. C. Scott, K. A. Sorenson, Chester Williams, J. B. Townsend and Floyd Pennington.

GS Troop 214 Enjoys Campout

Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 214 left Pampa by bus to go to Camp Mel Davis, Lefors, recently for an overnight camping trip.

After supper, they enjoyed a Halloween party which had been planned by the three patrols of the Troop. The Buttercup Patrol decorated the living room of the lodge with cutouts of witches, bats and spiders which they had made at a special patrol meeting. Daisy Patrol had made Halloween cut-out cookies, which they served from a table covered with an orange cloth, centered with glowing pumpkin - faces and bottles of orange pop. The Tulip Patrol had charge of the entertainment. They had planned games of apple - relay, "Spooky" bingo, Halloween charades and bobbing - for - apples and had prizes for each game. After all the fun of the games, the Daisy Patrol members handed out surprise "Trick or Treat" sacks of candy.

Saturday morning was spent in learning how to set up and take down wall and umbrella type tents. Lunch was cooked over charcoal and baking gingerbread in orange half-shells, saved from breakfast, was tried.

After general camp cleanup, each girl sketched a picture using charcoal from the campfire. This is one requirement for the "Drawing and Painting" badge the troop is working on.

Following a hike to "Old Harvey," the Colors were retreated and everyone loaded the bus for home late Saturday evening.

Scouts and leaders attending were Debra Brumfield, Phyllis Clark, Cathy Collinsworth, Jeanie Cox, Lou Ann Fulcher, Cynthia Hatfield, Cindy Hicks, Jeannie Maness, Beth Ragsdale, Darla Robertson, Virginia Schaeffer, Juanita Smith, Rebecca Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Maness and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cox Jr.

Eyes and Lips Have Natural Look for Day

SEASON'S MAKEUP — Make-up takes no middle road this fall. Sophisticates will swing from bejeweled eyes, vibrant, exotic colors worn at night to a natural, almost bare-faced look that shouts "youth" for day. Here eye make-up fits daytime mood with eyebrows and lashes merely outlined for emphasis, no extreme effects. Lips have a no-mouth look through use of a frosted lip gloss that brings a nude tone to the lips. The lip gloss also protects lips against unattractive drying and chapping.

Charity Ball Will Be Colorful Affair Amid Candlelit Mexican Village Setting

CHRISTMAS TREATS — Mrs. John Horn is preparing German Christmas cookies to be offered for sale at Junior Service League's Charity Ball. The cookies are a specialty of Mrs. Horn, a native of Germany. Other gaily decorated booths will offer a variety of paper, papier mache and enamel gifts made by JSL members.

Giant paper flowers, pinatas, gilded bird cages, and candlelight will turn the Pampa Country Club into a Mexican village plaza on Saturday evening, Nov. 20 at the Junior Service League presents its fourth annual Charity Ball. Proceeds from the Ball will provide hearing tests for all Pampa children entering first grade in the fall of 1966. The tests, which will be held in April, will be administered by the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center.

Guests will dance to the music of Johnny Long and his orchestra in the ballroom of the Country Club, which will be decorated as a Mexican village square. A highlight of this decor will be a ceiling-high tree covered with leaves and brilliant paper flowers. Encircling the base of the tree will be a rustic wooden bench where the dancers may relax between numbers.

Tall pottery vases filled with gigantic paper flowers in all colors and golden bird cages holding parrots will also be featured in the ballroom. Other rooms in the club will be decorated with flowers, pinatas, candles, and colorful papier mache beads.

Lighting the drive and the entrance to the club will be dozens of luminarias. These are small candles which are placed in paper sacks filled with sand. When lighted, they give off a soft glow and are a favorite and traditional type of Christmas decoration used in Mexico.

A special feature of the Ball will be gaily decorated booths offering for sale a variety of paper, papier mache, and enamel gifts made by Mrs. Willy Reynolds and Mrs. Vernon Watkins, assisted by members of the league. These gift items include mirrors, picture frames, wig stands and paper flowers. Another booth will offer delicious German Christmas cookies made by Mrs. John Horn. Proceeds from the sale of these items will be applied to the hearing test fund.

Admission to the Charity Ball is a $15 donation per couple and is by invitation only. Persons wishing to attend who have not yet been contacted by a League member should call Mrs. Carlton Nance MO 4-8811, or Mrs. George Cree Jr., MO 4-7953.

Mrs. Warren Fatheree is general chairman of the 1965 Charity Ball; and Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Watkins are co-chairmen of the decorations committee.

World Day of Prayer Observed By WSCS Circles of First Methodist Church

The Six Circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service met together in the chapel of First Methodist Church Wednesday morning for their World Day of Prayer program.

Mrs. Melvin Stephens, secretary of spiritual life, was in charge of the program, "Expect Great Things from God. Attempt Great Things for God."

An organ prelude was presented by Wayne Pitner.

Talks were given by Mmes. Wayne Pitner, Weldon Carter, Charles Duenkel and Mary Weaver on "A New Library for Scarritt College."

Following the meditation by Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Lee Harrah spoke on "Medical Missions Around the World."

Special music for the program was presented by Hubert Carson, accompanied by Mr. Pitner.

The meeting was closed with the presentation of offerings, three-fourths of which will be used for the building of a new library at Scarritt College at Nashville, Tenn. The remainder will be used for medical missions around the world.

Scarritt College was founded in 1892 and at the time presented something new in education—a Bible and Training school for lay women called to Foreign Mission Service.

There were only three students when Scarritt College first opened, but today 3,500 alumni of the school serve 60 countries around the world. Almost half of the missionaries sent out by the Methodist Church are former Scarritt students.

Today there are 175 students in residence at the college, approximately one-fourth of which are from other countries.

In the college dining room representatives from 19 nations, 30 states, six continents and all the races of the world, learn the meaning of world Christian community as they break bread together.

Dear Abby.... Snoring Produces Good and Bad Results

DEAR ABBY: I'll never forget the first night of my honeymoon. My darling fell fast asleep at midnight while I was awake until seven o'clock the next morning just listening to him snore. He started out by holding his breath for so long I didn't know whether to send for a doctor or a priest. Then he'd exhale ever so slowly, emitting a long whistle, popping his lips and finally terminating with a noise that sounded like a corps of pneumatic drills. I felt like kicking him right through the wall every night.

After the honeymoon we got twin beds. That didn't solve anything. It just made it harder for me to kick him. Finally, we had separate bedrooms but I could hear him through the walls. Then a friend introduced me to the greatest invention since sliced bread. Ear plugs! They have saved my marriage, and I am not kidding.

DEAR ABBY: Let's face it. Most people nowadays sleep together before marriage, so if they marry a snorer it's hardly news to them. Anyone who knowingly marries a snorer and then has the gall to complain about it should have his nose ripped off. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: Yes, hubby snores. I just move to another room. What hurts me most is to leave him the electric blanket. But I'm going to change all that. I'm getting another one. (Blanket not husband.)

DEAR ABBY: When we were first married we lived in a small apartment next to a church, and our humble quarters were overrun with mice. I am deathly afraid of mice. When we would go to bed, the mice would start to gnaw and scratch and I was terrified. My dear and understanding husband would cuddle me close against his shoulder, and soon he would begin to snore. As his snoring grew louder, it drowned out the sound of the mice and I was able to fall asleep too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's snoring would have to be heard to be believed. Thanks to his snoring, he was the only enlisted man in the U. S. Navy who had a private room.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos snoring: I am convinced that the most idiotic thing I ever did in my life was to put up with Ralph's snoring as long as I did.

For years I walked around half-dead from exhaustion. Once, when I was near total collapse from lack of sleep, I spent the night in our guest room. The next morning the children whined, "Don't you love Daddy any more?" So like a fool I felt I had to stay in the same room with that mountain lion to keep the children happy. What a lot of utter nonsense. No more! I'm older now and wiser.

DEAR ABBY: On our honeymoon I was horrified to discover that I had married the world's champion snorer. I used elbows and feet for temporary relief. Now we sleep in twin beds and I keep a yardstick under my bed. When Michael starts snoring, I get the yardstick and whack him with it. Now, as soon as he hears me reaching for the yardstick, he shuts up.

DEAR ABBY: Let's face it. Most people nowadays sleep together before marriage, so if they marry a snorer it's hardly news to them. Anyone who knowingly marries a snorer and then has the gall to complain about it should have his nose ripped off. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: When we were first married we lived in a small apartment next to a church, and our humble quarters were overrun with mice. I am deathly afraid of mice. As his snoring grew louder, it drowned out the sound of the mice and I was able to fall asleep too.

Nearly 20 years later, he still snores. We no longer live among the mice, but his snoring is so reminiscent of the early days. I wouldn't stop it if I could.

Women who are kept awake only by their husband's snoring are blessed. Would they trade it for the sleeplessness that comes from a pain-racked body? Or a troubled mind? Or the cries of a sick child? Or the silence of death?

If snoring is the only thing that bothers them, they should get down on their hands and knees and thank God for the blessing that He has sent, and for the song of security their husbands sing as they slumber contentedly in their own beds. Many are not as fortunate as we.

Mrs. Lillian Snow, Mrs. Rufe Jordan Speak to Council

Council of Clubs met in the City Club Rooms at 9:30 a.m. Thursday with 13 clubs represented.

Mrs. James Quay, president, presided. The group voted to allow the Sub Deb Club from Pampa High School the use of the club rooms each Tuesday afternoon for one hour for the fee of $5 instead of the allowed amount called for in the by-laws. Mrs. C. N. Gage and Mrs. Demaris Holt were the representatives for the club.

The program was given by Mrs. Lillian Snow on the "Governor's Program for the Aging," who told of the work being done in Pampa for this program and urged the interest of all clubs to assist in this work. Mrs. Snow said, "We are just beginning with this work and it cannot be done in a day, but with our community working for a better world for those of our Senior Citizens we can accomplish much for them."

Mrs. Rufe Jordan spoke to the group on "Our Physically and Mentally Retarded Program for Texas." Mrs. Jordan said that she was invited to attend a meeting on the Retarded Program in Austin last year and became involved with the work. She stated that Pampa was one of the 60 towns selected to make a survey on this program and she found that Pampa had three school rooms with specialized teachers for this work in its school system. She also stated that the nearest State school for the Retarded was at Abilene and she was in hopes that in a few

Ruth Millett Should School Teach Children Grooming?

Newspaper-Enterprise Assn.

One of the newest headaches for high school principals across the country is whether or not to issue an ultimatum to teen-age boys with Beatle haircuts to visit a barbershop or else not report to classes.

When a principal goes take that stand he knows full well that he may have some trouble with parents who will uphold their son's right to wear his hair any way he pleases.

So you can't help but admire the principal who says, "Cut it, or else..."

But what puzzles me, and must puzzle a lot of other parents, is why any principal has to be confronted with the problem of whether or not to let a boy come to school wearing bangs down to his eyebrows and hair stringing down halfway to his shoulders.

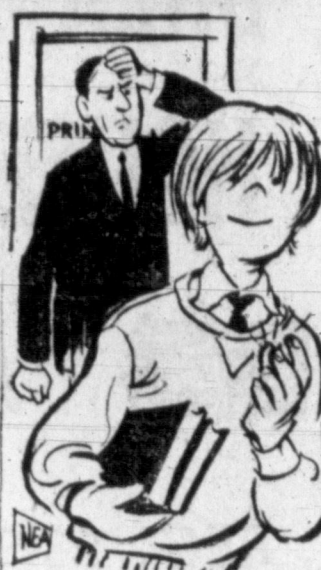

Why have his parents let him run around like that in the first place? (One boy who got a haircut at his principal's request admitted he hadn't had his hair trimmed in over two years.)

It seems to me that any father or mother faced with having to look at a Beatle "hairdo" on a teen-age son would simply give him the money for a haircut and say, "Don't come home until you get it."

Good grooming for boys and appropriate dress for girls are not something high school principals should have to be concerned with. Those are things that should be taught at home—not only taught, but required by the determined putting down of the paternal foot.

So it would seem that those parents who haven't the gumption to set some standards for their teen-agers' grooming and dress ought not to resent having a school principal set a few standards.

They ought to be delighted

Choose Clothes Carefully
A tall girl must be particularly careful in choosing her clothes. Hemlines that are too high make her look "all knees." Yet a skirt that is too long tends to exaggerate her height. You should avoid either extreme.

Nuptials Repeated In Wheeler Rites

WHEELER (Spl) — An evening ceremony in First Baptist Church united Miss Zelma Marie Cunningham and Joe Charles Loter. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Obbie T. Cunningham of Albany and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Loter of Wheeler.

The altar and wedding arch was decorated with white gladioli with wedding bells, emerald fern ivy, flanked by white tapers.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. Marion E. Kirchner.

The bride's gown was fashioned of peau de soie designed with a bell-shaped skirt, bateau neckline and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. Adorning the bodice front and skirt was lace appliques re-embroidered with seed pearls and iridescents. The peau de soie train was caught to a double bow at the waistline back. Her veil of illusion was held by a queen's crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried a Bible topped by a cascade bouquet of white french carnations centered with a white orchid and trimmed with nylon tulips and picoté satin ribbon tied in love knots. Mr. Cunningham gave his daughter in marriage.

Attendants to the bride were her sisters, Miss Margaret Cunningham, Mrs. Darrel Scott and Mrs. Sue Westfal of Albuquerque, N. M. They wore kelly green satin dresses with bell-shaped skirts and scoop neck lines. Their headresses were small green pillbox hats with short veils. Each carried a single gladioli.

Best man was John Vinson of Ira. Groomsmen were Olin Seago and Lewis DeMent and ushers were Bill Sherrill and Darrel Scott.

Candlelighters were Obbie Cunningham and Miss Lillie Mae Henderson. Wedding music was presented by Gene Welch, organist, and Eddie Green.

At the ceremony conclusion, reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's table, covered with a floor length white nylon net cloth over white taffeta, bordered at table edge with white satin ribbon was centered with the bride's bouquet which was held aloft by a white pearlized cherub. The registry table was covered and decorated with companions to those of the bride's table.

For traveling on a wedding trip, the bride donned a lime green suit and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple is now at home in Lawrence, Kans., where both will attend Kansas University. The bridegroom is a Wheeler High School graduate and 1965 graduate of McMurry College with a BA in chemistry.

The bride, a graduate of Albany High School, attended McMurry College the past two years.

In flower arranging, combine line and form flowers as a contrast, avoiding extremes in size, advises the Society of American Florists. Line or spike flowers are snapdragons, gladioli, and delphiniums; form flowers include chrysanthemums, carnations, roses, and asters. Filler flowers are baby's breath, ageratum, and pompons.

Mother Fits Boots Properly Without Fuss

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.

DEAR POLLY — Last year, like most other mothers, waited until the last minute to buy snow boots for my children. I knew the stores would be crowded. This would mean a long wait and tired, cross children. I left them at home with daddy, put one shoe belonging to each child in a big paper bag and headed for town. I picked out the boots, slipped a shoe in each to get the proper fit, purchased them and started for home relaxed — the envy of every parent in that shoe department.

— MRS. M. E. S. GIRLS — I can see the shoe departments in many stores being far less crowded when the first snow, wet weather comes. This is such an easy, but ingenious idea. Thanks to Mrs. M. E. S. from the many mothers who will pick up this Pointer.

— POLLY DEAR POLLY — We save our trading stamps to use for gift "buying." When a wedding invitation, or baby announcement, arrives, out comes the stamp catalog to find just the right gift. Our budget is seldom depleted by gift buying.

— MRS. A. M. DEAR POLLY — If you have a teakettle that does not whistle when the water boils, put a few clean, flat stones in the bottom of the kettle. The stones will rattle when the water boils.

— NANCY DEAR POLLY — My sister and I often baby-sit at night and we do not like to have our mother wait up for us. Since we do not carry purses, we had no safe place to keep a door key. Mom concocted a great idea when she hooked a key chain, with a door key on it, to each of our bracelets.

DEAR POLLY — Housecleaning time is always here. Cut slits in the center of cleaning cloths to give you a firm handhold so there will be no climbing up and down stepladders to retrieve dropped cloths or hunting for the dust cloth after you have answered the telephone.

A soft drink carton makes an excellent carryall for assorted cleaning supplies. In mine, I keep a bottle of window cleaner, furniture polish, some upholstery and rug cleaner and a clean cloth or two.

— MRS. F.M.L. DEAR POLLY — My husband bought a big box of neckties at an auction. I wonder if any of the readers could tell me how to make a necktie quilt?

Add seasonal fresh flowers to your planters of green foliage plants for a change of pace, the Society of American Florists suggests. The flowers may be placed in special water-holding tubes for insertion in the planter's soil. The inexpensive tubes, available at most florist shops, provide a water supply for each flower in the planter.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

FOUR HUNDRED and fifty is a lot of persons to voluntarily pay $2.50 a ticket so they can attend a chamber of commerce banquet...

There has to be a reason for so many people showing so much interest... Sitting there toying with the cherry-cobbler, one couldn't help but notice there were many faces never seen at run of the mill civic banquets...

TOO MANY citizens in Panama, or any city for that matter, are inclined to sit back and let those whom they regard as "leaders" take on the full responsibility...

ONE CAN'T help but feel that many of those once-a-year chamber banquet guests were there because of deep concern for their hometown and what's in store for it...

ANOTHER THOUGHT that came to mind at Tuesday night's banquet was the fact that everybody who wanted to attend could not be accommodated because of lack of space...

THE CITY HALL cat apparently spent an unusually quiet week... We saw him sitting under a parked police patrol car...

Race Is On To Sustain Viet Morale

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States is racing against time in South Viet Nam.

Unless the big influx of U.S. troops, weapons, airplanes and helicopters — and the round-the-clock U.S. raids — bring some clear improvement in the situation of the people within a year the morale of the South Vietnamese government, the South Vietnamese army and many Vietnamese people will begin to sag.

There may even be some problems in U. S.-Vietnamese relations.

This is the personal opinion of some U.S. military, economic and political observers just back from the war.

Morale is high now. The Vietnamese army has taken on a new spirit as a result of the optimism (and hope) brought by the landing of the U. S. Army forces and by U. S. ground, air and Navy offensives. The Vietnamese are showing a dash and a will to win that's inspiring.

Last fall and early this year the South Vietnamese political-military situation was sliding downhill at an alarming rate.

The slide has leveled off and things are just now beginning to turn up.

But the next 12 months are crucial.

To make the gains needed in the next year to prevent a morale drop in South Viet Nam will be a tight squeeze.

U. S. military strategists place high hopes in the repetitive blasting of the major Viet Cong secret bases with B-52s, followed by infantry sweeps. These bases serve as command, training, rest and supply centers of the Viet Cong.

The U. S. theory is that sooner or later the V. C. will have to defend these bases (and hopefully be clobbered in the process) or lose their ability to mount sizable, effective mainline forces in the field.

But it's estimated it will take six months to get this tactic really moving and another six months before it has an important impact.

The B-52 raids on the secret bases look highly promising. They upset Red timetables and do damage. But the real payoff will come when the raids are consistently followed immediately by heavy infantry sweeps that destroy all Red supplies, radio communications, food stores, arms caches, military command posts, training huts and barracks and tunnel fortifications.

This one-two punch device hasn't been perfected as yet on a regular basis. Perfecting this technique or some equally destructive alternative is what is expected to take half a year.

But that's just the starter. Destroying one base or two bases or a half dozen will not be the clincher. It won't even be enough to destroy every base in South Viet Nam — just once. The V. C. will just move back in and set up shop again or set up new bases elsewhere.

The old bases and the new ones will have to be pounded again and again as soon as they are set up, so that the Communist mainline armies will have no place to organize, train, rest, recuperate and reform after battles — and no stable command headquarters or supply depots.

Rice is a crucial item. The Viet Cong must have safe places to store huge quantities of rice or they lose their mobility and much of their fighting effectiveness.

But six months to get this secret base destruction tactic really moving and six months after that before it will have an important impact adds up to one conclusion.

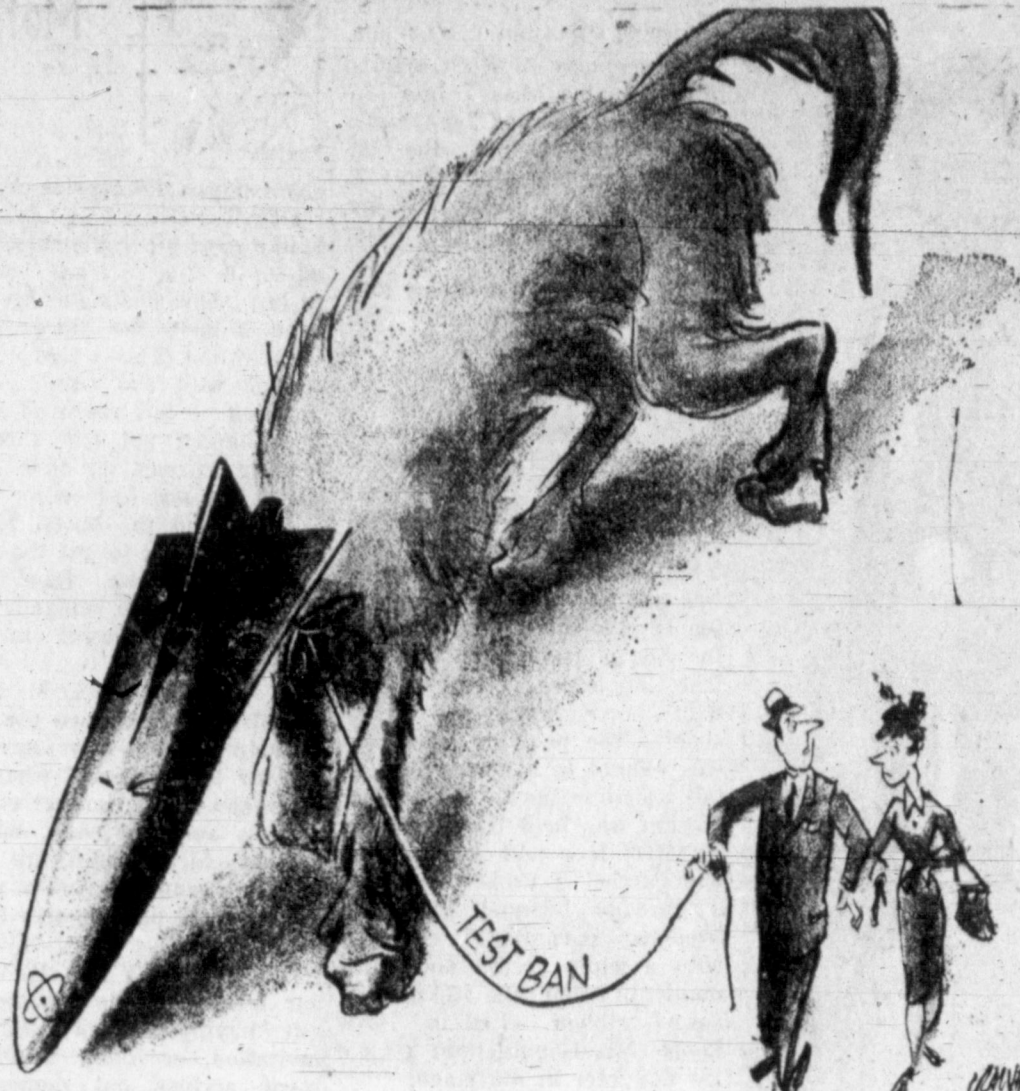

It means at the best, that it may be a year before there is any major change in the situation in South Viet Nam.

That doesn't give us much time and makes little allowance for error.

IRS Study of 'Bobby' Baker Tax Affairs May Go to Baltimore Grand Jury — Decision Up to Katzenbach

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Katzenbach has before him a two-year Internal Revenue Service study of the tax affairs of former Senate Democratic secretary "Bobby" Baker.

Katzenbach will decide whether the voluminous findings are turned over to a federal grand jury in Baltimore.

Senate critics of Baker are closely watching what Katzenbach does.

For months, the Baltimore grand jury has been digging into Baker's tax returns. Also reportedly being scrutinized are those of lobbyists in friendly terms with him. Several have appeared before these probes.

While this tax inquiry is under way, another federal grand jury in Washington has expanded the scope of its year-long Baker investigation to include several high officials, members of Congress and a bevy of lobbyists. Witnesses are being questioned particularly about two matters.

Several multi-million dollar deals involving several officials and agencies. In one of these transactions, a large area was bought shortly before the National Space Agency announced its selection as the site for a major space center.

Lobbyists' relations with Baker and influential members of the Senate and House. One lobbyist took the Fifth amendment when grilled by the grand jury on the payment of $50,000 for the introduction and passage of a certain bill.

More than 60 witnesses have been interrogated by the Washington grand jury.

Justice Department attorneys are directing both grand jury probes. It is understood the two protracted investigations are expected to conclude by the end of this year.

So far, there has been no hint from either of the possible outcomes.

Meanwhile, Senator John Williams, R-Del., the persistent "one-man investigating committee" whose sensational charges and disclosures triggered the Baker expose, is continuing his own inquiry. Williams reportedly has uncovered new information regarding Baker dealings on the West Coast.

NO IMMUNITY — The tax returns of more than 150 Ku Klux Klan officials are under exhaustive scrutiny by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the Internal Revenue Service — and the hooded leaders can't do a thing about it.

There are no constitutional amendments they can invoke to secrete this potentially highly damaging evidence.

The House Committee, and the Revenue Service have full access to these tax returns, and all backstage indications are that the most will be made of them — to the likely disfigurement of the KKK.

Significantly, Southern banks have readily cooperated in making Klansmen's records available to committee investigators. In no instance have bank officials challenged a committee subpoena.

In bringing into the open KKK terrorist activities, the committee will reveal a number of instances of outstanding work by Southern law officers in tracking down the perpetrators.

One example particularly slated for airing involves a Mississippi sheriff. At considerable personal risk, he ferreted out the Klansmen who committed a Negro bombing. Later, ironically, the courageous sheriff was the target of Civil Rights demonstrations on the ground he had done nothing about the matter.

Representative Edwin Willis, D-La., chairman, is telling committee members the probe already has caused hundreds of Klansmen to quit the organization.

According to Willis, this claim is based on "authoritative information from within the Klan." Those leaving are said to be doing so because of outrage over the refusal of KKK officials to publicly discuss their financial affairs and the disclosures of their expensive living.

While the investigation is far from finished, committee members already are informally discussing possible anti-Klan legislation at next year's session of Congress.

Most of the probes favor requiring the KKK to register with the Subversive Activities Control Board — as the Communist Party and various other organizations must do.

The validity of this law has been challenged by the Communist Party, and its case is now being tried in a federal court in Washington. The outcome will largely determine the type of legislation the House committee will seek to curb the Klan.

Under the new Medicare law convicted subversives are barred from its benefits. Social Security officials say, so far, approximately 100 individuals are affected by this provision.

LONG-NEEDED SHAKEUP — The United States Information Agency, long noted for bureaucratic red tape and bungling is undergoing some much needed overhauling. New Director Leonard Marks has merged its motion picture and television service into a single audiovisual media service, headed by George Stevens, former chief of the motion picture service. Other top officials of the merged services are being shifted to different jobs.

Marks also is moving a number of career foreign service officials who have held cushy USIA posts in Washington to foreign assignments. They do not like this, but they can't do anything about it — at least they haven't so far. Marks has told congressional leaders his aim is to slash USIA expenditures by several million

Pull Up A Chair

Professional football is considered a "new" sport due to the great interest in recent years, but it actually dates back to 1895 when the first "pro" game was played between two teams at Latrobe, Pennsylvania. Public interest lagged for a long period until the formation of the National Football League at Canton, Ohio, in 1920. Many of the college stars turned "pro," the most notable being Red Grange and Ernie Nevers. Today most of the stars are former collegiate "greats," and the game does appear to be a faster contest than the college games.

They will tell to the penny how much they spend on house, home, car, insurance, medicine, entertainment, psychiatrist, food and shelter. But they will not name the amount they earn.

They will confess to breaking the law, gambling, drinking, infidelity, tax evasion and lying to their associates. But they stop short at how much money they work for.

They confess their innermost secrets at the drop of an ear, such as having married the wrong woman, hating their husband, wishing their colleagues dead or yearning for illicit romance. But not what they take home after taxes.

If you happen to be around when the envelopes are handed out, they will hide theirs in an inside pocket or deep purse.

If you happen to be in the bank when they come in on payday, they will give you a distant smile, and move on to a remote counter where they can do their bookkeeping surrounded by strangers.

We have absolutely no idea why this is so. It probably has something to do with the deepest sort of spiritual values in a person's soul.

All we know for sure is not to ask them what they earn, or to volunteer the amount of our salary as they will get very nervous and try to distract the conversation to a less personal topic, such as sex or God.

Between the Bookends

What is economics? Dr. V. Orval Watts, Director of Economic Education at Northwood Institute, Midland, Michigan, says "To economize is to use (invest) time and energy for gain (profit). The science of economics is knowledge of the skill of economizing."

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

Even Blabbermouths Won't Talk About Pay Checks NEW YORK (NEA) — As we understand it, this is the season in many offices when the boss and the accountant get together and decide who will get a bonus this year and how much it will be.

For all we know, that conversation may be going on in our boss' office. If so, it is purely academic as we do not get an annual bonus. We get a centennial bonus which is a much better deal, we have been told.

Whether anybody else in the office gets a bonus for the year is impossible to say. Nobody ever mentions it one way or the other. And we certainly never ask, having once learned a very sad lesson in that subject many years ago.

It was in our first indoor job, which paid $16.32 weekly. We did not receive a bonus in that office and naturally assumed that nobody else did either. So, in the spirit of good fellowship, we told the woman's page editor that the boss had given us a $25 bonus for the year.

And from that moment until we left the job, she never spoke to us again. And neither did the boss, except for his parting words the next morning. But to this day we still do not know what made them so angry. Whatever it was, there never seemed to be much sense in risking that occurrence again.

Actually, we do not know if anybody in our office gets paid at all. True enough, the office manager comes around every two weeks with firmly sealed and plainly addressed envelopes for everybody. And while our envelope contains our pay check, we cannot in honesty report that the same is true for anybody else.

And that applies to almost all our acquaintances everywhere. For some reason that eludes us, the people we know do not like to admit that what they do is worth anything on payday. Or if it is, they cannot bring themselves to say how much.

On the contrary, they will volunteer almost any piece of information about themselves except what they are paid.

They will tell to the penny how much they spend on house, home, car, insurance, medicine, entertainment, psychiatrist, food and shelter. But they will not name the amount they earn.

They will confess to breaking the law, gambling, drinking, infidelity, tax evasion and lying to their associates. But they stop short at how much money they work for.

They confess their innermost secrets at the drop of an ear, such as having married the wrong woman, hating their husband, wishing their colleagues dead or yearning for illicit romance. But not what they take home after taxes.

If you happen to be around when the envelopes are handed out, they will hide theirs in an inside pocket or deep purse.

If you happen to be in the bank when they come in on payday, they will give you a distant smile, and move on to a remote counter where they can do their bookkeeping surrounded by strangers.

We have absolutely no idea why this is so. It probably has something to do with the deepest sort of spiritual values in a person's soul.

All we know for sure is not to ask them what they earn, or to volunteer the amount of our salary as they will get very nervous and try to distract the conversation to a less personal topic, such as sex or God.

Lion passenger automobiles and 15 million trucks and buses on U. S. roads. Anyone who drives in 5 o'clock traffic anywhere heartily agrees... When you look at a modern billiard table, it's hard to visualize that the game was invented by the ancient Egyptians and later enjoyed by the Greeks in the golden age of Pericles...

Woonsocket (R. I.) CALL reported in a story: "Miss Blank will carry John Smith in the St. Agatha's Church." If he's not too heavy.

Country Editor speaking: "Always remember a cheerful loser doesn't care about what he's lost."

So economics is merely the knowledge of the most efficient utilization of one's own resources.

Dr. Watts' definition opens his 32-page booklet, "Economize or Perish!" (available from Northwood Institute, 50 cents per copy) In this interesting essay, the author demonstrates the importance of economics in an individual's life.

He begins by citing the many calls for self-denial and the respect for poverty that has characterized so many schools of thought through the centuries. He points out that poverty is not a virtue; that no matter what one's goals may be, the more efficient use he makes of his resources, the more he will have of what he wants.

As he puts it, "Life is purposive action, and economy of effort is essential for achievement of any purpose. The urge to economize, therefore, begins with the will to live." No matter what the purpose, the individual must use his resources efficiently to achieve it.

Profit enters the picture when the individual achieves something of greater value to obtain it. The hope to gain in the transaction is the incentive that impels efficient action.

The author then shows that each individual is accountable and responsible for his own acts. From these three premises — the need for economy, the hope for gain, and man's self-responsibility — the author then demonstrates that no form of "economic escapism" can work. The individual must plan and organize his own life. He cannot be freed from his own need to economize, his own responsibility, by turning decisions over to political "specialists."

Finally, he shows that human wants are boundless, that there could be no such thing as an "affluent society". Human beings will always work to economize, to reduce the resources necessary to achieve desired goals; and the total desires will always represent an insatiable appetite.

The sum of the booklet is an excellent argument for understanding basic economic truths — principles that apply to every person in every century. "Economize or perish!"

THE RIGHT TO KEEP AND BEAR ARMS

The emotional reaction to the tragic assassination of our able and brilliant young President, John F. Kennedy has resulted in an ever-increasing clamor for tighter controls on the sale and ownership of guns.

Sentiment against firearms of every sort has become so vocal that its impact is being felt in state legislatures as well as in Congress. Pressures for legislation to restrict the sale and use of firearms are posing real threats to the Second Amendment to the Constitution, which affirms the right of any American citizen to keep and bear arms.

If in our hysteria, we allow the Bill of Rights to be destroyed under the guise of attempting to protect our citizens, then we will have foolishly sacrificed the end to the means.

The position of the National Rifle Association provides a more informed basis for firearms legislation. This very responsible organization maintains that firearms legislation "is of insufficient value in the prevention of crime to justify the inevitable restrictions which such legislation places upon law-abiding citizens."

The National Rifle Association does not oppose legislation which would prohibit the sale of firearms to juveniles and undesirable. The Association "strongly supports legislation providing severe penalties for the use of a dangerous weapon in the commission of a crime." Real patriots agree the sale of firearms should not be permitted to members of gangs, members of organizations contemplating violence, prospective rioters, fugitives, Communists and other types of criminals.

Restrictive gun laws would disarm the law-abiding citizen, and make him an easy victim for the criminal at a time when crimes of every sort are increasing at an astronomical rate.

Amphitheater Underwriting Fund Reaches $85,000 Total

When $4,500 more in underwriting has been legally certified, the board of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation will be free to announce plans for the summer of 1966. The underwriting agreements amounting to $85,000 are already in the hands of the accountant at present.

The $85,000 already signed represents the support of 132 people and organizations. Although $90,000 will make it possible for the board to announce its plans for 1966, the directors feel that a spread of the support over a wider area will be very healthy for the theatre.

Residents of 15 communities already have a financial interest in the success of the production, and will be working to get their neighbors to attend the activities in the Canyon. Similar centers of people with a personal financial interest in the success of the project in every one of the 40 communities of the Panhandle will strengthen the backing of the theatre a great deal. Such people in every group in Amarillo will also be helpful.

Ames Plays Indians With Reservations

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — It's easy to be friends with Ed Ames. Just don't say "Ugh" or "How!" when you first meet him.

Ames, an extremely versatile young man and one of the finest ballad singers you can find is presently playing Mingo, the Oxford-educated Cherokee on NBC-TV's popular Daniel Boone. The role marks the third Indian part of his career and, he says, the last.

"If I never go before a camera again, I will not play another Indian role," he says.

It's not that he has any objection to the role, or being in a television series (and Daniel Boone, in its second year, is having a fast climb up in the ratings). It's just that Ames, who refuses to be typed, considers the part "another role, doing the same thing every night." Well, it's not the same thing, because the audience is different each night.

It was on Broadway that Ed played one of his three Indian roles. He was a demented Indian in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," a play which starred Kirk Douglas, and which took place in an insane asylum. He also played an educated Indian, a character much like Mingo, in a segment of Redigo, which led to his present role.

Fess Parker, who plays Boone, has said of Ames: "Ed is so strong and such an unusual talent, if he ever finds the right vehicle and becomes a star, he will set a major style."

Ames' aim (sorry about that) is classical acting. "After the series," he says, "I would like to do a musical on Broadway, then feature films. Then I want to take off a couple of years to work in the classical theater. I think I would be good in classics, but it's not the kind of acting you can wing. You have to sweat a little flop sweat on the classics. No one comes off smelling like a rose on Moliere and Shakespeare the first try."

"I want to earn enough money so that I don't have to work for a couple of years. I want to study and I'll go to England if I have to, or the provinces or any place where I can flop and not have it affect my whole career."

Ed's career also includes a recording contract with RCA Victor, who will be releasing his fourth solo album, "It's a Man's World," in January. (As part of the famous Ames Brothers, he has made several other albums.) There is interest on his part in singing opera with the newly formed Los Angeles City Opera Company.

His background is completely musical. He was born in Boston, the youngest in a family of nine, to parents who had migrated from Russia ("I'm the only Indian with a mezuzah on my tepee," he

Hollywood Beat

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Movie royalty will regress to its true peasant status this week when England's Princess Margaret makes the Hollywood scene.

The royal princess, a glamor girl from the moment of her birth, will, of course, get top billing.

Lord Snowdon will co-star, followed by a group of such impressive spear carriers as Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor, Julie Andrews, Frank Sinatra, Charlton Heston and, well, a cast of thousands.

The Hollywood crowd is in a dither over how to address her royal highness. The old sincere salutations are out.

Casual Greetings Out That is to say, the "in" group will restrain themselves from addressing the princess as "Meg baby" or perhaps "Maggie doll." And it would be bad for the gentry to hail her as "Darling" or "Toots." But in Hollywood you never know. Movie queens doubtless will note that Lord Snowdon always remains a step behind his wife. Will Burton get the message if Liz steps out ahead? Will Sandra Dee point this out to Bobby Darin?

The stars will have opportunities to hobnob with the couple on several occasions—at the Walt-Ball, a private dinner party at a flossy Beverly Hills Boite, and during a visit to Universal Studios.

Star-Studded Luncheon At the studio, Fred Astaire, Edgar Bergen, Lawrence Harvey, Mary Pickford, Edward G. Robinson, Lana Turner and James Stewart play host for lunch.

After lunch the princess climbs aboard a cable car bus — fashioned after San Francisco famed dinkies—for a tour of the back lot. But unlike the tourists who pay $3 for the privilege, royalty rides on the cuff.

Princess Margaret will be guarded by a British detective and two U.S. Secret Service men during her stay, another touch of status that could start a trend among Hollywoodians.

Goldwater Says RFK Statement Close to Treason

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Former Republican Presidential Candidate Barry M. Goldwater said Saturday Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement to a students' group that he would give blood to the North Vietnamese was "closer to treason than to academic freedom."

Goldwater, his voice rising in anger, added the accusation to a speech before the Western States Republican Conference in which he said the Democratic Party has become a captive of the "extreme, radical left."

He did not mention the New York Democratic senator by name, but he said:

"Why silence today, when a United States senator says, as he did last night, that there was nothing wrong with sending American blood to our Communist enemies?"

Describing himself as a "card-carrying conservative," Goldwater told the Republicans to "stop hunting witches" among the right wing of the GOP and concentrate on the radical left wing of the Democratic Party.

He was born in Baton Rouge, La., and was graduated from Louisiana State University. Causey, who now resides in New Providence, N. J., served as an officer in the United States Navy from 1942 to 1946.

Construction of the new pipeline terminal at Cantil, Iowa, has been announced by Robert E. Thomas, president of Mid-America Pipeline Company.

Construction of the new distribution terminal — the 10th such facility for the 2,500-mile pipeline — has begun and completion is estimated for December 20.

The terminal will have a 90,000 gallon propane storage tank, and key-stop truck loading facilities for Mid-America LPG shippers to serve the Ottumwa-Centerville-Burlington-Keokuk and northeast Missouri area.

Thomas said increased demand for LPG products in the southeast Iowa farming area, had made the new facility essential for better service.

Thomas said the new terminal is part of Mid-America's continuing expansion program to better serve the Midwest and North Central areas of the nation with dependable pipeline delivery of LP Gas.

Siamese Twin Dies After Operation

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Doctors performed an emergency operation Saturday to separate Siamese twin boys joined at the side. One of the infants died a short time later.

Surgeons said they were watching the progress of the second child but that it was "touch and go" whether he would live.

The twins were born Thursday night to Mrs. Maria Gabriella Bocattini, 25, wife of a 30-year-old construction worker.

Doctors earlier thought the twins had a common liver but found this to be wrong then they operated.

The physicians had hoped they would not have to operate on the infants—only 36 hours old—but the condition of one deteriorated until emergency measures were necessary.

It was the second case of siamese twins being operated on here this year. Giuseppeina and Santina Foglia, 6, were successfully separated and are now strong and healthy.

ZIP Is Proven

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The post office says zip code system has proved its worth under fire.

The department reported Friday that clerks in Savannah, Ga., had been assisted by the code numbers in forwarding parcels in 672 mail-sacks damaged by a railway car fire to their destinations.

One of them was a package from London which lost its entire address except for the zip code, the department said.

The code showed the package was en route to Lantana, Fla., where officials were able to locate its intended receiver.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four attractive young secretaries from Europe recently got together and decided they'd like to make a trip across the United States.

On Sept. 1 they rented a car in Boston, put a tent and sleeping bags in the trunk, and headed west to see the sights. They drove to California via a northern route and returned via a southern route, spending almost every night in the tent. None had ever camped out before.

International Group
I happened to meet them — Philippa Chadwyck-Healey of England, Susan Gay Hill of Scotland, Monica Lundquist of Sweden and Merily Norman of Ireland — as they were touring the Capitol this week on the last leg of their journey.

Since very few European girls, or Americans either for that matter, have ever made a trip like that, I asked them to relate some of their experiences.

"We had a marvelous time," Susan said, "particularly after we learned how to put up the tent."

"Most of the time we camped in national or state parks, but one night in California we pitched our tent in an auto junk yard. And in Henrietta, Tex., we camped on a vacant lot."

"Were you ever bothered by strange men?" I asked.

"No," said Merily. "We kept a hammer in the tent but we never had to use it."

Liked Nothing
"What in America did you like best?"

"Nothing," said Philippa. "You can drive for miles and miles across Wyoming and see nothing. It was wonderful."

"Where did you eat?"

"At truck stops mostly," Merily said. "We discovered that you can get a lot to eat at a truck stop for a dollar."

"Did you ever run into any kind of trouble?"

Philippa said the only trouble she had was in New Mexico, where she fell down a mine shaft and hurt her leg. When they got to Amarillo, Tex., she stopped at a hospital to have it treated.

At first she was puzzled by the reception she got. Then she learned it was a veterans hospital.

Susan said she had some language difficulty. In some places the natives couldn't understand an English accent.

"It would have been better if we had been speaking Polish," she said.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The next session of swim lessons start Monday and the public is invited to take advantage of these classes. Classes will last Nov. 8-21 meeting on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays. Offered this session at 4 p.m. will be polywogs and then at 5 p.m. swimmers. A polywog is a person 4-6 years of age not in school who measures 33 inches to the chin. In order to take the swimmers course you must have passed intermediates.

Enrollment for these lessons is now going on. All center members are enrolled free of charge while non-members will pay the instructional fee of $3. Lois Dittmeyer, center water safety instructor, will conduct the classes. The last swim sessions of 1965 will start Nov. 29 and last through Dec. 15. Offered in this least session will be beginners at 4 p.m. and advanced beginners at 5 p.m.

Now is the time to purchase that new membership at the Center. Cold weather is just ahead and this will drive the youngsters and adults inside for their recreation. Center memberships for families are only $20 per year or $12 for six months while individual memberships are $8 and $5 respectively. Center memberships too make good Christmas presents for families and individuals.

The Center is available on Tuesdays for homeroom parties, church parties or individual parties. This is our regular day to close and is the only day available when other activities are not already scheduled. You may call the Center for rental rates which are very reasonable.

The new girls organization called the Tru Teens are using the Center as their meeting headquarters. They are meeting on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays of the month. They have accepted a challenge to participate in the Centers program planning and the sponsorship of some new youth activities. The Center is very proud of this group and we look for big things to come from them.

We have rolled over into November now and basketball season is just ahead. A men's and a women's basketball league will again be offered this year. Entry fee for either league is $30 plus your referee's fees. The entry fee of $30 must be into the Center office by Nov. 22, however, the referee's fees will not have to be in until you play your first game. Referee's fees will be determined by the team managers.

On November 22 at 8 p.m. the organizational meeting for the two leagues will be held. All managers should attend this meeting for schedules and rules will be drawn up. League play will start tentatively the first week in December. For further information call or write the Center, P. O. Box 1164.

The volleyball leagues are in their last two weeks of competition and Skelly Ollers have already clinched championship honors in the men's division.

However, in the women's division a show down match comes up Monday night. Cock O' Walk is leading the league with an 8-0 record but are being chased closely by the Independents 7-1. They play each other Monday night to either clear the picture or tie it up. In case of a tie there will be a play-off.

In league action for men we found Skelly over the Rejects 15-5, 12-15, and 15-6; Dairy Queen over the Doozers 15-9 and 15-10 while the Senior Citizens trounced Pampa Warehouse 15-4 and 15-2.

In women's action the Independents robbed the bank of First National 15-6 and 15-0. Cock O' Walk tripped Hopkins 15-2 and 15-4 while the Spikers won their first game of the season 15-5 and 15-3.

The Family Lawyer

"There is no law," said Oliver Wendell Holmes, "against a man's intending to commit a murder the day after tomorrow."

But suppose the man still has mischief in mind when the day after tomorrow comes. And suppose he aims a gun at his intended victim and fires a shot. Then, even though he misses, he has indeed committed a crime: attempted murder.

Evil intent, by itself, is never a crime. Our jails would overflow if we punished every person who, however fleetingly, intends to cheat, slander, rob, or assault somebody else. There must surely be 1,000 clenched fists for every thrown punch.

Nor is active preparation necessarily a crime. The man who buys a gun, with murder in mind, is not yet guilty of attempted murder. The man who puts in mind, is not yet guilty of attempted arson.

At what stage does unpunishable preparation turn into punishable attempt? Where is the "point of no return"?

One test is the "specialness" of the preparation. A man who acquires special purpose, printing plates may be more clearly committed to the crime of counterfeiting than the man who acquires general-purpose ink.

Another test is the nearness, both in time and space of the crime itself. The man two days away from a murder, in Holmes' example, still has time to cool off. A man planning a burglary in another city may yet change his mind before arriving at the scene of the crime. The law makes due allowance for the chance that either prudence or conscience will bring his effort to a halt.

But when the preparation is unmistakably evil, and when the victim is in imminent danger the law says a criminal attempt has been made — even though no actual harm is done.

For example, a cook who mixed poison into her employer's oatmeal was held guilty of attempted murder even though he decided not to eat it.

True, she might have relented at the last moment and snatched the dish away. However, the court concluded that a woman who would go that far did not belong in a kitchen, serving oatmeal, but in a jail, serving time.
