Canada to Choose New Parliament, Prime Minister

OTTAWA (UPI) — An estimated 10 million Canadians vote today in a national election that could signal the "last hurrah" for one of the country's two leading statesmen.

A bitterly fought two month campaign beset by scandal and bribery charges and threats of bombings left Liberal Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and Conservative chief John Diefenbaker in close combat for Canada's political leadership.

The most explosive national campaign in Canadian annals also spawned a serious third-party threat for the first time and gave vent to growing clamor for younger leaders.

Pearson, 68, is rated the favorite with Canada's economy sound and employment high, he called the election — The country's fifth since 1957 — in hopes of obtaining a majority in Parliament.

Diefenbaker, 70, seeks to regain the prime ministers' chair he lost to Pearson two and a half years ago when Canada was enmeshed in an economic slump. His old-fashioned whistle-stop campaign by train took him to every major city and thousands of tiny hamlets.

Fighting for political survival, Diefenbaker hammered hard at scandal and morality charges which have plagued Pearson's minority government.

The balloting was viewed as possibly the last battle for the prime minister's post between arch rivals Pearson and Diefenbaker. Both were considered likely to retire before another election is called. The loser might fade from prominence even sooner.

At stake are 265 seats in Parliament to be divided among the Liberals, Conservatives and several smaller parties.

Election-eye predictions by pollsters had Pearson's Liberals returning to power with 140 seats, a slim majority. Diefenbaker's Conservatives were pegged to place second and a new threat, the New Democratic Party (NDP), headed by T.C. Douglas, was picked to finish third. The leader of the victorious party becomes prime minister.

Douglas' party was expected to seriously challenge the two main parties for the first time. Douglas, 61, resigned as premier of Saskatchewan after 17 years when the NDP was formed four years ago.

The other splinter parties, the Social Credit under Robert Thompson, 51, and the Creditists, headed by Real Caoué.

Lindsay May Not Participate in GOP Conventions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay, mentioned as a top presidential possibility, may not even take part in the 1968 campaign for the White House, much less be a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Lindsay moved to the forefront of his party last week when he ended more than 20 years of Democratic rule in the nation's largest city, winning a three-cornered race for the mayoralty.

He acknowledged in a television interview Sunday — Face The Nation, CBS — that his election would give encouragement to liberal and moderate Republicans around the nation. He said this was "well and good."

"I have no intention to run for any other office," Lindsay said.

As long as he is mayor, he intends to run the office on a nonpartisan basis. Asked if this meant he would be a "bystander" in the 1968 presidential elections, he said:

"Insofar as my obligation as mayor comes first, definitely."

Industry Men Say Aluminum Hike Will Stick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industry sources believe the aluminum price hikes will stick, despite the Johnson administration's threat to unload 200,000 tons of the metal from government stockpiles.

No one was underestimating the President's ability to put up a stiff fight if he really set his mind on making the aluminum industry do an about-face.

But industry sources doubted the administration could marshal the same powerful weapons the late President John F. Kennedy used in 1962 to make the steel industry back down from its plans for a price increase.

In announcing plans to release 200,000 tons of aluminum from government stockpiles, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Saturday that defense production would require between 150,000 and 200,000 tons more in 1966 than this year.

If the war in Viet Nam is going to eat up aluminum as fast as the government unloads it, then there should be no slackening in demand for what the producers are turning out, one company source said. And

Negro Ku Klux Klan Haters Held For Terror Binge

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — Two Negro Marines, admitted out "to destroy the Ku Klux Klan," were held today on multiple charges resulting from a weekend rampage of terror in which four persons were wounded by gunfire, an elderly woman's hip was broken and a white family of five was kidnaped.

None of the victims had anything remotely to do with the Klan, Cumberland County officials said.

The Marines, based at Camp Lejeune 100 miles from here, carried papers showing them to be members of the National Abolition Forces Organization (NAFO).

The two, Second Marine Division Sgt. Ernest F. Jones, 29, of Hopkinsville, Ky., and PFC. Warren Arnsd, 18, of Philadelphia, claimed the rights of "prisoners of war" according to the Geneva Convention following their arrest Saturday night in a woods after a running gunfight of sorts with police.

The pair was charged on five counts of kidnaping and six counts of assault with a deadly weapon and first degree burglary, a capital offense in North Carolina, and robbery with firearms. They were held without bond.

The burglary and kidnaping charges resulted from an invasion by two men wearing halloween masks and carrying guns, into the home of Army Sgt. Doy McPhail. They held McPhail's wife, mother-in-law, Mrs. Sally Mae McQueen, and three children captive for more than an hour.

Mrs. McQueen suffered a broken hip when she was shoved to the floor, authorities said.

The two later fired at several passing cars, wounding four persons slightly. Police finally ended the rampage by cornering the Marines in a wooded area. They told police they had come to Fayetteville to "destroy the Ku Klux Klan" which has scheduled a rally here tonight.

Detroit Police Hunt Gang in Negro Killing

DETROIT (UPI) — Police continued today to track down scores of tips in their all-out effort to find a small group of white youths believed responsible for the shotgun street slaying of a 53-year-old Negro city employee early Sunday morning.

Authorities said they believed the victim, Eddie Cook, a city sanitation worker, was the target of misdirected revenge following a "spontaneous outburst" of two teen-age gangs — one Negro and one white — earlier in the morning.

Police, aware of the potentially explosive racial situation, called in 10 extra detective teams from outlying precincts to assist in the investigation.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said one tipster said either a rock or bottle was thrown through the window of the car driven by a group of white youths in the neighborhood prior to the shooting.

Cook was shot in the chest by a 16-gauge shotgun blast as he walked less than a block from his home in a predominantly Negro neighborhood near the cultural center on the near east side.

Speculation was that Cook, a widower of less than four months, was returning home from work, police said. He lived with a daughter, one of his three children.

Officers rushed him to Detroit General Hospital where he died 36 minutes after the shooting. Doctors said he never regained consciousness.

'I'll Meet You In Hell,' Dying Soldier Cries

(UPI) — "I'll meet you in hell!" the 19-year-old soldier shouted as three Communist troops charged his position. "Die American!" came the cry above the machinegun fire, grenade and mortar bursts.

The young American jumped to his feet and blew the head off one of the attackers with a burst from an automatic weapon. The gun now was empty but the GI smashed the second Viet Cong in the jaw with the butt, then grabbed it like a barrel and swung it like a baseball bat at the third.

A bullet from an unseen rifleman slammed into his back as he dropped to the ground. "Our Father," was as far as he got before he died in an ambush in elephant grass 9,000 miles from home.

Bravo Company of the Army's 1st Air Cavalry's 2nd Battalion had started a routine search-and-clear operation west of Plei Me, 215 miles northeast of Saigon. During the day, Saturday, they ambushed a small Viet Cong supply column carrying food, mostly rice, and killed five guerrillas, seven others dropped their loads and fled.

The cavalrymen went after them heavily jungled areas. An occasional sniper sent a round ping-pong at the Americans. But it didn't look like anything too difficult to handle.

The company was on part of the mop-up operation that began after the Communist week-long siege at the American Special Forces Plei Me Camp was broken late last month.

About eight miles west of the camp — not far from the Cambodian border — the company entered a small meadow about the size of a (See SOLDIER, Page 3)

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. planes streaked through heavy ground fire today to smash Soviet-built missile sites in Communist North Viet Nam for the sixth time in 48 hours, an American spokesman reported.

The latest attack was carried out by U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks from the carrier USS Oriskany. Pilots said four surface-to-air SAM missile launchers, four missiles and several buildings were heavily damaged in the raid, which was carried out 60 miles east of Hanoi, the Red capital.

U.S. Air Force jets, striking closer to Hanoi than ever before, Sunday destroyed two missile sites and a rocket support facility 22 miles from the capital. Three other sites elsewhere were destroyed by Navy planes. A Navy plane was downed Sunday but its pilot was picked up unharmed. No planes were lost today despite heavy anti-aircraft fire.

In ground fighting in the South, U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops sustained "moderate to heavy" losses in twin Communist ambushes near the American Special Forces camp at Plei Me in the Central Highlands.

More than 1,000 Communist troops, many believed to be regulars of the North Vietnamese Army, tried to wipe out the outnumbered force of only two companies of cavalrymen. The Reds finally retreated after five hours of heavy fighting. Eighty-three Communists were known dead and 140 wounded.

U.S. military authorities said last Friday that five North Vietnamese regiments — 7,500 men — are operating in the highlands area.

U.S. paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Division today were locked in bitter close-range fighting with Viet Cong guerrillas in the Communists' "One D" stronghold 35 miles north-east of Saigon.

It was estimated at least a battalion of guerrillas was in the region. An American spokesman said fighting was at such close quarters that it was almost impossible to call in air strikes against the enemy. About 12 sorties managed to strike the Reds, however, by late this afternoon.

The paratroopers have been engaged in a sweep and clear operation in "Zone D" since Friday and are being backed by a battery of artillery from the Royal Australian regiment.

No casualty figures were reported but reports late today said hand-to-hand fighting was still raging in the area.

President Seeks Secretary for Urban Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development, the voice of America's 140 million city-dwellers in the President's cabinet, comes into existence Tuesday — still without a head.

President Johnson says he's not going to appoint a secretary until next year. He's reported to be particularly anxious to get the new department off to the best possible start as "a focal point for thought and innovation and imagination about the problems of our cities."

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers told newsmen last week the President would hold off naming a secretary until:

— A group of "highly qualified Americans" has reported to him on how the new department should be organized.

— Johnson has decided "in his own mind" that he has found the "most qualified man or woman" to head the new agency.

"The President does not want the new department to start lamely. He does not want it to start timidly. He does not want it to take off on one engine," Moyers said.

Johnson saw the agreement as "an important step forward" in carrying out his pledge that "those who seek refuge here will find it." But Castro, in a speech Sunday night, said, "the doors (to the United States) are open, but they are not open wide enough."

The Communist leader urged the United States to admit more than the presently scheduled 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month. He said there could be "a jam-up" otherwise. He did not elaborate.

The Cuban government, in a note sent to U.S. officials and made public in Havana, also proposed broadening the agreement to include political prisoners. It said it would consider

Plans Readied For Cuban Airlift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials today pressed forward with plans for a massive airlift of Cuban refugees. But they made it clear the new refugee agreement with Cuba did not mean any easing of relations with the Fidel Castro regime.

President Johnson announced Saturday that a "memorandum of understanding" had been reached with Cuba permitting thousands of Cuban refugees to enter the United States. Some 3,000 to 4,000 Cubans a month are expected to be evacuated via the airlift, beginning about Dec. 1.

In the meantime — possibly this week — the United States will evacuate by chartered boats at U.S. expense about 2,000 Cubans stranded at the port of Camarioca. These refugees were caught there when Castro recently halted the exodus by small boats from the Communist island.

Johnson saw the agreement as "an important step forward" in carrying out his pledge that "those who seek refuge here will find it." But Castro, in a speech Sunday night, said, "the doors (to the United States) are open, but they are not open wide enough."

Dear Abby... Husband 'Compelled'?

She's Gotta Be Kidding

DEAR ABBY: There has been quite a lot written in your column about office parties which exclude the husbands and wives of the employees. But what would the rules on this one be? My husband has a small office, with only one secretary. Last month he acquired a rather important account he had been working on for some time. His secretary (unmarried) gave him a "celebration" party at her apartment last Saturday night. Other "mixed" couples (not married to each other) were present. Of course my husband was told that his wife was not invited, yet he accepted the invitation anyway. He said he felt "compelled" to go, and there was no way of getting out of it, so he had to go alone. How about this?

our problem:
My husband and I (and also some other members of our family) still like Max, and we see him socially, but never when my sister is there. We have nothing against him, so why shouldn't we? My sister gets mad every time she hears about it. Now she says we have to make up our minds. It's either Max or her. What should we do?

IN BETWEEN
DEAR IN: Tell your sister that she has the privilege of choosing her friends, and so have you. And if she wants to drop you because you still see Max socially, it's her privilege. But she is the one who is making the choice, not you.

"SAT HOME"
DEAR SAT: Your husband could have replied that unless his wife were invited to the "celebration" of his new account, she shouldn't count on him. "Compelled" by whom? His secretary? Aw, c'mon.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister got a divorce from a swell guy I'll call Max. It was more her fault than it was his. They have two lovely children who are doing the suffering because of the break-up. Max was willing to try to make a go of the marriage, but my sister wasn't. Anyway, she is poisoning the kids' minds against their father, which isn't right. Here is

DEAR ABBY: I work in the office of a large industrial plant. Everyone in the office calls everyone else by his first name. In many cases their last names are not even known. This is very embarrassing when I meet some of my co-workers in public. Here I am a 22-year-old woman calling men old enough to be my grandfather "Harry, Jack and Steve." It sounds so intimate and fresh. I was reared to respect my elders. How can I greet these older men in public without addressing them by their first names when I do not know their last names?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Ignore their names. Just say "Hello" or "How do you do, Sir?"

Music Goes With the Retirement Scene

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Women no less than men give thought to retirement from jobs that have absorbed their attention for many years.

Homemakers really never retire in the sense of the man who is retired from his job at a certain age. There are always many housekeeping chores. But the physical and emotional demands of raising a family and managing a home do lessen as the children grow older and leave the nest.

As a late entry into the motherhood field I find myself with an elementary school pupil when most of my friends are talking of colleges for their young or planning weddings or attending christenings of grandchildren. Most of all, they are discussing "What next?"

I can foresee no more marvelous moment, just now with baskets of laundry to do and ironing, too, than one with simply nothing to do. But I have talked to enough homemakers who have passed this point to realize that the "leisure" feeling of release from duty is short-lived.

How do you impose a hobby on a busy woman? Well, you don't. The time for more leisure will encourage experimenting with interests; developing some, forgetting others.

Adult education courses, such dreary sounding events, have opened new vistas for many of my friends. Our local high school has a long waiting list for its upholstery class (and I'm on it). Every week our local paper has news and ads inviting attendance at lessons in writing, painting, sculpture, piano, interior decorating and who knows what all.

FOR RETIREMENT YEARS — Bright pink and checked gingham for curtains and screen combines with walnut brown rug and furniture to make a pleasant apartment setting for the mature woman who enjoys both painting as a hobby and music on a modern organ which reproduces the sound of several instruments.

Out of this impressive array of invitations, one or two might be answered. Dedication to learning a new skill may be limited — I am sure I could never really spend the practice time needed to master piano.

But this doesn't mean one need pass up learning to play a musical instrument. There may be a recorder class or a choral group. New home electric organs which slip into a room so gracefully are also easy to play but can test the talents of the more experienced musician.

If retirement dictates a move from the old home to newer, smaller quarters, it helps the transition to do a bit of decorating.

Putting a few treasured pieces of furniture, bric-a-brac, or family portraits into a room can be a dismal business unless you strive for a happy atmosphere. Light, bright colors, cozy chairs, potted plants, a suggestion of the new interests and hobbies can be life savers.

Teenagers Enjoy Halloween Party In Home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Daugherty

Janice Cawthon and Paula Daugherty entertained a group of friends recently in the home of Miss Daugherty.

Guests were greeted at the front door by a skeleton ten feet tall, a large black bat and a Jack O' Lantern all aglow. The house was decorated throughout with witches, cats, skeletons and a huge spider web hung from the ceiling with a large black widow spider attached. Jack O' Lantern candies gave off a soft glow to the entertaining rooms.

The serving table carried out the Halloween theme with a large pastry clock with the hands set at midnight, surrounded with brownies with orange icing and cookies shaped like cats and pumpkins.

Guests were served orange sherbert punch. They danced to records. Among the guest attending were Danny and Cathy Daugherty from Amarillo, cousins of Paula Daugherty.

Also assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daugherty of Amarillo and Mrs. Vernon Cawthon and Jay Dean.

Guests attending were Eddie Wilkie, Steve Heare, Jay John-

Medicare Discussed For TC Members

A very interesting program on the new Medicare bill that was passed recently, kept the members of the Twentieth Century Club alert and interested even adjourning the meeting to discuss questions over coffee and cream puffs.

Virgil Holloway from the Social Security Office in Amarillo gave each one present a leaflet explaining the various plans available to people. The Health Insurance Program offers a set routine of the number of days allowed in the hospital and the care during recuperation. There is a post hospital extended care program for so many days with a set allowance. For people needing care, but not needing to be hospitalized there is a supplemental medical program.

Mr. Holloway encourages anyone who might need the help and quality for the aid to inquire at the Social Security office. They invite inquiry.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, as leader of the program, made the comment that she was confused about the Medicare bill. Mrs. Frank Culbertson introduced Mr. Holloway who stated his whole office force had felt the same confusion at first.

The Club enjoyed the refreshments served from a festive table covered with an orange cloth and centered with a pyramidal arrangement. The home of Mrs. Tom Rose was the scene of the meeting.

North Viet Nam Political Official Defects to US

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (UPI)—U.S. authorities today were questioning a North Vietnamese political commissar who decided the Communist Party Line was no match for U.S. artillery.

The commissar sought out an American unit and surrendered Sunday with his documents, submachinegun and ammunition.

He was identified as Lt. Lai Van Cu, 25, of the Second Battalion, 101st North Vietnamese Regiment. He was the eyes and ears of the North Vietnamese Communist Party in the outfit.

Officials said the disenchanted Cu was a graduate of Nam Dinh Military Academy in North Viet Nam and trained in political indoctrination in Red China.

Pumpin Slightly Hurt in Wreck

A 61-year-old Pampa man, Edward Clay Fagan, 321 Sunset, was treated and released from Highland General Hospital today, following a car-pickup collision early this morning.

According to Highway Patrolman Paul Geiser, Fagan was traveling west on highway 60 three-quarters of a mile east of Pampa when his car collided with a pickup driven by Hullon Herman Cooper, 61, Pampa.

Geiser said Cooper was attempting to make a left hand turn when the collision occurred.

The State Department had no official comment on the note. The U.S. view in the past has been that there is no connection between this Cuban proposal and the refugee problem. U.S. officials continued to hope, however, that Castro eventually would permit unconditional evacuation of political prisoners.

Officials expected at least 100,000 Cubans to come to this country over a period of years under the open-end agreement. They said the United States stood ready to receive 35,000 to 50,000 a year for as long as they wish to come and Castro will let them.

An attack on one Russian-supplied surface-to-air (SAM) missile site and nearby support facility took place only 22 miles southwest of Hanoi. The other raid was 32 miles southeast of the Red capital.

Both rocket sites were "blasted off the map," a U.S. spokesman said, and a massive secondary explosion was seen at the missile support base. Pilots of the F105 Thunderchiefs and F4C Phantoms knocked out two spans of a nearby railroad bridge.

Fire Inflicts Heavy Damage

According to the Pampa Fire Department, the fire occurred Sunday about 9:20 p.m. The home is owned by Garnet Poole.

Soldier

On the other side it was heavily jungled. Dense undergrowth thickening into jungle flanked it on the third side and on the fourth was a line of wood separating it from the waist-high grass of an adjoining meadow.

"The whole goddamn woodline opened up on us," said Capt. John Richardson of Baltimore, Md., the company commander. "The YeeCee were in the trees, in the grass and some of them were even in the open disguised as bushes."

There were heroes. One second Lieutenant, a platoon leader, was shot and wounded three times. One of the bullets hit him in the back and he was paralyzed—all except his arms. He lay behind a log with a radio and for hours directed his platoon in repelling the Viet Cong. His father is an Air Force Colonel.

Medals For Some
He was one of the men that Richardson signaled out to be recommended for a Silver Star.

Two others were medals. One of them, mortally wounded and bleeding to death, continued to crawl from man to man, helping the wounded although he knew he would be dead himself within minutes.

He continued to nurse others, ignoring the intense fire, until he collapsed and died.

The other medic, Pfc. Robert Kerr, 19, of Rushville, Ind., continued working until he passed out from heat and exhaustion. He awoke a few minutes later and continued, crawling beneath the whining bullets, to do what he could for the wounded.

"I didn't see anyone shooting at me," Kerr said later. "I was too busy crawling on my hands and knees from man to man. It seemed like I would just get one man patched up and they would call 'medic! medic!' somewhere else."

"I ran out of medical supplies. One man died who probably could have been saved if we could have evacuated him. But we couldn't because of the fire. He died mostly of shock."

It was 11 a.m. when Bravo Company was pinned down. They had been ambushed by possibly two battalions of North Vietnamese troops. The Communists were fresh. They had clean uniforms, good weapons, plenty of food and medical supplies.

"We had to stay and fight it out," Richardson said. At 1 p.m., two hours after the fighting started, Charlie Company of the same battalion moved in to help. The company entered the smaller meadow that adjoined the one where Bravo Company was pinned down. More Communist gunners opened up on them.

"There was nothing we could do," said Sgt. Paul E. Kay of Kokomo, Ind. "When Charlie Company got hit we couldn't go forward to link up with Bravo,

Princess Margaret Charms Hollywood

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Princess Margaret and husband Lord Snowden charmed Hollywood's own royalty at a swank Beverly Hills dinner party that lasted into the wee hours today.

The dark-haired princess, glittering in a cream silk evening gown, met the film capital's elite at a party given in her honor at the Bistro Restaurant by her close friend Sharmar Douglas.

The royal couple left the niterly shortly before 3 a.m. PST (4 a.m. CST).

Among the motion picture celebrities at the popular French restaurant were Gregory Peck, Fred Astaire, Natalie Wood, Dorothy McGuire, Jimmy Stewart, Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow.

Princess Margaret danced with television's Dr. Kildare, Richard Chamberlain, and with an old and dear friend, comedian Danny Kaye.

Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton also attended. They arrived with Rosalind Russell in a 1932 English taxi.

The 90-odd guests, invited by Miss Douglas, were entertained by several of their number, including singer Judy Garland and a small ensemble.

One departing guest said, "it was a swinging party." Several others said the princess and her husband were "delightful, charming."

Their itinerary today calls for a visit to a Beverly Hills and we couldn't go back. We couldn't move. If you moved, that's where they picked up your body."

Richardson's men and the men of Charlie Company took moderate to heavy casualties. But they gave more than they got. There were 75 Viet Cong bodies counted in the forest fringes and in the elephant grass of the meadow when the Viet Cong broke contact about dark. More bodies were dragged away.

As dawn broke, a helicopter took me to the other side of the meadow to join in the 1st battalion of the 12th Cavalry Regiment.

As we walked along, planes and artillery blasted the area just in front of us. We marched for five miles. Most of the way, we walked through spots of grass and underbrush still burning from strikes by the warplanes and 105 mm. howitzers.

One of the flank platoons was attacked by an apparently crazed Montagnard mountain woman.

She had a machete and ran toward the troopers waving it above her head and swinging the blade wildly. For a minute or two, the soldiers looked at her incredulously. Then one of them shot her in the stomach. She dropped the machete. Someone called for a medevac helicopter but she died before it got there. We marched on.

Klan Parade In Support of US Viet Nam Policy

AUSTIN (UPI)—Nearly 100 Ku Klux Klansmen, 51 of them wearing hoods and robes, paraded to the state Capitol Sunday in support of U.S. troops in Viet Nam, drawing the biggest crowd since the night President Johnson was elected.

But no one could hear the speeches supporting U.S. policy that followed. University of Texas students turned the Klan meeting into a huge pep rally. The Klan speakers were drowned out by the din.

Royce McPhail of Crockett, Tex., state kiegale (leader) of the Texas Klans and George Otto of Houston, march leaders, said the rally was in reaction to an Oct. 17 march by Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

"We wanted to let the public know we did back our government's policy in Viet Nam," McPhail said, "and I believe we accomplished our purpose in this march."

The Klansmen did not have a parade permit so they stayed on sidewalks. The crowd was so thick two Klan security guards dressed in dark, military-type uniforms preceded the Klansmen.

Nigeria Elections Spark New Wave Of Lawlessness

MANILA (UPI)—Seventeen violent deaths, including seven in a battle with remnants of the Communist Huk movement, sent a wave of tension throughout the Philippines today on the eve of the presidential election.

More than 8 million Filipinos are expected to vote Tuesday to choose between President Diosdado Macapagal and Senate President Ferdinand Marcos. A third-party candidate, Sen. Raul Manglapus, is given no chance of election.

Philippine elections are traditionally violent affairs, but the national police say that even though there have already been 42 killings associated with politics since the campaign opened in January, this has been a relatively "quiet" election. They noted that 85 died in the last presidential campaign, in 1961.

Pope Murder Trial Begins Second Week

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The courtroom battle between a prosecution striving for a death sentence for a bank robbery murder defendant and a defense committed to an insanity plea went into its second week today.

At stake is the life of Duane Earl Pope, a 22 year old former college football player charged with slayings of three persons during the $1,500 robbery of the Farmers State Bank in Big Springs, Neb., last June 4.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Theodore C. Richling indicated last week when he began his parade of witnesses that he would try to paint a picture of a cold blooded mass killer.

He said the details of the bank holdup, the bloodiest in recent history, were necessary even though Pope had signed a so-called judicial admission of the slayings and the robbery.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (9-26-63)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states in tiny tablets called Primatene.

These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

Green Bay Offense Goes Sour; Detroit Wins, 12-7

By United Press International
 Something has gone sour in the Dairy State and it isn't the milk.

It's the Green Bay Packers, whose only offense lately has been to National Football League fans in Wisconsin, their home state.

Detroit knocked Green Bay out of first place in the Western Conference of the NFL Sunday 12-7, an limited the Packers to minus-2 yards passing and 70 yards rushing.

Baltimore took over first place in the West by outlasting Chicago 26-21, and Frank Ryan and Jim Brown accounted for six touchdowns in Cleveland's 38-34 triumph over Philadelphia that kept the Browns on top in the East.

Charley Johnson hit Billy Gambrell with a 59 yard scoring pass with 37 seconds remaining to give St. Louis a 21-17 victory over Pittsburgh, Dallas outscored San Francisco 39-31, Minnesota whipped Los Angeles 24-13 and the Washington Redskins upended the New York Giants 23-7.

Detroit scored on a 13-yard field goal by Wayne Walker and a safety with less than four minutes to play to break a 7-7 tie and hand the Packers their second consecutive loss. Bruce Maher's interception of a Horning pass set up the field goal with 3:51 left. Each team scored in the second period on one-yard plunges by Detroit's Joe Don Looney and Taylor.

Chicago Coach George Halas, angry over an apparent dropped pass that was ruled a touchdown for Baltimore and two disputed 15-yard penalties that aided Colt touchdown drives, said he would file a report with Commissioner Pete Rozelle about the officiating.

"It was a comedy of errors," Halas snapped. "I'm mighty happy Mark Duncan (NFL head of officials) was here to see the kind of officiating we had."

Keith Lincoln, an all-league 145-pound quarterback in high school and a record-breaking 185-pound halfback in college, has a hard time convincing people he's too small at 205 pounds to play fullback in the American Football League.

The Denver Broncos aren't convinced today. Lincoln was involved in four touchdowns Sunday to power the San Diego Chargers to a 34-21 triumph over the Broncos.

In other AFL action, Buffalo

6-11 for the season and Monterey is 7-1.

Tascosa stayed in a tie for second with a 19-0 victory over Caprock Saturday afternoon.

Friday the Sandies play at Lubbock and Tascosa journeys to Borger.

In other action Pampa has an open date and Saturday Caprock at Palo Duro play at Dick Bivins Stadium.

Caprock lost their second straight to Tascosa and are now 3-4 in league play. Lubbock is now 4-2 and Palo Duro is 3-3.

John Hadl, who threw both touchdowns passes to Lincoln, also tossed a 45-yard scoring bomb to Paul Lowe, the AFL's leading rusher.

The Chargers, boasting the league's highest scoring offense and stingiest defense, remained comfortably in first place in the Western Division with a 6-1-2 record.

The Bills eliminated Boston from the Eastern Division race by converting a fumble, a blocked punt and a pass interception into scores. Pete Gogolak, who had not practiced all week because of a pulled muscle, booted three field goals of 28, 16 and 32 yards for Buffalo, the East's top team.

The Bills' Jackie Kimm scored from three yards out on a quarterback sneak but the play that shattered Boston was Charley Warner's 102-yard TD jaunt on a kickoff.

"We gave them possession of the ball five times but that kickoff return really killed us," Boston Coach Mike Holovak said. "They earned one field goal and on the rest we gave them the ball."

Halfback Clem Daniels kept the Raiders in the Western Division race by catching a pair of touchdown passes from Dick Wood. The Raiders have 5-3-1 slate and feel they still have a shot at overtaking the first-place Chargers. Allan Miller grabbed a nine-yard Wood pass while Daniels' TD catches were for 34 and 57 yards.

Clay is a technically excellent boxer" Tunney said. "He has speed, and although I am in doubt about his punch, he is superior to all present heavyweights."

Schmeling agreed, saying, "I know Patterson. He is a fine fellow and a good boxer but he can't take a punch. Clay will win fast."

Schmeling attributed the lack of "white hopes" to prosperity. "Today, white teenagers have a lot of pocket money, they get almost everything they want and they don't have to struggle for things as we did."

"But that's not true for the Negroes in America. They still are what you call hungry and only hungry fighters are good ones," Schmeling said.

Schmeling, now an executive in Germany, said Germany has only one good heavyweight, European Champion Karl Mildenberger. But he said Mildenberger is no match for top Americans.

Both Tunney and Schmeling looked fit. Tunney, 68, outpointed Jack Dempsey for the title in the twenties. Schmeling, 60, won the vacant title on a foul by Jack Sharkey.

'Old Pros' Predict Victory for Cassius

BERLIN (UPI) — Former World Heavyweight champions Gene Gunney and Max Schmeling today predicted Cassius Clay will quickly find Floyd Patterson's "glass chin" in their world championship bout in Las Vegas Nov. 22.

The two boxing greats bewailed the sad state of prize fighting at a news conference at West Berlin's Tempelhof Airport. Tunney went there to meet Schmeling who flew in from Hamburg.

Tunney said, "never before has boxing sunk to the low it has now."

"I cannot sink any lower and therefore the only direction it can go is up," he said.

Schmeling nodded in agreement. "The Clay-Patterson fight will not help the situation," Tunney said. "Patterson in the last few years has given such weak performances that he has no right to a title fight."

"His glass jaw makes it easy to predict that Clay will knock him out in two or three rounds."

Two Tie For Staff Picks

Daily News General Manager, Bill Power and city editor Ray Rodgers Jr., each came in with 20-5 records in staff selections Saturday.

The two-way tie kept Rodgers in first place for the season with a 121-47 total, followed by Chico Ramirez, who was 17-8 for the weekend, and Power with a 114-54 season mark.

Ramirez is 117-51 for the year. Power correctly guessed the Air Force upset of Army and both he and Rodgers guessed the four 3-4A contest correctly.

Sports Editor, Ron Cross, who had finished first for two straight weeks, fell the victim of his own smartness and finished 15-10 and fell to fourth place in the season standing with a 112-56 mark.

Quarterbacks Set Tuesday Meeting

The Pampa Quarterback club will hold their regular weekly meeting, starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria.

The game film of the Pampa-Amarillo game will be shown and Pampa coaches will give a short talk.

EVENED-UP — Maury Youmans (78) of the Dallas Cowboys, left, had a not-so-friendly greeting for quarterback Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers. Not to be outdone, Packer end Willie Davis (87) gave the same treatment to Dallas quarterback Craig Morton (14).

CHAMPIONSHIP IN SIGHT Bucks Shoot for 2-A Title Friday

White Deer can wrap up the district 2-A championship Friday night if they handle a good Memphis team.

The Bucks (4-0) host Memphis (2-2) in a game that can either give the Bucks the championship or leave them in a tie with Wellington (3-1) if the Skyrockets can get by Clarendon (2-2) at the Bronchos home base.

The White Deer-Memphis contest will end regular season play for the Bucks and two other teams in the Panhandle will close out football Friday night.

Winless Canadian (0-4) will try to end it all on a happy note when they host McLean (1-3) in a conference contest.

The other 2-A conference game finds Wellington at Clarendon in the last game of the season for the two teams.

The Bucks ran their season record to 9-0 last week with a 46-0 trouncing of Canadian (0-9) to clinch at least a tie for the conference title.

Wellington (7-1-1) came back from a 40-0 loss to the Bucks to hand McLean a 28-0 loss. The Tigers are now 3-6 for the season.

The Skyrockets have now been scored on only twice this season, by Shamrock and White Deer.

In the 5-B conference Groom will try to clinch at least a tie for the conference championship when the Tigers host Follett (3-1) a team still in the running for the title.

Wheeler is idle and looking for Groom to be upset. The Mustangs are 4-1 in league action and Groom is 4-0.

Lefors and Miami battle to stay out of the cellar at Miami. The Warriors are 0-4 in league play and Lefors is 1-3.

Last week Groom dumped Lefors 22-0 and Wheeler rolled past Miami 42-6.

The Air Force Dilemma

Awhile back, newspapers in the nation published the story of the embarrassment of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs when Eddie Grubb was sent an application blank by the Academy. It turned out that Eddie Grubb was a very pretty girl.

Ray Herst, city editor of our sister paper, the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, wrote the following account: Eddie Grubb is a very bright student.

So bright that Eddie placed high in the National Merit Scholarship competition. The Air Force Academy "always on the search for outstanding students" sent the Gaffney, S. C. high school senior an application to enter the military school.

But Eddie won't be going to the Academy.

"We doubt if Eddie could meet the physical requirements," a spokesman for the Academy said this morning.

Eddie Grubb is a girl. Her full name is Eddie Marie Grubb and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Grubb of Gaffney.

In all probability, Eddie will never attend the Academy, but the Air Force could be holding a bit of a sticky wicket if she ever filed the application.

There is something called the Equal Opportunities Act which the current administration has managed to get passed. Under it, there is supposed to be no discrimination regarding race, color, creed or sex.

And if Eddie is refused entrance, if she applies, because of her sex, this is in opposition to the bill.

The Academy spokesman had no comment on this phase of the problem.

Eddie got the application simply because she was so smart.

"We're bound to make a mistake like that," the spokesman said. "We get the lists of the semi-finalists and we try to get good students. And after all, with a name like Eddie..."

Eddie hasn't said what she plans to do with the application yet. If she files, there might be more than one red face in the administration.

But the Academy isn't too worried.

"Although we can't enter her in the class next year, we'd be very pleased if she ever came to Colorado Springs to give her a special tour," the spokesman said.

That's the conclusion of Mr. Herst's account. But we cannot resist enjoying a chuckle at the expense of the red-faced bureaucracy.

We, joined probably by readers cross the nation, are still wondering to what lengths the federal "anti-discrimination" people will go attempting to comply with its own legislation and avoid further chuckles at its expense were Eddie actually to submit that application? Considering the possibilities, and being aware of the abandon with which the administration is prone to make use of taxpayer funds, we have horrible visions of legislation creating an Air Force Academy for girls or, possibly, the Academy people being ordered to provide separate facilities for her. But then, we start laughing all over again, because even such expensive dodges as those would not extract the bureaucracy from the dilemma it has mousetrapped itself into. "Eparate but equal" has also been declared a concept non grata. Heavens to Betsy! That wouldn't do.

It just looks like one of those insoluble problems.

The 'Art' Subsidy Bill

The President's $63 million "Art" subsidies bill means, of course, that tax money stolen from those who love art, those indifferent to art and those who actually hate it, will be used to subsidize various artists and artistic endeavors. Since the government is on record as being against discrimination in any form, that means that Beatle, Bopster and Filthy Speech "Art" must be given an even shake with all the rest.

All of which brings us to a conversation we overheard recently.

During a discussion of the "art bill," a member of the staff side was heard to exclaim: "Oh, that's wonderful! It's something that should have been done long ago!" We wonder if the young lady realizes what she really said?

For what she was really saying, and this aside from the fact that she was advocating theft, was that a person desiring to purchase a decent painting or buy a ticket to hear a Puccini opera must first purchase the result of a tangle of worms turned loose to squirm in paint on canvas and pay the price of admission to hear a bunch of beatniks beating on tin cans.

When government subsidizes anything, it puts the individual taxpayer in the position of having to purchase the government favored item or service before being allowed to purchase the selection of one's choice. Put another way, one must buy mediocrity or even trash whether one likes it or not.

The President's "Art" subsidy bill is the one certain way of destroying true art. Soviet Russia's posterlike paintings are offered as evidence.

One, however, should not be surprised at the young lady's remark. Actually, it's about par for the course. With an educational system based on precisely the same premise turning out students abysmally devoid of any moral principles, what, indeed, could one expect?

Protesters Given 'War Party' Label

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the next few weeks, some college and other youthful demonstrators again will be manning the anti-Viet Nam war ramparts across the nation. Most likely they will provide fresh comfort for the warmakers in Hanoi and Peking.

We are told by some observers that Red leaders in these Asian capitals are too realistic to be affected by the protests of a tiny minority of U.S. youth, that they are far more influenced by the tangible buildup of U.S. forces in the battle area.

But it is a serious question whether realism does in fact have a very hard grip on Peking and Hanoi. Green in their memory is the Frency example, wherein noisy protests in Paris and other home cities helped pressure the weary French into getting out of the Indochina war against these same Reds 11 years ago.

A well-known Democrat, not a public officeholder, says U.S. students' anti-draft rallies "must be as heartening to the Communists in Asia as (isolationist) America First rallies were to Hitler" in the years before U.S. entry into World War II.

He goes on: "The probable effect of the demonstrators' efforts will simply be to prolong the war, to encourage Hanoi to hang on and shoot a few more Marines..."

The fellow who goes out to demonstrate may be digging the grave of the guy who sits next to him in class...

"It is these people, therefore, who are the real war party in this country."

The assumption of some Americans that we are dealing with essentially rational governments in Hanoi and Peking seems poorly supported by the evidence. Like most totalitarians, they tend to be entranced by their own propaganda fantasies, however foolish and unrealistic these may sound to us.

Four days after the Oct. 15-16 rash of anti-draft demonstrations, Hanoi radio broadcast an editorial from the Hanoi daily, Nhan Dan, which read in part: "The appeal of the U.S. Viet Day Committee to organize the international days of protest against the U.S. aggressive war in Viet Nam has been turned into the American people's sweeping storms of hatred for the Johnson clique in the United States."

"The noble attitude of David J. Miller, who burned his draft card before tens of thousands of demonstrators, testified to the iron will of large numbers of American youths who are resolved not to go and die uselessly for the selfish interests of the U.S. magnates. The Johnson clique was frightened."

"For the first time the people throughout the United States who hate the aggressive war have risen up as one man, on the offensive..."

"Contrary to the deceitful claims, this war is enjoying no support from and being sternly condemned by the American people... (Their) protest movement... has won a big, important and resounding victory."

"The U.S. imperialists are weakening in all fields. They are meeting with heavy setbacks in Viet Nam and becoming seriously isolated in the world."

Even more nonsense in this vein was heard from Hanoi radio on other days in the aftermath of the Oct. 15-16 protests. President Johnson was portrayed as trying to conceal a "great truth" — that the American people are "turning against him."

"We have little evidence to suggest that reason governs Hanoi and Peking. They see well enough the rising numbers of U.S. soldiers in the battle zones. But distant America — and its true resolves in this war — are a filthy fabric of the Reds' own making. They behave still as if the fantasy were real. And some young Americans seem bent on helping them hold to this distorted view, even at substantial costs in the lives of other young Americans."

If he is dissatisfied with their verdict, he may appeal to his state appeal board, which then reviews his case.

If the state board is uncertain, it sends the material to the Justice Department, which usually asks the Federal Bureau of Investigation to gather evidence. (If met with a flood of objector applications from one or more areas, the FBI could call in agents from other parts of the country.)

At this point, the "CO" applicant may request a hearing before a Justice Department representative.

CAPITOL EYE:

Beating The Draft Not Easy Matter

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If way-out groups should succeed in getting large numbers of young men to falsely pose as conscientious objectors, they're going to be in for a surprise.

The local draft boards require a battery of evidence.

The burden of proof is on the conscientious objector, not the government. As Selective Service men say, a man can't just sit back and avoid service by simply saying he is a conscientious objector and "daring the government to prove..." (he) does not have such a belief."

To start with, there's a standard questionnaire for conscientious objectors. Some of its questions:

"Do you believe in a Supreme Being?"

"Describe the nature of your belief which is the basis of your claim made... above, and state whether or not your belief in a Supreme Being involves duties which to you are superior to those arising from any human relation."

"Explain how, when and from whom or from what source you received the training and acquired the belief which is the basis of your claim..."

"Give the name and present address of the individual upon whom you rely most for religious guidance."

"Under what circumstances, if any, do you believe in the use of force?"

"Describe the actions and behavior in your life which in your opinion most conspicuously demonstrate the consistency and depth of your religious convictions."

"Have you ever given public expression, written or oral, to the views herein expressed as the basis for your claim made... above? If so, specify when and where?"

"Give the names and other information indicated concerning persons who could supply information as to the sincerity of your professed convictions against participation in war."

The draft board also wants to know where the "objector" attends church or other religious meetings, who the pastor is and when (or whether) he became a church member.

If the local draft board is convinced the young man is a genuine conscientious objector, he is so classified. If they have doubts, they may call him in for an interview (or he may request one).

If he is dissatisfied with their verdict, he may appeal to his state appeal board, which then reviews his case.

If the state board is uncertain, it sends the material to the Justice Department, which usually asks the Federal Bureau of Investigation to gather evidence. (If met with a flood of objector applications from one or more areas, the FBI could call in agents from other parts of the country.)

At this point, the "CO" applicant may request a hearing before a Justice Department representative.

U.S. Cost for Intervention in Dominican Republic To Top $250 Million by May, House Committee Told

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic to avert a Communist take-over has so far cost more than $125 million.

Current military and economic expenditures there are around $5 million a week.

Under discussion by U.S. and Dominican officials are a large grants and loans for housing, education, highways and other projects. It is still unknown how much these extensive plans will cost, but the amount is certain to be considerable. In addition, the U.S. is contributing a great deal of food commodities.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has been informed that by next May, when the election of a new Dominican government is scheduled, it is very likely U.S. outlays will exceed $250 million.

Despite this heavy cost to U.S. taxpayers, Communist elements still prevail in key places in the Dominican regime.

In a report to his government, General Hugo Panasco Alvim, Brazilian commander of the Inter-American Peace Force, flatly states there are "recognized Communist elements" in the provisional government of President Garcia Godoy.

In Panasco Alvim's explosive report, a copy of which has been transmitted to the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, he——Cites the Minister of Interior and Attorney General as instances of "Communist infiltration."

—Charges President Garcia Godoy with seeking to name rebel officers to high-ranking military posts, and warns that "installation of these officers would lead to a Communist take-over of the government."

"So far, General Panasco Alvim has blocked these Garcia Godoy moves."

—Characterizes the highly volatile political conditions as distinctly unfavorable for holding an election next May.

Also grimly noted by General Panasco Alvim is that there have been 94 assassinations since the provisional government took office September 3. Of these, some 60 per cent were anti-Communists, the remainder rebels.

THE BREAKDOWN — While the Johnson Administration has released no figures on the cost of the Dominican intervention, members of the Foreign Affairs Committee have obtained an accounting from authoritative sources.

This breakdown reveals the following significant facts: —The U.S. is paying the entire bill for the Garcia Godoy provisional government.

—U.S. funds are going to rebel as well as loyal (anti-Communist) military forces.

—Leftist-instigated anti-U.S. demonstrators, whose favorite pastime is staging "Yankee go home" uproars, are subsisting on food provided by the U.S. Between April and October 15, the U.S. has contributed $8,666,000 in food.

Following are the major U.S. expenditures in the Dominican Republic up to October 15:

Emergency grant assistance (disaster relief, medical supplies, maintaining social services, etc.) $42,513,677
Military operations (over and above the costs normally required for maintenance of troops) 28,000,000
Assistance to provisional government (emergency relief, operating expenses, industrial and commercial rehabilitation, special public works projects, para-military operations) 4,200,000
Food grants under Public Law 480 400
Food supplies contributed during initial emergency period 5,500,000
Technical operation program (agricultural development, education, public administration) 4,200,000
Logistics support for Inter-American Peace Force 1,400,000
TOTAL $125,013,257

House Foreign Affairs Committee leaders are closely watching the uneasy Dominican situation.

Privately they have misgivings about the ability and possible willingness of President Garcia Godoy to withstand leftist pressure to gain ascendancy in the provisional regime.

The lawmakers have been told that strenuous leftist efforts are being made to oust Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero and other militantly anti-Communist officers. The legislators also have learned that General Wessin y Wessin, exiled military leader, is being strongly urged to return, but so far has declined.

The U.S. now has some 8,000 troops in the Dominican Republic. Another 1,200 are from Brazil and several other Latin American countries. Together, they constitute the Inter-American Peace Force.

MYSTERIOUS VACANCY — Treasury Secretary Henry ("Joe") Fowler has been in office more than six months, but still has not named a general counsel. Also, no one has been able to get an explanation for this delay. White House insiders, asked about the matter, shrug and admit they do not know... The Air Force is "recruiting" an additional 1,000 German shepherd sentry dogs. It already has several thousand trained dogs guarding airbases, and wants more. Around 40 of these dogs and their handlers are in Viet Nam in an experiment to determine their usefulness there. The dogs being sought need not be pedigreed, but must be three years old, weigh at least 60 pounds and be 23 inches high at the shoulder, which then makes a decision. Unless the state board decision is unanimous, the conscientious objector can take an appeal to the President. In practice, this means to the National Selective Service Appeal Board.

If that decision, too, goes against him, the CO may then wait, report to the local processing center for physical and mental tests and refuse to be inducted when and if called.

Then his case goes before the courts.

A thought for the day — American politician and diplomat Adlai Stevenson said, "those who corrupt the public mind are just as evil as those who steal from the public purse."

Hunt for Truth

WILL PEOPLE BELIEVE? Propagandists have proven people will believe anything if it is told vociferously and often enough. This being true, there is a possibility that those professing a strong love of country could be built up and established on a high pedestal if their admirers began according them adulation.

Old-fashioned Americans can act like they don't know it is corny to salute the flag and sing the National Anthem! They can again call July 4th Independence Day and review the progress since our independence and separation from Europe's ancient conflicts.

The unsophisticated can treat patriots as though they were helping the nation and not divisive. They would have assistance from a contingent which, in 1961, began speaking of those who express love of country as flag-wavers, extremists, ultra-patriots, and super-patriots. The constitutionally minded, sometimes derisively termed "right wingers," would be singled out for comment. They would be in the limelight as a class and afforded recognition and publicity throughout the nation.

Writers, reporters, radio, TV, and the entertainment field would convey to patriots the glamour of being unusual and controversial. Patriots would no longer be subject to paying the price of silence.

Love of country would still be nationalism, but with U.S. armed forces engaged in battle, there could be a demand for many and more extreme nationalists. How long would it take to prove the saying of propagandists, that if told loudly and often enough, people will finally believe anything? Finally people might come to realize that patriots extreme enough to bleed and die for their country are, after all, an asset, however controversial.

The irony of it is that as they begin to see the value of a free economy and seek to make tentative approaches toward it, in our country we are taking giant steps away from it into more and more socialization. If both tendencies continue, the next generation will see a reversal of position. We will be distributing poverty through our Socialist economy, while prosperity will be achieved by those who have graduated from Socialism and swung back to freedom. Mind you, we do not say this is going to happen, but we do say that if present tendencies in the free countries and in the Socialist countries continue, there could be and probably will be a reversal of positions. Why do we have to go through the wringer in order to accept failure, and that a free market economy is the way to protect freedom and to achieve prosperity?

It's Up To You

Economic Planning Vs. Economic Freedom

Announcement has been made in Warsaw that Poland would adopt a "profit economy." The chief economist, however, declares that Poland will continue to have a "planned economy." Events will show that the two cannot long exist side by side.

The chief economist says that customer demand and industry profit must henceforth guide the country's economy. He then makes a contradictory statement that planning "is the main advantage of the Socialist system over Capitalism." A planned economy is not and cannot be a free economy or a profit economy. Some elements of both may exist side by side for a time, but the tendency will be to gravitate in one or the other direction.

A planned economy always arouses much dissatisfaction and criticism. Some are injured by the plans and they protest. The plans are then altered in an effort to correct the abuse. The attempt to do so, however, causes other problems and difficulties, and further corrections are attempted, and so the planning becomes more and more involved and interferes more and more with the exercise of free initiative.

Eventually, whoever does the planning will find that coercive power must be exercised to suppress the objectors and critics. Economic planning therefore soon leads to the loss of political freedom.

The incompatibility of a planned economy and free economy was well stated by an important official in the Kremlin some years ago, who said to me, over his desk, "You know as well as I that a mixed economy is not permanent. It will revert to freedom or go on into complete Socialism."

The planners in the satellite countries and in Russia are learning much. They now concede by their actions that Socialism is a failure, and they are rather desperately feeling around for some means of improving it. Right now they are experimenting by introducing a little more freedom here and there, but they still cling to the idea of a planned economy. They have given it up in part and the hope is that they will

The one dish that typifies Scotland is haggis, a kind of hash prepared from sheep's heart, liver and lungs and cooked with oatmeal in the lining of a sheep's stomach. Most Americans shy from it when they are told the ingredients. Bowling on the green was a favorite pastime in colonial America, and it's about due to be revived. At any rate, the plastics industry has come out with outdoor bowling alleys, which have automatic pinsetters and other appurtenances of the indoor lanes, and they're resistant to cold and wet weather. You'll be seeing them soon.

REPORT TO TEXANS

Senator Tower Will Investigate in Viet

By JOHN TOWER
U.S. Senator from Texas

As you know, I serve on the Senate's Armed Services Committee. In that capacity, and as your representative, it is my responsibility to help assure the strength of America's defenses.

Certainly, the greatest test for America's strength is the current war in Vietnam. The chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, has authorized me to conduct an investigation of the Vietnam operations on behalf of the Armed Services Committee.

I hope to make this inspection tour next month; and in anticipation of that tour, I'd like to review with you the very great stakes now in the balance in Vietnam.

The Armed Services Committee has maintained continuing oversight of the Vietnam situation throughout the year, and I have joined its other members in insisting that our government face up to the fact that we are at war.

Indeed, I have suggested several times to the Secretary of Defense — and have discussed in several Texas speeches — the need for him to request sufficient additional funds to adequately meet the needs both of our forces in Vietnam and everywhere else in this nation and abroad.

Repeatedly during the spring and summer, I pointed out the danger in the Defense Department's refusal to seek money to pay the cost of the Vietnam war, rather than draining necessary weapons and equipment from our other military forces.

I was convinced — and I still am — that we could not afford to let the demand for weapons and equipment in Vietnam result in lowering the readiness of our worldwide forces that are on standby to meet any challenge which might arise in other potential trouble spots.

The Armed Services Committee called for additional funds to replace those arms and equipment sent from existing forces to Vietnam, and for funds to replace the resulting shortages facing our troops at home and in Europe. The Congress added an additional $1.7 billion to the Defense Appropriations bill for this purpose.

But, many times that amount doubtless will be required next year.

It is a matter of concern to me that, in spite of the huge expenditures already required for the fighting in Vietnam, the Congress was asked to pass new and untested welfare and social programs costing millions and billions of dollars.

I believe too many Executive Branch bureaucrats fail to realize that the war on poverty is not the only war we are fighting.

The Armed Services Committee is maintaining a continuous watchfulness over this situation. My inspection trip to Vietnam is part of this watchfulness. I am sure the Committee will continue to insist that our men be provided the best and most modern equipment, in ample supply.

While our military situation in Vietnam is serious, indeed, recent developments in the fighting have been encouraging. There is ground for cautious optimism about the future.

The United States has largely taken over the actual conduct of the war, and our greatly increased military power is making itself felt. Our excellent soldiers, sailors and airmen are fighting magnificently and with splendid morale.

However, there will be no quick and easy solution. We still have a long, hard and bloody road ahead. Texans may be sure that I will continue my efforts to insure that our men have the best of everything they need, including weapons, equipment, supplies, ammunition and medical attention.

Ultimately, we may have to send many more men to South Vietnam than the some 150,000 we have there now. By the end of this year the number of troops there probably will exceed 180,000. Let us make no mistake about the fact that we are at war in Vietnam.

It is very clear to me that, if the spread of Communist power is to be halted in the vast Asiatic world, it is absolutely necessary that we form an effective and realistic alliance with both Asian and Western nations who are willing to stand up and be counted.

Such an alliance could join us in furnishing the necessary manpower, weapons and equipment. If there ever is to be peace in this world, aggression must cease. We as a nation are committed to peace and the rule of law. We also recognize the harsh reality that our own security is involved in Vietnam.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

NEW DELHI, India — Despite official denials, knowledgeable westerners here believe India will have an atomic bomb, possibly within six months.

Strangely, the pressures for such a weapon do not come from the Indian military, but rather from the politicians within the ruling Congress Party.

Within recent days, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri twice has reiterated that his government does not intend to build a nuclear weapon, military leaders would rather increase their strength through convention weapons.

But the pressures which many westerners believe finally will win out come from two sources.

—The argument that the continuing threat of war either with Pakistan or Red China or both at once makes it imperative that India have her own nuclear weapons. China recently announced she soon would test her third nuclear device.

—A matter of national prestige. Western sources citing the above arguments say that one complicating factor is the fact that India is a signatory of the nuclear test ban sponsored by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The agreement, however, goes not forbid underground testing.

So far as the ability to build such a device, there is no doubt that India could do it. It is probable also that, despite the official denials, Indian scientists have continued their research into the project.

India already has a plutonium-producing reactor. Increased pressure for building an atomic device is just one outgrowth of the three-week Indian-Pakistan war.

Militarily, it already is planned to increase the Indian army by nearly 400,000 men. Studies currently are under way to determine the effects of military expansion of the country's five-year economic plan.

Other developments have been the enormous increase in Shastri's prestige as a national leader and a corresponding upsurge in the country's own confidence in itself.

As one American put it: "Shastri used to go out of his way for the opposition, seeming almost to defer to it.

"But in the recent crisis he swung all the opposition to his side, with the exception of the Communists."

So far as national confidence is concerned, the same American source declared:

"India today is a country bristling with self-confidence. For 10 years the Indians have been feeding on their own inadequacies. Today, they are even ready to take on Red China."

U.S. embassy sources react with more sadness than anger to Indian charges that U.S. wheat shipments have been put on a month-to-month basis as a means of forcing India into agreement with Pakistan over Kashmir. The U.S. reply is that the United States simply is trying to point up to the Indians the necessity of developing their own agricultural program.
