Area Residents Testify On Public School Funds

Testimony was still being heard shortly before noon today by a special House Interim Committee on Financing of Public Education in Texas held at Carver Center.

Approximately 50 persons from Pampa and surrounding communities were assembled to either present their views on public school financing or just to listen to the suggestions and proposals put forth by others.

State Rep. Phil Cates conducted the hearing, with several other legislature members in attendance. Chairman of the sub-committee was Rep. Glenn Nabors of Brownwood.

All of those who had testified shortly before noon agreed that some type of local control of the school districts and funds must be maintained.

Slight differences were registered on how best to obtain and distribute the necessary funds for educating students.

Otis Shierer, Lipscomb County Attorney from Booker, representing various Lipscomb County residents, said most of the people in his area felt that children living in sparsely settled areas should not be deprived of the rights of higher education.

But he disputed the assumption of many urban residents that a child cannot get a good education in smaller communities.

He noted that federal and state governments are trying to reverse the trend of more people moving to the larger cities.

Shierer said one of the ways to combat this is to provide better educational facilities in the smaller communities. He felt this could be achieved better with local control of funds.

He said the people in his area tended to favor a basic rate from the state with the right of local residents to add to it with local taxes, if they wished to do so.

John Gikas, member of the Pampa School Board, testifying as a private citizen, stressed the need to maintain local control with little, if any, control from state and federal agencies.

He favored local assessment and collection of tax money for the schools.

Doug Coffee, Pampa citizen, said he felt that the ad valorem tax should currently be kept, but that it should be administered more equitably.

He stated that the ad valorem tax had worked well in the past, except for inequities in assessment, and should be maintained until a better system is developed.

Coffee also said local control was preferable but he felt some state agency should be set up to solve any problems that could not be handled locally.

Most of the other testimony was running along the same lines. All seemed to acknowledge the need for a fairer system of raising and distributing school funds, with local control and management.

The committee was taking testimony, with no public debate allowed, to gather information to be used in developing legislative actions in the next session of the state legislature.

State Board Urged To Take Another Vote

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Larry Teaver has challenged his two state insurance board colleagues to take another vote on raising house insurance rates—this time in public.

Teaver, the board chairman, called a meeting for next Wednesday and declared: "I encourage and welcome the public, press and all industry representatives to attend."

Last week, Teaver was outvoted 2-1 in a board decision to continue adding an inflation factor to building insurance rates.

Teaver wanted to suspend the factor for a year in hopes that Phase II economic controls would halt inflation. He claimed his proposal would cut premiums statewide by $14 million. As it stands, rates will rise in many areas of Texas.

Board member Ned Price said Wednesday that final rates had not been approved and changes still could be made in the rating formula.

"In view of my colleagues' statement to the press that changes can still be made, I am pleased to call another board meeting to review the actions of the board and to recommend once again that the economic trend factor be suspended until we can reasonably determine the effect of the price freeze on inflation," Teaver said.

GOP Gubernatorial Candidate Promises Government Reform

By LARRY HOLLIS

Albert Fay, one of six Republican candidates for Texas governor, stopped in Pampa yesterday as part of his campaign to cover the entire state before the May 6 primary elections.

A Houston resident, Fay feels that "Texans are fed up" with the political monopoly in Austin politics.

In his attempt to break up this monopoly, Fay has been trying to cover the entire state to organize support for his candidacy among Republican party leaders in the various counties.

He has been visiting the Panhandle area since Wednesday to talk with Republican precinct chairmen and other workers and to tour the various news media.

He came to Amarillo Wednesday from a trip to Washington, D.C., where he conferred with Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton about the establishment of the Armond Bayou park area in Harris County.

Yesterday he attended a Lions Club luncheon in Pampa, then left for receptions and coffees in Borger and Lubbock.

Today he was due to visit Plainview, Big Spring and Van Horn. Then he hopes to head into the Rio Grande Valley area, the only part of the state left for him to cover.

ALBERT FAY

Fay said. Much of his campaign is to be directed toward reform in the state government.

"We're trying to provide that change," he said. "That's our goal."

"The top Democrat contenders for governor claim they will reform state government and bring a new day to Texas if elected," he said, "yet these are the same people who have been leading this state during the stock scandals."

A Republican national committeeman for Texas from 1960 to 1969, Fay was a candidate for state land commissioner in 1962 and 1966, losing both times to his Democrat opponent.

Texas Asked To Pass Law On Billboard

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Transportation Secretary John Volpe set a May 6 deadline today for Texas to pass a billboard control law or lose $24 million in federal highway construction money.

The date coincides with the Texas political party primaries, but there was no indication in Volpe's telegram why it was chosen.

Volpe's telegram went to Gov. Preston Smith's office. Smith hinted at a news conference Thursday that he still was seeking "alternatives" to a special session before May 6 to pay for primary election costs.

"The Department of Transportation deadline could alter our plans to some extent... But we haven't figured out what the deadline is," Smith said Thursday.

Volpe's telegram said he had made a final determination that Texas was not in compliance with the Highway Beautification Act in 1971 and that he was withholding a portion of the state's highway aid funds.

"These funds will be restored if Texas has a adequate statute and agreement in effect by May 6," Volpe said.

Rockets To Be Used To Attack Hailstorms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to use rockets to attack the hailstorms that cost the nation up to $390 million a year in crop and property damage. It was learned today.

Scientists said small rockets carrying silver iodide will be fired from planes into thunderstorms suspected of being potential hail-producers to see if such seeding can cut hail formation.

The plans were disclosed by officials of the National Science Foundation in Washington and scientists of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo., in a telephone interview.

The tests are to be carried out this summer at the juncture of Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming.

politics since 1952, he has also served as Republican state executive committeeman, co-chairman of the 1960 Nixon presidential campaign in Texas, a delegate to the last three Republican national conventions and a worker for such Republican candidates as George Bush and Paul Eggers.

Although he is a "city dweller," Fay has been engaged in agriculture business for about 25 years with experience in cattle and in rice farming.

"I feel I am more familiar with agriculture problems than the other candidates," he added.

Having been involved in irrigation farming, Fay said he can understand the Panhandle area's concern for sources of water.

"I would like to facilitate bringing water to this area," he said. "I do think the problem needs further study and research and action."

A World War II veteran of the Navy as an officer, Fay had received a Bachelor of Science degree in geology from Yale University in 1936 prior to entering the service. He has business interests in oil, agriculture and shipyards.

Born in 1913, Fay was married in 1935. He and his wife, Homoselle, have three children and four grandchildren.

PEEK-A-BOO—The News photographer caught this City Hall pigeon as he perched on a second floor urn apparently trying to see what was going on inside. It wasn't determined whether he was keeping an eye on the City Hall Cat or just being plain snoop. Incidentally, the pigeon in the photo is one that has eluded the city hall caretaker's efforts to eliminate the pigeon menace around the municipal building.

Politicians Urging Texas Voters To Register For May 6 Primary

By ELOY AGUILAR
Associated Press Writer

Several top candidates in the free-for-all battles of Texas politics stopped their swinging briefly to remind Texas voters to register for the May primary election.

Gov. Preston Smith issued a statement Thursday in Austin: "It is urgent that our citizens get busy and register soon if they want to have a voice in the selection of candidates on May 6."

The governor said this was "a serious situation and I would hope that many thousands of other citizens who can become eligible to vote will take, the few minutes necessary and register immediately."

Another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi, aimed her call at youth in a speech at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Mrs. Farenthold said the newly enfranchised young voters "are coming into the electoral process without the disadvantages which plagued blacks for more than 100 years, the de facto discrimination and discouragement faced by Chicanos and the psychological inertia inhibiting women since they received the right to vote."

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, who is trying to get back to Washington in his bid for the Democratic nomination, also made an appeal for voter registration.

"This is an extremely important election year," Yarborough said, "and genuine alternatives will be presented to voters from every level of government, from local to national."

Another candidate for governor, Ramsey Muniz of the Raza Unida Party, was in the Rio Grande Valley urging Mexican-American voters to register but to stay away from the polls on May 6 and save themselves for the general election in November.

Muniz asked students at Pan American College to support the Raza Unida drive for statewide registration.

According to official figures revealed Thursday in Austin, there are 7,681,000 Texans qualified to vote, but to date only 3,779,000 have registered.

Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe, a Democratic candidate for governor, said in a campaign speech at Sherman that he can provide the leadership Texas needs for "positive reform."

Briscoe added that, if elected, he would seek to limit the terms of the speaker of the House to one to prevent prevent his "building a power base."

Dave Reagan, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, released a financial statement in Fort Worth showing his gross income for 1971 was $27,615, including his $18,000 salary from Austin College.

In San Antonio, another Republican candidate for governor, Tom McElroy, said, "The sooner the chaos starts with a new session of the legislature, the sooner it will be over."

McElroy said he "cringed at the prospects of what the present legislature might do when reconvened... The power grabbers, the grand standers and the deposed captains of power along with shaken incumbents seeking re-election can all be counted upon to stage a wild scramble and a sorry spectacle."

Martin said that John Hill "met in the governor's office with Secretary of State Bob Bullock and Jimmy Day, the lobbyist for Shearn Moody Jr., and also the lobbyist for the vending machine people on the day he finally made up his mind to run against me."

Governor To Announce Session Plans On TV

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith said Thursday he will announce his special legislative session plans in a statewide telecast next week.

The governor's press aide, Carlton Carl, said stations are being asked for television time next Tuesday.

Smith said he would pay for the 30-minute program himself "because we want the exposure."

His announcement of the telecast—which came in response to a reporter's question—was the only piece of hard information that came out of a brief informal news conference.

Will there be a special session before the May 6 primaries?

"We haven't made a determination... We'll have something definite within a week," Smith answered.

It generally has been assumed Smith would call a special session before the primaries to provide state funds to conduct the nominating elections. Federal court orders blocked further use of candidate filing fees to pay primary election costs, and the Texas Supreme Court said legislative approval was needed before any state funds could be spent.

But Smith hinted he was considering a delay until after the primaries before calling a special session.

"We have lots of alternatives in mind," he said.

A member of his staff, intimately concerned with Smith's special session planning, said he knew of no alternative receiving serious thought.

Heath's Policy Attacked By Premier Faulkner

LONDON (AP) — The British government suspended home rule in Northern Ireland today and took direct control of the strife-torn province in a bid for peace that risks civil war.

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner of Northern Ireland, who had engaged in two last-ditch meetings with Prime Minister Edward Heath, denounced the British move.

Heath told the House of Commons that Northern Ireland's Protestant-controlled provincial parliament was being suspended for a year, the internment without trial of suspected guerrillas is being eased, and Roman Catholics would get a greater voice in provincial affairs.

Heath announced that the six Ulster counties will be governed by William Whitelaw, floor manager for the government in the House of Commons, who will be named to the new post of cabinet minister for Northern Ireland.

Whitelaw will be assisted by a commission of local residents "fully representative of opinion in Northern Ireland," Heath declared. This means it would include representatives of the Catholic minority as well as Protestants.

The response from Northern Ireland was almost entirely hostile, and there were fears that Protestant extremists would turn to violence in retaliation for the ending of 50 years of Protestant rule.

Faulkner told the Stormont, Northern Ireland's parliament, that he had warned Heath in their crisis talks that British takeover would be seen in Ulster as a victory for the Irish Republican Army, which wants reunion of the two parts of Ireland.

"I told him," Faulkner said, "that it would be widely construed as an acceptance of a totally baseless criticism of our stewardship; that it would be seen by the IRA and others as a first and major step on the road to a terrorist victory."

Faulkner's government is expected to remain in office to run routine provincial affairs until the British Parliament approves takeover legislation next week.

William Craig, leader of the hard-line Protestant Vanguard Movement who formerly was a member of Faulkner's cabinet, warned that his militants will fight the takeover.

"We would fight," Craig said. "I cannot exclude the possibility of violence."

He declined to comment, however, when asked if a shooting war would break out between his Protestants and the IRA.

Frazier Agnew, leader of the militant Belfast Young Unionists, accused Heath of betrayal and said he "has hastened the inevitability of civil war."

The Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing vowed to continue their campaign of bombing and shooting to unite the Protestant North with the Catholic Irish Republic in the south.

Edward MacAteer, leader of the more moderate Catholic Civil Rights Movement, said he preferred Protestant Irish rule to that of Englishmen in the "remote and insensitive smoke-filled rooms of Westminster."

Six thousand Protestant shipyard workers in Belfast left their jobs and marched to the city hall in protest.

In an overture to the Roman Catholic minority in the six northern counties of Ireland, Heath also announced plans to release some of the suspected guerrillas interned there without trial and a plebiscite on whether the people of Northern Ireland want to unite with the Irish Republic.

The outcome of the plebiscite is a certainty since Protestants outnumber Catholics 2 to 1 in Northern Ireland and are solidly opposed to Catholic rule from the South.

The government took direct rule of the province after 31 months of religious-political warfare that has taken 286 lives and brought Britain to its gravest constitutional crisis since King Edward VIII abdicated in 1936.

Heath's action was the result of the collapse Thursday night of crisis talks between him and Northern Ireland's prime minister, Brian Faulkner.

Faulkner and his Protestant government said they would resign rather than agree to Heath's peace plan, which they consider capitulation to the terrorists of the Irish Republican Army.

Heath announced that Faulkner would remain in office until the British Parliament passes the necessary legislation. Heath said the takeover would last a year but could be extended.

Heath had proposed to Faulkner that the British government take control of all security in Northern Ireland—including the police—while at the same time phasing out the internment without trial of suspected IRA members, one of the chief Catholic demands.

Faulkner maintained his government would be turned into a puppet regime if it surrendered control of security to London. And hard-liners in his regime were adamantly opposed to any modification of the internment policy.

With 14,500 British troops in Northern Ireland already hard pressed by the Catholic guerrillas of the IRA, the army put 2,000 more on standby alert to be flown there.

Heath said his seizure of control of the province was "an indispensable condition for progress in finding a political solution in Northern Ireland."

Kleindienst Faces Second Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general apparently will face another vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee before it is brought before the full Senate.

The committee had unanimously approved the nomination before columnist Jack Anderson accused the Justice Department of settling an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. in exchange for a $400,000 contribution to the Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst was No. 2 man at Justice when the suit was settled and asked that the charge be aired before the committee.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen Thursday he would delay a Senate vote on the nomination until the committee makes a new recommendation.

Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he would arrange a new vote but indicated it wouldn't have to be a reconsideration of the nomination.

Mansfield said other possibilities might include a statement that no wrongdoing had been uncovered, a request that the nomination be returned to committee or a reaffirmation of the original vote.

The committee has not yet heard a prime witness in the case. ITT lobbyist Dita D. Beard whom Anderson described as the author of a memo linking the suit and the convention contribution.

Boy Admits That He Made False Alarming Phone Calls

Metropolitan ambulance service made an emergency run last night—and there was no emergency. Pampa police sped to a gang fight—that was not taking place—and the Pampa fire department raced to a fire—that was not burning.

This unavoidable hazard created whenever emergency vehicles must move—plus a needless expenditure of taxpayers' money was all whim of a 14-year old Pampa boy who admitted to police officers in the presence of his father that he did the false alarm telephoning, according to the official account of the flurry of emergency activity shortly after 9 p.m. last night.

Shortly after 9 p.m. last night, a felonious crime and investigating officers told the youth and his father that they intended to turn the matter over to the juvenile officer.

No further action had been taken at press time.

2 Area Men Freed On Bond By Police Here

Two Skellytown men, Tommy Joe Owens, 42 and Thomas Jonathan Veale, 60, were arrested in the office of a Pampa dentist by Pampa police and released on bond after a disturbance.

The doctor told officers Owens' wife had come to him the day before with a broken tooth which he x-rayed. In taking her medical history he found she was allergic to certain medication that made it impossible for him to take her case.

She called later, according to the police account, and wanted the x-rays. He told her rules governing medical practice prohibited this.

Then her husband and Veale came in demanding the x-rays or a refund of the office call fee. The doctor called police and lodged charges against the pair.

Liberal Demons Plan To Send Rump Delegation To Miami

HOUSTON (AP) — An organization to be known as the Texans for a Democratic Delegation says it may send a rump delegation to the National Democratic Party Convention in Miami in July.

The group scheduled an April 15 workshop meeting in Austin to discuss the plans to fight convention rules adopted March 13 by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Billie Carr, a former state Democratic committeewoman, made the announcement at a Thursday news conference held by the liberal coalition.

Its purpose was to denounce the so-called compromise moderate set of reform rules for selecting national convention delegates adopted by the executive committee.

Unless the State Democratic Executive Committee reopens this issue by the April 5 deadline and amends these rules to permit rank-and-file participation in the election of convention delegates.

Mrs. Carr said "the people that control the Democratic party in Texas have no intention of giving us any meaningful opportunity for reform. We're not going to wait 20 more years. We're going to have reform whether they like it or not."

Temporary Court Order Forbids Rock Festival

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — South Padre Investment Corp. obtained a restraining order Thursday to halt, at least temporarily, plans of promoters to hold an Easter weekend rock music concert on a beach.

The temporary restraining order was signed by District Court Judge Darrell Hester, who set a hearing for next Wednesday on an injunction sought by the Houston-based corporation.

The order does not prevent the rock concert as long as there is no trespassing on property owned by South Padre Investment Corp.

Wendy Maloy of Harlingen announced plans earlier this week to hold an "Easter rock fiesta" on an isolated stretch of beach in Willacy County (Raymondville) on April 1, the day before Easter.

Maloy, who was not available for comment on the restraining order, had said promoters planned to sell 5,000 tickets at $6 each. He said he had contracted some top rock groups to play at the four-hour concert.

Resident In Jail For Intoxication

Clarence H. Peper was lodged in jail last night after Pampa police answered a complaint call to a South Pampa residence.

There the man of the house told them Peper had appeared in an intoxicated state and precipitated a fight. The fight was evidently over when officers arrived, according to their report, and Peper was arrested for getting intoxicated in a residence not his own.

TV Enters Its 25th Year; Best Yet To Come

By DAVID HENDIN

YORK—(NEA)—Television, this is your life.

You were born in about 1880—even before radio was developed—when several patents were filed for devices that would transmit pictures over wires.

By the 1920s moving pictures, blurry but identifiable, were beamed and, in 1929, Dr. Vladimir Zworin introduced the iconoscope electronic TV camera tube.

Even with your long history, though, it wasn't until just 25 years ago this year that television became a reality of home entertainment as we know it today.

The first year of mass-produced television sets was postwar 1947. It was the year that Jackie Robinson broke through baseball's color barrier and Gorgeous George, the wrestler, and the Roller Derby were prime time attractions. Uncle Miltie was clowning away and Paul Winchell conversed with his loquacious woodenhead Jerry Mahoney.

During 1947 the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) started large-scale production of black and white television sets, and by the end of the year had turned out about 143,000. Some 200,000 television sets were in use and by 1948 the number exceeded a million.

Since that time, more than 190 million TV sets have been in operation. Today some 60 million U.S. homes are equipped with television and about a third of them have two or more sets.

Color TV emerged just eight years after the beginning of mass-produced television and by 1955 the color TV sales volume overtook black and white. Today some 36 million color sets are in use. There are more operative TV sets in the United States than there are telephones, refrigerators or bathtubs.

Television, you have changed our way of life. You have been castigated for producing a violent generation, criticized for having too many commercials and lambasted for your lack of "cultural" entertainment. Millions refer to you as the "boob tube" and they complain of being square-eyed after long, hard night at your controls.

You have faced off with many of your critics, the government included, and have eliminated cigarette advertising and increased news and educational programming. There is still much to be accomplished.

You have sounded the death knell for many theaters and nightclubs, and you have brought about growth. More jobs for more people working with you and in related fields. Your revenues were mainly responsible for the expansion of virtually all of the major sports leagues—football, basketball, baseball and hockey. You gave golf its greatest shot in the arm since a few Scotsmen started clubbing a small ball around a pasture.

"Twenty-five years ago we placed the first postwar television sets on the market. One of those sets, the 630TS, has been aptly called the Model T of the television industry." The recollection is made by Barton Kreuzer, now an RCA vice-president. In 1928, as a young engineer, he helped establish W2XBS, a pioneer television station in New York City.

Kreuzer looks ahead to television's next 25 years and sees even greater success. "Numbers can be boring, but the prospects of consumer electronics are overpowering. Everything that has happened in the past promises to be dwarfed by comparison in the future."

IN THE BEGINNING, everyone gathered around to watch the likes of Uncle Miltie and Gorgeous George on the small screen—and it was small. Screens have gotten much larger, but sets are now going compact with manufacturers promising portable new wonders for the future.

That's quite a statement considering the American public spent about $35 billion on television sets during the last quarter of a century. Last year about $2 billion was spent on some 2.2 million sets.

Kreuzer predicts that more than 370 million TV receivers will be sold in this country over the next 25 years—doubling the 190 million of the first quarter-century. This will represent retail sales of nearly $200 billion—more than five times the sales total for the first 25 years, and reflecting the growing impact of color TV.

Audio-visual products will be smaller and more portable than ever before. The picture and sound quality will improve and they will go anywhere their owners can take them.

"Portable TV units," Kreuzer says, "will enable the housewife to preexamine the area around her parked car on a dimly lighted shopping center parking lot, or a pedestrian to look blocks

McLean VFW Holding Derby Town Jubilee

McLEAN (Sp1)—The McLean Veterans of Foreign Wars is sponsoring a Derby Town Jubilee to be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the high school auditorium here.

The program will include some of the area's finest talent in the Country and Western music field.

George W. Terry, who will serve as master of ceremonies, said the annual Jubilee is a local version of the Big D Jamboree, the Louisiana Hayride and the Grand Ole Opry all in one for the entertainment of Country and Western music fans.

U. S., South Vietnam Cancels Paris Talks For Next Week

PARIS (AP)—The United States and South Vietnam canceled next week's session of the Vietnam peace talks and said the Communist side must show a desire for serious discussion before the conference can be resumed.

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong rejected these conditions.

The conference appeared on the verge of a total breakup unless the opposing sides altered their stands.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter told the Communists at today's session: "As for meetings in the weeks that follow, we believe it would be preferable to await some sign from you that you are disposed to engage in meaningful exchanges on the various points raised in your and our proposals."

The North Vietnamese spokesman called Porter's statements an ultimatum to sabotage the conference and said Porter's move was "a hysterical and dangerous act without precedent."

Porter told the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese envoys: "As you know, President Nixon ... has declared next week as a week of national concern for our men held prisoner by you and your associates. It would be a mockery of our concern for them to sit in this room with you and listen to more of your blackmail and distortion to the effect that the prisoner of war issue is an 'imaginary problem.' Therefore our side does not agree to a meeting next week."

Men Moving Back Into Secretarial Field

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The gals aren't the only ones wearing the pants in the secretarial pool these days. Slowly but surely, men are moving back into the field.

The U.S. Labor Department said there were 3,477,827 stenographers, typists and secretaries in 1970, of whom 48,960 or 1.4 per cent were men.

In 1971, there were 3,651,000 stenographers, secretaries and typists, of whom 65,000 or 1.7 per cent were men. The National Secretaries Association—NSA—estimates there are about 1.5 million secretaries in the country, about 2.3 per cent of whom were men.

An association spokesman said, "We hear more men are coming into the field because salaries are better and because secretaries are in the center of things for advancement."

It is difficult to obtain precise information about male secretaries. Only 12 of NSA's 28,000 members are men. The Male Secretaries Association was disbanded several years ago when NSA began accepting men.

Katherine Gibbs, the secretarial school, began accepting men as regular students last summer. In its 60-year history before that, the school accepted men only in evening session. One man signed up for the school's special eight-week summer program for college graduates.

Male secretaries are nothing new. In 1900, 10 of every 11 secretaries were men. Employers discovered, however, that men wanted secretarial posts only as stepping stones. Women, conditioned by convention to seek marriage as a goal, were more willing to accept clerical work. Gradually, the ratio of men to women was reversed.

Herb Nelson started as a secretary 20 years ago. He says he got into the field "a little bit by accident."

He was working in an office when the president's secretary—a man—became ill. Nelson was asked to fill in. "It was a tremendous opportunity," he said. "I got to work with top people."

Nelson, who had taken courtreporting courses at night and had taught himself shorthand, stayed in the secretarial field. Today he is secretary to the president and chairman of the board of the Bergen, N.J., Record. He also is secretary of the corporation.

"I've never been sorry," he says of his job choice. "I'd advise both of my sons to do it."

There are advantages to being a man in the secretarial field, Nelson said. "When they advertise for a male secretary, it's usually not the run of the mill job."

On the lighter side, Nelson notes, "If we have to work late, it's easier for the boss to call up his wife and say, 'I'm working late with Herb' than it is to say 'I'm working late with Mary.'"

Like several other male secretaries interviewed, Nelson said he frequently takes on administrative chores. "But," he added, "quite often I'm called on to take shorthand. I don't mind."

How fast does he take shorthand? "As fast as you can talk," he replied.

Several men said their sex protected them from some of the more tedious chores of secretarial work.

The secretary to the president of a large construction firm, who preferred to remain anonymous, said, "It's the attitude. You're a man and you're working for a man... A woman gets loaded up with shopping and stuff. My boss wouldn't dare do that to me."

This man moved into his present job when the boss' previous secretary became pregnant. He said he types, but does not take formal shorthand although "I have a sort of a half-baked system of my own."

From the boss' point of view, there are several advantages to a male secretary, he said.

"I get my wife pregnant: I don't get pregnant," he said. "There's continuity. Some of these gals change jobs the way they change their dresses."

Stanley Mason, 27, secretary to the director of film operations of Columbia Pictures Industries, agreed that men avoid some secretarial drudgery and are given more responsibility. "I think in business, which is still predominantly a man's world, an employer feels more at ease in delegating authority to a male secretary," he said.

Employers Still Prefer 'Young Chick' To Male

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A man who tried for two weeks to get a job as a secretary and was turned down by at least 40 companies found that sex discrimination can work both ways.

An Associated Press reporter put himself in the secretarial job market, asking only $85 a week. He had four years of college and typed 60 words a minute.

The newsman applied mostly through a personnel agency, since all efforts on his own were met with replies that the job already had been filled.

Prospective employers dealing with the employment agency counselor were more blunt about their reasons for rejecting a man for the job.

"To be quite frank," said the counselor, Don Bridges, "a lot of men simply want someone who can do the job, but they want some nice, young chick around who has nice legs."

Bridges is with Republic Personnel in Charlotte. He did not know the applicant was a newsman until after "40 to 60 companies" rejected the idea of hiring a man for a secretarial position.

At least 20 of the companies actually had openings for jobs as secretaries, Bridges said, and others usually take well-qualified applicants to fill positions later in the high-turnover field.

The companies included banks, financial institutions, public utilities and various smaller companies with as few as three secretaries.

"Some of them simply said they wanted a woman for the job and didn't give any other reason," Bridges said. "I pointed out discrimination, but they wouldn't budge."

Bridges said other companies told him they had all-girl secretarial staffs and didn't want to change.

The newsman had told Bridges that he was fresh out of the military where he had been a secretary for a general for five years. The newsman had Bridges tell the prospective employers that the applicant wanted to become an executive secretary and had to get some general office experience.

The recourse for someone who feels a potential employer has discriminated against him because of sex, race, national origin or religion is to file a civil suit or to file a complaint with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

U.S. Rejects Maltese Condition For Joining NATO

LONDON (AP) — President Nixon's administration has rejected Maltese demands for a guarantee of special American aid before any new defense pact is signed with the North Atlantic allies, informed diplomats reported today.

They said the U.S. government instead told Prime Minister Dom Mintoff it will consider helping his Mediterranean island, but only after an agreement is reached renewing Britain's lease on the Maltese air and naval bases.

The united allied front leaves Mintoff with eight days in which to accept or finally turn down the deal offered by Britain and her NATO allies: $36.4 million a year in rent, special economic aid projects totaling about $18 million and a cash payment of $6.5 million from Italy.

If Mintoff doesn't accept, British forces will complete their withdrawal by March 31. Mintoff's men have tried in vain to bump up these allied offers through approaches to individual NATO countries, including West Germany, Canada, the Netherlands, Greece and others. But the allies have stood firm.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me, am I an old fashioned, prissy, 52-year-old wife, mother, and grandmother because I don't enjoy going to X-rated movies? My husband thinks I am.

He asked me to go to one of those movies with him and I did, and I didn't care for it at all. To me sex is something beautiful between a husband and wife, and I don't like to see it exploited before my eyes on a movie screen.

My husband says it turns him on. Well, it turns me OFF! Do you think I should go to sexy movies with him just to keep him company? I find them humiliating.

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD: If your husband needs an X-rated film to turn him on, let him go alone. And tell him to hurry straight home before you turn IN, or he's turned OFF!

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the propriety of asking a hostess, when she invites you to dinner, "Who else is coming?" I don't think it's impolite to ask. I always do. And it's not because I may want to decline or accept, depending on who else will be there.

We live in the suburbs, and if friends who live nearby are going to the same party in the city, it's convenient and fun to ride together. If I invited someone to a party, and she asked who else was coming because if she didn't care for some of my other guests she might decline, I would rather she did.

ALWAYS ASKS

DEAR ALWAYS: Your reason for asking is a valid one, which changes the complexion of the situation. So, don't guess who's coming to dinner. Ask!

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Disgusted" who had so many bad experiences with service and repairmen who didn't show up: She should call the Better Business Bureau when shopping for a repairman. And even more important, if one doesn't show up, she should let the B. B. B. know about it. Businessmen with a reputation for "standing up" their customers don't stay in business long. And your complaints to the B. B. B. are kept strictly confidential.

ALL FOR THE B. B. B.

DEAR ALL: Thanks for the reminder. Now hear it from the repairmen:

DEAR ABBY: Since others use your column to air their pet gripes, may I?

It's customers who, when they arrange for an appointment to repair their television, fail to be there, or even leave a door unlocked. They don't call, they just aren't there. (Always an excuse, "I went to the store for a few minutes," car trouble, etc.) Abby, time is money, and these inconsiderate people cost us both.

My other repairman friends tell me they've had the same lousy experience with some customers. What's the matter with people nowadays? Their word isn't worth a thing.

DISGUSTED REPAIRMAN IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: You wrote, "I think there should be a special place in heaven for the woman who marries a divorced man with a first family, because as far as the man is concerned (whether from guilt or whatever) his 'first' family usually comes first. And the same holds true for a divorced woman with a first family.

Abby, I don't want to get personal, but such insight and compassion could only have come from a woman who has had that experience. Did you perchance marry a divorced man with a "first" family?

NOSY

DEAR NOSY: No. But some of my best friends did. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69708, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089.

Your birthday today: Begins a time of adjustment—you get used to people and things you'd never have expected, and with better grace than others hoped. Try to persuade people to grow with you, share studies and prayers. Today's natives appreciate extra care, fine details, unusually have very delicate senses and are good at finding the beautiful qualities in almost anybody.

Arjes [March 21-April 19]: Expecting little of loved ones or friends, seek relaxation in pleasure, sightseeing, sports according to your skills and age.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Seek serenity as you indulge the whims and woes of those you care for. It's a long day of many small turns—patience! Housecleaning has surprise benefits.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Push yesterday's ventures ahead, using the week-end leeway fully. Take it easy with lived ones, as they are sensitive.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Welcome changes in your expectations, potential earnings are available if you look for them. Find-time to meditate, ask guidance.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Continued negotiations bring you a long step closer to goals and a time of consolidation, relaxation. Apply newly learned skills, check results as you go.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You tend to be in the middle as people try to pursue incompatible programs, expect too much of each other and of you. Intuition leads strength and serenity.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Business is one thing, friendship the main line for the moment, love and romance out of favor, or difficult. Keep your perspective on all.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Expect little direct cooperation, much discovery in incidental or side-line activities. It's a good day for settling claims, contracts.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: A little distance, real or symbolic, between you and others keeps life and business on a more even keel. Write important letters.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Money flows in both directions a bit more readily than usual. Don't tread on emotional toes as you keep up with material progress.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Even very strong emotional ties encounter momentary tangles. Look to see what you've done to upset matters, make corrections.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Assume an impersonal viewpoint; depend on your own efforts and resources, at least until the results begin to attract spontaneous support.

Pampa Club Given Award

At a recent meeting of LaCultura Club, it was announced the group had received a citation of achievement for its community improvement program, which was the presentation of a flag for the new M.K. Brown auditorium. The announcement was made by Mrs. Lee Foxworthy, president. She announced, also, the club had won first place in the senior club division for its president's report. The report will be presented at the district convention in Dumas.

For the program, "Today's Woman in Fashions," each member modeled something she had made.

Next meeting will be at 10 a.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Jim Johnston, 2001 Christine.

Members present were Mmes. Dave Darnon, Ralph Dozier, Wayne Hampton, Carl Adcock, Mike Kuralt, Imre Nagy, Walter Cowell, Lee Foxworthy, Don Huffacker, Jim Johnston, S.L. Tate, Robert Elliott, Don Wilson and Max Lovell.

Guests were Mrs. Leon Ward and Mrs. Bob Hutton.

By Linnie Chandler
Thursday afternoon was a very happy time for 51 of Pampa's senior citizens as they met in Lovett Memorial Library.

Hostesses, members of the Clara Hill Class of the First Methodist Church, were Mrs. L.B. Penick, president, Mrs. Kay Kilgore, chairman, and Mmes. O.G. Smith, Lucy Hale, L.S. Riley, Ray Wells, R.W. Talley and Barbara Scruggs.

Door prizes were awarded to Mrs. J.T. Baldwin and C.T. Barnett.

Sponsoring Altrusans present were Mrs. Marie Fitzgerald, chairman, and Mmes. Marian Jameson, Lora Dunn, Olive Hills, Louise Sewell, Lillian Snow, Ruth Sewell, Lena Pearl Hobbs; and Miss J. Flanagan.

An Easter card was signed by all present, to be sent to Mrs. Stella Wagner, a former Altrusan who is faithful in keeping in touch with "her" senior citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cates spent last week at Sherwood Shores visiting Mr. Cates' sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Tucker of Oakley, Calif., have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Daisy Brunson. The trio made a trip to San Angelo to visit relatives and to Houston to visit Mrs. Brunson's son, whom she had not seen in 10 years.

Mrs. Cleo Meadows cooked a birthday dinner for her three daughters Thursday.

Mrs. Jewell Laramore and Mrs. Linnie Chandler visited Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Dickerson in Lefors Monday. Mr. Dickerson's youngest brother, who lived in Oklahoma, was accidentally killed Monday morning.

Visiting Speaker, Singer At Central Baptist Church

A week of revival begins this week at Central Baptist Church Sunday with Dr. Byron Richardson, evangelist and Jamall Badry, singer. Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Bethel Assembly Starts Revival Series Sunday

Evangelist Ruth Reece, Mt. Vernon, Mo., will be the guest speaker for a revival series set March 26 through April 9 at Bethel Assembly of God Church.

In addition to being noted as a gifted speaker, the evangelist is a singer of considerable talent. She will be featured in special song each night of this series of services.

The Rev. Raymond Van Amber, pastor, extends a warm welcome to anyone wishing to attend. The church is at 1541 Hamilton. Services start at 7:30 each night.

Pampa Chapel Plans Services

Revival Services will begin Sunday Evening and continue throughout Holy Week, concluding Easter Sunday.

Services will be conducted by Rev. Kenny Priest, presently student director of Faith Chapel located near West Texas State University in Canyon. Assisting him will be a trio of young people presenting the music each evening.

Pampa Chapel invites everyone to attend these Revival Services, beginning each evening at 7:30.

Healing To Be Science Study

How did Christ Jesus heal the sick?

This question will be explored Sunday at Churches of Christ, Scientist, in a Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality."

Scriptural selections include an account of the healing by Christ Jesus of a blind man. Commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes this explanation:

"Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

Witnesses To Celebrate Last Night of Jesus' Life

Special meetings have been scheduled Sunday for the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses beginning with the special talk, "Mankind's Deliverance Into God's New Order."

This subject will be heard by more than three million people in over 27,000 congregations throughout the world. Deliverance from a wicked system is what honest-hearted people want. Jehovah's Witnesses feel this deliverance is very near. We encourage all to come and hear this talk Sunday, March 26, at 10:00 a.m.

Following this on March 29 will be the annual memorial celebration. Jesus said on the last night of his earthly life, "No one has love greater than this, that someone should surrender his soul in behalf of his friends."

Thereafter he proved that he truly had such unsurpassed love.

Jesus also told his disciples: "You are my friends if you do what I am commanding you." (John 15:13,14) He first gave them a means to remember him after his death...the Lord's Evening Meal or supper. He then commanded them: "Keep doing this in

Dr. Richardson will preach for the services both Sundays and the full week of March 26-April 2nd. He has pastored several churches in Texas including Park Heights Baptist Church of San Angelo, and First Baptist Church of Alice. For the past few years he has served in his present capacity as evangelist with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Jamall Badry will direct the music as well as being soloist for the week. He gives full time to evangelistic singing and is scheduled constantly across a multiple state area.

Week night services will begin at 7:30. An unusual breakfast service will be held each morning. Men of the church will serve a full, hot breakfast Monday through Friday from 6:30 to 7:15 with the service concluding by 7:45. The entire family is invited to attend.

A "corn dog" supper for elementary grades 3 through 6 will be held in Fellowship hall Monday evening.

Special youth emphasis will include a visitation time followed by supper this Sunday; a youth supper with Jamall Badry entertaining Tuesday at 6:30 and a youth fellowship following the service Friday night led by Wesley Black, new youth director for the church.

Ladies of the church will participate in a special "Ladies Day Out" for visitation Tuesday morning followed by a complimentary luncheon for all at noon.

Nurseries are open for all services. Bryan Halliburton, pastor of the church, cordially invites the public to attend all services and activities of this special week.

Palm Sunday, Holy Week Services Are Scheduled

At the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services of holy worship on Palm Sunday, March 26, Rev. Martin Hager, pastor, will deliver a sermon entitled "The Hard Road Home", using as his texts Matthew 21:1-9 and Zechariah 9:9-12.

Guest organist, Harriet Henderson will present "Adagio" by Mendelssohn for the Offertory and "Toccata in D Minor" by Bach for the Postlude. The chancel choir, under the direction of Mrs. Wm. K. Mackey will sing the "Palm" as the morning anthem.

Assisting Rev. Hager at both services will be Jay Lusher, a Junior Theology student at the University of Tulsa.

The senior high fellowship and its sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Hicks, will meet in the youth lounge at 7 p.m. The junior high fellowship will meet at the church at 5:30 p.m.

During the church school hour, 9:45-10:45 a.m., a special Lenten film produced by the ABC Religious Services "The Vine", depicting the life and ministry of Jesus, will be shown in the west auditorium. All classes are invited to attend.

Special Holy Week events include a series of studies sponsored jointly by the Presbyterian and St. Vincent's Catholic congregations. The studies, entitled "We Pass This Way But Once" will be held from 7-9 p.m. in Catholic and Presbyterian homes and will emphasize common areas of Catholic and Presbyterian Confession as they apply to questions of conscience, the nature of the Christian home, and the self-image of children. The studies will take place Monday through Wednesday evenings, March 27, 28, 29. A nursery will be provided at the Presbyterian Church.

Anyone interested in taking part in this significant event in the community, is invited to call in for home assignments to the Presbyterian Church Office, 665-1031.

Two informal discussion groups will meet during Holy Week. Monday, March 27, 9:30-11 a.m. for those who wish to discuss and view again "The Vine"; Thursday, March 30, 9:30-11 a.m. for those who wish to listen to and take part in a discussion of "Godspell", a modern opera based on the life and times of Jesus.

Holy Communion will be observed at the traditional Maundy Thursday Service, March 30 at 8:00 p.m. Special music by the chancel choir and a communion meditation by Rev. Hager will highlight the service. Presbyterian Communion is open to all, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Students Set Easter Revivals

Three area students will be among approximately 100 Hardin-Simmons University students traveling to Indiana during the Easter holidays to hold student-led revivals across the state.

The students will be divided into teams of four or five members consisting of a preacher, song director, pianist and a fellowship director.

The teams have been assigned to churches where they will hold revivals throughout the tour from March 31 to April 9.

The area students and their respective Indiana churches are Jennifer Benton, Pampa senior, Calvary Baptist Church in Seymour; Cynthia Carter, Pampa sophomore, First Baptist Church in Jasper; and Lynn Heffley, Canadian senior, Milltown Missionary Baptist Church in Milltown.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration

BRYCE HUBBARD
Pastor Church of the Brethren

In one form or another, the call to love is found in most religious traditions. Yet it is universal human experience that love cannot arise by command.

But the words of Jesus about love are a new commandment which He alone would issue since it is directly bound with His person and mission. The new commandment is Jesus' invitation to live as He himself lived, to live in the light of His truth. Jesus requires us to love one another as He has loved us.

Christ's love for men demonstrates the love of the Father who gave His only son for the salvation of the world. God is love. To discover God, to know who He is, we must love.

Love makes the believer a true disciple of Jesus, one who has really assimilated his master's message and who knows the truth; one who, like the beloved disciple, stands at the foot of the cross and looks up in faith to the crucified Christ.

Love creates fellowship among men, strengthens and extends the Christian community, which is a truly fraternal community; love is the family likeness of the children of God; it demonstrates to the world the life of Christians as God's children and their fellowship with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ.

Life in truth and love is the most effective way of achieving unity in the faith and building the kingdom of God. Love builds the church, which grows and increases through the mutual love of its members.

Sent by Christ into the world the children of God bear witness to the world as they achieve their unity. In this way men will be led to faith and will realize that the Father has loved them as he loved His son.

Is this love the family likeness which the world sees in Christians? Is this love characteristic of relations between churches? Is this sign of love to be found within each Christian congregation and community?

Jesus says "Love one another." Think of those we love, think of those we ought to love, think of situations of bitterness and hatred. Pray to God for family and friends, pray to God for our enemies, commit ourselves to God, commit ourselves to each other.

Lord, as you have loved us, help us to love!

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Answer: Electric Car?

Automobiles, as everybody ought to know by this time, are the chief culprits in air pollution, producing more than half of all air pollution from all sources.

That's about 144 million tons of carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, nitrous and sulfur oxides, lead and other particulate matter every year.

In view of this, one of the mysteries of the day is not why automakers are slowly developing, at government prodding, a pollution-free internal combustion engine which, when it arrives sometime in the decade, will be expensive and complicated.

The mystery is why Americans are not demanding the mass production right now of a simple, nonpolluting vehicle—the electric car.

According to H.J. Young, executive secretary of the New York-based Electric Vehicle Council, it is possible to build an electric car that could cover 100 miles a day of suburban driving, with a cruising speed of 60 m.p.h. It would be powered by ordinary automobile batteries, which could be recharged overnight.

Those who object that this is precisely the drawback to electric cars—their short range—may be surprised to realize that except for occasional weekend trips and vacations, most people don't drive their gasoline-powered cars anywhere near 100 miles a day.

A study in Chicago, for example, found the average vehicle made 3.72 trips per weekday and traveled 5.7 miles per trip, or roughly 21 miles total.

The electric has "plenty of range and speed for most family driving requirements," says Young, as quoted in the American Medical Association newsletter, AMA Update.

He notes that close to 30 percent of all car-owning families now own two or more cars and the percentage is growing. Families looking for a second car for to-and-fro driving would be the largest market for electric cars.

Another market would be for small delivery vans. There are about 60,000 of these on the road in England.

It has been objected that going to electric would only be to transfer the pollution problem from automobiles to power generating stations.

Not so, says Young. For one thing, most owners would recharge their batteries at night, when power companies have a certain amount of generating capacity that is spinning but not producing any energy. Most electric car recharging would draw upon these idle generators.

Question Box

QUESTION: Would there be any objection to setting aside two UHF-TV stations to monitor all U.S. Senate and House of Representative sessions and beam them out across the USA? (Tapes of daily events could be re-run in the evenings.) Wouldn't such coverage help strengthen our constitutional republic?—Mrs. K.S.

ANSWER: We certainly have no objection as long as those who wish to look at senators and congressmen pay the cost of such gratification as they may gain.

Certainly senators and congressman do not mind being looked at.

As to whether such coverage would strengthen the Constitution or the republic, we doubt it. Most of the legislative action does not take place on the floors, but rather in the committee rooms, in the country clubs, hotels, and mansions to which the TV eye does not have access.

There is likewise some question as to the whether enough of the republic is left to be strengthened. The function of the legislative body today is shared with non-elected administrative lawmakers. That is hardly a republic, even in form.

The Constitution itself, or the federal idea in it, was decisively injured by the 17th Amendment which made U.S. senators elective by popular vote instead of by the state legislatures, as had been envisioned by the founders. Legislative election of U.S. senators gave state governments a checkrein on the central government.

No, an electronic device is no substitute for discernment by a virtuous people.

Moscow Visit: Nixon May Make Aid-Trade Pact

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon is known to be seriously considering some form of major credit for the Soviet Union, to be announced during his visit to Moscow in late May.

Men working on the problem expect the decision to be in favor of the aid. The probability is that it will be extended through the Export-Import Bank. Mr. Nixon now has the power to extend this bank credit if he declares it to be in the national interest.

In addition, it is expected that American firms will be encouraged to extend long-range credits to the Russians.

Moscow has told this country it is anxious to develop certain natural resources according to American specifications and requirements if it can be assured of long-range U.S. purchase commitments. Nixon may give general approval of this concept.

The Export-Import Bank credit and these trade commitments would get the Russians off the serious financial hangup they face in the years just ahead—a crisis which, in the absence of U.S. aid, could cause serious internal problems and a shake-up in the Kremlin as far reaching as the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev a few years back.

This assistance would also give the Russians the financial backing and the resource development to carry out a major trade drive in Latin America, Asia and Africa in the last half of this decade.

But as how planned, the President will not make these commitments without a price. Mr. Nixon has made that point clear to the Russians in terms they can understand. He has, in fact, adopted a Russian negotiating tactic.

Late last year, then Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans had long talks with the Russians on trade, credits, investments and better treatment for Soviet goods.

The Russians proved eager. The talks were going well. Then Stans was secretly ordered by the White House to go slow—and negotiations dawdled almost to a standstill.

Stans was told by the highest White House sources to make it clear to the Russians that before the United States would take serious steps in trade and aid, the Russians must show some evidence in political accommodation in Vietnam, the Middle East, South Asia, Berlin or Western Europe. He was to make it clear that while it was in the U.S. interest to better relations with the Soviet we were not prepared to be a Santa Claus. We must have something in return for U.S. concessions.

Specifically and of topmost priority, the United States wanted agreement on a mutual slowdown on arms shipments to Vietnam and the Middle East.

This was at the time, it will be recalled, when the Russians were using India-Pakistan differences on the subcontinent to make Soviet gains aimed at dominance in that area and furthering the encirclement of China. It was a time when the Russians surprised the United States again with the size of their continued arms shipments to Egypt.

Moscow was increasing the movement of sophisticated weapons to Hanoi. The Kremlin's men were stalling on a final ratification of the new Berlin accord.

Thus far, there are few signs the Russians will come about in any meaningful way. So the question now is how tough Mr. Nixon will be in the final round. It may be that he will feel so compelled to provide an agreement of sorts that he will in the end back down in his insistence that the Russians follow their protestations with concrete actions.

Everyone Has Some Anxiety

Dear Dr. Lamb—Please comment on anxiety neurosis and neuroasthenia. Are they the same? What treatment is prescribed for them? Would taking iron tablets help the tired feeling associated with them? Is a full recovery possible? After loss of sleep continuously for two years with my third child, this disorder happened to me? Was that the cause? Please give me your opinion.

Dear Reader—First it is important to realize that everybody has anxiety. Anxiety is a first cousin of fear and it is the usual response to some anticipated danger or difficulty. There is hardly a person who won't have anxiety if someone has a revolver against his head.

Actually, a certain degree of anxiety sometimes stimulates people to perform better than they otherwise would. But persistent anxiety or too much anxiety can actually decrease efficiency.

When the anxiety becomes severe enough to cause problems or interfere with performance or becomes out of proportion to the threat of danger it is properly called an anxiety neurosis. The individual feels uncomfortable and tense. These sensations are changes in moods. In addition, the person may have disturbance in their normal intellectual capacity or they may develop symptoms of illness which may include indigestion, tremor, rapid heart beat, high blood pressure, over-breathing, increased salivation and dilated pupils. The prolongation of this state often leads to fatigue. The listlessness and fatigue that people experience with anxiety gives rise to the term of neuroasthenia. These people often have feelings of faintness.

According to your letter, you were under continuous strain for two years with your third child. Although you don't explain why this was true, it is reasonable to assume that this caused you a certain amount of anxiousness or that your responsibilities with your other children and running the household, plus the problem with the third child, severely strained your capacity and caused you to be anxious about being able to cope with the situation.

The usual treatment for prolonged anxiety of the type I assume you have is reassurance, a physician who can sit down and discuss the various problems with the individual frequently enough for the patient to thoroughly explore his life situations and his problems and by talking about them usually some of the anxiety or fear disappears. If the condition is very severe, it is often wise to get psychiatric counseling or help. For simple anxieties such help is often successful.

STRAIGHT TALK

TOM ANDERSON

Profit Is Good, Not Evil

More than one-third of the nation's population is now getting some form of income maintenance support from federal, state, or local government. The amount of money spent on welfare in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971, was more than all the profits of all the corporations in the United States for the same period. One reason the corporations don't do any better than that is that too many of their employees are welfareers at heart. As a bit of graffiti I saw said: "Millions aren't working but thank goodness they have jobs."

Big Brother breeds welfare and crime. Our social-planners would abolish poverty by multiplying bastardy. Welfare checks and supplies go not to the children but to mothers, many of whom are government sponsored whores who spend it on liquor, drugs and boyfriends. As Gary Allen reported in "American Opinion," a former liquor store owner in a Negro area of Los Angeles told him: "The week welfare checks came out, my business would jump by one-third. I cashed many welfare checks in my store. They bought good stuff, too. The most expensive Scotchies and Bourbons."

Many welfareers complain they cannot get jobs which will pay what they're worth. True. Many people are no longer paid what they're worth. Welfare, the minimum wage and child labor laws prevent that. As a young and inexperienced (at work, that is) job applicant who asked us for an outrageously high salary, said: "Work is much harder when you don't know anything about it."

The people who built America were farmers and businessmen. The people who maintain America are businessmen and farmers—the great "middle class." There are now about 205 million Americans, approximately 73 million of whom are gainfully employed. Less than 5 million are in agriculture and more than 67 million are in other pursuits and enterprises. Not counting farm workers, domestic help, and self-employed people, approximately 62 million people are on payrolls. Of these, more than 12 million are on federal, state or city government payrolls. These 12 million are comparable to fungus growing on a tree. It's the 50 million producers, plus the farmers, who made this country great.

The eggheads, ever since Roosevelt, have downgraded business and profits. Business and profits made this country the envy of the world. Profits are good, not evil.

Next to government, the greatest enemy of business and agriculture is losses.

She Spent His Bonus

Big Brother is not only profligate, inefficient and callous, Big Brother is also crooked. He has deliberately debased the currency, while enticing widows and other uninformed, unsuspecting suckers to buy government bonds in the name of patriotism.

Our dynamic debt will continue to grow, and so will taxes and inflation. And you will get smaller. Unless the people rebel, we'll soon be as broke as a pickpocket at a nudist camp.

But we must look on the bright side. Like the wife who said: "It's sure lucky I spent Joe's bonus in advance this year. He didn't get one."

Shame!

A few months ago, Jimmy the Greek Syder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker, was giving odds that Muskie will both win the Democratic nomination and beat Nixon in the presidential election. (But that was before Nixon joined Mao Tse-tung.) Jimmy the Greek hasn't called a presidential election wrong since Truman surprised Dewey and everybody except Truman in 1948.

Jimmy said there's only one chance in five Nixon won't run and one chance in two that Muskie won't be the Democrat nominee.

Jimmy the Greek said that the next most likely nominees are Governor Ronald Reagan and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey. Jimmy rated Nixon and Humphrey even. He gave Muskie a 3 to 1 edge and Humphrey a 2 1/2 to 1 edge over Reagan. It appears to me that Nixon is stronger now than then, as is McGovern, with Muskie and Humphrey weaker. But don't forget Darkhorse Teddy. He'll always be horsin' around.

The choices, president and vice president, will unquestionably be between some of the above, or Senators Scoop Jackson, Fred Harris, Birch Bayh, Eugene McCarthy, Charles Percy, Mark Hatfield, and Governors Nelson Rockefeller and Reuben Askew. Treasury Secretary John Connally, Spiro Agnew, John Lindsay, and Congressman Wilbur Mills. Now aren't you "super-patriots" ashamed? How could anybody be a super patriot in a country where nobody but the above people and neo-people have a chance to become President and Vice President?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

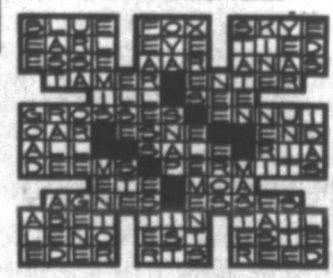

The 1970 highway fatality rate of 4.9 per 100 million miles of vehicle travel was the lowest in America's history. The World Almanac notes that programs aimed at reducing alcohol-related accidents—the cause of one-half the 54,800 deaths—addition of safety features designed to protect passengers during a crash and better highways have improved safety.

Pontius Pilate

they walked with Christ

By DAVID POLING

The trial and execution of Jesus was performed by a Roman system of justice, badly administered by a procurator named Pontius Pilate. Serving the province of Judea from A.D. 26-36, he heard the evidence brought against the Master by the night council of the elders and priests. So much conflicting and dishonest material was presented that Pilate used several ploys to avoid the death penalty.

Yet he finally succumbed to the pressures of the religious establishment that manufactured the false charges and popular outcry against Jesus.

Scriptures report that Pilate told the crowd, screaming for blood, that Jesus was innocent and then publicly washed his hands of the whole affair. The early Christian community detested Pilate for his cowardice, indifference and judicial dishonesty. Some later traditions hold that Pilate and his wife became Christians.

U.S. High Court Throws Out Georgia Law On Bad Language

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today struck down a Georgia law that makes the use of "bad language" in the presence of another person a crime.

The 5 to 2 ruling, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., said the law violated the federal guarantee of freedom of speech because it was too vague.

Justice Harry A. Blackmun, who along with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger filed a dissenting opinion, said the majority verdict "will be totally incomprehensible to the state of Georgia, to its courts and to its citizens."

The ruling came in a case against Johnny C. Wilson, a black student nonviolent coordinating committee worker who took part in a demonstration at the Army induction center in Atlanta in 1966.

Wilson was convicted of using "bad language" and sentenced to a year in prison. He also was convicted of assault and sentenced to two years on that offense and he was tried and convicted in federal court of attempting to interfere with the draft and of damaging government property.

The statute ruled unconstitutional stated "any person who shall without provocation use to or of another and in his presence ... opprobrious words or abusive language tending to cause a breach of the peace ... shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Rev. Williams deserves a double compliment for his superb innovation at Danville, Ill. Church young people are full of zeal but often aren't shown creative outlets for their religious fervor. Use the following ideas for such "home missionary" projects!

CASE T-536: Rev. James Williams, of Danville, Illinois, is a dynamo of religious zeal. "We have buses," he said, "to pick up the children for our Sunday School."

"But during the rest of the week they are generally idle. So we decided to put them to constructive use even during week days."

"Thus, we visit the Nursing Homes and take the elderly folks for rides into the country."

"They get to see the farm crops growing and the beautiful foliage of autumn."

"We also tour the city to let them view the new buildings and even their old familiar home neighborhoods."

"This perks up their morale and serves as a good tonic for their minds, as well as their bodies, don't you agree?"

Church Efficiency
Yes: Rev. Williams deserves a double compliment.

For he is bringing happiness to scores of elderly folks who would otherwise be shut-ins.

But he is also keeping church property in more productive use on other days than just the Sabbath.

Many residents in Nursing Homes may be so far away from their nearest relatives, that they don't see any kinfolk very often.

And seldom get to take even a short automobile trip.

So you can imagine their eager excitement at looking forward to this bus ride each week!

They anticipate it with almost the same glee that youngsters view a visit to the circus.

And the very act of riding in a school bus is often an exciting novelty, for many oldsters have never yet been transported in a school bus.

Up till almost 1920, children in the country rode in horse-drawn school "hacks," as they were called.

But the City youngsters walked to grammar and high school.

When I attended Central High School at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, I hiked 2½ miles to the building and then 2½ back home in the afternoon.

Maybe that would be a desirable innovation nowadays, too, for then the kids could work off some of their excess energy via the healthful habit of hiking.

So they'd not crave street rioting and vandalism to expend their pent-up energy!

Another splendid humanitarian project for the churches would be to send birthday greetings and other holiday cards to the residents of Nursing Homes.

This is an ideal form of "home missionary" work that is often forgotten by the church Women's Societies and Young People's Organizations.

Dr. Waugh's League of the Golden Pen is also a superb method for actively channeling religious zeal.

It involves writing a cheery note of greeting or sympathy or condolence to anybody who is not on your regular mailing list.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellett, Indiana 47556, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Six Flags Open To Visitors Saturday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Six Flags Over Texas swings open the gates to another season Saturday, beginning its 11th year as what the Texas Highway Department says is the state's top single tourist attraction.

Nestled between Dallas and Fort Worth at Arlington, Six Flags has added new attractions and has been given a face lift through the winter months, spokesmen say.

"It's the biggest mural I've ever done," says Ted Friesen, the environmental artist commissioned to give the theme park a fresh feeling of warmth and color.

Visitors to Six Flags this year will be greeted by a new $25,000 fountain in the entrance mall. The fountain, seated in a large, circular pool, will be dramatized by special lighting producing five combinations of color.

Every street in the park has been resurfaced, new color has been added to familiar buildings and greenery emphasizes the outdoor appeal.

Six Flags' name derives from the fact that the Lone Star State has been under six governments. These are Spain, Mexico, France, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

Each section of the 145-acre park is devoted to a different period of Texas history.

Aside from the more than 90 rides, entertainment shows and attractions scattered throughout the park, Six Flags has added some new dimension this year.

In the "petting zoo," where kids get a chance to really mix with the animal world, a new "Rugged Buggy" attraction has been added. Here, the younger guests can hop into their own beach or swamp buggy to tour the area.

A special new addition are colorful Imperial Koi carp that eat from your hand.

The gold, white and black carp are household pets in Japan where they are handed from one generation to the next as heirlooms. These little fish have been known to live more than 100 years.

Added last season and immediately popular is the Big Bend ride.

The cars on the Big Bend streak along rails at up to 50 miles an hour over steeply-banked curves and towering spirals. It was the first ride of its kind in the Western Hemisphere when added to the park last season.

Shows draw their talent from the campuses of colleges and universities.

At the Southern Palace

Music Hall, 16 entertainers, backed by a 14-piece pit orchestra, stage an all-new musical production this year, "Gotta Sing, Gotta Dance."

The Crazy Horse Saloon—Where red-eye is nothing stronger than a soft drink—features three teenage singers known as the "Upstarts."

College students also make up the some 1,500 hosts and hostesses that staff the rides, shops and wide variety of restaurants.

Six Flags has awarded $53,000 in scholarships to 106 of these young people.

Since Six Flags opened in 1961, more than 18 million people from every state in the Union and most foreign countries have toured the park.

Six Flags will be open this Saturday through April 2 each day, including Sundays, from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.

Through the remainder of the spring season until May 27 the park will be open Saturday and Sundays only from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.

Then, the summer season gets into full swing May 27 with the park open 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. seven days a week through Aug. 27.

The attendance record for a single season was set in 1967 when 2,036,000 persons toured the park. Last year there were more than 1.9 million visitors to Six Flags and park officials expect this year to produce an even bigger season.

Willie Mays Puts Pressure On Kids

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Charlie Fox began his springtime experimenting by making 40-year-old Willie Mays, baseball's oldest regular, the San Francisco Giants' leadoff batter.

"Charlie feels the time has come to put the pressure on the kids," said Mays, who will turn 41 on May 6.

"That's right," said Fox. "We're going to have to do it eventually."

Bobby Bonds, who drove in 102 runs despite batting leadoff most of last season, has dropped down in the batting order. Young Dave Kingman, the major leagues' tallest third baseman, in another Fox experiment, may start the season batting in the No. 3 spot occupied by Mays most of the last 20 years.

The 6-foot-6 Kingman played the outfield last year as a rookie. But with Ken Henderson in left, Mays in center and Bonds in right, there is no vacancy there for the long-hitting youngster to fill on a regular basis.

With or without Kingman on third base, the Giants should have one of the most threatening batting orders in baseball. First baseman Willie McCovey, sidelined with knee injuries part of 1971, says he's ready to fill the cleanup spot full-time again.

Yet the odds-makers don't give the Giants much of a chance to repeat as National League West champions. The pitching, with Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell the only sure starters, is the reason.

Relievers Jerry Johnson and Don McMahon, who won 22 games and saved 22 others between them last year, figure to be busy again.

Kingman has displaced, at least temporarily, third baseman Alan Gallagher, who batted .277 last year but hit only five homers. If Kingman can't handle the glove duties at third, Gallagher will be back.

Harvesters To Hold Basketball Banquet

The Pampa High School basketball team will hold its annual banquet Tuesday night in the Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria.

Guest speaker at the 7:30 p.m. affair will be Louis R. (Lou) Henson, head basketball coach and athletic director of New Mexico State University at Las Cruces.

Highlights of the banquet will be the announcement of the winner of the Hustling Harvester award for 1972 and the crowning of the 1971-72 basketball queen.

The Hustling Harvester award is presented annually to one of the outstanding players on the Harvester basketball team.

Queen candidates are Becki Galey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Swift, 1341 Starkweather; Gail Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewert Ray Duncan, 2110 Charles; and Carol Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rose, 704 N. Wells.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Dr. Royce Laycock.

Tickets are $2.50 each and may be purchased from coaches Robert McPherson and Ronnie Hearne and athletic director Ed Lehnick.

Tickets may also be bought from any member of the PHS Pep Squad or its sponsor, Mrs. Shirley Welch; Coronado Men's Wear, John McGuire, or at the Pampa School Business Office.

Nicklaus Shares Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "It's part of my Masters preparation," Jack Nicklaus said of his decision to quit smoking.

But the hard-hitting blond, the dominant figure on the pro golf tour this year, smiled and added: "It's no big thing. I go off and on all the time."

"I just quit yesterday. I decided it was the thing to do for the Masters. I find my nerves are better if I'm not smoking. I'm not as nervous and jumpy."

Nicklaus, the game's all-time leading money winner and the only two-time champion this season, made the comments Thursday after firing a six-under-par 66 to move into a five-way tie for first place in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

He was tied with Billy Casper, who also talked about his nerves, veteran Mason Rudolph and long-shots Bunky Henry and Bob Payne. All forged 66s as over half the field of 147 matched or bettered par.

There were seven players at 67, just one stroke off the pace, and a total of 24 locked within three strokes of each other at the top.

Tied at five-under-par were Terry Wilson, Larry Ziegler, Dave Eichelberger, Ralph Johnston, Jim Colbert, John Schroeder and Billy Ziobro.

Some of the game's big names had their troubles.

Defending champion Frank Beard could do no better than par 72. South African Gary Player had to rally for a 73. Tony Jacklin of England, winner of last week's Greater Jacksonville Open, was far back with a 74.

But their problems were nothing compared to those of Howie Johnson, Bobby Cole and Australian Bruce Crampton. Johnson and Cole each took a 10 on the 14th hole, Johnson hitting three in the water. And Crampton actually had a 69 but signed for a 70.

Under the rules of golf, he's stuck with higher score.

Casper, in a severe slump early this year, took four weeks off the tour to go fishing. This is his first start since his vacation.

"I just put the clubs in the storage room and tried to forget the game of golf," said Casper, who has won more than 40 tour titles and over $1 million in prize money.

"I'm mentally refreshed. I'm much more contained now. Everything seems much easier. Before, everything was very difficult. I was impatient, nervous, everything that goes with too much activity."

Casper missed only one green in his round. But he parred the last hole with a six-foot putt.

Nicklaus, who won't play again until the Masters in two weeks, didn't have a bogey, didn't miss a green and didn't make but one putt from more than six feet.

Bruins To Face Indians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Walton and Otto Pettit will never see eye to eye. Yet the 6-foot-11 UCLA center and the 5-7 Florida State guard loom as the key players this Saturday night in the national collegiate basketball finals.

Walton took only 13 shots, made 11 of them, wound up with 33 points and 21 rebounds and blocked six shots as the Bruins, seeking their sixth straight NCAA crown, demolished Louisville's Cardinals in the second half.

Florida State did its damage in the first half, leading by 23 points early in the final stanza, before edging North Carolina 79-75.

The free-wheeling Seminoles used quickness and a sizzling fast break plus Pettit's dribbling skills to win. Later, winning Coach Hugh Durham said the same type of game is in store for the Bruins.

"We're not planning to slow the ball down," said Durham, admitting he's heard rumors that teams can't run and shoot with the Bruins and win.

UCLA Coach John Wooden admitted Pettit was the key to Florida State's triumph.

"We expect Pettit will give us trouble on our press but we'll give him a lot of trouble, also," said Wooden.

UCLA led Louisville 39-31 at halftime but took a commanding lead midway in the second half. The Cardinals appeared to have some trouble with the UCLA zone press but only committed 11 turnovers in the game.

Sports Rebels Hold First

The Tascosa Rebels now hold the number one district rating after squeezing by the Pampa squad in volleyball action.

It was a long hard game for both squads as they were all on their toes.

The match was played on the best two out of three games basis and Tascosa took the first game by two slim points, 15-13.

The second game went to Pampa at 14-4. Under the eight-minute or 15-point ruling the time ran out for both squads.

The same thing happened in the third bout with the game going to Tascosa, 14-12.

"In the last game we could have won if there had been just a few more seconds of play, as we were scoring one right after the other," stated volleyball mentor Mrs. Lynn Wolfe.

Tascosa got their lead in district play after the Pampa squad defeated Caprock Tuesday, settling the tie for first between Pampa and Tascosa.

After the Tascosa victory last night, Pampa and Caprock stand with two losses to Tascosa's one.

"I only hope Caprock beats them next Tuesday," commented Mrs. Wolfe.

Mrs. Wolfe reported the Harvester fens as playing one of the better games they have played this year.

"We had more good spiking last night than we have seen in any other game this season," she said.

Lynn Richardson, Cathy Collingsworth and Debbie Gray led the volleyballers in spiking past the tough Rebels for several Pampa points.

Next Tuesday the Harvs will face the Bulldogs of Borger in fast-moving net action in Harvester Field House.

Borger didn't pose much of a problem in the last bout and are not expected to do so again.

UT Sets Record

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas set a modern record for baseball victories Thursday with a doubleheader sweep of Minnesota.

Texas has now won 17 consecutive games, shattering the mark of 16 in a row set by the 1946 club. The Longhorns defeated Minnesota 14-2 and 8-3.

Harvesters To Battle In All Spring Sports

By RICKEY WRIGHT

The fighting Harvesters will be doing battle in nearly every high school spring sport our district knows today and tomorrow.

The Harvester track team, tennis players, golfers and the baseball squad will all face action in games away from home.

The track and field squad is taking to Dumas tomorrow in an attempt to add another victory to their undefeated mark.

Facing the Harvesters will be Borger, Caprock, Hereford, Muleshoe, Canyon, Tulia, Perryton and Dumas.

One would be safe in saying that the other teams are probably just a little worried.

First National Awarded First

The 1971-72 regular basketball league competition of the Pampa Youth and Community Center city finals ended last night with champion, runners-up and third place trophies being awarded.

First National Bank of Pampa topped first place honors with a perfect 14-0 record for the season. They displaced perennial champion Borger for the first time in several years.

Borger had to settle for a second place tie with Pampa Rotary Independents, both with 11-3 records.

First Baptist Church of Pampa finished fourth with an 8-6 record, followed by Pampa Independents, 6-8; Celanese, 4-10; Cock O Walk, 1-13, and Coca Cola, also 1-13.

Members of the championship team were Albert Drinovsky, James Lee, Bud Mogus, Don Edwards, Larry McDaniel, Bob Peet, Ronnie Hearne, Merle Terrell and Ronnie Gattis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Super Bowl players are among the National Football League stars who will participate in a demonstration football game in Paris May 27.

The NFL players Association said middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti of the Miami Dolphins and John Niland of the Dallas Cowboys will lead 42 of the league's top stars in the charity contest.

The demonstration is part of a charity sports week for the benefit of the American Hospital in Paris.

in their anxiousness as they ponder the record-setting Pampans.

Last week trackster mentor Ed Lehnick reported times were slowed down by the cinder track at Perryton.

The oval at Dumas is an all-weather type similar to that in Pampa. It is supposed to be the type that is not slippery when wet. With the rainy weather upon us, the condition of the track will remain to be seen.

The tracksters will go into the meet reasonably healthy as Lehnick reports only minor aches and pains that naturally come with most highly competitive sports.

A little sickness has been going around among the speedsters, but "as far as I know, everyone should be ready to go," stated Lehnick.

The meet is expected to begin at about 10 a.m. and will end later in the afternoon.

If the Southwest Golf Course is in good condition the fourth round of district play will be stroked out today.

The Pampa linksters have been bringing up eighth place in the last meets, but that doesn't mean they will stay there.

Ranked in first place is the Tascosa Rebels.

The fog-soaked greens may prove interesting for the Panhandle golfers today and though he can't promise anything in rainy weather, golf coach Tom Lindsey guarantees "We are going to show up."

The tennis team is also expected to show as they attend the Borger Tourney today and tomorrow. There will be teams from all over the district in competition.

No illness has struck Bonnie Grantham's netters this week and all will report to the tourney.

Weather may be the hindering factor on the uncovered courts at Borger. The fog and light rain, though not enough to help crops, may make running and stopping a not too promising a challenge for the netters.

The weather man predicts a clearing for the Panhandle and with luck, the track, golf course and tennis courts may be ready for the heavy competition slated for today and tomorrow.

The baseball team will be in three-game competition today and Saturday at Altus, Okla.

Bath Houses Burn
FORT LEE, N.J. (AP) — Smoke and flames from a recent five-alarm fire that burned down the bath houses at Palisades Amusement Park were seen from New York City across the Hudson River.

The amusement park was being torn down to make way for a high-rise apartment complex.

Loan for Library
NEW YORK (AP) — The State Dormitory Authority has approved a multi-million dollar loan to help finance construction of a library-learning center at the Brooklyn center of Long Island University.

Work on the $9 million building is expected to start in June.

The five-story structure will provide reading areas on three upper floors. The lower floors and basement will be used as an audio-visual center, lecture hall, theatre and television studio.

New Industry Plan
JERUSALEM (AP) — Two areas totalling 375 acres have been set aside for the development of new industries.

The larger zone, 300 acres, will be near the city's Atlatol airport to the north. A planned floor space of four million square feet will accommodate a 15,000-man work force.

The other zone is in an unoccupied area nearer the north side of the city. Both sites are being developed at an investment of $9 million.

President Asks Congress To OK Extra Fund To Improve Nutrition For People Over 65

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress Thursday to provide an extra $100 million next year to bolster efforts to improve nutrition for those over 65.

Reviewing current and proposed programs to help the elderly, Nixon included the proposal in a 12,000-word special message. It focused on a new appeal for early enactment of the now-pending welfare reform bill which embraces liberalization of the Social Security program.

"Clearly the passage of this bill is a matter of very highest priority," he said. "Further delay is absolutely inexcusable. To delay these reforms by even one more year would mean a loss for older Americans alone of more than $5 billion."

The President originally asked for $157 million in spending under the Older Americans Act in the 1973 fiscal year that starts July 1. He announced he is seeking an additional $100 million "for nutrition and related services."

Nixon also disclosed he will soon ask Congress to increase pensions for retired federal employees, military personnel and veterans. He wants their retirement pay recomputed on the basis of pay scales in effect Jan. 1, 1971.

Increases in military and Civil Service retirement pay are normally tied to increases in the cost of living index. Older retired people in these classes say they have fallen behind in relation to people retiring now.

Veterans pensions and service-connected disability payment were increased last year by Congress but many complained this still did not match the cost of living increases since.

He said his strategy has five major elements, many of them embodied in legislation pending for a year or longer:

1. Protect the incomes of the elderly.
2. Upgrade the quality of nursing home care.
3. Help older persons "live dignified, independent lives in their own homes or residences—by expanding and reforming service programs."
4. Expand opportunities "for older people to continue their involvement in the life of the country" through participation in volunteer service programs and the like.
5. Reorganize and coordinate federal efforts to deal with the problems of older citizens.
