

Draft Pool Eligibles Due for Army Uniforms

By DAREL GARWOOD
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Most of the eligible young men now in the draft pool will be in uniform by next summer, according to Defense Department and Selective Service plans.

through June. This would absorb 315,000, or a little less than half of the present pool.

Defense manpower experts believe, however, that with draft boards breathing down their necks, many of the eligibles will choose to enlist, perhaps at a rate of two for every three inductions.

In addition, only 150,000 of those in the I-A pool have been examined and found acceptable. Hence, a loss of a third of the remaining 500,000 through rejections is in sight.

The Defense Department believes that a steady draft at the rate set by President Johnson, coupled with stepped-up recruiting drives, will add 375,000 men to the strength of the armed forces over the nine-month period. This would bring them close to 3 million. There are now 2,660,000 men in uniform.

The Army hopes to increase its strength by 225,000. Additions totaling 100,000 are expected in the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is expected to outline these plans next Wednesday when he goes before the Senate military appropriations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

According to official sources, McNamara will not need to ask for more funds for the manpower expansion because this can be financed from deficiency appropriations.

Instead, he will ask for an additional $1 billion to $2 billion, probably about $1.4 billion, to buy more ammunition, more helicopters, more fixed-wing planes, more supplies, and to finance unforeseen operating and construction costs in the Viet Nam buildup.

With Selective Service continuing its present deferment policies for married men and students, the draft drain is expected to fall heavily on the present pool of men between the ages of 19 and 26.

Officials said the average age of the draft, now 21, is certain to go down. Some changes in policy may still prove necessary, they said, to prevent the available pool from shrinking below a safe operating level.

Tito Proposes New Viet Peace Plan

(Daily News Staff Photo)

TAKES AIM — Pretty Miss Kitty Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Butler, 110 N. Gray, takes careful aim at the month of August, as the News' Miss August. Miss Butler will be a senior in Pampa High School next fall where she is a member of the Latin Club and maintains a B average. The Pampa beauty will become a licensed beautician after taking her state board test in Austin, Aug. 14.

Coeds Believed Raped, Strangled

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—With pitifully few clues, officers Saturday tried to reconstruct the final terrifying hours and minutes in the lives of two pretty University of Texas sorority sisters who apparently were strangled by one or more sex attackers.

The decaying, almost nude bodies of Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stark, 21 year old coeds from Dallas, were discovered Friday in a field of waist-high grass at the north edge of Austin. They were lying face up with clothing pushed up around their necks.

The girls had been missing since July 18. Dr. Earl F. Rose, a pathologist called in from Dallas said he found a mark almost all the way around Susan's neck and concluded she had been strangled. He said he could not tell what made the mark.

Rose said he presumed Shirley also had been strangled, but he could not say positively. The pathologist, who serves as Dallas County medical examiner, took tissue to Dallas for further laboratory examination that will take about a week, officials said. The formal autopsy report and coroner's verdict (a necessity in all such cases) will be held up until the tests are completed.

Officers said there was no way to tell where or when the girls were killed.

However, they said all indications pointed to a sex offense. Police Maj. K. R. Herbert, coordinator of the state-county investigation, said police assumed the girls died soon after their disappearance and were killed near the spot where the bodies were found.

The girls were identified from dental records. The bodies were being taken to the Department of Public Health from the Department of Public Health in Austin to week officials said. The formal autopsy report and coroner's verdict (a necessity in all such cases) will be held up until the tests are completed.

Officers said there was no way to tell where or when the girls were killed.

Yugoslavia President Urges Bombing Halt

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Yugoslav President Tito proposed a new Viet Nam peace plan Saturday to roving U.S. envoy W. Averell Harriman, Yugoslav sources said.

The proposal was believed to have urged that the U.S. stop bombing North Viet Nam to clear the way for talks by countries interested in settling the conflict.

Harriman, who spent five hours with Tito on his Adriatic Island retreat of Brioni, declined to discuss the talks when he flew back to this coastal resort. Harriman planned to fly to London Sunday.

The Yugoslav sources said the Tito proposal was the same one he drafted with visiting Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Harriman reportedly told Tito in their first Viet Nam discussions at Belgrade Wednesday the U.S. insists peace talks must come before any cease-fire.

A Western diplomatic source in Belgrade said Tito and Shastri are trying to enlist the backing of all the influential leaders of non-aligned countries to bring about Viet Nam peace talks.

Tito and non-aligned leaders made a Viet Nam peace proposal.

Shastri said he and Tito felt the non-aligned countries "can make a contribution to bring peace," but did not disclose whether he and Tito planned to call the meeting they agreed was "urgently necessary."

Shastri said the Viet Nam crisis was the most important issue discussed in his talks with Tito.

"The main obstacle to peace is that neither side is willing to cease fighting," he said.

Final Approval Seen For Voting Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A court approval, literacy tests and other anti-voting devices, and provide for federal officials to register Negroes to vote in seven Southern states. This part of the bill is by all standards the strongest voting rights legislation Congress has approved since the post Civil War Reconstruction.

Even during the period last spring when pressure was strongest to pass such legislation, some House Democrats conceded privately the poll tax repeal issue was a case of the tail wagging the dog. But a parade of civil rights spokesmen from NAACP's Roy Wilkins to CORE's James Farmer, testified the bill would not be adequate without elimination of poll taxes.

As it turned out, the House Republican leadership ended up depending the administration and Senate point of view with a substitute bill. But Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford Mich. and prestigious Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, could Follow the crowds to the Pampa Baptist Temple. (Adv.)

Manhunt On In Philippines In $170,000 Robbery of Club

CLARK AFB The Philippines (UPI)—Philippine police Saturday joined an Air Force manhunt for the gunman who stole $170,000 from a U.S. enlisted men's club and escaped while hundreds of airmen were listening to a performance by Phil Crosby, son of the famed crooner.

The brazen holdup Friday night by nine masked gunmen totting submachineguns was the latest in a string of thefts at this sprawling reservation, which covers an area of 300 square miles.

As the gang fled from the non-commissioned officer's club over the cashier's cage at the front of the building and forced through a parking lot where the robbers were racing to the getaway car. They took with them briefly as hostages who

American women who were released unharmed. The huge sum of money was on hand at the club because of payday. The club serves as a check-cashing facility for hundreds of NCO's. The Air Force said the exact sum taken was $169,520.90 in unmarked American money. The biggest bill was a twenty.

More than 1,000 airmen and their wives were whooping it up in the club's lounge, where young Crosby was singing at the 10 p.m. show, when the robbery occurred.

The heavily armed bandits wearing stocking masks took over the cashier's cage at the front of the building and forced about 100 Americans to lie on the floor until they fled. They fired warning shots into the ceiling.

Downtown Group To Launch Member Drive

Pampa's Downtown Business Association will launch its second annual membership drive at a coffee set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the banquet room of the Pampa Hotel.

Drive chairman Ray Duncan and Ken Womack announced Saturday some 40 workers will start membership solicitation immediately following the Tuesday morning meeting.

The campaign will run for one week and there will be check-in meetings at the Pampa Hotel at 10 a.m. on Wednesday and Friday mornings of this week. The final check-in will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 10.

'Strategy Session' Planned by Negroes

GREENSBORO, Ala. (UPI)—The leader of a racial protest, that has led to nearly 500 arrests went free on bond Saturday and immediately called a "strategy session" to plan his next move.

The Rev. Arthur T. Days had been in jail since Wednesday when he attempted to lead a march on the courthouse to protest the burning of two Negro churches in the area.

Police have given Negroes a permit to march to the site of one of the burned churches, but claim they can't protect demonstrators if they march into the downtown area, where the courthouse is located.

OUT OF ACTION — Police at Greensboro, Ala., take mass action against civil rights demonstrators. So many arrests have been made that demonstration organizers sent out a call for reinforcements from outside to fill out their depleted ranks.

Decision Stated On TV Franchise

Consideration of five applications for a cable television franchise in Pampa will top the agenda at Tuesday's regular meeting of the city commission.

City Manager Jim White said a franchise ordinance has been prepared and will be ready for passage.

Representatives of franchise applicants are expected to attend the Tuesday session. The commission also will be asked to adopt a gross sales tax rate to be paid the city by the successful applicant for the cable franchise.

First reading is scheduled for an ordinance authorizing annexation of an area along Red Deer Creek south of the Coronado Inn.

Man's Scientific Knowledge to Double

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Think you're already living in the miracle age of scientific discovery? Maybe. But just wait about four more years.

By mid-1969, man's entire body of scientific knowledge may well be doubling every time you blink your eyes. Impossible? Look at these facts:

Between the birth of Christ and the year 1750 scientific knowledge on earth doubled scientists affirm. It doubled again by 1900. By 1950, it had doubled once more. And again by 1960. By last January, scientists estimate, it had doubled once more. Continue this geometric progression and you'll arrive at the astounding conclusion that man's scientific knowledge will be doubling faster than you can keep track of it before the end of June 1969. The secret of this knowledge revolution is the computer. A dozen years ago, there were less than 40 such machines in the country; today, there are over 22,000 installations.

Compared to the modern computer, the 1953 model seems almost like a caveman's plaything. Originally, the machines were limited by man's ability to communicate with them. All information programmed into the computer had to be translated into language the machine could understand.

It might solve in a few seconds a mathematical problem which a scientist couldn't have done in two years with a desk calculator or slide rule, but it would take weeks—sometimes even months—to program the problem into the machine correctly.

Today, this translation stage is not necessary. The computer is programmed by punching out the information, or question, verbally on a typewriter keyboard.

Soon, computers will be able to recognize and respond to the human voice; IBM has a machine which now recognizes the spoken numbers zero to nine.

But the real key to the knowledge revolution is the speed of the computer's reaction. In 1945, the fastest computer using punched cards could make one computation per second. Today, the fastest computer makes one computation in a microsecond, which is one-millionth of a second.

This speed posed another problem for the computer programmers. A reasonably dexterous operator might bat out a complex question on the keyboard in a minute or so. Pretty quick by human standards, but unbearably slow by a computer's.

During that same minute, the machine could have churned out as many calculations as a man could have done in a year of eight-hour working days.

A whole decade of working time might go down the drain during a coffee break. If the operator closed shop to take the kids camping over the weekend, almost 4,000 years of working time would be lost.

This problem, too, has been solved. If a computer is too fast to be wasted on one human alone, why not let it be used by a lot of men simultaneously? Pioneered by IBM—which is to computers what Babe Ruth is to the home run—nearly all computer manufacturers are now using this time-sharing approach.

Here's how it works: Individual specialists have access to the same computer (which can be miles away). Access is by remote control through lines hooked to a computer.

The computer is preprogrammed for each individual's needs. Like a subscriber to a central telephone exchange, he dials the computer to get service.

Recognizing a particular individual's signal, the computer turns to its library-like memory and turns up the necessary data to solve the problem. Then, off to the next customer.

Time-sharing not only makes the optimum use of the computer's speed, but also cuts the machine's cost to each individual.

Thus, computers can telescope centuries of slide-rule computations into a single day. Each solution yields more basic knowledge. And as the knowledge grows, man is able to design computers which can operate more and more efficiently.

Eventually, scientific knowledge could increase at a rate faster than a human could keep track of it.

ANTI-MOVIE
HOUSTON (UPI)—Actor Robert Mitchum, who has made more than 150 films in his career, says he almost never goes to a movie.

"I can't take the crowds," Mitchum said on a recent publicity tour to Houston. "They give me claustrophobia. I did see 'Moses'—I was required to contractually. Last movie I saw before that was 'Cleopatra.' Mitchum was asked to name his personal favorite of his movies.

"Lots of people ask me that," he said, "and I always tell them 'The Last Time I Saw Archie.' Then they always say 'Why that bomb?' and I tell them it's because I was paid $400,000 for four weeks' work, that's why."

A Syllabus drink is made of one-third Spanish wine and two-thirds fresh milk.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The Center Swim Courses for the summer months have really been filled to overflowing. It seems we cannot offer enough beginners or polywogs. Another series of lessons will start on Aug. 9-20 and will meet intermediates at 9; Swimmers at 10 and Beginners at 11. The only classes available in this series is the intermediates and swimmers. The beginners class is filled. This series of lessons will be the last group until Sept. 9. Lois Dittmeyer, Center WSI, will conduct.

The next series of lessons which will be offered to the public and our own Center members will be on Sept. 9-24 after school has started. These lessons will be in the form of beginners at both 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. classes. As you know, the Center teaches lessons from 4-6 p.m. during the school year on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays. Enrollment for this Sept. 9 class session will be on Sept. 1 on a first come first serve basis at 4 p.m.

Other series of lessons that you might look forward to is an Adv. Beginner course for Adults in Sept. Polywog and Adv. Beginner on Sept. 27 thru Oct. 13, and Beginners and Intermediates on Oct. 18-Nov. 3.

Attention all volleyball players. The fall volleyball season is just around the corner and now is a good time to line up that sponsor for your team support. The fall league will offer a men's, women's and a mixed league. Entry fee will be $12 per team per league and will be due by Aug. 31. At 8 p.m. on Aug. 31 there will be an organizational meeting for the leagues where schedules and times will be drawn. Leagues are scheduled to kick-off during the week of Sept. 7-11. All teams interested should bring their entry fee by or contact the Center.

Libby Shotwell, Red Cross Secretary, just called and has changed the Junior and Senior Lie Saving to Mon., Aug. 2. Everyone who enrolled in these courses should go first to the City Swimming Pool and then Further instructions will be given on meeting times and places. There is still plenty of time for Pampans to purchase that membership and enjoy the swimming pool and other activities available. The Center offers a year around program and when you purchase your membership, you are assured of a full year's participation. Family memberships are only $20 per year or $12 for six months while individual rates are $8 per year or $5 for six months.

Have you seen the Center's new sign on North Hobart St.? There will soon be a bulletin board beside it advertising the Center's current activities. This will keep you up to date on the happenings here.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By Joe Tooley and Tom Beard

There has been an awakened interest of late in exercise, due in large measure to the realization that the populace is perhaps a shade soft around the edges. A side from the fact that many types of exercise are enjoyable, the main dividend comes from physical toning and strengthening. Exercise, unless inordi-nately strenuous, in-creases circulation and aids appetite and digestion by speeding up oxidation of fuel in the body cells.

However, it is unwise for people who, as a rule, aren't overly active to attempt to cram a month's exercise into a single session.

It is never unwise, however, to bring your prescriptions to us. Personal attention and friendly service are our main stock in trade at RICHARD DRUG, 111 N. Cuyler Street, Tom Beard

House Plans You Can Buy

By HIAWATHA ESTES

In homes, as in many other things, simplicity usually offers the best results. This house is proof of the validity of such a statement.

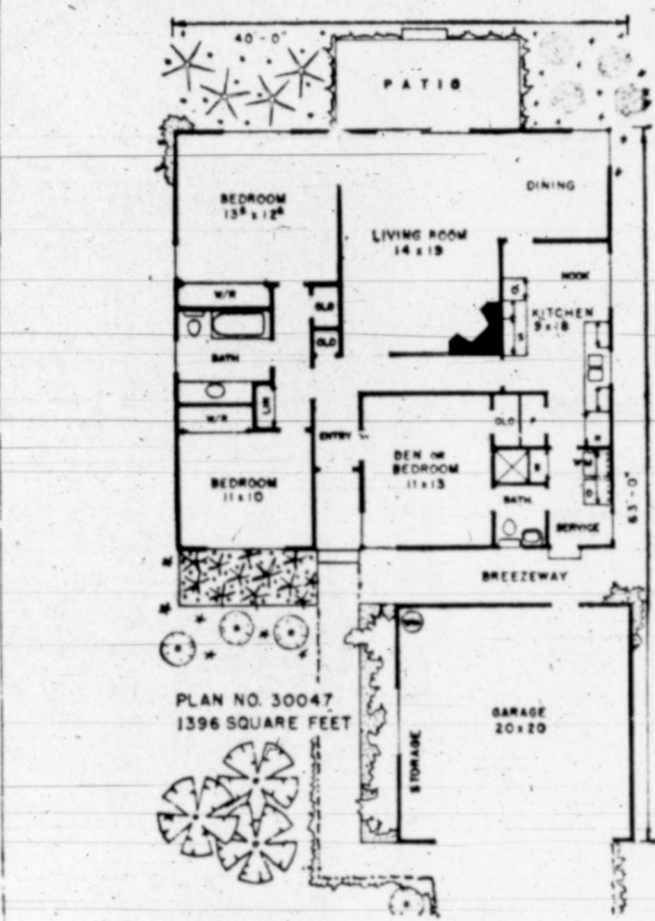

The shape of the plans is almost a perfect square, plus the addition of an oversized double garage. This allows the use of an attractive but uncomplicated roof design. Less lot area is required for the construction of the home and there is more useable space at the rear of the house.

The smaller a home, the more important is the use of a center hall design. From this entry, there is excellent access to every area of the house. A guest closet opens to the entry while two additional closets open to the short bedroom hall.

The family bath with its wide pullman lavatory is completely soundproof by the use of wardrobes between it and each of the bedrooms. The second bath is accessible from both the den and service.

Modern kitchen equipment is certainly more efficient than ever before. However, today's real news is the way in which this equipment is being dressed up. New ranges, ovens, refrigerators and dishwashers are being designed with the same attention and care as furniture so that the kitchen has become a room to be reckoned with in terms of decoration. Besides the latest built-ins, this kitchen also features a good size eating nook and a huge pantry which offers an unusually large amount of storage. A broom closet plus laundry facilities are in the service.

The roofed breezeway offers a protected passageway from the garage to either the front or rear entrance. The garage door has been offset to provide space for storage and a water heat-

A horizontal attic furnace has been specified but it could also be located here in the garage, if preferred.

The den has been planned so it may also be used as an office or bedroom.

The living room and dining ell occupy a single expanse across the rear, highlighted by a fireplace and sliding glass doors which open to the patio and outdoor living.

Complete working drawings for this plan, No. 30047 can be purchased at a cost of $8.50 for the first set and $5.00 for each additional set when ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these prices until December 1, 1965. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. The following home plan books are also available: Homes by Hiawatha - $1; Hammark Homes-$1; Homes for Living-$1; Distinctive Homes-$1; Town & Country Homes-$1; Ranch and Modern Homes-$2. Several Hurt As Explosion Rips Chemical Plant

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—An explosion and fire ripped through one and possibly two chemical tanks at the huge Ethyl Corp. plant Saturday with a roar that jarred homes in the northern part of the city.

Unconfirmed reports relayed by workers leaving the plant said one man was killed. There were several injured, and two persons were admitted to Our Lady of the Lake Hospital suffering from inhalation of poisonous chlorine fumes.

A report from inside the plant said the fire was under control. Officials said the tanks contained ethyl chloride, a by-product of petroleum that is highly flammable.

A spokesman at the gate to the plant said the blast occurred with a flash fire. City police and sheriff's deputies rushed to the scene and with bullhorns warned people back and cleared traffic from a five-block area around the plant on the outskirts of Baton Rouge.

The explosion occurred shortly after 4 p.m. CST about four hours before a night shift was to report for work.

MONEY 'ROUND THE WORLD

GREECE

The cradle of European civilization; Greece is an ancient country of romance and beauty. Rugged and sunlit, it is the perfect setting for the world's greatest examples of architectural and sculptural art.

Greece's national currency is the Drachma (Dr.), sub-divided into 100 Leptas. There are coins for 5, 10, 20 and 50 Leptas, and for 1, 2, 5, 10 and 30 Drs. Bank-notes are for 50, 100, 500 and 1,000 Drs. $1 is equal to 30 Drs.; 1 Dr. is worth a little over three cents.

You can exchange your currency when you are in Greece at all banks, and even in certain hotels. But First National City Bank travelers checks are the simplest and safest way to solve money problems while traveling. They can be bought and cashed almost anywhere in the world.

Rogers to Attend Fairhart Affair

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Sp) — Congressman Walter Rogers will be in Dalhart on next Saturday to participate in the parade and other events at the annual KIT Reunion and Rodeo celebration.

The Congressman said it is his hope that business before House committees on which he serves will be completed in time for him to leave Washington Friday. He said he would plan to return to the capital Sunday because the Omnibus Farm Bill now is scheduled to come before the House in the week of August 8-14.

"It was first thought that the farm bill would be deliberated a week earlier," Congressman Rogers said. "However, the delay is permitting needed time for informal discussions of farm matters with Congressmen from urban areas."

"Legislation affecting wheat, feed grains, cotton, and other segments of the agricultural economy has been combined this year into one bill. This was done in order to attract the widest possible support for farm legislation, although many of us felt that problems affecting separate commodities could better be handled were the bills brought up one at a time," Congressman Rogers said.

Scheduled for consideration by the House this week are bills affecting civil service retirement annuity adjustments; correction of salary inequities for teachers employed at U. S. installations overseas; and joint labor-management programs of product promotion.

Congressman Rogers will convene the Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation on Monday to consider recommendations broadening the scope of the Small Reclamation Projects Act under which smaller water conservation projects are authorized. The subcommittee, of which he is chairman, held three days of hearings last week into multi-purpose Oregon, Washington, and Nevada dam and reservoir projects. Another subcommittee on which Congressman Rogers serves, the Subcommittee on Territorial and Insular Affairs, will meet Thursday and Friday to consider pending legislation affecting U. S. interests in Antarctica.

The Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, on which Congressman Rogers also serves, will continue consideration this week of a proposed Federal program to combat heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other major diseases.

Rodeo Slated At White Deer August, 5-7

WHITE DEER (Sp) — Interest in the rodeo parade is greater this year than in all previous years combined, according to Parade Chairman Winfield Powers. An approximate 90 percent of the local merchants, churches and organizations are planning float entries. The parade will take place Saturday, Aug. 7, at 5 p.m.

One of the most popular and outstanding features of the 1964 parade will be repeated this year with participation of the 589th U. S. Air Force Band from Amarillo Air Force Base.

The White Deer Lions Club will award first, second and third place trophies in the float division and three prizes to winners of the kids division. The latter group includes decorated bikes, wagons, bugfies, pets and costumes.

Riding clubs from throughout the area as well as local riders will contribute their special brand of color and horsemanship to the parade.

Trophies will be awarded the three top riding clubs for parade performances by the White Deer Riding Club.

A special and most cordial invitation is extended the many out-of-town subscribers of the News and to all area residents to attend White Deer's Sixth Annual Rodeo and Parade, the finest yet produced.

RESET HEARING
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee Friday rescheduled for the second time a hearing on the nomination of Abe Fortas to the Supreme Court. It will be held Thursday, Aug. 5, the originally scheduled date.

The committee announced Friday Fortas had sent word that he would be available at that time. The hearing had been postponed to Aug. 12 at his request.

ROME (UPI) — Two men posing as art gallery clerks Friday night overpowered art collector Francesco Iugrao in his apartment and stole 23 paintings by Giorgio Morandi, worth an estimated $192,000.

BIG BEAR BAGGED
RIGGINS, Idaho (UPI) — The son of Idaho pioneer hunter deadshot Reed is carrying on the family tradition. Billy Reed, a U. S. Government trapper, took one of the largest black bears ever seen in Idaho. The monster weighed 400 pounds, and Reed said it was the largest black bear he had seen in 30 years of trapping. The back country trapper went after the big bear after ranchers complained it was killing their stock.

Beanball Donnybrook at Los Angeles Involves 50

By United Press International — William Terry Valentine Jr. is a busy man. Recently he has been a bouncer, judge, fight referee and sparring partner — all on a major league umpire's salary, and you couldn't blame him if he wanted to re-examine the fine print in his contract.

When a third batter was hit by a pitch in the eighth inning, Los Angeles' Bob Rodgers, the victim, charged Boston reliever Arnold Earley, began swinging his fists and within seconds 50 players were wrestling, rolling on the turf and punching each other.

Split Finger Helps Haller Snap Slump

By United Press International — Unusual things sometimes bring a player out of a batting slump, like Tom Haller's split finger. The strapping San Francisco Giants' catcher, by his own admission, "tried 30 different batting stances" in May and June attempting to bolster his meager .150 batting average.

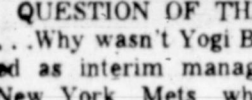

At Minnesota, Earl Battey's suicide squeeze bunt in the eighth inning scored Don Mincher with the winning run for the Twins. Jim Grant allowed only five hits in posting his 12th victory against only three losses, enabling Minnesota to increase its league lead to five games over Baltimore.

Aggs Weak, But Have 'Desire' COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—The Texas Aggies this fall will have a lot of weaknesses and few strong points, but new coach Gene Stallings says he doesn't "think anyone is going to embarrass us too much."

BY JEFF COHANE

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

... Why wasn't Yogi Berra named as interim manager of the New York Mets while Casey Stengel is ill?

SINCE BERRA was the manager of the Yankees, and supposedly added to the roster of the Mets to be groomed as Casey's successor, it appears logical that when Casey is out of the picture, Yogi would be the manager.

SINCE THIS did not happen, it seems to this corner that Berra, like Stengel, was added for his publicity value and nothing else.

TRUE, IT BRINGS fans to the games, regardless of how poorly the team does, but it seems rather a travesty on baseball. The Amazin' Mets are amazing only in the different variety of ways that they can lose games.

IT IS HIGHLY probable that the "new breed" of Met fans would desert them if they played honest baseball instead of clowning, but if the Mets are going to make a farce out of baseball, the rest of the league might as well do it too.

Lorick Loves To Hit Hard

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UPI)—Tony Lorick, a laughing, gentle type of guy until he has a football in his hands, admits that the violent world of professional football is an elixir for him.

He reveals in giving and taking hard knocks and doesn't mind words saying so. "Some people think pro football players are freaks because they like to hit," Lorick said.

Lorick still isn't setting the league on fire with his .231 average, but he is improving and he has hit five of his eight home runs since returning to the lineup on July 2.

Haller had his best night of the season Friday, driving in five runs with a two-run homer, a double and an infield out as the Giants cooled off the Milwaukee Braves 9-2.

In other National League games, the pace-setting Dodgers tripped St. Louis 4-2, Cincinnati kept pace by whacking Houston 7-1, Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 3-1 and Philadelphia took the New York Mets 5-3.

Coach Charlie Fox of the Giants theorizes that Haller's new grip, as a result of the hand injury, has enabled the San Francisco catcher to quicken his swing and put more snap into it.

Willie Mays, also riding a slump, belted his 24th home run and drove in his first run since July 8 after going hitless in 24 consecutive appearances at the plate.

The Dodgers, trailing 2-0 in the eighth, tied it on a homer by Jeff Torborg and doubles by Jim Gilliam and Lou Johnson then won with two runs on a single, three walks and an infield out.

The Cardinals used three relief pitchers in the fatal ninth without success, Don Dennis (2-2) was the loser and Bob Miller (5-6) received the win.

Bob Bailey stole two bases and scored after each on singles by Willie Stargel and Roberto Clemente, and Don Card well-limited the Cubs to seven hits, fanning eight to win his ninth against five losses. The Pirates collected seven safeties off loser Ernie Broglio (1-6), Ed Bailey ruined Cardwell's shut-out bid with a run-scoring double.

Bobby Wine and Johnny Callison each hit two-run homers and Lew Burdette won his first game since last Sept. 3 while he was with the Cubs as the Phillies drubbed the Mets and ruined ailing Manager Casey Stengel's 75th birthday. Gary Wagner gave Burdette relief in the eighth inning after the Mets scored twice on Chuck Hiller's homer, a walk and two singles.

Al Jackson lost his 14th game against five victories for New York. Deron Johnson drove in three runs with a double and single, a rookie Tony Perez belted a two-run homer for the Reds.

Texas Coach School Opens

DALLAS (UPI) — Eighty of the state's finest football and basketball players reported for practice yesterday to kick off the Texas High School Coaches Association 33rd annual coaching clinic.

The 56 football all-stars and 24 basketball stars checked in at Southern Methodist University at 9 a.m. for equipment and briefings prior to initial workouts Saturday afternoon.

They will work twice daily between now and their respective all-star games—basketball Wednesday night at Memorial Coliseum and football Thursday night in the Cotton Bowl.

Registration starts today at the Coliseum for the coaching school itself and all indications were that the attendance record of 4,115 set last year at Fort Worth would be broken.

Fall Deer Hunting

According to a recent news release from the Parks and Wildlife Department at Austin, deer hunters are already picking out their places to hunt in central Texas. Here are typical want ads: A Houston paper carried one about a 500-acre Leon County tract with "deer hunting plus year 'round squirrel, bird and other game hunting."

A San Antonio paper advertises a "2,000-acre hunting lease with camp house," while a Fort Worth paper, under "Hunting," offers a "used portable cabin."

A Houston real estate agency invited: "Deer Hunters: We are listing several good tracts. Pool your lease money and call us."

A San Antonio paper also strikes a note for the party folks with: "Corporation wants deer-turkey lease with living facilities for maximum of twelve men at one time. Lease should stand annual take of 30 bucks and 30 gobblers. Long time lease possible for right place."

A Houston name was given.

The overhead angle was pointed out by a Houston paper's ad. "Need eight hunters to fill 2,400-acre lease, big bucks, turkeys, javelina. Plenty of quail, $200 a gun." And a San Antonio want ad column presents: "Four men to fill out Webb County deer lease. $200 per gun."

Most deer hunters in these parts hunt deer elsewhere than the Panhandle. The majority go to Colorado and many to New Mexico, while some hunt in this area and others go to Central Texas.

The cost of deer hunting is usually high, especially considering several hundred miles of driving, plus accommodations and hunting license. The hunting license fee in many other states will go about $50 and sometimes more for an out-of-stater.

The hunting fee in Texas for a resident hunter is exactly $3.15. There are many land owners who offer hunting privileges in this area for a slight. The charge is usually about $25 per day. Some charge even less. Some ranchers offer a bit more and charge more.

If you are interested in hunting bucks this November, I would suggest that you contact the Chamber of Commerce at Canadian, or your District Game Warden, and make inquiries about good leases. There will be several hundred, in fact more than a thousand, bucks bagged this fall in the Panhandle. Many of these bucks will be bagged on leased land. There is also a possibility of some surplus doe deer permits being released.

I know one rancher northwest of Pampa who has for years been charging a flat fee of $25 per gun. Take pot luck. However, this particular rancher will usually give the hunter a second chance during the latter part of the season if he doesn't get his deer the first day. In fact, Willie Blagg, Stinnett, mentioned that he hunted on the ranch a few years ago and got his deer early the first day, as well as did the others in the party. Could it be that some wish to measure the success of the hunt in dollars spent?

Summer Stalemate

During July and August most hunters and many fishermen plan instead of participate. Most fishermen in the summer go to either New Mexico or Colorado. The hunters have no place to go.

It is far too early to predict the success of the first season this fall; that is, the dove hunt which will commence Sept. 1. It couldn't be much worse than it has been the last few autumns. Since it can't, it should be an improvement. Even during the last few falls, while dove shooting hasn't been at its peak, there have been some hunters who filled their bag limit.

Good dove hunting places are similar, in a way, to good deer hunting places. There are some areas the hunters find doves in abundance. Most city dwellers, or, as far as that goes, people cooped up for a few days in an office or boiled down at a job, wish to look to the outdoors during the weekend or on their days off.

There hasn't been too much on the agenda in the past that was within an hour's drive of the homestead. There still is not, but just like the old saying during the depression in the '30's, prosperity is just around the corner. It is, truly, for the people who wish to take to the waters for fishing. It is already here for those who wish to go boating and water skiing. All lakes are full and running over in the Panhandle at this time. Lake Meredith is by far the largest, and will continue to expand. In fact, it should double in size during the next 12 months. Already there is more acreage in surface water than the boaters can utilize.

Parks 'Gate'
Large Numbers

AUSTIN — Preliminary totals indicate that attendance at Texas State Parks is running around, 1,000,000 greater than for the same period last year.

And W. M. "Mark" Gosdin of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters staff said the figures came as no surprise to him, because, as he said, "some of our more popular parks have been full and running over at times this summer."

Gosdin, assistant director for parks, said this was literally true in at least one case since during a weekend crush at Garner State Park, near Uvalde, traffic had to be turned back. The grounds and facilities simply were swamped.

Total visitation for all parks last year was just short of 8,000,000. Thus, Gosdin noted, if the 1,000,000 increase is sustained during the remainder of the outdoor season the gain would be slightly better than ten per cent.

Gosdin said one reason for the patronage boost is the opening of new parks at Dam B in deep East Texas and Falcon State Park on the Mexican border, and the extensive improvements at Lake Whitney State Park in north-central Texas.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

An outdoorsman knows that, even on the darkest night, there is a little luminous quality that will permit him to see when his eyes are accustomed to it.

By this tiny bit of light, an experienced angler can approach his favorite weed bed, step within casting distance of it, toss his plug to the edge of it, and entice the lunkers.

But he must be ready to react quickly. You'll enjoy night fishing. Everything is still and quiet. There is just a little splash when your top water bait hits the water, and maybe a gurgle when you twitch it now and then. But you're never really ready when there comes a sound like a cow falling in the creek.

That's what it sounds like, in the still of night, when a lunker hits. It'll scare the living daylight out of you.

Your first thought is "careful!"

You want to set the hook. But you also want to avoid unnecessary tension on the line.

I wouldn't worry too much about hook-setting when a big bass hits a topwater lure. Usually, he has tried to swallow the thing, or kill it, and is well hooked.

If he's not on when you start hauling the line, wait a minute. He may have simply smashed it with the idea of stunning the thing. Now, move the lure slightly, from time to time... a light twitch now and then. If no strike, reel in slowly and cast again. He'll come back for dinner.

Night fishing demands that you be ready when the big bass strikes. Be sure he's hooked, then bring him in quickly. Don't let him wind your line around moss or a submerged tree... if you can help it. That's his life-saving trick. At the same time, don't apply so much tension that you tear the hook out of his mouth.

It all sounds complicated... which it is. Also it involves judgment on your part. But in case of doubt, put on the pressure. When it's a bigmouth bass you're dealing with, you may have to horse him in. Don't give him any slack line — day or night.

What about night fishing for white bass? Here's another fish that will take your lure at night. It's really his preferred feeding time. However, the minnow is his favorite meal.

In the spring, whites migrate upstream and move out into the tributaries of large rivers and lakes, seeking shallow water for the spawning season.

Find the right place and you can load the boat with white bass.

You are looking for a spot where there is a current and the bottom is sandy or rocky. A stream running into a lake is perfect. Or a river dam where power is generated, creating a swift tail race, will do very well. Otherwise, locate a spot in the lake where a sand bar rises to 15 feet or less from the top.

Fish one of these locations in spring and summer, using minnows, spoons, or jigs, and you will be rewarded with a fine string of sandies. Night fishing for whites in summer is a good and growing sport.

If you don't know where the white bass stay in summer, ask a fishing buddy, your friendly tackle shop man, or a good camp operator. You will learn that the white bass favor a certain area.

Go there at night, equipped with Coleman lantern, a bucket full of silver shiner minnows and patience to wait 'em out — and you'll have a full evening of fun.

You won't have much trouble finding the place... for other bass will be there too, with lanterns lighted. Often it looks like a small town on the water, as fishermen gather to bring in the white bass.

When you are anchored and ready, fire up the lantern. Use a reflector shield, if you have one, to direct the bright light onto the water and not in your face. Aluminum foil will serve temporarily.

This illumination will attract small flying insects, and they in turn will attract shad, and shad will attract white bass. That's the theory—we won't argue with it. All we want to do is catch fish.

If the theory is based on truth, and it may well be, we don't care how many other boatmen are in the place—the more the merrier, in fact. More lights, more insects, more shad, more white bass. There's plenty for everybody when sandies congregate.

All you have to do, in this night fishing for white bass routine, is hook on a minnow, let it down to the proper depth, sit back in the boat, and relax. But watch your rod tip! These boogers strike like lightning — but lightly.

Night fishing for crappie is an exciting game too, particularly in the summer.

I've been on a lighted dock where all hands took their limit in the last hours before sun-up. Here again, we're minnow fishing.

However, crappie will react to other baits, such as cut bait, small spinners, and what have you.

Whether you go to a commercial lighted dock, or set out your own, you must have the lights for night fishing. Same principle applies to crappie as in night fishing for whites. The lights attract the fish—so if you're going for crappie, be equipped with a lantern.

Finding the right depth is essential here, too.

Most crappie anglers will use spinning gear with a split shot, let the minnow down to the bottom and slowly reel in. When the first fish is captured by this method, the depth is established and you know where the fish are. They're a clannish bunch.

Dick Wolf, NEA's fishing expert, goes after and gets the big ones.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

Mystery:
 "Unterstrike" — John Gardner; Boysie Oakes, the trepid and improbable hero of "The Liquidator", is off on another mission for the British Secret Service. This trip takes him to America for what should be a routine assignment.
 "There by Three" — Howard Haycraft and John Beecroft; this generous helping of mystery, suspense, and detective fiction—more than 800 pages worth—is arranged to display and contrast the three disciplines of crime writing—the full-length novel, the novelette, and the short story.
Non-Fiction:
 "The Making of the President 1964" — Theodore H. White; the 1964 presidential campaign followed and reported by the author of the best-selling narrative history of American politics in action.
 "The Wisdom of JFK" — Edited by T.S. Settel; a collection of the best and most enduring statements that the late President Kennedy made during the entire range of his public life.
 "Albert Schweitzer, Man of Mercy" — Jacquelin Berrill; to honor Dr. Schweitzer on his 90th birthday, a new up-to-date chapter has been added to this outstanding biography of one of the world's best-known humanitarians.
 "Louis XIV" — Vincent Cronin; perhaps no man ever dominated a period of history as Louis XIV did during the seventeenth century in France. The author here studies Louis in the aspect of an impersonation of a glorious era. The King's activities in war and politics are relegated to the periphery.

"Jack London" — Richard O'Connor; Jack London led as romantic a life as any of the heroes he created in his novels. Richard O'Connor captures the personality of this hero-author in a major biography.
Fiction:
 "The Looking Glass War" — John Le Carré; the author of "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold", which was hailed by the critics and dominated the best-seller lists of the United States for an entire year, comes forth this season with a new suspense novel.
 "The Tobacco Men" — Borden Deal; based on Theodore Dreiser's notes on the tobacco industry between 1860 and 1910, this novel by Borden Deal re-creates this historical period through the struggle of two men over a North Carolina tobacco empire.
 "High Citadel" — Desmond Bagley; in the incredible cold of the high Andes, Tim O'Hara and his passengers fight for their lives with medieval weapons against well-armed Communist soldiers in one of the most original suspense stories of recent years.
 "Stories of Hawaii" — Jack London; mixing superb documentation with his own unique gifts as a storyteller, London writes about the Hawaii he knows so well—telling a vibrant, exciting story of a strong, honest, and valiant people in conflict with their environment.
 "Zero Minus" — Karl Zelig; humanity had to decide whether to be resigned to destruction, or to use one of the two potentially dangerous enemies to wipe out the other and to save the earth.

AFL-CIO Annual Conference Set For Four Days

AUSTIN (UPI) — Officials of the Texas AFL-CIO are expected to devote considerable time at their four-day annual convention opening Tuesday in El Paso to fanning the flames of a "hate John Connally" campaign.
 The state labor group deliberately snubbed the governor while passing out invitations to a long list of national and state officials as guest speakers before the seven general sessions which run Tuesday through Friday.
 Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr are among the several state officials invited. But a spokesman for the AFL-CIO said "Gov. Connally was not invited for obvious reasons."
Never Too Friendly
 The state labor organization never has been too friendly with Connally, but never before in the three years he has been chief executive has the break between the governor and the AFL-CIO been so prominent.
 This year's convention is the second one where the labor group said it deliberately picked a border city to meet in to dramatize "the desperate poverty of the bulk of the working people of the border area."
 Texas AFL-CIO president Hank Brown said the convention is expected to spotlight again the low income of the thousands of Latin-American families which live along the Texas-Mexican border.
Again Meet Mexico's
 Brown said the Texas AFL-CIO this year will hold its second joint meeting during the El Paso convention with its Mexican counterpart, the CTM. The meeting will be held in Juarez. Last year, a joint session of the two labor groups was held in Matamoros.
 One source said state labor leaders may be planning "to raise some hell" about the plight of the working men along the border before the convention ends on Aug. 6.

The Week in Review

By LEROY POPE
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson's stern call for a vastly stepped up military effort in Viet Nam this week caused hardly a ripple in the business waters. The summer boom kept right on rolling. In fact, the stock market has been buoyant since the President acted.
 Machine tool sales, usually regarded as an important indicator, were disclosed to have climbed 35 per cent in June from May, with good business continuing through July. The industry has enjoyed a steady sales climb for months.
 The gains have been in domestic sales and, significantly, sales of used machine tools hit an all time high in the second quarter as manufacturers expanding their output could not wait the six to 12 months.
 Two surveys of first half earnings of leading corporations showed them up 16 to 17 per cent over a year ago. One study by the New York Times put the total earnings of 500 companies for the half at almost $8.2 billion. The magazine of the American Stock Exchange said second quarter dividend checks this year will reach the highest total in history.
 Retail sales continued to spurt, sparked by record demand for air conditioners, refrigerators, sports clothing and other hot weather items. Dun & Bradstreet reported Dollar volume of retail sales was up 4 to 8 per cent on the average and climbed 8 to 12 per cent in the southern and middle Atlantic states.

General, Men Smoke Peace Pipe, Make Up

BERLIN (UPI) — A four-star general and three American soldiers Saturday ended a long quarrel and made up.
 They figuratively buried the hatchet and literally smoked a pipe of peace.
 A fourth soldier had been scheduled to take part in the ceremony at the Army sports field here but because of a tendency to indulge in firewater he was sent back to the "reservation" at McNair Barracks.
 The ceremony was held as part of the fifth annual "German-American Volksfest," an Army-sponsored carnival combined with an entertaining lesson in American history.
 The educational feature of the carnival this year is the gold rush town of Sacramento complete with gold-diggers, dance hall girls, Mexicans, Pony Express riders, U.S. Cavalry and Indians.
Chief Paleface
 Most of the characters who inhabit the boom town of Sacramento, reconstructed on the spot, are played by members of the Berlin International Theater, a German-American dramatic group.
 But in Saturday's pipe of peace ceremony, "the great chief" of the paleface long knives was played by Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Army in Europe.
 The soldiers, aided by period costumes, played themselves—American Indian members of the U.S. Army's Berlin garrison.
 They were Pvt. Richard A. Fourkiller of Stillwell, Okla., Pfc. Benedict Genie of Smoke Signal Trading Post, Chinle, Ariz., and Pfc. Bernarr T. Ross of Tulsa, Okla.
 Although Fourkiller is out-ranked by the other two Indians he played the part of chief Saturday and signed a peace treaty with O'Meara.
 The fourth soldier who took his part too seriously and did war dances and other things to keep warm this cold, rainy summer in Berlin will not be identified.
Pressed Into Act
 O'Meara was pressed into the act when he came here from his headquarters in Heidelberg, West Germany, for an outline inspection of the Berlin garrison.
 The peace treaty read, "Be it known to all these present that in honor of the visit of the great chief of the paleface long knives all Indian warriors along the American river promise to cease and desist from warlike activities from this day until the close of the fifth German-American Volksfest."
 "His Indian friends wish Gen. O'Meara a peaceful tour in Sacramento and a safe return to his war tent in Heidelberg."
 The carnival opened July 24 and will close Aug. 8. Last weekend attendance was 90,000 despite cold and rain.
 It is part of the Army's community relations program and since the first one was held in 1961 it has become a Berlin institution.
 Economically, the coconut palm is one of the most important trees in the world.

GAS TANKS
 GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Police broadcast appeals to the thief who swiped two 25 by 8 inch tanks not to use them for scuba diving. It might kill him.
 It turned out the tanks, stolen from a truck at a motel, are filled with cyclo-propane, an anaesthetic which would render a diver unconscious if used for underwater breathing. It is also highly explosive.
 Cold cream can be made by melting 4 ounces of white wax in one pound of almond oil and mixing with a pint of rose-water.

PAY RECOMMENDATION
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson received a recommendation for a pay increase for midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy.
 In its report for 1965, the academy's board of visitors recommended creation of a separate pay grade for midshipmen to correct their "unsatisfactory financial status." Midshipmen now draw $111.15 a month, plus allowances. Part of the allowances must be paid back beginning in their second year, however.

Oklahoma Firm To Build Miami Pool

MIAMI (Sp) — A $30,000 park bond issue was approved by Roberts County voters by a more than 4-to-1 majority, and the Commissioners' Court has decided to employ Pascal P. Paddock, Inc., of Oklahoma City, Okla., to build a new $68,810 swimming pool in Roberts County Park. Construction is expected to begin about Aug. 9, and will be completed in approximately three months.
 The $30,000 issue will supplement an additional $60,000 bond issue approved April 10. The latest issue was approved by a vote of 144 to 33, with four of the five precincts endorsing the proposal.
 Paddock's bid was the lowest submitted to the commissioners' court. The court realizes that a cheaper pool could be built, but it feels that the citizens of Roberts County want a pool of the best quality, built by a contractor who has had the necessary experience to qualify in this highly specialized field.
 Paddock has been actively engaged in swimming pool work since 1923, and has completed more than 4,000 pools throughout the nation, including the new $139,600 pool at Perryton. Roberts County's new pool will have 10-year guarantees on the pool structural shells and sand filter plant, and five-year maintenance bonds on the pool structure and sand filters.

 It will include heating equipment, all utilities, overhead area lighting system, submarine lighting, fencing, walks, chrome-plated interior fittings, gravel drainage system, gravel cushion beneath the pool floor, hose bibb piping system, monolithic poured concrete structural shell, wading pool, chlorinator and electric control compartments, depth markings, miscellaneous safety equipment, all mechanical equipment including chlorinators, cylinder scales, test sets, vacuum cleaning equipment, etc.), pool piping of mechanical joint cast iron and copper gutter piping of extra-heavy cast iron, bathroom hot water heater, tempered water mixing valves, soap and tissue holders.

 Also benches, mirrors, complete bathroom lighting and electrical equipment, clothes-checking equipment, formica counters, concrete test cylinders, pool heating equipment, and sand backfill.

Red Cross News

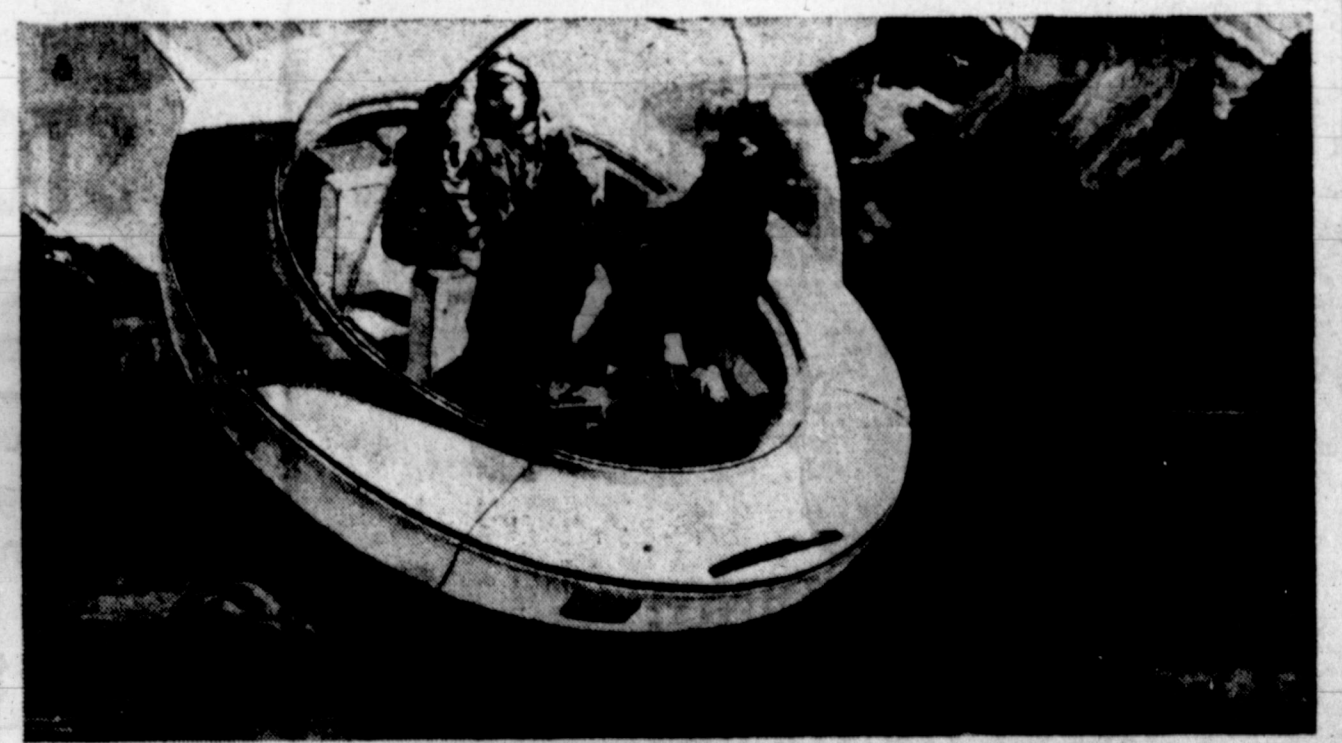

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC
 Red Cross water safety program continues on through the month of August with Junior and Senior Lifesaving classes beginning at 9 a.m. Monday at the city pool with Mrs. Betty Bailey (WSI) in charge of the classes.
 The courses are 18 hours and both Junior and Senior life saving classes will be held at the pool with a fee of $1.00 for the use of the pool.
 The second week, the Senior Life Saving class will move to the Youth Center Pool with Pete Erin completing the Class. Boys and girls 12 through 15 may enroll for the Junior Life Saving Course. Persons 16 and over may take the Senior Lifesaving class.
 H.H. Gilliam will be in Borger beginning Aug. 16th from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Johnson Pool. Persons who are eligible to take the WSI course should contact the Red Cross office and review the Senior Life Saving Class beginning Monday at the city pool. Gilliam is the field representative for safety services for the National Red Cross.
 Classes in beginner swimming will start at the Marcus Sanders Pool from 10-11 a.m. This class will be taught Aug. 2 through 13 by Sonny Bunton, life guard at the pool.
 Mrs. Bobby Wornack will teach a beginner swimming class at McLean with children from Alanreed and McLean taking the class. She will be assisted by Jim Cole.
 We received word from the National Red Cross this week that chests from Robert E. Lee Junior High and Pampa High were sent to Indian communities that had been hit by tornadoes this June. The chests were packed by the students and sent to the National Warehouse at Landover, Md. where they remained until a need for them arose. Howard Graham, teacher sponsor at Pampa high school and Mrs. Eugene Olds at Robert E. Lee assisted with the program in the schools. Each chest contained school supplies, health articles and articles and each chest was valued at $100.

 A class in "Medical Self Health Care" will begin September 10 with Ray Fisher, FAI, in charge of the class, according to Bill Leonard civil defense coordinator for Gray County. Red Cross will assist with this program for Pampa and surrounding communities. In the class, persons will learn how to take care of their families in case of an atomic attack.
 John Gikas, disaster chairman for Gray County reports floods continue to plague Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. At Smithville, Mo., where a Red Cross shelter flooded Monday night, forcing movement of 40 evacuees to safe ground at Liberty, Mo., teams of Red Cross workers and volunteers are now working to relieve the community victims. Funds are being accepted by the Red Cross for direct aid for flood victims.
 Dick Strayer and his wife and children visited the Red Cross office Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Forrest Hills met with Strayer and tentative plans for a disaster conference were made. The conference will be held in Pampa so church groups, nurses and any interested person may attend. Date and place will be announced later. Plans also were discussed for a meeting in Borger to learn boating safety. This meeting will include water safety instructors, other interested persons in water safety and boat safety. This meeting date will be announced later in the month of August.

SDS Fighting Noisy Campaign Against 'The Establishment'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Students for Democratic Society (SDS) believe that American youth has just emerged from a dark age. They're celebrating by waging a noisy campaign against what they call "The Establishment.")

By DAVID SMOTHERS
United Press International
Underneath the el tracks on Chicago's sinful, seamy E. 63rd Street is a dark doorway with the insignia on the glass pane:

"Students for a Democratic Society."
The double doors stick because the lock is faulty and the wood is warped and grimy. The stairway stretching upwards sags to the right. There are peanut shells and a cigarette butt on the steps and the black-painted walls have open sores of white plaster. It is hot and airless. The sweat pops from your temples.
Up these stairs is the national headquarters of an organization which scorns much of what is established and respected in the American life: derides capitalism and communism, conservatism and liberals, Republicans and Democrats, pundits and presidents with fine and equal fervor; preaches action, civil rights, poverty, and the wisdom of "the people;" demands answers, answers, answers.

Most Influential
This is the home of SDS, the largest and probably the most influential and seminal band in what is becoming known as "the new left"—an amorphous "movement" which has set young Americans to marching in the streets, denouncing the war in Viet Nam, shouting over U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic, demonstrating over violations of civil rights, be they real or imaginary, and doing their best to make life a little harder for public figures from President Johnson to Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

SDS is the organization which on April 17 led students from roughly 100 campuses — along with some alleged Communists and certainly radicals of other stripes — on a "march on Washington" to demand an end to the Vietnamese war. It is responsible for whipping up national campus sentiment for the riotous "free speech" demonstrations at the University of California; for helping to inspire professors to lead university "teachins" directed against U.S. foreign policy; for sending university students from well-heeled middle class homes into some of the worst slums of the country, there to live and spread the doctrine of "participatory democracy."

The SDS is proud, even a trifle smug, over every bit of it. "We've realized that maybe if we yell loud enough and long enough somebody's going to listen," one of their leaders said.

Centered On Campuses
On paper, there are only about 2,000 dues-paying members of this organization of self-consciously intellectual young radicals who broke off from the old Students League for Industrial Democracy (SLID for short) in a get-together at Port Huron, Mich., scarcely three years ago. They are split into 79 chapters, almost all of them on university campuses or close by, and boast a "permanent" staff of 70 young enthusiasts who work happily for token wages.

Of all the splinter groups of the "new left" the zealots of SDS have the most fellow travelers and, in some university and liberal circles, respect.

Lake Meredith 61.77 Feet at Base

Lake Meredith now stands some 61.77 feet deep at the base following a 3.84 inch rise the latter part of last week.

The Blue West recreation area on the north side of the lake was closed this weekend to all public traffic. Contractors are working on the boat ramp and park personnel will patrol the area to keep all public vehicles away.
The largest rise in the past few weeks came between Thursday morning and Friday afternoon.

Summertime Is Meant for Fun

Pampa Daily News

Sunday, August 1, 1965

SUMMER MONTHS are fun months. Pampa children and adults are enjoying activities now that can not be participated in during winter weather and busy school schedules.

The Pampa News photographer took his camera and roamed around town to see how some of our folk are spending their lazy vacation time. Here is what he saw:

ENJOY EVENING — It is a most pleasing sight to drive through Pampa and see many senior citizens enjoying the beautiful Panhandle evenings. In the center photo Mr. and Mrs. Winfrey Maddox, 801 Somerville, are relaxing after a day of house painting. Maddox has been retired two years after 57 years as a ranch foreman.

LAKE OUTING — Many families are found taking part in one of the fastest growing sports in the country. As the water rises in Lake Meredith many more Pampans will be heading for the popular boating spot. The Jerry P... family, 1200 S. Finley, is shown center right loading the boat for a weekend of water skiing and swimming. Mrs. Bruce helps her husband load a slalom ski as Vance, 6, imagines he is the skipper of the 14-foot outboard.

SANDBOX FUN — Jerry Keith Skinner, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Don Skinner, 1104 Sierra Dr., lower left, finds playing in the sandbox great warm weather fun.

READING PROGRAM — Deborah Hardy, lower right, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hardy Jr., 1004 E. Gordon, takes pleasure in spending her summer hours reading. She is enrolled in the Lovett Memorial Library reading program. Deborah is one of 300 sixth to 11th grade students who are active members in the program. Each member who finishes reading a book pastes a picture of one of the presidents on a sheet of cardboard.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

THE SAYING "blondes have more fun" received somewhat of a setback last week at the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant in Miami Beach, Fla. Of the 15 finalists in the pageant, 14 were blondes. But, the lone brunette finalist, Miss Apasara Pongsakula, "Miss Thailand", was named "Miss Universe." Film star Carroll Baker upstaged the fashions at the Jeanne Lanvin style parade in Paris, France Wednesday by showing in an unfashionable plunging neckline. The blonde dress, wearing a pink dress with an astounding neckline that plunged almost as far sideways as it did down, sat in the front row and pulled her skirt up four inches above her knees while photographers clicked away. Although Miss Baker's dress isn't good fashion in any city, the audience of press and buyers stared at her as much as at the Lanvin collection. There wasn't one plunging neckline among the Lanvin clothes, designed with usual taste and elegance by Jules Francois Crahay. The designer stuck to his usual pencil-thin stark silhouette, with straight high necklines. The show was aflutter with ostrich feathers. The designer displayed a leopard jacket covered with black feathers and a deep yellow ostrich jacket over a floor-length yellow stiff silk gown. With day clothes the manequins wore ostrich feather hats flowing from head-bands to look like what Miss Baker, who knows her Egyptian queens, called "A Nefritite hat."

FRANK SMITH received a beautiful and lasting birthday gift from wife Mildred, a portrait of Mrs. Smith which now hangs in the entry of the Smith home. In the portrait-painted by Don Ruffin of Phoenix, Ariz., one of Arizona's foremost young artists, Mrs. Smith is wearing her husband's favorite color, yellow. Ben and Dorothy Faulkner and children, Bill, Benj, Mary and Robert, are going to be missed by many Pampa friends. The Faulkners moved to Oklahoma City, Friday where Mr. Faulkner was transferred by Gulf Oil Corp. on a promotion into the area drilling office. Several going-away events were given honoring the family, including an ice cream social at the home of Dr. Carl Long by St. Matthew Episcopal Church Youth Group members and their families. Sgt. Fred Nesloge Jr. and wife Judy, and daughter, Chris, are visiting in the home of Sgt. Nesloge's parents, Dorothy and Fred Nesloge Sr. Sgt. Nesloge has recently returned from Viet Nam where he was stationed with the U.S. Army at Saigon. The family will make their home at Ft. Hood, Temple, next month. Charlie and Dump Wilkerson and sons, Butch and Buddy, flew to Yukon and Norman, Okla., last weekend to visit Mrs. Wilkerson's brother and family, the Billy Ray Smiths, and her aunt and uncle, the C. C. Willis. While in Norman, 12-year-old Butch, outstanding member of Pampa's Dolphin Swim Team, had the privilege of working out with the Oklahoma University Swim Team under the direction of OU's swim team coach, J. S. Markley. Mrs. Wilkerson's nephew, Barry Smith of Yukon, accompanied the family home for a visit. Verl and Carmel Hagan were called to Denver, Colo., recently due to the illness of their daughter, Joan Mrs. Hagan remained in Denver during her daughter's hospitalization. Miss Bernice Larsh, teacher at Sam Houston Elementary School, will return this week from a month's vacation in Hawaii and California.

PAMPA COUNTRY Club members will enjoy a colorful poolside Hawaiian Luau Tuesday evening at the club. Guests will be entertained by Herb Remington and His Island Music. Arrangements for the luau have been worked out by Jeff and Burton Bearden, Clinton and Donna Jo Evans, Ralph and Evelyn Sidwell, Hardy and Betty Pitts, Clayton and Ruby Husted, George and Elizabeth Scott, Vernon and Billy Don Watkins and other committee members. Miss Linda Meech entertained a group of schoolmates of Miss Susan Quible, bride-elect of Joe C. Humphrey Jr., of Abilene, at a recipe shower last Saturday morning in the Charles Meech home. Miss Sue Ann Thompson, bride-elect of Arnold Phillips, was honored at a luncheon Wednesday in Pampa Country Club by Mrs. Delmar (Sandra) Watkins and Mrs. Bob (Doris) Johnson. Understand a fabulous coffee was given by Mrs. Joe (Bobby) Reid Wednesday morning in the Reid's new home. The coffee was given in honor of Mrs. Reid's sister, Mrs. Don (Collette) McMillion of Houston. Allie and Travis Lively Sr. entertained a group of friends in the Lively home last Sunday afternoon. The event feted Robert Martin Jr., son of Louise and Robert Martin Sr., congratulating the honoree on his upcoming marriage to Miss Jo Ann Cude of Webbers Falls, Okla. An unusual bride party was given recently by Mrs. M. Roy (Mildred) Sullivan, Mrs. Joe (Ann) DiCosimo and Mrs. Elbert (Jewell) Walker in the Sullivan home, eight tables for the party, which carried out a "Crazy Day" theme, were decorated in Christmas, Halloween, happy birthday, wedding, baby shower, circus, western and get well motifs.

ROBERT AND CLAUDEINE Vail, who are moving soon to Tucson, Ariz., where Mr. Vail will assume a position with the University of Arizona, bade a large group of friends adios at a patio party last Sunday afternoon and evening in their home. Mildred and Frank Smith and Chris and Bill Campaigne were co-hosts for the event. Clever invitations in a Mexican design, reading "Amigos" on the front and "Come say 'Hola to Frank and Mildred Smith and Chris and Bill Campaigne and 'Adios' to Bob and Claudine Vail" on the inside, were sent to invited guests. Some 250 friends of the couple, attired in patio costumes, called between 5 and 9 p.m. and were served from round tables, appointed in Mexican motifs, placed throughout the home and garden. House party members assisting the hosts were Mrs. Luke (Aline) McClellan, Mrs. George (Katherine) Snell, Mrs. Crawford (Chris) Atkinson, Mrs. Gene (Nancy) Imel, Mrs. Bob (Alleith) Curry, Mrs. Ray (Lula) Kuhn, Mrs. Julian (Katy) Key, Mrs. Jack (Adrienne) Foster, Mrs. Kirk (Jean) Duncan, Mrs. Jack (Louise) McCrery, Mrs. Duggan (Ruth) Smith, Mrs. Clinton (Donna Jo) Evans, Mrs. Ed (Sandy) Williams, Mrs. Bob (Albertine) Tripplern, Mrs. Russell (Zenobia) Holloway, Mrs. Tom (Eva) Kitchens and Mrs. Earl (Betty) Horrtor of Fort Worth. Seen dining at Coronado Inn last Sunday with Lynn and Edwina Boyd was Mrs. Margaret Dial, looking very much like the mother of the bride since she was wearing the corsage from the wedding the evening before of her daughter Patricia Ann to James C. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Haight of Cleveland, Ohio, parents of the bridegroom, and daughter Lois, were also in the dinner party. Another group seen dining together were Mrs. Mel Davis, Mrs. Ivy Duncan and Mrs. Leora Rosa. Also seen dining together were Mrs. Russell (Zenobia) Holloway and her mother, Mrs. Johnny McFarland. Walter and Lula Dean were also noticed dining at the hotel. Seems school vacation time is all too brief with news from District 19 of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers already arriving at the News office. Received a letter this week stating that Mrs. W. T. (Catherine) Fain has been named as District 19 P-TA Youth and Protection Committee chair-

Pamela Bradshaw, Tommy J. McPeak Pledge Wedding Vows in Waco Church

A white bridal cloth led to an altar appointed with an arrangement of foliage and greenery; flanked by jade trees and palms and candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers, appointed the wedding scene last evening for Miss Pamela Cue Bradshaw of Waco and Tommy Jim McPeak of Houston.

Rev. Robert E. Young officiated the double-ring service at 7:30 o'clock in Waco First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bradshaw of Waco and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McPeak of 506 N. Zimmerman.

Appropriate organ music was provided throughout the ceremony and "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were presented by Don Bennett, vocalist.

Mr. Bradshaw gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was dressed in a chapel-length gown of antique ivory peau de soie featuring a fitted bodice of re-embroidered Japanese silk, designed with scooped neckline and long, tapering sleeves terminating in petal points over the wrists. The chapel-length train was held by a large back bow and the bride's elbow-length veil of ivory silk illusion fell from a peau de soie pill box coiff embellished with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of fleur d' amour split carnations and foliage, centered with gardenias.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Vernon Chiles of Fort Worth, matron of honor; Miss Martha Barrett of Waco, maid of honor; Miss Linda Glass of Waco, bridesmaid; Miss Kathy Bradshaw of Waco, bride's sister, and Miss Terrie Louie of Waco, junior bridesmaid. Dressed in floor-length gowns of pastel peau de soie with empire styling, bridal attendants wore matching peau de soie rose headpieces with brief veils. Mrs. Chiles and the Misses Barrett and Glass carried nosegays of pink majestic daisies and carnations and the Misses Bradshaw and Louie carried nosegays of marguerite daisies.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Bill Bevil of Fort Worth while groomsmen were Claude Gotthardt of Pleasanton and Dan Morton of Waco. Sharing usher duties were Jack McPeak of Amarillo, bridegroom's brother, Joe D. Sparks of Lubbock, bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Ben Bradshaw and Rick Bradshaw, both of Waco, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Bradshaw was attired in a street-length gown fashioned of blue lace over crepe for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. McPeak chose a street-length gown of beige lace, featuring a fitted bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. Corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

A background of jade palms decorated Waco First Methodist Church Parlor for the reception held following the exchange of vows. The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was appointed with the bridesmaid's bouquets, silver candelabra, a silver punch service and the three-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake. Presiding at the punch service was Miss Sandra Underwood of Waco and Mrs. Joe Cornett of Dallas, while Mrs. Jack McPeak of Amarillo, bridegroom's sister-in-law, served the wedding cake. Attending the guest registrar were the bride's cousins, Miss Suzanne Evans of Fort Worth and Miss Linda Cooke of Arlington.

Rice-bag girls, attired in green organza gowns, were the Misses Jessica and Jan McPeak, nieces of the bridegroom. Other members of the house party included Mrs. Milton Cooke and Mrs. Coy Barrett.

Before departing on a wedding trip to an undisclosed point, the new Mrs. McPeak donned a dress of powder blue voile with matching jacket and lifted the white gardenia corsage from the bride's bouquet. Upon their return the couple will bring.

Mrs. Tommy Jim McPeak ... nee Miss Pamela Cue Bradshaw

Beware of Trip's 'False Budgeting'

By AILEEN SNODDY, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The single woman who has worked hard during the year owes herself a good vacation. One way to siphon off day-to-day pleasure on a trip, especially when in another country, is to tie plans in knots with false budgeting.

This view by a New Yorker with a piquant approach to travel is outlined in a new book, "Follow Me." In it the author, Jean Baer, draws on her experiences of 16 trips alone to all parts of the world. In her book and during a relaxed chat in her Manhattan apartment decorated with mementoes of "singular" excursions, Miss Baer makes these points: Don't waste money on food abroad. "You wouldn't dine every night at '21' if you were in New York. Have a hearty breakfast, skip or have a light lunch and look for a companion to buy you dinner." Allow $20 to $25 a day. Stay in the better hotels in a large city to meet the type of people you would enjoy. Spend less in smaller towns. Don't include clothes or furniture bought in another country as part of your travel budget. "Wouldn't you buy a suit, coat, books, possibly china, during the year at home? Save that money and buy them on your trip," she says.

Avoid tours planned by U. S. travel agents. "They all will hate me," she laughed, "but for the woman alone it is best to arrange for your own travel ticket and perhaps one night at a hotel. Then let the concierge help you plan your tours. Join with others and route your own sightseeing. It's cheaper and more fun."

POLLY'S POINTERS

Clean Shower Curtain With Cold Cream

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — Getting a plastic shower curtain shining and wrinkle-free has long been a tedious housecleaning chore for me. This spring I bought an inexpensive jar of cold cream at the dime store and applied this with a soft cloth. It rubbed away the soap and water marks far easier than anything I had used and left a soft pliable new looking finish to the heavy plastic curtain. Helped my hands, too. — MRS. R.H.S.

DEAR POLLY — When spray painting a flower pot, can or jar, stick an old broomstick in the ground, put the can on it upside down and spray away. Leave it there to dry. —B.S.K.

DEAR POLLY — My suggestion is for those busy homemakers who have children all ages and a refrigerator door that is opened and closed several times an hour when the children are home from school and always looking for snacks. I clip a piece of paper to the inside of the refrigerator door and write on it what is in the refrigerator to eat. At a glance one can tell without shifting everything around. If a child drinks the last of the milk or eats the last piece of fruit, he crosses that item off the list so others know there is no more. Also when time comes for me to prepare a meal or even a pickup lunch, I can look at this paper and decide in a minute what I can prepare with the least effort. This saves time, food that sometimes might be otherwise neglected and even a few pennies on the electric bill as the refrigerator is not kept open so long at a time. My mother sends me the Pointers which she cuts from our home town paper and I find them most useful in our everyday living. —EVELYN

GIRLS — I think this Pointer would be even better if the list was attached to the OUTSIDE of the refrigerator door. Our thanks to Evelyn's mother for sharing the column.

DEAR POLLY — I am 13 years old. I help my mother with the housework and I am always interested in learning new Pointers. Usually one of my jobs is to wax the floors. Before I use a cloth to wax a floor I soak it in cold water and wring it out well. I have noticed that the damp cloth does not absorb the wax and I can save a good deal of wax that would otherwise be wasted as it soaked into the cloth. —L.C.

GIRLS — Doesn't it do your hearts good to read such a letter from a teen-ager? One of our future homemakers and doubtless a good one, too. Years ago I learned from an expert that a damp sponge mop was better for waxing the kitchen floor (with liquid wax) than a dry one. I have done this for a long, long time and know how good it is. —POLLY

Share your favorite homemaking ideas. . . send them to Polly in care of the Pampa News. You'll receive a dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Use paper clips to hold plastic material instead of basting which will leave pin marks.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Edmondson, 1224 Garland, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jerry, to Gerald Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Allen, 100 N. Sumner. The couple exchanged vows July 17 and are making their home in Pampa.

Simple Bright Idea

If floors won't shine, or walls are grubby with fingerprints, here's a suggestion: ceramic tile. Ceramic tile resists all the basic elements of destruction — fire, water, fading, even the brute force of golf shoes and children on roller skates. Ceramic tile is available in 250 different colors and an infinite number of patterns.

Mrs. Cody Gives TOPS Program

LEFORS (Spl) — Three L TOPS Club met in the home of Mrs. Boyd Beck Tuesday evening for a regular bi-monthly meeting with Mrs. D. C. Read in charge.

The club recorded a total weight loss of ten pounds and Mrs. R. W. Beck and Mrs. Boyd Beck were honored as queens.

Mrs. Bill Cody presented the program, "Why I Eat Like I Do," with all club members participating.

Those present were Mmes: Bill Cody, D. C. Read, H. L. Teal, R. W. Beck, Ben White, W. L. Jackson and two guests, Mmes. James Harvey and Walter Elliott.

Key to Convenience

The easy maintenance of the bathroom can be brought to the rest of the house, with beautiful decorator-touch results. Ceramic tile, available in 250 colors and an infinite number of patterns, makes possible a variety of decors as lovely as they are easily kept that way.

The Doctor Says:

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT, Newspaper Interprise Assn. Q—What is porphyria and what is the treatment?

A—Porphyria is a disease of unknown cause. Heredity appears to play a role. Alcohol and barbiturates may trigger an attack in persons who are susceptible to this disease. The liver of these persons produces an excess of porphyrin, a purple pigment necessary in the formation of hemoglobin.

The disease is manifested by repeated attacks of severe abdominal cramps, constipation and weakness. The victims are overly sensitive to sunlight which may cause severe blistering. The urine, which appears normal at first may turn a burgundy red on exposure to sunlight.

While there is no simple cure, victims are benefited by avoiding alcohol and exposure to the sun. If an operation must be performed, it is important to tell both the surgeon and the anesthetist about the condition so they will not give any barbiturates.

Several other drugs have recently been added to the list to be avoided. These include diemone, griseofulvin (a drug to control ringworm), meprobamate and chlorthalidoxepide (tranquilizers) and several anticonvulsants.

If alcohol has precipitated an attack, bloodletting gives prompt relief. In others severe attacks have been controlled by the use of the artificial kidney. Q—Last summer my 18-year old daughter got Sherman's disease. How long will it last? Is there any cure?

A—You are probably referring to Scheurmann's disease which affects the growth centers (epiphyses) of the vertebrae. It results in a forward curvature of the spine for which a body cast or back brace is usually worn. In younger children the disease may last several years but it disappears when bony growth ceases — usually is the 17th or 18th year. If your daughter wears a brace until the disease has run its course, she should not have any disability or unwanted after effects of the disease. A—This is a form of cancer and complete removal, and the best treatment? The only treatment is by X-ray treatment and what is mones.

New Handknits Are First-Class Travelers

Advice Is Given To Vacation Consumer

Dear Abby....

Why Hesitate? Develop Interest in His Hobby

DEAR ABBY: Our minister's wife is a party pusher. She has organized all sorts of social activities within the church membership, such as a camera club, a flower-arranging class, etc. It's fine for those taking part. But what about their husbands and wives? I am not normally a jealous person, but I don't appreciate having my husband run to the camera club to enjoy himself with the wives of other men who are absent because they do not happen to be interested in photography. I could have joined the camera club, but my husband can't sing and I didn't want to join without him. I think the minister's wife is stirring up a lot of trouble. I'd like your opinion.

WITHHOLD MY NAME: DEAR WITHHOLD: Do not blame the minister's wife. If you want to be with your husband, nothing is preventing you from developing an interest in his hobby.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 61 years old, and I think he's entering his second childhood.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — It's international travel time. And women who knit have a first-class ticket to fashion's foreign intrigue.

Get a quick start next spring, using your Yankee know-how with needles on summer fashions as French as the Eiffel Tower. You can knit or crochet — either way the look is lacy, feminine and Parisienne.

The new look in knits springs from this year's "little girl sweater." French designers made it sleeveless and simple except for a see-through, sieve-like bodice. Overnight, the sweater grew up as a symbol of the peek-a-boo knit stretched to dress length for a full season in the summer vacation sun.

See-through knits and crochets take fashion lightly. New, ready-to-knit designs are as free as the flapper styles of the '20s, but as current as today. Knitted in a blend of Irish linen and Orton yarn, dresses take shape in sun-drenched colors and pastels with a chalklike finish. The yarn knits up into a lacy, go-everywhere dress. You can dress it up for evening with no more than a single pin or string of pearls.

These knits are designed to create a soft silhouette. Dresses

FIRST CLASS FASHION TICKETS — Knitters can step out in see-through styles and women who know their needles can knit this trim skirt and classic overblouse (left). A blend of Irish linen and Orton in the yarn creates a light and lacy pattern. Texture gives the classic sheath (right) a new outlook for summer. This quick-to-knit peek-a-boo fashion has an easy-stride skirt and relaxed lines.

are pared down to gentle curves and flowing lines. Simple sheaths have self-belts to tie snugly at the waist or drop to hip length.

Trim skirts are worn with classic shells, free and easy at the neckline, or with a new sleeveless jacket that wraps around to button at the side.

Summer suits have blazer tops with easy three-quarter sleeves. As with cruising and amour, the French have a way with couture. But you don't even have to visit Paris to reap the benefits of their designs this summer. Let Paris come to you with the new French look in open-knit fashions.

Easy-to-follow instruction books and the new lace-making yarns are available at art needlework departments and yarn shops.

TAKE SOAP, SHOES TO EUROPE

If you're planning to spend your vacation in Europe, remember to take with you three important items: walking shoes that are sturdy and comfortable (you'll encounter acres of cobblestones), soap and washcloths. Except at the luxury hotels, these last two necessities are not provided.

gone, and without the receipts all you have is grounds for coffee.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT" IN STUDIO CITY, CALIF.: Mark Twain once said, "It takes a friend and an enemy working together to hurt you to the quick. One to slander you and the other to get the news to you." If this woman is your "best" friend, I think you can do better.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHUMPS DEAR "CHUMPS": Ask the girl in charge of collecting the "coffee money" to save the receipts in the future, or appoint another girl. What's gone is items. What you buy depends upon space and your budget. Most popular models are the eight and seven-foot models which sell for $150 to $800. A nine-foot regulation-length table requires a total area of 12x16 feet.

One producer of home pool tables (Superior Industries) offers these buying tips:

—Select a table with a warp-proof surface — possibly slate, preferred by professionals ($800 to $1,500), or honeycomb bed type (up to $500).

—Side cushions of top-grade gum rubber for best ball bounce.

—Table legs with mechanically adjustable floor levelers.

—Formica-type plastic on table edges to protect against burns and stains.

—Regulation cue sticks (47 to 57 inches) and billiard balls no smaller than 2 1/8 inches in diameter.

—What does the warranty cover and are parts replaceable?

—Did you buy all the basic equipment? There is nothing more frustrating than trying to play any game with pieces of equipment missing.

Do's and Don'ts On Face Washing

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Doing something through habit saves time and mental energy. Yet, it always is a surprise to learn we've been doing a grooming task such as brushing our teeth or washing our face incorrectly.

Do you, for example, know how to wash your face? Skin specialists say you probably do not.

First, take more care in selecting your facial soap. You may find a nondrying soap compounded with oils and milk solids ideal for your complexion problems. If your skin bleaches easily, specialists (at Jaquet), recommend an antiseptic cleansing soap.

Most of us tend to use a washcloth or our hands which may or may not be clean to wash our faces. However, you will find a complexion brush best to encourage circulation while cleansing.

Soften the bristles with warm water and rub the brush across the soap bar until you have a good lather.

Start at the chest just below the throat line. Work up to the chin with long, sweeping strokes. Brush, don't scrub, your skin as you would a floor. Relather the brush often. Continue to brush your face working gently upward from point of chin to the base of the nose and the temple. Brush upward and outward on the forehead.

To properly cleanse your nose, brush downward from the bridge of the nose to the tip and around the wings of the nostrils. Take special care in this area where oil and grime encourage unsightly blackheads and whiteheads.

Now rinse your face thoroughly. Cup your hands and splash water on your throat and face. Use warm water and then cool water. Pat dry your face and throat with a clean towel.

SCORE projects are based on a theory that teen-age boys who have demonstrated a tendency to get into serious trouble are the best qualified to work out solutions to their problems with the volunteers who are trying to help them.

Pampan Weds in Levelland Church Rites

Wedding vows were pledged by Miss Juaniza Gaye Titus and William Robert Cross at 8 o'clock yesterday evening in First Christian Church at Levelland. Rev. Robert Hooks officiated the double-ring ceremony.

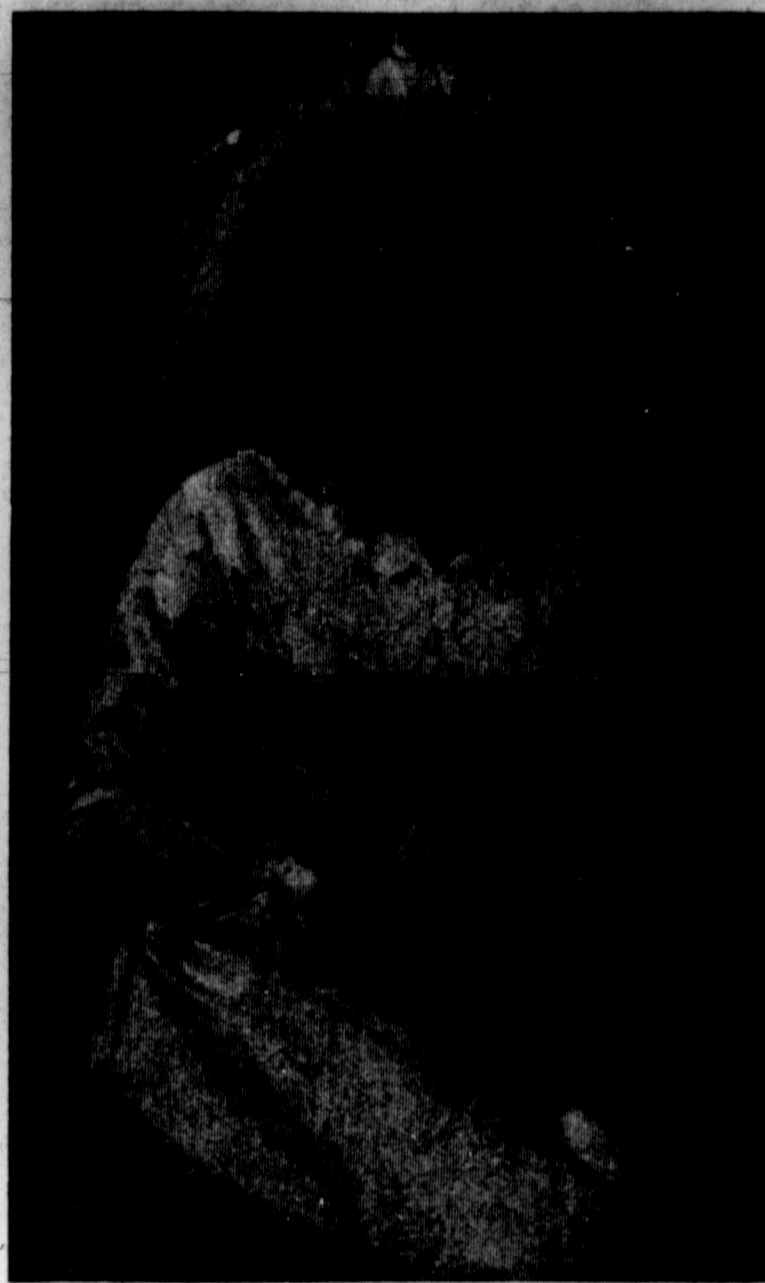

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Titus of Levelland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cross of Pampa.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal-length gown of white silk peau de soie featuring long petal point sleeves and a scalloped portrait neckline formed by lace motifs which were tufted and accented by pearls and crystal beads. The lace motifs extended down the fitted bodice and the controlled bell skirt in a spray design. A cathedral-length swallow-tail train flowed from under a large fabric bow at center waist in the back. A smaller bow accented the mid-line edge of the train. A queen's crown of fabric petals, outlined in pearls and circles of crystals, held an elbow-length veil of imported silk illusion. The bride carried an elongated bouquet fashioned of English ivy, stephanotis and white orchids, accented with pearl sprays and bows of bridal satin.

The white covered bridal aisle, decorated with arrangements of white tapers, satin and English ivy, led to the communion table, which was backed with an ivory covered candelabra holding white tapers. Large candelabra trees entwined with English ivy and holding crystal votive cups stood on either side. The setting was completed by triple candelabra on each side of an arrangement of white gladioli and imperial daisies, accented by white satin rope.

Maid of honor was Miss Polly McLain of Spearman and bridesmaids were Miss Susie Hughes of White Deer, Miss Synda Taylor of Fritch and Miss Ann Lupton of Shallowater. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Rama Bullin of Levelland, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore formal-length sheath gowns of pale mint green organza underscored with white lace and mint green silk organza. The dresses featured a scooped neckline, sleeveless fitted bodice and a slightly belled skirt. Two large fabric roses accented the back neckline from which sheer organza wattle panels flowed to the hemline. Their head-pieces were large mint green hats featuring fluted brims and open crowns made of green flowers variegating from light to darker tones. Satin bows and streamers fell from the back of the hats. The honor attendant carried a lovers knot style bouquet of white stephanotis and mint green gladiolus. The bridesmaids carried partially opened white lace parasols with cascades of English ivy and miniature daisies in shades of white to lime tint.

Best man was Alford Cross, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsman were Joe Haddon of Wichita Falls, John Shaller of Canadian and Monty and Marty Titus of Levelland, brothers of the bride. Guests were seated by usher Gary Kuncce of Canyon, Clark Hutchinson of Phillips, and Elmo Hooser Jr. of Seymour.

Mrs. William Robert Cross
... nee Miss Juaniza Gaye Titus

Ring bearer was Gary Means and flower girl was Sherry Means, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Means of Ropesville. Candelighters were Roger Bullin, cousin of the bride, and Charles Stewart, both of Levelland.

Vocalists were Bill Devers of Canyon, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "One Hand, One Heart" and Miss Synda Taylor, who sang "The Wedding Prayer." Music and accompaniment was furnished by the organist, Miss Shirley Peters of Wellington.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the church. The reception table was covered with a white silk organza cloth with eyelet embroidered ruffles over white satin. Garlands of rose clusters connected by a frosted chain were attached on the side and ends of the table in scalloped fashion. On the table was a four-tier wedding cake on columns decorated with swags of roses and topped with a white satin wedding bell and pearl hearts. The table featured an arrangement of white stock and mint green daisies atop a pearlized cherub compote. At the base were clusters of small white gladiolus and ivy garlands. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride chose a white double knit suit, accessories of brown lizard and a brown and white feathered hat. She wore a corsage of white cattleya orchids taken from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Levelland High School, is a senior at West Texas State University, majoring in elementary and special education. She is a member of Delta Zeta, national social sorority. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School, is a senior at West Texas State University, majoring in business management. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary music fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross will make their home in Canyon where Mr. Cross is employed by Fidelity Life Insurance Company, and Mrs. Cross will be engaged in teaching in the Canyon Elementary school system.

Diana Franks Is Birthday Honoree

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Miss Diana Renea Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Franks, was honored recently with a birthday party marking her first birthday.

After the opening of gifts, refreshments of ice cream and birthday cake were served.

Guests were the honoree's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hyde of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Franks of Skellytown; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Franks and children of Pampa, and the honoree's sister, Ruth Anne Franks.

HEALTH INSURANCE SETS NEW RECORDS
NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 145 million Americans — 77 per cent of the civilian population — had some form of health insurance at the end of 1963, the Health Insurance Council reports.

The Council said both the number of persons covered, and the amount of benefits paid by health insurance, reached new heights last year. Coverage increased by 3.9 million persons during the year. Benefit payments to help cover the cost of hospital, surgical and medical care amounted to nearly $6.9 billion.

1949's Typical Cowgirl Grew With Rodeo

Horses Still First Love of Linda Dee Love After 16 Years

By PEGGY JO ORMSON
Women's Editor

Miss Linda Dee Love, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee R. Love of Borger, is pictured on the left as she appeared in the July 31, 1949, edition of the Pampa Daily News. Miss Love was two years old at the time and typified the "Typical Cowgirl of 1949." The Love family resided at 858 W. Foster when the picture was published in the News.

Miss Love is shown in the photo to the right as she appears today, 16 years later.

1949's typical cowgirl grew up as did the Annual Top O' Texas Rodeo.

Miss Love, a 1965 graduate of Borger High School, plans to attend Frank Phillips Junior College next fall.

Horses are the typical cowgirl's first love and she is an ardent horse woman. In addition to horseback riding, Miss Love collects miniature replicas of horses of every description, and now has some 40 miniatures in her collection.

TYPICAL COWGIRL OF 1965 — The 18-year-old Miss Love is pictured as she appears today. Horses are her first love and she is still the "Typical Cowgirl."

The very latest thing in sunglasses—I hear—lets a woman look out without anyone seeing.

There are plenty of women who don't need special sunglasses to give the effect of shutting others out. You meet these women with their own built-in eye shades all the time.

Coolly and calculatingly they look others over—sizing up every new acquaintance for mental pigeonholing. This detached attitude does something to their eyes. It seems to put a hard glaze over them—a glaze that keeps anyone from looking in.

There's no warmth, no sparkle, no invitation to friendship in these curtained eyes. When your own eyes meet a pair of eyes like that, you feel pushed back, dismissed. And so you move away as quickly as you politely can—and mentally dismiss the owner of the eyes as "hard" or "unfriendly" or "cold" or "snooty."

"She doesn't look at you, she looks through you." I once heard a man say of a beautifully dressed, carefully groomed woman who spent plenty of time and money to make herself attractive—and then ruined the whole effect by looking at the world through disinterested eyes.

So the last thing that a woman needs is a pair of sunglasses that let her look out but prevent anyone from looking in. What a woman needs, if she is to draw others to her like a magnet, are the kind of eyes that sparkle with enthusiasm, soften with sympathy and shine with interest.

A woman with eyes like that is almost always described by others as being charming, friendly, kind. What woman wouldn't prefer to be described in those terms to being dismissed as hard or unfriendly?

Statues of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn stand in Hannibal, Mo., boyhood home of Mark Twain.

The Mature Parent

Crush the Problem, Not Your Children

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My two older children are married and I have two younger girls, 6 and 7. They fight over everything: going to bed, getting up for school, at meals. The older one is bossy and boisterous but the younger one is a vicious fighter. Separating them does no good. Neither does spanking. I am so frustrated and exhausted. What have I done wrong?

ANSWER: They don't do everything so right either, you know. Do you secretly feel you've done them a great injustice by having them so close together? Do you feel you've deprived them of their rights to full terms of babyhood? Do you see this fighting as accusation of your failure to provide the babyhoods that belonged to them?

If you do, we know why you can't stop it. You rate this persecution. The children are entitled to punish you, to frustrate and exhaust you in return for the great injustice you did them.

I don't know how to help you with this self-blame. I'm sure, though, you didn't choose to have these children so close together. I'm sure it was something you couldn't control. And why you should blame yourself for what you could do nothing about, I don't understand—unless your own training taught you to accept blame for uncontrollable circumstances.

You see, if you knew that this persecution was unjustified and outrageous, you'd end it.

If you don't weigh too much, sitting on the rear ends of rambunctious children is, in my opinion, effective discipline when these young ones start fighting, were I you, I would grab one of them, turn her over on her stomach and sit myself down on her rear end. I would not talk. I'd just convey the truth, without hurting her, that I am stronger than she is. When this had been made clear, I'd get up and say to both children: "Any more fighting today—and I'll grab one of you and sit on her. I'm bigger and stronger than you are and I'm having no more fighting."

If we don't weigh too much, there's something about unburdening contact with our bodies that quiets children down. But if, as I suspect you do, we blame our bodies for inflicting some great injustice on the children, we cannot use them as the benevolent discipline instruments they actually are. We can only use them to scold and spank.

Don't Let August Heat Spoil Your Pleasure.

August is a good month for vacations, picnics, boat rides and bathing. But if you don't take certain precautions, the sun can burn your skin and tire your eyes. Flies, mosquitoes, fleas and sand bugs will bite away your fun. At the end of what should have been a day of pleasure you wind up with pains, aches and a sleepless night.

There are so many fine products to insure a perfect day. From our summer health-aids displays you can select sunburn preventives and sun-glasses. We have skin lotions which keep insects away. There are creams to prevent a dry skin, anti-perspirants to stop excessive perspiration and deodorants to prevent embarrassment. Come in and see them.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Astrological Forecast
By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine Sunday to get in touch with any and all and sit down amiably and discuss whatever means can be more successful in whatever is of interest to them and to you. The co-operative feeling in the air assures a new meeting of minds by your own intelligent activities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Sitting down with associates and discussing future plans is very wise on this fine day — know where you are headed. Concentrate quietly first. Get ideas well thought out.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — The ideal day for that very precise and clarity from those who count. Later in the day work that gains you prestige and popularity. Take health treatments you need. Get more pep.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Take the trouble to amuse those who are in distress and be very dynamic with persons you want to impress. Put those fine talents to work. All eyes very favorably for you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Improving conditions and love and with kin should be first on the agenda now. Also, those who are trouble makers. Control your temper and be very kind with close ties.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Getting off to early services is wise, since then much time is open for happy family visit. Tonight should be reserved for good friends. Have a real ball.

VIRO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Much time spent in study and thinking will reveal how to become far more affluent and with relative speed. Go on your accounts. Know just where you stand — what you can do.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — An excellent day for investigations, since others are in the mood to help you round out your knowledge. Put those secret plans to work properly. Confide in nobody.

SAGITTARIUS (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Much sociability is warranted and getting on the good side of influential friends. Repeating social obligations to best advantage. Be sure you pick the proper places to go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) — If you show that you truly live the Golden Rule now, signers will give the support you need. Situations arise that show you where you stand. Then make careful improvements.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) — Being in the company of persons with true wisdom helps you tremendously in improving your way of life. Be alert to novel ideas, suggestions. Growth can come easily.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — Rather than take chances at this time, be sure you carry through precisely with desires of superiors. Reach better support with close ties. Show that you are understanding.

MEMOS FROM YOUR STYLIST
by Jackie and Edna

What with tinted hair being rather common these days, here are a few tips on proper care: Washing should be done with a mild, nonstripping shampoo or one of the newer shampoos prepared especially for each type of coloring. Warm water is suggested for tinted hair; bleached or toned hair calls for water somewhat cooler. Towel-dry gently.

If overly-dry and brittle, professional treatment are the answer.

The answer to most hair problems can be found at our salon. Hair too dry, too oily, or that is practically uncontrollable will respond beautifully to expert care and uncommonly fine permanents at BOB-ETTE BEAUTY SALON, 2110 Perryton Parkway. Phone: MO 5-3591... 6 operators to serve your every beauty need... Plenty of Parking...

THIS WEEK'S HOUSEHOLD HINT: Hair brushes can be cleaned with equal parts of salt and flour. Rub mixture into the brush, comb through bristles and shake out.

Dressed-Up Bath Doubles as Gym

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A link between the bedroom and the bath is showing up on house plans and its function is not strictly confined to the old idea of "dressing room."

The all-out national emphasis on physical fitness and the long way we have to go to reach the goal have sparked changes in many homes.

The most casual reader is aware of the ads for all sorts of aids to physical fitness, from exercise records to rowing machines and do-it-yourself sauna baths. One requisite for most people embarking on a daily exercise program is a measure of privacy. A logical move is to snitch a few feet from closet or bedroom space to enlarge the bath into a bath-dressing room-gym complex.

Some exercise routines can be performed in floor space the length of the body. If you like the challenge of exercise machines, there are some which take little space. In any event, the gym-dressing room will need a cupboard shelf reserved for storage of exercise equipment. Although harder souls tell us to spread a towel on the floor for the floor-based exercising, I like an exercise mat, for comfort's sake. I've been using a plushy bathroom rug which isn't quite long enough. Recently, I saw the obvious answer: A slab of latex-foam-rubber covered in a durable lintex vinyl cloth.

DOUBLE-DUTY BATH — The bathroom-dressing room combination has expanded to include space for a family gym. This homeowner uses a muscle-toning device and an exercise mat of latex foam covered with lintex vinyl cloth. The dressing bench is upholstered in blue vinyl-covered foam rubber.

This was a homemade mat. The latex slab bought readycut is 6 feet long, 35 inches wide, 2 inches deep. The vinyl cloth on sale at variety and hardware stores is easy to sew, sponges clean and doesn't chip or crack. The cover is simple envelope type. The mat rolls up when not in use and is roomy enough to double for an overnight guest mattress on a cot.

To sustain you through the exercises, music is an aid. A portable record player or transistor radio is easily accommodated on a cot.

As the bathroom lengthens into the dressing room and family gym, the addition of two wash-bowls in a counter-top has met with favor. The longer counter-top over cupboards lets two persons wash up and the extra storage is always useful.

In a departmentalized bath, with basins in one area, shower, bathtub and toilet in other, screened off areas, another change is sometimes indicated. The cabinet where medicine and bathroom supplies are kept may be planned near towel and linen storage rather than over the basins.

Cabinets with child-proof compartments for medicine storage are available and should be investigated when bathrooms are built or remodeled.

If you are building or remodeling, the bathroom fixtures with border designs ornamenting white wash basins are pretty ways to introduce a favored color without going overboard.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Dear Mrs. Light: I've never believed in that sadistic piece of advice, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." To me, an adult who strikes a helpless child is simply a grown-up bully who has never learned to control himself.

My husband and I are bringing up three lovely children, and believe me, we've never laid a hand on any of them. When our seven-year-old came home from school today and said the teacher had spanked him for making funny noises, I was appalled.

I thought spanking wasn't allowed in school these days. To whom should I protest? A lot of harm has been done already and it will happen again only over my dead body!

—Mother Up in Arms
Answer: Simmer down, mother. I doubt that your son has suffered any permanent damage, either physically or emotionally. At this point he is probably enjoying your reaction to the incident.

If you wish to know the policy of your school regarding corporal punishment, call the principal. Unless it's specifically forbidden, you probably have no grounds for complaint. Most school systems take the position that the teacher stands "in loco parentis," which gives him the green light for administering any reasonable punishment a parent might use. Since you feel so strongly about rod-sparing, however, it might be wise to let the teacher know your sentiments. Teachers do not like to upset parents and generally respect their requests.

Surprisingly enough, many parents approve of spankings at school, at least as a last resort. "Don't hesitate to swat him if he needs it" is a fairly common remark. Assault and battery cases against teachers, on the other hand, seem to be on the upswing. Consequently, most teachers are almost overly cautious about touching a pupil.

Personally, as a parent, I felt as you do and expressed myself as avidly. As a teacher, however, I've changed my tune — at least where obstreperous boys are concerned. After the ninth or tenth offense, when sweet reason is exhausted, some children ASK for the hickory stick. Unfortunately, they have no respect for the velvet glove unless it is soundly backed by the iron hand.

Sherry Ellen Johnston Becomes Bride Of William D. Wood in Borger Ceremony

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Miss Sherry Ellen Johnston became the bride of William Dale Wood in double-ring vows read at 7:30 p.m. July 18 in First Christian Church, Borger.

Rev. Kenneth Jones officiated the exchange of vows, which were repeated amid a setting of baskets of white gladioli, candelabra flanking the altar steps and two candelabra behind the kneeling bench.

Miss Johnston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Johnston of Borger, and Mr. Wood's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wood of Skellytown.

Miss Pam Crites, organist, provided traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Miss Patricia Eastham as she sang "Tell Me Why" and "All The Things You Are."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with an overskirt of lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned of re-embroidered lace embellished with seed pearls and the long fitted sleeves came to petal points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of rose petals adorned with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with two white orchids.

Preceding the ceremony the bride presented her mother with a long-stemmed red rose and presented the bridegroom's mother with the same token following the exchange of vows.

Miss Kathy Lewis attended as maid of honor. Miss Lewis was attired in a street-length dress of baby blue cotton satin, matching blue hat and white accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations. Miss Susan Seitz-of-Fort-Collins, Colo., and Miss Georgiana Jackson of Pampa, dressed as bridesmaids.

Candelighters were Stephanie and Kim Cole. Flower girl was Mary Beth Cole and ring-bearer

Mr. and Mrs. William Dean Wood
... nee Sherry Ellen Johnston was Garth Richards.

Tommy Elliott served the bridegroom as best man while ushers were Eddie Dickey and Norman Flue, both of Phillips, Henry Carter, Eddy Johnston and Larry Johnston, all of Borger.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnston chose a pink dacton batiste dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink crepe sheath dress with bone accessories. Both mothers wore pink rosebud corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Parlor. The bride's table, covered with a gathered floor-length white net cloth, was centered with a floral arrangement of empor daisies flanked by tall white tapers in silver holders. The top layer of the four tiered cake was shaped like a clover leaf and decorated with white roses. Miss Betty Wood and Miss Shirley Wood, both sisters of the bridegroom, presided at serving. The bridegroom's table was covered with a gold and white cloth. Mrs. Tom Wood and Mrs. Roy Wood, both aunts of the bridegroom, attended the serving. Miss Connie Parks attended the guest registrar.

For a wedding trip, the bride traveled in a blue and white cotton dress with white accessories and lifted the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return—the couple will make their home at 1407D Boyd St., Borger.

The bride is a graduate of Borger High School. The bridegroom, a 1963 graduate of White Deer High School, is presently employed by the Borger News Herald and attending Frank Phillips Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wood, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts for a rehearsal dinner the evening preceding the ceremony at Sutphens Barbecue, Borger.

Canadian Rebekahs Initiate New Member

CANADIAN (Sp) — Mrs. Mary Ellen Burke was initiated into the Canadian Rebekah Lodge No. 124 in a ceremony held at 8 P.M. July 22.

Refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were Mes. Carefree Summer Separates

EASY-CARE SEPARATES — The popular king-sized zipper is an important feature on easy-care separates for youngsters this season. Planted squarely front and center (left) for fashion news, the zipper with the big round ring turns up on bold sailing duck jamaicas. The shorts are teamed with a sleeveless shirt in a lively beach print. The big O zipper turns up again (right) down the front of a skimpy duck shift. These are Russ Girl designs.

NEW YORK (NEA) — School is out, vacation is here and the youngsters are carefree. And so are the funminded separates for children especially designed to give mom a vacation from the ironing board.

Pleats spin out on skirts and shifts, kicking up motion wherever they go. But in dacron and cotton poplin, these pleats know their place, even after the wash. The jumbo zipper, a favorite in adult sportswear, turns up to give the school set a fashion look for summer. The big zipper turns up on shorts, skirts, jackets and shifts in surfy top-stitched duck.

Easy-care seersucker is all ruffled up for a baby doll look. Seersucker shifts have ruffled yokes and solid-tone seersucker blouses team up with pleated skirts or belted jamaicas in sunny pastels.

Lightweight Arnel denims pair off in solids and stripes for active playwear. There are striped blouses with tangy sailor collars and surfers with nautical web belts. Denim jumpers skim the figure for a cool, neat silhouette.

On the bright side you'll find sparkling white, yellow and royal blue. There are soft shades of powder blue, pink aqua and mint green, too, and the deeper tones of navy, loden and red.

By mixing and matching a group of these carefree summer separates mother and daughter can share summer vacation freedom.

As for figure, the shapes and the heights depend on the city you're in.

Legs? Slim and small in all served to Mmes. Miles Pearson, Muriel Nichols, W. S. Berry, E. E. Crawford, Floyd McCoy, Clarence Hoskins and Gertrude Huckins.

instances. They have to be, to show off well the above-knee skirts and the textured and jeweled stockings.

Coiffures? The hair is cut boy short and on squared-off geometric lines, often with bangs low on the forehead. Or, it's long and pulled up onto the head in disorderly stacks or neat, sausage rolls. Or, there are pigtailed and ringlet ponytails, if you're young enough for the Girl Scouts.

I've been making notes on the models as I migrated from the Florence fall and winter fashion openings, on to Rome, and now here for the haute couture collections, and how they stack up against the girls in New York's showrooms. In Paris, the mannequins are tall or tiny, depending on designer whim. They're thin, most nearly matching the New York image of the gaunt face and figure, the fat chest.

Most of the Italian girls have CURVES, often uninhibited by bras. Their figures are slim, but minus those protruding shoulder blades of color to disgrace the bikini tops of those models in sportswear shows.

Now about that eye makeup, false lashes, sometimes two and three sets of them, are a must.

Lamar Christian CWF Holds Meeting

Christian Women's Fellowship of Lamar Christian Church met recently in the home of Mrs. John King, 1148 Prairie Dr., for Bible study, "Gods People Set Apart for a Purpose."

Meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. M. Brown and opening prayer was given by Mrs. Josephine Blalock. The lesson was taught by Mrs. King and devotional given by Mrs. Wayne Mulanax.

Finished projects, made of two washcloths pinned together with safety pins and filled with school supplies, games and candy were brought to the meeting. These are to be sent to the Migrant Mission at Hereford.

Members in attendance other than those previously mentioned were Mmes. Jack Prather, Dave Kerns, O. L. Tucker, M. E. Huff, B. F. Smith, Dick Sherman, Jack Wilkinson and Ve-trece Bodey.

Three guests Mmes. Duane Howe, John T. King and Freddy Young, were also present.

The young-at-heart story for summer is told in terms of cotton pinafores, shifts and tiny bikinis — all for the just out of cradle set, it seems. The cotton loungewear for grown-ups uses eyelet, ruffles, rick-rack and beading as accents. It's guaranteed, says the National Cotton Council, to keep grown girls looking like sugar 'n spice.

What will the well-dressed mermaid wear? Among other things, she'll sport a swim cap that looks like a bouquet of seaweed net, highlighted by bands of sequins. Or else she'll wear a hat that looks like straw but is waterproof.

Sybil's Discotheque is Like Way Out, Man

By DENNIS FAWCETT
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The small, black, four-legged stools at Arthur — the discotheque owned by Sybil Burton, who recently married her night club's featured singer, Jordan Christopher — resemble moldering mushrooms and, if you just brush against them, they tumble across the red carpet like skittish spiders.

They are also scarce: if you leave yours empty and unguarded for too long, don't expect to find it when you return.

"But that's half the fun," one joker observed. "It's like musical chairs. You dance around, and when the music stops, you try not to be the sucker left without a seat."

On stage, the wiry, mop-topped Mr. Christopher, who was born in Akron, Ohio, and strums an electric guitar with singular nonchalance was playing a frenetic number, backed up by a drummer and two other guitarists. Together they are called "The Wild Ones."

Below them, on a dance floor the comparative size of a postage stamp, some 50 couples churned and flailed and hopped and wiggled beneath a ceiling of colored lights glowing alternately blue, green and red. Others milled about or sat on couches along the walls or on those tiny unsteady stools, watching the dancers with numbed absorption.

Out in the foyer, herded behind a gold chain defended by a young fellow with a Beetle haircut, were people waiting to be admitted. A crowd was outside on the sidewalk too, chatting animatedly as various celebrities came and went apparently at will.

Some of the celebrities seemed to be there in spite of themselves.

"If I stay here any longer, I'll be tone deaf, dahling," moaned Tallulah Bankhead, who was celebrating the opening of her new film, "Die! Die! My Darling!"

"Those dancers look like they are going to throw up," she said. "They're all having sea-brood."

Carol Channing arrived, dressed in a sailor suit, and the management made a point of playing her recording of "Bye Bye, Blackbird." Several customers stood up and faced the star, applauding. Miss Channing thought the tune was an unfortunate choice, however.

"They can't figure out how to dance to it," she said bleakly, referring to the couples who were making fumbling efforts to adjust their thrashings to the more sedate rhythm of "Pack Up All My Cares and Woe."

Looking a trifle harried, the 36-year-old Mrs. Christopher emerged now and then from an open doorway behind the stage and moved through the room like a concerned mother hen keeping a watchful eye on her

Her establishment is amusing, crowded, exclusive, high-priced, titillating and noisy. Like a tropical fish bowl, it is filled with a variety of types wearing anything from gray suits and neckties to khaki shorts and sneakers.

"The Wild Ones" trooped back on stage for another show, and couples flocked to the dance floor to take advantage of "The Big Sound." With a reverberating twang of guitars and a jolting crash of cymbals and drums the music started.

All through the place bodies manipulated by a single master puppeteer.

Bobby Darin, looking like America's coolest soda jerk, clapped his hands and bobbed his head without bothering to leave the table.

Somebody dragged Miss Bankhead up, and onlookers cried, "Look, Tallulah's dancing."

Almost lost in the mob was Sal Mineo, doing a halfhearted, uninspired twist with a girl whose slip was showing. Novelist Bud Schulberg, sporting a curly gray beard, strolled about with his hands in his pockets, like a modern-day Petronius taking mental notes on a contemporary version of Nero's Rome.

As the music reached a driving pitch, one dancer let his tongue hang out. In the foyer a bovine woman started to shimmy. Suddenly the dance floor grew way overcrowded, and some couples began to spill off, dancing among the tables. Stools were falling all over the joint.

Joan Staley Off Gold Standard

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Strange lot-fellows: Arthur Hill, who created the leading role on Broadway in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," is now working at Warner Brothers in "The Moving Target," while "Woolf" is being shot with Richard Burton in Hill's part.

Hill mentally shrugs of his disappointment.

"I'd like to have been tapped for it," he says. "But I realize that Burton's name means more at the box office than mine."

Past, Artie—There was also the little matter of Burton's wife, too.

Notables' Quotables: "My children have only seen 'Mary Poppins' twice. Actually, the older ones wish I was Sean Connery."—Dick Van Dyke.

For 8½ years, Joan Staley has been one of Hollywood's better blondes. It paid off in a moderate sort of way—she was on Broadway last season and just finished a western with Audie Murphy called "Gunpoint."

But now producer Eddie Montagne has brummetted her for "Running Scared," a comedy in which she costars with Don Knotts. And I sat with her in the Universal commissary as person after person came by, did a double take, then proceeded to say something like, "Joanie, you look great—even better, if that's possible."

She admits that she feels different as a brunette. But so far says the change is only temporary. She still feels like she says the change is only temporary. She still feels like a blonde.

Blonde or brunette, Joan's having a great year. Doing two feature films back to back after a series, is a pretty good sign. But isn't really affected her life too much.

"I switched from a '51 to a '64 car," she says, "and I put my daughter in a private school. But I still live in the same apartment with the same furnishings—everything's in a style about halfway between Early Halloween and Flatbush Renaissance."

Despite being one of Hollywood's prettiest, Joan finds life here not as glamorous as you might expect. Frequently, she is dateless. (As we were talking, there came a message asking her to call a certain gentleman, one of the top television stars. She asked me if he was married—I didn't know—and she decided she'd better check that little detail before she called him. A girl, even a Hollywood glamor girl, has to be careful.)

"My idea of a great time," says Elizabeth Ashley, "is to have about six friends over for an evening and we play a game called Risk. Whoever wins takes over the world."

Television in Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK (UPI)—In television the race is not always to the swift and the rueful. Proof of this can be found at Elstree studios outside of London where British producers are trying hard to retrieve the lead they once held over "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." and other spoofs of James Bond.

Way back in 1961 the British conceived the idea that they could build a saleable television series around a super-intelligence agent on the Bond model but more obviously played for laughs. They filmed it under the title, "The Avengers" with some of the most outrageous plots ever committed to tape.

Criminal organizations sought to control the world; mad scientists invented brain-washing production lines; secret governments were set up behind proxy facades in present day Britain. They were all thwarted by an Edwardian dandy John Steed who used an umbrella, or a cane, or a rolled newspaper as weapons rather than the futuristic U.N.C.L.E. gun or he devious devices of Bond.

Steed's assistant was a beautiful judo and karate expert played originally by Honor Blackman who found it the springboard to film stardom.

"The Avengers" headed the British ratings but, to the chagrin of its producers, not as a "send up"—or caricature—of spy thrillers but as the real, genuine article. The British public simply would not accept that these were intended to kid the producer once wanted to have espionage turned. The frantic heroine straddled to the railroad tracks with the midnight express thundering towards her—only he feared thousands of Britons would scream "save that girl!"
