NUCLEAR NOTABLE-Canal digging has come a long way since the early days of the Panama Canal. Photograph shows a nuclear explosive canal digging technique being used on a scale model of the 46-mile Sasardi-Morti route through Panama. The area is one of the frequently mentioned routes for a new trans-isthmian canal. Using the new method, a series of trenches is excavated on a leapfrog basis. A second series of detonations would excavate the remaining sections to form a continuous sea level canal.

Investors' Corner

How to choose a stock broker ...a good sign to look for... which goal suits you best?

Let's assume you've decided to join the millions of people who hope to brighten their financial future through stock ownership. Perhaps you have a specific goal in mind-a retirement fund, or money for a child's education, or a second income to buy some of the luxuries that make life more pleasant. Where do you go from there? How do you choose a brokerage firm?

Many investors look for a firm that displays the sign, "Member New York Stock Exchange." There are some 3,500 member firm offices and probably one near you.

As a potential investor, you might be interested to know that every member firm is subject to the Exchange's many rules and

For example, Exchange rules require that a member firm maintain adequate capital, have an annual surprise audit by its independent public accountant and submit financial information to the Exchange periodically.

In addition, the registered representatives (some 33,000 brokers employed by member firms) are subject to Exchange regulations, too. In fact, before they could act as brokers in member firms, they had to meet Exchange standards for knowledge of the securities business.

Once you've chosen a broker, a good way to "break the ice" is to discuss your investment goal. For good current yield with relative safety, you might examine dividends from preferred stocks or interest from bonds. For long-term capital growth, common stocks might be best for you. Also, though dividends are never certain, a company may increase them as profits rise.

Whatever your goal, consider investing only money that's left after you've provided for living expenses and an emergency fund. (The Monthly Investment Plan is a systematic way to invest with as little as $40 each three months.) However, always keep in mind that stock prices rise and fall.

Next, ask your broker for facts about companies that interest you-their earnings, dividend and sales records and other information that might help to shape your judgment.

Finally, ask your broker for his opinion. He won't always be right, but he may point out a new direction for you to Sensible investing could make a wonderful difference in your life. That is why it is so important to know that there are right and wrong ways to go about it.

Now! New Chevelle SS 396 by Chevrolet

New '66 Chevelle SS 396 Convertible and Sport Coupe—with distinctive black grille and all-new Body by Fisher styling.

Equipped with a Turbo-Jet 396 V8, special flat-cornering suspension, 7.75 x 14" red stripe tires and floor-mounted stick shift.

As you probably gathered from the items ticked off above, these cars weren't meant for the driver who is willing to settle for frills. They're engineered from the chassis on up as no-compromise road machines.

Standard output of the new Turbo-Jet 396 V8-which powers both the convertible and sport coupe SS 396 models-is 325 hp. This remarkably efficient power plant is also available in a 360-hp version.

So much for what happens on straightaways. How about curves?-You ride on a specially designed SS 396 chassis—with flat-cornering suspension and wide-base wheels.

A fully synchronized 3-speed transmission is standard. Or you can order a 4-speed or Powerglide-also Strato-bucket front seats, center console and full instrumentation.

Sound like a car you could get serious over? That, as you'll see when you drop down to your dealer's and try one of these SS 396's or any of the other new Chevelles, is precisely how Chevrolet engineers planned it. Seriously.

CAN YOU PATENT IT? Even in this era of large-scale research, a surprising number f inventions still come from the tinkering individual. Valuable patents are still being won by 'basement inventors' ingenious enough to come up with something new.

One man invented a "perpetial motion machine," complete with a dazzling array of doodads and thingumabobs. But his invention was held not patentable because, being contrary to the laws of nature, it could not possibly to the job it was meant for.

Second, to qualify as useful, he invention must do something that is beneficial, not harmful, to society.

Exercise Futility: British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart arrives in Moscow this week on what diplomatic observers already are dismissing as an exercise in futility. The Russians consider British foreign policy so closely aligned with the United States that they openly are saying that if there is anything totalk about, why not take it up with the principal. And relations with Washington, according to no less an authority han Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin recently have tended to freeze. Stewart's visit was arranged last spring in exchange for Soriet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's trip to London. It than also was agreed in principle that Kosygin would visit Britain. That's been cancelled for the foreseeable future, with Kosygin having believe in "mere tourism." Accordingly, a cool reception in the month. If Stewart tries approval.
