Thousands of Marines Pour Ashore in Viet

Regiment Of Cong Trapped

SAIGON (UPI)—Thousands of U.S. Marines poured ashore from the 7th Fleet today and trapped a Viet Cong regiment of 1,500 men already battling Vietnamese and other U.S. Marines 20 miles south of Da Nang.

The Marines' operation, largest since they landed in Viet Nam seven months ago, closed a noose on the trapped Viet Cong who were being methodically cut to pieces by Marine artillery and American and Vietnamese planes attacking in great strength with bombs, rockets and napalm.

A U.S. Marine spokesman predicted the well-entrenched Viet Cong would suffer greater losses than they did in a similar Marine amphibious assault three months ago near Chu Lai that killed an estimated 700 to 1,000 Viet Cong. Enemy losses today were not disclosed. Marine casualties were said to be light.

An idea of the expected heavy Communist losses came in a report from two Phantom jets which apparently wiped out 150 Viet Cong in an inferno of blazing napalm hurled against a clump of trees where they had taken refuge.

The battle zone was some 20 miles south of Da Nang and about 20 miles inland. It was in this same area the Viet Cong cut a government crack ranger battalion to ribbons earlier this week with a point blank attack as the rangers rushed in to aid a trapped government unit. It is about 335 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman who reported the Marine landing disclosed that other Marines were flown in Thursday by helicopter to aid the hard-pressed Vietnamese fighting an enemy that appeared determined to fight to the last man.

"Blocked and Trapped" The spokesman said today's Marine landing supported by strong Air Force units had "blocked and trapped" the Viet Cong regiment dug into strong positions in the coastal areas that long have been a Communist stronghold.

The Marines appeared to be attacking in great force. A spokesman used the term "multi-battalion"—3,000 to 4,500 troops. A Marine battalion runs somewhere between 1,200 and 1,500 men. About 1,000 South Vietnamese were involved.

Fighting was described as "heavy" as the Vietnamese and Marines fought the Communist entrenched in bunkers, trenches and tunnels with heavy machine guns and mortars. Marine casualties were described as "light" but in recent days the Vietnamese have taken heavy losses.

Soviet Party Leadership Is Stronger Now

MOSCOW (UPI)—The team headed by Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin appeared today to have emerged stronger than ever from a Kremlin reshuffle.

As the dust settled from the dramatic power shifts Thursday, it appeared clear that the current collective leadership has acquired stability and that the changes may have even strengthened their rule.

The event in the public spotlight was the resignation from the presidency of the Soviet Union of 70-year-old Anastas Mikoyan, a durable veteran of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

Streaking Fireball May Have Been Geminid Meteor

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—An astronomer said today that a large fireball which streaked across the sky Thursday night and was seen by thousands of persons in at least nine states and Canada may have been a Geminid meteor from the constellation of Gemini.

A shower of Geminid meteors had been expected today, Dr. Nicholas Wagman, director of the Allegheny Observatory here, said.

"As a rule, they are numerous but not bright," Wagman said. "A bright one, such as the one sighted last night, is generally sporadic." Wagman said there were reports of a shock wave in parts of Western Pennsylvania at the time of the sightings.

"The last such shock wave was in 1938, and later pieces of the meteorite were found north of Butler, Pa.," he said. "It is possible something may be found this time, too, once all the reports are coordinated and the area where it hit can be pinpointed." Butler is about 30 miles north of Pittsburgh.

Police in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan searched for the object.

The ball was seen by airplane pilots, weather observers, the U.S. Coast Guard at Windsor, Ont., Michigan, and residents of Idaho, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, and New York.

Sources at the Pentagon indicated Thursday they believed the orange flash was a meteorite.

Dr. Paul Anear of the Baldwin Wallace Observatory said the flash could have been a bolide, a meteor which disintegrates as it falls to earth, or a meteor shower expected to come next week.

He added that the large number of sightings by airplane pilots indicated validity of the reports. "After all, these people should know what they are talking about," he said.

Air Force officers, state police and area scientists will begin combing for the second time a 75-acre area 30 miles south of here in a mountainous wooded area of Mount Pleasant for debris.

Near Lapeer, Mich., 40 miles north of Detroit, police will again search a swamp where a sheriff's deputy, Lenny Tolly, found shredded foil Thursday.

Toy departments, as usual, are reporting heavy sales as Santa Claus invades them to stock up for his Christmas Eve visit to homes of children in the Pampa area.

A check of food stores indicated most were enjoying business comparable to last year, although warm weather is believed to be a control factor in buying certain types of meat and other heavy foods.

One food store manager agreed that a drop in temperature and a good snowstorm might bring a spurt in food buying. Business in the markets is expected to pick up noticeably in the week just before Christmas with the purchases of turkeys, chickens and all the accessories that go with the holiday dinner.

Christmas season business in Pampa stores of all types is up over last year anywhere from 10 to 40 per cent, a survey of merchants showed today.

Store owners and proprietors said they were highly pleased with the 1965 yule shopping season so far.

They stated indications are that the remaining shopping days before Christmas are expected to maintain the pace and may even surpass the business volume registered in the first week since the official launching of the holiday season on Santa Day one week ago.

One store said it was having its best season in history. Another said the current week has been the second best since the store opened.

Pampa merchants stated most Christmas buying to date has been in the practical category. "The people are shopping earlier and buying better merchandise than a year ago," said one store manager who reported.

Carr contends night courts will not be necessary under criminal code.

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr does not believe Texas' new code of criminal procedure will force cities and counties to establish night courts.

Carr ruled that a defendant arrested at night does not have to be taken before a magistrate until the magistrate's office opens for its regular business day.

Many cities were considering opening night courts because of a code section that says a defendant must be taken before a judge "immediately."

But Carr said, "A defendant need not be taken instantaneously or without intervention of time before a magistrate but may be taken before him at such time as he commences his regular daylight office hours."

Legal sources said Carr's interpretation of "immediately" probably will be tested before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals soon after the new code becomes effective Jan. 1.

API To Convene, Elect Officers At Annual Meet

Oil industry representatives from over the Texas Panhandle will gather at Buena Vista Cafeteria in Borger tomorrow night for the annual election of officers banquet of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Highlight of the evening will be a business session at which officers for 1966 will be elected.

Principal speaker will be Bob Murphey, Nacogdoches humorist, who will be introduced by Milton Kinneman of Texaco in Pampa, API program chairman.

Ed Woodall of Pan American Petroleum Corp., chapter chairman, will preside at the meeting and Fred Neslage of the West Pampa Repressing Ass'n., will be master of ceremonies.

Among special guests at the banquet, which starts with a social hour at 7 p.m., will be U.S. Rep. Walter Rogers and Pampa Postmaster Lynn Boyd of Pampa.

Leonard White, Pampa, API secretary-treasurer, said 250 oil men from over the area are expected to attend.

HHH Vows Battle to Oust Union Shop in 19 States

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The AFL-CIO, admonished by President Johnson to limit wage demands to avoid inflation, received a fight-to-win pledge from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today on its main legislative goal in 1966.

Humphrey vowed that the Johnson administration would battle hard in the Senate to knock out laws banning the union shop in 19 states.

He said these statutes, authorized by the labor-hated section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act, depressed pay and living standards for millions of Americans and were not in the best interests of businessmen.

"That is why this administration is determined to fight—to fight hard and win—on the repeal of section 14-B," Humphrey said in a speech prepared for the AFL-CIO convention.

The 922 delegates heard the President warn by telephone from his Texas ranch Thursday that organized labor has a very special stake in cost-price stability.

Johnson said workers suffer most when unions increase wage demands and businessmen raise prices, then blame each other for the inflationary spiral.

"I believe that you ought to do your part," he said as the AFL-CIO leaders listened in silence. "Future progress will depend on future responsibility."

The President devoted two sentences to renew his backing for the House-approved measure, blocked by a Senate filibuster last fall, that would repeal 14-B.

"With your help, we will pass it," he told the convention, triggering the only applause that interrupted his 15-minute speech.

Moving into its second day, the convention was scheduled to hear Secretary of State Dean Rusk this morning at 9:45 a.m. PST before Humphrey's talk.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, declared, "we shall never quit" fighting for 14-B repeal in keynoting the opening session Thursday.

EQUIVALENT OF A SF OR WASHINGTON

Industrialist Proposes Series of Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A California industrialist proposed today that a series of new cities—"The equivalent of a San Francisco or a Washington"—be built to provide homes for the nation's burgeoning urban population.

John H. Rubel, vice president of Lytton Industries, Inc., and former assistant secretary of defense for research and engineering, made the proposal at a symposium on the problems of America's cities.

Rubel said that the project could be planned by the federal government but carried out by private business. He suggested that Congress charter a company along the lines of the Communications Satellite Corp. (Comsat) to acquire land and build the new city or cities.

Settlement of only one-third of the nation's annual population increase in these new cities would permit construction of "the equivalent of a San Francisco or a Washington, D.C., every year," he said.

A few new cities of excellent quality and promise would gradually turn old cities in new directions, Rubel said, "partly out of a desire to emulate success and partly a competitive need to do so." He said the new cities project would spearhead a movement toward betterment that would eventually spread across the whole of urban America.

Another speaker at the symposium, civil rights leader Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, urged affirmative programs to improve the lot of Negroes in the city. He said they deserved more than equal treatment to overcome years of deprivation.

"The Negro is demanding a period of reversed color-consciousness to put him on a level of competitive advantage that is comparable to that of the white community," Young said.

Schirra, Stafford Ready For Sunday Space Ride

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford, fit and ready for a Sunday blastoff, today faced a day of paper work and practice for their chase in space after Gemini 7.

Their Gemini 6 pursuit ship completed the first round of final launch preparations Thursday night and remained "go" for a 8:54 a.m. CST launch Sunday—a day ahead of the original schedule.

Weather for the rendezvous finale of the "Spirit of 76" doubleheader also remained good.

Schirra and Stafford, who came within 42 minutes of liftoff seven weeks ago, planned to attend a review of rocket tests during the morning. Much of the afternoon was allotted to a practice rendezvous mission in a dummy capsule with Houston's control center tied in.

The Gemini 6 pilots passed their final major pre-launch physical examination Thursday and were declared "fit and ready and looking forward to their mission" by Dr. Duane Patterson.

Their 109-foot space machine was put through a four-hour series of radar, guidance and life support equipment checks during the evening by busy engineers and technicians whose record work made Sunday launch date possible.

Today was a general work day with spacecraft technicians filling the capsule's water supply, hooking up flight articles and preparing for the second portion of the preliminary countdown Saturday.

"Things are in real good shape," said G. Merritt Preston, launch director for the Kennedy Space Center. "I think probably we are in as good as shape to launch Sunday as we have been for any launches."

The 7,000-pound Gemini 6 spacecraft first will be rocketed into an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 100 to 168 miles high. Then, during the next five hours and 40 minutes, it will shoot from one path to another to match the 185-mile high circular path of Gemini 7.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, with two quick bursts of their maneuvering rockets, kicked the Gemini 7 capsule into the rendezvous orbit Thursday to prepare for the meeting with Gemini 6.

Flight Director Christopher Kraft Jr. said Gemini 6 could come within inches of Gemini 7. Once the historic rendezvous is achieved, the four astronauts will fly around the world in close formation. If everything goes without a hitch, Kraft said Schirra and Stafford could land 23 hours after launch. Otherwise, they will splash down in the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday if launched Sunday.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—"Go . . . Go . . . Go" signals from earth stations spurred Gemini 7 twins Frank Borman and James Lovell into their sixth cosmic day today along a nearly perfect circular path toward a unique "space date" Sunday.

Before dawn had broken over the United States, the two astronauts were back at work trying to rid their record, destined flight of a few minor frustrations—most of them born of earth's uncooperative weather.

Borman and Lovell, unshaven and unwashed but happy at their jobs, were firmly zeroed in on the halfway mark of their 14-day, 206 orbit voyage. They will reach that point Saturday afternoon.

Gemini 7 began its 86th trip around the world at 5:26 a.m. CST.

Never had an American manned spacecraft gone so well so long. The "Go . . . Go . . . Go" reports from ground stations followed the orbital express along its five-mile-a-second course. At Cape Kennedy, plans for launching Gemini 6 and Thomas Stafford into orbit Sunday to chase down Gemini 7 went just as smoothly.

After getting about six hours of sleep, Borman and Lovell awoke about 5:30 a.m. CST.

today, said a quick "Good morning, sir" to a station in the Canary Islands and grabbed some "instant" breakfast. Then they looked for a break in earth's weather to finish up some experiments that, to their frustration, had been left hanging.

Once again an attempt to talk with earth over a beam of laser light fired by a handheld "ray gun" was scheduled. So were numerous picture-taking attempts which had been delayed by clouds covering many of the target areas.

PHS to Host Top O' Texas Student Councils

Pampa High School will be host tomorrow to delegates of approximately 30 area high schools at a Top O' Texas Student Council convention.

Convention delegates will be welcomed by Principal Cameron Marsh and Student Council President Kenneth McWilliams.

Principal address will be by the Rev. Leon Hill of Amarillo. He will speak on the topic, "You," which will be the convention theme.

Registration is to start at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow. There will be a noon luncheon in the high school cafeteria.

Two discussion periods have been scheduled following the luncheon. Dorothy Davis and Gary Crossland will lead a discussion on school spirit and Mike Wise and Charisly Gustin will lead a group in discussion of the school dropout problem.

Purposes of the convention include the providing of an opportunity for taking up new projects and to build better relationships among area schools, according to student council officers.

PLT To Hold Trial Workouts

Auditions will be held for Pampa Little Theatre's February production, "The Miracle Worker," at 2 p.m. Sunday in the PLT rehearsal building, 300 E. Tyn.

Persons interested in Little Theatre are urged to come to the audition, and newcomers invited.

Anyone wishing additional information or desiring to read over a script before Sunday may call MO5-2769.

Pampa Man Dies Of Auto Injuries Received Nov. 22

Gray County logged another traffic fatality today when James L. Clauser, 63, of 611 N. West died as the result of injuries received in an accident Nov. 22.

The accident occurred on an oil lease south of Pampa. He was involved in a wreck with a vehicle driven by Glen Gallaher of 1304 Christine.

Mr. Clauser was born Jan. 14, 1902 at Sapalpa, Okla and has been a resident of Pampa for 33 years.

He was an operator for Phillips Petroleum Co. at the time of his death. He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred of the home, one son, L. B. of Ft. Worth; one daughter, Mrs. W. A. Jones of Wichita Falls; three grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. S. A. Elder of Golden, Colo. and a half-brother, F. P. Mitchell of Oak Harbor, Wash.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Carmichael-Whalley.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The comic strip known as "Peanut" staked out a claim to a major television future Thursday night on CBS-TV with a half-hour animated special about the commercialization of Christmas.

The program, "A Charlie Brown Christmas"—named after one of the chief characters in the strip—was referred to by CBS-TV as "The first of a planned series of Charlie Brown holiday specials," and the idea of similar encores is thoroughly welcome.

In brief, Thursday night's offering tried, with humor and gentle world-weariness, to recall the real meaning of Christmas. The executive producer was Lee Mendelson, who was responsible for the network documentary "A Man Named Mays," about Willie Mays, and the director of animation was Bill Melendez, with the production being made in cooperation with United Feature Syndicate.

The plot, so to speak, of Thursday night's half-hour is indicated as follows: "Everywhere Charlie Brown goes the shadow of commercialism and greed obscures what he knows exists somewhere, if only he can find it: The real Christmas. Plot Twists

"In desperation Charlie visits Lucy, the little girl 'psychiatrist,' who prescribes 'involvement' in the holiday activities and appoints him director of the neighborhood Christmas play. Thrilled by the idea of being leader of the pageant, Charlie soon finds only added disillusionment as his little friends concern themselves with pleas to Santa Clause, money-making schemes and rock 'n' roll carols."

Well, you get the idea. And Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus, Snoopy the dog, Schroeder and the others were on hand to flesh it out. And Charles Schulz, creator of "Peanuts," did the writing, which was a very smart move.

At one point, Lucy tells Beethoven-loving Schroeder: "Beethoven wasn't so great. Have you ever seen his picture on bubble gum cards?" At another point, asked what she really wants for Christmas, Lucy answers: "Real estate." And another time she notes that it's well known that Christmas is commercial, and that it is run by a big Eastern syndicate.

Needless to say, Charlie Brown finally gets his message across. But, as might be expected, that crazy-silly-wonderful dog Snoopy was the scene-stealer every time he appeared—playing the guitar, mocking Lucy or dancing like a swinger. His doghouse, by the way, was wildly decorated with all those ugly lights and blinking designs that human beings also have been known to use on their homes at Christmas time.

Young Pampa Girl Dies of Meningitis

Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Pampa for a one-year-old Pampa girl who died last night after a sudden attack several days ago of spinal meningitis.

Dead is Juanita Lushell Niblett, who would have been one year old today. She died at 9:05 a.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital.

She was stricken suddenly earlier this week with an attack of spinal meningitis.

Survivors include her father Joe L. Niblett and mother, Marie Niblett, one sister, Marlene of Pampa; grandfather, Charles Niblett of Pampa and Mrs. Mabel Mash of Wellington.

Graveside services will be held at Fairview Cemetery with the Rev. Monroe Woods, pastor of St. Marks Methodist officiating.

Jaycees Clarify Shopping Tour For Needy Youths

Eddie Polnac, president of the Pampa Jaycees, issued a statement today in which he said he wished to clarify an apparent misunderstanding about the Junior Chamber's annual Christmas shopping tour for needy children.

"There seems to have been a misunderstanding that might lead some to believe Negro children are excluded in the shopping tour," Polnac said.

He added that the Jaycees have always included colored children in the shopping tour and that names are supplied by the Welfare Index and Salvation Army.

The Jaycee president said the civic organization already has received names of several colored families from the Welfare Index for this year's shopping tour.

Burial will be under direction of Carmichael - Whately.

BETTY BOWEN

Mrs. Betty Bowen Dies in Amarillo Of Brain Injury

Funeral services for former Pampa schoolteacher, Mrs. Betty Bowen, 42, of 1124 Seneca, are pending with Carmichael-Whately.

Mrs. Bowen died this morning in Northwest Texas Hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage suffered at her home last Sunday.

Mrs. Bowen was taken to the Amarillo hospital Sunday evening and died at 5 a.m. today. She and her husband, Bill, an employe of Celanese, were the official U. S. Weather Observers for Pampa.

She had been a school teacher at Pampa Junior High for four years and moved to Pampa in 1957. She was born Nov. 12, 1923 at Bradford, Pa.

Survivors include her husband of the home, one son, James Jack Bowen of the home and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Vanvictten of Lakeland, Florida.

We see only half of the moon's surface because it always turns the same face toward the earth.

McDonald Fund Is Given Boost With Insurance

The Tommy McDonald Fund was in better shape than ever today with word that it has been learned the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation hospital has been approved by the insurance company and will provide 80 per cent of the medical expenses to be incurred there.

Approximately $700 has been raised for the fund so far and contributions will continue to be taken to cover the remainder of the hospital expenses.

Charlie Gustin, president, and other officers of the Trustee Service League, which is sponsoring the fund, said today donations over and above the amount needed to cover the remaining hospital expenses will be held in a fund for future treatment which is expected to be extensive.

Mayor Jim Nation has proclaimed tomorrow "Tommy McDonald Day" in Pampa. A bake sale is scheduled Saturday at Bob Clements Cleaners, N. Hobart, with proceeds going into the fund. A benefit dance has been scheduled for Dec. 22 by the Essex Combo.

Obituaries

Mrs. D. C. Hook
Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Duenkel Funeral Chapel at 300 W. Browning for Mrs. D. C. Hook, 79, who died at 2:30 a.m. today in a rest home in Amarillo.

Mrs. Hook moved to Pampa in 1926 and had resided in the rest home for the past five years.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Velma Graustham of Pampa and Mrs. B. L. Berry of Amarillo; one son, Howard F. of Albuquerque, N. M.; one sister, Mrs. Ovida Knowlton of Lebanon, Ind.; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The Rev. J. W. Duke, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery, under direction of the Duenkel Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be Les Hart, Jeff Bearden, John Kelley, Victor Jameson, Bob Jewell and Jack Dunn.

"THE THINGS THAT SURVIVE"

Heaven and Earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away. Matthew 24:35.

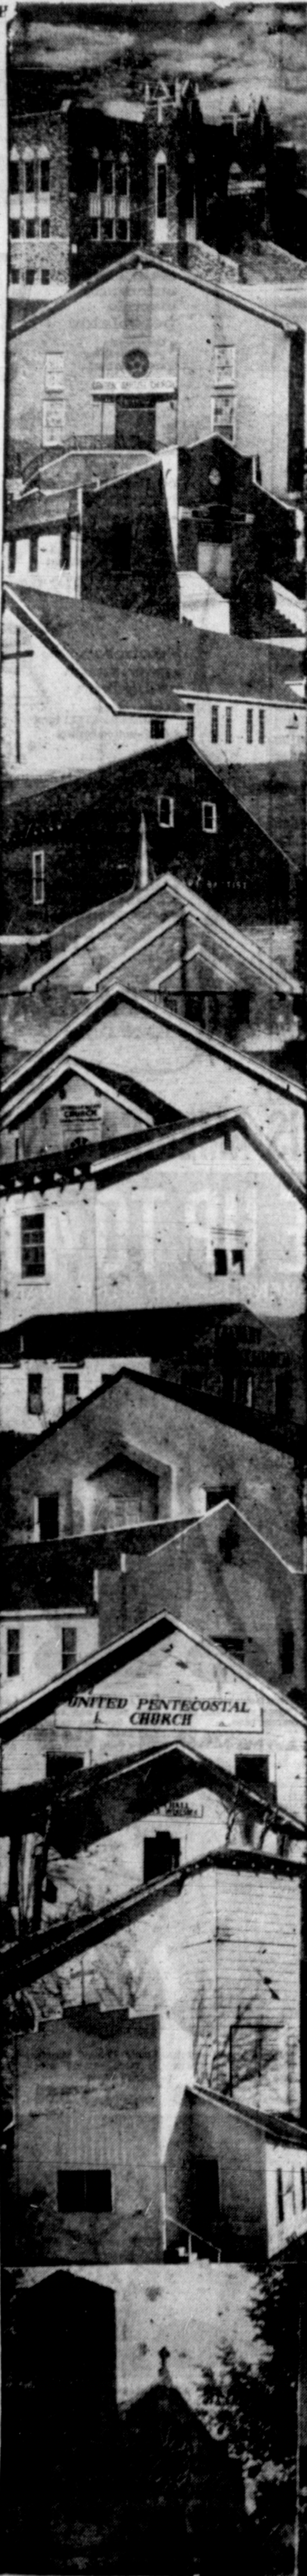

When the Royal Chapel at Buckingham Palace was bombed in World War II, some beautiful and valuable things were destroyed. But a few treasures escaped. Among them was the King's family Bible. On the flyleaves of this handsome volume are recorded the royal births, marriages, and deaths for several generations.

After the bombers had passed, one of the lady secretaries in the palace was helping to search among the debris. Great was her delight, of course, when she came upon the King's family Bible. In writing to a relative about her experience, she told of finding the book, and added: "We took it as an omen of what is going to survive when this war is finally over."

Someone commenting upon the incident uses these well-chosen words: "The things that survive this war will be ancient and beautiful things of the spirit. Whatever else may happen, whatever may be destroyed the spirit and message of truth, faith, love and hope will survive. The everlasting verities are indestructible . . . No bombs will ever be able to wipe out our love or religious faith — those things which make life worth living.

Faith is indestructible! Love is indestructible! Hope is indestructible! The Apostle Paul assures us that these three will abide. They will survive the awful storms of destruction that sweep the globe. They will survive all else. Hold fast to faith, hope and Love.

These fundamental principles of life will survive because they represent the living word of God. They cannot be destroyed. "Heaven and earth shall pass away," said Jesus, "but my words shall not pass away."

Witnesses Plan Two Meetings

Jehovah's Witnesses will meet at Kingdom Hall, 944 S. Dwight St., at 7:30 p.m. today for their weekly Theocratic Ministry School.

The meeting is one of five Jehovah's Witnesses hold weekly, and its purpose is to provide training in public speaking, as well as to help Witnesses in door-to-door ministry.

Daniel Katsanis will open the meeting with a discussion of the Bible book Zechariah. He will show how this book, though small, is beneficial today. Four other students will have parts in the meeting which is under supervision of Doug Cullins, a local minister.

The Friday meeting will be followed Sunday at 3 p.m. by a public talk, "Christian Conduct In An Ungodly World," by A. Beach from Amarillo.

Chapel Choir Will Feature Yule Anthems

The Chapel Choir of Central Baptist Church will be featured at the evening worship service Sunday, Dec. 12. The choir, under direction of Hugh Sanders, is composed of youth ages 13 through 18. They will open the service with "Sing Gloria". Other Christmas carols and anthems will be included in the Sunday evening program.

Sunday services begin with the Bible Study hour at 9:45 a.m. This week's lesson concerns "The Rediscovery of God's Word" during the reign of Josiah. Central provides a purposeful Bible teaching ministry for every age.

At the 11 a.m. hour of worship the pastor, T. O. Upshaw, will speak on the subject "The Sin of Looking Back." The choir will sing "Follow Me". Rev. Upshaw's message at the evening service will be "A Closer Look At Psalms 23."

The major emphasis of the month of December is foreign missions through the Lottie Moon Christmas offering.

NEW SECRETARY. NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Henry J. Whiting of Montclair N.J., has stepped into the newly created post of secretary of social welfare with the Board of Social Ministry of the Lutheran Church of America.

According to Dr. Harold Haas, executive secretary of the Board of Social Ministry, "The major thrust of the new position will be study, writing and consultation in the basic health and welfare issues of our day."

FINDING THE WAY

The Fire of Love Or Ice of Apathy--Which?

Suddenly the words of Scripture have new meaning. In that famous poem concerning love, St. Peter wrote, "Though I give my body to be burned, and have not love, I have gained nothing." Now we are confronted with the self-immolation of men in our own midst. They choose this cruel way to state their case.

It's easy to condemn these acts which seem incredible and irrational. It's really a time to judge ourselves. There is always the need to discover the right ways to express our faith.

Brave men are fighting in Viet Nam, risking their lives because of their citizenship. Other courageous men are attempting to find the ways through the United Nations whereby the whole bloody conflict can be solved.

It requires bravery to really love and to give one's self to reconciliation. It requires bravery to think this out realistically.

First Christian Now Holds Two Morning Services

Rev. J. W. Duke has chosen as his sermon topic for Sunday, "God Needs Men" Genesis 2:5. The Church is now conducting two worship services with an early service in the Lamar Annex at 9:45 a.m. and the regular 11 a.m. service at First Church.

The choir, under direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor and accompanied by Mrs. John G. Hill, has chosen for the anthem, "Sing Noel," French carol.

Preparations are being made for the annual Christmas Program at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 19. Young people of the church will participate in the pageant. Rehearsals will be held at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary. Pre-school children need not attend. Sunday school teachers will inform them of their part on the program.

There will be the regular Sunday evening meetings beginning with a Snack Supper at 5:30 p.m. All youth groups will meet at 6 p.m. and the Evening Worship starts at 7 o'clock.

KOREAN REPORT. DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — A missionary recently returned from Korea says that unrest in that country has made it "a field for evangelism."

The Rev. John W. Hurston, an Assemblies of God missionary who spent four years in Seoul, says the unrest is caused by "deep-rooted feelings of in-human discrimination," the result of many years of Japanese rule.

Presbyterians To Observe Baptism Sacrament Sunday

"A Question of Recognition," based upon Matthew Chapter II, will be the Sunday sermon subject at First Presbyterian Church.

Ruling Elder Frank Smith will assist the pastor at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship hours. Special music will be provided at the 11 a.m. service by the sanctuary choir under direction of Mrs. George Budd.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered Sunday and new members received with a coffee hour reception following the second service at which time all the new members of the past several months will be honored.

The choir plans a special rehearsal at 5 p.m. in preparation for the Cantata on Dec. 19, and the Youth Fellowship will meet at the usual time.

PICK SITES. DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Dallas, Tex., Rochester, N. Y., and Long Beach, Calif., are cities in contention as host for the 32nd biennial business convention of the Assemblies of God in August, 1967.

Other sites considered at a meeting here were Baltimore, Md., Houston, Tex., Kansas City, Mo., Mobile, Ala., and Philadelphia, Pa.

WITHOUT Removing THE OLD FINISH

Anything that can be painted can be changed to take on the appearance of rich wood grain, of age-old antique or beautiful marble. The process is so simple a child could do it. Yet the realism you can achieve with Old Masters will amaze and delight you. The grand part about achieving these effects is that you don't have to remove the old finish. This means no scraping, no bleaching, no staining, and no special tools are required to obtain any of these effects. Any piece of furniture that doesn't fit its surroundings or woodwork that doesn't fit the decor can be easily changed to complement its setting. The oldest assortment of furniture and finishes can be made to look as though they belonged to each other. Regardless of how dark or light the item is, Old Masters can completely change its appearance without removing the old finish. See how. See it demonstrated. And see how little it costs to make these amazing changes....

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

For Saturday, Dec. 11
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening which can be a most confused and complicated one, or one in which you tune in very accurately on what is best for you in the days ahead. Make sure that you do hold steady to accepted modes of procedure and show others that you are willing to make some sacrifices to get along better with them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Be sure to get everything working more efficiently and harmoniously at home in a.m., but tonight is fine for enjoying recreation you like. Keep promises. Rid yourself of worry.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Shopping and other outside duties are best performed in a.m. Pick up new ideas that can be studied well tonight. Be happy within the bosom of your own family and warm yourself at own hearth.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Find clever ways to make your property more valuable, comfortable in a.m., then be off for fun with pals. Concentrate on handling money better, too. Take time to do paper work before you retire.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Getting out personal matters pending out of way quickly in a.m. is fine, then improve any practical affairs. Plan social life for the days ahead now. Keep within your budget.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Activities should be planned carefully in a.m., so that you will not get confused later. Give

Dear Abby... Where Does Father Come Into Compromise?

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is in her late twenties. She is going to marry a man in his early thirties. He insists on separate sleeping rooms. The reason being that my daughter likes to sleep in a warm room with several heavy woolen blankets over her. But he says he can't get a wink of sleep in a warm room, and he likes to sleep with all the windows wide open, regardless of the weather. And he can't stand anything over him except a thin sheet. I just cannot visualize newlyweds in separate bedrooms. It seems such a strange way to commence a marriage. What do they figure their chances are for a lasting marriage under these conditions?

THE GIRL'S FATHER
DEAR FATHER: Since there can be no compromise, they are doing the only sensible thing. What I can't figure out is where you come in?

DEAR ABBY: After being a widow for seven years, I married Boswell. I was 27 and he was 37. I knew that there had been plenty of women in his life. One of the women he used to know married a friend of his recently, and my husband said it would be nice if we became a foursome, inviting them to our home, going to theirs, etc. Well, this woman and Boswell were more than just friends. They had a very intimate thing going for them for years. Knowing this, I don't care to be in her company. My husband says that since this all took place before we were married I should be more broad-minded. I can't understand how this woman could look me in the eye knowing that I know all about her former relationship with my husband. Am I wrong to feel this way?

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: No. Inform Boswell that he had better pick another couple with whom to form a foursome. And all his ex-leading ladies are disqualified.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell this middle-aged square if she's right or wrong? A mother of the bride "honored" her daughter recently at a shower given at her home. The bride's co-workers and friends were invited. The "refreshments" consisted of potato chips, a dip and highballs. Period. When the highballs took effect, the bride's mother became tipsy and the jokes she told were not exactly appropriate for a bride-to-be and other unmarried girls. Am I old-fashioned, or weren't showers once given by the bride's friends? And weren't little finger sandwiches and tea cakes served with coffee?

SQUARE
DEAR SQUARE: You are not old-fashioned, and many brides (in fact most of them) are still honored by showers such as the one that lingers in your memory. Don't condemn all showers just because of one bad experience with a drip.

DEAR ABBY: Please ask "RICHARD'S MOTHER" (the one who offered her son $50 for every "A" and $25 for every "B") if she would like to adopt a son. I have had very nearly straight "A's" consistently for many years now, and I didn't get a dime for them.

Mrs. Hayes Gives Program to Council

Pampa Council of Clubs met recently in City Club Rooms with 14 clubs represented. Mrs. James Quay, president presided and opened the meeting with prayer. A short business session where it was decided that the Council would invite the Las Ceras Club and the Sub Deb Club to decorate the Christmas tree for the coming season was conducted.

Mrs. Quay urged all of the clubs to reserve the Club Rooms for Christmas parties early so that there would not be a conflict. The Red Cross was invited to join the Council and Mrs. Libby Shotwell accepted for the organization.

The program was given by Mrs. Georgia Hayes for the Jayceeettes on its Christmas Shopping Tour for underprivileged children. Mrs. Hayes told of the joy derived from assisting with this type of program and urged the clubs to help with their money and with the shopping program.

The next meeting will be on the first Thursday in January at 9:30 a.m.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Ecumenical Council of the Roman Catholic church has approved a document which sounds like something the National Council of Churches of Christ might have written.

This business of "ecumenism" seems, in this case, to have gravitated in the direction of the politically leftwing national Council.

The Roman church's council must be faced in the reality of its components. Bishops from every country in the world gathered to approve broad and necessarily indistinct doctrines which will be variously interpreted and applied. It must be kept in mind that very few of the bishops have any background in freedom, as that term is understood in this country, even by those who hold it cheap.

A Spaniard, for example, has only a vicarious knowledge of individual liberty, separation of church and state and free enterprise as a going economic concern.

The same may be said of the Italian and most Europeans.

The council is a gargantuan effort to bring a church out of the Middle Ages in one shattering leap. To accomplish this improbable result, churchmen of widely differing economic, political and geographic backgrounds are brought together in a polyglot debating society with the elements of politics, ethics, canon law and the ever-present shadow of the Papacy creating an intricate design of intrigue, scholarship and the human traits which bishops share with janitors and saints with sinners.

From such a disparate group one might expect a certain consistency, as judged by our own standards.

We have, for example, a pronouncement on the separation of church and state and the privacy of the individual. Then the council approves recognition of the right "in extreme cases to claim necessities from the wealth of others."

Who but the state is going to define "extreme cases"? We wonder if the Roman church would willingly acquiesce to the State of New York seizing St. Patrick's cathedral and selling it to raise money for the destitute Puerto Ricans and Cubans coming to that city?

We should say the church would raise a bit of objection. This latest pronouncement is dangerously vague and will be used, no doubt, to justify pillage of the public and private purse. Similarly, the Council's endorsement of strikes "as an ultimate recourse" (ask any labor official if there ever was a strike that wasn't an "ultimate recourse") will make good propaganda for agitators of the far left.

Another clause of the document on "social justice" gives endorsement to public ownership (socialism) and backing of subsidies to farmers.

All of this seems to be far afield from the purpose of an Ecumenical Council. On balance, it will afford ammunition to the socialists and statist who, in the long run, will diminish the authority and prestige of the church itself.

Not Necessarily Proof

That someone said it or that it is written somewhere do not, in themselves, constitute proof that it is true.

Back to 'Start,' Lose Turn

"Sick" parlor games, which apparently are stepchildren of the sick jokes that were around a few years ago, are reportedly growing popular.

One example is a game of atomic war in which the object is to wipe out your friendly opponent on the other side of the kitchen table.

In another, players compete to see who can win the biggest funeral, with the most expensive hearse, tombstone and plot. Sick as the sick games are, however, the trend toward them may be a healthy thing for the nation's psyche, says one game thinker. Upper. Such games, he believes, help relieve a lot of tensions, frustrations and anxieties.

If this is true, and it probably is, the best game brains in the country ought to set to work devising something that could be played at the United Nations by all the heads of states.

It Tolls For You

We are without doubt the most surveyed, polled, interviewed, analyzed and cross-sectioned population in history. In one of the latest polls, 5,000 housewives across the country were asked about their experiences with the telephone ringing "when you least want it to."

The results were interesting, if not too surprising: —Thirty-one per cent, or 1,552 housewives, stated that they can almost always count on the phone to ring when they are in the shower or tub.

—A somewhat smaller number, 1,308 or 26 per cent, claimed that their phones ring whenever they are perched on a ladder or chair trying to reach the top of a closet or cupboard.

—For 21 per cent, the middle of an interesting television program is the magic time when their phones are sure to ring.

—Another 809 homemakers, or about 16 per cent, reported that being up to the elbows in dishwater is the most reliable telephone activating factor.

—Finally, 6 per cent said that concentrating hard on an interesting bridge hand is the best way to make the phone ring.

Fun Gifts to Fun Kids

NEW YORK (NEA)—As we were saying, the thing that is trying to find sn-senutrous makes Christmas shopping so strenuous is trying to find unusual gifts. And so, to lighten the burden, we have prepared a series of informative articles reporting on different and unusual items you can give.

Today's informative article is the last of the series and covers a few of the toys and game department.

To our zey of thinking, there is nothing more unusual or different than the new games and toys. Consequently, the following list is not meant to be complete, but merely indicates the wide variety you can find by spending a few days browsing through today's fun things.

For Ages 3 to 5

Tittle Dentist. Educational, fun, reassuring. A perfect kiddie-sized model of a real dental office—chair, light, sink, cotton, hardware, old magazines, to clean teeth, drill, extract, etc. Junior can actually learn to clean teeth, drill, extract. Root canal gear extra.

Barracuda. A see-and-look toy, this informative tropical fish brings real life right into the nursery. Watch it attack the other fish in the bowl, eat raw meat, leap high into the air to tear at a finger.

Free-form Jigsaw Puzzle. Develops attention span, ability to cope with obstacles, interest in history and science. Over 2,500 interlocking pieces, plus 400 others that don't fit anywhere. When finished, it's a 6-foot-long full-color picture of President Johnson's gall bladder.

For Ages 6 to 9

Little Analyst. Endless hours of fun and inner resource. Handy carpet bag contains diploma, wrinkled brow, plus complete guide to erotic symbols and their meanings. Excellent game for both primary social groups as well as in parallel play.

Garrote. Amazing new plastics break-through makes possible this realistic doll that actually falls on its face and writhes around on the floor at the touch of a button. Specify military or civilian.

Supersaw. The jigsaw puzzle for the college-oriented youngster. Total fun, total education. The entire mathematical derivation of Einstein's General Theory of Relativity in full color. Over 29,000 interlocking pieces, cut so that every piece fits every other.

For Ages 9 to 11

Little Patient. Pills, thermometer, heating pad, spots, bumps, every item necessary to feign symptoms of all popular ailments. Also, informative booklet on how to construct a repression, sublimation, obsession and sibling rivalry.

Mafioso. The game of supervision to stodge old pastimes such as to stodge old pastimes such as chess, checkers, parchesi, sports. A XEAL NONFIDENN LDEBS sports. A real confidence-builder for the underachiever.

Mighty Mike. Bmiranle of m latur zation. Looks like a speof Mighty Mike. Miracle of min-laturization. Looks like a speck of lint, is actually powerful microphone. Plant it on anything, anybody. Enjoy hours of fun listening in. Educational. Also patriotic.

De Luxe Woodburning Set. Engrossing, meaningful hobby. Contains everything necessary—tinder, kerosene, primer, TNT detonator, timer, 2h te sheet, cert ficate of acquittal.

Hi-Fi-Stereo Monitor. Fill out your home music center with this handy little electric ear. Indicates at once whether you are listening to classical music jazz, stereo or monaural.

Little Social Scientist. Educational, yet fun. Contains clipboard, graph paper, tone of voice and complete set of facts suitable for any occasion. Amaze your friends. Outdistance your colleagues. Alienate your wife.

New Unreported Cuban Sugar Deal with Soviet To Shackles Island's Economy for Next 5 Years

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Dictator Fidel Castro is riveting new Iron Curtain shackles on Cuba.

In effect, they will make the tragic island a virtually complete economic vassal of the Communists.

Under a secret deal Castro has agreed to "sell" Cuba's entire sugar production — its principal export and economic lifeline — to the Soviet bloc for a five-year period.

In exchange for this sweeping economic subservience Castro is getting a guaranteed price of 6 cents a pound.

Payment is to be made in bartered goods at prices fixed by the Reds.

Their main exports to Cuba are oil, grain and other foodstuffs, machinery, and huge quantities of weapons — at prices considerably above world market levels.

The carefully-guarded deal was concluded by a Cuban delegation headed by Castro's brother Raul, who recently returned from an extended stay in Russia. Starting with the 1966 crop, on which unusually early harvesting already has been launched by Castro, key terms of the agreement are as follows:

— Cuba to get wholly out of the world sugar market in three years at the most. Within that time, Cuba is to stop selling any sugar in the world market.

Starting in 1966, the Soviets to take three million tons of Cuba's estimated six million-ton output; in 1967, four million tons; in 1968 through 1970, five million tons.

— Approximately one million tons annually to go to Iron Curtain countries; more if Cuban production increases, less if it sags.

— Remainder retained for domestic consumption. Until recently sugar was tightly rationed, as is virtually all other food in Cuba.

— WHAT WAS BEHIND IT — Three factors forced Castro to blow to these harsh terms:

(1) The huge debts he owes Russia and the bloc countries, principally for arms and oil, and on all of which he is far behind in payments. It's an open secret the Reds are increasingly irked over "carrying him on the cuff" and pouring an estimated $1 billion a year in economic and military aid into Cuba with little or no return.

(2) Continued limping of sugar production due to incompetence, bungling, waste and growing undercover discontent and resulting indifferent output by workers. Sugar production sank to a record low of 3.8 million tons in 1963; since then, by extreme measures including widespread forced "volunteer" labor by students, factory and office workers, teachers and even housewives, it has been built up to around 6 million tons.

(3) Collapse of the world sugar price — now less than 2 cents a pound. That is at least

2 cents below the estimated average production cost in Cuba. For Castro the current record-low world price is a double blow.

In 1963, when the world price averaged 8 cents a pound and, at one point, soared to 13 cents, Castro had little sugar to sell. Communist mismanagement, gross stupidities and innumerable blunders had resulted in an output of only 3.8 million tons. About 80 per cent of this was owed the Soviet bloc for arms and other supplies.

To enable Castro to take advantage of the high world price Khrushchev agreed to a one-year moratorium on 1.5 million tons of sugar — which netted Castro an estimated $270 million.

With this unexpected windfall the bombastic Cuban dictator went on a buying spree — purchasing desperately-needed buses and trucks from Britain, machinery and sugar mill parts from Canada and Belgium, fishing boats from Spain, and a wide range of consumer goods elsewhere.

But now, with more than 2 million tons of the 1965 crop available for world market sales, the price is at a record low of under 2 cents a pound. This would give Castro less than half of what he garnered in 1963 with a far smaller crop.

Sugar authorities say these factors determined the Kremlin leaders to "buy" all of Cuba's sugar output the next five years.

That will ensure, under the secret agreement they imposed on Castro, that Cuban sugar will be eliminated from the world market and thus not operate to depress the world price. If and when the price improves, the Soviet bloc would be in a position to directly benefit.

Of this year's Cuban sugar crop 2.1 million tons is earmarked for Russia; 1.2 million tons to bloc countries and Red China; the remainder for domestic consumption and world market sale.

COMMUNIST PARADISE — Once Cuba's biggest cash crop and agricultural pride, sugar has become a bitter word on that unhappy island.

It now means a widespread forced labor for men, women and even children; rationing and high prices for food, clothing, transportation and other necessities; secret police terror, iron-fisted oppression, disillusionment and hopelessness.

That's the universal story related by refugees arriving in the daily airlift to rejoin families and relatives in this country. They tell of —

Harvesting of the 1966 sugar crop started a month early so Castro can use the students during the Christmas holiday season to work in the cane fields.

— Some 500 Russian-made cane harvesting machines that mangled around one half of the cane they processed this year.

Wit and Whimsy

A farmer, on his first visit to Chicago, stopped at a soda fountain, and ordered a soda pop. When it was served, he asked of the tender, Farmer—How much pop do you sell in a week?

Tender—Oh, about 40 gallons. Farmer—I'll tell you how you can sell 80.

Tender (amazed) — Eight gallons? How?

Farmer — Simple, fill up the glasses.

Poverty is often a state of mind induced by your neighbor's new car.

There's nothing harder than a diamond, except making the payments on it.

— Pre-Castro sugar mills that are falling apart for lack of new parts. Since they're equipped with Western machinery, chiefly U. S., Castro is encountering increasing difficulty keeping them operating.

Thousands of students from grade schools to universities compelled to "volunteer" for work in the cane fields — without pay. They are meagerly fed and carted to and from the fields, and that's all.

— Did one refugee, a mother of two children:

"Life in Cuba is sheer agony and anguish. I woke up one morning last week with a terrible pain in my arm. I couldn't imagine what caused it until I remembered that the previous day I had been severely pushed around while trying to buy eggs at a grocery store. The people were frantic trying to get the few eggs on sale, and my arm was injured.

"For months, eggs were not in the rationing book. Then all of a sudden, some appeared and just as suddenly vanished. Vegetables are no longer available, even though the Communists told us that 1965 was to be the 'year of agriculture.' There are no bananas, sweet potatoes or yucca. Pumpkins are so poor that the farmers are using them for hog feed.

"Russia, Red China, and the other Communist countries are no longer sending foodstuffs to Cuba as they used to. And the commodities they are sending are of poor quality. About all that can be said for them is that they are something to eat. Castro talks big, but conditions steadily grow worse."

CUBAN FLASHES—The giant Nicaro nickel plant, built by the U. S. in World War II and confiscated by Castro, is now only partially operating due to mismanagement, breakdowns, and numerous other hindrances — not the least of them worker indifference due to repeated wage cuts. . . Franco Spain is building 26 fishing boats for Castro, for which he is paying partly in dollars and partly sugar. Cuba now has some 200,000 tons of shipping, all small type vessels. . . Christmas toys are being drastically rationed under a new Castro edict. Only children under 12 years of age are eligible for such gifts, and their price is limited to around one dollar. . . Bicycles also are being tightly rationed, with only one per household allowed.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Govt. Can't Stimulate One Without Depressing Another

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

My wife was sitting on the couch, reading the newspaper, watching TV, and keeping a super-sensitive ear tuned for any unusual audio disturbance that might occur in the three bedrooms where our four offspring were asleep. She goes all with uncanny efficiency. I think she has three brains.

"I wonder if I might give you a lesson in economics," I interposed.

She wiggled her lips and lifted her eyebrows in that resigned fashion that I have come to learn means, "Go ahead, but this is a heck of a time to be breaking into my reading, watching and listening."

"What I am trying to explain," I said, "is about my column. I want to describe the difference between 'buying power' and 'buying media.'"

Umbrella Act

She focused an eye on the TV where Julie Andrews was dancing with an umbrella, but like Columbus I sailed right on.

"If I could get this one point across," I said, "it would transform thought and policy in the whole country."

By that time my earnest countenance was in her focus. Julie Andrews, who had traded in her umbrella for Gene Kelly, had faded into a kind of peripheral blur.

"Buying media" are the things we use to buy with — things like coin, bills, and credit. These are created by the government, the bank, or even the department store."

"But 'buying power' on the other hand is our willingness and ability to work in order to get 'buying media' so we can trade it for the things we would like to have. Do you understand so far?"

"No, I don't believe I do."

"Well," the government creates 'buying media' by running a printing press or it uses taxes and inflation to transfer 'buying power' from one group of people to another. But the government can't create 'buying power,' only the people can do that by increasing their willingness to work or their capacity for work."

The reflection in my wife's eyes made it quite clear that Julie and Gene would win this round.

"Suppose," I said with an enthusiasm born of desperation, "that the government by taxation were to take 'buying media' out of Texas and spend it in California. Businessmen see the boom in California, carpenters running around with hammers, manufacturers with defense contracts sticking out of their pockets. They say, 'look, the government has stimulated business.'"

And I rushed right on, "What they fail to observe is the little depression that was caused in Texas when the government took the buying power out."

By a kind stroke of fate a group of deadend hootenannies were calling hogs on TV and our kids were quiet in the bedroom. My wife was looking at me now.

"Or suppose, the government were to tax California earnings and transfer them to Texas. The government hasn't stimulated 'buying power' but only moved it to another geographical locality. Sure, Texas booms, but California has a recession. Do you get it now?"

"I think if you explained it that way, I would understand," she said.

Note of Gratitude

And now a special note of appreciation: thank you, kids, for keeping quiet; thank you, young TV hootenannies for making noises; thank you, Julie, for flying away on an umbrella; you, too, Gene. Now if the businessman and the college economist had just one third the brains my wife has, . . .

Anyway, to summarize, Washington can create buying media; when it does so it raises prices. Washington also can transfer buying power from one region to another. What Washington CANNOT do is add to the TOTAL AMOUNT of buying power; this is something only working people can do.

The Nation's Press

THE SENATOR THEY COULDN'T SMEAR (Chicago Tribune)

The skilled smear artist, whose services have been so much in demand in Washington lately, usually finds a shred of truth which he can magnify or distort to suit his purposes, but which he can always fall back on in a pinch.

The remarkable thing about the administration's efforts to "get" Sen. Williams of Delaware, who dug up most of the evidence in the Bobby Baker scandal, is that its paid smear-mongers couldn't even find anything to get a grip on. These efforts are recounted in the September issue of the Reader's Digest.

What was intended as a smear therefore turned into a constant campaign of harassment and attempted entrapment. Twice internal revenue agents launched fishing expeditions into Mr. Williams' income tax returns, but could find nothing amiss.

Strangers identifying themselves as government investigators prowled among his farm neighbors in Delaware trying to unearth some semi-plausible scandal involving the digging of drainage ditches on his land, or perhaps farm subsidies. But he was found to have paid for the ditches himself and never to have accepted any farm subsidies.

False leads were fed to him in the hope that he would fall for them, publicize them, and discredit himself by having to recant. Fortunately, he checked the stories first.

As a last resort, perhaps, Baker's erstwhile secretary, who figured prominently in the scandals, let it be known that she had seen Williams "with a lady — not his wife" — having breakfast near a resort very early one morning. The lady, it turned out, was Williams' granddaughter.

All of this proves nothing but the moral bankruptcy and desperation of the Baker clique. Unable to defend themselves against the evidence piled up by Mr. Williams, they could only thrash about frantically for something — anything — which might be used to discredit him. And the Johnson administration up to its neck in the affair, was glad to help. This contemptible conspiracy will mark the Baker case as a Johnson administration scandal no matter how much whitewash is applied by the Senate rules committee.

BY H. L. HUNT

"CONSTRUCTIVE" IN 1960

This is the second installment of my Friday column for 15 weeks reproducing my beliefs about the title, "CONSTRUCTIVE," as published in 1960.

"Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair," said George Washington in his plea to the Constitutional Convention.

"Constructive," used as a name for themselves and their cause, will greatly aid those who today strive for the wise and honest in government. In recent years they have been sadly handicapped and have fared badly under the names by which they have been known.

In the May 14 Gallup Poll, 23 per cent said they were liberal, 17 per cent conservative, and 60 per cent failed to make a choice between the two designations. The conservatives trailed the liberals by 15 percentage points.

In the month earlier Gallup Poll of April 15 between political parties outside the south, 39 per cent voted Republican, 40 per cent Democratic and 21 per cent other parties or undecided. The Republicans with 49 1/2 per cent of the major vote trailed by 1 per cent, June 25 the same type Gallup Poll again showed Republicans with 49 1/2 per cent of the major party vote trailing by 1 per cent.

These three polls, taken within a 70-day period, seem to prove that conservative as a name for a philosophy is 14 percentage points less popular than Republican as a name for a party — and that has been none too popular since a fateful day back in 1929 when millions of stock market "investors," large and small, pursuing their 1929 plan for "getting something for nothing" stubbed their speculative toes, and party affiliation failed to save them.

In sports events, the best seldom win when assigned a handicap of as much as 15 per cent. Likewise, the forces stressing economy, stability and integrity in government — Republicans or Democrats — laboring under the handicap of being known as reactionaries or conservatives seldom prevail.

matter of fact

Allan Pinkerton, detective and founder of the well-known private detective agency, was born in Scotland and emigrated to the United States in 1842, settling in Chicago. He became a Chicago policeman but left to form a private agency. In 1861 he thwarted an assassination plot against President-elect Abraham Lincoln in Baltimore.

Pampa Opens District Play Against Westerners Tonight

KENNETH MCWILLIAMS DAVID CAIN MIKE WISE

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
LUBBOCK (Spl) — Pampa, with their 72.9 per game scoring average and 47.5 per game defensive mark, opens district 3-4A warfare tonight in the first game of a scheduled basketball twinbill.

The Harvesters and Westerners open play at 7 p.m. and their game was to be followed by another 3-4A clash involving favored Monterey and surprising Palo Duro.

The Pampa Shockers met the Lubbock B team at 5:15 p.m. The Harvesters will be looking for victory No. 8 and their seventh in a row. They stand, 7-1, same as Lubbock, who opened league play earlier in the week by edging Tascosa, 42-38.

The Westerners aren't as high scoring as Pampa but do know how to play defense. But, like Pampa, they have only one returning starter and two lettermen.

Wesley Verner, a 6'1 forward is the returning starter and Jim Poe, 5'9 guard, is a returning letterman.

Verner is the club's top scorer with an 11.4 average and senior Bill Green, a 6'5 center carries an even 11 point average while Ronnie Shuffield, 6'1 forward has an 8.1 average and Fred Dickson, 6'0 guard is scoring at a 9.7 per game pace.

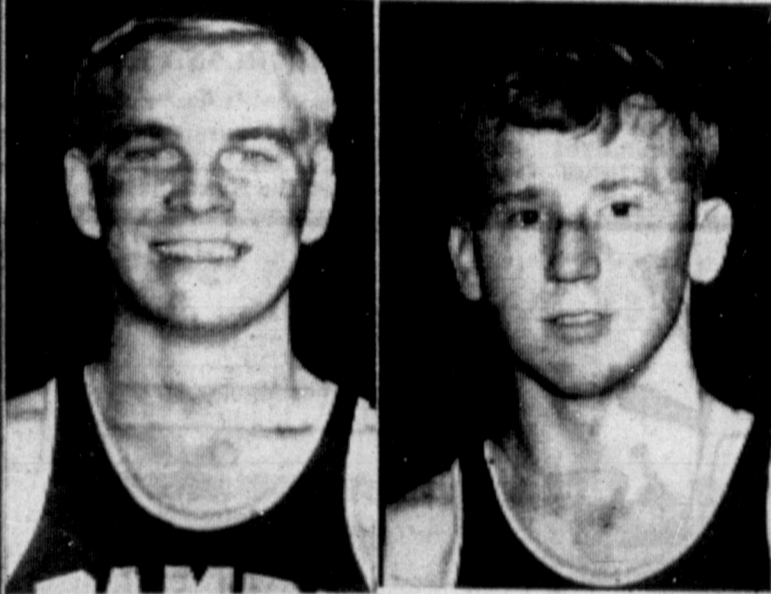

Pampa has been paced through its eight games by senior Kenneth McWilliams, who sports a 17 point per game average and Mike Wise and David Cain, both carrying 14.7 per game averages.

The Harvesters have been hotter from the field than any of the district teams, connecting on 229 of 433 shots for a 52.8 per cent average.

After a slow start at the free throw stripe the Pampans have come along to post 125 out of 208 for a 52 per cent average.

GARY CROSSLAND STEVE WILLIAMS

Baltimore, Green Bay Hurting at Quarterback

By United Press International
BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore's Gary Cuzzo and Green Bay's Zeke Bratkowski have each had a brief glimpse of glory during their National Football League careers, but a chance at real fame is finally staring them in the eye.

Cuzzo, a three-year veteran, will be getting a chance to clinch the Western Conference title for Baltimore on Sunday in the league's most crucial game of the season. And Bratkowski, who has kicked around the NFL since 1954, also may see more duty than usual directing the Packers.

The two men may get this opportunity because of injuries suffered last weekend by Baltimore's star quarterback, Johnny Unitas, and the Packers' ace signal-caller, Bart Starr. Unitas underwent an operation on his right knee last Sunday after being injured in the Colts' 13-9 loss to Chicago.

Starr jammed the index finger on his right hand during a pre-game drill and was replaced by Bratkowski early in the Packers' 24-19 victory over Minnesota.

The big game shapes up as the moment of truth for both teams. Baltimore leads the Western Conference with a 9-2 record while the Packers stand 9-3. If the Colts win they will be conference champs for the second straight year, and if Green Bay wins it can clinch the title by beating San Francisco on the final weekend.

SPTS 4-60 Baltimore Green Bay
Other NFL action finds St. Louis (5-7) at Dallas (5-7) on Saturday and Cleveland (10-2) at Los Angeles (3-9), Minnesota (5-7) at Detroit (5-6-1), New York (6-6) at Washington (5-7), San Francisco (7-5) at Chicago (8-4) and Philadelphia (4-8) at Pittsburgh (2-10) on Sunday.

The Cowboys and the Cardinals are both fighting for the Eastern Division runnerup spot. St. Louis won the first meeting between the clubs 20-13, but the Cards have slumped during the second half of the season.

Cleveland, Eastern Conference champion, faces a stern test in Los Angeles, which has won its last two games. The Browns haven't met the Rams in regular season play since 1963, but Cleveland won a pre-season encounter 21-19.

Minnesota has one of the league's best offenses and Detroit has one of the best defenses, so the game shapes up as a rematch of the thriller won by the Lions 31-29 earlier this season. The Lions are a 3-point choice to win again.

Beasley Pushes Aggies; Randy Has Too Many Fouls

By United Press International
TEXAS A & M shot less but enjoyed it more Thursday night, parlaying a late rally into a 93-83 defeat of Houston.

The Aggies were the only Southwest Conference squad in basketball action Thursday.

A & M fought to a 45-44 half-time advantage, but that crumbled quickly when Houston's Cougars found the range for a 20-57 lead with 12:33 left. The Aggies came back, however, behind John Beasley's aggressive scoring and rebounding, and regained the lead. The Cougars tried 85 times for field goals and made only 37 of them, a 43.5 per cent mark compared with A & M's only 75 tries, with 38 successes and a 50.7 per cent mark.

Beasley scored 29 points and got 15 rebounds. Randy Matson, shotputter who went into basketball, had six rebounds and seven points when he fouled out with 12 minutes left.

In other games of Texas basketball teams, Abilene Christian whipped McMurry 78-57, Howard Payne rolled over Tarrant State 80-67, Houston Baptist beat St. Thomas 88-77, Texas Western beat East Texas State 73-51, East Texas Baptist defeated Stephen F. Austin 97-84, Hardin - Simmons defeated Pan American 76-64, St. Mary's whipped Texas A&I 53-28, and Steubenville beat Texas Southern 87-69.

TWO PLAYOFF GAMES TONIGHT

Permian Plays Saturday

By United Press International
TWO of the eight surviving undefeated - untied Texas schoolboy football teams — Edna and Three Rivers — will be in the favorites' roles tonight when the 16 semifinalists start trimming down to the championship pairings.

They are involved in the only two games not scheduled for Saturday and Sunday night. Edna meets Needville and Three Rivers takes on Willis Point in the only game matchup perfect record teams.

They are expected to be joined Saturday night by favored Odessa Permian, San Antonio Lee, Brownwood, San Marcos, Iowa Park and White Deer in the other semifinals games.

Permian faces Texarkana at Fort Worth and Lee meets Brazosport at Austin in Class AAAA showdowns Saturday afternoon.

Brownwood hosts Weatherford Saturday afternoon and San Marcos plays Bridge City at Houston Saturday night in Class AAA games.

Iowa Park and Plano collide Saturday night at Wichita Falls in an AA semifinal and White Deer meets Keller at Snyder Saturday night in a Class A game.

The Edna-Needville AA match is scheduled at Spring Branch, while in Class A, Three Rivers and Willis Point clash at Temple to open the week end firing.

Edna, one of eight undefeated untied survivors, and unbeaten but once-tied Needville are only about 60 miles apart on the coastal plains west and southwest of Houston, but they did not meet during the regular season and had only one common foe. Needville beat Sweeney 21-7 in a district game, while Edna defeated the same club 27-6 at mid-season.

Edna had only one close game all season—a 21 - 20 tilt with Class AAA Gonzales — and turned back Kenedy, Hondo and Bishop without a point in three playoff games.

Needville, likewise was not pushed during the regular season, but was held to a 6-6 tie by powerful Port Acres in the regional round and advanced on penetrations. Needville defeated Humble and Bellville in their other two playoff contests.

Both Three Rivers and White Deer sport spotless records, but are located so far apart there was no mutual foe. Three Rivers was held to less than three touchdowns but twice and Willis Point but once in regular season play. Both boast strong defenses.

Willis Point, like Edna, has swept aside playoff foes—Jefferson, Hallsville and Rogers, without yielding a point, while Three Rivers got a stiff test from Woodboro while mauling Bandera and Smithville in its three outings.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS INCOMPLETE FOR RICKEY

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Branch Rickey, master builder, innovator, pioneer and one of the more powerful hands in the growth of baseball, is dead.

Left behind as a permanent memorial to the Grand Mahatma are the stature of the Negro in baseball, the modern farm system, still flourishing empires at St. Louis and Los Angeles, major league expansion and a volume full of cherished treasures of Rickey's fabled dealings with the world he loved.

Rickey died in Boone County Memorial Hospital in Columbia, Mo., 11 p.m., EST, Thursday night. He had remained unconscious since collapsing with a heart attack while being inducted into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame the night of Nov. 13. He was 83.

Rickey's body was brought here by train early this morning accompanied by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Steven Adams. Funeral arrangements had not yet been completed.

Rickey slumped over the dais while making an acceptance speech at the banquet in Columbia last month. Just before collapsing, he said, "I don't believe I'm going to be able to speak any longer."

The cigar-chomping Rickey was connected with baseball for 60 years and in that time he developed a reputation as the game's shrewdest trader and one of its sharpest minds. He never lost a youthful zest for sport, or for life, and when he was asked at the age of 77 what his greatest thrill in baseball had been, he replied: "I don't think I've come to it yet."

Robinson Traded To Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Frank Robinson, one of baseball's bonafide sluggers, became a member of the Baltimore Orioles today as part of a million-dollar "gamble" involving the American League club and the Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

The 20-year-old Robinson, with a major league total of 324 homers and a career batting average just over .300, was traded by Cincinnati to the Orioles Thursday in exchange for pitchers Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun and rookie outfielder Dick Simpson.

Baltimore manager Hank Bauer, admitted that the deal was a gamble, said of Robinson: "This is the guy we have been looking for. I think he's a helluva ballplayer. At least he has been for 10 years."

DeWitt To Dalton
The million dollar figure was quoted by Bill DeWitt, owner of the Reds, who negotiated the deal with Harry Dalton, the new Oriole general manager.

Monte Hawpe

Monte Hawpe, a 181 pound junior who didn't letter last year, is the leading ground gainer and scorer.

Hanson has run across 11 touchdowns and has an 8.9 yardage carrying mark.

A starter from 1964, halfback Steve Maxwell, a 136 pound junior is next in scoring with seven touchdowns and a 7.8 per yard carry.

APPRENTICE TRIPLE

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI) —Apprentice jockey Earlie Fires scored a riding triple at Tropical Park Thursday. Fires won with Fleet Fella ($3.60) in the first, McCoy ($9.00) in the third and Golden ($9.60) in the eighth.

Choirs From PHS, Both Junior Highs to Perform

Choirs from Pampa's senior high and two junior high schools will sing in the public program for lighting of the Nativity Scenes in Central Park at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

In addition to choirs from Pampa High, Robert E. Lee and Pampa Junior High schools there will be carollers, trumpeters and narrators taking part in the program, sponsored by the Truteen Service League.

There will be seven scenes depicted. Each of the three school choirs will sing during the lighting of two scenes and all choirs and the congregation of people will join in mass singing of "Joy to the World" as the final scene is illuminated.

The seven scenes will be lighted one at a time in progression with the musical program especially adapted to each one.

The Pampa Junior High choir will be under direction of Fred Bridges; Robert E. Lee Junior High choir under direction of Mrs. C. L. Cross, and Pampa High choir under the di-

Former Pampan Dies in Accident

Wendell LaCasse, 41, former resident of Pampa, died last night as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident near his home in Victoria.

Mr. LaCasse was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. LaCasse of 415 N. West.

He was a 1939 graduate of Pampa High School and moved from Pampa in 1939.

Chief Advises To Lock Cars While Shopping

Pampa police Chief Jim Conner issued a reminder to Christmas shoppers today to lock their cars while Christmas shopping.

The chief pointed out that during the yuletide season many persons go looking for unlocked cars and steal Christmas packages.

Survivors include his wife and two daughters.
