Week's Events Written Up As Hectic History

By H. J. HELLER
United Press International

In the elephant grass on the slopes of a mountain the bodies of American GI's lay amid those of their slain Communist foes.

The moans of the wounded intermingled with the thud of heavy mortars and the ping of sniper bullets.

The dead—and the injured—were the victims of the bloodiest attack ever thrown against Americans in the "dirty" war in Viet Nam. In a week of savage fighting marked by heavy casualties on both sides, the worst ordeal for U.S. soldiers came Wednesday when North Vietnamese regulars ambushed and mauled a column of American cavalrymen in the jungles of the Chu Pong mountain range.

In a battle in the same area earlier in the week reports from the scene gave confirmation, although none was needed, of Civil War General William T. Sherman's statement, "War is hell."

One survivor said the fighting was so close that North Vietnamese soldiers snatched weapons from the hands of wounded Americans and began firing at other cavalrymen.

Another GI said he saw a buddy blown up by his own grenade when he pulled the firing pin but was shot before he could throw it.

Others told of hearing screams, "Mother of God, no, don't" from a young GI captured by the enemy, dragged behind a bush and executed by machine gun fire.

By weeks end, the fighting had diminished and an American military spokesman said that troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division had killed a confirmed 1,411 Communists in the fighting around Chu Pong mountain.

American losses were described as "moderate," although the heaviest of the war so far.

Danbury, Conn.: Henry A. Wallace, vice president during Franklin D. Roosevelt's third term, died Thursday. Wallace, 77, ran as a third party presidential candidate in 1948 but was badly beaten at the polls.

United Nations: The United Nations discussed ways of applying sanctions to Rhodesia which has declared its independence of Britain.

New York: Princess Margaret of Britain and her husband Lord Snowdon continued their three-week tour of the United States. The royal couple attended a White House dinner given in their honor and came to New York City for a six-day visit.

Washington: The State Department confirmed that it had received last year an offer from Hanoi to discuss the war in Viet Nam. The State Department spokesman said the offer had been rejected because it was not believed that Hanoi was "serious" about holding peace talks.

Washington: The Supreme

Court ruled by an 8-0 vote that individual members of the Communist party did not have to register with the government.

Queenstown, Ontario: The power failure which blacked out much of the northeast United States Nov. 9 was blamed on a malfunctioning relay at the Queenstown, Ontario electric distribution plant. The head of the U.S. Federal Power Commission warned that it could happen again.

Tacoma Worker Confesses Kidnap

TELLS FREEMAN OBJECTIONS

Rogers Upholds Growers' Cause

Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa has filed two protests with Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman on behalf of cotton growers in the 18th Congressional District.

In one letter to the secretary, Rogers stated:

"On behalf of hundreds of cotton farmers in the 18th Congressional District of Texas I wish to protest the recent Department of Agriculture decision to require micronaire readings in connection with the price support program for the 1966 cotton crop."

Rogers said he thought the selection of Nov. 1 as the date for placing the rules in effect for cotton going into the 1966 program, was highly arbitrary and discriminatory.

"The effect of selecting this mid-harvest date," Rogers said, "has been to favor certain cotton producing areas and the producers residing therein and to work a hardship on producers in areas such as the Texas Panhandle and South Plains."

The congressman requested in his letter to Freeman that "the purpose and function of micronaire grading of cotton as a part of the program of government be given close review" by the Agriculture Secretary and his staff.

In the other weekend letter of protest to Freeman, Rep. Rogers said he wished "to express my vigorous disapproval of the Agriculture Department's recently announced decision to impose more restrictive rules for cotton planting in skip-row patterns effective with the 1966 crop."

The new and revised rules were announced by the department Oct. 27.

Rogers told Freeman he had been informed that a decision had been reached to leave the rules as they were with relation to skip-row planting, which he described as "an old, tested, and proven method of soil and water conservation in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains."

The new rules, Rogers charged, will "work a decided hardship on numerous cotton farmers in the 18th Congressional District of Texas."

"The cause of conservation will suffer a setback," Rogers stated, "and farmers' incomes will be cut."

The Pampa congressman requested that Secretary Freeman "make a personal review in depth of the ramifications surrounding the new skip-row rules."

Rogers also told the agriculture secretary he would like to meet with him personally and bring along some of his 18th District constituents who feel, as he does, "that the matter has not been properly evaluated in the department."

All But $11 Thousand Ransom Is Recovered

TACOMA Wash. (UPI) — A 34-year-old construction worker signed a statement Saturday admitting participation in the kidnaping of 13-year-old Charles Hyde III. Authorities said $34,360 of the $45,000 ransom money was recovered.

Pierce County Sheriff Jack Barry identified the suspect as Tilford G. Baker of Tacoma.

Baker's father and brother accompanied by two sheriff's officers and the kidnap victim's father picked up the ransom money in a bowling ball bag from a locker at the Santa Fe Bowling Alley at Federal Way north of here.

Pierce County Prosecuting Attorney John G. McCutcheon said formal kidnaping charges would be filed against Baker later in the day.

Berry said information in Baker's 22-page handwritten statement "certainly coincides with the information we got from young Charles Hyde."

Berry said Baker told him his conscience was bothering him and he wanted to turn himself in.

Young Hyde, a 13-year-old straight A, eighth-grade student, was kidnaped in front of his home Wednesday by two men. He was released nine hours later after his father, Charles H. Hyde II, paid $45,000 in ransom.

Berry said Baker implicated two other men in the crime.

"From all indications these two men have fled the state," Berry said. "We have issued fugitive warrants for them."

Berry did not name the other two suspects.

Berry said Baker admitted to being one of the two men in the car that picked up young Hyde near his home in the fashionable suburban Lakes Districts.

Berry said the third man participated only in the planning of the kidnaping.

Berry said the FBI was officially aiding in the investigation because the suspects were believed to have crossed the state line, making it a federal case.

Berry said Baker appeared distraught when he turned himself in about 4:30 a.m.

Fog Turns State Into Death Trap

By United Press International

A treacherous early morning fog crept across giant sections of South, East and Central Texas Saturday, turning Texas' highways into death traps.

Some Pampans, stirring in the very early morning reported some locally heavy fog in low pockets but, on the whole, the area was clear compared to a large center section of the state.

The low temperature in Pampa Friday night was 33 degrees with heavy frost reported in widespread areas.

The soupy fog covered San Antonio, Victoria, Houston, Beaumont, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth, Sherman, Texas and all the country in between.

Temperatures reached a high of 69 Saturday.

Once again the Houston International Airport and Houston ship channel shut down until the fog lifted.

At least three deaths were blamed on the fog—all of them in a two-car collision in the dense low-hanging clouds between Trenton and Leonard in Northeast Texas.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the same conditions would apply late Saturday and early Sunday.

Out-of-Town Technicians Fill at Cape

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Out-of-town technicians Saturday temporarily replaced striking spacecraft workers and kept preparations moving toward the opening of a twin launch Gemini spectacular in two weeks.

Project officials brought in 43 supervisory personnel from the strike-idled McDonnell Aircraft Corp. plant in St. Louis, Mo., to keep Gemini 7 testing on schedule for at least several more days.

With Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell scheduled to begin their 14-day flight Dec. 4, any lengthy check-out delays would postpone the blastoff. The launch of Gemini 6 rendezvous pilots Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford follows Gemini 7 by nine days.

The salaried technicians from St. Louis were filling the key gaps left by the walkout of more of 215 of McDonnell's hourly-paid workers represented by the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO) at the launch site.

"We don't want to go all the way to Dec. 4 in this manner," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), "but we can go for several days."

Protest March Draws Tricycles, Wheelchairs

OAKLAND Calif. (UPI)—Thousands of persons from children on tricycles to elderly persons in wheel chairs paraded for five miles from the University of California at Berkeley Saturday in protest against United States involvement in Viet Nam.

About 6,000 demonstrators escorted by a massive mobile guard of 70 armed, steel-helmeted law officers were heckled from the sidewalks but reached their destination in De Fremery Park, a mile from the Oakland Army Terminal, without major incident.

The Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) which organized the march said about 40 California colleges were represented but estimated not more than 60 to 70 per cent—of the paraders were students. None of the five leaders of the march was a registered student.

As parade leaders reached the Oakland City line, they sang "Joshua fought the battle of Jericho and the walls came tumbling down."

Last month Oakland police halted a similar march at the line.

Saturday the VDC marched under sanction of a federal court order which set rigid conditions including one that demonstrators must stay away from Oakland Army Terminal, major embarkation point for Viet Nam-bound men and supplies.

Assassination Anniversary Rites Planned

DALLAS (UPI)—At least eight anniversary ceremonies, most of them deeply religious, are scheduled Sunday and Monday in the city where President John F. Kennedy was slain just two years ago.

One of the simplest and most touching will be at midnight Sunday in the emergency section of Parkland Memorial Hospital, where the President was pronounced dead as of 1 p.m. CST, (2 p.m. EST), Nov. 22, 1963.

With Trauma Room 1 arranged the way it was when the President was brought in, nurses will silently close the door for 24 hours.

At 8:30 a.m. CST (9:30 a.m. EST) Monday, Parkland Chaplain Carl Nighswonger, a Methodist, will place a wreath on the door and say a prayer.

Victims of accidents and other violence will be treated as usual in Trauma Room 2 where Texas Gov. John Connally, now recovered, was treated for his wounds and where assassin Harvey Lee Oswald died two days later from Jack Ruby's bullet.

The first memorial, by the Oak Cliff Council of the Knights of Columbus, is scheduled at 2 p.m. CST (3 p.m. EST) Sunday.

Speech Students Take Top Honors In Forensic Meet

A group of 25 students from the speech department at Pampa High School garnered top honors in the West Texas State University Speech Tournament in Canyon Friday. The tournament, an annual affair at the University, was attended by 20 high schools in the "Golden Spread" area.

Local students competing in extemporaneous speaking, persuasive speaking, prose reading, poetry interpretation, and debate placed eleven individuals in the final rounds and ended competition with three debate teams posting perfect records. In order to qualify for final rounds the individuals were required to receive top ranking in preliminary rounds. Only six students are selected for final rounds in each event.

Local students qualifying included Cherie Akst and Lyssa Bossay in poetry interpretation; Betsy Goodwyn and Susi Root in prose reading; Ann Monroe, Mary Hom and David Harmon in extemporaneous speaking; and Linda Hubbard, Jane Hiatt, Gwen Brunson, Dale Cain and Jan Farley in persuasive speaking. The tournament rules deviated from Texas Interscholastic League rules in that girls and boys compete in the same event. (See SPEECH, Page 3)

M. K. Brown Foundation Trustees Plan Commemorative Event November 30th

Trustees of the M. K. Brown Foundation will have a party at the new museum in the White Deer Land Building in Pampa at 2:30 p.m. on November 30 to honor the memory of M. K. Brown and to commemorate the publication of Cornelia Adair's "My Diary". Travis Lively will review the book at the party.

First printed for private circulation in 1918 — now a rare collector's item of Western Americana — the book has just been reprinted through the generosity of Brown by the University of Texas Press. Brown made possible the publication of this book as a personal tribute to "a very great lady."

This little diary is Mrs. Adair's lively account of a two-month trip which she and her husband made into the western part of the United States in 1874. The ostensible purpose of the trip was to hunt buffalo; however, these large beasts actually play a very small part in the journal.

Rather, the book is an interesting and often amusing account of the long journey from her husband's estate in Ireland to New York and from there out to the buffalo hunting grounds in Nebraska and the western part of the United States, including the Rocky Mountains. Though they returned to Europe after this trip, Mrs. Adair and her husband John later came back to the west as ranchers in the Texas Panhandle on their famed JA Ranch which was formed by Charles Goodnight and Adair.

Brown, who was for many years assistant manager of the JA Ranch, was working on the final draft of his introduction to Mrs. Adair's Diary when he was killed in an automobile accident. Fortunately, he had done enough on the introduction to enable his long-time friend, Mrs. Clotilde Thompson, to complete it.

Always known for his individualistic participation and leadership in civic enterprises and other worthy projects, Brown, a Britisher by birth, once said to me: "I want to repay my debt to it in every way I can."

A substantial payment on that debt was made in 1960 when, through a gift to the University of Texas Press, he established the M. K. Brown Range Life Series.

Through this series he and the Press hoped to record in depth the experiences of Brown's fellow pioneers of the Southwest, particularly those involved in the cattle business of the Panhandle. (See EVENT, Page 3)

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One would think that any television program that can offer such provocative guests as Art Buchwald, Lena Horne, Gloria Swanson, Jules Feiffer and Bubb Schulberg—all within a single week—would be worth keeping on. Or at least that a network would think so—especially since it is on during the daytime, when the network air is most foul most of the time.

All of the above guests are only some of those scheduled to turn up next week on the show in question, ABC-TV's "The Young Set," a daily one-hour talk series whose hostess is the actress Phyllis Kirk. The show is being canceled—goes off Dec. 17.

ABC-TV feels that the ladies who watch the home screens during the daytime would much prefer a different sort of diversion, and so the network has unveiled the following two half-hour properties to be added to its rock 'em, sock 'em sunshine lineup:

"Supermarket Sweep," a thrilling pastiche which will make its world debut Dec. 20, originates from supermarkets around the nation and feature special runners, selected by contenders, racing around the food centers scooping up "as many groceries as each can collect" in a given time. Once again I suggest ABC-TV contact our celebrity-strewn Arrow Market here on Santa Monica Boulevard, into which two robbers came the other night, scooping up the cash in register in a given amount of time as our wife, her back to them, three feet away, stood reading a magazine, never noticing. A great reporter.

The other new ABC-TV entry, also to have its world premier Dec. 20, is called "The Dating Game," and is described as a show that presents "attractive and eligible men and women with romance in mind." The idea is that a woman questions three bachelors who are behind a screen, and on the basis of their answers she decides which would be her best date. "That and the man of her choice are treated to a memorable night on the town including visits to top night clubs and theaters."

For those interested, other guests on "The Young Set" next week include Arnold Gingrich, publisher of Esquire Magazine; novelist Irwin Shaw; actor Christopher Plummer, now starring in Broadway's "Royal Hunt of The Sun," and Peter Shaffer, author of that show. As for "The Dating Game," ABC-TV says it is certain it will be quickly adopted by "all women who enjoy the give-and-take of romance." Better emphasize the take.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The ratings department of NBC-TV says that the network's coverage of Pope Paul's recent visit to the United States "was seen in more homes than any other program in television history"—29,480,000... the statisticians probably are referring only to scheduled programs, for it seems inconceivable, for instance, that there could have been anything more watched in video history than the coverage of President Kennedy's assassination and its aftermath.

At any rate, the NBC-TV ratings experts list the next four most-watched television broadcasts of all time, following the Pope Paul visit, like this: NBC-TV's 1964 election returns coverage... the same network's 1960 election returns reporting... the fourth and final game of NBC-TV's coverage of the 1963 World Series—the Sunday contest in which Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Yankees... and CBS-TV's 1964 showing of the Miss America Pageant.

NEW YORK—Shearson, Hamill & Co. confesses that "when writing any comment on the stock market it is very difficult to avoid the use of clichés such as 'cautious optimism' and the need for 'selectivity.' Nevertheless these words are a very concise description" of the present market climate.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone, Inc., says "the implication that government is becoming more and more involved in pricing policy to avoid higher costs is disquieting. Certain industries which have been planning price hikes may now be inclined to postpone or cancel them altogether."

Pampan Found Dead Behind Wheel of Car

A 56-year-old Pampa man was found dead behind the wheel of his automobile shortly after 1 p.m. Saturday.

Simon Peter King of 912 Lincoln, had apparently lost control of his automobile and rammed into a stop sign at Harvester and Lefors street.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon said that apparently King died of natural causes and not of injuries received in the accident.

"In my opinion," Cawthon said, "the impact of the collision was not enough to cause fatal injuries." The patrolman said he believed that King suffered a heart attack which caused him to lose control of his car and strike the stop sign.

The accident happened about 1:15 p.m.

King was a retired employee of the city of Pampa and moved here in 1931 from Millrose, N. M.

He was born May 1, 1906 in San Saba, County.

Survivors include his wife Mrs. Amanda King of the home; one son, Tommy of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Wilma Shaw of Pampa and Mrs. Rita Fern McDonald of Fremont, Calif.; one brother, Pat of the home; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Duenkel Funeral Home.

Shamrock Man On Probation

Walter Elix, 37, of Shamrock was sentenced to a two year probation term in 31st District Court in Wheeler yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of murder without malice.

Elix pleaded guilty before Judge Lewis M. Goodrich to the Aug. 9, 1965 death of his wife. According to testimony, Elix had been scuffling with his wife on that date when she fell striking a doorknob. She later died of injuries received in the fall.

In other court action yesterday, John W. Armstrong, 22, of Wellington pleaded guilty to forgery charges and was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary.

District Attorney Bill Waters said the sentence was directed to be served concurrently with a similar sentence in Collingsworth County.

Speaker Explains Panhandle Area Economic Study

James Murphrey, farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in the Amarillo district, addressed Pampa Kiwanians at their noon luncheon Friday on the topic, "Panhandle Economic Study."

Murphrey, who stated resources now are being studied in a 25-county area of the Panhandle, as the result of numerous requests by ranchers, businessmen and others in the Texas Panhandle.

The speaker stressed that ranchers' incomes are low compared to investments.

"The income here is not as high presently and ground has been lost in comparison with other areas," Murphrey said.

The luncheon speaker added that a report on the current study is expected to be finalized in March or April of next year and copies will be distributed to interested persons.

Murphrey was introduced by Foster Whaley, Gray county agent.

T-Bone Club Entertained By 'Cut-Ups'

Approximately 100 persons saw exactly what happens to a steer after it reaches the packing house at the annual meeting Thursday night of the North Texas T-Bone Club in Jim's Steak House.

One-half carcass of beef, weighing 246 pounds, was cut up into individual pieces and then weighed before the audience. Waste products and percentage of individual cuts from a beef were then weighed and recorded.

Taking an average carcass of 820 pounds the percentages show that 14 per cent of the carcass is fat; 5.5 per cent T-bone; 8.3 per cent sirloin; 10.2 per cent round steak; 6.7 per cent club; 22.8 roast; 23.0 per cent hamburger and 3.5 per cent was lost in the processing.

Panhandle Packing Co. of Pampa furnished the beef and man-power for the demonstration.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The much awaited basketball season is at hand; it will start the first week in December. The organizational meeting is Monday night at 8 at the Center.

All entry fees must be in by that meeting. Managers should at end this meeting or send a representative for all rules and procedures are to be discussed. The entry fee per team is $30 plus the referees fees. The referees' fees will be set by the team managers and will not have to be in until the first game.

Leagues for both men and women are offered again this year. If you are interested in organizing a team and want more information, please, contact George Smith at the Center.

The last swim lessons of the year will be offered starting November 29, and lasting through Dec. 15. Offered will be Beginners lessons from 4-5 p.m. and then Advanced Beginners from 5-6 p.m.

These classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 days. Lessons will be free to Center members; non-members must pay a $3 instruction fee. Memberships are available. Lois Dittmeyer, local water safety instructor, will conduct the classes.

Those who are interested in competitive swimming take note of the Dolphin Swim Club at the Center. Members work out weekdays from 5-6 p.m. and on Saturday from 10-12 a.m. They are interested in new members.

The Dolphins are preparing for an indoor meet at the new Maverick Pool in Amarillo during the first part of December. Persons interested in becoming members should notify Don Klepper, Dolphin coach, or George Smith, director.

Two activities of the Center that do not get much attention are judo and fencing. Judo is open to anyone from 6-60 years old interested in the art of self defense. A. E. Brewer, noted Pampa judo expert, conducts the classes on Sunday from 2-3:30 p.m.

Fencing, although not well known, is a very active sport. Joe Pafford conducts the classes meeting on Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Those interested in either of these sports need only to be Center members.

Memberships at the Center are very economical for the number of activities involved. Family memberships sell for $20 per year; $12 for six months. This includes all members. Individuals may purchase memberships for $8 per year; $5 for six months. It takes only a moment to fill out the application blank for membership. Memberships make good Christmas presents.

The regular season for volleyball ended this week with the women's league all tied up. The Independents and Cock O'Walk tied up the season with 9-1 records and will have a play-off Monday night at 7:30 p.m.

Scores in the women's league found Independents over Jackson Realty 15-3 and 15-1; Cock O'Walk over Spikers 15-0 and 15-0 while First National came in third with a trouncing of Hopkins 15-2 and 16-14.

In men's action with Skelly Copping championship honors we found them over confident again and took it on the chin by a 15-9 and 15-10 count from Senior Citizens.

The Doozers bumped the Rejets 15-9 and 15-9 while Pampa Warehouse took the Dairy Queen 2-15, 15-10 and 14-10. There was a tie for second place between Dairy Queen and Senior Citizens each 6-4 and a play-off will be held following the girls game on Monday night.

KEITH GREGORY honored

Pampa Student Nominated for WW Fellowship

Harold Keith Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gregory, 246 Mary Ellen, is one of 15 Texas Christian University students nominated by faculty members of the departments in which they are majoring for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships.

The 15 students were honored Wednesday night at a dinner on the TCU campus.

To attract men and women to the profession of college teaching the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation annually awards fellowships to 1,000 prospective first-year graduate students and honorable mention to an additional 1,500. The Fellows, chosen from about 11,000 candidates nominated by college faculty members in the United States and Canada, are fully supported for one academic year at an American or Canadian graduate school through funds granted by the Ford Foundation.

Nominees are selected on the basis of native ability, solid undergraduate preparation for graduate study leading to the Ph. D.-degree, competence in foreign language or other required subjects and ability to write essays and reports on independent work accomplished.

Approximately 25 per cent of nominees throughout the nation will be interviewed by Foundation representatives in January, according to Dr. Paul G. Wassemich, director of TCU's Honors Program. Awards are announced by mid-March.

"Being a nominee of the University for one of the fellowships is an honor indeed," Dr. Wassemich added.

Special guests at the dinner for TCU's nominees included Dr. James Newcomer, TCU vice-chancellor for academic affairs, and Assistant Professor Arthur Ullman of the mathematics department, a former Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

Gregory, a senior philosophy and English major at the University, is a participant in the honors program.

TO PARENTS, ASSOCIATES OF BOY

Jetliner Incident Is Mystery

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The slim, clean-cut youth was what some teen-agers at Brownsville high call a "grand." He was the "brain" of the science club and a "straight A" student.

He had not missed a day of school since his parents enrolled him at Skinner elementary school at the age of six.

He studied "too much" and, in fact, was scheduled to graduate from high school as a junior, a year early.

"He was neat, courteous, and just the kind of boy you'd want your son to be," said Principal Arnold Olvera of Brownsville (Tex.) high school.

"I can't understand it."

What Olvera and most everyone who knows Thomas

Tommy Robinson, 16, cannot fathom it that he shot up a jetliner. The boy goes before U.S. Commissioner Fritz Windhurst (at 10 a.m.) today on a federal charge of crime aboard an airliner.

It was to have been a single-engine biplane at Communion.

Tommy fired nine shots from two pistols into the floor of the National Airlines DC8 and ranted against the evils of Communism.

The boy, held on $50,000 bond in Orleans Parish Prison, said he wanted to force the plane to Havana where he would "get shot or shoot somebody" in his personal protest against Communism. He was forwarded by a locked cockpit door.

His father, Prof. William G.

Robinson of Texas Southern College, drove to New Orleans to be with his son.

The youth is accused of shooting a pistol in the face of Christopher Columbus Kraft, mission director of the Federal Space Agency's Manned Spacecraft Center. Kraft and 12 other space officials were on their way to Melbourne, Fla., on the flight. No one was injured and the plane returned to New Orleans, where Tommy was arrested.

The boy was finally disarmed by Edward T. Haake, 41, a Houston businessman.

His mother, Mrs. William G. Robinson, was surprised he ever got on the plane.

"He was always airtight on airplanes," she said. She said

Rain Delays Major Harvest; Hunting Season Unaffected

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—The completion of major crop harvests in the eastern two-thirds of Texas was delayed further by last week's rains, but agricultural officials reported they didn't keep the hunting season from getting off to a good start.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Wednesday the overall soil moisture condition in the state continues good. More rain is needed in Northeast Texas, also in some South-east Texas counties. In far West Texas in the area from San Angelo to Junction and some Panhandle counties south of the Canadian River.

Otherwise, moisture levels are in good shape, the service said.

In the rain area completion of harvests, land preparation and planting were delayed but small grains and cool season grasses continued to furnish plentiful grazing. Wheat grazing also became more widespread in northwestern areas and livestock across the state are generally in good condition, the service said.

AFTER 195 YEARS

Boston Massacre Starts All Over

By BERNARD W. CAUGHEY—BOSTON (UPI)—On March 5, 1770, on a narrow Boston street, British troops killed three persons and wounded eight in what is known historically as "the Boston massacre" — an incident that inspired the revolutionary war.

Now another Boston massacre is underway. In the past 36 months it has claimed 22 lives—all victims of gangland slayings. Two gangs have been trying to wipe each other out; both have nearly succeeded.

Last Monday was the massacre's bloodiest day so far. Three men were shot to death — an ex-convict in Boston, a bartender and his crony in nearby Revere, Mass.

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe said he was "amazed and appalled." He promised to use the full powers of the state police to put an end, once and for all, to the series of slayings.

Latest Victims

The latest victims were bartender Raymond Dussano, 35, of Medford and his friend, John O'Neill, 36, of Revere, both found shot to death in the Mickey Mouse Cafe, a beach-front tavern in Revere, and Robert Palladino, 22, of Winchester, an ex-convict who was shot in the head. His body was found against an upright of an expressway in Boston.

Amber, a fossil resin, is found in many colors ranging from blue to the usual golden amber.

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The first airplane load of "Viet Nam Christmas Airlift" presents for servicemen was on its way Friday from Carswell Air Force Base to Asia.

"And, if this is a crime," said Kennedy, "I am in good company."

Kennedy said he became a Communist Party member in June and was making it public in "celebration of the victory" he saw in Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision which struck down a law requiring sworn Communists to register with the government.

Kennedy said he was in New York conferring with U.S. Communist Party chieftain Gus Hall when the high court handed down its ruling.

The discoverer of barbiturates named the drug after St. Barbara.

Science Today

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical science has long known that two commonly used tools of our high-pressure living — alcohol and barbiturates—mix dangerously in human body chemistry. For a long time it has tried to impress this knowledge on people in general.

But with indifferent success, since many energetic, hard-working "high-achievers," to use a technical term for spectacularly successful persons, mix them and some sooner or later pay with their lives for either ignoring or not knowing about the chemical phenomenon of synergism.

That's a word to remember and to respect. When two medicinal "agents" cooperate in body chemistry to bring about an affect which neither could bring about alone, you have synergism and synergism killed Dorothy Kilgallen, television personality and newspaper woman extraordinaire.

A drink before bedtime is one of the more pleasant and least dangerous relaxing "agents" known to medicine. People think of alcohol as a stimulant but after powering a short burst of energy it has the opposite result. It depresses the central nervous system.

A sleeping pill from the barbiturate family of drugs at bedtime is one of the surer and safer way of assuring a rest for sleep. The barbiturates bring about this marvel of "agent"-induced relaxation by depressing the central nervous system, just as alcohol does.

One drink or one sleeping pill is incapable of depressing the system to anything even approaching a dangerous low. But if intangibles in the body chemistry happen to be evilly aligned, (and there is no way of telling how they're aligned) synergism takes place.

The one drink greatly multiplies the relaxing impact of the one sleeping pill on the central nervous system, and vice versa. From that system comes the nervous impetus which, among other things, keeps the heart beating. Depress it enough and the impetus ceases.

This then was how synergism killed the high-achiever Miss Kilgallen. It's true that the more the alcohol and the barbiturates put into body chemistry the greater the chance of synergism, but the medical examiner found only small amounts of them in her chemistry.

Medical scientists hope the accidental tragedy which befell Miss Kilgallen will be a sleep warning to other high-achievers

Hershey Sees Draft Drop In January

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey predicts a drop in draft calls by January because of a heavy increase in voluntary enlistments for the armed services.

But he doubts that the upturn in the draft picture will bring any change in present plans to begin drafting married men without children.

He also adds that "all bets are off if there's any major escalation" in the war in Viet Nam.

Hershey said Wednesday in an interview that the services have had an overall increase of 60 per cent in voluntary enlistments since the last summer's stepup in the war effort.

Razorbacks Finally Overtake Texas Tech, 42-24

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — The third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks, down 10-0 before they ran a play, caught fire in the second half and defeated Texas Tech 42-24 Saturday to capture their second straight perfect season and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas Tech, runner-up to Arkansas for the Southwest Conference championship, immediately accepted a berth in the point flurry in the final period. Quarterback Jon Brittenum passed 10 yards to end Richard Trill and 24 to end Tommy Burnett for scores and Bobby Burnett added his third touchdown of the day on an eight-yard run. The Burnetts are brothers from Smackover, Ark.

Texas Tech jumped to a 10-0 lead before Arkansas ran its first offensive play. The Red Raiders scored on their first three possessions, but they were shut out after the Razorback defense adjusted to stop the passes of Tom Wilson and the running of halfback Donny Anderson.

Arkansas finally got a chance with the ball and moved 72 yards in a drive that did not end until the second quarter. The score came on Bobby Burnett's four-yard run. Ronny South kicked his first of six extra points.

Texas Tech came right back to score on a 75-yard drive,

After that, it was all Arkansas until the closing seconds of the game when Anderson capped a 67-yard march with a one-yard dive.

Texas Tech won the battle of statistics with 27 first downs and 439 yards in total offense, compared to Arkansas' 22 and 430 yards. Brittenum completed 14 of 21 passes for 232 yards and Wilson hit on 26 of 43 for 319.

Pampa Tumbles Dumas 78-42

UCLA Nips USC, 20-16

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sophomore quarterback Gary Beban threw two touchdown passes in the final four minutes of play Saturday to bring UCLA from behind for a 20-16 upset victory over University of Southern California and virtually clinch a Rose Bowl bid for the Bruins.

With USC leading, 16-6, Beban finally found the range. He hit wingback Dick Wither with a 34-yard scoring pass and two minutes later unloaded a 52-yard bomb to Kurt Altenberg for the go-ahead touchdown.

While a crowd of 94,058 looked on in amazement the Bruins came through with their explosive scoring efforts after it appeared USC had the game sewed up.

Trojan halfback Mike Garrett gained more than 700 yards rushing to become the all-time Pacific Eight Conference leader for one season.

The victory left UCLA with a 7-1-1 season record.

STRETCHED OUT — The Harvesters Kenneth McWilliams (32) is stretched out and waiting for Dumas' Lane Boyd to take a shot. No. 44 is Pampa's Mike Wise. McWilliams scored 19 points to take high honors for Pampa in their 78-42 victory over the Demons Saturday night.

Three Hit in Double Figures for Harvesters

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Pampa opened the 1965-66 basketball season in grand fashion Saturday night, steamrolling past Dumas, 78-42.

The Harvesters, making only a minimum of first game mistakes, soared to a 18-4 first period lead and upped it to 40-11 at halftime.

Dumas had its share of misfortune, being able to find the range on only two field goals in the opening half.

Most of this was due to Demon mistakes caused by a hustling Harvester defense led by Gary Crossland, Mike Wise, Kenneth McWilliams, David Cain and Doug Altom.

It was Wise, Cain and McWilliams who showed the most offensive power with all three hitting in double figures and the Harvesters as a team counting 50.5 per cent of their shots from the field for the night.

Pampa connected on 34 of 67 field goal attempts with Wise ripping the net eight of 11 times, Cain seven out of 14 attempts, and McWilliams eight of 13 tries. Crossland added three of six as did Altom.

So poor was the Demons shooting, they hit only 12 of 41 from the field for 21.3 per cent, that coach Terry Culey played second and third teamers most of the second half.

Pampa jumped to a quick 6-1 lead on baskets by Wise, Crossland and McWilliams and with 1:25 left in the opening quarter had progressed to a 17-4 led with Wise and Cain supplying most of the power.

Dumas hit only once from the field in the opening period and went over 10 minutes before they could again connect.

Hebert Field Goal Ties F-State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Houston's Ken Hebert kicked a 37-yard field goal to even the score early in the second half Saturday night and the Cougars played never-say-die Florida State to a 16-16 tie.

Both teams missed close-yardage field goals in the closing two minutes.

The Cougars scored once in the first period on a 92-yard kickoff return by Warren McVea and again in the second period on a 17-yard pass from Bo Burris to Tom Beers.

FSU scored in the first quarter on a 54-yard drive and in the second on an 80-yard run by Phil Spooner.

Field goals by both teams tied the score and neither squad could score again. The tie cut into Cougar hopes for a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

Hebert's field goal in the first six minutes of the third period spoiled FSU's hopes of a final home win this season.

The Seminoles scored the first time they got the ball, driving 54 yards in eight plays. The drive was sparked by a 27-yard run by fullback Jim Mankins to the one-foot line.

Mankins dived across to score but Pete Roberts missed the extra point.

Roberts kicked off to the Cougar eight, where McVea cut loose with a sparkling run that went all the way.

Spartans Dump Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Michigan States dream of a national football championship wavered behind pass interceptions and fumbles for 30 minutes Saturday before the Spartans came from behind with thunderbolt power to drub Notre Dame 12-3.

It was a make-or-break game for unbeaten Michigan State with its No. 1 ranking on the line and the Spartans began the combat as if they were going to break up. Notre Dame hauled in two Michigan State passes and recovered two Michigan State fumbles in the first half.

One of these, recovered by Tom Longo on the Spartan 19 led to Ken Ivan's 32-yard field goal on the fourth play of the game by the Fighting Irish. They fought thereafter to defend this slender margin against one of the nation's toughest defensive teams.

Jim Summers' interception of a Bill Zloch pass on Notre Dame's 19 in the fourth quarter settled that. Juday passed for the distance to Lee on the next play and the Irish were a disorganized rabble after that.

Two pass interceptions and three fumble recoveries keyed the Spartan victory.

But Michigan State proved it deserved the ranking of No. 1 in defense against rushing.

Tigers Maul Tulane, 62-0

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The passing of LSU's Pat Screen and the break-away running of Billy Masters teamed Saturday night to crush the Tulane Green Wave 62-0 and send the Tigers sailing into the Cotton Bowl game New Year's Day against undefeated Arkansas.

LSU officials accepted the Cotton Bowl bid immediately after the contest.

Quarterback Screen tossed for two touchdowns and ran for another, and Masters tallied three times in the romp.

Tulane helped seal its own fate early when two errant first quarter set up three Tiger touchdowns and LSU added one on their own for a 28-0 first period lead.

Tulane never threatened and Screen found Masters on a 45-yard scoring pass in the second quarter for a 34-0 halftime lead.

Sammy Grezaffi bolted 78 yards with a punt return to start the third quarter scoring and Masters raced in moments later from 20 yards out as the deluge continued.

Jim Dousay and Billy Ezell added touchdowns on short bursts behind the unstoppable Tiger attack. Don Schwab cracked across from the one in the final quarter to close LSU's scoring in the final moments.

Tulane could never muster any sort of threat across midfield but once in the second half. Alert Tiger defenders picked off four Tulane passes and LSU's swarming linemen choked off any Green Wave attempt on the ground.

Buckeyes Edge Michigan, 9-7

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — The hammering rushes of fullback Willie Sander and a 28-yard field goal by Bob Funk with only 1:15 left gave Ohio State a 9-7 win over Michigan Saturday.

The come-from-behind win gave Ohio State second place in the Big Ten and dumped Michigan.

Notre Dame 3 0 0 0-3
Michigan State 0 0 6 6-12

Scoring:

UP HE GOES — Pampa's Mike Wise is about to score and be fouled by Dumas' Jim Meabane in the Harvester's 78-42 victory Saturday night. Wise ended the night with 17 points.

Royal Delighted Over Proposal

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal said Saturday he was "warmed and delighted" by a faculty resolution recommending that he be given a lifetime coaching contract.

The university's faculty council Friday unanimously approved a resolution expressing "complete confidence and great admiration for his handling of the football program at the University of Texas."

The resolution, written by philosophy professor John R. Silber, said "the faculty council deplores and strongly objects to any attempt to assess the merits of coach Royal's work on the basis of simlegam sis."

Borger Turns Back Luckless Harvesters

Bulldogs Ramble For 30-14 League Victory

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Pampa closed out the 1965 football season the same way they began it, by losing, as Borger took the Harvesters homecoming contest, 30-14.

Don't let the score fool you, because Pampa was never in the game and trailed 18-0 at halftime and 30-0 after three periods of play.

Pampa lost 16 yards on their first four carries, 10 of this came when quarterback Roy Harper tried to punt and had to catch the ball on the second bounce and Borger's Craig Edwards took it from Harper on the Borger 28 yard line.

Borger then lost 20 yards on three plays and punted to the Pampa two yard line.

The Harvesters failed to gain in four plays and Harper punted.

This was as close as Pampa got, for the Bulldogs, looking anything but like a cellar team started scoring with ease.

The pass, as usual, brought Pampa's downfall. The Harvesters showed a spark of life in the final period. They moved 65 yards in 18 plays, all but 10 yards of it on the ground and L. D. Rowden went in from the one with 6:45 left. Harper passed to Joey Roden for the conversion.

Borger tried to pass on the next play and David Martindale intercepted the second pass for him this day on the Pampa 31 and returned it to the Borger 25. Seven plays later Rowden went in from the one and with 3:23 left the game was all over at 30-14.

The Bulldogs drove to the Pampa one in the final minute and the Harvesters held on fourth and one but time ran out before they could get a play started.

ters are now 1-9 for the season and 1-7 in league play. Borger is 3-7 for the year and 2-6 in the conference.

Borger completed only four of 10 passes but they were good for 132 yards and two touchdowns as time and again Pampa secondary men forgot to look where the Borger receivers were.

The Bulldogs scored with 4:13 left in the first period driving 47 yards with fullback Pete Loftis, seeing his first action in three games, going the final 20 for the touchdown. The Bulldogs tried to kick for the conversion and failed, as they did after every touchdown.

The 'Dogs made it 12-0 just 1:57 from the end of the first period when Loftis and Mike Plumlee connected on a 50-yard pass play with Plumlee running the first of his two touchdowns.

The Bulldogs made their first long drive in the second quarter when they traveled 52 yards in 13 plays with quarterback Steve Pruitt tossing the final 10 yards to Plumlee for the score. This made it 18-0 with 5:21 left before halftime.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs scored twice more, taking the opening kickoff 41 yards in 11 plays and Pampa getting a 15-yard penalty.

Reserve fullback Larry Alexander went in from the one for the touchdown with 7:56 left in the period.

The Bulldogs moved 72 yards the next time they got the ball, 56 yards of it coming on a pass from Pruitt to Doak Runberg, in 11 plays.

Ronnie Gaiser went over from the one with 59 seconds left in the period for a 30-0 Borger Lead.

Oklahoma State has one game left, its traditional battle with Oklahoma.

Oklahoma State, its ground game working well all afternoon against the porous Kansas State defense, rushed for 231 yards and got an additional 120 yards in the air on six completions by Baxter. Kansas State got only 34 yards passing and 108 yards on the ground.

Oklahoma State built up a 10-0 halftime lead on Baxter's two-yard ram over right tackle with 19 seconds left in the first quarter and Charles Durkee's 35-yard field goal midway in the second period.

Kansas State failed in a gallant bid to get on the scoreboard in the first half, aided by three penalty calls against Oklahoma State, but Jay Lavender intercepted a Wildcat pass on the three yard line to blunt the drive.

Oklahoma State scored twice in the third quarter on two Baxter touchdown heaves. Baxter hooked up with Lawson on the 67-yard bomb after Lawson had set up the play with a 22-yard punt return. Five minutes later Baxter took the Cowboys 46 yards in six plays, passing to Lynn Chadwick for the final seven yards.

After Vrooman's brilliant 76-yard touchdown dash through the entire Oklahoma State team Kansas State never came close to scoring again.

Cowboys Rip K-State, 31-7

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma State pounded winless Kansas State Saturday 31-7 behind the passing of Glenn Baxter and the thunderous runs of Walt Garrison.

Baxter passed for two touchdowns, one of them a 67-yarder to Danny Lawson, and scored a third himself on a two-yard keeper. Garrison, a power-running fullback with the moves of a halfback, scored on a 12-yard burst up the middle and shredded the Kansas State line for 173 yards.

Kansas State's lone touchdown came on a 76-yard punt run-back by sophomore John Vrooman late in the third quarter.

It was the second victory in nine games for the Cowboys, who spent most of this season losing to bowl-bound teams. The loss doomed Kansas State to the Big Eight conference cellar and wound up the Wildcats' season at 0-10.

Purdue Bombards Stubborn Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue combined the passing of Bob Griese and the running of John Kuzniewski to shake off stubborn Indiana in their traditional Big Ten football finale Saturday, 26-21, to complete its best season in 22 years.

The victory left the 10th-rated Boilermakers with a 7-2-1 record while Indiana finished 2-8. It was the 16th time in the last 18 years that the Riveters prevailed in their struggle for possession of the Old Oaken Bucket.

Purdue snapped a 20-0 lead in the first 11 minutes, taking advantage of a Hoosier fumble and a pass interception to hang up three touchdowns and appeared headed for a rout.

Stockdale Passes Baylor Bears, 20-10

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Defensive end Donnie Laurence forced a Southern Methodist fumble and recovered the ball in the end zone for the go-ahead touchdown in the final minutes Saturday to propel Baylor to a 20-10 error-filled Southwest Conference victory.

The 205-pound former offensive halfback also plucked off an errant SMU pass later to set up a 40-yard Bob Purvis field goal that put the game out of reach. It spoiled SMU's chances of scrambling to a share of second place in the conference.

It was a fitting climax for Laurence, since he and middle linemen Greg Pipes and Bill Ferguson had kept tremendous pressure on SMU's quarterbacks all afternoon and stifled almost every Mustang offensive threat.

Baylor, which had thrown such a defensive halter on SMU in the first half that the Mustangs mustered but 25 yards total offense, still had to scrap for everything until Laurence blew the game open.

Kenny Stockdale had connected on a 28-yarder to Harlan Lane in the second quarter to pull Baylor even at 7-7 by halftime and Purvis had pushed the Bears out front in the third period with a 43-yard field goal.

Despite the low offensive output, SMU had drawn first blood on a three-yard run by quarterback Mac White after linebacker Jerry Griffin had set up the shot scoring drive by returning an interception 10 yards to the Baylor 15. Dennis Partee had knotted it at 10-10 with a 30-yard field goal, also set up by an interception—this time by Ron Reel.

Rickey Head had just backed SMU up to its own eight-yard line with a 42-yard punt when SMU quarterback Mike Livingston faded into the end zone to attempt a pass. Laurence hit him just as Livingston cocked his arm and the ball fell to the grass where Laurence pounced on it.

It was Baylor's third recovery of an SMU fumble and an interception shortly later marked the fourth time during the afternoon SMU passes found their way into Baylor hands.

SMU intercepted two passes and recovered two Bear fumbles.

Stockdale hit 18 of 38 passes for 166 yards while Livingston and White could connect on but eight of 23 for a meager 55 yards.

Froggies Down Rice by, 42-14

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Texas Christian's ball-hawking Horned Frogs turned four Rice fumbles and a blocked punt into five first half touchdowns Saturday and coasted to a 42-14 victory.

TCU quarterback Kent Nix, an injury-plagued 6-2, 185-pound senior, tied a Southwest Conference record with four touchdowns passes of 31, 24, 12, and 15 yards.

He also scored once himself on a one-yard plunge to help give the Frogs a 42-7 halftime lead over the shell-shocked Owls.

The homecoming victory gave TCU a 4-2 conference mark and a 5-3 chance to finish in a tie for second place in the SWC if it can beat Southern Methodist next week.

Nix bothered most of his college career by a knee injury fired two touchdown passes in the first 93 seconds of the game. Each touchdown came immediately after Rice's Chuck Latourette fumbled.

Nix hit David Smith with a 31-yard touchdown strike and end Charles Campbell with a 24-yard TD bomb. Nix went back to the launching pad again after Hugo Hollas bobbed a punt and nailed Joe Sherrill with a 12-yard touchdown pass.

The luckless Latourette then proceeded to fumble the ball for a third time and Smith snared a four-yard halfback pass from Steve Landon. Nix scored from one yard out minutes later after another Rice fumble.

Rice made its first offensive move after recovering a TCU fumble on the Frog 19. Quarterback Mickey Holder moved the Owls to the one-yard line where he sneaked in.

The Frogs sent the sparse crowd of 16,606 into a tizzy by scoring again in the last 55 seconds of the first half after a blocked punt. Nix who completed 10 of 14 passes.

Illinois Runs By Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Jim Grabowski of Illinois shattered three Big Ten rushing records Saturday in leading the Illini to a 20-6 victory over Northwestern.

The 219 pound fullback was held scoreless but he gained 189 yards on 33 carries to wind up his three-year conference career with 2,108 yards.

This broke the mark of 2,019 yards set by Alan Ameche of Wisconsin between 1951 and 1953.

Grabowski, who last month broke Red Grange's career rushing record, also cracked the conference single season record of 919 yards established by J. C. Carolina of Illinois by finishing with 998 yards.

The Chicago native also recorded a new conference season record for number of Ohio State was 178 by Bob White of Ohio State.

The victory gave Illinois a fifth place finish in the conference, in a game billed as a battle between Grabowski and Northwestern fullback Bob McKeelvey. However, three of the four touchdowns resulted from passes.

McKeelvey was limited to only 12 yards on nine carries.

Illinois quarterback Fred Custardo passed for two first half touchdowns, the first a 36-yard toss to halfback Cyril Pinder and the other a seven-yarder to Ed Russell at the start of the second period.

Tennessee 'Defenses' Kentucky 'Cats, 19-3

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Defensive minded Tennessee turned two pass interceptions into touchdowns Saturday to down Kentucky 19-3 and win a spot in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Dec. 18.

Frank Emanuel, 220-pound senior linebacker, spearheaded the Tennessee defense which completely smothered Kentucky's vaunted offense.

Tennessee scored two touchdowns in the third period to break open a close game.

Doug Archibald picked off a pass by Kentucky's Terry Beadles early in the third quarter and returned it 18 yards to the two and Dewey Warren got his second touchdown on the next play.

Emanuel also intercepted a pass to set up the Volunteers' second touchdown on the next play.

Emanuel also intercepted a pass to set up the Volunteers' second touchdown, scored on a three-yard run by quarterback Warren.

Both teams scored field goals for a 3-3 deadlock in the first half.

Dave Leake, brother of former Oklahoma star Buddy Leake, booted a 37-yarder to send the Vols into a 3-0 first quarter lead.

John Andrighetti countered with a 35-yard field goal for the Wildcats in the second period.

The Vols completed their scoring in the 4th quarter with a safety.

The victory gave Tennessee a 5-1-2 overall record, 2-1-2 in the Southeastern Conference. The Wildcats, sorely missing the service of ace quarterback Rick Norton who suffered a knee injury in last week's game with Houston, completed their season with a 6-4 record, 3-3 in the SEC.

Tennessee regained the trans-ditional Hawg Rifle with its 33rd win in the 61-year-old series.

White Deer Rambles to 19-0 Playoff Victory

WHITE DEER (Spl) — Colie Huffman's White Deer Bucks played straight from the shoulder used their 'Top Three' to the hilt and bounced 1-A champion Gruver, 19-0, in the first round of the A bi-district playoffs Friday night.

Randy Elliott, the area's leading scorer, Vernon Marl, third in area scoring and Gary Smith, who is fifth on the list, all scored.

Elliott scored in the second period on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Phillip Hart and reliable Johnny Mooney booted the point for a 7-0 lead. This came with 11:04 remaining in the half.

Near the end of the half Marl rambled 60 to the Gruver one, then carried over on the next play to make it 13-0 at halftime.

Smith had the longest run of the night, going 71-yards in the third quarter to make it 19-0. White Deer's defense was superior as it has been all season. This marked the second time this year the Bucks had shutout Gruver, winning earlier in the season, 7-0.

The Greyhounds gained on 39 yards on the ground to White Deers 364 and picked up only 30 more in the air.

White Deer meets Kress in the next bi-district clash and officials of the two schools met Saturday to discuss a site.

The Bucks had to move only 46 yards for their first score and did in six plays.

Elliott, who gained 157 yards on 10 carries for the night, sprinted 25 yards to the nine to set up his own touchdown. But a penalty set the ball back

Gruver threatened once in the opening half and that coming just before halftime.

Frank Silva fan the kickoff from his own one to the Buck 25. A pass took it to the 14 but on the next play the Bucks stiffened and threw the Greyhounds back to the 24 and time ran out.

The Buck's win gives them 11 in a row and still an undefeated season.

McAdams Wants Another Year

NORMAN, Okla. — Carl McAdams, Oklahoma's senior linebacker, would like nothing better than to play another year of college football.

"I'd just like to be around when our sophomores grow up," McAdams said. Naked, he placed a board across the steel tub of the hot whirlpool and climbed up to sit on it.

"After they get a full year's experience and gain weight and strength this summer, they will have a good chance next year. I'd be proud to play with 'em."

season started back at White Deer, I broke my hand in practice," he remembers. "They put it in a cast. Texas has a rule that you can't play football if you're wearing any kind of a cast. So I didn't suit up for our opener against Groom. It was awful. Didn't hit me as being fun."

It was hot in the therapy room. McAdams reached for a towel and wiped the sweat off his face and forehead. It was hard to hear him above the hum of the whirlpool motor.

"Our second game was against Stinnett, our longtime rivals. I couldn't miss it. I went to the industrial art shop and sawed off my cast after getting permission from my dad. I played the game at defensive guard and recovered a fumble on the first play.

"But Stinnett beat us. They beat us every year I played against 'em, just like Texas has beaten us every year I played at Oklahoma."

Any chance of his ankle being ready for Nebraska? "Yessir. I could walk on it a little Tuesday without limping. For the first time. Before, it wouldn't bend or stretch. Felt like something real tight was pulling on the back of it. If it keeps loosening up I should be able to start running on it Saturday."

Vanpool's Running Paces Mustangs

LEFORS (Spl) — The area's second leading scorer, Bobby Vanpool ran for three touchdowns to pace Wheeler to a season-ending, 43-8 decision over Lefors Friday night.

The victory gives the Mustangs second place in the 5-B conference and a 9-1 season mark and 5-1 league record: The Mustangs only loss is to 5-B champ Groom.

Wheeler led 26-0 at halftime on the running of Vanpool, Fred Goad, and Tommy Smith.

Vanpool started things off in the first period by rambling 64 yards to paydirt. Goad went 67-yards just before the period ended and Vanpool raced over the conversion for a 14-0 first period lead.

Vanpool scored his second touchdown when he intercepted a stray Lefors pass and went 10 yards for the touchdown. The kick failed and it was 20-0.

Tommy Smith returned a punt 60-yards on the next play and again the kick failed but it was 26-0 at halftime.

Fred Goad scored the Mustangs only third quarter touchdown when he raced 15 yards to cross the goalline.

In the fourth period Dan Dorman booted a 25-yard field goal, his second of the year and Bobby Ware passed 59-yards to Villard Hunter for a touchdown and the final 43-8.

Lefors only score came in the final period when Dickie Sims passed 80 yards to Marvin Finney. Gary Smith ran the conversion.

Groom Rumbles By Darrouzett

DARROUZETT (Spl) — District 5-B champ Groom built up a 22-0 halftime lead and coasted to a 34-0 rout of Darrouzett Friday night to remain undefeated in the conference.

The new champions ran their season record to 9-0-1 and conference mark to 6-0 on the passing of Terry Cornett and Larry Lamberson's running.

Darrouzett finished 4-4-2 and 1-4-1 in the league.

Cornett raced 20-yards in the opening period to give the Tigers only a 6-0 lead after the first period.

But Alton Vaughan scooted nine yards in the second period and Lamberson boomed over for the conversion to make it 14-0.

Just before halftime Lamberson gathered in a 30-yard pass from Cornett to score. The half-back again ran in the conversion for the 22-0 halftime lead.

Neither team dented the scoreboard in the third period but Donald Britten scored on another Cornett pass this one good for 30 yards in the fourth period and a score.

Lamberson made it the final 34-0 when he ran four yards just before the game ended.

SCORE BY QUARTERS:

G — Lamberson, 30-pass from Cornett (Lamberson run).
G — Britten, 30 pass from Cornett (kick failed).
G — Lamberson, 4 - yard run (kick failed).

McAdams watched the hot water boil round his swollen ankle. "Granville Liggins, our quick sophomore middleguard, is going to be a standout. He has already won two 'Ugs.' He's last as any of our backs. When we go down on kickoffs, he beats everybody. He covers 15 yards while the rest of us go seven or eight. Vernon Burkett (Musko-gee junior) is tough, too. Hits the blocker and reacts real fast."

McAdams came to Oklahoma from White Deer, Tex., population 1,067. Did a small town player have any advantage on a boy from a bigger town? "Yessir. At White Deer we didn't have many boys available so the coaches could work longer with each one. That helped."

White Deer has an organized program that starts boys playing back in the fifth grade. Our grade school coach, Vic Bates, is still doing a great job there. Colie Huffman, my high school coach, is one of the best defensive coaches in the game. Most of our players were farm kids. They make good ones."

Had he lived on a farm? McAdams grinned. "Nosir. I lived in town. My dad ran a furniture store. I delivered furniture in the summers."

McAdams sprained his ankle late in the Iowa State battle. When he didn't play last week against Missouri, it broke a string of 59 straight games in which he had always played with his team, dating back seven years.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent

Occasionally you hear a cattleman say, "I wouldn't run anything except steers. Another will say, "I wouldn't feed anything except heifers. Another will say, "I wouldn't feed anything except steers." Some are strong believers in a cow-calf operation.

Usually they will base their conclusion on one year's experience. They might cite you the fact they lost $40.00 per head on some steers This might have happened to them 10 years ago. We all have a tendency to cite both good and bad experiences as conclusive proof for or against something. Many times we couldn't be any farther from wrong in our decision making. A study was made of six selected cattle feeding programs for the 1963-64 and 1964-65 cattle feeding years in the corn belt.

In 1963-64 heavy steers bought in September - November and fed until March-May, 1965 showed a $28.28 per head loss. This class of feeder cattle showed the greatest loss of the entire different six classes fed this year.

In 1964-65 the same type steer was purchased at the same period as in the 1963-64 period, fed the same and sold at the same time of year in Spring 1966. This time this same type steer made a net of $77.52 profit. Of the six classes of cattle fed in the 1964-65 year, this type made the highest net return. In other words, there was $105.80 difference in the same type steer fed during two successive feeding years. The moral to this story is the fact you might be right today to make a hard and fast statement about the type cattle to run under a given set of conditions. You might be wrong tomorrow.

Many farmers have called to ask about why the wheat is looking so badly. Leaf rust is the answer. Our weather conditions have been ideal for the development of leaf rust. Warm, humid weather with frequent heavy dews and temperatures running above 40 degrees is most conducive to rust. A few days of freezing temperatures would kill all rust spore activity.

What can be done? Actually nothing from a practical standpoint. Fine dusting sulphur properly applied has given good rust control. The rate of application is high and the dust must be replaced after each shower. In our opinion it would be foolish to attempt control.

Our Experiment Station has worked for many years in developing varieties that are resistant to leaf rust. Unfortunately most of the older, standard varieties of hard red winter wheat is susceptible. What really complicates the matter is the fact there are some 33 known races or different types of rust. Some varieties of wheat are highly resistant to one race and highly susceptible to others. About three or four years ago we had this problem in the fall of the year. Many wheat fields were completely defoliated. Usually a fall infestation has less effect on reducing yields than a following spring than a infestation of the disease. However, severe rust in fall can have the affect of leaving the plant in a weakened condition. This makes it more susceptible to winter kills and less resistant to other normal problems. Heavy spring infestation can reduce yield drastically. Early maturing varieties are less affected because they are far enough advanced toward maturity that the rust will have a lesser affect.

The disease is scattered by the wind in tiny rust spores. There is some thinking that heavy grazing is of some benefit in reducing the detrimental affect. If there should be anyone that needs some cattle to reduce this problem, I'm sure we could locate some one that would loan you the cattle for grazing!

Flip Breedlove, secretary-manager, Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association, Clarendon, says the 7th Annual sale will be December 1, at 12:30 p.m. in the Fair Building. Walter Britten will be the auctioneer. Sixty - eight bulls will be offered for sale. Forty are herefords, 16 are galloways and 12 angus.

FOR THE BIRDS

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The Rev. James Mulligan, S.J., professor of biology has $63,000 to throw to the birds. Father Mulligan, a St. Louis University scientist was awarded a financial grant from the National Science Foundation to find out why birds sing.

Father Mulligan has been studying bird calls and songs, and his new study over a three year period will concentrate on sound communication in the song sparrow and the common canary. He will seek information on how bird calls and songs are inherited and developed. Father Mulligan will tape record the bird calls and try to analyze them.

Top State Awards for '65 Claimed by 4-H Members

A Coleman County lad who had a peek behind the Iron Curtain and a poised young woman from Edocuch in Hidalgo County have won state 4-H public speaking honors.

Joe Pat Hemphill, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Hemphill of Coleman, won the boy's award with a talk on "A World Without 4-H," which recounted his 1964 summer trip to East Berlin, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Hemphill will receive a wrist watch from The Pure Oil Company.

Lynda Bowers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bowers, spoke on "Citizenship—Our Heritage and Our Responsibility" to win the state contest for girls. She will receive a chest of silverware from Pure Oil, the program sponsor.

Andy Scott, 17, of Childress, won the 4-H Dog Care and Training award. He'll get a watch from the sponsor, Ralston Purina Company.

The 4-H'er with the best project in dairy foods was 16-year-old Joanna Lewis of Murchison, Carnation Company will give her a wrist watch.

Hemphill, born and raised on a ranch of more than 9,000 acres, had ample material for his many speeches on conservation and farm life. However, he also has spoken on "Democracy in Action" and read a dress revue script while Coleman County 4-H lovelies paraded their home-stitched fashions. Hemphill has been before TV cameras and on many radio shows.

In his "World Without 4-H" speech Hemphill characterized life in Czechoslovakia as dull and unimpressive.

The awards were announced "Our trip was very short," by the Cooperative Extension said Hemphill, "but it was Service.

enough to convince us that Communism is not progress." Miss Bowers has given 24 speeches and appeared on radio and television. As president of her senior high school class she delivered the welcome address at graduation.

Public speaking, she says, has helped her gain poise and self-confidence. Miss Bowers attends Pan American College.

A profit of more than $1,000 over six years tells how seriously Andy Scott has taken the Chihuahua-raising business. Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scott, chose dog care as his main 4-H project, he says, because "it is one suited to a city boy." (Actually, 22 per cent of the 2.5 million 4-H'ers come from urban homes.) In all, Scott has sold 97 Chihuahua pups and has given away 10.

Scott gave four pups to a deaf mute woman because he felt dog raising would make life more enjoyable for her and help her financially. He says, he himself, would never have started his dog project without financial aid from his parents.

Dairy foods expert, Joanna Lewis, says she is "thoroughly familiar with milk" because she has lived all her life on a dairy farm. Miss Lewis has been an asset to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Lewis, by helping out with every dairy operation. She feeds calves, flushes lines, washes out the 700-gallon tank, gets cows from the pastures, and milks them.

In addition, she churns her own butter and makes cottage cheese and sour milk. The awards were announced "Our trip was very short," by the Cooperative Extension said Hemphill, "but it was Service.

George Ingram has completed a stock pond on a place he operates northeast of Pampa. Lloyd Barrett is in the process of completing a waterway on a place he operates south of Pampa. After the waterway is established to grass, Lloyd plans to construct a diversion and a terrace system. Severe gully erosion has taken place on the land that will be terraced. Raymond Barrett, Robert and Artie Sailor have completed underground irrigation pipelines on their irrigated places. A preliminary survey for a diversion terrace was made on the Sullivan farm east of McLean.

Charles Grigsby of Dumas is in the process of putting in 1,100 feet of plastic pipeline for livestock water on his farm northeast of McLean. The total cost of installing 1 inch plastic line is about 30 cents per foot. In many cases this is a much cheaper way of getting water to another pasture than putting down another windmill. Fifty per cent cost-share assistance is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program. Charles plans to seed the entire farm back to grass under this program.

Organic matter serves many purposes in the soil. It supplies nutrients, such as nitrogen and phosphorous; provides a source of energy for soil organisms; improves soil structure; improves soil and water relations; and influences the chemical exchange complex of the soil.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
District Manager

The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District has set up a tall water control project on the C. Russell McConnell farm in Carson County. A weir has been set up in a ditch near the edge of a flat lake bed. Irrigation tail water from wheat and cotton land is diverted through a culvert and across the pasture through a ditch. After passing through the weir, which measures the gallons per minute, the water is collected behind a small dam. An aluminum irrigation pipe under the dam carries the water into gated pipe, which spreads the water uniformly across the lake bed. Irrigation of the lake bed will provide grazing for cattle. The McConnell farm is located northeast of White Deer near the Carson-Gray County line. This project is already providing some answers about the beneficial use of tail water from irrigation wells.

The "Water For Texas" Water Resources Institute, will be held at Texas A&M University on Nov. 22 and 23.

The Conference Program will include papers by the leading water authorities in Texas and in the nation. The conference is divided into three half-day sessions. All sessions are directed toward water planning problems. Texas is now developing a comprehensive water plan to meet the needs of the State of Texas through the year 2020.

General topics included on the program are, "Effective Planning Requirements," "Aspects of Water Planning," and "Agencies and Water Plans."

This is the tenth annual conference. These annual conferences have each been based on the premise that "Enough water for all our needs, present and future falls on Texas or is brought into this state by surface streams and ground seepage originating elsewhere. Our basic water problem is one of management — to make available, and use effectively the water provided by nature."

Increased efforts to recharge the Ogallala formation from playa lakes and streams will be made during the next ten years as the decline in static water levels begins to be felt. Because of the high evaporation rate from playa lakes, more lake water throughout the High Plains Area will be used for irrigation and for recharge. Chemical flocculants are constantly being tested by experiment stations in an effort to find one that will settle the solids of lake water both effectively and economically. The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas, West of Plainview, has been experimenting with two Dow Chemical Products, AP-30 or Separan and

M-1883. These chemicals were applied at the recommended rate of one pound per acre-foot. This was mixed with ten lbs. of gypsum, a slower acting flocculant, to obtain the necessary bulk for aerial application. These flocculants cause the solids particles to be attracted to each other. As a result, the particles collect to form a larger aggregate which settles to the bottom.

The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation in cooperation with the Experiment Station at Bushland, drew up plans several years ago to use a flocculant on a playa lake on the W. J. Stubblefield farm, south of White Deer. The flocculant was to have been sprayed on the lake bed water from a small plane. On two separate occasions the plane had to be turned back because of heavy rain storms over the area.

According to experiments conducted by James Vallant, recharge expert, at the Research Foundation at Halfway, the main problems in flocculation of solids suspended in lake water are waves from high winds and shallow lakes. The combination of these two factors, according to Mr. Vallant, keep solids in suspension because of the wave action.

Records kept by Mr. Vallant, at the Foundation Research Center, show that during the three year period of 1959-1962, 257 acre-feet of water were recharged into the Ogallala formation through the recharge well. In May of 1961 a second recharge well was installed.

If your turkey is frozen, thaw before starting to cook. Wash and dry turkey and rub cavities lightly with salt and pepper and brush with melted butter or shortening. Tie turkey legs together against body and fold wing tips under back so wings will lie flat.

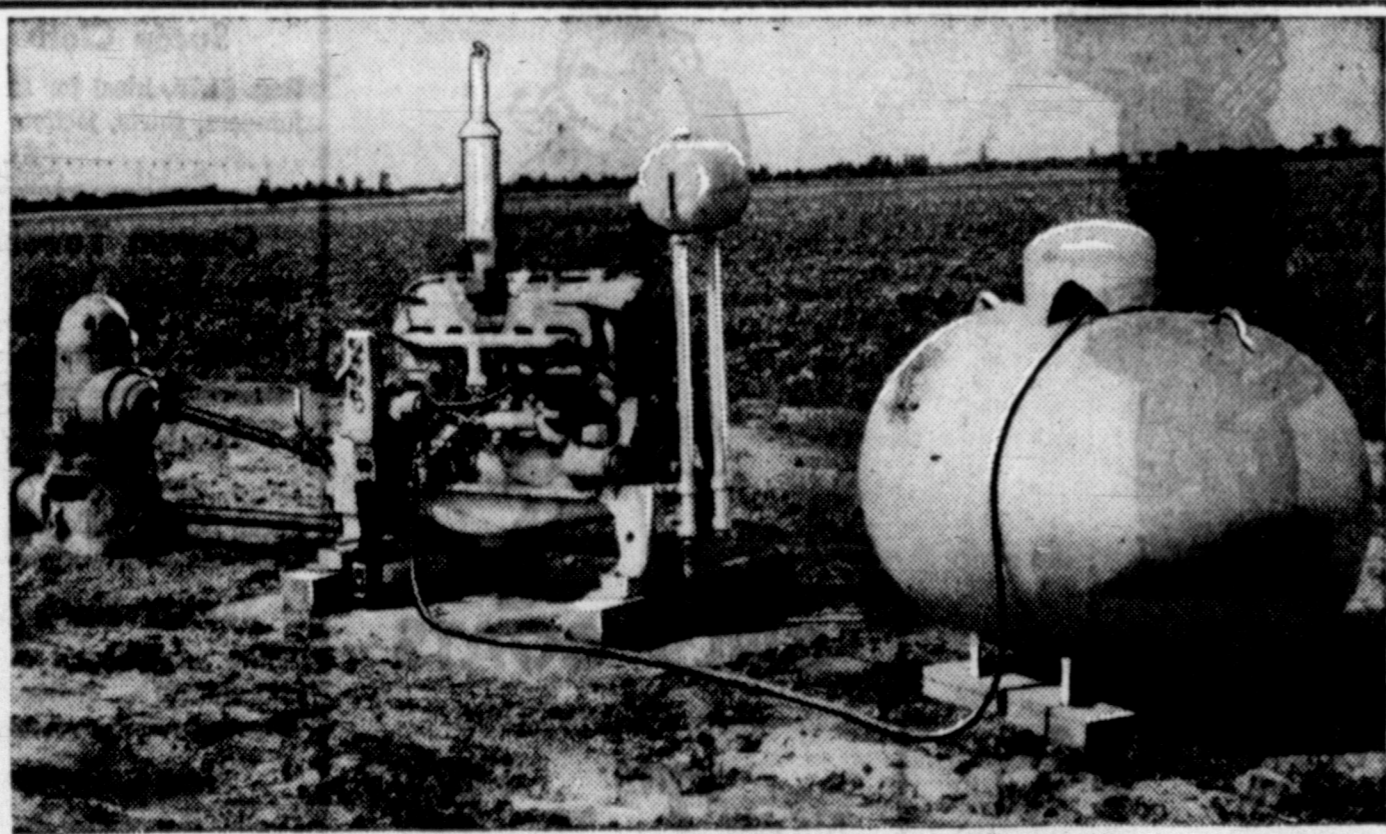

Place turkey with breast side up on a rack in an open pan. Saturate a piece of cheesecloth in melted butter and spread over bird to prevent dryness and baste with melted fat or drippings several times during cooking. Before you start cooking, pour 1/2 to 1 cup water in bottom of roasting pan — this will give extra liquid for gravy and also prevent drippings from burning. Place in electric oven preheated to 325 degrees and roast until done (see chart below). Remove cheesecloth about the last half hour of cooking. When testing for doneness, the meat on the thickest part of the drumstick will be very soft. For easier carving, let turkey stand 20 to 30 minutes after cooking.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL

The Red Cross Board met at the key chapter to better carry 2nd Tuesday of this month with 15 members present. Reports were heard from the standing committees. It is interesting to know the many facets of Red Cross — to the JRC and Red Cross Youth programs — to the many programs that Red Cross has for adults.

Wes Langham, chapter chairman, announced a meeting that will be held in Pampa December 3rd when all executive secretaries and chapter chairmen will be guests of Gray county for the Combined Service Territory meeting.

These meetings are to assist the key chapters to better carry out the Red Cross work in their territory.

The program for the board meeting was given by Bob Re- meeting was given by Bob Re- gan of the safety department at Celanese Corp. He spoke on accidents in the home. Slides were shown of the many dangers to children and family and discussed with the group.

Red Cross has an active Safety program where first aid and water safety are taught to our communities.

This has been enrollment week in our schools and if you have been asked for money to give to the Red Cross, do not think it is another drive for the United fund. This enrollment in schools is for students only and cannot be used in any other way. Magazines for the school rooms are ordered and the rest of the money is used for service projects during the year.

The following is the enrollment we have received to date: Carver, $7.83; Lefors Elementary and Jr. High School, $9.47; Lamar, $22.21; Sam Houston, $29.35; Baker, $24.55; Austin, $61.87; Horace Mann, $25.58; Woodrow Wilson, $31.65; St. Matthews Day School, $15.25; Robert E. Lee Junior High, $175.55.

The other schools in our town will continue to enroll their pupils through next week. Besides enrolling their schools in Junior Red Cross, the children have been packing friendship boxes for the children in South Viet Nam. Lefors Elementary and Junior High Schools have packed 42 boxes and they have already been sent to our warehouses in Landover, Maryland

It was on Nov. 26, just 15 years ago that Red Chinese forces poured across the Yalu River into North Korea and for shipment overseas. Lamar school has packed 12 boxes and Carver Elementary School has packed 6, one from each room. Our schools are joined by all of the schools in Midwestern area to pack 15,000 Friendship boxes for Viet Nam.

Mr. Joe Page, Ted Cross youth chairman has declared November to be Red Cross month in our schools in Pampa. Baker Elementary School has made trays for the patients at the Amarillo Air Force Base hospital. These favors were so very clever and the servicemen will thank the school children for thinking of them at Thanksgiving. One hundred mats and nutcrackers were made for the trays and miniature turkeys were made for favors.

Our field directors tell us that the servicemen keep the favors by their bed for many days, enjoying the work of the children they will never know.

Ted Gikas, first aid instructor is teaching a group of women studying to become LVN's for our hospital. Ted is giving the advanced first aid course to this group on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Ray Fisher, first aid instructor, is teaching a group of Boy Scouts at the South Fire Station each Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Ray says these boys are sharp and in about 10 years we will have some more first aid instructors to continue the work in Pampa.

Mrs. Carolyn Estes, another first aid instructor, is working with a group of Girl Scouts taking a junior first aid course. These girls are from Troop 54 and they, too, are an interesting group.

The Red Cross office is having so many calls regarding the community's mailing packages to servicemen in Viet Nam this year. We are instructed to send all packages to field directors of the American Red Cross and they will be distributed to servicemen who will not have any packages for Christmas.

If you will call our Red Cross office we will give you an address so that you may send your package direct. We advise you to send your gifts via sent more than 100,000 United Nations troops reeling southward in apparently disastrous defeat.

When the Chinese struck, the U.N. forces under Gen Douglas MacArthur virtually had destroyed the Communist North Korean army and already there was elated talk of "home by Christmas."

Chinese intervention prolonged the war at least two and a half years.

This is not to suggest that similar intervention is imminent now in the current anti-Communist war in Viet Nam.

Events of that other November are recalled because as the ferocity of the Viet Nam conflict increases, comparisons inevitably will be made with Korea.

Actually, what comparisons there are so far seem mostly coincidental.

The Korean War eventually employed more than 2.8 million Americans in the Army alone. In that war, troops of 15 other nations fought alongside the Americans and the South Koreans.

As of today it is estimated that U. S. ground forces in South Viet Nam will total something over 200,000 by the end of this year. Although conceivably that number could double by the end of another year the commitment so far is less than a tenth that of Korea.

Comparisons between wars are difficult because a bullet kills just as surely whether the action be large or small. And the sorrow among those left by the man who dies likewise knows no such degree.

But whether or not comparisons are valid experience can provide sign posts.

Red China entered the Korean War despite U. S. assurances that the United States had no intention of crossing China's Yalu River boundary.

Whether they would have entered it had not the U.N. forces crossed the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea is a subject that can be argued to this day.

Vows Pledged in Candlelight Ceremony

Dear Abby...
Let Her Go, Lover, You're Already Married

DEAR ABBY: I am having trouble with my fiancée. She wants to get married. She says either we get married before Christmas or it's all over between us. I gave her a ring in May of '59 with the understanding that we couldn't be married for at least a year. My reasons were mostly financial then, but things have been very good for me since that time and she knows it. However, other problems have come up. My widowed mother lives with me. She's like a cook and housekeeper and I hate to disturb that arrangement, but my fiancée says no house is big enough for two families (Tell me, Abby, are three people two families?). Also, I am in the retail business and Christmas is my biggest season, and if I get married before Christmas I'm afraid I'll neglect my business. My fiancée says her family thinks I am making a fool of her with all this stalling. I am only 42 and she is 30, and I can't see what they hurry in. What do you think?

PRESSURED
DEAR PRESSURED: Let her go, lover. You appear to be already married to your mother and to your business, which is bigamy. So why you want a wife is a "bigamy" to me.

DEAR ABBY: In defense of the thousands of wonderful people who have stayed at our small motel, I resent your implication that some people will steal anything that isn't nailed down. In the five years we've been in business we have lost only one coffee pot and one pillow. And the transport driver who took the pillow left four bottles of beer in exchange for it. However, we've had many customers leave us nice notes telling us how much they enjoyed staying at our place. One crook, for whom the sheriff was searching, left a thank-you note and signed his real name, which gave the law a clue as to where he was.

Please print this, Abby, because most people are basically good and thoughtful. You owe all my customers an apology.

MOTEL OWNER
AMERICAN FALLS, IDAHO

DEAR ABBY: Re your item about the stuff people steal out of motel and hotel rooms: I can not figure out who's more to blame. The owners trying to make outrageous profits, or the customers trying to come out even.

TRAVELING MAN

DEAR ABBY: We have a 20-year-old son. He is an only child, and in many ways he is spoiled, selfish and thoughtless. He is away at college now.

My problem is that he has never remembered me on Mother's Day, or his father on Father's Day. And on special occasions, such as our birthdays and Christmas, we are completely ignored. I have even reminded him in advance to send his father a card on his birthday and Father's Day, but it hasn't helped.
Yet this boy starts telling us what he wants for his birthday and Christmas months-before-hand.

Should we ignore him on his birthday and special occasions as he does us?
Mrs. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: No, it would hurt you more than it would hurt him. It is easy for a child who has been indulged to become selfish and thoughtless. Especially an "only child" who has never had to "share." Don't try to punish him by reciprocating his thoughtlessness. Perhaps it's still not too late to teach him the joy of giving.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SAM:
Patience, man. Never cut what you can untie.

Mrs. Vernon Howard Cook
...nee Miss Judy Ann Allen

Miss Judy Ann Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Allen of 1200 Williston, and Vernon Howard Cook of Miami, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cook of Perryton, pledged doubling wedding vows at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Burgin Watkins of Childress performed the ceremony in First Methodist Church Chapel before an altar appointed with tall arrangements of white chrysanthemums-in-white Grecian urns. Nine-branched tree candelabra, bearing lamp globes and trimmed with salal foliage filled the background. Pews of honor were marked with aisle candelabra.

Mrs. Lois Fagan, organist, presented a program of traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Malcolm McDaniel as she sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a formal-length gown fashioned of ice blue peau de soie. Designed with sheath lines, the gown featured an empire waistline and a seed-pearl encrusted bodice with long tapering sleeves terminating in petal coils completed their costumes. Serving as best man to the bridegroom was Richard Haley Jr. of Perryton while groomsmen were Jack Brown of Perryton and Charles Wardrup of Miami.

The Allen home was the scene of the reception held following the exchange of vows. The bride's table, covered with a floor-length white satin cloth was draped with garlands of smilax and centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and roses. An all white three-tiered wedding cake, adorned with blue satin wedding bells, appointed the table. Mrs. Richard Haley Jr. of Perryton presided at the punch bowl and Miss Pat Allen of Perryton served the cake. Miss Kathy Flynn of Gainesville attended the guest register.

The new Mrs. Cook donned a two-piece suit of grey knit with black lizard accessories prior to departing on a wedding trip to Houston and College Station, where the newlyweds attended Texas A&M Homecoming. She lifted the gardenia corsage from the bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Miami.

The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended West Texas State University. Mr. Cook, a graduate of Perryton High School and Texas A&M, is employed as Vocational Agricultural teacher at Miami High School.

"Christmas Arrangements" Program Is Presented for Garden Club Members

Pampa Garden Club met in Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank for a short business meeting and program on "Christmas Arrangements". Mrs. Melvin Stephens was the exhibitor. Several women shared arrangements with the group. Mrs. Tom Price showed a piece that was made of yucca stem and seed pods still attached and sprayed silver. Mrs. Price had added to the base of the arrangement a cluster of red ornaments and placed a small red ornament in each seed pod attaching it by slipping the ornament onto a match stick.

Mrs. W. E. Hinton brought a Madonna that had been finished to resemble a wood carving and had been arranged on a piece of wood with artificial nuts clustered at the base and graced with a branch of long needle pine.

Mrs. Stephens then took material and started from the beginning to show how, step by step, each arrangement could be made.

An outstanding arrangement was one in which Mrs. Stephens used Scotch Broom shaped into a crescent and a Madonna in the center. At the base were placed three red blooms. She said the circle movement denoted the sweeping love of God, the Madonna, of course, was the Mother of Jesus, and the red blooms were symbolic of his blood shed. The fact there were three blooms tells of the Trinity.

Mrs. Stephens used mats several times to help finish the arrangement. She showed how the use of spray will lighten up the arrangement and also add to use in an arrangement. Along with this material, she also used geranium leaves and showed how they could be rolled to form a rosette. These could be sprayed any color desired. Mrs. Stephens used mahonia, also a fern like plant, and long needle pine branches in other arrangements. Arrangements can also be built around candle sticks or a grouping of candles. One very clever way to fix a star of a Madonna is to take a castor bean leaf and strip it of all but the veins. These are sprayed gold and attached to a wire also sprayed gold. This is then placed in the arrangement.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Lee Harrah gave the "Garden Tips" about watering roses through winter and planting bulbs six inches deep mea-

Las Pampas DAR Chapter Travels To Borger, Hears 'Conservation' Program

Members of Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution were guests of the Josiah Bartlett Chapter DAR of Borger in the Gold Room of the Panhandle Bank and Trust Company recently.

Mrs. Royce Williams, chapter chaplain, opened the meeting with prayer. The Pledge of Allegiance and American Creed were led by Mrs. Emerson Groeters. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. F. P. Smithy, regent.

Mrs. A. D. Hills, who organized the Las Pampas Chapter, was a former member of the Josiah Bartlett Chapter. The Pampa Chapter is the youngest chapter in Texas.

A program on "Conservation" was given by Mrs. A. A. Meredith who worked with her late husband while he was promoting the project of the Canadian

'Thanksgiving' Is Program Theme For Circle Meet

Mrs. Kit Autry was hostess in her home to Charity Circle of St. Paul Methodist Church, Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. E. N. Franklin announced that circles would not meet in the homes in December, and all circles would meet together at the church for a Christmas program and a luncheon on Dec. 8.

Thanksgiving cards were signed to send to Mrs. Blanche Jordan, circle chairman, who is ill at the home of her daughter in Midland, and Mrs. Grace Newman, former member, who is in a Rest Home in Big Spring.

Mrs. S. T. Holding gave the invocation and presented the program, "The Last Thursday in November," relating the hardships the Pilgrims endured their first year in America, yet they were still able to count their blessings with a feast and inviting the Indians to share their Thanksgiving dinner with them. Mrs. Holding closed the program by giving a poem entitled "Thanksgiving", by Della Lutes.

Refreshments of date and angel food cakes, coffee and tea were served to Mmes. John Walton, E. B. Jones, Neal C. Jordan, Jim Hopkins, J. B. Rose, E. N. Franklin, S. T. Holding, Kit Autry, N. C. Cotten and grandson, Gary Martin.

EASE OF MAINTENANCE

In key areas of the home where clean-up is almost continuous, as in the bath, kitchen and laundry, homemakers should choose surfacing materials that offer the least cleaning problem. Walls, floors and countertops should be surfaced with a material such as ceramic tile, which needs no extra maintenance — waxing or scrubbing — to be kept sparkling clean. When tile carries the hallmark of the Tile Council of America's new Certification Program, the homemaker knows it is first quality ceramic tile.

TC Cotillion Members Are Guests Of Buff Morris at West Texas State U.

The members and guests of Twentieth Century Cotillion traveled to Canyon Tuesday. The Cotillion members were honored for their contributions to the Opportunity Plan Inc. of West Texas State University from the club's annual antique show and sale. The host for the day was Buff Morris.

The group enjoyed a coffee and tour in the home of Mrs. L. L. Jones of Canyon during the morning. Mrs. Jones lovely home is a two story French Provincial entirely furnished in French antiques. Much of her collection is over 200 years old and are truly museum pieces. Her collection includes paintings, furniture, figurines, vases and dishes.

A noon luncheon was held at the Gold Room of the West Texas State Cafeteria. Mr. Morris gave a most interesting and informative talk on the Opportunity Plan Inc. He stated that this unique plan of student loans had been so successful that less than two per cent of the loans were delinquent since the Opportunity Plan started in 1953. Mr. Morris discussed the individual funds many of which are in memory of a loved one, a truly fitting memorial. The students must keep a budget book to keep record of every cent the student spends. In contrast, it takes the auditor three days to audit the books for the Opportunity Plan and three weeks for the State auditors to check the books for the new Federal Loan program.

After the luncheon the group visited the Art Department and heard fascinating talk by Dr. Emilio Cabellero, head of the department, on the "Importance of Water Color". He told the types of water color paintings, its importance in the history of art and techniques used. Using a sponge, cardboard and a sable brush he demonstrated the semi-wet wash and created a beautiful autumn

The club will meet next on Dec. 7 in the home of Mrs. Will Graham at 1938 Grape.

Members present were Mmes. Ted Alexander, Curt Beck, Bill Cooper, Bob Cory, Kay Fancher, Will Graham, R. A. Johnson, Edward Keffer, Gene Lunsford, John McCausland, Robert Mack, Jack Miller, LeRoy Ogden and J. R. Reeve.

REMODELING HELPS
 Remodeling an older home can be eased if it is properly planned. One step is to engage the services of an architect. When homeowners plan extensive structural changes in an older home, the architect, an expert in structural design can prevent costly mistakes, the Tile Council of America says. Extensive remodeling often means replacing outmoded plumbing equipment, water heating equipment, water lines, and old-fashioned bathroom fixtures. Walls, floors, shower stalls and countertops in modern baths should be surfaced with a colorful, moistureproof, easy-to-clean material such as ceramic tile.

THE CITY HALL cat is missing. There has been no trace of him since the day two policemen resigned. The last report was that the frightened kitty somehow became trapped in a closet in the City tax office. From scuttlebutt, here and there, all we can learn is that it scrambled out of the closet when someone opened the door and then made a beeline into the main corridors with a departing taxpayer. All of this is a bit puzzling because the City Hall Cat is not the type to become frightened during the ordinary course of events. It can be seen in this picture that he appears to be scared to with-

In an inch of one of his nine lives. On second thought, maybe that isn't fright he's displaying. Could he be stirred up enough that he's ready to stand ground and go to bat? Whatever it is, that's the way he looked the very last time he was seen in front of the entrance to the police station. Nobody knows whether he went inside or took off to parts unknown. Somehow or other, we get the feeling the City Hall Cat would be much too smart to walk into a police trap. One report we got at weekend in which little credence is placed, was that the missing cat got his tail caught in the personnel file drawer containing all that new information about city employees. Our informant suspected the cat was spending the weekend at a veterinary hospital to get his tail mended. A check proved this not to be the case. Anyhow, if he got anything caught in a file drawer, it would be his whiskers, not his tail. He never goes at things backwards. The odds are better than 2 to 1 the City Hall Cat soon will show up again. And when he does, what will the story be?

JUST AS A commentary on today's Editorial Page cartoon one wonders why this country orders our troops to fight like mad to keep the Communists out of South Viet Nam and our Supreme Court, on the other hand, lays down the welcome mat for Communists here at home by removing a barrier that would let us know who they are and opens the way for them to run for public office without identifying themselves as communists. But, then — the Wonderful Wizards of Washington do a lot of things that are difficult to understand.

ACCORDING TO work from Europe, the latest rage there is handbags for men. One such item is a black leather bag that dangles by a strap from the wrist. The reason they give for this is that bulky wallets and billfolds and other terribly male things men stuff in their trouser and jacket pockets are simply devastating to the proper drape of their suits. We don't know who will be first to introduce the new fashion in Pampa, but we have a rough idea that any fellow with a bag hanging from his wrist may have to use it to protect more than the lines of his suit.

Law By Whimsy

By WILLIS E. STONE
Members of Congress, before adjournment, made a pre-dawn pilgrimage to the White House for a pat-on-the-head in recognition for their service in knocking another hole in our historic edifice of private property rights and state sovereignty.

The event was one of the highlights in a long series of moves in the federal take over of our highways and byways, and the control of all things on both sides.

The process started long ago when Congress and the Administration discovered they could violate the Constitution freely, so long as it was done with asserted "high purpose" and "good intentions."

Having taken over 40 percent of the land area and 20 percent of the industrial capacity of the nation, the bureaucrats are still mystified that the strange phenomenon called "private enterprise" continues to exist. One historical means to total tyranny is the control of movement of people. In America this is a sizable undertaking. It was begun, however, when the federal bureaucrats deemed it necessary to take over our highways, and build them for us, pretending to help the states by giving back to each state some of the tax dollars collected from the state.

With this established and operative, and taxpayers' billions available to compel further surrenders, Lady Bird had an idea. We shall beautify the world by simply removing everything unsightly from both sides of the road, for as far as the eye can see.

And the word went forth that those states adopting laws to abolish billboards along the highways and byways would get a little extra bonus of their own dollars from the federal road bureaucracy.

But the federal bureaucrats could not decide how far on each side of the road this sylvan splendor must exist. State legislators, anticipating a bonus on the tax dollars syphoned away by Washington surrendered immediately. They begged the bureaucrat to tell them exactly how to word the state laws that would produce the bonus of their own tax dollars.

Struggling to enact laws to suit political whimsy was unwelcome. Colorado, for example, adopted the law required and adjourned, only to find the federal bureaucrats revise their whimsy daily, and consequently, the law did not serve. They lost the bonus!

Contending the states and the people had failed to comply, Lady Bird (who has no legislative authority) demanded a federal law to establish federal jurisdiction over the structures, facilities and installations alongside our roads, taking this jurisdiction from the private owners and the states.

There is no constitutional authority for such an assault upon our institutions of private property and local jurisdiction, but then the new order conforms to Aaron Burr's dictum: "Law is whatever is boldly asserted and plausibly maintained."

Having adopted this dictum and surrendered through a night-long "arm-twisting" session where fatigue overcame resistance the Congress finally enacted the bill. Bureaucrats can now envision a slight amendment putting total control of all land in the nation within reach, hence the pre-dawn reception of a submissive Congress at the White House by Lady Bird and the Vice President.

In 1877, Thomas Edison announced the invention of what he called "The talking machine."

Throwing Some Light On the Great Blackout
NEW YORK (NEA) — It is a little embarrassing to admit this. But on going back over the whole thing, we cannot really make much sense out of what happened to New York during the blackout.

Since those 12 hours, we have spent what seems like a lifetime asking people where they were when the lights went out. And having listened carefully to each, we simply cannot figure out what any of it means, or even which was the worst of all—

To be stranded in the subway all night with a crowd of strangers; or to be stuck in an elevator with your own wife; or forced to walk two-and-a-half hours to get home; or marooned there with no television to watch; or glued to a portable radio listening to authoritative rumors and eyewitness reports on how dark it is in the street when the lights are out.

We are embarrassed to be saying this because a call has come from a publisher suggesting that we write a book about the event right away. And we must confess that we do not have the foggiest notion of how to do so. Not even after looking into the matter in some detail.

"You know the sort of thing," the lady in the publisher's office said on the phone. "Sudden blackness. Rush hour. Thousands of square miles. Millions of people."

"Drama. Humor. Pathos. Fear. Mystery. Causes. And anecdotes. Hundreds of wonderful human anecdotes. A built-in best-seller. You know how it is. One touch of nature makes the whole world kin."

Well, we have no doubt that this lady knows her trade. And very likely the book she describes might have a brisk sale among the people who went through the blackout.

But why they would want to read that story is hard to understand. It is not particularly enlightening to know where everybody was when the lights went out. Or what they did about it.

Having to walk down 27 flights or stay up all night in a train station hardly seems like a brush with destiny. A cold sweater out of a can or Broadway without lights is not our idea of getting down to the basic condition of man.

From where we stood in the dark, wondering how to make a candle, the event did not really feel like a touch of nature.

If anything, it was a touch of high civilization. And as to making the whole world kin — well, we got the distinct sensation of being just about like any other electrical appliance. And non-operational at that.

Brotherhood is not the best word to describe that sensation. Serenity may be somewhat closer. Or maybe suspended animation.

In any case, it was quite lonely waiting around for some expert somewhere to turn you back on again. And now that the whole thing has come and gone there is not even a trace that it ever happened. Even the electric clocks still tell the right time, having been stopped for just about 12 hours.

From our research, the only anecdote that makes much sense in all of this comes from a fellow who lives in a remote section of Brooklyn where the electric power was uninterrupted during the general blackout of the northeastern United States.

"I didn't know anything about it," he said. "I get home for dinner at 5 p.m. And both my wife and I prefer reading to watching television or listening to the radio."

"So we read after dinner. And at 10:30 we went to bed — the way we do every night."

"I heard all about the short circuit the next morning on the radio."

Jobs Corps Expansion Stalled Pending Shriver's Probe, Reforms of Existing Camps

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty director Sargent Shriver is suspending the opening of additional Job Corps camps in urban areas while he tries to get at the bottom of the turmoil and scandals that have rocked the eight in operation.

Pending the outcome of this Shriver has ordered a slowdown in recruiting trainees for the existing camps.

These backstage decisions will halt the launching of two new Job Corps centers scheduled for the end of this month. Announcement of them was to have been made by Thanksgiving.

Two congressional leaders who voted for the anti-poverty program but now are deeply disturbed by the disorders and misdeeds afflicting it triggered Shriver's probe.

This bipartisan demand was made by Senator John Sherman Cooper, Ky., ranking Republican on the Public Works Committee, and Representative John Fogarty, D-R.I., chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the anti-poverty budget.

In separate letters they warned Shriver that unless he immediately initiate thorough inquiry and forceful corrective measures, Congress will do so.

Until impelled to act by this blunt prodding, Shriver had minimized the numerous riots, demonstrations, irregularities and other disruptions that have plagued this phase of President Johnson's $1.5 billion anti-poverty program. But the stern admonitions from Cooper and Fogarty, and mounting bipartisan criticism from other members of Congress caused Shriver to change his mind.

Not only is he going to investigate the job camps, but he will participate in that himself by personally visiting all of them. The eight centers are located at:

Camp Atterbury, Edinburg, Ind.; Camp Breckinridge, Morgansfield, Ky.; Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.; Camp Gary, San Marcos, Tex.; Camp Kilmer, Edison, N. J.; Camp Parks, Pleasanton, Calif.; Camp Rodman, New Bedford, Mass.; Camp Tung Point, Astoria, Oregon.

WHAT THEY TOLD HIM — Senator Cooper particularly called for a prompt report on riot-torn Camp Breckinridge, where one of the worst incidents have occurred. Outside police authorities had to be summoned to quell recent outbreaks.

In his letter to Shriver, Cooper wrote: "I am deeply disturbed about the situation reported to have developed in the operation of the Job Corps center at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. This is a serious matter, and I would request that you immediately examine the operation of other centers around the country so that we will have assurance that this kind of problem does not exist and will not be permitted to develop elsewhere.

"I would also appreciate your making available to me a full report on both the situation at Camp Breckinridge and the steps being taken by your office and the University (Southern Illinois, which operates the camp) to correct it."

Representative Fogarty disclosed in his letter that he is undertaking a nationwide scrutiny of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, another aspect of the anti-poverty program. Fogarty cited a number of improprieties and violations that have come to light, among them the following:

More than 40 youths employed in Kansas City, Kans., who were ineligible on the basis of need. One, a student at the University of Kansas, owned an expensive 1965 sports car.

In Carlinville, Ill., the Youth Corps employed only individuals recommended by the local Democratic machine.

Employees of a Youth Corps in Cranston, R. I., included city officials, a building contractor, liquor store owner, vice president of a bank, a dentist, a doctor, three well-paid state officials.

Other members of Congress aroused by job camp upheavals and scandals and demanding forceful corrective measures include Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Representative Richard Roudebush, R-Ind.

Hartke called for an immediate sweeping investigation of Camp Atterbury, where a number of sex incidents have been reported. Roudebush urged that the Edinburg, Ind., center be closed down. He charged it is costing taxpayers around $22,000 per trainee.

"This $10 million project has proved unworkable and an extravagant waste of federal funds," Roudebush wrote to Shriver. "Even in these days of high costs, a student could be sent through the most expensive college or university in the country, and given an around-the-world graduation trip, for the cost of maintaining a job corpsman at Atterbury for a year."

FLOUNDERING PROGRAM — The eight urban Job Corps camps have a capacity of 16,000 trainees, but only 7,100 are enrolled. Most of the camps are operating at half capacity on orders from Shriver.

Similarly, only 57 of the 93 authorized Job Corps Conservation camps are in operation. They have a capacity of 10,000 trainees, but only 6,000 are enrolled.

There are five Job Corps centers for women. No serious disturbances have occurred in these camps. However, they are being included in Shriver's investigation and will be visited by him.

In the official announcement launching the Job Corps last April, Shriver declared: "It is aimed specifically, at one million young people who

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Business Mind Rivets On Effects, Not on Causes

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

It's time some head-shrinker wrote a book titled "The Business Mind."

All men are businessmen, of course, because we all are engaged in the sale of goods or services. But I refer here to the mentality of the shopkeeper, the risk taker, the job creator. I believe that if the thinking process of men in these vocations were better understood, their social function would be more appreciated.

The business mind is a remarkable apparatus. It is not especially logical. Unlike the academic mind, it does not find where it wants to go and then follow up with reasons for going there. Unlike the scholarly mind, it does not pre-select assumptions and follow them rigorously to a final conclusion. Unlike the legal mind, it does not compile a great amount of data and precedent with the expectation of reconciling the mess to something sensible.

No, the business mind is different. An example: I sat recently with a group of businessmen who were on the point of deciding a question involving expenditure of several thousand dollars. The logical approach, it seemed to me, was to ask how this expenditure would affect future revenue.

As the members of the group gravitated toward a decision, various persons suggested reasons that the action should be taken. But not one touched upon the matter of revenues.

How in the world, I wondered, can men who don't think any more logically than this stay in this business. But as I looked around the room, I perceived that the men there were in fact very successful businessmen. They were in the process of reaching a right conclusion from wrong reasons. I was puzzled.

Sometime later I described the incident to David W. Ross of David W. Ross Associates, New York, a management-counseling enterprise. "The businessman," he replied, "is highly intuitive by nature. Often he doesn't know why he does what he does."

"Take my own case," he went on. "I had a good position with a major company. I had a chance to invest in it. My family advised me to stay put. My friends advised me to stay put. The logical thing for me to do was stay there. But I had a desire to go out on my own, and I did. Today, in financial terms, I can buy and sell those men who stayed with the big company."

What Ross was indicating is that there is something inside the man that adds to, and perhaps transcends, the facts that are on the outside. To be sure, there are sound business principles and the businessman of experience is engrained with these so well that he doesn't have to voice them.

Just as an expert mathematician doesn't document every step of the mathematical process, but leaps over the obvious and bounds from crag to crag, so the business mind operates with a parsimony of fact and wordage. Lack of forward-ranging logic is, I think, a disadvantage, but the deficiency is compensated heavily by a breadth of vision that enables the entrepreneur to adjust to the immediate situation as he finds it.

The businessman's demise will come out not because he is short-sighted or afflicted with tunnel vision. In fact he is neither. The end will come because his attention is riveted on his problems and how to deal with them, rather than on causes and how to alter them.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Can an employee own his job?"

ANSWER: That is an important question because it all depends upon the circumstances whether an employee can own his job only on the condition that the employer wants him to own it.

If he owns his job without the employer's consent then the employer has nothing to say and he is a ward of the employer.

Mankind would be better off if employers and employees did not try to make long-term binding contracts. Because both employer and employee should have the right to change with notice to the opposite party giving him time enough so that it didn't cause him to lose by discontinuing the partnership. An employee and employer are really in a partnership agreement trying to serve the consumer who is the real boss of the employer and the employee.

If we were under the true free enterprise system that would be the case. We have never had, of course, a truly free enterprise economy. It has always been interfered with by the government entering into a conspiracy with special interests like bankers, employers, manufacturers with tariffs and immigration restrictions, and labor unions by giving them privileges that would be a crime for an individual to have — giving them a monopoly on certain kinds of goods or services.

If there were no long-term contracts then wages and prices could be adjusted rapidly to suit the requirements of the consumer and then there would be steady employment, production would go up and everyone would be better off. Men must realize that the employer and the employer and the consumer should all make a profit in order for the employer to give his employee a steady job.

No, an employee does not own a job, nor does an employer own his employee. They are both free moral agents and have a right to choose. Life is nothing but making decisions.

Mezzo-Soprano Sings Here Tomorrow Night

Another packed house is expected in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium tomorrow night when Mildred Miller, mezzo-soprano star of the Metropolitan, San Francisco and Vienna State Opera companies, appears in the second concert of the season under auspices of the Pampa Community Concert Association.

Admission to the concert, which will start at 8 p.m., is by membership card only. The association's concert series is sold out for the season and there will be no box office ticket sales.

Miss Miller's natural beauty series only as a visual asset to her glorious voice and profound artistry and she places no degree of reliance on it to put her over as an artist.

Concrete proof of this is the fact that her recently released recordings of works on Mahler and Brahms have drawn raves from America's music critics to the man.

Moreover, her annual continental tours, like the one that brings her to Pampa tomorrow night, have been nothing short of sensational.

In private life Miss Miller, who incidentally has an honorary Ph.D. from Bowling Green University, is the wife of Air Force Colonel Wesley Posvar. They are the parents of three children, a son Wesley and two daughters, Marina and Lisa Cristina. They had known each other only slightly as school mates in Cleveland, Ohio, and then met again in Europe where Miss Miller was singing, and her husband-to-be was on leave from the U.S. Air Force, studying at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar.

The couple fell in love and were married in Stuttgart, Germany, in the same church where Miss Miller's parents had been wed before coming to the United States.

In addition to being a great singer, devoted wife and excellent cook, the Posvars are presently making their home in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Freedom Has To Be Bought

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — There's a myth among actors that says they want to do a television series so they can become financially independent. And then they will be in a position to do only good things.

For most of them, a myth is as good as a mile. They get that financial independence, all right, but then they keep right on making money and forget their lofty aims.

Maybe John Astin will be different. At least he recognizes that there will be temptation — rich, luxurious temptation — along the way. But he thinks he will be strong enough to turn his back on all that money and do what he wants to do.

"You have to buy your freedom," Astin says. "You have to buy your way out. Everybody in the arts has to buy his way out if he wants to do anything genuinely good."

And so John Astin is in the process of accumulating the wherewithal to buy his freedom, his way out. The Addams Family is the vehicle he's using. It's a success, in its second profitable year. And John is capitalizing on that success. "HE'S CUT A RECORD — 'Querida Mia.' He's writing a picture book. He's putting together a night club act. He does personal appearances — 'I get paid in four figures to go to some supermarket opening somewhere and sign autographs.' And he's starting to merchandise products under his own name, as distinguished from the huge run of Addams Family merchandise.

"This may be the only chance I ever get," Astin says. "And so I'm trying to make the most of it."

All this is in the hope that — assuming he can lick temptation — he can someday do what he really wants to do. And that is to write, direct and act in motion pictures "which say something."

"I want to make movies," he says, "that have some social revelation. Movies like 'Dr. Strangelove. Movies that don't just make the audience say, 'Yeah, yeah, I know that,' but instead make them say, 'What? yeah?'"

JOHN ASTIN is a very intelligent man. And he knows that, so far, nobody has gone this ambitious route. Many television fortunes have been made but not one star has then gone on and done anything genuinely worthwhile.

"But a few have done it after making a lot of money in movies," he says. "Kirk Douglas and Burt Lancaster both tried to do good things when they could afford it. I think a television personality can do it, too."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some segments of a new television series, "The Legend of Jesse James," will show the famous outlaw and his gang hiding out in Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., during the 1870's.

However, the show won't go to Missouri but will simulate the cave in Hollywood, where the series is being filmed.

"They can build a 100-million-year-old cave in hours in Hollywood," says Meramec Caverns director Lester B. Dill.

Flora Robson in '13'
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dame Flora Robson has signed for a major role with Kim Novak and David Niven in "13" shooting in England.

They can build a 100-million-year-old cave in hours in Hollywood," says Meramec Caverns director Lester B. Dill.

Mexico Going All Out To End Gas Troubles

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico is going all out to end for ever a frequent complaint by U.S. tourists—that Mexican gasoline is too low-octane for modern American autos.

Tourists have often complained the highest grade of gasoline available in Mexico, where all filling stations are run by a government monopoly, is not as powerful as U.S. gasoline and causes knocking in modern high-compression engines.

Pemex, the government petroleum monopoly, has announced plans to market a new high-octane version in January, Thursday, the firm made public a testing program to make sure the new gas will fill the bill.

The Du Pont Corp. was hired to run the tests and five 1965 cars with high-compression engines and special instruments that make them "rolling laboratories" have been heading for Mexico City the past week.

Three of the cars left from Du Pont headquarters in Wilmington, Del., one from Chicago and one from Los Angeles.

They begin a series of test runs Saturday to Acapulco, Mexicali, Ensenada, Tijuana, Guadalajara, San Luis Potosi, Tampico and Monterrey.

The cars will pass through Laredo, Tex., Sunday, Dec. 5, at the conclusion of the tests on their way back to Chicago and Wilmington.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My company wants to transfer me to another town. As a sweeter, they paid the expenses for me and my wife to take a look at the new location. When I got paid for these traveling expenses, I noticed that Social Security and income tax had been taken out. Why was that? I thought these expenses were not taxed.

A—The cost of this preliminary trip paid for by your employer is properly includable as wages on your Form W-2. The trip expense you describe does not come within the category of expenses that qualify for either a tax deduction or tax exclusion. If you do transfer, however, the cost of transporting you, your immediate family and your household goods to the new location, and the cost of meals and lodging while you are traveling to the new location may be deductible moving expenses.

Q—When do I have to pay the next installment on my maid's Social Security?

A—The due date is Nov. 1. Anyone who has paid a household employe a total of $50 or more during July, August, and September must file Form 942 and pay Social Security taxes.

Q—If I make a political campaign contribution will it be deductible?

A—No, the law does not allow deductions for this purpose.

Q—Is it true that starting in January there will be income tax withholding on tips?

A—Yes, the new Social Security law provides that, starting Jan. 1, Social Security and income taxes will be withheld from tips. Persons who receive tip income of $20 or more per month are required to report what they receive to their employer, who will adjust the tax withheld on paychecks. Forms and instructions for reporting tip income will be issued later this year.

Q—What's the story on company pensions? I just retired last month and receive $125 a month from my company in addition to Social Security. Is this taxable?

A—Social Security, of course, is not taxable. As for your company pension, if you did not contribute to the cost of the pension then it will be fully taxable. If you shared the cost of the pension then it will be only partially taxable.

Q—I just bought a truck to speed up my customer deliveries. I own a butcher shop. Do I have to pay a highway use tax?

A—You are probably not liable for this tax if your truck is a small panel or step-van type. The minimum taxable weight is 13,000 pounds for single-unit, 2-axle trucks. Vehicles lighter than that are not subject to the Federal highway use tax.

Q—I just started work as a nurse's aid. Is it true that the cost of my uniform is deductible?

A—Yes, that's right. You also should be able to deduct the cost of your shoes if they are of a special type required by hospitals. The key factor determining the deductibility of these items is that they be required for your job and are not suitable for wear in place of ordinary clothing.

Physicists have produced a temperature many thousand degrees hotter than the surface of the sun.

Louisiana Says Hearing Should Include Shut-Ins

HOUMA, La. (UPI) — A report on shut-in gas wells should have been allowed as evidence in a Federal Power Commission (FPC) hearing, the Louisiana conservation commissioner contended Thursday.

Commissioner J. M. Meneff said the report was put together by his department, a steering committee, and three subcommittees.

The report showed that of some 5,000 gas wells in South Louisiana, only 107 shut-in wells had an apparent marketing problems. The report was offered for an FPC hearing on gas rates.

Federal objections to the report as evidence said de la was gathered by a committee Meneff had named from representatives of the petroleum industry.

Meneff contended the report was factual and was "just one phase of the overall study by the industry gas committee."

Meneff gave his protest in a speech to the Houma chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Industry Imports Committee Meets

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The imports committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association will meet Dec. 15 in Austin, one day before the group's executive committee meets.

The executive committee will consider recommendations of the imports group, which is sure to suggest revisions for the nation's oil imports program.

Executive committee members will also consider committee recommendations from a group looking into foreign oil, pipeline users in the country, bill its complete cooperation. Let's challenge our sign-age suppliers to come up with signs that meet the requirements of the act, that are visible but not defacing, that employ the new materials now available to us."

ACOSC Annual Meeting Set for Wichita, Kansas

The 1966 Annual Meeting of the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors (AOSC) will be held in Wichita, Kansas, at the Hotel Lassen, February 17-19, 1966, according to an announcement by Carl R. Gates, president of the association.

"We of the well servicing industry in Kansas are particularly proud and pleased that our industry association has chosen our area for its national meeting site," Mr. Gates said. "This is in line with AOSC policy, established several years ago, of holding such in the various oil-producing areas of the country, in recognition of our national membership."

The AOSC has previously convened in Houston; Denver, Colorado; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Fort Worth and Dallas, where the Association maintains its national headquarters under the direction of its Executive Vice President, Lamar Deupree.

For the 1966 meeting, the AOSC will feature outstanding speakers from government and industry who are directly concerned with the oil industry and its problems, particularly as they relate to well servicing contractors. Mr. Gates pointed out.

Due to the location of the meeting site being "Mid-Way USA", Mr. Gates predicted an unusually large turn out of well servicing contractors and their associates who make up the AOSC membership, along with their wives and guests.

The AOSC is a national association of oil well servicing and work-over contractors, with associate membership comprising suppliers, equipment manufacturers, oilfield insurance firms and financial institutions which serve the oil industry. The Association maintains its national headquarters in Dallas, with local chapters in the country's various oil-producing areas.

on its own. Breitweiser feels a continued growth of restrictive zoning regulations, is possible. "The storm signals are up and if we don't wish to be caught in the deluge, as an industry we are going to have to — to mix metaphors — mend our fences quickly."

Breitweiser — the leader behind the recent marketing changeover at Cities Service Oil Company which saw the firm adopt CITGO as its marketing name, along with a new Tri-mark emblem and service station color scheme — discussed in detail the objections which city planners and officials have to service stations. They include unattractive building materials, box-like design, gaudy advertising pennants and banners, the junk yard appearance created by piles of old tires and mufflers, the abandonment of properties, overbuilding, and the clutter of outdoor telephone booths and vending machines.

"The oil industry can take steps to remedy these faults without being forced to the wall by legislation, Breitweiser believes. CITGO's marketing chief elaborated on his company's intention of customizing its service station designs for different sections of the country.

"We are going to build some new prototypes of stations that will bear little resemblance to the white porcelain boxes of the past. We will quit designing the same station for New England and the Southwest. We plan to regionalize our designs and, by utilizing materials indigenous to the area, localize our appeal to prospective customers."

Also analyzed by Breitweiser was the recently-passed highway beautification act which bans billboards within 660 feet of the road along 265,000 miles of non-commercial sections of the interstate and major inter-city highway systems.

"Now that we know the basic provisions of the billboard control law, I propose that our industry as one of the biggest

Oil Industry Must Turn to Aesthetics

"The oil industry must concern itself with aesthetics or find itself at the mercy of local, state and — now, federal — authorities who may not be sure of the spelling of aesthetics but know they don't like the looks of service stations."

This call for responsible leadership was issued by Stanley D. Breitweiser, executive vice president of Cities Service Oil Company. Breitweiser made the challenge in a speech entitled, "Beauty and the Beast."

You Get MORE for Your Paycheck BECAUSE OF ADVERTISING

Because Advertising brings you news about better products you need... tells you where to get what you want when you want it... makes lower prices possible through mass production and mass selling

Yet Picture How Little All This Costs

For instance, it costs less than 1/4¢ a gallon to advertise the most famous brands of gasoline. Any other method of selling would cost the manufacturer more and therefore raise the price. Otherwise he wouldn't use advertising.

Old Crock Motor Cars Fetch Old Master Prices

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

LONDON (NEA) — Diamonds and Rembrandts may not be a girl's best friends after all. A girl with an eye to the future might be wise to invest her money in old crock motorcars of pre-World War I vintage. At least veteran cars are now fetching Old Master prices here in London, where 46 of them were auctioned recently for a record $215,000. And the market is soaring, according to those in the know, one reason being that old crock cars are not subject to capital gains taxes.

One might not think of an old crock as being in the same class as a Rubens or a Titian. But Daimlers and Bugattis are works of art to the motorcar buffs who gathered here for the auction sale. They came from the United States and Canada, as well as Britain, and most of them drooled at the mere sight of a Hispano - Suiza or a Sizaire - Berwick, vintage 1921.

The auction sale, which drew over a thousand enthusiasts, was the first of its kind ever held in which the automobile was treated as an art object. Judging by the prices paid for this collection of old metal and ancient engines, the old crock has a great future as an investment.

A 1903 Sunbeam two - seater, for example, fetched $9,520, while an 1897 Daimler six-seater wagonette, granddaddy of today's station wagon, made $8,680. Even a tandem bicycle, the Stanley Sociable, was knocked down for $962. (The Sociable is said to have inspired the music hall hit, "A Bicycle Built For Two".)

Top price was paid by James C. Leake of Muskogee, Okla., who paid $27,440 for a 1911 Rolls - Royce Silver Ghost that had been built for an Indian maharajah. This is about six times what the car was originally worth.

Leake, who owns three television stations in Oklahoma, flew all the way to London in order to add the Silver Ghost to his collection of 67 veteran cars, and he was prepared to bid as high as $30,000 for it.

"I keep my collection of vintage cars stored in warehouses," says Leake, "but I try to drive one a week."

"This one," he added, pointing to the Rolls, "will still do 70 miles an hour."

Like all the Rolls - Royces built in 1911, the one made for the maharajah's use is custom-built. Its open touring body is upholstered in red leather and it has a magnificent hood to shield the back - seat passenger. The chauffeur's seat, however, is open to the elements.

Until recently, collecting veteran cars was the hobby of eccentrics who wore deer-stalker caps and who scoured the used-car lots for vintage numbers to take home and to lovingly restore.

But now the field has been invaded by people with money who are looking either for status symbols, sound investments, or both. Already the United States has begun to make copies of famous motorcars of the past, such as Auburn - Cords, and these replicas may soon be as common as fake Chippendale chairs, it is predicted here.

Ancient cars are classified as carefully as claret wine. Anything born before 1905 is called veteran. Between 1905 and 1916 it is called Edwardian. Between 1916 and 1930 it is called vintage. After that it is a post-vintage thoroughbred.

SILVER GHOST — James C. Leake of Muskogee, Okla., at the wheel, traveled all the way to London to buy this vintage Rolls-Royce built for an Indian maharajah.

WANTS CHURCHES TAXED

Religious Lawsuit Is Filed by Atheist

HOUSTON (UPI)—Madalyn Murray O'Hair, the fiery atheist who won a Supreme Court decision banning compulsory prayer in public schools and kicked up a storm over extradition from Texas, said yesterday she expects to win another lawsuit against organized religion.

Mrs. O'Hair, 46, predicted victory for a suit she filed to have the state of Maryland tax all church property. She said the case is now pending with the Maryland Court of Appeals and will eventually go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. O'Hair spoke to a crowd of 500 Rice University students.

She said if her church property suit is successful, the Roman Catholic Church in Baltimore alone will have to pay $124 million in annual property taxes.

She criticized tax exemptions for churches and said "the largest single group—us atheists—don't own a . . . thing."

Mrs. O'Hair was arrested Sept. 25 in San Antonio after being deported by Mexico. She successfully fought extradition to Maryland where she faced misdemeanor assault charges, which eventually were dropped.

Alice, Texas, was named for Alice King Kleberg, daughter of Richard King of the King Ranch.

THIRTEEN YEAR OLD VICTIM DESCRIBES

What It Is Like to be Kidnaped

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—It started like any other day. Charles H. Hyde III, a slim, mop-topped 13-year-old, left his home in the fashionable suburban Lakes District to go to school.

Then it turned into a nightmare. "A car with two men in it pulled up beside me," Charlie Hyde related later. "One of the men got out of the car and asked me if there was a music hall close by. I said no. Then he asked me where I went to school and where I caught the bus."

"Then he grabbed me and pulled me into the car." Nine hours later, Charlie was released unharmed. His father, Charles H. Hyde II, a wealthy wholesale grocery executive, paid the kidnapers $45,000 in small bills for the return of his son.

Still later, Pierce County Sheriff Jack Berry and his deputies began following the cold trail of the businesslike abductors.

Berry admitted he had very little to go on. He said the kidnapers apparently had planned the abduction down to the last detail.

Hyde did not notify the authorities until he had paid the ransom in small bills left in a parked car. He said he was convinced it would be better to cooperate with the kidnapers until the boy was home safely.

When Charlie was released unharmed, Hyde was sure he had made the right choice.

Berry said the delay in reporting the crime made the job of tracking down the kidnapers that much more difficult. But, he said, "we can appreciate the anxiety of the father who wanted to get his boy back."

Young Hyde said his captors threatened to shoot him if he moved or made a sound. Otherwise, he said he was well treated although he was given nothing to eat.

Charlie was abducted at 7:45 a. m. Wednesday. But the kidnaping was not made public until Thursday.

"They pushed me down on said. "Then they covered me the floor of the car and put with a blanket. They just drove tape over my eyes." Charlie around most of the day."
