Thieves Make 'Haul' At Local Car Dealership

'Borrowed' Truck Takes Safe Away

By Ray Rodgers Jr.

Some $215 in cash and $1,500 in non-negotiable checks were hauled away sometime Saturday or Sunday night from Harold Barrett Ford, 701 W. Brown.

The cash and checks were contained in a steel office safe which was carted off in a stolen pickup which had been left inside the motor company for repairs.

The pickup and safe were found about 10 a.m. today four miles west of Pampa, just off Highway 60. The safe was still in the bed of the vehicle. It had been opened apparently with a chisel and hammer.

Police Chief Jim Conner said several hundred dollars worth of the checks were found around the safe. However, not all of the checks had been recovered, he reported.

Conner said the break-in was discovered at 7 a.m. today by Gene Barrett, an employe of the company. The chief stated it has not been determined as yet whether the burglary occurred late Saturday night, sometime Sunday or early this morning. Since closing at 5 p.m. Saturday, no one was at the company until employes arrived for work at 7 a.m. this morning, he said.

Police Sgt. George Wallace stated the thieves entered the building by breaking out a south window, crawling through and then unlocking a huge overhead door.

The 40x28x22 safe, located in the front office, was apparently rolled into the garage where it was chain-boosted onto the pickup.

Wallace was of the opinion that due to the weight of the safe that more than one person was involved in the burglary.

Most of the checks were made out to Harold Barrett Ford and couldn't be cashed, the sergeant said. (See THIEVES, Page 3)

CONSENT DECREE

Federal Lawsuit Against Freedom Papers Is Ended

A "consent decree" filed in Toledo, Ohio, Federal Court has ended the year-old government lawsuit against The Lima News, sister paper of The Pampa News, over activities during its 6½-year competitive struggle with the now-defunct Lima Citizen.

The court dispute began Nov. 19, 1964, when the Justice Department filed a civil suit against The News, Freedom Newspapers, Inc., R. C. Hoiles, Clarence Hoiles and News publisher E. Roy Smith, former publisher of The Pampa News, charging them with having attempted to monopolize and having monopolized the Lima, Ohio, newspaper market.

In its suit, the government requested the court to find the defendants violated federal antitrust laws and to order sale of the papers. (See LAWSUIT, Page 3)

HILLSIDE MEMORIAL—Visitors to President Kennedy's graveside, marked by white picket fence in foreground, have a clear view of construction underway on the permanent memorial to the 35th president. When completed late next summer, the site on a hillside in Arlington National Cemetery will be a quietly austere plaza looking across the Potomac to the Lincoln Memorial.

Reliable Sources Say U.S. Made Approach

VIENNA (UPI)—Communist Romania emerged today as a possible mediator between the United States and North Viet Nam in talks to end the Viet Nam war.

Authoritative Austrian sources said Sunday the United States has approached Romania on the question and that Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer has discussed it in private talks with Austrian officials.

Maurer is concluding a six-day official visit to Austria today.

The sources quoted Maurer as saying his government was studying the mediation suggestion and might take diplomatic moves to bring the Viet Nam war to the conference table when it considered the time to be ripe.

Romanian sources in Vienna said "all real chances to end the Viet Nam conflict must be carefully considered and examined." But there was no official Romanian comment on the reports.

Informed Austrian sources said the initial talks on the possibility of Romania's becoming a mediator were held between U.S. Ambassador William Crawford and Romanian officials in Bucharest last June.

The visit last week by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and four other senators to Moscow and Bucharest was seen as further evidence of Romanian mediation plans. Mansfield left Bucharest Sunday en route to Saigon.

It was pointed out that Romania is a "neutral" country within the Communist bloc which maintains friendly relations with the West. Sources said the Viet Nam war may have been among the subjects discussed by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu several weeks ago in Washington.

COLD HERE

Fog Holds Over Most Of State

By United Press International
Fog sliced visibility to one-sixteenth of a mile in North Texas early today, halting travel and making driving hazardous. A hard freeze gripped the Panhandle.

The temperature in Pampa dropped to 32 last night after a high yesterday of 64 degrees.

At Dallas Love Field, air traffic was stopped at 3 a.m. because of foggy conditions. A spokesman at the control tower said visibility was below the accepted standard for safety.

"Visibility is at one-sixteenth of a mile now and we expect it to get down to zero before it begins to lift," the spokesman said.

The fog was heaviest from Abilene, Dallas and Longview northward to the Red River. It was also reported at Victoria along the coast and at Brownsville and McAllen in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Overnight readings ranged from 28 at Dalhart to 71 degrees at Galveston.

The five-day forecasts called for temperatures 8 to 12 degrees above normal throughout all of Texas with little or no precipitation. The fog in the state was expected to dissipate in the late morning hours.

Important Figures Note Grim Anniversary Today

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI)—What happened in Dallas two years ago today is vividly remembered in President Johnson's White House, but the image of John F. Kennedy there is all but vanished.

On this anniversary of the assassination, there will be a respectful pause for Johnson's predecessor by the people who work for the President but all but a handful of those who knew Kennedy will have left.

"X" MARKS THE SPOT — Sometime between the close of business Saturday and 7 this morning a thief or thieves rolled the office safe from this corner at Harold Barrett Ford, loaded it on a pickup, also stolen from the same firm, and drove to a spot out of town to batter it open. Library History Is Traced At Pioneer Days Luncheon

Seventy members and guests of the Pampa Genealogical & Historical Society observed the annual Thanksgiving luncheon and Pioneer Days program Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of Lovett Library commemorating the sixth anniversary of the founding of the official historical organization for Gray County.

As guests arrived they were met at the door by ten-year-old Heidi Jo Kolb dressed in Pilgrim costume, who ushered them to an exhibition of paintings by the following Pampa artists: Alva Satterwhite, Ethel Eller, Ruth Huff, Cora Price, Wynama Hamlin, Justine Sweeney, E. Ogden, Icie Harrah, Lois Minnick, Geraldine Gray, Twila Griffin, James Calvin Hill, Jesse Willis, Bobbie Organ, Sophia Vance, Ruby Wylie, Bonnie Chambless, Welden Shirley, Frances Hall, Leta Flynt, Bethel Shirley, Marcella Hudson, Frances Hofness, Ruth Wells, Mary Waggoner, H. D. Johnson, Mary P. Johnson, Betty Bailey, Zoe Ackerman and Doris Johnson. The art exhibit will be open to the public until Dec. 1.

Following the invocation given by the Rev. James Todd, pastor of the First Christian Church of Claude, the assembly enjoyed a buffet luncheon served from tables decorated with a Pilgrim-Indian motif and highlighted with arrangements of vari-colored chrysanthemums.

During the annual roll call conducted by Mrs. Cliff Drake, recording secretary, members of the organization and the founding members were presented with shields by the president, Tracy D. Cary. In-memoriam shields were accepted by Mrs. Ray Robbins of Phillips for her mother, Mrs. Mittie Farrington (Charles) Tignor (a founding member and first elected historian of the group) and by Mrs. J. Earl Rice for her mother, Mrs. Mary Lee (Gragg) Bullock.

Mrs. Forrest Doshier of Amarillo, Panhandle district chairman of the Texas State Genealogical Society, brought greetings from the parent organization and some 40 societies throughout the state. She stressed that the growth of interest in the science of family history and related subjects had spread phenomenally in the last 30 years with the availability to the public of books and periodicals dealing with research. "Present day recording of local heritage makes accurate future history," Mrs. Doshier emphasized.

Mrs. Lloyd Nelson of Claude, related the effects of her co-workers in compiling the recently published history of Armstrong County, "A Collection of Memories," which was dedicated to her as its editor in chief.

The third panelist speaking on the program was Mrs. Evelyn Todd, former head librarian of the Pampa Public Library for 17 years and now a resident of Claude. "When I came to the very small town of Pampa (pop. 2,500) in 1925 with my husband and daughter, Boone, I found that if I stayed up until 12 o'clock I had to use a coal oil lamp, for the city owned light plant shut off the electricity each night at midnight." "Also," continued the speaker, "I was startled to find there was no Carnegie Library here, for Pampa was not the county seat then, and to qualify for a Carnegie grant the library had to

Hudson Places In District Try

District 44 of Toastmasters International held their annual convention and humorous speech contest Saturday at the Johnson House in Lubbock.

Ray Hudson, recent Area VI humorous speech contest winner was first runner-up of the 44 convention. First place went to Milt Jennings of Amarillo, and third place to Kenneth Tipp of Floydada.

Hudson, a shift supervisor at Celanese, has become widely known for his Will Rogers type of humor. Having appeared before several civic clubs, he speaks equally as well on political issues, the rearing of children (he has five of his own) and touring around the world.

Club members from Pampa who attended the convention were Ron Riggs, Bob Regan, and Area 6 Governor Jim Morning.

The Pampa club meets at the Coronado Inn each Monday evening at 6:30 p.m.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was killed in Dallas. Within hours, Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in to succeed the assassinated President. The same day, Patrolman J. D. Tippit was killed trying to apprehend suspect Lee Harvey Oswald, who was later captured, and two days later killed by Jack Ruby.

Texas Traffic Toll Stands At 28 Dead

By United Press International Multiple-fatality high collisions combined to boost Texas' weekend violent death toll.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed at least 28 violent deaths, including 24 highway fatalities.

Two smashups claimed three lives each.

Billy Wayne Wester, 30; Jerry K. Hainline, 19, and Peggy Kilgore, 19, all of Sherman were killed on U.S. 69 Saturday between Trenton and Leonard.

Bertie A. Forrest, 52, and Rubye D. Batton, 53, both of Shreveport, La., and Gene E. Scott, 19, of Alvarado, Tex. were killed in a collision 7 miles west of Marshall, Tex., early Sunday.

James D. Smith, 31, of Fort Worth was killed in a one-car smashup on U.S. 287 four miles south of Corsicana Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Anderson, 60, and John A. Anderson, 39, both of Ingleside were killed and four other persons were injured Sunday in a two-car collision one Angelo fell from a car Saturday.

Eufemia Escobedo, 3, of San Angelo fell from a car Saturday and was run over and killed. Her mother was driving.

A car truck collision south of Cleburne Saturday night killed two persons. They were Randy Allen, 4, of Rio Vista and Robert E. Williams, 50, of Fort Worth.

Jerry V. McCright, 22, of Fort Worth was killed when his car overturned in Fort Worth early Sunday.

At the end of two years since Lyndon B. Johnson was thrust into the presidency, the White House has a full Texas flavor. The Irish mafia of the Kennedy days — Kenny O'Donnell, Pierre Salinger, Ted Sorenson, Dave Power, Ted Reardon — are gone.

Larry O'Brien, Kennedy's close political and congressional comrade, has moved out to become postmaster general.

Harvardman Arthur Schlesinger has departed. Of the Kennedy inner council only McGeorge Bundy remains, and there has been speculation he may leave soon.

22, 1963. It is a memory brought back to him constantly by pain, sudden bursts of sound and the sight of his scars.

At meals, he will reach for a bowl with his right hand and switch to his left with a twinge of pain in his wounded right wrist.

Bathing and swimming; he sees the marks on his body. Only with reluctance would Connally consent to talk about it as the second anniversary of the assassination approached. He spoke in an interview because he felt he owed it to history.

"I think about it almost constantly, almost every day," he said with obvious mental anguish. "Every time I sit down to a meal I'm reminded of it. I can't properly use a fork with my right hand."

"I try not to consciously think about it, but every time I take a shower or go swimming, I see the scars."

A bullet from Oswald's 6.5 mm Manlicher-Carcano rifle pierced Connally's chest, collapsing a lung, went through his left thigh and broke his right wrist.

Connally stayed in the hospital at Dallas for six weeks. He wore a cast on his wrist for months. Now 48, his hair is much grayer than it was

Sunday Accident Injures 2 Persons

A Pampa resident and her daughter suffered minor injuries Sunday afternoon in a two-car collision at Hobart and Wilks.

Injured were Dorothy B. Walker, 34, of 1133 Prairie and her daughter Cynthia Walker, 10-years-of-age.

Police said they received only slight injuries and required no hospital treatment.

The accident occurred at 12:15 p.m. Mrs. Walker was the driver of one car and Lester C. Lynch, 51, of 821 N. Dwight, was the driver of the other car.

CST (9:30 a.m. EST). It was in the 12-by-18-foot room that President Kennedy was pronounced dead after a team of doctors vainly worked to save his life.

Father Huber, who heard about the shooting on the radio and rushed to Parkland to administer last rites, planned to say a special Mass.

Memorial Mass

President Johnson, who took the oath of office aboard Air Force 1, the presidential jetliner, planned to attend a memorial service at a Roman Catholic Church in Fredericksburg, Tex., near his LBJ Ranch.

The first of many memorial services was Sunday. One-hundred members of the Oak Cliff Councils of the Knights of Columbus attended a rosary and benediction at St. Cecilia Catholic Church. They also laid a wreath at the assassination site.

Trauma Room No. 1 was ordered closed for 12 hours out of respect to the President. But a hospital spokesman said it would be re-opened in case the hospital needs it to take care of an unusually large number of emergency cases.

A hospital committee is in the process of deciding whether to make the room a memorial and put a commemorative plaque on the wall.

Another ceremony was scheduled by sponsors of the John F. Kennedy Living Center for Exceptional Youth, a haven for mentally retarded youth across the street from Father Huber's church.

Church Plans Scout Troop

An organizational meeting for a new Boy Scout Troop will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church, 500 E. Kingsmill, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Boys 11 years and older not already in Scouting are invited to attend, with their parents, to find out the purposes, fun, and adventure of Scouting. They will also have the opportunity of meeting the Troop Committee, and the Scoutmaster, Truitt Kennedy will be the Scoutmaster with Charles Lanehart and Charles Beard, Assistant Scoutmasters.

This will be the second Boy Scout Troop sponsored by the First Christian Church. They have sponsored Troop 4, J. Robert Brown, scoutmaster, and Le-man Holley and Roy Jones, assistant scoutmasters, for many years.

In addition to the sponsorship of two Scout Troops, the church will continue to sponsor Cub Scout Pack 4, Harry Williams, Cubmaster, and Explorer Post 4, Raymond Williams, Advisor.

healer, has gradually restored the joy of living to Mrs. Kennedy. She officially ended her mourning a year ago but she did not begin to go out socially until last spring and then at the urging of her high-spirited sister, Princess Stanislas Radziwill.

Princess Radziwill will come from London to stay at her New York apartment next month and this will mean that Mrs. Kennedy's social calendar will be more crowded. She has not yet attended the opera or symphony this season and the only entertaining she has done was a small dinner party at a famous restaurant for retiring French Ambassador Herve Alphan and his wife, Nicole.

Future Probably Private

It does not seem likely that Mrs. Kennedy will ever seek or accept an ambassadorial appointment or United Nations post as has been suggested from time to time. Her future appears to lie along more private paths of service as a mother and patron of the arts and humanities.

Lawsuit

(Continued From Page 1) of The News to other parties. The complaint asked the court to rule illegal various non-competitive agreements and to prohibit owners of The News from operating a newspaper in Lima at a loss with the purpose or effect of eliminating competition.

By terms of the consent decree that becomes final Nov. 30, the defendants continued their earlier denial of government charges, but agreed they would not operate The News at a loss with the purpose of eliminating a competing daily newspaper. They also agreed for a 20-year period they would not, during the first year of a competing newspaper's existence, reduce circulation rates, increase the quantity of circulation "specials," or cut advertising rates below those of their competitor.

The defendants also agreed not to acquire any competing newspaper and not to enforce non-competitive agreements against the Citizen's former directors and others.

Publisher Smith, commenting on the court decree negotiated by attorneys for both the defendants and the Justice Department, said it requires no change "either in the way The News is operating now or the way it operated in the past."

Smith said, "Since we have not violated any laws in the past and since we do not intend to change our ways, we obviously have no objection to complying with a court order which, in effect, only requires us to obey the law."

In 1964, newspaperman Roy Howard died in New York City at the age of 81.

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter	1/2 teaspoon baking soda	Whipped cream

In 9" x 9" x 2" pan, melt 2 tablespoons butter; spread 1/2 cup Imperial Brown Sugar in bottom of pan. Sprinkle with pecans; arrange apple slices on top; cover with lemon juice and put aside. Cream together 1/2 cup butter and remaining sugars until fluffy, light. Beat in egg and vanilla thoroughly. Sift together remaining dry ingredients; add alternately with buttermilk. Spread batter over apple slices. Bake at 375°F. for 45 minutes or until done. Place on cooling rack 10 minutes, then turn upside down on plate. Serve warm. Cut into squares and top with whipped cream.

*To measure, always pack firmly.

To be sure it's pure cane be sure it's IMPERIAL BROWN SUGAR

Dear Abby....

Views on Welcoming Home Viet Nam Hero

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised at your answer to the mother whose son was coming home from Viet Nam. She asked if you thought it was all right to go overboard with "welcome home" signs in her front yard surrounded by flags, and you said "Why not? And line up a brass band if you can." If the mother goes through with this kind of welcome for her son, he will resent it till his dying day. War is sheer hell, Abby. Especially a jungle war. And any man who has won three medals for bravery, such as this boy has, is bound to be emotionally "shook." Yours is the typical feminine approach. Ask your husband, or son. A homecoming such as this mother has planned would embarrass any veteran who has seen action. A small, quiet homecoming with the family and a few close friends is all any veteran wants. Save the fireworks for the Fourth of July.

KOREAN VETERAN AT HOME IN CHICAGO
DEAR VETERAN: You speak with authority and I bow to your judgment. But I'd like to hear from some of our boys in Viet Nam who are dreaming of the day they come home. You deserve a brass band — but does anyone want one?

DEAR ABBY: Our son was in Viet Nam for one year, and he survived the worst the Far East had to offer. He arrived last week at the Newark Airport and we greeted him with a large 16-foot banner with huge red block letters spelling out "Welcome Home, Son!" I thought of the idea when he wrote to tell us he was coming home. My husband went along with the idea and I am glad he did. Everyone who saw that banner seemed happy for us. And no one thought we were "bragging" too much for a boy who had risked his life every day in the cause of humanity. Our son was so thrilled he took a picture of the banner to keep forever. So tell that other proud mother of a Viet-name hero that if she wants to borrow our banner, we'll be glad to send it to her.

MRS. C. M. HAMILTON SQUARE, N. J.

DEAR ABBY: A recent letter in your column asked how to reward a son's return from Viet Nam, as this young man had a very impressive record. You suggested the "brass band" treatment. This may not be correct. While he is certainly entitled to it, the main question is, "Would he want it?" As I am a minor Korean "hero," my return to a small town was met with similar fan-

TOPS Enjoy Salad Supper

The Pampa Pound Pirates TOPS met Monday evening for a weigh-in and a low calorie salad supper. The salads were served the Pound Pirates by the Lotta Pounds Off Club. Thirty ladies were present.

Thirteen pounds were reported lost and eight-and one-half gained the past week. Mrs. Fran White was named weekly queen and presented the fruit bowl. Three ladies took home pigs. Gainers will pay high penalties in the current three-months contest.

fare. Needless to say, I was greatly embarrassed and took some good-natured ribbing for many years later. I was sorry such a spectacle took place. Other veterans, however, love to bask in the glory that they have earned but not all of us. I think it is up to the parents to decide whether their son would want such treatment. And they should bear in mind, a "boy" who went to war three years ago is no longer a boy when he returns. He's a pretty big man.

EMBARRASSED HERO

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL MY SHARP-EYED READERS (and especially the gentleman who asked me if I got my historical information from bubble gum wrappers): Recently I stated that Michelangelo was born in 1475 and at the age of 90 he finished painting the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, on his back, on a scaffold. I am now properly advised that Michelangelo died shortly before his 90th birthday. So the only portion of my statement which is accurate is that the great master was born in 1475, and 90 years later he was indeed on his back. I stand corrected from 50 States, Canada, Italy and Mexico.

WAY TO GAL'S HEART — Thoughtful male shoppers please women of all ages with their insight. The floral notes of Chanel No. 5 (left) prove pleasing accents to a woman's wardrobe. Whether on vacation or at home (top center) a compact hair dryer (Hoover) fits in a handbag-sized unit. Bonnet, nail-polish dryer and space for hair setting essentials make it ideal for any age. For elegant primping special cream base powder and cream sachet (Estee Lauder) come in a gold-crested compact packaged in gold satin. MoYe sportive (right) are the single square-lens sunglasses (Sea & Ski), polarized for protective and fashionable winter resort wear.

CAUTION ON SPRAY

NEW YORK (UPI) — That spray for foiling an attacker may be your undoing, the Greater New York Safety Council cautions.

A wind may blow the spray back into your own face and eyes. Also, the council suggests you check to see if use of such device is legal in your area. Carrying the spray is not illegal in New York City, for example. But using it is.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
It is that time of year again... time to save those bleach bottles, felt scraps and coffee cans. Sound familiar? To Scout families, this is a way of life. To the families of new Girl Scouts, I say, "Welcome to the 'Never Throw Away Anything Club.'" The leaders are ingenious in creating crafts of things we usually discard. So don't be surprised if you are asked to collect anything from tuna cans to egg shells. It just might finish as a treasured gift from your daughter, the Girl Scout.

Troops planning to enter the Santa Day parade should check with the Girl Scout office. Several were in the parade last year along with the high school entry designed by a Senior Scout, Nancy Holt.

"Our Promise in Action" is the theme this year. Starting "action" early is Junior Troop 24 from Hoace Mann by making a toy box for the nursery and baby sitting with the preschool children during P-TA meetings at their school. This is their special service project and one which is certainly appreciated.

Red material purchased last year by troop 214 to decorate their float in the Christmas parade has been used to cover the toy box, to make sashes which were used in their Veteran's Day flag ceremony at school and is to be used in their Christmas project this year. Congratulations to their leader, Mrs. O. C. Cox Jr. and her assistant Mrs. Archie Maness, for such long range planning. They certainly believe "never throw anything away."

It must have been a great help for Mrs. Henry Johnson and the ten girls to have troop 219 and their leader, Mrs. J. R. Newman, to assist in organizing Troop 30.

A piano duet by Carol Arthur and Pam Howard and a selection by Mary Maule were part of the music festival held by troop 219. A clarinet solo by Carol, a dance routine by Pam and a number by Marsha Foster, a new member of this troop, was enjoyed by all. The readings given by Janet Romack and Michelle Meyers. All these apply toward their music and drama badges. Gloria Newman, Michelle Meyers, Pam Howard, Carol Arthur and Darla Hutchinson built a simulated campfire, working toward their outdoor badges.

It seems they set a good example for the newly formed troop 30 as two of their girls played piano selections. They were Mary Jo Eastland and Carolyn Mathis. Making new friends and creating interest in scout work would be a worthy project for other troops.

The Junior and Cadette workshop scheduled for early Dec. has been postponed. The date for this hasn't been set but will be announced later.

All 16 girls of troop 43 received their cooking badges recently after completing five weeks of instructions from Mrs. Horace Prince. Several activity badges were presented during Court of Awards ceremony and a tea given for the mothers, Carla Combs, Karen Williams, Sherry Collinsworth and Karen Strawn joined the troop through a fly-up ceremony from Brownie to Junior level. Six world association pins were presented. Mrs. Prince was given an appreciation gift from the troop.

Seems Mrs. Forrest Pitts and assistant, Mrs. Bill Stephens have been busy, busy, busy.

Speaking of being busy, I imagine that Camp Mel Davis was really buzzing with activity last week when council-wide outdoor training program was underway. Can't you just imagine some thirty women trying to talk at the same time?

Strange as it may seem, they are bone-tired, usually dirty and very glad to get back home. Well, it's a good tired feeling... and they did learn some new things. The next morning they will catch themselves planning which of the newly acquired skills to show their troop on the first camp-out. That is the fun of being a leader. Work? Sure it is... but such a wonderfully tired feeling.

Six first year Brownie troops have been organized with Austin, Horace Mann, Sam Houston and Travis school represented. Baker and Lamar are being surveyed and troops will be formed there soon.

A new troop of Junior Scout age is being formed at Horace

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: - You have an urge to be very direct and unequivocal in whatever you say or do at this time but it could only lead you into problems with others from which it would be hard to extricate yourself. So use that special charm with which you are endowed to show others that you value knowing them and keep cheerful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): - While many inspired thoughts course through your mind be sure you retain only the best for right results. Steer clear of new corners. They can cause you many an annoyance.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): - Be sure that others have used some modern technical methods that you are planning to adopt or experimentation could be very expensive. Mate may be demanding. Pay little attention.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): - Blind associates could annoy you, but realize that they are doing too much and probably need your help. Get busy. Keep the promises you have made and then all cases up.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22): - Be serious about the work ahead of you or you can annoy a partner who is doing his best to get on with the job. Don't forget fun. Take better care of your health.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): - It is best to carry through with amusements, social life you enjoyed in the past. The new could be very expensive. Don't take any risks in business, either. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): - Better do something to delight close ties and get their full support or things will get pretty tense for you. Forget anything that is detrimental to you. Grow.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): - Be sure you study all situations well so that you have no arguments with others. Go over any financial and other statements. Be very accurate in all that you do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): - Cut out that habit of spending so much for something that is not even to your benefit. Be more economical. Get any property you own improved by color, comfort, etc.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): - Quickly get busy, handling personal affairs and forget about getting into the public eye. Put aside any social matters. These are apt to be very disappointing now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): - Although you may feel that others are imposing on you too much, carry through sensibly and clear the air. Take time to assist others, too. This helps your equilibrium.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): - A hard hat and make certain remarks that should be overlooked owing to the weather affecting him or her, or some other tension. Avoid an unfavorable group later. Be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): - You can lose out where justice is concerned if you try to change any present setups either in business or personal life. Vital that you improve your status instead. Be realistic.

Make your husband's nightly garbage detail a little sweeter by washing the receptacle out regularly in a hot solution of sal soda concentrated. This treatment emulsifies any great residue that traps and holds odors.

Mann. These are girls that are nine years of age or beginning with the fourth grade.

The Quivira-Girl Scout Leader Conference will be held Nov. 30 in Jackson's Cafeteria. All leaders should make a special effort to attend. The program sounds interesting and it will give you the opportunity to meet and exchange ideas with leaders from all three districts.

U.S. Leadership Challenged In Inter-American Relations

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Chile issued a challenge today to U.S. leadership in inter-American economic and political affairs. Chilean Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes delivered his government's proposals for radical change in the hemisphere structure before the reform minded conference of Organization of American States (OAS) foreign ministers. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was prepared to answer the Chilean challenge in a major address later today. Chile, already embarked on major social and economic reform program at home, came to this conference determined to reduce U.S. influence in every aspect of hemispheric life from the Alliance for Progress to the permanent council of the OAS in Washington.

LYNDA BIRD NEW YORK (UPI)—Lynda Byrd Johnson, elder daughter of President Johnson, slipped quietly into New York Thursday night to see the play, "The Right Honourable Gentleman," a drama of 19th century English politics. Lynda was accompanied only by her Secret Service escorts.

Eisenhower Is Prepared For Move to Walter Reed

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—The doctors, nurses and military men who have hovered around former President Dwight D. Eisenhower since he suffered two mild heart attacks recently prepared today to move their famous patient to Washington. Railroad officials were putting together an eight-car train to move Eisenhower and his entourage safely and as quickly as possible to Walter Reed Hospital. The Army laid down strict security arrangements for the move, scheduled to begin tonight. Eisenhower's doctors also issued a special order asking newsmen not to photograph or observe any phase of Eisenhower's departure. Newsmen will be represented on the train by three pool representatives. More than 100 persons were engaged in taking care of the five-star general during his stay at the hospital, which he entered early Nov. 9 with chest pains.

Actress Mourns Visit to Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Tallulah Bankhead was a soul in anguish, sipping a noonday bourbon and lamenting her visit to Hollywood.

In the first place, some knucklehead awakened her at 5 a.m. for an early television rehearsal. Secondly, Tallulah was suffering from a cold in her head and chest.

Her voice, which normally sounds like a tuba in a deep well, had the timbre of an asthmatic moose. Her cough rattled the frames of the window in her hotel room.

"Imagine getting out of bed at 5 o'clock in the morning," she stormed. "These two days in California have been absolute torture, dahling. 'It's like suddenly becoming a stepple-jack or being shot out of a cannon. It's quite incredible."

"I'm usually going to bed at 5 a.m. Have difficulty sleeping, you know. I read till all hours of the night, or play bridge with friends. I don't even know from what direction the sun rises."

Tallulah visited Hollywood to appear in a Red Skelton show. She is crazy about Red, but aghast at the hours kept in television.

"Imagine, people working in the daytime," she gasped. "I'm never out of bed until 1:30 in the afternoon. And another thing, no one has any sympathy for me when I have a cold. They think it's my normal manner of speaking — the wretches."

Tallulah wheezed, coughed and uttered an oath, complaining that she suffers almost continually from colds.

How many does she have a year?

"How many weeks are there in a year?" she asked.

What does she do to fight colds?

"I cough, blow my nose and feel romantic," she answered. "The doctors give me shots, but they don't do me any good. Bourbon doesn't help. I drink it all the time. Maybe the bourbon is causing it. If so, I just might take up opium."

Tallulah lighted a cigarette which set off a fit of coughing. She drew herself up with all the imperial hauteur she could muster—which was considerable under the circumstances.

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—African nationalists today tried to organize an anti-government general strike in Bulwayo, Rhodesia's second largest city, but the effort largely failed.

Authorities in Bulwayo, 250 miles southwest of Salisbury, earlier today seized news photographs of black nationalist leaders from Life Magazine correspondents. It was the first censorship of outgoing dispatches by the rebel regime.

Police patrols around Bulwayo, a nationalist stronghold, were the heaviest since Rhodesia declared its independence from Britain 11 days ago. Officers used dogs to break up crowds at bus stations.

RIOT QUELLED
ADEN (UPI)—British and Arab troops used tear gas Sunday to break up a riot that followed the slaying of an Arab—apparently by extremists of the National Liberation Front.

The riot erupted after a group of young men marched toward the shopping area shouting anti-British slogans. A Jewish-owned bar was set afire during the melee.

Society

Pampa's population began to swell with the coming of the first oil well on the Combs-Worley lease about 1926 or 1927, and the first effort to establish a library organization did not occur until Feb. 18, 1928 when 35 persons representing civic, church and club groups met in the Todd's parsonage home to organize the Library Association for Pampa. Rev. James Todd was elected chairman of the group and served for two years, followed by Mrs. B. E. Finley and later Mrs. C. P. Buckler.

The first directors elected that afternoon were J. N. Duncan, Grover C. Malone, I. B. Hughey, T. D. Hobart, Charles Thomas, Mrs. William Craven, and Mrs. V. E. Fatheree. A room in the First Methodist Church was chosen for the collection of 100 books catalogued first by a high school English teacher, Miss Fannie O. May. Clubwomen were the volunteer attendants but this soon proved impractical. The first library shelves were built by Mrs. Todd's father, Robert Postawa-ite, who was visiting here at the time.

When the new city hall was built the library was moved from the church to a room on the first floor, and on May 19, 1931, an election was held carrying 136 for to 64 against for the assessment of 3 mills on each $100 of property value. . . . and while the population was about 9,000 by this time, so many were floaters and non-property owners that little revenue was realized and the library's finances were so precarious that all books and equipment were transferred by the Library Association to the City of Pampa. On January 13, 1932, the first meeting of the new Pampa Public Library Board was held with the following elected: Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. A. A. Hyde (wife of the Presbyterian minister), Arthur Teed, D. E. Cecil, Olan Hinkle, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, chairman and Mrs. Todd as head librarian.

Expanding needs made necessary the move to the southeast corner of the city hall basement and with the coming of the Air Force the entire south half of the basement was used. Assistant librarians were Mrs. Faye

Huff, Mrs. Edna Wilkins and in 1941 Mrs. Lillian Snow and Mrs. Carrie Speed. Upon Mrs. Todd's retirement in 1948 Mrs. Snow headed the library until her own retirement on June 30, 1964. Arthur Teed has served as a trustee since 1932.

Mrs. Lillian Snow here interrupted to say, "The library now has some 27,000 volumes, around 6,000 patrons, and the head librarian receives a salary over five times what Mrs. Todd's maximum salary was when she retired. . . . $90 a month."

Concluding speaker was Rev. James Todd, former minister of the First Christian Church of Pampa. "Soon after I came to Pampa from Clayton, N. M. in June of 1925," Rev. Todd reminisced, "I was elected chaplain of the Pampa Volunteer Fire Department which had been given Amarillo's old and badly shot fire truck, but the department took it. I only served three times because the firemen would have to take turns cranking the old contraption and after five or six tries the language grew so blue I had to spend all my time outside to keep all concerned from being embarrassed, and besides, I had difficulty praying over that old truck."

Todd, who also served six years as justice of the peace, recalled that when the county seat was moved to Pampa from Lefors in 1928 the First Baptist Church was used as a temporary courthouse during the week, the choir pews being used for the jury, and the pulpit by the judge. They even put in the old spittoons from the courthouse which scandalized all the pious folk who cringed at seeing such in the house of the Lord.

"Those were often wild and wooly days", the minister stated, "and the history of that period is rife with episodes concerning the local Ku Klux Klan, gambling, bootlegging and shenanigans of the younger set from time to time. Remember the past and record it for posterity, but in going so learn from it, and so prepare for each new day and the promise that the future holds", was the speaker's closing challenge to the group.

Members and guests were present from Bogger, Amarillo, Canadian, Miami, Claude and Pampa.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold—without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

Clay Versus Patterson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Floyd Patterson, the only boxer in history to regain the World Heavyweight crown, will attempt to accomplish that feat for the second time tonight when he engages the brash titleholder, Cassius Clay, in a 15-round fight at the Convention Center.

It seems fitting that the 30-year-old Patterson is prepared to make the biggest "bet" of his professional career here in this gambling capital of the United States, where there are no clocks and no curfews.

All the chips, though, are stacked in front of Clay, the 23-year-old unbeaten blabbermouth from Louisville, Ky., who won boxing's richest prize from Sonny Liston in 1964 and scored a record 60-second knockout over big Sonny in a farcical exhibition at Lewiston, Maine, May 25.

The oddsmakers, and there are many to be found in this desert playground in southern Nevada, still are quoting Clay as a 3-1 favorite. It's 6.5 (pick 'em) that either Patterson or Clay will be knocked out inside six rounds.

Floyd's KO

The official weigh-in was scheduled for 11 a.m. (12 p.m. CST) today at the modern Convention Center where Patterson suffered his second humiliating one-round knockout at the hands of Liston two years ago.

A sellout crowd of 8,300 paying up to $100 each for ringside seats, will be on hand when these two men of sharply divergent boxing styles and religious beliefs square off at approximately 7:30 p.m. (8:30 p.m. CST).

It has been estimated by Sportsvision, Inc. which owns the entire ancillary rights to the fight, that a half-million fans will pay their way into more than 200 theatres and arenas in this country and Canada to view the battle on closed circuit television.

The same closed circuit telecast will be beamed via the Early Bird Satellite for "live" viewing in private clubs and theatres in seven cities in England and Scotland. These fans will have to stay up late or get up early, for it will be almost 3 a.m. in Britain when the fight starts.

There will be no home television of the bout in the United States but it will be broadcast over the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) radio network.

Patterson will enter this most important fight of his 14-year professional career with a double mission. The impressive New Yorker wants to wipe out the memory of his two "quickie" knockouts at the hands of Liston. He also insists that the Black Muslims, of which Clay is a devout member, actually own Cassius and the championship, and he feels it is his duty to break up this conspiracy.

The Muslims' reported influence on Clay and the crown cropped up again Sunday during a Patterson press conference.

"Harrassment War" Patterson denied again that the Muslims had conducted a "war of harrassment" against him in recent days as reported. However, he admitted that he had encountered "difficulties" in his own camp.

This was interpreted by some of the assembled as a hint that the Black Muslims had infiltrated Patterson's camp or one of his own handlers had joined the separatist Negro sect.

Asked to expand on the "difficulties" he encountered the challenger replied: "I'll be at liberty to tell you about that after the fight."

This added another note of mystery to the 703rd scheduled heavyweight title fight in this century.

There was no mystery, though, concerning Clay's choice as favorite. On paper, he appeared to be too fast and too strong for Patterson. The champion, at six-foot-three is three inches taller than the challenger and Clay enjoys an overwhelming eight-inch advantage in reach (79 to 71 inches).

Patterson is counting on his greater experience and what he termed "the will to win" to outlast the Louisville lip.

"I haven't thought in terms of losing at all," Floyd declared.

One of Clay's final statements was typical Cassius. "I'm ready to dance," he said. "I'm going to whup' old Floyd so bad he'll need a shoehorn to get his hat on."

Unitas Shows No Signs Of Injury, Paces Colts

By United Press International

Johnny Unitas had a tough act to follow, but the old trooper drew nothing but praise for his performance.

The 10-year National Football League campaigner sat out last week's game against Minnesota and substitute quarterback Gary Cuozzo turned in a five-touchdown passing act to lead the Colts to a 41-21 triumph. But Cuozzo was in the wings Sunday, watching Unitas toss a pair of TD aerials to power Baltimore to a 34-24 victory over Philadelphia.

Johnny U. showing no signs of the back injury that sidelined him against the Vikings, set up the winning touchdown and iced the victory with a 22-yard paydirt toss to Jimmy Orr, who had re-entered the game following a visit to the hospital to check a bruised leg.

"Unitas got through the game in grand style and finished strong," and Baltimore Coach Don Shula, who watched his charges win their eighth straight.

Baltimore had taken a 17-7 lead on a 52-yard pass from Unitas to Lenny Moore, a 36-yard romp by Jerry Logan with a pilfered aerial and a 36-yard fieldgoal by Lou Michaels. But the Eagles, who had scored earlier on a 15-yarder from Norm Snead to Pete Retzlaff, tied the game at halftime on a three-yard run by Ollie Matson and a 37-yard field goal by Sam Baker.

Michael sent Baltimore off to a 20-17 lead as the second half began but Philadelphia took a 24-17 advantage into the final quarter when Snead fired a six-yard strike to Ray Poage. Unitas, however, took charge in the fourth period, hitting Tom Mackey and Ray Berry to set up a one-yard go-ahead TD by Moore and later found Orr in the end zone to keep the Colts on top in the West with a 9-1 slate.

In other games, Green Bay remained one game behind the Colts by drubbing Minnesota 38-13. Cleveland continued to roll to the Eastern Division crown by whipping Dallas 24-17. Chicago edged Detroit 17-10. New York shocked St. Louis 28-15. San Francisco shaded Los Angeles 30-2 and Washington belted Pittsburgh 31-3.

Bart Star broke out of a passing slump by firing three touchdown aerials and the ed Green Bay defense vaunted its usual tough game, recovering four fumbles and stealing two Minnesota passes. The Vikings led 13-10 entering the final quarter but the Packers turned four miscues into 28 points to win their seventh game against two setbacks.

15 Touchdowns

Jimmy Brown scored his 15th touchdown of the campaign but it was headsup play by the Cleveland defense which provided the triumph. Bernie Parrish, Vince Costello and Ross Fichter came up with touchdown-saving interceptions for the Browns, who lead the East with an 8-2 record. Cleveland's Leroy Kelly returned a punt 67 yards to disappoint a Cotton Bowl record crowd of 76,251.

Gale Sayers broke a 10-10 tie by sprinting 20-yards to cap a 17-yard Chicago drive in the opening minutes of the second half. The Lions scored first when Tommy Watkins set-up the TD by racing 74 yards to the Chicago six on the opening kickoff. Jon Arnett knotted the game at 7-7 by galloping 24 yards after Chicago recovered a fumble and Roger Leclerc booted an 18-yard field goal for the Bears.

Earl Morrall sandwiched 20-yard and 46-yard TD passes to Joe Morrison around Dick Lynch's 60-yard run with a fumble recovery for New York. Morrall earlier erased a 5-0 St. Louis advantage with a four-yard TD pass to Homer Jones as the Giants moved into a second place tie with the Cards in the East.

Tommy Davis' 22-yard field goal with six seconds left climaxed a 17-point fourth quarter for the Forty Niners. San Francisco signalcaller John Brodie had tied the game at 27-27 by firing TD strikes of eight-yards to Ken Willard and 14-yards to Dave Parks.

Washington spotted Pittsburgh a 3-0 lead but stormed back for 31 points. Danny Lewis began the barrage with one-yard plunge followed by a nine-yard field goal by Bob Jencks, an eight-yard run by Charley Taylor, a 45-yard pass from Sonny Jurgensen to Angelo Coia and a 57-yard punt return by rookie Rickie Harris.

Monterey vs. Rider; WD-Kress

Monterey, the district 3-4A winner by a whisker, opens regional action Saturday at Wichita Falls, playing Rider in the first round.

In class A regional action first round winner White Deer plays Kress Friday night at Amarillo's Dick Bivins.

Monterey, 8-2 for the year and a victim of Lubbock High Friday night won the 3-4A conference by half a game over the Amarillo Sandies and Tascosa.

The Plainsmen finished 7-1 in league play while Amarillo and Tascosa closed with 6-1-1 marks.

Monterey finished with 224 points, giving up 95 while Rider, 10-0 scored 276 but gave up 69.

White Deer, 11-0, has scored 401 points but what is even more amazing, the Bucks have given up but 34 and scored a 19-0 victory over Gruver Friday night.

Kress is 10-1 for the year, has scored 357 points and given up 79.

The Buck-Kress game starts at 7:30 p.m.

TCU, Mustangs Battle Saturday

By United Press International

The Southwest Conference football race is over — Arkansas and Texas Tech saw to that with a 42-24 thriller that gave Arkansas all the marbles — but the traditional "show must go on" theory finds three more league games yet to be played this week.

Texas Christian is the only one of the other six clubs standing to make much hay out of the lackluster final week end. The frolicking Frogs could tie Tech for second place and just maybe lure a bowl bid.

TCU, which has now won its last four league games since dropping its first two to champion Arkansas and runnerup Tech, can finish with a 5-2 record (like Tech) by beating Southern Methodist at Fort Worth Saturday. That would give the Frogs a 6-4 season record — fair by bowl team standards in general this season.

Baylor, which stunted SMU's hopes with a 20-10 victory last week, shoots for a 50-50 season against Rice at Houston in the only other Saturday encounter.

Prior to that, Texas closes out its worst campaign in yearend at College Station against the Aggies Thursday needing to win to finish 6-4 for the year and 3-4 in loop activity.

Underworld May Prove Downfall For Terrell

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The winner of tonight's heavyweight title bout between champion Cassius Clay and challenger Floyd Patterson was committed under $50,000 bond today to meet World Boxing Association Champion Ernie Terrell within six months.

But the spectre of the underworld's interest in Terrell's contract provided a big "iff" to the agreement, which was promulgated to eliminate confusion in the heavyweight ranks and provide an undisputed champion.

Executive Secretary James Deskin of the Nevada State Athletic Commission obtained the signatures of Clay and Patterson to notarized agreements calling for a forfeit of $50,000 in the event the winner of their bout failed to meet Terrell within six months.

But stipulated in the Bond was the clause that the new champion must be satisfied Terrell was free from any underworld contacts or connections covering managers, trainers, persons, firms or corporations having any proprietary interest in the WBA champion.

Deskin frankly acknowledged at a press conference Sunday that he was aware of charges by California State Athletic Commission Chairman Dr. Don O. Kilroy that an ex-associate of former underworld boxing czar Frank Carbo had taken over as Terrell's manager.

The $50,000 bond for a Terrell fight was in addition to a clause in the Clay-Patterson fight contract specifically stating that the two opponents had no agreement "expressed or implied" for a return to the ring.

Ashe Falls To Newcomb

SIDNEY, Australia (UPI)—Arthur Ashe Explained his defeat to Australia's John Newcombe in the finals of the New South Wales Lawn Tennis championships Sunday by saying he "was not eager."

Ashe dropped a 6-2, 7-5, 6-1 decision to the 21-year-old Davis Cup player but showed no sign of the injury to his left leg, Ashe, of Richmond, Va., was third-ranked in the tourney and the top foreign seed.

Newcombe surprised the crowd of 4,000 by coping with Ashe's vaunted service with outstanding returns. Neither player seemed disturbed by the gusty wind but Ashe mistimed six smashes during the match when the wind appeared to float the ball.

After leading 4-1 in the third set, Newcombe slammed three aces past Ashe and wrapped up the title when the young American casually dumped a forehand return into the base of the net.

In the women's singles, Margaret Smith of Australia defeated Nancy Richie of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 6-2. Miss Smith frequently confused the American with sharp passing shots, which often found Miss Richey wrong-footed.

Miss Richey, who could not judge the wind on her forehands, repeatedly overhit many drives while Miss Smith had trouble "controlling her serves in the blustery wind."

Wins Tournament

Miss. who had a two-stroke lead when play opened for the final round, wound up with a 77 tied with Chris Blocker of Jal, N.M. at 282.

Ralph Terry of Cleveland won the celebrity flight, scoring a four-over par 78 for a total of 307.

Behind Terry were Ken Harrellson of Kansas City, 309; Dark, 316; Mickey Mantle 349 and Gene Freese of Pittsburgh, 355.

Joe Looks Like a Star

By United Press International

Six months ago Joe Namath was a $400,000 gamble. Today he's a sure bet to be one of the top quarterbacks in the American Football League.

Sunday Namath hit on 17 of 26 passes for 217 yards and four touchdowns to lead the New York Jets to a 41-14 romp over the Houston Oilers. The win moved the Jets into second place in the AFL's Eastern Division and just about wrapped up the Eastern crown for the Buffalo Bills.

In other AFL action the Boston Patriots and Kansas City Chiefs played to a 10-10 tie while the Oakland Raiders kept their slim hopes of Western Division glory alive by besting the Denver Broncos 28-20.

Buffalo and San Diego were idle.

Going into the game, Namath ranked fifth in the league in passing with 77 completions in 177 attempts for 1,017 yards and eight touchdowns. Although the official league statistics haven't been released yet, Sunday's performance is certain to move him at least into fourth place, ahead of Houston's George Blanda, and possibly into third place.

Namath Record

Namath has a season total of 94 completions in 196 attempts for 1,234 yards and 12 TDs.

Ramirez Wins Staff Selections

Chico Ramirez a last Ray Rodgers Jr. set up a lard week battle over the weekend with Ramirez winning the Daily News Staff Selections for the second week in a row.

Ramirez had an 18-6 record this past Saturday and Rodgers finished 16-8 to hold a slim one game lead going into the final week of selections.

Rodgers is 155-62 and Ramirez 154-63 for the season.

Bill Power had a 17-7 record this past week end and stayed in third place with a 149-68 record, three games ahead of Daily News sports editor Ron Cross-

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Tocqueville's Warning

Americans have had many warnings through the years. But probably none was more graphic than one by Alexis de Tocqueville in 1840. Tocqueville 1831 and 1832 had toured the United States and he found much to please him with the growing nation. Returning to France, he wrote "Democracy in America," a glowing account of what he saw.

But in Volume II, published in 1840, he foretold what would happen in his chapter "What Sort of Despotism Democratic Nations Have to Fear." We quote from that chapter:

"... When I consider the petty passions of our contemporaries, the mildness of their manners, the extent of their education, the gentleness of their religion, their regular and industrious habits, and the restraint which they almost all observe in their virtues no less than in their vices, I have no fear that they will meet with tyranny in their rules, but rather with guardians."

"I think, then, that the species of oppression by which despotic nations are menaced is unlike anything that ever before existed in the world; our contemporaries will find no profound type of it in their memories. I seek in vain for an expression that will accurately convey the whole of the idea I have formed of it: the old words despotism and tyranny are inappropriate; the thing itself is new, and since I cannot name, I must attempt to define it.

"I seek to trace the novel features under which despotism may appear in the world. The first thing that strikes the observation is an innumerable multitude of men, all equal and alike, incessantly endeavoring to procure the petty and paltry pleasures with which they glut their lives. Each of them, living apart, is as a stranger to the fate of all the rest; his children and his private friends constitute to him the whole of mankind. As for the rest of his fellow citizens, he is close to them, but does not see them; he touches them, but he does not feel them; he exists only in himself and for himself alone; and if his kindred still remain to him, he may be said at any rate to have lost his country."

The Case Against Saucers

For those who are concerned about flying saucers, be reassured. There are many electronic eyes pointed skyward.

While they are occupied with keeping track of the increasing satellite traffic in space, it is reasonable to believe that they might intercept anything green men might be dispatching our way.

NORAD (North American Defense Command) at Colorado Springs, through its Space Defense System, acts as the clearing house for satellite tracking. A good many organizations contribute information. In addition to civilian agencies, there are systems operated by the Air Force, Army, Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force.

As an example, the USAF Spacetrack System probes with radar and optical cameras of energy to establish the orbits through a computer. The Naval Space Surveillance System maintains an electronic "fence" in space from California to Georgia. When satellite orbits bring them through the fence, they reflect energy recordable on earth.

Most astounding, perhaps, are the Baker-Nunn cameras in a number of locations which can photograph light reflected from an object the size of a basketball 50,000 miles out in space. These are only a part of the co-ordinated probing into space, much of which offers this by-product from its regular job of standing by to give early warning of any possible hostile missiles.

As to the sky closer to the earth's surface, NORAD gives another encouraging report.

"Above this race of men stands an immense and tutelary power, which takes upon itself alone to secure their gratifications and to watch over their fate. That power is absolute, minute, regular, provident, and mild. It would be like the authority of a parent if, like that authority, its object was to prepare them for manhood; but it seeks on the contrary, to keep them in perpetual childhood: it is well content that the people should rejoice, provided they think of nothing but rejoicing. For their happiness such a government willingly labors, but it chooses to be the sole agent and the only arbiter of that happiness; it provides for their security, foresees and supplies their necessities, facilitates their pleasures, manages their principal concerns, directs their property, and subdivides their inheritances: what remains, but to spare them all the care of thinking and all the trouble of living?"

"Thus every day renders the exercise of the free agency of man less useful and less frequent; it circumscribes the will within a narrower range and gradually robs a man of all the uses of himself. The principle of equality has prepared men for these things; it has predisposed men to endure them and often to look on them as benefits."

"After having thus successively taken each member of the community in its powerful grasp and fashioned him at will, the supreme power then extends its arm over the whole community; it covers the surface of society with a network of small complicated rules, minute and uniform, through which the most original minds and the most energetic characters cannot penetrate, to rise above the crowd. The will of man is not shattered, but softened, bent, and guided; men are seldom forced by it to act, but they are constantly restrained from acting. Such a power does not destroy, but it prevents existence; it does not tyrannize, but it compresses, enervates, extinguishes, and stupefies a people, till each nation is reduced to nothing better than a flock of timid and industrious animals, of which the government is the shepherd...."

"Competitive" inquires National Review. "In this strange new language that is creeping toward us, we read of 'pressure for more cooperation' (coercive voluntarism?), and those who fail to meet the 'guidelines' established for 'voluntary' effort are accused, not of acting as free men, but of backsliding. That is, it is moral to cooperate with national objectives, immoral not to: a foundation of morality currently greatly in vogue in the communist bloc."

These commands from on high are taken so much for granted that we find M. J. Rossant, in a news article in the Oct. 20 New York Times, writing: "The administration will have to exact increased voluntary cooperation or consider the application of mandatory controls." Did you ever see a non-mandatory control? And how "voluntary" is "cooperation" when it is "exacted" (the verb exact meaning to wring something from somebody by force — "to wrest, as a fee or reward," as Webster's says, "when none is due")? It can't happen here? It has. Better hurry up and eat your school lunch and bolt those strawberries and cream. Big Brother is watching.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Is it not always political government with a monopoly of power that gets us into wars to transfer monopoly of power?"

ANSWER: Some people might think that wars are fought to get freedom for the individual but there will not be much freedom for the individual until we get more and more people to believe in private property. The most important property anyone has is his life and all he produces.

It might seem that the Revolutionary War was not a political war with a monopoly of power. Of course there was no real political government that fought the Revolutionary War and we did seem to get a lot more freedom from the individual for 100 years, with the exception of slavery. But now the power has been transferred from a divine king to the divine "right" of the majority with one man — one vote. One man — one vote, or a pure political democracy, rather than a democracy of the market, eventually leads to a political government with a monopoly of power.

A thought for the day — British statesman Benjamin Disraeli said "Man is not the creature of circumstances. Circumstances are the creatures of man."

The Nation's Press

—OR ELSE
The Chicago Tribune
Willie Howard used to have an act where he posed as a communist agitator, appealing to his auditors, "Comes the revolution, we'll live in those pent-houses and eat strawberries and cream." Where-upon a stooge would cry, "But I don't like strawberries and cream." To which Willie would firmly respond, "Comes the revolution, you'll eat strawberries and cream — and like it."

As a comment on communist coercion, this remains valid, but what is less funny is that the same thing is coming to happen here. We read that in the schools of Chester, Pa., children who bring their lunches are nevertheless ordered to eat in the school lunchroom and pay 35 cents for the lunch provided by the school whether they eat it or not.

Why? Because, says the school board president, the lunch program is federally subsidized and all children eating at school are required to participate. Two children who refused to pay were suspended.

This is a neat example of how programs supposedly hatched in Washington out of great humanitarian impulses inevitably work their way toward the suppression of individual liberty. What could be nicer than to want to keep school children from going hungry? But, once the revolution has been accomplished, they'll eat and pay for federal food — or else.

We see the same thing in many other enterprises in which the federal hand is engaged. A year ago the Johnson administration ordered business and banking to restrict their overseas investments in order to help control the deficit in the balance of international payments of the United States.

This was represented as a "voluntary" program. It is about as voluntary as the "guidelines" laid down by Washington on wage and price increases. As the magazine National Review observes, the "cooperation" enlisted from the business community exists in an atmosphere of contingent force. "Cooperation" is more properly a form of obedience, and the "voluntary" act is coerced.

For example, Secretary of Commerce Connor has written letters to 600 corporations asking them to "observe" the means obey; the administration's guidelines for wages and prices. The secretary of the treasury, Mr. Fowler, has suggested specific guidelines for exports, imports and overseas investments, guidelines "that can be evenly applied to achieve the national objective under competitive conditions."

"Competitive" inquires National Review. "In this strange new language that is creeping toward us, we read of 'pressure for more cooperation' (coercive voluntarism?), and those who fail to meet the 'guidelines' established for 'voluntary' effort are accused, not of acting as free men, but of backsliding. That is, it is moral to cooperate with national objectives, immoral not to: a foundation of morality currently greatly in vogue in the communist bloc."

These commands from on high are taken so much for granted that we find M. J. It can't happen here? It has. Better hurry up and eat your school lunch and bolt those strawberries and cream. Big Brother is watching.

Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., militant champion of the President's policy, was largely instrumental in persuading him to do this. Dodd a committee member, has consistently held Communists were vitally involved in the aborted Dominican upheaval.

Roberto Santiesteban Cassanova is cited in the report as the chief Castro agent in this attempt. Cassanova was a member of the Cuban delegation to the United Nations. In that role he engaged in espionage in this country, was apprehended by the FBI, and deported in 1962.

Calling the red roll — The report states flatly that many Cuban-trained Communists are still in the Dominican Republic preparing for another violent revolt.

"The more prominent figures among the Cuban Communists were ordered to go underground for the time being," the report declares. "These leaders have left Santo Domingo under instructions to attempt to organize local party members and sympathizers for eventual guerrilla action."

Castro's "General Directorate of Intelligence (DGI)" is pinpointed by the report as the "principal agency for promoting revolutionary activities in Latin America."

"DGI was responsible for training many Dominican rebel leaders," continues the report, "and has for some time provided financial support for the 14th of June political group (APCJ) and the Dominican Popular

Movement (MPD). The largest department in the DGI is the one responsible for directing Latin American guerrilla warfare activities. "The DGI officer who handles revolutionary operations for the Dominican Republic is Roberto Santiesteban Cassanova who, while assigned to the Cuban delegation to the UN, engaged in espionage in the U.S. and was deported for this activity in 1962."

The report reveals the abortive revolt early this year was not the first attempted by the Castroites in the Dominican Republic.

"I Was Here First!"

China News Agency); Eduardo Honellemont Roques (APCJ member student agitator, who was in Cuba in 1963); and Daniel Oxuna Hernandez (APCJ leader who figured prominently in the 1963 guerrilla movement and received his training in Havana).

"When the rebels seized the national palace, many important Communists trained in Cuba attended political meetings there. Among those conferring with Molina Urena was Facundo Gomez (PSPD member and partner of the Scarlet Woman, having taken part in the attempted landing of arms from Cuba in November 1963).

"Others who attended these meetings were Luis Gomez Perez (member of the PSPD Central Committee); Jose Israel Cuello Hernandez, who received training in both Havana and Moscow) and his brother Narciso; and Moises Blanco Genao (APCJ member trained in Cuba.) Alejandro Lajara Gonzalez (member of the APCJ also trained in Cuba) was appointed Deputy Director of Investigation (the security service).

"Gustavo Ricart of the MPD Central Committee, who returned to the Dominican Republic in 1963 from Cuba bringing money to finance MPD activities, was identified as the commander of a rebel stronghold during early fighting. With Ricart at the MPD command post was Ramon Pinedo Mejia, another MPD leader who was active in the APCJ guerrilla movement in 1963.

"Additional Communist leaders were identified among the armed mobs and in the rebel military forces: Juan Miguel Ramon Diaz (member of the APCJ Central Committee who participated in the 1963 guerrilla operations) commanded a rebel stronghold, arsenal and a prison located at the corner of Estrella and Arzobispo Nouel Streets. Another APCJ post was located on Juan de Morpha Street under Jaime Duran Herando (Cuban-trained guerrilla warfare expert). Still another, on Caracas Street, was in the hands of an armed APCJ group under Fidelio Despradel Roques (also trained in Cuba in 1963).

NEW SOVIET EMBASSY — Russia has finally succeeded in buying a large tract for a new embassy in Washington. Its approximately 13 acres on Massachusetts Avenue near the Maryland state line. Reported price — upwards of $2.5 million.

The seller was Jerry Wolman, Washington builder and owner of the Philadelphia Eagles. Realty sources are crediting him with making more than $1 million in the transaction. The tract has changed hands three times in the last 18 months and each time at a large profit. Originally owned by a Presbyterian church, it was sold to a syndicate that resold it to a Washington builder at a reputed $500,000 profit. He in turn sold it to Wolman for a gain of $600,000. Wolman is said to have upped that to more than $1 million in the sale to the Russians.

Moscow has been seeking a site for a new embassy for years. It has occupied the present building since diplomatic relations were restored under President Roosevelt in 1934. Originally the Pullman manson, it is on 16th Street, three blocks from the White House.

The moon is new. The evening stars are Mars, Venus and Saturn. In 1909, Miss Helen Hayes made her New York stage debut in the play "In Old Dutch."

In 1950, a train wreck at the peak of the evening commuting hours killed 79 persons and injured hundreds outside New York City.

Following through on this theme, the second essay — "Ex America" — labels the revolution as a change in the meaning of the words "free government."

Formerly free government was understood to mean the government of a free people. But now that meaning is changed. The government itself was free. Free from what? Free from the ancient limitations.

The results of the revolution are graphically illustrated in Garrett's quote from Harry Elmer Barnes: "Unfortunately there are relatively few persons who recall the days before 1914... All kinds of taxes were relatively low. We had only a token national debt... Inflation was unheard of here... There was little or no witch-hunting and few of the symptoms and operations of the police state which has been developing so rapidly here during the last decade."

"The great majority of Americans today have known only a world ravaged by war, depression, international intrigue and meddling; the encroachments of the police state, vast debts and crushing taxation and the control of public opinion by ruthless propaganda."

In the final essay, "The Rise of Empire", Garrett applies the most telling indictment to our government — the evidence that it is not a republic, but an empire. He cites the six commonly-accepted marks of an empire state: (1) Rise of the executive to dominance; (2) subordination of domestic policy to foreign policy; (3) ascendancy of the military (he points to the unquestioned acceptance of every defense budget); (4) a system of satellite nations for a purpose called collective security; (5) an emotional complex of vaunting and fear; and (6) the state claims the nation has become a "prisoner of history".

Each of these marks of empire are then examined in terms of present national policy and trends. And the American government qualifies on all six. Particularly significant is number six — as we see today so many people claiming to wish we did not have to fight in Vietnam, but because of the events of history there is no choice but to back the President, etc.

Garrett died in 1954. Unfortunately, we do not have his wisdom with us to interpret on-the-spot the events of today. But it's all there in "The People's Potage", where he foresaw it take to twenty years ago and set it down on paper. The accuracy of his predictions warrants our attention.

Between the Bookends

The Rise of Empire in America — Much needed constructive criticism of present national policies will be advanced by publication of a new edition of Garrett's "The People's Potage". First published in 1953, the book is available in a new paperback edition at $1 from Western Islands, Belmont, Massachusetts 02178.

This perceptive view of America's future consists of three essays. The first, "The Revolution Was", demonstrates that those who think they are fighting against a socialist revolution in America are sadly mistaken. The revolution is over — it ended years ago — the socialists are firmly entrenched. And Mr. Garrett cites chapter and verse to prove his point.

Although it was not the beginning of collectivism in our nation, the New Deal, in effect, ratified the revolution. It confiscated our gold, centralized authority in the executive branch, plunged the national distribution and regulation, and set the nation on a course of planned inflation and redistribution of wealth.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER
THE SWEDISH ECONOMY
The economy of Sweden is often spoken of as the middle way. But the middle way wobbles further and further leftward. One of the manifestations of this fact is the rapid degree of inflation taking place in Sweden.

During the past fifteen years consumer prices have risen about 85 per cent, and during the same period spending on social services more than quadrupled. During the last few years the rise has been much sharper than previously.

The cost of the state medical plan in Sweden has gone up more than 500 per cent during the fourteen year period 1948 to 1962.

During recent years wages have been rising at nearly double the rate of productivity. Military spending in Sweden is relatively small, but welfare spending accounts for more than 26 per cent of the budget of the central government, plus a very large portion of the budgets for local governments.

Taxation is far higher in Sweden than in the United States. A single individual with an income of $2,000 pays nearly one fifth of his total earnings in taxes. In the United States it would be less than 9 per cent. A family of four earning $6,000 a year will pay to the Swedish government 21 per cent of its income while an American earning the same amount with the same sized family will pay only 7.5 per cent.

In addition to income taxes, sales taxes are also far higher than in the United States. The sales tax on gasoline is nearly two thirds of the retail price. Soft drinks are 20 per cent electricity for household use, 7 per cent.

Moreover, expenditures for welfare purposes are rising at a steeper and steeper curve. To be sure, the people get many benefits, and they seem fairly well satisfied. But they are heading for the time when government will do everything for them and take the greater portion of their earnings. As the government "take" increases, the area of freedom and the exercise of individual initiative decreases. That is the road to slavery. That road is ahead for us if we do not reject the welfare state concept and assume a far greater measure of responsibility for ourselves.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Monday, Nov. 22, the 326th day of 1965 with 39 to follow.

The moon is new. The evening stars are Mars, Venus and Saturn. In 1909, Miss Helen Hayes made her New York stage debut in the play "In Old Dutch."

In 1950, a train wreck at the peak of the evening commuting hours killed 79 persons and injured hundreds outside New York City.

Following through on this theme, the second essay — "Ex America" — labels the revolution as a change in the meaning of the words "free government."

Formerly free government was understood to mean the government of a free people. But now that meaning is changed. The government itself was free. Free from what? Free from the ancient limitations.

The results of the revolution are graphically illustrated in Garrett's quote from Harry Elmer Barnes: "Unfortunately there are relatively few persons who recall the days before 1914... All kinds of taxes were relatively low. We had only a token national debt... Inflation was unheard of here... There was little or no witch-hunting and few of the symptoms and operations of the police state which has been developing so rapidly here during the last decade."

"The great majority of Americans today have known only a world ravaged by war, depression, international intrigue and meddling; the encroachments of the police state, vast debts and crushing taxation and the control of public opinion by ruthless propaganda."

In the final essay, "The Rise of Empire", Garrett applies the most telling indictment to our government — the evidence that it is not a republic, but an empire. He cites the six commonly-accepted marks of an empire state: (1) Rise of the executive to dominance; (2) subordination of domestic policy to foreign policy; (3) ascendancy of the military (he points to the unquestioned acceptance of every defense budget); (4) a system of satellite nations for a purpose called collective security; (5) an emotional complex of vaunting and fear; and (6) the state claims the nation has become a "prisoner of history".

Each of these marks of empire are then examined in terms of present national policy and trends. And the American government qualifies on all six. Particularly significant is number six — as we see today so many people claiming to wish we did not have to fight in Vietnam, but because of the events of history there is no choice but to back the President, etc.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harris, Upham & Co. comments that speculative leadership has been the distinguishing feature of the stock market all during the recovery from the summer lows... "our index of the quality of the most active issues is the lowest since December, 1959." Ralph A. Rotnem of the same company adds that while 41 industry stock groups have set new highs this year, 59 other groups are well below their peaks of the past 10 years.

The Dines Letter says "there is much wrong with this market. For one thing the number of daily new lows is now the highest since Aug. 9, while daily new highs have stopped increasing. The confidence index has just made a new low."

The Spear Market and Group Trend Letter asks if there are not, in fact, some significant parallels between the present market situation and "the one that upset the apple cart in 1962."

United Business Service advises — "We see no reason to alter our current policy; keep most funds invested, maintain moderate reserves, and take a few profits on the way up."

COLD-WEATHER DRIVING EXPERT PREPARES FOR WINTER

Why more motorists switch to the Tiger when it gets cold.

Many cars that ran just fine all summer get into trouble when ear-muff time rolls around—stalling at stoplights and coughing and chugging halfway into town. That's when a lot of people switch to the Tiger. Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline is blended to match the weather conditions in your area—including a special additive to help guard against icing. Result: easier starting, faster warm-up and a lot less worry about stalling. You'll like the way new Enco Extra behaves on the open road, too. It's the High-energy gasoline with the: (1) cleaning power; (2) firing power; (3) octane power to help preserve the performance of new cars and restore lost power and mileage to many older cars. Switch to the Tiger and get that nice warm feeling. Happy Motoring!
