Survey Shows Gray County Judge's Pay Is Tops

By RAY RODGERS, JR.
A survey just made reveals that County Judge Bill Craig is paid a total of approximately $400 a month more than judges in 11 other Texas counties in Gray County's population bracket.

In a statement read before the county commission meeting on Dec. 1, Judge Craig continued, "Included in this budget are provisions for the salary adjustments which the court considered to be proper and justified for county officials and county employees."

In the salary boost voted by commissioners last Sept. 15, which did not become public knowledge until mid-November, Judge Craig was one of the principal beneficiaries.

At the time the salary increases were made, the Gray County judge's salary was jumped from $849 to $1,049 a month. The commissioners gave themselves each a raise from $466 to $600 a month.

The check just made of 11 Texas counties in the comparable population bracket with Gray County shows the average salary paid to county judges in those 11 counties is $700 a month, including travel allowances. This is approximately $400 a month less than the total paid to the Gray County judge.

Of the 11 counties surveyed, the highest paying county was Hardin where the county judge receives a monthly salary of $858.

The lowest paying county was Williamson where the county magistrate receives $608.71 a month.

Gray County has a population of 31,535. The counties contacted by the News show these population figures: Jim Wells, 34,548; Randall, 33,913; Kleberg, 30,032; Liberty, 31,595; Hutchinson, 34,417; Anderson, 28,162; Williamson, 35,044; Johnson, 34,720; Hale, 36,000; Rusk, 36,421; and Hardin, 24,629.

Astronauts Pass Halfway Mark In Gemini 7

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell passed the halfway mark of their 5 million mile, 14-day journey Saturday anxiously awaiting their chance to enjoy the neighborly company of Gemini 6 on Sunday afternoon.

At Cape Kennedy everything including the weather was set for the blastoff of Gemini 6 crewmen Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford for what would be a historic rendezvous in the skies.

For Gemini 7 it was downhill all the way after Borman and Lovell completed their 103rd orbit, 2.5 million miles of travel since their launch a week ago.

The earliest possible Sunday launch time of Gemini 6 is 8:54 a.m. CST. The Space Agency will have 47 minutes to get Gemini 6 off the pad after that on Gemini 7's first daily sweep across the Western Atlantic.

If something goes wrong then, there will be another 30-minute launch starting at 10:29 a.m. CST. If Gemini 6 still is on the ground then, the rendezvous flight will be postponed at least 24 hours.

The hope is that Schirra and Stafford—who were stranded on launch Pad 19 last Oct. 25 when the Agena rocket they were to chase failed to get into orbit—can get off right on the button of 8:54 a.m. CST.

Gemini 7 will be directly overhead Cape Kennedy at that time. When Schirra and Stafford sail into orbit, Borman and Lovell will be 1,000 miles ahead of and above them.

There then is to be a chase lasting four orbits and more than five hours while 6's command pilot, Schirra, moves his ship up toward Gemini 7's circular, 184-mile high position.

Meeting In Space Is Set for This Afternoon

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Without a problem in sight, Gemini 6 Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford got final clearance Saturday for blastoff Sunday on an epic space chase and rendezvous with Gemini 7.

"Go" reports streamed in from weathermen, busy launch teams, Gemini controllers and, most important of all, target Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, who are waiting patiently in orbit for the 17,500-mile an hour pursuit.

Everyone was aiming toward a split-second liftoff at two seconds past 8:45 a.m. CST—a schedule so precise a 100 second delay could throw the spectacular bumper-to-bumper space rendezvous off schedule.

But if everything goes without a hitch, Mission Director William Schneider said, the rendezvous could come about five and one-half hours after launch, about 2:30 p.m. CST, with Schirra and Stafford landing on Monday.

Schneider said there was a "low probability" that Schirra and Stafford actually would be ready to land Monday. "If everything goes well, it will be a one day mission, but in all probability it will be a two day mission," he said.

The 109-foot Gemini 6 space machine zipped into its last "pre-countdown" during the afternoon. Technicians were standing by to start pumping thousands of gallons of propellant into the powerful Titan 2 booster Saturday night.

Weather for the Sunday morning launch was expected to be excellent, but forecasters said conditions would "deteriorate" Monday. Partly cloudy skies, balmy 67-degree temperatures and gentle southeasterly breezes were forecast for today. Weather in the Atlantic Ocean recovery areas also was good.

Schirra and Stafford attended the final mission briefing Saturday morning and then relaxed the rest of the day in their plush crew quarters at the nation's moonport.

It was the second day-before-launch for them. The failure of an Agena target rocket frustrated their first try seven weeks ago.

Christmas trees are already on sale in the city and a few early-birds have become entries by getting decorations up. First, second and third place plaques will be given in the three divisions: religious, window and door and general appearance.

Lights must be up not later than Dec. 17 and will be judged that night between 6 and 11 p.m. In addition to the first three place prizes, the Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce sponsored event will feature honorable mentions to exceptionally beautifully decorated houses.

New Supersonic Bombers Cited as Best in World

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Military authorities said Saturday that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's decision to build 210 FB111 supersonic fighter-bombers should maintain U.S. superiority over the Russians in delivering total explosive punch in event of all out war.

Defense Department estimates indicate the new bomber force and American missile might theoretically could hit the Soviet Union, with a total of 24,000 megatons of explosives (a megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT).

The Russian total would amount to about 18,000 megatons or about three-fourths of the U.S. explosive might, authorities said.

At present, the U.S. margin of superiority over the Soviet Union in this factor is less than the number of planes and missiles would indicate. This is because the Soviet military machine has concentrated on large bombs and missile warheads.

Smith Vows Rhodesia Will Survive Sanctions

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Prime Minister Ian Smith Saturday rejected Britain's demand that his government surrender independence as the price for reopening peace negotiations.

In an interview with United Press International one month to the day after his government seized independence, Smith said Rhodesia would survive the economic sanctions imposed by Britain and eventually gain recognition from most world powers.

He characterized this white-ruled country as "one of the strong bulwarks against the invasion of Communism on the African continent" and shrugged off threats of diplomatic and military moves by his African neighbors.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson Friday said his government step aside and allow establishment of a constitutional regime in the former British colony were not logical. Wilson made the demands in a speech to the British parliament.

"How can we abandon our independence? We have independence — that is a fact. We are the de facto government and I don't see how anybody can get away from that — not if he has his feet on the ground," Smith said.

Smith said the economic sanctions ordered by Britain had caused some hardship in his country, but added: "We are determined that we will overcome them. They will not make any difference in the end result."

Pampan Elected Prexy Of Panhandle API Group

Milton Kihneman of Texaco Petroleum Corp., chairman of the API advisory committee, in Pampa was elected chairman of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute at the API's annual election of officers banquet last night in Borger.

Other officers elected for 1966 included Bob Davis of Skelly Oil Co., first vice chairman; P. P. Blanda of Kewanee Oil Co., second vice chairman; A. D. Pickett of Phillips Petroleum Co., third vice chairman; Leonard White of West Pampa Re-pressing Association, re-elected secretary-treasurer, and E. C. Woodall of Pan American Petroleum, outgoing API chairman, presided at the business meeting which followed the banquet which also was highlighted by the election of officers.

Two hundred and fifty representatives from the oil industry throughout the Panhandle attended last night's banquet in the Buena Vista Cafeteria in Borger.

Following a social hour at 7 o'clock, guests were served at a banquet which featured an address by Bob Murphey, Nacogdoches humorist.

Sixth Grade Class 'Adopts' Local Serviceman

The sixth grade class of Mrs. H. F. Hoepfner at William Travis elementary school has adopted a Pampa soldier in Viet Nam and the serviceman and the children have begun what portends an interesting chain of letters back and forth.

The soldier is SP-4 Bobby B. Nutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Blaine Nutt, south of the city. The sixth graders at Travis school learned about him from his mother who is a first grade teacher there. They wrote and asked him if they might adopt him and last Thursday received their first letter from Viet Nam. Although Nutt had received individual letters from the pupils he answered the whole class in the one return letter.

He wrote of the life in South Viet Nam, the people, the children, his job with the army and described "Tent City" where he lives on an air base about five miles from Nha Trang.

Specialist 4 Nutt told the students of the important role being played by the helicopter in the Viet fighting. "The airport where I work," he wrote, "is right on the outskirts of town. They have all kinds of planes here — cargo planes, Vietnamese fighters and, of course, the ever-present helicopters. That is what you see the most of over here. Those choppers really are an amazing aircraft. They are what is winning this war. My hat is really off to the boys who fly the choppers."

Nutt ended his letter by wishing the sixth graders a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. He promised when he gets back to Pampa, he will visit Travis and speak to the class. His last request was that they write to him again soon. Young Nutt, who formerly was employed in the advertising department of The Pampa News, entered the Army in April of 1964 and took his basic training at Fort Polk in Louisiana.

Harvesting Slowed by Rains During Week

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Rains last week from the Rolling Plains and Edwards Plateau eastward slowed harvesting, land preparation and the putting down of fertilizer for next year's crops but left soil moisture conditions in fine shape, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

Hard freezes in northwestern areas have defoliated the cotton fields and harvesting on the High Plains is gaining momentum by the day, the service said. The weather in that section has been very good this week and cotton gins are beginning to drop behind schedule and lots are expected to be overflowing by next week when the harvest peak may be reached, the service advised.

Small grains in all sections of the state continued to make good to excellent growth and grazing more abundant. Leaf rust damage to wheat was reported from both the Rolling and South Plains along with some damage from winter grain mites in a few Rolling Plains counties.

Pastures and ranges continued to improve as cool season forage plants become available for grazing. Stock water is plentiful supply in practically all areas and livestock generally are in good to excellent condition, the service said.

The pecan harvest has made good progress and is nearing the 75 per cent complete stage for the state. Yields continue

Top O' Texans Hold Banquet

The Top O' Texans Club held its annual Ladies' Night membership banquet in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn last night.

The buffet dinner was followed by a brief program, including the election of new officers for the year ahead, as follows: David Tucker, president; Vern on Watkins, vice president; E. O. Wedgworth, secretary and Floyd Watson, immediate past president.

In reporting to the group on activities for the year, retiring President Watson said some 29 local groups had been hosted by the Top O' Texans since the formation of the club here last April and approximately 60 calls had been made on new business and management changes during that period.

The Top O' Texans, all members of the Chamber of Commerce, serve as a public relations arm for the organization. They furnish their own uniforms and pay their own expenses on out-of-town trips while representing the city.

Appreciation tokens were presented to outgoing President Watson at the conclusion of the dinner meeting last night, along with a bouquet of red roses for Mrs. Watson. Henry Urbanczyk was designated the outstanding Top O' Texan for the year and received an appropriate award for the distinction.

The Miami Stompers' Dixie Land Band, from Miami, provided music for the occasion, under the direction of Dr. Scott Corbin. Approximately 70 members and their wives attended the function.

Aliens Asked To Report Addresses

E. W. Thurman, officer in charge of the Dallas Office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, stated Saturday that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited Diplomats; (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from the Pampa post office or from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January. Thurman said the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirements.

A successful rendezvous would be an enormous step forward for the U.S. space program, which has based its effort to land men on the moon on the rendezvous of spacecrafts. Most of the remaining shots in the Gemini program will involve rendezvous of some kind or another.

The Borman-Lovell mission is the last of the big endurance voyages, and the two 37-year-old astronauts were continuing to fly in magnificent style.

Flight Director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. told them: "You all are really doing a great job."

As they swept into their 103rd orbit — halfway to the end — capsule communicator Elliot See radioed: "You know you're all downhill from this one on."

There were the usual minor irritations of the flight. For one thing, the cabin temperature dropped 20 degrees during the night, and Borman put on two lightweight flight suits over his underwear to keep warm.

Pampa Boys In Boys Ranch to Be Home for Yule

Six of the ten Pampa boys who are now making their home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch will spend the Christmas holidays at home in Pampa.

Stanley Burns, Tommy Sells, Roy Martin, James Martin, Alvin Jones and Paul Bush will be among the almost 200 Ranchers who will spend their 12-day vacations from Ranch chores and school in towns in nearly every part of the country. Their trips are made possible when relatives or friends provide the boys with transportation.

All 336 of the boys at the Ranch will enjoy the annual Christmas party, Dec. 19, and through the annual Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund, every youngster will receive a new suit of clothes for Christmas.

The newest member of the Boys Ranch family is 14-year-old Calvin Edward West, also from Pampa, who lives with his house parents, a man and his wife with children of their own, in one of the modern homes that have been donated to the Ranch.

14 Items On Council Agenda

The agenda for Tuesday morning's meeting of the city commission includes 14 items which City Manager Jim White described as mostly routine.

Included will be discussion of contracts for tax services furnished the county and independent school district and fire protection agreements with nearby communities.

Also on the agenda are these items: Approval of a $30,000 time deposit from the Water & Sewer Bond 1948 Interest and Sinking Fund.

Approval of purchase of $125,000 U. S. Treasury Bills for various funds.

Authorization of a $6,000 transfer to the city's Social Security Fund.

Approval of setting Jan. 11 as bid date for purchase of a two and a half ton truck with packer body, two-ton dump truck and two half-ton pickup trucks.

Approval of waiving of payment for a grass lease at the new sewage plant site.

Discussion of appointment to fill a vacancy on the City Traffic commission left by the resignation of James Gallemore.

Approval of payment of $952.43 to Wayland Merriman for engineering work completed to date on the city's highway improvement program.

GLENN R. BROWN luncheon speaker

Life Underwriters To Hear Brown

Glenn R. Brown of Austin, managing director of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of the Top O' Texas Life Underwriters' Association at noon tomorrow in Jim's Steak House.

Brown's visit to Pampa will be made to commend the Top O' group for being first in the nation to attain its membership quota, according to John McCausland, membership chairman.

Before joining the Underwriters Association, Brown was engaged in legal, radio, television and political work. He is a 1953 graduate of the University of Texas and probably will be best recognized among sports fans as the broadcaster of Southwest Conference football games over a Texas radio network for the past 15 years.

Brown is a veteran of the Korean War where he served with the Counter-Intelligence Corps of the U.S. Army. He was honored this year by being named chairman of the National Executive Secretaries Conference and served as chairman during annual two-day conference in St. Louis last September.

Frank Smith of Borger, president of the Top O' Texas Underwriters will preside at tomorrow's luncheon. Jack Rose of Pampa is the group's treasurer.

The first billboard of the 1965 holiday season appealing for support of the Pampa Salvation Army's Christmas program will be posted at Kingsmill and N. Hobart Sts., according to Capt. Robert J. Tritton, Salvation Army commander.

A total of 10 billboards have been donated to The Salvation Army as a public service by Pan Tex Outdoor Advertising Co.

This is the seventh Christmas Season that member firms of the Outdoor Advertising Association of America have given billboard space to the Salvation Army's holiday fund raising campaign.

The boards appeal for support of the Army program which last year, with money contributed by the public all over the United States, provided holiday dinners and other assistance to more than 1,600,000 individuals were illegal under state law.

The poster will carry a full color photo of a Salvation Army lassie, the familiar Red Shield of the Army, and the simple message: "A Century of Service to God and Man."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign news Analyst
A Swedish economist rated one of the foremost in Europe, professor Gunnar Myrdal, has called attention to one of the saddest of all truths in this present-day world.

The rich countries, he said, are spending close to $200 billion each year in war preparations, a figure greater than the combined national incomes of all non-Communist under-developed nations in the world.

And he warns that unless these rich countries overcome what he calls their indifference and apathy toward the "menacing calamities" of the atomic arms race and to widespread starvation, there will be no future for anyone.

It is doubtful that anyone will contest either the professor's figures or his conclusions.

The United Nations General Assembly has voted 112 to zero for a world disarmament conference not later than 1967.

In Washington there recently was concluded a series of conferences which included debate on disarmament proposals drawn up by a citizens' commission at the request of President Johnson.

Confidence Crisis

After noting that previous attempts at world disarmament have stumbled on a "crisis of confidence," the commission proposed that among other things the United States should: —Seek a treaty against proliferation of nuclear weapons.

—Seek Western military and political solidarity through means other than a Multilateral Nuclear Force for NATO or an Atlantic nuclear force.

—Seek a system of guarantees for non-nuclear nations against nuclear attack.

—Seek agreement with the Soviet Union and possibly others on a three-year moratorium on deployment of anti-ballistic missile systems.

—Seek a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Soviet-Dominated Warsaw Pact organization.

There were other equally high-minded proposals and it may be that some will live long enough to see them carried out.

But just as past attempts have stumbled on a question of confidence, harsh reality suggests a future not much better.

Chinese French Boycott

The Red Chinese already have harshly rejected their invitation to a U.N.-sponsored conference which also will be boycotted by the French, thereby removing two of the world's five atomic powers.

The West Germans certainly would do their best to block anything smacking of world recognition for East Germany, such as any pact with the Warsaw powers would imply.

As for a moratorium on development of an anti-missile system, it is probable that, rather than through agreement, the greatest deterrents for both the United States and the Soviet Union are costs and doubts about its effectiveness.

As of today, a major war can be fought only with the consent or help of either the United States or Russia.

The only meaningful nuclear treaty yet reached, the partial ban on nuclear testing, came about as result of direct negotiations among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain and not in the crowded halls of Geneva.

Unfortunately, the time for similar direct negotiations at which still other agreements might be reached is not now.

"Anyone interested in acting or in working behind the scenes is urged to come to the PLT rehearsal building at 300 E. Tyng today.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent

Cotton ginning is getting into full swing at McLean. Last Tuesday a total of 261 bales had been weighed across the scales. A complete remodel job was done on the McLean gin the past summer. A very modern, all-steel building and up-to-date machinery has been added. We watched one of the first bales of cotton pass through the many stages and different pieces of machinery as it was being ginned. The 2,400 pound bale of seed cotton went through the many complicated stages of machinery and was tied out in a 525 pound bale in some 20 minutes. One is being ginned in approximately 15 minutes. Only one crew is available. They now gin up to midnight in an effort to take care of the cotton as it arrives.

We have a 3,700 cotton allotment in the County. Dryland yields are running from one-half to three-quarter bales per acre. Irrigated cotton is just now being harvested. It will average between one bale and a bale and one-half per acre. For you cotton pickers the turn out isn't any good. (This means it takes a whole lot of seed cotton to produce a 500 pound bale.)

Last week we saw a 125 light weight Angus and Angus - Hereford cross heifers that Johnny Johnson had just recently purchased. These heifers were about the best little jewels I've seen in some time. I would have thought they were native calves from two year old heifers had I not been told they were coming from Mississippi; the quality of cattle is rapidly improving in the Eastern States. Emmett Letors, well known Hereford Breeder, tells me he ships large numbers of three and four year old bulls to the east every year. They want a bull that has his growth, because a young bull falls apart. No doubt the good blooded Angus and Hereford bulls that have been imported from this area is having much to do with the improved quality of their calves.

From 1900 to 1909 the cattle population in the United States was 63.7 million head. During the same period, the civilian population was 83 million. By January 1966 the cattle population is expected to be a little over 106 million head while the civilian population is expected to be a little over 190 million. Thus, while the cattle population increased to 168 per cent of the 1900-09 base, the civilian population increased by 230 per cent. In 1960 the per capita consumption of beef was 63 pounds.

In 1965 the per capita consumption will be over 100 pounds per person.

Because of the advance in Agricultural Technology the production of beef per animal unit has been increased tremendously in past years. Nevertheless, production at the present time is barely keeping pace with demand. This is why most of the economist are expecting a boom in the livestock industry in 1966 and years to follow. To the housewife it might seem that meat prices are too high but to the livestock producer, they are selling their livestock below the parity level.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The State of Texas and the other 49 states of the Union have been given one year to come up with a plan to adopt quality water standards.

The Muskie - Blatnik Act, passed by the U. S. Congress earlier this year, has put a tight squeeze on the states. The administration of the act has been given to the Health, Education and Welfare Department. The Department has set up a new division with an assistant secretary to head it. Joe Carter, Chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission, has been mentioned as a possible choice for the Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for Water Pollution Control. Joe Carter has done an outstanding job for the State of Texas in helping to solve its water problems. Mr. Carter, who is an attorney, is well qualified to handle the problem on a national scale.

Texas is not losing any time in working on the proposed standards requested by Governor Connally to meet the federal requirement. On November 24, a preview of the complicated problem of setting up pollution controls and standards was revealed at the meeting of the Water Pollution Control Board in Austin. The Pollution Control Board held a hearing on the proposed rules for pollution control on the Houston Ship Channel. The hearing was held before a packed audience. Some very strong, yet guarded objections were heard on the proposed rules and standards. A large delegation was on hand from Baytown. Mayor Seaborn Cravely of Baytown speaking for the delegation opposed the proposed division of the Channel into zones, with each zone having different standards. State Representative Bob Eckhardt supported this opposition and offered information that pollution in zone 2 came on down the channel during heavy rains causing large scale death to fish in the Baytown area resulting in severe health hazards. He proposed a single set of standards. He suggested that, since the Muskie - Blatnik Act provided for Federal Review, the zone method would be turned down as being evasive as it tended to favor the zones where most industry was concentrated.

Joe Moore, who serves as Chairman of the Water Pollution Control Board, in questioning the industry representatives who favored the zone plan, brought forth a suggestion from Dave Keck of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, that the Galveston Bay Study on Pollution would cost two million dollars. Chairman Moore then revealed to the hearing that the Pollution Control Board Budget is only $35,000 a year. The committee headed by Senator Krueger met on Dec. 8 in Houston and asked for contributions from private industry to help defray the cost of Galveston Bay Study.

The hearings held so far have revealed that there are differing opinions on how to set up the standards and these differing opinions have large and powerful backers. Everyone is resigned to the fact that there will be pollution control standards enforced from the state level or from the Federal. A number of groups seem to have the philosophy—take it as easy as you can on me and set them high for the others.

Salt Water Pollution of the underground fresh water is still in the news in various parts of the state. Recently the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals held that the two-year statute of limitations does not begin to run on damages for salt water pollution, until the plaintiff discovered salt water damage or should have discovered it with reasonable diligence. This decision was rendered in the Crawford versus Yeatts Case. This decision should also serve as a grim warning to oil and gas producers who are still using unlined salt water pits in the Panhandle area.

Some producers have applied for an exception to the No - Unlined - Pit order by the Texas Railroad Commission. The exception would permit the disposal of not more than one barrel of salt water in a pit per day. The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation is assembling evidence to show that this exception permit is being abused by some operators.

Nitrogen Required of All Living Things

Nitrogen is the basic building block of all living matter, both plant and animal, reminds County Agent Foster Whaley.

Plants need plentiful supplies of nitrogen to insure respiration, growth and reproduction. Nitrogen generally is concentrated in the rapidly growing areas of plants such as tips of shoots, buds and newly opened leaves.

Plants tend to use a high proportion of their nitrogen during the early growth stages. Young plants take up large quantities of nitrogen and hold it for later use. As much as two-thirds of the total up-take of nitrogen may occur during the first 60 days of the life cycle of crops such as cotton, corn and grain sorghum.

However, this supply taken up in early stages does not last indefinitely. A continuous nitrogen supply must be available throughout the season. In the case of forage crops that are grazed or cut for hay or silage, split applications of nitrogen are necessary so that an adequate amount can be available for each successive cutting or grazing period. However, split applications on wheat or small grains has shown no advantage at the Bushland Experiment Station.

Several factors should be considered when deciding upon the amounts needed for the next crop. These conditions include: last year's crop, tonnage and stage of decomposition of residue, previous fertilizer applications; crop to be grown and anticipated yield, amount of organic matter present in the soil and previous response to fertilizer.

Have your soil tested by a reliable soil testing laboratory for an evaluation of the nitrogen status and the rate to use for maximum efficiency, says Agent Whaley.

County SCD News

By LYNN McDANIEL

Grass seeding is one of the most significant conservation practices needed in Gray County. Old fields that are not economical to farm as cropland or old fields that have been infested by poor quality grasses have been successfully reseeded to high quality grasses such as Indian grass, bluestem mixture, switchgrass, and sideoats-grama.

The main advantage of reseeded old fields is that a large quantity of high quality forage can be produced in a period of several years whereas it might take 30 to 40 years or longer for mother nature to do the same job. Native grasses such as Indian grass and bluestem mixtures produce more pounds of forage per acre and are higher in digestible nutrients than most of the grasses that frequently invade old fields. Grasses such as sand dropseed, silver bluestem, grassbur, and gummy lovegrass are low in production and palatability.

While these poorer grasses may give satisfactory results for a short period of the year, they do not produce satisfactorily over an entire grazing season. The better native grasses have proved to be more drought resistant and consistent producers in all seasons regardless of the rainfall.

The Great Plains Conservation Program is available to producers who want to reseed grasses or many other of the conservation practices.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—It's getting on toward Christmas amnesty time in Latin America—and that's an idea I think should catch on here at home.

Christmas amnesty time is when the party in power in various countries to the south permit members of the party or parties out of power to leave prison or exile and rejoin their families. All is good feeling—and no shooting—during the yuletide. Of course, all bets are off after New Year's.

I'm not suggesting that the two situations are in any way comparable, but it would be nice to have a respite from the skirmishes currently being waged in the department stores.

The amnesty I have in mind would be in effect from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on any given shopping day between now and Dec. 25. Its terms and conditions would run something like this:

No Weapons
 Shoppers would carry no weapons, such as umbrellas. The use of elbows, high heeled shoes and heavy purses to gain tactical advantage at crowded counters would be suspended.

Clerks would come out of hiding. The stores' public address systems, with their relentless outpouring of recorded carols, would be turned off.

Merchandise that is advertised would be in stock and in the right sizes and colors. Small boys who have just received a candy cane from the resident Santa Claus would not rub their sticky hands on your trouser legs.

You would not be the 21st person waiting for an elevator with a 20-passenger capacity. The parking lot near the store were you want to shop would not be full.

For the duration of the truce, wives would withdraw their demands for "something personal" in the way of gifts and request something logical—like a new electric kumquat peeler.

The lady shoppers standing in line ahead of you at the cashier's counter would not all fumble through their purses for 30 minutes looking for the charge plates they left in another purse.

It would not be the salesman's first day on the job.

A Christmas tree purchased during the amnesty would fit into the corner of the room where you had planned to put it. All of the well-shaped trees would not already have "sold" tags on them.

During the amnesty the mailman would not deliver any Christmas cards from persons you forgot to send cards to. Parcels taken to the post office could be mailed in less than an

The Week in Review

By LEROY POPE
 United Press International
 NEW YORK (UPI)—The Johnson administration's crackdown on advancing prices overshadowed everything else on the business news horizon this week.

At the start of the week Treasury Secretary Henry A. Fowler warned both business and labor that the government will continue to oppose sternly both price and wage boosts it regards as inflationary. Fowler's warning came after Anacosta and Phelps-Dodge rolled back the price of domestically produced copper to 36 cents a pound in the wake of the government decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from stockpiles.

Next a government decision to release wheat from government stockpiles brought a rollback of 10 cents a hundredweight in the price of flour.

Then the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that a study of new labor contracts covering 2.2 million workers showed increases averaging 4.2 per cent, a full point over the government's anti-inflationary guideline of 3.2 per cent. Government spokesmen said, however, that some of these were multi-year contracts and they did not violate the 3.2 per cent hour. Television to commercials, which cause your kid to change his mind after you have already bought what he originally wanted, would be banned.

guideline over the life of the contract.

Nevertheless, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who is still highly regarded as a Republican presidential hopeful, accused the administration of supporting inflationary wage increases while imposing price controls and supporting easy money, easy credit and big federal spending. He said the Johnson administration is "charging down the road to economic absolutism." There was no direct answer from Washington.

The Commerce Department's quarterly survey of consumer buying intentions, taken the week of Oct. 17, reported the public in the mood to keep business expansion rolling by buying automobiles and major appliances.

The Family Lawyer

movies in the Courtroom
 The jurors were duly impressed when the attractive young plaintiff described the leg injuries she had suffered in an auto accident. She was so crippled, she said, that she was forced to wear low heeled shoes at all times.

In short order, the opposing attorney called for the courtroom to be darkened for a movie. Taken secretly, the movie neatly punctured the plaintiff's claim by showing her arriving at a party — wearing extra-high heels.

Courtroom movies have found their greatest use in deflating injury claims that are either false or exaggerated. However, they have also proved useful in establishing claims that are valid — for instance, by clarifying the conditions that led to an accident, or by demonstrating the effects of an injury.

In fact, movies are so revealing that, though offered by one side of a lawsuit, they may aid the other side even more.

For example, in disputing the claim of an injured boy, the defense showed movies of him playing baseball to demonstrate that he was still able to take part in sports. But the movies also showed, more poignantly than words, the handicaps he did suffer in chasing fly balls and running bases.

Of course, the law's concern is not which side is helped but whether justice is served. There is real danger in the very fact that movies are so persuasive, for they may influence a jury beyond fair limits.

With that danger in mind, the law insists on careful conformity to the rules of evidence. Authenticity and accuracy of the films must be proven. Relevance to the issues must be established. The trial judge may, at his discretion, rule out films that don't meet these tests.

In one case, a film of a stretch of highway was offered to show that the injured pedestrian should have been able to see the oncoming car.

The moon is almost completely waterless and airless.

Art Exhibition Set in Canyon

The Third Annual District Competition will be open again this year for entries by high school and amateur artists. High school students in the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades will compete for prizes of $75, $50 and $25. In the Merit Award Division (open to any amateur of any age who does not derive more than one-half of his income from the sale of art) there will be awards of $75, $50 and $25.

Two major divisions of completed within the past year, be original, suitably and simply framed or prepared for display. Water colors, prints, drawings or pastels should be under glass. Names should be covered by tape. The entry should not exceed 36 by 42 inches in size, or the equivalent of 1512 sq. inches.

Oils, pastels, tempers, water-colors, casein, plastics (polymer, etc.) and pen and ink drawings will be accepted.

A white entry blank and $1 registration fee (fee goes to make up awards given) must accompany each entry. Deadline will be Jan. 13 before 6 o'clock. Paintings should be delivered to WT Lounge of Fine Arts Building.

Entry blanks will be available from the County Art Chairman of each County. High school leaders will be notified of the competition. The County Chairman for Gray, Mrs. Bill F. Deaton, can be contacted at MO-4-8732.

Mrs. Frank Kimbrough, Canyon, is the district chairman of the 16 Counties of the 31st Senatorial District.

State Scholarships to be given are $500, $300 and $200. The Merit award winner will receive $100. District judges are now being selected for the exhibition in January.

McChesney Trying to Avoid Break With LBJ

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
 The chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William McChesney Martin Jr., is doing his diplomatic best to avoid the appearance of an open break with President Johnson on the issue of interest rates. Martin may need LBJ's help next session against angry, easy-money Democrats.

rate. Raising the discount rate tends to make loans more expensive for borrowers. Thus it tends to discourage borrowing. It tends also to cool the economy and thereby curb or prevent inflation.

Within 24 hours of the rate hike, Chairman Martin was in Johnson City in response to a summons from LBJ. Martin emerged from the audience to deny that the action was in defiance of the administration. LBJ and Martin shared a news conference devoted to the usual political double talk.

Such generalities sound pretty but don't mean much. The same objectives? Of course they have the same objectives—the general welfare, reduced unemployment, stable prices, stable money, good business.

There will be political clamor for Martin's head when Congress reconvenes in January. This will be led by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., who speaks from a power position as chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee. Patman speaks the language of the Populist orators of the 1890's. Chairman Martin, the Federal Reserve System and the bankers (all big bankers) are Patman's foes.

The Fed could be transformed thereby into an engine of monetary inflation equal to the fondest Populist dreams of easy money and low interest.

The Populist movement representing Southern and Midwestern agrarian discontent rose and fell in a few years toward the end of the 19th century. Some of its ideas infiltrated both major political parties. Patman's monetary ideas represent a kind of late blooming populism. A nod from LBJ, no doubt, would persuade Congress to give the Fed the works, as proposed by Patman.

Average Fruit Better Than Big

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—A veteran of 18 years of judging fruit and vegetable shows advises housewives to choose average size items over the big ones.

Dr. J. B. Corns, professor of agriculture at Pan American College, also urges careful shoppers to "look for the freshest fruits and vegetables."

"Select firm fruit of average size without bruises or discoloration," he adds. "The largest sizes look good as a rule—but they won't win a prize in the show or in the kitchen."

Judging produce comes naturally to Dr. Corns, whose academic specialty is plant study. His degree are from Texas A&M, the University of California, and Cornell.

Many Changes Noted.

It was at Cornell, where Dr. Corns earned his doctorate, that he began judging produce. He has seen many changes in the show since.

"The quality of produce has greatly improved over the past few years," he said.

Texas winners, he said, are auctioned for the highest prices in the nation. This year's South Texas Vegetable Day exposition in San Antonio brought a total of $13,500 for prize-winning produce.

Dr. Corns judges on the basis of uniformity of exhibit, freedom from disease and insect damage, trueness to type, and general appearance.

"Of all these qualities," he explained, "uniformity and trueness to type are the most important."

Hard to Judge

He has seen quality rise so that today practically all production shown will meet U.S. No. 1 grade standards. But this leads to close decisions in many cases and often makes the work of judging difficult.

Occupational hazards connected with judging often occur when exhibitors disagree with the decisions of the judges.

"I always felt it best not to stay around the show too long after placings because it is impossible to please everybody," Dr. Corns said.

When he moved to the Rio Grande Valley in 1919 the shows were staged in rented tents. Now the National Guard Armory is the site of the Rio Grande Valley Fruit and Vegetable show at Pharr, Tex. He also is a regular judge at the Texas Citrus Fiesta in Mission, Tex.

Oceans cover almost three-fourths of the world.

"The Year of the Yield" — March Cost; one man at the crossroads of life, brooding on a bench in Regent's Park, finds a purpose in life when he finds himself involved in the problems of a widow who happens to sit next to him to solve her own problems.

"The Sun in Scorpio" — Margery Sharp; a family forced to leave its Mediterranean island home at the beginning of World War I, dreams of returning, but it is not until World War II that one of the three children, now grown, finds a way back.

"A Daughter of the Legend" — Jesse Stuart; a romantic love story set in the mountain country of Eastern Tennessee. It tells of the marriage of a young lumberjack to Deutsia Hunton, who belongs to the ostracized Melungeon clan.

"The Fortune Road" — James McCague; a rollicking tale of the Western frontier after the Civil War and the flamboyant promoters and newspapermen who followed the railroad westward during the building of the trans-continental railroad.

"No Heaven for Gunga Din" — Ali Mirdekhandi Gunga Din; a primitive parable written in broken and eloquent English by a Persian peasant for the entertainment of the British and American officers for whom he worked.

DEFENDS SHOWING

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bernard E. Donovan, superintendent of New York City schools, yesterday defended the showing of a pro-Viet Cong propaganda film to a high school discussion class.

Donovan said such films "help train our citizens in the ability to distinguish between factual statements and opinionated or inflammatory pronouncements." Several parents had protested the showing.

ON BIRTH CONTROL

Problem Cleared up For Catholics

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Roman Catholics have been bombarded in recent months with a bewildering variety of statements, admonitions and predictions about the church's teaching on birth control. To clear up confusion, here's a brief rundown of how things stand at present:
—Still in force are the teachings of Pope Pius XI and Pope Pius XII. These ban all methods of birth control except the so-called rhythm method of periodic abstinence.

—Pope Paul VI has postponed indefinitely his promised statement on birth control. Authoritative Vatican sources say it won't be forthcoming for at least another year.
—It's an open question whether Pope Paul's statement, when issued, will liberalize

Catholic teaching and permit the use of new birth regulation techniques such as anovulant pills. The Pope is still weighing the arguments on both sides, and predictions about how he'll make up his mind cannot possibly be anything more than guesses at this point.
When all that is said, however, it may be added that some of the straws now discernible in the wind seem to point toward eventual liberalization of the long-standing ban on contraception.
The Vatican Council's last document — the Decree on the Church and the Modern World — affirms that lovemaking plays an important part in marriage aside from its procreative function. This is the basic theological argument which persuaded major Protestant bodies to approve of birth control.

needs—that is, construction, expansion and renovation of seminaries, colleges, churches, hospitals and clinics.

Thus:
"I didn't know the gun was loaded" is not an alibi.
"I couldn't stop the car in time" is not an alibi.
But "I wasn't there" is an alibi.
Of course, absence alone is not a defense in every kind of crime. A man might mastermind a bank holdup, yet leave the deed itself to his henchmen. Or a man might commit arson with a delayed-action fuse, allowing him to be sunning himself at the beach when the fire starts.
Clearly, absence from the scene of the crime, in such circumstances, is not a good defense.
Nor is an alibi effective if it leaves open a reasonable possibility that the defendant — by hurrying — might still have committed the crime.
For instance, a man who proved that he picked up his girl friend at 9 p.m. was held not to have established an alibi for a murder committed at 8:45 p.m. The court noted that the girl lived less than 15 minutes' driving time from the scene of the murder.
But if the crime did require the defendant's actual presence at the scene, and if he can prove he wasn't there, then his alibi is airtight.
Unfortunately, when it comes to proof, an alibi is the kind of defense that may be easily faked. Many a rascal has come to court with a made-to-order alibi, based on the convenient "recollection" of oblonging friends.
Nevertheless, while the law takes account of the danger of fraud, it also gives full weight to an alibi that is fairly established.
"Alibi is not only a proper defense," commented one court, "but to an innocent man is always an essential defense, and indeed it may be his only defense."

Oklahoma To Go After Royal

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—The University of Oklahoma went after Darrell Royal of Texas Saturday to be the new Sooner football coach and was prepared to offer a contract which, with fringe benefits, could reach $50,000 a year.

The Oklahoma athletic council recommended Royal be hired to succeed Gomer Jones, who resigned unexpectedly last Monday after Oklahoma struggled to a 3-7 season, worst in modern times.

Dr. George L. Cross, university president, said he had been in contact with Royal, a former Oklahoma star quarterback, and that Royal was interested in the job.

Cross said he expects final word from Royal by Sunday or Monday. Board of regents approval is required, but this would be a mere formality since a majority of the regents met with the athletic council before Royal's name was released publicly.

Cross said terms of a contract were not discussed, but he said it probably would be for five years. He said Royal, if he accepted, would be the highest paid football coach in Oklahoma history, and with salary and non-university income, Cross indicated Royal could be in the $40,000 to $50,000 bracket.

Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma's most successful football coach, drew roughly $30,000 a year, plus a television contract. Cross said a television contract would be available to Royal.

Royal, who beat his alma mater for the eighth straight season this season, has been the center of speculation since Jones resigned. Jones, however, stayed on as athletic director. Royal currently is football coach and athletic director at Texas, but Cross said Royal was not displeased with Jones' retention.

Cross pushed through a proposal that would make Royal answerable directly to the President.

Royal was attending a high school state semi-final playoff game in Austin while the council met in Norman.

Royal, 40, spent nine years at the University of Texas and was coach of the year two of the past four years. He is the winningest coach in Texas history, with a 75-19-3 record. He has four Southwest Conference championships and two undefeated teams.

Royal-coached Longhorn teams have been in seven bowl games in the past nine years, including the Orange Bowl last New Year's.

A native of Hollis, Okla., Royal played four seasons at Oklahoma, 1946-49, as halfback and quarterback. He is married and the father of three children.

Before coming to Texas, he was the head coach at Mississippi State in 1954 and 1955 and at Washington in 1956. His over-all record during 12 years as head coach is 92-32-3.

White Deer Runs By Keller Indians, 34-12

Last Period Scores Push Bucks to Finals

SNYDER (Sp) — Marvelous White Deer, leading by only two points with just over five minutes left in the game, broke loose in the fourth quarter for three touchdowns and a 34-12 victory over Keller.

The Bucks now advance into the class A state finals and play W Is Point next Saturday.

Speedy Randy Elliott, hampered by a bad knee for two weeks, broke loose for all the fourth period scores and also had the Bucks first one in the opening period.

The Bucks wasted no time in getting ahead in the game, but also fell quickly behind as the Indians looked at first as if they might close out the season for White Deer.

Elliott got the Bucks on their way to their 14th straight victory, when Monty Hawpe blocked a Keller punt and pounced on it at the Indians' 12.

Three plays later Elliott went in from the six and Johnny Mooney booted the conversion for a 7-0 White Deer lead with eight minutes left in the opening period.

But the Indians came storming back and drove 71 yards in 10 plays with Quarterback Randy Dowell going the last eight for the score.

The Indians tried for the two-pointer and failed, leaving them trailing, 7-6 with 4:17 left. Dowell was the big gun in the attack gaining 27 yards in three carries.

The Bucks were forced to punt on their next series of downs and Hawpe had the ball slice off the edge of his foot and take a Keller bounce back to the Bucks 32 yard line. The kick went for a minus eight yards.

This time the Indians journeyed the 32 yards in nine plays, all on the ground, with Dowell again carrying in, this time from the one.

Again the Indians tried for the two-point conversion and again they failed. With 7:43 left before halftime Keller led 12-7.

The Bucks had one drive stopped after intercepting the first of four Dowell passes. They drove to the eight yard line when on a four and three situation fullback Vernon Marlar lost two yards.

But, despite the fact they were having much success against White Deer on the ground, the Indians again took to the air and again it was intercepted.

This time Billy Rapp pulled it in and raced 25 yards to score. Mooney added the conversion and 1:40 before half-

Brewer-Baird Win Four-Ball Crown

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) —Gay Brewer and Butch Baird equalled a course record with a come-from-behind 62 Saturday for victory in the $125,000 National PGA Four-Ball Golf Championship with a 29-under-par total of 259.

It took only two holes with consecutive birdies for Baird and Brewer to catch up with Lionel and Jay Hebert, the third-round leaders, and go on to win by three strokes. The victory was worth $10,000 to each man.

The Hebert brothers, both former PGA champions, collected six birdies, five on the front nine, in carding a final round 66 for a 262 total in this first annual bestball tournament at the new PGA National Golf Club.

Four teams, headed by seniors champion Sam Snead and golf's "thin man," Gardner

Dickinson Jr., finished at 265, 23 strokes under par, to collect $3,412 for each man. Snead and Dickinson had a final round 65.

On their 10-birdie round which equalled the bestball record for the PGA golf club's tough East course, Brewer and Baird went out in 30 strokes and came home before a nationwide television audience in 32.

Brewer, winner of the Hawaiian and Seattle Opens earlier this year, collected eight of his team's birdies. The 33-year-old Texan from Dallas sank 25-foot birdie putts on the seventh, ninth, and 13th holes and said: "I was putting real good; I wouldn't want to put any better than I did today."

Baird, 29, of Galveston, Texas won his only four title at the Waco Turner Open in 1961. He got short-putt birdies on the sixth, and 17th holes and joked afterward, "All I did was write down the scores. Gay made them all."

Others at 265 with Snead and Dickinson were the teams of Joe Campbell and Sam Carmichael, with a 65 in the final round; Don January and Los Angeles, Open champ Paul Harney with 67, and Houston Classic winner Bobby Nichols and R. H. Sikes, who fired a 68.

Lionel and Jay Hebert, who won the PGA championships in 1957 and 1960 respectively, turned the front nine in 31 but fell off to a 35 on the back side. They earned $6,000 each as runners up.

Glamor Team

The glamor team of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer shot a final round 68 to head three other two-somes who finished with 22-under-par 266s and collected $2,100 for each man.

Others in the 266 bracket were: second-round leaders Bert Yancey and Ducey Wysong Jr., who had a 68; Bob Rosburg and Jim Ferree, who had a 64; and Bob Shave and John Berry, who carded a 68.

Versalles' Versatility Shown in AL Statistics

BOSTON (UPI) —Zollo Versalles, shortstop of the Minnesota Twins and the American League's most valuable player in 1965, led or shared the lead in five batting departments, according to official statistics released Saturday.

Versalles' versatility was evidenced by the fact that he was tops in total bases (306), runs scored (126), and most official times at bat (666), and tied Carl Yastrzemski of Boston for most doubles (45) and Bert Campaneris of Kansas City for most triples (12).

The champion Twins, who led the league in six team categories, also produced the batting champion for the second consecutive year in Tony Oliva. The Cuban-born outfielder, the defending champion, won the 1965 crown with .321 average.

Oliva also had the most hits (185) and his 10 sacrifice flies were the best in the junior circuit. The Twins were No. 1 in the same categories, lashing out 1,396 hits and 59 sacrifice flies. Minnesota also led in batting (.254), doubles (257), runs scored (774) and runs batted in (711).

Yastrzemski was second in batting with a .312 mark to .301 for Vic Davalillo of Cleveland and his teammate Tony Conigliaro ended Harmon Killebrew's three-year slugging reign by socking a league high of 32 homers. The Red Sox, despite their lowly finish, led the league in home runs with 165 and total bases with 2,197.

Campaneris stole 52 bases to snap the nine-year domination of Baltimore's Luis Aparicio and also led the Athletics to the team theft title with 110. Kansas City also was first in triples with 59.

Rocky Colavito of Cleveland was tops in runs batted in with 108 and he played in all 162 of the Indians' games to earn iron man honors along with Ron Hansen of Chicago and Don Wert of Detroit. The Indians sacrificed safely the most times, 90, although Jim Fregosi of the California Angels was the leader among individual batters with 15.

The White Sox allowed their opponents the fewest runs, 555.

Nagel Named As Iowa Coach

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) —Ray Nagel, who guided the University of Utah to its greatest gridiron success, Saturday was named head football coach at the University of Iowa.

Nagel, 38, succeeds the luckless Jerry Burns, who was fired after the worst football season in Iowa history.

Hugh Kelso, chairman of the athletic board, said the decision to hire Nagel was unanimous. The board made its decision at a meeting Friday night, and Nagel who was in Iowa City, accepted immediately.

Earlier this week, Dartmouth Coach Bob Blackman declined an Iowa offer.

At Utah, Nagel's teams won 42 games, lost 39 and tied one. In 1962 his team tied for the Western Athletic Conference title. The Utes then defeated West Virginia 2-6, in the Liberty Bowl.

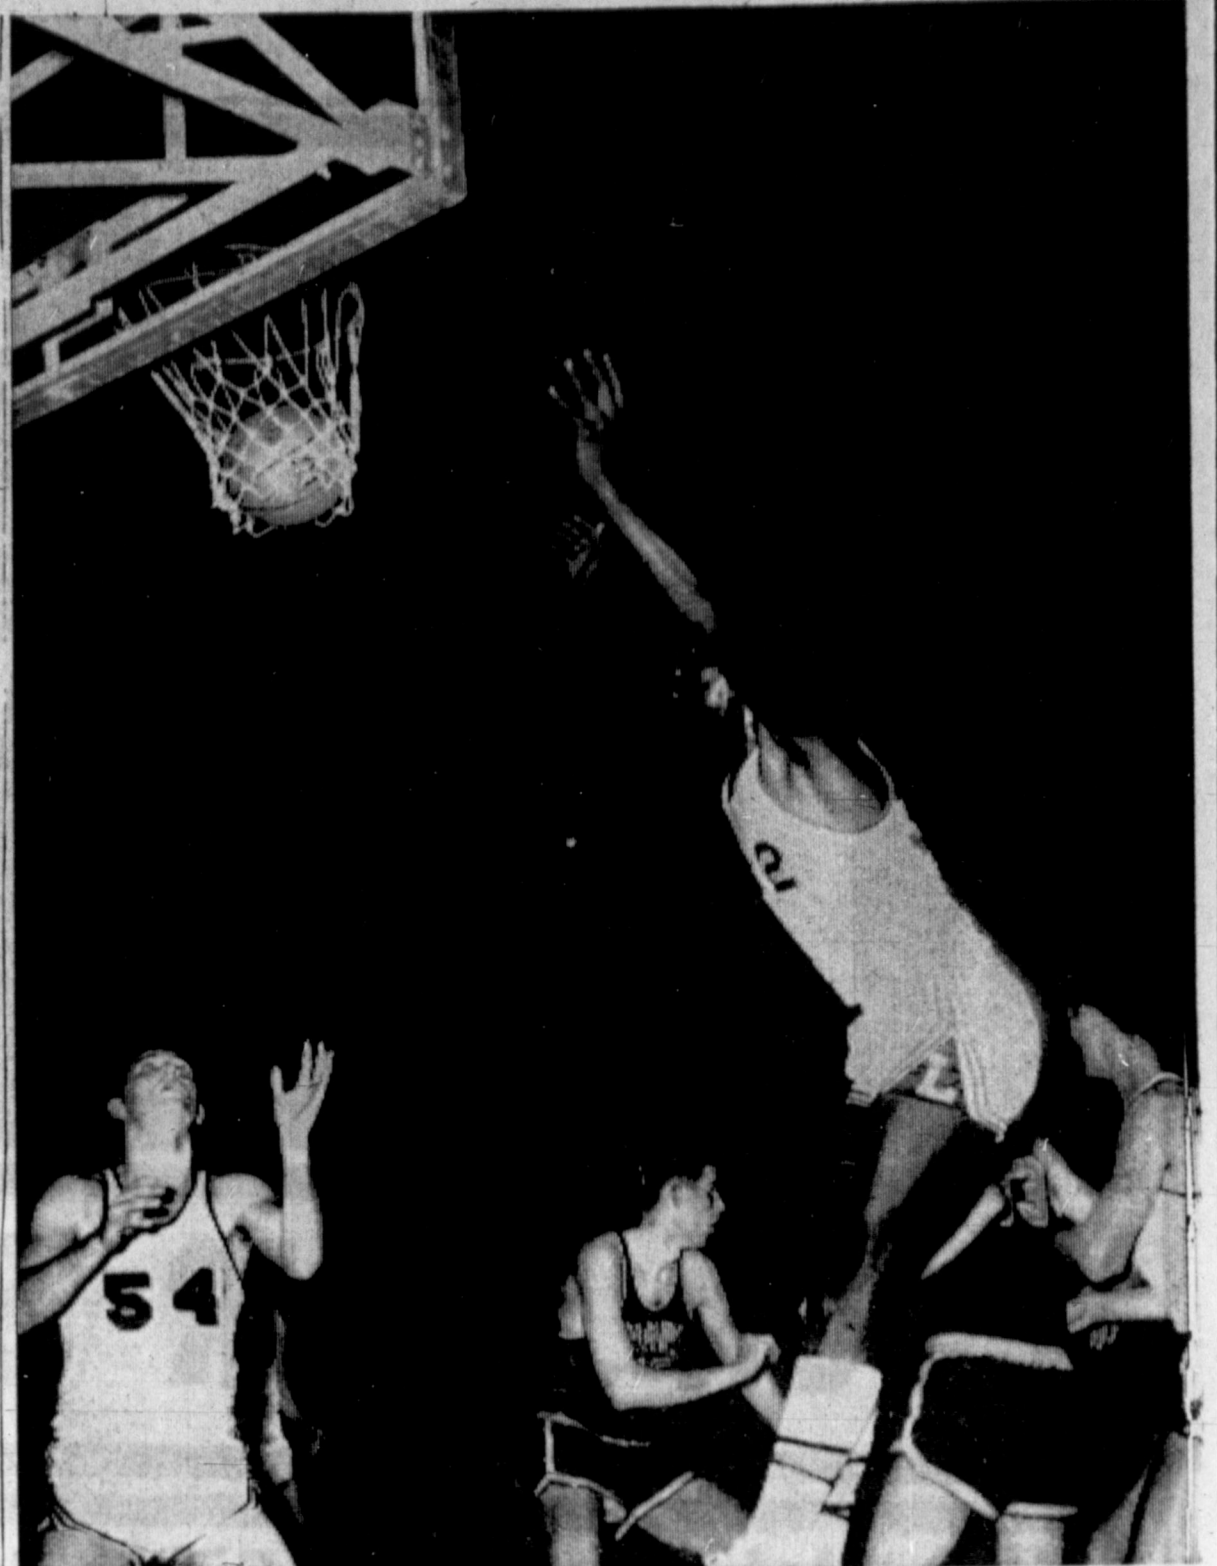

Nagel said he would like to bring some of his present staff members at Utah with him to Iowa City. But he did not name anyone and would not discuss the staff situation in detail.

Grantland Rice Bowl Ends in Tie

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (UPI) —Noland Smith returned a punt 74 yards with only two minutes left and Eldridge Dickey hit Johnny Robinson for a two-point conversion to give Tennessee State a 14-14 tie with Ball State in the second annual Grantland Rice Bowl Saturday.

Smith, a 160-pound punt return specialist, grabbed the ball on the 26-yard line and slipped through the entire Ball State team for the scores.

Ball State then had to fight off a late charge by the Tigers to hold on to the tie. Tennessee State was on the Cardinal three when the game ended.

FROM FOOTBALL — Lubbock's Don Burrell (32) scores two of his 16 points against Pampa Friday night. This was Burrell's second game since football ended for Lubbock. The senior also was named to the 3-4A coaches All-Star team. Also in photo is Lubbock's Wesley Verner (54) and Pampa's Mike Wise (45) and David Cain. (See Story Page 5.)

Permian Tops Texarkana In State 3-4A Semifinals

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Odessa Permian rode a brutal running attack to a 28-21 victory over Texarkana Saturday afternoon in a Class AAAA semifinal playoff in Texas Christian University stadium.

Permian will face San Antonio Lee, which beat Brazosport 16-7 Saturday in Austin, to decide the AAAA championship next week.

The Odessa team grabbed a quick 2-0 lead early in the first period when Texarkana halfback Jimmy Pope intercepted a pass on his own five-yard line and retreated into the end zone. He was tackled by Tony Conley for the safety.

On the first play after the kickoff quarterback Mike Campbell fired a scoring pass 37 yards to halfback David Byerly. Byerly missed the extra point and the score stood at 8-0.

Texarkana came back on a string of passes by quarterback Joe Norwood, who hit halfback Robbie Patman for 24 yards and the touchdown. Patman kicked the conversion for an 8-7 score.

Lee Moves To State Play

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—San Antonio Lee broke into a berth in the Class AAAA championship finals with a 16-7 victory Saturday over Brazosport in Memorial Stadium at the University of Texas.

Lee will meet Odessa Permian next week to decide the championship. Odessa beat Texarkana 28-21 Saturday in Fort Worth.

Superior speed spelled the difference for San Antonio. The team trailed 7-0 until the second quarter, then took charge of the game and kept Brazosport from scoring a second time.

Brazosport picked up its lone touchdown the first time it got the ball in the opening quarter. The score came on a 15-yard run by Allen Summerford, capping a drive that moved 79 yards in 13 plays. Tim Davis kicked the conversion.

In the second quarter Tee recovered a fumble and drove 25 yards to score on a 10-yard pass from Bill Magee to Jimmy Fabish. Magee ran the conversion to put San Antonio ahead 8-0.

Permian came back, scoring on the second play of the second quarter with a 43-yard run by halfback Mike Jordan. Byerly's kick made it 15-7.

Texarkana's Norwood brought the halftime score to 15-13 by directing a 76-yard march and carrying across himself from the one-yard line for the tally. An attempt to pass for the conversion failed.

Permian made it 22-13 after taking the second-half kickoff. Fullback Billy Dale scored on a three-yard run, with Byerly kicking the extra point. Dale scored again minutes later on a dive from the four-yard line, but the kick failed.

Texarkana pulled in a final touchdown after Patman returned a punt 71 yards to the four. Norwood kept for the tally and ran the two point conversion that made the score 28-21.

Meredit Pitches Cowboys by Cards

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas offense, with Don Meredith throwing strikes in old-time form, finally managed to outdo its heralded defensive unit Saturday and the Cowboys won the Playoff Bowl by beating St. Louis 10-3 0-0-13.

Meredit threw payoff punches of 46 yards to bullet Bob Hayes, 23 yards to rookie Dan Reeves and one yard to Pettis Norman and Danny Villanueva chipped in with 31- and 14-yard field goals to propel the Cowboys to their sixth victory against seven losses and hand the Cardinals their fifth setback in a row and their seventh in their last eight starts.

The Cowboys now need only to defeat the New York Giants on the road next week to assure themselves on a trip to Miami, Fla., for the Jan. 9 game between the runner-up teams of the National Football League's Eastern and Western Divisions. Charley Johnson kept the Cardinals in a 13-13 tie at the half, but then went out with a left shoulder separation and substitute Buddy Humphrey couldn't muster a scoring punch out of the Cardinals.

Junior Rose Bowl Title to Fullerton

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The passing duo of quarterback Dick Hough and end Rich Leonard paced the Fullerton College Hornets to a 20-15 victory over Henderson County College of Texas Saturday in the 20th annual Junior Rose Bowl game.

Hough ran four yards for one touchdown and led another drive largely with passes to Leonard.

The Californians almost threw the game away in the closing minutes when Henderson's Ted Stuart recovered a fumble on the Fullerton 14. The Hornet secondary, however, broke up a fourth-down pass that Henderson end Margene Adkins got his fingers on but could not hold.

Adkins, a jumping jack receiver, scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, and it looked like he was going to run away with the game for Henderson.

On the fourth scrimmage play of the game, he made a leaping catch of a pass from quarterback Ines Perez on the Fullerton 40 and scooted down the sideline into the end zone. The play covered 54 yards.

SANCTIONS TO LAST UNTIL 1967

A&M Put on Probation by SW Conference

DALLAS (UPI) — The South west Conference Saturday placed Texas A&M University on indefinite probation with sanctions until Jan. 15, 1967 for practicing football under the guise of physical education classes and illegally depriving players of scholarships.

In effect, the probation is for one year and one month. The Aggies must show in December of 1966 evidence it has revised its procedures.

The SWC, in a separate action, lifted the indefinite probation without sanctions imposed on Arkansas in December of 1964.

The probation against A&M also called for a public reprimand against A&M head coach Gene Stallings, a former Aggie player who came to the school in December 1964 from Alabama where he was an assistant to coach Bear Bryant.

Stallings, who had a 37 record this season, was bitter about the action and called it "unfair." He had told UPI earlier that he felt someone in the conference was out to get him and said Saturday "I know who, but I won't tell."

The physical education class Stallings was alleged to have told his players to take the class is in the school catalogue entitled: "Coaching Football."

Stallings said he took the class when he was at A&M and that there was nothing irregular about it. The SWC said the fact that players wore football shoes, went through drills, played with a football, and received instruction from some of the varsity coaches made it actually a practice session.

Stallings said there were 70 football players among the 128 youths in the class, but that it was okayed by Executive Secretary Howard Grubbs of the SWC.

"I asked Grubbs if it was all right, and he said it was OK," Stallings said. "I'd hate to think I practiced all spring and just won three games."

He said Emil Mamaliga was the PE instructor and only occasionally did the coaches assist him.

"The conference is just atacking my integrity," Stallings said. "The class was not mandatory for any of my players."

Hatton Says White Sox Offered Him Top Job

HOUSTON (UPI) — Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn offered former major league player Grady Hatton a five-year, $35,000 contract to succeed Al Lopez as White Sox manager, Hatton said Friday.
Hatton, speaking at a Houston news conference, confirmed reports that he had been called to Chicago for a meeting with Allyn, Allyn had earlier denied talking to Hatton about taking Lopez' place.

Madison Square, Room 30 Holds Memories for Sugar

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Room 30 at Madison Square Garden is precisely the kind of place you might expect a condemned man to spend his last few moments before walking to the gas chamber.
It is situated in the dimly-lit recesses of the Garden, it has no furniture other than a couple of crude wooden benches, it is uncommonly narrow and high-ceilinged and would you believe it, the room even has that traditional little green door.
This is the room in which Sugar Ray Robinson began and ended his farewell to boxing Friday night.
"It has a lot of memories for me," he said when he walked inside. "I've been in here before. Many times. I can't remember for exactly which fights, but I know I've been in here for a number of them."
Robinson began taking off his street clothes and put on a pair of white boxing trunks in preparation for his appearance in the ring later.
Only one other person was in the room and that was Britain's Randy Turpin, who had beaten Sugar Ray for the middleweight title in July of 1951 and then lost the crown back to him in September of that same year.
Turpin, who had flown in from London especially for Robinson's farewell, silently laced his white boxing shoes in one corner of the room as Ray put on his trunks in another corner.
"He was the best I ever fought by far," said Turpin about Robinson, who didn't hear him. "There was no other tactician like him. I haven't seen him in 10 years. The last time I saw him was in 1955 in the south of France. He was entertaining, doing a tap dance. He's just as good a dancer as he was a fighter."
The time dragged on slowly and occasionally one of Robinson's many friends would locate room 30 and come in to congratulate the only man in boxing history to win the middleweight championship five different times.
Stage Was Set
Finally it was time for Sugar Ray to go on.
From the instant he made his appearance on the Garden floor, Robinson was deluged by a warm, tingling ovation.
There were 12,146 persons on hand and this was their way of telling him they came to see him. To them, the Emile Griffith-Manuel Gonzalez welterweight title fight which would follow, was strictly anticlimax. As it developed, it turned out the fans knew something.
Robinson entered the ring in a smart-looking, three-quarter length white robe.
Every hair on his head was perfectly in place, as usual, and the fight fans thundered their approval as Ray bowed to them all from the center of the ring and then lifted his hands, palms turned upward, in a gesture of appreciation for their applause.
Four of Robinson's toughest opponents, Carl (Bobo) Olson, Gene Fullmer, Carmen Basilio and Turpin, were introduced and they also entered the ring in fighting regalia. Sugar Ray embraced each one, accepted a gold trophy engraved "To The World's Greatest Fighter" from the Madison Square Garden corporation and then made a three-minute speech.
"This is the first time I've ever had an experience like this," he said. "I don't know at this opportune time whether to be happy or sad."
More applause greeted each sentence he spoke and even Cassius Clay, seated at ringside, joined in.
"I'm not a cry baby but I'm full up inside," continued the 44-year-old Robinson, if you go SPTS 2-42 Room 30 by his count, or the 45-year-old Robinson, if you go by the book.
"This is not good-bye but it is farewell to a career that has spanned a quarter century," he said, feelingly. "I'm not going to say good-bye. As they say in France it's a tout a l'heure, I'll see you later."
Sugar Ray then climbed outside the ropes as Gordon McRae and Auld Lang Syne.
Robinson made his way back to the room he came from and someone asked him if this was really it.

By United Press International
Branch Rickey created baseball dynasties in St. Louis and Brooklyn but is best remembered for introducing the farm system to the game and breaking its unwritten color lines.
Despite his age, Rickey made headlines again in recent years when he came out of semi-retirement to become president of the proposed "third major league," the Continental League.
Although this league never came into playing existence, Rickey's energetic part in developing the league made him a major factor in forcing the existing American and National Leagues to expand to 10 teams each.
One of the most controversial figures in baseball history, Rickey also was known as the "master trader" of his time. It is likely that he traded away more stars than any other man in the game's annals but his shrewd judgement of talent enabled him to "get the better" of most of the deals.
Born at Stockdale, Ohio, in 1881, Rickey broke into baseball as a catcher with the St. Louis Browns in 1906 and completed his playing career with the New York Yankees in 1907. He obtained a law degree at the University of Michigan and had a brief fling at managing the Browns before switching to the St. Louis Cardinals—the team that was to be his springboard to fame.
Stepped Aside
A theorist who combined complicated thinking with obscure speech, Rickey never was able to "get through" to players as his manager and eventually stepped aside when Rogers Hornsby became pilot of the Cardinals in 1924.
Rickey stepped into the front office under Cardinal owner Sam Breadon, however, and it was during this period that he introduced the farm system to baseball. Seeking a formula to compete with rich clubowners who obtained stars by the simple method of purchasing them, Rickey introduced the idea of "growing your own players" through the machinery of minor league clubs with which he formed working agreements.

His rivals scoffed at the idea of scouring the country for players "with youth and speed" but were forced to follow in his footsteps when Rickey's formula changed the Cardinals from a down-trodden, also-ran into one of the National League's perennial contenders.
Under Rickey, the Cardinals won five pennants and their swift, aggressive play became as much a trademark as the home run was for the New York Yankees. The "young, hungry player with the basic attributes of youth and speed plus strength of arm" became virtually a yardstick for evaluating all players.
It was epitomized on the Cardinals by such great stars as Stan Musial, Chuck Hafee, Enos Slaughter, Marty Marion, Joe Medwick and Terry Moore.

Once established, the farm system provided Rickey with a seemingly unending stream of young players rising out of the high minors and enabled him to trade off his "name players" at the slightest sign that they were slowing down or thinking in terms of demanding huge sums of money to play ball.
The list of players involved in these huge transactions included such stars as Dizzy Dean, Rogers Hornsby, Walter Cooper, Medwick, Johnny Mize, Morton Cooper, Mickey Owen, Hafee and Jimmy Collins. In addition Rickey sold a host of minor leaguers for sums ranging from $35,000 to $125,000.
The most famous of all his deals probably was his sale of Dean to the Chicago Cubs in 1937. In exchange for the once-great but then sore-armed pitcher, Rickey acquired pitcher Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun plus a reported $185,000. In addition, he had a written agreement with owner P. K.

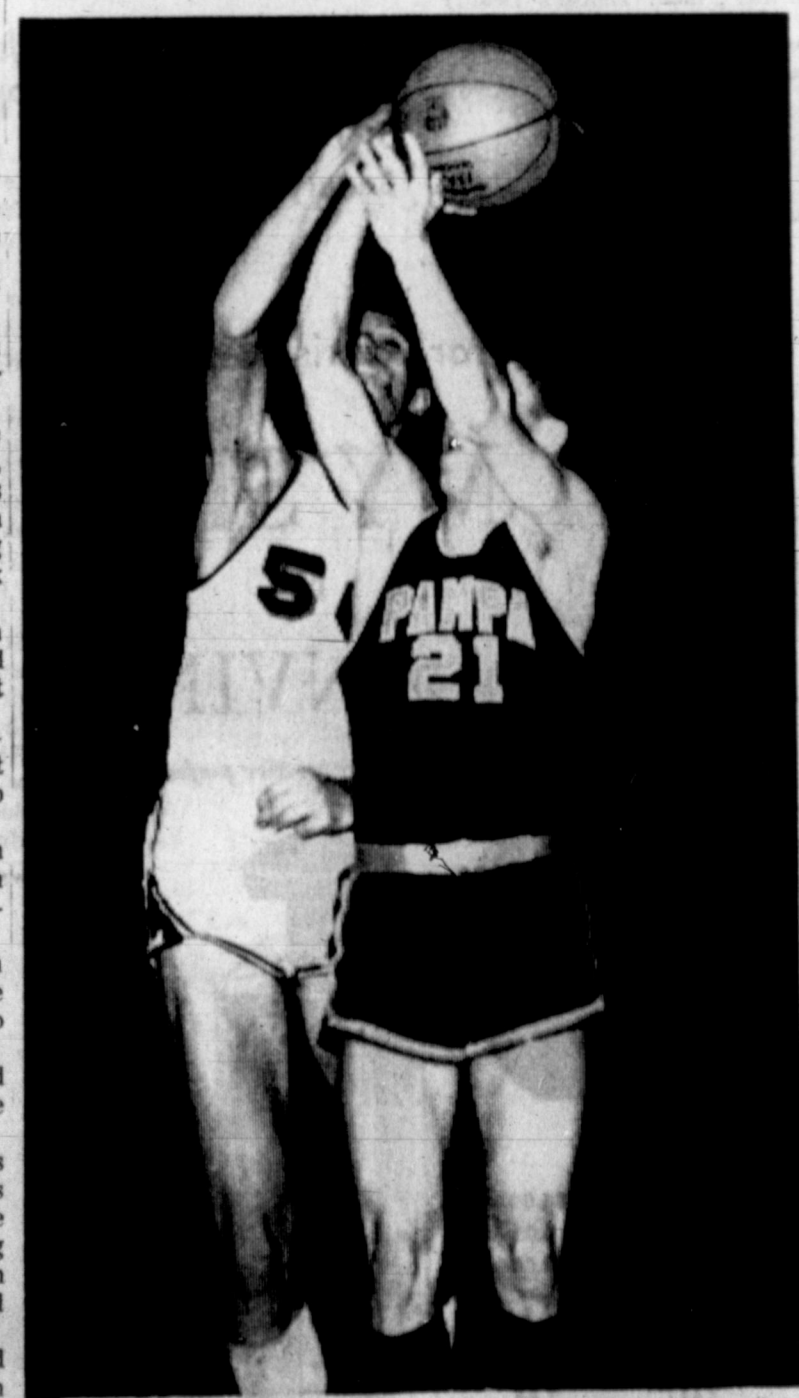

Robinson was an important cog as the Dodgers battled to a pennant in 1947 and he developed into one of the game's greatest stars during the next eight years. But, of more importance to Rickey was the fact that other clubs quickly opened their dressing rooms to Negroes—thereby smashing baseball's unwritten color line forever.
Changed Teams Again
With the Dodgers now the perennial power of the league—just as his old Cardinals had been before them—Rickey turned to a new pasture and in 1950 became general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Brooklyn stock, for which he paid $260,000, he disposed of for $1,250,000.

At 68, Rickey again utilized his "youth and speed" formula in attempting to create a third dynasty in Pittsburgh. Military service and increased competition from other farm systems slowed down the rebuilding process, however, and little gain was made during the first five years.
When Rickey's system seemingly failed to bear fruit in Pittsburgh, he assumed an advisory post with the club as Joe L. Brown, son of comedian Joe E. Brown, became general manager.
Success Came Later
But Rickey's work with the Pirates was crowned with success in 1960—when he was gone from the Pittsburgh scene—when the Pirates won their first world championship in 35 years largely with players he had recruited and developed.
Rickey was named president of the Continental League on Aug. 18, 1959. Despite his advancing years, he proved a spirited and capable head of the new organization. Although the league never was able to overcome huge obstacles in the way of starting play, Rickey's canny maneuvers played a major role in forcing expansion to 10 teams on the American and National Leagues.
Rickey retired after his tenure with the Continental League but August A. Busch Jr., president of the Cardinals, brought him back to baseball as a consultant on player personnel with St. Louis.
Rickey remained in that capacity until the conclusion of the 1964 season when the Cards won the World Series by beating the Yankees in seven games. Although he was no longer active in baseball, after the 1964 campaign, he remained an influence on the game.
Thus, having wrought two revolutions in the game he loved by founding the farm system and introducing Negro players, Rickey had a hand in revamping the baseball map of America to a new national image in his declining days.

Gonzalez Manager Blames Crowd for Loss

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Gore, trainer of Manny Gonzalez, blamed a "lack of appreciation for the art of self defense in New York" for his fighter's loss to welterweight champion Emile Griffith Friday night in Madison Square Garden.
"Manny didn't lose tonight," said Gore. "He gave the champion a boxing lesson, but they don't appreciate the art of self defense in this town."
"If they don't go in there and bang heads and bloody each other and walk out of the ring like they've been through a slaughter house, the people here don't think they've seen a fight," Gore said.
"And if Griffith is a champion," Gore said as an after-thought, "I'm a watchmaker. Look at my boy, not a mark on him, he's the loser."
Behind in Points
Gonzalez admitted he was behind through out most of the fight but credited Griffith's strength as the only category in which the champion was superior.
"He was stronger this time than he was in Houston," Gonzalez said, referring to his 10-round decision over Griffith last January in a nontitle fight, "but that's all he has, strength."
"I wasn't as sharp either," the 26-year-old Texan conceded. "I couldn't use my left hand as well and it couldn't get started but I thought the fight was a lot closer than it was scored."
The two fighters got into a brief shoving match after the bell that ended the fifth round.
Played Rough
"Griffith was shoving me around so I felt if he wanted to play rough, I'd play rough too," he said.
Gonzalez said Griffith never hurt him at any point during the fight. "He hit me once pretty good in the eighth round but it didn't hurt very much."

As for Gore, the only difference he could see between the Houston bout and this one was the distance of the contest.
"Five rounds was the only difference," he said. "It was the first time Manny has gone 15 rounds and I thought he did a good job. I'm proud of the boy. He didn't lose."
"That's okay though," Gore smiled, "the kid's going to cry all the way back to that Texas bank with the money he won."
Gonzalez' slice of the purse was about $15,000.
It is easier to travel by plane than by car in Alaska.

The Name of The Game is Soccer And It's Growing

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

The question often arises: "How old is the game of football?" It has been suggested that possibly Adam kicked an apple around in the Garden of Eden to the amusement of Eve. Well, soccer may never replace football in Pampa or the U. S., but it is becoming more popular every year, even in Pampa. You probably don't know it but for the past two years soccer has become increasingly popular at Pampa High School. It hasn't become a sport here in the sense that we know it, like football, basketball, track or baseball.

But for several PHS students it is their sport. Pampa's physical education instructor, Pete Irwin, has been coaching or teaching classes in the game at the 3 p.m. PE hour. Soccer got its start from football or vice-versa, nobody knows for sure and it is a game of action, a lot of action. Every other school day 26 young PHS students tahter at the practice field next to the football field and the race is on. There are 11 players on each team and Scott Rader, Steve Bohlander, Nick Albus, Richard Parker, Bob Washborne, David Hulsey, Mike Elmore, Bobby Bright, Brantley Stevens, Bill Morgan, John Burke, Allan Finney, Gene Groves, Johnny Hopkins, Jimmy Baker, Jimmy Pitts, Frankie Steadman, Ed Cockran, Charles Smith, Kenneth Cowan, Clifton Westbrook, Robert Schaub, John Stroker, Gary Todd, John Stafford and Bill Shaw make up Pampa's two teams. The soccer field is 120-150 yards long and 50.75 yards wide. The goal posts, the place you try to kick the ball through is 10 yards wide. In case you aren't up on your soccer rules, and who is, here is the way you play the game: First, soccer is a goal game, the object of which is to advance an inflated round ball toward the opponents' goal and between the goal-posts by kicking, dribbling, heading and in general, playing it with any part of the body except the arms and hands. One player, however, the goalkeeper, is privileged to use his hands on the ball while he is in his own penalty area. On the playing field there is a halfway line. The halfway line goes from one touch line to another through the center of the field parallel with the goal lines, midway between the sidelines on this line is a circle in which the ball is centered at the start of the game or after each goal is scored. Rectangular areas are marked out near each goal. The one nearest the goal is the goal area; the other is called the penalty-kick area. Also, at each corner there is marked an area from which the ball must be kicked in case of a corner kick. The inflated leather or rubber-covered ball has a circumference of not less than 27 nor more than 28 inches. The weight at the start of the game must be between 14 and 18 ounces; the inflation pressure, not less than 12 nor more than 13 pounds. Shoes are the most important part of a player's equipment. Regulation shoes are high laced leather ones, cleated with leather or rubber to protect the player against slipping. Shin guards are worn inside knee length socks.

Eleven players make up a soccer team and are named and arranged as follows: one goalkeeper; two fullbacks—right and left; three halfbacks—right, center and left; and five forwards—outside right, inside right, center, inside left and outside left. The main objective is to put the ball through the opponent's goal and under the crossbar. This is called a goal and scores 1 point. The duration of the game is set by the international rules at forty-five minute halves with a ten-minute intermission between halves. Various kinds of kicks are awarded one team because of infringements of rules by the other; free kick, penalty kick, goal kick and corner kick. Free kicks may be direct or indirect. A direct free kick is awarded to the offended team for the following rules infractions that occur outside the penalty area: illegal charging, goalkeeper carrying the ball, kicking, striking, kneeling, pushing, holding, jumping at an opponent, or a player other than the goalkeeper handling the ball. The kick is taken at the spot of the infraction, and the kicker has the option of passing to a team-mate or trying for a goal. Confused? Why not drop out and watch 'em play, it's interesting.

COWBOYS SEEK PLAYOFF BOWL Green Bay-Colts Battle

By United Press International
Bob Hayes, who was born, reared and attended school in Florida, would like nothing better than to invite his Dallas Cowboy teammates to come on down to Miami for the Playoff Bowl Jan. 9. But before the Olympic sprinter can mail out the invitations, there's the slight matter of two remaining National Football League games to be won, beginning Saturday against the St. Louis Cardinals at Dallas which the Cowboys won. Although the Cowboys went into the game tied for third with the Cards and Washington Redskins, a victory over St. Louis and the second-place Giants next weekend in New York would guarantee Hayes and Co a trip to the Orange Bowl, where Bob played some of his finest college games in the Orange Blossom classic for Florida A&M. The fact that Dallas has come as far as it has is at least partly attributable to Hayes, the marvelous rookie who holds the world 100-yard dash record of 9.1 seconds. His 40 receptions and nine touchdowns catches lead the Cowboys and his average of 20.2 yards per catch is better than any other receiver listed among the NFL's top 10. Furthermore, Hayes is only 194 yards short of 1,000 yards gained by pass receiving, a total which hasn't been attained by a rookie since Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears gained 1,076 in 1961. The Cowboys, on the upgrade after edging Philadelphia 21-19 last week, were six-point favorites over the slumping Cardinals, who have lost their last four contests. There are six games scheduled for Sunday, but only the Baltimore-Green Bay game is likely to receive much attention. The Colts, leading the Western Division by a half game over the Packers can wrap up their second consecutive conference title by beating Green Bay. But with Johnny Unitas out for the season, the game is a toss-up. In other action, the Bears are favored by 10 over San Francisco at Chicago, host Washington is a five-point choice over New York, Cleveland is rated two points better than the Rams at Los Angeles, visiting Philadelphia is a six-point pick over Pittsburgh and Minnesota is a three-point underdog to the Lions at Detroit. The Colts, shut out by the Bears last week 13-0 for their first whitewash since 1962, will rely on super-sub Gary Cuozzo, who filled in so handily against Minnesota earlier this year, to carry the offensive load. He will be up against a much stouter defense this time, however, since the Packers rate first in the NFL against passing and points. Green Bay will be under par at quarterback with Bart Starr suffering from a jammed finger. He is expected to start, though. Zeke Bratkowski will be in the wings if needed. "It's swollen and really tender," Packer coach Vince Lombardi said of Starr's finger. "Those things never happen in a game, but they can happen in practice. I'm almost certain he'll be ready. The Packers, should they win Sunday, would almost certainly need a victory the following weekend against San Francisco.

THE WAY YOU START — Johnny Hopkins and Pampa PE instructor Pete Irwin are about to start a soccer game at Pampa High School. The sport is becoming increasingly popular at the school.

Paul Lowe has a double mission Sunday—to help San Diego clinch its fifth Western Division title in six seasons and to become the first man in the American Football League to gain more than 1,000 yards rushing in more than one season. Lowe, in professional football since the inception of the AFL in 1960, gained 1,010 yards in 1963 and needed just 10 more yards to hit the charmed plateau again. He should make it without too much difficulty against the host Houston Oilers. Should Lowe fail, he still has a game against Oakland next Sunday in which to achieve his goal. Raiders, Oilers, Underdogs
The Chargers were 12-point favorites to beat Houston and eliminate Oakland and Kansas City from title contention. Oakland was a six-point favorite to whip visiting New York Buffalo who were three over traveling Kansas City and host Denver was rated even against Boston. San Diego also has John Hadl, the league's leading passer with 155 completions in 308 attempts; Lance Alworth, the No. 2 pass receiver in the AFL with 62 catches for 1,428 yards; a passing defense that has yielded a low of 147.3 yards a game and a rushing defense that allowed an 81.6 yard average in 12 games. Houston has dropped five in row and enters the game handicapped by injuries to key offensive operators Willie Frazier, a tight end.

Rambling With Red
RON CROSS

You can bet the situation is gloom at the University of Oklahoma. It is very likely the Sooners will not be able to hire a 'name' coach now that Gomer Jones has the Athletic Directors' job neatly tucked away, or does he?

University of Oklahoma regents formally accepted Jones resignation as head coach Thursday and retained him as athletic director.

A 'name' coach, the likes of Royal, Crowder, Dickey or even a Curtis, would not accept the job just as a coach and without the AD's job to go with it.

Without the Athletic Directors job Royal is most certainly out of the picture and who can blame him? But consider these possibilities: It is possible that Royal had already been contacted before the regents met Thursday and turned down the job, same as the rest of the fellows.

Frankly, we were shocked and surprised that the regents allowed coach Jones to remain as the athletic director when, surely they know that men of the caliber mentioned above, would not take one job without the other being involved.

Say what you want, but it may be some years before the Big Red makes it big in college football.

Everybody keeps saying that Jones was not a popular choice for the job two years ago. Who was?

It goes without saying, of course, Royal was, but that line about the Texas coach sitting by the phone all night and it not ringing is phoney.

Royal was contacted three times, twice by members of the board of regents and turned the position down flat.

And brother he was offered more than Carl McAdams is getting to play for the New York Jets.

Eddie Crowder, former OU player, now coach at Colorado, was not a popular choice two years ago, with the regents nor most fans, the thinking being he was too young and needed more experience.

Now the regents will really have their work cut out for them because nobody will be satisfied with whoever they hire.

Look for it to be an assistant coach somewhere or maybe a successful high school coach.

Think quick, what high school coach would you recommend? Gene Mayfield? Give that man a silver dollar.

When Gomer Jones was named as head coach two years ago joy, not sorrow, spread across the University campus.

Being acquainted with a number of the regents personally, I can't recall a one who wasn't satisfied with Jones.

Bud Wilkinson helped, but it wasn't on his recommendation alone that Jones was hired. He had a few credentials to carry with him.

He has moulded some of the greatest linemen in the game today and polished some of the best offensive and defensive lines in the history of any school.

The fact remains that Jones tenure as Athletic Director is good for only two more years but do you think that either Royal or Crowder would take the job as coach for two years and both posts thereafter? Not me, sports fans.

Bring Bud back, quit dreaming. Who will it be?

Well, you can rule out these possibilities: J. T. King, Joe Kerbel, me and Eural Ramsey.

Randy Matson, who I still contend is bigger and stronger than Superman, is quoted as saying he expects some razzing from student fans at road games in basketball.

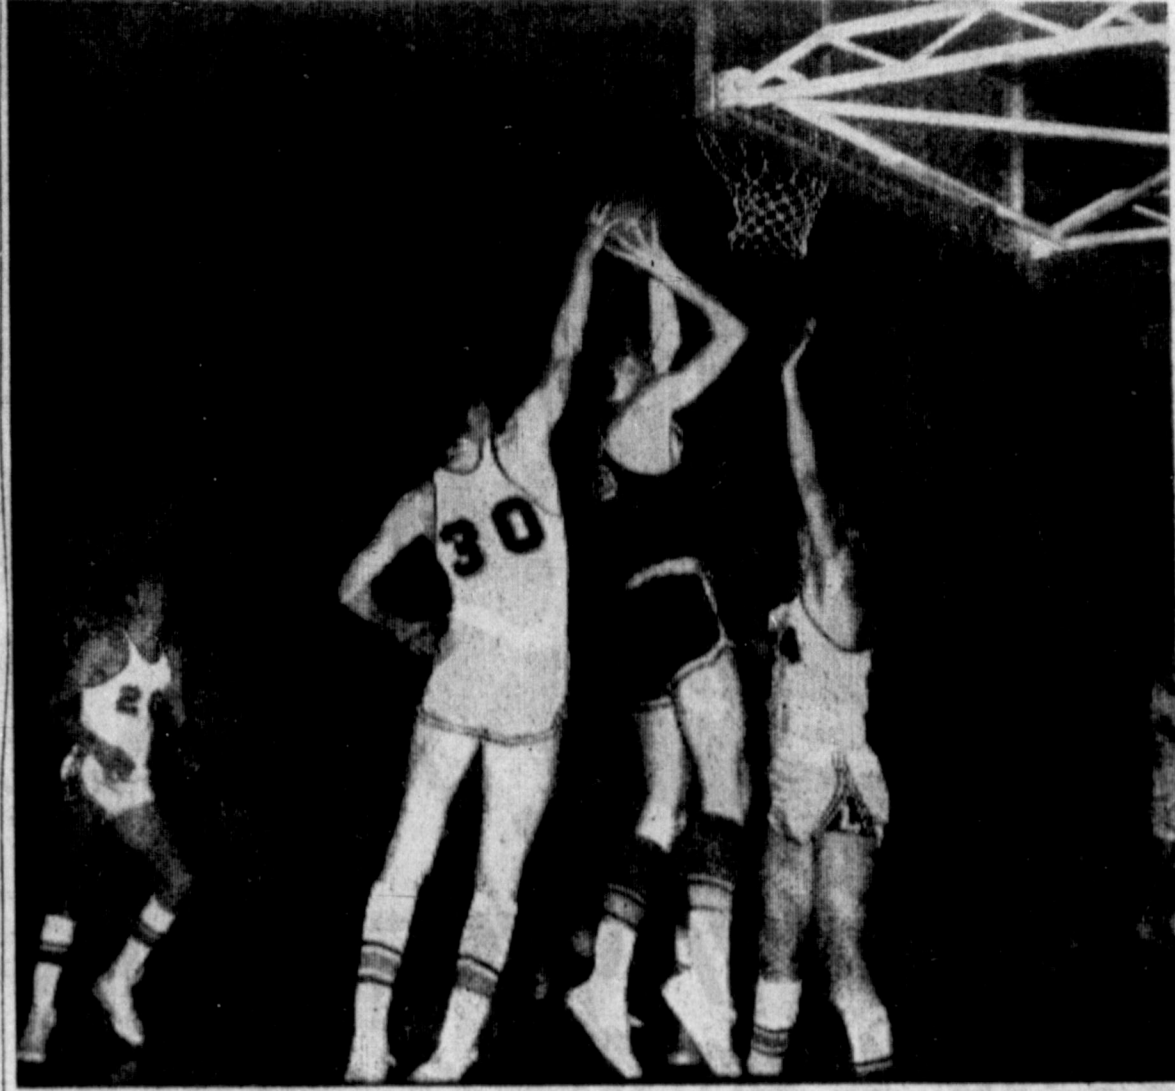

It won't be over his playing, because only the Aggies John Beasley has scored more points and Randy is the clubs leading rebounder.

"I'd sure hate to be on the visiting team playing here. The Corps really helps us with their cheering," Randy said.

Beasley has 64 points in two games and Matson has 19. Randy is leading in rebounds, 33-28.

Westerners Stop Pampa For 48-35 Conference Win

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
LUBBOCK (Spl) — Pampa had a clamp put on their high-flying offense, then had it tightened and the Lubbock Westerners made off with a 48-35 district 3-4A league victory Friday night.

BLOCKED SHOT — The Harvester's Mike Wise has a shot blocked by Lubbock's Fred Dickson Friday night. The Harvesters lost the 3-4A contest, 48-35 to the Westerners.

0-1 in the district race. Lubbock won their eighth in nine starts and second out of two conference games. Pampa went into the game with a 72.9 offensive average but after a good first quarter that saw them lead by 9-3 at one point the Harvesters seemed to fall apart as the seams against the Westerners zone press.

The 'Big Three' of David Cain, Mike Wise and Kenneth McWilliams turned into the 'Little Three' as the Westerners pounded Pampa bad on the backboards. Cain and Wise, both averaging 14 points per game could do nothing with Cain scoring a single basket and Wise, who was hitting 67 per cent from the floor missed four shots and wound up with a gigantic three points.

McWilliams, the leading scorer with a 17 point average lullered around for two periods and popped in six third quarter goals for a total of 11 points for the night.

As a team the Harvesters couldn't make their season average hitting but 13 of 33 from the floor for a lousy 39 per cent and nine of 18 charity throws for 50 per cent with David Frasier's nine points good for second high. Both teams were whistled down 14 times with both referees looking as dull as the players but Lubbock sunk 12 of 17 from the charity stripe for 70 per cent and only 18 of 43 from the floor, a per cent of 41.

But the Westerners 'sixth man' rangy 6'3 Don Burrell came off the bench to sneak in six of eight field goal attempts and four from the charity line for 16 points. Teammate Bill Green hit 14.

After trailing 10-7 after one period the Westerners jumped to a 22-17 halftime lead with Burrell hitting a jumper at the buzzer. Pampa came roaring back in the third period with McWilliams goaling three straight times and Pampa found themselves in a 23-23 tie with 3:42 left in the period. This seemed to startle the Westerners and they poured in five straight baskets, three by Verner and two by Burrell and a 33-23 lead as the period closed.

Pampa had their old enemy, the free shot come back to haunt them in the quarter, hitting none out of six tries.

David Frasier goaled in the final period to cut the Lubbock lead to eight but baskets by Burrell and Green made it 40-27 with 4:37 left and it was all over for the Harvesters.

The Pampa Shockers won their seventh in a row and eighth in nine starts by nudging the Lubbock B. 54-52.

John Marsh paced the Pampa scoring with 15 points and Phil Long and George Bailey scored 14 and 13 points respectively.

The Shockers trailed 21-20 at halftime.

Pampa will see conference action next on Tuesday when they travel to Borger to meet the Bulldogs, 0-2 in league play.

Children Turn Out As Christmas Draws Near

Pampa now is deep in the happiest time of the year—the Christmas season.

It is a time when the hearts of children, especially, are filled with hope and expectations of the joyful holiday that is fast approaching.

A visit in any Pampa store reveals children everywhere. They are going through boxes, pulling toys from shelves and skipping gleefully through the aisles.

Mothers and fathers are seen making mental notes of what may strike their offsprings' fancy, so Santa can be notified to be sure and include it with his deliveries when he comes over the rooftops on Christmas Eve.

The Pampa News photographer made a camera "shopping tour" trip through the stores a couple of nights ago.

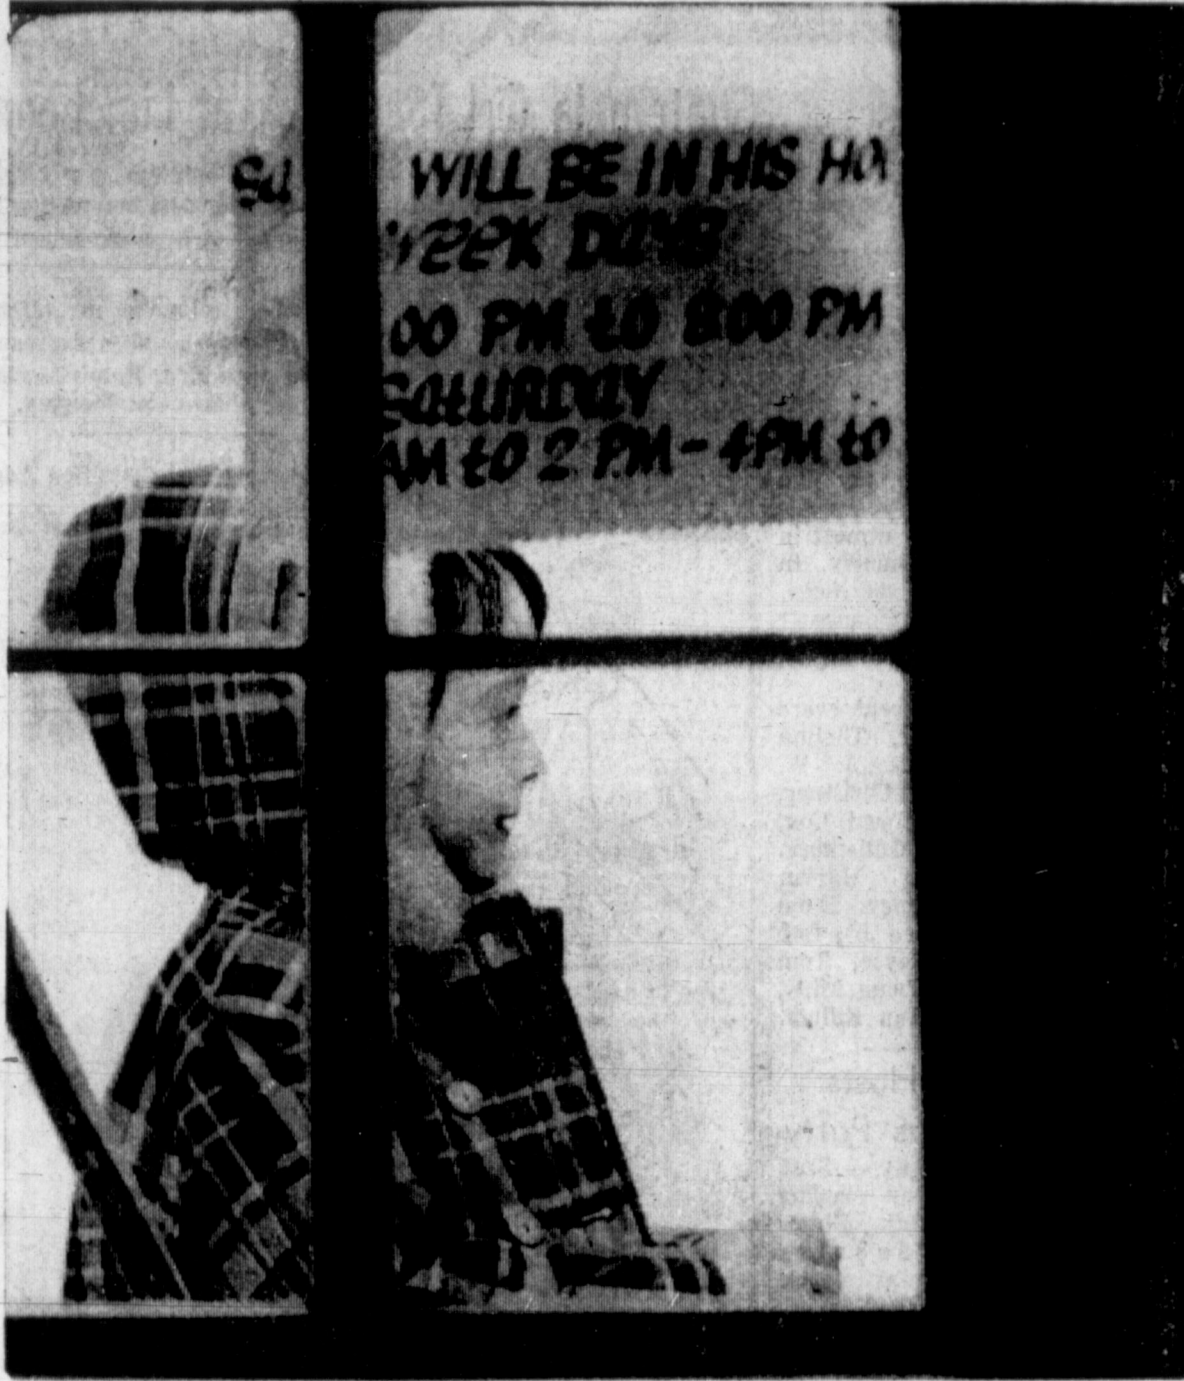

He has pictorially recorded on this page some of the scenes as children look-shopped and made known their wishes to Santa Claus.

With a "Hi, there!," and a listening ear, a jolly "Good-night," and the final "Merry Christmas" from St. Nick, the youngsters are ready to go home for dreams of a happy Christmas morning and wishes fulfilled.

As shoppers walk through the stores the coming days and nights before Christmas, they will come upon more scenes like these.

No explanation of the individual photos is needed. Each tells its own story of what is going on in the minds of children and parent.

WARDS OFF WRINKLES — It isn't enough a woman faces inevitable wrinkling as the years pass. Scientists now point to polluted air and other physical environment states such as sun, wind and steam heat as hastening the process. To meet the need for more adequate skin care to combat this, cosmetic researchers (at Coty) came up with a series of skin care products for 24-hour-skin care to help a woman maintain her beauty climate. At left the outdoors woman applies a refreshant toner. For further protection, she uses a moisture veil (right). Also formulated to ward off external drying effects are a cleanser, conditioner, eye cream and a toner — all based on moisturizing.

VEAL HINT

Moist cookery is advisable for veal chops, since veal contains little surface fat, marbling (streaks of fat through the lean), or moisture. The American Meat Institute suggests broiling veal in liquid to prevent it from drying out and to allow the seasonings to mellow.

Dear Abby.... What Cures Some Could Kill Others

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of marriage, Fenwick told me he wanted a divorce. (I knew he'd been running around on me, but then, nobody is perfect.) He said he was "in love" with a woman he'd met at work. (She is 44 and divorced. Fenwick is 36!) I told him I wanted to meet her, and if I thought she was good enough for him, I'd sign the papers. Well, I met her, and she was worse than I had expected. I just calmly told Fenwick that I wouldn't sign any papers to free him so he could marry that. I didn't stop him from seeing her. I just let the affair burn itself out. In six months it was dead as a dodo. Now Fenwick is thanking me for being so wise and sensible. Maybe other women with the same problem can use my formula.

Well, Nellie has been having trouble with her husband and she's driving us crazy with telephone calls night and day, asking what she should do. It seems her husband wants a divorce because of another woman, and Nellie refuses to give him one. The whole story is only HER side of it. No one has heard her husband's side of it. Anyway, Nellie tells her troubles to everyone who will listen, and she asks for advice. It's disgusting. We told her a year ago that she was foolish for trying to hang on to a man who didn't want her, but she got hysterical. I suggested she talk to her clergyman. She did, and he told her to let her husband go. We want to help her. What should we do?

TIED HANDS
DEAR TIED: Nellie doesn't really want "advice." She is searching for someone (anyone!) who will support her decision to hang on to her husband. She needs an impartial counselor. But even he can't help her if she refuses to listen.

NOT SO DUMB
DEAR NOT: What will cure some patients will kill others. All generalizations are worthless, including this one.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column. I am 24, and am engaged to be married to a man I've known about a year. We know each other quite well and have told each other about our pasts and things like that. But there is one thing he does not know about me. Six years ago I had my nose "bobbied." Large noses run in my family, and I had an enormously large nose. Now it's considerably reduced and is quite pretty, and only those who knew me B.O. (before operation) are aware that I've had one. Should I tell my fiancé about my nose job? I don't think it would be fair to marry him and bear children who might inherit my real nose. Awaiting your reply. I am,

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many thousands of women have had the experience of marrying for "love, only to discover that they were unable to enjoy love-making? Perhaps a few words from a woman who has suffered from "frigidity," and overcame it, would encourage them.

My husband and I were so compatible in other ways, we naturally assumed that we would have a compatible sex life. We didn't. Our sex life was an unhappy limbo. After 15 years of failure, I secretly wondered if I had married the wrong man. He felt humiliated and I felt resentful and "cheated." Frustration drove me to a marriage counselor.

"NOSE JOB"
DEAR NOSE JOB: If he's the right kind of man, it's highly unlikely that you'll lose him by a nose.

The thing that is least understood about "frigidity" is that all the love and good intentions in the world are not enough to get to the root of the problem if it is rooted in ignorance and misinformation. My sessions with the counselor cost me only (See ABBY, Page 25)

DEAR ABBY: I have been meaning to write to you for over a year about my husband's sister. (Let's call her Nellie.)

Togetherness Is a Thing Called Rappaport

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I know "the new math" is an old saw by now, but it's just starting to bug me. My daughter is in the second grade in a new school and apparently is taking a different program from the one she had last year.

I don't see why "the new math" experts can't get together on their terms. Debbie came home today in tears because she hadn't known how to do some problems they had at school. It turned out that the teacher and workbook used the term "less" in subtraction, and she was accustomed to "minus" or "take away." She did not know, for example, what "six LESS two" meant.

The grammar bothers me, too. In drilling her on addition, we have always said, "Two and two ARE four." She insists her teacher says, "Two and two IS four." Isn't this incorrect English?

The teacher also makes a big deal about calling any figure she writes down a "numeral" instead of a "number." What is the difference? — DOUBTING THOMASINA

ANSWER: I couldn't agree with you more. The examples you cite may seem somewhat inconsequential in the total picture of modern math, with its emphasis on discovery, but to differences can be big stumbling blocks.

If representatives from the various "new math" programs, and the textbook publishers who use a combination of systems, would get together and iron out their differences, students, teachers, and parents would all be less confused. With children transferring from one school to another, and schools changing programs or textbooks from one year to another, more uniformity is a pressing need.

The grammatical point you mention bothered me, too, until I began thinking of "two and two" as a collective noun. In new math, "two and two" is another name for four, or the same number as four. It's like saying, "Sears and Roebuck is a mail-order house." In modern math, "number" is an abstract term, and "numeral" is the specific name for the figure representing a particular number, and there's a world of difference, they say.

Fortunately, most teachers are aware that transfer students need extra help in adjusting to their current math program. I hope your daughter is straightened out by now.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of The Pampa News. While we cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Signing herself "Disturbed Coed," she writes, "You recently said that boys who father illegitimate babies suffer as well as the girls they make pregnant. Where did you get your information? Our campus psychiatrist says that he has never heard of an 'unwed' father having a nervous breakdown though he has heard of unwed mothers having them. In addition, studies show that the great increase in illegitimate births may be due to the fact that the American male is not punished for his share in them."

I got my information from several adoption agencies which not only serve unwed mothers but are also often involved with their male partners.

And now I want to know why you want the American male punished for his share in begetting illegal babies.

Except in cases of forcible rape, the American male can't force an illegal baby on us if we don't want an illegal baby. You and your campus psychiatrist, with his suggestions that girls are the choiceless victims of heartless male brutality, sound awfully Victorian to me. This isn't 1830, you know. It is 1965.

Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Togetherness is no empty word to the Rappaports. All five together — Dave and Frances, sons Michael and Errol, and Dave's brother, Mannie — have built a small family business into a firm expected to hit the $12 million mark by mid-'66.

Dave started a neckwear business back in 1935. Mannie joined him shortly after. Later they added men's woven sportswear to the line and then brought men's knitwear into the picture.

Knitwear was the magic wand that turned pretty Frances Rappaport into designer, Francesca of Damon, a name widely known to women who love fine knits. Frances, who has designed her own clothes for years, did not play any active role in the family business until a few years ago. "My only contribution was to tell my husband which items would be big sellers," she said. Here's how she became more involved:

The family firm (Damon Creations) has a financial interest in several knitting mills in Italy and imports some of the most unusual fashion knits in the menswear business.

"I used to go along with Dave on trips to Italy and just shop and see the sights," Frances recalled. "I had to do these things alone because my husband was busy at the mills."

"I found little dressmakers and had things made from my own designs. The Italians are superb artisans."

When the family decided to add women's knits to the firm's other ventures, Frances had no competition for the job of designer.

"We converted one of the women's knitwear mills to handle women's knits and I was off and running on my own branch of the family business."

"I don't mind admitting that I was scared. The large original investment might have gone down the drain. I did only about 15 dresses that first time."

But before she realized what was happening to her, the business became a fulltime job. Frances does no more sightseeing in Italy. Now she works. In her collection for spring '66 she has 110 dresses, a big hop from the original 15.

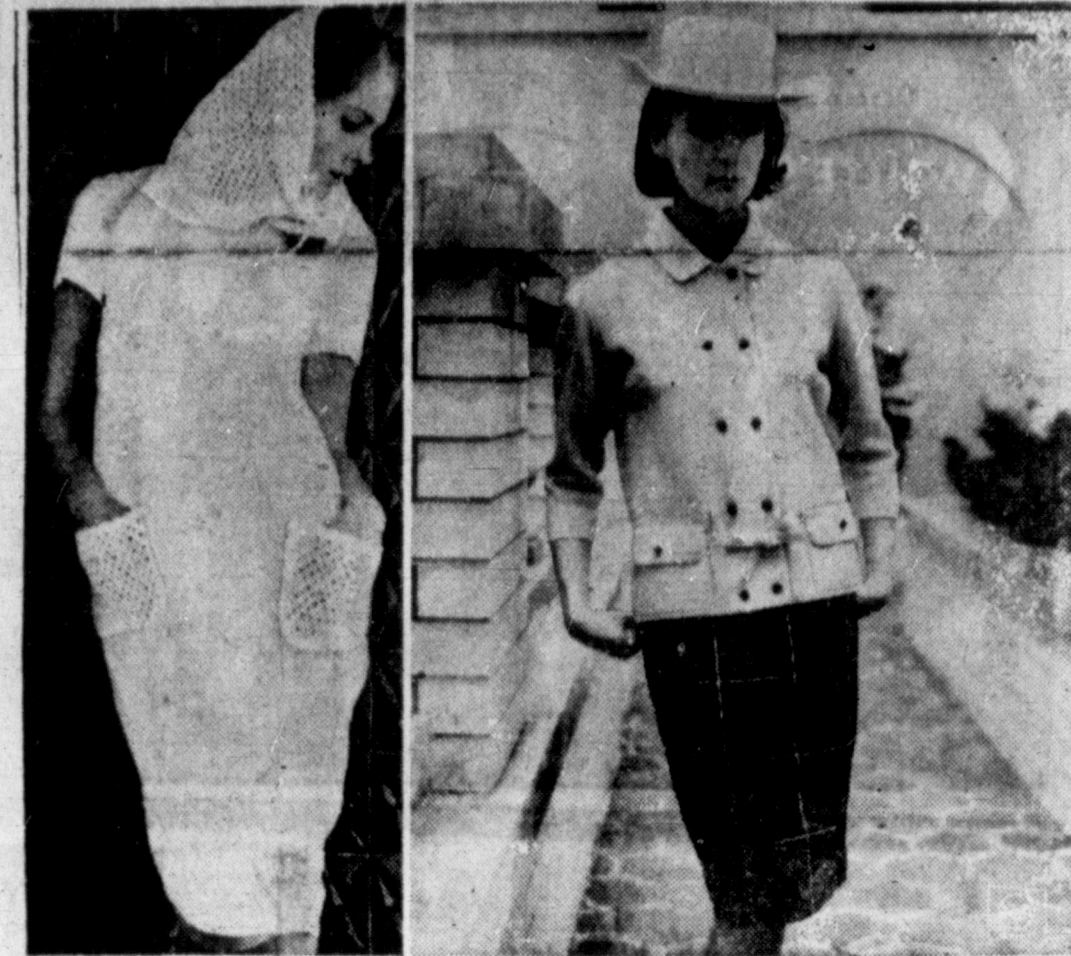

The designs, all done by Frances here in the United States, are made in Italy, where Francesca (which she becomes when she steps onto Italian soil) works closely with her cutters and fitters.

"The sizing is American," she said. "Italian sizes are wrong for the American figure and a dress, especially a knit, can only be beautiful when it fits perfectly."

Any cough that persists for more than two weeks should be investigated by your doctor because it may mean that your acute bronchitis is becoming chronic. Chronic bronchitis is serious because it may progress to an emphysema (difficulty in expelling inhaled air) or bronchiectasis (dead air sacs in the outermost spaces of the lungs). Furthermore, a chronic cough may be due to early tuberculosis or cancer. One of the commonest causes of such a cough in our cities, however is air pollution.

If your cough is moist and sputum is raised, no effort should be made to suppress it. Instead expectorant drugs may be used to help liquefy the sputum and prevent it from blocking the lower air sacs. The dry hack on the other hand should be suppressed with an antitussive drug especially if the cough is exhausting or prevents sleep. Treating the cough (which is only a symptom) is never as important as discovering the disease that is causing it and treating that. This usually involves a thorough physical examination, chest X rays and sputum tests. Finally there is the nervous cough which is more a habit than a cough. This type usually disappears, temporarily at least, when the cougher is busy or absorbed in something that deeply interests him. Q — My doctor says I have a lesion in my right lung. What is a lesion? Is it serious? A — Any damage to tissues (a cut, bruise, fracture, tumor, etc.) is a lesion. A lesion in your lung could be due to pneumonia, tuberculosis, cancer, histoplasmosis or any number of things. The severity and treatment required must be determined by your doctor.

DESIGNED FOR TOGETHERNESS — These designs by Francesca of Damon are typical of the ease of line, unusual stitches and novel touches that run through her American-designed, Italian-made collection. White lacy net dress (left) has patch pockets and a hood which doubles as a shawl. Windowpane plaid suit (right) is in navy, brightly accented with pink. Jacket belt slips through pocket tabs. Knit pullover is in navy with turtle-neck piped in pink.

Francesca has definite ideas about knitwear fashions. All her designs have a handtailored look and none has to be pulled over the head.

Her knits have wonderful little surprise pockets that are handy, yet don't detract a whit from the superb styling. There is a wealth of novelty stitches from lacy to bulky, novelty blends and luscious colors.

One well-known Damon signature is neck trim with a matching pompon on the belt. Zippers, hems and sleeves are hand-sewn to give an expensive look. Yet prices are moderate. And her venture is a financial success.

As Michael, her oldest son, joined his father's branch of the family business when he finished college, Errol, just out of New York University, now works for his mother. Richard, the youngest, helps out during summers.

The Rappaports work long, hard hours on the job, but they enjoy it. They are creative, exciting and enthusiastic people.

I asked Frances what the family talks about when they are home, away from the job.

"Well, we have many common interests," she said, "art, museums, old manuscripts. But they naturally are all a source for design ideas. So the conversation eventually gets around to—guess what?"

I left her feeling that perhaps togetherness isn't always just a word that has become shopworn. In their case, it has been means to be happy while getting rich.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A cough is nature's way of trying to rid your respiratory tract of some irritant. This does not include the so-called polite cough used at times to announce your presence. When a cough succeeds in raising sputum that can be expelled, it is definitely helpful. A coughing fit may even save your life when a foreign body gets lodged in your windpipe. On the other hand, a dry, hacking cough is merely a source of annoyance to you and your close associates. Often when a fit of coughing starts it is hard to stop, just as it is hard to stop an itch by scratching it.

Any cough that persists for more than two weeks should be investigated by your doctor because it may mean that your acute bronchitis is becoming chronic. Chronic bronchitis is serious because it may progress to an emphysema (difficulty in expelling inhaled air) or bronchiectasis (dead air sacs in the outermost spaces of the lungs). Furthermore, a chronic cough may be due to early tuberculosis or cancer. One of the commonest causes of such a cough in our cities, however is air pollution.

Pointer on Wrapping Gifts Is In the Bag

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. mirror. —CAROL

DEAR POLLY — Odd-shaped gifts that come without boxes can be wrapped easily and beautifully if an ordinary grocery paper bag is used. Place the gift in the bag and then stuff the empty spaces with tissue paper to neatly square up the bag. Fasten it shut with gummed cellophane tape and the gift is ready for fancy paper and ribbons. —EMMA JEAN

DEAR POLLY — Does a rattling Venetian blind disturb your sleep? It is really an easy problem to solve if you place a small, damp sponge on each side of the blind between the lowest rung and the window frame. Pleasant dreams. —RUTH

DEAR POLLY — This simple idea has been so helpful to me that I want to pass it on to the other men. To avoid losing your cigarette lighter while engaged in sports or working, wrap several rubber bands around the lighter and it will not slip out of your pocket. —JAMES

DEAR POLLY — So many of our young men are now in the armed services, and this includes two of my own, so I would like to pass on some of my hints for sending packages to them throughout the year as well as at holiday time. So that cookies arrive safely I have found it best to wrap each cookie in a square of waxed paper. Shoe boxes are among the best containers in which to pack fresh cookies. To add interest to boxes, I enclose pads of writing paper, envelopes (stamped when possible), pen, tubes of toothpaste, toilet articles (in unbreakable containers), candy, handkerchiefs, washcloths, socks and T-shirts. I always wrap my box in pages from our local newspaper that have the funnies, sports or editorial news that my sons would like to read. —MRS. L. T.

DEAR POLLY — So many girls who have pierced ears have trouble keeping track of their earrings. I have found that a ribbon, punched with small holes through which I put the wires, works great for keeping them together. This could also be done with a piece of cardboard that would stand up on the dresser, but I prefer the ribbon which can be hung from my

Students Present P-TA Program

Baker P-TA met Thursday with Mrs. H. L. Engle presiding. The devotional was given by Mrs. H. H. Boynton. Second grade students presented the program entitled "Christmas in Our Town." The students sang several songs, which included "Away in a Manger," "Up on the House Top," "Silent Night," "Joy to the World" and "Jingle Bells." Following the program, a business meeting was held. It was reported that Baker has purchased several air conditioners and record players for the class rooms. Mmes. Charles Ingram and D. L. Mackie gave reports on their trip to State Convention which was held in November at Corpus Christi.

The meeting was adjourned with an announcement that Baker P-TA would not meet in January. The next scheduled meeting will be Feb. 10.

Pioneer Tradition of Christmas During Early Days

CHRISTMAS TREES THEN AND NOW — During the Pioneer days the Christmas tree was decorated with home-made decorations, fruit, and candy. This candle-illuminated tree reminds visitors to the Harold Warp

Pioneer Village of Christmas of a hundred years ago. "Skip" Warp, son of the founder, uses a sponge on a stick to extinguish the last flickering flame from the candle that lights up the trees.

NEW YORK — It is startling to know that at one time Christmas was abolished legally in the United States but it is perfectly true. In 1659, the General Court of Massachusetts, under the stern Puritan influence, forbade the keeping of Christmas. But despite a bitter fight on the part of the Puritans to keep and maintain the law, it was repealed in 1681. The Christmas Tree, as we know it, first appeared in Germany in 1600. But it did not become popular until Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, brought the Christmas tree custom with him to England. From England, the custom of the tree spread to the United States. What we know in the U. S. as the traditional Christmas celebration dates back only about a hundred years. The pioneers of this country really had what we would term a bleak Christmas.

Turkey appeared on the board, true, because men went into the woods and shot wild turkey in order to have a feast of sorts. But in the rude sod houses, log cabins and huts of Pioneer America, Christmas was not a gorgeous festival complete with presents, a groaning table and Dickensian cheer.

It was, rather a prayer of gratitude for having survived yet another rigorous year. What foods were wrested from nature were prepared and stored with prayerful hope to reach the next harvest — a major concern of these self-reliant settlers.

In the Midwest, scarcity of wood obliged the homesteaders to gather Buffalo chips; these were dried out and hauled by sledge to be stored in lean-to's. To provide against bitter cold winds and snows that heralded the coming of the Christmas season, the entire family worked hard and in harmony to lay in provisions.

Their "Soddy" (home) and barn were weather-proofed and measures were taken to keep out small animals, birds and rattlers that sought the warmth of the open hearth that provided heat and cheer for its human inhabitants. Most notable of the problems were birdholes — still a problem of the sod house on display at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village at Minden, Nebraska.

After all of the necessities of self-preservation were completed, the pioneer family turned to the holiday preparations. Father fashioned gifts of wood and clay for loved ones; his plucky wife secretly knit mittens, sweaters and scarves while the children slept in the loft. Urged on by the thoughts of the season and the happiness and joy that sparkled in the children's eyes, these parents or yesteryear spent many a night without sleep to complete the simple gifts. A pioneer Christmas was gladness, family cheer and thankfulness for God's benefices. Candles, then as now, played an important part of Christmas. Each family prepared tall tapers made of vegetable fibers and animal fats or beeswax to shine radiantly on the tree that lighted the church. Because of the scarcity of trees, the Christmas tree was no exception. On Christmas Eve in God's home was the only tree available to the Pioneer Family. But what better way to remind them of the birth of Christ, "The Light of the World." Acceptance has always been an obstacle to man's progress. The Christmas tree was no exception. On Christmas Eve in 1851, Rev. Henry Schwan stood before the front door of the little Zion Church in Cleveland, Ohio. As the members of his church gathered, he said: "The Light of the World." ## Ridicule Is Not Way To Influence Husband Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The doctor who wrote "How Not to Kill Your Husband," a book telling wives how to keep their husbands healthy, undoubtedly knows a lot about men's health but I sort of wonder how much he knows about men as husbands.

What makes me wonder is this statement about husbands and exercise: "Those who are sufficiently stubborn or lazy to refuse to do the daily dozen should have their contours ridiculed by their wives until they lock themselves in the bathroom and quietly get on with it."

Any woman who has ever lived happily with a man would have better sense than to use ridicule on her husband. That's one thing a man can't take from a woman and shouldn't have to, even for the sake of health.

Besides, ridiculing a husband's physique would never send him off to start on a daily dozen of exercises.

It might send him to his club

Lefors Club Plans Christmas Caroling

LEFORS (Spl) — Lefors Art and Civic Club met at the Civic Center recently with Mrs. R. H. Barron, president, presiding.

The roll call was given by each member showing a Christmas bow, tie or wrapping.

During the business meeting Christmas caroling was discussed. Members will meet at the Ray Chastain home at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 16. Each member is to bring two gift boxes to be opened during the caroling.

The club Christmas buffet dinner with the husbands as guests will be at 6:30 p.m., Dec. 18, in the Civic Center.

Mrs. Harold Sims and Mrs. R. W. Beck had the program on hobbies, assisted by Mrs. Jack Thacker, Mrs. Carl Hall and Mrs. Floyd Hines.

Mrs. Joe Watson and Mrs. Floyd Hines were hostesses for the evening.

Members and guests present were Mmes. R. H. Barron, R. W. Beck, Ray Chastain, Bud Cumberledge, Carl Hall, Floyd Hines, G. N. Mounger, Bill Mullins, Harold Sims, Jack Thacker, Joe Watson, H. L. Teel, Howard Archer, Vernon Woods and Bill Watson, and Misses Mickey Johnson and Norma Lantz.

for the rest of the evening. It might send him back to the office to catch up on his work.

It might lead to a few gentlemanly remarks about the shape his wife is in. It might make him more than usually susceptible to the pretty compliments of other women more interested in inflating his ego than in deflating his waistline.

It might give him the excuse he has been looking for ("I need the exercise") for going off on a hunting or fishing trip with the boys.

Any wife who knows her husband well could add to the list of possibilities. But any wife would know that the least likely possibility, should she start making fun of her husband's physique, would be that he would obediently start taking the exercises she was unable to sell him on by any other method of persuasion.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

congregation arrived for the services he heard a child's delighted whisper, "Mother, look — the Pastor's got a tree from Heaven." It was Pastor Schwan's first Christmas with his new congregation, having recently arrived in this country, and the tree which the child thought the Pastor had received from Heaven was the first tree to shine at an American Christmas service.

But, instead of heralding cheer it brought a storm of controversy. Objectors were determined it should be the last Christmas tree erected in the American church. However, on Christmas Eve of the following year, after sadly abandoning his wish of having a tree at his Christmas service, he received the present of a new tree from the pastor of one of Cleveland's older churches. Joyfully, Rev. Schwan realized that the tree meant the acceptance of the custom by churchmen far more influential than himself, and once again a Christmas tree shone in Zion Church, and soon the custom spread all through the land.

To commemorate these earlier Christmas trees, the Harold W. Pioneer Village at Minden, Nebraska, places a tree decorated like one of a century ago in the Village Church at Christmas time. Resplendent with home-made decorations, fruit and candy, the candle-illuminated tree reminds visitors of Christmas as it was celebrated by the pioneers of more than a hundred years ago, with church elders standing ready to extinguish the last flickering candle.

In addition to the Christmas tree, music and carols, long banned as a part of the church services by city dwellers, were sung by settlers and homesteaders. Out on the prairies and plains, Christmas Eve became a night of long programs of "pieces" and carols, and artistically staged pageants. These affairs helped make caroling the popular holiday pastime it is today, just as The Minden Carols can be heard while viewing the Christmas tree of a century ago in the Pioneer Village Church in South Central Nebraska.

In Puritan New England, most newcomers frowned upon the Christmas Day celebration with rich foods, such as mince pies, and plum puddings. As a result, it was not until the last century that Christmas dinners became a general custom in that region. But in the South, especially Virginia, it was a different story.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST From the Editorial Mill

THE CITY HALL cat has been out of pocket most of the past week. He has been scampering all over Pampa and West and Central Texas hunting for an experienced newspaper reporter to relieve a man who hopes to move into the city editorship. . . . Seems like there is a scarcity of police and court house reporters. . . . As George Gobel used to say on television — you can't hardly find 'em no more. . . . So, if you know of someone who can qualify for a reporter's job, tell him you know where there's a vacancy. . . . Speaking of newspapermen, Ron Cross, the sports editor, says there is no truth to the rumor that he is being considered along with Joe Kerbel and Eural Ramsey for that football coaching job at Oklahoma U. . . . That sounds a little bit like the author of this space being considered as a candidate for Gray County judge. . . . It's a pretty fair salary now, but look what a cut in pay you would have to take if you transferred to another county.

PAUL M. BRUCE, proprietor of Bruce Nurseries over there near Alareed is chicken-hearted. . . . Or, in this instance, you probably have to call him squirrel-hearted. . . . Mr. Bruce has some giant pecan trees on his place. . . . Squirrels from all over the surrounding countryside make a convention site of the pecan orchard and use the trees to obtain their winter supplies of food. . . . There are about 30 pecan-bearing trees the squirrels use for their commissary. . . . Some of the trees, planted back in 1924, are 50 feet tall with a spread of 65 feet and trunks seven feet around. . . . Last year, Bruce says, the squirrels took the entire crop. . . . This year, he has been able to salvage a few pecans for his own use. . . . Some suggested that he blast the squirrels out of the trees for squirrel pie. . . . He has been given many methods on how to eradicate the foxy fox squirrels. . . . But he hasn't used any of the suggestions. . . . "I just can't kill 'em," says Bruce, "they're too doggone cute." . . . But, the nurseryman adds that the squirrels bury some of the pecans around nearby McClellan Creek. . . . The thefting isn't a total loss because the squirrels forget where they stored them and new pecan trees will spring up.

PAMPANS ARE going to be in for a real treat at 6:30 p.m. Thursday when the Chamber of Commerce and Truteens Service League revives the one-time custom of a musical production along with the annual lighting of Pampa's Nativity scenes. . . . The solemn and beautiful Christmas program was started back in 1947 and was first staged on the Gray County Court House lawn. . . . As scenes were added each year the affair was moved to Central Park. . . . It is not too generally known that the Nativity Scenes are genuine oil paintings contributed in the first years by Pampa artists. . . . Among the painters who made the scenes possible were Charles Thomas, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Florence Jackson, Mrs. Claudine Vale, Roger Long and the late Homer Shearer. . . . They were the key artists but were assisted by others. . . . Construction of the scenes was done by M. V. and Verl Ward, both deceased, and Harry and Jim Garrett. . . . The original project was coordinated by Mrs. Lynn Boyd and E. O. Wedgeworth of the chamber of commerce. . . . For the past several years the musical production for the Nativity Scenes lighting had been dropped. . . . But, this year there is to be a revival of the custom with choirs, narrators and trumpeters from the senior and junior high schools. . . . Appropriate Christmas music will be attended to each scene as the lights are turned on. . . . It should be a fine entertainment, professionally produced and one well worth turning out to enjoy.

INFORMATION coming across the desk in the past few days jogged our memory that the most popular Christmas gifts other than dolls for the girls, are bicycles for the boys. . . . Santa may have to get him a bigger sleigh, or at least get some help for Donder, Blitzen & Co. to help him deliver the nearly 225,000 tons of bikes he will be placing under Christmas trees this year. . . . Editor's note to Santa: Skip the bike, we have one. . . . We also have a book. —DFD

THE GUEST PEN: Re: Luci B. and L.B.J.

By D. R. SEGAL
Editor, Brownsville Herald
I suspect Luci B. has been victimized by the kind of life her Pa leads. . . . Our Leader's younger daughter was ready to announce her betrothal to a nice young fellow from Waukegan, Ill. Luci is 18, which in her native Texas is not considered indecently young for matrimony. This young fellow from Waukegan might not have been able to set up in the kind of place she's living in now, but a young couple wouldn't need 126 rooms and McGeorge Bundy anyway. They might even could do without Bill Moyers for a spell. . . . So it couldn't have been that. He seemed like just the sort of kid Luci might settle down with and raise a chain of tv stations. . . . As I said, I suspect Luci is just a victim of a habit her Pa picked up 35 years ago when FDR picked him as a youngster who'd either reach the stars or figure a way to get them down to where he could grab 'em. . . . Our Leader is a swapper, also known as a compromiser, although that is a harsh term for H. He's got it bred into his muscle and bone. When Luci asked him could she marry this boy from Waukegan, she'd been well-advised to be prepared to do some trading. Like: "Pa, I know a boy in Illinois where that funny little Mr. Stevenson came from, and Pa, he is wonderful. I think maybe I could trade you a one-third undivided interest in my shares in the LBJ Corp. for your consent." "Make that 40 percent and half the issues of the proposed union." "Pa, you can't have half the kids, but I'll give you the pick of the litter if you finance our honeymoon by sending us on a diplomatic mission in Air Force One to the Riviera." "Luci, your old Pa is proud of you, child. You got a deal." Tears, embraces, and possibly a notarized document or two. Done! I'm not trying to break Dear Abby's rice bowl, but I feel certain I could have given Luci some good advice if she'd just asked. . . . A thought for the day—American theologian Jonathan Edwards said: "I assert nothing comes to pass without a cause."

Feeling Sorry for Meg, Tony? POSH is Answer
NEW YORK (NEA) — It is still too early to tell exactly. But according to preliminary estimates in London, Princess Margaret's visit to the United States has cost somewhere between $100,000 and $500,000.

That is not really a lot of money, considering that the princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, traveled around by special plane with an entourage of two maids, two menservants, two secretaries, a detective and a hairdresser.

In fact, the princess cut costs everywhere — staying with friends wherever possible, doing with only one detective, obliging her hairdresser to travel with the royal party instead of in another special plane, etc.

But, regardless of these economies, the Snowdons seem to be in a lot of hot water at home over the expense of their trip. The British press and members of Parliament on both the left-wing and Conservative sides are in high outrage regarding the matter, describing the visit as ostentatious, calling the expense fantastic, and demanding a full accounting of all the items on the bill.

Well, we were very sorry to hear the news, and feel it only right that American citizens begin at once to contribute their dollars to help defray the costs.

If there is any one particular thing we expect from royalty, it is that they live like kings. And to find that they cannot leave the banquet table without a signed voucher — as though it were just another four-course businessmen's luncheon — well, it is a terrible blow to the hope for a better tomorrow.

Not that we have any desire to turn this nation into a monarchy. Quite the contrary. It is hard enough to figure out what elected officials are thinking about. But to have your country run by congenial administrators would doubtless be insufferable.

Besides, it appears that most of the world's royalty are somehow related to one another.

There is no sense we can see in taking on the genealogy of European ruling families when it is so difficult just to keep the American nobility straight.

Which is which, and which was married to Gloria Swanson is hard enough. But in addition, we can read through a complete report of a reception and not remember a minute later whether the guest list included Nina Ricci in a gown by Pucci, or Mrs. Guest in a dress by Ricci. And if so, then who are Gucci, Cucci, and Buccellati?

Nevertheless, there is a great deal to be said for having a set of real-life royalty on loan every once in awhile. To cite just a few reasons, a visiting princess traveling via special plane with a personal entourage of 10: —Shows what a family can accomplish by togetherness, hard work and the right connections in the course of 900 years. —Reverses the gold flow. —Gives the lady fashion writers something to think about while they write about fashions. —Proves by unquestioned lineage back to the Dark Ages and earlier that the human race has survived without always having had 38-hour underarm protection.

Under the circumstances, we feel that Americans ought to take up their end of the bargain as soon as possible. And so, we are organizing a citizens' voluntary Pull Out the Snowdons from Hock, fund.

Just make out your contribution to POSH and send it to us in care of this newspaper. If possible, enclose a little cheery message of encouragement for Meg and Tony.

We'll see to it that everything is forwarded to the proper destination, and that the names of all donors are inscribed in the book of patrons at Kensington Gate.

Nasser Confering with Soviet Officers, OAU Members To Stir Up Explosive Guerrilla War in Rhodesia

By ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Gamal Nasser and Russia are in the process of setting up the machinery to arm and supply African attacks on the Rhodesian government of Sir Ian Smith.

At the very time Nasser is vigorously pressing the U.S. to provide him with new large stocks of surplus grain and other commodities, the UAR ruler is secretly conferring with high-ranking Soviet officers and members of the Organization of African Unity to instigate and wage extensive guerrilla war in Rhodesia.

Grimly indicative of the sinister nature and import of these closely-guarded Cairo meetings is the influential status of the Russians and Africans taking part in them.

The Soviet group, headed by Marshal Andrei Grechko, first deputy defense minister, commander of Air Marshal Rudenko, deputy air force commander, Admiral Sergeyev, top naval chief, and Colonel General Mikhail Nikitin, reputed new military intelligence commander.

Foremost among the Africans are Flexi Onaha, Uganda defense minister and militant advocate of the use of armed forces against Rhodesia, and the leading military lieutenants of Kenya President Kenyatta, chairman of the Organization of African Unity.

Significantly, the Russian group is exactly the same that visited Hanoi shortly before Communist Party Secretary Brezhnev went there early this year. Following these trips it was announced the Soviet was increasing its military aid to North Viet Nam, including ground-to-air (SAM) missiles — which so far have taken a toll of eight U.S. planes.

It has also been ascertained that the Soviet group in Cairo is in direct contact with Kenyatta and Diallo Telli, secretary-general of the OAU.

Malcolm MacDonald, special British representative in East and Central Africa, following a series of talks with Kenyatta has informed Prime Minister Wilson that Kenyatta and Telli are negotiating with the Russian officers to provide arms for African "liberation forces."

MORE OF SAME — Nasser's conspiring with Moscow to organize and arm guerrilla warfare in Rhodesia is a repeat of what they did in the strife-torn Belgian Congo in 1964.

At that time, when the UAR was getting more than $100 million a year in surplus U.S. food under a three-year agreement with President Kennedy, Nasser was transshipping large quantities of weapons and munitions to the Communist-led rebels in the Congo. The arms were flown from Russia to UAR bases, where they were stored for delivery, largely via the Sudan, to the rebels.

In the attacks now being secretly planned in Cairo against the Rhodesian government, Beofre 1966 makes its bow you'll be able to put a document or letter in a Xerox copying machine in New York and within seconds someone can take a facsimile of it off a Xerox machine in Chicago, Detroit or Louisville.

That's the latest wonder to be announced by the fabulous firm that has already revolutionized business procedures. As an experiment Xerox has established a network linking 10 company installations over an area spanning one-third of the continent. The so-called LDX system consists of a Scanner, Printer and transmission link. When a document is fed into the Scanner, its image is converted into electrical signals for transmission via telephone lines, radio relay or coaxial cable. When the signals have been received they are reconverted and the document reproduced by conventional Xerography. Anything written, typed or drawn in any length can be sent by this new method. Its possibilities are endless.

Between the Bookends

A RADICAL'S PLACE IN SOCIETY

A source of inspiration to libertarians for many years, the late Albert Jay Nock represents an excellent case study of the "typical" individualist. Not typical in the sense that his traits were the traits of all individualists; but rather that his groping to understand himself and his place in the world is typical of the general search required to find oneself.

When Nock died in 1945, he was probably the number one exponent of the pure individualist above society, totally uncompromising with regard to allowing the state the moral right to control any part of the individual's life. But he was not born with this understanding; it evolved steadily and consistently throughout his 75 years. The story of this development is told in "The Mind and Art of Albert Jay Nock" by Robert M. Crunden (Regency Co., 114 W. Illinois St., Chicago 10, Ill., $4.95). This book is a more biographical treatment of Nock's intellectual development than is his own "Memoirs of a Superfluous Man."

His number one intellectual ancestor was Thomas Jefferson. Today, anyone — with practically any philosophy — can claim to be a "Jeffersonian." But to Nock it meant religious and economic freedom, decentralization of government, thrift, agrarian virtues, educational development, etc. But, just as today, all of these ends can be approached through various different means.

And in his earlier days, to Albert Jay Nock, the means to the end was the use of the state. He saw the state as the provider of education, just as Jefferson had felt that the state alone could assure educational opportunity.

But during the first World War, Nock's attitude matured rapidly. Already in his late forties, he was by no means too old to learn. And what he learned was the disaster that inevitably follows attempts to use the state to force others to live the good life. The first World War was an attempt to bring Americanized peace to another part of the world — a part that would fight with or without us. And it failed. In that experience, Nock realized the whole futility of coercive action.

As Crunden puts it: "While Nock still idolized Jefferson and shared his goal of the good life, he displayed a mature skepticism about things which had been taken for granted, and a pessimism about the possibility of improvement. The war had taught Nock and men like him the undesirability of attempting to meddle in the affairs of others. Henceforth they concentrated on self-improvement as the only way to obtain a brighter future. Society and its leaders could point the way to improvement, could educate and lead, but the use of force was self-defeating and brought evil both to the coerced and the coerced. The lesson of Woodrow Wilson, that evil could not be used to achieve good, had been painfully learned. Nock never forgot it, and memory of it haunted his writings throughout the rest of his career."

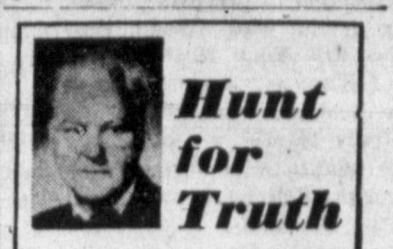

Thus, the individualist was joined with the libertarian.

FREEDOM AND PREJUDICE
The campaign against racial and religious prejudice is in the news every day. It has become a cause to which thousands of people, often sincere and well-intentioned, are literally dedicating their lives. Their passions, fears and hopes receive a nation-wide hearing.

Every sensible American deplores prejudice against persons simply because they belong to a particular race or attend a particular church. Whatever may have been true in the past, it is obvious that now we are in no danger of allowing prejudice to do its damage without the strongest kind of protest and opposition.

Instead, a very different danger now confronts us. It is the danger that good Americans, rejecting prejudice, sympathizing with the hopes of minority groups for betterment, will suspend their judgment and common sense on this issue. Still worse, they may become afraid to speak out on it except to echo irresponsible agitators.

Prejudice is evil because it denies the individual a fair evaluation based on his own ability and personality rather than color or creed. Tyranny is still more evil because it crushes individuality not only for some, but for all. In seeking to stamp out prejudice, we dare not risk putting tyranny in its place.

The history of Nazi Germany and Communist Russia shows that when freedom is lost, minority groups suffer most of all.

Laws which would control the private, peaceful, non-criminal behavior of men and women are tyrannical even if passed for the ostensible purpose of combating prejudice. Such laws are welcome tools in the hands of would-be architects of unlimited government power.

Lewenthal Discovers Music of Alkan

By JOAN CROSBY
NEW YORK (NEA) — The Man From A.L.K.A.N., Raymond Lewenthal, has discovered that a brilliant technique and understanding of music is not enough for a concert pianist today.

A degree of skill as underpover agent helps, too.

One of the most exciting classical albums of this past year was Lewenthal's recording, on RCA Victor, of the extraordinary, flamboyant and prophetic music of Alkan, a 19th-century French composer. In order to make the recording, Lewenthal spent more time researching Alkan's music than The Man From U.N.C.L.E. has ever spent on a case.

"Music is a hobby as well as a profession," the tall, dark Texan said. "I have always been interested in reading through the literature on music.

I came across Alkan's name in books, and he was mentioned glowingly. But it was extremely difficult to find his music.

"I don't believe in playing any composer until I know all of his music. How can you know a composer's style, his intent, until you are familiar with all his compositions?"

Alkan has now been met and conquered (Lewenthal has published editions of Alkan's music, and is working on a biography of the composer, in addition to the recording), and Lewenthal has turned his attention to Liszt.

"Chopin has been carefully investigated. Liszt has not. There is much of his that is unpublished. Performers have a tendency to play what they have heard," he says, explaining why pianists are not out researching their own composers. "It is a great task to look at a piece of music for the first time and decide the composer's intentions. With Alkan, it is not enough just to look at his piece. You must also know his life.

"Musicians are slow to take things up," he continued. "The public grasps music much quicker, is more willing and open-minded than musicians."

Lewenthal, who plans to continue his research into neglected music and composers, says he is not forsaking the established master-pieces. He will continue to play these, along with the more obscure music. "But there are many who play these pieces, and very well."

THE BEST RECORD ALBUMS BEST BUYS — "Robert Goulet on Broadway" (RCA Victor) finds the singer in the best voice he has been in for a long time; in "My Name is Alkan" (Warner Brothers), Allan Sherman spoofs Barbra Strie-sand (on the cover), and avant garde theater, Peyton Place, commercials and dentists on the inside; exciting Afro-samba sounds from Brazilian singer Wilson Simonal (Capitol); lush classical guitar sounds in "Juan Serano Plays Popular Music of Spain and the Old World" (RCA Victor); an exceptionally good instrumental album in "The Don Shirley Trio — Water Boy" (Columbia); dramatic French (and very adult) songs from Jacques Brel (Reprise); a fine "Tales of Hoffmann" with Nicola Gedda, Gianna D'Angelo, Elizabeth Schwartzkopf, Victoria de los Angeles, George London (Angel); Leonard Pennington playing "The Debussy Preludes" (RCA Victor).

OTHER GOOD VOCAL ALBUMS — "Caymmi and the Girls from Bahia" (Warner Brothers); "Ella (Fitzgerald) in Hamburg" (Verve); "Roots — Voices Inc., Anthology of Negro Music in America" (Columbia); "Gals and Pals" (Fontana); "The Great Gospel Voice of Marion Williams" (Epic); "The Sing-Along World of Trini Lopez" (Reprise); "The Steve Lawrence Show" (Columbia).

OTHER GOOD INSTRUMENTAL ALBUMS — "New Sound of Tal Alburns — 'New Sounds of Brazil — The Piano of Joao Donato'" (RCA Victor); "The Ferrante and Teicher Concert" (United Artists); "A Remembered Love — Bill Pursell" (Columbia).

OTHER GOOD CLASSICAL ALBUMS — "The Four Schumann Symphonies — Leonard Bernstein and N. Y. Philharmonic" (Columbia); "Keyboard Giants of the Past — Vol. 2" (RCA Victor); "Hansel and Gretel (in English) with Sadler's Wells Opera Company" (Capitol); "Highlights from La Boheme with Mirella Freni and Nicolai Gedda" (Angel); "French Music for the Harp — Annie Challen" (Angel).

Television in Review

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The anatomy of television failure was revealed again Friday night in the back-to-back beaming of two of this season's dismal flops — "Camp Runamuck" and "Hank."

Both series have consistently fallen into the bottom 15 of all prime time programs in the Nielsen ratings.

Why?

They are peopled by attractive enough characters. The color is stunning. The NBC time slots — "Runamuck" at 7:30 p.m., and "Hank" at 8 p.m. (EST) — are early enough to catch the teen-age audience at which they are obviously aimed, and the competition isn't all that rough with "The Wild, Wild West" on CBS and "The Flintstones" and "Tummy" on ABC.

Even the premises of the shows aren't too far off target by today's standards.

"Runamuck" is based on the war of the sexes — men counselors in a boys' camp versus women counselors in a nearby girls' camp. But the clash doesn't work for "Runamuck" like it did for Lucy and Desi.

"Hank" is a story of a college drop-in, a young hustler who attends classes without enrolling, taken from the true life adventures of one of its creators. But it is entirely improbable on television.

Neither actors nor directors can be blamed for the low ratings of both situation comedies. The anatomy of these two failures can be traced unerringly to the creators, producers and writers. They are filled with hokey sight gags, poorly executed slapstick and over-worked situations.

Critics have rapped both shows, or worse, ignored them altogether. But in fairness to the cast, in addition to competent craftsmen and technicians the shows failed because they never should have

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary

The Red Cross Board will meet Tuesday morning at the Coronado Inn for their regular monthly meeting. Wes Langham will be in charge of the meeting and he urges all directors and chairman to be present at the meeting. The program will be on Services to the Military.

Ted Gikas has completed his Advanced First Aid Class at Highland General Hospital with the LVN ladies completing the course. The following received their certificates and were able to wear their Emergency First Aid Pins: Mrs. Mary Audleman, Lefors, Texas, Mrs. Esther Rowley and Mrs. Norene Cobb from Canadian, Mrs. Linda Ethredge, Evelyn Reger, Mrs. Imogene Murrell, Louella Hall, and Doris L. Heller, from Pampa and Joyce Martin, from Shamrock.

gave 22 boxes and Sam Houston 18, Baker, 20 and Travis 24—all together our school children have packed over 300 Friendship boxes.

There will be a capping service for the Volunteer Friday afternoon in the City Club Rooms with Miss Vermell Meador RN from Highland General capping the girls. Mrs. Jack Foster who has worked with the girls for many years will give the informal talk for the capping service. The following are the new girls who have their 10 hours earned before they are capped: Karen White, Karen Stanley, Renda Herring, Evelyn Alerrano, Wanetta Bayless, and Cindy Scott. All of the Volunteers are to come in their blue and white uniforms for the capping service.

The Girls Scout Troop 14, with Mrs. E. A. McLennan are working on the hand puppets for the children who are hospitalized in the hospitals in Pampa. This troop of Cadet Girls Scouts are giving their time to assist Red Cross with the important program. Thanks girls!

The Gift boxes that go to Vietnam school children have come into our office all week. These boxes are filled with school and health items such as pencils, soap, crayons, toothpaste and tooth brush and a gift for a boy or girl. The Red Cross workers tell us that the children are delighted with the boxes and they will treasure the items for many months. The things that our children take for granted as everyday items, the children of Vietnam will be over joyed with as they do not have the necessities of everyday things like soap and tooth paste. Woodrow Wilson school sent 16 boxes, Austin, 32, St. Vincents de Paul

AMBUSH CASUALTIES — American survivors of a battle with Viet Cong units on a rubber plantation 35 miles from Saigon and dead and wounded stretched out on a jungle road. Some Americans were said to have used their rifles as clubs after exhausting ammunition in the close-quarters struggle.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I've heard that a check made out to cash or to yourself is not sufficient to establish a deductible expense. Is that right?

A — Generally speaking, that is correct. To substantiate a deductible expense your records must indicate, among other things, the purpose of the expense, and to whom paid, as well as the amount.

Q — I just got my hunting license. Will this be deductible?

A — No, hunting licenses are not deductible.

Q — I'm partially disabled and find it difficult to get around. I have a notice to come into your office for an audit of my return. Would it be possible to mail my records in or to have your agent come here?

A — Contact your local IRS office and explain your situation. Most likely you will be able to send the necessary records to your district office. If that is not feasible, other arrangements can be made that will be mutually convenient.

Q — I've got a dispute going with my local Internal Revenue office over last year's return. A friend told me that the taxpayer gets a better break in these disputes if he waits until the case gets into the courts. Is that true?

A — The fact that a dispute gets into the courts does not alter the position of the Internal Revenue Service. What may happen, however, is that a taxpayer waits until he gets to court before he produces all pertinent information on his tax matters and the final outcome may give the appearance that a better settlement is reached. The truth of the matter is that if this information had been presented during the initial audit of the return the matter could have been settled at that stage.

Q — How can I get a copy of the 1965 tax rates? I want to do a rough calculation on what I will owe this year.

A — As usual, a copy of the 1965 tax rates and the necessary forms will be mailed to taxpayers around the first of the year. However, you may obtain a copy of these tax rates now by writing your local IRS office.

MASS PLANNED
VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI will celebrate a Christmas Day Mass in St. Peter's Basilica, the Vatican said Saturday. It was expected that thousands of faithful would attend the rite in the basilica.
