

Fund Drive Slated for Pampa Youth

By RAY RODGERS JR.
On August 14, 1965, a young, healthy Pampa High School senior had everything to be happy for. Within a month he would be starting his final year in school and planned to play football on the Pampa Harvesters.

That evening he was invited to go along on a fishing trip with a school friend. Little did he know that within a few hours he would be lying helpless along a deserted road, 15 miles from a small western Oklahoma town, his neck broken and paralyzed from his neck down. This happened to Tommy McDonald, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDonald, 2134 N. Nelson.

All dreams of the future were shattered in the fraction of a second early on the morning of August 15. Tommy was rushed to St. Anthony's Hospital in Oklahoma City where he lay for almost three months, unable to move any portion of his body below his neck. If he lived he might not be able to walk again. He did live.

But there was and there still is hope that young Tommy will again walk. Hope, that the nightmare will some day be over and he can again become a normal youth.

HELP WANTED — Able to sit up in a wheel chair and raise his right hand, Tommy McDonald looks over a brochure from the Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Center at Gonzales, with Charlsy Gustin, Charlsy is president of the Tru Teens Service Club of Pampa that has launched a drive to raise money for Tommy's 70 day stay in the rehabilitation center. The amount needed is $2,100.

Cardinal Spellman Leads Last Ditch Stockpile Fight

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York led a last-minute Ecumenical Council's condemnation of nuclear stockpiling.

With nine other archbishops, three of whom also are American, Cardinal Spellman circulated a letter saying such condemnation "will certainly furt the cause of freedom in the world."

Lawrence Joseph Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore joined in circulating the letter, but later changed his mind and voted for the condemnation. He explained that he had joined the campaign hurriedly and had not had time to read the circular.

"The possession of nuclear arms had preserved freedom for a very large portion of the world," the letter said and urged the bishops to vote down the condemnation which some U.S. prelates felt was an attack on American nuclear policy.

The letter was circulated Saturday shortly before the council voted on the statement. Results of the vote were not announced, but council sources doubted that the lobbying campaign was sufficient to defeat the measure which appeared to have the support of most prelates. The statement does not mention the United States by name. It condemns in general terms the concept of nuclear threats to prevent wars.

But many national hierarchies were thrown into confusion because they gathered that the U.S. hierarchy as a whole was against the decree. This was because Cardinal Spellman, president of the U.S. Bishops' Conference, and conference secretary Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., both signed.

The statement on nuclear arms was in the council's Church in the Modern World decree, on which the prelates in St. Peter's Basilica took 12 votes. Results of only five were announced, and they did not include the ballots on the warfare section nor on a controversial birth control declaration.

The two most significant ballots on which results were announced were: —2,103-to-131 approving a condemnation of atheism which, however, does not mention Communism by name. —2,166-to-698 approving a section which condemns all discrimination based on race, color, sex, social status or religion.

Council experts believed that the other parts had also passed, including the birth control passage which binds all Catholics to observe the church's traditional ban against artificial birth control while leaving the door open to Pope Paul VI to possibly ease the restrictions.

Entries Pouring In For Severinsen Band Contest

The Doc Severinsen National Stage Band Contest to be held in Pampa next Feb. 5, already has drawn 25 entries and the full quota of 32 bands is expected to be filled before the first of the new year.

The contest will be a one-day affair to be climaxed with a concert in the High School Field House on the evening of Feb. 5. The program will feature Severinsen with the Pampa High School Concert Band, The West Texas State University Stage Band, and Doc Severinsen with his All-Stars from the NBC Tonight Show.

The one-day affair will bring the greatest array of top talent ever presented in this section of the country and a sellout crowd is expected for the concert where awards will be presented to the winners in the various stage band divisions. Severinsen will present the awards.

Organizational work now is underway for the handling of the many details involved in the band contest, according to Harry Vanderpool, general chairman of the Contest Committee.

The Festival is being sponsored jointly by The Pampa Chamber of Commerce and The Pampa Band Parents Association. Tickets will go on sale soon after the first of the year.

Search Underway For Airline Crash Victims

NORTH SALEM, N.Y. (UPI) — Two giant commercial airliners collided in the air over a suburb of New York City Saturday night, sending one of them plunging to a fiery crash on a mountain. The other limped to safety at an airport with one wing partially sheared off.

State Trooper J. P. Christian reported from the crash scene on Hunt Mountain in North Salem that eight to 10 bodies were believed to be in the charred wreckage of the crashed plane, an Eastern Airlines Constellation.

Some 40 injured, some of them walking, were rushed to hospitals in Danbury, Conn.; Brewster, N.Y. and Mt. Kisco, N.Y.

Was U.S. Tipped Off to Commies Bombing Plot?

SAIGON (UPI) — American authorities were reported Saturday night to have received an advance tip from Vietnamese intelligence on the terrorist bombing of a U.S. military billet and dispensary that killed 10 persons and wounded more than 175 others Saturday.

A Vietnamese police source said Vietnamese intelligence agents learned of the Communist plan to bomb the Metropole bachelor enlisted men's quarters and informed American authorities of the plot 10 days ago both verbally and by secret memorandum.

An American spokesman denied the report, saying "We had no indication the billet would be bombed." He said there were dozens of warnings about planned raids and bombings against U.S. facilities each week but most of them turned out to be "crank" reports.

One American was killed and 72 injured in the early morning blast that ripped through the billet and dispensary and shattered a 200-yard strip of Vietnamese homes and shops across the street.

Most Casualties Civilians — A New Zealand soldier was killed and three others wounded, the rest of the casualties were Vietnamese civilians—many of them women and children, asleep in their homes across the street from the seven-story American billet building.

In total casualties, the blast was the worst of seven major terrorist explosions that have been aimed at American targets in the Saigon area. Second worst was the June 26

Annual Top O' Texas Rodeo Slated in July

The Top O' Texas Rodeo, usually held during the month of August, has been scheduled next year for July 27-30, according to Bill Tidwell, president of the association.

It was necessary to change the dates in order to make satisfactory contracts with producers and to get away from the late August dates that would conflict with other rodeos in the area and local school openings, Tidwell stated.

Stock producers for the 1966 rodeo will again be The Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., who have produced the Pampa rodeo since it went professional five years ago.

The new rodeo dates were arrived at after discussion with local business leaders and stock producers. Directors stated they believe the new dates will be conducive to better attendance and more favorable weather conditions for outside sports events.

The rodeo grounds are now being put in shape for the 1966 rodeo and every effort is being made to contract for some of the top special attractions available for rodeo entertainment.

Committee chairmen have been appointed to handle the various activities involved as follows: Rodeo Events Committee, Bill Tidwell; Dances, Ted Eads; Decorations, Holly Gray; First Aid, Dr. M. C. Overton Jr.; Annual Operations, Wiley Reynolds and Jake Osborne; Main tenance, Clyde Organ and Jake Osborne; Publicity and Advertising, E. O. Wedgeworth; Legal Advice, Jimmy Thompson; Parking, Rufe Jordan; Kid's Pony Show, Tinnie Reynolds and Bill McIntire; Quarter Horse Show, Elmer Fisher and Ed Vincent; Ticket Sales, Wiley Reynolds and Warren Halse; Auditor, John Schoolfield; Grand Entry, John Spearman and Bill McIntire; Calf Scramble, Lee Fraser and Foster Whaley; Parade, Tinnie Reynolds and Bill McIntire, and Construction, Jake Osborne.

The constellation, a four-engine, propeller-driven shuttle plane en route from Boston to Newark, N.J., broke in two and went up in flames as it struck the ground in an open field on the sloping mountain.

Daniel Williamson, 15, who witnessed the crash, said the pilot appeared to be trying for an emergency landing when the airliner roared into the side of the hill and burst into a mountain of flame.

He said the plane slid uphill, split and that passengers began scurrying to get out of the wreckage. The wreckage was spread over an area of about 300 yards with the engines in widely scattered places and some sections of the fuselage burned out shells.

Catherine, De Pue, 22, Detroit, a stewardess aboard the Constellation, walked away (See SEARCH, Page 3)

Launch Pad Being Readied for Gemini 6

SPACE CENTER Houston (UPI) — Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell Jr. soared off on a 14-day pre-Christmas space journey Saturday and encountered a "big puzzler" when some object apparently came off the spacecraft and hit the right window.

They described the object as a piece of tape or paper or a strap. Paul Haney, voice of the astronauts, said the report was "one of the bigger puzzlers" and "certainly was unusual and unexpected."

The incident occurred during the third orbit after Gemini 7 had blasted off from Cape Kennedy at 1:30 p.m. CST. Launch pad 19 was left in such good shape that technicians immediately started work on readying Gemini 6 for a scheduled rendezvous mission with Borman and Lovell nine days from now.

Gemini 7 entered its fourth orbit at 6:17 p.m. CST. It was during the third orbit that the mystery cropped up. It came after Borman and Lovell had fired maneuvering rockets to raise Gemini's low point in orbit. While reporting on this, they said something hit the window.

An incredulous ground communicator asked for details. The crew replied only that the object came from the rear of the spacecraft and bounced off Lovell's window. It apparently did no damage.

After reporting this, Borman and Lovell continued en route to a record-shattering 206 orbits in a flight that is to end two weeks from Saturday.

There was only one minor problem in the otherwise flawless flight, and that one has been solved. This involved a light that indicated a possible malfunction in the fuel cell electrical power supply. Space officials decided the only thing wrong was with the light itself.

"We're not concerned about it and don't think it's causing a problem in the fuel cell," said Haney. The early stages of the flight were devoted to a formation-flying maneuver with a burned-out section of the Titan booster, which they kept in sight for a considerable period, and several scientific experiments.

They also had to perform a maneuver to raise the low point of their orbit by 20 miles. Gemini 7's orbit initially was 100 miles at its low point and 204 miles at the top, which was slightly lower than planned.

As for the fuel cell light—called "Delta P"—it caused some concern on the opening orbits. The light could have indicated a possible malfunction in the way oxygen and hydrogen were flowing into the fuel cell.

A fuel cell problem had crippled, but not stopped, the eight-day flight of Gemini 5 last August. On the third orbit, Borman and Lovell "purged" the fuel moves inert gases that have accumulated and restores operation to its original level. It was after this that Gemini control told Borman and Lovell the problem appeared to be nothing but the light being stuck in the "on" position.

They were told they could put a piece of tape over the light if it bothered them, but the astronauts said they would leave it on because it made them feel more at home. Shortly before 12 noon CST they arrived at the launch pad and were whisked up to the capsule. Their appearance was vastly different from previous astronauts because of a suit especially designed for this (See ASTRONAUTS, Page 3)

WEATHER PAMPA AND VICINITY—Continued fair through today. No important temperature change. High Sunday near 70. Winds westerly 10-15 m.p.h. Montgomery Ward in the Coronado Shopping Center is open every evening until 9 p.m. from now until Christmas. (Adv.)

WOUNDS KILL 26
WASHINGTON (UP) — Substantially fewer than 1 per cent of American soldiers wounded in Viet Nam have died of their injuries, the Defense Department said Friday.

Figures showed that as of mid-November, only 26 men had died among 3,699 Army men wounded.

HUNTING PROBLEMS
WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The hung season posed problems Friday for three hunters.

Vance Weimer, a gas company foreman, has time on his hands. He saved a week's vacation all year. But 20 minutes after the deer season opened he bagged a deer. Now he doesn't know how to spend the rest of his vacation.

Gary Rohanna, 17, and his uncle, Robert Rohanna, have a question: Whose bullet killed a bear? Both shot at a black bear simultaneously, but neither knew the other had fired until two bullet wounds were found in the dead bear.

LIKE IMPROVES
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "Still continues to make satisfactory improvements" from the effects of two recent heart attacks, Walter Reed Army Medical Center reported.

"There are no problems whatever," a spokesman said of Eisenhower, who entered the hospital a week ago after he was stricken Nov. 9-10 at Augusta, Ga.

Not all crows are black; some have brightly-colored feathers.

ALL GO — With the report still "All Go" for the Gemini-7 launching, astronauts Frank Borman, left, and James Lovell try out their space suits for the scheduled 14-day orbital flight.

The Schools in Pampa continue to pack their Friendship boxes for the Viet - Nam school children. We were told that 15 boxes have been taken by individual children from the St. Vincents School besides the ones packed by the rooms in the school. We think that this is very commendable and we hope that the boys and girls receive a joy in giving to children whom they will never see. We have received 24 boxes from Baker School, 18 boxes from Travis, 28 boxes from Sam Houston and other schools will be bringing their boxes in before the 15th which is our dead line. Carver Elementary is making the trays and nut cups for the Amarillo Air Force Base Hospital for Christmas. Robert E. Lee is making the bedside favors for the patients at the hospital on the base for Christmas as well as the tray favors. CHICAGO—The end of U.S. restrictive controls on farm production may come about in a few years in order to provide food for the world, according to Chairman William A. Hewitt of Deere & Co. Hewitt recently was named a member of President Johnson's Advisory Committee on Foods and Fibers.

NEW YORK—Treasury Secretary Henry A. Fowler, in a speech before the National Association of Manufacturers, estimated the federal deficit for the year ending next June 30 at $7 billion to $8 billion. This would be up $3.5 billion from the previous year but well under the $10.5 billion hinted at in figures released last week by the White House.

DETROIT—New car sales for all of November exceeded expectations and set a whopping record. American Motors' figures were not in but Ford, General Motors and Chrysler sold a total of 773,000 cars against the previous November record of 640,000 in 1963. Auto assemblies will be down 2 per cent this week to about 216,000, however, because of the Fisher Body strike at Flint, Mich.

REGRETS HEADLINE
BONN (UPI) — An official spokesman said Friday the West German government regrets a headline in a rightist weekly which referred to Jews as "hyenas."

State Secretary Karl G. Von Hase, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's press spokesman, was asked at a news conference to comment on the headline in the Munich National Zeitung which called Jews who seek compensation for war injuries "hyenas of restitution."

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week (Nov. 28) are:

"Once More From the Beginning", by Robert Merrill; the author chronicles his career in a work which offers both a vivid picture of the topsy-turvy world of opera, and a candid self-portrait of an unforgettable personality.

"Margaret Mitchell of Atlanta", by Finis Farr; after the publication of "Gone With the Wind" the life of Mrs. John Marsh (Margaret Mitchell) was undoubtedly altered. Now her story and the story of her novel is told by Finis Farr.

"The Town in Bloom", by Dodie Smith; London's theatre world of the 1920's provides a glittering backdrop for Mouse, an eighteen-year-old Lancashire girl intent on a stage career.

"A Wilderness of Monkeys", by Paige Mitchell; when the doctor's sensational slender trial rips off the mask of respectability behind which lurks the sins and secrets of both sides of the tracks.

"Sarkhan", by William Lederer and Eugene Burdick; the authors' two American heroes, Captain Coldstream and Professor Thaddeus McCauley, learn the true nature of a Communist threat and try to alert the policy-makers in Washington to the situation.

"The Expendable Spy", by Jack D. Hunter; a story of espionage and intrigue, of danger and duplicity, which catches up the Soviets, British, Americans and the Gestapo at the time of the collapse of the Third Reich.

"The Doorbell Rang", by Rex Stout; a rich woman comes to Nero Wolfe and Archie Goodwin claiming she is being harassed by the FBI. She demands that Nero help her to find relief, and offers him the largest retainer he has ever seen.

"Power Play", by the Grudons; a crackling suspense novel about the appointment of a future director of the FBI.

"A Crack in the Sidewalk", by Ruth Wolff; the blossoming of young Linsey Templeton, a homely little red-head with a misspelled name who the readers senses is someone to be reckoned with.

"Marcus", by Laurene Chinn; author of chronologically the first Gospel, Marcus (John Mark) was a singularly intimate observer of every crucial event affecting the very early Church. Here is a novel of the origins of the Christian Church from the point of view of St. Mark.

CHARGED IN BOMBING
SALEM, Ind. (UPI) — Police arrested two teen-age boys on arson charges in the "Molotov cocktail" bombings of a John Birch Society executive's home and a country church.

Police Chief Donn Gould said a 17-year-old boy and an 18-year-old were held in jail on bonds totaling $3,000 each in connection with the bombing of the Blue River Baptist Church and the home of C.R. Heinrich Friday. He declined to identify them.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson believes the present speculative trend in the market with the emphasis on glamor issues will continue to the end of this year.

The analyst says that while such a trend is usually an omen of a decline in prices, the current trend of the market merely reflects the powerful diversion of low-priced, quick moving issues and will probably produce sizable advances in these issues while the rest of the list remains stagnant.

Thomson & McKinnon points out that the most significant gains in the past few weeks have been in electronics, aerospace, office equipment and several other issues.

The analyst feels that such selectivity plus the possibility of a declaration in corporate earnings growths could very well lead to a sluggish market.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton believes that the situation that exists in the market could best be described as a "tug of war" between the bulls and the bears and that neither are capable of mounting an offensive. He feels that profitable transactions should be on the long-term rather than the short-term.

Demonology is the study of evil spirits.

Three From Lefors Hurt in Accident

Three Lefors residents were pushed to Highland General Hospital about 5 p.m. Saturday following a two-car pileup one mile south of Pampa on Highway 273.

Admitted to the hospital were Barbara Sanders Noblitt, 30, of Lefors and her two daughters, Linda and Cheryl Sanders, ages 16 and 11.

According to highway patrolmen, the car driven by Mrs. Noblitt collided with an auto driven by Ethel B. Vanderburg, 70, Pampa. Mrs. Vanderburg was not injured.

The accident occurred about 4:30 p.m. at the intersection of Highway 273 and Loop 171.

New Fine Schedule Slated On Violation of Traffic Laws

Pampa motorists violating state traffic laws will face a new adjustment in the fine schedule after Jan. 1 as the new code of criminal procedure outlawed the charging of court costs in JP court.

Some 30 justices of the peace from over the Panhandle met in Amarillo Friday and set up a suggested fine schedule.

In the past, the usual fine for a first offender was from $1 to $5 plus $16.50 court costs for running stop signs, speeding etc.

The new fine schedule approved by the judges calls for a $20 fine for speeding for the first 10 miles over the limit and $2 for every mile over that.

A $25 fine for driving the wrong way on a divided highway. A $20 fine for illegal change of lanes; $40 for passing a stopped school bus and $15 for running a red light.

Until the new code becomes effective, anybody fined in a justice of the peace court in Texas will be required to pay the $15.50 court costs in addition to the fine.

However, it was agreed throughout the meeting that the guidelines were not binding on anybody and that each justice was the judge in his own court and that each case should be judged on its merits.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge denounced as a "diabolical" act, the bombing of a driver to the backdoor of the biller in a truck, He condemned the Viet Cong for "wanton killing and wounding" of Vietnamese women and children.

Filings Slow for Primary Election; Deadline Feb. 7

Gray County Democratic Chairman Jimmy Thompson said Saturday that so far no candidates have filed for the May, 1966 Democratic primary. The deadline for filing for the primary is Feb. 7, 1966.

Expected to attract the largest number of candidates are the races for district and county judge, 18th district congressman and contests for two spots on the Gray County Commissioners.

Chamber Members To Meet Dec. 11 In Coronado Inn

Chamber of Commerce members will attend a membership luncheon in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room Monday, Dec. 11.

Chief topic on the agenda will be discussion of the chamber's 1966 work program.

Chamber Secretary E. O. Wedgeworth stated Saturday members at the luncheon will be divided into small groups and asked to come up with work projects that can be included.

Seventeen chamber work committees already are being organized to handle details of the 1966 program.

New committee chairmen for the coming year were named last week and the reorganization program is expected to be completed before Jan. 1.

New Officers Election Set For ToT Group

Election of new officers will highlight the annual Ladies Night banquet of the Top O' Texans scheduled at 7 p.m. Dec. 11.

The Top O' Texas, organized only this year, serve as the official public relations arm of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet will be held in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Man Hospitalized With Head Injury

A 52-year-old Pampa man was taken to Highland General Hospital about 9 p.m. Saturday suffering from a severe gash in his head.

Police were called to the home of Fred Brodnex, 52, of 1015 Gordon, about 9 p.m.

A neighbor who lives in the front of Brodnex' house reported he stumbled into her back door, his head covered with blood.

Late Saturday night, police had not made official comment as to what happened. They had not yet talked with Brodnex, who was undergoing surgery.

Officers said, however, they believed Brodnex fell in his small one-room apartment and that no foul play was involved.

PIF Urges All Stockholders To Meet Monday

Officials of the Pampa Industrial Foundation Saturday urged all stockholders to attend the annual stockholders' meeting at 10 a.m. Monday in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

A report on activities of the corporation will be made and a slate of director nominees will be presented for approval. Five directors will be elected by ballot to serve three-year terms.

Directors whose terms expire at the end of this year are Frank Culbertson, Fred Neslage, E. L. Green, Jr., Herschel Wilks, and F. E. Imel.

Rogers Criticizes FCC on Economic Control Gains

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa told a group of Panhandle radio and television broadcasters Friday that the Federal Communications Commission is trying to get control of the economic aspects of station management.

Rogers, speaking at a luncheon in Amarillo, criticized efforts of federal agencies to "work themselves into positions" of ever more and more power.

In accusing the FCC of working to augment its own power, Rogers said:

"Like other agencies, the FCC is tempted to use the phrase 'in the public good' to gain broader powers than were intended by the framers of the original laws setting up the agency's duties and limitations."

In 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

long, cramped 14-day mission. The $17,000 space suit weighs only 16 pounds. It is topped by a huge new space helmet that can be folded and stored without much trouble, and can be used for a headrest by a tired astronaut.

The suits can be taken off in flight, and Borman and Lovell plan to that at various points during the mission, becoming the first astronauts to orbit in just their underwear.

At the bottom of the reactor, chief astronauts Donald (Deke) Slayton said "It's going to be a long two weeks. I think they're going to enjoy it. It won't get dull up there, that's for sure."

This pre-Christmas voyage climaxed a record-smashing year in space for the United States that gave America a long lead over the Soviet Union in total-manned hours in the cosmos.

Borman and Lovell were the 15th and 14th Americans to be shot into the skies, and the 8th and 9th this year. The first 1965 Gemini flight was last March 23—a three-orbit voyage by Virgil I. Grissom and John Young.

Gemini 4, with James A. McDivitt and spacewalker Edward H. White II aboard, stayed up four days from June 3 to June 7. Then came the record Gemini 5 flight of Cooper and Conrad orbited the earth 120 times in seven days, 22 hours and 59 minutes.

Pampa CRMWA Directors Eye Meet

Clinton Evans and Fred Thompson, Pampa's directors on the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, will attend a regular meeting of the authority Monday, Dec. 13, in Lubbock.

The all-day meeting will include a morning field trip and tour of CRMWA installations at Lubbock, a luncheon and afternoon business session at the Lubbock Country Club.

Officials taking part in the program will include C. O. Crane, project construction en-

Pioneer Employees To Be Honored At Awards Dinner

Ten Pampa District employees of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. will be honored at the company's annual service awards dinner at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Coronado Inn.

Illustrating the conviction that a successful enterprise depends on both talent and loyalty, the dinner is one of nine being held throughout the Pioneer system to salute employees with multiples of five years of service.

Representing a total of 1,755 years of combined service, 159 employees of Pioneer Natural will receive awards this year.

Pampa area award recipients are:

Five years — L. B. Anderson, T. B. Gilbert, Francis Olivolo, B. D. Pennington, B. R. Seitz, G. J. Smith, L. W. Watson, and T. E. Wren, all of Pampa.

Ten years — Billy Shumate, Panhandle, and 20 years — E. R. Hobbs, Pampa.

Four hours after the crash, all reports indicated that despite the dramatic nature of the collision the fatality list promised to be light as compared to the last similar occurrence here.

When a United Air Lines jetliner and a TWA constellation collided over Staten Island five years ago, 134 persons were killed, six of them on the ground. Eleven houses also were set afire.

Wisconsin College Student Sex Survey Blasted

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A student newspaper series of anonymous interviews about campus sex life at the University of Wisconsin has drawn fire from a Republican state legislator.

Assemblyman Nile W. Salk, who represents the exclusive Milwaukee suburb of Wauwatosa, said he had not read the articles but believed the weekly University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Post should be denied state funds because of them.

Miss Patricia Strehlow, editor of the newspaper distributed free to students on the Milwaukee campus, said the sexual mores of students were an important and legitimate topic of newspaper discussion.

"The series on sexual mores has been condemned, but at least we are getting a reaction from the students," she said.

Salk, in a letter this week to UW-M Chancellor J. Martin Klotzke, accused Klotzke of poor judgment for permitting the Post to run the articles of liberal arts Sophomore Robert E. Carr, which dealt with anonymous interviews with students.

One of the students interviewed told Carr she found "meaning and satisfaction in an affair." Another told him that "the pill makes the difference."

Klotzke said the paper was not subsidized by state funds but by profits from auxiliary enterprises, such as cafeterias, the student union and the bookstores.

"I certainly don't agree with everything that appears in the Post. But I think that this is a way the students can express their views," Klotzke said. "I feel strongly that a university newspaper has the right to publish what it thinks should be published."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The Center, with the help of some parents, is sponsoring something new for eighth graders starting Dec. 10. A record party will be held at the Center from 7:30 to 9:30 and all eighth graders from Lee, Pampa, and St. Vincents are invited.

There will be a charge of 25 cents for each person who is not a member of the Center and Center members will be admitted free of charge. We are in hopes of having this special activity on an ever-remembered Friday night. If the attendance meets our doing so. Tell your friends to come.

Center memberships are available for all these activities going on at the Center. With basketball practicing, swim lessons and swimming, trampolining, tumbling, ping pong, pool and many other activities available, a Center membership is well worthwhile.

A family membership is only $20 per year or $12 for six months while individual memberships for persons over 3 years of age are only $8 per year and $5 for six months. Remember that memberships make good Christmas gifts.

The Dolphin swim team made a good showing yesterday in the Amarillo meet and are finishing up competition today. Coach Donald Klepper is still interested in having more swimmers to join the club. The procedure is very simple. You merely come by the Center and schedule a tryout for one day between 4-7 p.m. You must be able to swim 50 yards in a given length of time according to your age group. These times are for 10 and under 35 seconds, 11 and 12 year olds 45 seconds, 13 and 14 year olds 40 seconds, 15 to 17 year olds 35 seconds. You must be a Center member to be a member of the Dolphins.

The Center would also like to call your attention to the Steam Cabinet which has been purchased lately. If you are interested in steam baths, call the Center for a reservation to take one. This is available only to Center members.

The Center is announcing its Christmas Vacation Schedule now. Please clip this out and save it. The Center will be open from 1-10 p.m. and the pool from 1-4 and 7-10 p.m. on Dec. 22, 23, 27 and 28; Dec. 29 we will open from 1-4 p.m. and the pool from 1-4 p.m. closing at 6 p.m. on Christmas Eve. The Center will be closed on Christmas Day and New Years Day. On Dec. 30 and 31 the Center will open from 1-7 p.m. with the pool open from 1-4 p.m. closing at 7 both days for the Harvest Basketball Tour, Sundays Dec. 25 and Jan. 2 we will open regularly from 2-5 p.m.

An upcoming event in Pampa which will be a Youth Center project will be the KIXX Drilling Drums basketball game. The Drilling Drums are the KIXX Disc Jockies from Amarillo and they will play an unannounced team from Pampa on Feb. 10 at 8 p.m.

All of you young people who are fans of the Amarillo Disc Jockies should make plans for this date. Autographs will be available. This game will serve a double purpose in that one-half the proceeds will go to the Youth Center and one-half to the KIXX Scholarship Fund for graduating Seniors. Pampa High will be privileged to submit two names of students needing educational assistance, with their records to the scholastic board of KIXX and they may receive a grant from this fund. Everyone mark this date on your calendar. We are in hopes

THIS CHRISTMAS BE OF GOOD CHEER.
Although this world of ours is far from perfect and we are living in a time of constant tension, we all have much to be thankful for.

YOU CAN LIVE LONGER AND HEALTHIER.
It's a fact. So many important new diagnostic techniques have been perfected during the past decade that physicians and dentists have become expert "Disease Detectives". They can now more easily discover the cause and proper treatment of health troubles.

MEDICINES NOW ARE POSITIVE ACTING.
Once the cause of a disease is known, we have many drugs which can be depended upon to almost always produce a desired benefit. Fewer diseases are now incurable and even those can be better lived with if a physician is given the opportunity to treat them before too much damage is done.

WE HAVE CURATIVE & SUSTAINING DRUGS.
When your body is in trouble, your Doctor prescribes a curative drug to relieve or cure the problem. Sustaining medicines help you to live longer even though you may have a permanent or even an incurable ailment. We can fill any prescription any Doctor may write.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables:

London-Johnson City Axis: London expects major policy decisions, involving both NATO and the international scene in general, to emerge from the talks between President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson later this month. The talks are scheduled for Dec. 17 at the President's Texas ranch. Wilson plans to visit Moscow in the spring to press for resumption of the interrupted East-West dialogue against the background of his talks with the President.

Off Dead Center: With the French elections out of the way, President Charles de Gaulle may be ready to move number of projects presently stalled. One would be the five-month-old crisis in the European Common Market. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville goes to Rome at the end of this week for the wind-up of the Vatican Ecumenical Council and hopes for a personal meeting with Italian Treasury Minister Emilio Colombo who also is chairman of the Common Market Council of Ministers. A meeting of Common Market foreign ministers is predicted for early 1966, conceivably to be followed by a six-nation summit conference. French sources also say De Gaulle would be happy to play host to President Johnson if the latter should decide to go to Europe.

NATO Meeting: The coming year also is expected to see De Gaulle spell out his demands for a re-organization of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO). A Paris meeting of the NATO Council is scheduled for Dec. 14-16 but is expected to be quiet. The question of the NATO command set up, in which De Gaulle hopes to rid himself of U.S. dominance, is expected to be brushed under the carpet as will West German demands for a greater voice in control of nuclear weapons.

U.S. Investments Watched: American capital investment in the Common Market is to be even more closely scrutinized in the future. The trade group's executive commission has asked member governments to supply complete details of foreign investment on a regular basis. Ministers from the six will meet annually to review the situation and notably to watch against foreign interest gaining control of any one sector of industry. One immediate concern is American importance in Europe's motor industry.

Nationalist China: The Malaysian government is expected soon to establish relations with the Nationalist Chinese government on Taipei. At the moment she has relations neither with Taipei nor with the Red Chinese on the mainland. The Nationalist Chinese are expected also to launch a quiet campaign to win new friends in India and Indonesia, both of which formerly were regarded as pro-Peking.

In our news article last week by error we did not list the number of pounds of round steak that we cut from the 820 pound steer. The round steak came to 50 pounds. If you are interested, call our office and we can give you the other figures.

Have you noticed how the rust damage has subsided since our cooler weather has set in? Rust spores cannot survive freezing temperature for very long periods. The freezing weather was also welcomed by the farmers who have cotton and late planted milo. Freezing temperature will now condition the remaining milo for harvesting. Cotton will be defoliated and should be ready for mechanical harvesting within a week or ten days. Placements of cattle on feed in October in the states of Texas, Colorado, Arizona, California and Nebraska was up seven percent. The one feed report as of November 1 showed 14 percent more cattle of all classes on feed in the same states. Everyone seems to be optimistic about the general outlook on cattle prices for 1966. Cattle numbers in the United States is expected to show a 1.5 million head decline by January 1st. This is due mainly to a record cow kill in 1965. Imports are expected to be down because of severe drought in some of the exporting nations. With the human population soaring and an increased economic level, there is cause for an optimistic outlook. There are some national authorities that believe we are moving into an era of beef shortages. Some say we will definitely move into a shortage era by the late 1960s. One authority believes this will start showing up by 1967.

To the beef producer this comes as good news because demand sets price. To the American consumer this should cause great concern. For well over four centuries, this nation has been in a period of abundance with little or no thought being given to a food shortage. The amazing thing is the fact that the general public has shown little concern up to this point. There is an old saying that it still very true. "No one misses the water until the well goes dry."

My personal opinion is that we will be able to meet the challenge to increase beef supplies for several years to come. We believe you will see a most phenomenal growth in the cattle feeding industry in the Panhandle of Texas within the next 5-10 years. Why?

Because we have all the basic ingredients for finishing cattle. Relatively cheap milo, wheat and protein supplement. A good

Gray County SCD News

By VAN MILLS

Monroe Seitz is in the process of completing a diversion on his farm east of Laketon. Pete Seitz has established about 50 acres to a dead sorghum cover to seed grass in. Pete will drill this cover to a mixture of side-oats grama and bluestems next spring. Bill Crisp plans to put in some underground irrigation pipe on his farm north of Alamedre. Charles Grisby has completed 1,100 feet of pipeline for livestock water. John Haynes has completed 8 seep type ponds on his ranch north of McLean. These ponds were constructed with a dragline.

Joe Quirk has established 160 acres of cropland to a dead sorghum cover. John plans to seed this cover to blue grama in the early spring.

How often do droughts occur? Droughts are one of the main concerns of farmers and ranchers in the Texas Panhandle. From 1892 to 1958, 16 years (24 per cent) were very dry; 38 years (56.8) were below average; 29 years (43.2 per cent) were above average. We can see from the above figures that droughts and dry years are just as normal as wet years. If you are stocked on the basis of average rainfall you could be short of grass over 50 per cent of the time. Since we know these droughts occur rather frequently we should prepare for them. The past two years found many farmers and ranchers out of grass and feed.

To avoid damaging our grass during droughts and dry years, we should stock on basis of the drier years rather than the wet years. Success in ranching business depends upon the amount of grass we produce rather than the number of livestock we have. A good many farmers and ranchers carry over a good supply of hay to feed during the first part of a drought. This helps to avoid damaging their grass and buying and protein supplement. A good

TEXAS 4-H MEMBERS BACK HOME AFTER MEMORABLE STAY AT CHICAGO CONGRESS

A girl who can tear down an auto engine and repair it, and two other girls who have excelled in a number of 4-H projects have returned from the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

They were among 1,500 other young people from every state, Puerto Rico and Canada at the exciting five-day meeting in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Phyllis Stroman, 17, of Lometa, received an expense-paid trip to the congress from The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company as the state's 1965 automotive project winner.

Irene Henze, 17, of San Antonio, and Sandra Schultz, 18, of Bryan, will attend as winners of Santa Fe Railway educational awards. Miss Henze also won a $500 college scholarship donated by Santa Fe.

Miss Stroman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stroman, is rebuilding the engine of an old auto with the help of her father. The mechanical knowledge she gained in 4-H enabled her to edge out a number of boys for the automotive award.

She can change a flat tire with ease and cleans the spark plugs on the family car and the pickup truck. Last year she placed second in the state automotive program.

Miss Henze, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henze, is a four-time Bexar County clothing award winner. She competed in the state dress revue in 1962 and 1963.

She was county Gold Star girl in 1965, winner of the Lutheran Church's God-Home-Country Award and a member of the National Honor Society. She has also taken 4-H projects in canning, health, food preparation and junior leadership.

Miss Schultz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Schultz, is a freshman at the University of St. Thomas. She was mistress of ceremonies at the state 4-H Horse Show banquet and the Brazos County 4-H Achievement program.

In 1964 she served as County 4-H Council president. She won the county and district safety awards last year and in 1963 received the county dress revue medal. In 1962, she won the county leadership medal.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
District Manager

Governor John Connally announced last week that he had reappointed Judge Otho Dent to the Texas Water Rights Commission. This announcement comes as welcome news for West Texas. Judge Dent is from Littlefield and knows the water problems of West Texas and the High Plains as few people do. He is also one of the best informed authorities on the overall needs and problems in Texas. The Governor is to be congratulated in keeping Judge Dent on the "Water For Texas Team."

Few people realize or appreciate the magnitude of the water problem the Governor is laboring with on a state wide basis. This immense problem is further complicated by federal legislation in regard to water pollution and quality control. Texas has one year to come up with a plan.

Texas will certify to the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare its intention to adopt water quality standards and enforce them. This announcement was made by the Governor himself in a news release a few days ago. He is very determined that the State handle the establishment of quality standards.

On Monday of the past week Governor Connally met with the Planning Agency Council of Texas that is dealing with the overall problems of the State. Terrell Blodgett has been named to head up the administrative work for the Planning Agency Council. The Council aims to interlock the plans of all State Agencies in all areas, including water (both surface and underground) highway, health, mental treatment, education and many other fields. The Governor has also indicated he will add other agencies to those designated by the Legislature to be members of the Planning Agency Council.

Gray County Farm Newsletter

By EVELYN MASON
ASCS Office Manager

Following is the results of the recent cotton referendum in Gray County.

Cotton Marketing Quotas, 32 (yes); 5 (no).

Transfer of cotton allotments outside county 27 (yes); 30 (no).

This means that cotton allotments on Gray county farms can be transferred by sale or lease to another farm in Gray county, but cannot be transferred out of the county.

The final date to report transfer of cotton allotments to another farm is December 31. Producers may go ahead and lease more cotton or lease their cotton to someone else in the county — and be sure to report the transfer to this office by December 31.

If a cotton allotment is leased or bought, it may be planted acre for acre if the yield on the transferring and receiving farms do not vary more than 10 percent. If the receiving farm has a higher yield by more than 10 percent the leased acreage will be reduced accordingly.

Panel Mr. Kilgore proposed that the Texas Water Development Board should pay part of the cost of reservoirs in areas where there was a surplus of water. He recommended that this water could then be sold elsewhere until it is needed in the basin of origin. He also raised the question of protecting future reservoir sites from commercial, highway or other development in order that costs not be prohibitive when needed. He also proposed water quality standards, disposal of wastes by pipeline to the sea or to deep wells or underground salt caverns. The cost of this could be paid for by taxing of waste discharges.

We expect to have more information very soon on the 1966 program on wheat and feed grain. These programs are expected to be similar to the 1965 programs. Information on the new cropland adjustment program will be issued as soon as it is available.

NUCLEAR TEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Friday detonated its biggest announced nuclear test of the year—an underground weapon explosion in Nevada.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test had an intermediate yield equal in explosive force to between 200,000 and one million tons of TNT. It was the 22nd type of test announced this year.

Your Child And School

By DAVID NYDICK

UPI Education Specialist
Millions of dollars will be spent on gifts for children during the next several weeks. Unfortunately, part of this money will have been wasted because the gifts were not chosen properly. Gifts that are carefully chosen are usually appreciated more and provide greater enjoyment.

An ideal gift should be chosen after careful consideration of the child's age, ability, interest and personality. If these factors are satisfied, the gift is more likely to become a favorite plaything.

You surely have heard of cases when an expensive doll has been discarded and an old rag doll continued as the favorite. Disappointing? It shouldn't be. Adults do similar things. There is a certain security in familiar items.

Don't always try to replace something which the child has enjoyed and has grown old. Try to find out something about the child's personality and present interests. Don't purchase a quiet game for an extremely active child who spends most of his time on the ballfield. It would also be wrong to buy a baseball glove for a child who dislikes the game or may have no opportunity to play it.

A gift is more appropriate when it is proper for the age level and reasonable for the particular home. A toy or game which is too difficult for the child to understand or too simple to hold his interest will surely end up on the shelf. A 12-year-old girl may not be interested in a play stove if her mother allows her to participate in actual cooking. Double-runner ice skates are not appropriate for the child who is already skilled with single-runner skates.

Many people feel that a gift should be useful. They realize that usefulness often creates interest. A pull toy can be most valuable for a child learning to walk. A model kit which is not too difficult will help to develop a child's muscle control as well as his ability to follow instructions.

Many educational toys aid in the development of academic skills. You may notice that many items are marked for particular age levels. The only caution is to consider the individual child's development which may or may not be average for his age.

Books are excellent gifts for some children. Books are available for all reading levels and on all topics. A personal library can be a treasure for many youngsters.

The correct equipment will often encourage participation in various activities. The boy who plays first base would surely benefit from a first baseman's glove. The teen-ager who enjoys golf would enjoy a properly fitted set of clubs.

A well chosen gift will be appreciated. Its value is not necessarily related to its cost. An inexpensive gift can bring many hours of pleasure and enjoyment. There is nothing wrong with a useful gift but every gift does not have to provide an education. Remember that a little investigation will increase the value and sincerity of any gift.

PRAVDA RAPS CIA
 MOSCOW (UPI) —Pravda, the official organ of the Soviet Communist party, accused the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency Thursday of being "one of the most perfidious instruments of U.S. imperialist policy."
 Pravda said the CIA had "more than once placed the USA in a ridiculous position."

GENERAL PRAISE
 WASHINGTON (UPI) —Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach considers the two civil rights convictions in Alabama this week a "victory for equal justice in the South" and an object lesson for racial terrorists.
 The convictions by two all-white juries of three Ku Klux Klansmen on federal conspiracy charges and of a white man in the shooting of a Negro show racial terrorists "can no longer rely on the poisonous view that acts of terrorism, no matter how brutal or cowardly, will go unpunished," Katzenbach said Friday in a statement.

FONDA MARRIES
 MIEOLA, N.Y. (UPI) —Actor Henry Fonda took his 47th wife Friday, 33-year-old Shirlee Adams, a former airline stewardess and model. Fonda, currently starring in the Broadway play "Generation," is 60.
 It is the first marriage for the actor.
 State Supreme Court Justice Edwin R. Lynde told the couple he has been marrying people for 10 years and none have ever broken apart. "And I don't expect you to, either," he said.

Wall Street In Review

By United Press International
 Goodbody & Co. thinks inflation psychology has crept into the market and tax-loss selling may be minimal in the next few weeks. The company feels that a breakthrough of the Dow-Jones Industrial high could very well signal a rally which could carry it over the 1,000 mark by the beginning of the year. It recommends caution for the long term.

Thomson & McKinnon says that several factors, including profit-taking and tax-loss selling, will give the market an irregular pattern in the near future and that a positive investment approach with emphasis on sound issues remains the best course of action.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — McCall's Magazine has made a survey which concludes that Republicans in Congress "are far more actively engaged in cultural pursuits than the Democrats."

Maybe this explains something politically.

It could be that the Republicans would be better off if they were less actively engaged in pursuit of culture and more actively engaged in pursuit of Democrats.

I am inclined to believe, however, that the survey was too incomplete to provide any truly meaningful comparison. It says that a third of the Democrats and just 20 per cent of the Republicans reported that "official papers left them no time for further reading."

But the survey only covered

100 of the 535 senators and representatives. Which indicates that 435 of them had no time left for answering magazine polls.

Moreover, the survey only covered the book, movie, television and musical interests of members of Congress. It completely overlooked how much culture they absorb from the official papers mentioned above.

For instance, almost all lawgivers religiously read the Congressional Record, which is surely one of the major wellsprings of culture in this country. I have just finished glancing through the last issue of the Record for 1965. It has culture oozing from virtually every page.

Culture Items

The contents include a copy of Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey's Thanksgiving proclamation; an item from Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., on "The Big Thicket" in East Texas; an item from Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., on skydiving.

Anyone who regularly reads literature of that sort will be as well-rounded mentally as Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., is physically.

I'm not saying, mind you, that Republicans aren't more culture-minded than Democrats. I'm only saying that this survey doesn't make much of case one way or the other.

There are too many unanswered questions. Such as the comment by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., that he listens to Beethoven symphonies when he gets up in the morning.

Does he do that for cultural reasons? Or does he need something to blast him awake?

In the television section of the survey, Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., listed one of his favorite programs as "Yogi Bear."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., listed one of his favorite programs as "Maverick," which has been off the air for several years.

I submit that Reid may get less culture from watching "Yogi Bear" than Mansfield gets from watching a program that is no longer on the air.

Emerson, Graebner Advance in Melbourne

MELBOURNE (UPI)—Unseeded Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio and Australia's Roy Emerson recorded straight set victories Saturday to advance to the finals of the men's singles of the Victorian Lawn Tennis Championships.

Graebner, who has beaten the top Australian players while competing down under, shocked Wimbledon runnerup Fred Stolle, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3. Emerson, apparently just now gaining his top physical condition, topped Davis Cup teammate John Newcombe, 6-6, 6-4, 6-3, in the other semifinal match.

The women's singles finals will pit an American against an Aussie also when Dallas' Nancy Richey meets Wimbledon queen Margaret Smith. Miss Smith beat Mrs. Carol Graebner, Clark's wife, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1, and Miss Richey bested Australia's Gail Sherriff, 6-0, 6-1.

Newcombe and Tony Roche advanced by default in the doubles competition when Marjorie Riessen, teamed with Graebner, suffered a pulled muscle in his right arm and was forced to withdraw. The Aussies were leading the Yanks, 6-3, 7-6, when Riessen retired because he could not handle his racket in his usual style after sustaining the injury, which effected his elbow and shoulder.

The No. 1 Australian tandem of Emerson and Stolle came out on top after a tough match with compatriots Owen Davidson and Bill Bowrey. The Wimbledon finalists won a marathon five setter 4-6, 6-3, 3, 4-6, 6-3.

In the women's doubles, Mrs. Graebner and Miss Richey combined to defeat Jan Lehane and Madonna Schacht of Australia, 6-2, 6-4, and Miss Smith and Lesley Turner beat Judy Tegart and Kay Melville, 6-4, 6-0, in all-Australian semifinal match.

Longhorns Surge to 80-71 Cage Win

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Longhorns used a late scoring barrage Saturday to defeat the persistent Mississippi Rebels 80-71 and gain their second straight basketball victory of the young season.

Texas took charge of the game for keeps with 4:37 left in the contest with 11 straight points before Mickey White started the outburst with a lay-up, the score had been tied eight times and the lead had changed 19 times.

Texas led 66-65 at the half. White and Old Miss' Fred Stanley shared high-point honors with 15 each. Five Texas players scored in double figures.

The teams tied in rebounds, 50-50, with Mississippi's Charles Burnhorn the leader with 18.

Odessa Permian Downs Monterey, 21-12

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—The Odessa Permian Panthers moved to the Class AAAA semifinals Saturday by defeating Lubbock's Monterey Plainsmen 21-12 before 19,000 spectators.

Permian and Texas, both ranked number one by various polls, will meet next Saturday in Fort Worth's Amon Carter stadium at 2 p.m.

The Panthers, who lost 7-6 earlier this year to Monterey, capitalized on four fumbles, three pass interceptions and a 92-yard kickoff return by Mike Jordan to take the game.

Fullback Billy Dale, who rushed for 140 yards on 26 carries, scored the first touchdown on a three-yard run set up by a fumble recovery. Halfback Tony Conley scored twice on runs of five and one yards, while David Byerly kicked two extra points and a 29-yard field goal.

Bailey's 92-yard scamper came in the third quarter and made it 23-0. Monterey got on the scoreboard twice before the game ended, but could not find the end zone enough times to win.

Both of Monterey's scores came on passes by quarterback Randy Bowlin, who completed 15 tosses of 35 attempted for 267 yards. One of the scoring passes was a 60-yard play to end Bob Gobin, and the other was 14 yards to wingback Rodney McLeod.

Razorbacks Run By Missouri, 75-62

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—The University of Arkansas basketball team took a commanding lead in the first half Saturday and coasted to a 75-62 victory over the University of Missouri.

The Tigers, now 0-2, were plagued by floor mistakes and the inability to hit from the field and fell behind 37-25 at intermission. Missouri closed it to 37-27 in the opening minutes of the second half, but then fell back again.

Arkansas' biggest margin was 19 points, 53-34 midway through the second half when coach Glen Rose began substituting.

Missouri led only once, 8-6. The score was tied three times, the last at 8-8. Orval Cook of Arkansas tied it and then put the Razorbacks ahead 10-8 with two straight jump-shots five minutes deep in the game.

He finished with 11 points, one of four Razorbacks in double figures. The others were junior Tommy Rowland with 13, J.D. Connell with 12 and John Talkington with 11.

PLAINVIEW (Spl) — White kept the Bulldogs in the race after the first period. The two teams fought to a 0-0 first period draw after they exchanged fumbles twice each with Coahoma driving to White Deer's 24 the first time they got the ball.

The Bucks failed to recover a punt in the second period and Coahoma recovered on the White Deer 29.

Nine plays later, after the Bucks had drawn a five yard penalty Mike Mosley booted a field goal from the 10 but again White Deer was off-sides to move the pigskin to the five.

From there Eddie Torres bulldozed his way across the goal line and fullback Tony Butler booted the conversion and Coahoma led 7-0 with 9:34 left before halftime.

The Bucks recovered a Bulldog fumble on their 44 and five plays later Mooney went in from the one to score. Mooney booted the conversion to tie it at 7-7 with 5:37 left.

White Deer went ahead 13-7 with 39 seconds left in the half when they took over on the Bulldog 30 and marched the 70 yards in seven plays with Marlar picking up 24 yards.

Quarterback Phil Hare passed 44 yards to end Ronnie Anderson for the touchdown and the half.

The Bucks really broke loose in the third period, scoring twice with Marlar doing the damage.

Ronnie Sargent intercepted a Marshall Williams pass on the 29 and moved the 71 yards in six plays with Marlar gaining 32 yards and Randy Elliott doing the big damage with a 40 yard scamper.

Marlar went in from the one with 6:30 left. An attempted pass for the conversion failed but the Bucks were in front 19-7.

A fumble recovery gave White Deer its next touchdown with Rape recovering on the 31.

It took four plays for Marlar to go in from the 24 with 5:15 left. This time Hart passed to Hawpe for the conversion and a 27-7 lead that appeared safe as a bank.

But the Bulldogs came back strong marching 81 yards in eight plays with Tony Butler going over from the three. Torres ran the conversion to make it 27-15.

Passing almost proved the Bucks downfall with quarterback Williams moving his club in the fourth period to another tally.

This time Williams, who completed seven of 22 for the night, hit end Howard Gregory just

Harvesters Nip Midland For Plainview Tourney

McWilliams 26 Paces Harvester Victory

PLAINVIEW (Spl) — Pampa wound up a successful three day road trip Saturday night by trouncing Midland Lee, 62-40 in the finals of the Plainview Invitational basketball tournament.

Kenneth McWilliams, playing only so-so in Pampa previous tournament games, came through in the clutch again, pouring in 26 points to take home honors.

McWilliams was also named to the tournament All-Star team with Robert Sherrod of Channing, Ken Caube of Midland Lee, James Angel of Plainview, and Robert Jackson of Big Spring.

The Harvesters were slow starting as they raced to their fifth straight victory and a 6-1 season record.

Lee grabbed a quick 3-0 lead, Pampa tied it 2-2, then the game was tied twice more at 4-4 and 6-6 before Pampa pulled in front 8-6 and never again was tied or lost the lead.

The Harvesters sped to a 17-11 first period lead with McWilliams sinking five field goals and two free shots in the period.

In the second quarter Lee closed the gap to 21-16 with Phil Brannon tossing in a goal, he was high for the losers with 10 points, and Weyer also bucketing.

But McWilliams, goaled and Steve Williams hit from the floor then tossed in a couple from the charity stripe and Pampa had its widest margin at 27-17.

David Cain added two field goals and 2-45 from halftime the Pampa lead was upped to 31-19.

Mike Wise got his only bucket of the night just before halftime and Pampa went into the dressing room with a safe, 33-21 lead.

The Harvesters, who hit 21 of 41 from the field for 33 per cent, saw their lead trimmed to eight in the third period on baskets by Brannon and Jestro.

McWilliams goaled, Brannon hit for Midland and Cain popped the net for a 37-27 Pampa lead with 4:27 left in the third period.

Gary Crossland, who hit a season high of 12 points, found the range for Pampa and canned a field goal and two charity tosses and the Pampan's had their widest lead of the night at 43-29 with 1:13 left in the period.

That's how the third quarter ended.

Thanks to some hot free throw shooting, the Harvesters pumped in 20 of 27 for 42 per cent, Pampa was able to maintain its

OSU Stops Sooners For First Time in 19 Years

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma State finally shattered the 19-year Oklahoma football domination Saturday by edging Oklahoma, 17-16, on Charles Durkee's 35-yard field goal with 1:41 to go.

The climactic Cowboy drive that ended in Durkee's game winning boot came after Oklahoma had pulled ahead, 16-14, on a 27-yard field goal by sophomore Ron Shotts.

Ironically, it was a missed extra point by Shotts that spelled the difference. Shotts, bruising 206-pounder from Weatherford, Okla., gained 163 yards on 28 carries to spark the Oklahoma attack.

Shotts missed a last-ditch 41-yard field goal attempt with 11 seconds left.

It was the first time Oklahoma State has beaten Oklahoma in football since the Cowboys won on the Sooners' home field here 47-0 in 1945.

Both teams wound up their season with identical 3-7 overall records. The loss dropped Oklahoma into fifth place in the final Big Eight standings with 3-4 mark while Oklahoma State is 2-5.

Quarterback Glenn Baxter, coolly maneuvering Oklahoma State back downfield after Shotts' field goal with less than four minutes to go in the game, hit end Glenn Chadwick on a 24-yard pass to put the ball on the Oklahoma 26 and keep the drive going.

Baxter then threw eight yards to Tony Sellari and the rest was up to Durkee, a 165-pound senior from Hurst, Tex., whose successful kick tied Colorado's Frank Rogers for the Big Eight Conference field goal title with 16.

It was a wide open battle all the way, and Oklahoma out-gained Oklahoma State in total offense 400 to 321 yards. Baxter completed nine of 21 passes for 147 yards, while Oklahoma quarterback John Hammond, HORNED RABBIT — George Haynes Jr., 1030 S. Clark, displays this horned rabbit he shot Saturday four miles west of Pampa. The unusual animal had six horns about one and one-half inches long.

WILD OFFENSIVE AFFAIR

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — see touchdowns and passed to Hal Wantland for two more. Walter Chadwick scored the fifth Vol touchdown and David Leake kicked a 20-yard field goal.

Began ran for three UCLA touchdowns, Paul Horgan plunged for one and Tim McAtter raced 35 yards with a fumble for the fifth.

Tennessee went into the second half with a healthy 20-7 lead, but the Bruins grabbed the lead with three explosive touchdowns — two within 30 seconds.

Vols Score 37-34 Comeback Over UCLA

Began ran 36 yards to bring the Bruins to within striking distance, and on the first play after the kickoff, McAtter grabbed a flying fumble and dashed 35 yards to put UCLA ahead. They made it 28-20 when Began plunged over from a yard out, capping an 86-yard drive.

But Tennessee swarmed back in the fourth quarter. Warren, who completed 19 of 27 passes for 274 yards, passed to the UCLA seven and Chadwick carried it over from there.

Penn State Rips Maryland, 19-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Penn State, gouging out fat yardage behind its rugged offensive line and capitalizing on one of its own mistakes, whipped Maryland, 19-7, Saturday in a game that may cost Terrapin coach Tom Nugent his job.

Both teams went into the nationally televised game with disappointing 4-5 records, and the victory saved State's Rip Engle from suffering his first losing season in 16 years with the Lions.

State, holding the Terps scoreless until midway through the final quarter, piled up a methodical three touchdown lead in the first three periods. The Lions scored first in the opening period after Dick Gingrich intercepted Jim Corcoran's pass on the Maryland 15 and fullback Dave McNoughton ate up all 15 yards in three cracks — the last five for the touchdown.

State then turned a bobble of its own into a touchdown when Mike Irwin picked up teammate Bill Rettig's fumble and outprinted the Maryland secondary in a 65-yard dash to the end zone.

Brownwood Nips Dumas by 7-6

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — The Brownwood Lions edged to a 7-6 victory over the Dumas between the top-ranked Class AAA teams witnessed by 13,000 spectators.

A holding penalty on a successful extra point kick cost Dumas a possible tie. The Demons trailed 7-0 until late in the final quarter, when Glen Bonner passed 11 yards to Wayne Harkrider for the score and Marshall Rigdon's conversion kick went between the up-rights.

Colts Magic Number May Be One After Hassle With Bears

By United Press International
Two is the magic number for Johnny Unitas and the Baltimore Colts today when they meet the Chicago Bears, who are eager to avenge a 26-21 loss earlier in the season.

By passing for two touchdowns, Unitas would tie Y. A. Tittle's NFL career record of 212 scoring tosses. The Baltimore veteran has hit on 161 of 273 passes this season for 2,506 yards and 23 touchdowns.

A Baltimore victory would eliminate the third-place Bears from the Western Conference title race. The Colts, favored to beat the Bears by four points at Baltimore, then would need only one more victory or a loss by second-place Green Bay to sew up their second consecutive title.

The Green Bay Packers, favored by seven points against the Minnesota Vikings, are likely to delay Baltimore's bid to wrap up the title today even if the Bears can't beat the Bears by four points at Baltimore, then would need only one more victory or a loss by second-place Green Bay to sew up their second consecutive title.

Dallas Cowboys, the New York Giants seven over the Pittsburgh Steelers, the St. Louis Cardinals three over the Los Angeles Rams, the San Francisco 49ers six over the Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns, who already clinched the Eastern title, seven over the Washington Redskins.

Hadl Outshines Namath, 38-7

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — John Hadl won a personal duel with New York's Joe Namath by throwing three touchdown passes Saturday as the San Diego Chargers smashed the Jets 38-7.

The triumph placed the Chargers one victory away from their third consecutive American Football League Western Division title, while New York is tied for second with Houston in the East.

Hadl, unfavorably compared with the rookie flash after several mediocre performances, hit for 13 of 19 passes, including scoring throws of 25 yards to Keith Lincoln and 46 and 36 yards to Lance Alworth. Namath, retaining his poise although strongly rushed, hit 18 of 24 passes including a 21-yard scoring toss to Don Maynard. Three of his passes were intercepted, however, and he lost the ball once on a fumble.

San Diego broke the game open in the second quarter, scoring 17 points, all set up by New York mistakes.

Lincoln capped a 61-yard drive by plunging one yard for the Chargers' first score after a Jets' field goal attempt was blocked. Lincoln scored minutes later on Hadl's first scoring pass that was set up by Ken Graham's first interception. Lincoln plowed through Wa-hoo McDaniel and Dainard Paulson en route to the touchdown.

Namath fumbled the next time New York got the ball.

Harvesters Tumble Big Spring, 57-43

PLAINVIEW (Sp) — Pampa shot their way into the finals of the Plainview Invitations basketball tournament Saturday afternoon with an easy 57-43 decision over Big Spring.

Saturday night the Harvesters met Midland Lee in the finals of the tournament.

Big Springs, now 3-3, put Pampa to the test for a while, jumping in front to a 9-6 first period lead only to see the Harvesters score 10 straight points, and a 16-9 margin with less than a minute left in the opening period. David Cain hit just before the buzzer sounded to give Pampa an 18-11 lead after one quarter.

The Harvesters steadily built up their margin, displaying a three man sliding post and a 28-19 lead 2:02 from the end of the half.

Cain hit, then Mike Wise and David Frasier and Pampa led in front to the end of the half.

Mike Wise, who led both teams in scoring with 19 points, countered five points and ended the night with six from the field and seven from 11 from the free throw line.

Pampa led 57-43 after three periods and with a seven out of 10 effort from the free throw line led by 19 points at one time in the final period.

The Harvesters went ahead 49-32 just 5:16 from the end and

Some SWC Schools Facing Probation

DALLAS (UPI) — Recruiting problems, with possibly some punitive action on alleged violations, will be among the items on the agenda when the Southwest Conference faculty governing body holds its annual winter meeting here next week end.

There was no definite word that any school faced possible censure for any deviations from the conference's strict regulations, but the official agenda released by commissioner Howard Grubbs contained this one line: "Consideration of reports submitted by the conference investigative agency."

The conference last spring at Lubbock took action against Southern Methodist, Texas, Arkansas, Baylor and Texas Tech, but only SMU was meted out a stiff sentence.

Will Review Cases
All of these cases will be reviewed by the conference fathers during their sessions Friday afternoon through Saturday morning.

Also up for consideration are several other topics, including the adjustment of the starting date for fall practice for those schools starting their fall semesters in early September. Present regulations forbid practice before Sept. 1.

The conference is expected to amend its rules in line with the NCAA standards which permit

White Deer Would Play Three Rivers In Next Bi-District Game Next Week

By United Press International
Texarkana and Brazosport in Class AAAA, Weatherford in AAA, Plano and Needville in AA and Keller and Three Rivers in A fought their way into the state schoolboy semifinals Friday night.

The script followed the form chart in five of the seven matches with Needville and upstart Keller the only underdogs gaining the round of 16.

Third-ranked Texarkana whipped seventh-ranked Dallas Hillcrest 21-6, unranked Brazosport ended six-times-beaten Houston Jones' Cinderella-style season 28-15, fifth-ranked Weatherford eliminated unranked Nacogdoches 34-6, 10th-ranked Plano beat unranked De Kalb 22-0, 10th-ranked Needville stunned seventh-ranked Bellville 17-7, unranked Keller ushered fourth-ranked Forney out of the race 22-7 and third-ranked Three Rivers trounced unranked Smithville 35-0.

Two Afternoon Games
Two more games Saturday afternoon and seven more Saturday night will fill out the semifinals bracket.

Texarkana struck for two quick touchdowns in the third quarter to break open a scoreless duel with Hillcrest with quarterback Joe Norwood getting both of them on runs of 67 and one yard. He later threw a five yard scoring toss to end Ronnie Mitchell to ice the game after Hillcrest's Sam Lewis had put the Panthers back in contention with an eight-yard touchdown jaunt.

Texarkana now meets the Odessa Permian.

Pratt Stands Out
Brazosport quarterback David Pratt scored on runs of 10, 64 and 27 yards and passed for another touchdown to spoil Jones' bid. He ran for 130 yards overall and passed for 93 more. Jones quarterback Scott Sands turned a busted signal into a 52-yard scoring run to give the Houston team a 7-7 halftime tie, then he hit Larry Bailey with a 33-yard touchdown pass in the final period after the cause was lost.

Brazosport plays the winner of the Corsicana - San Antonio Lee game.

A 57-yard run by David Davis sent Weatherford surging out of a close 7-6 halftime struggle with Nacogdoches and the Kangaroos dominated the rest of the game. Greg Owens' 12-yard scoring sortie had given Nacogdoches a 6-0 jump, but Weatherford went ahead before halftime on a seven-yard pass from Ronnie Colliflower to Davis. Colliflower later hit Terry Chandler with an 18-yard touchdown pass, Larry Wright swept 18 yards for another touchdown and Barry Burns scampered 30 yards for the other with an interception — the Kangaroos' fourth of the game.

Weatherford now meets the winner of Saturday afternoon's Dumas-Brownwood game.

Plano Team Hot
Plano scored the first three times it had the ball against De Kalb with Johnny Griggs capping 59 and 66-yard drives with plunges from the three-yard line and quarterback Billy Fondren climaxing a 67-yard surge with a 10-yard touchdown run. De Kalb never got any closer than the Plano 15-yard line.

Plano will meet the winner of Saturday night's Iowa Park-Fredericksburg game.

Bellville bounced off in front against Needville on Bill Knolle's 67-yard pass interception runback, but never could muster a scoring punch on its own. Needville quarterback Ronald Pope scored both Braham touchdowns on runs of five and

Bufs Allen to Play With South in Senior Bowl

CANYON — George Allen, who signed a bonus contract with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League this week, has been named to play on the South squad in the 17th annual Senior Bowl in Mobile, Alabama on January 8.

Allen is the third Buffalo to appear in the classic, Halback-Jerry Don Logan, now with the Baltimore Colts, played in the 1963 affair and Jerry Richardson, also in the pro ranks with the Los Angeles Rams, appeared in the 1964 game.

The contract Allen signed with the Oilers is believed to fringe benefits totaling more than $50,000, including a new automobile and a new home for his mother, Mrs. Mary Jones of Longview, Texas.

A three-year letterman at tackle for the Buffaloes, George played both ways during his sophomore and junior years, then confined his talents to offense and the kicking teams.

Big George was the fastest lineman on the Buffaloes' 1965 squad. His speed in the 100-yard dash is 10.5 seconds.

The Oilers indicated there were no-cut provisions in Allen's contract and that they expected to increase his weight to 230 or 290 pounds in a couple of years which seems to point to his use on defense.

Another Buff senior, Butch

Walterscheid, is still negotiating with several teams for a contract as a free agent. Walterscheid was the star and only senior on the West Texas State defensive team this fall that set two school records for rushing defense.

It could be called the year of the records for the Buffaloes.

After the firing had subsided, 23 records had fallen with only withstanding the assault. Passing accounted for 16 of the higher standards.

The Buffaloes opened the season with five straight victories at least, two of which rocked the Experts — the 34-0 win over Bowling Green and the 22-14 defeat of Arizona State. Of their six wins, the Buffs came from behind to take three of them. They trailed 14-13 at the half against Arizona State, 12-0 at the same juncture to Colorado State University and overcame a 14-7 deficit in the fourth period against Drake.

The 6-4 record left head coach

Joe Kerbel with a 32-27-1 aggregate for six years at West Texas State and a similar performance by his 1966 athletes will put him in second place in victories at WTSU behind present athletic director Frank Kimbrough. Kerbel is currently in third place in won-lost percentages with .542.

Tulsa's Twilley Named Top U.S. Lineman

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tulsa end Howard Twilley, the first player in history to win college football's national scoring championship and pass receiving title in the same season, Saturday was named United Press International's lineman of the year for 1965.

Twilley, who established eight major college pass catching marks while winning All-

America honors this year, was a one-sided choice in the balloting of a national cross-section of writers and broadcasters, garnering 90 votes compared to 27 for Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis and 15 for Notre Dame guard Dick Arrington.

A standout performer as a junior in 1964 when he was a second team UPI All-America selection, Twilley won the pass catching crown as Jerry Rhome's target. This year his partner was senior quarterback Billy Anderson, and they were just as devastating.

and Michigan State end Gene Washington had three votes each and Kentucky tackle Sam Ball, linebacker Jerry Campbell of Idaho, Tennessee linebacker Frank Emanuel, Nebraska end Tony Jeter, Arkansas tackle Loyd Phillips and Purdue tackle Karl Singer, got two votes each.

Bowling

By GIL BURGUND

Well one holiday out of the way, but a couple more just around the corner. Due to the short week of Thanksgiving, and many leagues not bowling there wasn't any news to report so I got lazy.

Anyway this week finds a lot of news, starting with Ruth Wilson and Jennie Deaton winning the doubles event in the Perryton Tournament, with Jennie placing second in All events.

And did the Juniors and Bantams have a good time and do some good bowling in the Amarillo Thanksgiving Tournament. The Junior Girls team of Jackie Clark, Kay Hicks, Mary Ratliff, Janet Morgan and Becky Osborne took first place.

Ann Corley and Frankie LaRue were the first place doubles Bantam winners. Larry Akers first in Bantam All Events and second in Bantam Singles. Leon Osborn second in Bantam All Events. Max Barnhill second in Sr. Singles. Janet Morgan second in Jr. singles, Janet Morgan and Jackie Clark second Jr. doubles and Steve Fletcher second in Jr. All Events.

In a little home contest in the Junior division, Sharon Riddle took top honors bowling a nice 487 scratch series. Bruce Murchison took second while Mary Thornton was the best Bantam and Martha Cherry was second.

Final weeks winners in the Charity event were Linda Jordan and Doris Johnson. Believe it or not, they posted the highest total of the event a nice 665.

Just happened to notice that a Mrs. Lois Kerr, of Michigan, had a game of 86 followed by one of 298 in a league series. I'll bet somebody was thrilled.

So was Bill Brannum the other night on picking up the difficult 4-6 split and Jane Willingham picking the 6-7 with a brand new ball.

Those are the things that keep bowlers bowling and for some other things ask Tom Dunham. He says the big thrill of having a couple of 200 games in the same evening after a couple weeks of lousy bowling is it. Marilyn Wright says it's the thrill of that first really big series.

Then there is the unusual as Patty Wray with an 88 average having an 89-90-91 series. There is Roy Sparkman, the under dog for so long showing all his team mates how to really improve. Starting with a 142 then 171, then 200 he improved 29 pins a game. Jackie Jouett also had a good one 109-128-147 a nineteen pin jump.

Jim Butcher had it going the other way though, a 188, 182, 176 a six pin drop.

I think Nick Kadingo went down a little too the other nite. He certainly had his troubles.

Vivian Garrison and Agnes Robbins gave both Buster Garrison and Dale Robbins a lesson in the finer points of bowling in their mixed league.

Linda Holdaway, in the nursery, says sometimes she thinks she has more kids to take care of than there are bowlers on the lanes. She is almost afraid to stay in her cage.

In the Moonlighters League, the team of Mary Ray, Roy Ray, Jackie Mills and Ep Epperson, bowling for Terrys Electric of McLean, didn't give anyone else a chance. They took team hi game and hi series, and mans and womans hi game and series a real cleansweep. Harvey Alexander did his very best to have a triplicate, a 159, 159, 158. I've run out of time so that's it for now.

An AMF representative says there are lots of people in Pampa still not bowling so lets get everyone in town bowling conscious.

GREAT MONUMENTS

THE ALAMO

Man has a right to provide for his own future, secure from adverse intervention. For thirteen days in the early spring of 1836, one hundred eighty-four men defended this precept at the Alamo. Outnumbered twenty to one, the garrison led by Crockett, Bowie and Travis fought to the last life. Their struggle made the Mission San Antonio de Valero — the Alamo — a monument to man's determination to be free and secure.

Groom is Happy Regional Champs

SPUR (Spl) — Groom football players, coaches and fans were looking forward to a happy Christmas today after the Tigers won the class B regional championship Friday night, knocking off Bronte, 24-7.

Little Terry Cornette decided to take to the air and did in grand fashion, connecting on seven of 10 passes for 96 and two touchdowns.

Halfback Larry Lamberson, bothered by a leg injury all year, had his best game of the year, gaining 104 ground yards of the 235 amassed by the Tigers as a team.

Bronte fullback Doug McCutchen, heralded as something of a phenomenon, was held in check by the aroused Groom defense. McCutchen was able to contribute a 64 yard kickoff return to setup the Longhorns only touchdown.

Pampa Outclasses Plainview B, 95-31

PLAINVIEW (Spl) — Pampa made no bones about it Friday evening, displaying some of their finer shooting this season and completely outclassed a Plainview B team, 95-31, in second round action of the Plainview Invitational basketball tourney.

The Harvesters played Big Spring at 1 p.m. Saturday and if they win meet the Plainview-Midland Lee winner in Saturday night final.

David Cain, Mike Wise, Kenneth McWilliams, all scored in double figures despite seeing action for less than two periods.

Cocher Terry Culey, in running Pampa's record to 5-1 and four straight wins, used reserves in the entire second period, most of the third and all of the fourth quarter.

Pampa would easily have broken the century mark had the five regulars gone all the way and the Harvesters did, in fact score their season high. McWilliams paced all scorers with 21 points. Wise contributed 19 and Cain had 11 with Gary Robert Karr 9 and David Frasier eight.

Pampa made it no contest in the first period jumping to a 16-0 lead, stealing the ball and running the fast break with perfection.

GLICK CLICKS—Freddie Glick (27) of the Houston Oilers looks like an Olympic high hurdler as he clears a pair of downed players and tries to stay away from Dave Herman (67) of the New York Jets.

until 5:17 remained in the half when Tim Lain, who picked up 13 points to pace the home team, bucketed.

He also hit another in the period but Karr, Altom, Bailey and Crossland were scoring for Pampa and bulged them to a 53-11 halftime margin.

The five regulars started for Pampa in the third period and played about four minutes with McWilliams hitting five baskets and Wise three.

Pampa led 63-11, 67-13 and at one time pushed their lead to 90-17.

Karr connected on a three point play in the fourth period for the Harvesters 90th point and a 90-20 lead 1:05 from the end.

George Bailey, who picked up six points and played well, scored Pampa's 95th points and a 95-29 lead with 36 seconds remaining in the contest.

a leaping pass between two Bronte defenders in the end zone for the touchdown.

Bronte drove to the Groom four and attempted a fieldgoal that went wide to the left.

The Tigers then marched the 96 yards in 12 plays. An interference call at the Longhorn 16 as time ran out in the first half.

Cornette faded back, spied Lamberson at the 10 and he couldn't be caught. The conversion attempt failed but at halftime it was 18-7.

The Longhorns came out fired up and promptly marched to the Groom two yard line. But McCutchen was thrown for a two yard loss and three plays later a fourth down pass was unsuccessful when Roberts intercepted it at the one.

Another interception spoiled things for the Longhorns, this time at the Groom 14 in the final period and Roberts returned it to the Groom 24.

But Bronte intercepted a Groom pass at the 36 and returned it to the 24.

The Groom defense held and a field goal try from the nine resulted in a bad snap from enter and Dickey Conrad recovered for Groom.

The final Tiger touchdown came with five seconds left when Kyle Black ran eight yards to the end zone.

Groom finished the season with an 14-0-1 record, winning their last 10 in a row. Bronte was 9-3 and the Groom win snapped a nine game winning streak for the Longhorns.

NEW CARDS
ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Charles Bryant, a 207-pound fullback from Allen University of Columbia, S.C., and Bobby Williams, a 185-pound halfback from Central State College of Edmond, Okla., were signed Friday by the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

Rambling With Red

RON CROSS

Although no one has asked, but both my readers (my wife and me, the kids aren't old enough to read) must be dying to know how football teams are chosen for bowl games.

It is a sensitive matter, since there are several subterranean ground rules to be observed.

First, you do not just pick up the phone and buzz the team you want. This is in bad taste and immediately stamps you as a bush league.

You have to send what is known as a 'feeler' and this is usually to the athletic director. Normally it's a telegram, a subtle telegram.

You send a wire and you say only, GOOD MORNING, HOW ARE YOU?

If the team is having a successful season, he will answer, OH FAIR, I GUESS, AND HOW ARE YOU?
FINE THANKS, you answer, HOWS THE WIFE?
You are told, SHE HAD THE FLU LAST WEEK BUT IS SOME BETTER TODAY.

"Good deal," you answer, "and speaking of good deals, how would you like to come down and play in our Leche-Nut Bowl Classic for $198,000 and all the Leche-Nuts you can eat?"

Wheeling and Dealing

Now that negotiations are underway, you should switch to registered letters. The school will answer your offer with "Thanks, but we've been offered $10,000 more to play in the Punch Bowl."

"Don't be silly," you fire back, "We'll figure out a tax break so you'll have more take home pay. And provide free board and laundry. Also this year we are giving trading stamps. And don't forget the free Leche-Nuts. They're much better for athletes than punch you know."

Early next morning the school calls, collect, and says, "We'll take it. Always were a sucker for them Leche-Nuts."

"Fine don't you want to know who you'll be playing?" "Not especially, can we get the money in $10s and $20s?"

This, of course is oversimplified. Some rules of etiquette as set forth in the NCAA's "Acceptable and Ethical Criteria For Post-Season Bowl Classic Proselyting (revised):

The Rules of Order

16 (a) Whenever possible, contact should be initiated on a direct basis with the president of the college. If your offer is declined, it is permissible to go over his head and appeal directly to the football coach.

(b) Under no conditions should a California team be asked to participate in post-season games in Florida. This is prohibited under the statutes of the Geneva Convention and the Greater Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

21 (g) A team receiving bids simultaneously from two bowls shall accept the other postmarked before midnight. Neatness counts.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORAMSON

THE CHRISTMAS season is upon us and the bright decorations around town bring the spirit of the season. Merchants in Coronado Center and Downtown Pampa have done themselves proud with the colorful yuletide decorations. At the center colorful green garlands lighted with green bulbs and holding red candles hang on all the Center buildings. The green garland Christmas trees placed on the Center sign and on the side of some of the buildings are especially attractive and unique. The Pampa Jaycees have dressed up downtown Pampa for the holiday season and had the decorations up prior to Santa's visit last Friday. If Friday's Parade and the colorful decorations haven't convinced you that there really is a Santa, perhaps the following letter, written by eight-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon on Sept. 8, 1897, to the editor of the New York Sun, and the editor's reply will convince you. "Dear Editor, I am eight years old and some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth — is there a Santa Claus? Yours Truly, Virginia O'Hanlon." The editor replied, "Yes indeed! Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age — they do not believe except what they see — they think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge. Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be like a night without stars, like a garden without flowers, like a village without chimneys. In all these things, the world is made of the same material as you and I, and you know that they are not there — nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world. You see the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, or even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? — Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding. No Santa Claus; Thank God! — he lives, and he lives forever — a thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Open House Will Honor Area Pioneers

An open house reception will honor Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Taylor, long-time Gray County residents, this afternoon commemorating the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

The reception, hosted by the honoree's children, will be from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the Taylor home north of Pampa. Friends of the couple are invited to call during the receiving hours to help mark the occasion.

Serving as hosts and hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. W. D. Price Jr., Mrs. James A. Reeves, Mrs. Chris Walsh and H. B. Taylor Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were married on Dec. 5, 1915, in Gray County and have made their home in Gray County since that time. Mr. Taylor has been engaged in farming and ranching for the 50 years of their marriage. Both are members of First Baptist Church.

The couple has four children, 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Violet Society Sees Films of Convention

A round-table discussion on "Experiences With New Variations of African Violets" was held by members of Pampa African Violet Society when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. V. N. Osborn.

The discussion was followed by the viewing of a film on displays at the National African Violet Society's Convention held in Dallas last year. During the business session guests were welcomed and plans were made to prepare a Christmas basket for a deserving family.

Mrs. Osborn served refreshments during the social hour from a table centered by an African Violet arrangement. Members present were Mrs. J. E. Carlson, R. T. Dirksen, Dan Glaxner, Charles Glisson, Holly Gray, W. L. Moore and V. N. Osborn.

Way to Control Dandruff

Medicated shampoos, daily brushing with clean brush and use of a clean comb help control dandruff problems. Before shampooing, massage the scalp thoroughly with the finger tips. This not only loosens excess scales but stimulates the blood circulation. It also feels good.

Miss Hiatt Gives Program to Club

Miss Jane Hiatt, summer AFS student to Istanbul, Turkey was the guest speaker when El Progresso Club met recently with Mrs. D. Vest Burton. Miss Hiatt was introduced by her mother, Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr., member of El Progresso. Mrs. Hiatt also displayed gifts and articles which Miss Hiatt brought to her family from her seven weeks stay in Europe.

While showing slides, Miss Hiatt told very interesting impressions about the customs, education, religion and government of Turkey. One of the highlights was her privilege of attending a Turkish wedding, she also told of the "w" homes of her Turkish family, the winter home in Istanbul and the summer home across the sea which makes it in Asia. The father, a doctor in a children's clinic, and the entire family took Miss Hiatt to see the bazaars, markets, churches and other interesting buildings.

The speaker said "Turkey is a land of contrast and there I learned that people are people and that peace, the main purpose of the AFS, must be gained through understanding." She closed by singing two songs in the Turkish language, an Austrian Folk Tune and a Turkish love song.

Mrs. Verl Hageman, president, welcomed Mrs. Leon Patterson, a new member, and Mrs. Tom Chisum of Irving, a guest.

Others attending were Mrs. V. J. Drew, Charles Lanehart, Ben Hamilton, Elmer Fisher, Glenn Radcliff, George Newberry, Kermit Lawson, Carlton Nance, J. G. Morrison, John Gill, Bob McCoy and R. I. Bray.

Members Inducted 'Priceless Freedom' Program Presented At Truteen Service League Ceremony Civic Culture Club by Mrs. C. Axelson

An induction ceremony for new members of Truteen Service League was held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in Citizens' Bank Hospitality Room. Parents of the girls attended as special guests.

The candlelight service was conducted by the president, Miss Charly Gustin, from a table covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of white roses, club flower, flanked by tall blue tapers, carrying out the club's colors of blue and white. The ceremony was concluded by Misses Judy Watkins and Diane Phillips singing "No Man Is An Island."

Assisting Miss Gustin with the induction ceremony were charter members of Truteen Service League, Misses Gail Newlin, Martha McMullan, Brenda Schaffer, Jenny Burnham, Debbie Sullins, and sponsor, Mrs. Thelma Bray.

New members present for the service were Misses Sandra Kenemer, Mary Shewmaker, Barbara Holt, Dale Cain, Pam McLeod, Sherry Warner, Jane Hiatt, Judy Watkins, Eileen Trout, Gracie Sexton, Linda Hubbard, Nita Eads, Linda Lumpkin and Diane Phillips.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Jane Hiatt singing Turkish songs which she learned as an exchange student to Turkey last summer, and by Miss Linda Hubbard in a skit entitled "I Can't Say No."

Refreshments of punch, coffee and cookies were served to members and parents.

HAND CARE FOR KIDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — A little pre-play care can keep children's hands from getting rough and grimy, the Cleanliness Bureau suggests.

Before sandpile or mudpie time, teach the youngsters the trick of scraping their nails over a bar of soap to get a layer under the tips. This will keep the dirt from staining. Then, at bedtime, scrub the nails gently with a very soft brush dipped in soapy water.

Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. R. E. Dauer. Mrs. Frank Grantham, vice president, conducted the business meeting. The pledge to the U. S. and Texas flags, and the American's Creed were given in unison. The date for the rummage sale was set for Dec. 9 - 10. Members brought gifts for the State Hospital at Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Grantham introduced the program on "Americanism." Mrs. Carl Axelson, speaker, had as her subject "This Priceless Freedom".

Mrs. Axelson traced the struggle for freedom from earliest history, back at the time of the Pharaohs, to the present time.

"Athens is credited with the first actual Declaration of Rights," called the "Shaking Off of Burdens," the speaker began. In Rome is found the first written code, guaranteeing the individual rights of man. It was Jesus who brought the message

Rev. H. Vanderpool Is B&PW Speaker

Approximately 52 members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club attended the annual Thanksgiving Banquet in the First Methodist Church dining room, at which Rev. Harry Vanderpool was guest speaker.

Rev. Vanderpool spoke on "Freedom, Faith and Faith," referring to the story of the Pilgrim's first Thanksgiving. Rev. Vanderpool was introduced by Mrs. Ruby Cunningham, chairman of the Thanksgiving Banquet.

The invocation was given by Mrs. G. E. Tinnin.

Mrs. Lloyd Crosthwaite, accompanied by Miss Elouise Lane, presented three vocal selections.

Protect Books

Never build bookshelves over radiators or near windows where books get strong sunlight. Heat and sun will warp and fade your books.

DOUBLE INDEMNITY — A fashion insurance policy for a black and white Tattersall-check dress. Double buttons, double direction with bias and straight cut, dual styling of figure-skimming overblouse and slim skirt add up to make this wool-jersey dress a perfect fashion equation.

BEAU-CATCHER BOW — The insouciant neckline accent for a two-piece dress in silk-and-worsted fabric that retains ambient light even in dark colors. Unmounted sleeves on the button-front jacket and slash-pockets on the slim skirt add tailored accents to the carefully contoured design. Colors are black or brown.

ASTRAL ASYMMETRY — Leaves one shoulder bare, while it warms the other with an imported rose and self-fabric bow. Bias cut and curvy seaming add to the mobility of this gracefully flaring gown of silk-lined cloque in fuchsia, ivory, black or white.

LOCAL TEENAGERS are spending more and more money, according to an article in last Wednesday's News. Pampa's teen agers may have more money to spend than their adult counterparts did, but nevertheless the majority are to be respected and admired for good character and community service. Optimist Clubs of Pampa, in keeping with Youth Appreciation Week honored six outstanding Pampa teen agers at a banquet Nov. 22 in Jim's Steak House. Two students from Pampa High School, Robert E. Lee Junior High and Pampa Junior High were presented certificates at the banquet which read "in recognition of outstanding leadership, character and devotion to the welfare of our fellow students." Receiving the honor were Johnny Epperson, son of the W. C. Eppersons, and Chris Hart, son of the James Harts, from Robert E. Lee Junior High; Lee Bowerman, son of the T. J. Bowermans and John Karr, son of the Bob Karrs, from Pampa Junior High School, and Jan Farley, daughter of the Earl Farleys and Charles Gustin, daughter of the C. H. Gustins, from Pampa High School. Sally and Henry Butler left this morning for Tulsa, Okla., where they will attend a reception and dinner to recognize employees of Sinclair Oil and Gas Company who have reached 40 years of service. Mr. Butler will be honored and receive a gold wrist watch at the affair to be held in the Tulsa Club tomorrow evening. Wonder if anyone can match the record of the David Browns and Wendell Hainys of Amarillo and the Kermit Lawsons? The three couples were married each a week apart 25 years ago and haven't missed an anniversary dinner party together for the past 17 years. The Lawsons are hosting the dinner this evening in their home. Understand colored slides will be shown of the couples and their families taken over the past 17 years, which bring many laughs and fond memories. Seems grandchildren are the most important thing in the life of Mrs. V. (Dena) Collum. Everytime one sees her she either has a grandchild with her or is on her way to Amarillo to bring one home for a visit with its grandparents. Mrs. Ben (Dorothy) Hamilton will depart by plane tomorrow evening for a ten-day visit with her son Larry Cox, and family in Hawaii. Mrs. Hamilton will get a first glimpse of a new grandson while there. Cox is an officer in the navy, serving aboard an atomic submarine.

THE J. B. MASSAS had a houseful of Thanksgiving guests. One was the foreign exchange student, Burk Brehm, who lived with the Massas a number of years ago and whom they visited this summer in Germany. Brehm is now doing research at the University of Colorado in Boulder. He and his wife attended Kiwanis a week ago Friday noon. Another Massa guest was Barry Bowman, former Pampa resident, who is now employed with Chase National Bank in New York. Mrs. Paul (Mary) Keim was able to leave the hospital long enough to have Thanksgiving dinner with her family at the home of her mother, Mrs. Earl J. (Amy) New. Mrs. Keim has been undergoing skin grafting following the accident she incurred in Robert E. Lee Jr. High laboratory.

Mrs. Eben (Alice) Warner Jr. and daughter, Mrs. Tabor (Thera) Scott, presented Mrs. Eben Warner III at a lovely coffee the Saturday morning following Thanksgiving at the Pampa Club. Mrs. Scott, the honoree and two other younger members of the house party greeted guests wearing the latest fashion, the Granny Dress. And they looked a long way from being grannies to be sure. Mrs. Aubrey Steele arrived at the coffee wearing a complete beige and black ensemble. Mrs. Hardy Pitts was dressed in bone from head to toe in contrast to her companion, Mrs. Ralph Sidwell, who wore black. Mrs. Bill Campaign topped a cranberry wool suit with hat of the same material and color. A few of the other many guests who were introduced to the new Mrs. Warner were Mrs. Hamp Waddell, Mrs. Ed Daley, Mrs. C. B. Homer, Mrs. Bruce Pratt, Miss Mary Nell Gunter, Mrs. Tom Snow, Mrs. J. R. Spearman and daughter, Mrs. Jay Reese of Dallas, Mrs. Coyle Ford, Mrs. E. S. Williams and daughter Ellen, home from SMU. Another in the holiday season parties was a breakfast last Monday morning at the Pampa Club given by Mrs. H. H. (Teed) Hicks for a large group of friends. A few of those seen enjoying the affair were Mrs. Marvin Harris, Mrs. J. E. Murfee, Mrs. William T. Froser, Mrs. John M. Sweeney, Mrs. Wade Gilbert, Mrs. Kay Fancher, Mrs. Jeff Beardon, Mrs. Verl Hagaman, Mrs. Roger McConnell, Mrs. George Hofess, Mrs. Duggan Smith, Mrs. J. B. Maguire Jr. and Mrs. Jake P. Osborne.

Tuesday Musical Program To Open Christmas Season

Dear Abby... Note of Appreciation Is Always Welcome

DEAR ABBY: I don't have much of a problem, but I would like your opinion on this. When I paid my doctor bill, I enclosed a little note to my doctor telling him how much I appreciated his services.

A friend of mine said I was foolish for doing such a thing—first all a doctor was interested in from his patients, was the fee. I can't believe that. I thought he was such a wonderful doctor because of what he did for me. I wanted him to know how I felt. Did I do wrong?

MRS R.
DEAR MRS. R.: Not in my book. Doctors are people, and they do more than "sell" their services. A good doctor gives comfort, compassion, encouragement, hope and peace of mind. You can pay for shots, pills, treatment and surgery. But the only way to express appreciation for that which is not on the bill is a simple "thank you." (P. S. But don't forget to enclose your check.)

DEAR ABBY: After a lot of discussion, we finally made a deal with our son and are letting him wear his hair the way he wants to. When I tell you that his hair is longer than his mother's, I am not putting you on. He is all boy, but he does help his mother in the kitchen, peeling vegetables, drying dishes, carrying out garbage, etc. This morning I found a hair about nine inches long in my breakfast food. It was his, (his mother has red hair, he has brown hair.) Don't you think this is reason enough to make him cut his hair?

GREENVILLE DAD
DEAR DAD: If the hair was nine inches long, there's a better reason. But since you made a deal with him, don't wech. Just make him wear a hairnet when he helps his mother in the kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I disagree on a very serious matter. We have a 15-year-old daughter who has been a hand-off ever since she was 12. She is very big for her age, and boy crazy. The good Lord is surely watching over her or she'd have been in trouble more than once. A fellow who is 22 wants to marry her, and she wants to quit school and marry him. She needs our signatures. The man is a common laborer but he seems like a decent sort. He came to us and asked for her hand like a gentleman. My wife says we should sign and get her married so we won't have to worry about her anymore. I say she should know him longer because I'm afraid this marriage won't stick and we'll have her back in a year with a kid. She's only gone with him six weeks. We want your opinion.

WORRIED FATHER
DEAR FATHER: I hope your wife listens to you. Of all the reasons to sign for a 15-year-old to marry, your wife's is the poorest.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that "confession" was good for the soul. Well, perhaps it is. But it is bad for the marriage. I suspected my husband of being unfaithful to me. At first he denied it, but I badgered him until he finally broke down and confessed everything. He begged to be forgiven and I told him I forgave him. But it has ruined our relationship. Although neither of us refers to it, in our most intimate moments, this woman forever sleeps between us.

Perfect Bathroom Accessory
Terry cloth is a perfect bathroom accessory. Pretty poncho robes are comfortable and water absorbent to wear while shampooing the hair or giving yourself a pedicure on stepping out of the tub.

Opening the Christmas musical season will be a concert given Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by organists of Treble Clef Club and the Pampa Madrigal Singers. The public is invited to attend the concert in St. Matthews Episcopal Church. The concert will be the first community wide musical program of the season. Performers represent the Baptist, Christian, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches.

Organists participating will be Miss Eloise Lane and Mmes. Lois Fagan, Fidelia Yoder and John Gill. Pampa Madrigal Singers include Miss Rosemary Lawlor, director, and Mmes. Lonnie Richardson, Malcolm McDaniel, Paul Reimer and Bruce Riehart and Messrs. Charles Vance, James Dailey, Robert LaFon and Gene Barrett. Mrs. John Gill is accompanist.

A special effort is made by the musical group to present varied and appealing Christmas music from many lands and through the centuries. The organ recital will include "March of the Major," "Chorale" and "Finale" from Philip James 15th Century "Christmas Suite," presented by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder; "Chimes of Bethlehem," by Thomson, presented by Mrs. Lois Fagan; "Chant-du-Rol-Rene" by Guilmant, played by Miss Eloise Lane, and "Angels We Have Heard on High" arranged by Feibel, by Mrs. John Gill.

The Pampa Madrigal Singers will present "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," Polish carol arranged by Barthelsson; "Sing Noel," French carol of the 15th Century; "The Bagpie Carol," Neapolitan carol; "Sing We All Noel," by York; "The Holly and the Ivy," by Boughton; "Hushing Carol," by Kounts; "While Shepherds Were Watching," Fred Waring Choir Series, and "Oh, Come Ye and Worship" from the Fred Waring Choir Series.

Steve and Terry Smith Are Feted

Steve and Terry Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith of 1161 Huff Rd., were honored with a birthday party recently in honor of their fifth and fourth birthdays. Party games played were London bridge, pin the tail on the donkey and drop the handkerchief.

A large sheet cake in the form of a football field with green grass and red and white striped goal posts was served. One goal line was inscribed with the name "Stevie" with five candies and the other with "Terry" with four candies.

Favors were miniature football helmets with marshmallow faces. Cake and punch was served to Steven Long, Kim Shepherd, Jana Hogan, Michael Taylor, Charlie Scott, Tamara Wilson, Teresa Stafford, Randy Inmon, Louann Barrett, Cinday Day, Buddy Brown, Stevie and Terry Smith; and Mmes. Bob Scott, E. C. Wilson and Bill Smith.

Exercising Bike for Home Use
National health studies indicate a sad state of affairs in U. S. physical fitness. For those who want to get back in shape, there is an exercising bike for home use. Look for one that gives some resistance when you pedal and which also offers a back and forward motion similar to rowing to aid the torso.

MADRIGAL SINGERS — Appearing in a program of Christmas music Tuesday evening in St. Matthews Episcopal Church will be members of Pampa Madrigal Singers. Pictured, front row left to right, are Mrs. Bruce Riehart, Mrs. George Budd, Mrs. Malcolm McDaniel and Miss Rosemary Lawlor, director; middle row left to right are Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, Mrs. Paul Reimer and Mrs. John Gill, accompanist, and back row left to right, Jim Dailey, Charles Vance, Robert LaFon and Gene Barrett.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER
FOR SUNDAY, DEC. 5
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day of evening when a considerable amount of confusion can exist as to exactly what others desire and also you may be bewildered at just what you want. So stick to proven precepts and principles and attend to the studies or the services that clarify aims and ambitions that could otherwise miss their mark.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Monetary matters can be rather difficult, but if you think big, you are able to accomplish what you desire. Be very careful where practical matters are concerned. Show your own wisdom.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — While you want to get ahead much faster by taking on new ventures, take care you do not destroy what you have so carefully built up for so long. Pay more attention to dress. Manners are also very important.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Full concentration upon how to get more acquainted with associates who help in most things that happy accord you like. Be of assistance to one who needs you very much at this time.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Show some real friend that you are truly to be relied upon when help is most needed, despite tensions. Steer clear of the social right now. These affairs can bring arguments, etc.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — If you are very careful where all legal ramifications are concerned, you get wonderful backing from others. Be the Leo champion. Others then acquiesce to your desires.
VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Be very wide-awake to any opportunities that will help you to advance and grow at this time. A letter from afar gives good idea how to start afresh. Study it carefully.
LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Stop procrastinating and get bills paid that have long been due. Then you get the good will of those who are powerful. Pay commitments to loved one for better understanding.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Partners will agree with your ideas today and overlook small errors, so be more lenient yourself, too. Make new contracts that are more binding. Increase benefits.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — With all those duties facing you, it is best you get right at them instead of procrastinating as is your habit. Help a co-worker. Make his, or her, load easier.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Plan a routine that will permit you to have a good time and yet perfect your talents. Make appointments early with good friends for p.m. fun. Be charming, why?
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You are the only one who can make right improvements in home situations, so get busy right now. You are able to have greater security by right planning. Show wisdom, practicality.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Go after the data and figures you require and study them well, getting approval of associates later. Make future brighter for all. Close ties will agree with your ideas now.

Holding in That Tummy Gets the Green Light

By POLLY CRAMER

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — That Pointer you printed about the gal who holds in her stomach every time she has to wait for a red light to turn green was a great idea. I have been doing it ever since and I also do it while washing the dishes and, believe me, they take longer than waiting for a red light to turn.

Whenever the elastic gets loose in an otherwise good shower cap I throw the cap in the washing machine for a thorough cleaning and then use it as a large bowl cover.

DEAR POLLY — When sending a wedding present I always write a brief description of the gift on the back of the enclosure card. I know from experience how easy it is to get cards mixed up during the excitement of unwrapping gifts and how embarrassing it is to the bride not to know who sent what.

DEAR POLLY — Last year my son wanted Christmas in his room, too. We made him a small tree from a leftover evergreen branch and trimmed it with decorations from a Christmas coloring book. This gave him the opportunity to help as he colored and helped cut out the pictures. We fastened some of them to the "tree" with cellophane tape. The larger figures of Santa, his reindeer and the snowmen were used on the walls and windows, so our son really had Christmas in his own room at a cost of only about 50 cents.

DEAR POLLY — Towels are now more beautiful than ever so we chose several pretty flowered ones in the large bath size and use one in the baby's crib for a light cover. This is practical and they're easy to launder.

DEAR POLLY — Christmas will soon be here and I want to pass an idea along to other mothers of small girls. Last year I hunted until the day before Christmas for three sturdy but inexpensive suitcases for dolls. Everything I found was expensive and made of materials that would not hold up under the use of 3-, 4- and 5-year olds. While looking for an alternate gift I passed a counter where the standard rectangular school lunch boxes caught my eye. The wire to hold a thermos was easily removed and then I had perfect suitcases. Some of them were even marked like suitcases.

The eight chapters in Polly Cramer's new booklet, "Polly's Christmas Pointers" are: "Gifts for Women," "Gifts for Men," "Gifts for Children," "Let's Decorate," "Company's Coming," "Easy Does It," "Wrap It Up" and "Odds and Ends." To order a copy, send your name, address, zip code and 50 cents to: Christmas Pointers, in care of The Pampa Daily News, P. O. Box 489, Dept. 70665, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The Doctor Says:

Animal Diseases Are Transmissible to Man
By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We now know that many diseases in animals are transmissible to man (zoonoses) and that the reverse is also true. This was not even suspected until, following the invention of the microscope, it was proved that germs are the cause of many diseases. In some instances, animals act as a reservoir of these infective agents and, in others, man and animals alike succumb.

This fact has brought about a close kinship between physicians and veterinarians — especially those engaged in research. As new examples come to light the importance of this field of study increases. About 100 of these diseases are now recognized throughout the world, although not all of them occur in any one country.

The first zoonoses to be recognized as such were smallpox (it is the cowpox virus, not the smallpox virus, that is used in smallpox vaccine), anthrax and rabies. The latter, once thought to be restricted to man and dogs, is now known to infect a dozen or more animals including bats. Quickly added was tuberculosis, a disease found in caged birds, cattle that spend part of their time in barns and human beings who live in houses. Fresh air and sunshine are still potent weapons in the prevention and cure of this disease.

Brucellosis (known as Bang's disease in cattle, Malta fever in goats and undulant fever in man), Texas fever (in cattle and man), spotted fever and Q fever (type of typhus), encephalitis (brain fever in its several forms), psittacosis (parrot fever or ornithosis), leptospirosis, listeriosis, bubonic plague (in rats, squirrels and man), salmonellosis (common food poisoning transmitted by chickens and turtles), tularemia (rabbit fever), tapeworm, trichinosis, schistosomiasis (carried by birds) are some of the more common examples.

The study of animal diseases has led to the development of many drugs of value in treating zoonoses in man. An even more important aim of these studies is to find ways of preventing the transmission of these diseases from animal to man. These studies are yielding rich returns but they could never have been made without the help of dedicated members of the veterinary medical profession.

Add Charm To Your Home

WARMTH AND CHARM — Small pleasant modern room owes some of its warmth to the combination of early American furnishings and an unusual treatment for the window wall. The window shades in a sand color are hung reverse roll from brackets under the valance. Bookshelf eliminates window sill, provides a wall-to-wall surface for table service, lamp or arrangement of accessories.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A frequent complaint of homemakers living in new tract homes and apartments is the uninteresting interiors. Rooms are enclosures of space and little else. Lack of such niceties as ornamental moldings, architectural jogs, alcoves, window seats, bookcases that lend warmth and charm to older homes have had to yield to the high cost of construction.

One aim of modern interior design is to put the architectural interest back into an ordinary square or rectangular room. Sometimes we see this achieved with wallpapers that add arched or column effects. A simple treatment such as building in a bookcase can often do wonders to warm up a stark interior.

I was especially interested in a room which Jessie Walker, an interior designer, decorated to update Americana into a contemporary room. A young couple I know had just completed a living room which incorporated one of Jessie's ideas — long, low bookshelves which replace window sills under deep windows and extend from wall to wall. The result is a long shelf which doubles as a window seat or for buffet service while providing storage space for books and records. In this small room, windows were undraped. Instead, reverse-roll window shades in a light sand color with ventilated shade borders were used.

Besides avoiding a heavy, swathed look which might have proved overpowering in a simple, small room, the use of shades means objects placed in front of windows are less liable to be knocked over by swinging curtains.

Jessie used a bronzy olive for the walls lightened with apricot molding at the ceiling.

This apricot accent is repeated in the window frames and the shade borders.

Beige and olive brown were her choices for an area rug; quilted chintz covers for the love seat. This muted neutral color scheme, she explained, is a rich background for the antique tables and brass clock and antiqued escutcheons on the walls.

As many of us have learned, color schemes are easier to live with, especially if furnishings include warm-toned antique tables, chests or chairs.

Pilferers Prosper In Holiday Season

Normally cautious shoppers drop their guard in the hectic days of filling gift lists.

As a result, the holiday period from Thanksgiving to after Christmas makes money for all sorts.

With this in mind it seems a good time to encourage shoppers to protect their credit cards, checkbooks, and various identification cards — lodge, sorority, driver's license, voter's registration — from the artful men and women who make hundreds of thousands, if not millions, each year from using them to forge checks.

Check forgery is not the only threat the average holder of credit cards or a checking account faces. Often individuals enjoy trips around the world on stolen credit cards before the loss is reported by the credit card holders.

Professional shoplifters and pickpockets rely on certain percentage of their trade from women who leave their purses open on department store counters.

This, then, inspires the first warning to women: Keep your handbag closed and be certain the clasp is secure when walking on the street.

Men should not carry billfolds in the hip pocket. A billfold with money and business papers carried in the inside coat pocket is slightly safer. Safest for money and credit cards is the side trouser pocket.

Each year more families use checks for their purchases. Do not leave blank spaces when you sign your name, the amount or any information on the check. Draw a line before and after this information to prevent additions to what you write on a check. This prevents fraudulent check artists from capitalizing on your laziness. Never endorse a check before you plan to cash it and do not give a signed, blank check to anyone, even a close family member. If lost, the check is negotiable by anyone.

Past Noble Grand Club Has Dinner

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Iva Lee Morgan was hostess to the Past Noble Grand Club recently in the home of Mrs. Mabel Teas. A chicken dinner with all the traditional trimmings and side dishes of the season was enjoyed.

Mrs. Morgan was assisted by Mrs. Clara Blue interrupted the program to insert what she called a commercial. After a clever introduction the "Product" turned out to be the "Happy Birthday" song in honor of Mrs. Morgan whose birthday was Sunday. Mrs. Mamie Jordan presented her with a gift from the lodge.

Besides those mentioned above members present included Mrs. Martha Newton, Carrie Moreland, Esther Bentley, Vergie Reagan, Azzie Evans, Pauline Rivers, Louise Crowell, Agnes Adams, Lois Bryant, and Mabel Teas. Mrs. Sue Westervelt was a guest.

A musical program was presented by Teresa, Laura, and Kathy Reeves, daughters of Mrs. Lillie Reeves. They played a number of piano selections.

American Political Cartoonist Gave Santa His Face

OLD FASHIONED SANTA — Down the chimney went this old-fashioned Santa after alighting from his reindeer in the fashion made famous in Clement C. Moore's "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The noted 19th Century cartoonist, Thomas Nast, was the first to draw the Santa we know today and this illustration from Harper's Weekly, was one of his earliest. Researchers report that Santa figures on Christmas cards are more popular than ever.

Although it is written plainly enough in American history, the paradoxical story of the "birth" of Santa Claus in the heat of political strife and the tragedy of war is one of the least known of Christmas stories.

It was something of a small Christmas miracle in itself that this personification of mirth, generosity and love of children was created in a time of bitterness and by the nation's greatest political cartoonist.

His name was Thomas Nast. Among the figures that spilled from his imaginative mind and gifted pen onto the pages of Harper's Illustrated Weekly were such now-famous symbols as the Republican elephant, the Democratic donkey, Prosperity's full dinner pail and Labor's square paper hat.

But Nast is rarely remembered today as the creator of the figure he called the favorite of all his inventions—Santa Claus.

The story of the creation of the figure of Santa Claus as we know him today, and the characteristics that have come to be associated with him, is a fascinating bit of history which researchers at Hallmark Cards have been piecing together now for several years.

The figure of Santa that Nast created in 1863, and perhaps even earlier, has proved to be the definitive one, lasting more than a hundred years and even today appearing occasionally on Christmas greetings, they say.

Nast's image of Santa was extraordinary," says Mrs. Jeanette Lee, director of creative art at Hallmark. "He gave Santa many of the qualities that have endeared him to children ever since and we wouldn't dream of tampering very much with them today."

Nast, according to Mrs. Lee, followed in many particulars the description of Santa that Dr. Clement Clarke Moore wrote in 1823 in his "A Visit from Saint Nicholas". But many of his concepts were original. Nast gave Santa his red suit, broad girth, white beard, ruddy cheeks and nose, and fur-trimmed hat and coat.

Even more important, Mrs. Lee notes, are the traditions with which Nast associated Santa, for these have had a greater influence than his appearance. It was Nast who first credited Santa with keeping books on the good and bad children, of having a workshop where he manufactured Christmas toys and of reading the letters sent him by children.

There is a poignant note in the creation of Nast's first Santa because he made his appearance at a time when many American families were separated. Fathers, husbands and brothers were fighting in the war between the North and the South. That year, 1863, Nast visited the front and in an apparent effort to cheer both soldiers and those at home, drew his now-famous "Santa Claus in Camp" for Harper's Weekly.

Nast pictured him as he had probably long imagined the Pelze-Nicol — Saint Nicholas — of his childhood — fur-clad, fat, a jolly old elf. Nast had been born in 1840 in the tiny hamlet of Landau, Bavaria.

His earliest Santa was distinctly different from any artists' creations up to that time. He was shown wearing the stars and stripes of the Union and distributing gifts to soldiers. Actually, this Santa might have been meant as a representation of Uncle Sam also. A later, equally moving Nast illustration featured a soldier's Christmas homecoming.

Nast had come to New York with his mother in 1846, later studied art and was a successful commercial artist at age 15. An extremely patriotic young man, he believed strongly in the Northern cause during the war. Abraham Lincoln once called him "our greatest recruiter."

But even during the fiercest political battles and war itself, Nast observed Christmas with zest and originality in his home and in the illustrations he drew during the Christmas season for Harper's.

Albert Bigelow Paine, a friend and admirer of Nast, said the artist often revealed to him his love of the Santa illustrations. He later wrote in his biography of the cartoonist:

"His own childhood in far-off Bavaria had been measured by the yearly visits of Pelze-Nicol (St. Nicholas) and the Christ-kind (Christ Child) and the girlhood of the woman who was to become his wife (Sarah Edwards of New York) was intimately associated with brilliant and joyous holiday celebrations.

"Nast's children later recall there was always a multitude of paper dolls — marvelous, big and elaborate, a race since become extinct. And the artistic father — more than half a child himself at Christmas season — arranged in processions and marching gay pageants that carved that could not be crowded by the family fireplace.

It was a time of splendor and rejoicing — the festive blossoming of the winter season — it was a beautiful and sturdy family that made Merry Christmas riot in the spacious New York home."

Santa had come to this country along with some of our earliest settlers, the Dutch, and that time his name was Sinterklass (Saint Nicholas), made his annual visit, not Christmas, but on the saint's feast day, December 6. He was thought to have been a fourth century bishop in Asia Minor famed for his kindness, particularly to children.

By 1809, Washington Irving was describing Santa as a diminutive Dutch citizen who looked much like Father Knickerbocker; the novelist wondered how the poor old man could get to all the homes in a growing America on his horse. So he

If your clothing must last a long time, be sure to buy dresses and skirts that are fully lined. These hold their shape far longer and they look better, too. They may cost a bit more than unlined garments, but they're worth the extra expense.

Appliques at the Twist of a Wrist

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The gay round of holiday festivities can be rough on the budget of the teen set. There are more parties than there are dresses in the closet. And no one likes to make the scene too often in the same dress.

Here's a way to make your favorite skimmer look different each time you wear it. With little ingenuity and a twist of the wrist your date dress can really swing — with a change of trim for every party.

Gripper plier kits, found on notion counters everywhere, complete with snap fasteners, are the inspiration for a neat trick that will make any basic dress change in appearance.

With the aid of the plier kit (made by Oakville Division of Scovill Manufacturing Co.) decorative appliques of your own design and choice of fabric can be easily applied to the hem, neckline or placed here and there on the dress. And these can be changed for a different set at any time.

This is all you have to do: work out a little design that appeals to you — a heart, initials, flowers, a musical note or whatever. You can find something in an illustration and trace it. Cut out as many paper samples as you think you will need, pin them on the dress and arrange and rearrange until you get a satisfactory formation.

You may want them around the hem, encircling the neckline or as pocket trim. Having decided upon the arrangement, cut out appliques from the material you have chosen. Felt is a good choice because it is inexpensive and comes in many bright shades. But sturdy cotton can also be used, sheers when cut in several layers, or ribbon or lace. Leather motifs should prove especially popular and add a note of haute couture to your venture.

Make a backing piece for each of the appliques so that the snap fasteners are not applied directly to the garment. The backing pieces, about a half dollar in size, can be made in any color and of any handy fabric thick enough to hold a fastener because they won't show. According to directions on the plier card, the stud of the snap fastener is applied to the backing piece with a twist of the wrist, and then it is hand-basted or glued with sewing adhesive to the spots selected.

The socket side of the snap fastener is then put on by the gripper plier to the back of the applique motif. Voila! Snap the two together and the motif is in place. Now if you want to change from one design to another, all you have to do is snap it off and snap on another in its place. An entirely different effect can be achieved in shifting from one set of appliques to another. Be sure when making an alternate set of motifs to use the same size snap fastener in each case so that they will snap together interchangeably.

QUICK CHANGE — Gripper plier and snap fastener kit is a new decorative trimming scheme that will change the appearance of a dress to suit your fancy. Here a teenager has perked up a tweed shift by snapping on date-time white daisy motifs to replace gold flower appliques she wore to a previous party. A home-sewn felt belt (inset) can be made easily with snap-on, snap-off appliques.

Other fashion uses suggested for this new idea which is taking the young crowd by storm include decorating a blouse, skirt border, sportswear or even a smock.

The same snap-on, snap-off applique idea can be applied to a belt. A felt belt can be made adjustable by the use of several snap fasteners placed a little apart, a fine notion if your weight varies. The pliers in the kit have a gadget on them that can punch holes in belts and at the same time insert eyelets.

This whole idea has at least two things going for it. It can stretch your date wardrobe and also win you applause from your friends for your ingenuity.

For the holidays anything from holly berries to Christmas trees can swing on dancing hemlines now that utilitarian snap fasteners have been propelled into the fashion picture.

When You and I Were Young Maggie

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) —

When Dior's "New Look" took over in the '40s, everyone threw out the short dresses and bought long ones. It was an expensive innovation, but at least you knew what you had to do to be in style.

Now that the youthquake is the current craze, things aren't that simple. Youth is capricious. Just when middle-aged ladies were convinced that to be fashionable they had to let their knees hang out, the kids decided to do an about-face. They started the Granny fad.

This was a mean trick for the youngsters to play on us aging folk. We won't know whether to snip off four inches of hem from last year's dresses or to buy another piece of fabric and tack on about a foot and a half. Mother may still know best. But it's daughter who's calling the fashion shots today. And right now she's saying: "Let's go Granny."

Of course, no one seriously expects mom to walk on the streets in an ankle-length calico. She can safely put scissors to hem. But many an adult is finding that the new Grannies make mighty fine at-home dresses. They're comfortable, quaintly pretty and, best of all, they're cheap. They can be bought for under $10 and if you make your own, the total output could be about $3.

Grannies are Empire dresses, trimmed with eyelets, ruffles and bows and they hang to the floor, Granny fabrics come in with a front-to-back center part. Fasten hair over each ear, then wrap braids around each "tail" and pin securely in place.

For a wrap-around braid, skim all hair back in a ponytail. If the switch isn't braided, braid it, then wrap it twice around the base of the ponytail. Pin, then pin the ends of the pony to the braid.

Ear muffs go with short hair brushed behind the ears or long hair pinned into a twist in back. Take two braids and fold them in half, to form loops that cover the ears. Pin the ends at the crown and pull on a ski cap.

YOUNG GRANNIES — A typical scene in Los Angeles' Disneyland is the young girl in the Granny dress. Contrasting with the ultrashort dresses that are still favorites with teen-agers, the Granny look which stretches to the ankle is sweeping the country. Although not a familiar scene on the streets in the East as yet, the Granny dress has become a popular at-home and teen-age uniform.

polka dots, calicoes, stripes, floral nosegay prints. The fad started in Los Angeles and no one there turns a hair when 15 or 20 Grannies walk on Hollywood Boulevard.

But in New York so far they're mainly staying at home, like good Grannies should. Even in Greenwich Village where anything "way out" turns up, I have only seen one or two after weeks of playing Mawkeye. It was easy for me to scan this most probable scene. I live there.

A few adventurous lasses tried wearing Grannies to school but were told they were verboten. Seems teacher didn't like the long skirts any better than the equally forbidden above-the-knee numbers. Sometimes even the young can not win. But the Granny has its place, to be sure. Teen pajama parties have become Granny parties and Grannies are practically uniforms in the dorms.

These dresses are fun to accessorize, too, with fake Victorian jewelry, chain watches and lockets and Mary Jane slippers. Some enterprising kids are even wearing old-fashioned metal-rimmed eyeglasses with clear glass for the lenses.

The Granny fad does seem to be sweeping the country. And before too many mothers make a fuss about its being silly, I hope they'll ponder its pluses. It is certainly more feminine than pants, more modest than the new short skirts and it does hide those hideous orange and green bold-patterned stockings.

Electronics Terms Aid Consumers

Every field has its language. One of the most confusing to women involves entertainment equipment. With Christmas approaching faster than a baby can burp, it might be wise to brush up on terms salesmen toss about. This helps cut through some confusion when shopping.

"Many women seem to think there's a lot of gobbledygook in the terms connected with home entertainment units," according to B. S. Durant, who heads a mammoth producer of sight- and sound equipment (RCA). "These terms," he points out, "are just as meaningful as 'funnel-shaped jacket' and 'flared peplum' are to fashion." To make you a knowledgeable shopper, here are a few to remember:

Acoustic Lens — Speaker cones are equipped with special baffles that give more apparent stereo separation in narrow television cabinets. This means that sounds really come from left and right, whether the cabinet is 20 or 59 inches wide.

AFC or Automatic Frequency Control — A circuit, built into an FM set, that prevents the receiver (not the station) from drifting and causing in-and-out reception.

Degauss — A gauss is a unit of magnetism that can come from the earth's magnetic field, home appliances or other sources. A degausser demagnetizes or takes away the magnetism that affects a color television picture. In sets without degaussers a serviceman is required to degauss the set with special equipment. Built-in degaussing coils do the job automatically.

FM Stereo — A two-channel stereo broadcast from an FM station for that left-right sound. Simply, left and right signals ride piggyback from the station to the receiver where they are electronically added together and then separated so that the left signal comes out the left channel and the right signal, the right. Trade reports are that experiments in stereo for television have proved successful and eventually will be added to television sets, improving listening enjoyment.

Multiplex — Same as FM stereo. Engineers called it multiplex when they were designing it. The Electronics Industry Assn. gave it the name FM stereo. The term multiplex is now mostly used in connection with "add-on" units that convert a monophonic FM tuner to stereo FM.

Mrs. Homer Johnson Presents Films On Holy Land to Presbyterian Women

Mrs. Homer Johnson, who traveled with her husband through the Holy Land during the month of October, showed colored movies of the trip to the Women of First Presbyterian Church following a covered dish-lunch on Wednesday.

The Johnsons flew from Cairo, Egypt, to the divided city of Jerusalem, then through the lands of the Bible, ending their trip in Rome.

"A Recipe for a Merry Christmas" by Handel H. Brown was the theme for the devotional with which the president, Mrs. McCreery, expressed in thought and prayer her wish for the Advent Season and a Joyous Christmas for all.

The new slate of officers for 1966 was presented by Mrs. Laura Fatheree, and the following were installed by the Rev. Don Hauck with words from the Prophet-Micah:

Beatles Given Credit for Starting The Rebirth of Longer Hairstyles for Men

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — So what's all the fuss about males staying away from the barber shops so their hair can grow to a fashionable length?

Look at the some of those pictures in the history books. Dressed to the nines, George Washington sported long locks. About the time of the Civil War, a picture of Lincoln's cabinet will show you, the barbers didn't have a chance to be so snippy either.

The Beatles, credited with starting the rebirth of longer hair, have just brought back what used to be stylish.

Caring for the longer locks, however, is something males have to grow accustomed to. Not washing the hair often enough when wearing bangs to the eyebrow has been linked to what one doctor has dubbed "Beatle forehead" — pimples stemming from the deposit of hair bacteria on the forehead.

Affects Women's Styles... The Dave Clark Five—a quintet of longhairs—feel that the longer hair worn by types such as they is causing women to wear their hair shorter.

The style of their hair is long for men but short for women when it is copied exactly.

The five—Dave Clark, Mike Smith, Rick Huxley, Lennox Davidson and Denis Payton—said people are always asking them whether it's true women are trying to ape their hair styles.

Smith said the matter of long versus short hair for a female depends on the woman.

"But as a rule, extremes are never in good taste," he said. "Since we've actually appeared in countries where hair styles haven't changed much for centuries, it wouldn't be fair to pick a favorite type."

Smith, as you can see, is the diplomatic type. Davidson said the important thing, male or female, long or short, is that the hair be well groomed.

The "Five" wash their hair practically daily and they use—HOLD ON—baby shampoo. They claim it gentles the hair.

Another surprise: The five young men definitely are opposed to overly long "fringes"—the British word for bangs.

They don't wear their fringes long enough to hide the eyebrows. And they don't thank any woman should.

"Their eyes are too pretty to hide under long fringes," Smith said.

'Sane Toys for Healthy Kids' Receive Praise

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"This toy doesn't kill. It does not scream or explode. It does not conquer, destroy or turn into a vampire. It is a toy train that just toots around and around..."

With ads like this announcing its new "Sane Toys for Healthy Kids" policy for toy production, the Lionel Toy Corp. is taking the first step toward disarming the toy shelves of American children of their weapon and monster-shooting arsenals.

Though it's not my custom to name business firms in this space, this toy firm's decision will so rejoice parents that I make an exception to inform as many as I can about it.

If our children have needed the killing, exploding, screaming, destroying toys, the need is past. There's now enough real killing, real exploding, real destruction proliferating in the grown-up world to feed that blood lust which dwells, we are told, in the depths of childhood's psyche.

In books like "High Wind in Jamaica" and "Lord of the Flies," fine and sensitive novelists insist that boys and girls are intrinsically unfeeling savages who revert into unspearable barbarism the moment adult control is removed. If this is true — and I don't know whether it is — we are certainly reckless to buy them any more of these murdering and monstrous toys which encourage their alleged blood lust to release itself in violence.

If the children must feel impulses to kill, explode and conquer, toys no longer have to help them indulge these impulses. They can indulge vicariously by watching television's reports of the tortured faces of the Vietnamese mothers holding bleeding babies in their arms. If they want to hear screams, television also makes those available by showing us screaming, rioting people who come in all sizes and colors.

The Lionel people have sensed, I think, that too much violence ends by making children apathetic. I hope it cashes in on its release of the violence market to the manufacturers of the real guns, the real bombs, the real missiles and other electronic monsters. The children's weapon industry just can't compete with the actual lovely destructions now being wrought by the boom-boom toys so popular with their elders.

A touch of Christmas may be carried to the kitchen by tucking red flowers and green foliage in candy containers, says the Society of American Florists.

Open House Is Flexible Yule Event

DISCOTHEQUE BUFFET — Planned for the adventurous teen-age holiday merry-makers with wild Op patterns reflecting in the highly polished silver bowls. Fanciful flowers are made from Pop records, centered with mums and trimmed with rick-rick birds. Broad striped cloth is made of material bought at the department store.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you finding holiday parties difficult to plan? Perhaps not, if you are living in the same home and have the same set of friends whose likes, dislikes and social calendars are well-known to you.

But, if you have moved to a new town or a new neighborhood recently, party planning can present some problems. You will need to allow yourself more time to stage the affair.

In this situation, I learned, for example, that the first snag is trying to remember where the fancy dishes are packed. After this treasure hunt, the next time-consuming task will turn up — the need to polish the silver and wash the dust from the glassware. Table linens will almost as certainly need to be laundered or pressed.

Other problems come up when you are on unfamiliar ground. People whom you would like to know better and especially those who have helped you should head your guest list.

But what kind of party to give? Holiday festivities so crowd the calendar in most cities that finding an acceptable open date for a dinner party, for example, may be difficult. To get the "feel" of a town's social life and the activities of the people you're looking for as guests, I cannot recommend too strongly the close reading of your paper's women's pages. Even if the pages do not include long lists of parties, you will learn the dates of major events — a benefit ball, an important luncheon - fashion show, an art gallery opening — with which you may want to avoid a conflict.

Remembering that in other towns many of our friends had a set holiday event each year, I have avoided the limited weekend-dinner party. Those dates are usually taken by the established group.

A flexible type of party I have found satisfactory is the open house on a holiday or on a Sunday during the holiday season. If the hours are sufficiently lenient, guests are free to come and go as best suits their schedules. The informal character of an open house encourages easy-going conversation even with comparative strangers.

What about table settings? Traditional red, green, gold and white color schemes will be favored, according to Barbara Handley, buyer for C. D. Peacock's, Chicago's famed store for the elegant. Holly trees, holly garlands, tall red candles ringed with sprigs of greenery, wreaths of green and Della Robbia wreaths of fruit and greens reflecting in polished silver service and bringing a holiday are always in good taste. Two of Miss Handley's tricks: Use a trophy to hold a spillover of gold-sprayed fruits, twined with holly garlands and elevate a holly tree of buffet height by standing it on an upturned, footed bowl.

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: We're in need of any help you can give us with our 9-year-old son. He lies, has no regard for rules and takes objects from the house without telling us. He gets good marks in school; that is, when he wants to do the work. But he won't obey except when he feels like it. When he's questioned about the wrong he does, he says it's because he wants to

Now he wants to play with girls when there are boys of all ages he can play with.

We're very much upset about all this for we want him to grow up with respect for others and to know that things can't always go his way. He's an only child and we love him very much. But he is not spoiled; We don't always give in to him although he is a very lovable little boy.

We can't afford to take him to a professional consultant. What shall we do? — Air Force Parents

ANSWER: I wish I could give you a magic formula that would solve your problem. But deep-seated problems like yours are the type that teachers refer to the school psychologist whenever possible. He has the background to determine what the basic difficulty is and to work with the child, teacher and parents to correct.

Have you talked with your son's teacher? She may be glad to make a psychological and/or medical referral. Undoubtedly, she's just as upset about your son's behavior at this point as you are.

If you have no school psychologist, there may be a physician, psychologist, or psychiatrist on the base who would be willing to advise you. Have you inquired?

In a similar-sounding case I know of, the school psychologist discovered that the boy's mother, although she loved him dearly, was too fussy and demanding. She didn't give her son a chance to be a boy. When she cut the demands on which both parents insisted he toe the mark — or else — and overlooked his other faults, the boy began to behave, both at school and at home.

Your son's misbehavior, however, may stem from anything such as lack of old-fashioned discipline to brain damage. For his sake and yours, don't go on this way another week. If free professional advice is not available, eat beans to pay for it.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

something for the young, as I am, how about an Op-art buffet setting? See the picture with this article and you'll get the idea. Broad striped cloth of red and white reflected in highly polished silver hollow ware shows dazzling patterns. Pop records are centered with white with rickrack then taped to plant holders and arranged in a frog in a bowl. Napkins are inexpensive, multicolored chiffon squares. Tall glasses of soft drinks, platters of sandwich-makers make a buffet or teen-agers who will be invited to drop in at mid-afternoon to dance and talk.

Purple Needs Matching Cosmetics
There is a lot of purple around in the winter fashions, even though it has been given such fancy names as "eggplant." With the various shades of purple, it's wise to wear a more vivid make-up since they tend to drain color from your face. Use livelier shades of powder and lipstick. And a touch of turquoise eyeshadow helps, too.

● Santa
vented the familiar reindeer-drawn sleigh which Santa, from that time, has raced through the skies from chimney top to chimney top.

Perhaps it was the now-famous poem by Dr. Moore, first published in 1823, that was the inspiration for Nast's illustration of Saint Nick. In the children's classic, the right jolly old elf who looked like a peddler with a pack on his back, was first described in print.

The nation's first Christmas cards were published in the 1870's and Santa appeared on dozens of cards within the next few years, the Hallmark files reveal. From the very first, the cards depicted Santa as a hearty, chubby old gent, much like the first Nast illustrations that had appeared in Harper's Weekly.

Christmas cards illustrated with Santa Claus during the latter 19th Century were largely popular with children. But in recent years, Hallmark researchers report, Santa illustrations have been popular with people of all ages... a nostalgic longing, perhaps, for those happy days when Santa's long-awaited visit was the glorious climax to the annual Christmas celebration.

Although Santa's depiction by today's artists is not stereotyped by any means, Mrs. Lee states, and every artist lends some individuality to his creation, he is essentially still the figure Thomas Nast drew for the Christmas of 1863.

Ribbons for Milady's Hair

PARTY RIBBONS — Hair ribbons, along with many other items once worn by those younger than 16, now go to the most soignée parties. Actress-socialite Dina Merrill uses a variety of ribbons for all occasions. For formal evenings she wears a tennis-neck white chiffon jacket (left) over a white crepe evening gown. Intertwined in a cascade of molded curls (top right) is a moire ribbon. She selects a rose-patterned ribbon (bottom right) to hold a top mold of hair in place for a simple hairdo. Hairstyles by Vincent of Enrico Caruso.

Remember when Bob Hope wooed Jane Russell in "Paleface" with a few choruses of "Buttons and Bows"? The song was a big hit of the '50s and also pinpointed an attitude toward bows, hair ribbons, bustles and other frimfram heralding its wearer as truly feminine.

For awhile teen-agers and their little sisters commanded hair ribbons and bows. But, the swing is back to older women (ancients over 30) wearing them as part of more sophisticated wardrobes.

New York socialite and actress Dina Merrill typifies the change in attitude toward the simple hair ribbon. Miss Merrill likes a wardrobe of gay ribbons in many colors and designs for formal or informal wear.

To make the most of her hair and the ribbons she likes Miss Merrill turned to Vincent of Enrico Caruso for suggestions. For evening Vincent styled her hair in a cascade of molded curls, pulled back from the face to make the most of her fine features.

He intertwined a moire ribbon through the curls starting from the crown to the nape of the neck. He says it isn't a bit difficult to do — with a friend's help.

First brush your hair back off the face, sleek and smooth. Hold it in place with combs or a rubber band. Separate the hair into equal strands. Select a ribbon of inch-wide moire.

U.S. Shoppers Show Compulsion to Spend
The urge Americans have to travel to foreign countries appears unchecked by the President's dictum to "See America First." To encourage more sight-seeing on our own high-

Johnson saw to a cutback in the ways and byways, President Johnson saw to a cutback in the money quota of items bought aboard, effective Oct. 1. You may now spend $100 retail before being assessed duty, and liquor allowance (so important to many; was cut to one quart, duty free.

The President's move was not one of extreme isolationism but an attempt to cut back on the flow of money to foreign countries and correct an imbalance in our currency. In spite of this, thousands continue their overseas trips. And the American Society of Travel Agents reports an increase rather than a cutback in passport applications and reservations for trips abroad — both for business and for pleasure.

With this in mind it was interesting to watch travelers when shopping in a foreign city recently. The opportunity came during a visit to Rome to act as judge for the Young Stylemaker Contest sponsored by Singer company. Significant was the almost compulsive urge of Americans I watched in shops so spend money — for anything.

Once upon a time the shopper in another country could brag about the "buys" she got on her return home. This no longer is true in most European cities. The shopper who concentrates on folk art and items handcrafted locally probably gets the most for his money. In the case of clothing, the shopper with the time for several personal fittings in a small custom shop can buy a suit or coat of good material and super workmanship far less expensively the better U.S. ready-to-wear. Most clothing in stores. (See SHOPPERS, Page 27)

Yuletide Arrangement

Green holly with its tight little clusters of scarlet berries seem to sing out Christmas cheer. Wreaths of holly are the traditional use to which the gay branches are put. However there are many other uses that are equally attractive and in keeping with the Christmas season.

The Society of American Florists suggests that holly branches be combined with flowers and other greens in an attractive arrangement — either for a credenza in the hall, a library table, or on a buffet in the dining room.

Red, red roses are a happy choice because they repeat the color of the holly berries. Your florist can help you to select the proper shade of these fragrant blossoms. Holly is rather stiff, so graceful sprays of pine are used to add softness to this rather formal arrangement. Any type of pine may be added, but sprays with longer needles are more appropriate.

Velvet Steals the Yule Scene

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Velvet has no rival for elegance. The moment you slip into it you feel queenly.

But at one time it did have its drawbacks. It showed every spot and shined up whenever you sat down.

Now those disadvantages are gone and you can wear this luxurious fabric without a care. The new boulevard velvets are spot- and crush-resistant. A new finish even permits them to come in out of the rain with no telltale spots.

If they seem to need perking up, their original freshness can be restored by a half-hour session over a steaming tub. To raise the nap, brush upward lightly when dry.

Because of these new built-in qualities, velvet is now a favorite for all late-day fashions. For formal occasions it is pure enchantment in the single bare-shoulder silhouette, the tunic with a satin underskirt and gowns wrapped in satin-lined coats or fluid stoles.

Short velvet disco dresses are romantic and full of dance appeal. And for the cocktail hour the velvet Chanel-type suit teamed with a rolled-collar satin blouse can't be topped.

The modern, easy-care boulevard velvets keep pace with the times. There is a heaping dose of practicality hidden in their deceptive beauty.

For an unusual taste in salad dressings, mash a banana into a cup of mayonnaise.

YULETIDE FASHIONS — Boulevard velvet with its crush- and spot-resistant qualities will play an important role in fashion for late-day and evenings during the holiday season. Its queenly beauty is intensified (left) by a jewel-encrusted satin bodice and graceful satin-lined stole in this design by Rappi. The art of baring one shoulder is achieved at its devastating best in the slender gown (right) by Will Steinman in deep shades of velvet that radiate a flattering glow over the complexion.

Dip a dishcloth in vinegar to remove grease easily from a stove top.

Food stuck to a skillet can be removed by rubbing with salt.

An easy to make mistletoe star may be fashioned from coathanger wire, says the Society of American Florists.

Twist the wire into star shape, wrap with floratape, and tie a string of tiny Christmas lights and mistletoe sprigs to the star using green cord. Space the lights evenly with one at each point. Instead of a lighted star, a tiny white rose may be attached at each point of the star.

Express Your Individuality in Yule Decorations

Do-it-yourselfers can have a "field day" with Christmas decorations.

An abundance of flowers, containers for doors, windows, wall areas, mantels, banisters, and other areas, says the Society of American Florists.

Greens are basic. Those available include balsam fir, white pine, yew, holly, Austrian pine, ground pine, juniper, arbutus, mountain laurel, white spruce, Norway spruce, and boxwood.

For the reds, greens, and "golds" in Christmas decorations, recommended flowers include carnations, roses, gladioli, large mums, and pompons. All are available in red, white, or brilliant yellows, the Society reports. White snapdragons also are available.

SAP says an attractive Christmas wreath can be made from a circle of coathanger wire. Wire evergreen sprays against the frame around the entire circle, turning one group inward and the next outward. When the end is reached, the last spray should be carried under the first one, the Society points out. Roses, carnations, gladioli, mums, pompons, cones, berries, and ribbon may be added.

For an easy-to-make door spray to greet holiday guests, simply wire three or four branches of evergreens together and fan out, at the bottom, the ends of the branches. Colorful ornaments — a bow, tree ornaments, bells, or pine cones — may then be attached.

The Society points out that, with the rapid increase in community "best decorated" contests, the desire of homeowners is to go far beyond these easy decorations. Your local florist would be pleased to custom-make decorations whose distinctiveness will set your house apart from others this holiday season.

Skin Care Banishes Those Telltale Lines

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor

Let's face it. We all get tired of hearing complexions romanticized in such terms as "glowing," "radiant," "peaches and cream." "Little-girl perfection." Yet, our feigned boredom may be sparked by envy.

It is true that certain skin types present more problems than others. Women, though, would have more youthful-looking complexions if they followed the basic rules of skin care.

A woman's approach to her mental and physical health is the root of her appearance. Skipped meals, starchy or sugary snacks and little exercise do little for her.

In addition to revamping your diet for a balanced one of fruits, vegetables and protein, assemble essential beauty aids for facials that contribute their share to "the glowing" complexion.

Your needs depend upon whether you have dry or oily skin. Visiting a facial salon is a big aid in determining specifically what your skin type is. Generally, you'll need a rich cleansing cream, toning lotion and lubricant for dry skin; a liquefying and mask for oily skin.

A woman who specializes in complexion care, Estee Lauder, gives these tips:

Remove all make-up with a creamy milk cleanser smoothed over the face and tissue off. Repeat to cleanse skin thoroughly.

Next, saturate a cotton pad with a skin lotion that is helpful in normalizing skin, refining pores and removing blackheads.

TIPS ON CARE — Skin lotion with an astringent ingredient helps normalize skin and remove blackheads. Apply with cotton pad daily.

You will feel your skin tighten once this is applied. Now you may apply your moisturizing cream or underfoundation lotion.

Skin care begun now puts your complexion in a happy mood for the holiday season.

Try sweetening whipp cream with powdered sugar. It insures better peaks of whipped cream than granulated does.

Designer Jo Copeland Takes a Dim View of Youth Bingo, Kooky Togs

across the room at Sardi's and saw a woman in her 40s wearing a dress so short that it showed a large expanse of fat knees and thighs.

"I don't get it," Miss Copeland said. "What makes a mature woman think that showing her knees makes her look young? She looks as silly as though she had stuck a lollipop in her mouth."

"Knowledgeable ways of designing and cutting CAN make a woman's body look young. But short skirts won't do it."

Short skirts naturally led to a discussion of the Mod look. And Jo Copeland feels that all the Mod clothes look unprofessional, as though they had been made by mother's loving hand.

"Have you seen those ridiculous dresses with the big bull's-eye right in the center front? They look like amusing costumes for a party and make one itch to shoot at the target!" The lady seemed to be in a shooting frame of mind that day.

She strongly objects to long hair hanging over the face, a favorite Mod look. And she was delighted to read a newspaper article by a dermatologist who said this hair style was causing acne among teen-agers because dandruff gets on the skin.

"If they won't stop this nonsense for aesthetic reasons, maybe they will if their health is involved."

This designer believes the Mod look is the result of desperation to be noticed, a desire to hit the eye in a hurry. The youngsters, she feels, don't realize there's a more subtle way to attract attention without stopping people in their tracks by wearing bizarre clothes and gimmicky hairdos.

"You could achieve the same effect by walking down the street in your panties. But who would?"

Jo Copeland feels that the press is wrong to give so much space to kooky clothes. This type of showcase, she thinks, convinces the people who look to the fashion press for guidance that they must wear fad styles to be in the fashion picture.

Her own collections, year after year, prove that this kind of thinking is untrue. Her clothes

Spruce-Up For Holiday Pewter

Getting ready to polish your pewterware for the holidays? You may want to try these suggestions from Family Circle Magazine:

Use a soft cloth and regular pewter polish on modern pewterware. Always rub in the direction of the shape of the article. Remember that pewter is a soft metal and is easily scratched, so never use an abrasive on it. Keep pewter away from heat, and don't let pewter pieces touch one another, for contact causes dark "burn" marks.

Never polish antique pewter. To keep it looking presentable, just wash it occasionally in hot suds and dry with a soft cloth.

are geared to the lady with taste and, above all, a desire to look beautifully feminine. No woman can move into a man's orbit and do it well, she believes.

For example, this fall she has designed an emerald green gown with its own Persian embroidered coat, lined in American beauty satin.

Today's Shorter Hemlines Affect What Type Foundation Garments Are Worn

Have shorter skirts influenced foundation garment design? Yes, indeed!

There's a fresh new look to underpinnings that is definitely related to the rising of hemlines. It's not altogether due to the fact that foundations are more likely to be seen nowadays when one climbs onto a bus, or dances the frug. It's partly that shorter skirts are an expression of a younger look in fashion, and this younger look is reflected in what one wears underneath.

Pantie girdles are edged in lace; patterned with flowers or polka dots; solidly colored in hues other than basic white, black and beige. They also are ruffled and ribboned. And who can deny eye appeal as a factor in selecting a foundation!

Still, there's the matter of function that all but the most figure-perfect Jill or Jane must consider. And function can be had along with frills in the newest of all types of foundations.

Pantie girdles, while stretchy and sheer, maintain their curve control via overlays of elastic; darting and seaming, or paneling strategically placed.

Girdles and pantie girdles, when necessary, rise high to mold a smooth midriff. Corsets continue to shape the figure from bosom to thigh. Brassieres, though generally soft, are still designed to uplift and to round (but never to exaggerate!) the bustline.

And the ways in which brassieres accommodate themselves to varying requirements of outer fashions is truly remarkable: front clasps and demi-cups make way for daring décolletages; one shoulder or both can be bared; seamless cups let nothing interrupt the fit of a knit; brassieres are mated to half-slips that are slit high for ease in motion.

The young look of fashion is expressed in many ways, including its proper foundations as well as its high-rising hemlines. It's a wise woman who recognizes the relationship of one to the other, and selects her wardrobe accordingly.

Pick a Pattern For Personality

NEW YORK — Girls with similar tastes like slightly different things - and that goes for silver patterns, too, according to the November "Seventeen". The girl who likes love stories with happy endings, rose and canopy beds, for example, will probably like very feminine, flowery flatware. But if she prefers a more tailored feminine look, loves canopy beds but thinks ruffles are fussy, she's apt to like a more subtle floral pattern.

In the modern mood, too, there are subtle variations. The girl who goes for jazz, modern jewelry and abstract art, and wore Mary Quant clothes before they were "in," may go for a sleek, futuristic design in silver. But if she likes classic contemporary lines, thinks pop art is fun but really prefers Picasso, a less avant-garde style will suit.

For a change, serve chicken a la king or creamed tuna inside a noodle ring. Make the noodle ring by preparing noodles according to package directions. Pour noodles into a buttered, round ring and place in hot water. Unmold and fill center with sauce.

Socialite Swaps Parties for Paints

BRUSH WITH SOCIETY — Sofia Bassi, wife of a Mexican industrialist, relies on her dreams and extrosensory perception for artistic ideas. Her surrealistic paintings now fill time once occupied by society balls and bridge games.

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Ever wonder what to do with those night dreams? Try painting them. This is what dark-haired, white Sofia Bassi has done. The Senora is several decades younger than when the upstate Senora Bassi is a trim grandmother from Mexico City. However, her move into the art-of interest? During a recent showing at the Lys Gallery in Manhattan she explained she credits her yoga studies for much of her success. She is a surrealist in the truest sense, "having a genuine lyricism and a true feel for the relations of image to space in both their plastic and symbolic significance," one descriptive blurb indicates. She believes extrasensory perception sharpens her work, too.

On top of this, Senora Bassi gave up her bridge games, charity balls, rounds of cocktail parties and such to paint 16 hours or more each day for the last 1 1/2 years. As the wife of wealthy Mexican industrialist Gian Franco Bassi, being a society leader was her expected niche. "Many of my friends are still upset with me," she said, "but others urge me to continue my painting."

She also is one of the few women who insisted her husband not give her a mink coat for Christmas as he usually did! Her strong feelings about this luxury followed an encounter in her city's streets with starving waifs. "I came home and cried for three days. I shouldn't say this because my city won't appreciate others knowing there are such sad, poor children here!" However, Senora Bassi assured her she would get her coat, and could "adopt" some orphans, too. This she did and now is the patroness of 60 youngsters housed and educated in the Maria Auxiliadora.

Even this generosity bugged some of her acquaintances. Each year Senora Bassi donates the money she would spend for their Christmas gifts to the children. The priests writes break or bore after a few hours of play. At least, I have pointed out to her how short-lived some of her "gimme" enthusiasms have been.

If truth is told, her longest hours of play are spent trying to train the dog to act, climbing trees and activities unrelated to most commercially pushed toys.

This year my special project is outfitting her room to be less of a jungle and more of a pleasant haven. Part of this project will take the form of Christmas presents.

In several furniture collections are the small accessory pieces that make gifts of enduring value for youngsters. Miniature chests, for example, are replicas of larger chests of drawers in the same colors. These hold assorted treasures, depending on the age of the child, and should last for years.

A dressing table or vanity is another delightful surprise. A new lamp, suitable for student use, is an acknowledgment that the youngster is growing up. So thank you notes, she explained, for the youngsters to these friends. Many firms do this in the United States in lieu of business gifts. However, she said, "Some of my friends are upset by this."

And upset is not what Sofia Bassi wants to be these days. Her search for serenity led her to yoga, she explained. "I wanted to be serene like my husband but I was explosive and temperamental."

She said she learned to direct her energy. "I don't try to intellectualize or paint consciously or analyze my work," she said. She remembers her dreams well and also makes notes.

She credits yoga with ridding her of horrible nightmares. "Now I dream such beautiful thoughts and I also learned that one must not deviate from the path of life. You are responsible for yourself. Now I get up in the morning, open the window and start the day by saying everything is peaceful and blessed."

Whether it is "Low World," "Singing Tree," or "The Virgin" (her favorite) she paints levitation — everything goes up, meaning happiness. "If my creatures go down, then it is sad."

Currently her paintings sell for $350 to $1,500. So all young grandmothers, sharpen your dreams, take notes and see what materializes from the canvas. Incidentally, Sofia Bassi dreams in color.

are the deep, plushy bedside rugs.

I don't mean to be a spoilsport and rule out the toys of Christmas. Every mother knows whether her daughter loves dolls or whether her enthusiasm for the latest (and usually expensive) doll has been kindled by television.

Better than spending a lot of dough for something you'll have to shame your child in to playing with a month from now, I prefer to invest in something I think will bring more satisfaction over a longer period of time. I will use Christmas stockings for the inexpensive, bright, funny — and expendable — trinkets.

It is not asking too much to ask a child to give cheerfully to someone less fortunate, and we continue to ask and to expect co-operation in planning gifts of toys and food and money for children here and abroad.

Remember when we used to chide children for having the "gimmies?" I hadn't thought about it until my youngest child started hammering for a long list of Christmas gifts — obviously heavily influenced by television commercials. The sing-song soprano prefacing every sentence with "I want..." or "Give me..." made me realize we were past due for a chat about giving and receiving. It was time to dispel some of the glamor of the animated action on television commercials. At the age of 9 1/2, Tyler is beginning to realize the wastefulness of gimcrack toys that

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

IT WAS a surprise to learn there is a county judge so naive as to be "not in the habit of giving news to reporters and not in the habit of keeping news from them." . . . That was the Gray County judge's explanation for not informing newsmen about the action taken by county commissioners in raising their salaries and the salaries of the county judge. . . . It is inconceivable that a public official who has been in office as long as the county judge would not have had at least a hazy idea that it might be of interest to the public that the commissioners had given themselves an approximate 28 per cent raise and tossed in an approximate 22 per cent hike for the judge. . . . Apparently it never occurred to the judge that this was news and something the public was entitled to know. . . . He just flatly says that he is not "news conscious." . . . This would indicate that the outlook for news from the county judge's office and the commissioners court (since the judge keeps all the minutes) is not too bright. . . . The judge says the whole thing has been due to a breakdown in communications. He can say that again. . . . The breakdown has been going on for several years. . . .

ONE WONDERS if the judge was boning up on how to be "news conscious" when he was housed for a long time last Thursday with an Amarillo News reporter. . . . The following morning the newspaper carried a front page story headlined, "Gray Commissioners Defend Pay Increase." . . . We didn't know anyone had been questioning the salary increases or that the commissioners had found it necessary to defend themselves on that score, too. . . . What was being questioned, and still is, was the procedure used before and after the increases were authorized. . . . That was and still is the issue—not whether the judge and commissioners are underpaid or overpaid. . . . Come to think of it, are they?

IT STILL is not crystal clear just how that Sept. 17 public hearing on the budget was handled. . . . The county judge indicated it was a "more or less fill-in-the-blank" proposition. . . . In other words, pull a figure out of the air for the public hearing and then insert the "actual" figure when the budget is finally drawn up. . . . That seems like a heck of a way to run the store. . . . A question that can be asked now is, what purpose is served by a phantom public hearing like that? . . . No definite figures, just a considered guess with the real amount to be filled in later. . . . The county judge says this was all perfectly legal.

GRANTED THAT technicalities of the law permit that kind of sloppy procedure in order to be on the safe side legally, what about the businesslike procedure of right? . . . What about the commissioners raising their salaries and the salary of the county judge a very substantial amount with no public knowledge of the action until the minutes of that meeting finally showed up in the county clerk's office two months later? . . . Those minutes revealed that salary raises for the judge and the commissioners were in the 22 and 28 per cent brackets. . . . Other major county officials were given approximately 7 per cent increases with one exception—the county treasurer and the county's treasurer's chief clerk. . . . They received nothing in the way of an increase. . . . Then on last Wednesday the commissioners okayed a 3 per cent raise for employees further down the line. . . . Some of the county workers are taking the 3 per cent hike with chilled attitude and tongue in cheek. . . . One called it "salve for the wounds." . . . Another stated it looked like "hush-puppy" stuff.

A PLAIN, ordinary citizen who showed up at last Wednesday's commissioners court session wants to know why it is called a "public" meeting? . . . He says he sat in the third row front and could hear only an occasional word from the soft-spoken commissioners, and asks how are you supposed to know what's going on when you can't even hear what's being said? . . . Seems like a fair question.

THE COUNTY judge says he plans in the future to keep the press informed. . . . Of course, there is the worry as to how one who has not been "news conscious" for six years is going to overcome the malady overnight. . . . But, we hope he does, and shall be looking forward to some good news stories out of the county judge's office and the commissioners court real soon. . . . Give 'em a chance, we always say. . . . It is to be hoped the old motto, "Do it tomorrow, you've made enough mistakes today," will be tossed smack-dab out the window. . . . We have a sneaking suspicion that all the uncertainty about very questionable procedures (legal or otherwise) could have been avoided if all the players had kept the cards on top of the table with no dealing from the bottom of the deck.

THE CITY Hall Cat, which spent most of its time wandering through court house corridors the past week, showed up last night and seemed to be sleeker and fatter than ever. . . . He wasn't really missing. . . . Just wandered a bit from the home grounds.

NOW FOR a quick change of subject—to something lighter and brighter. . . . It's never good to have a dessert that leaves a bad taste and spoils the whole meal. . . . So, we wondered if you had noticed that women's skirts are getting shorter and shorter. . . . Most men have. . . . But how many women have noticed that men's trousers are also getting shorter and shorter? . . . Not many. . . . Does this imply that shorter skirts are for some reason more interesting than shorter trousers? . . . Whatever it is, men, let's not fight it. . . . After all, every woman in a short skirt is one more less woman in plaid slacks. . . . By the way, have you returned your contribution for those Christmas seals? —DFD

Massive Expansion of U.S. Combat Forces in Viet Nam Planned, To Counter Red All-Out Offensive

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is summoning the top bipartisan leaders of Congress to lay before them proposals for a further massive expansion of U.S. combat forces in South Viet Nam.

As submitted by Defense Secretary McNamara, following his latest trip to the fighting front where he conferred with General Westmoreland and other commanders, the new far-reaching buildup calls for the following:

—U.S. ground forces to be increased to 250,000 by next May, with an immediate enlargement to 200,000 by the middle of January. Current ground force strength is 170,000.

—Naval air and sea forces to be increased to 60,000 by May, with an immediate goal of 50,000 by January 15. Present strength is 40,000.

—Selected reserve units to be called into active service to meet these heavy personnel needs. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have strongly recommended that several times. Also likely are considerable increases in the monthly draft quotas.

The congressional leaders also will be told of a major decision by the President to intensify the air war against North Viet Nam.

The President has finally authorized the bombing of a dozen or so airfields in the crucial Hanoi-Haiphong area—where more than 200 Russian jet fighters and short-range bombers have been photographed by U.S. reconnaissance planes in the past three weeks.

Upwards of 100 of the jet fighters were latest-model MIG-21s; some 70 were older versions of this plane, and there were around 20 bombers.

BIG RED BUILDUP — General Westmoreland informed Secretary McNamara that regular North Viet Nam troops are being infiltrated into South Viet Nam at the rate of 3,000 a month through Laos and Cambodia.

Also that from prisoners of war and other sources it has been learned that General Nguyen Giap, chief North Viet Nam strategist who defeated the French in 1951, plans to build up an army of six or more regular divisions in South Viet Nam by May for a "final overwhelming offensive."

In the meanwhile, he aims to inflict 20,000 to 30,000 casualties on U.S. troops.

It is Giap's belief that such heavy losses will "shock the American people" and they will "force an end to the war." That is what North Viet Nam Prime Minister Pham Van Dong told a French diplomat in Hanoi several weeks ago.

Van Dong indicated North Viet Nam is prepared to take five to one casualties to impose such large losses on the U.S.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist prime minister of Laos, confirmed the greatly increased infiltration of North Vietnamese regulars through his country.

In a conference last week with the U.S. Ambassador, Souvanna Phouma stated that around 9,000 North Viet Nam troops have entered his country and are largely concentrated near Thakhet, a strategic communications center in the "waist" of Laos. Control of Thakhet would be for extensive infiltration into Thailand.

Souvanna Phouma expressed gravest concern regarding these menacing North Vietnamese operations. So have Thai officials. They are convinced North Viet Nam is sending large numbers of guerrillas into Thailand through Cambodia and Laos.

General Westmoreland wants permission to bomb Vietnamese infiltration routes and concentrations in Cambodia and the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

This proposal is strongly supported by Prince Souvanna Phouma and Thailand.

In the former's talk with the U.S. Ambassador, the Laos prime minister pointedly indicated he favored such air strikes in his country. Thai officials are vigorously urging such attacks, particularly against threatening Vietnamese infiltrations in Cambodia.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff fully support such measures.

RED AIR BUILDUP — On one of the airfields in the Hanoi-Haiphong complex more than 40 MIG-21s were spotted last week. This field is only 12 miles from Hanoi. The nearest target to the North Viet Nam capital so far hit by U.S. planes was a ground-to-air (SAM) missile site 22 miles to the southwest.

On information from prisoners of war and other sources, U.S. authorities believe the Red bombers and MIG-21s are piloted by Chinese, Russians and Poles.

In one instance last week, Navy pilots reported sighting a formation of 20 MIG-21s. The enemy planes made no attempt to attack. They appeared to be engaged in training exercises.

U.S. planes are now attacking SAM missile sites — estimated at around 40 in North Viet Nam. So far 79 SAMs have been fired at U.S. planes, with eight hits. U.S. planes are now equipped with a highly secret device to counter these deadly Soviet weapons.

Intelligence estimates there are 8,000 conventional anti-aircraft guns in North Viet Nam. They range from dual-mounted heavy machineguns to radar-controlled 57mm.

Since last February an estimated 570 had been destroyed.

STRICTLY BUSINESS—There is nothing altruistic about Communist East Germany's permitting West Germans to visit relatives and friends during holidays and other occasions. These events are very profitable for the Reds. The Ministry for all-German Affairs (Bonn) estimates that this year East Germany has netted more than 96 million western marks (approximately $25 million) from them. Retired Senator Harry Byrd's choice suite of large and spacious offices on the second floor of the Senate Office Building is going to a former colleague with whom he disagreed 100 per cent on virtually everything — Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore. Under the seniority system, Morse has first claim on these offices and he is exercising it. He is now located in a smaller suite on the fourth floor.

Thoughts while shaving: Nearly everyone uses a cigarette lighter these days, but did you know they were invented soon after World War I by a British army officer who had only one arm? . . . This Christmas you're going to hear a lot about "soft" whiskey. It's nothing more than ordinary liquor, usually about 86 proof, that has been given a "lighter" taste. You can drink it straight, but it has as much of a wallop as any other kind. . . . You can't win when it comes to buying a new automobile. Prices of 1966 models may average $65 higher this year due to the inclusion of safety items as standard equipment. But this is approximately equal to the savings by partial elimination of the excise tax earlier this year. No matter how you figure it, the price of the car will be about the same. . . . You don't see many newsboys on the streets anymore, but they do deliver morning and afternoon editions to homes in most cities and towns. Incidentally, the idea of employing youngsters to sell and deliver newspapers originated in England in the 1700's. Horatio Alger glorified the American newsboys in his many inspirational novels years ago. . . . The Hartford (Conn.) TIMES reported in a story: "The incident at the jail caused the sheriff to order his men to check their shacking equipment for defects." Maybe they should have checked their shacking equipment before the incident.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Painful Truth Doesn't Sell As Well As Pleasant Fiction

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

Jonathan Swift, the author of "Gulliver's Travels," was a great hoaxer. He wrote so convincingly of the voyage of the imaginary ship's doctor to imaginary lands that many readers actually believed Gulliver to be a living person. As in the case of many writers, not all that Swift wrote had an immediate market.

In fact, one of Gulliver's travels never was published at all. This narrative begins after return from the Isle of Lilliput, the voyage to Brobdingnag, and the adventures among the Yahoos. Some time after those events, the inquisitive Captain Lemuel Gulliver set sail for the Land of United Stupidity.

It seems the inhabitants of that country were characterized by a tendency to arrive at civic decisions by consensus. The solution ventured for any problem was not necessarily the solution that fit the problem, but rather some activity on which the greater number of persons could agree. In the words of Gulliver: "Thus vigorous ideas were shunted aside for the languid, the deep for the shallow, the painfully true for the pleasantly plausible, the long-term and durable for the immediate and transitory. The whole process of deliberation might have been performed as well, if not better, as if the most stupid response had been initially proposed and adopted. For that's what it all eventually came to."

The citizens had a different name for their country, but Gulliver translated it the Land of United Stupidity.

When he first arrived, the seaman found the native Stupidites engaged in a great debate about how to deal with their enemies, the Blues. Some felt the warlike Blues might be defeated by the Caesarian tactic, divide and conquer. They proposed that internal stress be created within the ranks of the foe by turning the good Blues against the bad Blues. This led to the question of how to determine which was which since all Blues were noted for their cunning and savagery.

Lesser Evil
Ultimately the Stupidites arrived at a consensus. They decided that the good Blues would be the lesser of two evils. This particular subsection of the enemy had a pastime of experimenting with rats. They would take a hungry rat, a stovepipe, a board and some nonconforming individual of the community. They would place the stovepipe atop the vital organs of the nonconformist. They would place the rat inside the stovepipe, sealing it in with the board. The craven animal then would have to devise a method of escape.

The bad Blues, on the other hand, were not so kind. Their practice was to torture by indirection. They tortured fathers and mothers mentally by cutting off the feet of their children and letting the stricken babes toddle to their parents' loving arms on bloody stumps.

Stupidites knew all this. Nevertheless they gravitated to the inevitable decision that the way to defeat the enemy was to send gifts of food to the good Blues in the expectation that they would become stronger than the bad Blues. The program terminated in a logical consequence. The good Blues did become stronger, and for a period of time the mentally dull but physically industrious Stupidites did a thriving business in the manufacture of stovepipes.

As a satirist, author Swift was equipment. But this is approximately equal to the savings by partial elimination of the excise tax earlier this year. No matter how you figure it, the price of the car will be about the same. . . . You don't see many newsboys on the streets anymore, but they do deliver morning and afternoon editions to homes in most cities and towns. a bit grisly at times. Some blame is to be found in the fact that this ghastly tale never was published, and even more in that it never was written. The only reason for reviewing the imaginary yarn here is to call attention to the truth thinly concealed in it.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "I see the court has decided that Communists do not have to register as members of the Communist Party. . . . Why, then, must Democrats or Republicans register as members of the Democratic or Republican Party? . . . Why can't the decision as to whether a Communist can vote or run for public office be determined by the individual states? Why can't the individual states require that a Communist register as such, just as the state determines the qualifications of literacy in order to vote (such as New York requiring an 8th grade education)?"

"Or have I got two entirely different concepts confused? It seems that if the states individually could require Communist registration, then all that would be necessary to render the court decision ineffectual would be to have all 50 states require that registration."

ANSWER: Registration to vote or to be a candidate for office has nothing to do with the federal law requiring the Communist Party and its members to register as agents of a foreign power.

Presumably, the states still have authority to set some restrictions on voting registration, although the recent voting act passed by Congress has eliminated literacy tests in certain states.

States apparently have no authority to require Communists to register as agents of a foreign power. Various anti-Communist measures in states have been nullified, because of federal laws having first occupied the field.

HOW TO END ONE NUISANCE (Chicago Tribune)

Diplomatic and consular automobiles may be immune from the laws of traffic, much to the annoyance of the citizens of Washington, New York, and elsewhere—but their immunity doesn't extend to the laws of physics. When two shiny, four-wheeled back objects met in the same New York intersection at the same moment the other day, there was bound to be a crash. And the sympathy of bystanders turned quickly to amusement when they noticed that both cars bore special license plates and other insignia proclaiming their right to disobey traffic laws.

One was owned by the consul general of Spain and the other by the consul general of Argentina. Fortunately nobody was seriously hurt. We don't know who went through the red light, but it must have given the police some pleasure to explain to the innocent party that there was nothing they could do—"diplomatic immunity, you know."

Which tempts us to wonder what would happen if all diplomats practiced their immunity on one another instead of on the unprotected public. Diplomats might be allowed to park in No Parking zones, for example, only when these zones are right in front of some other embassy or consulate. Obnoxious drunks from one embassy might be granted diplomatic immunity from arrest only when the people they insult are from another foreign mission. Diplomats could drive through stop signs only when another diplomat's car is in their path.

We suspect that this would bring a prompt end to the absurd practice of allowing diplomatic immunity to all sorts of inconsequential officials committing offenses which have no bearing on their diplomatic duties.

A thought for the day: English satirist Jonathan Swift said: "Satire is a sort of glass, wherein beholders generally discover everybody's face but their own."

Cannel At Bay
By Ward Cannel
What Would Archimedes Say? NEW YORK (NEA) — The announcement reprinted below will explain itself.

It was mimeographed in Tokyo by an electronics firm called the Majima Company Ltd., and needless to say was sent here via air mail.

English Course in Bath Offered With Bull-In Device (Patented)

Gentlemen in their bath may learn English and become fluent enough to use it on their overseas trips.

This is promised by the Majima Company Ltd. of Sugami-ku, Tokyo, Japan, which has come out with a device that greets a gentleman in the bath with tape-recorded English conversation lessons.

"Good morning," it says and "How are you?" and "Good-by."

A loudspeaker blares out the message each time the door is opened, and continues for three minutes.

The English conversation lesson advances with each unit.

There are a total of 18 reels divided into beginners, middle and advanced courses. . . . A Japanese gentleman will be ready for his overseas trip by the time he completes his middle course.

Instead of English conversation tapes, you can put other music tapes in the device. Then you can enjoy music in the bath.

(Signed) H. Majima
Well, as regular readers know, we are wholeheartedly in favor of using your spare time for self-improvement. And, in fact, we have reported several times on scientific endeavors to teach people while they sleep.

But apparently those experiments have not worked out too well, judging by this late news from Tokyo.

Whether learning in the bath will prove to be more successful is impossible to say, although we must confess that we do not like the whole idea, no matter how effective it may be.

To begin with, the lesson commences when the door is opened. Consequently, you dare not turn on the tap until the lesson is over, or the splashing water will drown out the sound of the speaker.

And to stand there in your skin for three minutes while some disembodied voice blares out "Good morning" and "How are you?" and "Goodby" over and over — well, it seems to us like a rather inconvenient way to learn English, as well as an unnecessary shock to the system.

We can also foresee difficulties arising in the dead of night if you suddenly have to get up to take some oil of cloves.

It would also seem necessary to keep the bathroom under lock and key between lessons. Otherwise you run the risk of having the door opened by unarticulated visitors, and then where are you?

Irrevocably behind in your studies, that is where. And unable forever after to blare out some vital question such as, "Where is my light meter?"

These are only technical problems to be sure. But they cannot be discounted. To our way of thinking, the way you learn something is just as important as the subject matter itself.

We learned French in a high school classroom for example, and after all these years can only say "Mom frere nage dan l'encrier." True, we say it beautifully. But there are very few times, even in France, when you have to explain that your brother swims in the inkwell.

As to learning English in the bathroom, our inclination is to doubt the advisability of it.

We have a great fondness for the bath, and retire there as to a citadel amidst the random industries and distractions of the world.

It is no mere coincidence that Archimedes discovered the principle of displacement while in the bath. Or that Narcissus discovered himself in the bath. Or that Charlotte Corday discovered Georges Jacques Danton in the bath.

Self-improvement like this requires peace and solitude, and can never be accomplished while somebody is blaring "Good morning" and "How are you?" and "Goodby."

A great deal can be said for investing spare time with profitable endeavors. But some hours are shining enough and do not need to be improved.

David Brinkley Deals With Congress

By JOAN CROSBY
NEW YORK (NEA) — David Brinkley says it is not true that Congress has not streamlined its methods since it was invented in 1786. "Congress," he says, "has now reached the level of a bookkeeper at a stand-up desk, wearing paper cuffs and using a quill pen." Congress comes under the scrutiny of the unique Brinkley in an NBC-TV Special, "Congress Needs Help."

Two years ago David had the idea of hiring a management consulting firm to study Congress. "But it was hard to get a company to do the job."

"They didn't say why, but I suppose no one wanted to antagonize Congress." Eventually, Arthur D. Little Inc. accepted the commission. ("Little is the man," David says, "who made a silk purse out of a sow's ear just to prove it could be done. He took a sow's ear and by some chemical process turned it into silk, then had a purse made of it.")

The result of the survey reveals an organization that is "overwhelmed, outmanned and outperformed. Congress has 535 caliphs, sultans, czars, each his own boss. Most of the members are greatly overworked. Most, there is one member from West Virginia who does not want to work. Every time he is in danger of becoming a committee chairman — they rise by seniority — he resigns from the committee and joins another where he becomes the junior member."

Brinkley says Congress knows it needs help. "All summer long they had a committee talking about it, but they didn't agree. Nobody took it seriously because most reforms strip someone of power, and you may as well ask congressmen to commit hara-kiri. It's like trying to sell land reform to the guy who owns the land."

In the program, Brinkley contrasts the efficiently computerized Du Pont Company ("they can tell instantly who is using too many thumbtacks"), which spends $2.3 billion a year with sloppy, inefficient Congress, which disburses $100 billion with practically no information. "Anybody in Congress who is worth anything at all is working on about 40 important things at once. This doesn't count all the people who want to be postmasters. One congressman told me there was a postmaster's opening in a little town in Texas with a population of 780, and he got 1,500 letters requesting the job."

He suggested those seated in the front flash their torches in the orchestra pit for the musicians and those in the rear aim at the stage. Well, the third act starts with a can-can and immediately all the torches were trained on the stage. Even so, the light wasn't very good. One dancer, in a pas de trois, leaped across the stage trusting only in God and the British flag."

Ritchard, whose wolf is fang-tooth to the Red Riding Hood of Liza Minnelli, has nice things to say about the young entertainer.

"I'm mad about Liza, and I didn't think I would be since I had heard she is surrounded and artists are always at her feet when no money is involved, so we went out on the stage and put a flashlight — we call them torches — on my pretty and face and told the audience it such a dear."

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — After roles in "Take Her, She's Mine" and "Dear Brigitte," Charles Robinson was signed to a five-year contract at 20th Century-Fox with his first assignment to be "The Sand Pebbles."

ARMS COLLECTED
LONDON (UPI) — Enough arms to equip three U.S. Army divisions were turned over to police under a three-month arms amnesty that ended Oct. 30, police reported Thursday.

They said 40,660 weapons and 1,694,276 rounds of ammunition were voluntarily turned in.

Hollywood Palace Hits Big Time

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Bill Harbach and Nick Vanoff, who created and produce Hollywood Palace, are going to branch out. They want to get into either motion picture or Broadway production.

"But," says Bill, "it is not easy. Producers get typed just as badly as actors. We're typed as variety show producers and it's hard to get people to consider us for dramatic shows. One of these days, though, it will happen."

Harbach tells me that Hollywood Palace, the ABC hit, has come of age. The biggest names in show business — people like Fred Astaire and Judy Garland — are clamoring to do the show this season.

"It's a perfect show for them," Bill says. "The MC can do as much or as little as he wants. They all love to do it."

But he thinks that the success of the show is still based on those supporting acts, the vaudevillians. They have a permanent scout touring Europe, looking for unique acts, the performing bears, the jugglers. The program pays the acts' transportation to and from Hollywood, to do the show.

"The public can see Astaire and Garland other places," Bill says, "but the rest of our acts are unique with us."

A FAN'S GARDEN OF TROUBLES
The group that's known as Hermines Hermites should require licenses or permits.

Patty Duke is so superb. At everything she touches, I think that someone ought to make Patty Duke a duchess. I live for the day when Petticoat Junction coat Junction coat Junction is given extreme unction.

A CHILES' GARDEN OF TROUBLES
Convoy and its cargo of talented actors has had it. Linden Chiles, one of the crew, says the sinking hasn't hurt him or his career.

"I'm getting more offers than ever now," says Chiles. "Four Star wanted to borrow me from Universal, but Universal would not let me go. I'm sure they'll find some use for me."

They should. He is a good actor and he has that rare kind of handsome sophistication; he is a young Gary Grant.

But he has his problems, as well as his assets. He thinks they spring mostly from his background and upbringing. His father, a mathematics professor, and his mother reared him in a straitlaced, puritanical fashion.

"They do not approve of actors," he says. "They would have preferred me to become a businessman or a doctor or a lawyer, with a nice house, a nice wife and a few nice kids."

Linden, perhaps because of this, still thinks of actors as second-class citizens. And, another result, he is constantly torn between self-confidence and insecurity.

"My sister is a dancer," he says, "and she has the same problems. I've been going to a psychiatrist for 12 years."

Maybe they should make a series out of him.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

Coming attractions: CBS-TV, which has had great success with its audience-involvement "National Drivers' Test" and "National Citizenship Test," now has scheduled a "National Health Test" for one hour on Jan. 18. The questions for viewers will encompass the general theme: What do Americans know about their strong is the celebrity guest on CBS-TV's "I've Got A Secret" Dec. 27. Same network's Ed Sullivan show for Dec. 12 has a performer list that includes the Swingle Singers, Al Hirt, Wayne Newton, Alan King and Barbara McNair.

CBS-TV's Danny Kaye series will have as its summer replacement next year a weekly hour starring singer John Gary—who will appear on at least nine Kaye programs this season, the first Dec. 15.

ABC-TV's new half-hour drama series entitled "Code: Blue Light," which debuts Jan. 12 and stars Robert Goulet as foreign correspondent who renounces his citizenship and then infiltrates the Nazi high command in World War II, will x-ray numerous sequences on location in Germany. The training and effectiveness of sentry dogs being used by the Air Force in Viet Nam are demonstrated on NBC-TV's "Today" program Wednesday.

Featured Villains

The new twice-a-week "Batman" series, which premieres on ABC-TV Jan. 12, has a list of featured villains that thus far includes comic impressionist Frank Gorshin as "The Riddler," Burgess Meredith as "The Penguin" and Anne Baxter as "Zelda the Great."

Hedy Lamarr is also reported to have been sought for villain status in the show.

Thursday's "Today" outing is scheduled to offer a discussion on "America's Undernourished Teenagers" (by experts), a showing of glass sculpture exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in New York and an interview with actor-director-playwright Elliott Nugent about his autobiography, "Events Leading Up to the Comedy."

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, special consultant to President Johnson and a former U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam, is questioned on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" Dec. 12.

Sports Network Inc., again will air weekly, live, Saturday afternoon telecasts of basketball games of the Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAUW), starting Jan. 8, to stations in Oregon, California, Washington, Nevada, Idaho and Montana. The history of the revolutionary worker-priest movement in France is the subject of ABC-TV's "Directions" Dec. 12.

Same day, NBC-TV's "Eternal Light" presents a conversation with Dr. Isidor I. Rabi, Nobel Prize-winning physicist professor of Columbia University.

On the Drawing Board

Plans: Jean Arthur is making a test film for a possible half-hour comedy series in which she would portray a famous criminal attorney "who faces trials and tribulations both in court and out with her brilliant lawyer-son" . . . Ann Sheridan, who recently became a regular on NBC-TV's daytime soap opera "Another World," is making a test film for a possible half-hour comedy series, "Pistols 'n' Petticoats," in which she would portray "a sharpshootin' Westerner in the 1870s who has a habit of smashing Indian uprisings and corralling more outlaws than the local sheriff."

It cannot be disputed that this thing in Viet Nam is the cushiest most comfortable this thing in Viet Nam is the relaxing war ever. The United States has its war and its welfare state too. That is a parody of the old one about having your omelet without cracking the eggs.

Except for the young Americans in Southeast Asia who are being shot at, hit and sometimes killed, this war is a softie. It exacts not much from the average citizen, not even much money. The modern system is to pass along to your grandkids much of the cost of any war. If the grandkids are lucky, perhaps they can elect to office politicians who will stave off payment and pass the costs along to still another generation.

For this thing in Viet Nam the United States is training on ice cream, cake and candy. As a famous performer used to say in his caper: "Is everybody happy?" Slaphappy would be more like it.

The cost of operating a welfare state and a war at the same time is beginning to show up in the official statistics. The Texas White House announced this week that war costs and other factors would push spending over the $100 billion level during this fiscal year. Big among the other factors is the welfare state.

The deficit for the current fiscal year now is estimated at between $7 and $10 billion. The original estimate was $5.3 billion. The treasury has been in the red every year since Dwight D. Eisenhower left the White House, like achieved only three balance budgets in his eight years. Harry S. Truman scored three in seven years. FDR was in the red every year he was in the White House.

This shabby fiscal background has lowered the standards of what had to come to be accepted as good government. The politicians do not demand a combination of tax rates and economy that would enable government to pay its way.

The treasury has become the source of goodies distributed among the citizen-voters. The citizen-voters pay for the goodies with their own tax money or the treasury borrows the money, leaving it to the grandkids to pay.

The citizen-voters are hooked on the system of free lunch goodies which is about as valid as perpetual motion or the transmutation of base metals into gold. LBJ's Great Society has a free lunch counter.

Cities Service Purchases Plant; Plans Expansion

TULSA — Cities Service Oil Company has purchased a 20-million-cubic-foot-a-day gasoline plant near Victoria in Calhoun County, Texas, and will expand it in conjunction with expansion slated for another plant in the same general area, it was announced here by Fred H. Ramseur, Jr., manager of the gasoline division.

Cost of expansion at both installations, including the purchase of the Long Mott plant and laying of a new line in San Antonio Bay, totals more than $1.5 million.

The purchase of Long Mott is part of an aggressive expansion program at CITGO of acquiring plants whenever the addition will strengthen the company's NGL position.

The newly acquired Long Mott plant is only 2½ miles from CITGO's San Antonio Bay plant, and ethane recovery facilities will be installed at both. CITGO will put in fractionation facilities at the San Antonio operation in order to fractionate products from both plants. Products will now include ethane, propane, butane, and natural gasoline.

Total output of the two plants will be 75,000 gallons a day. Both will be operated as a unit, with Bob Jamison as superintendent. Engineering has already started on the installation of

4 State Area Is Served by Phillips Plant

Phillips Petroleum Company's Hoag ammonia plant near Beatrice, Nebraska, has begun production to supply this important nitrogen fertilizer to farmers in the four-state area of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri.

The Hoag plant, with a capacity of 600 tons of anhydrous ammonia a day, couples modern production facilities and design with unusually large capacity refrigerated storage. The storage facilities assure abundant supplies of nitrogen fertilizer materials for Phillips customers in this rich farm area, during the spring "rush" period when supply is normally short.

Distribution will be handled entirely on a local basis, through dealers who, in turn, supply the product direct to farmers.

While contractors perform last-minute adjustments on the ammonia plant, construction continues on the adjacent ammonium nitrate-urea plant. This new facility, scheduled for completion late this year, will produce 55 tons per day of Phillips SOL'N 32, a urea-ammonium nitrate solution. SOL'N 32 is recommended for both plow-down and surface application to the soil as a top and side dressing.

The new facilities, and completion is scheduled for the summer of 1966.

CLASSIFIED ADS GET RESULTS

'Twas

Three weeks before Christmas
When I looked at my car,
The model was old, and
Had been driven too far.
The inside was all ripped,
The seat it was torn,
The brakes didn't work
And also the horn.
The windshield was busted,
The old clutch was broke,
The gas line was clogged
And so was the choke.
I cried and I moaned
And started to cuss
Something had to be done
About my old bus.
So I went to Culberson-Stowers
And am now all aglow,
It's like the other ad said
I got more for my dough.
Now I laugh at the bumps
And get more mileage galore,
My new car looks swell
And here's something more:
Culberson-Stowers sold me my car
On a long easy plan
My payments are low,
I'm a happy man.
Now my worries are over
And I'm happy to say
This Christmas I'm driving
A new Chevrolet!
