Mobutu Takes Over Congo Rule

Mysterious Explosion Kills Seven

KEOKUK Iowa (UPI) — State fire investigators today poked through the charred blackened ruins of a National Guard armory searching for a cause to the mysterious Thanksgiving eve explosion and fire that claimed seven lives.

Forty-eight survivors were hospitalized 23 of them in critical condition and many with severe burns.

Seven persons were killed in the Thanksgiving Eve blast.

Forty-eight survivors were hospitalized, 23 of them in critical condition. Many were badly burned. Hardly any of the 60 to 70 persons in the structure at the time escaped some injury.

Without warning, the violent explosion blew out the walls of the Armory Wednesday night and brought the roof crashing down on the dancers who were gaily reeling through the directions of caller Kenny Anderson.

"It was a mass of human fire," said Anderson, a resident of Burlington. "I saw people screaming and timbers laying on top of some of them. One man was running through the wall all ablaze."

Survivors who had not needed medical attention trickled into the police station Thursday to report they were all right.

While authorities continued to probe the ruins of the demolished building today they believed no further victims would be found in the rubble.

State Fire Marshal Wilbur Johnson said the explosion definitely was of gas origin but it would take several days of investigation before it could be determined what caused it.

McNamara to Inspect U.S. Military Effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will fly to Viet Nam next week to inspect the rapidly expanding U.S. military effort and "discuss the outlook for the future."

He and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will arrive in the wake of the war's largest battle and at a time when American strength is increasing at an average 6,000 men per week. U.S. forces may total close to 200,000 men by the end of the year.

Announcement of the trip was delayed until McNamara was departing Thursday night for conferences with leaders in London and Paris. It gave rise to questions about possible new turns in the war, particularly about heavier bombing raids against North Viet Nam.

Despite damage done by air power thus far, supplies and men, including regular Vietnamese army units, continue to flow to the Communists in the south.

Discussions with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, are likely to cover more powerful blows against supply lines and possibly against other, so far untouched, northern targets as well.

Newsweek Magazine reported this week, without any official denial, that Westmoreland's staff wanted to use the Air Force's big B52 bombers on anti-aircraft guns, missile sites and industrial targets in North Viet Nam. Thus far, Washington has restricted B52s to bombing Viet Cong strongholds

Peace Marchers Hit Roadblocks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Organizers of tomorrow's "Peace March" on Washington protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam are running into some roadblocks—not from the government but from some of the prospective marchers.

Representatives of a host of anti-war committees, mostly student groups, holding a four-day convention here in connection with the march, were sharply divided today as to just what its aims are.

Sponsors of the march have gone to some pains to emphasize that: (1) They have a definite program to end the war, and (2) They are not coming to Washington to burn draft cards or sit-in at the White House.

In the South and sent much lighter planes to do precision bombing in the North.

Besides his military appraisal, McNamara can be expected to bring President Johnson careful assessment of the political situation in Saigon.

Hanoi's estimate of the Saigon government's stability and popular appeal presumably will have much to do with its decision on whether to take harsh military punishment or seek peace talks.

So far, the Communists have spurned peace talks and lately have waded into pitched battle in the face of superior power, as in last week's Ia Drang Valley engagement. That one was costly for the United States, but far more so for the Communists.

McNamara announced that he would go on to Saigon after the weekend London and Paris talks about NATO nuclear strategy, especially about giving West Germany greater participation.

Even those talks could be overshadowed by Viet Nam. London has started a new effort with Moscow to get peace discussions. And not much can be decided on the nuclear problem until British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard see President Johnson next month.

McNamara's most recent visit to Viet Nam, last July, set the stage for the huge buildup of American power ordered by Johnson. Next week's trip will be the seventh the defense secretary has made to Southeast Asia since 1962.

General Names Self In Bloodless Victory

By DIETRICH MUMMENDEY
LEOPOLDVILLE The Congo (UPI) — Self-proclaimed President Joseph D. Mobutu today appeared headed for five years of near-dictatorial rule in the Cong. The country's leading political figures seemed powerless to stop him.

Mobutu a general and commander in chief of the army stunned a joint session of the Congolese Parliament Thursday by announcing he was deposing President Joseph Kasavubu suspending parts of the Constitution and declaring a state of emergency rule.

Mobutu once an army sergeant declared he would assume the title of president for five years.

The general's announcement, read to the Parliament by Senate President Sylvestre Mundingay, said the new president's proclamations were "not subject to any debate."

In Washington, the State Department indicated Thursday it was studying whether to recognize Mobutu's government. A State Department spokesman said the United States was "watching the situation closely."

Radio Leopoldville informed the nation of the unseating of Kasavubu and Premier-Designate Evariste Kimba.

Although the broadcasts said the Congolese Constitution would remain substantially in effect, the proclamations in Parliament were considered a clear indication of Mobutu's readiness to assume vast powers.

Col. Leonard Mulamba, a Mobutu supporter celebrated for his personal bravery, was appointed the new premier to succeed Kimba, who had been ousted by Parliament but then reappointed by Kasavubu.

Former Premier Moïse Tshombe, who has been feuding with Kasavubu, at first appeared to welcome the bloodless coup. But after hearing the Mobutu proclamation, he said "we shall have to study this very carefully."

In Washington, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said he had received reliable information that elements in the Kasavubu government had planned to arrest or assassinate Tshombe. Kasavubu fired Tshombe last month.

It was announced that constitutional provisions for a presidential election next February were being suspended.

Lynda Bird Weekends At Acapulco

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Lynda Bird Johnson and Hollywood star George Hamilton IV were a chaperoned twosome at Acapulco, Mexico, today while her sister Luci and boy friend Patrick J. Nugent spent a farewell weekend at the LBJ ranch.

The White House said that the President's elder daughter, black-haired, brown-eyed Lynda, flew to Acapulco Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Deathe of Austin, Tex., long time friends of the Johnsons.

1965 Traffic Count

Accidents—483
Injuries—136
Deaths—0

WITH TIME YET TO GO

Holiday Traffic Toll Is 227

California led the highway slaughter with 19 traffic deaths reported. Texas reported 17 dead in traffic and Ohio 14.

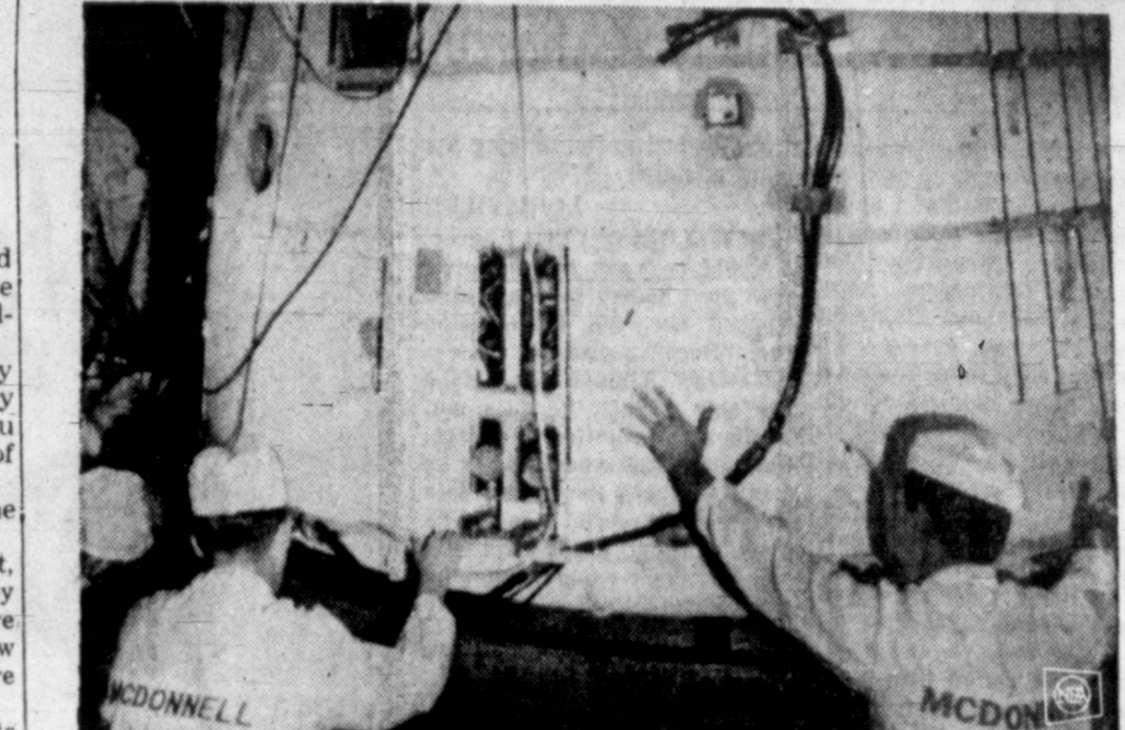

California, the most populous state, led the nation with 19 traffic deaths reported. Texas reported 16 dead in traffic and New York state counted four.

The National Safety Council does not predict a death toll for the Thanksgiving holiday but it said about 575 persons would die in traffic accidents during an average 102-hour non-holiday period at this time of year.

One of the worst accidents reported was the collision at Wichita, Kan., of two cars, one of which was pursued by police for speeding early Thursday. Five persons were killed and three were injured.

An explosion and fire at a Keokuk, Iowa, Army on Thanksgiving Eve killed seven persons when the roof collapsed on a roomful of square dancers. Three children burned to death in a fire in a house trailer at Norfolk, Va., and three persons died in a hotel dormitory at Laewood, N.J., filled with sleeping employees at a winter resort.

A triple automobile crack-up on U.S. 41 at Punta Gorda, Fla., Thursday, killed three persons and injured four.

BACK ON SCHEDULE — The Gemini space craft is fitted to its Titan-II rocket for final testing before the Dec. 4 launching of astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell. Settlement of the Cape Kennedy machinists' strike against McDonnell Aircraft Corp., which constructs America's manned space capsules, removed a threatened delay in the Gemini-7 schedule.

McDonnell Personnel Work Overtime Shifts

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Production workers on Gemini space capsules and Phantom jet fighters worked overtime today at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. to make up time lost in the six-day machinists strike.

A McDonnell spokesman said the company had called in 4,000 production workers to "catch up on crucially needed work." He said another 4,000 would be called in Saturday.

Today is a paid holiday for McDonnell machinists under the terms of a new three-year contract approved by members of the International Association of Machinists at a turbulent meeting in the St. Louis Arena Wednesday.

The union members voted 6,087 to 2,847 to accept the contract, which had been hammered out in Washington, under pressure from the federal government.

President Lyndon B. Johnson said through a spokesman at the Texas White House he was "glad that a settlement has been reached."

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said in a telegram to union and McDonnell officials that the new contract laid a "firm basis . . . for a productive and effective relationship" between company and union.

The White House announced Thursday the postponement in Erhard's visit to Texas was proposed by the West German leader. Administration sources said Erhard, reported to be suffering from influenza, wanted to recover fully before making the trans-Atlantic journey to the meeting that had been set for Dec. 2-3.

This delay, however, will give Johnson a chance to confer with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on Dec. 17 before the talks with Erhard.

One key issue involving both European leaders will be the West German demand for a greater voice in control of nuclear weapons in NATO defenses.

WEATHERWISE— Cold Front May Move Into Texas

The weather forecast for Pampa and the Panhandle today hinted that a massive cold front now over the Great Plains would move into the area.

Advance portions of the cold front pushed into the Pampa area this morning after a hot-test Thanksgiving on record.

The mercury climbed to 81 degrees in Pampa yesterday and an early morning low of 55 was recorded today.

A few showers were forecast for the Gulf Coast, Southwest and Northeast Texas by night-fall.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast colder temperatures throughout Northwest Texas by late today and spreading southward by early Saturday.

But ahead of the cold air, temperatures were expected to climb into the 80's and even the low 90's.

The hottest Thursday was 92 degrees at Presidio and heat records were broken at several cities.

Nuclear Vessels Are Assigned to Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — The first nuclear powered U.S. Navy ships assigned to the Viet Nam war moved into combat stations off the coast of Viet Nam today. They were the carrier Enterprise, the largest ship afloat, and the guided-missile frigate Bainbridge.

While the Navy threw more muscle into the ever-growing American might, B52 Strategic bombers from Guam today struck enemy targets in Binh Tuy Province 75 miles northeast of Saigon where U.S. Vietnamese and Australian troops were trying to prevent a vast rice harvest from falling into Viet Cong hands.

The campaign by the "several thousand" allied troops was in the fifth day of a probe through the Communist-dominated area but there have been no reports of fighting. In the past villagers in the area have had to turn over their rice to the Viet Cong which lives off the land.

American nuclear powered submarines have been in the Western Pacific and have visited Japan but the Enterprise and the Bainbridge were the first nuclear-powered ships to join the Viet Nam war effort. They joined other 7th fleet ships already stationed off Viet Nam.

Elsewhere around the country, action against the Communists slackened off even further than on the Thanksgiving Day lull.

Vietnamese field commanders reported their quietest day of the month with no casualties due to enemy action for the 24-hour period ending early today.

In action Thursday, Vietnamese troops on a search-and-destroy mission 10 miles east of Ban Me Thuot clashed with an unknown number of Communists and killed 22 of them. The troops captured 440 pounds of rice and 220 pounds of salt.

On the otherwise quiet Thanksgiving Day, men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division clashed with two Viet Cong platoons about 30 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans suffered light casualties, a military spokesman said. Viet Cong losses, if any, were not reported.

Dear Abby....

The Long and Short Of Teen's Haircut

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think a guy should be able to wear his hair the way he wants? I am 17 and ride a Honda to school. It gets cold here in the winter, and that's one of the reasons I want to keep my hair long. Also, a lot of guys at school have even longer hair than mine. I keep my hair nicely combed all the time, but my parents say I should get it cut shorter. What do you say?

probably just go on making the same mistakes.

LOUISVILLE

DEAR LOUISVILLE: I agree, it would be very helpful for a girl to know why a man dropped her, but the question was, "Does he owe her an explanation?" I maintain, if she was only a date, he does not. (If the man promised marriage, that's another story.) For a candid, "What's the matter with me" session, recruit a man who is only a friend. He'll level with you. But don't expect that kind of criticism from a currently snuffed-out flame.

STEVE S.

DEAR STEVE: If your hair is kept clean and nicely groomed at all times, I see no reason why you shouldn't be able to wear it the way you want to, providing it's not so long it interferes with your hearing. But if you are thinking of growing your own fur hat for the winter, forget it. You'd be ahead to buy one. If your parents go on the warpath every time they look at your overgrown pelt.

DEAR ABBY: You said that if a man suddenly stopped dating a girl, he owed her no explanation. Abby, men are irresponsible enough without your advising them to love 'em and leave 'em. If a man thinks enough of a girl to take up her time, then he should be man enough to tell her why he does not care to date her any more. It would help her to know if he's had a change of heart met someone else, or maybe because she wears too much make-up. I've had many men break off with me without so much as a "kiss my foot." Since none of them were kind enough to tell me why they dropped me, I'll

DEAR ABBY: Your column, in which you neatly ticked off the immature husband for stuffing a towel down the toilet of a motel because he was awakened by noise at 5 a.m., reminded me of my trip from Glens Falls, N.Y. to Toronto, Canada. My wife and I were returning home from a relative's funeral, when we decided to spend the night at a motel. We'd almost dropped off to sleep when the shrieking sound of a locomotive whistle split the air, and a train, full speed ahead, went thundering past, shaking our bed. My poor wife, whose nerves were already frayed, shouted, "What's happening?" She was nearly hysterical from the fright. I had to hold her in my arms all night to comfort and quiet her. All through the night, trains zoomed by, disturbing us. It turned out that the motel was built right beside the main railway line to Montreal. We got no rest that night, but we sought no retaliation from the motel owner. We selected that motel and our judgment was poor. An overt act, such as stuffing a towel down the toilet to "get even" for a sleepless night, gives one the impression that the vandal is an unmitigated scab. Keep going, Abby. You've scored again. J. NEW YORK—When it comes to skiing, teenagers dress the part before they learn the role! According to a new research report from "Seventeen Magazine," the ski slopes, which are increasingly attractive to American teens, get less of a play than the ski look. Half the nation's 11,923,000 teen girls either ski now or plan to soon, but three-fourths — virtually all skiers, plus two-thirds of the non-skiers — include skiwear in their wardrobes.

The new survey, based on 1,218 responses to a questionnaire sent by the teen publication to its Consumer Panel, also shows that:

- Among the 3.3 million teen girl skiers, 1.6 million rate themselves as intermediate to expert.
- Almost one-third of the non-skiers plan to take up the sport this year.
- Just about all teen skiers (95.8 per cent) own some kind of skiwear.
- Millions of teens look fashionable on and off the slopes in ski stretch pants, sweaters and parkas; more than half the teen girls in America — skiers

Pampa High School Campus News

By VIRGINIA DEWITT

The Thanksgiving dishes have been washed and all that remains of that 20 pound turkey is a few sandwiches. Yesterday's feast is just another memory for most people, or is it?

Let's go back to those dishes. Who felt like washing pots and pans yesterday? This morning the dirty dishes seemed to be piled to the ceiling. Most mothers probably appreciated every bit of extra help they could recruit.

What happened to the other 19 pounds of the turkey that didn't end up between two slices of bread? That's an easy one. Being fixed for human consumption, it was consumed by the humans who happened to be around the house yesterday. The only problem arises in how much was consumed. By this morning almost everyone was feeling just a little bit stuffy around the middle.

The Pampa school system must have anticipated these and many other problems that come to light the day after Thanksgiving. In their thoughtful planning, they allowed students an extra day in which they and their families might recuperate from the holiday. Thus, all Pampa schools were closed yesterday and today; and classes will not resume until Monday.

Pampa High School's Student Council is a fairly active group anyway you look at it. Last year the Pampa Council was chosen secretary at the district convention for the Student Council convention Dec. 11.

"The purpose of the district Council members from schools in the area to discuss problems and new ideas," explain-

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1965 58TH YEAR

FINDING THE WAY Communion for the World

2-24 Communion for the World On any Sunday of the year, Christian people gather to worship, to read the Scriptures and to share in the Sacraments of the church. On the first Sunday of October they are conscious of the world-wide observance as well as the local witness. As light makes its way around the planet, and men and women in varying cultures and continents greet a new day, there are those who assemble for worship. If it's ironic to talk of "World Communion Sunday" in a world so concerned with dangers and wars, it is also heartening to know that this minority continues to gather to worship.

This is why the fact of the Sacrament is impressive. It talks of communion with God and asserts that this fellowship has something to do with the world in which men live. It's a tough assignment if it's done honestly by people and their clergy. Langdon Gilkey phrases the question, "How are we to talk of God's rule over our history when Birmingham is so stubborn, Chicago's ghetto so crushing and Dallas so utterly meaningless? How can we speak to this age of God?" It puts any honest man into tension. That's World Communion Sunday, 1965. As each little company of believers gathers, worshipping in a thousand different languages, participating in a multiplicity of ceremonies in the common meal of bread and wine, there is a local and provincial event. Multiply that in terms of the peoples of a planet and it has worldwide significance. The bread and wine are brought into those churches, and what happens in that worship must be carried out from those churches. The importance of the local moment of forgiveness, repentance and love is valid as it sends people of reconciliation into the tough situations of our day. A television commentator recently asked an official of NA-SA whether an ordinary citizen, suddenly placed in a capsule of an earth-orbiting satellite, would be able to survive. The official thought that he might but he also was certain that he'd be frightened and speechless. In a very real sense, we're all subjected to these quick snapshots from the ordinary and called upon to do the extraordinary. We're frightened and speechless. It is strengthening to know that here and there, as the sunlight reaches into one country after another, there are those men and women who are literally "different" because they've knelt together. They're better equipped to meet the sins and needs of today. Basically, this is the hope and the prayer that sweeps around planet on World Communion Sunday.

Christian Scientist Plan Sunday Study On Supreme Being

The divine protection given to David in his fight with Goliath and later his safety from the jealous rage of King Saul will be included in the Lesson-Sermon this Sunday at Christian Science churches. The subject is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced." In the Responsive Reading will be this verse from Ephesians 6: "Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." Related passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this statement: "Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defense."

Witness Speaker To Offer Facts

Pampa Jehovah's Witnesses will host Marvin Zimmerman of Amarillo as speaker for their 3 p.m. Sunday service at Kingdom Hall, 944 S. Dwight Street. "Evolution or Creation—Which Do the Facts Support?" will be his topic, dealing with the current problem of widespread disbelief in God and a direct creation by Him. "Many of the modern generation, including clergy as well as laymen, tend to lean toward evolution," says Zimmerman. He will offer facts from science as well as the Bible to support the belief in a Supreme Creator. The public is welcome at the service to be followed at 4:15 p.m. by the weekly study of the Watchtower journal.

JEWISH-GENTILE CONTACTS NEW YORK (UPI)—Increased contacts with non-Jewish faiths was called for by Rabbi Seymour J. Cohen when he was inducted as the 21st President of the Synagogue Council of America. "Not only must we intensify our contacts with Protestants and Catholics, but we must also seek to establish new contacts with the great Eastern religions," Rabbi Cohen said.

Immorality Is Biggest Enemy Of Americans

HOUSTON (UPI)—The greatest enemy of Americans is immorality—not communism, evangelist Billy Graham said this week. But Graham told a crowd of 39,216 at his "Crusade for Christ" the spiraling of American immorality is pleasing to and encouraged by the Communists. "They would like to see it," the evangelist said. "It makes us easy pickings." His sermon against immorality and his invitation drew 2,265 "inquirers" onto the domed stadium field for decisions. More than 150,000 persons attended the first four days of the 10-day crusade. Graham said the most prominent United States universities are caught in a struggle over sexual morality; that venereal disease is up 10 times in recent years; and that many churchmen have joined non-Christian psychologists in a new attitude toward sex.

New Alamo Battle Coming

LAREDO (UPI)—The Alamo, site of another, much more famous battle in Texas history, had a legal battle shaping up today over one of its rifles. Mrs. A. G. Pellegrin of Laredo wants the people who operate the Alamo as a shrine and historical museum in San Antonio to give her back a rifle she said she loaned to them for display. The rifle was owned by James Bowie, one of Texas' heroes who led 187 defenders of the Alamo who fought to the death against the Mexican Army in 1836. Jim Bowie also goes down in history as having given his name to a knife. Mrs. Pellegrin said she and her late husband gave the museum the rifle, with the initials "JHB" on it, in 1936. She said she wants it back so she can have it appraised, sell it to someone so she has some income, then perhaps have them donate it back to the museum.

FIRST YEAR BIRTHDAY — St. Mark Christian Methodist Episcopal Church is having an anniversary program this coming Sunday at 3 p.m. Pictured above is the church that was completed last year.

St. Mark Methodist To Have Anniversary

A special program and service this Sunday will mark the first official anniversary of the new St. Mark Christian Methodist Episcopal Church after their moving into a new building last year. Rev. Monroe Woods, Jr., announced that the events will begin at 3 p.m. with a special prelude given by Mrs. G. Russey. Ministers from guest churches will give the program starting with the invocation given by Rev. W. A. Schultz from the Carter Chapel Christian Methodist Church of Amarillo. Rev. L. B. Davis from the Progressive Baptist Church, will conduct the first scripture reading. Rev. L. C. Laster, pastor of the Open Door Church of God in Christ, will give the second scripture reading. Guest Choirs will sing the First Methodist Hymn. Introduction of the speaker will be given by Rev. Don Hauck, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The sermon will be given by Rev. Harry Vanderpool from the First Methodist Church.

GRAHAM SAYS Immorality Is Biggest Enemy Of Americans

HOUSTON (UPI)—The greatest enemy of Americans is immorality—not communism, evangelist Billy Graham said this week. But Graham told a crowd of 39,216 at his "Crusade for Christ" the spiraling of American immorality is pleasing to and encouraged by the Communists. "They would like to see it," the evangelist said. "It makes us easy pickings." His sermon against immorality and his invitation drew 2,265 "inquirers" onto the domed stadium field for decisions. More than 150,000 persons attended the first four days of the 10-day crusade. Graham said the most prominent United States universities are caught in a struggle over sexual morality; that venereal disease is up 10 times in recent years; and that many churchmen have joined non-Christian psychologists in a new attitude toward sex.

Nature's Desecration Pronounced Immoral

It is a sin to pollute a river... denude a forest... litter a beach with beer cans... or turn a green meadow into an auto junkyard? Dr. Truman B. Douglass said it is. And he's not using the word sin in the loose popular sense of "a sin and a shame." He means precisely that desecration of nature is an immoral act, an offense against God the creator. Dr. Douglass is a thoughtful and widely respected Protestant minister who served as executive secretary of the board for Homeland Ministries, United Church of Christ. His concern about what man is doing to nature was voiced in his annual report to his board, and in an interview with UPI. "The Bible teaches that man was appointed to exercise 'dominion over the earth,'" he said. "But this does not mean that we are free to exploit nature ruthlessly for the satisfaction of our own immediate desires. We are supposed to be responsible custodians and stewards of the precious gifts of nature, using them for the good of the whole—which includes posterity. We do not have a right to hand on to our successors a riddled, raped and ravished planet." "Cites Water Shortage" Dr. Douglass said that man's failure to live up to his trust as God's appointed steward over nature is grimly attested by the current water shortage afflicting his home city, New York. Although one of the world's great rivers, the Hudson, flows past New York, it has become "so polluted by the waste from factories and towns that it is little better than an open sewer." "All over America this has happened. The water which comes fresh from rain clouds and springs is poisoned by man-made pollution. Then we build fast and costly installations to make it fit to drink again. It finally reaches our homes so laden with chemicals that many American children have never known what a drink of fresh, pure water tastes like. This is not merely waste. It is desecration." Among other examples of the rape of nature, he cited the slaughter of birds and other wildlife resulting from indiscriminate use of pesticides; increasing pollution of the air by industrial smog and auto exhaust fumes; and reckless expenditure of forests and fossil fuels.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Pastor: Rev. L. C. LYNCH
FIRST FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH

"In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." I Thess. 5:18.

At Thanksgiving, our thoughts go back to the Pilgrims in a strange land, thanking God for answering their prayers: Giving them a land of Freedom in which to worship God whenever and wherever they desired.

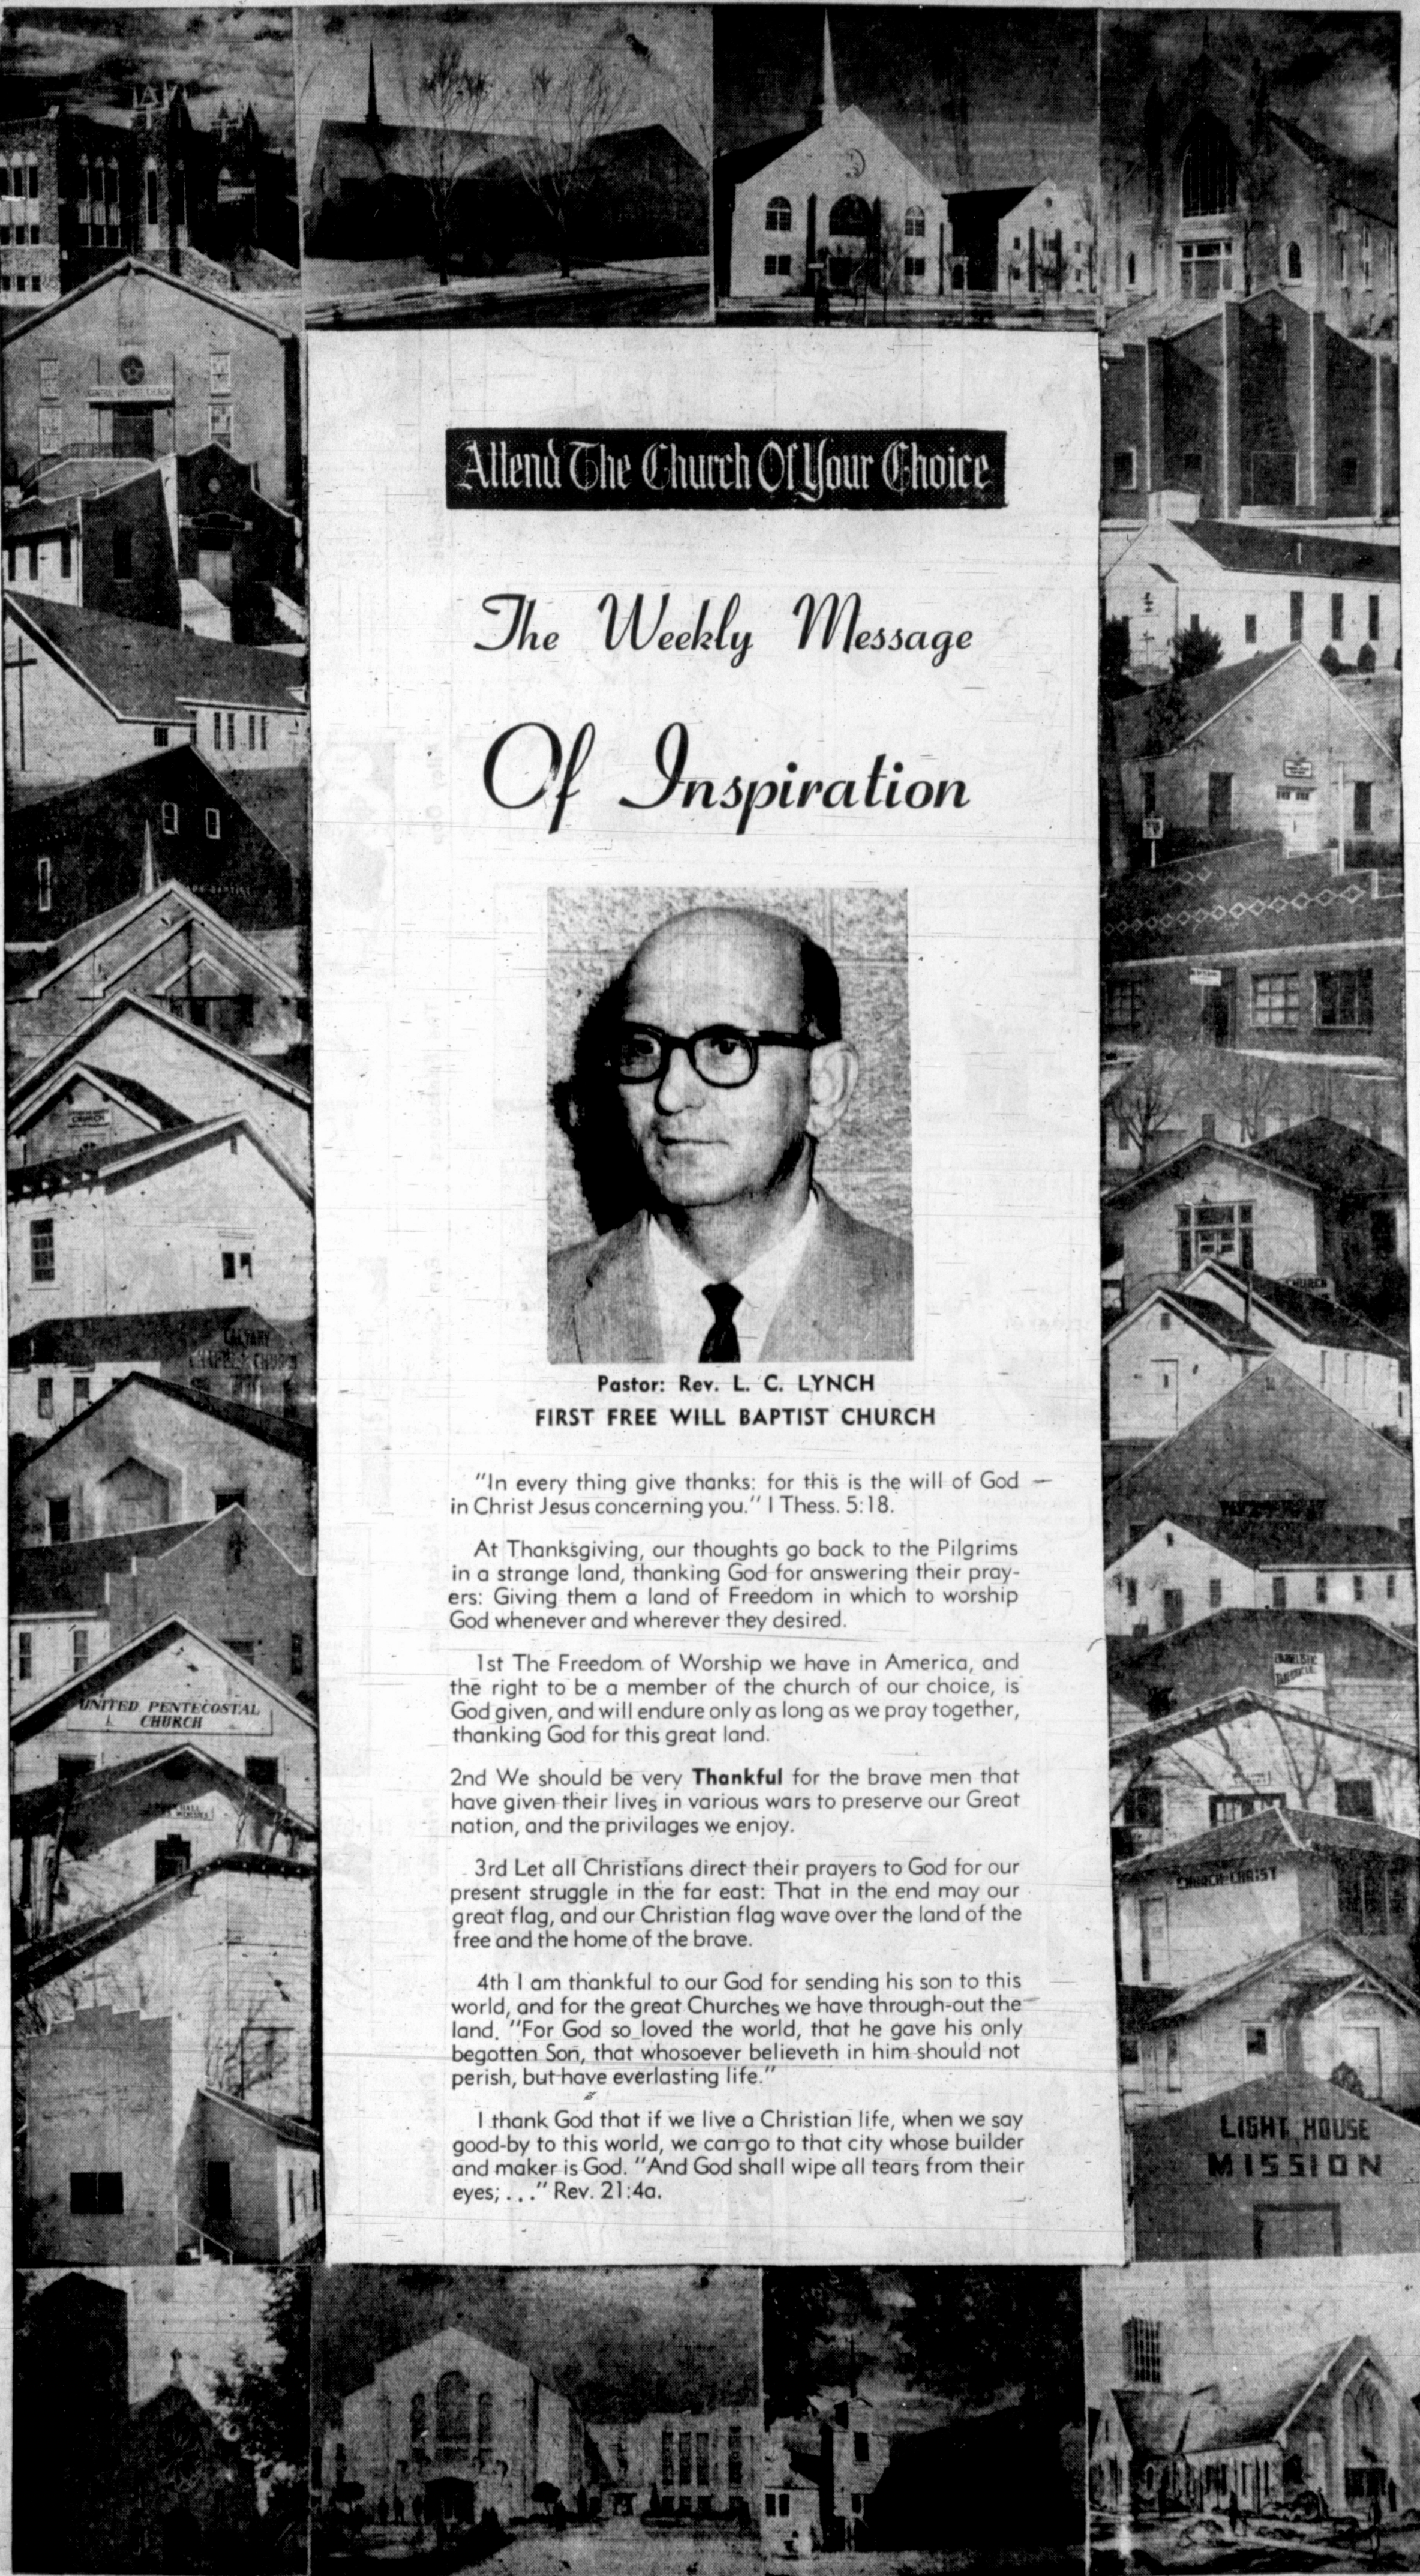

1st The Freedom of Worship we have in America, and the right to be a member of the church of our choice, is God given, and will endure only as long as we pray together, thanking God for this great land.

2nd We should be very Thankful for the brave men that have given their lives in various wars to preserve our Great nation, and the privilage we enjoy.

3rd Let all Christians direct their prayers to God for our present struggle in the far east: That in the end may our great flag, and our Christian flag wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

4th I am thankful to our God for sending his son to this world, and for the great Churches we have through-out the land. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

I thank God that if we live a Christian life, when we say good-by to this world, we can go to that city whose builder and maker is God. "And God shall wipe all tears from their eyes; ..." Rev. 21:4a.

Bucks, Tigers To Meet Foes Tonight

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
Masterful White Deer, surely the most aggressive class A team in the state, enters second round action in bi-district play at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

The Bucks will put their snarling defensive powers to the test of the Kress Kangaroos, a better than average defensive aggravation themselves.

speed that has carried them to an 11-0 record and 19-0 win over Gruver in first round Bi-district action.

Groom, the surprise 5-B champion will see action tonight also, opening regional play against 6-B winner Rochester at Childress.

The Tigers of coach Ronnie Mills unseated heavy pre-season favorite Wheeler for the championship and coasted to a 9-0-1 record.

The Steers are 6-4 and have recorded five straight victories after being only a so-so team earlier in the season.

Both clubs have experience but Groom has an overall weight and speed advantage. The Tigers carry an average weight of 175.5 pounds per man in the line and 168.1 pound per man in their star studded backfield.

Rochester weighs only an average of 162.6 pounds per man in the line and 140 pounds per man in the backfield.

The Steers have 10 lettermen back, including three starters while Groom has 10 returning lettermen and five starters.

Offensively you can look for Groom to use halfback Larry Lamberson, the area's third leading scorer with 96 points and count on the passing of quarterback Terry Cornett who has thrown 11 times for touchdowns.

Jerry Roberts and Jerry Littlefield do most of the receiving.

White Deer, with one of the most feared defenses in the state and a most potent offense is ruled a 14 point favorite against Kress.

The Bucks have given up but 32 points, with Clarendon the only team being able to score twice against them.

Offensively coach Colie Huffman's speedsters have rolled up 382 points for 38.2 per game average.

White Deer has only four starters back, but it hasn't seemed to hamper their play.

They have the top scorer in the area in half-back Randy Elliott and one of the Panhandle area's best fullbacks, 181 pound Vernon Marlar.

Phil Hart, 140-pound senior and juniors Gary Smith, 170 pounder and the speedy Elliott make up the rest of the backfield.

Kress has been shutout four times this season but have a 32.5 offensive average with a 7.9 defense mark.

Tech Coach Is Honor Bound

By THOMAS HOUGH
LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech's J. T. King is being boomed in some quarters for coach-of-the-year honors, but one man keeps talking down King's contribution to Tech's startling season.

That man is J. T. King himself. Give King credit for coaching the Red Raiders to an 8-2 season and ninth ranking in the nation in the United Press International coaches board ratings and he will relay the compliment to someone else.

Even to television.

Credits Replay

After the Raiders opened their season with a 26-7 victory over Kansas in a game cut to three quarters by tornadoes, hail and rain, King said a closed-circuit video tape replay system helped his staff change the team alignments.

When the Raiders nipped Texas A&M 20-16 on a last-minute forward - lateral, King gave credit to halfback Donny Anderson for suggesting the lateral.

That was true, but it was King who noted that the Aggies were not permitting Tech a sideline pass. He instructed end Jerry Shipley to fake a sideline cut and angle into the clear over the middle from where he lateraled to Anderson.

King seldom mentioned injury problems, so many fans were astounded to learn 14 starters had missed from one to several games this season.

Young Starters

King also won't disagree with sports writers who label the Red Raiders a "veteran" outfit. Yet, circumstances have forced him to start six to seven sophomores on offense, and three to four on defense.

King's belief in the importance of material made him highly respected as a recruiter when he was an assistant coach.

Henry Frnka, impressed by King's record at Enid, Okla., High, summoned him to Tulane in 1946 to help rebuild the Green Wave. King recruited so well that 14 of the top 22 players on Tulane's 9-1 team came from King's Texas territory.

King went on to staffs at Texas and Texas A&M, both of which had winners while he was there.

Follows Weaver

King came to Tech as an assistant and then succeeded DeWitt Weaver as head coach in 1960.

Tech's fortunes have been steadily improving. Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas, whose team finally subdued Tech 42-24 last Saturday in a showdown battle, freely admits the Razorback attack is patterned on the Tech attack King used against him in 1963.

In that game Tech spotted Arkansas a 20-0 lead, came on to tie and then lost to Broyles 27-20. Arkansas hasn't been beaten since.

King's giving credit to his players represents more than modesty.

"Genuses don't coach," he says. "They can do better than that."

King also won't disagree with sports writers who label the Red Raiders a "veteran" outfit. Yet, circumstances have forced him to start six to seven sophomores on offense, and three to four on defense.

King's belief in the importance of material made him highly respected as a recruiter when he was an assistant coach.

Henry Frnka, impressed by King's record at Enid, Okla., High, summoned him to Tulane in 1946 to help rebuild the Green Wave. King recruited so well that 14 of the top 22 players on Tulane's 9-1 team came from King's Texas territory.

King went on to staffs at Texas and Texas A&M, both of which had winners while he was there.

Follows Weaver

King came to Tech as an assistant and then succeeded DeWitt Weaver as head coach in 1960.

Tech's fortunes have been steadily improving. Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas, whose team finally subdued Tech 42-24 last Saturday in a showdown battle, freely admits the Razorback attack is patterned on the Tech attack King used against him in 1963.

In that game Tech spotted Arkansas a 20-0 lead, came on to tie and then lost to Broyles 27-20. Arkansas hasn't been beaten since.

King's giving credit to his players represents more than modesty.

"Genuses don't coach," he says. "They can do better than that."

Harvesters Open Road Action in Denton Gym

By A Staff Writer

DENTON (Sp1) — Pampa's 'Splendid Splinters' a raring crew of jumping beans, opened the 1965-66 basketball season here at 7:30 o'clock tonight against the Denton Broncos.

The same two teams tangled here again Saturday night.

Both go into tonight's cage warfare with identical 1-0 records, both scoring impressive opening game victories. Pampa over Dallas, 78-42 and Denton over Dallas Oak Cliff, 66-58.

Pampa has been picked to finish third in the 3-4A conference while the Broncos are a solid fourth choice in their district with the chance of being the darkhorse of the league.

Three starters from a team that was the first losing one in nine years at Denton returned this year and one other letterman. The Broncos tip off with Bill Austin, 6' 3 senior at center; Tim White, a 5' 9 senior at guard; and Mark Whitten, 6' 2 senior at forward. All three started last year.

Ronnie Higgins, a 5' 10 senior letterman that started most of last season and Larry Fuller, a forward at 6' 0 and saw only B team action last season round out the starting five.

It was Fuller who was the bright spot in Denton's opening game victory. The slender athlete tallied 20 points for high scoring honors while White hit 18 and Austin 16.

Bench-wise the Broncos are weak with only Wally Cochran, 6'3 junior forward; Glenn Weaver, 6'4 sophomore center and Butch Smith, a 6'1 junior forward, expected to see much action. Pampa did it mechanically and devastatingly last week against the Demons, who couldn't find the basket with either or both hands.

Much of this was due to a stellar defensive performance put on by Mike Wise, David Cain, Gary Crossland, Kenneth McWilliams, Doug Alton and David Frasier and a host of others.

Denton will be out to avenge two losses suffered to Pampa last year, 87-65 and 84-70.

It was McWilliams, Cain and Wise who handled the scoring chores with McWilliams taking up where he left off last season, being high point man with 19 points while Cain and Wise chipped in 17 each. Wise connected on eight of 11 shots from the field and also led in assists.

TULSA PASSES NET WIN

Nebraska, Texas Ease by Foes

By United Press International

The Twilley-Anderson aerial circus put on such an eye-popping act Thanksgiving Day it earned additional booking in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

While third-ranked Nebraska was putting on finishing touches on its first perfect season in 50 years and Army and Navy were prepping for their clash Saturday, Howard Twilley and Bill Anderson marshalled Tulsa to a 48-20 thumping of Colorado State Thursday and a date opposite eighth-ranked Tennessee in the Bluebonnet Bowl Dec. 18 at Houston.

Anderson fired five touchdown passes — two of them to Twilley, who wrapped up the national collegiate scoring championship with a total of 127 points. He caught 19 passes for 211 yards, breaking his previous single-game reception mark of 18, and set an NCAA record of 16 TD catches in a single season, giving him ownership of every game and season receiving mark.

Wilson Scores Clincher

Nebraska rallied from a 9-0 deficit to whip Oklahoma 21-9. Harry (Light Horse) Wilson romped 66 yards for the decisive touchdown early in the third period, then scored the clincher minutes later on a 38-yard pass from Bob Churchich.

Texas erupted for 21 points in 12 minutes of the third period to overcome Texas A&M 21-17. Tommy Francisco romped 93 yards with the opening kickoff and scored on a 36-yard dash shortly afterward to ignite Virginia Tech's 44-13 route of Virginia Military Institute, and Pete Larson tallied three times while pacing Cornell's 38-14 triumph over Pennsylvania.

Saturday is the last big college football weekend and aside from the Army-Navy tussle at Philadelphia, the most important contest will be the Alabama-Auburn clash to determine the Southeastern Conference champion. The schedule is dominated by intra-state rivalries.

Alabama Over Auburn

Fifth-ranked Alabama is favored by seven points to defeat Auburn; seventh-ranked Notre Dame is picked by 12 over Miami (Fla.); Tennessee is a 14-point choice over Vanderbilt and 10th-ranked Southern California is favored by 20 over Wyoming.

Fourth-ranked UCLA, the only other member of the top 16 that has not finished its regular season, is idle this week and takes on Tennessee at Memphis Dec. 4.

In cross-state battles, Georgia meets Georgia Tech, Mississippi State tackles Mississippi, Florida invades Florida State, Boston College plays Holy Cross, Texas Christian faces Southern Methodist and Baylor visits Rice.

Bridges Paces Hawks Victory

By United Press International

Burly Bill Bridges of the St. Louis Hawks trounced Guy Rodgers, San Francisco's one-man gang, Thursday night.

Rodgers has enjoyed the most productive week of his National Basketball Association career this week, averaging almost 41 points in three games.

Bridges scored only 18 for the Hawks Thursday but four of them came when Rodgers' furious 37-point scoring pace had pulled San Francisco within four points of the Hawks in the final minutes of the game.

Bridges sank two consecutive baskets and Len Wilkens added a free throw and a last-second basket to give St. Louis a 119-113 triumph.

The other NBA teams were idle.

Bondeson Has Cajun Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — Paul Bondeson, a hefty swinger from Palm Springs, Calif., owned the lead in the Cajun Classic golf tournament going into the second round today, but his lead was hardly secure.

A pack of 38 golfers including many unknowns, were within four strokes of Bondeson.

Bondeson toured the 6,550-yard Oakbourne Country Club layout in 66 strokes Thursday, six under par. That gave him a two-stroke lead over nine golfers, a three-stroke bulge over seven more and a four-stroke over 22 others.

The tightly bunched field found the course to their liking in this, the final vent of the PGA tour this year.

Bondeson, usually known for his booming drives, found his and dropped putts for six birdies and an eagle.

Checking in with 68s Thursday were Dave Sockton, Frank Beard, Howie Johnson, John Josephson, Al Kelly, Burt Weaver, Terry Dill, Harold Kneee and Babe Hiskey.

"THE OLD DARK HOUSE"

A NUTHOUSE OF TERROR

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—The name of the game is speed and that's usually what makes a winner in any contest whether it's boxing, baseball or badminton or even a race to the moon.

centered primarily around their speed, luickness and daring. They went out and did as Alston advised and the result now is there in the record book for everyone to see.

In a way, the present preoccupation with speed is completely contrary to the basic teachings of our society.

As soon as a child is old enough to understand, he generally is instructed to speak slowly, chew his food slowly and drink his milk slowly.

That may help make him a better rounded adult but if he dawdles like that on the athletic field, he's going to wind up watching everyone else go by.

Concentrates on Speed

Cassius Clay made up his mind at a tender age that that would never happen to him.

He realized immediately he had one exceptional quality, speed, and determined to make the most of it. He has, and then some.

Clay claims he's the fastest heavyweight of all time and he could be right. He is faster and hits quicker than most of the lightweights around and how is anyone ever going to beat him when there isn't anyone who can even catch him?

Clay's uninterrupted string of victories in the ring become all the more understandable when you consider the weak-hitting Los Angeles Dodgers won baseball's world championship the same way Cassius earned his title. On pure speed.

When it came to a matter of power, the Dodgers weren't even in the same county with the Twins. They knew it and so did everyone else. Still, Wilt Alston had to remind them of the fact after they dropped the first two series games.

He gathered his players in the clubhouse before the third contest in Los Angeles and urged them to return to their "normal" type game, which Moving over to football, you'll find more or less the same story. Speed does it again.

Rookie Bob Hayes, the Olympic champ who still is known as the world's fastest human, is anything but a finished football player with the Dallas Cowboys. He still makes occasional mistakes and that's to be expected with a first-year man in the pro ranks.

But his extra-ordinary speed has helped him account for eight touchdown passes caught and that total puts him second in that department in the National Football League.

Some Slow Winners

Here and there in sports, perhaps, someone could make case against speed.

Like in golf, for example, where it's generally considered beneficial for a competitor to take time lining up his putt, or in chess, where it always has been considered a good idea for a man to think out his moves.

Nevertheless, some of the most illustrious names in those two endeavors did exceptionally well playing quickly. Walter Hagen did it in golf and Jose Capablanca in chess.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Hey, What's Going On?

Newspapermen and the public begin to wonder what's going on when it becomes difficult to obtain news from taxpayer-financed public offices.

Right now we are thinking about the Gray County Commissioners Court, headed by County Judge Bill Craig. Maybe nothing is going on, but it sure is rough for a news reporter to get information.

Maybe it was just poor reporting (we don't think so) that it took The News more than two months to learn that members of the commissioners court on Sept. 13 voted themselves nice, little fat increases in salary and no mention of it was made.

The reason we don't think it was just poor reporting is because trying to cover a county commission meeting is a little like trying to break the bank at Monte Carlo. The odds against you are too great. Although there are set times for the judge and commissioners to meet, these dates are not always adhered to. If a newsman asks what's coming up at a meeting he happens to learn about, the stock answer usually is, "nothing except paying the monthly bills."

Nine times out of ten when a reporter attends a meeting, the judges are paid and the commission "adjourns." However, on many occasions reporters have dropped back later and found the commission in session again. That always is a bit puzzling.

The Pampa School Board and the Pampa City Commission both send news reporters an advance copy of the agenda for their meetings. The county judge says this would be difficult to do because he doesn't always know what is going to be on the agenda.

Somehow or other one can't help suspecting that the judge and the commissioners would know in advance that they planned to raise their salaries at the next meeting.

The county judge says he has nothing to hide. But, neither has he had any information to give out except under pointed questioning. Then the answers are not always crystal clear. There are others who wonder about the manner in which the county commissioners court is operated. The newspaper does have the judge's word that he will endeavor to keep the public informed. It is hoped it will be by advance word to reporters. This would give the public a chance to know what's going on, too.

Colleges Vacate Morality Field?

Colleges in these hectic and changing times face challenges other than making room for the swelling tide of students clamoring at their gates, or updating facilities and curricula.

Not the least of them has to do with the weakening of the traditional rule that they stand "in loco parentis" — in place of the parent; that they are responsible for the moral as well as the academic welfare of the young people in their charge.

Where once colleges and universities attempted to impose stringent codes of behavior on students, many of them, charges one educator, have gone to the opposite extreme of adopting institutional indifference toward them and have rejected any role in their moral life.

The result," says Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, newly inaugurated president of Bennington (Vt.) College, "has been the creation of a value vacuum on college campuses—a vacuum in which college presidents, administrators and faculty have withdrawn from even discussing moral issues with students."

They have, he says, "hidden their morals under bushel baskets."

Bloustein does not advocate that a college attempt to reassume the old role of moral guardian, or to establish a new source of moral authority on the campus.

The need is rather to find a means for the college to express its values without either imposing them or seeming to do so. To do this, it must provide suitable occasions for discussion on the campus of the problems of value which students face.

"The need, in other words, is not for the college to provide moral answers, but rather to provide a forum for raising moral questions; the need is not for moral dogma, but rather for moral dialogue."

There is no dearth of dialogue and discussion on college campuses today. But most of it seems to be between students and other students.

Lacking the participation of experienced voices from the academic community, young voices too often fill the "value vacuum" with noise and not much else.

The Exciting '70s

It's official — or pretty much so. The much talked about tunnel under the English Channel — the dream of visionaries, the strategic wish of Napoleon, the ambition of practical-minded engineers — is now a "certainty," says former British Minister of Transport Ernest Marples.

According to Marples, after another year of preliminary survey and a year of negotiating, work could begin by 1967. If all went well, the tunnel could be completed by 1974.

The 1970s looks like an exciting decade. Men plan to go to the moon by then; men plan to drive under the English Channel. One or the other is bound to happen.

Sensing The News

RHODESIA AND THE U. N.
All Americans concerned for the maintenance of ordered, civilized government in this troubled world rightly can feel shock and indignation at the criminal folly of the U. N. General Assembly with respect to Rhodesia.

On November 5, the General Assembly adopted a resolution calling on Great Britain to suspend Rhodesia's Constitution and establish a new government, using force if necessary. This resolution had the support of the Afro-Asian bloc, which now numbers 59 nations (or more states than were in the U. N. when it was established) and the votes of the communist bloc countries. This brought Rhodesia to the end of her rope, and now, like any self-respecting nation would, she has declared her independence.

Rhodesia, which occupies a strategic part of the African continent north of South Africa and east of the Congo, was created by Cecil Rhodes, the great Britisher who helped extend civilization through darkest Africa. The inhabitants of the region were at the Stone Age level when the first British settlers arrived. Over the years, these Rhodesians have built up a modern country and given unheard-of progress and betterment to the original native population. No one is denied the vote on account of race, but there are definite educational qualifications. Because the bulk of the population cannot meet acceptable levels, the ably and properly are in a position of leadership. If the uneducated and primitive were given the vote, the result would be dictatorship by those who ruthlessly manipulate the native masses. Rule of Rhodesia by this kind of regime would be a disaster for all the people of Rhodesia and the nations of the free world. The communists have long agitated on the Rhodesian situation, for they hope to create a power base in Central Africa. If they can plunge Rhodesia into chaos, and take hold of the reins of power, they will have taken a major step toward conquest of the African continent.

Part of the tragedy is that the Johnson administration and Great Britain herself — at least the Laborite government — has exerted pressure against the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith in Rhodesia. Liberals in this and other countries have been shameless in application of a double standard with respect to Rhodesia. The nations that signed the General Assembly resolution calling for force against Rhodesia say they want a "representative" government. But they themselves do not have such governments. Ghana, a black African dictatorship, recently passed up a general election because there was no opposition. The reason is that opposition leaders are in jail or dead. Ethiopia is an absolute monarchy of the old style, like Czarist Russia. Guinea has been a fellow-traveler of the communist nations since its founding. As for the communist bloc countries, none of them have anything approximating "representative" governments.

Prime Minister Ian Smith, who fought bravely as an airman in the Battle of Britain and on other fronts in World War II, is attacked and sneered at from all sides. Yet men of good will, who believe in sane, organized, civilized governments, have a big stake in the preservation of responsible leadership in Rhodesia. The cause of good government is worldwide.

In recent years, innumerable regimes have been spawned — regimes which are run by ignorant men or savages. The grand work of civilization, carried on in the Afro-Asian world in the last century and first four decades of the 20th century, has been rapidly undone. Every time a soundly-led government is overcome by a combination of savages and revolutionaries, the critical situation of our own government is aggravated.

The Rhodesians do not have great resources, and they have suffered from a tide of hostile and truth-twisted commentary on television and elsewhere. It is imperative that responsible voices in the United States be raised in defense of the Rhodesians who have the capability of providing intelligent leadership and who, as savages, are part of the World and dedicated to its concepts of liberty.

Somewhere, at some point, the tide of savagery must be

Whole-Family Training Plan Studied By OEO Program Officials

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty planners want to "play house" with American families. Under study by program-formulating officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity are unique proposals to install entire families in special training camps to live government-ordered lives.

The families selected for this unusual anti-poverty experiment would reside in government-built or leased apartments, with not more than a half-dozen families in each building. The fathers would be trained in new job skills; the mothers would be taught homemaking techniques and attitudes; and their children would attend schools — all at federal expense and direction.

All their needs — furnishings, food, health, recreation, training and even clothing — would be provided by the government. As the anti-poverty planners see this extraordinary concept, it offers and "imaginative and promising solution" to the serious problem of retaining married trainees in Job Corps camps and other training installations.

Loneliness and homesickness are deemed a major cause for married drop-outs. Although these trainees urgently need new skills to support their families, their dislike of being separated becomes so strong that it outweighs other considerations. So the planners reason that bringing the entire family to camp putting it under one roof and training all the members will solve the problem.

The fathers will complete their courses; the wives will become better homemakers and mothers; and society will gain a rehabilitated family unit. That's the theory behind the novel plan.

HIGH COST — OEO officials concede the cost of such a project would be considerable. One conservative estimate for a camp of 200 families is $2 million — or more — annually.

Additional funds would have to be sought from Congress as the existing anti-poverty budget would not cover the heavy increased outlay. How Congress would react to such an exceptional idea presents still another problem.

Meanwhile, the family training concept is spelled out in a prospectus prepared by a Western subsidiary of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (IT&T), which would like to undertake the experiment under government contract. As envisioned in this memorandum, the program would accomplish the following:

stopped. A good place to call a halt to the surging influence of backward peoples is in Rhodesia. The way for the United States to help advance the cause of civilization in Africa, and freedom in the world, is by recognizing the free nation of Rhodesia forthwith.

— "Preserve the integrity of the family unit while training the young father and or husband."

— "Offer home skills and other specialized courses to the wives and-or mothers."

— "Prepare children for communal-type living and offer pre-school training similar to Project Head Start."

— "Offer trainees a sample of middle-class living, one family per apartment, etc."

— "Offer group counseling and worship sessions for discussion of common problems, goals, ambitions, etc."

REGULATED EXISTENCE — The IT&T subsidiary prospectus stresses that life in a family training camp would be carefully patterned after and based on middle class standards. Says this unpublished opus:

"The scheduling of all activities will be similar to that of a normal, everyday family. The father will receive vocational training in a time frame similar to an average working day. The mother will receive training and have sufficient time remaining for household chores, maintaining a schedule similar to that of normal families. The work days of both parents will cumulate with the evening meal, thereby maintaining the normal whole family concept."

"Evenings and weekends will be free of formal training to permit family recreation and activities. Every effort will be made to afford a full calendar of social activities such as picnics, dances, cookouts, movies, etc."

For the three components of the family — father, mother, children — the prospectus advances the following:

FATHERS — "A diverse group of job skills, covering several basic occupational fields, would be offered for the men. These occupational fields would be: sales and public contact; office skills; facility maintenance and equipment maintenance. The men could be taught clerical duties, salesmanship, office machine operation, vending machine servicing, janitorial and building maintenance functions, landscaping and a host of other skills."

MOTHERS — "Training in homemaking, child care and certain vocational fields. Training in homemaking would consist of: the importance of the wife-mother in the family unit; fundamental arithmetic; family budgeting; sewing; house-keeping; dietary needs, and other basic needs. Child care training would orient the mother to the fundamental needs of the child. Instruction would be given in basic child psychology to provide the mother with a level of knowledge which will enable her to understand her children's needs."

"Vocational training for the mother would be provided on a limited basis to allow for the development of a skill which may later be used as a means of supplementing the family income."

Such skills as office clerical routines, typing and care for the elderly may be offered to fulfill this need. In addition, each wife-mother will be required to manage her own household, schedule cooking, cleaning, marketing, etc., within her time budget. . . . A commissary will be established as close as possible to the apartment complex. Food obtained from GSA (General Services Administration) will be marketed at prices below retail supermarkets. This will enable families to live comfortably on less money . . . an estimated food budget of $15 to $20 a week."

CHILDREN — "Training is planned to include subjects similar to those furnished in the average nursery school, such as drawing and finger painting. A substantial portion of the child's training would be devoted to supervised group play to further expose the child to both the benefits and problems of community living. . . . Child training will be expanded as much as possible, the limitation being the ability of the child to absorb training."

NO SUSPENSIONS (?) — Anti-poverty director Sargent Shriver and Otis Singletary, head of the Job Corps program, "categorically deny" the opening of two new training camps is being suspended pending an investigation of the turmoil and scandals that have rocked the eight in operation.

The two officials hotly claim the "opening of Job Corps camps is progressing on schedule as planned."

Neither would discuss the schedule or plans.

Also, neither denied that a sweeping probe is underway of existing training centers, nor that a slowdown had been ordered in recruiting trainees for these camps.

As reported in this column last week, the eight urban Job Corps camps have a capacity of 16,000 trainees, but only 7,100 are enrolled. Most of the camps are operating at half capacity. Similarly, only 57 of the 93 authorized conservation camps are in operation. They have a capacity of 10,000 trainees, but only 6,000 are enrolled.

Singletary, in denying the suspension of additional Job Corps camps, declared, "I have received no directive from Mr. Shriver to suspend the opening of such centers. The opening of additional camps is progressing on schedule as planned for the remainder of this fiscal year."

"How many camps are scheduled to be opened during this period of seven months?" Singletary was asked.

"Four."

"That is four over a period of seven months."

"That is the plan as it now exists," replied Singletary. "The schedule calls for opening four additional centers in this fiscal year if we can get the appropriate contracts."

"That's quite a list of conditions," it was pointed out. "Four camps in seven months, provided you get the appropriate contracts." Under these circumstances, it would seem very easy to cover up the suspension of the opening of a couple of camps. How would anyone be able to tell whether you have or haven't done that unless you disclose the details of your schedule and plans?"

Singletary's answer was to stand pat on his "categorical denial."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Caution Signals Hoisted At Business Outlook Meet

By SAM CAMPBELL Business Editor

The word is CAUTION! That's what eastern economists are telling western businessmen now.

I dropped into the annual Business Outlook Conference of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. "Buy the stocks you would like to buy if the market were going to be closed five years." So advised Thomas W. Phelps, partner in Scudder, Stevens & Clark, New York investment house.

Monetary Restraints

Look for Washington to put on monetary restraints, was the counsel of Albert T. Sommers, director of economic research for the National Industrial Conference Board. The 36-month term on new cars means the buyer pays for 22 months before he has any equity to speak of. That factor will have a bearing on the time that the purchaser will be willing to trade for a shiny new model. That was the observation of Keith G. Cone, chairman of American Bankers Association's Installment Credit Committee.

On the plus side, Cone noted that although consumer credit had grown from $5.6 billion in 1945 to $82 billion by September, 1965, the figures indicated no noticeable change in quality.

The reasons that Sommers and Phelps gave to back up their go-slow admonition were much the same.

Full Employment

Both noted that the employable labor force was now almost fully engaged. Addition of other workers — those who are less efficient, less skilled Sommers noted, means higher costs.

He commented that the 1965 rapid growth — high debt, heavy commitment in durables, costs rising faster than prices. Government spending policies proved a stimulant, but are not so easily adjusted to provide a rising price. On that basis, he forecast a change in monetary policy.

Both Sommers and Phelps gave a great deal of consideration to that mathematical myth called the Gross National Product. Sommers said the forecast was for a 6 per cent growth in 1966. On being questioned, he conceded that two of the six points would represent inflation. None of the three speakers that I heard was pessimistic. I gauged their attitude to be that caution always is in order when confidence prevails.

Phelps defined confidence as suspicion asleep. I judged he was trying to wake it.

The sobering tone of the Los Angeles Chamber's conference was most timely, in my estimation. Lately the country seems to have been in a fit of elation, enthusiasm and expansion. When everybody gets in the same high mood, at the same time, the party is likely to get out of hand. General elation is certain to be followed by pervasive pessimism. Glad glands only have so much juice.

Add to this very human element, the grave possibility that Washington money managers may do a wrong thing or overdo a correct action, and you can understand the need of caution.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and business functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "While America is 190 years old, Congress says it is only in its 89th session. How is this?"

ANSWER: The present Congress is the 89th Congress. It recently completed its first session. When it next meets, it will be in the second session of the 89th Congress.

The First Congress met in 1789, when the Constitution was declared adopted. Each Congress runs for two years, but through history there have been from one to three sessions for each.

Thus it is in error to say Congress is in "its 89th session." The numbering of Congresses is from adoption of the Constitution, not from the date of the Revolution or the Declaration of Independence.

matter of fact

The ensign is the flag flown at a ship's stern. The word "ensign" means "insignia" and an ensign was originally the banner of the highest-ranking person on board a medieval ship equipped for war. It is thus strictly comparable with the flag of a company of infantry formerly borne by a young officer, the ensign-bearer.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
 CBS-TV and NBC-TV will present their audience-involvement "tests" throughout the remaining video season, according to announced plans. Viewers were able to take the test Tuesday night either with home viewers were asked 42 basic questions about their "rights, obligations and responsibilities."

The program was a followup to the same network's "National Drivers' Test" of May 24, which drew a very large rating for a public affairs broadcast, and revived in major form—and with a relatively new style—television's attempt to reach the viewer more directly. Both right to bear arms, the Fifth Amendment, prayer in schoolrooms, citizens' arrests and the rights of dissenters to attack our Viet Nam policy, talk about the overthrow of the government and denounce organized religion.

There were also several "opinion" questions which did not count in one's test score. The first such query asked whether participants felt the Fifth Amendment should be changed to compel testimony against oneself. Two-thirds of the national test sample said no—don't change things. Eight of 10 congressmen taking the test also said to leave things alone.

Another opinion question concerned the method of nominating a president. Most of the national sample advocated state or national primaries, but the congressmen like the present setup.

The 40 remaining questions were tallied at five points each—or none if you got them wrong. The national sample answered 63 per cent of the questions correctly, not a very good score. The congressmen and their wives came in at 85 per cent. As for your slave, I finished higher than that congressman. I would have been ashamed to do anything else. The only question I got wrong concerned census takers—I thought I could refuse to give them information if I wanted to, and the notion still appeals to me.

Television, which has butchered Stan Laurel's movies over the years but never managed to give him a nickel of the millions it made from them, Tuesday night offered him a one-hour posthumous salute with an all-star comedy special on CBS-TV.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 When, in 1961, the late President Kennedy announced his $20 billion Alliance for Progress to aid Latin American nations, he tied it firmly to social, political and economic gains achieved by democratic methods.

In its beginnings, Alliance planners tried to live by the Kennedy ideal. U.S. aid, later restored, was withdrawn from Peru, Bolivia, Honduras and Ecuador when military regimes toppled civilian governments.

Later, under President Johnson, came what has been called the pragmatic or practical approach.

This is the approach which holds that military regimes are not necessarily bad.

Man Saved From Suicide By Handcuffs
 NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A man who said he wanted to kill himself because he lost everything in hurricane Betsy was saved from a bridge leap Thursday by a set of handcuffs.

Police held Luther McRobins, 48, of New Orleans on suspicion of disturbing the peace. Officers said they found McRobins standing at the railing on the Huey P. Long bridge over the Mississippi River Thursday, threatening to jump. He said he had "woman problems" and was wiped out by the hurricane.

Police had McRobins about talked out of jumping, they said, when he moved back from the railing. But they said he walked back toward the edge and started to jump.

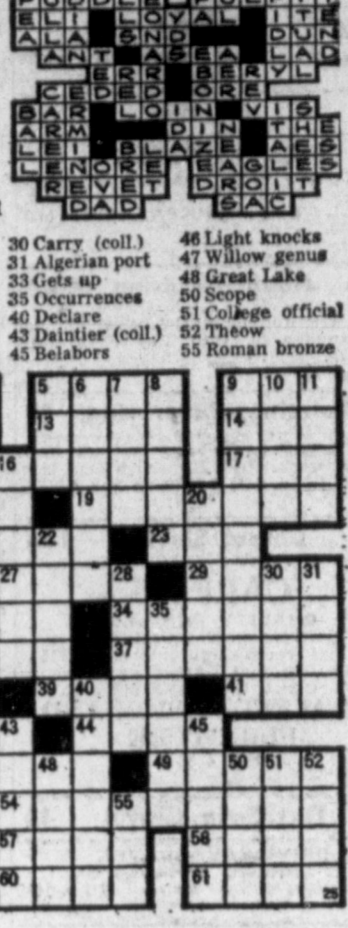

Two state troopers grabbed him and one handcuffed one of his wrists to the bridge rail. McRobins slipped and dangled from the handcuffs over the river 10 minutes before he could be pulled back.

Whether they will know when it is time to get out will soon become Brazil's most important question.
