

Temperatures from below to much below normal are the outlook for most of the nation with only the northeast and northwest corners left out of the frigid forecast.

Heavy precipitation is in store for much of the nation with exceptions of upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes states, the Pacific Northwest and a slice of Texas.

SHOWING CANCELED
STONINGTON, Conn. (UPI) — A planned showing of the film classic "Birth of a Nation," was canceled Friday because of civil rights protests.

The film portrays the Ku Klux Klan as the "savior of the South" and depicts Negroes as vicious.

The Week in Review

By H. J. HELLER

United Press International: Rising 18,000 feet from the ocean floor, isolated from the land masses of the world, lie the volcanic and coral islands of Hawaii.

Strange birds cavort in the islands' deep valleys and its still active volcanoes occasionally pour lava down mountain-sides lush with bizarre semi-tropical flora.

Against this exotic background a group of sombre men met early this week to discuss a grave problem—the frustrating war in Viet Nam.

The conferees included the leading figures in the two countries most involved in the struggle against the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

President Johnson, Vice President Hubert Humphrey, important cabinet members and key military personnel represented the United States. The chief spokesmen for South Viet Nam were Premier and Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky and Luet. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnamese chief of state.

Although the sessions were secret, joint communiques issued at the end of the meetings, made it clear that both sides were committed to continue the struggle in Viet Nam not only on the military level but also in the areas of social and economic development.

President Johnson and South Vietnamese leaders pledged themselves again:

"To defense against aggression,

To the work of social revolution.

To the goal of free self government,

To the attack on hunger, ignorance and disease,

And to the unending quest for peace."

Returning to the mainland, President Johnson immediately announced that missions were leaving for Viet Nam to implement the program.

Vice President Humphrey flew to Saigon with the Viet Nam leaders to carry forward, Johnson said, "the mission we defined at Honolulu.

Around the world:

Saigon: American and South Viet Nam troops cleared new areas 300 miles northeast of Saigon without any major contact with the enemy.

Washington: Congress approved a new GI bill of rights which the President is expected to approve although it called for lesser benefits than the White House had asked for.

Moscow: Two Moscow authors went on trial in the Soviet

State Senator To Request Code Revision

TYLER (UPI)—State Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler said today he will ask Gov. John Connally to let the legislature amend the new criminal code during the special session that begins Monday.

Calhoun, a candidate for attorney general, said he was drafting a letter to the governor asking for the right to consider amendments that would restore court costs in justice courts and clarify other sections of the code.

The legislature, in a called session, may act only on proposals submitted to it by the governor.

"I would not anticipate he would open it immediately, but hope that as soon as we get the registration bill out of the way, he would," Calhoun said. "This matter is of utmost importance."

Calhoun said he was having bills prepared to restore the court costs in justice of the peace cases and to change the code's restrictions on confessions.

"If we wait until the next legislature it will be more than a year that the counties lost revenue from the costs," he said. "We need to pass a law restoring costs so the counties will have the benefit of that revenue."

He said he would offer other amendments to:

- Make sure the jury assesses punishment in death penalty cases.
- Require convicts to serve one-third, instead of one-fourth, of their sentences before becoming eligible for parole.
- Clarify parole provisions in misdemeanors.
- Make sure defendants are not entitled to appointed counsel until after they have been charged.

UPI Announces Major Advance In News Delivery

NEW YORK (UPI) —United Press International Thursday announced a major advance in delivery of its news reports with the first automatic conversion by computer of teletype signals to justified Teletypesetter tape.

James F. Darr, UPI general manager of communications, said that on-line operation of the new service began initially with the sports wire delivered to three newspapers in the East, Middletown, N.Y., Times Herald-Record, Jamestown, N.Y., Post-Journal and the Waterbury, Conn., Republican American.

"This is a significant achievement by UPI," he said. "It is the first time a teletype service wire has been automatically converted to a Teletypesetter news wire. This means that Teletypesetter newspapers can enjoy the same advantages of speed and volume that regular teletype services offer."

"UPI's A-trunk news wire is also being converted in this same manner for similar delivery to newspapers."

Pampa Chapter Works on Plans For FFA Week

Plans for FFA Week, Feb. 19-26, are now being formed by Pampa area Future Farmers of America according to Bob Skaggs, Pampa High School agriculture teacher.

Among other activities, the local FFA members hope to produce a radio show during the week and to put up billboard posters on the highway approaches to Pampa announcing the week.

While not a part of FFA Week, itself, the young farmers are busy working on a local chapter Fat Stock Show on the evening of March 5 as a prelude to the Top O' Texas Junior Fat Stock Show, March 7, 8, and 9.

PROPER GRAZING USE — This rangeland near Stinnett demonstrates proper grazing. About 50 per cent of the leaf growth is left to feed the root system. Water falling on this pasture will stay on the land where it belongs.

Proper Grazing Helps Cattle

By VAN MILLS
Gray County SCDC
Proper grazing use of rangeland greatly influences net profit and continuing productivity of the land.
At the Woodward Experiment Station on heavily grazed pastures the percent weaned calf crop was 81. On moderately grazed pastures the percent weaned calf crop was 92. The weaning weight per calves on the heavily grazed pastures was 404 pounds. The weaning weight of calves on moderately grazed pastures was 481 pounds per head.

The net profit per acre was $2.46 on heavily grazed pastures and $2.92 per acre on moderately grazed pastures.

Water intake rate was 2.27 inches per hour on heavily grazed pastures and 3.64 inches per hour on moderately grazed pastures. The desirable grasses were being grazed out and gully erosion was taking place.

At the Spur Experiment Station in 156 days steers gained 168 pounds per head on moderately grazed pastures. The moderately grazed pastures produced 36 pounds of beef per acre. On the heavily grazed pastures the steers gained 110 pounds per head the pastures produced 35 pounds of beef per acre.

One rancher said recently the weaning weight of his calves was about 460 pounds. After he leased the place out the weaning weights of the calves dropped to 360 pounds per head under heavy stocking rate.

It does not matter whether you own or pay a high lease rate, heavy stocking does not pay. About half of the current year's growth should be left to feed the root system and keep the grass plan; producing adequate forage for livestock production. Close grazing starves out the root system and reduces the plants ability to produce food for itself and for livestock production.

Dryland Wheat Farms Still Need Moisture

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today Texas farmers and ranchers need a break in the weather to dry overly wet fields and pastures in the eastern half—and moisture for parched fields in western and northwestern areas.

In the past week, warming temperatures and sunshine early in the week gave way to from Central Texas eastward clouds and widespread rains and northward. The wetness delayed further and preparation for spring crops and slowed grazing. Livestock feed has been heavy throughout the state and stockmen report they have kept their animals in fair to good condition.

Soil moisture is short in the High Plains, part of the Rolling Plains and far West Texas, and in the San Angelo area of Central West Texas, the service said.

Farmers have only scattered scraps remaining to finish South Plains and Rolling Plains cotton harvests. Land preparation was resumed this week on the South Plains after three weeks' delay because of bad weather.

In South Texas, soil moisture was reported adequate and harvests of carrots, cabbage, lettuce and fresh onions made progress. Land preparation has been slow. Watermelons are being replanted in Brooks County. Citrus harvest has slowed to see what prices develop out of Florida weather problems.

Small grain growth throughout Texas was all but stopped by the long spell of cold weather, but moderating temperatures should start growth again, the service said. Dryland wheat

In Northwest Texas continues to suffer from lack of moisture and low temperatures slowed the growth of irrigated wheat. It costs the federal government $27.872 to educate a student at the Naval Academy in Annapolis.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Recently we received a letter from Robert McCann, who now lives in Wichita, Kansas. Bob was writing to find out how the 4-H rifle team was coming along. For some three years Bob coached the 4-H rifle team about 10 months out of the year. He moved to Wichita, Kan., about one year ago. Without any pay other than the satisfaction of helping youth to safely use a rifle, he met with these 4-H youngsters twice weekly. Bob didn't give me permission to quote from a portion of his letter, but I will take the liberty to do so. I quote Bob McCann, "I miss them (4-H Rifle Club) more than anything else and quite honestly I have discovered that they had become quite a part of my life and I am lost without the responsibility of working with these youngsters. "I thought that being able to call my evenings my own would be wonderful but honestly, I wish that I could spend my time with these youngsters. They were the most cooperative young people that anyone could pick to work with." Under Bob's coaching Gray County had two boys in successive years to take first place state honors in the 4-H Roundup contest at Texas A. & M. The Gray County team was in the top places two years in a row. You don't wonder why after reading a letter that shows such keen devotion to such a good cause. Bob was a devoted member of the Pampa Rifle and Pistol club. Before he left he recruited another devoted member to the Rifle and Pistol Club to take over where he left off. Leo Scott, 2128 Hamilton, has been meeting with this group two nights weekly. Again it takes quite an unusual fellow that will give up two nights a week of his time freely in the interest of helping youth. Leo puts the beginners through a rugged safety course before they are allowed to fire a gun. There is no way to estimate the number of lives these devoted leaders save through the training they give youngsters in safety. These youngsters are taught discipline which is the first rule of safety. Jack Mitchell, 2125 N. Faulkner, another Rifle and Pistol Club member and Tom Veale, organizational leader, Top O' Texas 4-H Club, are others that help out as their working schedules permit. This unselfish devotion to helping others seems to be a part of members of this fine organization that is affiliated with the National Rifleman's Association. My hat is off to them. If you feel as I do, let's wake them up this Sunday morning with a telephone phone Leo at 4-4993. Phone Jack at 5-5716. Phone Tom at 5-2783. Tell them how much you appreciate them working with the youth of our city. If we had a few hundred more guys like them in each town of this size, you wouldn't need new legislation to curb juvenile delinquency.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
Since Feb. 1, water plans for various areas of Texas have been moving along rapidly. A public hearing was held at Lamesa on Feb. 2, by the Texas Water Rights Commission, to hear a request by representatives of nine counties of the Southern High Plains. These counties are located in the southern edge of the Ogallala Formation.

Testimony entered at the hearing convinced everyone in attendance that all of the responsible people, including bankers, have worked long and hard in making an intensive study of the underground water in their area. The underground water formation is their only source. Lakes and streams are practically nil throughout the entire area.

The testimony entered by representatives of the proposed water Conservation District No. 4 was very complete, and convinced the Water Rights Commission.

Normally, the Texas Water Rights Commission takes such requests under advisement, but at the conclusion the Board went into executive session and voted unanimously to accept the request for the designated delineation of the underground reservoir subdivision and district, and granted permission for the calling of an election. Indications were that such an election would be called, by the appointed board of directors, at the earliest possible time.

On Feb. 3, representatives of the High Plains Water Conservation District No. 1 and the Panhandle Water Conservation District No. 3 met with Internal Revenue Service people to review a proposed formula and guideline for filing for refunds on water depletion on irrigation farms.

On Feb. 15, the Carson County Agricultural Clinic will be held in Panhandle at the new agricultural building. The clinic is scheduled to get underway at 1:30 p.m. A representative of the Internal Revenue Service will be on the program to discuss the tax status of water depletion. Everyone in the Gray County area who is interested in filing for water depletion allowances is invited to attend this Agriculture Clinic at Panhandle.

The State Soil Conservation Board has assigned a planning staff to develop a Water Work plan for the sponsors of McClelland Creek Watershed. The planning staff headed by Phil Grazier is headquartered at McLean.

The official sponsors of the McClelland Creek Watershed project, are McClelland and Gray County Soil Conservation Districts and the Commissioners Courts of Carson and Gray Counties. These local sponsors and the Steering Committee Chairman, Billy Davis, are very pleased that positive steps are now underway to get the watershed program carried out.

It has been estimated that it will take about seven or eight months for the planning party to complete their investigation, designs and economic analysis. Flood prevention is the primary purpose of the sponsors, in promoting the McClelland Creek Watershed Program. Although flood prevention is a primary objective, the sponsors desire to develop the project to serve the maximum of conservation uses.

The cities of Groom and McLean have requested that certain sites be investigated for municipal water supply and pos-

TYPHUS DEATH

AARAU, Switzerland (UPI) — A typhus outbreak in the nearby village of Gipt-Oberfrick claimed its first victim Friday, 15-year-old Ueli Habegger. He was one of 13 persons hospitalized after contracting the disease. Doctors said his case was complicated by a heart condition.

Citrus Crop 10 Percent Above 1965 Season

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department this week estimated the 1965-66 citrus crop at 139,250,000 boxes of oranges, 46,200,000 of grapefruit and 17,300,000 of lemons. The department's crop reporting board estimate orange production will be 10 per cent above last season and 15 per cent above average. Grapefruit production is expected to be 13 per cent higher than last season and 17 per cent above average. Lemon production was estimated at 18 per cent above last year and 6 per cent above average. The department said Florida citrus trees apparently escaped serious damage from freezing temperatures Jan. 30 - 31. Fruit losses are not expected to be excessive because fully mature oranges will be diverted to processors, the department said. The department added that some light loss was expected in Valencia oranges, which were not fully mature when the freeze hit. Damaged grapefruit also will be used for processing and fruit from undamaged groves will furnish good supplies for fresh shipments, the department said. The crop reporting board also said freezing temperatures in Texas on Jan. 27 and 30 were short and did "negligible" damage. Wet soil in California delayed harvest in January, but fruit and trees are in good condition and movement will increase this month, the report said. Estimated 1965-66 production by fruits and states (in boxes): Oranges — California, 36 million, including 16 million Valencia and 19 million early and mid-season varieties. Florida — 64.3 million, including 42 million Valencia and 51.3 million early and mid-season varieties. Texas — 1,250,000, including 350,000 Valencia and 900,000 early and mid-season varieties. Arizona — 2.7 million, including 1.8 million Valencia and 900,000 early and mid-season varieties.

AMARILLO (Sp) — Tascosa played the rude host Friday night and ended Pampa's basketball season on a sour note with three seconds to play, 56-54.

Pat Estes, who had hit but two of 10 field goal attempts throughout the game pumped in a 10-foot jumper with four seconds showing on the clock to hand the Harvesters their second straight 3-4A defeat and wipe out any hopes they might have entertained for the second half league title.

The only thing the loss hurt was Pampa's pride for Monterey, the second half winner, ripped city rival Lubbock, 50-44.

The Plainsmen will now meet first half champ Amarillo, probably Tuesday at a site not yet known.

Monterey won the second half crown with an 8-0 record and Pampa finished second at 6-2. The Harvesters close out the season at 21-6.

The Friday night affair was a hair-raiser all the way with the lead changing hands 11 times and the contest tied 10 times in all.

After Estes' winning basket Pampa called time out with one second left. The ball was tossed to Steve Williams at mid-court who hit the backboard with a football pass and it was all over.

Tascosa never trailed by more than one point throughout the contest with Pampa unable to get their defensive minds clear.

The Rebels had hot hands in the opening half, canning 13 of 25 shots from the field for 52 per cent. They finished with 22 of 52 for 42.3 per cent.

Pampa mustered only 17 of 45 field shots for 37 per cent but hit 20 of 25 from the charity stripe.

The Rebels' 69 John Burkhalter, who looked like anything but a basketball player when the Rebels played in Pampa, and 64 Ronnie Evans, a bruiser on the backboards, were the key figures in Tascosa's win.

Both finished the night with 14 points each and Burkhalter blocked shot after shot of Pampa's shorter crew.

Burkhalter fouled out with 2:40 left to play but Evans and Jay Burkhalter continued to dominate the rebounds.

Pampa led once in the final period, when Steve Williams hit from under the basket with 3:08 left to push the Harvesters in front, 52-51.

But Burkhalter hit a pair of free tosses to push Tascosa back in front.

Kenneth McWilliams, who closed out his career with 14 points, connected on a couple of charity tosses 2-40 from the end to give Pampa their last lead of the night.

The Rebels tied it quickly on a free shot by Jerry Murdock, who tallied 13 points for the Rebels.

Pampa went into a delay game, playing for one shot with 2:08 to play. They lost the ball on a turnover with 1:16 left, then got it back with 53 seconds showing on the clock when Estes missed the front end of a one and one.

But this wasn't the Harvesters' night. They lost the ball again on a turnover with 31 seconds left and the Rebels played for the one shot, got it, and made it good.

Mike Wise closed out his Harvester career on a sad and happy note. Wise paced Pampa scoring with 17 points and ended up leading Pampa in league scoring.

Senior David Cain, Pampa's season scoring leader tallied five points and carried three fouls the first half.

Junior Steve Williams was next to Wise with 16 points, although he played only the last three quarters.

Pampa never led in the game until the fourth period. They were tied at 6-6 with 4:33 remaining in the first quarter and trailed 16-11 when the period ended.

They knotted the score at 29-29 on a free shot by Williams with 28 seconds left in the half but Burkhalter scored just before halftime for a 31-29 Tascosa lead.

David Cain pumped in a jump shot with 3:17 left in the third period to give the Harvesters another tie but Tascosa out-scored Pampa 8-2 the final minutes for a 44-40 lead.

The Pampa Shockers closed out their season on a winning shot, 60-47 and finished the season with a 20-5 record.

SWC Negro Cager Glad He Chose Horned Frogs

DALLAS (UPI) — The only trouble young James Cash has had since he became the first Negro basketball player in the Southwest Conference is with his jump shot.

The 6-7 Texas Christian University freshman chose the Horned Frogs last fall after being wooed by colleges from coast-to-coast.

Clay May Be Due Pitch in Service

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, scheduled to have his draft status reviewed next week, probably won't be deferred as a conscientious objector despite his affiliation with the Black Muslim religious sect.

Some members of the Black Muslim sect, which teaches a pseudo-Islamic religion and Negro supremacy, have sought to be deferred from serving in the armed forces, but a spokesman for the Selective Service told UPI he had "no knowledge of any Black Muslim being deferred for claiming to be a conscientious objector."

The spokesman called the group a "militant sect." He added that "the relative newness of the sect provides no precedent for its claim to being conscientious objectors. It has no history of being opposed to violence like the Quakers."

However, the wife of a member of the Louisville draft board, which has jurisdiction over Clay's status, said she believed that Ruddy, Cassius' brother had been deferred because of his conscientious objection to joining the armed forces on religious grounds.

Clay, who is scheduled to fight Ernie Terrell in a title bout in Chicago, March 29, is currently listed with a 1-Y status because of his failure to pass the requirements for minimum intelligence on two occasions.

However, he recently received an information form, which is the first step in a nation-wide program to lower the minimum standards for draft exemption because of the Viet Nam conflict. About 2½ million men received the form, and many will have their 1-Y status advanced to 1-A, the classification of prime military draft prospects.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of the Louisville draft board, said, "I don't see any reason why Clay won't be acceptable for the draft (under the lower requirements). When we meet next Thursday it's my guess that he will be placed 1-A and there is certainly no reason why he shouldn't be."

SPORTS NOTES

Randy Matson, who decided to play basketball at Texas A&M this year after a two-season layoff, says his job is not to score points, but to "get the basketball off the boards and play defense. John Beasley will take care of the points for us."

Matson, Southwest Conference opponent will testify, has been doing his job extremely well.

Billy Martindale of Jacksonville, Tex., was the most improved player on the professional golf tour last year. He upped his winnings from $4,892.80 in 1964 to $44,583.10 in 1965.

SKI WINNERS

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — Guy Perillat Thursday won the French national slalom title and Marielle Goisichel captured the national special slalom crown in the first major races over the 1,990-yard course built for the 1968 Winter Olympics.

Mays Doesn't Think Hoffa Could Make It

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Take it from Willie Mays, who became the highest-salaried player in baseball history Friday, he can get along without having the game organized by Jimmy Hoffa.

"I think I can negotiate better for myself than anyone else can," Mays said when asked about plans of the teamsters to unionize the players.

This seemed to figure, as Mays had just signed a two-year contract estimated at $130,000 per season with the San Francisco Giants.

Club President Horace Stoneham presented the contract to his prize center fielder Friday morning. Mays signed it and then the beaming club owner declared, "we believe this contract makes Willie the highest-salaried player in baseball history."

His paycheck presumably will come to about $5,000 more per year than what the Boston Red Sox gave Hall of Famer Ted Williams when the latter drew down an approximate $125,000 a season.

Mays, who will be 35 on May 6, is the first Giant to receive a two-year pact since the club moved to the West Coast from New York at the end of 1957.

Take notice now class as we write a few choice lines about our favorite subject, golf.

The U.S. Golf Association had one of their toughest sessions this past week handing down some world-shattering opinions.

Dogs and Water

Dogs, the Pacific Ocean as a water hazard and women and Bermuda shorts were put to the association.

The first question asked was: "A person is putting on the 18th green. While the ball is still rolling, a dog runs out, picks up the ball and takes off with it."

What should the player do now? (1.) Play the ball from where the dog picked it up, no penalty, or (2.) Replay the putt where it was originally played, no penalty?

The Association ruling: The ball was deliberately interfered with an outside agency, and in equity the player must replay the stroke, without penalty.

The question of the Pacific Ocean came up in a review of the nine which Jack Nicklaus took on the final hole of the Bing Crosby Classic at Pebble Beach.

Jack hit his first ball into the Pacific Ocean which frames one side of the 18th hole. His second also went into the ocean and in each case he was penalized stroke and distance.

Finally, hitting No. 5 from the tee, he caught the fairway, hit his second close to the seawall, pitched to the edge of the green and two-putted for a nine.

Were Nicklaus' second and third shots hit from the tee optional balls?

Bermuda Shorts

To which Joseph C. Dey replied, "Not if the Pacific Ocean is designated as a water hazard. But our understanding is that the ocean there is regarded as 'Through The Green'—It is a local rule and to the U.S.G.A. the Pacific Ocean is a water hazard."

Next came the troubles of Clifford Ann Creed. Miss Creed is one of the better women golfers and playing an exhibition match in Sydney, Australia, became chagrined when she was not permitted to wear Bermuda shorts in the match.

How does the USGA feel about this? Day said, "We had a similar problem about 15 days ago and after studying the problem from all angles we bow to the preference of the women."

Said Miss Creed: "A skirt can be more embarrassing for women golfers than a double bogey." The women, bless 'em.

Pittsburgh Picked Fifth In Close National Race

By SANDY PADWE Newspaper Enterprise Assn. PITCHING — Vern Law's comeback was one of the most dramatic stories of the 1965 baseball season. After years of arm trouble, dating back to 1961, Law recovered and finished with a 17-9 record and a 2.16 ERA.

back at third. It's a solid infield. RATING—B. OUTFIELD — Roberto Clemente just keeps going. He won the batting title for the second straight year in 1965. Over in left field, Willie Stargell slugged 27 home runs and 107 RBI.

to be his backup. Jesse Gonder, the third man is a defensive risk.—RATING—B.— BENCH —Andre Rodgers hit .287 as a utility man last year and can play the infield and outfield. Jose Pagan is another infield reserve. Jerry Lynch, one of the most feared pinch-hitters in the game, is back for his specialty as well as outfield duties.

SUMMARY —The Pirates were 13½ games out on May 21 last year. Then the cripples became healthy and the Bucs soared. They were 81-48 for the remainder of the season. Pittsburgh must have a good start this season and a lot will depend on Law. Every time out, though you wonder if his arm will hold up. There is little worry about the offense. Actually, when you analyze it, Harry Walker has a strong club and there really isn't much difference between first and sixth in the National League. Prediction—5th.

The Red Cross Board met Tuesday morning with 16 members present. Wes Langham presided at the meeting and during the business session, the board voted to hold a house to house canvass for funds to supplement the lack of funds for this year. Date for the drive will be March 15 and persons who will work their block should call the Red Cross office, MO 4-7121, and offer their services. A film "Breath of Life" was shown by the public information committee with Bob Regan in charge of the program.

I visited the 9th grade girls physical education class taught by Mrs. Joe Di Cosimo Thursday and talked to the girls about Red Cross. She told the class about the beginning of Red Cross and about the need for safety services in each community. The class was very attentive and it is amazing how many families represented in Robert E. Lee School have members of the family in the service of our country. In one class room ten families were told to have servicemen from their homes.

A Disaster Conference will be held in Amarillo at the chapter house on 1800 S. Harrison Feb. 16 and 17. This meeting is open to the public and any person interested in learning about the Red Cross Disaster program is invited to attend the meeting.

The Youth Planning Session held Saturday in Pampa was a success. All chapters were represented with 22 persons attending the meeting. Dates for the Youth Conference was set for April 15-17 at the Amarillo Air Force Base. One of the projects will be to have a representative from each high school in the Panhandle, with special guests being the exchange students living in the homes in the Panhandle. Lynn Sumpter, Borger, was president and presided at the meeting. Kenneth Cowan, Pampa, vice president opened the meeting with a prayer. The following were present and signed the register: Glenna Brown, president of Pampa High School Council; Howard Graham, teacher-sponsor of Pampa High School; Barbara Holt, vice president of Pampa Council; Kathy Price and Jerry Fancher, Amarillo; Eunice Hicks Beach from Amarillo; Dick Strayer, field representative from Amarillo; Kathy Miller, Lynda Keyser, Morris Southward and Ralph Knox from Hereford and Mrs. Marvis Southard from Hereford. Jacques Cunningham, from Perryton, Ruth Kirk and daughter, Johnnie from McLean. Lunch was furnished by the Pampa High School Red Cross youth. Lamar School made and furnished the tray favors for the AAFB Hospital. Joe Page, principal, brought the favors and tray mats to the Red Cross office where they were taken to the Base Hospital for distribution on the special day.

Cancer Fight Draws Funds From Legacies

Legacies are an increasingly important source of income for the fight against cancer, according to Don Lane, president of the American Cancer Society's Gray County Unit.

"We have a name for this program: Will To Conquer Cancer," he said. "And more and more people are choosing this means to strike a blow against a cruel disease even after their lives have ended."

The legacies take several forms. Some provide specific sums of money, but an increasing number are "residual" — giving the Society whatever is left over after specific amounts have been distributed to relatives or friends.

Lane stated that of the approximately $8,000,000 in legacies received by the American Cancer Society during its last fiscal year, $275,432 was willed by Texans.

Legacies primarily support cancer research, Lane declared. They also provide funds for on-going programs of education and service to cancer patients.

The legacy form is a simple but specific one, he stated, and may be obtained by contacting Paul Keim at the First National Bank in Pampa.

The Family Lawyer

Peeking Into Your Mail Tipped off by a suspicious mailman, postal agents opened a packet which a woman mailed — first class — to her husband.

Sure enough, the packet contained illicit heroin. But when the woman was brought to trial on a narcotics charge, evidence of the find was thrown out of court and she went free.

The court was not being "soft" on narcotics. What troubled the court was the government's violation of the privacy of first class mail. Such an intrusion was held to be an "unreasonable search and seizure" — forbidden by the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

This Amendment grew out of colonial bitterness against the infamous "writs of assistance," under which British officials had free rein in searching private homes.

And, almost a century ago, the Supreme Court made it clear that the Amendment protects not only your residence but your first class mail as well. In the Court's words:

"The right of the people to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures extends to their papers, thus closed against inspection, wherever they may be."

On the other hand, there is no such protection for mail other than first class. Furthermore in the interest of combating crime, even first class mail may be searched if authorities first obtain a warrant. Then the search would not be "unreasonable," because the warrant would be issued only if there was reasonable ground to believe the law had been violated.

Moreover, the government may impose what is called a "mail watch" to help in tracking down wrongdoers. In this procedure, a record is kept of the name and return address of everyone who sends mail to the person under surveillance.

Not long ago the mail watch was challenged in court as at least a partial invasion of the privacy of first class mail. But the court upheld the government, saying:

"It was not prying into their secrets to note what the senders had made public on the face of the letters."

Morpheus was the god of dreams in Greek mythology.

VALENTINE sweethearts of the five local chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will be presented at their annual ball to be held at the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn Saturday evening.

Guests will enter the ballroom through a hallway in which the sweetheart candidates' pictures will be placed. Sweethearts will enter the stage through a red heart back drop amid a maypole setting with red and white streamers.

Charles Beard will present vocal selections and those attending will enjoy an evening of dancing following the presentation. Music for the dance and presentation will be provided by the Collegians from West Texas State University, Canyon.

BETA SIGMA PHI was founded by Walter W. Ross in 1931 in Abilene, Kan. It is the largest Greek letter international organization with 7,500 chapters and 175,000 members. Still rapidly growing, Beta Sigma Phi is the chosen instrument for expression of the finest young women in the world—those who find life good by doing something good.

The five Valentine Sweethearts of the chapters in Pampa will be honored during the annual ball to be conducted with Raymond Williams acting as master of ceremonies.

Silver pins denoting their titles will be presented each candidate by presidents of the chapters, who will also crown each sweetheart with a rhinestone tiara.

RHO ETA CHAPTER — Mrs. Dick Smith is Valentine Sweetheart of Rho Eta Chapter. Married to husband Dick for 11 years, Helen has been a resident of Pampa four years and has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for the same length of time. She serves her chapter this year as reporting secretary. The couple have two children, Scott, 9, and Chrisa, 7, and are members of First Christian Church. The chapter sweetheart lists blue as her favorite color and collecting antiques as her hobby. Her husband is employed by Celanese. For her presentation, Mrs. Smith will wear a floor-length sheath gown fashioned of rose pink velveteen with matching jacket. Silver shoes and white opera-length gloves will complete her attire.

XI THETA IOTA CHAPTER — A Beta Sigma Phi member for eight years, Mrs. Paul Howard is Sweetheart of Xi Theta Iota Chapter. Mary serves as her chapter's representative to Beta Sigma Phi City Council and is vice president of the City Council. She is a member of Central Baptist Church, where she is superintendent of the Junior 10 Department and is active in P-TA and Girl Scout work. Her husband Paul is district manager for Panhandle Industrial Tool Company. The couple, who have been married 13 years are the parents of four children, Paulette, 12, Pam, 10, Linda, 7, and Lisa, 5. For her presentation Mary has chosen a black satin floor-length skirt topped by a black lace blouse, accented by black satin shoes and black elbow-length gloves. Mary enjoys playing golf and bridge for her hobbies and her favorite color is turquoise.

XI BETA CHI CHAPTER — Cletus Mitchell will present his wife, Irvine, as the Sweetheart of Xi Beta Chi Chapter. For the presentation Irvine will wear a floor-length white peau de sole gown topped by a beaded pearl birdcage top. The gown and beaded over-blouse will be accented by opera-length white gloves and white peau de sole shoes. Mrs. Mitchell has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for six years serving in many offices including president, vice president and social chairman and has been active in both Red Stocking Revues. A vibrant redhead, Irvine is the mother of two children, Pat, 14, and Pam, 11. The Mitchells are members of First Methodist Church. Xi Beta Chi's sweetheart enjoys bridge and needle point as her hobbies and gold is her favorite color.

PHI EPSILON BETA CHAPTER — The lovely Valentine Girl of Phi Epsilon Beta Chapter is their recording secretary, Mrs. Max Patton. Escorted by her husband,

Christina will wear a floor-length white crepe sheath skirt topped by a white sequin blouse. White elbow-length gloves and gold shoes will complete her ensemble. Mrs. Patton, the mother of two-year-old Wade, has been married for three years and has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for two years. Speakers Discuss 'Future Leaders' At Tuesday Meet of Varietas Study Club

Mrs. H. H. Butler was hostess to the Varietas Study Club Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. J. E. Kirchman, president, presiding at the business meeting. Mrs. H. Price Doster, vice-president, introduced the program.

Three speakers discussed the subject, "Future Leaders." Mrs. Kirchman presented a paper prepared by Mrs. Luther Kirk, who was out of town, entitled, "What Makes A Good Student?" Her answer to the question was, "Many things, including study, travel, love and a good home." She brought out the fact that the most common cause of mental study blocks in children is pressure, usually from parents. And she concluded that every child should be allowed to be himself, developing according to his special ability.

The second speaker was Mrs. Ellis Cheney, whose topic was "School Drop-Outs." She stated that education should be a primary concern of every child and his parents, since only five percent of jobs in our country will be of the unskilled variety by 1970. As reasons for school drop-outs, she listed jobs, lack of interest, lack of ability, poor health, lack of money, and marriage; and she discussed each reason. She stressed the value of personal conferences with parents and teachers and others qualified to advise students, in which there should be special emphasis on the value of work, personal habits, extra help on the above-normal or below-normal student, and friendly interest.

The last speaker was Mrs. Cecil Dalton, who talked on "Programs Other Than College." She stated that self-education is possible, if a student cannot attend college and is willing to further his education alone, citing examples of such success which included Thomas A. Edison. She discussed present-day educational programs outside college, some of which are the Job Corps, night-school courses in all fields, vocational guidance and career training.

Following the program, the hostess served refreshments in the Valentine motif. There were two guests present, Mrs. Ruth Paxton of Findlay, Ohio, and Mrs. Frank Yealy of Pampa.

Members present were Meses. W. E. Abernathy, H. H. Butler, F. A. Cary, Ellis Cheney, Cecil Dalton, H. Price Doster, S. C. Evans, Lee Harrah, John Kelly, J. E. Kirchman, R. W. Lane, C. L. McKinney, Otis Nace, Luther Pierson, J. R. Spearman, W. A. Wagoner, Sherman White and Joe Weaver.

Convention Plans Set by Auxiliary

Harold Rodgers, junior vice commander, Department of Texas, will be the speaker for the banquet of the VFW District Nine Convention being held in Pampa this weekend. The banquet is slated for 1 p.m. today in Pampa Hotel.

Plans for the convention were finalized by members of Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post 1657, VFW, when the group met recently in VFW Hall.

The Pampa VFW Post is hosting the convention. Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, president, presided over the business session at which the annual report of the VAVS Patients' emergency fund committee was given and honor roll requirements for February were read and approved.

Members attending the meeting included Meses. Jim Clifton, Kenneth Gill, Earl Eckroft, Jess Hatcher, Frank Hudgel, Lloyd Laramore, R. D. Morris and Vernon Stuckey.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be a social slated for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in VFW Hall. Meses. Jack Boyd, Anna Hutchens and Tony Smith will be social hostesses.

Anniversary Dinner Fetes W. C. Martins

On Sunday, Jan. 30, friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin called at the Martin home at 833 E. Malone to honor the couple on their 63rd wedding anniversary.

The Martins were married on Feb. 1, 1903.

The day was spent visiting, following dinner.

Helping mark the occasion were M. H. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin and Mike of Arkansas City, Kan.; Mrs. Hazel Marshall of Cedar Vale, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Williamson and Rise Davis of Phillips; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Byers and Jackie of Hedley; and Meses. and Mmes. L. C. Martin, C. C. Adams, H. E. Davis and Jeffie and Leon, W. G. Jameson, Ed Culberson, and Buford Owens, all of Pampa.

Stoles steal back onto the scene for spring. Designers show them in variety of shapes, rectangular, square, triangular—sometimes of the same fabric as dress or suit, sometimes contrasting. They're an evening wear favorite to come up otherwise bare shoulder.

Blanton-Cox Vows Pledged

Mrs. Dale Lynn Cox
... nee Miss Suzanne Blanton

The First Presbyterian Church of Lubbock was the scene of the marriage of Miss Suzanne Blanton to Dale Lynn Cox on Jan. 23 at 10:30 a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Edgar B. Blanton Jr. of Houston, and Mrs. C. W. Bocock III of Hunt. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hamilton of Pampa.

Attendants of the couple were Miss F...

Guests were members of the immediate families and close friends of the bridal couple.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding at the Picador Room of the Holiday Inn. Mrs. R. B. Smith, sister of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake and Miss Alinsworth poured punch.

After a short wedding trip, the couple is at home in Lubbock where both will continue their studies at Texas Tech.

In an afternoon ceremony performed Jan. 30, Miss Glynda Marian Harrell of Fort Worth became the bride of John Phillip Eschle of Groom. Rev. Albert Bell Clayton of University Methodist Church in Austin read the double ring service in the First Methodist Church of Groom at 3 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn D. Harrell of Groom. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillip Eschle of Groom. Mrs. Clifford Wayne Stroppe of Panhandle, organist, played traditional wedding music and marches. She accompanied Gregory Lamb of Groom as he sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" by Gounod, preceding the service, and "O Perfect Love" by Burleigh as the wedding blessing. The couple repeated their vows before a white-cushioned kneeling bench placed in front of a memory candle. The background for the wedding attendants was formed by tiers of milk glass vases and cypress palms. The bridal aisle was marked with yellow bows on each pew with garlands of leather leaf palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a carpet-length gown of candlelight silk peau de soie. The molded empire bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace was fashioned with a bateau neckline framed with scallops of the lace and elbow-length sleeves. Tiny covered buttons fastened the back of the gown from which flowed a chapel train enhanced by lace scallops. Her veil of Ivory French illusion fell from a halo of single pearl petals. The bouquet of a single white orchid centered in a cascade of white roses and stephanotis was carried on a satin and lace covered Bible, wedding gift from the bride's father to her mother at the time of their marriage.

Mrs. Robert J. Mulkey of Amarillo served her sister as matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Jim Gayle Ingram of Dallas, sister of the bride, Mrs. Jon Don Pomroy of Emory, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Janet Holton of Flagler, Colo., and Mrs. Albert Bell Clayton of Austin. The attendants' dresses were of the same empire style as the bride's. The bodices and carpet-length trains were of moss green lace over maize yellow crepe which also was the material of the skirts. The headpieces were Dior bows of matching lace and crepe with illusion veils. Their bouquets were yellow roses and they wore Florentine finish circle bracelets, gifts of the bride.

Dr. James Lee Eschle of Kerrville, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Baylous Earl Bennett of Austin, Dan Witt of Kirksville, Mo., Truman Bridges of Plainview, and Jon Don Pomroy of Emory. Ushers were Lyndon Black and Patrick Weinheimer of Groom, John Jay Barham of Pampa and Douglas Britten of Claude. The memory candle was lit by Mr. Britten.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in their home. The bride's table was covered with an ivory rangement of white shasta pompons and roses and a pair of seven-tiered candleabra. The table was centered with an ivory satin floor-length cloth, as was the cake table. The bride's cake was an all-white four-tiered cake, topped with a nosegay of white shasta pompons and roses. The cake base was surrounded with greenery. The coffee service, punch bowl, and table appointments were of silver. Members of the house party were Meses William Bohr, Carey McAdams and Paul Fields, all of Groom, and Meses Ellen Latta and Stella Britten, both of Amarillo. Mrs. W. T. DeLoach of Lubbock registered the guests.

For a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the bride traveled in a white wool suit trimmed with mink collar, complimented with alligator accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

Mrs. Eschle was graduated from Groom High School and received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics from the University of Texas and a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics Education from Texas Technological University. At the University of Texas she was a member of the Texas Union Committee. All Campus Advisors, Home Economics Club and American Mar-

Mrs. Mitchell Presents La Cultura Program on 'Indoor Gardening Tips'

"Indoor Gardening Tips," was the subject chosen by Mrs. Coy Don Mitchell Tuesday as La Cultura met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Nichols.

Plans for the new yearbook were discussed prior to Mrs. Mitchell's presentation. At the beginning of the meeting, Mrs. William Chafin led the Federated Club Collect.

Mrs. Mitchell said that indoor gardening is popular and practical in our climate.

"Indoor gardening has three basic needs. Plants have a variety of needs for watering, feed and light," she said.

"Small plants need more water, as well as do blooming flowers. Add water if the top soil is dry, allowing a draining system if watering from the top. Pebbles aren't used in watering from the bottom. For this a fibreglass wick is used. Plants should also be given an occasional dunking," Mrs. Mitchell continued.

"Feeding is a second need, but varies from plant to plant. Usually a little food goes a long way because too much will burn the roots. Following package instructions is safest. Old plants need more food. If a plant starves, looks yellow and sickly, it may need nitrogen or maybe isn't being properly lighted or watered," she continued.

"In lighting plants, remember that direct sunlight does not do as much good as indirect sunlight. Direct sunlight harms a plant by stunting its growth. Plants near a window should be removed at night.

"In showing plants most attractively, display them uncrowded against a neutral background. Use flowering plants and foliage in contrast to each other, but in connection with a variety of plants and containers now available," Mrs. Mitchell concluded.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Mitchell, Nichols, Chafin, Douglas Leudecke, Davis Plunkett, Malcolm McClelland, Thomas Auwen, E. H. Wyman, Paul Hartin, Kenneth Friemel and John Ellis.

Ann Parks, Gordon F. Yoder Are Wed

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Slaten of Durant, Okla., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Fidelity Yoder of 1215 Williston, and the late Harlan A. Yoder.

Rev. Joe D. Smith, the bride's brother-in-law, officiated the double-ring ceremony in Worth Street Baptist Church of Dallas, before an altar appointed with floral arrangements and candelabra.

Mrs. Caroline Deer, organist, presented a program of appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied Gerald Stovall as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rev. J. Loring, pastor of Worth Street Baptist Church, gave the bride in marriage. For her wedding the bride chose a street-length suit fashioned of light blue lace, accented by matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Joe D. Smith, attired in a pale silk crepe dress accented by a white carnation corsage, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bill Tufnell served as best man to the bridegroom.

Ringbearer was Master Timmy Smith and Miss Melody Smith served as flower girl.

The church parlor was the scene of the reception held immediately following the wedding rites. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth, was centered with a floral arrangement flanked by tapers, and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Following a wedding trip to points of interest in South Texas, the newlyweds will make their home in Mesquite.

Study of 'Presidents and First Ladies' Being Continued by TC Culture Club

Members of the Twentieth Century Culture Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Specht with Mrs. Ross Buzzard as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order with the reading of the club collect. Mrs. Doyle Osborne, president, conducted a business meeting during which the roll was called and minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Continuing the study of the "Presidents and Their First Ladies," Mrs. E. L. Henderson presented a summary of the lives of William Henry and Anne Harrison. She stated, "Some Presidents owe their election to their friends. Perhaps as many more are indebted to their enemies. William Henry Harrison belongs in this latter category. By questioning and belittling his military victories, his critics succeeded only in magnifying them. By sneering at him as a man more fitted to adorn a log cabin than the White House, they gave him a popular symbol for his candidacy and made him the representative of the primitive west."

"William Henry Harrison was the last of our Presidents to have been born before the Revolution. He was also the oldest ever to have been elected. At sixty-eight he was too old to bear up under the onslaught of the office seekers, who have twice been the death of a President, for Harrison, no less than Garfield, must be reckoned a victim of the spoils system."

"Anne Harrison was a devoted mother and wife, and a good companion to her husband in the Frontier which they both loved. Their marriage was known to be ideal, and each depended on each other for companionship."

Speaking on the lives of James K. and Sarah Polk, Mrs. Weldon Carter said, "It is judged by his success in fulfilling campaign promises, James K. Polk was one of the most notable of presidents. He ran in 1844 on a spread-eagle expansionist platform; by the time he left the White House in 1849, the Stars and Stripes flew from San Diego Bay to Puget Sound. Not only did he extend our National Frontiers, but he extended the bill creating the Smithsonian Institution. "For," as he said, "the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." Last of the Jacksonians to sit in the White House, and the last strong President until Lincoln, he became the first to conduct a war in all its phases - fulfilling to the constitutional limits his role as Commander-in-Chief.

"All her life Sarah Polk had been accustomed to the society of the most prominent families in the state. There was hardly a person of any importance in the state at some time in her childhood home. She gave James the confidence he needed with her belief in him. She had an attractive personality, wit, grace, and a charming social manner, and was an intelligent and animated conversationalist. While in Washington Sarah was almost constantly entertaining friends, both Democrats and Whigs, and relatives. Sarah and James Polk lie entombed on the grounds of the State Capitol in Nashville, Tennessee."

Dear Abby... Sensible Wife Will Grin and Fight It

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago I noticed that my husband started talking with an English accent. I kidded him about it, but thought no more of it. Now that I look back, it was about that time that he started sprucing up quite a lot for work. On Thanksgiving Day a woman called here asking for my husband. She had a very broad English accent. I started putting two and two together. My husband is an executive with a large firm, and they had a Christmas party to which the wives were invited. There I met "The English Accent" - a shapely, auburn-haired, pretty but hard-looking woman who was somebody's secretary. She tried to be especially sweet and friendly to me, but I was uncomfortable around her because I sensed something was wrong. I still do. Have you any suggestions for a woman who suspects that her husband might be straying a bit?

SUSPICIOUS DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes; she doesn't make any wild accusations unless she has the evidence. And she doesn't give her husband threats she has no intention of carrying out. And she doesn't tear up the scenery, dissolve into tears and put on one of those "you-don't-love-me anymore" scenes. She reduces her efforts to be the charming, understanding, sensible girl he married. And between prayers, she waits.

DEAR ABBY: About three weeks ago I met a real neat kid. We hit it off swell together. He asked me for my telephone number and I gave it to him. The next day he called me and we made a date for that Friday night. He never showed up and he never called. Yesterday I bumped into him by accident and he said he was sorry about what happened last Friday I bumped into him by accident and he couldn't make it. He asked if he could see me that night and I said yes. Well, he did the same thing. He did not show up and he didn't call. Next Saturday night my girl friend is having a party and she told me to bring my own guy. Do you think I should give this kid another chance? I still like him.

HOLES IN MY HEAD DEAR HOLES: If you do, you should borrow the rocks in HIS head to fill up the holes in YOURS.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is the friendly type and we always have folks dropping in to visit with us in the evening. I don't mind when a woman comes over alone because I just go in the other room and read or watch television while the ladies talk. But there is this one woman who has been coming over a lot lately. She is lonesome because her husband shot himself last spring. This woman talks like a machine, Abby. And she talks so loud that even when she's in the next room she drowns out the television set. She even comes into the room where I am trying to read and starts talking to me. I told my wife to think of some way to keep her from coming over here and she says she can not think of any way and, besides, she likes her company. Is there a solution?

NO PATIENCE DEAR NO: If your wife likes her company, suggest that she go over and visit her, and head her off.

HAIR SHRINKS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Women who trim their bangs after a shampoo often are puzzled as to why their hair dries so much shorter than planned. The secret to cutting bangs when the hair is wet, according to hairstylists, is to cut to eyebrow length. Hair shrinks, or "bounces up," as it dries.

March 8 Bond Election Discussed For American Business Women's Association

The American Business Women's Association met in Jackson's Cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday for its monthly dinner meeting with Mrs. Earl Sutton, president, presiding.

The chapter was honored with Mayor Jim Nation and City Manager Jim White as guest speakers, bringing the facts about the March 8 City Bond Election. The mayor was introduced by Mrs. James Quarry. He in turn introduced Mr. White. The city manager explained that a year ago two citizen's committees were appointed to study the specific problems that were confronting the city. The improvements recommended in the bond election are designed to give the tax payer more for his money as well as take care of the needs of a growing city.

Mr. White stated "It will take five to six years to complete the project. The finance committee recommended that tax bonds be used to finance the program. The bonds are for specific projects and can be used for that purpose only. They will be sold as funds are needed to pay for the construction cost. The project that the proposed bonds will finance is throughfares as well as curb improvement of city streets and gutter drainage. "Mr. White also commented on the water treatment plant for processing of water to be delivered by the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. In 1960 the water purchase contract was approved. Now the treatment plant must be completed so that the water which will be available by 1968 can be used by the city.

The chapter discussed and made plans for the coming "Boss Night Banquet" to be held Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. in Colorado Inn, honoring the members' employers. The "Boss of the Year" will not be announced until that night. This event is one of the outstanding highlights of the year. Congressman Walter Rogers will be the guest speaker. Should any person other than members or their guest wish to attend the banquet they may make reservations with Mrs. Vernon Graham by Feb. 19, at MO 4-6889 or MO 5-2788.

Mrs. Phyllis Hunter, a guest working with the ways and means committee, gave the details on a fund raising project for the chapter, which will be designated for the Scholarship Fund.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment can cause a great deal of general trouble so try not to make any important decisions this Sunday but rather live the golden rule very strictly where all others are concerned and follow accepted precedents and tenets so that you do not say or do anything that could possibly upset your equilibrium, and that of others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Although you want to make radical changes for the future, this would be most unwise. Be grateful for your present blessings, more respectful attitude toward those around you would be very fine, too.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Instead of following that erroneous hunch, carry on with the tried and proven so that you make no mistakes that could be costly. You have a clever partner. However, don't let your admiration run beyond sensible limits.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Associates may be eager to see advancement. In what appeared to you to be a slight matter, so be on your guard, show diplomacy. Choose your words wisely. Others are in a very lighthearted mood.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You have to play your time more with care. Otherwise work that needs to be done will be annoying and difficult. Get both health and clothing in better shape. Take time to read elevating books.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You have to be careful not to let your emotions run away with you when out for recreation today. Avoid any possible arguments. Showing devotion to close ties is very important, also since they are depending on you.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Those who live with you are apt to take offense over something that seems very trivial, so be sure you use tact. Forget any little past grievances. Be very considerate — get all in order about you.

LINNA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21): Many reports done on time will save you many a headache later on, so get busy on them. Steer clear of irate relatives or those close by, who want someone to vent their ire upon. Keep on working and complete.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21): Thinking abundantly on this free day is best, but do not commit yourself far beyond your means. Make plans for the days ahead in an intelligent way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Don't go around bragging and there with little purpose, but use your energy in a quiet determined fashion. Keep poised, no matter what. Take any treatment that will give you more fluid health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): If you look at any secret anxieties in a more objective fashion, you can rid yourself of them very quickly. Keep security intact. Don't turn a deaf ear to one who looks to you for assistance that is much needed.

PISCES (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18): Some blue associates can express himself, or herself, very explicitly but don't let this floor you. Learn from the constructive side of this criticism. Do your social duty, even if you do not feel like it.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): If you are not very careful, you find that your reputation or standing in the community is impaired, or possibly your vocational interests. Hit on new idea for improving credit. Use perceptivity.

Twentieth Century Forum Club Hears Program on 'Impressionism' Presented

Mrs. J. R. Holloway was hostess for the recent meeting of Twentieth Century Forum Club. Club president, Mrs. John Sweeney, presided and led members in the reading of the Club Collect. After the business meeting, Mrs. Donald Hauck was in charge of the program. Following the year's course of study, Mrs. Hauck presented a program on "Impressionism". "Impressionism is more an art historian's label than a definition. The term labels a movement brought about chiefly by Manet and Monet, a vast, new movement and a profound revolution which covered the whole field of painting both in concept and technique. Their

Mrs. Bob Andis Named President By Members of Twentieth Century Club

Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jack Foster, 1228 Williston. Mrs. Jack Stroup, president, conducted the business meeting. New officers elected for the year 1966-1967 are Mrs. Bob Andis, president; Mrs. Lorene Locke, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Foster, secretary; Mrs. W. R. Campbell and Mrs. Jack Foster were selected to represent the club at the Diamond Jubilee Coffee honoring club women on March 3.

V. J. Jamieson, leader of the program, introduced Mrs. David Tucker who presented a program on fashion using as her topic "The Impact on Fashion by the American Women's Designers." Mrs. Tucker said, "The fashionable person is one who knows the right combination of colors and materials and when to use them. fashions makes the rules and also breaks the rules. By keeping a stern eye on oneself, one can choose rules to follow, and by staying true to the real you and ignoring some change, can prevent unnecessary mistakes. Fashion says, 'Don't wait,' but a word to the wise is 'Do.' Decide first if a fashion change compliments you.

"Many times a fashion is developed out of circumstances, as was the use of the ballet slipper. During the war it was impossible to buy shoes without a coupon, so an American designer used ballet shoes for her models. This style developed the little shell that is so popular now. The 'separates' are a result of post war travel, and the need to pack many changes in a 40 pound suitcase. "The American look has developed mainly from the lively ist. Renoir was a backslider. He returned to studio painting, to portraiture, figure painting, and to solid composition." Mrs. Hauck concluded "Almost the whole of Western painting at the end of the 19th Century came under the influence of the Impressionists. They served to free future artists from the strict realism of David and Courbet, and unleashed the possibilities of color. But they painted what the eye could see. The strength of Impressionism also contains its 'kness, for, as the modern list, Paul Klee has said, 'The purpose of art is not to reproduce what we see, but to make us see'."

Diamonds and Bubbles NEW YORK (UPI) - Clarity in a diamond refers to the absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other natural imperfections, according to gem experts. Only diamonds that show no "bubbles" to an expert using a glass that magnifies 10 times can be rated flawless. Most imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them. The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Meany on 'Right to Vote'

Labor union membership has remained constant in the past decade as the working population has increased, and the union masters regard the membership lag as a most serious threat to the union's political position of favored minority.

This self-assessment of the situation probably is correct, although so long as they have the capacity to throw millions of dollars behind candidates that are pro-union, the dawning of the day when unions will be ignored by politicians is far in the future.

Anyway, the threat is there. To maintain their strength, the union bosses must add to the membership rolls, and one of the obstacles in the campaign is that section of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits the states to pass right-to-work laws.

Presently, 19 states have laws outlawing compulsory unionism. These laws, in effect, give the individual citizen the right to work without the necessity of joining a union.

The right-to-work states are now among the most industrial in the Union. If their laws against compulsory unionism were repealed, the unions only would have a chance to sign up approximately 250,000 new members. But so long as Section 14 (b) remains in the Taft-Hartley Act, the threat that other states will adopt right-to-work legislation is present.

The move to repeal 14(b) was stymied in the Senate in the last session of Congress by a filibuster led by Illinois' Sen. Everett Dirksen. The filibuster, which can be ended only by a two-thirds vote in the Senate, successfully prevented a vote on repeal in the upper chamber in the Congress.

The move for repeal is again underway, and the repeal opponents, again led by Dirksen, already have launched the battle to retain 14(b).

Even before Congress had reconvened, the AFL-CIO president, George Meany, had begun an all-out assault on the right-to-work section. A letter sent by Meany to editors of newspapers throughout the United States is a measure of the union's determination to strike section 14(b) from the law books.

The letter is solicitous and diplomatic. It acknowledges that a large number of the editors are opposed to the repeal of 14(b). So a suave, new pitch is made: Meany does not ask the editors to change their opinions. He asks (oh, it is so simple and just) only that the editors join their influence to that of others in bringing the motion for repeal to a vote.

Let them vote as they will, but let them vote, is Meany's appeal, in the unstated belief that, although the Senate refuses to choke off debate on the measure if the senators could be persuaded to do just that, a majority of them, in the voting to follow, would approve of the repeal measure.

An issue evaded in Meany's letter is this: There are some things that the people and the legislatures who serve them should not have the privilege to decide by majority vote. And one of these "some things" is whether the workman should be forced to join a union in order to hold a job.

Majority rule is limited in a republican form of government. If it were not, the majority could for instance, decide that all Episcopalians must be deported to the South Seas; or that the union bosses should be put to the rack.

Obviously, even union bosses must agree, majority rule must be limited.

There is another deceptive note in the just-let-'em-vote tune Meany played for the editors' enlightenment. His championing of the "right-to-vote" reveals the union's ambivalence in their voting rights philosophy.

The AFL-CIO president's "seeming preoccupation with the 'right-to-vote' principle is rank hypocrisy," charged the National Right-to-Work Committee. "He did not champion the 'right-to-vote' when his underlings waged a two-year court battle in an effort to block a vote of the people on Oklahoma on a Right to Work proposal."

In fact, if Meany's brand of "right-to-vote" philosophy was adopted the right-to-work laws approved by the voters and legislators in 19 states would be tossed out the window.

What justice is there in having the "right-to-vote" when the results of the voting are meaningless?

Government aid often hurts the development of private trade. To trade, travel and invest in foreign countries is far more than to make beggars out of them. More trade, yes. More aid, no. We are fast using up our raw materials. Why can't we step up our buying of iron ores, oil, manganese, nickel, bauxite (for aluminum), etc. and pay for them with our surpluses and manufactured goods? Trade, not aid, builds the world economy. Trade, not aid, builds real international friendships. International friendship, like any other friendship, can neither be forced or bought. It has to be earned.

It's just that there seems to be a hint of impropriety in these rather incompatible items: the Social Register, old friend of the family, official photographer, anti-poverty funds, a fictitious identification as "economic advisor." Put them all together and they spell impolite. Doesn't smell very good, either.

Wit and Whimsy

A Spaniard, an American, and a Scotman were discussing what they would do if they awoke one morning to discover that they were millionaires.

The Spaniard said he would build a bull ring.

The American said he would go to Paris to have a time.

The Scotman said he would go to sleep again to see if he could make another million.

Bride - What do you give your husband when the dinner does not suit him?
Mrs. Oldwood - His coat and hat.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

LET'S TRADE, NOT 'AID'

Our government - so we are told - is now busily engaged in making an agreement with the North Vietnamese Communists. We appear to have, as was predicted in this column several weeks ago, established a position of strength from which we can surrender - as in Laos, as in Cuba, as in the Dominican Republic, et cetera. To the Communists "peace" means our surrender. We must win in Vietnam! Else we surrender.

Ever since Franklin Roosevelt "recognized" Russia in 1933, we have bargained and fraternized with thieves and murderers who have blackmailed us in the name of Peace. Failure after failure has been blamed by our diplomats on the Communists' failure to live up to their promises, which we "isolationists" predicted all along. Contracts of all varieties - Russian, Chinese, Yugoslav, Cuban and American - keep promises, only as long as it is expedient to do so. They agree with Lenin: "Promises are like pie-crusts - made to be broken."

We citizens - most of us - wouldn't think of making deals with known criminals. But our government does - and persists in it.

We've poured many, many billions of dollars into the Peace rathole. We've had plenty of rats and little peace. "Neutrality" is rampant. The neutrals who're playing both sides against the middle are nothing but international panhandlers.

At the so-called end of World War II, the Communists had captured only 7 per cent of the world's people and 25 per cent of the land mass. Roosevelt, Hill, Marshall, Acheson, Fulbright, Eisenhower, Truman, Kennedy, Johnson, Martin Luther King and other of our great leaders insisted in the intervening years that only by helping our communist allies become "have-nots" instead of "have-nots" could we bring about lasting peace and brotherhood. So our government officials gave the enemy various little helps, like our money plates, our atomic bomb secrets, ships, tractors, textile mills, East Berlin, China, Laos, Cuba. And now our communist friends have . . .

they have almost half of the world's people and 40 per cent of the land mass.

I think it's fair to ask: "If Russia has accomplished so much by giving away so little, why have we accomplished so little by giving away so much?" Take a "given" country like France. France has received $10 billion from us in foreign aid and is therefore now almost completely pro-Communist. Not just pro good Communists, as we are, but pro bad Communists too.

Government aid often hurts the development of private trade. To trade, travel and invest in foreign countries is far more than to make beggars out of them. More trade, yes. More aid, no. Schools Are Backlash to Cong Terror

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) - Sometimes Viet Cong terrorism has unusual results.

Cham is a rich Vietnamese farmer who lives up the Mekong River not far from the Cambodian border.

He's about 73 to 75 years old, his friends say.

Cham is missing an index finger.

Several years ago the Viet Cong kidnaped Cham for ransom. They chopped off his finger and sent it in to prove to his family that they had him - and as a warning that they meant business.

The VC asked for ransom equal to six years' salary for a government school teacher.

Cham's family paid. The guerrillas then sent Cham home intact, except, of course, for his missing finger.

Before the kidnaping, Cham was just another well-to-do farmer. He hadn't been interested in politics. He was content to live well, have expensive parties with lots of food and imported entertainers. His parties, in fact, were the talk of the district.

The kidnaping changed that. At 70 he resolved to fight the VC. This hard-bitten farmer, who before had been interested only in himself and his pleasures, began telling people the only way to defeat the Communists was to get more education.

In his hamlet, Cham began to think of the thousand or more youngsters as "his" children.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT
II TH INSTALLMENT

The nation is in such grave danger at this time that "constructive" followers should assist in launching a Youth Movement for Freedom. The youths would require a minimum of help from their elders and there should be no attempts to exercise undue paternalism in this movement.

Now and forever youth must be served. Shall they be served regimentation which those seeking perpetuation in power and dictatorial control trick them into demanding as Hitler and Stalin did; or shall wise and honest people teach youth to ascertain and mature into a continuance of individual freedom? There need be few qualifications to join the Youth Movement - honesty, patriotism and an undying spirit of "I'm going to be free."

"Constructive" until now has been an adjective. This fact offers no serious obstacle to its use as a trademark for the wholesome in government. Usage has transformed the adjectives progressive, liberal, and others to nouns each known to mean a doctrine and its followers.

Should a political party in the United States assume the name "Constructive" it would bode ill for the name. Experience teaches that a political party will abandon its principles but refuse to surrender a popular name. "Constructive" would be good for the party, but the party might be bad for "constructive."

How can you help? Use the word "constructive" which passes on the message.

"A great statesman may be called a great Constructive. That which you believe good can be referred to as Constructive. Sincerely and cordially are fine one-word closings as is constructively."

"Constructives" will never go back but will retain the good from the past. Conscious of the seething tide, they will guide the tossing waves to restlessness and change - to build and ever keep a better way of life for all.

George Washington's request for a standard in the beginning resulted in the Constitution of the United States. Let us raise a standard "constructive" that it may endure without end.

Let us that readjustment of mechanisms on those machines which reject the new quarters is a small price to pay for all the silver that's saved. Unfortunately, those who must pay the price of adjustment aren't the ones who get the silver. We can't help wishing, therefore, that we could use Uncle Sam's funny money for nothing else except paying taxes and continue to deal with our fellow citizens in honest coin.

Graduate from "Cham's" schools have no place to go when they graduate. Cham wants to get a higher school started in the neighborhood.

A friend who knows him well promises: "Cham will do it, too."

Aid adviser Dan Evers says: "There's a Cham in every hamlet. We've got to find him."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS Short Road From Gold Loss To $Million Loaf of Bread

By KIRK WELLS
Business Editor
We are told (in a Federal Reserve Board report) that the United States lost $1,664,000,000 worth of gold during 1965, dropping our gold accumulation from more than $15 billion to $13,807,000,000.

Big figures . . . but what do they mean to us as individuals? Money is a commodity which people are willing to take in exchange for another commodity. They are willing to accept it only as long as they know they can use it to exchange for something they do want.

Precious metals have been the base of money for years - because, on the international scene, they have intrinsic value. Holders of such metals feel certain they can always get their money's worth in future exchanges.

This is not true in dollar bills, or marks, or francs, or pounds. This country has experienced a rising inflation which steadily has dropped the purchasing power of our dollars. The primary rock of stability has been world realization that, on demand, the dollars can be exchanged for gold.

As the dollars decline, foreigners - realize that they are - rush to exchange them for gold, trusting gold value, but not trusting the continued purchasing power of the dollar.

At present there is far more paper money in circulation than there is gold to back it up. The price of gold is pegged at $35 an ounce by the government. The government's practice of constant inflation has boosted the cost of fixing the stuff to more than $35 per ounce.

If the government boosts the price on gold in order to obtain more, the dollar value (purchasing powers) in the world market will be slashed further.

Meantime, the gold supply dwindles. Foreign governments who have not been rushing to convert dollars to gold soon will be in the position of saying, "to protect our own people, we'll grab while the grabbing's good."

When the U.S. can no longer honor its dollar with gold, on demand, it's money, for all practical purposes, will be worthless in the world market.

And bread at home could well cost a few million dollars a loaf.

Enriched Diet in Pregnancy
Of Great Benefit to Teeth

Whereas "a tooth for every child" is an old wives' tale, lack of care during pregnancy takes its toll in dental health of mother, and offspring, too, since the fetus receives his "food" from the mother.

Of first importance is planning and maintaining a diet that meets the increased nutritional demands of pregnancy. A normal pregnancy diet suggested by the Department of Dietetics of Yale-New Haven Hospital, should include daily:

Milk-4 cups.
Meat, fish, fowl-4 ounces.
(Liver at least once a week to insure adequate amounts of iron, vitamin A, and Vitamin E.)
Eggs-1.
Fruits (2 citrus)-3 servings.
Vegetables (including potatoes)-3 servings.

Whole grain or enriched cereal or bread-6 servings.
Butter or fortified margarine -2 tablespoons.

Other foods as desired to furnish adequate calories. Sweets should be kept to a minimum. This suggested diet supplies approximately 2,300 calories. Of course, before you begin any diet, your physician should be consulted.

Pregnancy diets should be supplemented with additional minerals and vitamins which are necessary for hardening teeth and bony structure of jaws. This should particularly include additional calcium, vitamin C, and vitamin D. Again, a physician must be consulted.

The National Institute of Dental Research has shown that fluorides pass through the placental barrier, and most physicians and dentists recommend small daily doses of fluorides in combination with vitamins, especially beginning with the fourth month of pregnancy when the first teeth begin to form.

Incorporation of fluorides in dental enamel lessens enamel solubility and can reduce incidence of dental decay by as much as 60 per cent. While there seems to be some controversy, most recognized dental authorities support use of fluorides as a safe and true preventive dental health measure.

Pull Up A Chair

Frank Markey
We find it hard to believe, but Roger A. Saunders, President of the Massachusetts Hotel and Motel Association and owner of the new Lenox Hotel in the heart of Boston's Prudential Center, reveals that the most "lost" articles in hotels are mattresses, of all things. They are "stolen" by having an accomplice throw them out of a window to a waiting friend, since they are too noticeable to take through the lobby. What next?

Today's smiler: A teacher was relating the wonders of nature to her class and said: "Consider the life of the ant. Every day the ant works all day. They are busy creatures and, in the end, what happens to them?" The son of a labor union organizer answered: "Some-one steps on them."

The inauguration of helicopter taxi service from the roof of the new PanAm Building in mid-Manhattan and the city's major airports opens a new service in commercial air transportation. At many of the nation's major airports you can now leave your jet transport plane and transfer to a shuttle plane that will take you directly to your destination, thus avoiding traffic jams and highway travel. One New York taxi service flies patrons from the major airports to such points as Trenton, N.J., Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and New Haven, Conn. Baggage is transferred from the jet to the shuttle and the entire trip can be arranged on a single ticket. In other words, it's now possible to fly all the way.

Thoughts while shaving: If anyone ever asks you about "tropospheric scatter," you can appear smart if you tell them it is a system of radio transmission in which the signal is beamed over the horizon from troposcatter antennas to the troposphere, the portion of the atmosphere that lies below the stratosphere. The signal is deflected from the heavy air layer to similar receiving antennas on the ground, where it is amplified and then relayed to another station. It's particularly useful where terrain makes it difficult to use conventional telephonic equipment. The armed services use it all the time . . . Downing Street in London, which readily identifies the seat of the British government, was named after Sir George Downing, a nephew of Governor John Winthrop of Massachusetts Bay Colony. Downing was a member of the first graduating class at Harvard in 1642 and later returned to England, where he engaged in politics with Oliver Cromwell, who honored him by naming the street for him . . .

We will never understand how prices are set on autographs of famous persons. Meandering in a New York curio shop we saw a letter signed by President D. Roosevelt in 1935 with a price tag of $100. Displayed beside it was a missive by the French artist Raoul Dufy, written in 1936, priced at $115. Nearby a handwritten letter by Abraham Lincoln could be purchased for a mere $500. And, brace yourself, Primo Carnera's signature was priced at $750 . . . The Mt. Pleasant (Mich.) DAILY TIMES NEWS headlined a story: "Wife Returns Home: Husband Goes to Vietnam." He really wanted to get away from her, didn't he?

Country Editor speaking: "The happiest fellow in the world is the vegetarian who looks at the prices at a supermarket meat counter."

Tors Has A Gold Plated Menagerie

By JOAN CROSBY Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Ivan Tors is the only man in the world who can toss little gems like these into a conversation: "I have to go see my killer whale in Seattle," or "I have just bought a synagogue in Miami."

Tors, the producer of NBC-TV's popular Flipper, is, in the parlance of the trade, "hot." Flipper is a successful series. His earlier syndicated Sea Hunt is still being telecast in many areas. He has made several pilots and sold as many series. His production firm is working on three films, one of which, "Around the World Under the Sea," is planned as a major MGM release next summer. His second television series was launched in color on CBS-TV on Tuesday, Jan. 11. It's called Dak-tari (that's the Swahili word for doctor).

Like Flipper, the real stars of Dak-tari are animals—Clarence, a lion with crossed eyes, and Judy, a chimp who is "walking away with the series," according to Tors. (The human stars are Marshall Thompson, Cheryl Miller, and Hedley Mattingly.) Also, like Flipper, the series is a spin-off from a movie.

A Hungarian, an animal lover, a student and a humorist, Tors says: "I am probably the only producer in Hollywood who can call his attorney and say, 'Today I made a deal for a killer whale and an English actor named Hedley Mattingly.' Also, one day I telephoned my wife from Miami and when she asked 'What's new?' I told her, 'I have just bought a synagogue.'"

(The whale, named Namu, is the subject of a Tors' film, as well as a tourist attraction, and the building which was built as a synagogue was next door to Tors' studios in Miami, and he bought it for additional office space.)

Tors, who has traveled to New York on a jet with a python in a canvas bag, believes that all animals respond to kindly treatment by humans. "You have to understand the nature of the animal and its desire for security. For instance, if you press a hand down on a snake, you are an enemy attempting to crush him. If you put your hand under him, you are a tree branch, and no danger to him."

Paul Dooley has a good thing going — a cigarette commercial in which he is Harvey, who also has a good thing going.

Commercials, Paul has found, are not only lucrative, but also a good screen test. He improvised one for an air freshener which ran during the telecast of the Emmy Awards.

"All the producers were watching that night and I got telephone calls from a lot of them, including Sheldon Leonard and George Burns."

Paul has been offered several series from that one commercial, but he is not that anxious to do something that is a carbon copy of what is on the air now. And that's what most of the scripts he has read turned out to do something that is a The Munsters, Get Smart or Beverly Hillsbillies. I read one that I thought was funny, a kind of Bilko-like group who were pirates. But even that was an imitation."

He's a graduate of The Second City, an improvisational group which came from Chicago. There is a trend to improvisations in commercials, he says, so many of the actors appearing in them come from either Second City or Upstairs at the Downstairs.

Ironically, Paul was a member of the original cast of "The Odd Couple," as one of the older players. He also understudied Art Carney and played Carney's role for seven weeks after Art left the play. But he got no offers from producers while he was in the smash hit. It took a commercial.

"This just goes to prove I'm not Superman," said the actor, who is expected to return to work by the first of next week.

GURSEL REMAINS CRITICAL WASHINGTON (UPI) —Turkish President Cemal Gursel continued on the critical list today at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, where he is undergoing treatment for complications from a stroke.

A hospital report said Gursel's condition was unchanged and that the "prognosis remains extremely guarded." Gursel has been under treatment at the hospital since last week.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Sammy Davis, whose new NBC-TV series was widely panned following its premiere last month, returned Friday night after being tied up elsewhere by a contractual commitment, and immediately set things straight.

By this, I mean that he probably won a reprieve from his fans and critics who wanted to see him perform in his successful way rather than gadding about a mite too cooly with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, as he did on the premiere. On the other hand, it is a moot question whether doing what his fans and the critics want will get him as high a rating as the gadding about with Mr. and Mrs. Burton.

And before getting back to Davis, by the way, I would like to put in a few kind words for the public and the critics following the show in question because she did not appear looking her best, being somewhat on the chubby side, and also sang rather badly, if Doris Day is your standard, Devil-May-Care.

Personally, I was out of town on the night that the show bowed in, but I caught it elsewhere, and I thought that there was something rather wonderfully devil-may-care, and unaffectionately European, in Mrs. Burton appearing the way she did, knowing she was not at her best, but going on anyway. After all, she didn't have to, you know. She doesn't need the Few Flaws Trini Lopez, Paula Wayne and the cast of Davis' stage hit, "Golden Boy," socked over the latter part of the house, with the star blending nicely. If there were deficiencies in the show, I would say they included these: The audience cheering section full of kids, or voices like kids, and Davis' penchant for name-dropping. It may well be true that virtually everybody famous is his "good friend," but it is not becoming to keep on saying so.

Likewise, I think I have had enough of the precious casualness of singers who think it is oh-so-romantic to light a cigarette and/or loosen their collars while warbling away. It is not at all romantic. It is silly, affected and distracting. If you are Sammy Davis, you don't need such tricks: All you have to do is perform, and that's good enough. I also think his pants are too tight, and not flattering, but I guess that's not my business. All of this, however, is quibbling. As a showman, Davis has few peers; and if he sticks to his last, as on Friday night, he will make a lot of people happy.

Batman Has Flu Bug HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Batman, the invincible television crusader, has been zapped by the flu bug.

Adam West, who portrays the comic strip character in the ABC-TV series, entered Bel Air Memorial Hospital Wednesday, suffering from flu and exhaustion. His condition was listed as good.

"This just goes to prove I'm not Superman," said the actor, who is expected to return to work by the first of next week.

Does Capt. Kangaroo Get Many Letters?

By JOAN CROSBY Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Bob Keeshan probably knows more family secrets than any other man in America.

Keeshan is better known to the junior set of the country as Captain Kangaroo, star of the 10-year-old CBS-TV children's show. Because children love Keeshan, they write him letters, and these ingenious, gabby little people tell him everything. "Now another fish died," one little girl wrote in a litany of domestic disasters. "My mom sprained her ankle. I like geography. It is now 4:30 . . ."

"I wrote you once when I was little and now I'm 11 years old and wanted to write you again," a grown-up kid penned. Another child drew a picture of a donkey and asked if Captain Kangaroo knew what the baby of a donkey and a zebra was. The answer? "He is a horse in striped stockings." "You are a very good man," one little philosopher wrote. "You make up very good shows. You are a very good actor, too."

"May I have a trained bunny?" a greedy one asked. "You got up Monday morning and you was sleeping and you didn't washed your face. How come?" asked an observant one. An informed viewer wrote, "I believe you have been on since 1964. I learned that a few days ago."

A 10-year-old said, "I've learned a lot from your show and I hope it never goes off." Keeshan says he would not have predicted the show would have lasted 10 years when it premiered in 1955. "But now that we are institutionalized, I think we can last another 10 to 15 years, 1960!"

Actor Treated for Cancer

LONDON (UPI) —British movie star Jack Hawkins was released from a hospital Thursday following an operation for throat cancer.

The burly, 55-year-old Hawkins, who starred in such films as "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Cats and Bats," and "Lawrence of Arabia," underwent the operation Jan. 22. He smiled and hugged his wife, Dr. Jean, as he left London's University College Hospital.

Hawkins was not able to speak much, but his wife said he was responding "very well" to daily speech therapy and a hospital spokesman reported Hawkins' prognosis as an actor would probably help him recover his voice.

Two other actors were reported ill today. St. Augustine, the apostle to the English nation, was the first archbishop of Canterbury.

If you wonder why the common cold waxes so large and villainous, consider the fact that it accounts in total for almost one billion illnesses and a $3 billion economic loss each year in the U.S. alone.

Vaccine hunters are experimenting with new weapons against the wheezing scourge, but a cure is believed to be a good five years distant. A drawback to the early breakthrough in the search for an effective cold cure is the discovery since 1953 of some 100 different viruses which may play some part in the common cold.

IN LOVING MEMORY
OF
ROY M. HALL

Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.

REST IN PEACE

You are not forgotten loved one. Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last we will remain true.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore. As time goes by, we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place.

MY THANKS!

People everywhere in life from every walk and station. From every town and city and every state and nation. Have given me so many things. Inaugurate and dear. I couldn't begin to count them all or even make them clear. I only know I am much to people everywhere. And when I put my thought in verse it's just a way to share. The musings of a thankful heart, a heart much like your own. For nothing that I think or write is mine and mine alone. If you found some beauty in any word or line. It's just "Your Soul's Reflection" in "Proximity with Mine".

RISES AGAIN — Metal framework for one of the world's largest known statues of a human figure is nearing completion in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Called "The Golden Driller", and adopted as the official symbol of the International Petroleum Exposition, Tulsa, May 12-21, 1966, the new figure is of a third generation. Two similar Golden Driller statues appeared at the Exposition in 1953 and 1959. The massive image is being built by Mid-Continent Supply, a Kendavis Company, and donated to the IPE where it will stand almost eight stories high at the entrance to the main exposition building. Pictured by the metal framework of the Driller's head is Ken Davis, Jr., president of Loffland Bros. Co., Tulsa, a Kendavis Company. Designed to withstand winds up to 100 miles per hour, The Golden Driller will stand in 12-foot shoes weighing one ton each. His metal skeleton ranges from a 6-foot belt buckle to 24-foot wide shoulders and will weigh about 41,000 pounds, plus a golden "skin" weighing 3,500 pounds. The statue's right hand will rest atop a 50-foot standard derrick which will be moved from operations in an oil field near Seminole, Oklahoma, to the new Tulsa Exposition Center.

Pioneer Breaks All Delivery Records for Gas Transmission

Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America has broken all previous 24-hour delivery records by transmitting in excess of 3 billion cubic feet of gas to its distributing customers.

Based on preliminary estimates, 3.2 billion cubic feet of gas was delivered from noon Jan. 27 to noon Jan. 28 as a result of the current cold wave throughout the Company's mid-west market area. This record exceeds by 300 million cubic feet the previous high 24-hour delivery of 2.9 billion cubic feet set Jan. 17-18.
