SAIGON (UPI) — Two Viet Cong terrorists carrying a 275-pound plastic bomb were seized by Vietnamese police today as they pedaled toward a four-story building housing 66 American officers. They said they had intended to blow up the billets at lunchtime.

The target was the Alabama Bachelor Officers Quarters BOQ on Cong Quynh St. It is one block away from the Metropole BOQ, which was bombed early last month, killing 10 persons and wounding about 200, mostly Vietnamese civilians.

The terrorists were stopped by police as they rode a cyclecart, a small three-wheeled bicycle with a wooden cargo carrier. The explosive was camouflaged in plastic water bottles, National Police said.

Both men carried 45 caliber pistols and one had a grenade, which apparently was to be used to set off the plastic bomb.

Three blocks further down the street from the Alabama BOQ is a motor pool and supply compound for the U.S. Army's 83rd Signal Co.

Earlier today, two explosions ripped through a giant U.S. Air Force C130 transport plane carrying a cargo of ammunition to the Pleiku supply base in the Central Highlands. There was no immediate word on how many were aboard the Lockheed-constructed aircraft but a C130 normally has a five-man crew. All aboard were killed.

There was no immediate indication of sabotage but a U.S. spokesman called the crash "suspicious."

In ground action, Viet Cong guerrillas overran the Cong Hoa outpost 80 miles south of Da Nang after a five-day siege. Government forces were trying to recapture it tonight.

Heavy cloud cover prevented air support from allied planes. The Vietnamese outpost along coastal highway one defends a key bridge on the north-south highway, which links the coast with the lowland areas.

A well-disciplined Viet Cong force, responding to signals on a police whistle, today ambushed a Marine road-clearing detail five miles south of Da Nang. A spokesman said the Leathernecks sustained moderate casualties.

Soviet Trip Believed To Increase War Hostilities

Viet Peace Efforts Seem to Evaporate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The high-powered Soviet Mission to Hanoi aroused considerable speculation among diplomats here today as to its possible effect on future events in war-torn Southeast Asia.

Some were hoping—despite the external evidence to the contrary—that the Russians would quietly try to ease Communist North Viet Nam toward acceptance of President Johnson's peace offers.

But others felt the members of the Russian mission, interested primarily in countering Peking's influence in the area, would devote themselves entirely to arranging more firepower for Hanoi to meet U.S. and South Vietnamese military might.

The Russian mission was headed by a high Communist party officer, Alexander N. Shelepin, and included Dmitri F. Ustinov, head of defense industry, and Col. Gen. Vladimir F. Tolbukop, a strategic missiles expert.

Communism China Thursday linked the Shelepin mission to the American suspension of air attacks against North Viet Nam. Peking's implication was that Moscow and Washington were in collusion to try to get Hanoi to stop fighting.

The Shelepin mission comes at a critical point in President Johnson's "peace offensive." The Chief Executive is attempting to muster world pressure on Hanoi and Peking to deescalate the conflict in Viet Nam.

MOSCOW (UPI) — A high-ranking Soviet delegation, including rocket and armament experts, stopped off in Communist China today en route to Hanoi on a mission apparently meant to boost Soviet aid to North Viet Nam.

While the official Soviet News Agency Tass gave no details of mission's Peking stop, diplomatic observers here speculated that the Soviet officials would spend today talking with Chinese leaders before moving on to Hanoi Saturday.

The Soviet mission, headed by top Kremlin trouble-shooter Alexander N. Shelepin, left Moscow Thursday and was believed to have made a six-hour flight to the Central Siberian City of Irkutsk to spend the night.

The stopover in Peking, coupled with the presence of weapons experts on the Soviet mission, dampened hopes in some Western countries that Shelepin would in any way further the current U.S. quest for peace in Viet Nam.

Authoritative Soviet sources have denied such speculation as groundless and indicated the mission was to arrange more firepower for Hanoi to meet any new escalation in the Vietnamese war.

City Will Be Asked to Take Over Airport

By TEX DEWEESE
A proposal to request the transfer of Perry Letors Field, Gray County Airport, from county to city jurisdiction with a plan for vastly improving airport facilities was adopted by the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee at a meeting this forenoon.

Ed Myatt, former mayor who introduced the proposal, was named chairman of a committee which will seek county permission for the transfer and ask the mayor and city commission to take over.

Gene Imel was appointed to head a committee to draw up an overall plan for improvements at the airport as recommended recently by W. O. Karpenko of Albuquerque, chief of the Airport Branch of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Karpenko, after an inspection of the Gray County airfield stated it was in fairly good shape, but recommended getting runways and aprons in shape, construction of a north-south taxiway to parallel the north-south runway, construction of another small hangar, construction of a modest terminal building for the public with approximately 1,500 sq. ft. of floor space, additional T-hangars, and formation of an airport board of local citizens to promote better airport services.

According to Wynne Veale, chairman of the aviation committee, Karpenko promised any further assistance needed would be given by the FAA.

Committee members at today's meeting were enthusiastic about getting action started for the improvement of the airport just as soon as possible. The committee, Veale stated, has the backing of the Pampa Industrial Foundation and the full Chamber of Commerce to work out the plans which, all committee members agreed, will give a big boost to Pampa's program for bringing in new industry.

The proposed plans would include putting the airport in such shape that company jet planes as well as the conventional type could land in Pampa.

Chairman Veale told committee members that County Judge Bill Craig had informed Veale and the FAA's Airport Branch Chief Karpenko in a meeting last October that the county would be glad to relinquish control and supervision of Perry Letors Field.

The city commission is expected to be approached within a few days on the proposal for the city to take over jurisdiction and maintenance of the airport.

Homer Gibson, Pampa insurance man, Friday became the second candidate to file his intention to run for the Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2, in the May 7 Democratic primary.

Earlier this week, E. L. "Ed" Anderson announced his intention to run for the office.

Gibson, a resident of Pampa since 1961, has been active in the Panhandle area for 38 years.

Entertainment was provided by Jack Frost, harmonica player, from the Trinity Baptist Church, Lubbock.

Dinner music was by Jerry Williams in Division VI of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International.

FOR MARCH OF DIMES—Members of the Pampa Fire Department will start distributing March of Dimes donation containers to Pampa business establishments Monday morning. More than 200 containers are to be placed in local stores during the day in an effort to aid the one out of every 16 children who is born with a defect. Firemen L. V. Bruce, left, assistance fire marshal, and J. V. Pirkle assistant fire chief, look over the containers that will be in most of the stores Monday.

Nichols Installed As Kiwanis Head

Jack Nichols, principal of Robert E. Lee Junior High School, was installed as president of the Downtown Kiwanis Club at the civic group's 36th annual installation banquet last night in Coronado Inn.

Installing officer was Lt. Gov. Lloyd Williams in Division VI of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International.

Other officers installed included Tom Beard, immediate past president; Boyd Taylor, first vice president; Joe Fischer, second vice president; Jerry Davis, secretary-treasurer; and June Allen, executive secretary.

Directors for 1966 will be J. W. Duke, Ralph Reid, Carlton Nance, Clyde Organ, Royce Laycock, Ed Vicars and James Manley.

Outgoing president Tom Beard presided at the banquet and Jim Manley was master of ceremonies.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — Melvin Nelson, 22, left his apartment to get a package of cigarettes Wednesday night and was stopped on his way home by two men who offered to sell him a television set.

Nelson called for help and apprehended the two men, who were turned over to police. He got the television set, which was stolen from his apartment while he was gone.

Pacific Coast Begins Mop Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mopping-up operations began on the storm battered Pacific Coast today as an 11-day onslaught of windswept rain, heavy snow and flooding came to an end.

The Weather Bureau predicted some rain in Oregon this afternoon, but an extremely strong high pressure center located over Nevada indicated scattered showers and mild temperatures would predominate for at least the next five days.

Negro Killing Could Lead To Race Riots

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Charles M. Keever said Thursday the slaying of a Negro civil rights worker by a white man had created a "dangerous situation" that may require federal troops in this predominantly Negro town.

About 150 students from Tuskegee Institute marched on City Hall Thursday and demanded the death penalty for the man charged with first degree murder in the shooting Monday night. Negroes said another protest march would be held today.

Keever held conferences into late Thursday night with state and federal law enforcement authorities, officials of Tuskegee Institute and civil rights leaders. More meetings were to be held today.

"This is a very dangerous situation," he said. "If these meetings are not successful, we'll have to go elsewhere for help."

Keever was asked by a reporter if this meant he would ask for federal troops. "You're a pretty good guesser," the mayor replied.

Dominican Government Exile Leads to Attempted Coup

United Press International — Troops threw up barricades and roadblocks in Santo Domingo, Santiago and Barahona, three of the nation's principal cities. There were unconfirmed reports that other cities also were involved.

Four tanks took up positions in the grounds of the Dominican "White House." Armored vehicles also were reported in the vicinity of the Duarte Bridge, on the road leading to the big San Isidro airbase.

The armed forces radio station at San Isidro, silenced by civilian authorities in September, returned to the air to denounce President Hector Garcia Godoy's provisional government and to urge soldiers throughout the country to reject its authority.

Whatever Happened to John Profumo?

PROFUMO AND FRIEND — When Prime Minister Harold Wilson visited Toynebe Hall he didn't mind taking tea and chatting with the once-powerful Profumo.

LONDON — (NEA) — John Profumo, former Cabinet minister and storm center of Britain's biggest postwar political scandal, is quietly building a new reputation for himself as an unpaid charity fund raiser.

Profumo was forced to resign as Britain's Secretary of State for War in June, 1963, after it became known that he and the Soviet assistant naval attaché had befriended call girl Miss Christine Keeler.

The "Profumo Affair" nearly brought down the Conservative government of the day. Profumo was forced to resign not only as war minister, but as a member of Parliament as well. He was politically washed up. But the ex-Cabinet minister (See PROFUMO, Page 3)

Redistricting Act Is Ruled Legal By Houston Judges

By RODNEY DAVIS
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI)—A three-judge federal court ruled Wednesday that Texas' Congressional redistricting act is constitutional, but warned the Texas Legislature it had better come up with a better job by 1967.

The three-judge panel said the 59th Texas Legislature's redistricting act "represents a substantial good-faith effort by Texas toward the constitutional goal of population equality and is therefore valid at this time." But, the opinion said, "Our approval is limited in duration. We retain jurisdiction to enable the 60th Legislature, convening in January of 1967 and any special sessions convened through July, 1967, to take further action."

The suit challenging the redistricting act was filed by Republicans from Dallas, Fort Worth, Midland, Odessa, Beaumont, San Antonio and Richardson, Tex. They contend the legislative act was a "mass of gerrymandering" and deviated from the Supreme Court's one man, one vote rule.

Top state officials praised the court ruling.

A similar redistricting case, involving legislative districts of Texas, is pending before the same court.

Elimination of Firemen Hasn't Affected Railroad Industry

CHICAGO (UPI)—The gradual elimination of locomotive firemen from the railroad industry, has not adversely affected either employees or rail service in general, a national board set up to study the issue said Wednesday.

The board's 122-page report surveyed the "operation of freight and yard service without firemen." It also highlighted the differences between separate unions representing locomotive engineers and firemen.

M. L. Shattuck, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, was the only member of the four-man board who dissented from the study's conclusion. He refused to sign the report and called it a "complete hoax."

However, his union counterpart on the board, Charles J. Coughlin, first assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he concurred completely with the report.
"The engineers would prefer to have a firemen work with them," Coughlin said. "But this is 1966. We must face reality and the carriers have proved to every tribunal that firemen are not needed."

The other two members of the board were J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, and E. H. Hallmann, chairman of the Western Carriers' Conference Committee. They represented management.

Martin Dies Jr. To Announce for Congressman

HOUSTON (UPI)—State Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin will announce this week for U.S. Rep. John Dowdy's (D-Tex.) congressional seat, the Houston Chronicle said today.

The newspaper said the 41-year-old Dies will make a formal announcement "in the next few days."

The congressional redistricting of Texas upheld by a three-judge federal court in Houston Wednesday caused Dowdy's second congressional district so that it runs from Athens, 60 miles southeast of Dallas, to Orange on the Gulf Coast. Dies was on the committee that drew up the redistricting plan.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., a New Jersey Democrat and soothsayer, has just weighed in with his annual list of New Year predictions.

"It's a funny thing about Thompson's crystal ball. For some strange reason, it seems to emit mainly partisan prognostications. As, for example, this entry:

"March—Richard M. Nixon appears on 'What's My Line,' Stumps panel."

"If Republicans demanded that the crystal ball give them equal time, it probably would show Hubert H. Humphrey appearing on the same program with similar results."

Sports Oracle
I think it is in the field of athletics that Thompson's powers as an oracle reach their peak. Readers of the sports pages will readily agree with this prediction:

"November—Sonny Werble signs collegiate star Boffo Berserki for $2 million bonus. Berserki promptly buys majority control of New York Jets and ousts Werble. 'We can't afford the guy,' Boffo said."

The crystal ball obviously recognizes that professional football has become a financial giant second only to Wall Street and Las Vegas.

One wonders how much longer the administration can ignore the price of football players in its efforts to control inflation.

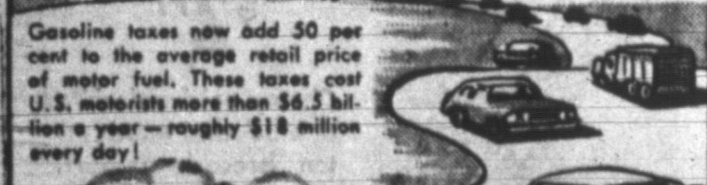

Two television networks now, in effect, have their own football leagues. They even call time outs for commercials.

Some purists fear the game will eventually be totally dominated by television—that it will become more of a program than a sport and that scripts will be written to make it more dramatic, as in westing.

Facts of Motoring Life

The first American gasoline taxes were levied in four states back in 1919. Within 10 years, 48 states and the District of Columbia were taxing motor fuel. A "temporary" federal tax of one cent a gallon, adopted in 1932, has never been removed but has grown four times larger.

Gasoline taxes now add 30 percent to the average retail price of motor fuel. These taxes cost U.S. motorists more than $6.3 billion a year—roughly $18 million every day!

Since World War II, states have enacted 90 increases in gasoline tax rates, which now average six cents a gallon, plus the four-cent federal tax. The average retail price of gasoline, excluding taxes, dropped 9 per cent in the past six years, while the overall consumer price index rose 8.9 per cent.

CARMICHAEL-WHITLEY BUILDING — The new home of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors, 600 N. Ward, features a white-trimmed, red brick, colonial architecture.

Carmichael-Whitley Opening Set Saturday

All those who attend the formal opening and open house at the new home of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors tomorrow and Sunday will be invited to tour the rooms and facilities of the new building at 600 N. Ward. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow and 1-7 p.m. Sunday.

The attractive white-trimmed red brick colonial building, designed and constructed by J. Allen Ritter, contractor, contains more than 12,000 square feet. Construction was started last Aug. 16. Carmichael-Whitley moved into the building Dec. 8.

Upon entering the building, one is struck by the variety and taste of its well-appointed interior.

The chapel, also of colonial design to complement the exterior, is adjoined by the family room. The chapel is carpeted wall-to-wall in royal blue. It seats 240. Wayne Pitner of the First Methodist Church will be at the chapel organ throughout the two-day formal opening.

The family room, adjoining the chapel, is one of four reposing rooms in the new funeral home. It seats 45 adults. Pews have kneelers finished in light walnut with white colonial ends. The seats are upholstered in gold. Walls and paneling of the chapel room are in bone white. The paneling permits random placement of floral arrangements. Colored lighting may be employed to enhance the floral arrangements.

Two of the other reposing rooms are finished in Italian Provincial. One is decorated in

Soviets Warn US Of Military Acts Around Black Sea

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet Union has warned the United States against air and military activity in the Black Sea area on Russia's southern frontier, it was learned today.

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the Kremlin "drew the attention of the United States to the necessity of taking steps to put an end to dangerous provocations by the American military in the immediate proximity of the Soviet frontiers."

American Ambassador Foy Kohler met with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili Kuznetsov on Dec. 24 and "the Black Sea question was the topic," an American Embassy spokesman said.

Referring to a U.S. Air Force B57 bomber which crashed into the Black Sea last month, the spokesman told UPI: "We will have no further information on the aircraft which was lost on routine training mission over the Black Sea."

The paper added that use of Turkish soil for such "provocations" could "harm" Turkish-Soviet relations, which have improved rapidly in the past two years after nearly 20 years of tension.

The Black Sea is an inland body of water directly south of European Russia. Turkey and the Soviet Union share most of its coastline.

Jealous Husband Kills Speedskater

MOSCOW (UPI) —World champion speedskater Inga Voronin was stabbed to death by a "jealous and possessive" husband, informed sources said today.

The sources said Inga, 29, four-time world champion, was stabbed Tuesday in a quarrel on the stairs outside their Moscow apartment by her husband, Sergei, 36, trainer of the Soviet speedskating team.

The Voronins had long quarreled and Inga had sought a divorce and a separate apartment, according to the sources.

The sources described Voronin, whom Soviet police are holding in the slaying, as the "jealous and possessive type." The couple had one child.

50,000 Expected To Die in 1966 On Nation's Roads

If 50,000 Americans were to die in Viet Nam in 1966, the nation undoubtedly would find itself involved in a full-scale war.

Yet more than 50,000 Americans will die in 1966—not in Viet Nam but on the streets and highways. A lot of people are concerned. But there is no full-scale war against this killer.

At Christmas time, there was a lull in Viet Nam. Americans were grateful. There was no lull on the highways; more than 720 died. Americans were almost indifferent. And 543 more died during the New Year's holiday.

UPI assigned Washington reporter Robert J. Serling to take a look at the nation's highway safety problem. His five-part series will start moving Friday for publication Monday, Jan. 10 through Friday, Jan. 14. In it, he examines such questions as:

What causes accidents? What are the chief killers? Are young people to blame? Do contradicting state laws contribute to highway slaughter? Or is the automobile that Detroit is turning out—more than eight million a year now—at fault?

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., a New Jersey Democrat and soothsayer, has just weighed in with his annual list of New Year predictions.

It's a funny thing about Thompson's crystal ball. For some strange reason, it seems to emit mainly partisan prognostications. As, for example, this entry:

"March—Richard M. Nixon appears on 'What's My Line' Stumps panel."

If Republicans demanded that the crystal ball give them equal time, it probably would show Hubert H. Humphrey appearing on the same program with similar results.

Sports Oracle
I think it is in the field of athletics that Thompson's powers as an oracle reach their peak. Readers of the sports pages will readily agree with this prediction: "November—Sonny Werble signs collegiate star Boffo Berserski for $2 million bonus. Berserski promptly buys majority control of New York Jets and ousts Werble. 'We can't afford the guy,' Boffo said."

The crystal ball obviously recognizes that professional football has become a financial giant second only to Wall Street and Las Vegas.

One wonders how much longer the administration can ignore the price of football players in its efforts to control inflation.

Two television networks now, in effect, have their own football leagues. They even call time outs for commercials.

Some purists fear the game will eventually be totally dominated by television—that it will become more of a program than a sport and that scripts will be written to make it more dramatic, as in westling.

CARMICHAEL-WHITLEY BUILDING — The new home of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors, 600 N. Ward, features a white-trimmed, red brick, colonial architecture.

Carmichael-Whitley Opening Set Saturday

All those who attend the formal opening and open house at the new home of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors tomorrow and Sunday will be invited to tour the rooms and facilities of the new building at 600 N. Ward. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow and 1-7 p.m. Sunday.

The attractive white-trimmed red brick colonial building, designed and constructed by J. Allen Ritter, contractor, contains more than 12,000 square feet. Construction was started last Aug. 16. Carmichael-Whitley moved into the building Dec. 8.

Upon entering the building, one is struck by the variety and taste of its well-appointed interior.

The chapel, also of colonial design to complement the exterior, is adjoined by the family room. The chapel is carpeted wall-to-wall in royal blue. It seats 240. Wayne Pitner of the First Methodist Church will be at the chapel organ throughout the two-day formal opening.

The family room, adjoining the chapel, is one of four reposing rooms in the new funeral home. It seats 45 adults. Pews have kneelers finished in light walnut with white colonial ends. The seats are upholstered in gold. Walls and paneling of the chapel room are in bone white. The paneling permits random placement of floral arrangements. Colored lighting may be employed to enhance the floral arrangements.

Two of the other reposing rooms are finished in Italian Provincial. One is decorated in

Soviets Warn US Of Military Acts Around Black Sea

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has warned the United States against air and military activity in the Black Sea area on Russia's southern frontier, it was learned today.

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the Kremlin "drew the attention of the United States to the necessity of taking steps to put an end to dangerous provocations by the American military in the immediate proximity of the Soviet frontiers."

American Ambassador Foy Kohler met with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili Kuznetsov on Dec. 24 and "the Black Sea question was the topic," an American Embassy spokesman said.

Referring to a U.S. Air Force B57 bomber which crashed into the Black Sea last month, the spokesman told UPI: "We will have no further information on the aircraft which was lost on routine training mission over the Black Sea."

The paper added that use of Turkish soil for such "provocations" could "harm" Turkish-Soviet relations, which have improved rapidly in the past two years after nearly 20 years of tension.

The Black Sea is an inland body of water directly south of European Russia. Turkey and the Soviet Union share most of its coastline.

Jealous Husband Kills Speedskater

MOSCOW (UPI)—World champion speedskater Inga Voronin was stabbed to death by a "jealous and possessive" husband, informed sources said today.

The sources said Inga, 29, four-time world champion, was stabbed Tuesday in a quarrel on the stairs outside their Moscow apartment by her husband, Sergei, 36, trainer of the Soviet speedskating team.

The Voronins had long quarreled and Inga had sought a divorce and a separate apartment, according to the sources.

The sources described Voronin, whom Soviet police are holding in the slaying, as the "jealous and possessive type." The couple had one child.

THE LORD WANTS YOU

50,000 Expected To Die in 1966 On Nation's Roads

If 50,000 Americans were to die in Viet Nam in 1966, the nation undoubtedly would find itself involved in a full-scale war.

Yet more than 50,000 Americans will die in 1966—not in Viet Nam but on the streets and highways. A lot of people are concerned. But there is no full-scale war against this killer.

At Christmas time, there was a lull in Viet Nam. Americans were grateful. There was no lull on the highways; more than 720 died. Americans were almost indifferent. And more died during the New Year's holiday.

UPI assigned Washington reporter Robert J. Serling to take a look at the nation's highway safety problem. His five-part series will start moving Friday for publication Monday, Jan. 10 through Friday, Jan. 14. In it, he examines such questions as:

What causes accidents? What are the chief killers? Are young people to blame? Do contradicting state laws contribute to highway slaughter? Or is the automobile that Detroit is turning out—more than eight million a year now—at fault?

STRANGE INGREDIENT
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The menu was back to normal today at the short-order cafe at which Glen Jeffries, 36, was cook.

Jeffries pleaded guilty Wednesday to illegal possession of narcotics.

Police contended he had been selling hamburgers spiked with goofballs to his friends in the French quarter.

Facts of Motoring Life

The first American gasoline taxes were levied in four states back in 1919. Within 10 years, 48 states and the District of Columbia were taxing motor fuel. A "temporary" federal tax of one cent a gallon, adopted in 1932, has never been removed but has grown four times larger.

Gasoline taxes now add 50 per cent to the average retail price of motor fuel. These taxes cost U.S. motorists more than $6.5 billion a year—roughly $18 million every day!

Since World War II states have enacted 90 increases in gasoline tax rates, which now average six cents a gallon, plus the four-cent federal tax. The average retail price of gasoline, excluding taxes, dropped 9 per cent in the past six years, while the overall consumer price index rose 8.9 per cent.

Religious Group Membership Edges to New High in 1965

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Council of Churches reported Thursday that membership in U.S. religious bodies has reached a new record high of 123,307,000, an increase of 2 per cent over the previous year.

It was the 17th time in 18 years that America's churches and synagogues have posted membership gains greater than the nation's population growth rate, which is about 1.5 per cent a year.

Since the end of World War II, the proportion of Americans affiliated with religious bodies has grown from 59 per cent to 64.4 per cent. No other nation has experienced a comparable upsurge.

Membership statistics for 250 denominations were reported in the yearbook of American churches, which is published annually by the National Council of Churches. Based on official reports from the denominations themselves, the figures are mainly for the year 1964.

The only postwar year in which membership gains have fallen below the population growth rate was 1961. In that year, churches and synagogues reported membership increases amounting to 1.4 per cent. The lag behind population growth was widely interpreted at the time as evidence that the postwar religious revival had run its course.

This verdict now appears to have been premature. In 1962, the growth rate of religious bodies rose to 1.6 per cent, slightly above the increase in population. In 1963, the meager increase of 2.3 per cent.

The new yearbook places the total membership of 221 U.S. Protestant bodies at 68,229,000, up 2 per cent above the previous year.

The Roman Catholic Church reported 45,641,000 members, a gain of 1.7 per cent.

This is the first time in many years that the Protestant growth rate has exceeded the Catholic growth rate. The 1963 figures showed Catholic membership up 2.4 per cent, while net Protestant gains were 2.3 per cent.

Small Jewish Gain
Jewish congregations reported 5,600,000 members, an increase of only three-tenths of 1 per cent over the previous year.

Eastern Orthodox churches reported 3,166,715 members, an increase of 2.3 per cent.

The Buddhist population soared from 60,000 to 110,000—a phenomenon explained by the inclusion of figures for Hawaii for the first time.

The yearbook showed a total Sunday school enrollment of 46,752,000, up 2 per cent.

Social Action Conflict Divides Protestants

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Two Presbyterian ministers, a continent apart, demonstrated during the first week of 1966 how wide and deep is the cleavage which has developed in Protestant churches over social action.

In San Mateo, Calif., the Rev. William Carl Thomas, 50, resigned as pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church to go into the real estate business.

He said he had tried to use the Christian ministry as a base for "creative service to the world's problems." But his interest in social action brought him into conflict with the lay leaders of the congregation, who wanted their minister to devote most of his energy to preaching, pastoral care and other customary functions of the clergy.

The conflict reached a climax last spring when the governing board of the church turned down his request for leave to participate in the Selma, Ala., civil rights march.

The Rev. Mr. Thomas felt that he had two alternatives. He could fight for the right to carry on a social action ministry at the cost of splitting the church into feuding factions, or he could get out. After pondering the decision for several months, he submitted his resignation.

If this were an isolated incident, there would be no point in publicizing it beyond the limits of San Mateo. But actually, it typifies a widespread situation.

In every big Protestant denomination, you find ministers who are discontented with their traditional roles and eager to get involved in the struggle for racial justice, peace and better treatment of the poor.

Their zeal for protest marches and other forms of direct action is motivated in most cases by genuine Christian concern for human welfare. And some of the opposition they encounter from lay church members doubtless betokens a complacency about the status quo which is foreign to the spirit of Jesus Christ.

But it would be grossly unfair to depict the social action controversy simply as a struggle between good guys in the pulpits and bad guys in the pews.

Many laymen who are far from indifferent to human need object to the clergy's new passion for picket lines because they feel that the social action bit is being overdone to the neglect of less glamorous chores such as preparing good sermons and visiting the sick.

Moreover, the cleavage is not really between the clergy on one side and the laity on the other. That was made clear by a sermon delivered in New York City on the first Sunday of 1966 by the Rev. Dr. David H. C. Read, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Read praised clergymen and laymen who are trying to apply the teachings of Christ to "worldly" problems such as race relations. He acknowledged that churches have been too long preoccupied with their own housekeeping problems, and have been tardy in accepting their responsibility to help bring about social change.

'Spiritual Math' Is Sermon Topic
"Spiritual Mathematics"—a sermon based upon the 3rd Chapter of John's Gospel will be the Sunday sermon topic at the First Presbyterian Church.

All are welcome to worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. and to Church School and a new Inquirers Class at 9:45. The Inquirers Class will meet under the direction of the pastor for the remaining four Sundays in January.

At the 11 o'clock worship hour the Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Mrs. George Budd and accompanied by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, will sing "Lord, for Thy Tender Mercy's Sake" by Farrant, as the morning anthem. Ruling Elder W. A. Morgan will assist the pastor at both worship hours.

An eight week study of the "Proposal to Revise the Church's Confessional Position" begins at 5:30 p.m. in the auditorium. This series of meetings will be led by the pastor, reverend Donald S. Hauck.

Also planned for Sunday evening are Youth Fellowships with the Junior Highs meeting at 5:30 in the home of Mr. & Mrs. Wayne Irwin, and the Senior Highs will meet in the Youth Lounge.

'Salvation' Topic At First Baptist
Rev. J. W. Duke has chosen as his sermon topic for this week, "No Salvation Outside The Church", Acts 4:12 and Matt. 18:20. The choir has chosen as their Anthem, "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name" accompanied by Mrs. John Gill at the organ and Jerry Whitten at the piano.

Rev. Duke will conduct services at Lamar Annex at 9:30 a.m. and at First Church at 10:50. We will have our regular meetings Sunday evening beginning with our snack supper at 5:30. This week we will have fried chicken and urge all of our Youth to attend and bring a guest. Youth groups meet at 6 p.m. Also, this is the last session on church membership being taught by the pastor in his study at 5 p.m. At our Sunday Evening Worship, Rev. Duke will have as his sermon topic "Throwing Stones At Jesus" John 8:59.

Central Baptist Picked as Host For Conference

Central Baptist Church will host the Evangelism Conference for Palo Duro Baptist Association, Tuesday, Jan. 11. The conference will begin at 2 p.m. for pastors and church staff. The evening session will begin at 6:30.

Dr. Corky Farris of the Evangelism Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will conduct two seminars on evangelism and will preach at the afternoon session. Dr. Landrum Leavell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Wichita Falls, will conduct the Bible study hour Tuesday afternoon and preach the closing message Tuesday evening.

The Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. For the month of January, February and March the studies are on the theme "What Christians Believe." The subject of Sunday's lesson is "The Source of Our Faith." The pastor, T. O. Upshaw, will preach at the morning worship service on the subject "Christ The Eternal." This will begin a series of studies in the Gospel of John that will continue through January.

Evening services begin with the Training program at 6. This features the auxiliaries for children 15 years of age and under. There are study groups for youth and adults. The pastor will preach Sunday evening on the subject "Many Witnesses."

Start Bible Study At First Baptist
Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preach at eleven o'clock worship on the subject, "Our Fondest Hope for 1966", with a text taken from Psalm 29:10. Sam Allen, Minister of Music, will present the church choir in singing, "I Waited for the Lord" by Mendelssohn. Jim Johnson and his daughter, Anna, will sing a duet. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Andante" by Clarke for the offertory.

Rev. J. R. Manning, assistant pastor, will begin the January Bible Study teaching of "John's Witness to Christ," at six o'clock evening worship. The Bible study will be taught on Wednesday and Sunday evenings until it is completed. Credit will be given. The Chapel Choir will sing special music and "Chime Prelude" by Patterson is the offertory selection by Miss Lane.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

ROY PATTERSON, Minister
St. Paul Methodist Church

Doors are interesting to think about, especially since we have entered the door of a New Year.

Some doors are inviting and others seem to say, "Go away." Some doors are exits only, means of escape in time of danger. Some doors represent peace and security. Others lead to tumult and trouble. As we make our way into the new year we will find many doors opening and some even beckoning us to enter. We will have to make many choices.

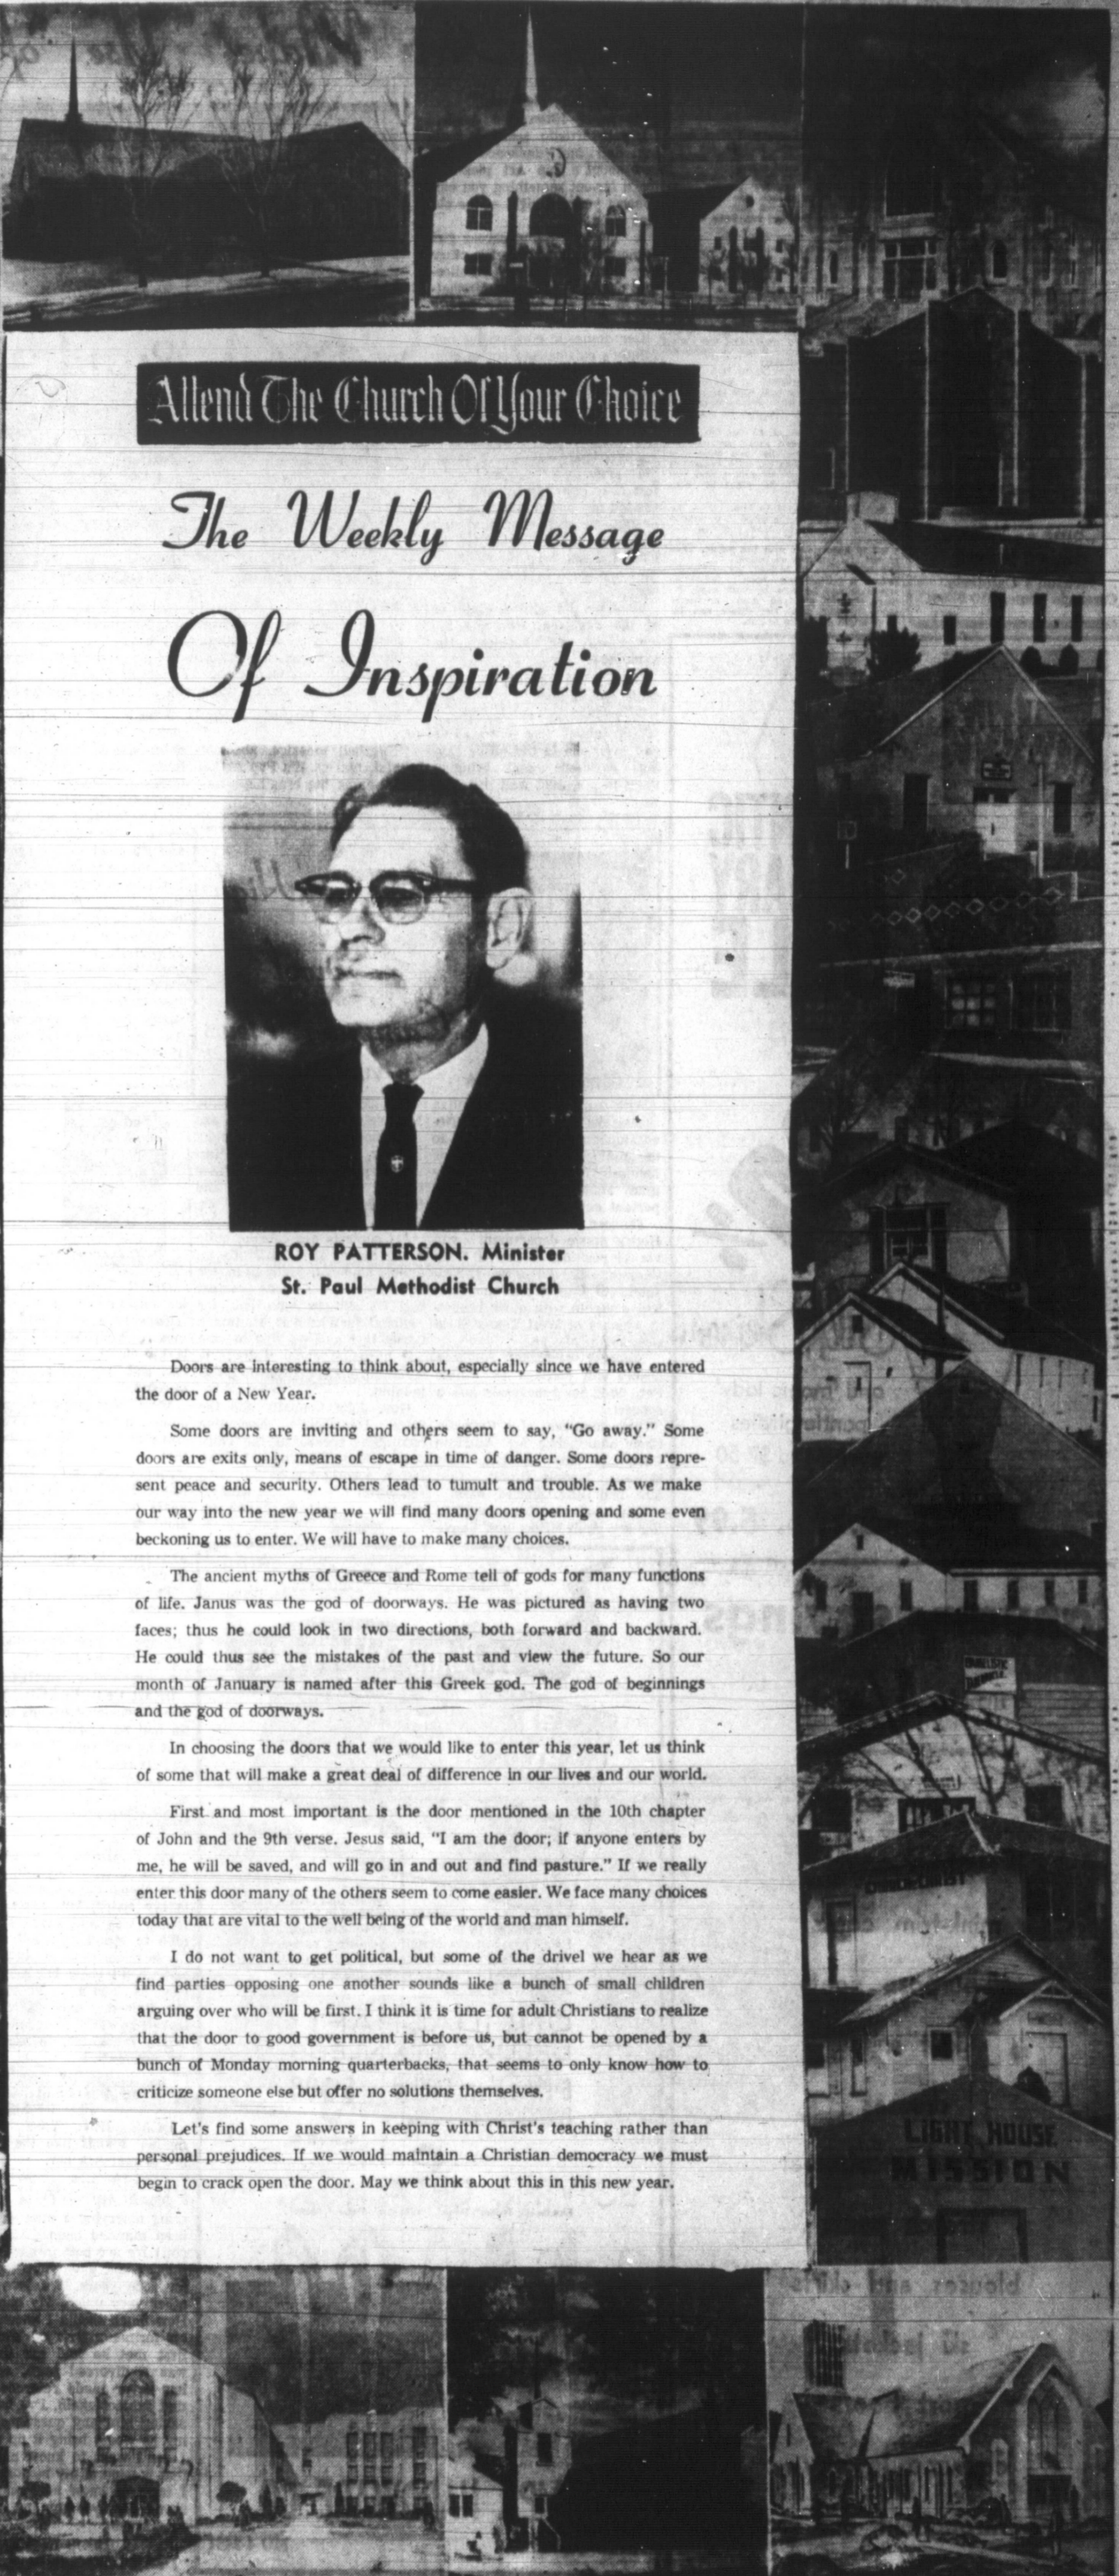

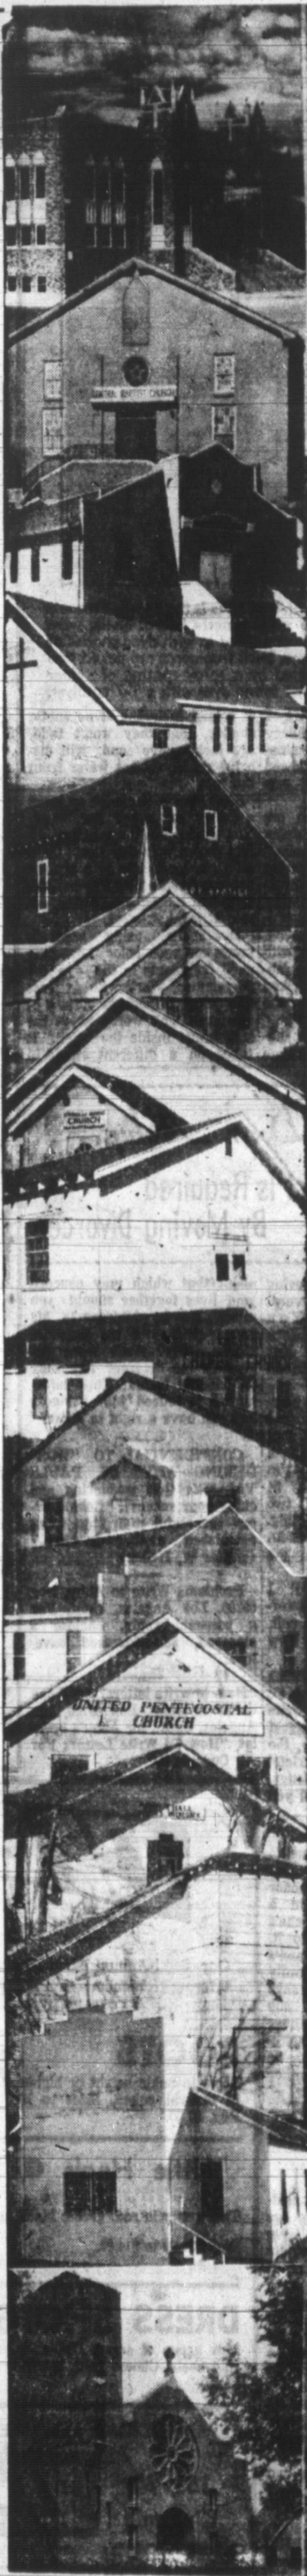

The ancient myths of Greece and Rome tell of gods for many functions of life. Janus was the god of doorways. He was pictured as having two faces; thus he could look in two directions, both forward and backward. He could thus see the mistakes of the past and view the future. So our month of January is named after this Greek god. The god of beginnings and the god of doorways.

In choosing the doors that we would like to enter this year, let us think of some that will make a great deal of difference in our lives and our world.

First and most important is the door mentioned in the 10th chapter of John and the 9th verse. Jesus said, "I am the door; if anyone enters by me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture." If we really enter this door many of the others seem to come easier. We face many choices today that are vital to the well being of the world and man himself.

I do not want to get political, but some of the drivel we hear as we find parties opposing one another sounds like a bunch of small children arguing over who will be first. I think it is time for adult Christians to realize that the door to good government is before us, but cannot be opened by a bunch of Monday morning quarterbacks, that seems to only know how to criticize someone else but offer no solutions themselves.

Let's find some answers in keeping with Christ's teaching rather than personal prejudices. If we would maintain a Christian democracy we must begin to crack open the door. May we think about this in this new year.

Pop Art Makes Use of Eggshells

by Kay Sherwood
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If your artistic sense is feeling dull and undernourished, how about a Pop Art pick-me-up, a far-out something you can concoct yourself right at the old work table.

A "marvy" young career girl I know telephoned me the other day from her steamy intellectual den in the heart of Manhattan to ask me how my family liked eggs.

Her domestic concern for our family's cuisine was out of character (I think she lives on black coffee and bright ideas) and the urgency of a long-distance telephone inquiry made me suspect my enthusiastic young friend was going to involve me in a "project." The last time we talked she persuaded me to try my hand at design—an encounter that left with me a deeper regard for the East Indians who know what they are up to in batik. I was right.

ARTISTIC END — An artistic end to the morning's scrambled eggs is the eggshell mosaic in a sunburst design shown here. Design is drawn on a white palette-board. Shells were tinted red for the background, black for the outlines and filled in with dyed shades of blue. White adhesive is squeezed on small area at a time. Shell fragments are poked into place with a letter-opener. Finished mosaic is protected by a spray coating of clear varnish. Dyes used on the shells are the nonfading home fabric dyes with a T-7 catalyst.

What we did with the interior of the egg—the yolk and the white—was our business, she explained.

"Save the shells, it's the shells you'll need."

"How many?"

"Oh, about five dozen—I've had everyone in the office saving eggshells and bringing them to me. Just wait till you see."

A basic concept of Pop Art, I gather, is taking the ordinary object and turning it into something extraordinary. I allowed eggshell mosaics would certainly fill the bill.

"O.K.," I told her. "Send me pictures of what you're doing and I'll start saving eggshells." I'm not up to the five dozen yet but I have followed her directions for a small preliminary mosaic to see how it goes.

Shells are rinsed and saved. Eventually they are dyed with home fabric dyes. Why are fabric dyes recommended? I asked the Tintex Color Council who underwrote the experiments. The answer is that home fabric dyes come in a wide range of colors, including some subtle shades, that they won't fade, are inexpensive and will dissolve readily in hot water from the tap.

First step is to sketch or trace a design on heavy cardboard. You might like the sunburst effect shown with this story or a still life, landscape or a bizarre subject favored by Pop artists: soap can labels, soap boxes, comic strip characters.

Dye shells, using separate bowls for each color. Leave the shell fragments in the dye for 20 minutes. Work with at least two colors to achieve variety of shading. Don't worry about the membrane inside the shell. It takes on a different shade in

Dear Abby... Tact Is Required By Moving Divorcee

DEAR ABBY: I am moving to another city soon. Several friends here have said, "You must look up So and So. Here is his name and number. Just call, and say you are a friend of mine."

Abby, is it proper for a newcomer in town to call a resident there and put him on the spot that way? I can't just call a stranger and say, "Hello, I'm Millie McGillicuddy. I am 34 years old, divorced, have two children and am self-supporting. My measurements are 36-25-37, and Sam Strangelove told me to call you."

I'm afraid if I don't call I might miss meeting some interesting people, and if I do call, I'll appear presumptuous. How should this be handled?

PERPLEXED
DEAR PERPLEXED: Ask all your bighearted friends to write So and So a note and suggest that he call you. That way, the go-between can clue his friend in on all the vital statistics, and leave it to him to call you if he so chooses.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in February. My first choice for a matron of honor is my sister, but she's in a family way and says if she's able to stand up she'll do it. My next choice is my husband's sister. But she's in a family way, too, and although she says she isn't due until March, she looks like she's going to deliver before my sister. In case neither can do it, would it be proper to ask my grandmother to be my matron of honor?

JEN-IN SEASHIDE
DEAR JEN: Your grandmother sounds like the safest bet to me. Ask her.

DEAR ABBY: I am considering marrying a man who has been married before. (I have not.) We are both in our middle thirties and have gone together for four years. We love each other very much. My question: How much should I know about his former marriage? When we first met he told me that he was a divorced man, and he has never made reference to that subject again. I've held off asking him any questions, hoping he would bring it up again. I don't want to know anything that is none of my business, but I want to know as much as I should. Can you give me an honest answer?

Set the shell fragment on the glue and anchor it with a firm poke from an instrument, such as a letter opener. The shell bits won't conform exactly to your sketch but end result is the mosaic effect. ### Snow, Freezing Weather Hit Great Lakes

By United Press International
Temperatures stayed below zero in the frigid northlands today while a mild snowstorm moved eastward across the upper Great Lakes. Heavy rains slackened off on the Pacific Coast.

The mercury sank to 24 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., early today. In North Dakota, it was 22 below at Jamestown, 21 below at Grand Forks and 20 below at Minot. Some areas in northern North Dakota and northeastern Montana have had sub-zero temperatures for three days.

A band of snow which produced amounts up to 2 inches across northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and upper Michigan began to move eastward today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said although rain has slackened off in the hard-hit Pacific

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The good Dr. Gallup should poll the people again and soon on the political future of Vice President Hubert Horatio Humphrey. Two polls last month were less than comforting for Humphrey and for his sponsor in the White House. A quick poll now would show whether Humphrey's journey to Asia improved his public image.

The people told Dr. Gallup's questioners that Humphrey did not look to them like a soon-to-be president of the United States. At about the same time Dr. Gallup's pollsters were discovering that a considerable number of Americans expect Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to be nominated for president in 1972.

To a poll-conscious politician such as President Johnson, this was bad news. LBJ's political prestige is tied tightly to Humphrey's political future. It was understood all around in Atlantic City that LBJ meant Humphrey to succeed him in the White House when the President pushed Humphrey front-and-center before the Democratic National Convention. LBJ said Humphrey was the best fitted man in public life to succeed him to the presidency.

The voters appear either to be (a) unconvinced of Humphrey's greatness or (b) doubtful of LBJ's ability to pass the White House on to his personal choice as simply as he could bequeath a few millions of dollars to each of his girls. Johnson does not like his ability to be doubted. His unhappiness may be aggravated by Kennedy's role in national politics.

If Johnson is unhappy, Humphrey must be distraught by the fear that there is another Kennedy in his future. There was a Kennedy in Humphrey's past. John F. Kennedy, who effectively blocked the path to the White House and roughed up Humphrey considerably in the process. No political pair on earth has more reason to respect the bare knuckled Kennedys than LBJ and HHH.

These musings on LBJ and his protege relate directly to the vice president's just concluded journey in Asia. Johnson does not happily share the stage, share power or share popularity with anyone. But the President evidently has come to understand that he has a choice with respect to Humphrey and that he must decide which it will be. Shall he build up his boy against the Kennedy threat or shall he keep his boy in the shadows while Kennedy challenges for center stage?

It is evident the choice has been made. LBJ will build up his boy. The journey to Asia looks like the beginning. It is reasonable to believe that Johnson will find more well publicized assignments for Humphrey. Old timers will note whether LBJ continues to send his personal assistant, Jack Valenti, along with Humphrey to observe HHH's performance and perhaps be handy in any emergency.

There would be precedent for that. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the eastern Democrats were doubtful of John N. Garner during the 1932 presidential campaign. Garner was regarded as a sort of roughneck cowboy. Charley Hand, an ex-newspaperman turned Tammany politician, was assigned to ride herd on Garner, to read and if necessary to censor any of Garner's public statements. FDR's vice presidential running mate was almost in custodial care. Garner was more amused than offended. He came to like Charley Hand.

Perhaps Valenti and Humphrey will end good friends. In time the President may send Humphrey off on publicity journeys unaccompanied. The Gallup Poll now needed would indicate whether a visit to Asia improved HHH's image. If it did, he will travel some more.

DUENKEL FUNERAL HOME — Shown above is Duenkel Funeral Home's new building at 300 W. Browning. Main feature of the structure is a unique chapel that seats 250 people.

New Duenkel Funeral Home Opens Saturday

The formal opening of Duenkel Funeral Home, 300 W. Browning, will be all-day tomorrow and Sunday and those attending the open house will be taken on a tour of the home's facilities.

Upon entering the beautiful and unique chapel at Duenkel Funeral Home one feels a deep sense of peace and warmth.

Designed last year by a 17-year-old Amarillo High School senior, Jerry McGee, the chapel lends complete comfort at a time of need.

The youthful draftsman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McGee of Amarillo — and a freshman architect major at Oklahoma University, gave the chapel the qualities through rustic styling and the use of Bavarian stained glass windows, imported from Germany, which reach from the ceiling to near the floor. The mulberry colored windows cast a soft rosy glow over the room.

Large curved pine beams, extending from the peak of the 36 foot high ceiling, and cherry wood pews that will comfortably seat 250 people, give the chapel its rustic air.

Pine panels form the background of the altar area which is flanked on one side by a Hammond organ on which Jerry Whitten will provide background music during the open house from 1:30 to 3 and 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday, and on the other by a matching piano. Louvers of the same wood shield the family room on the front right side of the room. To the left of the altar area is a room for the minister and pallbearers.

Hanging antique bronze lamps with rose, amber and green glass illuminate the chapel and a rose brick planter surrounding the base of the windows and green carpeting complete its decor.

Construction on the funeral home, located at the corner of Browning and Frost Sts., was begun July 11 and completed two weeks ago. The exterior is of bark rose brick which also forms the inside walls of the foyer, chapel and lobby.

Three state rooms can also be found in the building plus an embalming room, a 24x64 foot casket display room, two offices, large garage, a bachelor's living quarters and two spacious three bedroom apartments for employees and their families. These rooms are decorated with soft beige walls, gold carpeting and beige tone Torgiol floor covering.

ton Elementary School. They make their home across the street from the funeral home at 321 N. Frost.

Eddie Lynn Duenkel, 25, was also born in Pampa, attended Pampa schools and Wentworth Military Academy, was graduated from Pampa High School in 1958 and attended West Texas State University. He married the former Mary Ellen Sandford in 1959 and joined the firm last year. The couple has two daughters, Stacey Lynn, 4, and Shelly Kay, 1, and reside in one of the apartments in the new funeral home.

Mannie Holden, who lives in the bachelor's quarters at the home, is the other member of the firm. Holden, born in Tulsa, Okla., in 1939, was graduated from Tulsa Webster High School in 1957 and became associated with Duenkel Funeral Home last March.

The Duenkel family are all members of First Methodist Church and Holden is a member of Central Baptist Church.

Diamond Deposits Located in Photos By Astronauts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If Gemini 5 astronauts L. Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad should decide to become diamond prospectors, their eight-day space flight last August could give them an advantage over other treasure hunters.

Dr. Paul Lowman of the space agency's Goddard Spaceflight Center near Washington said Thursday some fine color photographs taken by the astronauts may turn out to be lucky break for South African diamond hunters.

Lowman reported at a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) conference that Cooper and Conrad brought back 170 photographs from their mission. Many of them showed geographical details missing from the most up-to-date maps.

As an example, Lowman showed some shots of the great Namib Desert in Southwest Africa, which is politically controlled by the Union of South Africa.

The Namib is a geologically complicated region of sand dunes and 700 million-year-old rocks. It contains gold, silver and copper. Gravel areas between the dunes, Lowman said, are "a major diamond area."

For the benefit of prospectors, the South African government had prepared a geologic map of the region. Lowman used a 1965 version of this map to interpret the photographs.

GOP Solon Wants Shakeup In Poverty Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two GOP congressmen today called for a major shakeup in Sargent Shriver's antipoverty agency. They called it "a churning Disneyland of administrative chaos."

Reps. Albert H. Quie, Minn., and Charles E. Goodell, N.Y., offered a reorganization plan they said would "eliminate the waste, abuses and developing scandal in the poverty program." They warned that, unless it was drastically altered, the present "War on Poverty" could not effectively survive "the fiscal pressures of the war in Viet Nam."

In a statement prepared for news conference this morning, the two lawmakers, both members of the House Education and Labor Committee, said their proposal would permit administrative savings, thus freeing more money for such projects as "Operation Head Start," child care and development and the community action programs without increasing the overall antipoverty budget.

One major effect of the Quie-Goodell plan would be to strip Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity of everything but the politically volatile community action programs.

Under the proposed plan the Job Corps, the Neighborhood Youth Corps and other training programs would be shifted to AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — More than 3,800 Arab Christians living in Israel who observe the Eastern rites crossed to Jordan Thursday to celebrate the Orthodox Christmas at the birthplace of Christ.

Patrolmen subsequently spent two hours warning motorists and rounding up the strays from nearby Riverside Freeway.

COW CAPER

The first grants, totaling about $45,000, were to Indianapolis and Mound River, Ill. The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) plans eventually to spend about $2 million on the project across the country.

 NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth B. Snellen and Kenneth Safian of Purcell, Graham & Co. say what is most impressive about today's market are two notable characteristics: the overall lack of progress made by most stocks during the past several weeks and the absence of any discernible leadership for some time.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES: 5 Rental Expenses Are Deductible

By RAY DE CRANE
 NEA Special Writer
 Only the net amount received on rental income is taxable. In general the expenses deducted from gross rental income consist of:
 —Depreciation — Repairs — Other Expenses.
 The depreciation figure is an annual write-off of a proportionate part of the investment over the estimated useful life of the property.
 Since a two-family home is the most common type of rental property, our example will illustrate how a typical landlord accounts for his income. We will assume the home was built in January, 1960, at a cost of $35,000 of which $5,000 was the cost of the land and $30,000 the cost of the building. Depreciation is taken only on the building. Since the landlord and his family occupied half of the two-family home the expenses attributable to their half are not a factor in the rental income computation. Assuming a life expectancy of the home of 40 years, a 2 1/2 percent yearly write-off could be claimed for depreciation. The annual depreciation in this case then would be 1/2 x 2 1/2 percent x $30,000 or $375. Repair items on a home would normally consist of such items

Carpentry work for tenant	18.90
Furnace inspection, filters	12.50
Total	$413.90
Items shown in the "other expenses" tabulation might be:
1/2 mortgage interest	$375.20
1/2 real estate taxes	218.00
1/2 fire insurance	38.00
1/2 snow removal	17.25
1/2 landscaping	35.00
1/2 water charges	37.25
Total	$726.70
Total charges against the rental income would be $1509.60 ($375 depreciation plus $413.90 repairs plus $720.70 in other expenses).
If the landlord was collecting $150 a month rent and had the home rented for the full year he would have collected $1,800. But

QUILL JAILED — Mike Quill, chief of the striking Transit Workers Union, tips his hat as he enters jail in New York City. Quill, arrested for contempt of court, has said he would rather "rot in jail" than obey a court injunction banning the strike which has paralyzed the city's subway and bus systems.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — You may have been reading here and there about the growing shortage of movies for television.
 You may also have read that the video networks, to replenish their supply, are making deals left and right with production firms to turn out motion pictures for television.
 Many of these firms are either the studios—or are allied with the studios—that have been responsible for most of the junk on the home screen today. There has been much written about this, but it seems to me that not enough attention has been paid to perhaps the most important point:
 The networks who buy this quickie product from their new suppliers are buying fool's gold. They are living in a fool's paradise.
Misleading Shows
 The plain fact is that, for the most part, the suppliers will be able to turn out not reasonably good movies that now hold viewers, but simply longer television shows that are labeled motion pictures.
 The reasons are simple:
 The budgets will not be able to match the budgets of high-class moviemakers today. The stars will therefore be mostly of a medium or low level. Everything else will also be proportionately cheaper.
 Furthermore, the demand by the networks for the tremendous quantity they need will make it impossible to get the best scripts that now hold video movie watchers. There aren't that many good stories.
 And further, the new films themselves will inevitably have to be approved by sponsors for viewing, which means more limitations.
 An equally important point is that viewers most definitely know the difference between glossy movie product and television stuff. They have proved it, like this:
 It is a plain fact that video anthologies, without continuing stars and characters, have been ratings death. Yet movies, which in effect are anthologies since they vary in stars, characters and format each week have been big ratings successes. In short, the viewer is perfectly aware of what is the real goods and what is second-hand, and the networks will find this out to their misery.
Possible Quality
 Yet, amid all the second-hand stuff that will surely emanate from the new suppliers, there could be—if the right parties saw the situation clearly—almost a modest renaissance of video, like this:
 Writers, stars and producers of quality—who long have considered themselves on the outs with television and suffocated by it—are, if they can't see it, in perhaps their greatest bargaining position ever.
 Instead of heating their swimming pools, Arizonans install cooling equipment.

We have the straight-line method of depreciation (abbreviated S. L. on the schedule). This allows the identical 2 1/2 percent write-off annually over the useful life of the property.

Cigarette Tax Not Bringing State Needed Money
 AUSTIN (UPI)—The comptroller's office got to work today on a survey to see why the three-cent raise in cigarette taxes is failing to bring in the money state officials expected it to bring.
 State Comptroller Robert Calvert said Thursday he has ordered his staff to run a survey of tax stamp payments as of Dec. 31 "to see if we can pinpoint the trouble geographically or some other way."
 In the first four months of the current fiscal year, tobacco tax receipts rose only $6.7 million from the same period of the fiscal year 1965. That would mean the two-year rate is around $40.2 million, compared with the $73 million Gov. John Connally had said the tax raise would bring.
 Connally proposed the cigarette tax raise from eight to 11 cents a package, to add revenue to a program that included a teacher's pay raise worth $101 million. The funds were not specially earmarked, so the higher teachers' salaries can be paid from other sources.
 But the tax revenue mystery remained.
 Calvert said he does not think it is entirely that people are giving up smoking.

Pampa Hosts Monterey In Conference Contest

If he didn't have enough troubles Pampa Harvester basketball coach Terry Culley's woes continued to mount today.

Culley learned Thursday that 6'3 forward Kenneth McWilliams will be lost to the squad for at least a week with a pinched nerve in his back.

This means that McWilliams, who leads Pampa in scoring for the season, will miss the 8 p.m. clash today with Monterey and the Tuesday night affair with Tascosa.

The Harvesters (4-2) and Plainsmen (5-1) are playing the also-rans role in district competition, although Monterey could pull in with a tie should Amarillo (6-0) and Lubbock (6-0) both end the first half action with a loss apiece.

The Sandies and Westerners clash tonight at Amarillo and 3-4A will have a definite leader. But should tonight's winner lose its final contest Tuesday and tonight's loser win and Monterey win its remaining two games the 3-4A basketball race would end in a three-way tie. But Pampa would like nothing better than to play the spoilers role against the Plainsmen and could finish as high as second in the district.

Monterey plays deliberate, take the good shot type of basketball and has one of the tallest teams in the league.

The Plainsmen will probably start 6'3 Ken Coleman and 6'4 Craig Wright at forwards, 6'2 1/2 Dave Reed and 6'1 Chuck Lewis at guards and Steve Hardin, 6'5 senior at center.

All of the first five are returning lettermen and two more youngsters, 6'6 Dan Sledge Jr. and 6'1 1/2 Steve Hurt are the backup men for Monterey.

Pampa's defense will have to be at its best to stop Monterey who can hit from outside as well as work the ball for inside layups by Hardin or Wright.

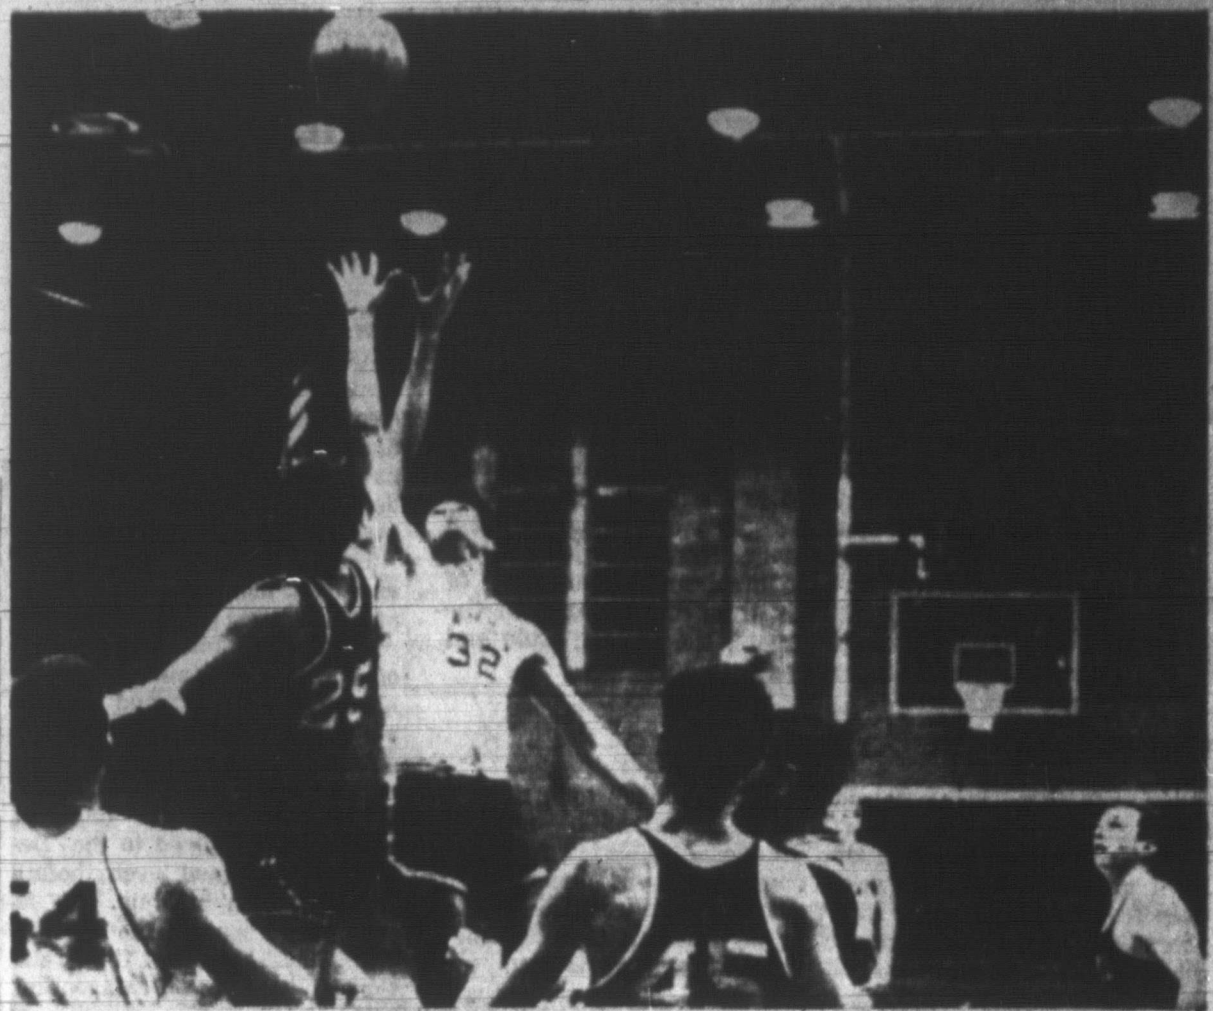

Culley will probably start Gary Crossland and Steve Williams at guards and David Frasier and Mike Wise at forwards with 6'5 David Cain, improving every game at the post.

Cain paced Pampa scoring against the Sandies with 19 points while Williams connected for 15 points.

In other 3-4A action tonight

Caprock (6-10) plays at Palo Duro (7-7) and Borger (4-9) journeys to Plainview (7-13).

OUT FOR A WEEK — Kenneth McWilliams (32) shown here going up on a jump ball, will be out of action for Pampa for at least a week with a pinched nerve in his back. McWilliams is Pampa's leading scorer.

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The

questions were getting a little stickier and then came the blunt point-blank question didn't exactly catch Roger Maris unaware. He had a hunch it was going to be asked because he was out with different injuries most of last year, he appeared in only 46 games for the Yankees and there were those who went around saying he didn't really care anymore whether he played or not.

"I've played 12-13 years and I never jaked out yet," began

Maris in the same even tone most people use in replying to whether they take one or two lumps of sugar in their coffee.

"I come to play and I can assure you it's no fun sitting there on the bench day after day doing nothing," went on the 21-year-old Yankee right fielder.

"It always makes it a little difficult when you have an injury that doesn't show. You can't prove it so people get suspicious. Maybe some of the players on our club even did. I dunno.

Different Injuries

"If you have a broken arm or a broken leg or a bone is sticking out, it shows, so everyone can see it. But with an injury you can't see, it's different. People begin to wonder."

All Maris' injuries last season were the kind no one could see.

Not without an X-ray machine, anyway.

First he pulled a hamstring

muscle in his right leg on April 28 and missed 26 games, after which he jammed the last two fingers on his right hand sliding into the plate on June 20 and was out five more games.

Then something "popped" in his same hand while swinging a bat against Washington June 28 and he never started another game after that, although he did pinch hit four times before undergoing surgery on his right hand Sept. 28.

The Yankees believe Maris

actually was physically incapable all that time. They must because they came up with the same $72,000 contract Thursday they gave him last year and even in this inflated year and age that's still a pretty fair piece of change to give a guy who batted only .239 and hit eight homers in 46 contests.

Yankee general manager

Ralph Houk reasoned this way:

"More things happen to highly competitive players.

Maris is one of those kind of players. We've all seen him run into fences and do things on the field that a lot of other safety-first players wouldn't do.

"No one can make me believe he preferred sitting on the bench to playing," continued Houk. "Anyone who has ever had to do it knows what a miserable experience that can be. To me, Roger is a star.

He's proved it."

"Some Doubts"

Maris admitted he had "some doubts" about what kind of contract he would be offered.

That means he wouldn't have been shocked speechless had he been asked to take a cut. He probably would have agreed to accept one.

Now, however, he's thinking in terms of a "good season" this year. He says he has been playing golf frequently and hasn't experienced any-trouble with his grip.

"If I can swing a golf club, I don't anticipate any trouble swinging a bat," said Maris.

Naturally, there were questions also as to whether he thought anyone would ever equal or surpass his record 61 homers in one season.

"It doesn't take a muscle man to do it," commented

Maris. "It takes contact and timing and getting the ball up

Pro, Rookie Lead In LA; Palmer Falters

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Hot putters Dave Ragan, a veteran pro, and newcomer Steve Oppermann have a two-stroke lead over the field today going into the second round of the 72-hole, $70,000 Los Angeles Open.

They fired four-under-par 67s Thursday in the first round with identical nines of 36-31 on the par 36-35-71 Rancho municipal course—a 6,840-yard layout which "played a little

Hayes The Difference In Dallas-Colt Tilt?

MIAMI (UPI)—Bullet Bob Hayes may prove the difference between a victory and a loss for the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in the National Football League's battle of "also-rans."

Dallas, much-improved Eastern Division runnerup behind the Cleveland Browns thanks to the Don Meredith-to-Hayes passing duo, takes on the hard-luck Baltimore Colts.

The palm-fringed Orange Bowl game, dubbed the "NFL Playoff Bowl," is expected to draw a live crowd of more than 40,000. It will also be nationally televised.

Cowboys' Willie Mays

Hayes is the Willie Mays of the Cowboys. Not only did he catch 12 passes for touchdowns and pick up over 1,000 yards receiving this season, but he was the spot of the Dallas eye, their shot in the arm after several so-so Cowboy seasons in the rich Texas metropolises.

Hayes, a graduate of Florida A&M University, will be returning to the scene of a lot of past glory in the Orange Bowl. He appeared in three Orange Blossom classics here and several college all-star games.

Meredith has come a long way after having some hard trouble last year and some bad games earlier this year. The former Southern Methodist star wound up with 22 touchdown passes and a solid-starting role. Dallas won four of its last five games.

Dallas Slight Favorite

The Cowboys are slight (2 1/2 points) pre-game favorites. But the Colts, led by halfback-turned-quarterback Tom Matte may turn full-cycle and pull a big surprise with an all-out passing attack.

Matte, who played rollout quarterback in college, seldom throwing the ball, was called on

Tulane Coach Adds to Staff

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Jim Pittman, new football coach at Tulane, put Pat Culpepper and Joe Blaylock on his staff Thursday before going out to scare up new talent.

Culpepper was once captain of the Texas football team and coached the past season at the University of Colorado. He is 24. Blaylock, an assistant coach at Texas Tech the past three years, was a freshman coach at Tulane in 1960 and end coach in 1961. He is 44.

Pittman said he would keep Jack O'Leary as freshman coach, but has four other varsity coaching jobs open.

At Tulane, Culpepper will work with linebackers and offensive backs. Blaylock will work on offense.

Pampa 8th Moves Up in Tournament

Pampa eighth grade romped to a 48-38 victory over Bushland Thursday in first round action of the Amarillo River Road tournament.

The young Reapers played Dumas this afternoon at Dumas in a district game and return to Amarillo Saturday where they meet Highland Park in the semi-finals at noon.

A win would put them in the finals, starting at 8 p.m.

Larry Catara and Cliff Gage scored 20 and 18 points respectively to pace Pampa and Dillard hit 17 for Bushland.

Brown Shares Lead In NFL Golf

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, almost as mean on the fairways as he is carrying a football through the line, shared the lead at par 70 today with defensive back Dick Lebeau of Detroit in the National Football League Players' Tournament.

If Brown or Lebeau can hang on through the second and final round of the tournament today, the hold of quarterbacks on the players' championship will be broken.

South Gets Nod As Favorite

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—North and South squads scheduled their final workouts today in preparation for Saturday's Senior Bowl game.

The nationally televised contest is a sellout. Oddsmakers have rated the South a 3 1/2 point favorite, but coaches considered it a tossup.

The contest shapes up to be one of the highest scoring in the history of the game. The four quarterbacks on the two squads have between them 531 of 952 pass completions for 6,570 yards. Fullbacks on both teams have compiled 9,335 yards rushing.

Randy Johnson of Texas A&I will get the starting quarterback nod for the South and the North was scheduled to alternate Tulsa signal caller Bill Anderson, the nation's leading passer, and Missouri's Gary Lane.

Alabama passing star Steve Sloan will be in reserve for the Southerners, still nursing sore ribs.

Head coaches Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots, heading the North and the South's Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets, ran their teams throughout workouts under sunshine for the first time this week Thursday. Persistent rains had forced the teams indoors several times.

Captains were named for the teams Thursday. Walt Garrison, Oklahoma State fullback and Missouri halfback John Roland were picked as co-captains of the North. The South selected Johnson and Tennessee linebacker Frank Emanuel.

Questions on 'Space Race'

Although there is no detracting from the accomplishments of America's men in space who have accomplished feats never even thought of only a few short years ago, there still remains the question of whether the billions being spent on a race to reach the moon are justified.

One of the latest critics of the moon program is Dr. Warren Weaver, former president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

In a copyrighted interview in a recent issue of U.S. News & World Report, Dr. Weaver said that instead of advancing science the spending of $30 billion to put a man on the moon by 1970 is doing exactly the opposite.

His objections generally were: That too much money is being spent on too few ideas. There are very few basic questions which we can hope to answer or even partly answer by reaching the moon, he said, "and I come to the conclusion that this stage of the project isn't worth 30 billion dollars. Perhaps it would sensibly have been worth 500 million over a five-year period."

That "we are suffering from the idea that if you've got enough money, you can conquer any problem. That just isn't the way things are done in the scientific world." Broadly speaking, he said, great scientific discoveries "arise from curiosity and not from urgency." And curiosity can be most effective only when you give freedom — freedom to think, freedom from other pressures — to individuals of great intellectual capacity.

Union's Attack on Profit

It looks as if Big Labor is at its old trick of going on the attack. The AFL-CIO is accusing businessmen of ignoring President Johnson's "guidelines" on prices.

This in the face of the fact that at the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco the mammoth union flatly rejected the so-called guidelines.

Statisticians have pointed out that recent wage increases forced on both the aluminum and steel industry were in excess of the administration's limits, beyond which politicians said the pay would be inflationary.

So an AFL-CIO "economist," Irving Beller, goes on the offensive, by attacking the corporations.

As usual, he attacks the idea of profits. He claimed profits are running so high that "manufacturing corporations as a whole can recapture their entire present investment within less than five years."

He does not say that with inflation, the industrialist who recaptures his "present" cost does not have sufficient to replace his machinery at the new inflated cost. He does not say that much modern "sophisticated" electronic machinery becomes out of date in a comparatively short time.

Jobs in Retailing

Retailing can create even more jobs than the auto industry. That surprising news, according to Chain Store Age, is found in new government studies. Statistically, it is said that a billion dollar sales jump in autos would create 83,000 new jobs. The same surge in retailing would create 103,000 new job openings.

Thus, an aggressive, expanding retail industry can be a powerful factor in helping to solve the irksome unemployment problem. And there is every indication that retailing is certain to show more dramatic improvement in its services — if it has to go to work with factors beyond retailing's control. Proposals which have been made in Congress and which will be made again could prove to be a heavy brake on retail progress. One, for instance, would give a government agency sweeping powers over packaging and labeling. This would add to costs all along the line, reduce the consumer's freedom of choice, lessen competition and act as a deterrent to sales. And the drive to further increase the minimum wage, and expand the coverage, regardless of a worker's skills or productive abilities would have a particularly unfortunate effect in the retail trades. For retailing has a place for the unskilled and little skilled. But

Industry Fears Shift After War

BY RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In recent talks, business leaders in some major section of U.S. industry told me they feared they had grown dangerously dependent on Pentagon contracts even before the Viet Nam war.

They expected this dependence to increase as defense spending rises in the Southeast Asia fighting and as Secretary of Defense McNamara modernizes his strategic and tactical air and missile forces.

Almost a fourth of the electronics firms in the United States sold 80 per cent or more of what they produced to the Defense Department even before the Viet Nam build-up.

Many aerospace firms, likewise, have been in a tight relationship with the Pentagon for some time.

The difficult period these men worry about may come when the war is over, if the U.S. strategic build-up stabilizes at about the same time, defense spending will drop. The problem is that the dependence of many of these firms on government contracts has continued for too many years. Because of this, the post-Viet Nam situation could be quite different from the shift back to civilian production after World Wars I and II.

In these two wars, when firms shifted to war contracts, they kept their civilian production and sales know-how. After the wars, they moved rapidly back into civilian markets they were prepared to handle. In the event of a defense cutback in both strategic and local war spending this time, the shift from military to civilian markets will be very difficult for many companies.

Businessmen are already deeply concerned. Some see their firms trapped. They say they no longer have the ability to break their dependence on the Pentagon.

Some industry leaders say their management, administrative staffs and engineers are so Department of Defense-oriented, they "can't" be changed. Their experience, interest, thinking and attitudes are based on government-type contracts. It's almost impossible to shift their thinking to non-defense goods.

Their firms have acquired huge staffs, these leaders say, but lack nondefense sales organizations. They have little understanding of the promotional requirements of civilian markets. They don't know how to go about developing civilian products.

Some managers admit they've become cautious, don't want to take chances. They've become specialists in managing defense production, fear they don't have the know-how to manage a company that must quickly keep pace with market changes.

They say risks are lower in defense contracts. They want to protect their profits, not chance them by jumping heavily into commercial markets.

These men point to disastrous flops by defense-dependent firms which ventured heavily into new civilian goods. Some report that so much of their research and development has been concentrated on Defense Department needs their technical men have come up with little that will sell elsewhere.

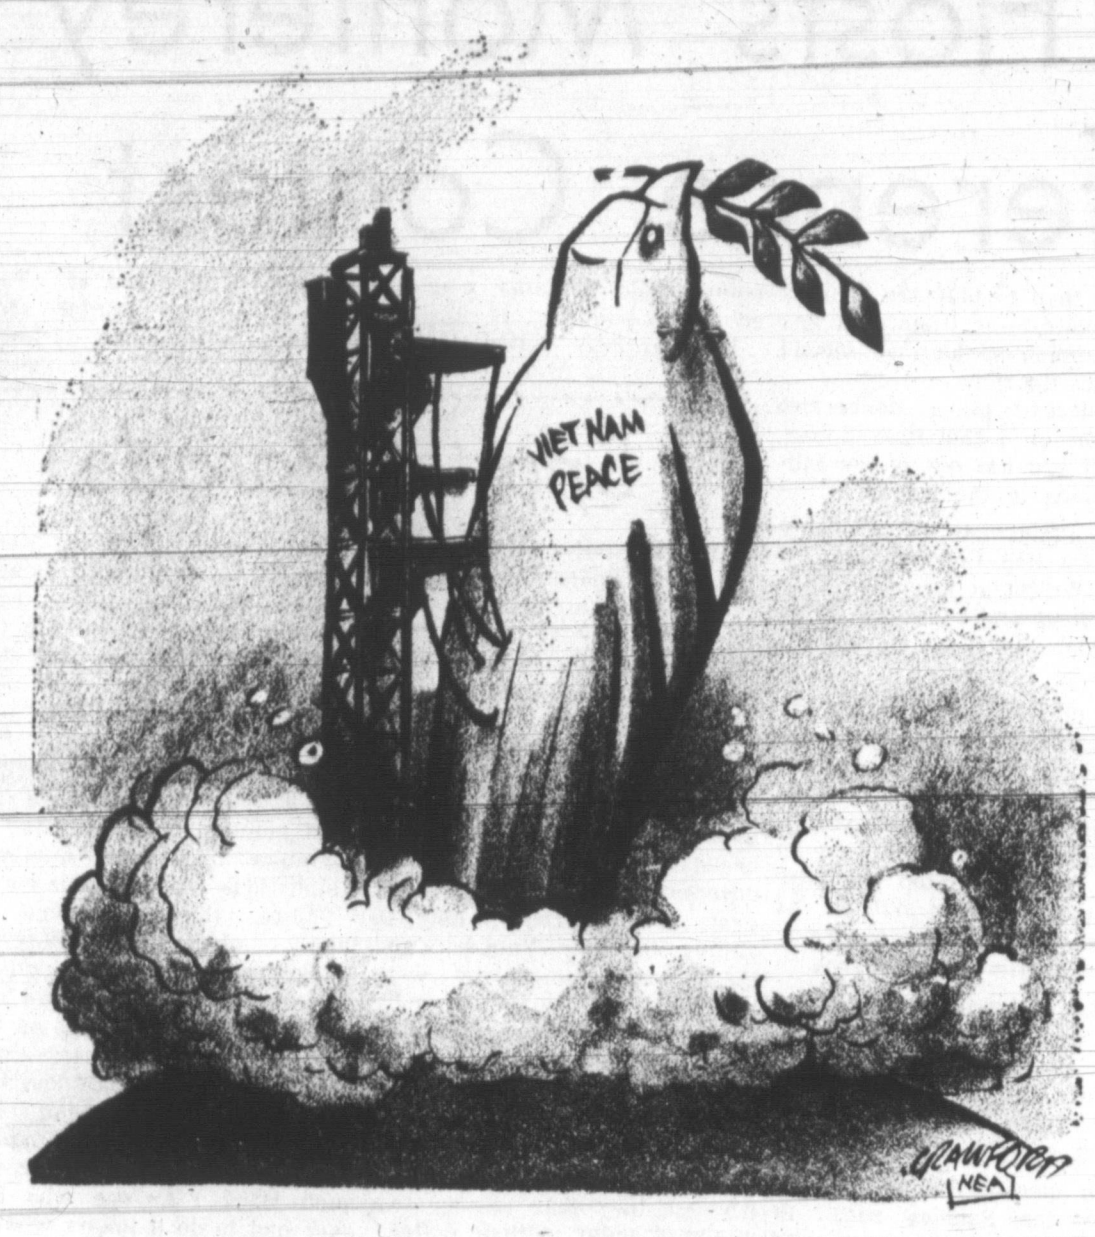

One group complains that they've become high-cost producers, unable to compete in the civilian market. Some allege it's because they have so concentrated on the high reliability, precision and long life required in defense orders. Others claim it's because their wage scales (based on defense contracts) have grown out of line.

Others say their defense-oriented union contracts make them too inflexible to compete in a wide range of civilian markets.

Industry has hired expert analysts to find a way out of this bag of problems. Government experts are working on the same lines. So far they've found no solution.

If the minimum wage were set at an unrealistic level retailers would have no choice save to pare marginal employment to the limit. Then employment opportunities would wither — and workers would have less chance to get the experience that would qualify them for better paying jobs. Let's hope that the "ifs" don't materialize — and that retailing is permitted to make further massive contributions to our economic welfare.

Persecution of Religious Group, Especially Jews, In Cuba Under Study by Immigration Subcommittee

PAUL SCOTT

MIAMI — The House Immigration Investigating Subcommittee is looking into Fidel Castro's increasing persecution of religious groups, particularly the dwindling Jewish community in Havana.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman, and a staff assistant, now in Florida for a first-hand study of the Cuban refugee program, are interviewing fleeing Catholic and Protestant on the plight of the Jews.

The preliminary findings indicate that 80 per cent of the nearly 11,000 Jews in Cuba at the time of Castro's takeover have left the Communist-ruled island — with a majority fleeing to the U. S.

Of the 2,000 remaining Jews, Department of Health, Education & Welfare authorities estimate that 1,300 are seeking to leave in the large-scale refugee exodus now underway.

"Many of these Jews, like their Catholic and Protestant brethren, came to Cuba to escape Nazi and Communist persecution in the 1930s and '40s," Representative Feighan pointed out in a memorandum to members of his subcommittee. "Cubans of all faiths now say that these Jewish refugees are again being forced to flee because of Castro's persecution."

Feighan stressed that Castro's policy of harassing Catholics and Protestants applies equally to the Jewish community in Havana.

"Refugees report that religious persecution, confiscation of all property, and forcible Communist indoctrination of children is forcing members of the Jewish community to leave Cuba," reports Feighan. "Their plight under Castro parallels their plight under Nazism."

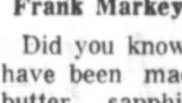

POSITIVE APPROACH — After a detailed inspection of the Miami receiving center and discussions with U. S. officials, Feighan will return to Washington to prepare for public hearings on the Cuban refugee program.

As chairman of the Immigration Subcommittee, he is probably better informed on this sensitive subject than any other member of Congress. In hearings last year on the Cuban refugee problem, Feighan charged that Castro had selected 50 per cent of the refugees who departed following the 1962 missile crisis.

It is Feighan's conviction that with direct U. S. help and a tougher policy toward Castro, the more than 275,000 refugees now in the U. S. can be the nucleus of the "wave of the future" that will eventually topple the Red dictator. Congress will be vigorously urged by Feighan to "look upon the refugee problem not as a liability but as an opportunity" to show the world that the U. S. is still a haven for the homeless and oppressed, and "those who plan to fight another day."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

FRANK MARKEY

Did you know that diamonds have been made from peanut butter, sapphires have been produced in laboratories and even gold has been formed by scientists through atomic rearrangement of basic metals? Yet the most we have learned about making pearls, natural or cultured, is simply by helping the oyster along. Chemically there is nothing complicated about the oyster and if you crush one you will have only a small pile of lime dust. For generations man has tried everything, using the most sophisticated devices to try to produce a pearl, but the oyster alone still retains the secret of producing this precious gem. It is the only gem created by a living creature.

Today's smile: A judge had a con man before him and asked: "How could you swindle people who trusted you?" The culprit glibly answered: "It's very simple, Your Honor, because people who don't trust you can't be swindled."

See what Adam and Eve started? Estimates place the world population increase from 5 million at the beginning of the New Stone Age to a quarter of a billion by the year 1 A.D. By 1650 the number doubled to a half billion and by 1850 there were a billion inhabitants on earth. It doubled again by 1930 and will reach an estimated 4 billion inhabitants by 1975. That's a lot of mouths to feed and we hope by that time the U.S. will have discontinued foreign aid, but it's doubtful.

Thoughts while shaving: Basically clouds are named by their height. The words "cirrus" and "cirro" refer to high ice crystal clouds (20-40,000 feet). "alto" denotes middle level water droplet clouds (8500-20,000 feet), while other prefixes refer to lower level formations. "Cumulus" means heap clouds and "stratus" refers to a layer of the fleecy, floating things. You frequently hear of the "dark side" of the moon, but actually the far side received just as much sunshine as the side which faces the Earth. The entire far side is in sunlight at the time of the "new moon phase" and the sunlight is more intense because it is nearly a half a million miles closer to the sun than it is at the time of the full moon. There's nothing as ear-piercing as a siren on a fire truck, but the one that really gains attention when it is blown full blast is the siren on the Cunard liner, "Queen Elizabeth." It can be heard distinctly for a 10-mile radius at sea and can be picked up electronically for a distance of 100 miles. We can't imagine why anyone would want to do it, but Richard Schneider walked a tightrope for 174 hours at Munich, Germany, in 1956. It was considered quite a feat when Charles A. Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic, but it's just routine to Capt. John Matulis, a Pan American pilot. He's done it more than 100 times. "If Under 21, Go-Go Girls' No Can Go-Go In State Bars." ## Question Box

QUESTION: An article encourages home owners to turn their garages into playrooms. "Cities require dwelling units to have garages for their cars. Some have been cited into court for converting garages. If garages are converted to another use, where are cars to be kept? Streets are for travel, not for car storage."

ANSWER: The short item apparently was produced by one of the syndicates furnishing material to many papers. However, it should be pointed out, not all cities and other governmental agencies are so determined to control peoples' lives that they enact laws prohibiting owners from using their garages for purposes other than housing automobiles.

Granted streets are for travel, not for car storage, cities have full authority to prohibit parking on the streets. They have no right to tell an individual he must put his car inside a garage. It is up to the owner to get the car off the street when street parking is prohibited.

Whether he parks the auto in a garage, in a driveway or in his back yard is no one's business except his own.

We do not advocate violating any laws and risking fines or jail terms. And, where turning a garage into some other use which the owner may believe is more valuable, he naturally should determine whether it is illegal before making the change.

The fault is not in publishing helpful suggestions to those who are not so severely bound down by city officials who do not respect private property, but with the city officials who attempt to compel individuals to conform with what the officials think is good for them.

"CONSTRUCTIVE 1950," 6th INSTALLMENT

Good, sound government may be expected to result when two great opposing philosophies using names of equal potency such as "constructive" and liberal meet in the struggle for supremacy with their advocates offering at all times the most appealing and best principles at their respective commands. Liberal has the nicer sound, but "constructive" is the much finer meaning. With names equally attractive, or nearly so, idle sentiment loses force and the appeal to reason rules.

The practice of "me-too" by supposedly responsible aspirants eager to compete in trading glib promises for votes has been tried, failed and is despised. Out-standing the opposition has proven the most vicious of all campaigning because it spurs the opponent into making even wilder promises which in turn the copy-cat candidate attempts to equal or surpass. Better that false promises be left for the use of the political magicians and the source will expose the pretense.

"Constructives" cannot quarrel with liberal principles which are workable. If unable to effect the same, equally desirable results in a safer and better way, "constructives" must freely endorse such liberal measures and thereby reduce controversy. The time will come when better-posted people will require liberals to grow up and practice this good faith.

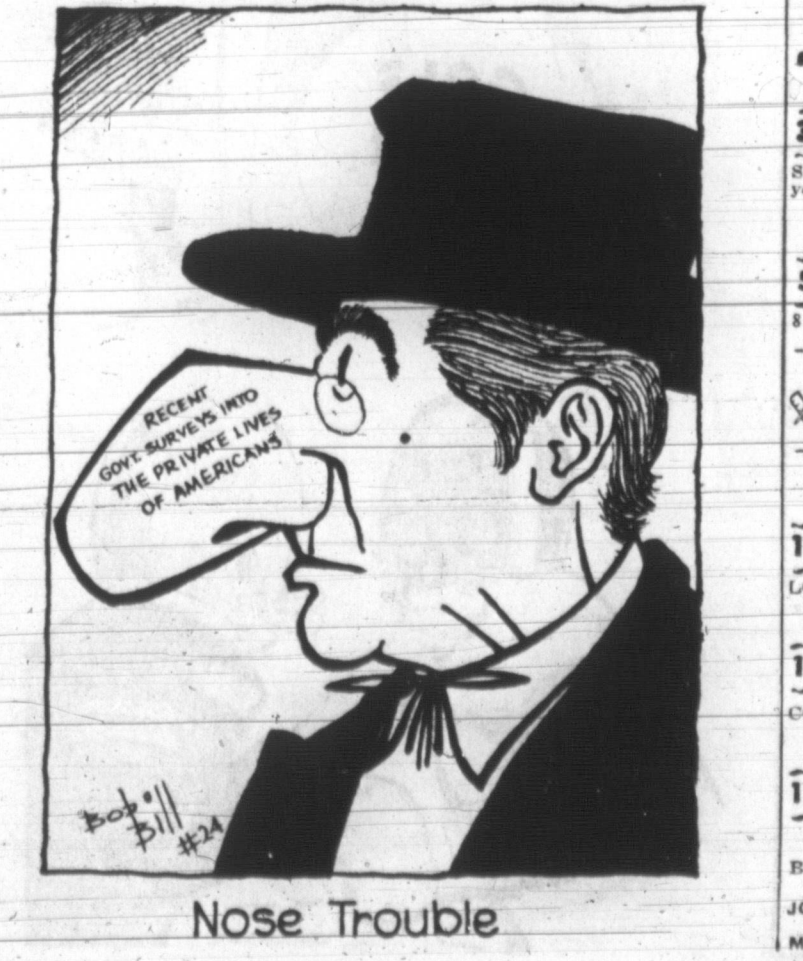

It is fitting to state some principles the "constructives" may now stress and in doing so to keep in mind that issues constantly change in relative importance. Whenever a new issue arises, any other may become secondary in importance to the new issue but should not be forgotten. When a situation is corrected it becomes of lesser importance and when cured it ceases to be an issue, regardless of its former moment.

Three revolts in less than two weeks not only demonstrate the continuing instability of too many newly independent African countries but also the decline in the political fortunes of Red China.

Beginning Dec. 22 and continuing into this week, military coups have toppled the governments of Dahomey, the Central African Republic and Upper Volta.

Each represented a blow to Red China. In Dahomey, the military government of Gen. Christophe Soglo suspended relations with Red China and gave the staff of the embassy 72 hours to leave the country.

In the Central African Republic, the new government closed the Chinese Embassy in Bangui and ordered a census of all Communist Chinese.

Bangui had been one of the largest Red Chinese propaganda centers in Africa. It was the center of a large Communist Chinese industrial trade fair where the Chinese sold cut-rate goods ranging from textiles to motorcycles.

In the Upper Volta, where President Maurice Yaméogo surrendered with apparent relief his reins of government to the military, there were reports of plotting his overthrow.

There were, of course, other reasons for the actions of the military, including popular unrest over economic conditions and the usual political, tribal and religious differences.

But a distrust and a dislike for the policies of Red China were common factors. Within the past year, criticisms of Red China's subversion policies also have come from other African nations, notably Kenya, Niger and Malawi. Burundi broke relations with the Chinese on the charge that Peking had backed an anti-government coup.

The Red Chinese also lost out in the Congo where a jungle revolt against the Leopoldville government had been supported in part by Chinese weapons.

The Chinese influence remains strong in Tanzania where U.S. diplomats have been accused of spying and expelled and through whose port of Dar es Salaam most of the Chinese weapons and propaganda have entered central Africa.

The Red Chinese also remain a force in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

efforts by Premier Chou En Lai and Foreign Minister Chen Baocui 9aw7pe8 ast 65b).

The Africans may not agree with U.S. policies in South Viet Nam, but neither do they buy the Chinese argument that the war in Viet Nam symbolizes a new colonialism by which the Western powers hope to reoccupy Africa.

Neither do they like Red Chinese attacks on the United Nations which they regard as an important forum for themselves.

But least of all do they like it when the Chinese declare that Africa is ripe for revolution—which could only be against governments now in power.

Tower Says US Needs More Men In Viet Nam

SEMINOLE, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Thursday the United States needs three more divisions in Viet Nam to win the war there.

"I feel we should get enough men in there to get the thing over with," Tower told the chamber of commerce.

He said he thinks the men are well-equipped for the most part.

"We have superior air power and a lot of automatic weapons," he said, "which are needed in this type of war."

He said some units are using the M14 rifle, which he feels is not as good as is needed for jungle warfare.

Tower said the United States should "get tough with Cambodia," because the Viet Cong are using that country for sanctuary.

Joseph P. Kennedy Fine After Mild Heart Stoppage

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Joseph P. Kennedy, 77-year-old father of the late president and one-time U.S. ambassador to England, was hardly slowed today by a momentary stoppage of his heart.

"He probably will take it easy for a day or so," said his niece and longtime constant companion, Anne Gargan.

The patriarch of the Kennedy clan was stricken late Wednesday morning with what his physician, Dr. Saul D. Rotter, described as "a very fleeting and very momentary heart block." He said a block is a momentary stopping of the heart.

The family priest and an old friend, Msgr. Jeremiah P. O'Mahoney of St. Edward Catholic Church, was called and administered the last rites to Kennedy as he had Dec. 19, 1961, when the former ambassador suffered a stroke.

Kennedy, however, recovered quickly. Dr. Rotter said he probably lost consciousness momentarily, but he came out of it very quickly.

Kennedy was stricken shortly before noon in his room, just after emerging from a swim in the pool of the Kennedy family's Spanish-style villa beside the Atlantic.

By nightfall he was alert and in good spirits and dined with his wife, Rose, and their niece, Miss Gargan said. The physician said he examined Kennedy after he retired early and found his patient "relaxed and watching television. His pulse and blood pressure were good."

"WHAT'S MY LINE?" SWANSEA, England (UPI) — Ernest Arnold, 22, gave "garbologist" as his occupation when brought into court on theft charges. "I'm a rubbish collector," he explained to the puzzled judge.

East African tribesmen use the tenacious jaws of soldier ants to close their cuts, says the National Geographic.
