DEFENSE SPEAKER—William McClung of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service tells his audience of civil defense measures at the U.S. Department of Agriculture County Defense Boards school held in Pampa Tuesday. McClung told the coordination between the Department of Agriculture and the local defense boards in his address. Members of county civil defense boards from 30 counties attended the Tuesday meeting.

FBI Captures One of Top 10 Fugitives

PECOS, Tex. (UPI)—A Texas highway patrolman and a sheriff's deputy who had just been looking at FBI circulars, recognized and captured Robert Clayton Buick, one of the FBI's "10 most wanted" men Tuesday night.

Buick, 33, accused of holding up 20 California loan company offices of more than $94,000, offered no resistance, although a pistol was found in his small foreign car.

Deputy Sheriff Gary Ingram and Highway Patrolman Kelly Whitehead passed Buick's car on U.S. 80 just before sundown while chasing a speeder.

Ingram said he and Whitehead had only a few minutes earlier been looking at FBI circulars including a new one of Buick.

They glanced sideways as they passed Buick's car and knew him at once, Ingram said.

Pair's Arrest Clears Series of Burglaries

Seven burglaries in the Pampa area have been solved with the arrest of Joe Louis Gerik, 34, 317 N. Rogers, and Charles R. Rhine, 26, of 402 1/2 E. Brown.

Gerik has admitted participation in seven burglaries. Sheriff Rute Jordan said today. He is in jail in lieu of $15,000 bond. Jordan said Rhine has admitted taking part in three burglaries and is in jail in lieu of $6,000 in bonds.

Jordan said today about $750 in golf clubs and merchandise taken in the burglary of the Pampa Country Club pro shop has been recovered. Gerik has admitted burglarizing the pro shop on March 16.

Arrested by the Sheriff's department Sunday, Gerik was first charged with the burglary of the George H. Neef Welding Corporation on January 30. He has since admitted participation in the seven burglaries. Sheriff Jordan said Gerik entered the W-B Pump and Supply Co., 2301 Alcock, on March 7. Twenty-three oil company credit cards were taken in this burglary.

On the same night, Jordan said, Gerik entered the Sivalis Tank Inc. building next door to W-B Pump and Supply Co. and took a metal cash box and $26.50 in money.

With Rhine, Gerik entered the Cities Service Oil Company office building three miles west of Pampa and took a 22 Derringer pistol and two cash boxes. The pair also took cigarette lighters and ball point pens in this burglary on March 18.

On March 19, Rhine and Gerik broke into the Milliron Engineering Company Inc. on highway 152 and took $35. They then entered the Pain-TeX Company's building nearby and took $110 in money, a 15-jewel Elgin wrist watch and a Truetone transistor radio plus a roll of five-cent stamps about $100 in change was taken from the office's vending machines.

Sheriff Jordan said today the total cash taken in the seven burglaries will amount to about $400. From $1,200 to $1,500 in merchandise was also taken in the seven break-ins, Jordan said. Should amount to about $1,000.

The Pampa News to Present Important Series on China

Communist China, the new giant in world affairs, is not the same old China we remember—the peace-loving, ancestor-worshipping, long-suffering people.

Rather, Red China is a giant no longer slumbering, the most populous nation in the world. Her estimated 700 million persons make up roughly one-fourth of mankind. China today is being molded into a cohesive, single-minded entity not known before in its long history.

Under Mao Tse-tung the Chinese doctrine of hatred toward the United States has been fanned into explosive flame; the ominous threat of war with China looms ever larger.

The future of the United States and indeed the world may depend on responding to China's actions, which we can only comprehend if we study her history. The Daily News will offer its readers an opportunity to learn more about this great unknown country with which we must deal in the future. The News is proud to present a dramatic new 24-part story-strip entitled "One Fourth of Mankind," a penetrating study of the 4,000 years of recorded Chinese history. The series begins April 18. "One Fourth of Mankind" is an important contribution to the understanding of world problems today. It is especially vital to students—high school and college students, as well as adult students of world affairs.

"One Fourth of Mankind" traces the development of China through the turbulent centuries when her philosophies and culture were forged. It throws light on what to Americans seems a dark and mysterious land.

The perceptive articles are written by Don Oakley, chief editorial writer for Newspaper Enterprise Association. His specialty is interpretive writing and the history behind the news. The holder of a master's degree in history, Oakley gets his spare-time enjoyment from reading philosophy and historical works.

John Lane is the NEA editorial artist whose authentic illustrations accompany the text of the series. Oakley and Lane previously combined their considerable talents on the widely acclaimed story-strip series "Earth, Stars and Man," "Search for Freedom," and "The NASA Story." The unique story-strip format was originated by the newspaper feature organization.

Watch for "One Fourth of Mankind," which will begin in The News on April 18.

PENTAGON ADMISSION

Viet Buildup Has Sapped Readiness at Home

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate prodding has produced the first Pentagon admission that the Viet Nam war buildup has sapped the readiness of forces at home.

A defense spokesman said Tuesday that the four Army divisions in the continental United States are not combat ready. They are manned in large measure by draftees and recruits.

The Pentagon also conceded for the first time that the decision not to call up reservists during the Viet Nam buildup had forced the Army to use the regular divisions for training new men, cutting their combat effectiveness. Many regular Army troops formerly in the divisions were sent to Viet Nam.

There are not other regular divisions currently combat ready and at full strength in the United States.

The Pentagon disclosure is expected to have Senate repercussions. Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate's preparedness subcommittee has had military combat readiness under investigation for a year.

The Defense Department statement on the impact of Viet Nam personnel requirements on forces at home came after it became known that subcommittee investigators had found

Meeting Slated For Proposed New Mobeetie Factory

WHEELER (SpI)—A general public meeting will be held in the Wheeler County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to discuss the possibility of a new garment factory for Mobeetie.

The proposed garment factory will be a stock corporation with local ownership and management.

A meeting was held at Mobeetie March 15 and pledges for support of the project were received. The Wheeler meeting is to obtain similar pledges of support.

Backers of the proposed garment plant hope to get a government contract for the production of military uniforms.

An estimated 30 to 50 employees will be hired by the garment plant.

Any women interested in employment in the garment plant should contact Betty Rains, plant manager, at Mobeetie. The firm is especially interested in women who have experience in garment production.

The proposed firm will use the old remodeled school building at Mobeetie for its plant.

Groundbreaking Set Thursday For $750,000 Wheeler School

By JIM WRIGHT
Daily News Correspondent

WHEELER (SpI)—School will be out in Wheeler tomorrow for a 10 a.m. groundbreaking ceremony for a new $750,000 school building.

The new building, an entire school plant with grade school through high school facilities, is expected to be completed by February of 1967.

It will include classrooms, cafeteria, auditorium, library for the high school, school administrative offices and additions and remodeling of the present gymnasium.

The groundbreaking ceremony is expected to be attended by Mayor Archie Hibler, members of the school board, members of the chamber of commerce and Wheeler towns people.

Rittenberry and Rittenberry, an Amarillo architectural firm, and Panhandle Engineers and Construction Co. of Amarillo will construct the new school plant. The two firms are expected to have representatives at the groundbreaking ceremony Thursday.

The new Wheeler school plant will take the place of five existing buildings.

$5 BILLION TAX RAISE IS HINTED

LBJ Moves To Stop Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson says he may have to ask Congress to raise taxes $5 billion if prices keep going up the way they did last month.

Johnson's warning came at an impromptu news conference Tuesday after the Labor Department had announced what housewives already knew—the cost of living rose sharply again in February.

Fed by higher food costs, the consumer price index jumped a fat one-half of 1 per cent—its biggest February advance in 15 years.

Johnson emphasized that he had made no decision yet whether to go to Congress for a tax hike that would take some inflationary spending power out of the hands of consumers and businessmen.

He conceded it's no fun recommending higher taxes in an election year. When angry voters might retaliate against congressmen who voted for it.

But the President said he would rather ask for a modest tax increase—five, six, seven per cent—corporate and personal... than to see inflation and the value of the dollar go down.

It was the strongest indication Johnson has given that he might have to ask for a tax boost to take some steam out of the booming U.S. economy.

He said that most of his advisers had come to the conclusion that the higher Social Security and Medicare taxes that took hold Jan. 1 and the higher excise levies on new cars and telephone calls, just enacted by Congress, would not dampen down the boom enough to prevent inflation.

Beltlines Seare

But in his next breath Johnson belittled the current inflation scare as a "jag" and a "binge." Support for this view was forthcoming from Labor Department officials who said that the worst of the price increases "appear to be over."

The shortages of fresh vegetables that have helped drive up prices should ease as the weather gets better, officials said. And the Agriculture Department predicted lower meat and poultry prices later this year.

Johnson said there were three principal ways the government could act to head off inflation: direct controls on wages and prices; a cut in federal spending of $5 billion to $10 billion; or a tax increase of about $5 billion.

FOOD PRICES SKYROCKET

Weather to Blame For Grocery Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—You say the cost of groceries is sky-high, lady? Well, blame it on the weather.

That, in a nutshell, was the Agriculture Department's answer today to the question of why the nation's food prices rocketed last month.

The government confirmed Tuesday that housewives already knew—that bigger grocery bills pushed the cost of living to another record high in February.

The consumer price index rose one-half of 1 per cent last month, but let it food prices jumped 1.5 per cent.

Said New York housewife Mrs. Mary Connelly, "I feel sorry for the people with children. In my home, there's only myself and my husband and the higher prices don't bother us too much. I know the meat prices are way up. Even the price of chickens, which have been very low, have been climbing steadily."

The severe winter storms of January took their toll of fruit and vegetable crops and slowed down distribution across the nation in January, according to Agriculture Department economists.

In addition, the relatively low number of hogs on farms and ranches last fall and in the early winter played a key part in pushing meat prices up by about 2 per cent from mid-January to mid-February, the period covered by Tuesday's cost of living report.

As for milk, that's another matter. The Agriculture Department is having to persuade some of the nation's dairy farmers to increase milk production by suspending for a while scheduled seasonal price declines in minimum farm prices for bottling milk in 45 federally regulated milkshed areas.

Dairy farmers feel they're not getting good prices for their milk and they're warning the government of possible widespread shortages. Thus milk prices will probably stay up. And it's one reason for the Pentagon's decision to substitute margarine for butter on occasion in its mess halls and galleys.

According to the Agriculture Department, housewives should already be finding lower prices at the supermarket. There is a time lag of about a month and a half between the date of the prices on which the consumer price index report is based and the time the report is actually issued.

Six Months Added To Oil Allowable For New Fields

Six months were added Tuesday to the special allowable period for newly discovered oil fields. The action was taken by the Railroad Commission.

The commission upped the discovery allowable period from 18 to 24 months.

The oil regulatory agency said it "is endeavoring to encourage exploratory drilling for the purpose of increasing reserves of oil and gas."

All oilmen who testified at the March 21 hearing backed the longer discovery allowable period, which permits wells in new fields to produce more oil than normally is allowed. Wells under discovery allowables also are exempt from the commission's market demand factors.

The commission said it will hold a statewide hearing soon to hear testimony on increasing the number of onshore wells in a new field which receive discovery allowable status. Shell Oil Co. suggested at the March 21 hearing the number of such wells be increased from five to 10.

MEMBER DRIVE ENDS

The Pampa Community Concert Association's 23-year history. The seating capacity of Pampa Junior High Auditorium has been filled, assuring a full house for all four concerts next season.

For the first time in its many years of existence, the campaign was over two and a half days after season memberships were made available to the public. Renewal memberships were taken last week.

Mrs. Mack Hiatt, drive chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Riehart, co-chairman, congratulated the 150 volunteer workers in Pampa and surrounding towns for winding up the drive in record time.

Mrs. Hiatt urged workers to head-quarters as soon as possible and to call the headquarters office at MO 55541 to list unreported memberships. The headquarters office at 315 N. Ballard will remain open Thursday to wind up campaign membership listings.

George W. Blake of Columbia Artists, Inc., New York City, will meet with the concert association board tomorrow night at which time selection of a fourth concert attraction will be made.

Already booked for next season are Ruth Page's International Ballet, Mantovani and His Orchestra, and the Columbus Boychoir.

Candidate Blasts Auto Insurance Hike as Harmful

By United Press International

The 1965 auto insurance increase was "arbitrary and harmful to many Texans" and was not necessary to the survival of a single insurance company, Houston oilman Stanley Woods said Tuesday.

Woods is running against Gov. John Connally in the May 7 Democratic primary election. Woods blamed Connally for permitting the increase.

"People should remember that it was John Connally who appointed the majority of the members of the insurance board and that it was that board that, unnecessarily, raised their auto insurance rates," he said.

Connally was not available for comment.

Still No Word From Abductor

SURFSIDE, Fla. (UPI)—The parents of teen-age kidnap victim Daniel Jesse Goldman hopefully awaited word on their missing son's safety today as a ransom-reward fund started by an elderly friend "grew fast."

Danny was abducted from his home in this fashionable section near Miami Beach's hotel row early Monday by a nervous gunman who warned his trussed-up parents they "might never see him alive again."

He at first demanded $25,000 for 18-year-old Danny's life, but warned the price would double as of 6 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Goldman, a prominent contractor and executive in a bank which recently failed, said the gunman told him, "you may not remember me, but you cheated me out of some money." Goldman said, however, he could not identify the man.

A horde of FBI agents, Dade County detectives and Surfside police have been waiting in and around the roped-off Goldman home for two nights for a call from the kidnaper.

An FBI spokesman, however, reported "no developments" early today.

A rabbi who visited Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman at their canal-front home Tuesday said they were "holding up as well as can be expected."

Waggoner Carr To Speak Here Tomorrow Night

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will address a dinner meeting of the Gray-Roberts Unit of the Texas State Teachers Association in Pampa High School cafeteria tomorrow evening.

The Texas attorney general will speak in the school auditorium immediately following the dinner and local annual election of officers for the teacher group.

Floyd Sackett, assistant principal of Robert E. Lee Junior High School and current president of the Gray-Roberts unit, said the public is invited to attend the speaking portion of the program. The speech should begin at 8 p.m. in the auditorium following the dinner in the cafeteria at 7 p.m.

Carr has served Texas both as a state official and as a county official from Lubbock County. Prior to his election to the House of Representatives, he served as an assistant district attorney in the 4-county 72nd Judicial District and as a county attorney for Lubbock County. He was elected to his first term as a member of the House of Representatives in 1951. He served five terms there and was elected Speaker of the House for his last two terms.

Cabot Completes Machine Operator Training School

Cabot Corp. today announced the successful completion of its first Machine Tool Operator training school, conducted by Amarillo College in the vocational shop and classroom facilities of Pampa High School.

Twenty-five students attended the courses for a 13-week period and received 78 hours of classroom and shop practice training. All of the students were considered for employment, and 14 of the 25 are now employed by Cabot. Some of the other students have accepted employment with other local firms.

It was necessary that classes be limited in size for effective training and due to the limited training space available. Cabot Corp. is now taking applications for the second machine operator training course, which will be started as soon as another class can be formed.

Students now employed by Cabot Corp. Machinery Division will receive additional on-the-job training on production machines. They also will have the opportunity to enroll in advanced classes for blueprint reading and shop layout, which will help round out their industrial education toward becoming a craftsman, according to D. W. Bond of Cabot's personnel department.

Tourist Killed, Wife Hurt When Struck by Auto

GROOM—An elderly Illinois tourist was killed and his wife seriously injured after the couple was struck by a car in Groom Tuesday evening.

Bert J. Galliger, 77, of Libertyville, Ill., was dead on arrival at Groom Memorial Hospital at 8:15 following the accident. His wife, 75, who suffered head injuries, was listed in critical condition today.

The couple was returning to Illinois from Arizona and had just had dinner in the Ranch-house Cafe at Groom. They walked into US 66 in front of the cafe and were struck by a car driven by Ernest Weller of Groom.

Weller told authorities he did not see the elderly couple until it was too late to stop.

The couple was staying overnight in a Groom tourist court.

Pampa Social Security Office Will Remain Open Late Thursday

The Pampa social security office will stay open until midnight tomorrow, the Medicare enrollment deadline, Virgil Holloway, social security officer-in-charge, announced today. But Holloway said he hopes elderly people not yet signed up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance under Medicare will not all wait until late Thursday night to enroll.

The social security office will remain open until 9 p.m. today to provide an opportunity for working people 65 and over and others who cannot get in during the day to apply.

In addition, post offices in the Pampa area have on hand a short form application which can be used by persons who cannot pay a visit to a district office. It is a simple, self-mailer form, requiring no envelope and no postage and will serve to establish that they enrolled before the deadline, if postmarked before midnight on Thursday.

People 65 and older before the start of this year who do not enroll before midnight on Thursday may have to wait for years for another chance to enroll and also pay higher premiums.

The premium for the voluntary medical insurance that covers the major part of doctor bills for surgery and for home, office, clinic and hospital visits, and a wide variety of additional health services, is $3 a month. This is one half the cost. Holloway pointed out. The other half is paid for out of general Federal revenues.

Over 80 per cent of the elderly people in the Pampa area have already signed up for the doctor bill insurance, he noted, but the Social Security Administration is anxious that all others realize that the deadline is approaching rapidly and the time has come to make a decision as to whether or not they want to enroll for the doctor bill insurance.

Some who are working may be holding back because they do not understand that both the hospital benefits and the doctor bill benefits can be paid whether or not they continue to work and regardless of the amount of their earnings. For those who may be worried that their employers will find out that they are past 65, Holloway had this reassurance. "All information in social security records is confidential," he said, "and cannot be disclosed without the written permission of the person himself."

If any older people are delaying their applications because they do not have papers to show their age, citizenship, or status as aliens admitted for permanent residence, Holloway urged that they visit the social security office to make application and take care of getting the papers later.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—History books tend to glamorize America's early explorers, overlooking the fact that some of them were pretty stupid. Take Lewis and Clark, for example. Most accounts of their celebrated 1804-06 expedition to the Pacific Northwest neglect to mention what a dumb thing they did.

But the raw truth was brought out by Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, D-Wash., during a recent congressional hearing. Mrs. Hansen and friends were questioning Daniel M. Ogden Jr., assistant director of the Lewis and Clark Trail Commission, which Congress created in 1964 to commemorate the expedition.

One of the commission's functions is to coordinate activities in identifying, marking and preserving the route taken by the explorers.

Sprang Key Question
 As Ogden was reporting on the erection of markers designating a Lewis and Clark trail highway from St. Louis to Astoria, Ore., Mrs. Hansen sprang the key question.

"Is not part of your difficulty in the Northwest because Lewis and Clark used canoes and not highways?" she asked.

"That is right," Ogden replied.

As best I can determine, this was the first disclosure of the failure of the explorers to use highways on their trek across the continent.

No wonder the expedition took so long and encountered so many hardships. Every tourist knows that you're in trouble if you don't stick to the highways.

I'll wager that further research would show that Lewis and Clark didn't even take along a road map. As a result, they apparently made a wrong turn somewhere and wound up in a river.

Experienced Same Difficulty
 The same thing happened to me once on a trip to the Northwest.

If the expedition leaders had been on the ball, they would have consulted one of the oil company's tour guide services before they started out.

It would not be fair, however, to blame them for another difficulty the commission has run up against in marking the route.

Ogden noted that some of the places where Lewis and Clark made overnight stops "have been inundated by the construction of multiple-purpose reservoirs." Therefore, he said, "it is not possible to visit those locations."

This seems to indicate a deplorable lack of determination on the commission's part. It could easily borrow some scuba diving equipment if it really wanted to visit the underwater camp sites.

Business Highlights

By United Press International
 DETROIT — In spite of the lagging pace of automobile sales for the first quarter the industry has slated second quarter output at only 38,000 cars under the record production of 2,198,000 cars in the second quarter last year. The decision to maintain high level output was made by the companies even though dealer inventories are high and retail auto financing charges are going up.

PITTSBURGH — The steel companies still are being deluged with new orders and estimates of total shipments are being lifted for both the first and second quarters. The auto and canning industries continue to be heavy steel buyers.

WASHINGTON — Machine tool orders grew in February for the fifth consecutive month, the industry's Trade Association discloses. New orders were up 4.4 per cent from January and 43 per cent from a year earlier.

WASHINGTON — In spite of the voluntary controls on U. S. investment abroad, such investments by industry are expected to grow 24 per cent this year over last, the Commerce Department said. However, they will be financed to an increasing extent by foreign borrowings or from retained earnings of foreign subsidiaries rather than capital exported from the United States.

Oilman Charges Meetings Phony

By United Press International
Gov. John B. Connally has been presiding at "phony conference" using public funds to stage a re-election campaign, Houston oilman Stanley Woods charged Monday.

Woods opposes Connally in the May 7 Democratic primary. "Strangely, right now in the middle of the campaign," Woods said, "Connally has set up conference after conference in Austin supposedly to study the state's problems."

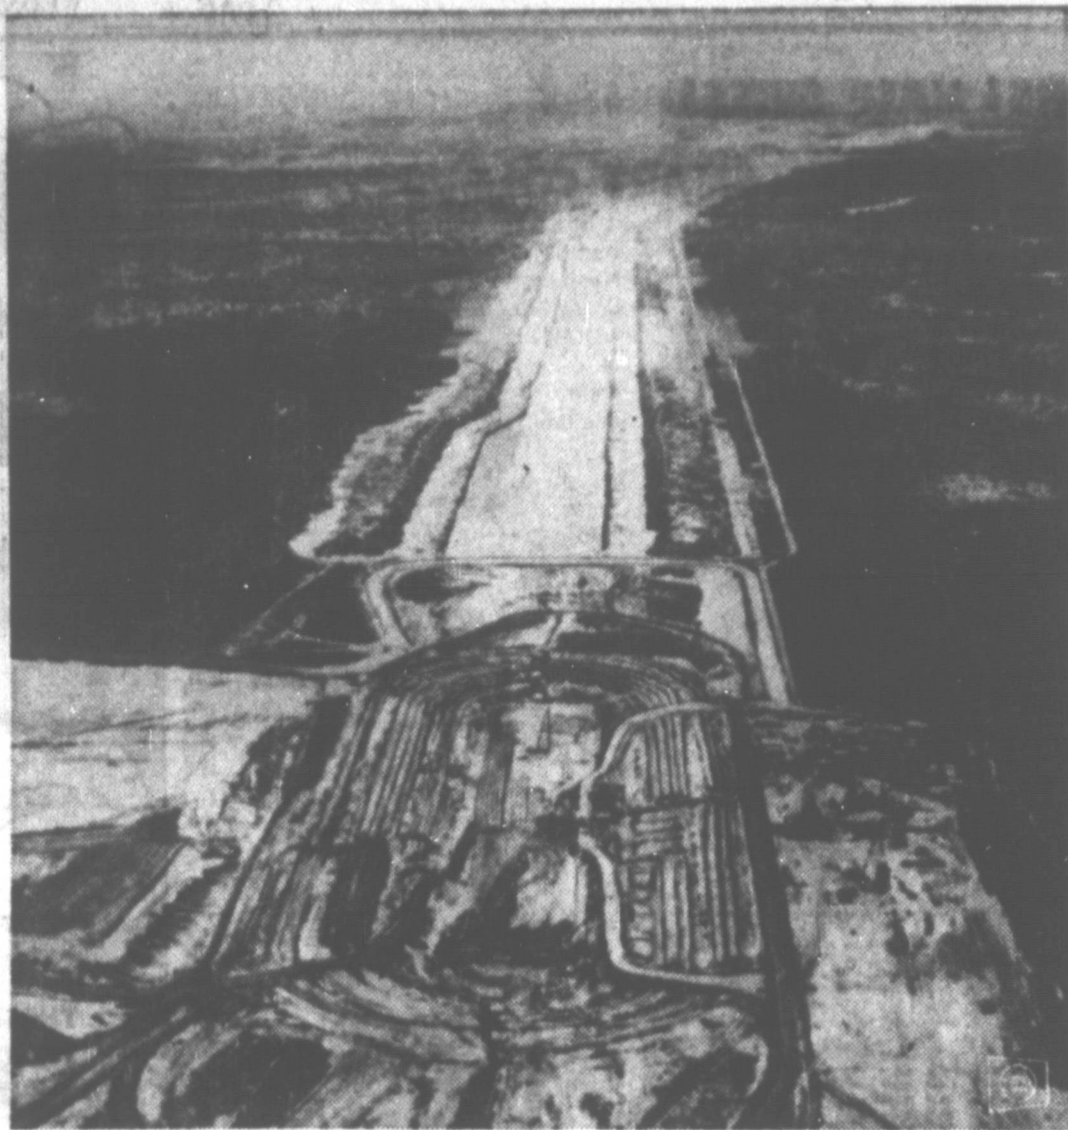

He said the conferences were being Connally "political forums" in which he "uses the unsuspecting delegates... as a captive audience and uses their good names to get his picture on the front pages."

Scheduled Set
Connally, in the meantime, announced an end-of-the-week speaking schedule.

The governor planned the Northeast Texas Water Development banquet at Mount Vernon Thursday, make two appearances in Dallas Friday and speak at the Houston Jewish Community Center Sunday.

Woods did not elaborate on what conferences he believes have been phony. But he said he had seen "nothing very constructive" accomplished at the conference.

Mink did not become widely popular as far until about 1930, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

FLORIDA SHORTCUT—A huge, raw scar at present, the excavation for the Cross-Florida Barge Canal sweeps across northern Florida's timbered landscape in this aerial photograph from Du Pont Magazine. Wide area in foreground is the site of locks at St. Johns. When finished, the canal will run from Yankeetown on the Gulf Coast to Palatka on the St. Johns River, thence down the river to the Atlantic for a total length of 185 miles, three times longer than the Panama Canal. Termed a "passkey to economic growth" by President Johnson at ground-breaking ceremonies two years ago, the Canal will cut 610 miles off the old Atlantic-Gulf open-water route around Key West and will link 29 states in a unified inland waterways system.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

No Moscow Fireworks:

Despite the Chinese boycott and the deepening split into Communist East-West camps, the 23rd Soviet party congress opening Tuesday is expected to be one of the least exciting of such conclaves ever held. In contrast to Khrushchev's histrionics, the team of party leader Leonid Brezhnev appears determined to pursue quiet domestic and foreign policies. No thunderbolts denouncing the Chinese or Khrushchev or any move to reinstate Stalin in any appreciable way are expected. Heavy accent will be on economic reforms, especially expansion of powers of plant managers who will operate with advice from "workers councils" roughly similar to those in Yugoslavia. All the top leaders of the Communist world are expected, excepting those from China, Albania, New Zealand and Japan. But there will be no summit conference of world Communism. Talks will be bilateral or regional, centering on the slow and almost hopeless prospect of reuniting international communism. The system of collective leadership will be reaffirmed.

Countermeasures:
If United States "doves" continue to suggest Viet Cong representation in the government of South Viet Nam, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has a joker up his sleeve. A high-up source in Saigon said the Premier can be expected to demand the right to pick some ministers to take seats immediately in the Hanoi government as a prelude to any peace talks. It is doubtful that anyone would take the suggestion seriously.

Verdun Relived:

The keynote of all-French ceremonies commemorating the 50th anniversary of the battle of Verdun May 29 will be that this World War I battle was one that France fought and won without Allied help. More than 400,000 French World War I veterans are expected to attend and President Charles de Gaulle, who was taken prisoner in the battle, will make a major speech. It will be tied in with France's current go-it-alone NATO policies.

Britain's Unchanged Policy:

The British election is expected to bring back the Labor government with a very substantial majority, but to cause little change in its foreign policy. British support for American Viet Nam policy will continue and so will the over-all trend toward closer possible alignment with the United States. Britain may take a firmer hand in new efforts to resolve the NATO crisis, but she has no intention of pulling out of Europe where she maintains some 50,000 troops.

DEFEATS AMENDMENT

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—The Maryland House of Delegates Monday defeated a constitutional amendment provision which would have allowed the people to vote on the issue of a state lottery.

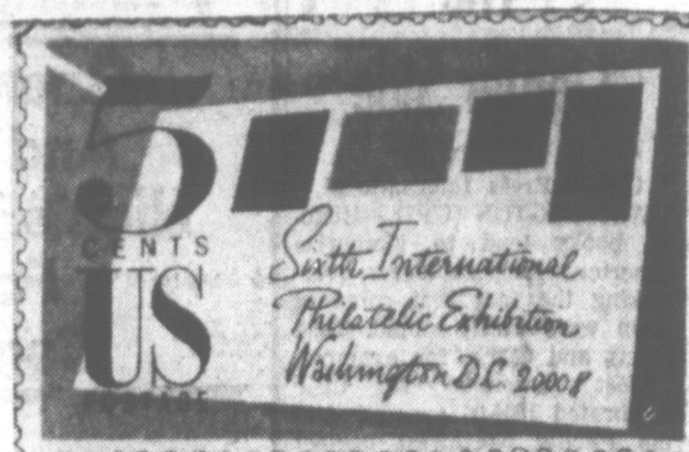

At present, Maryland has a constitutional prohibition against lotteries. The measure would have allowed a vote on whether to continue the ban. It failed by nine votes.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bergman, Cummings & Co., says that while it does have strong convictions supporting a negative longer-term trend, in all frankness it cannot determine what the market's next short-term move will be.

The firm says that from a strategy standpoint, it recommends that any upside move be used only for speculative trading and advises investors to use any strength to further cut and in their portfolio reserve positions to meet the longer trend.

Shearson, Hammill & Co., says it does not believe the time has yet arrived to commit cash reserves in any big way and advises maintenance of a conservative position.

Spear & Staff Inc., says the market has largely discounted the possibility of higher taxes and the implications of tighter money. The firm says a gradual shift toward depressed defense issues could develop in the coming weeks.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Goodbody & Co. says the stock market now seems to have discounted, about as much as it intends to, the possibility of higher taxes and the implications of fiscal and monetary pressures.

The firm says the indifference to the government rollback of cigarette price increases seems to confirm that the market has been pretty well sold out.

William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks - Hemphill, Noyes says that on the basis of precedent, it would seem that the decline of almost 10 per cent from the February high has solidified the market sufficiently to encourage hope of a worthwhile recovery from an oversold position.

Bache & Co. says it feels the market can trace a generally constructive pattern, helped by good first quarter earnings, reasonable price-earnings multiples for many key stocks and an improved technical position.

BAN EXHIBITION
ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Zurich Sunday banned a planned exhibition by the leftist "Committee for Information on the Viet Nam War," a group which repeatedly has been criticized for its anti-American viewpoint.

SERVICE — Day and Night

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen has a powerful lobby going for him in behalf of a congressional resolution which would amend the Constitution to annul the Supreme Court's remarkable one-man-one-vote order.

The Illinois Republican already has performed one great public service in this second session of the 89th Congress. That service was to protect the right of all states to forbid compulsory unionism within their borders.

That right was conferred by section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. Substantially the same political elements that clamored for repeal of 14B are opposing now annulment by constitutional amendment of the right of the states to choose a method of apportioning their state legislatures.

The so-called Liberal Establishment is in battle array against Dirksen. Arthur Krock in the New York Times has cited the brazen inconsistency of the Liberal Establishment, which will filibuster if necessary to prevent Senate approval of the resolution. Majority rule thus becomes a one-way principle with the liberals and the Liberal Establishment.

When the device of filibuster is operating against them, the liberals cry out against this sinful denial of right of the majority to work its will. But when the device of filibuster furthers a liberal objective, the liberals are likely as not to forego principle for more practical policy.

The filibuster should serve well the cause of amending the Constitution. Dirksen and his amendment-minded colleagues should do some talking on their own, even though it is customary to lay the whole burden of talk on the filibuster forces. Nonetheless, the Supreme Court's remarkable one-man-one-vote invasion of state's rights needs discussion and explanation.

Dirksen has not made his amendment proposition an emotional issue, as the matter of repeal or continuance of 14B was emotional. In the language of the Hill, one-man-one-vote is not a gut issue, although it should be. It is possible that adequate discussion of the matter in the Senate might finally get through to the voters. Much in need of illumination is the relationship of crooked politics and city boss rule to the one-man-one-vote rule.

When Earl Warren was governor of California he strongly opposed apportionment of the California Legislature strictly on the basis of population. He said that many California counties were more important to the life of the state than was their population to the entire population of the state.

"There was a time," Warren said in 1948, "when California was completely dominated by boss rule. The liberal election laws and the legislative reapportionment of the system have liberated us from such domination." That is the way one-man-one-vote looked to Warren as governor of California. As chief justice his position was reversed.

Dear Abby.... Love Thy Neighbor, Turn Up the Heat!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a land lord who turns down the heat every time he leaves the premises and does not turn it up again until he returns? Meanwhile the tenants are freezing, whether it's a few hours or the whole day. We understand he goes to church every Sunday.

C.M.W.
DEAR C. M. W.: Going to church can't save him. The man who doesn't love his neighbor as he loves himself expect to get considerably more heat than he finds comfortable in the hereafter.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter came to me with tears in her eyes and said, "Mother, I called Suzette and asked her to go to the show with me, and she said she was sorry but her mother said she couldn't be seen with me any more because my mother and daddy are getting a divorce."

I am so hurt and heart-broken I would like to call this woman up and tell her what I think of her. Would you, if you were me?

HURT
DEAR HURT: No. The woman is obviously ignorant. Pity her daughter. I hope she enjoys solitude because if she must limit her friends to those with no divorce in the family, she'll be spending a lot of time alone.

DEAR ABBY: Shame on that mother who told her daughter she never again wanted to hear her say, "I can't afford it." What is a person supposed to say when he is shown something he can't afford? One of the most refreshing qualities found in our teenagers today is their forthright candor. The affectation of pretending to have more than they have, and to know more than they know, they acquire from adults.

FOR TEENS
DEAR ABBY: Hats off to that teenager who wasn't ashamed to say, "I can't afford it" when it was suggested she buy something that was beyond her means. I work in a store which carries very expensive merchandise as well as moderately-priced clothes, and you'd be amazed at some of the excuses people make for not buying because they won't admit they can't afford it. ("I don't like the color," "It doesn't fit," "I have one at home exactly like it.") They could save themselves (and me) a lot of time if they took a lesson from that teenager who simply said, "I can't afford it."

A fashion designer is only as good as the fabric with which he or she works, says Adele Simpson, Mrs. Simpson, New York designer - manufacturer, made the comment in connection with predictions of styles for the next five years. "We're in a great changing world," said Mrs. Simpson, "an era of the scientific. The minute we hit the moon I felt all our clothes were old-fashioned." But she added, she does see continuation of the almost-clothes, or bare look to fashion because of "the cult of the body. Women no longer just get a permanent or shampoo and set. They spend the day on beauty, with massage, facial, exercises. It's no longer just the face that counts," said Mrs. Simpson.

Piano Students Enjoy Workshop

A group of the younger students from the piano class of Mrs. Fidelia Yoder met in her home at 1215 Williston Friday evening for a piano workshop party.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Leon Patterson and Mrs. Theo Williams.

After discussing some of the qualities of good piano playing, the students played selections they have been preparing. Most of those performing will be participating in the National Piano Auditions to be held in Pampa during the last week of April, with James Petty of Ahilene serving as judge.

Students present were Lisa Reid, Melinda and Lisa Laycock, Junan and Pamela McCabe, Melinda Diggs, Miriam Carroll, Michael Kesse, Kathleen Patterson, De Ann Douthit, Becky Thompson, Jean Fischer, Anita Williams, Suzanne Bond, Gretchen Skelly, Wayne Bruce, Jan Stoddard and Christi Haiduk.

Parents attending included Dr. Royce Laycock and Mmes. Joe Reid, Jack McCabe, Mary Diggs, Thad Carroll, Dal Kessel, Jim Douthit, Ray Thompson Jr., Joe Fischer, Jack Skelly, Wallace Bruce, John Stoddard and Haiduk.

JAMAICA - - VIVID NEW ROSE — Making its debut at leading nurseries this month is the brilliant new hybrid tea rose, Jamaica. With sparkling, cherry-red blooms and crisp, blue-green foliage, Jamaica is an important introduction for 1966. Gardeners who plant it now will be rewarded with abundant blooms all season long — blooms that really stand out against the distinctively colored foliage and even deeper blue-green of stems and canes. This free-flowering rose unfurls its blooms slowly on long stems, making it ideal for cutting as well as garden show. Jamaica will bloom early and on into late fall.

A gentleman called recently asking if this writer has heard of any purple martins being seen this spring in Pampa. These birds seem to be plentiful around Wheeler and this gentleman would like to build a birdhouse to attract the purple martin to his home if they do come to this area. But since the houses, the apartment type, are pretty expensive, he was interested in getting a little more information first.

Several flocks of cedar waxwings have been seen as well as the killdeer. It is very important to keep water out for the birds. They have to fly long distances to find water in this area.

The only good thing that might result from the recent freeze is that the Chinese elm seeds were possibly damaged. Everyone always dreads those millions of little elm trees that come up most every summer.

The African Violet Society is making plans for its spring show "Rainbow of Violets" to be held April 12 in the home of Mrs. Holly Gray, 1236 Williston. The public is invited to see this showing which will be beautiful. The Violet Society has staged outstanding shows in Pampa for several years.

The question, "Which is the happiest season of life?" being referred to an aged man, he replied: "When spring comes, and in the soft air the buds are breaking on the trees, and they are covered with blossoms, I think, how beautiful is spring! And when the summer comes, and covers the trees with its heavy foliage, and singing birds are among the branches, I think, how beautiful is summer! When autumn loads them with golden fruit, and their leaves bear the gorgeous tint of frost, I think, how beautiful is autumn! And when it is winter, and there is neither foliage nor fruit, then I look up through the leafless branches, as I never could until now, and see the stars shine."

Anyone in the Pampa area who is interested in planting a tree or helping his child plant a tree and care for it on his own grounds, and who would like to take part in the observance of Arbor Day on April 8, please call Mrs. Kenneth Osborn or this columnist.

Bennett Cerf has said, "If we can awaken in the hearts of the young people of our country an awareness of the vast treasure of health and peace of mind available in the parks, forests, lakes and rivers of this nation. . . if we can show them how to attain these treasures for their own use in ways within their means, we will have a performed a great public service."

Jaycee-Ettes Hold Year-End Meeting

The March meeting of the Pampa Jaycee-Ettes was held in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service Building recently.

The meeting was called to order by president, Mrs. Morris Wilson. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Jess Mathis and Mrs. Morris Wilson.

Other Jaycee-Ettes present included Mmes. Jim Killian, Bud McVicker, John Warner, Dugan Smith, Nathan Lancaster, Everett Blackwell, Larry Wingert, Don Tinney, Jimmy Hayes, A. C. Higgins, Jake Webb and James Weatherred.

Mrs. Ross Pool performed a skit, "A Take-Off on Minnie Pearl," which revolved around the club's nomination of the president, Mrs. Wilson, to run for Area I vice president at the State Convention to be held in Houston in April.

Year-end reports were given and Mrs. Jim Killian was elected as treasurer for the coming year following the resignation of the treasurer-elect, Mrs. Duggan Smith.

Skellytown TEL SS Class Has Meet

SKELLYTOWN (SpI) — TEL Ladies Sunday School Class of Skellytown First Baptist Church met Thursday morning in the home of a former teacher, Mrs. H. D. Moran at 2239 Christine, Pampa.

Mrs. Alva Satterwhite gave the devotional taken from Cor. 2:13, illustrated her point with an oil painting she had painted which pictures faith, hope and love.

At the 90-minute hour the group enjoyed a covered-dish luncheon with Mrs. Emma Gores giving the invocation. Guests attending from Pampa, all former Skellytown residents and members of the class were Mmes. George DeMoss, Homer Garrett, James T. Crawford, Alva Satterwhite, Ada Collins, H. D. Moran, B. T. Clemens, Elsie Groninger, L. Barrett and Rosalie Wedge.

Clay Sees Two More Defenses

TORONTO (UPI) — Cassius Clay said today that he may be able to make two more defenses of his heavyweight title before he is drafted and paid tribute to Canadian mauler George Chuvalo's gallant but losing effort.

Unmarked after Tuesday night's 15-round unanimous decision over the 216-pound iron man from Toronto, Clay said he has been advised that he may not enter the Army until June 1 and named British heavyweight titleholder Henry Cooper as his most likely next opponent.

"After him, maybe we'll give George another chance," said Clay, who repeatedly expressed admiration for the much-ridiculed, oft-beaten Canadian challenger. "He's tougher than Ernie Terrell, tougher than Sonny Liston—he's tougher than all of them."

"He's out on his feet," yelled manager-trainer Angelo Dundee to Clay near the end of the 14th round. "Go get him. Just let him fall."

Remained on Feet — But Chuvalo never fell—preserving his proud record of never being knocked off his feet in 48 pro fights—and earned the respect of the crowd of 13,540 in Maple Leaf Gardens with his display of courage. His roundhouse rights and lefts frequently landed below Clay's belt—referee Jack Silvers commented with a laugh that Chuvalo fouled Cassius "100 times"—but he kept carrying the fight to the champion.

"I just hope to get another chance to fight him," said Chuvalo. "The next time I'd be in better condition and I'd knock him out in a return bout."

No Knockdowns — There were no knockdowns although Chuvalo looked like he had been hit by a truck at the end of the bout. The sweat mingled with the blood pouring down his face and he shuddered with the impact of Clay's blows in the later rounds. But not once did he take a backward step as he more than lived up to his promise to carry the fight to the champion.

The victory extended Clay's unbeaten record to 23 victories, including 18 knockouts. He knocked out Liston in one round at Lewiston, Maine, May 25, 1965, and knocked out Paterson in 12 rounds at Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 22, 1965, in two previous defenses. The loss was the 12th in 48 bouts for Chuvalo.

The gate was announced by the Gardens as between $165,000 and $175,000, and it was estimated that the income from 40 closed circuit television locations in the United States and various delayed telecasts and motion pictures might reach $350,000. Clay's cut of the receipts is 50 per cent with Chuvalo getting 20 per cent.

It wasn't much of a pay day for Clay but it was even less for Chuvalo who must have taken a punch for every dollar he earned.

The Canadian champion trained just 17 days and fought at 216 pounds—heavier than usual. The next time, if there is one, Chuvalo would like to go into the ring a few pounds lighter.

"It's the little things that count and a little better conditioning would make a difference," he said. "It was a pretty close fight and I just wish I'd had a little more time."

Chuvalo, satisfied with his own performance, did not rap Clay. Rather, he called the champion "a better fighter than Ernie Terrell."

"I don't think he hit me hard but he's very quick," said Chuvalo, in guarded praise. "I tried to stay on top of him," said Chuvalo. "He's a good heavyweight but I think I've fought fighters just as clever."

Clay taunted Chuvalo in the early rounds and seemed to be clowning.

"He tried to discourage me," said Chuvalo, brushing off the early lack of seriousness as unimportant.

"I'll just keep training and fighting," said Chuvalo.

Giants' Mays Having Good Exhibition Season

By United Press International
After collapsing during an off-season personal appearance, Willie Mays is letting his bat speak for him this campaign. And if spring training is any indication, it should be quite an eloquent address.

Mays, whose $125,000 salary is the highest ever paid to a major leaguer, fainted during a speech while promoting the Job Corps in Salt Lake City last December. Doctors diagnosed it as exhaustion, a condition that has plagued Mays through most of his 15 seasons with the San Francisco Giants.

There are two kinds of fatigue that bother me," said the National League's Most Valuable Player. "During the baseball season I get worn out from constant pressure. In the off-season, it's more the number of public appearances and dinners and things."

Hitting Well — The 34-year-old slugger, who needs just seven home runs to surpass Mel Ott's career total of 511, has shown no signs of fatigue this spring. Mays whacked his fourth round-tripper of the exhibition season Tuesday and raised his average to .340 in leading the Giants to a 2-1 victory over the California Angels.

San Francisco Manager Herman Franks witnessed another encouraging performance as Juan Marichal, who held out until he received a $72,000 contract, pitched two scoreless innings in his spring debut.
Not so encouraging was the latest development of the Sandy Koufax-Don Drysdale holdout story. Los Angeles made a final offer, which was turned down by the pitching stars, who have begun work on their movie, "Warning Shot."
The Minnesota Twins, who are becoming movie fans, took advantage of the Dodgers by trimming the world champions 2-0 in the first meeting this spring of the 1965 World Series combatants. In the series, Koufax whipped the Twins twice, Drysdale once.
Camilo Pascual hurled four innings against the Dodgers, who were no-hit Monday and five-hit Tuesday. The game was called after 4½ innings because of rain.
Need Power Hitters — The Dodgers could use some home runs in a doubleheader during his playing days with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Stan Musial once hit five home runs in a doubleheader during his playing days with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The scheduled games between Baltimore-Detroit, Boston-Houston, the New York Yankees-New York Mets, St. Louis-Cincinnati and Atlanta-Philadelphia, were cancelled because of rain.

GIL BURGUND

Bowling Breaks By Gil

We started the week off real nice with a 150 triplicate rolled by Larry Dunn. It's the third one he has had and although below his average it's still a pretty nice achievement.

Penny Pinley informed me that each member of her team who bowled in the Texas State tournament received a nice jewel case from the tournament management on a drawing.

She had a big 500 series in the tournament and that makes the third one in just a couple weeks. That first one took years and now it's three. Pretty nice, isn't it?

And how about this for a nice series, 257, 276, 266-799? That is what Lew Sommer a 17-year-old junior of Dover, New Jersey rolled in an AJBC League.

Then, too, there was Bobby Jacks a 19-year-old of Denver who won the PBA Tournament last Saturday on TV to the tune of $5,000.

By the way, there have been 300, 300 games rolled in the National ABC, 63-year history—all of them in the singles and doubles not one in the five-man team event.

It's hard to believe that Delores Edwards— one of the steadiest of bowlers rolled her first 200 this week and after all these years the next one will be a lot easier. Just ask I n a Hicks.

Pauline Redman didn't quite make the 200 mark but she did roll her highest game this week too, Billie Gray—with a string of four going into the tenth frame, had to settle for a 190.

Vivian Garrison pulled the unusual one of one of the week, she knocked down the 7, 8, 9, 10 only, leaving all the rest standing. How do you explain it and how do you explain a 4, 5, 7, 10 leave which popped up in a PE class?

Virginia Mitten uses reverse psychoneurology on her team mate Jane Groff by applauding whenever she has an open. Rosa Warminski insists it's more important for me to make change for her than to write this column but I'll forgive her anyway.

To mention a few splits, Reba Ray, a PE student picked the 6-7, Inez Snider the 5-10, Murl Tennyson 6-7-10, Elsie Gerid 5-7, Shirley Winters 3-7-10, Diane Brown the 6-7-10 in the City Tournament and Yvonne Hill was almost on her knees praying for the 5-7 but all she did was wiggle the 5-pin.

John Petersen picked up the 5 pin by just blowing it over, I swear that the ball didn't touch it.

Sherrie Connell was so mad at her bowling that she asked for a book of matches and then threatened to burn the lanes down.

There was a real crowd of Eager Beavers among the Juniors and Bantams Sunday when they were presented the beautiful trophies they had won in their tournament I tried to talk them out of them and claim few for myself and almost lost an arm.

Now we have the Ladies tournament going on and since the results of the first week end have already been written up in the Pampa News, I'll wait until the final week end and then list the winners.

Don't forget we will need scorekeepers again this week end and your help will certainly be appreciated.

Come on out you all, and watch some fine bowling.

Clay's Hands Badly Swollen

TORONTO (UPI)—World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is nursing swollen hands today after thrashing out a unanimous decision over Canadian slugger George Chuvalo.

Despite his bruised mitts and the U.S. draft board which wants him in the Army, Clay said he hoped to defend his title again in three months, possibly against British champion Henry Cooper.

Showing off his puffy hands, Clay raised the possibility of the Cooper match and said "after the next match, maybe I'll give George another chance."

Clay offered none of the personal opinions he normally proclaims after a fight. In fact he appeared as subdued as he was before Tuesday night's bout.

He had praise for Chuvalo's ability to take a punch and commented "George's head is the hardest thing I've ever punched."

"I hit him with seven or eight good punches but I had to back off because he's so strong and you just wear yourself out against that guy."

"I told you before the fight that I would have to take a little—you can't go 15 rounds without taking some," he said but added that he was never in trouble during the fight.

"George is tougher than (Ernie) Terrell, tougher than (Floyd) Patterson, tougher than (Sonny) Liston, he was tougher than all of them."

Asked how he felt about a number of low blows Chuvalo landed during the fight, Clay commented only: "He hit me low but they were nothing to complain about."

The only bragging note that has characterized previous after-fight news conferences was an answer Clay gave to the question: "Did you find it hard to stay away from Chuvalo?" Clay said it might have been tough for most boxers to evade Chuvalo's mauling tactics but, he told reporters, "I'm unusual."

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Attend the Antique Show

One of Pampa's most worthy projects will be on tap this weekend at the Coronado Inn's Starlight Room.

It is the Twentieth Century Cotillion Club's fourth annual antique show and sale from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Money taken in at the show and sale will be turned over to the fund for Opportunity Plan, Inc., at West Texas State University.

The club is lending its assistance to Opportunity Plan, Inc., to further the movement under way at WTSU to make it possible for lower income class youths to obtain a college education.

The plan is not a give-away program but rather a method by which young men and women may use money made available for an education add then repay it later.

Opportunity Plan, Inc., has been set up to be used by high school graduates who are ambitious, honest, willing to work and willing to study hard. It is not a welfare program. It is an opportunity. The fund is growing and it is organizations like Twentieth Century Cotillion that help it to grow. It will make room for more and more area youths to get a college education.

There will be displays from antique dealers in several states and the show promises to be one of the most unusual of its type ever presented locally.

So, if you want to browse among the antiques and buy some of them and at the same time help a worthy youngster get a college education that has not been handed to him on a platter — attend this antique show and sale this weekend. It is most certainly worthy of public support.

Labor Unions not Altruistic

Impetus for an increase in the minimum wage laws has been gained in Congress of late, with President Johnson and the labor union lobby pushing for the boost.

Reasons for the union boss support is set forth in the weekly Labor Forecast and Review, published by the State Labor News, Columbus, Ohio, which said:

Organized labor has been partially successful in its drive for an increase in the federal minimum wage rate. It now appears likely that in a compromise between organized labor, the Johnson Administration, and Congress, the first increase will be from $1.25 to $1.40 an hour, to go into effect in February, 1967. The second increase from $1.40 to $1.60 an hour will go into effect in February, 1968. Another feature of this proposed legislation is the placing of about seven million workers under federal minimum wage jurisdiction who were not previously covered.

"Labor union leaders try to give the impression that their hearts bleed for the poor unskilled workers. There would be some element of truth in this assertion if only the unskilled workers got raises to increase the proportion of their pay to the skilled and semi-skilled rate."

LBJ Ranch 'Protected'

Apparently, it's only certain persons who are to be permitted to make financial hay from being in the right place at the right time.

We are reminded that the family of Lyndon B. Johnson once invested something like $17,500 in a Texas radio station, which has now been expanded to holdings of television and radio stations, banks, lands and stocks estimated in value at between $9 million and $14 million. This expansion occurred during the period that Johnson was occupied in such positions as chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, Senate majority leader and vice president of the United States. The commerce committee oversees the Federal Communications Commission, which has powers of life or death over radio and television.

And then there was a fellow named Bobby Baker who did all right while in a position of political influence in the Senate.

But what happens to other folk? There's the case of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sweeney, who own a 7-acre farm across the road from the LBJ Ranch. They have been offered $25,000 for 6 1/4 acres opposite the main gate of the LBJ Ranch. The land would be for commercial purposes. And Richard Sturgill of Virginia was getting ready to build a motel on 18.37 acres he owns.

All of a sudden the Texas State Department of Parks decided it should buy up the land surrounding Mr. Johnson's ranch to preserve it from "encroachment"

"The fact of the matter is labor union leaders are looking at this situation from a strictly selfish point of view. They know there cannot be increases in maximum pay rates unless there is also an increase in minimum pay rates."

"With present federal minimum wage rates of $1.25 an hour, maximum rates average $5.00. With minimum rates going up to $1.40 and then $1.60 an hour, increases in maximum rates in two or three years will reach $5.50 to $6.40 an hour. Wage rates for semi-skilled workers will advance from an average of $2.60 an hour to $3.20 to $4.00 an hour."

"Throughout the years, the ratio between hourly rates for skilled and unskilled labor has been 4 to 1. Between semi-skilled and unskilled workers, the ratio has averaged between 2 and 2 1/2 to 1."

"It has been almost automatic that when there has been an increase in federal minimum wage rates, there has been a comparable increase in wage rates for skilled and semi-skilled workers."

"So it can readily be seen that labor leaders' interest in higher minimums is not a simple cause of altruism or concern for the unskilled."

by anything commercial. The state is offering $450 an acre, even though the Sweeneys have been offered $4,000 an acre for the small piece of property.

Obviously, if there's going to be any commercialism around the Johnson family, it's not going to be by the neighbors, if the politicians have their way.

The American Way

BIG BROTHER
(Richmond News Leader)
A couple of pamphlets recently published by federal agencies have stirred up no little controversy because of their political content. The first, published by the public health service, contains a report to the nation on federal health services. Its 54 pages are lavishly illustrated by pictures of President Johnson. Published at a cost of $17,000 in public funds, the 100,000 copies of the pamphlet have been distributed widely to such notables as members of Congress and medical school deans.

The other publication, issued by the department of health, education, and welfare at a cost of $25,000, contains a report on federal education services. It has been distributed to members of Congress, school superintendents and every public library in the country. It also was sent to 30,000 barbershops, on the theory that most customers waiting for a barber's chair would rather read about vocational rehabilitation than to ogle Playboy's Playmate of the Month. This pamphlet also features photographs of the President, holding a baby, addressing Congress, and so forth. Even within HEW's hierarchy, the booklet has been a target for criticism. A number of HEW officials feel that the pamphlet departs from traditional public information purposes in order to present partisan propaganda. However much these officials may grumble about promoting the current administration, it's quite likely that these new publications signal an all-out effort to present Mr. Johnson in the best possible light. How else would Americans know that Everybody's Big Brother has a personal stake in their health, education, and welfare? Like votes.

Around the World

By ROBERT MORRIS
THE CARDINAL

MINDSZENTY FOUNDATION
In St. Louis the Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation is holding its fourth annual convention and an imposing confluence of what one would call traditional Catholics is taking place. This CMP is almost unique and I believe performs a much needed role in today's fluid and fast-changing political and even religious climate.

Only five years ago, the American Catholic Church was considered to be the very strongest bulwark against Communism. It was also the repository of powerful traditions. For these two reasons the Catholic sector of the national composition was conservative.

There have been changes. The first has been wrought by ecumenism. Ecumenism is effecting profound changes. Its rationale is to accentuate the irreducible essentials of Christianity and to de-emphasize the individuating trappings of Catholicism that separate the respective churches from Rome. The goal, of course, is to unite, first Christians and then all God-believing people so that this sector of the world would, with its differences minimized, more readily survive in a swarming welter of atheism, communism and materialism. It is moving ahead with revolutionary momentum.

The foes of Christianity and indeed of God, however, are using this development to substitute secularism and humanism for the spiritual content of religion. One very influential sector of Catholic opinion holds that Catholics should escape from the "Ghetto of Christendom," relieve themselves of the obsession of supernaturalism and live under a "necessary pluralism" which they should "respect."

Many people recoil from this erroneous concept and even mistakenly identify ecumenism with the humanizing trend.

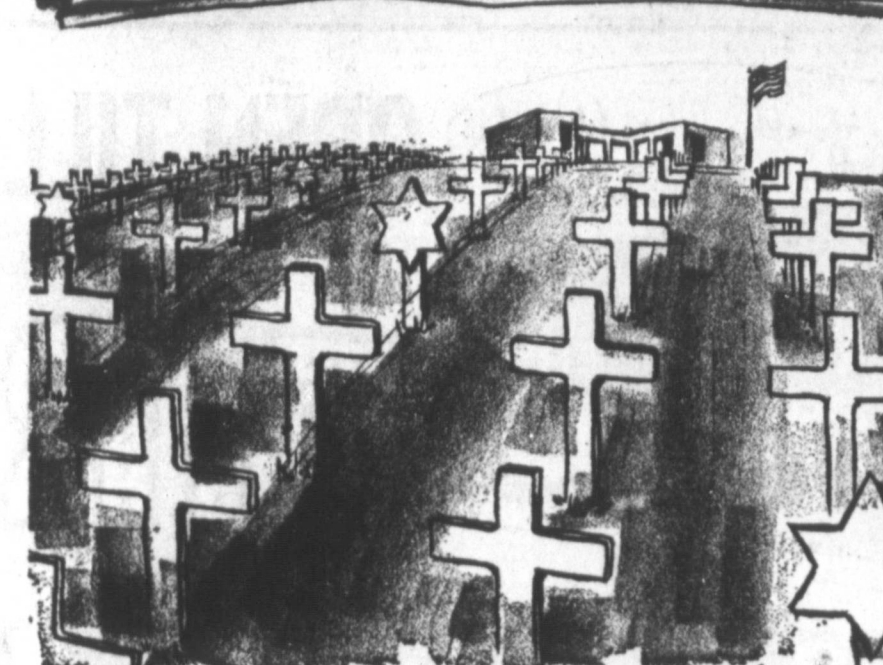

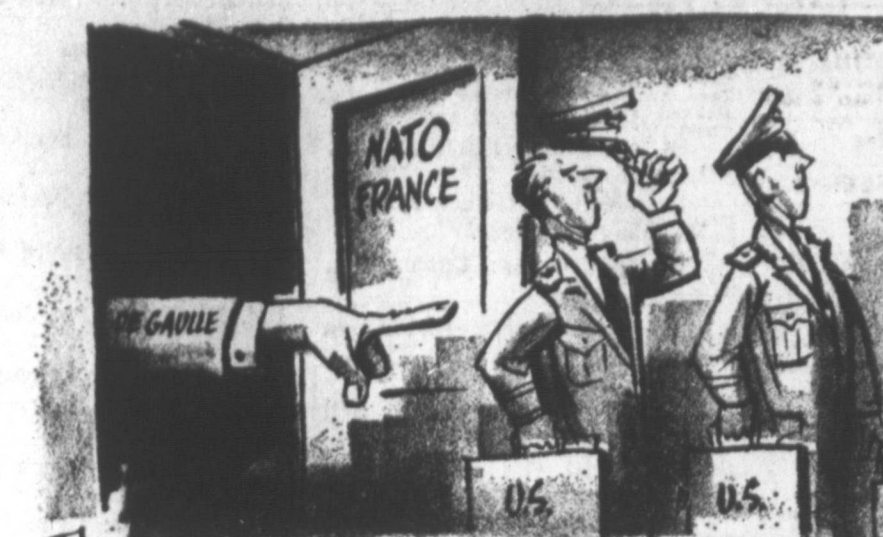

Moreover, the Communists and those who collaborate with them are now bent on an intense campaign to get Red China into the United Nations. This has a now reached mountainous proportions. It is interesting to see that they have enlisted some so-called supporters of the President's Vietnam policy and those opposed to it to give the impression of agreement across the board for the need of admitting Red China and then make it available for massive inoculations of financial support and prestige-giving associations.

But at the Mindszenty confluence these things are discussed and analyzed. Stone rubble of dogma against stone brings out the truth. The folly of these proposals was set forth with clarity. At the final dinner meeting two articulate spokesmen of the Christian concept that concretely stands foursquare against Soviet imperialism were Father Raymond de Jaeger and Father Daniel Lyons, a Jesuit. Both are well informed. They are Asia veterans. Father de Jaeger has been an intimate of the great conflict on mainland China, in Vietnam and now on Taiwan. These are the men who by importing the great spiritual texture of the world conflict to existing problems can do much to illumine the darkening scene.

There should be more such intellectual conferences in the great Christian churches. Thus the true spirit of ecumenism will be extended.

Wilson Hinting Move to Ground Europe's Space Plans By British Withdrawal from ELDO After Elections

By ROBERT ALLEN

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON, —Prime Minister Wilson is beginning to act quite a bit like President De Gaulle when it comes to Europe's space program.

While preparing to negotiate Britain's long-stalled entry into the European Common Market, Wilson is covertly threatening to wreck Europe's space plans by withdrawing Britain from that undertaking, reputedly because of rising costs and slow progress.

In this move to scuttle the all-European project, Wilson apparently is getting considerable encouragement from De Gaulle. The issue immediately at stake is Britain's share in Europa I, a three-stage launch vehicle designed to orbit communication satellites.

This space vehicle is being developed for ELDO, the European Launcher Development Organization set up in 1961 with Australia, Belgium, Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands and West Germany as participants.

In terse notices sent to the other members, the Wilson government has indicated that following the impending election, Britain will "reconsider the financial and commercial aspects" of the project and may be compelled to withdraw because of the soaring costs and lagging progress.

Under the European space agreement, Britain is paying 39 per cent of the costs, which originally were to have been around $196 million. Current estimates put them at more than $400 million — twice as much. U.S. space authorities anticipated that Europe I should be ready by the end of this year. But development has fallen behind by two years and it is now believed a vehicle cannot be completed before 1968.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

The spectacular lighting of the tower of New York's Empire State Building gives the world-famous silhouette of the world's largest edifice the same dominance of Manhattan's night-time horizon as it does during the day.

In discussions with West German diplomats in Paris, De Gaulle has twice dropped hints that the time is ripe for France to take the lead in working out major agreements with the Soviet, starting with space and a non-aggression pact. CLEARING THE WAY — U.S. authorities have information that talks on the space question already are underway in Moscow and Paris.

French and Russian officials reportedly are formulating an arrangement under which the Soviet would launch communication satellites into orbit for joint use with France, in exchange for strategic equipment the Reds need for their space programs.

Dr. Gerhard Stoltenberg, West Germany's minister for scientific research, flew to London last week to make urgent pleas that Britain continue in the European space venture. Following his return to Bonn, it was learned that Stoltenberg, in effect, got nowhere. All he was able to obtain was a British foreign office assurance that no decision would be made before the election, and that the West German government would be kept informed of Wilson's "thinking."

U.S. Intelligence authorities are convinced De Gaulle is pulling the wires behind Britain's maneuvering. It is believed the French leader is encouraging Wilson to shift Britain's funds from the space program to the British-French development of a supersonic aircraft, in order to win the furious three-way race with the U.S. and Russia.

The nation or combination of countries that produces the first of these giant aircraft will be in a position to capture a lion's share of the multi-billion dollar plane and travel business in the 1970s.

The supersonic plane will put the capitals of the world within three hours of each other. De Gaulle and Wilson are bent on having a French-British aircraft blaze the way. The European space program is secondary to this grandiose dream.

Question Box

QUESTION: "Would you comment on the use and abuse of eminent domain? Also, how should this law be revised to make it just, or should it be repealed?"

ANSWER: The power of eminent domain dates back to the belief that the king was divine and enjoyed dominion over all property and was superior to all others. Thus, the king could take whatever suited his fancy. Now it has been changed to confer this "divine" power on whatever form of government is in power.

The United States attempted to protect individuals in the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution which says no person may be deprived of property without "due process of law" and further that private property shall not be taken from public use without "just compensation." Most states have similar laws.

Theoretically, property to be taken must be only for government use, such as for rights-of-way for roads, power lines, water lines and sewer lines. It has been expanded to include schools and libraries, railroads and other public utilities and in some places hospitals, whether government or privately owned. It also includes government buildings and, in some instances, such things as for urban renewal projects, where property is taken from owners, buildings are leveled and the land is sold to other private owners.

The power of eminent domain theoretically is tempered by the "due process" and "just compensation" clauses. However, in practice, an owner is placed in an impossible situation. He must hire his own lawyer and appraisers if he is dissatisfied with the price offered by the government agencies, then is placed in a position of having to prove the government appraisers are wrong. The government agency uses unlimited tax money, a portion of which comes from the man losing the property, to hire specialists as lawyers and appraisers, to present its case before a government judge and a jury, usually consisting of tax payers, who are more interested in keeping costs down than in protecting the individual.

We know of no way to revise an eminent domain law, to guarantee justice. If one believes in the right of an individual to his own honestly acquired property, one would have to advocate the repeal of such legislation. The governmental agency should have no more authority to take a person's home for its own use than any individual should have. And it should enter the open market in making its purchases.

Hunt for Truth

BY R. L. HUNT

RELIGION AND THE ALMIGHTY STATE
The almighty state can allow no rival to itself, either on this earth or beyond. Every dictator, having conquered the land and people he rules, aspires to conquer the whole world. Every dictator, he adds with power, would like to think of himself, and to be thought of, as a kind of god in human form.

That is why the struggle between religion and the almighty state has been one of the great themes of history. Unable to crush religion or drive faith from the minds of their subjects, many rulers have tried to form an alliance with it and thus control church-goers as they control citizens. Sometimes this has worked. More often it has not, and the state church loses all vitality while the people seek out a church that's free.

Well aware of the dangers of the church-state alliance and government domination of churches, the founders of our country established an irrevocable separation between church and state. Of course, they never dreamed that this separation would be extended to banning even the simplest religious observances in public schools.

In Russia, and in several of her Eastern European satellites, there is an official government-controlled church which is permitted to exist, though atheism is the approved creed. But this does not satisfy the people. Many still hold to a higher loyalty, and look far beyond the commissar for the sources of right and truth.

Thus a spark of hope is kept alive even in the darkest night. We should do all we can to help keep it burning.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

DID YOU KNOW?

You know that Communist Yugoslavia has just bought $46 million worth of wheat from the United States on terms so long and favorable as to make it practically a gift? This is just one more evidence of the failure of Communism. The Communist countries cannot feed themselves, and are all suffering from hunger. Communism is tempting to the people of undeveloped countries on the basis of its rosy theory, and not on the basis of performance. Unfortunately, the record of the latter is obscured and the people, in ignorance of the facts, go on believing in and working for the dream which is a mere figment of the imagination.

The United States Department of Agriculture spent $5.9 billion in 1961 and $7.9 billion in 1964, an increase of two billion dollars. Meanwhile, the number of employees in the Department increased from 96,694 in 1960 to 117,481 in 1965.

From 1958 to 1964 the farm population declined from 15,635,000 to 12,964,000. Obviously, the fewer farmers we have the more money and employees is required to implement the government's efforts to control them.

In his December Report from Washington, Congressman Richard L. Roudsbush said, "Of the $418,000 allotted for a federal war on poverty project in Indianapolis, $295,000, or roughly three-fourths of the expenditures, will go for salaries of the program administrators."

age of $26 to clean up candy wrappers, cigarette packages and other items of discarded refuse along the nation's streets, highways and public parks. It is an expense that can be eliminated, but first you have to find a way to curb human carelessness. . . . Although our Canadian neighbors have the distinction of being the gabbiest on the telephone, the distinction of having the most phones probably goes to Sweden. A survey reveals that 90 per cent of the households there have telephones, the highest such density in the world. . . . The Las Cruces (N.M.) SUN-NEWS reported in a story: "Nowadays it's hardly possible for the President's family to keep secrets of martial magnitude." Truth will out.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, March 30, the 89th day of 1966 with 276 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening star is Jupiter.

Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh was born on this day in 1853.

On this day in history: In 1867, the United States agreed to purchase Alaska from Russia for $7,200,000.

In 1870, the 15th Amendment to the Constitution was adopted. It said: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

Also in 1870, Texas was readmitted to the Union. In 1945, Russian troops invaded Austria, forcing the retreat of Nazi soldiers on all fronts.

A thought for the day—President Abraham Lincoln: "As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy. Whatever differs from this, to the extent of the difference is no democracy."

Cost of Living Rises One-Half of One Per Cent During February

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) —The cost of living took a giant step upward in February, the consumer price index rising one-half of 1 per cent, the Labor Department reported yesterday. The department blamed higher food prices —especially for fresh vegetables, meats and poultry —for three-fourths of the February increase. The jump was the greatest for any month since last June when the index also advanced one-half of 1 per cent. It was the biggest jump for any month since 1951, when living costs rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent.

At 111.6 per cent of its 1957-59 average, the price index was 2.5 per cent higher than a year ago. This means that it cost $11.16 to buy the same assortment of goods and services that $10 could buy about eight years ago. Despite the big jump in living costs last month, the government held out hope of lower prices in the months ahead. Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, told a news conference, "the worst of the increases appear to be over." Produce Should Improve A return of good weather should help end temporary shortages of fresh vegetables, Chase told reporters. And the Agriculture Department expects meat and poultry prices to fall later in the year, he said. Nevertheless, Chase said he expected that living costs would be up slightly again in March, although the increase should be "substantially less than in February."
