More than 20 Chamber and committee members attended the briefing in the Pampa Chamber's conference room.

Pampans in For Long Siege of Winter Weather

If the weatherman is right, and who knows, Pampans are facing a long siege of winter weather. Forecasters are calling for more snow and cold temperatures through Sunday with weekend traveling due to be a bit on the hazardous side. Pampa's high Wednesday was not much higher than the low temperature for the past 24 hours, climbing to 28 degrees with the overnight low dipping to 25. The occasional snow that has fallen has brought 17 of an inch of moisture. Pampa's street conditions and drivers continue to be good and had with slick spots on a number of streets. Pampa police reported they had investigated a total of six vehicle accidents of the minor type, from late Wednesday to early Thursday. Highways in the Panhandle are open but slick and motorists were warned to take it easy if they had to drive. The official forecast for Pampa and the Panhandle calls for occasional freezing drizzle and snow today through Sunday with lows tonight expected to be in the low 20s and the high Friday in the mid-20s. Texas' worst winter storm of the season so far pushed into the state's northeast corner today, dropping light snow and freezing drizzle. Another arctic air mass was due in the Panhandle tonight with temperatures down to 10 and more snow predicted. Eight deaths were blamed on weather. The storm left up to six inches of snow in parts of the Panhandle and the Red River valley. Every part of Texas got precipitation in some form. Skies were clear over the extreme southwest corner of the state today, but were cloudy elsewhere in overnight temperatures mostly in the 20s and 30s. Scattered light snow or freezing drizzle will continue in northern areas through noon. Light snow will fall in the Panhandle tonight and Friday in the new cold air mass. Southern portions will warm up a bit later today and it will be cooler in the northwest Friday. The snow and sleet today (See SNOW, Page 14)

Cong Snipers Continue To Fire at US Soldiers

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas appeared to single out American troops for targets today at the start of the scheduled lunar New Year truce period. Apparently the Communists considered the Americans excluded from the conditions of the temporary cease-fire. Reports received in Saigon indicated the Viet Cong had stopped shooting at everyone else. At 12:30 p.m. a squad of Viet Cong gunners armed with automatic weapons blasted away at a U.S. Army HU-1B helicopter on a medical evacuation mission to the Ba To Special Forces camp about 22 miles southwest of the capital. This was 11-12 hours after the time the Viet Cong had announced the new year holiday truce would begin. A U.S. embassy spokesman here said "deliberate ambiguity" had been noticed in the Communist truce announcements. Apparently they had been carefully worded to exclude U.S. fighting men. The spokesman said that for the past three days, announcements and broadcasts by both Hanoi Radio and the Viet Cong "Liberation Radio" had been very carefully checked. He said there was not even an indication that the cease-fire would apply to American soldiers, who had been ordered to withhold their fire except in self-defense. The pilot said he dropped into the valley to land, from six to eight automatic weapons opened up at the chopper from wooded slopes around the camp. The pilot said the Communists missed. The helicopter landed safely and completed its assigned mission. When the Viet Cong announced its cease-fire for "Tet," the New Year celebration, it said guerrillas would stop fighting South Vietnamese, Australians, Koreans and New Zealanders. But it failed to mention Americans. U.S. Air Force planes got in two final licks against the Viet Cong in the hours prior to the government cease-fire at 12 o'clock noon. In the morning hours, powerful B52 bombers clobbered a complex of Communist bunkers and fortified positions about 69 miles northwest of Saigon in Tay Ninh Province. And an American military spokesman said that to his knowledge the last U.S. offensive action before the truce occurred south of Can Tho in the Mekong Delta, when four F100 Supersabre jets attacked Viet Cong force hidden in a mangrove swamp. There was no immediate indication of how many Communists might have been killed.

Air Force Still Searching For 'Lost' Nuclear Bomb

MADRID (UPI)—The U.S. Air Force confirmed today that the B52 bomber which crashed Monday after colliding with a tanker plane was carrying at least one unarmed nuclear weapon. "The SAC bomber which was engaged in a refueling operation off the coast of Spain and suffered an accident with a KC135 (tanker) was carrying unarmed nuclear armament," 16th Air Force announcement said. "Radiological surveys have established that there is no danger to public health or safety as a result of this accident." The official announcement ended more than three days of U.S. silence on whether the B52 was carrying nuclear weapons when it fell Monday after colliding with the tanker. "Unofficial reports said the plane was carrying several nuclear devices and that all but one had been recovered. American airmen equipped with geiger counters have been carrying out a top-secret search near the village of Palomares on the southeastern Spanish coast. Reports spread through this little village 95 miles east of Granada that three nuclear devices had been recovered but one was still missing. The local population began criticizing the government for allowing American nuclear bombers to fly over Spanish territory. The B52 rammed into a huge KC135 jet tanker at an altitude of 30,000 feet, killing three out of seven fliers in the bomber and all four crewmembers aboard the tanker. Four of the B52 crewmen bailed out of the plane as it plunged down and were picked up by fishing boats in the Mediterranean. Although American bombers with nuclear capability have crashed in the past, this was the first known crash of an atomic plane in Europe. Nuclear bombs usually are detonated by explosive charges contained within the bomb, or other types of fusing arrangements similar to those in conventional bombs. Under normal conditions, a bomb would not be armed until the start of a bombing mission. Officials in Washington have testified on previous occasions that in the event of a crash, it would be highly unlikely for the radioactive material in a bomb to become exposed. As a standard precaution, however, strict procedures are instituted whenever a mishap occurs. The procedures in the past have included an area quarantine and a search by crews with geiger counters. A spokesman reported that the immediate search area was evacuated but he said there was no general evacuation of the arid, hilly countryside. He said more than 50 Spanish civil guards were keeping outsiders away while the Americans continued to search. The B52 was attached to Seymour Johnson AFB in North Carolina. The tanker was assigned to Bergstrom AFB near Austin, Tex. Both planes apparently were on a routine mission, but SAC never discloses details. It was possible some of the wreckage landed in the sea. Searchers used sonic devices Wednesday to probe the deep blue Mediterranean off Palomares.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson urged Congress today to approve a constitutional amendment to lengthen the terms of the House of Representatives from two to four years. The President also renewed his plea for another amendment to the Constitution to abolish the Electoral College and provide a direct vote by states for president and vice president. Both amendments will go to the judiciary committees of the House and Senate. In the House, the proposal to extend the terms of House members will face the prospect of a fight led by Judiciary Committee Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. Johnson used basically the same arguments for extension of the term of House members that have been used by proponents of the measure in the past, including the President in his State of the Union message. He said a four-year term would relieve congressmen from increasing costs of election campaigns and give them more time to deal with complex legislation. "Our democracy cannot remain static, a prisoner to the past, if it is to enrich the lives of coming generations," Johnson said in a message to the House and Senate. Johnson said the nation's founding fathers argued over the length of House terms and adopted two years as a compromise. That decision, unchanged since 1789, should be re-examined in the light of 20th century needs, he said. Johnson recommended that the amendment take effect no earlier than 1972. He said it should provide that House members run for office during presidential election years. Calling for reforms in the present system of electing the president and vice president, Johnson renewed his year-old request that Congress clear the way for the two top offices to be chosen by direct vote of states. This would retain the present voting power of each state, based on the size of its congressional delegation, in the presidential and vice presidential contests. It would remove what Johnson called the "grave risk" that the unpledged electors might be able to block the election of a major candidate and throw the presidential election to the House of Representatives. The 77-year-old Celler, chairman of the House committee and dean of that chamber with his 44 years service, has long opposed changing the Constitution to give representatives longer terms.

Mossler Trial Still In Selection of Jury

MIAMI (UPI)—Glamorous Candace Mossler draws the stares, but a juror-widow Texas attorney is commanding the attention in the murder-for-pardon trial of the blonde widow and her handsome nephew. Big Percy Foreman is using all the wisdom of 38 years of practice in selecting a jury he hopes will be sympathetic to Candace and Melvin Lane Powers, despite the lurid testimony the state is expected to introduce. The trial of the alleged lovers on charges of murdering multimillionaire Jacques Mossler, Candace's husband, entered its fourth day today and observers predicted it would be next week before a jury is approved. Foreman has carefully and sometimes persistently questioned each prospective juror under the theory that picking a panel is one of the crucial parts of any trial. He says in some 700 murder trials, he has lost only one man to the electric chair. Foreman, 62 of Houston, heads three lawyers defending Powers, although his fees largely have been paid by Candace, who inherits most of Mossler's $28 million estate. Candace's three-member legal team is directed by Houston attorney Clyde Woody. While Foreman worked, Candace and Mel, 29, sat and watched at opposite ends of the long defense table. At the end of the day the 46-year-old widow looked tired, but she said she was looking forward to going home to the apartment she has rented for her family near downtown Miami. She expects the trial to go on close to two months. Two of her adopted children are already here and the other two are due today. Monday, they will begin school here, while their mother commutes to her murder trial. Powers has been staying in a hotel. Of 41 men interrogated in the first three days, 29 were rejected for one reason or another, mostly by the judge because they opposed capital punishment.

President Invites India's New Prime Minister to Visit

NEW DELHI (UPI)—President Johnson today invited the world's only woman prime minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi of India, to visit the United States Feb. 1. The invitation was delivered to Mrs. Gandhi by U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles during a 30-minute formal call at her office. Bowles was the first foreign representative to call on the widowed daughter of late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, who was chosen Wednesday by the ruling Congress party to succeed the late Lal Bahadur Shastri as the leader of India's 480 million citizens. Johnson said in a letter to Mrs. Gandhi that he understood the pressures of her new office might make it impossible for her to visit Washington Feb. 1 but urged her to make the visit "as soon as possible so that we can discuss the many problems we both face." Shastri had been scheduled to visit Washington early next month. Informed sources said Bowles congratulated Mrs. Gandhi on her election and urged her to visit the United States as soon as possible. Mrs. Gandhi and the new cabinet are expected to be sworn in next Monday. Mrs. Gandhi told a news conference Wednesday that a decision on a U.S. visit would be worked out after she takes office formally. Mrs. Gandhi pledged herself to follow the peaceful policies of Shastri and her father. She said her government will honor the Tashkent declaration with Pakistan and will negotiate with Communist China. "I favorable conditions are created as soon as possible so that we can discuss the many problems we both face." Shastri had been scheduled to visit Washington early next month. VOLUNTARY GUIDELINES
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce planned today after a 75-minute meeting with President Johnson to develop its own voluntary guidelines against inflationary price increases.
Chamber President Robert P. Gerholz of Flint, Mich., said Wednesday that Chamber representatives felt differently about their opposition to recent government pressures for a rollback in metals industry price hikes after they heard Johnson's "factual information."

TOKEN RUN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fears of an increase in New York City's 15-cent subway fare have caused a run on tokens, but the Transit Authority has countered by rationing them to 10 per person.
A spokesman for the authority said if the run continues, the number of tokens per customer will be reduced to five. And further, it said, hoarders won't be able to use the 15-cent tokens if the fare is raised because the token size will be changed.

MILLER IN HOSPITAL
BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — Playwright Arthur Miller was said to be "as well as can be expected" in Brighton General Hospital Wednesday. Miller, who was in Brighton for the pre-London run of his play "Incident at Vichy," was taken to the hospital Tuesday night. A hospital spokesman said he was suffering from hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver.

Worried citizens should look beyond President Johnson's televised message to Congress for some of the bad news on the state of the union. Consider the bad news from Viet Nam.

The President did not much pretty-up the Viet Nam story. LBJ promised the United States would fight in Viet Nam until aggression has stopped. How long that might be, LBJ did not know. But he conceded that this nasty little war might run on for years.

And it will cost a lot of money. More money, likely, than Johnson would be willing to admit at this moment in a public statement.

Selective Service officials are talking about manpower levies on the Korean War scale, up to 20,000 a month. So, suppose we are in for a five-year war, 60 months. That would add up to 1.2 million draftees! That is bad news, indeed, if the figure is at all accurate. It probably is too high.

Of course Mike isn't much of a politician with all of that going against him. But Mike is a good man to have around. You can believe Mike.

You can believe most politicians in the sense that they are not likely to lie to you outright. But withholding a few vital facts to make something look a little better probably is not a mortal sin and surely is not a political sin. If it were a sin, at all, no politician ever would get to heaven.

Mike Sees Trouble

Honest Mike Mansfield, the non-politician, returned this month from a swing around the world which included Asia, especially Viet Nam. Honest Mike Mansfield has reported that the United States is in bad trouble in Southeast Asia. The alternatives confronting the United States in that nasty little war, said Mansfield, are these:

—Either an unsatisfactory settlement by negotiation with the aggressors, or —A very real risk of a general Asian war.

That puts in a much different light LBJ's confident promise that the United States will fight in Southeast Asia until aggression ends. The new and different light is very dim, indeed, almost dark. Dark enough to warrant some whistling.

All of this does not require that LBJ is wrong. But it is evidence enough that all is not as well as LBJ's State of the Union message would have it.

Worried citizens also will give some hard thought to Great Society spending. War and the Great Society's welfare state are teamed now to spend $112.8 billion in the next fiscal year. LBJ predicted a budget deficit of about $1.8 billion. U.S. taxpayers also will be putting up a great deal of welfare state money for backwards nations.

Cue To Shout

Now about the United States fighting the war until aggression is ended. That is the way LBJ put it in what amounts to a double talk, half-uttered assurance—that the United States is in there to stay until the United States wins. That is a cue, of course, for red-headed Americans to shout hooray, we're gonna lick them! Gasted Viet Nammies and win the war! But are we?

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is Democratic leader of the U.S. Senate. Mike is constitutionally unable and mentally unwilling to dis-

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Bob Hope's Christmas tours for troops abroad, the most recent of which was shown Wednesday night on NBC-TV, are probably the only "entertainment" programs on television which have their impact determined by current foreign policy.

In more peaceful times, the programs derived from the comedian's troop visits can be judged not only for their documentary merits but also for their entertainment value. Yet when the times are as troublesome as now, and when the home viewer looks during the program at the faces of servicemen in Viet Nam who may since have been killed or wounded, it becomes not merely superfluous to review the show at entertainment, but also idiotic and tasteless.

It is during times like the present that the Hope Christmas program becomes a human experience, at once strangely remote and yet intensely close. It becomes impossible not to have a constant catch in one's throat as one watches the faces of those young fighting men in the audience thousands of miles from home, listening to comedy. Amid all the laughter, it can become almost unbearable. My wife left the room after watching the program for a while, saying, "It hurts too much to watch those boys."

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stanley Heller & Co. says the prospect of a cost-push type of accelerated inflation is providing the strong motivational background for the current reinvestment decisions in the market.

The firm says it believes this factor is making it easier to rationalize the purchase of many already richly evaluated issues.

Jay F. Gershkoff of Philips, Appel & Walden says that since many stocks have already shown favorable action while other securities have had corrections and appear to be turning upward, he believes continuation of the rising progression can ensue.

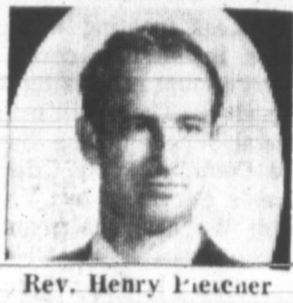

Standard & Poor's says further price gains are indicated but constant reappraisal of investment conditions is of increasing importance at this advanced stage.

The Lighter Side
By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) —Well, well, well. What have we here? Why, bless my soul, it's another simplified tax plan. Just what we needed. It will go beautifully with our collection of Christmas neckties.

Setting forth simplified tax plan: has long been one of the favorite sports in Congress. Any number can play.

During the past decade or so, enough simplified tax plans have been set forth to provide every man, woman and child in the United States with a matching set.

In the meantime, I believe the record will show that the tax laws have become progressively more complicated. That's what makes the game so popular.

Expansive Feeling
Did you ever write out big checks without signing them? Well, setting forth a simplified tax plan gives you the very same thrill.

A congressman can be as generous as he likes with a simplified tax plan because he can be pretty sure it won't be enacted anyway.

There is an outside chance, however, that this week's simplified tax plan may turn out differently. It comes from Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who is the new chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

This being the committee that handles tax legislation, you might say that Long is in a good position to give himself a hearing.

In common with most other simplified tax plans, his plan is somewhat complex. As I understand it, it would give the taxpayer an option.

In making out an income tax return, a person could use the old form, claiming Aunt Agatha as a deduction and stuff like that, or he could use a simplified new form, at a reduced tax rate.

Switch or Fight
Some analysts have suggested that only taxpayers who stood to gain would switch to the new form. The others would rather fight.

Theoretically, that would result in reduced revenue and Congress would then have to raise taxes to make up the deficit.

If Congress ever does enact simplified tax plan, I have a feeling the net result will be the same as that embodied in the so-called Ramsey Plan, which was set forth by a journalist friend of mine.

He proposed that the income tax form be reduced to just three lines, as follows:
A. List the amount of your income.
B. List the amount you have left.
C. Send B.

Dear Abby.... Lock Him Up Before Chivalry Kills Him

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very handsome (and weak) man who does not hold up very well when faced with temptation. He maintains that when a lady makes a pass at a gentleman, he should not insult her by turning her down, and has no choice other than to oblige her. I say he is out of his head, that a true gentleman would find a courteous way to decline. I would like your opinion.

S. CAROLINA
 DEAR S. CAROLINA: Your husband should first get his terms straight. If a woman makes a pass at a man, she's no "lady." And if the man obliges her, he's no "gentleman." However, irrespective of the misnomers, if your husband is practicing what he preaches, you'd better lock him up before his chivalry kills him.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 13 years old and a freshman in high school. A 12-year-old junior high school girl will have a baby next June, and our son will be that baby's father. Thank God he had the courage to bring the little girl to us and tell us. The girl's parents both work, drink and run around while the child stays home days (and many nights) alone, with no supervision whatsoever. We went to the girl's parents and they told us they would have our boy jailed for statutory rape if we didn't give them $500 cash. My husband said he would not get involved with blackmail. Then they suggested, the kids get married in a state which allows kids their age to marry with parental consent. We refused. We think it would be better for all concerned if the girl had her baby and gave it up for adoption. Are we doing right in refusing to consent to this marriage?

HEARTSICK PARENTS
 DEAR PARENTS: In my opinion, yes. The baby will be much better off in an adoptive home with parents who really want a child. You need a lawyer to acquaint you with your son's rights and obligations. It may be a bit late to tell you that your son's education on "the birds and bees" must have been sadly neglected. But perhaps this will serve to warn other parents that this can and does occur.

It may be a bit late to tell you that your son's education on "the birds and bees" must have been sadly neglected. But perhaps this will serve to warn other parents that this can and does occur.

DEAR ABBY: I am a foreign student and a guest in your country attending one of your universities. A charming female student invited me to escort her to a formal dancing party sponsored by the university. I do not have an automobile but she has one and willingly provided the transportation. When we reached the ballroom she complained that the music was "crummy" and she suggested we go sit in her automobile and listen to other music on the radio. The entire evening was spent in this manner. We did not dance one dance, nor did we exchange one word with another person. Can you please tell me why it was necessary for me to rent a tuxedo to sit in the automobile all evening?

 DEAR PUZZLED: It wasn't the charming female probably found you so fascinating that she didn't want to share you with anyone.

Nibble on This Roquefort Cake

ROQUEFORT APPETIZER CAKE is a cocktail party treat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
For those way out in front when it comes to trying new foods, putting on the Ritz and getting fun out of doing it, this Roquefort appetizer cake is the last word in things to nibble at the cocktail party.

Elaborate, dramatic and quite good to eat, here's the recipe. Do you belong to the go-go set? Whatever your answer, take a nibble.

- ROQUEFORT APPETIZER CAKE
(Serves 10 to 12)
- 2 packages pie crust mix
 - 1 3-ounce package Roquefort cheese, crumbled (1-3 cup firmly packed or 3/4 cup crumbled)
 - 1 8-ounce package cream cheese
 - 1/4 cup chopped pecans
 - 1/4 cup chopped pitted black olives
 - Heavy cream

Whipped Margarine Contains Calories

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—If I use "whipped" margarine, won't I get fewer calories per pound?

A—No, you won't. "The promotion of so-called 'whipped' margarines may have caused some confusion," explains Dr. Philip White in the January issue of Today's Health. "The caloric value of a pound of 'whipped' margarine is the same as a pound of regular margarine. The manufacturing process for the former produces a larger volume per pound so that each serving, determined by size but not by weight, will contain fewer calories." Dr. White, who is secretary of the AMA Foods and Nutrition Council, adds:

Q—My husband is overweight but he insists on eating butter instead of margarine. Says he grew up eating butter and intends to go on eating it. But he should reduce and butter, I've been warned, has more calories than margarine.

A—Good for your husband! He is a man who knows what he likes and sticks to it. As for the calories in butter and margarine, for all practical purposes, they are the same, or about 100 calories in a tablespoon. So don't try to get him to eat margarine if he doesn't like it. Just hint very subtly that if he needs to lose weight, he might like to cut down a little on butter.

- Country Spareribs COUNTRY STYLE RIBS
(Serves 4)
- 1 (3-pound) side of spareribs
 - 1 cup ketchup
 - 1/3 cup cider vinegar
 - 2 tablespoons dark corn syrup
 - 1 envelope golden onion soup mix
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
 - Dash pepper
 - 1 1/4 cups hot water.

Set meat in one piece into shallow baking pan or broiler pan without rack. Roast in 450-degree (very hot) oven 30 minutes. Reset oven temperature control at 350 degrees (moderate). Continue cooking ribs 30 minutes longer. Meanwhile, combine ketchup, vinegar, corn syrup, soup mix, garlic, chili powder and pepper in quart jar. Add hot water; cover and shake well.

Remove meat from oven and drain off fat. Pour sauce over ribs. Bake, basting occasionally, until ribs are tender and browned and sauce is thickened, about 35 minutes. (Do not let sauce become too brown.)

en 10-12 minutes or until golden. Let cool. In the meantime, combine Roquefort, cream cheese, pecans and olives with enough mayonnaise so that consistency is spreadable. Use each filling for spreading on two rounds. Stack rounds starting with Roquefort filling and ending with ungreased cookie sheets with black olive halves. Serve in a preheated (425-degree) oven

Food Buying Guide

By United Press International
The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weekend shoppers will find a good winter-harvest variety of fruits, vegetables, and meats awaiting them at their markets, according to the Agriculture Department's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Holiday cooking still is memory-fresh, and the brisk weather is also a good reminder for appetites. Think new and bright—stuff shiny green peppers with red tomatoes. Make January a fun cooking month.

In most areas, beef prices have dropped. Beef steaks, roasts, and ground beef are reflecting this drop. A similar story is told in the pork camp. Butt cuts, ham, roasts, and spareribs are reasonable in most areas.

Turkey and broiler-fryers hold their own as economic main dishes.

The vegetable and fruit parade from the South and Southwest continues. Beans, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes, rutabagas, squash, sweet po-

A good party snack can be made by heating chunky slices of frankfurter in a little Burgundy wine. The addition of a little chopped onion and herbs also perks them up.

One medium-sized raw tomato will give nearly one-half of a day's requirement of vitamin C and generous amounts of vitamin A.

List All 'Other Deductions'

By RAY DE CRANE, NEA Special Writer

A catch-all category for deductions you could not classify elsewhere is found at the bottom of Part IV on Page 2 of Form 1040. It is labeled "Other Deductions."

Properly listed here, if they apply in your case, are:

- Child care expenses.
- Education expenses.
- Casualty and theft losses.
- Alimony.
- Cost of safety equipment, tools and supplies used in your work.
- Union and professional dues.
- Unreimbursed business entertainment expense.
- Fees to employment agencies.

"I knew there was a catch to it," the eager reader will probably say when he learns there are qualifications for most items.

The child care deduction arises when a working wife, or a widow or widower, in order to be employed or to seek gainful employment requires outside assistance in caring for dependent children under 13 or other dependents physically or mentally incapable of self-care. The deduction is restricted to $600 when one dependent is being cared for, to $900 where two or more are involved. A working wife must file a joint return with her husband to claim the deduction and the deduction is reduced by the amount by which their combined income exceeds $6,600 or $6,900 when two or more are receiving child care.

The income limitation does not apply in cases where the husband is physically or mentally incapable of self-support or if the wife is institutionalized for at least 90 consecutive days, or a shorter period if she dies.

Casualty and theft losses are restricted to the amount of the loss reduced by insurance proceeds or other compensation received in excess of $100 for each occurrence. A statement must be attached to the return explaining the deduction.

Education expenses may be claimed if the prime purpose is to improve or maintain skills required in your employment, or if undertaken to meet a requirement of your employer or by law or regulation affecting your continued employment. The expenses of education de-

QUILL'S ILLNESS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Michael J. Quill, leader of the Transport Workers Union which struck New York City's transit system for 12 days, suffered "congestive heart failure" during the strike, "but not a heart attack," his physician reported.

Zuckerman said Quill probably will leave the hospital this week. He suffered the illness Jan. 4, shortly after he was jailed on charges of violating an injunction against the strike. Details of the illness were not then disclosed.

According to the old wives' tale, a ghostly white halo circling the moon is an omen of stormy weather.

Stockholders Of SIC Re-elected

Stockholders of Southwestern Investment Co. re-elected all current directors to the board at the 1965 annual meeting at S. I.C.'s general offices in Amarillo.

Directors elected to serve another year are C. P. Buckler; Cleo G. Clayton, Sr.; Hudson W. Davis; M. C. Finley; E. L. Green, Jr.; D. D. Harrington; J.W. Hickman; Farris C. Oden; R. Earl O'Keefe; S. Wayne O'Keefe and Kearney Wornall.

Chairman of the Board R. Earl O'Keefe reported that a peak in earnings was reached in 1965 as earnings per common share rose to $1.24 from $1.08 the year before. Allowing conservatively for the increase in value of life insurance in force in Western National Life Insurance Company, a wholly owned subsidiary, adjusted earnings per share reached $1.49 as compared to last year's $1.27.

The common stock dividend paid in 1965 was 65 cents per share and a new annual rate was established at 70 cents at the fourth quarter board meeting.

The chairman also pointed out that during the past ten years the common stock dividend rate rose from 45 cent to 70 cents per year, receivables outstanding grew from $57 million to $137 million, book value per common share increased from $7.82 to $12.69, and net earnings climbed from $1,024,000 to $1,703,000.

LIBEL SUITS

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Civil Liberties Union said Wednesday punitive damages in libel suits involving public issues should be disallowed "in the interest of protecting free press and free speech . . . even in cases where malice has been proven."

The ACLU said a prolonged study of such cases shows damages "are intended not to compensate the plaintiff for any loss he suffered . . . but to punish the defendants."

REPORT TOP MEETING

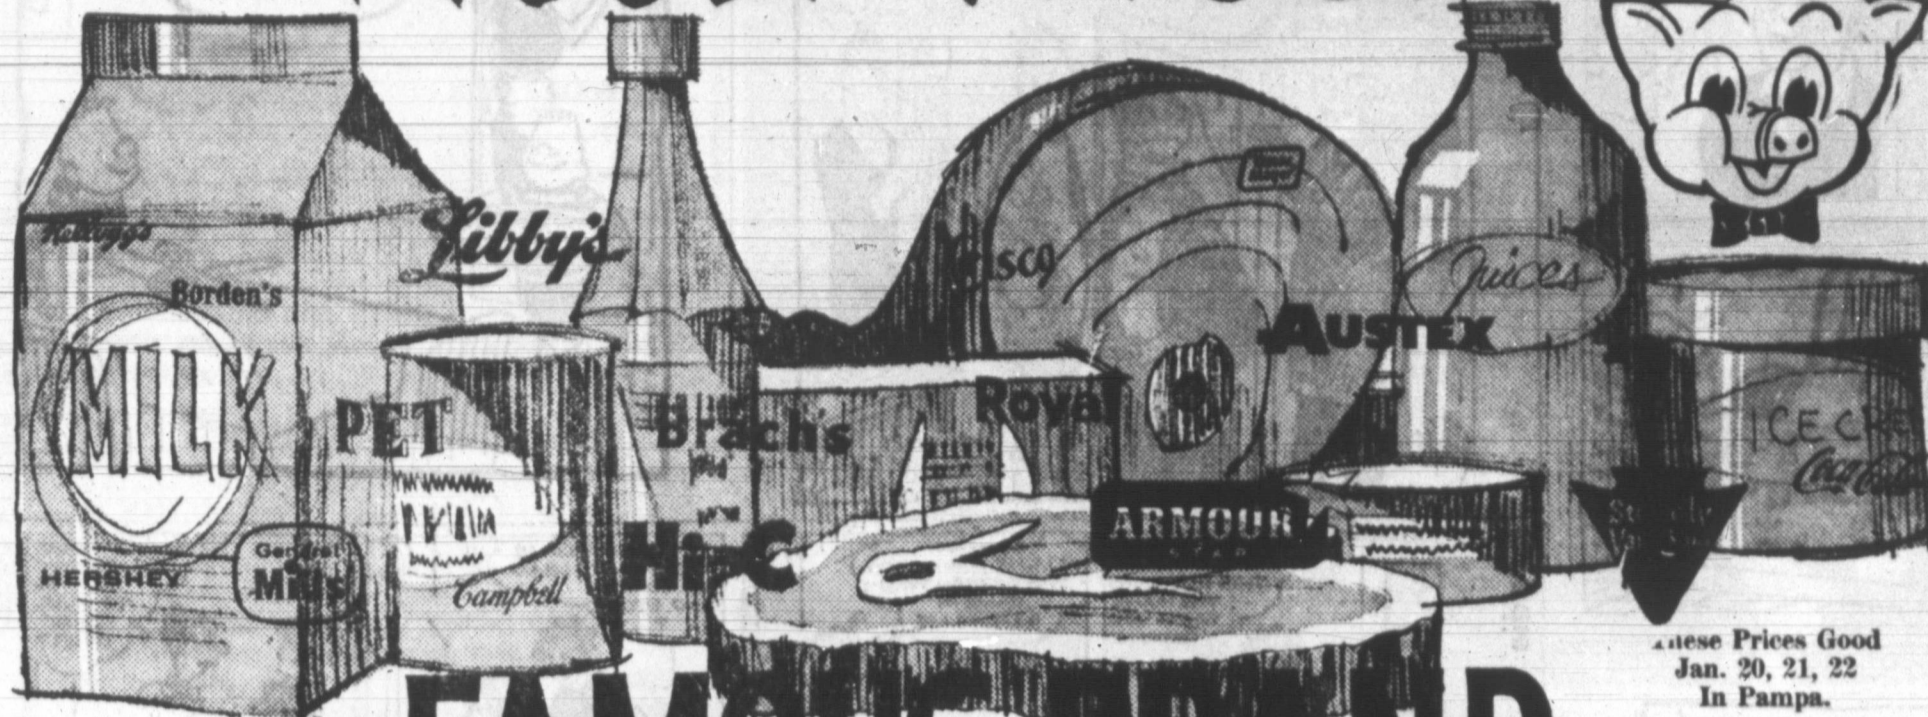

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny met Wednesday with British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Harrison at the Kremlin at Harrison's request, the news agency Tass reported.

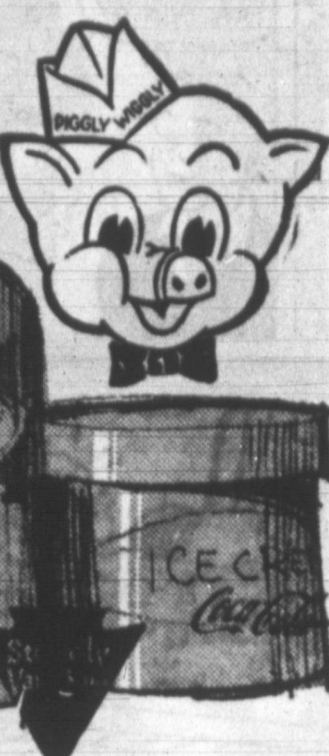

Matter of Fact

First gun battle between fleets propelled exclusively by sail took place during the engagement between the Spanish Armada and the fleet of Elizabeth I of England in 1588. The English, with the help of the weather, fended off the invasion, losing no ships and less than 100 men in battle. It became the prototype of all naval action up until and including the battle of Trafalgar in 1805.

It's going to take a little bit of a lot of things, most of it luck, if Pampa hopes to win or tie for the second half district 3-4A basketball title.

Raising Cain

On the bright side of things is David Cain, who got off to a great start the first of the season, hit a slump and seemingly has broken it with his fifth straight conference game of double figuring scorings and seventh game in a row to become Pampa's leading scorer.

Tuesday night Cain tallied 12 points, despite firing the ball only five times, hitting four of them. Back on the beam too is Mike Wise with a double figure effort against the Westerners and it was badly needed. Wise does seem to be snake bit, hitting only seven of 25 from the field in his last two outings having several of the shots miss by half an inch, in and out of the basket.

Most of the scoring has been done by Cain, Wise and McWilliams, who incidentally was taken to a back-specialist in Amarillo Wednesday, but if one of these young men are off form someone always comes through to take up the slack.

McWilliams is lost indefinitely and was used only sparingly the last four games. Doug Altom has been a most adequate replacement, scoring some important fourth quarter points Tuesday after missing five in a row from field goal range.

Gary Crossland and Steve Williams are two of the most dependable players any coach could hope for and Williams has found the scoring range, being most deadly from the free shot line and averaging nearly 10 points per league contest.

Crossland and Altom ran the other teams crazy with their ball-hawking and ball-stealing with Crossland, the quiet man, time and again hitting key shots.

Coch Terry Culey is the first to admit that the second half schedule is in Monterey's favor with the Plainsmen catching both Pampa and Amarillo at home. The Harvesters catch it tough playing only first half winner Amarillo at home and having to play Plainview, who fell by only one, at the Bulldogs' home grounds.

What does Culey think now that his Harvesters are off to a 1-0 start?

Defense Bad

"I feel a little better," the young men admitted, adding, "But we still have a long way to go and we're still making lots of mistakes."

"Our defense has been our best forte and Altom has played quite well. I think we had our best team effort against Lubbock."

Culey thinks that Williams has been the most improved player and looks for David Frasier, regulated to a substitute roll for Wise or Cain to give his chargers a lot of help.

"Steve has played real good both on defense and offense and is probably the most consistent player we have," Culey said.

What are the Harvesters chances this second half? He thought for a moment, then said, "We really haven't started hitting yet. If we can break loose in two or three games we can beat anybody."

"It won't be easy playing away from home, you're usually 10 points behind before you start but we'll start pressing them in the dressing room."

The Harvesters have hit over 50 per cent of their shots in but one game, that against Caprock, and have hit 40 per cent but three times.

Georgia Tech Basketballers Sting Archrival Georgia

By United Press International — The Georgia Bulldogs discovered to their embarrassment and dismay what happens when a hive of Yellow Jackets becomes aroused. Somebody gets stung.

On Dec. 9 Georgia knocked off archrival Georgia Tech 76-65. Georgia coach Ken Rosemond was quoted shortly thereafter as crowing, "Well, that's one. We'll sweep the other two." That made Tech coach Whack Hyder and his hive of Yellow Jackets angry.

Very angry. Especially since Georgia teams in football and basketball have been rolling over Tech outfits for the past two seasons.

The youthful Yellow Jackets, with revenge in their eyes, battled the taller, more experienced Bulldogs all the way Wednesday night and emerged with an 89-56 victory.

Hyder left his first team in until the final minute and Georgia Tech continued to fast break and apply a full-court press on the Bulldogs throughout, even during the final minutes with the game out of reach. Mercy-Georgia Tech style.

Sonny Dove scored 28 points and hauled down 24 rebounds to pace St. John's to an 82-72

STARTING ROLE — Doug Altom (20) has been pushed into a starting role for the Pampa Harvesters due to an injury to senior Kenneth McWilliams. The 5'11 Altom has responded well, averaging just over nine points per contest.

NO POSSIBLE WAY OUT

Williams Facing His Roughest Day in Life

By MILTON RICHMAN — NEW YORK (UPI) — This shapes up as one of the happiest days in Ted Williams' life and at the same time, one of the roughest.

He's faced with what can only be described as an awkward situation and there is no possible way out.

Williams will be elected to baseball's Hall of Fame today. There is little doubt of that. Nor is there any doubt the election will please him tremendously and he will express that pleasure publicly.

Those who did the voting in this election all are members of a group known as the Baseball Writers' Association of America and that's where the rub comes in. Williams doesn't like writers and never has. That's really an understatement although it should be explained he hedged from time to time and said he didn't mean "all" writers. Only 99 out of 100.

Rarely Mined Words — Since the 47-year-old former Boston Red Sox slugger always says exactly what he thinks, but always, there is little reason to feel he will reverse his field when he is officially notified of his election to the Hall of Fame.

His acceptance speech should be a lulu. There is no advance knowledge here of what that speech will be, but based upon some 20 years of personal experience with the man, it may go something like this:

"I feel proud and grateful to be named to the Hall of Fame and to be considered in the same company as those who already are in it. I would like to thank the writers for according me this honor... but what I've always said about them still goes."

That would be the Ted Williams everyone knows and you can bet he won't change merely because he was voted baseball's greatest distinction by the very men whose opinions he often said didn't count.

Many, many articles and stories were written about the man, yet not one of them ever offered the complete picture of him. It was really impossible to know all about him unless you met him and even then it wasn't always possible.

From a strictly personal viewpoint, I never had the slightest bit of trouble with Williams although I know many who did. I like him and always have because I have seen him go out of his way for a lot of people who never knew he did. You could never ask for a more gracious host than him if you ever happened to visit his home. I know that for a fact because I did.

Far more important, Williams has a habit of doing things for others and then going to extraordinary lengths to see to it they never know who their benefactor was.

He was, is and probably always will be, a soft touch for other ball players and underprivileged kids. He places little value on material things.

There was the time while he still was playing with Boston, for example, when a Red Sox pitcher, who never made it big, casually admired a wristwatch owned by Williams.

"Here, you take it," he said, handing the watch to the pitcher. "I don't need it."

Gestures of that kind don't always make the newspapers and there were many other similar ones by Williams which never did, either.

Here is a guy who would not wear a tie or would not always hold still for a writer or a photographer, but would jump in a car and drive 200 miles alone at night to visit a stricken youngster in a hospital. He would not tell any writers or photographers about that, either.

Foss to Stay Silent Now — From now on, "no comment" may be the password in the American Football League, made cautious by Commissioner Joe Foss' throwing out a player deal because of comments on it.

Foss voided Wednesday the trade of Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison from San Diego to Houston, saying Houston owner K.S. (Bud) Adams "tampered" with the players by his statements on the trade.

Adams had said he would give five players and some cash for Ladd alone. Then Ladd was quoted as saying, "If a man is willing to give five players, he must be willing to give up a lot of money."

The Foss decision supported charges by San Diego coach Sid Gillman that Adams tampered with the players. But Foss had something to say about Gillman, too. He said the Chargers' coach should "confine all future complaints involving league matters to official communication to the commissioner."

Foss said he will start fining AFL people who publicly criticize others in the league. "The results of Foss' new 'talk is dear' policy showed immediately. Adams, usually at no loss for words, said, "No comment" about the Foss decision.

Palmer Favored In Crosby Tourney; Nicklaus to Play

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, golf's Mr. Everything, makes his first and only appearance on the western winter tour today in the opening round of the $104,500 Bing Crosby National pro-amateur tournament.

For a change, golf's leading money winner in 1964-65 is not the favorite. That distinction is shared by a revitalized Arnold Palmer, playing like the tiger of old, and consistent Billy Casper.

The big belter from Columbia, Ohio, has played very little the past two months and admits his game is in "lousy shape."

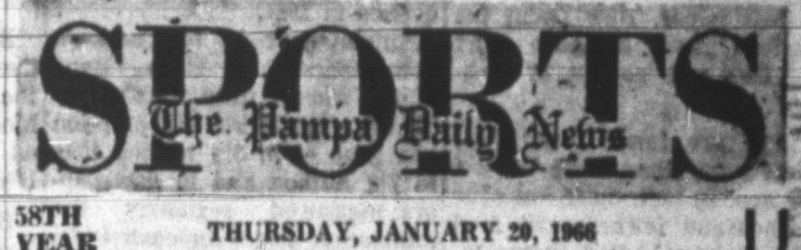

The same cannot be said for Palmer and Casper. Palmer opened the $4-million 1966 PGA tour with a smashing win in the Los Angeles Open and Casper finally came through in his own home town by winning the San Diego Open. Both are at the top of their game.

And if they should falter over the 72-hole stretch, there are plenty of challengers for the $11,000 first prize in the pro division of this star-studded event, including the likes of Tony Lema, PGA king Dave Marr, defending Crosby champion Bruce Crampton, Doug Sanders and just about every one in the Who's Who of golf except Gary Player and Bruce Devlin.

Nicklaus and Palmer, friendly enemies of the course, played a head-to-head toney match Wednesday at Monterey Peninsula's Shore course and Palmer pocketed a good chunk of the Nicklaus loot by shooting a one-under-par 70 while Jack struggled to a 74.

The Crosby, an event sponsored by the actor-singer with all proceeds going to charity, features medal play competition among 166 professionals for a pot of $70,000.

In addition, each pro plays with an amateur in a $30,000 pro-am best ball tournament which features such stars of the sports and entertainment world as Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, Andy Williams, Dean Martin, Ernie Ford and Phil Harris.

58TH YEAR THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1966

More Day Games on Tap For AL Ball Clubs

BOSTON (UPI) — American League teams will play fewer night games in 1966 than in 1965 and will experiment with a variety of mid-afternoon and twilight games, it was announced Thursday by AL President Joe Cronin.

As usual, the season will begin with the "Presidential opener" in Washington, D.C., with the Cleveland Indians opposing the Senators on April 11 and the other eight teams swinging into action on April 12.

The league champion Minnesota Twins will be at home to the Kansas City Athletics, April 12, with the California Angels at Chicago, the Detroit Tigers at New York and the Baltimore Orioles at Boston, all in day games.

Washington will be at Detroit, Boston at Cleveland and New York at Baltimore in day games April 15 and Chicago will be at California and Minnesota at Kansas City in night games April 19.

The 1966 total of 441 scheduled night games is 31 fewer than were played in 1965 as almost all the teams are experimenting in new starting times.

The annual All-Star Game will be played in St. Louis, July 12, and the Hall of Fame game between the Twins and St. Louis Cardinals is scheduled at Cooperstown, N.Y., on July 25.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

What's Happening to Newspapers?

A group of students at Syracuse University early this year listed intently as the speaker talked with them about a future in the newspaper field and debunked the story we sometimes hear that "newspapers are dying."

Sure, the New York Mirror died. In San Francisco there was a merger and that city has one less paper. How about the Houston Press, someone may ask. Didn't it go out of business?

There are fewer retail food outlets today than there were a year ago. In fact, there are over 125 thousand fewer retail food outlets in the United States today than there were 10 years ago. But we Americans are buying more food than ever before.

As the speaker told the group, banks today have about four times the assets and deposits that they had 25 years ago. Yet there are a thousand fewer banks.

And newspapers! Well, today there are actually more daily newspapers than there were 20 years ago. Un-economic newspapers have suspended or merged. The new ones are not located in the downtown area or the smaller communities, but in the fast-growing suburban and interurban areas. Newspapers have moved to the suburbs in the big cities.

There are over 3,500 new journalists needed each year to fill existing opportunities on the nation's daily newspapers. Only 1,332 young men and women were graduated from colleges in a news writing sequence in 1964.

Employment in the nation's newspapers has risen since World War II from 250,000 to 325,000. Newsprint consumption has gone from 3 1/2 million tons to 7 1/2 million and in newspapers—measured—regularly—the number of pages in each issue has increased by 66 per cent. Advertisers spent over $4 billion last year in newspapers, as much as a magazine, radio and TV combined.

There were 1,754 DAILY NEWSPAPERS the first of this year and 8,915 weeklies, 34 tri-weeklies and 370 semi-weeklies. Newspapering is a growing business and it offers great opportunity to those who are curious, who like people, excited and vary.

If you are a young person considering a career in this field, the editor would welcome you as a visitor at the News Office just for a friendly chat.

GOP, Democrats 'Partners'

Despite some Republican charges that it was a "rubber-stamp" Congress, a majority of GOP House and Senate members voted with a majority of Democrats for final passage of many "Great Society" programs in the 1965 session.

For example, in the Senate a majority of Republicans went along with the Democrats in passing the bills to provide federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, the extension of the Manpower Development and Training Act, foreign aid, and several other key Johnson administration measures.

In the House, too, Republican majorities joined Democratic majorities to approve such things as aid to higher "education," study of high-speed ground transportation and air pollution control.

A word of caution, however. Many of these votes were on passage and many of the members who supported passage had previously voted for procedural movements to send the legislation back to committee (technically, to recommit, in effect to kill), or otherwise water down the effects of the bills.

In statistical terms, a majority of Republicans voted with a majority of Democrats in House and Senate roll calls 54 per cent of the time. There were 459 roll call votes in all. That's up from 49.6 per cent of the 308 roll calls in 1964.

The average Republican voted with these bipartisan majorities 73 per cent of the time and against them 13 per cent of the time. Such Republicans as Sen. Thurmond (S.C.) were not average; he voted against the bipartisan majorities on 36 per cent of the roll calls involved. Similarly, conservative Democrats from the South tended to oppose these shows of bipartisanship more than other members. Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) had a 38 per cent score of opposition to the bipartisan voting. Maverick Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) voted true to form with a 34 per cent opposition to two-party majorities.

Bipartisanship reached the point of unanimity on 20 roll calls in the Senate and 25 in the House. Most of these roll calls involved foreign "policy" or "national security."

All in all, we'd say 1965 Congress was a demonstration of politicians acting like politicians.

Here, Achoo, Is Cold News

So you have the sniffles? It would be nice to console you with the cheerful announcement that science has at last found a way to whip the common cold.

But the dismal truth is that it hasn't.

So unless some genius comes up right away with a miracle cure, Americans can glumly figure on sneezing their way through almost one billion colds this year.

That averages about five colds for every man, woman and child in the United States. And it's what makes the common cold so common.

Science has effected many marvels. It has put men into orbit. It has enabled them to walk in space and even to rendezvous a few feet from each other 100 miles off the earth at 17,000 miles an hour.

It has put big dents in the tools of tuberculosis, polio and pneumonia.

But it hasn't been able to crack the common cold.

Furthermore, scientists are frank to admit that chemical cures have not yet been developed for any of the 150 varieties of colds.

So sniffles will continue to pay out more than $5 billion a year in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses—including $100 million for cold remedies.

A drug firm has just completed a survey which indicates that every employed person loses about four days a year from colds, and that nearly every child is out of school six days a year from respiratory diseases.

Discouraged? Don't give up. For science is giving the problem the old college try, and what science goes after it usually gets.

Meanwhile, though, the common cold remains something to sneeze at. Gesundheit!

Motoring Notes

The following two items from "Travel talk," published by the Nebraska Information and Tourism folks, are not necessarily related. And then on second thought...

Since 1962 the number of female drivers has doubled while the increase for males has been only 23 per cent. The odds today stand at 30 million to 56 million.

By 1970, however, the American motoring public will be equally divided. For every man behind the wheel looking for a parking space, there will also be a woman.

England has launched a high-way beautification program of a different sort. A mobile car crusher is roaming the countryside over there gobbling up abandoned automobiles.

The machine reduces an entire car carcass to an 11x22x24-inch block of scrap in three minutes. A much tidier shambling than human beings usually leave when they play smash-

Red Wrangle Brings U.S. Headaches

BY RAY CROMLEY
 Washington Correspondent
 WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The stepped-up war between Moscow and Peiping will bring the U.S. more headaches.

Some administration leaders had hoped that once Brezhnev's group in the Kremlin became convinced they couldn't get along with Mao Tse-tung, the door would be open for U.S.-Soviet co-operation on some knotty Asian problems and in preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear lands.

Some diplomats hoped that one thing might even lead to another and a handful of U.S. and Soviet tensions might be eased in Europe, the Middle East, Africa and in the arms race.

But it's not working out that way—even though, as in the India-Red China clash, Moscow and Washington seemed to be backing the same side (Delhi).

Brezhnev is now flirting with Pakistan, suggesting aid and support—in direct competition with Red China.

But at the same time Brezhnev is trying to pull Pakistan away from its U.S. ties.

The Kremlin's men are now working to exploit the present wreckage of the Chinese Communist party in Indonesia.

Moscow diplomats are attempting to convince the Indonesian army men that there are "good" Communists and "bad" Communists, the "good" being Moscow-oriented and the "bad" Peiping-oriented. The Russians offer more aid if the army will go easy on the Moscow types. The Russians have leverage here, because of their past hefty arms help to the Indonesians.

But the Moscow men in Indonesia are also spending their time cutting down the Americans.

Moscow has just signed a new trade pact with Peking calculated to pull the North Koreans away from the Red Chinese and toward the Russians. But that's not easing things for us on the 17th parallel.

In parts of Africa, the Russians are playing it carefully. They wait for the Chinese to trip up in a country, then step in with cautious aid played in a low key.

The Kremlin men have begun a new tactic along their southern border. On the surface they are flirting with the governments themselves in Turkey and Iran rather than the undergrounds. (That isn't to say they are not helping the undergrounds, sub rosa.)

In Latin America, the Russians are working to capture control of the revolutionary movements from the Red Chinese. But this merely substitutes one form of revolution for another.

The Russian program puts more emphasis on the "front," in which Communist groups tend to lead behind the scenes until the takeover. Their brand of terrorism is sometimes more subtle. More objectives are captured for the Red cause by blackmail, purchase, sex and entrapment than through killings. (Killings are always present.) But Soviet aims are the same as those of Red China.

When Russia and Red China were partners, and the Communists goofed up in a country—as in Italy or France after World War II, all communism was discredited. Now the problem is more difficult. If the Chinese Communists flounder, the Russians step in saying it was Chinese blundering. If the Russians bobble, the Red Chinese move in. This gives the Communists two doors where before they had one.

Neither the Soviet Union nor Red China is losing sight of this tactic in the midst of their feuding.

What's needed is to find a way to get Red China and Russia to trip each other up—regularly.

NATURE OF GOVERNMENT

Americans are asking, "How did we get involved in a war in Southeast Asia—a war we supposedly cannot win and yet cannot leave either?" How have we reached this point where we seem to be involved in every problem in every sector of the world?

One answer to this question, not usually considered, comes to us from a book published six years ago: "One of the most serious mistakes the citizens can ever make is to grant to their government the power of a draft. Governments which can forcefully enlist the citizens under them, can shoulder their war truculently among all foreign powers, confident that they can compel a final showdown to their liking."

CAUTION REQUIRED
 "Lacking this power, a government is constantly in review before its citizens. The citizens may, in such a case, refuse to accept their government's foreign policies and the errors perpetrated thereby. This would leave such a government in an untenable position. It must move warily and peacefully or risk an ultimate exposure before a hostile force."

The foregoing is from "The Nature of Man and His Government," a short book written by Robert LeFevre, Dean of the Colorado-Freedom School (published by Caxton Printers, Caldwell, Idaho; $1).

LeFevre points out that only a government with the power to draft soldiers and raise unlimited sums of money could risk getting into the foreign intrigues that have engaged our government. Assured that it could back up its programs in a war, it has steadily involved us deeper and deeper in the affairs of the rest of the world.

PURPOSE OF GOVERNMENT
 "The Nature of Man and His Government" examines government from many angles, attempting to pin down its true nature and function. As the author points out, government is a tool devised by man for a purpose. If it is not performing that purpose in the best way possible, it should either be improved upon or replaced. The book studies the possibilities inherent in either of these courses of action.

As Rose Wilder Lane expresses it in the introduction, the book is full of revolutionary ideas. The reader will find it very stimulating.

The Seeing Eye inside the Radiant Triangle which was suggested by Benjamin Franklin, denotes the Eye of God and also learning. Notice the pyramid has 13 steps commemorating the 13 original colonies, and the Roman numerals at the bottom spell out 1776 when we gained our liberty. Many of the words, symbols or arrangements also refer to the 13 original states. Above the eagle's head on the right side you'll see a ring of light with 13 stars and the eagle's left claw holds an olive branch with 13 leaves and seeds on it representing Peace. The right claw holds 13 arrows symbolizing War. The eagle's head is also turned toward the olive branch signifying Peace. From this little bit you can see that much thought went into designing our paper currency.

Today's smile: Two friends were discussing marriage and one said: "Many couples are now omitting 'obey' from the wedding ceremony. Do you think that's right?" The other replied: "Well, it never bothered my wife any."

The camera manufacturers are doing everything to promote photography as the nation's No. 1 hobby. However, the average picture taker only uses a half-dozen rolls of film a year. The average American family owns at least one camera, yet they don't use it very often.

Thoughts while shaving: One of the cheapest items today is the ballpoint pen. You can buy them anywhere for a few pennies or a few dollars for the real fancy ones. Many business establishments give them away as souvenirs. Not too many years ago (when they were first on the market) the lowest price for them was about $10. Back in our day wooden pencils were used as sales gimmicks by businessmen. Now that the Rent-a-car system has worked, don't be surprised if someone doesn't start a service so that you can rent-a-plane.

Push-button gear shifts on automobiles are not new. Back in the early 1920's we recall the Premier (one of the classy autos of that time) boasted of that improvement, but no one got excited about it. At any rate the Premier disappeared from the market, as did so many other cars of that era. Although it's hard to imagine in these days of huge governmental deficits, U. S. politicians once ran the Federal Government with some degree of efficiency. Chester Allen Arthur, one of our least-known Presidents, is best remembered for piling up an annual surplus of around $80 million during his four-year term. A Venetian blind manufacturer recently sent out sales promotion material that was printed with green ink. To impress his potential customers he arranged to mail his missives from such post offices as Shamrock, Texas; St. Patrick, Mo.; Ireland, Ind.; Dublin, N. H.; and Erin, N. Y. The Albuquerque (N.M.) TRIBUNE reported in a story: "We have no business sending our sons into those jungles." We certainly haven't.

Country Editor speaking: "It is amazing what a fellow will do when he has to, and what little he will do when he doesn't have to."

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON
 SALISBURY, RHODESIA:

Prime Minister Ian Smith says, "The white man is master of Rhodesia, has built it and intends to keep it." He won't keep it if he sticks with the policy of racial partnership written into the present constitution. Under it the blacks would take over the government within twenty years. However, a former Prime Minister of the defunct Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, Sir Roy Welensky (who is against the Rhodesian Declaration of Independence) has said that today Rhodesians would not hesitate to choose Mr. Smith's regime rather than a government headed by Mr. Joshua Nkomo, leader of the banned Zimbabwe African People's Union. In fact, Welensky added, "Black nationalists in Rhodesia have failed completely to convince even the black Africans that they are capable of guiding their supporters along the right path, never mind convincing white Africans they are capable of providing a moderate and responsible government."

There are good reasons to believe that the average uneducated black African would rather be governed by whites than by the tyrannical Black Nationalists. The blacks in Rhodesia, even more than more civilized blacks in the West, are incapable of stable, prosperous, strong and intelligent self-government. Will the whites therefore continue to pump their money and brains into the country for only a few more years and then turn it over to the blacks? I think not. I predict that if the Rhodesian secession from Britain is ultimately successful—and I believe it will be—that Rhodesia will adopt an "apartheid" policy similar to that of South Africa. Otherwise, the blacks would take over Rhodesia in a few years, amid chaos.

How many of the whites of the world would willingly choose black rule? How many whites of the world would choose to swim, dance, work, and play with illiterate, diseased, "magic-doctor" worshipping blacks outnumbering them 18 to 1? The answer is practically none—even among the hypocrites heading some of our so-called Christian churches.

Majority rule? Nuts! Majority rule in South Africa and Rhodesia makes no more sense than majority rule in a family with seven small children, four of whom are idiots.

The Rhodesian issue, as well as the South African issue, boils down to a choice which is just as black and white as are the opponents: white, Christian, civilized, progressive rule versus black, communist-infiltrated tyranny leading to the banishment or extermination of the white man. Skins don't rule, brains do. If whites were black and blacks were white, the same people would be in charge. For thousands of years whites have evolved not superior skins but superior civilizations, the like of which the blacks have never even remotely approached in human history. The people whose skin happens to be black have so far proved little ability anywhere for responsible, progressive, stable, intelligent, civilized government.

Diplomats in Addis Ababa reportedly believe that Russia has pledged military and financial help to the African nations in case they attack Rhodesia. Tanzania's second Vice President, Rashidi Kawawa, described the African unity conference in Addis Ababa as "the beginning of the long march... to Cape Town... Africa is going to liquidate colonialism once and for all."

Country Editor speaking: "It is amazing what a fellow will do when he has to, and what little he will do when he doesn't have to."

Wit and Whimsy

The country's oldest resident was being interviewed on the occasion of his 102nd birthday.
 Reporter — To what do you attribute your great age?
 Oldest Resident — It's simple sonny, I've been taking vitamin pills ever since I was 99.

We wonder what kind of stream we'll be crossing in 1968 not to swap horses in the middle of.

Small Boy (to his mother as he was being dragged to the bathtub)—But why can't you just dust me off like you do the furniture?

A clergyman playing on the famous golf course at St. Andrews, Scotland, got into the bunker called "Hell." He asked his caddy why the bunker was so named and was informed that it was because once a player gets into it he cannot get out. Calling for his niblick the clergyman made a fine shot and landed his ball on the green. He turned to his caddy.

Clergyman — What do you say to that now?
 Caddy — All I have to say, sir, is when ye dee, tak yer niblick wi' yer.

Mack — Just got back from a trip around the world.
 Jack — Great. Did you stop off in Egypt?
 Mack — Oh, yes.
 Jack — Go up the Nile?
 Mack — Sure. Swell view from the top.

Two Pampa Girls Initiated at WTSU

CANYON (Spl) — Two Pampa students at West Texas State University were initiated into Buffalo Gals, women's service organization, Sunday.

Cheryl Pitts, sophomore, and Carol Peeples, freshman were among the nine new members present at the formal ceremonies.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pitts, 2908 Rosewood, Miss Pitts is majoring in business administration.

Miss Peeples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peeples, 1706 Grape, is studying to become a nurse.

● Snow

They were light as far south as Tyler, but sleet and snow covered the ground in many places from the Willis Point-Quitman-Pittsburg areas northward to the Oklahoma and Arkansas borders.

Sleet and snow fell at Dallas and Fort Worth Wednesday and Dallas police reported nearly 200 automobile accidents at the height of the storm.

Texarkana got intermittent show, sleet and rain most of the day Wednesday, then began again early today. Wichita Falls had three inches of snow Wednesday, but that melted during the night.

Six inches of snow fell at McLean in the Panhandle and Panhandle and Quanah near the Oklahoma border Wednesday, heaviest snowfall in the state. Five inches fell at Stinnett, Shamrock and Follett, all in the Panhandle. Wellington, Memphis and Childress all got four inches.

In Nederland near the upper Gulf Coast, high winds swept through a marina at the Rainbow bridge, tearing the structure apart, but causing no injury.

Officially at the Jefferson County airport the area had gusts up to 35 miles an hour.

Fog covered almost all the western third of the state early today. It socked in the Amarillo Air Force Base, Lubbock Municipal Air Terminal, Reese Air Force Base and Midland-Odessa Air Terminal.

Gerald Garst, 27, set out in his small foreign auto Wednesday with his pregnant wife, Theresa, to seek the hospital in Amarillo. The stork and snow-slick roads kept him from getting there in time. He had to pull his auto to the side of the road and play doctor.

He delivered the six-pound baby boy and resumed the trip toward Amarillo, getting a police escort.

In 1863, Gen. Joseph Hooker succeeded Gen. Ambrose Burnside as commander of the Army of the Potomac in the Civil War.

Cash Taken In Roller Rink Theft

More than $12 was reported stolen in a break-in at the Pampa Roller Rink, 123 N. Ward, sometime Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

According to W. H. Watson, 306 S. Anne, who reported the break-in, entry to the building was gained by prying a piece of wallboard from a window on the southside of the building. He discovered this at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday.

After getting in the roller rink, the thief or thieves tried to pry the door from a candy machine. The cash register was opened next and $9 in change taken along with the keys for the candy machine.

Using the keys, which were left in the door, the thief took an undetermined amount from the candy machine coin box.

Also taken was $3 in change from a cash drawer, Watson told police.
