

Lindsay Vows To End Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negotiations disintegrated today in New York's subway and bus strike which Mayor John V. Lindsay angrily declared was now a battle between the people and "forces bent on laying siege to the city."

He vowed to end the walkout and "to serve the people and to free them from the hold the collection of power brokers have had over our city."

With the strike's cost in wage and business losses now above $1 billion, the city's economy was reported in the worst straits since the days of the depression in the 1930s. And the national economy felt repercussions.

Somehow the citizenry bounced back. After 11 days without the public transportation that normally carries six million passengers a day, New York was getting used to walking and adjusted to four-hour delays in traffic that sometimes didn't budge a block an hour.

Manhattan Island, 31.2 square miles, Monday absorbed 870,000 automobiles — more than those registered in any of 29 states — and expected, somehow, to admit even more today.

But everyone realized that a calamity could easily occur. A fire engine, luckily not responding to an emergency alarm, was stuck helplessly in one block for 15 minutes during Monday's evening rush hour until firemen finally walked ahead of it and cleared a path.

Hoping to end the strike by the Transport Workers Union (TWU) against the Transit Authority (TA) today, Lindsay went on television to propose an immediate return to work — with or without a contract.

He met rebuff within hours. Lindsay called for one or more of three courses of action: — A settlement based on a (See STRIKE, Page 3)

Commander Explains Bomb Scoring Train

By BOB ADAMS, Daily News Reporter

The mission and operation of the Strategic Air Command Radar Bomb Scoring train, now at Heaton Switch outside Pampa, was described to Chamber of Commerce members Monday by Lt. Col. Frederick G. McGowan, train commander.

An overflow crowd of more than 200 attended the meeting at which Col. McGowan showed a film on the "RBS Express" and answered questions from the audience concerning SAC operations near the city.

Accompanying Col. McGowan to the meeting was Col. Melvin Schultz, commander of the train's parent unit, the 1st Combat Evaluation Group, Barksdale AFB, La. Col. Schultz arrived in Pampa early Monday to inspect the train on its first full day of operation in the area.

SAC bombers, B-52s and B-58s, will make simulated low level bombing runs on targets in the countryside around the city, Col. McGowan said, but no aircraft would be flying low over the city.

The bomb runs, at 1600 to 1700 feet will be about eight miles south of the city. The B-52s are subsonic eight jet aircraft, and the B-58s are four jet aircraft capable of supersonic speeds. No supersonic missions will be flown in the Pampa area, the Colonel emphasized.

There are three radar bomb scoring trains operated by the Air Force. One on the east coast and one on the west, both of which are used for normal day-to-day training, and the one at Pampa, RBS Express Number One. The train at Heaton Switch is used for readiness testing of all SAC crews. During its stay here, crews from every SAC (See TRAIN, Page 3)

Grand Dragon Of Louisiana Klan Testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former member of the Ku Klux belonged to a secret black-masked terrorist organization that burned two Negro churches used by civil rights workers in Slidell, La., last August.

John H. Gipson, 29, told House Klan investigators that he took part in planning the burnings, but made up an excuse at the last minute and did not actually take part.

Gipson told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that when he went to work the next day, last Aug. 3, he heard on the radio that both churches "burned out."

He identified the churches as the Methodist Youth Center and the Providence Baptist Church. Gipson also testified that he and other members of a Klan "wrecking crew" beat a white boy one July night in 1964 because the youth allegedly "didn't take care of his family."

The witness said he quit the Klan just this month.

Gipson said he, Clayton Hickey and Bernard Talley were assigned to burn the Methodist Youth Center.

OU Ponders Fate Of 12 Students Charged In Raid

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — The University of Oklahoma wondered today what punishment it can bring against 12 athletes who were intimate with a 16-year-old girl and against a larger group of youths suspected of sex and marijuana parties.

The students might be expelled from school.

Felony charges were filed Monday against 14 students or former students, charging possession of marijuana and entering a house for the purpose of lewdness and engaging in lewdness. The 16-year-old girl was committed to Central State (mental) Hospital at Norman for observation and two 19-year-old youths in the party investigation were committed as well.

Frank Phillips III of Tulsa, Okla., who said he is the grandson of the founder of Phillips Petroleum Co., was charged in a misdemeanor count of entering a house for the purpose of lewdness. Cynthia Ann Sawtell of Atherton, Calif., was freed on $1,500 bond and Jane Adams of Oklahoma City was freed on $300 bond on charges of engaging in lewdness.

US WAITS ON PEACE REPLIES

NANDA NEW PRIME MINISTER

India Mourns Prime Minister Shastri Death

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India's saddened millions today received the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, man of the people whose final hours were spent in pursuit of peace for a nation which has seen little but hardship and war.

A crowd estimated at 30,000 thronged New Delhi Airport for the arrival of a Soviet Iliushin jet which returned Shastri's body from Tashkent, U.S.S.R., where he succumbed earlier today of a heart attack.

Receiving the body of the 61-year-old Prime Minister were Indian President Dr. S. Radhakrishnan and Shastri's eldest son, Hari Krishnan. It was placed on an open gun carriage flanked by six generals as the vast crowd, many weeping and others shouting "Long live Shastri," pressed forward for final glimpse of the diminutive statesman.

The late afternoon sun cast sharp shadows across the airport as the crowd strained to catch a glimpse of the tiny figure with its familiar Ghandi-style white hat.

Shastri's face appeared serene in death, reflecting the diplomatic triumph of Tashkent, where he signed a historic peace pact with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan just 12 hours before he was stricken.

The accord stipulated India and Pakistan would renounce the use of military force to resolve their decades-old border dispute over Kashmir which twice erupted into undeclared war.

The funeral procession moved slowly along a seven-mile route to Shastri's residence at 10

EXPENSIVE CRACKLE

SPRINGVILLE, Utah (UPI) — Mrs. Jean Wightman's breakfast cost $100 Monday. The loud "snap, crackle and pop" she heard wasn't just from cereal. Some of the extra noise came from eating her daughter's contact lenses.

Her daughter, Mrs. Linda Bartholomev, had placed the lenses in a bowl in the cupboard for safekeeping.

Note Asks Hanoi To Negotiate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A peace bid delivered at a face-to-face meeting between diplomats from the United States and North Viet Nam has so far failed to spark any official reply from the Communists, administration sources said today.

It was disclosed Monday night the United States sent a note to Hanoi more than a week ago clarifying its position on negotiations on the war in Viet Nam and seeking to persuade the Communists to go to the conference table.

Administration officials said the U.S. communication was handed to a North Vietnamese official by an American diplomat at one of the capitals in which the two countries both have representatives.

The message sent to Hanoi apparently was the only such "direct" contact that has been made between the two governments. Hanoi's failure to answer it further dimmed hopes for turning back the tide of war in Southeast Asia and moving closer to the conference table.

Disclosure of the meeting between U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats followed a general statement by White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers it was a "safe deduction" the United States had been in direct contact with Hanoi during the course of the "peace offensive" launched by President Johnson last Dec. 20.

Several factors apparently motivated the administration's decision to disclose its direct approach to Hanoi. Among these were:

— President Johnson's desire to bring the public and Congress up to date on his peace efforts prior to delivering his State of the Union address Wednesday night.

— The assertion by assistant professor Staughton Lynd of Yale University that he was told by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong that the U.S. government had made no contact with his country and this was "quite disturbing."

Moyers said Lynd, who returned Sunday from an unauthorized trip to Hanoi, was "incompletely informed."

Special Session Set On Recommendations

Pampa's city commission will meet in special session next Tuesday to decide what to do about recommendations of three major study committees that would cost approximately $2,900,000.

Aubrey Steele, chairman of an advisory committee named to study financing of recommended city improvements, reported to the commission this forenoon that his committee has decided all the improvements were needed and should be acted on.

Slight Warming Trend Expected

While continued mild and clear winter weather may seem a blessing to city-dwellers, Pampa area farmers were beginning to worry about the lack of moisture for winter wheat crops.

With the exception of a light snow near Christmas, there has been no appreciable precipitation in the Pampa area for more than a month. Rain or snow is needed to replenish ground moisture in the area. Leaf rust is evident in many parts of the area.

It's probable that Pampa farmers might even welcome the fog that has been blanketing other parts of the state.

Officially, the weatherman called for clear to partly cloudy skies today with the temperature reaching the mid-60s. Tonight it will also be warmer with the low dropping only to the 40s. Wednesday it will be somewhat cooler, but the high will still be in the mid-50s.

Thick fog—a hazard to air and automobile travel—clamped a misty blanket on most of North Central, Northeast and extreme South Texas early today. Visibility in some instances was near zero.

The fog was expected to lift gradually during the day. Cloudiness was to increase tonight and Wednesday with scattered showers in East and Central Texas. Another cold front was expected to sweep into Northwest Texas Wednesday.

LBJ Goes All Out to Solve Negro Slaying

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UPI) — President Johnson Monday asked that the full resources of the Justice Department be thrown into the investigation of the night rider firebombing slaying of a prominent Negro merchant and civil rights backer.

The death of Vernon Dahmer, 58, late Monday from fatal burns set off a demonstration by 300 angry Negroes who marched on the courthouse and demanded action against his attackers.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the President "expressed to me his deep concern over the tragedy," and asked the full resources of the Justice Department be employed in the investigation.

Although so badly burned that he died several hours later from the fire touched off by a volley of "Molotov cocktails," Dahmer managed to fire a shotgun blast that struck his attackers' car.

The automobile was recovered about three miles away with its tires and rear end shot up. It remained a prime clue for scores of FBI and state agents investigating the attack. The car's owner reported it stolen.

Jaycees Launch Project Concern

The second annual "Project Concern" drive was kicked off today by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to Dr. Jim Alexander and Joe Dickey who are in charge of the program.

Project Concern is a drive to collect surplus sample drugs from physicians and dentists for shipment to Dr. James W. Turpin in Hong Kong. Dr. Turpin founded and directs the non-profit relief organization which operates three out-patient clinics in Hong Kong.

More than 500 indigent patients are treated daily by Project Concern. It also runs a feeding program for more than 1,000 children at the clinics.

In last year's local Project Concern drive, the Pampa Jaycees collected drugs estimated to be worth more than $15,000. It is expected that this year the amount collected may be somewhat less, because doctors will not have a backlog of excess sample drugs.

In addition to its Hong Kong activities, Project Concern provides hospital services at Da-Mpao, Viet Nam, and has a mobile clinic unit paying visits regularly to more than two dozen villages and strategic hamlets.

Project Concern has helped to develop in cooperation with the Vietnamese government, hospital at Dalat, a village medical officer training program for young men and women.

Project Concern's international staff includes more than 100 doctors, nurses, pharmacists, laboratory technicians, teachers and volunteers in many capacities.

FOUR RESCUED FROM SUNKEN FREIGHTER

Coast Guard Presses Search for Crewmen

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Coast Guard, encouraged by the survival of four men who spent a harrowing night bobbing in a raft in stormy seas, today pressed a search for other crewmen who abandoned a sinking Spanish freighter in north Atlantic gale.

The four survivors told rescuers at least 23 other crew members left the crippled Monte Palomares in a lifeboat and another raft as winds up to 60 knots and waves 35 feet high crashed against the listing ship.

The Coast Guard said the radio report from the rescue ship Steel Maker did not account for the total number aboard the Monte Palomares, but the ship's owners said it normally had a crew of 38.

The four men apparently suffered no serious effects during their 12-hour ordeal in the life raft.

The Coast Guard said its preliminary search efforts showed no sign of other lifeboats, or of the 474-foot freighter itself which reported about 3 p.m. Monday that the crew was abandoning ship about 840 miles northeast of Bermuda.

in the area during a fierce gale which began to subside during the night. The Coast Guard said one of the others was also in danger of sinking, but a cutter was rendering assistance alongside.

The Coast Guard said the 30 crewmen of the Greek freighter Lampis, its hull battered by the storm, were expected to abandon ship after daybreak today and board the awaiting cutter Androscoffin.

The Monte Palomares was carrying grain from Norfolk, Va., to Spain when its cargo shifted under the strain of winds and high seas. It tossed the 5,973-ton vessel on its side, heeling at an angle of 30 degrees.

The Lampis, a 441-foot ship traveling about 240 miles southwest of the stricken Spanish ship, was battered by winds and seas until its hull cracked, bulkheads weakened and it began to take on water.

Engine damage left a third ship, the Polish freighter K. I. Galczynski, distressed in the same general area—700 miles north of Bermuda. But the 5,584-ton vessel was not reported in danger of sinking, and awaited arrival of a tug to tow it to Halifax, N.S. It had been bound from northern Europe to New York.

From the air, the Michelin rubber plantation some 30 miles north of Saigon looks just as lush and green as ever. But on the ground the earth is scarred by wrecked tunnels which were Viet Cong hideouts, and white latex drips uselessly to the ground from rubber trees ripped and torn by shell fire. The plantation is abandoned now, a victim of the war.

From the air Saigon, too, retains the tropic beauty which made it a pearl of the Orient. That's because distance hides the grimy urchins who sleep in doorways and beg from American GIs, the honky tonks on Tu Do Street and the general air of decay which each day leads to many hours without electricity and shortages of everything from hotel rooms to baby powder.

Economic Destruction
A nation can die from means other than bombs and bullets. For part of South Viet Nam's illness is a roaring inflation which, combined with the shortage of consumer goods, drives prices steadily upward. Part of it, too, is an uneven division of income which leaves hundreds of thousands of South Vietnamese poverty-stricken.

A third element, of course, is Viet Con terrorism which increases throughout the countryside even as the war itself grows bigger.

The abandoned Michelin plantation, once described as Viet Nam's largest, stands as a symbol of wartime destruction. In 1960, just as Americans were predicting hopefully that South Viet Nam would become self-sustaining in the next five years and just as the Communists were mounting their all-out attack against the Saigon government, South Viet Nam exported $48 million worth of rubber and $27 million worth of rice.

Exports Cut
By the end of 1965, rubber exports had been cut almost in half. In the first half of 1966, the United States will distribute 175,000 tons of rice to a South Viet Nam which no longer can feed 255 itself.

But there is another, subtler form of national destruction and in this, ironically, the Americans must share the blame. In Saigon, the skeletons of new five and 10 story, one-room-and-bath apartments rise in almost every quarter of the city as prosperous Vietnamese and Chinese merchants see a quick profit from the more than 32,000 Americans who work in the city. All it takes is money and the highest bid for labor. As result both cement and labor are short for normal repairs.

New Harbor Built
At Cam Ranh Bay, on South Viet Nam's China Sea coast,

the Americans are developing one of the finest harbors in Southeast Asia to relieve the pressure on Saigon. Employed on this and other military projects are close to 100,000 Vietnamese laborers at wages higher than normal. The result is uneven distribution of income, a shortage of labor and supplies to build schools, water systems, market places and other public facilities to benefit the peasant and win his loyalty.

Fearing that a continuation of the vicious circle could lead to the fall of another South Vietnamese government, the United States this year is expected to up its economic aid to $600 million, an increase of $200 million.

STRIKES FIGURES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strikes hit a 10-year peak in 1965 but working time lost because of the walkouts remained a "notably low level" for the post war period, the Labor Department announced today. The department reported that 3,860 strikes occurred during the year involving 1,480,000 workers and accounting for 23.1 million man-days of idleness, which matched the 1964 figure.

State of Union Due Congress Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress marked the second day of its 1966 session today with high-level briefings on the Viet Nam war and the first of its huddles on political housekeeping.

No business was scheduled in either House until after President Johnson delivers his State-of-the-Union message at joint session Wednesday night.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was called today — to give the House, Foreign Affairs Committee a session-opening briefing on world problems, with special emphasis on Viet Nam.

On the Senate side, a six-man special subcommittee was being briefed on the same grim outlook by Central Intelligence Agency Director William F. Raborn and his aides.

The importance of Rusk's report was heightened when it was learned that there has been direct contact between the United States and North Viet Nam in the administration's current peace offensive.

But it was shadowed by news of the sudden death of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri in Tashkent. Some lawmakers were privately concerned over Kashmir and cause Communist China to risk fresh pressure on India.

Awaiting the President's message and his expected review of the Viet Nam problems, Senate Democrats scheduled a party conference this morning to affirm the selection of a new sergeant-at-arms and plan for the year. Joseph C. Duke, who retired from the $27,500 a year post because of poor health, was slated to be succeeded by his deputy, Robert G. Dunphy, 45.

City Appoints Five to Pampa Zoning Board

City commissioners today approved the appointment of Tom Snow, Bill Duncan, Jim Brown, Walden Haynes and John Lee Bell for two-year terms on the City Zoning Board.

All members were re-appointed except Duncan, named as a new member following the resignation of Floyd Imel who had served on the board since 1952. Snow was named board chairman.

The commission also appointed Bill Hunt as a master electrician and Gilbert McVey as a journeyman electrician on the Board of Electrical Examiners.

In other business today, the commission opened four bids on the purchase of four city trucks. Successful bidders will be announced next week. Four bids were submitted.

Authorization was given for payment on $1,111.65 to T. B. Solomon on a 1957 Water & Sewer refund contract.

Payment of $68,106.01 to A. W. Boren, contractor, for work on the city sewage plant was approved.

Commissioners authorized the placing of $50,000 from the Water & Sewer Fund on time deposit and okayed the purchase of $125,000 in U. S. Treasury bills from the sewer improvement bond fund.

Monthly bills of $20,746.24, including $284.89 in library bills, were approved for payment.

Strike

proposal by the strike's three action:

—A settlement based on a proposal by the strike's three mediators;

—Appointment of three new fact-finders who would propose a settlement while the 36,000 strikers worked;

—Or any alternative to these steps, including binding or non-binding arbitration. Under arbitration, both sides agree in advance to accept the proposals of an outside group.

The Republican mayor, who in 11 days in office has coped with little else but the transit crisis, coupled his proposals with a denunciation of the strike leaders.

"A handful of men consigned a city of eight million people to paralysis," he said. "Forces bent on laying siege to the city seemed to move forward as if following a pre-arranged script."

Lindsay spoke after a day of no negotiations. None followed his speech.

The Transit Authority continued to present evidence before a judge, seeking a daily fine of $322,000 against the union. The hearing resumed today.

Douglas MacMahon, chief union negotiator, rejected Lindsay's proposal. "The strike must be settled across the bargaining table," he said.

He accused Lindsay of sabotaging an agreement which he said was nearly concluded during 13.5 non-stop hours of bargaining over the weekend.

Mediator Sylvester Garrett said today he would press both sides to accept Lindsay's solution. Asked if collective bargaining had collapsed, he refused to answer.

Helen Marie Lyons, 811½ S. Gray, was arraigned on a charge of shoplifting.

W. D. Diffee, 419½ W. Francis, was arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault. The complaint was signed by Dorene Diffee.

PESO Report Due School Board Session Thursday

A progress report on PESO and its application to Pampa schools is scheduled for Thursday morning's regular meeting of the Pampa School Board.

PESO is the government program of federal aid for educationally deprived school children.

The Pampa Independent School District's allotment of the federal funds is approximately $100,000.

The local school board voted to join Panhandle Educational Services Organization on a one-year trial basis and it is expected to be in operation locally at the start of the next school semester.

The program is administered from West Texas State University. Dr. Emmitt Smith of WTSU is director of the program for the Panhandle.

Other business on the Thursday school board agenda includes: Consideration of a tax contract and agreement between the City of Pampa and the school district, report from the business manager and payment of bills and invoices.

Eight Change Plea As County Court Docket Is Called

Fifteen misdemeanor cases were set for trial by the Gray County Court during the jury week beginning at 10 a.m. Jan. 18. In eight of the cases, the defendants appeared before the County Judge Monday and changed their plea from not guilty to guilty.

In the other cases tried, all on charges of driving while intoxicated, each defendant was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to three days in jail. Each defendant applied for and was granted six months probation.

The eight persons tried were: Elmo Taylor, 533 N. Christy; Tom Willis, 1004 Neel Rd.; C. W. Bailey, 501 N. Nelson; John Peterson, 1021 Duncan; Leroy Morgan, 401 N. Davis; Larry Filipo, 309 E. Browning; Richard C. McDowell, 1112 S. Wilcox; and Barbara Harris, 337 S. Finley.

Cases pending for the jury and the charges involved are: Richard James Gilstrap, DWI; Lloyd Wolfe, DWI; D. A. M. Pool, DWI; A. R. Russey, Shoplifting; Jesse Earl Washington, DWI; Joe Dale Cook, DWI; Clide Steele, unlawfully carrying a pistol.

Additional Items Found Stolen In Foundry Break-in

Further investigation of a weekend burglary at the Pampa Foundry Monday revealed the loss of two power tools worth $600 and theft of $3 in coins from a soda machine in the company's shop area.

When the theft was first reported to police, it was believed that only $5 in change and a case of soda were missing. These items were taken from the office area.

The burglary, the second in a week at the foundry, 701 S. Gray, occurred sometime between 12:15 p.m. Saturday and 4:05 p.m. Sunday.

Entry to the building was gained by taking a board from a rear door, reaching in and unlatching the door.

An attempt was made to break into a vending machine in the office, but was unsuccessful. A $5 in petty cash was taken from the desk.

Police found a partial pack of cigarettes and a full bottle of beer on the desk.

Police surmised that, after rifling the office, the burglars went to the shop area where they took the two tools, a vertical grinder valued at $350 and an air-powered chipping hammer valued at $250.

The coin box in the shop area vending machine was broken into and the estimated $3 in change taken. A partial bottle of beer was found in the shop area.

Cigarette Warning Has Little Effect

DALLAS (UPI) — A top tobacco executive said today the warning required for cigarette packages starting Jan. 1 will have little impact on sales.

"I think the American public is too intelligent to pay any attention to that type of warning," said Manuel Yellen, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of P. Lorillard Co. "Personally, I do not feel it is any more warranted than a warning against fast automobile drivers, over-indulgence in alcohol or too high cholesterol."

Yellen was in Dallas for P. Lorillard's national sales meeting.

Director Honored At CoC Luncheon

Departing Pampa High School music director, Fred Stockdale and Mrs. Stockdale were honored at the Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon Monday at the Coronado Inn.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool, chairman for contest and concert arrangements for the Doc Severinsen National Stage Band Contest, expressed his regrets at the music director's departure shortly before the contest, which is scheduled Feb. 5.

Vanderpool presented Stockdale with a desk set which included a thermometer, pen and engraved plaque.

Norman Henry, Chamber president, gave Stockdale a certificate making him an honorary "Top o' Texas." To Mrs. Stockdale, Henry presented a bouquet of long-stemmed roses.

Stockdale, Pampa music director for three and one-half years, has submitted his resignation effective Jan. 21. He has accepted a position with Goodrich Industries, Inc., an Oklahoma City chemical firm.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary Lou Lester
Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Lou Lester, 79, of Lufkin, former resident of Pampa and teacher in Woodrow Wilson Elementary School, were scheduled to be held today in Lufkin. Burial was to be in Rusk Cemetery by the side of her husband, John L. Lester Sr. who preceded her in death in 1943.

Mrs. Lester died Saturday in the Lufkin home of a daughter, Mrs. A. A. Hubbard, with whom she resided at the time of death.

Mrs. Lester taught in the Pampa school from 1926 to 1944, at which time she moved to Lufkin. She was a member of the Christian Church.

Survivors include one son, 18 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Two Pampa Delegation Attend Area Meetings

Two delegations from the Pampa Chamber of Commerce attended activities of other area Chambers Monday evening.

Representatives of the Top of Texans Club, led by club president David Tucker, attended the installation banquet of the Wheeler Chamber. Jim Wright was installed as the new president of the Wheeler organization.

Pampa Chamber president Norman Henry and manager E. O. Wedgeworth, accompanied by their wives, attended the banquet of the Amarillo Chamber at Holiday Inn West. Speaker at the meeting was humorist Bob Murphy of Nagodoches.

New Rental Company Opens Here Jan. 14

The new A to Z Rental Center, 1541 N. Hobart, will have its grand opening January 14-16, according to Glenn M. Wingham, proprietor.

The new business is a member of the nation-wide, owner-operated A to Z Rental System. Refreshments will be served at the grand opening.

Wingham, a former oil field service engineer with Baker Tools, Inc., lives with his wife, Mary Lou, at 1305 Garland. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the American Legion.

Todd Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., has deplored public reluctance to discuss family planning.

Todd said Monday that family planning and birth control were largely ignored topics in forecasts of what Congress will do in its new session.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just install a little FASTREX, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTREX at any drug counter.

Train

unit in the United States will fly missions on the train.

"They'll be coming from Puerto Rico, Loring, Maine, and Fairchild AFB, Wash.," Col. McGowan said. The bomb runs here will climax flying missions of 14 hours or more for the crews. During the over-all mission, they will have accomplished aerial refuelings, have tested their ability at celestial navigation, made simulated air-to-ground missile runs and undertaken a number of other combat tests.

"On these missions, the crews know its time to go home when the weight of the paperwork is more than the weight of the plane," Col. McGowan said. "They say among the crews that any man, who has time to eat his lunch on one of these missions, isn't doing his job."

When an aircraft approaches the train, the train radar picks it up and tracks it into the target. The bombardier is scored on how close to the target he places his simulated bomb.

As he directs the aircraft into the target, the bombardier starts a signal 20 seconds before he releases his "bomb." Scoring devices on the train record the exact moment of bomb release and, from this, the accuracy of the run is computed.

"They don't miss very often. Those that do are placed on probation for six months," Col. McGowan said. He pointed out that after 14 or more hours in the air, the crews have a two-minute "time slot" in which they must enter the programmed bomb run corridor.

How accurate are they? Col. Schultz said, "I don't know of a SAC crew that couldn't make that two-minute slot. It's all a matter of professionalism that we expect and get from them all."

The targets in the Pampa area are actually plowed fields, known to the crews only by geographic coordinates. "We try to pick targets that do not present a clear radar picture. The bombardier must find his target by reference points in the radar screen," McGowan explained.

While in the past, open house has been held aboard the train at each stop, this practice has been discontinued, the colonel said. However, organized groups of eight or 10 may tour the train by prior appointment. A group wishing to make the tour should contact the colonel of the train as far in advance as possible.

Sick Pay Credits Tightened Up

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Sick pay allowances on your tax return are not nearly as liberal as they were a few years ago. Nevertheless, they still present an opportunity for a genuine tax savings.

To realize a tax exclusion in this category you must have been absent from work because of sickness or injury in 1965 and during this period continued to receive wages or salary, or amounts in lieu thereof, under your employer's wage continuation program.

Two categories apply and each has its special rules in er who receives 75 per cent or less of his normal pay during such periods.

His waiting period is shortened to seven consecutive days if he was hospitalized for at least one day during the total period of absence, the waiting period is waived and he receives an exclusion from the first day.

This worker's exclusion is limited to a rate not to exceed $75 a week. After 30 days the exclusion is hiked to a rate not to exceed $100 a week.

Here's an example to illustrate this rule:

The worker is absent 40 days amount received ($340) by 75 ($25,500) and divides by the weekly rate of pay ($100). This gives him an exclusion of $255 for those first 30 days.

After that his weekly exclusion rate goes up to a maximum of $100. For those remaining 10 days when he received $160 he can exclude the full payment since it was received at the maximum exclusion rate of $100 weekly.

His total sick pay exclusion is the sum of $255 for the first 30 days and $160 for the final 10 days, or $415.

Sick pay exclusions are reported on Page 2 of Form 1040 determining the deduction. One set of rules is applicable to employees who received full pay or more than 75 per cent of regular pay during their absence. Still different rules are used when the rate of pay received is 75 per cent or less than normal amount.

Let's take first those who received more than 75 per cent of regular pay:

There is no exclusion allowed until you have been absent because of sickness or injury for at least 30 calendar days. Thereafter, the amount to be excluded is limited to a rate not to exceed $100 a week.

To help understand the rule consider this example: A worker who receives a salary of $250 a week is absent from work for 40 days because of sickness. His full salary is continued while he is away.

In computing his exclusion, subject the 30-day waiting period. For the remaining 10 days his salary was $400. IRS rules prescribe that in determining the credit, the amount received ($400) is multiplied by 100 - $40,000 and then divided by the weekly rate of pay ($250). This produces a sick pay credit of $160.

New take the case of a work-because of sickness. He is not hospitalized at any time during the period. His normal weekly pay is $150 but this is reduced to $100 a week during periods of illness. This rate is 66 per cent of his usual rate so he qualifies for the under 75 per cent treatment.

He first computes the first 30-day exclusion. After deducting the seven-day waiting period he has 23 sick days for which he can exclude his pay at a $75 weekly rate. His pay for this period was $340. In computing his exclusion he multiplies the in the Part III section labeled "Adjustments."

Whenever such exclusion is taken, a statement explaining the details and the methods of computing the credit should be attached to the return.

WRECKAGE FOUND
BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—Wreckage of a Colombian air force DC3 was located Monday in the mountains 30 miles east of Bogota. At least six persons were believed to have perished in the crash.

The air force said the plane was lost during the night on a flight between Villavicencio and Bogota. It carried three crewmen and at least three passengers, all Colombian nationals.

In 1964, Pope Paul VI and Greek Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met in Jerusalem to discuss Christian unity.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The private construction industry will bear the main impact of the $2.75 a ton average increase in the prices of steel structural shapes, government experts said Monday. Some shapes widely used in private building actually are being raised $4 to $5 a ton while those of very large beams and girders used in highway building are not being increased in most cases.

WASHINGTON —Unemployment 4.1 per cent of the working force, the lowest level in almost nine years, the Labor Department reported.

NEW YORK —Two industrial giants, Bell Telephone and Du Pont, announced that their capital outlays will be at record levels. The Bell outlays will be about level with last year's record $3.9 billion. Du Pont expects to spend $400 million, up from actual outlays of about $300 million in 1965.

NEW YORK —Two large new paperboard plants for the South have been announced. Owens-Illinois Inc. will build a $100 million unit at Orange, Tex., and United Fruit Co. will join MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Ltd. in building a $55 million linerboard plant at Pine Hill, Ala.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oppenheimer, Newburg & Neu says it continues to believe that the current market strength offers the excellent opportunity to nail down profits on stocks which have risen sharply over the last six to 12 years.

Spear & Staff Inc. says it sees no reason to change its established market policy of purchasing shares in strong earnings situations with a good story.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute says market irregularity is likely to continue over the near term, much depending on Viet Nam developments and the new administration budget.

Playboy Girl On Viet Nam Visit

SAIGON (UPI) —(Pretty Jo Collins, Playboy Magazine's "Playmate of the Year," flew to Viet Nam today to deliver a kiss and a lifetime subscription to the magazine to a paratrooper company now in combat against the Viet Cong.

An envious infantryman, shouldered aside by the paratroopers who promptly took charge of the bunny, whistled from a respectful distance as Miss Collins stepped off the plane and said:

"Boy, look at that. She's real... a real American girl, and what a girl."

Miss Collins, 20, of Eugene, Ore., walked from a plane into the warm tropical sun basking the airport dressed in a cream and red wool suit. On the lapel of the suit was a solid gold bunny pin with a ruby eye.

Pfc. Marvin Hudson (Lake View Place), Eastport, (Long Island) N.Y., stepped up, put an airborne fatigue cap on her head and handed her a bouquet of 25 red roses.

The roses were mounted on top of what appeared to be a water buffalo's skull. The unit Miss Collins is here to see is Bravo Company, 2nd Battalion, 503rd Infantry of the 173rd Airborne Brigade. The company is known here as the Buffalo company.

"I'm happy to be here," Miss Collins said, and promptly planted a kiss on Hudson's cheek. He blushed deeply, can outlaging the lipstick.

Tuesday morning, she will visit Lt. John S. Price of Oklahoma City, a wounded officer who was "Project Bunny" officer—the man in charge of trying to get the playmate to Viet Nam.

The project began last November when someone from Price's unit recalled that Playboy had offered to have bunny make personal delivery to anyone purchasing a lifetime subscription to the magazine for $125.

The money was quickly collected and Price wrote the magazine. He made it fairly plain that he and the rest of the men were more interested in delivery than the subscription.

"We would appreciate so very much a real, living, breathing American girl," Price wrote. "We have unambiguously decided it should be the 'Playmate of the Year.'"

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) —One of the solemn duties the House and Senate perform on opening day is appoint committees to notify the President that Congress is back in session.

If you close your eyes real tight and inhale deeply from a benzedrine snifter, you may be able to visualize the scenes that take place as this annual drama unfolds.

Scene I

The President is in his White House office, nervously pacing the floor and biting his fingernails. At frequent intervals, he calls in one of his aides.

"Any word from the Capitol yet?"

"No, sir. At last report, members were milling around in the chambers, slapping backs and shaking hands. Our lookouts on Capitol Hill say the situation is still touch-and-go."

"The suspense is getting unbearable. Let me know the moment there is any indication whether or not they are going to convene."

Scene II

The Notification Committee is secretly conferring in one of the Capitol cloakrooms.

"We could never get away with it."

"Right. It's almost impossible to keep the President from finding out that Congress is in session. If we don't tell him, someone else will."

"Maybe we could keep it quiet for a few days at least. That would give us time to sort of get unpacked before he starts snowing us under with 'must' legislation."

"Maybe so, but it would be risky. If we did convene without telling him, and he got wind of it, his feelings would be hurt."

"That's true. Life might be easier if he didn't know, but the news is sure to leak out. Then it would be Katie-bar-the-door."

"I say the only thing to do is make a clean breast of it. Get him on the phone and tell him present. He'll appreciate our frankness. Maybe he'll show his gratitude by letting us adjourn early this year."

"I agree. Since he's bound to hear about it sooner or later, it would be better if he heard it from us first."

'Sergeant Brown Is Dead, Sir'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
COURTENAY, Viet Nam (NEA) — Bravo Company had to fall back.

They had stumbled into an ambushing roost of Viet Cong who were fortified inside camouflaged rows of freshly dug trenches. Over the ditches, suicide snipers had been lashed to observation trees to direct knee high fire on the approaching Yanks.

The boys from B made several belly crawling assaults, under iron steel, toward an enemy they could not see and positions they could not locate. Grenades popped like thunder. Automatic weapons fouled the air.

But it was no use. Wet with rain and sweat, dirty with mud and blood, Bravo Company broke contact, regrouped and took combat census.

"Anybody missing?" a lieutenant whispered.

wounded the cause of organized labor. Quill's blow was appropriately timed to throw a block against repeal of Taft-Hartley's section 14-B.

That section authorizes states to forbid compulsory unionism within their borders. Repeal of 14-B was big labor's No. 1 demand of the Johnson administration in the first session of the 89th Congress. President Johnson is heavily indebted to big labor for its campaign money, campaign workers and election day votes.

But Johnson also is a believer in right-to-work as his record in Congress and on the Texas campaign stump clearly demonstrates. The President twisted no arms to obtain repeal of right-to-work as his record in Congress and on the Texas campaign stump clearly demonstrates. The President twisted no arms to obtain repeal of right-to-work. Senate GOP leader Everett McKinley Dirksen courageously organized a filibuster to prevent repeal. Johnson made no effort to break it.

Johnson casually and briefly committed himself to 14-B repeal in this second session of the 89th Congress. His pledge was made last month to the AFL-CIO 10th annual convention in San Francisco. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was more aggressively for repeal. He gave the delegates sort of half-time football pep talk — fight-fight-fight. And HHH promised 14-B would be scuttled.

Opinion polls and other samplings of the public mind have been for months reflecting majority support for voluntary unionism and majority sentiment against repeal of 14-B. If doubt remained, it must have vanished under pressure of Quill's brutal strike against the nation's larriest city.

Quill is an example of union leaders who persuade fair-minded citizens to hope that the unioners will have less rather than more power. Compulsory unionism sets up the public for abuses of union power. The public seems to be getting the word on that.

MAY-SEPTEMBER
CUNEO, Italy (UPI) — A girl of 14 has married a 62-year-old widower. She has become the step-mother of six—the oldest aged 30—and seven little ones call her grandmother.

Businessman Francesco Casetta and young Yolanda Margherita Dovetta, whose mother is a poor peasant woman, were married Dec. 27 in the village of Frassinio. The bans were issued only today. The bans were delayed until Catholic Church authorities gave a special dispensation required because of the bride's age.

NUGENT DUTY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Airman 3-C Patrick J. Nugent is on duty close to his fiancée Luci Johnson.

Nugent, who hopes to wed Luci this summer, is stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., for a four-month period of active duty with the District of Columbia Air National Guard.

area, of course. The men wondered if they would ever find his body.

By mid-morning all combat had ceased and the jungle was thick with steam. Silently, the boys from B collected their gear for an air evacuation.

Suddenly, one of them heard a noise. He turned his head and blinked his eyes. A few yards away a man approached awkwardly, his eyes red, his face white, his clothes caked with stain of blood.

Hey, GIs," the man cried. "Dazed, frightened, sick with confusion, he was near collapse. But Sgt. Jim Brown was by no means dead.

(In London, it was learned that Wilson was preparing a declaration of conditions under which it would agree to talks to end the crisis, and there were reports that he was planning additional sanctions to hasten Rhodesia's end.)

Britain Confident Rhodesia's Days Will Soon Be Numbered

Lagos, Nigeria (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson, more confident than ever that rebel Rhodesia's days are numbered, was due here tonight for the British Commonwealth Ministers Conference on Rhodesia.

About 19 of the 22 Commonwealth member nations were to attend the conference, which opens Tuesday at the plush Federal Palace Hotel. Fewer than 10 of them were to be represented by their premiers or heads of state.

Reports persisted that Wilson believed it was only a matter of time before economic sanctions forced the collapse of Premier Ian Smith's regime which seized unilateral independence Nov. 11.

Pope Paul Upset Over Retaining of Church Cardinal

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI was reported "deeply upset" today over the Polish government's refusal to allow Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski to leave Warsaw, the same Communist capital which the pontiff's hoped to visit this spring.

Vatican sources said the pontiff's planned journey behind the Iron Curtain—the first trip any Pope would have made to a Communist nation—now is almost certainly off.

In 1960, British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan began a twenty thousand mile tour of British Africa.

In 1927, regular trans-Atlantic telephone service began between New York and London.

Mike Quill's disgraceful leadership of the New York City transportation strike probably killed any chance that remained of repealing right-to-work provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Quill's conduct landed him in jail on a charge of contempt of court. He is a notable exhibit of compulsory unionism. Quill is one with the racial demonstrators who hold that to violate the law in a good cause is not extremism. The racial demonstrators have been getting away with it but Quill landed in the pokie.

Spokesmen for organized labor in New York City did the union cause no good when they demanded that Mayor John V. Lindsay spring Quill from the lockup. If Lindsay knows his political history he will not intervene in Quill's behalf. The appropriate history relates to the Boston, Mass., police strike in September, 1919. Calvin Coolidge was governor of Massachusetts. Although Coolidge actually sat out the real crisis, sloppy reporting of events caused the American people to view Coolidge as a courageous defender of law and order.

Cautious Cal helped to create that mistaken popular judgment by issuing a bold heroic statement in his own behalf after the ball was over. He said:

"There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time."

That statement on the Boston police strike put Coolidge on the path that led to the White House. Lindsay might hope to parody Quill's strike against the public safety into political riches. As for Quill, it is possible that his arrogance will destroy his union because it is now possible for the courts to levy enormous fines against the strikers. The law forbids Quill's union to strike.

Mike Quill's arrogance almost matches that of Dave Beck, the disgraced former Teamster president and James R. Hoffa, who succeeded Beck. They are three more or less of a kind, all having grievously

REBUNK RUSSIA
LONDON (UPI) — Britain rebuked Russia Monday for a statement attacking American actions in Southeast Asia and accusing Washington of plans to spread the Viet Nam war into Laos and Cambodia.

"We hope that its production and publication do not foreshadow any Soviet reluctance to pursue more constructive exchanges," said a foreign office spokesman.

Russia published the statement Sunday night and suggested that the British and Soviet governments, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indochina, should circulate the statement to other members of the conference.

JUST BEAUTY: Visitors are invariably awed by the expanse of scenic grandeur offered by an outdoor chapel in the Blue Ridge mountains of South Carolina.

They Call It 'Pretty Place'

By PAUL JONES
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CAMP GREENVILLE, S. C. (NEA) — There is at first only a gray stone wall, the face of the chapel, at the end of the winding road atop Standing Stone mountain.

Then, above the chapel's open door, a stout oak beam bears the inscription: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills."

Inside, beyond the beamed roof and the rows of wooden pews, beyond the massive stone pillars with their inscribed quotations from the Bible, is a simple wooden pulpit and a large wooden cross.

And beyond the cross, unhindered by walls, is a panorama of incredible beauty — range after range of the Blue Ridge mountains in a 50-mile vista stretching as far as the eye can see.

It is formally known as Symmes Chapel. Folks around here simply call it "Pretty Place."

The rustic little wayside chapel was built in 1928 by mountain people. It is maintained by the Greenville YMCA through an endowment by the Fred W. Symmes family.

Thousands of visitors of all faiths come to Pretty Place each year. They find it beautiful the year round — in the splendor of fall and winter, in the freshness of a mountain spring and summer.

And always, they stand silent in their private thoughts. They say they come away refreshed.

A 14-year-old boy, dying of leukemia, told his mother, "I keep seeing that beautiful scene at the mountain chapel."

One young man, a frequent visitor to Pretty Place, wrote: "You can see why it is called 'Pretty Place' by those who know it well."

"But I wonder if you have ever seen it on a clear, cool night. Standing at the front of the open chapel in the clean, crisp mountain air, with the lights of the Piedmont twinkling below, virgin mountain-land and timber around you and star-filled heavens above, you can really understand why 'Pretty Place' spreads a warmth and peace that very few places can bring."

Thousands come here, but they are a relative handful to the numbers who travel to a Niagara Falls or a Lookout Mountain. For Pretty Place is unique among tourist attractions.

There is no admission fee, no barker, no attendant, nothing to buy. It is not ballyhooed by billboards and bumper stickers. But somehow people find it.

format in order to meet the competition of NBC-TV's "Flipper" series, one can only hope to see more of the Gleason-to-Carney-to-Meadows triumvirate if their schedules allow.

You don't really have any doubts about the plot of Saturday's adoption tale, do you? Naturally, a struggling couple (Gleason and Miss Meadows) who are childless pray that their application to adopt a child will be accepted. One day it is. They fix up their home so that the agency representative will be impressed—but of course she finds out it is last-minute decorating, but feels they will make good parents anyway because of their overflowing love.

How can such an outrageous approach be so pleasant? The name of the game, friends, is still talent—and with stars the caliber of Gleason, Carney and Miss Meadows, you could get a few laughs out of "Antigone," or "Hedda Gabler," or even William Dean Howells. Maybe even out of Abov Mann?

Old Sparks Apparent
Usually show business reunions are about as satisfying as reheated coffee. But none of the old spark of the "Honey-mooners" trio was missing as they tied into their cliches with sheer exuberance on the Saturday night Gleason series slot. It was as though the three great troupers had worked together only last week, and yet it has been years. And with Gleason's series happily going more and more toward special type productions, and veering away from standard variety

Ambassador To Call on Still Another Country

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — President Johnson today apparently asked roving Ambassador Averell Harriman to call on yet another head of state with a Viet Nam peace message.

A spokesman said Harriman would leave Canberra Wednesday morning for an as yet undisclosed destination. The spokesman said it would not be New Zealand or a direct route to the United States and required landing clearance in advance.

Harriman on the eighth stop of his peace tour, had a 15-minute private discussion today with Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies. Then he spent two hours outlining Johnson's peace moves to Menzies and senior members of this government in the cabinet room at parliament house.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The weekend reunion of CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason with Art Carney and Audrey Meadows in a musical-comedy version of their old "Honeymooners" series used the plot of a childless couple that adopts a baby. Everything—the story, the dialogue, the music, the acting—was full of every cliché and every tear-jerking cornballism that show business has on file for adoption productions, and the result was thoroughly enjoyable.

How can such an outrageous approach be so pleasant? The name of the game, friends, is still talent—and with stars the caliber of Gleason, Carney and Miss Meadows, you could get a few laughs out of "Antigone," or "Hedda Gabler," or even William Dean Howells. Maybe even out of Abov Mann?

Dear Abby... Guessing and Goofing Could Lose a Sale

DEAR ABBY: We are all members of the Retail Clerks Association, and are facing a serious problem. The store manager insists that we address all our customers as Miss, Madam, or Sir, whichever the case may be. Inasmuch as we are on a commission basis, we are not about to insult a customer intentionally, but many young men with the "Beatle" haircuts are now using eye shadow, fingernail polish, hair spray, etc., and it's almost impossible to tell the boys from the girls.

DEAR IMOGENE: Believe it or not, natural beauty can be something of a handicap. Some beauties are so dependent on their "looks" to get them everything they want, they don't bother to develop other interesting or important qualities. A girl can "capture" a man with her beauty. Indeed she can capture more than one, if she wishes— but unless she knows how to give him more than the pleasure of just looking at her, she won't keep him long.

The girls have taken to dressing mannishly, and have the same kind of haircuts as the boys. The only guide to which sex they are would be to try to get a look at their feet. The boys usually have larger feet, but with both sexes wearing these boots, even that's not certain.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and all my children are married and have moved away, except my baby, a son who is 36. He is planning to get married in June. He and his lady are talking about buying a house. I told them they could move in with me. I have plenty of room and every convenience they need. They have nothing. Why should they struggle to buy a house with appliances and linen and furniture when they could live with me? I am not going to live forever, and when I die they can have everything. They tell me, "Thanks a lot, Ma, but we'd rather not." What is wrong with them? How can I talk them into it?

BAFFLED
DEAR BAFFLED: When in doubt, skip the Miss, Madam, Sir or whichever the case may be. I am sure your boss would prefer that to your guessing and goofing.

WANTS COMPANY
DEAR WANTS: Nothing is wrong with them. And don't try to "put them into it." A 36-year-old "baby" is old enough to know what he wants.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of my "plain" women friends seem to have the best marriages, while the outstanding beauties are divorced, married again, and divorced, and can't make a success of a marriage? Even with the advantage of having been born beautiful they can't seem to find happiness. Why is that?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT-BLUSHING BRIDE": Orange blossoms and myrtle are regarded as symbols of purity and are inappropriate for a bride who has been to the altar twice before. I recommend daisies. (They don't tell.)

Life of Edison Is Program Tonic for TC Allegro Club

The life of Thomas A. Edison, inventor, was discussed by Mrs. D. W. Hayes for members of Twentieth Century Allegro Study Club when the group met last Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Robert Mack at 1711 Charles. Mrs. Will Graham shared hostess duties.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Hayes played several numbers on an early model of the phonograph which was invented by Mr. Edison. The phonograph required the round cylinder type of record and the music was enjoyed by all present.

Charity Ball Set For February by Truteen League

Truteen Service League met Thursday morning at 7 o'clock in the Pampa Youth and Community Center for a regular meeting, with the president, Charley Gustin, presiding.

Reports were given by various committee chairmen. An announcement was made that the final total received for the Tommy McDonald Fund was $2,628. A thank-you letter from Capt. Tritton of the Salvation Army was read.

Opti-Mrs. Slate Valentine Party

The regular meeting of the Evening Opti-Mrs. Club was held Tuesday evening, at the Citizens Bank Building. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Homer Hollars and Mrs. Newt Secrest.

Mrs. Art Ziebarth, president, presided at the business meeting. Communications were read and reports were given on the Christmas project and the bake sale for the Tommy McDonald Fund. The following committee was named for the Valentine party: Mmes. Howard Adamson, Cliff Scott, Bill Stephens and Lloyd Summers.

Puffs Eliminate Net Marks
Next time you wash and set your hair, tuck soft cosmetic puffs under the net around the hairline. They'll cushion your forehead, prevent red marks which hair-nets often cause.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I am quite concerned about the tension building up in my 10-year-old daughter, who is in one of the "bright" groups at school. Evidently the teachers assume the group understands more than it does, or else my daughter doesn't belong in this group because she worries constantly about the homework instructions.

Recently she came home with tears in her eyes, saying, "I have to cast out nines in dividing, and the teacher didn't say how to do that." Either the teacher didn't make her instructions clear or Barbara misunderstood.

—ANXIOUS MOTHER
ANSWER: So have I. Mix the modern trends toward acceleration and increasing loads of homework with an overly conscientious child, and something's got to give. The repercussions have reached my desk a good many times lately.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Altrusa Club of Pampa served as hostesses for the first meeting of the new year of Senior Citizens Center with a large group of senior citizens attending.

This was not only the first meeting of the year but was also the monthly birthday meeting with those present having January birthdays honored by the hostess club. Those honored were Mrs. Elma Bailey, Mrs. May Flavin and M. L. Sutton.

Height of Springtime in Bloom With New York Manufacturers of Women's Wear

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—It's the height of winter as the calendar goes, but it's the height of springtime in bloom with New York's manufacturers of women's ready-to-wear.

From a look through the new collections, it would seem the designers all had just returned from the florist's shop, leaped through the new seed catalogs, or were remembering the flower gardens they cultivated last summer.

Size of the floral patterns is bigger than ever—you'll see very little of this dainty print stuff, except for prints taking their cue from the granny dresses the very young have adopted.

Big and splashy was the rule, as members of the New York Couture Group of manufacturers showed their wares to fashion reporters from newspapers, radio and television in this, the group's 46th "National Press Week." The shows of dresses, suits, coats, costumes, accessories, hair styles and makeup will continue through Friday.

The prints began with daytime dresses and went on through the cocktail hour and into the dressiest of evening formals. Typical of the trend: Burke-Amey's knee-high cocktail dress in chiffon. It was a wild combination of reds, blues, greens and oranges in a dress with high, collarless but jeweled neckline, an oblique treatment at the waist, and the sheath softened with a draped panel.

Or take the collection of Ferdinando Sarmi, who used fabrics with huge flowers printed in assorted hues on crepes, organzas and chiffons.

Mingling with the florals were the geometrics—some of them on the abstract side, as in designer Norman Norell's bold contrast of black and white in lunch-and-after dress, with long overblouse coupled with narrow, flat-pleated skirt.

By individual manufacturers, here are highlights of some collections shown Monday:

Pattulo-Jo Copeland—Designer Copeland liked the wandering waistline, with leather or fabric belts hitting the figure anywhere from under the bosom to low hipline. Her patterned dresses included stripes and mosaic patterns.

Branell—Diamond-shaped patterns showed through the collection of this firm, well-known for its costume coordinates. Red and white checked cotton, for instance, showed in a suit with the checks worked

Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

For WEDNESDAY, JAN. 12

GENERAL TENDENCIES: — The early part of the day is difficult for business matters and negotiations, so make sure that you do avoid any sort of problems affecting your work, correspondence, but the afternoon and evening are splendid for social and general prosperity and business and for coming to a new understanding with the one you love the most.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 21) — Although day hours may be fraught with small annoyance, don't let it throw you for a loop. Evening is fine for recreation, social pleasures. Be with the people you like. Bring the things you like.

TALIES (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Plans may not seem to go according to schedule in a.m., but later anything that is of a particularly detailed nature goes very smoothly. Co-worker is of assistance too, preferably be cheerful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You may have trouble with getting bills out on time in the morning, but later you have a wonderful time with friends, business associates, etc. Show magnetism. Be very unmaking with others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — You had better use a soft pedal in dealing with associates and others or you get into trouble. Handling will also be easier to come by. Clear of public persons. Improve appearance, health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Although the labor may appear hard, you get up early and you soon get into the swing of things. Improve set-up around you. Any routine work can also be gotten out with relative ease. If you see methodical.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) — A difficult start in the morning is possible, but later all works out fine, especially where improving property is concerned. Be objective in handling problems. This refers to business or personal life.

LINBA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Plan how to get rid of tedious at an early hour so that you can then be out for recreation that you need, very much. Friends are willing to go along with your ideas. Evening can be very enjoyable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 23) — Avoid that pal who is in a nasty mood in a.m., and then he suddenly becomes very nice. Investigative work you have to do. Be of service to others. Understand their ideas, forgetting yourself pretty much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 23) — Take care not to be critical of higher-ups in a.m. or you become the whipping boy. Be sure that you do your work in a very efficient way. Out socially later and have a real ball.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) — Be sure you get personal affairs nicely handled before you go off somewhere for pleasure. Talk over new ideas with high-ups. Your plans, etc., receive a lot of study. Don't be hasty about anything.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Evening recreation for sake of getting rid of imminent obligations is very wise this a.m. Looking into new interests is also good. Labor diligently and then you are free tonight for quiet fun.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — An associate can cause you much trouble if you permit in a.m. Come to better understanding and then do those tasks that are rightfully yours; situations rise up so that you know what your position is. Be glad of this. Accept wisely.

Pledges of Tri Delta

U. of Houston Slapped By NCAA for Recruiting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — University of Houston will have three years to consider the error of its ways.

That summarized the 60th Annual Convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) on the second day of its 3,000-delegate get-together here.

A key committee of the American Football Coaches Association (AFC) has ruled out a proposal by New Mexico University that college football should return to limited substitution. It voted 23-1 that no major changes be made in the regulations for the 1966 season.

Technically, the overwhelming decision of the committee is subject to consideration by a special rules group meeting of the NCAA in New Orleans next month but it's not likely there'll be any reversal.

The coaches committee reported to the NCAA that present rules should be retained "with no substantial change."

The NCAA cited nine specific violations.

so well accepted by fans and television viewers that no change is needed for another two or three years.

Houston fell seriously into the bad graces of the NCAA and the Rules Infraction Committee put the school on probation for three years because of persistent infractions of recruiting, financial aid and football practice operations. This means the Texas school will not be allowed to participate in post-season bowl football games or appear on NCAA-sponsored television over the probationary period.

The Houston violations occurred over the last four years, the NCAA charged. The organizations' infractions committee noted that the Texas school had been censured by the NCAA in 1964 for recruiting improprieties. A spokesman for Houston said that a university inquiry in recent months had corroborated the NCAA findings. He attributed the violations to the football-coaching staff "and several well-intentioned but over-zealous friends of the university."

The NCAA cited nine specific violations.

It charged that in 1963, nine athletes were provided free Christmas holiday air travel from the campus to their homes; that between semesters in 1963-64 five athletes were given free use of an auto for such trips and that in the fall of 1964, the family of an athlete was given an auto to attend two freshman football games.

The recruiting violations listed as three air trips for prospective athletes, their parents and friends, excessive entertainment both on campus and off, and of auto.

The NCAA said the football practice regulations were violated both in 1964 and 1965 when players were issued football equipment and held out of season workouts under supervision of the coaching staff.

The probation does not apply to other sports than football, and NCAA spokesman noted.

The highlight of today's convention session was a diamond jubilee lunch at which many government figures, including three cabinet members and letter-winning congressmen, were to be honored.

Lemm Quits Cardinals To Stay With Family

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Wally Lemm, who always tried to enjoy football, parted company with the St. Louis Cardinals Monday following a painful 5-9 season and a command that he spend more time in St. Louis.

Lemm, who once said, "football, in my book, is still supposed to be fun," heard club owners order him to work year-around in St. Louis and away from his family in Lake Bluff, Ill.

"When the issue came up again today," said team president Charles (Stormy) Bidwill, "there was no compromise available and, by mutual consent, he (Lemm) is leaving the organization."

Lemm's contract, which he signed last January at a whopping pay increase still had a year to go.

The 45-year-old coach had guided the Cardinals to a 9-3-2 season in 1964 and his record included an American Football League championship when he led the Houston Oilers to 10 consecutive victories in 1961.

But the Cardinals fell in the other way in 1965. They lost their last six games and eight of their last nine contests.

The Cardinals were torn apart by injuries to quarterback Charley Johnson, fullback Joe Childress, safetymen Larry Wilson and Jerry Stallons, and linebacker Larry Stallons. All of them missed more than three games. They had been rated as contenders until they fell apart.

Lemm once remarked that the demands of coaching away from his family were hard on him, but he emphasized that he didn't want to resign.

"We want someone to work in the organization all year round," said Bidwill. "This is something my brother (Bill, club vice president) and I hashed out over the past two weeks. We felt even stronger and we felt we should talk to Wally."

Bidwill said, "We are sorry that Wally is leaving because he did a good job with the Cardinals in the past seasons. Wally's record speaks for itself and he had a good record."

Bidwill continued, "We knew that Wally wanted to be head coach on a six months basis and that was fine. In the ensuing years, however, we felt more and more strongly that we wanted a head coach who would be with us all the time."

Lemm left for home immediately after the conference.

Started As Helper
 He began his association with the Cardinals as a helper while he was a senior at Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., in 1942. He was an assistant coach from 1956 to 1959 and later went to Houston. Lemm also coached at Lake Forest College and Montana State.

Lemm finished his four years with the Cardinals with a 27-26-3 record.

Lemm — reached at his home after a plane flight from St. Louis, told UPI "This happened quite suddenly." He said the Bidwill brothers "called me down to St. Louis for a conversation."

Lemm said he was told the Cardinals needed him "for a full-time job."

"I would have liked to complete the contract for next year," Lemm said.

He declined to say if the Cardinals paid him for next year. He said he had no immediate plans for the future because of the "suddenness of leaving the Cardinals."

Stanky Ponders Future of His Pitching Corps

CHICAGO (UPI) — Eddie Stanky, entering his first season as manager of the Chicago White Sox with an open mind, wants some questions answered regarding his pitching staff.

"Specifically, he said, he wants to know why Gary Peters slipped from a 20-victory season to 10, why Joe Horlen had a 13-13 record, and what Jaun Pizarro can do.

"Now that I've had a chance to study the statistics," he said, "I like the prospects more than I did when I signed up."

"But I want a stop pitcher. Peters might be it, but why did his victories drop? It might be Pizarro, but I've got to find out about him. And Horlen is not a 13-13 pitcher. I'd like to find out why."

"Our bullpen was in 200 games last year, and you can't expect (Bob) Larker, (Hoyt) Wilhelm, and (Eddie) Fisher to do that again. We've got to get our starters going longer, so we don't have to rely on the bullpen as much."

Both Injured
 Peters and Pizarro both were injured last year, and the latter, after reporting late, was ineffective until late in the season due to a sore shoulder.

But both will be part of Stanky's "open mind" policy which he will take into spring training.

"I'll be like the new broom on the rookies and the outfielders," he said. "I haven't seen any of them, and the rookies will have a chance at every position until they show me that they can't play. Particularly there's a few that might get into our outfield."

Stanky, while declaring he was "satisfied" with the pitching, said the club still was in a trading mood and could use a pitcher or power.

"Any club likes to have power," he said, "and ours will have to come from Bill Skowron, Pete Ward, Floyd Robinson and Ron Hansen. We're still trying to land a power hitter, but to come up with somebody now who'll hit 35 or 40 home runs is almost impossible."

Stanky departed from the custom of former manager Al Lopez of predicting the pennant for the Sox. "I can't claim the pennant in January," he said. "I'm not that good. And I can't name the opening day lineup in January. I'm not that good."

Since 1904, six boxers who won Olympic titles have gone on to capture world titles as professionals.

Duke Rated First; Miners Move to 9th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Second-rated Kentucky edged closer to No. 1 Duke but faced a serious challenge itself from third-ranked Vanderbilt in the weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings released Monday.

Kentucky, one of two major college lives still unbeaten, took two first place votes from Duke's total of 30 last week to increase its own number to five.

Vanderbilt, the defending Southeastern Conference champion, compiled a 245-point total this week to tighten its grip on the third spot as it prepared for a Saturday showdown with Kentucky at Lexington.

St. Joe's Fourth
 St. Joseph's held on to fourth place in the ratings and received one endorsement for the top rung, Bradley, with 13 triumphs the winningest team among the elite, advanced two jumps to fifth.

Brigham Young copped the final first place vote but dropped one notch to sixth. Providence, winner of last month's Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, fell to seventh and UCLA, the 1965 NCAA champion, remained in eighth position.

Texas Western, one of the nation's leading defensive units and unbeaten through its first 12 games this season, moved ahead from 11th to ninth place while Kansas tumbled from a ninth place tie to No. 10.

Loyola of Chicago, victorious in 11 of 12 games, hopped to the top of the second group in front of Iowa.

New Mexico and Dayton made the biggest gains of any team. The Lobos vaulted from a share of 18th place to sole possession of 13th and the Flyers, now 10-1, jumped from a tie for 20th place to 14th.

Tulsa and Utah tied for 15th place and were followed in order by Louisville, Western Kentucky, Texas A&M and Temple.

The Kentucky-Vanderbilt situation is reminiscent to one which existed two seasons back. The Wildcats were rated second, as they are now, with game coming up against Vanderbilt.

Teams To Beat
 The high-powered Cats were upset by Vandy in that one and lost twice to the Commodores last season. Both teams regard the other as the team to beat for the SEC crown.

Duke will have no easy time retaining its hold on first place.

Harvesters Try to Keep Hold On Fourth; Host Johnny Rebs

Pampa tries to keep their hold on fourth place in district 3-4A basketball tonight when they host Tascosa, who could claim a tie for that position with a victory over the Harvesters.

The Rebels have fared 3-4 in league competition and 5-9 for the season. But coach David Camfield's eagers have come a long way since the start of the season.

Tascosa returned only four lettersmen and has had to rely mostly on juniors and sophomores who have come through in fine fashion.

Pampa, 4-3 in conference warfare and 13-4 for the season will end first half play by trying to break a two game losing streak that has seen Amarillo and Monterey slug the Harvesters in succession.

Pampa will again be without the services of leading scorer Kenneth McWilliams, who is resting in an effort to mend a pinched nerve in his back.

But coach Terry Culley has gone ten giant-killing works from 6'5 senior David Cain and 6'1 junior Steve Williams.

Cain is averaging just over 10 points per contest in league play with a 19 point effort against Amarillo and a 10 point outing against hot shooting Monterey. Williams is averaging just over seven points a game.

Tascosa is by no means small and feature the tallest player in 3-4A a spindly legged center named John Burkhalter, a 6'9 senior.

Also back is Clay Dark, 5'11 senior, 6'5 junior forward Ronnie Evans, Tony Freeman, a 5'11 senior guard, Jerry Murch.

Johnny Rebs who plays guard and 5'9 guard Dick Sterseth.

Culley will probably go with Cain at center, Mike Wise and David Frasier at forwards and Williams and Gary Crossland at guards.

The Pampa Shockers will be things underway at 8:15 p.m. when they host the Rebel B squad. The Shockers are 11-3 and have dropped two straight contests, having a 10-game winning streak stopped against Amarillo.

In another important 3-4A contest tonight Monterey and Lubbock, both 6-1 fight for second or possibly first place in the league while Amarillo will try to win the outright with a victory over the Berger Bulldogs.

A Letter from Grandpa

One Grandpa we heard from recently was a veteran of many Army forays. He knew about war, bullets, bombs and men-soldiers afraid, soldiers brave, soldiers heroic, foolish, ingenious, old, young, all kinds. Out of all this knowledge what could he say to a young 17-year-old girl with a broken heart because her 19-year-old boy friend's "Christmas gift" was shipment for duty in the Far Pacific — especially when the girl was his granddaughter?

The retired officer thought about his granddaughter and her strong feelings for the boy. And he thought about the young man. Just finished with recruit training, the Navy volunteer had been selected to be acting temporary non-commissioned officer in his company. Both fine kids. What could he say to bolster the inner stamina they needed so much? He did not wait at injustice to his granddaughter, nor demonstrate with THE Vietnams. Good soldier that he was, he took pen in hand and wrote:

"My dear —
"You are quite right that it's a shame to send young, inexperienced boys off to fight a war — no matter where it takes place. "That's why we try to train them first — and the training had better be tough.
"We can't all be old, experienced, and tough. Thank God we still have many, both experienced and inexperienced, who are willing to fight for our country."
"The decision to fight in South Viet Nam has been weighed most carefully by many leaders whose combined wisdom and experienced judgment is far greater than mine. My own belief is that if we don't make a costly effort NOW it will be far more costly to prevent Communist take-over, not only of South Viet Nam, but Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines within 18 months. I way be exaggerating the situation just because I happen to be an old soldier. The record speaks for itself. We cannot afford to lose our ties with any more like Cuba, Korea, Cambodia or Laos. Diplomacy does not work with the Communists, TOUGHNESS DOES. It can be less costly than giving in. "This doesn't help the feelings of those who lose their men in the defense of our country, but it would truly be a shame to lose our good boys in senseless traffic accidents when there is so much to live and fight for. "Don't let yourself go emotionally on inexperienced-boy-going-off-to-hero's — grave — in—heavenland. His chances of losing life or limb aboard ship are far less than driving to work on the highways — but don't flatten him by telling him so. Just don't believe implicitly any-of-the-tall tales he tells you about Boot Camp. The boys, becoming old experienced tough men, conjure up more wild tales and rumors in their sleep than can be told in a lifetime, and they love to give their girls a thrill chill! "This is a helluva Merry Christmas note, but talk it over and think it over carefully before Dave starts working on your great big warm sympathies. He's started on his first real step toward toughening, which, with his good will and strength, will eventually turn out to be a tenderizing process. I'm sure. But you both must prove that you can be tough before you can afford to be tender. With much love, Your not-so-tough old Grandpa."

Whether or not the old soldier's appraisal of the Vietnamese conflict is wholly accurate, he has shared his strength, adding to that of the two young people. He pointed out what families all over the country are faced with, that a boy can't always control the events of his life but he does shape the man he is to become by the way he handles himself during life's trials.

The Bright Side

Cheer up, New Yorkers. It could be worse.
Gas station attendants could go out on strike.

Growing Vote of Authority

America hit new heights last year. But the year of the paradox also brought many good American citizens who love their country to the edge of despair. They see around them an unthinking acceptance of a spreading bureaucracy. In the midst of apparently unprecedented prosperity, they see a war or poverty with a potential for waste and corruption that is truly dismaying. They see at home much cynical indifference to the war in Viet Nam which is demanding an ever-increasing price in men, material and money. There we meet in combat a people who hold fanatic convictions and will go to any length in pursuit of victory. To meet this challenge, we — all of us, not just those who are bearing the cruel burden of the fighting — need the kind of spirit that carried the Continental army through the Revolution and on to victory and national freedom.

Even as we have reached heights of material achievements, along with eloquence in expressing good will toward our fellow man, the big question is: Can we honestly look back over the past year and say that we have adhered to the principles upon which this country was founded — namely, respect for the right of private property, respect for the individual, and a belief that a government of limited powers is the best of limited powers is the best of limited powers is the best government? It is doubtful if many of us can answer in the affirmative. The growth of government munificence has taken its toll of independence.

While we talk so much of freedom for other peoples, we should take stock of the status of our own freedom. Is it a quality of freedom that rings true? Hardly! In one way or another, more people each day are being required to do what they are told to do by some authority, and more and more frequently that authority has its source in Washington. The growing voice of authority is inevitable because authority, federal authority, holds the purse strings. The existing prosperity of countless industries, businessmen, farmers, whole communities, is at the absolute mercy of those who award the contracts, the subsidies, the matching funds, or whatever you wish to call them.

As we move along in this new year, there is one resolve that should be taken by all who cherish freedom. A resolve that would end the spectacle of a great nation riding a crest of unparalleled power on one hand and on the other beset by a deepening morass of controls, inflation and a war that has no foreseeable end. We should resolve that the constitutional system of government — a government of checks and balances as laid down by the founders of the nation — is the best kind of a government to live under; that the rights of private property and persons are to be held inviolate.

The political liberty of the individual is our most precious heritage. With that as a foundation, there are no obstacles that cannot be overcome — in peace or in war, in space or on earth.

A thought for the day: The late U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai E. Stevenson said: "A wise man does not try to hurry history."

Romney And Nixon Face High Hurdle

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Only Michigan's Gov. George Romney and Richard M. Nixon are being taken seriously by Republican leaders today as 1968 GOP presidential prospects. And only they are likely to be.

If Charles Percy should win Sen. Paul Douglas' seat in Illinois and Ronald Reagan capture the California governorship from Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, their names almost certainly would be thrown into the 1968 lists. But discussions with GOP professionals do not suggest they would have a real chance.

As for the rest, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York is assigned to 1972 presidential speculation; Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield, due to run for the Senate this year, still is shrugged off in important party quarters, and other young, attractive Republican figures are not even mentioned.

Publicly, the professionals will keep on saying that it is too early to talk presidency, that the party must focus in 1966 races. In fact, they know the 1968 race is already narrowed to Romney and Nixon, with almost no likelihood that 1966 will raise up a bright new figure.

In 1965 Romney roamed the nation and the world, trying to enlarge his image as both a good party man and a knowledgeable man of world affairs. In 1966 he will have to stick to his Michigan knitting, since his first priority task is to run up a big re-election vote in November.

Even though Romney often says things which have a strong conservative ring, it is widely assumed he will have to go the 1968 presidential primary route — and win — to gain the allegiance of the many conservative delegates he would need for nomination.

This poses another problem for him. Romney will need a fairly formidable primary opponent. Victories by default will do him little good, as the late Sen. Estes Kefauver learned in 1962. By providing opposition in 1960 primaries, Vice President Hubert Humphrey was, unwittingly, one of the late John F. Kennedy's most vital allies.

From Romney's viewpoint, possibly the best thing that could happen would be a Reagan victory in California and a militant conservative campaign that would thrust Reagan into several primaries against him.

Without that, it is difficult to see where real primary opposition could come from. Few party leaders believe that Nixon wants to take that path.

Nixon's problems, indeed, are perhaps even more taxing than Romney's.
Again, a broad presumption among top party men is that Nixon probably can count upon heavy delegate support in many nonprimary states where delegates are picked in state convention.

It is expected that such support will be particularly strong in the 11 Old South states, giving Nixon the same kind of traditional conservative base which the late Robert A. Taft and Barry Goldwater relied upon in earlier years.

Nixon has eagerly cultivated conservative backing from the moment Goldwater was nominated in 1964. There is no question he is presently the overwhelming choice of Goldwaterites and some other conservatives.

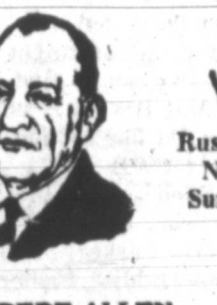

But Nixon, in his carefully calculated doing of "party good works," also has tried to woo the moderates who were inevitably in his pocket in 1960. His 1966-68 dilemma is how to get them while becoming the conservatives' darling.

Professionals consider the primary route dangerous for him. To oppose Romney would be to polarize him more sharply as the conservatives' man. Such a direct Romney-Nixon confrontation might produce the bloodiest party battles since the Eisenhower-Taft warfare of 1952.

Nixon's best hope would seem to be to depend on delegates chosen in convention and pray that Romney will stumble badly somewhere along the primary route.

Yet that course, too, involves great risk for Nixon. In 1960, Lyndon B. Johnson, rich in southern and western delegates, and Stuart Symington, loaded with "second choice" promises, watched John Kennedy for the stumble that never came.

The Doctor Says:

Pain Killer Innovations In Ever Widening Use
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

While teams of doctors in the United States have been working on methods for relieving the agonizing pain of certain types of cancer and other chronic conditions, a doctor in France has developed a needlelike probe which can cool a pinpointed area to about 40 degrees F.

If this does not stop the pain, the proper nerve fibers have not been numbed. No damage has been done and the search continues.
If the cold does stop the pain, the current in the needle is reversed and the heat of the probe destroys the fibers.

Dr. Frank Ervin at the Massachusetts General Hospital has come up with a "pain box" which measures about 3-by-2-by-2 inches and can be carried by the patient. When the latter snaps the box's switch, low voltage impulses are delivered to wire implanted in his brain. This stops the pain without damaging any of the brain cells. Patients using this box have been able to give up the use of pain-killing drugs entirely.

At Harvard Medical School Dr. H. T. Ballantine, Jr. is using ultrasound to destroy small areas in the spinal cord or brain for the relief of intractable pain. This same technique has been successfully used to destroy areas responsible for the seizures of one type of epilepsy (focal epilepsy).

Although the methods described are being used chiefly in research centers, they are being employed on an ever widening scale not only to more sufferers but also for more conditions. They have been used to relieve the "phantom" pains in toes that seem to remain with a person whose leg has been amputated, the pains of severe burns and the pain that so often persists for months or years following shingles.

By aiming at a different set of nerves, they have even been used to quell the excited stage in some persons with severe mental disease and to improve the behavior of children with serious behavior problems and antisocial trends.

Q—What treatment would you recommend for a melanotic sarcoma of the skull?
A—A melanotic sarcoma, more often called a melanoma, is a very malignant form of cancer. It starts in the skin but may invade any underlying structures such as bone. When this happens, the disease has progressed beyond the point where surgical removal of the tumor would offer any hope of recovery.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE
At the time this article was written, New York City was tied up by a transit strike. The New York Times of January 3, 1966, reported some fantastic statements by the new mayor of New York City, relative to the strike.

For example: "Mayor Lindsay asked millions of New Yorkers to stay home today, fearing chaos on the streets if they use their cars to surmount the transit strike. . . . He said absentees should not be afraid that their employers would be 'mad at them', or penalize them if they failed to go to work today."
"Don't worry about that," the Mayor said. A spokesman for him said later that Mr. Lindsay wanted employers to pay people who were unable to get to work."

So New York City has once again been blessed with a mayor who is so all-knowing that he can assure employees of thousands of firms that their employers will not be upset if they do not show up for work. And he is urging employers to pay employees, after the mayor himself told them to stay home.

What will the employers pay the employees with? The fruits of the production which will not now take place? Or is the mayor "graciously" offering to reimburse them all with taxpayer money — money which the mayor also did not earn?
This statement by the mayor of New York City will rank alongside such monumental utterances as the recent one by the president of the United States — who told the American people that copper-nickel coins will continue to have the same purchasing power as silver coins. And how will he assure that? Is he planning on personally dictating new values to every American citizen?

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Extravagance Par Excellence
In a recent issue of the SUNDAY TIMES published in Lagos, Nigeria, there appeared an article written in Accra, capital of Ghana, which should prove of interest to every American taxpayer. It tells of the enormous extravagant building erected by Dictator Nkrumah to house the heads of the African states who recently held a conference in this new building. The building is described as "outstanding, astonishing, astounding, incredible, fantastic, and magnificent." It is said to be typical of the way Nkrumah exploits his own people and begs all he can from abroad. Our own country has contributed $30 million to Ghana during the past seven years.

The dispatch said "No building, no palace in Africa surpasses this awesome monument. The building is in three main parts. The residential part is twelve stories high and contains sixty fully equipped suites of exquisite taste and luxurious decor. It has every luxury and convenience and all this in the midst of a poverty-stricken country of primitive people.
In front of this residential building is a banquet hall reminiscent of the temples of ancient Rome, which will seat two thousand guests and a conference hall which will hold one thousand conferees. All of these buildings are linked by a series of covered ways and basement tunnels. There are garages for forty heads of State and a parking area for over 750 cars.

The section in the conference hall devoted to each State is identified by its illuminated miniature coat of arms and its name written in pale-yellow letters, also illuminated. Each head of State will sit with four advisors in a straight line behind him. . . . The conference chamber there are glass-paned cutles for simultaneous translations, tape-recording, and the various paraphernalia that accompany these conferences.

The shoes of the conferees sink in rugs with long heavy pile and voices are mellowed by what is said to be the marvelous acoustics of this chamber. It is said that "Ghana has spared no expense." When one thinks of the misery of the people in that country, such luxury seems altogether inappropriate. And when one further recalls that our taxpayers are footing the bill in whole or in part, such needless expenditure is thoroughly disgusting as is so much of our foreign aid program.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. MUNT
A MAN'S OWN LIFE
A man's own life must be his first concern. Dead, he is of no use to anyone. Physically living, he is simply a burden on others. Only with freedom and opportunity can he achieve. Only if he puts the value of his own life and production first, will he achieve.

We are often told that concern for others and concern for oneself and one's own life are opposites. This is not true. The man who does not highly value and use well his own life is not likely to value the lives and achievements of others any more. Instead of encouraging freedom and production, he will encourage a parasitic dependence of himself upon others, and of others upon himself.
The person who has truly advanced through his own efforts and made something of value out of his life will know how to recognize the productive potential in others and bring it out into the open. He will not seek to rule men, but to set them free. He will not seek to beg unearned bread from other men or to prey upon them, but will deal with them selfconfidently on an equal basis, in the manner of the best kind of trader.
The attempt to convince men that they should reduce the value they put on their own life and achievement, supposedly so that they can put more effort into helping others, is little better than a preparation for slavery. The joy of freedom inspires self-confidence. The most tractable slaves are the men who value themselves and their potentialities least.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Since our national debt is going higher all the time, just how high can it go before this country goes bankrupt? Is other words, how much debt can we absorb?" —G.M.
ANSWER: It is impossible to foretell an exact date when, if ever, a country will admit it is bankrupt from its irresponsible fiscal practices. History shows that all political governments in the past have either continued their inflationary practices until the inflation becomes runaway, or they have repudiated their obligations.
When the nation no longer can keep its commitments to pay in gold to redeem foreign-held currency the bankruptcy will become more apparent. The nation already has reneged on its commitment to its own citizens, who are not permitted to own gold coin despite an act of Congress which defines a dollar as "one thirty-fifth of an ounce of gold in an alloy nine-tenths fine."
