US Ends 37-Day Hiatus As Air War Resumes in Viet

CRUCIAL DECISION — In a top-security session, President Johnson is shown in a discussion before the resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam with military, diplomatic and congressional leaders.

Jets Attack Coastal Routes Under Orders Of President Johnson

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY
United Press International

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States today ended the 37-day pause in the air war against Communist North Viet Nam.

U.S. Navy and Air Force jet bombers struck coastal supply routes north of the 17th Parallel on orders from President Johnson.

Navy A4 Skyhawks from the 7th Fleet carriers USS Ranger and USS Kitty Hawk joined Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs in attacking targets in the Dong Hoi and Vinh areas, both North Viet Nam staging areas for movement of men and supplies into Viet Nam.

There had been no raids against North Viet Nam since 6 p.m., Dec. 24, start of the 30-hour Christmas cease fire.

Dong Hoi is about 50 miles north of the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Viet Nam. Vinh is about 130 miles north of the dividing line on the Tonkin Gulf.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said the armada encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire over the targets—bridges, barges, warehouse facilities and an approach to a ferry landing. Poor weather prevented an accurate assessment of damage. A Navy Skyhawk went down in the South China Sea while returning from the morning raid, but it was not known what caused the crash. Its pilot was rescued by an Air Force Albatross after 40 minutes in the water. All other planes landed safely.

No enemy planes were sighted and pilots said they encountered no Soviet-supplied surface-to-air (SAM) missiles. The resumption in air raids followed within hours a broadcast by the clandestine South Viet Nam "Liberation Radio" (Viet Cong) reporting the latest Communist rejection of U.S. peace moves which followed the truce in aerial attacks.

Heavy fighting raged throughout the weekend in South Viet Nam. U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops continued "Operation Masher" near Bon Song, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. At least 525 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese army regulars have been killed in the sweep to date.

Troops of the 1st Cavalry and Vietnamese paratroopers overran a Communist battalion's camp in the region Sunday. They hurled back a bitter Communist counterattack in bloody hand-to-hand fighting. Former West Point football hero and Rhodes Scholar Capt. Pete Dawkins of Royal Oak, Mich., was one of the U.S. advisers with the Vietnamese airborne troops. He called it "the toughest kind of guerrilla fighting—man by man ferreting out the enemy."

More than 5,000 U.S. Marines, who came ashore last week in the biggest amphibious landing since the Korean War, continued their sweep about 320 miles northeast of Saigon not far from the 1st Cavalry troops.

U.S. Marine forces near their Da Nang airbase reported killing 16 Viet Cong in two separate ground actions. No Marine casualties were reported. U.S. Navy, Air Force and Marine pilots flew 2348 combat sorties over South Viet Nam Sunday, destroying 480 structures and damaging about 400 others. Seventh Fleet destroyers continued offshore bombardment of Communist targets along the coast of the Central Highlands.

Johnson Lays Viet Problem In Lap of UN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to bring the Viet Nam war to the conference table.

The Chief Executive made the request during a brief, televised report to the nation on his decision to resume U. S. bombing raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

Johnson said resumption of the raids, which had been suspended since last Christmas Eve, was necessary because of continued Communist aggression.

He said the United States and others working for peace had met only continued violence and continued aggression.

Speaking of the Hanoi government, Johnson said, "It is plain that there is no readiness to talk - no readiness for peace - in that regime today."

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pursuit of peace," Johnson said, determined and unrelenting as the pressure of our military strength on the field of battle.

Then he added: "I have instructed Ambassador (Arthur J.) Goldberg to ask for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council. He will present a full report on the situation in Viet Nam and a resolution which can open the way to the conference table."

"This report and this resolution will be responsive to the (See JOHNSON, Page 3)

Reds, Russians Continue Viet Nam Bickering

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet has taken the first step toward a possible showdown with Peking over alleged delays of Russian aid to North Viet Nam moving across Communist China, informed sources said today.

This seemed to be the intent, the sources said, of a secret memorandum being circulated among the Soviet Union's 12 million rank and file party members accusing the Red Chinese of sabotaging its Hanoi aid efforts.

The document marks the first time the Kremlin has officially acknowledged reports widely circulated in the West that Peking was obstructing the flow of war materials and Soviet specialists to the North Vietnamese regime.

Red China has denied the Russian accusations and countercharged that the Kremlin was conspiring with American "peddle the Johnson Administration peace talks hoax."

The Kremlin memorandum also charges the Chinese with refusing to participate in a worldwide Communist movement to aid North Viet Nam and with rejecting appeals to put aside their differences in the face of escalating "American imperialism" in Viet Nam.

Western observers said that if China and Russia had resolved their bitter dispute and united their aid efforts a year ago during the escalation of the Viet Nam war the U.S. effort there would have met tougher opposition.

Weatherman Predicts Warm-Up for Pampa

The warmest weather in two weeks was welcomed Monday by Pampans who have been enduring the Panhandle's coldest winter since 1960 and second coldest since 1930.

After a chilly, blustery Sunday which saw both the high and low temperatures standing at 20 degrees, the weatherman this morning said that snow would clear during the day and the temperature would rise to near 50. Tonight is to be clear and not quite so cold with readings in the upper 20s.

Tuesday, fair and warmer weather will help to finish the melting of snows. The high is expected to reach the mid-50s. Wednesday will be partly cloudy and mild, the forecaster said.

Thick fog and drizzle wrapped Southwest, Central and North Texas in a misty blanket today. The drizzle froze on bridges and overpasses in the Dallas area, causing numerous traffic snarls and accidents.

Temperatures were the warmest in two weeks, but the U.S. Weather Bureau, in a five-day forecast, predicted readings 9-13 degrees below normal over the state.

A harassed police dispatcher in Dallas said traffic was a "big mess" with trucks jack-knifing and cars skidding into each other and into ditches. One automobile plunged into White Rock Creek because of the slippery going.

Overnight readings ranged from 11 degrees at Childress to 52 degrees at Galveston along the Gulf Coast. One inch of snow still covered the ground at Wichita Falls from the second severe storm of the winter Friday.

Big Three Start Negotiations On Nuclear Treaty

GENEVA (UPI) — The Big Three nuclear powers began soundings today for an early start of concrete across-the-table negotiation of a nuclear non-dissemination pact.

Britain's disarmament minister, Lord Chalfont, was meeting Soviet delegation chief Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin informally over lunch.

U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster was expected to meet with the Russian diplomat later.

The West wants to get down to detailed negotiation of a nuclear non-dissemination agreement as a matter of urgency.

The Russians, too, have agreed in principle to make the non-proliferation problem the top issue of the resumed Geneva 17-nation disarmament conference.

But the problem is how to get away from general declarations to hard bargaining at the conference table.

A procedural wrangle threatens to delay the start of the talks.

The United States and Russia have each presented a draft treaty on banning the spread of the deterrent.

Foster proposed that both plans be taken as the basis of the projected negotiations so that a start can be made at once.

Krebiozen Future Remains Mystery

CHICAGO (UPI) — The future of Krebiozen remained in doubt today while a federal court jury prepared to resume deliberating the fate of the Yugoslav physician who discovered the alleged cancer drug.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Hoffman planned to receive a report today from physicians attending Mrs. Lois A. Clark, a member of the jury who suffered an attack of asthma and high blood pressure Sunday.

If Mrs. Clark is pronounced fit to continue, the jury will start the seventh day of its deliberations in the marathon fraud and conspiracy trial. If she is not able to continue, the case will be declared a mistrial unless government and defense attorneys agree to let it proceed with 11 jurors.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, Mothers' March chairman, said that the icy snow covering and slick streets would make it too difficult for the mothers to make their solicitations.

The annual event, in which some 600 mothers participate in the fight against birth defects, has been rescheduled for Monday, February 7.

State Begins Tedious Attempt To Send Candy to Death Row

MIAMI (UPI) — Now the ugliness begins.

The State of Florida now starts its attempt to send a glamor-girl grandmother with hair of champagne-hue and her tall, dark nephew to the electric chair by convincing an all-male jury that their incestuous love affair was too hot to brook cooling down by her rich banker husband.

When he interfered, the state charges, the lovers dispatched him. Money wizard Jacques Mossier died of cranial bludgeoning and 39 stab thrusts into the ribs. This Greek-classic triangle has had Miami bubbling with rumor and surmise for 19 months.

Today, the state was to make its public statement to a circuit court jury about how it aims to pin the passion killing on the wife, Mrs. Candace W. Mossler, a former model in her mid-40s who aspires publicly to the Pennsylvanian age of 39, and Melvin L. Powers, 29, who had a "violent love" for his aunt Candy, in the words of the first-degree murder indictment.

After two weeks of jury picking, there remained only the selection of three alternate jurors before the opening statement by Assistant State Attorney Arthur E. Hutloe. There could be witnesses by the day's end.

The stage was set for a drama of such proportions of violent death, riches, love-making, perversion, and incest as to be almost Olympian.

Mothers' March Reset for Feb. 7

The anticipation of more frigid weather tonight has caused the second postponement of the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes in as many weeks.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, Mothers' March chairman, said that the icy snow covering and slick streets would make it too difficult for the mothers to make their solicitations.

The annual event, in which some 600 mothers participate in the fight against birth defects, has been rescheduled for Monday, February 7.

Absentee Vote For City Bond Election Set

The absentee balloting period for Pampa's $2,900,000 bond election on March 8 will extend from Feb. 16 through March 4, City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden said today.

Voters who plan to be out of the city on election day may cast their ballots in advance during that time.

Persons eligible to vote at the bond election must be owners of real or personal property who have lived in Texas one year and in the city six months.

They also must have a 1965 poll tax receipt or exemption. A committee met with City Manager Jim White today to draw up a brochure which will be distributed to eligible voters and at meetings where the bond issue election is discussed.

The brochure, the city manager said, will contain facts pertinent to the various street, highway and water department improvements to be voted on.

Dear Abby... He Doesn't Practice What He Preaches

DEAR ABBY: My father is the most stubborn man in the world. Nobody can tell him a thing. He had seat belts put in our car as soon as they came out, and he gave us kids a big long lecture on how we should always use them, but he never uses them himself. When I tell him he forgot to fasten his seat belt, he says he is going only a short distance and it doesn't pay to bother. I have tried to tell him that it takes only a few seconds to fasten a seat belt and it might save his life, but he gets mad at me for speaking up to him. He has a very ugly temper, and I have to be careful what I say to him or I'll end up with a fat lip. How can a 14-year-old boy tell his father to practice what he preaches?

DEAR FOURTEEN: Tell him that the National Safety Council estimates that most automobile accidents occur within 25 miles of the vic's homes. But don't tell him to practice what he preaches or you're apt to get a "belt" in the chops.

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws' religion is against smoking, drinking, and playing cards. Ours is not. In the evening we will have a cigarette, and perhaps a drink. And if we have company, we will play cards. His parents never call, they just drop in unexpectedly, which puts us in an embarrassing spot. My husband expects me and our guests to hide the drinks and cards. I think this is wrong. Do you think I should do as my husband asks and live this falsehood?

DEAR WONDERING: Your in-laws surely must know that your religion does not prohibit smoking, drinking and card playing. And if they don't, it's time they did. "Hiding" the evidence, as your husband asks, is degrading and deceitful. And he's probably not getting away with it anyway. Tell him to grow up and act like a big boy.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married since last August and we are still living with my mother-in-law. I have painted two apartments and my wife would

A Telephone Hint for Out-of-Town Numbers

Did you know that you can dial "Information" in most cities, free of charge? Simply dial "1," the DDD access code, followed by the Area Code for the city you're calling and "555-1212." When "Information" answers, give her the name of the distant city followed by the name and address under which the phone is listed. And here's another telephone hint. Have a pencil handy and add the number to your personal telephone number booklet. Next time you want the number, it's at your fingertips.

not move into either one of them. She just won't leave her mother. We are expecting in a couple of months. I love her, Abby, and she says she loves me. I want to live alone with my own new family. What do you advise?

DEAR TROUBLED: Unless your wife leaves her mother voluntarily to make a home for you, it won't be much of a home. She is still her mother's little girl, and may need some professional counseling to fit her for the role of wife and mother. The Family Service Association provides this kind of counseling. CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE PATIENT'S RELATIVE": If you want to help him, let him know that you are confident that he is capable of recovering. Offer no suggestions. To tell a person who is undergoing psychiatric treatment that "he needs to get well" is "common sense," and that permitting his doctor to probe into his early, unhappy childhood is causing his depression, could do the patient more harm than good. Do not undermine the patient's confidence in his doctor. Simply let him know that you "believe in him," love him, and admire him for his courageous fight to get well.

Avoid Too Much Sun
Dermatologists urge less exposure to the sun. Those taking winter vacations in the South or Southwest or going skiing should take heed. Select tanning lotions with special sun-screening ingredients. These cut down on excessive tanning or burn and help check the aging threat of sun-dried skin.

Civic Culture Club Presented Program Concerning the 'History of Fiber Glass'

Civic Culture Club met Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. A. C. Houchin. Mrs. George Neff, president, conducted the business meeting at which members voted to buy a book for Lovett Memorial Library. Mrs. Katie Vincent and Mrs. Emmett Osborne were selected to represent the club at the tea to honor club women on March 3 in the home of Mrs. Kermit Lawson. Mrs. Frank Grantham, president-elect, named the following committees for 1966-1967: Program, Mmes. Emmett Osborne, R. E. Dauer, W. J. Morris, and A. C. Houchin; finance, Mmes. Carl Axelson and A. D. Hills, civic, Mmes. H. W. Waters, George Neff, W. D. Scoot and Katie Vincent; social, Mmes. J. W. Duke, John McKnerney, and Floyd Pennington; press book, Mrs. Chester Williams and Federation counselor and legislation, Mrs. Irvin Cole. Mrs. Grantham introduced the program, "The History of Fiber Glass," and operated the colored slide projector while Mrs. Chester Williams discussed the subject, "From Fiber to Fabric." Mrs. Williams began by stating "Too much stress cannot be placed on the importance of proper home decoration and its male building. Psychiatrists agree that the decoration of a home can go a long way to either soothe or jar nerves emotionally. In as much as we spend many hours each day in our home it is imperative that it be appealing to our individual tastes as well as restful and comfortable. "One way to approach the subject of decorating and furnishing the home is to seek to express some definite idea or theme in it. Generally, most interesting homes large or small are those which are consistent throughout, through the decorative themes and colors may dif-

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
The annual Quivira Girl Scout Council meeting and banquet was held last week with very good attendance despite the weather. The members from Memphis and Turkey were unable to be there. Mrs. Roland Allen, Borger, acting judge, conducted the mock "kangaroo court" and sentenced the following to two years "hard labor": Mrs. J. P. Long, president; Mrs. John Porter, first vice president; Mrs. J. C. Crouch, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Tinsley, secretary, and Gerald Sims, treasurer. Mrs. J. R. Holloway, outgoing president, was balliff during the trial and was in charge of the prisoners, otherwise known as the incoming officers of the council.

The table decorations certainly deserve honorable mention. The Girl Scout promise and laws were the theme for the decorations using felt cut-outs, burlap with daisies, badges on burlap, ruffled green net and magazine cutout pictures. These trophies were the responsible members: Troop 26, Troop 54, Troop 56, Troop 2 and Troop 14. Troop 14 also decorated the head table carrying out the Girl Scout colors.

Condolences of the entire council are extended to Mrs. E. A. M. Lannan on the recent death of her husband. Her troop conducted the presentation of the flag at the banquet and ceremony conducted it well. Mrs. James Silcott, assistant leader of the girls, was there to help the girls. This troop also was in charge of the display of "Promise in Action" projects table. The six Scouts that attended the Round-Up held in Faragut, Idaho, told of their activities there. Lyn Wright, Saara Hawkins and Cheryl Hensley, all of Fritch; Pam Purcell of Borger, and Margaret Ann Brewer and Susan Davis, both of Pampa, were the girls presenting this part of the program. Two girls from Memphis were unable to take part. Mrs. C. L. Garrett showed films of some Girl Scout trips. Ceril Batten of Sunnet, will conduct the training session at Camp Mel Davis, to be held Feb. 12. This training is a requirement for leaders intending to use the facilities at Camp Mel Davis for troop outings and "over-night." Four more interested leaders are needed to make up the class for the first aid training. Contact the Girl Scout office. Troop 1, Mrs. W. J. Felter leader, held their Court of Awards ceremony last Friday. Badges earned and presented to the following troop members included troop camper badge, Laurie Baldwin, Pernie Fallon, Ruth Felter, Cindy Gill, Patsy Kelley, Merrilyn Miller, Teresa Riley and Kathryn Roots; backyard fun badge, Ruth Felter and Cindy Gill; boos badge, Kathryn Roots; collector badge, Ruth Felter, Patsy Kelley and Kathryn Roots; cook badge, Patricia Greenwood; dabbler badge, Pernie Fallon; Indian lore, Cindy Gill; pen pal, Betty Felter; pets, Patsy Kelley and prints, Ruth and Betty Felter. Martha Colville, Betty Felter and Anne McArthur were received into the troop and presented with the troop crest, "Cardinal Flower," to wear on their badge sash. Sign of the star was awarded to Betty Felter and Sign of the Arrow was awarded to Anne McArthur and Martha Colville. Mrs. Frank W. Kelley is assistant leader for this troop. It seems these girls have indeed been busy.

B&PW Members See 'Survival' Film

The regular social meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held Tuesday evening in the City Club Room with the president, Mrs. Eli Ethridge, in charge. The group repeated the Pledge of Allegiance.

Miss Martha Stewart, the club's 'Girl of the Month,' was introduced by Mrs. L. B. Robertson.

The civic participation committee with Mrs. G. E. Tinnin as chairman and Mrs. Lillie Mae Fowler as co-chairman, presented a civil defense film entitled, "Seconds for Survival." The film was a courtesy of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, shown by Mrs. Rosemary Holloway and narrated by Raymond Massey. Refreshments were served to 18 members and guests.

fer in each room but yet reflect blending characteristics. From fiber to fabric is the enchanting, exciting story of a versatile fiber with a rare combination of luxury and practicality.

"This program is designed to give women the complete story of fiber glass, from fiber to fabric. It illustrates the diversity of weaves and textures, the wide range of color and patterns currently available. It offers suggestions of how women can use luxurious, care-free drapery fabrics to complement interiors, flatter windows, and create decorative moods-changing the outlook of the windows, the focal point in every room decor. "Fiber glass is the generally accepted name of fibers drawn from molten glass. It is astonishingly strong, resilient fiber that is soft, pliable and flexible.

Mrs. Williams concluded by saying "First and perhaps most important to the safety minded housewife, fiber glass fabrics are flame proof. They can not burn. It has also been used for colorful trays, light weight luggage, projection cases, television cabinets, sewing machines, also sporting equipment. It also has a part in America's Space program, being used in missile cones and many other ways."

Those present were Mmes. Carl Axelson, R. E. Dauer, Frank Grantham, A. D. Hills, A. C. Houchin, John McKnerney, W. J. Morris, H. W. Waters, Chester Williams and George Neff.

Relieved of France Market Turns to US

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — European Common Market officials, relieved of France's crippling seven-month boycott of the economic community, today began work on draft proposals for speeding up important trade talks with the United States.

The foreign ministers of the six-nation economic bloc were expected to meet in Brussels Feb. 21 to discuss the proposals and issues raised by the so-called "Kennedy Round" of tariff negotiations.

The talks would center on proposals made by the late John F. Kennedy in 1962 for massive tariff reductions between the United States and the Market countries as part of a "grand design" for Atlantic partnership.

The market ministers Sunday bowed to French demands for permanent veto power in the market and also agreed to curb the supranational powers of the bloc's executive authority.

France's partners, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, West Germany and the Netherlands, further consented to a French move that could lead to the retirement of Market Executive President Walter Hallstein.

Cavalrymen Shot By Weekend Thieves

By JOSEPH GALLOWAY
BONG SON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The cavalrymen up ahead emerged cautiously from the cover of the cane field and started wading through a rice paddy toward a village on the other side.

Roy Kampe and I chopped down a cane stalk and sucked on the sweet juice inside. Then the snipers opened up with machine gun fire, and a withering hail of bullets from carbine and small arms.

Their targets were the American cavalrymen, 20 to 30 yards out in the paddy. Two of the men went down screaming. Soldiers splashed on their stomachs in the mud and water.

A couple of others tried to run. But they were perfect targets as they ran—like in slow motion with the muck of the paddies sucking at their boots.

These were Kampe's men. A lieutenant colonel from Philadelphia, he took over command of the 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry after the battle of Ia Drang Valley last November.

All day long he had continually exposed himself to sniper fire. And as he moved forward toward his men pinned in the paddy, I thought, "This time he's bought it."

Kampe moved out of the cane field. He went to the right and a bullet struck. His rank was no armor. He pitched forward, dropping into the knee-deep slime.

"The colonel's been hit," someone yelled. Two soldier's quickly dragged him from the paddy. Thankfully, the bullet had slammed into his lower right arm.

At first it didn't hurt because of the shock. But when his wound was bandaged and he stretched on some hay, he gritted his teeth in pain.

"How you feeling now, Colonel?" I asked. "My God, I'd give just about anything for a shot of morphine right now," he replied.

The men in the paddy were still pinned down. The only cover near was two small islands between the cane field and the village known as Tan An about 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Several of the men made an agonizingly slow run for it. A couple didn't make it. Several more slithered through the mud toward the islands, their helmets barely showing above the young shoots of rice growing in the paddy.

I could see bullets splash into the muck and water around some cavalryman as he moved and showed his position.

The heavy fire continued from the village until armed

An undetermined amount of money was taken from George Neff Welding Works, it was reported to police Monday morning.

For Open Court Hearings

In recent years, some members of the legal profession and some others have been implying that perhaps the courts of the United States should abandon the practice of permitting the public to attend all preliminary court hearings in criminal cases. Some members of the legal profession, and some members of the press as well, have attempted to narrow the issue down to a controversy between a free press and a fair trial. The implication is that a defendant in a criminal case cannot receive a fair trial if the press publicizes all phases of a preliminary hearing or of a grand jury proceeding.

We've heard some say that the "British system" of secrecy is better. Editor and Publisher recently reprinted an editorial from the London Daily Telegraph, entitled "Seen to Be Done." We believe the British writer makes a strong case for open hearings. Here is the editorial:

"Should committal proceedings be held in open court or in camera? New life is given to an old controversy by the decisions of the magistrates hearing the murder charges at Hyde. There are certainly weighty arguments in favour of privacy. At committal proceedings the prosecution's case is deployed in full; the defense is often or usually reserved. If the case is a dramatic or interesting one, it will be widely reported, read and talked about. It may go before a jury; but where can jurors be found who know nothing about it or who have not formed, on the basis of an admittedly lopsided presentation of the facts, some tentative conclusions as to the guilt or innocence of the accused? Thus publicity may be held to pervert the course of justice, or to damage the interests of the accused. "Such arguments are not un-

Among the rarest of philatelic items are the penny postal cards issued in 1902 bearing the likeness of President McKinley, then occupying the White House. The Post Office Dept. printed more than a million of them, but Mrs. McKinley didn't like the picture of her husband and the Postmaster General ordered that the whole batch be destroyed. Somehow 500 of the rejects got into the hands of a trash collector and they ultimately were picked up by stamp dealers. It's estimated that about 300 are now in private collections and each one is worth plenty.

Thoughts while shaving: No matter what public problem is to be considered these days those in charge of solving it always appoint a committee to come up with the answer. When A. Country Editor speaking: "One kind of doctor will tell you to think of something pleasant, and another kind of doctor won't let you eat it, drink it, or do it."

fact Luigi Galvani, from whom we get the term galvanize, was an Italian physicist who lived in the 18th century. As a lecturer in anatomy he conducted experiments on frogs. His theory of animal electricity resulted from his observation that there was a connection between muscle twitching and simultaneous contact with copper and iron. This was the first time an electric current was produced.

Hurok has a contract for that — which would net him and the Soviet a lot of dollars. The cultural exchange agreement between the U.S. and Russia expired December 31. The backstage discussions for a renewal are not going very well. The Kremlin is dragging its feet because of Viet Nam, and the U.S. is demanding more latitude and control over artists and productions selected to go to Russia.

But where will the money come from? Oh, he had glittering generalities about tax revenues. But the cold fact is that the money for giveaways to the indolent must come out of the paychecks of those who are at work and who are self-reliant. More free medical treatment for drones must come from those who sacrifice to buy hospitalization policies. More "rental" or rent subsidies, must come from those who pay their rent each month or make a payment on their mortgage. Truly, the kind of Great Society that Mr. Johnson envisions can only be created by gouging the kind of Americans who work hard, pay their bills, and save for a rainy day. No, Mr. Johnson didn't even suggest that there might be a rainy day ahead. He didn't propose the prudent action of getting rid of debt now so that the country would be in better shape if a recession set in, as it has in the past.

Question Box

QUESTION: "How similar are labor unions and tax-supported schools? How do they differ?"

ANSWER: They are similar in that they both use the government to coerce people to give them a monopoly — to take away from the individual his right to plan his own life. Both tax-supported schools and labor unions interfere with men making their own decisions.

The school people get laws passed which makes it a crime to send your children to a school approved by the state, or the local school board.

The labor unions have had a law passed that makes it a crime to tell a union man that you won't hire him because he is a union man but not a crime to tell a non-union man that you will not hire him because he is not union.

So they both lean on the government and use the power of the government to give them special privileges and a monopoly. There is no monopoly more serious than taking away from the parents their right to educate their children or the worker his right to decide whether he wants to join a union in order to work at his trade.

As to how they differ as far as principles are concerned there is very little difference between them because neither government schools nor labor unions are in harmony with the Golden Rule and they both violate the stealing Commandment.

So anything that violates either Johnson's miracle solution. The facts cannot be wiped away by the Great Society rhetoric.

First of all, there is the war in the Far East. Red China has sworn to defeat the United States. It is utterly unlikely that the communists will take the pressure off the United States. Thus every reasonable expectation is that the cost of defending freedom will continue to mount.

No country in history has been able to afford both guns and butter. And Mr. Johnson isn't asking for mere butter; he is proposing that the beneficiaries of his programs in effect eat caviar. While the so-called "disadvantaged" are provided with economic caviar under the Great Society, one can be sure that the great American middle-class will have to eat more hamburger and stew, and less steak. Instead of heeding the public demand for overhaul and contraction of the wasteful War on Poverty, Mr. Johnson proposed in his speech to enlarge the anti-poverty programs.

But where will the money come from? Oh, he had glittering generalities about tax revenues. But the cold fact is that the money for giveaways to the indolent must come out of the paychecks of those who are at work and who are self-reliant. More free medical treatment for drones must come from those who sacrifice to buy hospitalization policies. More "rental" or rent subsidies, must come from those who pay their rent each month or make a payment on their mortgage. Truly, the kind of Great Society that Mr. Johnson envisions can only be created by gouging the kind of Americans who work hard, pay their bills, and save for a rainy day. No, Mr. Johnson didn't even suggest that there might be a rainy day ahead. He didn't propose the prudent action of getting rid of debt now so that the country would be in better shape if a recession set in, as it has in the past.

The speech was full of the rhetoric of election-season sentimentality, with the tired reference to taking away the doilies from the poor, the sick, and the old. But a country doesn't help its poor, sick and elderly by living beyond its means and taking no thought for the morrow. It would have been nice if Mr. Johnson had devoted even a few words to the real forgotten men of our time — the men who support the government through taxes instead of laying claim to government support.

It was a dismaying speech in many ways. Mr. Johnson proposed that the federal government tamper with the jury system and get into the business of handling homicide cases in the federal courts. In so doing, he endeavors to move the country even closer to a federal police system and to abolition of the state court system. Apparently he would create a special privileged class of law-breakers who, in the name of "civil rights" could not be interfered with by local authorities. The dollar drain floodgates are opened by the State and Commerce Departments at the very time the Treasury is trying to close them.

The flow of U.S. dollars to Canadian banks is troubling our government, now that $4.5 billion of the $5 billion of foreign deposits in Canadian banks is in U.S. dollars. In other words, U.S. dollars are financing Canadian business expansion and the loss of American jobs.

"If this wasn't so serious to our economy and employment, it would be ludicrous. The dollar drain floodgates are opened by the State and Commerce Departments at the very time the Treasury is trying to close them."

Members of this mission are five top Ontario government officials. How and why they are being offered this dollar-wielding drive is conjectural. The State and Commerce Departments are silent on the matter. But influential members of Congress are not.

Illustrative are the irate comments of Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., militant member of the powerful Finance Committee which handles all revenue legislation. He bluntly charges that the patriot who calls attention to the danger communism poses to our nation is charged trying to divide the American people. He is told that he is actually doing more harm than the communists. The tired old accusation of "rightwing extremism" is hurled against him. His neighbors are asked to look upon him with dark suspicion.

Surely this must be termed an extraordinarily odd state of affairs. The fight to abolish freedom is being pushed as never before, and we are asked to believe that citizens who array themselves for law, order and constitutional government are doing a disservice to their country.

It must be that this attitude stems primarily from persons who, for strange reasons of their own, feel friendly toward communism and have been able to convince many loyal citizens that there is something bad about anti-communism. It is more confusing than anything in Alice in Wonderland.

With the enemy pressing us hard in South Vietnam, the Dominican Republic, Cuba and elsewhere, one would think that patriots are needed and their loyalty to the nation would be approved and welcomed.

Hunt for Truth BY H. L. HUNT

PATRIOTS MAY BE LOYAL. By some strange turn of events, an atmosphere has been created in this country in which effective critics of communism are accused of undermining the United States government. A heavy attack is mounted against good citizens by much of the communications media spurred on by some national leaders in both the major political parties. Some agencies of the federal government move to discredit and chastise these persons considered "guilty" of loyalty to America.

NEW YORK — Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, the first Negro woman nominated for a federal judgeship, predicting that growing numbers of her race will seek public office within the next ten years: "I feel that most of the major precedents have already been established in the civil rights field over the last two decades and that there are very few areas remaining for decisions in the Supreme Court."

WASHINGTON — An administration official, indicating that businessmen would be welcomed to discuss proposed price hikes with the President to test administration reaction: "I think there's a lot of merit in this idea. WASHINGTON — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., commenting on legislation he plans to introduce which would permit tax deductions on campaign contributions of $100 or less: "My legislation would serve as an incentive to the small contributor to help candidates and the party of his choice. It would also lessen the dependence of those running for political office on a small number of large contributors."
