

Johnson Says No New Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson says it's too soon to apply the anti-inflation brakes to the nation's economy, so there'll be no new tax increases for the time being.

The Chief Executive told a news conference Tuesday he had no current plans for recommending higher taxes in a departure from his usual glowing statements, he cited a number of statistics from the less prosperous underside of the current economic boom.

Among these were a decline in retail sales in January and February, a drop in housing starts compared to a year ago, a drop in new orders for durable goods, and the fact that unemployment exceeded 6 per cent in 19 of 20 primary U.S. labor markets.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz also cited these figures earlier this week in a speech to delegates of the annual legislative conference of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department. Wirtz' point-like Johnson's was to urge restraint.

Asked if his recital of negative factors meant that he does not view the threat of inflation as seriously as some economists, the President quickly said this was not entirely the case.

He said he had cited the statistics as evidence of how closely his administration is watching the whole economic picture. As for whether a tax increase might be needed ultimately, he said this would depend in the long run on government expenditures and congressional appropriations.

This far this year, Johnson said, Viet Nam expenditures were running a bit below earlier estimates. He said however, that he expected the cost would rise appreciably in the latter half of the year.

The President noted that there were three methods of curbing inflation—new taxes, wage and price controls, and curtailing spending—and that his administration was bearing down on the last of these.

He said spending was being curtailed in some state and city governments. "There has been some slowdown in our own operations, withholding construction in certain areas. We will watch it very closely and see what happens in these unemployment markets, in retail sales, in housing, and in the money market, and then take whatever action is indicated."

HILLSDALE, Mich. (UPI)—An Air Force investigating team today tridged through soggy farm fields and interviewed persons who reported sighting a glowing "ghost ship" in an attempt to identify the mysterious object.

Scores of persons, ranging from farmers to policemen to college coeds and a dean, said they saw the hovering object during the past few days.

Dr. H. Allen Hynek, the top Air Force scientific adviser on unidentified flying objects (UFOs), Tuesday quizzed a farm family near Ann Arbor, Mich. Frank Mannor, the farmer, had reported that a pulsating object landed in a swamp on his land Sunday and was observed by his family and by sheriff's deputies.

Fifty persons in the Ann Arbor area reported similar sightings Monday and their descriptions were similar to those of 87 coeds at Hillsdale College who said they saw an object touch down in marshland near their dormitory Monday night.

Hynek's investigation was conducted in secrecy and a spokesman at Selfridge Air Force Base would only say that the Northwestern University astrophysicist planned to continue his search of the southern Michigan area through today.

It was not known if Hynek planned to go to Hillsdale.

The Hillsdale college girls and their dean attempted to scientifically document the sighting but failed for lack of photographic and recording equipment. Some longhand notes shed little light on what they observed.

The Air Force investigation in Michigan was one of more than 10,000 it has conducted into UFO sightings since 1947. Every such report is checked out by a special investigating squad, known as "Project Blue Book."

At least 647 of the incidents investigated remain unexplained, the Air Force said. A tabulation covering the years 1953 to 1964 attributed 2,167

Raging March Blizzard Paralyzes North States

Snow, High Winds Whip Panhandle

The second March blizzard in 20 days paralyzed the Northern Plains today, stranding scores of motorists and resulting in at least seven deaths. Cold wave warnings were posted eastward to Illinois.

Virtually all roads and highways across the state of Nebraska were drifted over with snow. Power was out in sections of the state and schools were closed.

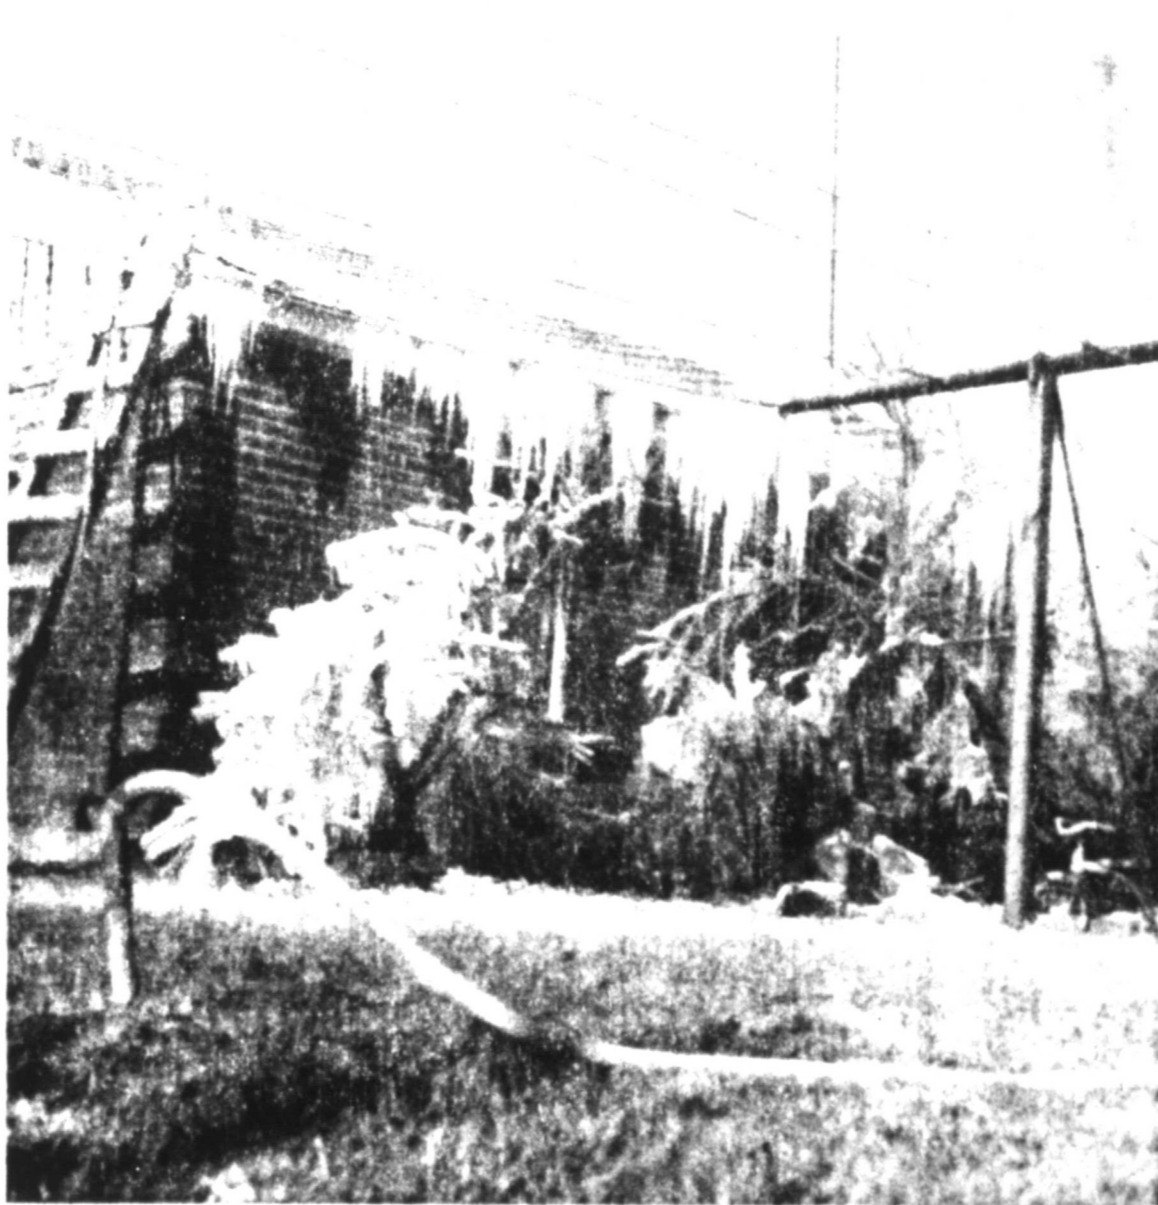

The storm reached Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., early today, blinding early travelers.

Drifts piled up three feet deep in the suburbs north of the Twin Cities. The Hennepin County sheriff's office appealed to all night workers to stay at work, and to all day workers to stay home.

Power lines were toppled throughout Omaha and a number of trees crashed to the ground during the night. Some public buildings in West Omaha were opened to provide shelter for motorists whose cars were bogged down in the driving snow.

Winds whipped up dust across West Texas again today following a day of snow in the northern Panhandle and 71-mile-an-hour winds that filled skies with dust from the Red River Valley to the Mexican border.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the cold front that brought the snow and high winds had pushed into the Gulf of Mexico. A few showers were expected in Southeast Texas, the Rio Grande Valley and South Central Texas. West Texas expected to warm up slightly Thursday.

McCormack Has Reason to Oppose VP Residence Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker John McCormack had a personal reason for delaying a showdown in the House on the bill to provide an official residence for Vice President Humphrey.

Just before departing for Boston this week to address a joint session of the legislature, McCormack learned that representative Tom Steed, D-Okla., planned to offer an amendment for a similar residence for him.

McCormack, who would have been absent when the vote was scheduled, immediately called Democratic Leader Carl Albert, Okla., and arranged for the bill to be laid over until next Tuesday when he could be on the floor and personally oppose the Steed proposal.

The Speaker told Albert he thought his presence was necessary because Steed's amendment might pass without his personal dissent. If the amendment was adopted, McCormack warned, the Republicans might muster enough votes to kill the entire legislation.

McCormack explained he is strongly against an official residence for himself and would not accept one if voted by Congress.

Close friends say McCormack has never owned a home of his own because of his desire not to possess property or large holdings. He and his wife live in a modest hotel apartment in the capital, and in a rented house in Boston.

Except for a small checking account, several thousand dollars of World War II savings bonds, and an uncashed World War I bonus check, McCormack has no other personal holdings. Friends estimate he gives at least 50 per cent of his salary to charitable and religious organizations.

Yank Becomes Mount Eiger's 27th Victim

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (UPI)—The body of U.S. climber John Harlin was brought down from Mount Eiger today. He was the 27th victim of the Alps' deadliest mountain.

Harlin, 30, a former Air Force pilot from Los Altos, Calif., who became what European experts generally considered America's greatest alpinist, was killed Tuesday in a 4,000 foot fall from near the top of Mount Eiger's north wall.

Twenty six climbers had died in the 32-year history of attempts to scale the sinister, dark 6,000 ft. wall, which the sun never reaches because it faces due north.

Ten fellow climbers, most of them probably unaware of the accident, continued their month-long expedition aimed at conquering the wall for the first time over a straight-up route. Five passed the "spider," the most difficult part of the wall, at the time of Harlin's accident, and spent the night in a lofty bivouac well in sight of the summit 700 feet above them.

Harlin, who ran a mountain-climbing school for advanced alpinists only, at Leysin, 80 miles south west of here, slipped while carrying food and material to the German lead men of the group. Searchers found his body at the foot of the wall and silently carried it over ski slopes down to the nearby resort of Grindelwald.

US to Spell Out Complaints Listed In Traffic Hazard Search

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is embarking on a campaign to make clear to Western Europe just what perils may be posed by French President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to dismantle NATO.

President Johnson was expected to spell out the U.S. intent today in a major foreign policy address before the State Department's Foreign Service Institute and senior seminar. The speech was to be broadcast nationwide on radio and television.

The Chief Executive sent De Gaulle a message Tuesday. It was described by informed sources as the opening move in a campaign aimed at forcing the French leader to disclose in detail the steps he proposes to "disengage" himself from NATO.

De Gaulle outlined his course in two recent messages. The first of these, received two weeks ago, went directly to Johnson and stated briefly and in general terms the French thesis that the present NATO military structure is "outmoded."

Pafford stated that one of the complaints on which many letters were received was double parking in front of the Hughes Bldg. at 12 noon and 5 p.m.

"This condition," Pafford said, "has already been corrected. Police have begun issuing tickets for double parking."

Pafford said a special study group will be named to take up the various complaints and reports of traffic hazards.

He released a partial list which he said were among the most common complaints. These included:

1. Cars making a speedway in both directions across intersection of Hamilton and 21st
2. Fast driving in residential areas and using Wells St. to bypass Hobart St. lights.
3. Parking on both sides of street on north side of First Christian Church, Starkweather and Kingsmill, causing narrow traffic lane.
4. Hazardous condition at intersection of E. Francis and Starkweather after church meetings.
5. Short timing on traffic lights on both sides of Cuyler St. underpass which does not give pedestrian time enough to cross street, making him a traffic target and red light violator.
6. Dangerous parking situation near Your Laundry on E. Francis.
7. Lack of safe walkway for school children on 23rd St. west of Hobart.
8. Too many trucks parked around tavern at Perry and Alford (See TRAFFIC, Page 14)

TOO YOUNG TO REMEMBER Swastika Becomes Fad of Nation's Youth

By United Press International

The old iron cross, a symbol of Nazi Germany awarded to Hitler's troops, has become a new fad among many American teenagers too young to remember World War II.

A nationwide survey showed today that teen-agers from the boroughs of New York City to the beaches of Southern California are decorating themselves with replicas of the iron cross and anything which looks like it, including Maltese crosses and Army marksmanship medals.

In some areas, especially in the Midwest, teen-agers have donned World War II German helmets and worn swastika insignias.

"They've one of the hottest novelty items we've had in the past five or 10 years," said a spokesman for Swank Inc., in New York City, which manufactures the items, sometimes called "surfer's crosses."

"We prefer to call them Maltese crosses," the spokesman said. Some store owners are reluctant to handle them because of the remembrance of World War II, he said, "but we tell them they're not Nazi crosses but Maltese crosses."

Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., who called attention to the fad earlier this week, said, "I would imagine that 99 per cent of the teen-agers don't know what the crosses mean."

But if the youngsters don't, their elders do.

Robert Wilkins, principal of Pierson Junior High School in Kansas City, said he first saw one of the crosses hanging from the neck of a schoolboy in a hallway.

"The first recollection that came to my mind when I saw it was of a big German tank during World War II," he said. "I didn't like the connection."

Louis Sherman, who operates a war surplus store in Milwaukee, Wis., said the iron crosses are "quite popular" but he stopped selling them. "I'm a member of the Jewish faith and I don't believe in this sort of thing," he said.

A Jewish girl at Rich Township High School in Park Forest, Ill., whose father bought her one of the crosses, stopped wearing it when a classmate told her what it represented.

Dealers in novelties and war surplus material across the nation reported sales were brisk.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Alexander Hamilton Institute says it looks for at least a sustained recover in selected issues at close to or somewhat below current levels. The firm says this seems to be no time to become panicky and dispose of good stock.

P. W. Brooks & Co. says that while it can see no immediate change in the direction of money rates, it thinks stock prices are not too far from discounting the stabilization of these conditions and looks for a correction to 880-890 in the Dow-Jones industrial average to fully accomplish this.

Spea & Staff Inc. says that to some extent the market already has discounted the possibility of anti-inflationary tax hikes but that, should the administration be able to avoid them, the way could be paved for a smart rally.

Wellington Pair Faces Cattle Theft Charges

A Wellington man, Duward Franklin Downs, 47, and his brother, G. D. Downs, have been charged with theft of cattle by Sheriff Rufe Jordan. Duward Downs is in Gray County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. Sheriff Jordan is returning his brother from a Lovington, N. Mex. jail today. The two men are accused of shooting and dressing out a steer stolen from Rueben Baggerman, 14 miles south of Pampa on Dec. 27, 1965. The steer was killed on the roadway after straying through Baggerman's fence. The pair are accused of shooting the steer and, after removing the entrails, hauling it to their home near Wellington. The steer was hung in a barn where the hide was removed before it was quartered and placed in a deep freeze. It was apparently consumed by the family, Jordan said. Sheriff Jordan said the combined efforts of his department and Sheriff John Rainey of Wellington, Allen Jeffries of Southwestern Cattle Raisers and Ranger Bill Baten resulted in the arrest of the two men. In 1962, Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Whittaker resigned because of ill health.

Pampa Delegates Return From YR State Convention

The Gray County Young Republicans Club delegates returned Monday from the annual state convention on March 18, 19 and 20 in Houston.

Pam Turek, Linda Zmotony and Ernest Upton represented the club at the convention.

The convention heard Senator John Tower speak along with George Bush, candidate for the House of Representatives.

Senator Bennett of Utah gave an educational talk on the defeat of 14 b of the Taft Hartley Law.

Over 1,000 delegates from high schools, colleges and young people's groups attended the convention. The Young Republicans Federation was formed only eight years ago with a handful of people and has grown to a force of 10,000 members.

The Gray County Young Republicans Club offers an invitation to anyone interested in becoming a member.

Group Decides To Study Airport Proposal Further

The City-County-School Cooperative Government Advisory Committee met late yesterday in City Hall for further discussion of the proposed takeover by the city of the now county-supervised Perry LeFors Airport.

Committee members decided to give further study of the proposal at a joint meeting with the Gray County Airport Board.

A new chairman for the airport board and one or two new members are to be appointed within the near future, it was stated.

A date for the joint meeting of the board and the committee is expected to be set following the appointment of a new airport board chairman.

The Pampa City Commission recently received a formal request for the city to meet with the county in an effort to have the airport placed under municipal supervision and control, plus recommendations for improvements at the airport.

The city commission has taken no action on the request other than to refer it to the three-way study committee.

Campaign Afoot To Trade With Chinese

THE SOFTENING PROCESS BEWARE, Mr and Mrs. America! You may well be the intended victims of a most subtle propaganda campaign. I hope I am wrong, but I am deeply and seriously suspicious that there is a campaign afoot to start trade between this country and Red China.

I have watched with great concern the developments over the past year in arguments designed to convince the American people that it would be good business to trade with Red China. Perhaps I am overly suspicious. I hope so; but anyone who has watched the trend in the international picture over the past year is bound to have seen a sizable increase in the daily references to the Red China problem. References in the metropolitan press in nationally syndicated columns, in television and radio documentaries and news stories. There has been no outright advocacy of recognition of Red China or trade with her, but woven into many of the stories and references we find such inferences as to the number of people in Red China (over seven hundred million), of famine and want which Christian people should not help to underwrite, difficulties between Red China and Soviet Russia which, it has been suggested, could be to our benefit if we were a little more friendly with Red China. Also, a large and vast untapped market for the goods, wares, and merchandise that is so plentiful in this country, and the profits that could be made if trade were allowed.

One article I saw not long ago suggested that we not recognize Red China but that we make every effort to promote all possible trade with her. One Englishman reputed to be thoroughly familiar with China has suggested that the best approach to the solution of the China problem would be to enter into trade with the Chinese and other Asians and trust that the orientals would fight among themselves. He indicated that he had known of this solution for many years but could not make it public because of his official position in Her Majesty's Government. One writer has recently suggested that this country is in sore need of some China experts; that all China experts were weeded out of the government during the time of Senator McCarthy, and that there have been no replacements. Hence, he concludes that we are at a distinct disadvantage because of our lack of close relations between the Continental Chinese, also known as the Chinese Communists, and this country.

A number of suggestions both for the recognition of Red China and/or open trade with Red China seem to come from sources that would profit measurably by such a policy on the part of our government. It is my feeling that these sources are much more interested in material profit than in a proper solution to the China problem.

If our government succumbs to any of these arguments or the many others that are being advanced daily, watch out. The government will be the subject of bitter and caustic, but well-deserved, criticism. The real culprits will make the profits, throw the blame on the government, hide behind the curtain of obscurity, and probably help finance some of the criticism against the government.

The people of the United States of America are not only the freest people in the world, but they are the best educated. There is no excuse for an educated person to fall for propaganda. The only alibi I know of is the open admission by an educated person that he or she was simply too lazy to think or to dig out the facts. Hence, this newsletter of warning. It is my sincere hope that the people of this country will not fall for this subtle propaganda and that they will rise up and reject any attempt to recognize Red China or to trade with the Chinese Communists.

SUDDENLY, NO INSURANCE

The Risks in High-Risk Insurance

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Six years ago the star of a Michigan high school basketball team was seriously injured when his school bus was rammed by a driver who ran a stop sign.

The athlete never again played basketball. The accident left his left leg three inches shorter than his right. His medical and hospital bills totaled $19,989.

Though the negligent driver was fully insured, the boy's parents have not collected a penny of this amount. Why?

The driver's insurance company, Michigan Surety, declared insolvency two years after the accident.

Most of these drivers are insured. Some may think they are. And some will find out they are not because their insurance company has gone broke.

Michigan Surety was a high-risk insurance company — a firm specializing in policies for motorists who, for one reason or another, cannot get liability coverage from the big standard companies.

In the first five years, 58 of these companies have gone broke in 21 states, ranging from Maryland to California — a good many of them failing to the tune of fraud charges and grand jury indictments.

As a result of these bankruptcies, more than 1.2 million drivers have been left with worthless auto liability policies.

But, more important, these washouts have left some 200,000 badly injured persons holding claims against these firms totaling $300 million. The luckiest of these victims may eventually receive 25 cents on the dollar but most will not collect a penny.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, chaired by Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., has been collecting evidence on failures in the high-risk auto insurance industry for over two years. The evidence is grim.

"Nearly every one of the high-risk insolvencies since 1960 can be attributed to careless or fraudulent management practices," says Dodd.

"In some companies we found appropriation of company funds for personal use. In others, falsification and manipulation of company assets and securities."

Last year, six persons were convicted of operating fraudulent insurance companies. Indictments have been returned against several dozen more, including Minnesota's insurance commissioner and a group of Chicago businessmen on charges of helping siphon off $4 million from the American Allied Insurance Co., which was declared insolvent last year.

Indictments returned against insurance men in Cincinnati, St. Louis and Philadelphia follow a similar pattern:

Promoters gain control of a high-risk firm, write a great deal of business, count on court backlog to delay payment of claims and milk the firm's assets, frequently through payment of inflated fees to sister firms in other states.

Chief selling targets for these firms, other than persons with poor driving records, are students, servicemen, the aged, Negroes and Orientals.

Dodd bluntly warned the National Association of Independent Insurers last month that unless state insurance commissioners protected the public, the federal government would have to step in to regulate the high-risk industry.

He noted that, in 1965, 11 segments of the insurance industry paid over $710 million in premium taxes to the states. But the states in turn spent only 3.7 per cent of those taxes to run their insurance departments.

Some examples of insolvent insurance companies:

- The Cosmopolitan Insurance Co. in Illinois left 130,000 persons without insurance, 22,000 persons claiming $68 million and only $2.5 million to pay the claims.
- Guaranty Insurance Exchange in Missouri left 100,000 persons without insurance. The receiver of the firm reported that 2,500 persons with $2 million in approved claims would collect 4 cents on the dollar.

Some of the victims:

- A Connecticut factory worker, hit by a driver insured with a Maryland high-risk company, suffered a ruptured spleen, incurred $2,500 in medical expenses and was out of work for 21 weeks. The company offered to settle for $8,700 in 1959, but was declared insolvent. The worker has received nothing to date.
- A young Maryland couple lost their home because their insurance policy proved to be worthless after their high-risk company failed. An accident victim obtained a judgment which was served against their home.

US Offers Reds New Treaty Idea

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States today offered the Soviet Union amendments to its proposal for a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, including an ironclad guarantee the United States would maintain its nuclear veto in any NATO force.

The initial Soviet reaction was negative. Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin said the new wording was closer to the Russian wording but that it does not forbid indirect access to nuclear weapons. Russia fears direct or indirect control of nuclear weapons by West Germany.

Under the amendments the United States also would withhold from any other nation or association of nations information on how to build or design nuclear weapons. Russia would be expected to assume the same guarantees.

But any agreement seemed unlikely for the time being on the basis of Tsarapkin's initial statements. He said the American initiative was "just a changing of words," that the changes deal only with "national control" and do not prevent other nations from obtaining "indirect access" to them.

PHS A Cappella Choir Is A Busy Group

By JANE HIATT
A Capella Choir Member

The phrase "A woman's work is never done," might aptly be paraphrased to include members of both sexes who sing in A Cappella Choir and their director, Hugh Sanders, to say, "A Capella's work is never done."

Last week, after singing at the American Choral Director Association's national convention in Kansas City, Mo., the choir returned to take sweepstakes in the Interscholastic League Choral Festival in Canyon Match.

At the contest, all three judges in the concert contest awarded the Pampa High School choir first division ratings with such comments as "Excellent blend," "Very sensitive," and "A well disciplined group." Judges were Richard Brothers, University of Arkansas; Thomas Mills, University of Missouri; and Richard Linn, Oklahoma Baptist University.

In the sightreading division, Mell Ivey, Big Spring high school, complimented the group who had not practiced sight-reading all year and told them that they were the best reading group he had heard all day.

At Kansas City, the choir was one of two high school choirs from the nation selected to sing at the national convention, sharing the honors with Ottumwa High School from Ottumwa, Iowa. The Pampa choir was chosen on the basis of a tape they entered this summer for consideration.

Selection was based on superior quality, understanding and interpretive skill. In inviting the choir to sing at the convention, Harold Decker, vice-president of ACDA, said, "Let me say how honored ACDA is to have such a select group on our national program."

In the concert, the choir sang "Sing We Merrily Unto God Our Strength" by Martin Shaw; "Four Lamentations of Jeremiah" by Carl Schalk; "A Jubilant Song" by Norman Dello Joio; "Premonition" by Houston Bright; and "Choose Something Like a Star" by Randall Thompson.

A high light of the Kansas City trip was when the choir served as the demonstration choir for a clinic taught by Dr. Charles Hirt, University of Southern California. Dr. Hirt is a well known musician, having traveled extensively through Europe and the Communist nations with his choirs.

Entitled "Choral Development Through Choral Literature," the clinic was designed to show the conductors how to get the best sound from their choirs. "I wish that they had given me a choir I could hope to improve," Dr. Hirt commented before the clinic began.

Songs used during the clinic were "Weep, O Mine Eyes" arranged by John Bennett; "O Music Loveliest Art" by Erasmus Wildmann; "All of My Heart's Desiring" by Johannes Brahms; and three madrigals by Emma Lou Delmer.

During the clinic, Dr. Hirt demonstrated the use of diction, breathing, blend and rhythm to achieve a mature sound from a high school choir. "Without empathy, without the students feeling with the music, however, the whole musical effect and all of your techniques are lost," he emphasized.

After the clinic, Dr. Hirt complimented the choir and their director on their maturity and flexibility. "Perhaps one of the most rewarding compliments I received," Sanders said, "was the fact that conductors from all over the state liked our choir, conductors from Boston, Arizona, and California, to name a few."

In preparation for the convention, the choir enjoyed two clinics — one from George Umberger, of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, and one from B. R. Henson, of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

To close the final portion of the school, the choir will sing several light concerts at all of the grade schools, in the Spring Choral Festival, and in a final concert.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

Just one week of warm weather had added many more blooms to the landscape. The apricot trees and forsythia are beautiful. The hyacinths and dwarf iris in the triangle at the Duncan and Louisiana Sts. intersection really catch one's eye. Also blooming are thyme, jasmine, tulips, crocus, daffodils, grape hyacinth and flowering quince. About ready to open are the redbud, purple leaf plum, flowering peach and the flowering almond. This is a wonderful time of year.

Because gardeners enjoy beautiful things, instructions on making antique wall plaques are given here. These plaques must be seen to be appreciated. They are beautiful as well as fascinating and do not require much time in making.

Children's art work, old maps, special pictures on Christmas Cards, magazine pictures or family moments look very attractive when they are shown off in this intriguing manner. The pictures can be mounted on plywood or other pieces of wood. Mar new wood to give it a beat up, antique finish. You can make wood look worn by scratching it with a file, nail or knife. To dent wood, bang it with a hammer. Mrs. Tom Snow has made some beautiful antique plaques and she suggests the following method:

Dear Abby...

Who's the Boss In This Widow's Family?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow contemplating marriage to a widower. He is affectionate, trustworthy, and thoughtful. He loves my children and they love him. He is a wonderful father to his own children. He cooks, cleans, washes, irons, and never complains. We couldn't help but have smooth sailing, and I love him, but my problem is the strong objections my family has to this man. They don't like him because our backgrounds are so different. My parents are culture-conscious and somewhat snobbish. My friend is one of 15 children of a struggling Canadian farm family. His English is not very good, and he has not had the educational advantages I have had. If left alone, I'm sure we could overcome these differences, but I am very close to my family and they could make life unbearable for me if I were to marry this man. I've told him yes, but wonder if perhaps I should reverse my decision. Do you consider my parents' objections too great a stumbling block?

UNDECIDED: Yes, because apparently you do. When you are able to say, "I intend to live my own life with a man of my choice and... if my parents don't like it, they can lump it," I'll reverse my answer.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very important questions to ask you. Does epilepsy cause mental retardation or insanity? And is it safe for an epileptic to work, marry, drive a car, have children, and do things other people can do?

TROUBLED: DEAR TROUBLED: Epilepsy is merely a symptom. It cannot "cause" anything. Most people with epilepsy are of normal intelligence. In most cases, epilepsy patients have fast, few seizures. If they lead active, normal lives. Most of them can work, participate in sports, drive a car (if they have complete seizure control), marry, and have children. In some states epileptics are not permitted to marry, but this attitude is slowly changing. For more detailed information write to the Epilepsy Foundation, 1419 H. St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

DEAR ABBY: The young bride's situation isn't hopeless. She can do several things if she feels certain that the only reason her "Lochinvar" married

Marichal Signs, Giants Lose Exhibition Tilt

By United Press International
Marichal, si' Koufax and Drysdale, no!

That's the latest development from the training camps of the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers as the two managements continued their efforts Tuesday to sign baseball's three best pitchers.

The Giants succeeded in signing their ace righthander Juan Marichal after a 23-day holdout, but even a personal call from Dodger President Walter O'Malley failed to budge Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale in their negotiations.

Marichal, who posted a 22-13 record last season and finished second to Koufax in earned run average with 2.14, signed for a little more than $70,000. The "Dominican Dandy" had been holding out for $80,000 but settled for a compromise agreement.

O'Malley placed a call to Drysdale and Koufax Tuesday but offered the two pitchers the same contract that had previously been offered them and rejected.

Hard Times
Meanwhile, both the Giants and Dodgers continued to flounder in the exhibition games.

San Francisco, which won its first six games of the spring, dropped its fifth straight Tuesday, losing to the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Bobby Wine's 12th inning homer gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles as the Dodgers dropped their eighth game in 10 starts.

In other games: Ken McMullen's seventh inning homer broke a 7-7 tie and handed the Washington Senators an 8-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox, while Willie Horton's first inning grand-slam homer and solo homers by Don Demeter and Al Kaline propelled the Detroit Tigers to a 7-4 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Jaciek Warner drove in three runs with a homer and single to pace the California Angels to an 11-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Birds to Mets
Woody Held belted a two-run homer in the seventh inning to give the Baltimore Orioles a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets.

Art Mahaffey pitched scoreless two-hit ball for four innings and Pat Corrales and Alex Johnson had five hits between them to hand the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-4 victory over Cincinnati.

Pinch-hitter Frank Bolling drove in the tying and winning runs with a single in the eighth inning to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

Pitcher Frank Carpin hit a bases loaded single in the last of the eighth to pace the Houston Astros to a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Don Buford's bloop single drove in the winning run as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Minnesota Twins 5-4 in 10 innings. The victory was the White Sox 11th in 13 exhibition games.

TOP HITTER — He doesn't bunt much, he doesn't have to. Gary Molberg is leading Pampa baseballers with a .444 average and also leads the team in homers with three and runs batted in with 11.

Is Clay Fearing Canada's Chivalo?
TORONTO (UPI) — Since his arrival in Toronto, Cassius Clay has maintained that if he is ever going to be beaten, it will be when he defends his heavyweight title against George Chivalo on March 29.

Clay has complained he is overweight, burdened with personal problems and behind in his training. What's more, he has gone out of his way to praise Chivalo for his strength and stamina.

Clay's self-doubt and his knockdown by sparring partner James Ellis last Saturday have passed off in some circles as merely promotion gimmicks for the fight.

However, Bundini Brown, Clay's former trainer, agreed Tuesday that Clay stands a good chance of losing to Chivalo.

Brown now is in the Chivalo camp, having deserted Clay because of the champ's involvement with the Black Muslims.

Brown said Chivalo will be the first healthy fighter Clay has opposed recently.

"Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson were physically unfit when they fought Clay," Brown said. "I think this time the switch is on, Clay has the problems now."

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)
Noble Victory, winner of $312,000 during two seasons of harness racing, has been sold for $1 million to a syndicate headed by Alan J. Leavitt. The horse, bought as a yearling in 1963 for $33,000, will be raced for two seasons and then retired to stud.

Molberg's .444 Is Pacing Harvesters

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
Sharp Hitting Gary Molberg has the lead as the Harvesters' top slugger with catcher Corky Dodd not far behind.

Molberg is batting .444 with Dodd at .436 with only five Harvesters topping .300 or better. Molberg has 12 hits in 27 at bats and Dodd has rattled off 10 hits in 23 turns at the plate.

Gary is also leading the team in homers with three and this is three better than any other Harvester. Dodd leads in doubles with four and triples with one. Molberg is the runs batted in leader with 11 while Dodd is second with six.

In the way of fielding, where the Harvesters have been their worst, first baseman Larry Jones carries a .938 fielding average with only three errors in 49 tries.

Larry Stephens, the center-fielder, at .348. Roy Harper at .319 and sophomore Alvin Achord at .316 round out the above .300 Pampa hitters.

As a team Pampa is hitting .272 while the opposition has batted .371 mark. The Pampa team fielding average is .842 and helps explain their 2-5 season reading.

Dickie Henley, a sophomore, is pacing Pampa pitching with a 1-0 record. Henley won his only start, against Berger, although he has pitched but three and two-thirds innings.

Roy Harper has a 1-1 reading in 10 and one-third innings and Bud Hammons is 0-3 but has been the Pampa workhorse with 19 innings pitched.

The Harvesters have given up 67 runs, 57 of them earned and 44 Pampa pitchers have been

Mills Takes Job at Wellington

GROOM (Sp) — Ronnie Mills, Groom High School's successful football coach, resigned Tuesday to accept the head coaching position at Wellington.

"It was a tough decision to make," Mills said, adding, "but the chance to coach in a higher classification is just too great a challenge."

Mills' Tigers won the district B crown last season and posted an 11-0-1 record. He has been at Groom for one season.

Mills took over basketball coaching chores the second week after the season started and won the district title with a season record of 22-4 only to lose his first regional game.

Mills came to Groom from White Deer and will coach track besides football at Wellington, a 1988 AA school.

Mills will take over the coaching duties at Wellington from Don Beck who has accepted the coaching job at Otton.

touched for 73 hits.

Pampa will host Berger Thursday in a 4 p.m. contest on the practice diamond and then play host to Nazareth Saturday in a 2 p.m. battle.

A trip to Berger Tuesday will round out non-conference action and the league tests will get underway April 1-2 when Pampa plays Lubbock on Friday and Monterey the next day. So far the Harvesters have played only Dumas and Berger with Dumas handing Pampa four of their live losses and the Harvesters standing 2-1 against Berger.

The Harvester B squad was in action this afternoon against Samnorwood on the practice diamond.

As a team Pampa has batted in only 33 runs or an average of just over four per game while the opposition has boomed over 57. Ten triples, 11 doubles and six homers have been hit off Pampa pitching. The Harvesters have scored a total of 44 runs and foes have scored 67.

Flu Bug Strikes Celtics As Cincy Playoff Nears

BOSTON (UPI) — The flu bug was a late starter for the Boston Celtics today as they prepared for their unfamiliar role of runnerup in National Basketball Association playoff action.

The Celtics were entertaining Cincinnati's rugged Royals at Boston Garden in the first of best-of-five series to determine which of the clubs will face first place Philadelphia in the Eastern Division playoff finals.

The game marked the first time in a decade that the Celtics failed to finish first and had to see action in an preliminary series for the right of advancing in the playoffs.

Boston has won the playoff title seven successive times and eight times in the past nine seasons.

The flu bug struck the Boston squad without warning and just over 24 hours before the opening clash with the Royals. Utility man John Havlicek, generally regarded as the "best sixth man" in the NBA, was bedded under a doctor's care and on a steady diet of antibiotics.

At the same time, Jack McMahon had promising news from his temporary Royals training camp at Boston College. He said that six-seven Harold (Happy) Hairston, who missed most of the last few games of the season with an ankle injury, was "coming along nicely" and had resumed workouts in hopes of rejoining Cincinnati for the playoffs.

IN TOURNAMENT — Pampa's Ina Reading rolled a 213 single in the team event of the 31st Annual Texas Woman's Bowling tournament last weekend to become a contender for the "Billy Simon" award.

The late Babe Didrikson Zaharias won 632 of the 634 contests she entered during her amateur athletic career.

Bad Weather Halts Practice

The return of bad weather hampered practice of Pampa High School's golf and track teams Tuesday and threatened to do the same again today.

Both coaches Jeep Webb and Weldon Trice were bemoaning the weather and wondering how they would get their respective squads in shape for important encounters coming up Saturday.

The golf team journeys to Berger for the third round of district action. The golfers trail leading Monterey by 14 shots and would like to cut this down to a smaller margin this weekend.

The track teams are aiming to make a strong comeback at Perryton after a disastrous trip to the Kimbell Relays in Dallas last Saturday. They finished 18th and the best anyone could do was a fifth place by Gary Crossland in the broad jump.

At last count, 47 former National Basketball Association players were coaching varsity college cage teams.

Things Look Bad For Boston as AL Opening is Closer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — If everything comes out in the wash, then look for the Boston Red Sox to wind up in someplace like your local laundry.

Don't bother looking for them in the first division. You won't find them there. Not in the immediate future, anyway.

Manager Billy Herman finds himself with two solid every day ballplayers in Carl Yastrzemski and Tony Conigliaro. From that point on, he's going to have to do it mostly with untried kids.

The Red Sox barely escaped the American League cellar last year when they limped home ninth, only three games better than the last place Kansas City A's.

The Red Sox hit more homers than any other AL club, but their defense was bad and their pitching even worse. To shore up their defense, they obtained second baseman George Smith and outfielder George Thomas from the Tigers for Bill Monbouquette.

Letting go Monbouquette didn't help their pitching any, but they hope that will be improved by a sound again Dennis Bennett and Bob Sadowski and Dan Osinski, who they acquired from the Braves for Lee Thomas.

Outfielder Joe Christopher is the only other notable addition and he came from the Mets with whom he hit only 249 last year. That left field wall at Fenway Park ought to help him, though.

Herman knows Yastrzemski (.312, 72 RBI's and 20 homers) will be in left field and Conigliaro (.269, 82 RBI's and 32 homers) will be in right, but he's not sure of his center fielder. Jim Gosger (.256) is the leading candidate although Thomas, who hit 213 for the Tigers, and Lenny Green (.276) also are battling for the job. Christopher is most at home in left.

Boston's infield may turn out to look like a kindergarten class with 21-year-old Tony Horton at first base, 22-year-old Rico Petrocelli at shortstop and 23-year-old Joey Foy at third. All three could make it big one day.

Horton batted .294 for the Red Sox last year after hitting .301 for part of the season with Toronto; Petrocelli batted .232 but took the job away from Ed Bressoud, and Foy was a standout at Toronto where he had 73 RBI's, 14 homers and a .302 average.

Smith, who batted .259 at Syracuse last year and .094 in 32 games with Detroit, could wind up with the second base job over Felix Mantilla and Chuck Schilling. Mantilla had 92 runs batted in, 18 homers and a .275 average but his performance around second base is not on a par with his hitting.

Another youngster, 24-year-old Mike Ryan, is being eyed as the No. 1 catcher despite his modest .159 average of last year. Russ Nixon (.270) and Bob Tillman (.215) are the other receivers and there is a good possibility Tillman will move in a trade. The Orioles, Twins and Yankees all have made inquiries about him.

The Red Sox can't possibly go anywhere with the kind of pitching they had last year. The staff's aggregate earned run average of 4.24 tied Kansas City's for the poorest in the league.

GIL BURGUND

Bowling Breaks By Gil

I wonder how many people realize the tremendous amount of work, preparation, promotion and worry that is involved in the annual American Bowling Congress tournament.

The tournament this year started Saturday at Rochester, N. Y. and before it ends 27,000 bowlers will have competed for a total of $461,509 in prize funds. This is the Grand Daddy and biggest of all and many people travel thousands of miles just to be able to say that they have bowled in it.

Our Ladies City tournament starts this weekend and no one could have worked harder than Ann Rader in making this a huge success, and by the looks of the high scores on the Honor Roll the women are really sharpening up for this event.

In the wonderful world of bowling when a bowler is bowling badly we hear the griping about the old beat up pins and why don't you get new pins up so we can score. Next when the pins are new we find the same gripe. Those pins are lousy you can't knock them over with a sledge hammer. By the way in the ABC after every 50 lines new pins are up and also no one is ever allowed to practice or to be on the lanes until bowling in the tournament.

Scores in general were so lousy that Paul Root even bragged about his 95 game. As for splits Buddy Hapeman in picking the 6-7-10 just couldn't have had the pleasure Doris Danford did in picking the 3-7-10. She is a brand new bowler and did this in her first game in league.

Then, too, June Rowan picked the 4-5-7 in such a slow motion way that everyone watching got a big laugh out of it. The five just barely tipped over to the four and the four in turn lazily leaned over on the seven and then they all collapsed.

A pat on the back goes to Pete Pettit who bowled in spite of a sore thumb that was almost raw. He just doctored it up and gritted his teeth.

The Slumberger boys again had the tough luck to be called out on a job just as things were sailing along smoothly. Yes they had to leave at the start of the second game. Too bad fellows.

Ruth Wilson makes the headlines with a gutter ball but I'm sure that the ball just happened to slip.

Then Bill Branum with a 157 average rolled 159-159-158 just so close to a triPLICATE. Shirley Winters tried hard too, a 130-132-130.

John Morrell was a little below average when he posted a 91. Bob Owsley had his troubles too. Then Bob Shelton really joined the Low Bowlers Club. I believe he will make president.

To get to the Juniors we have something most unusual. The team standings in the Junior League reads with the Top Pins in first place, the wins are as follows 25-24-23-21-19-18!

Anne Corley always seems to get mentioned but a 112-116-120 straightstep is an oddity as was Sharon Riddles 115, then 101. Then too, the boys from White Deer failed to show up to bowl and all the girls just couldn't bowl any way.

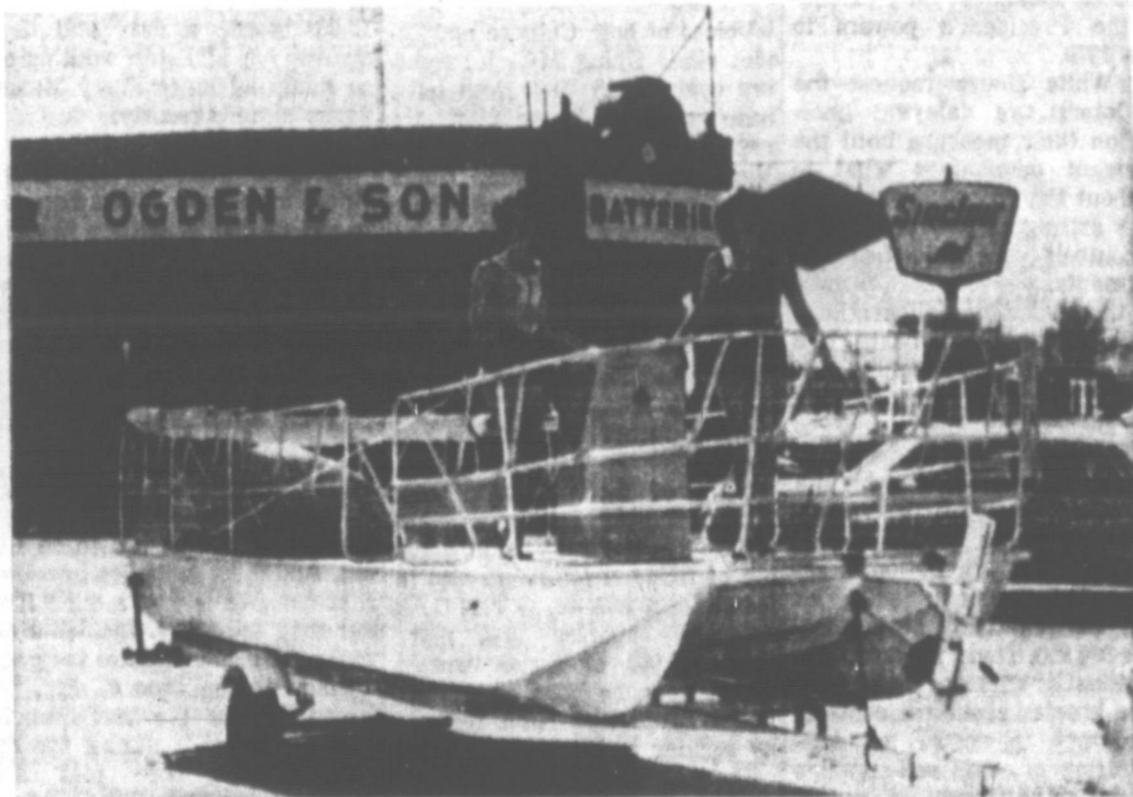

Can't seem to think of anything else of interest so let's see you all out watching the womens' tournament this weekend. Scorekeepers are always welcome and needed so be seeing you.

THEY'VE QUIT EATING

Sooners Lose Weight, Picking Up More Speed

"The youngsters have simply quit eating." That's Coach Jim Mackenzie's explanation of how the Oklahoma football squad has taken off 1,437 pounds, approximately three-fourths of a ton, as they get ready for the start of spring practice here April 7.

"This shows we have a bunch of youngsters who want to win," the new Sooner head coach praised. "The only way to lose weight is to stop eating and young people like to eat. It's hard for a bunch of youngsters to go through that chow hall and make those sacrifices. But I don't think you can play football when you're fat. I'm very pleased."

The four players who have worked off the most weight are end Bill Ross of Tulsa, 31 pounds (from 228 to 196), guard Mike Smith of Panhandle, 28 pounds (243 to 215), tackle David Hammond to Ada 26 pounds (227 to 201) and linebacker Bob Flanagan of Fort Worth, 24 pounds (222 to 198). "The boys have gained a lot of speed, too," points out Mackenzie. "They've been running 50-yard dashes. Most of them have improved their time."

The Sooners have achieved the improvement in speed in a university health, physical education and recreation class titled "conditioning exercises." There are six sections in it, four for women, two for men. One hour credit is given. Many of the football squad are enrolled in one of the men's sections.

Here are some of the most notable reductions in weight and speed over the 50-yard distance:

ENDS — Bill Ross (228 pounds to 196, 6.2 seconds to 6.1), Robert Kalsu (233-213, 6.3-6.0), Randy Meacham (216-199, 6.5-6.2), John Koller (214-198, 6.3-6.0), Jimmy Linn (180-176, 6.4-5.9).

TACKLES — David Hammond (227-201, 6.6-6.4), Jim Riley (256-233, 6.4-6.2), Tommy Bowden (213-189, 6.3-6.1), Mike Oliver (215-213, 6.8-6.6), Larry Crutcher (230-210, 6.2-6.2), Phil Wetherbee (225-205, 6.6-6.3), Ed Hall (225-208, 6.4-6.2), Mike Base (214-197, 7.1-6.8).

GUARDS — Mike Smith (243-215, 7.0-6.6), Wes Butts (227-204, 7.0-6.6), Terry Schreiner (212-189, 6.9-6.5), Vernon Burkett (215-193, 6.7-6.4), Joe Poslick (224-204, 6.4-6.2), Bob Prickett (213-193, 7.1-6.9).

CENTERS — Chuck Williams (213-190, 6.7-6.4), Bob Craig (225-203, 6.6-6.4), Edd McGehee (219-199, 7.2-6.8), Don Kindley (206-189, 6.8-6.5).

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Our Rulers' Broken Promises

Examine a Silver Certificate dollar bill (if you can still find one, that is: each one being a reminder of our rulers' broken promises, the government is calling them in as fast as possible) and you will see that it plainly states: "This certifies that there is on deposit in the treasury of the United States of America One Dollar in silver payable to the bearer on demand."

That's what it says. And the language is as plain as one could ask. It says simply that the silver is on deposit in the treasury and that the bearer of the certificate will be given one dollar in silver in exchange for the certificate any time he wants to cash it in.

Oh yeah! Just try it and see how your benevolent government is now interpreting that plain statement and promise. A news story dated Feb. 18, let the bureaucratic cat out of the bag:

"Lee J. Vesper, a Cincinnati attorney, is headed for New York today with a fistful of old Silver Certificate dollar bills to see if the government will pay silver to the bearer on demand." "He will have to settle for a 1,000-ounce bar of pure silver, which the Federal Reserve Bank" (anyone still believe that old myth that the FRB is a privately owned institution?) "is waiting on him at the U. S. Assay Office."

"It all started when he tried to round up 100 silver dollars for a businessman client who wanted to give them away to his customers on keychains. None were to be found, not even in Las Vegas."

"When he asked the Treasury Department they told him they didn't have any silver dollars either. He wrote back and reminded them of the promise on the old silver certificates (which are now being replaced by Federal Reserve notes).

"The treasury Department wrote that he would have to get the silver in 1,000-ounce lots—and only at the New York or San Francisco assay offices."

"With the help of friends he saved the necessary $1,309 in silver certificates. What burns him up, says Vesper, is that the little guy couldn't do it. He wouldn't receive silver for his $1 bill because the least you can get is 1,000-ounces."

So, if you happen to have any old Silver Certificate dollar bills around, and have any ideas of turning them in for silver, it looks like you had better have at least 1,309 of them or; else, you will find that they have no more meaning, or value, than the run-of-the-mill Federal Reserve notes which, value-wise, are worth exactly zilch!

Of course, if you happen to be a foreigner holding some of Uncle Samuel's counterfeit "medium of exchange," you can demand, and get, GOLD: as long as the dwindling supply holds out, that is. But that is a privilege reserved for foreigners and far too good for the tax-paying citizens of this once free land.

And, irony of ironies, it is this same government, which breaks its one-dollar promises, that trusting people are counting on to make good on its promises to cash their "Savings Bonds;" cure them of illness under "Medicare;" and take care of them in their old age under "Social Security."

Incidentally, and as a final paradox, with the distribution of the new silver dimes, the old nickel 5-cent piece will be of more intrinsic value than the new ten-cent slug.

Governmental promises are not only useless—they are downright dangerous! THIS is your "Great Society!" Anyone for politics?

Generosity Not Sufficient

President Johnson's proposal to feed the world has the ring of magnanimity about it but like noble objectives it requires a bit of consideration as to how it ought to be accomplished. Certainly, the very thought of hungry children any place in the world rouses the emotions, causes the parent to think of his own and to consider how much he would appreciate receiving help if fortunes were reversed.

At the very time these profound feelings are stirring, however, one remembers that it was the misplaced generosity of the Herbert Hoover food expedition that bolstered the Bolshevik regime in Soviet Russia at a time when it was on the verge of collapse from its own bumbling. Was this act of American kindness a particular boon to the Russian peasants who then were trying to topple the Red tyranny by refusal to produce?

Likewise UNICEF, that collects money ostensibly to feed children behind the iron curtain, but which delivers food-stuffs to Red countries for distribution by Communist authorities without further supervision, leaves a question as to whether hungry children or party brass really do the eating.

Also according to the evidence gathered by Stanford Research Institute and United Press International the Viet Cong are able to carry on aggression against South Viet Nam because of food exports to the Communist bloc by Canada, Australia and the United States. Is it a good thing for the sons of American parents to die and to suffer because of noble-minded but mistakenly directed generosity?

We believe there is a way the unfortunate people overseas can be helped. We know that voluntary groups—such as Christian missionaries—have been successful in teaching many abroad the secret of social harmony. That learned, the inhabitants of those lands have been able to plough and to reap. Material improvement, on other words, is the natural consequence of a moral commitment. Until the social order permits men to work together, a handout is simply a passing illusion that vanishes as soon as it is consumed. Any help of a durable character must be accompanied by a rightful idea.

A Stopper for Eavesdropper

The Federal Communications Commission has jumped into pest control by leveling a spray gun at one of the most obnoxious bugs of all.

This would be the sneaky little radio transmitter—known as eavesdropping circles as "the bug"—that is so frequently planted surreptitiously by spooks who for various reasons want to stick their nosy ears in to other people's business.

The FCC has issued a ruling that will prohibit anyone but law enforcement officers from using such devices for such purposes under penalty of a $500 fine for each day the bug is debugging. Invasion of privacy doesn't draw cheers from Americans in general even when it is resorted to by law enforcers to track down criminals. And it is even less acceptable when—as has been openly asserted—American industry is more and more bugging the offices of competitors to see what the competitors are up to in the mad scramble to see who can sell most first.

Wild? Perhaps. But a man who manufactures a device which unbugs spy bugs estimates that 75 per cent of all major companies periodically inspect their offices for wire taps and hidden electronic gadgets they fear may have been planted by curious rivals.

And one company which makes debuggers at $350 each says it has sold 500 of them in the last year, is turning out 35 a week, and is still running a month behind orders. This company further says businessmen are among its customers.

It's hard to believe that responsible businessmen would

Cannel At Bay

Forecast for Fall TV: Murky NEW YORK (NEA)—This is the time when the television networks decide on the new program lineup for the coming season. And as regular readers know, we usually look into this matter and report on what the home screen will be offering next autumn.

However, after making several calls to our sources in videoland, we find that the new television schedules are still far from firm.

To delay is quite understandable, of course. Turning out a new array of entertainment is a very difficult business, requiring a great expenditure of imagination and creativity.

But the fact remains that we cannot at this time give an authoritative report on the new programs.

Consequently, the following list of television highlights for next season is completely unauthoritative—but not completely unreasonable.

NEWS & PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Great Issues—An in-depth study of major U.S. highways during the rush hour.

Open Head—Patients from representative mental institutions in the NATO countries analyze world tensions.

Where Are They Now?—A festival of the nation's best loved television commercials and searching interviews with the men and women who created them.

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION
Teen-Age Jury—A panel of average youngsters selected by computer consider their parents, peers, society in a courtroom atmosphere. Actual prosecutions, defenses, verdicts, executions.

Give-Up?—Famous drop-outs of leading colleges and universities compete for valuable prizes.

Secretary for a Day—Typical housewives to beat the clock in fun games. Winner gets to make U.S. foreign policy for 24 hours.

SITUATION COMEDY
Bemused—A beautiful witch turns into a fire hydrant by mistake and then finds that she has lost her magical powers.

My Ahlin' Back—The rollicking, hilarious adventures of a bunch of GIs in the Bataan Death March.

Pen Name 009—The inmates of a federal prison take it on themselves to organize an international espionage ring to help the U.S. government fight communism.

ADVENTURE & DRAMA
Hopalong Casadesus—A twofisted, two-gun piano teacher moves into Dodge City.

Candy's Cane—A gentle widow, once wrongly tried for murder, devotes her life to correcting the ills of society and helping the downtrodden. Starring Zsa Zsa Gabor.

The Girl Next Door—A typical, pretty young teen-age spy on her way to the high school prom suddenly finds herself in Peking, the victim of amnesia.

SCIENCE & EDUCATION
Rin Fin Film—The heart-warming, continuing story of a little boy and his pet shark.

Hoop 'n' Annie—An American Indian, working his way through medical school as a newspaper reporter, falls asleep in class and dreams he is on board a raft with a girl floating down the alimentary canal.

I Move to Acquit—A series of nonfiction dramas revealing the human side of famous people such as Adolf Hitler and Attila the Hun. Truman Capote narrates.

Wit and Whimsy

Father—I tell you I won't stand for that young man kissing you like that.

Daughter—Oh, don't worry, Dad. He'll improve. After all, I've only just met him.

Hal—Why do they call our language the mother-tongue?

Cal—Because a father so seldom gets a chance to use it.

stoop to such low-level snooping. You like to think such cloak-and-dagger stuff is confined to law enforcement, international espionage and to movie and television sleuths.

The right to privacy is and always has been a cherished American tradition. And if even a part of industry is in fact mocking this right by wire taps or other snoopyery, you have to wonder if our free enterprise system—also a cherished American tradition—isn't in danger of becoming more enterprising than free.

Priorities, Allotment System for Strategic Materials Being Drafted to Speed War Supplies to Viet Nam

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A new sweeping Viet Nam war move is in the making.

President Johnson's lieutenants are drafting an executive order establishing a system of priorities and allocations for all strategic materials involved in defense production.

This latest war measure, due to be put on the President's desk this week, was decided on by Defense and Commerce Department authorities after military contractors complained about long delays in obtaining materials to produce supplies for the armed forces.

When approved by the President, the contemplated control system will replace the "set aside" method now in use to allot selected materials for military requirements.

The existing allocation procedure is applied chiefly to copper and brass items used by a small number of manufacturers making shells and rockets. The quotas are administered by the Commerce Department under the Defense Production Act.

This law, enacted during the Korean war, expires June 30. It must be renewed if the new expanded system of priorities and allotments is to become effective.

Senator A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., and Representative Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairmen of the Senate and House Banking Committees, have introduced identical bills extending the President's powers to June 1970.

At White House request the legislators are delaying hearings on their measure until the President determines what to do about the proposed executive order setting up new and tougher controls over priorities and allotments.

In the backstage deliberations, the lawmakers are being told the President is weighing reports that Moscow and Peiping are increasing their aid to Hanoi in preparation for a series of large-scale offensives by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese this spring.

If this grim information is accurate, U.S. forces in South Viet Nam will inevitably be increased to 300,000. That, in turn, the President's advisers hold, will make greater economic controls mandatory to ensure an adequate flow of arms and supplies to the fighting front.

PREPARING FOR CHINA—A list of strategic materials on which shortages could develop if Red China becomes involved in the Viet Nam conflict is being prepared by Defense and Commerce experts, and will be submitted to the White House with the control directive.

In addition, a survey of private holdings of 50 vital materials, including steel for truck axles, guns, bridges and dock equipment, is planned by administration officials.

A review of the country's petroleum requirements already is underway. On White House orders earlier this month, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall began studying the amount of oil the domestic industry can produce in the event of war with Red China.

CHINESE THREAT—Defense Secretary McNamara's statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the growing menace of Communist China contained one glaring omission.

While he warned of the danger of Peiping's intervention to prevent the collapse of the Hanoi regime, McNamara failed to tell the senators that China already has powerfully intervened in Viet Nam.

Defense Intelligence Agency reports, that are known to McNamara, estimate there are now approximately 20,000 Chinese railway troops repairing bombed bridges and tracks from Hanoi to Nanning in Kwansi Province in Southern China. This is a principal Communist supply line.

These service troops, which are trained for combat, were increased from 12,000 in December 1965 to 14,000 by mid-January, and then to 20,000 this month. Photographic evidence exists that this build-up is continuing.

In addition to these Chinese railway troops, Intelligence estimates that the number of Chinese advisers and technicians in North Viet Nam now totals nearly 5,000, with several hundred operating with units fighting in South Viet Nam.

Voices of both Chinese and Soviet pilots flying MIG jet fighters over North Viet Nam have been recorded. These pilots fly regularly over northern North Viet Nam and in the Hanoi area, where there are three large military airfields that have never been bombed.

Intelligence reports also indicate the Chinese are transporting large quantities of automatic weapons and ammunition by air to North Viet Nam for combat forces in South Viet Nam.

Latest of these Chinese weapons to show up in the Viet Nam fighting is a "burp" gun capable of firing a 100-round clip in less than a minute. A Viet Cong defector reported that more than 100,000 of these "spray-type" weapons have been shipped to South Viet Nam for use by regular and guerrilla troops. Their shot-gun fire is considered one reason for the increase in U.S. casualties in recent weeks.

Forty-six States now have voting machines in all or some of their precincts. Only four still cling to the old-fashioned paper ballot exclusively although voting machines are permitted by law in all fifty States. Increasingly reduces the cost of elections and generally the savings are sufficient to recover the cost of purchasing the machines ($1500 - $1900 per machine), within 10 to 12 years. Besides, machines assure an accurate and speedy count of the ballots cast. Today's modern voting machine traces its ancestry to Thomas Alva Edison. He was granted a patent in 1889 for a device for recording the yeas and nay votes by members of Congress.

Today's smile: An old lady asked the clerk in a drug store for some pills that had a name like a city. He offered many suggestions and, after running through a list of American cities, started on England. The old lady stopped him when he mentioned Liverpool, saying: "That is it! Carler's Little Liverpools."

Perry Mason is one of the most valuable literary properties ever created. He enjoys tremendous popularity in hardcover and paperback books, along with TV. The author, Erle Stanley Gardner, who was once a lawyer himself until he found he could make more money writing novels instead of briefs, is one of the greatest literary craftsmen of all time. He dictates up to 10,000 words a day and frequently has had staff working on as many as seven Perry Mason yarns simultaneously.

Thoughts while shaving: Short skirts may have given impetus to girl watching, but the hosiery manufacturers are now facing up to the problem of making nylons that are attractive no matter how high the skirts. They're eliminating the welts at the top of a gal's nylons. And, they're also longing for the day when skirts will be a bit longer. . . . Most persons don't realize it but in buying shoes they should put their big foot forward to be fitted. And most folks don't realize that one foot is just a trifle longer than the other. Incidentally, foot measurements also vary according to the time of day. A friend tells us the best time to shop for shoes is during the afternoon, when both feet are about the average size. . . . Conrad Hilton has his name on the largest hotel in the world and also the world's largest motel. The hotel is in Chicago and its 25 floors contain 3000 guest rooms. The largest motel is in San Francisco with a total of 1200 rooms, with parking for as many cars. . . . The most successful author of all time is Dr. Benjamin Spock, whose baby care book has sold more than 14 million copies. . . . EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

He Boosted Pay, Cut Cost And Made Business Boom

By KIRK WELS Business Editor

A manager who can trim costs to approximately 40 per cent, while boosting production tremendously and increasing income of the workers almost fantastically must be looked at twice.

The man of whom I speak is Dr. Millard G. Roberts, who took over a $311,000 yearly business in 1955. It was approximately $1 million in the red and owned buildings and equipment worth less than 3/4 that.

Dr. Roberts was only 37 at that time.

On Nov. 11, 1965 he was honored at a conference in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. His firm then had a capital plant worth more than $16 million, and had a $14 million yearly budget.

The employees, who in 1955 averaged less than $3,000 yearly, had an average income of more than $16,500.

Dr. Robert's business is that of running a college—Parsons College at Fairfield, Iowa.

In less than 10 years, the enrollment of full-time students at Parsons had increased from 212 to 4,600, a staggering debt was liquidated, the original campus plant had been completely renovated and air-conditioned and more than $16 million in new buildings had been erected. In 1955 the faculty's average pay was $2,800; now is more than $16,500. A decade ago, the percentage of earned doctorates was about 16 per cent of the ranked faculty; today it's 84 per cent.

Growth is common in colleges, but at Parsons this has occurred with little tax support, with endowment income of less than $40,000 per year from funds of less than $1 million, and with gifts averaging less than $200,000 per year during the last decade.

Just 'Management'
Roberts believes management training created the present situation. He borrowed avidly from the ideas and writings of Thomas J. Watson, whose management abilities built IBM, and of Beardsley Ruml, corporate manager genius who generally was ignored while trustee of Dartmouth College. Ruml put many of his management ideas into a book called, "Memo To A College Trustee" before his death.

Roberts followed the ideas, with a 15-year plan. Frill courses were slashed, reducing classes available to a seeming minimum. But Parsons' C plus students have done work at a graduate level with such skill that 3/4 of them have had graduate school averages of B or better, wherever they went.

The average cost of instruction for each college student in the United States runs in the vicinity of $1,800 yearly—plus or minus a few hundred dollars—whether the school is private, parochial or of other origin. At Parsons the per student cost is near $750—primarily because of reduced curriculum, year-round operation, team teaching which permits full curriculum each semester and talented teachers who earn more while having four full months yearly in which to advance themselves. The college makes money, instead of losing, on every full-tuition-paying student, enabling it to offer scholarships of its own and build facilities where it (the college) feels it desirable.

It seems to me that here is a vivid example of someone refusing to accept as necessary the practices of an entire industry. It seems an example of the profit to be made by those who will back off and take a solid look at new ways, new concepts in their own fields.

Watson and Ruml were no fools in business. . . . but there have been few who attempted to follow their advice.

We don't have to be followers. . . . but we should realize that old ways of doing things aren't necessarily necessary or the best. Let's take a look. . . . both now and often in the future.

SOCIALISM IN SWEDEN

The pattern of modified but all-embracing socialism which is more and more being adopted in our own country has been previewed for a generation in Sweden.

This is, in practice, a very hard-headed and realistic kind of socialism, very different from the fuzzy utopia or the wild revolutionary schemes we tend to associate with the name. It is Fabian socialism. "The inevitability of gradualness," steadily sapping the life and enterprise of a people rather than seeking to overwhelm them in one single lunge for power.

Socialism in Sweden, like the socialism which we are beginning to adopt, drastically restricts individual earning and spending. It curbs and regulates almost every form of business activity. But it does not "nationalize" industries or choke off industrial production. It simply provides that the state will control individual earnings from production and their use.

The great economic error of many communist regimes is to have killed the goose that laid the golden eggs: personal productive enterprise. Fabian socialist governments simply make sure that goose is so tightly penned in that he can never escape.

In Sweden, it has been calculated that the average family pays more than one-third of its annual earnings in taxes, while receiving back in benefits only two-thirds of what it pays. Rigid rent controls have put 400,000 Swedes on waiting lists for housing.

It may be that the architects of the welfare state have perfected the most successful device in history for enslaving men without their knowing it. But those who do know it will continue to resist.

York HERALD TRIBUNE reported in a story: "She was wearing a paid coat over a wool dress." Why not, if she bought it?

Country Editor speaking: "The only thing a good credit rating gets you these days is the privilege of going into debt."

The Nation's Press

UNCLE SAM'S LOAN BUSINESS (Tax Foundation, Inc.)

While most taxpayers are aware of the ever-rising size of the federal government's debt, not many know of the vast business Uncle Sam does in making loans, in guaranteeing or insuring loans.

Between the end of World War II and the end of fiscal 1965, June 30 last, while Federal debt rose from two hundred and seventy billion dollars to an estimated three hundred and seventy billion dollars, or 17 per cent, Federal credit extensions climbed from just under ten billion dollars to more than one hundred twenty four billion dollars, a nearly 12-fold expansion! For fiscal 1966, ending next June, they may total one hundred thirty two billion dollars.

Direct loans, which come right out of Uncle's till, grew from four billion dollars in 1946 to 33 billion dollars in fiscal 1965. Meanwhile, loan guarantees and insurance (where private lenders put up the money and the United States assumes all or part of the risk), grew from six billion dollars in 1965. And in 1966 they may total ninety-nine billion dollars.

Fact

The word gladiator means "swordsmen" since it comes from the Latin gladius, or "sword." At exhibitions in ancient Rome as many as 300 pairs fought at one time before the Roman emperors. Contrary to the popular view, some historians hold that spectators who wanted the death of a defeated gladiator turned their thumbs toward these chests as a signal for slaying; those who wished mercy turned thumbs down as a signal to keep the sword.
