Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Russian Republic, largest of the 15 republics within the Soviet Union, has decided that Siberian exile is a bit too harsh for its economic parasites.

This information is turned up by researchers for Radio Liberty, the private American organization which lists the late Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower among its honorary chairmen and which beams its broadcasts to the Soviet Union in 17 languages.

A decree sponsored by former Premier Nikita Khrushchev authorized on May 4, 1961, exile as a means of punishment for "parasitic elements" who do no socially useful work.

Among those classed as parasites were persons living on unearned income, engaging in illicit trade, private-enterprise activities, speculation, begging, illegal use of building materials and privately distilling alcoholic beverages.

Quick "Justice"

As a result of the decree thousands of Russians suddenly found themselves in various remote areas of Siberia, often in a sort of revolving door justice which ignored both legal procedures and individual rights.

The system also created new problems.

In some areas, the black marketers or bootleggers simply set up shop in their new places of exile.

In others, authorities said they had no labor shortage, had not asked for banished idlers in the first place and refused to find jobs for them.

Radio Liberty noted the special case of the small Siberian mining community of Bobaido.

Bobaido was selected as a place of exile for convicted big-city prostitutes who immediately set up shop.

A report by V. Marina in the March 14, 1963, Literary Gazette said dismayed housewives of Bobaido protested to the government but to no avail.

Now the girls will be heading west again.

Only the Worst

The newly revised law exempts from its jurisdiction all "economic parasites" except those classed as "malicious self-employed" young hooligans and drunkards who refuse to work.

The reason for the change, according to Radio Liberty, is that proponents of the old decree finally saw it as a failure in attempts at re-education.

The new system provides that the parasite first must be warned to find a job with none month. If he ignored the warning, he then can be ordered to report for work at a factory or building project near his residence.

If he ignores both the warning and the order, he then can be sentenced to one year of "corrective labor" close to home.

The revised decree so far affects only the Russian republic.

Other Soviet republics, which usually take their cue from the Russian republic, are expected to follow suit soon.

Russia Launches Unmanned Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia today sent another unmanned space station towards the moon, the Soviet Tass news agency reported.

Tass said Luna 9 was "streaking towards the moon along a trajectory close to the calculated one."

It said all the equipment was functioning normally.

The station is carrying scientific, telemetric and other measuring apparatus which was switched on automatically in accordance with the flight program as well as on orders from the earth.

This appeared to be Russia's fifth attempt to land a space station intact on the moon in the past nine months. The first four failed.

Regardless of whether a person is unsure if he wants "Part B" insurance, he should sign up now. Any enrollee may withdraw from the program without charge, until the time such services.

Long May It Wave... O'er the Land of the Free and the HOMES of the Brave!

FLY THIS FLAG SET ON YOUR HOME...

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY
 FEB. 12 FEB. 22

OFFERED AT COST, AS A PUBLIC SERVICE

We believe every home should fly the flag on national holidays. We also believe more homes would fly the flag if more people knew where to get one. Failure to fly the flag, it has been found, is not due to any lack of patriotism on the part of Americans who love Old Glory as much today as Americans did when the Spirit of '76 was first born. Because of this we make this fine flag set available as a public service at our cost. The set is top quality through and through. It meets every standard the government sets for a flag of this type. In addition, the stripes are double stitched, a hallmark of flag quality usually found only at higher prices. We include with the big 3 x 5-foot flag... all the equipment necessary for rigging according to the rules of flag etiquette. These flags are available to all... with no other requirement than that you pay our basic cost... and fly one on your home on holidays. We also include, for the convenience of those who cannot come in for flag sets, an order form which will bring a set to you by parcel post, if you wish. Fly the flag on important national holidays to come... and especially on the Birthday of American Independence July 4th. The stars and stripes on your home show the world that the Spirit of '76 is as warm in American hearts today as it was at its birth on the first 4th of July... nearly 200 years gone by.

The Tie Tells Tales About Its Wearer

EARLY DAY FASHIONS - The bow tie in the '90s (left) could practically lift a man into the air if the wind were strong enough. After World War II a gent's tie was as multicolored as the leavings of an elegant banquet.

By BOB COCHNAR
Newspapers Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK - (NEA) - The necktie has long been one of the only ways a man could express his individualism, taste and creativity.

But, sad to say, too few men have been willing to exercise their tie-wearing prerogatives, often deciding in favor of propriety, conservatism and dullness.

Admittedly, it's a lot safer to wear a blue tie with a blue suit and a brown tie with a brown suit. And a lot of lazy types prefer not to be bothered with making a knot and have resorted to the factory-made knots in ties and bows.

But a man seldom receives a compliment for a pre-tied tie or a gloomy, uninteresting cravat. Ties have been with us for more than 300 years. In 1660 the first cravat, made of lengths of material, was introduced. It was wrapped around the neck, lapped and drawn up under the chin, sort of like a cowboy neckerchief.

In 1890 the four-in-hand (today's most popular tie style) was first seen on the neck of an imaginative gent and in 1937 the Duke of Windsor surprised the world by using a large knot in his tie and the world named the knot after him.

In 1939 the 4 1/2-inch-wide "belly warmer" was the rage. The tie, in these days, was the thing. Nobody ever noticed the shirt because it was hardly seen.

During the war years, color flowed freely. Hand painted ties dominated the scene and a man's hobbies, college colors, his car, boat or his baseball star were colorfully portrayed on his neckwear.

Despite wartime economies, ties were fat. The width of ties, incidentally, appear not to be connected with prevailing economie conditions. One year ties are skinny, the next year they're wide.

In the past year there has been a pronounced change in neckwear. A gentleman with ultraconservative tastes is having a hard time finding ultraconservative ties at his neighborhood haberdasher.

Stripes, while still popular, are about to take a back seat to viciously bold patterns - paisleys, medallions, club figures and slightly bolder neats. This means of course, that a man had better plan his suit - shirt - tie combinations carefully. Generally speaking a tie's ground color should complement the suit color. The basic pattern need not match any other color.

The size of the pattern and the colors run from sedate to wild. The prints are traditional challis or foulard, but some interesting effects also are available on textured fabrics.

Once the basic color and size of the tie (wider ties are becoming more popular) are settled, the way the tie will be worn should be considered.

As a general rule, a spread or semispread collar takes a windsor or half-windsor knot. The traditional four-in-hand is more appropriate with button-down and tab collars.

Even the best quality tie can spoil the total look of a man if it's not tied properly. For example, the end of the tie should hit the stomach, about a half-inch above the belt line and its back part should never be seen.

Also: It may be quicker if you merely loosen, but don't untie your cravat at night and loop it over the bedpost, but the result the next morning is just plain stopy.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Some 40 stout-hearted members of the Senior Citizens Center last Thursday.

Twentieth Century Forum Club members served as hostesses this week. Serving finger sandwiches, home made cookies and coffee were Mmes. Hugh D. Barton, Frank Stolfa, Holt Barber, William H. Spidell, Joe Franklin, Felix Vendrell, Donald Hauck and Harold Barrett.

Dee and Jay Barton, two and four year old children of Mrs. Barton, visited the Center Thursday and made their grandmother, Mrs. C. C. Fitzgerald of the Altrusa Club, proud of their good behavior and manners. The tots visit was enjoyed by the Senior Citizens present. Mrs. C. C. Campaigne of Grande Rapids, Minn., who has been visiting her son and family, the William-Campaignes, was welcomed as a guest.

Mark Gates has returned to West Texas State University after spending the mid-term vacation with his grandmother, Mrs. P. H. Gates.

SM-SGT. Robert D. Smith, son of Mrs. E. B. Smith, was to arrive at Amarillo Air Force Base yesterday for a four week course. Sgt. Smith is stationed at Langley, Va.

Reported ill were Mrs. Mary Harris and Mrs. W. R. Ewing, patients in Highland General Hospital; Charley Ripple and Mrs. H. A. Talley, in Worley Hospital, and Mrs. DeMoss at her home.

Funeral services were held last week in Odessa for Mrs. Faye Brooks Thompson of Seminole, former resident of Pampa and niece of this columnist.

Today's joke: Cleo: "Tom is Wardrip-Tindall Vows Exchanged"

At 8 o'clock the evening of Jan. 8, Miss Jessie Wardrip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery C. Mahaffey of Mahaffey, Pa., became the bride of Marvin Baker Tindall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Tindall of Shamrock.

Wedding vows were exchanged in the home of the parents of the bridegroom. Rev. Lyman P. Wood, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Tindall is owner and operator of the Tindall Rexall Drug Store in Shamrock. Mrs. Tindall is employed in the office of Dr. M. V. Cobb.

Dear Abby...
His Bride Has Gone From Bad to Worse

DEAR ABBY: My bride of five weeks is trying to quit the cigarette habit, so now she smokes one of those ladies' pipes. It is dainty and fancy, but it's a pipe all the same and she smokes a real he-man tobacco in it. She likes to smoke in bed at night while reading the newspapers, and she knocks that darned pipe against the headboard, the night-stand or the wall to loosen the tobacco. Our bed is always full of ashes, and the bedroom smells like a tobacco warehouse on fire. Should I tell her that either that pipe has got to go, or she does?

SMOKED OUT
DEAR ABBY: Don't threaten her or she'll need more nicotine to calm her nerves. Substituting one bad habit for another is useless. Believe it or not, some smokers are so badly hooked they need medical help to effect a cure. Your bride sounds like a victim. Don't wait for smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 16 years and I now find myself in the most ridiculous situation imaginable. He is involved with another woman and he can't make up his mind which one of us he wants. About a month ago he started telling me all the things that were wrong with me. I was a lousy housekeeper, I nagged, I was extravagant, etc. Then suddenly he got sweet again and told me he'd had his fling and was ready to settle down. Now he's in an indecisive mood again. I have been patient with him as we have three children. I've tried extra affection, acting like I didn't care, telling him to pack and leave. Now I'm at a loss because he says he loves us both so much he can't make up his mind between us.

Can this be? Am I old-fashioned to want my husband all to myself, or is this something new with men these days?

ONLY HIS WIFE
DEAR ONLY: You're not old-fashioned—and it's nothing new. It's known as having one's cake and eating it, too. Don't let him get away with this game. Tell him you are not about to go "halfies" with anyone, so he'd better start behaving like a husband—yours!

DEGRADED MOTHERS
DEAR "DEGRADED": Hold on! I am sure the principal intended only to be "friendly"—not degrading. Don't forget, she did know you by your first names when you were pupils. However, since you did make an issue of it, she might have accepted your criticism a bit more graciously. But I think you are a wee bit touchy.

Cold War Bill Of Rights Set For House Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A "cold war GI bill of rights" was set for introduction into the House today, carrying with it the promise of college, home loan, and hospital benefits for ex-servicemen.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., appeared to have support of his House Veterans Committee. His bill would bring benefits to Viet Nam veterans and 3.5 million men who served after Jan. 31, 1955, the cut off date for benefits under the Korean War GI bill.

Committee approval was to be sought Tuesday. It represents a solution to a long controversy over the best means of giving the Viet Nam veteran benefits.

The $350 million Teague bill modifies an administration measure he introduced last week. The administration was reportedly sticking to its own bill. A Senate-phased version offers somewhat higher monthly benefits to ex-GIs.

In a House speech today, Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., called for a federal program to hold down the rising death toll on the nation's highways. It includes plans for a national traffic safety center, and an effort to bring uniform traffic regulations to the 50 states.

In a related but separate development, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said the White House and the Federal Trade Commission is supporting his bill to establish minimum safety standards for passenger car tires.

ALL-WEATHER SPORT—The heavy coat and warm hat are necessary for this Moscow swimming instructor, checking the progress of his students in a steaming outdoor pool. The heated pool is a great favorite with citizens of the Soviet capital throughout the year.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Great Blizzard of '66 caused many hardships in the capital area, but by far the heaviest load fell on government workers.

I am not referring to the small number of federal employees who beat their way through snowdrifts and freezing temperatures to reach their offices Monday morning. I am referring to the large number of civil servants who spent the day at home by the warm fire. My heart bled for them.

They were victims of the government's announcement of the Sunday evening that only essential employees needed to report for duty the next day.

In taking this emergency measure, the government avoided the mistake made during the recent New York bus and subway strike.

On that occasion, non-essential workers were urged to stay home but nobody said which were non-essential.

As a result the streets were jammed with commuters. After objective, unbiased self-appraisal, they came to the conclusion they were essential.

The federal government presented a repetition of this situation here by announcing that employees whose services were essential would be so notified by their superiors.

"Don't call us. We'll call you," it said.

This policy paid off in terms of keeping traffic to a minimum but it caused much suffering and anguish.

Would you believe that 3,000 bureaucrats stayed awake all night waiting to see if their jobs were regarded as essential? Well, then, would you believe that five bureaucrats stayed awake all night waiting to see if their jobs were regarded as essential?

On Sunday night I gave a little neighborhood party to break the tedium of the snowbound weekend. The first neighbor I invited was Charlie, who works for the Census Bureau.

"I can't come," he said. "I'm expecting an important phone call."

The next morning I saw Charlie was still at home. "You're lucky you don't have to go to work," I said.

"There must be something wrong with my telephone," he said. "Apparently some of the calls aren't coming through."

I think it was cruel of the government to give non-essential employees the day off.

A stiff upper lip can be even more painful than a lip that is frozen stiff.

Wall Street Chatter

By United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. foresees no major market decline at the present time because of the abundance of buying power available. It says that the Dow Jones Industrial Average could spearhead the 1,000-mark should there be a momentary swing toward some of the cyclical issues.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute says it feels some adjustment in the market possibly will develop in the coming weeks and suggests that investors retain a cash reserve for emergencies and buying opportunities.

Amarillo Man Arrested On Pep Pill Charge

AMARILLO (UPI)—A Garland ex-convict was expected to be charged today with possession of 200,000 pep pills police said were worth $50,000.

Police seized the pills in the man's automobile. He said they were candy.

The suspect told police he was an undercover agent for the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics. Police said he was not.

Police said the 75 pounds of pills were manufactured by a Memphis drug firm and shipped to a fictitious Fort Worth drug firm.

40 Race Horses Die in Flames

BOWIE, Md. (UPI)—Forty race horses were believed to have perished early today when flames swept a stable area at snowbound Bowie Race Track.

The spokesman said the toll could go higher. Some 160 horses were stabled in the Blueberry Hill section of the track, and many were loose and possibly injured in the pre-dawn darkness.

The horses that perished were in one of five barns swept by the fire which was discovered at about 1:45 a.m. All the barns were destroyed. Damage to the barns was estimated at $200,000.

Firemen struggled through snow drifts to reach the fire, which was fanned by high winds. Near zero temperatures coated men and equipment with ice.

The track is in the midst of its winter meeting. Snow had forced the cancellation of today's card.

In 1943, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was appointed commander-in-chief of the Allied Expeditionary Forces in North Africa.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I wonder whether anybody realizes that Mike Kellin is a star.

And I wonder whether he has fan club. And if not, why not? I bet he has five fan clubs, or maybe even 10, or 50 or 100. Would you believe two?

Please don't embarrass both of us by asking who Mike Kellin is. As I told you, he's a star, every Sunday night, on NBC-TV's series entitled "The Wackiest Ship in the Army."

And when I say he's a star, I'm not exaggerating. He gets star billing along with Jack Warden and Gary Collins, but I'll bet all you'd ever say if you saw him is, "Oh yeah, him. The funny one. Why didn't you say so in the first place?"

Well, I'm saying so. He's the funny one, all right. He plays the chief petty officer, Willie Miller, and he plays him right. He played him very right, for instance, Sunday night in a tale in which he had a very good time at a party with the four daughters of a Polynesian native chief, not realizing he was, in the eyes of the father, getting engaged to them, all of them.

Chief To "Chief"
The crux of the story is that the native chief, knowing that Kellin was a "chief" also, thought that he was a bigger man than the skipper or anybody. It wasn't much of a crux, but these days there are more important things to worry about.

Kellin takes your mind off worries, though. You have to see him to believe him. From the waist up, he looks like an elongated pyramid, with a chest that seems to recede to the point that starts his neck, which is attached to his head. When he smiles, he looks like a fence with a hole in it. There are gaps and there are gaps, but he has gaps.

He looks like an elegant Lionel Stander, and sounds a little like Stander might have sounded in his hey-day if he had taken cough drops. Kellin's attitude is that of a bartender who couldn't quite make a go of his own place and now works for somebody else. At his worst, he looks as though he had just bitten into a lemon. At his best, he looks as though he had just bitten into a half a lemon.

Yet, when he smiles, it is really a smile of sweetness, of sunshine, the face of a hobo who has just found a $50 bill in front of a liquor store.

Kellin apparently has an off-screen attitude commensurate with his on-screen demeanor. I can tell you this because an NBC-TV man had a talk with him recently and got his views on being a right-hand man. Said Kellin:

"Every hero needs a right-hand man. His job is to let the audience know what the hero is thinking. . . . One of his duties is to leave when the hero wants to be with the heroine.

Always the VP
" . . . One can play Horatio to Hamlet, Kent to Lear, Mercutio to Romeo, Brutus to Mark Antony. For those who are using acting as a stepping stone to politics, there's always the vice presidency.

" . . . The great trick is to stand physically as close to the hero as you can. This doesn't help the story any, or the hero. But it helps the right-hand man in staying on the screen. Otherwise you end up on the cutting room floor.

The Channel Swim: James T. Farrell will read three of his poems when ABC-TV's "Directions" offers a half-hour dramatized study of the author and his work on Feb. 13. . . . A doctor will discuss the change of life in women on NBC-TV's "Today" program Thursday.

ABC-TV is upset with NBC-TV's claim that it is tops in influence with the pivotal young adult audience and that ABC-TV is very large with "Younger women (18-49)" . . . which, if it doesn't shake up NBC-TV, should at least positively thrill all younger 49-year-old women.

Communists To Blast US For Viet Air Attacks

GENEVA (UPI) —Communist delegations to the 17-nation disarmament conference readied a broadside today against resumed American bombing of North Viet Nam.

They were expected to attack the American move sharply at the conference plenary, resuming after a weekend recess.

Leaders of the five Communist delegations met Monday night to align their strategy with Russia.

Conference officials said latest developments in Viet Nam were certain to aggravate the Geneva negotiations, which got under way only last Thursday after a four months recess.

But Western delegates did not expect the Soviet Union to "blow up" the talks altogether.

The United States stood ready to rebuff Communist charges with the argument that it was ready at any time to begin Viet Nam peace talks, when the Hanoi regime is willing to end the flagrant aggression in Southeast Asia.

Richard K. Smith, director of the department's Agricultural Estimates Division, said Sunday night there were not enough employes available to get out the report. "I can't get it out by myself," he added, rescheduling the report for Tuesday.

Johnson Has Praise for GOP Solons

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON (SpI) — President Johnson went out of his way to warmly laud two leading Republican senators who had urged resuming bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

Breaking in on a White House meeting between Senator Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and officials of the new Department of Urban Affairs, the President greeted Scott with hearty praise of Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, senior member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

"I just left a meeting on Viet Nam at which two of your colleagues, Senators Dirksen and Hickenlooper, gave me strong support," exclaimed the President. "Senator Dirksen's statement urging me to resume bombing was one of the most eloquent I have ever heard. He is a tower of strength when I need him. Senator Hickenlooper also gave me strong support. I always like to have him around when we discuss military matters, but you can have him when we take up domestic legislation."

Marine Thanks College Students For Support

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —The student body at Louisiana State University in New Orleans got a letter from a Marine in Viet Nam Monday expressing thanks for the students' support.

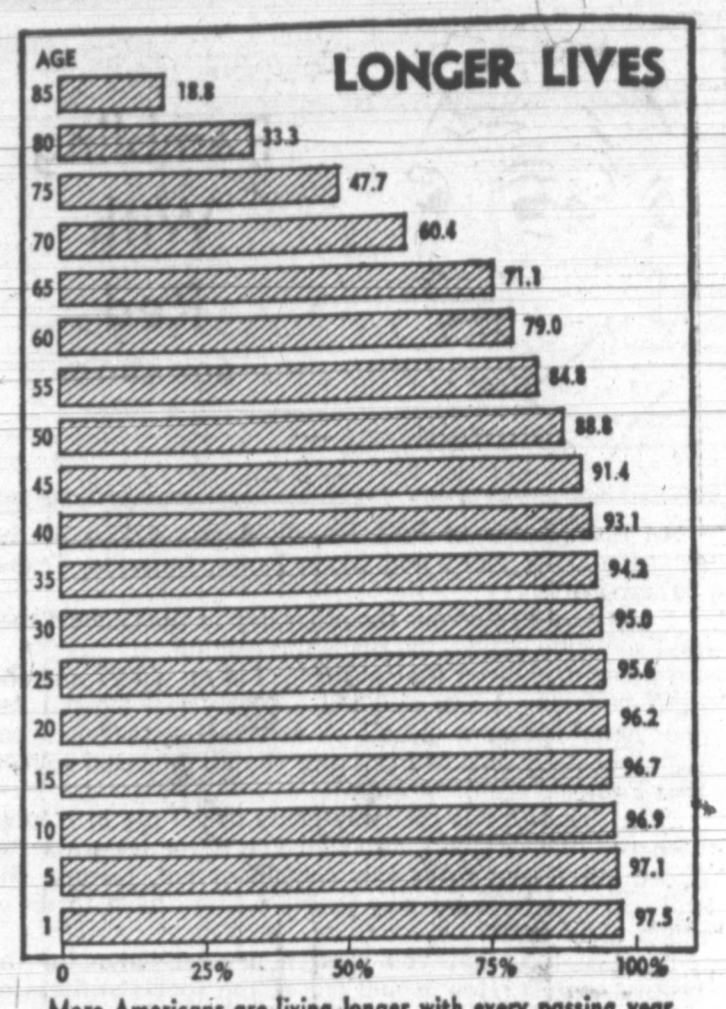

More than 2,000 LSUNO students, in opposition to anti-war demonstrations across the country, signed a resolution last fall giving their support to the American serviceman and the government's policy in Viet Nam.

The resolution was turned over to vice President Hubert H. Humphrey when he was in New Orleans last November.

The letter came from Marine Cpl. Johnnie Gayton, who is serving with a supply detachment. I said, in part:

"I wish to express my sincere thanks for the moral support you have given us here in Viet Nam. We're well aware of the facts and reasons for which we are here, and also are closely observing the things that happen in our beloved country.

"We now await the support which the young men and women will someday give us, some as leaders, doctors, lawyers, etc. . . ." the letter said.

More Americans are living longer with every passing year. The average life expectancy remains at about 70 years, according to latest statistics compiled by the U.S. Public Health Service, but many babies born today can look forward to much longer life terms. Newschart above shows percentage (figures at right) of children born today which will survive through the steps to age 85. One of every three will see it through to 80, and almost one in five will still be around at 85.

Court Allows Filing For Attorney General

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Two state senators hoping to become attorney general of Texas today owned their biggest victory in the state supreme court — legal right to get on the Democratic primary ballot.

Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio planned to pay his $1,000 filing fee and then hold a news conference at the state capitol.

Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler, his campaign "already in full swing," made arrangements to come to Austin later in the week and enter the race.

Already accepted by the State Democratic Executive Committee as a candidate for the May 7 primary is Secretary of State Crawford Martin. His candidacy was not questioned by Will Davis, party chairman.

Davis refused to let Spears or Calhoun file until the Supreme Court ruled on their eligibility. A question arose because last year the senate voted to increase the salary of the attorney general, and the state constitution forbids legislators from taking another office during their terms in such a case.

But the high court ruled that both senators go out of office with the November election and the state attorney general starts service in January. The incumbent, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, is seeking the Democratic nomination to oppose Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

"Real Choice"
Spears said the legal ruling gives "the people of Texas a real choice between the do-nothing stance of 'business as usual' and a calm, forceful determination to do something concrete about the very real problems that face our state."

Calhoun commented he had felt "from the beginning that I was eligible and I am pleased the Supreme Court of Texas will have the opportunity to nominate the candidate of their choice."

Davis said he would comply with the court order to accept filing fees from Spears and Calhoun. He had questioned their eligibility because the 1965 legislature raised the pay of the attorney general from $20,000 to $22,500 a year; citing Section 18, Article III of the Texas Constitution that says senators are not eligible during their legislative terms to hold another office if they have increased its pay during that term.

Both Eligible
The court majority held both senators eligible to run, but two of the nine members disagreed. Associate Justice Meade F. Griffin said he believed both Spears and Calhoun ineligible. Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert said he believed Spears is eligible.

MOTLEY FORECAST
NEW YORK (UPI) —Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, the first Negro woman nominated for a federal judgeship, said Sunday she expects growing numbers of her race to seek public office in the next 10 years.

"I feel that most of the major precedents have already been established in the civil rights field over the last two decades and that there are very few areas remaining for decisions in the supreme court," Mrs. Motley said in a radio interview.

By LYLE WILSON

It is ironic that political issues now pending in the U.S. Senate compel that body's so-called liberals to shuck their false whiskers and to stand forth revealed as advocates of the compulsory big brother state.

The issue is whether the Senate shall or shall not repeal section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. This section permits individual states to decide for themselves whether to permit compulsory unionism within their border. It is worth repeating that 14-B is merely permissive, no more. It demands nothing of the states. Permissive is the word for 14-B.

The other issue also is permissive. It is the proposition that the Constitution be amended to permit states to determine for themselves how the seats in their legislatures shall be apportioned.

Like 14-B, this proposal merely is permissive. It would require nothing whatever of the laboratory research and field studies.

states other than a continuing regard for the preferences of the citizens in each state as to legislative apportionment.

Attractive Presentation

These two issues present the political theory of states' rights in its most attractive, desirable American form. It is the American way to let the people decide. The bigger hand affected citizens have in such situations, the better for all concerned. There cannot be much dispute about that.

The politician who balks at permitting the citizens of a given state to decide for themselves within the limits of just law the question of compulsory unionism or the question of legislative apportionment must be a politician who has small faith in the wisdom and the integrity of American citizens.

LBJ Says Business Leaders Will Meet Him Personally

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Johnson administration expects that more of the nation's businessmen will come in for "quiet talks" before scheduling any major price boosts.

This would give the President's Council of Economic Advisers a chance to argue against any price moves it felt might contribute to inflation and avoid dramatic public clashes between the Chief Executive and business leaders, an informed source said during the weekend.

A similar invitation, with the same purpose, was held out to labor leaders who want to discuss wage demands in light of Johnson's anti-inflationary guideposts.

The administration, wary of congressional proposals to require hearings or waiting periods on price jumps in key industries, seems to prefer a more informal approach.

But one official stressed that businessmen would not be summoned to Washington to justify their pricing decisions. Rather, he said, they would be welcome to come if they wanted to test the administration's reaction privately in advance.

"I think there's a lot of merit in this idea," one official told UPI. "We can listen to their story and possibly have a meeting of minds out a confrontation. It would give us an opportunity to persuade in private if we felt an increase would be bad for the economy."

Accused Rapist Gets 5 Year Prison Term

EL RENO, Okla. (UPI)—Smith refused the request. James D. Fellers and three other defendants in the alleged gang attack of a 15-year-old girl last summer pleaded guilty to second degree rape charges today and were sentenced to five years in prison, with the last two years suspended in each case.

The girl was from San Antonio.

The other three defendants also pleaded guilty to charges of crime against nature. They were given additional five-year sentences, with the last two years suspended, to run concurrently with the rape sentences. Fellers pleaded guilty only to the rape charge.

The four defendants, Fellers, son of a former Oklahoma Bar Association president, twins Michael and Richard Stanley, and Larry Wyatt Smith, all 17, changed their pleas from innocent to guilty just before Fellers was to have gone on trial on the rape charge.

Attorneys for the defendants asked that the boys be allowed to finish the present school semester before being sent to prison. Dist. Judge Boston

Officer, Son Charged With Burglary

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (UPI)—An off-duty policeman and the son of a city councilman were to be arraigned today on charges of breaking into a grocery store.

J. C. Cook, 38, a policeman and Thomas Chapman, 27, son of a councilman were arrested inside the grocery late Saturday.

Violence also was reported in the important northern-Kerala city of Trichur. Students there blocked public vehicles and were also attacked by club-wielding and tear gas-hurling police.

It was the fourth day of hunger riots in the densely populated and impoverished state in the south of India.

NO COMMENT

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported without comment today on the resumption of American bombing raids over North Viet Nam.

Police said Cook had a .25 caliber pistol hidden on him when he was arrested. Cook is a native of this north-

Police Battle Mob in New Delhi

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Rampaging student mobs today fought a three-hour pitched battle with police in Trivandrum, capital of communist-infested Kerala state. ## Air Strikes May Spark Tinderbox On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam was expected to flash like a spark through the tinderbox of growing congressional debate over administration policies in Viet Nam.

Announcement of the resumption of the raids came as the debate reached a new level, with critics of United States policies in the war becoming more outspoken in their demands for a greater voice in decisions.

Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., the most vocal critic of the administration, was mapping a campaign to revoke the broad mandate Congress gave Johnson to fight the war in August, 1964.

Morse also charged the administration with keeping facts about the war from the American people "as Hitler kept the facts from the German people" during his rise to power.

ing Matches each year at Camp Perry, Ohio, a tournament attended by some 2,000 U.S. servicemen who spend the week operating as cooks, target-pullers and judges. Last year at Camp Perry, Armed Forces' PIO issued a "press kit," containing, among other items, the latest issue of the American Rifleman (the NRA official publication) which contained a blistering attack on the President's gun bill.

The tart-tongued senator's remarks provoked an instant reaction from House Democratic whip Hal Boggs, La., who said the comparison was an "outrageous" one that helped the Communists.

Morse called for revocation of the congressional mandate in a Senate speech he delivered Saturday and for an investigation of Viet Nam policies by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The exchange, indicative of rising congressional tension over the bombing issue, occurred in a 90-minute televised (CBS) report on Congress and the war.

The report was broadcast Sunday, before the resumption of the raids was announced. Other participants were Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., Joseph Clark, D-Pa., and Sen. Karl Mundt, D-S.D.

Morse's action was touched off by Johnson's statement to a group of senators that Congress had given him power to act as he saw fit in Viet Nam in a resolution passed shortly after the Tonkin Gulf incidents in August, 1964.

The 27 passengers were taken to a Halifax Hotel to await a second Cubana plane flying in from Gander, Newfoundland. Their four-engine Ulyushin-18 turboprop was ordered flown without passengers to Havana for repairs to one engine.

The NRA Watches Congress Closely

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
(Last in a series.)

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Lobbyists come in different shapes and sizes.

From its plush headquarters on Farragut Square, the American Medical Assn.—a registered lobby for more than 200,000 doctors—spent $152,000 in one three-month period last year in its losing fight to prevent passage of Medicare.

In a small office on Indiana Ave., Harry Maginnis directs the activities of the Associated Third Class Mail Users—also a registered lobby. On a budget of $70,000 a year—dues from 800 junk mailers—Maginnis has been remarkably effective in protecting the present low third-class postage rate.

And from its new $3-million building on Rhode Island Ave., the National Rifle Assn. wages an intensive and effective battle to prevent "unreasonable restrictive" firearms control laws. In 1963, NRA's Legislative and Public Affairs Division spent nearly $145,000 to produce, among other things, 42 special legislative bulletins urging members to oppose various gun bills.

Perhaps the primary difference between the tactics of the AMA lobby, Harry Maginnis and the NRA is that the NRA is not registered as a lobby.

The reason for this is that NRA claims its function is not to influence legislation, but merely to "inform" or "educate" its members and the public.

This is one of the ways in which NRA "educated" its members on the evils of the President's gun bill last April 9.

"If you transported your rifle or shotgun to another state for a lawful purpose, such as hunting, you would have to comply with such burdensome restrictions and red tape as might be required."

To hunter Bill Willard of Grangeville, Idaho, this spelled the end of his beloved mountain-goat-hunting forays to Wyoming. He promptly fired off protests to his congressman and senators and to Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., sponsor of the President's bill.

Tens of thousands of other hunters did the same. As Dodd pointed out to NRA Executive Vice President Franklin Orth in hearings last year, there are no restrictions in the President's measure pertaining to anyone other than criminals or fugitives who transport rifles or shotguns across a state line.

The deluge of letters resulting from NRA bulletins played an important part in Congress' failure to act on any firearms-control bill last session.

Though the organization vigorously denies it is a lobby, an NRA folder urges readers to "watch for firearms-control proposals that may appear in Congress or your state legislature, in your community, city or town" and to oppose them "by letter, telegram, or telephone call or by personal appearance at open hearings."

The 1963 NRA Operating Report states that: "During 1963, 350 bills of concern to gun owners were introduced in state legislatures and 32 in the U.S. Congress... 42 legislative bulletins were mailed to 320,000 members and clubs in 50 states. NRA members reacted promptly, firmly and in force. As a result, none of the legislation deemed severe was enacted."

One NRA bulletin said, "Anyone engaged in the manufacture of ammunition would be required to have a $1,000 manufacturer's license."

In fact, the bill provides only a $500 license fee. Shotgun ammunition is excluded altogether.

The NRA also implies that the bill introduced by Dodd—at President Johnson's request—is more "far-reaching and restrictive" than the President intended.

"The NRA knows this isn't true," Dodd asserts. "It knows I have the complete backing of the administration on this bill. Yet it has persisted in confusing the issues and disrupting the truth."

Lobby or not, the NRA is probably the only private pressure group to receive a direct subsidy from the U.S. government. A Defense Department program has provided NRA members—and only NRA members—with free ammunition and surplus government guns at a fraction of their retail value.

It is run by the Army's National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice and, since 1959, it has cost taxpayers more than $12 million. From 1959 to 1964, the board gave away to NRA-affiliated gun clubs nearly 250 million rounds of free ammunition worth some $7.2 million.

Though the practice has now been curtailed, the board in the last six years has sold some 500,000 guns to NRA members.
