Rioting Hits Los Angeles Watts District Again

Two Dead, Scores Injured in Second Riot in 8 Months

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police with shotguns and rifles at the ready patrolled in the streets of Watts today hopeful of preventing a renewal of bloodshed in the district's second Negro riot in eight months.

Two persons were killed, more than 25 were injured and at least 31 persons were arrested in Tuesday's flareup of shooting, burning, looting and beating, authorities said. Sporadic incidents continued into the predawn hours of today.

Preliminary steps toward mobilizing California National Guardsmen were taken but the troops were not ordered out.

At least 12 fires were ignited apparently by Molotov cocktail firebombs late Tuesday night and early today. Arsonists tried three times before they succeeded in burning down one building. Fire vehicles, traveling in convoys under police guard dashed in and out of the Negro district quelling the blazes. Six persons were arrested with fire bombs in their possession.

Like last August's Watts riot and holocaust, the violence Tuesday was triggered by the arrest of a Negro. This time it was for throwing a rock at a white motorist. Last summer it was for a traffic infraction.

Tuesday, a white school teacher driving through the area was the target of a rock hurled by a Negro youth. Police arrested a suspect in a barber shop just as a large group of Negro students were discharged from Jordan High School, swelling the crowd watching the incident.

The crowd grew sullen. Someone threw a rock. Then more rocks and bricks. The violence was triggered.

At the height of Tuesday's disorders, at least 600 Negroes were involved, screaming, shouting, throwing rocks and bottles—and some assaulting motorists and looting businesses.

Natural Causes Ruled in Death Of Pampa Woman

Authorities today ruled death by natural causes in the death of Mrs. Joe M. Marlar, about 60, found dead Tuesday in her home at 1018 Duncan.

Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford said today an examination of the woman's body revealed no foul play involved in the death.

Mrs. Marlar's body was discovered by neighbors Tuesday afternoon. They said she was last seen on Sunday afternoon.

Neighbors reported the lights in the dead woman's home had burned Sunday and Monday nights but they were not alarmed because they thought she was visiting her husband who is in the hospital.

After viewing the body Tuesday, Sheriff Rufe Jordan said it appeared the woman had been dead since Sunday.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duenkel Funeral Home.

May Primary Campaign Tempo Increases

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
The campaign tempo for the May primaries was increasing today and gubernatorial candidate Stanley Woods of Houston was stirring up accusations against Gov. John Connally.

Woods charged Tuesday that Connally had three highway patrolmen doing menial jobs at his Floresville ranch.

He also said the Governor's brother and the Governor's ranch foreman had Department

Negro Reporter Describes Scene Of Watts Rioting

(A personal report by a Negro reporter who roamed the streets of Watts for UPI during last August's bloody insurrection)

By WARREN G. WILSON
United Press International
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It was the same time of day just seven months ago I drove into the Watts area where crowds of young Negroes roamed the streets turning this southern part of Los Angeles into a scene of bloody insurrection. There was a major difference—a significant one. It was about 30 degrees cooler than the searing 90-degree heat of last August.

An ugly grey overcast brought darkness to the area as I drove down 103rd Street about 6 p.m. where last year devastating fires and choking smoke engulfed blocks of businesses.

Tuesday night the crowd looked the same—young Negro hoodlums and rampaging teenagers—shuffling back and forth. Some were laughing, others wore expressions of frightening anger.

I was scared. I had parked my car five blocks away from the intersection where heavily armed police had blocked off traffic. My first thought was how soon would it be before the shooting started.

About 300 youths congregated and began yelling catcalls at police.

Steel-helmeted officers, cradling riot guns, rifles and automatic weapons in their arms, moved with lightning speed to disperse the rapidly gathering mob.

"You'd better stop that," went out one call from the crowd as officers advanced. "There's going to be shooting. Just wait until after dark," another cry was heard as the tempo picked up.

On one side of the street were howling Negroes. The other side was lined with press cars and newsmen, prudently staying behind police lines.

It was quiet momentarily. Then a bottle shattered against the sidewalk in front of the advancing officers.

A shot was fired and a roar from the crowd went up. Another shot barked out, followed by others in rapid succession.

I took cover behind a service station and crawled to a telephone.

After dialing the UPI office I

Playgirl Was Only 'Kibitzing' Around With Ministers

OTTAWA (UPI) — Playgirl Gerda Munsinger says she was only "kibitzing around" with those Tory cabinet ministers.

"If a man sees an attractive woman, they want to chase her," she explained.

But as for spying for the Russians:

"I would never even move just a little finger for them." The beautiful blonde who came to Canada 11 years ago as a household domestic and last week became a household name in a spy-and-security scandal told her story to this fascinated nation Tuesday night on television. A member of Parliament tried but failed to stop the show.

The television interview climaxed a dramatic series of events triggered last Thursday by Justice Minister Lucien Cardin's accusation that Mrs. Munsinger was a one-time spy who trusted with ministers in the cabinet of former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. The charges that the former cabinet ministers jeopardized security for the sake of sex set off four days of stormy debate in Parliament.

Diefenbaker's Conservative party demanded the resignation of Cardin and launched torrents of angry charges in an effort to topple the government of Liberal Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. Overy Tory opposition, Pearson succeeded Tuesday in setting up a judicial inquiry into the justice minister's charges.

Two men have already been arrested and charged in the 2 a.m. burglary. They are Jerry Ray James, alias Benny R. Cowdry and Clifford Henry Brown.

The men, both of Midland, face two charges, burglary of the First State Bank of Mobeetie and theft of a pickup truck.

The men are being held at Wheeler. Both men waived examining trial today before Justice of the Peace E. D. Guynes of Wheeler.

Five men are suspected to be involved in the early morning bank burglary. The five were surprised by a night watchman about 2 a.m. just as they were attempting to enter the bank's vault.

Bank officials said today only $15 to $20 from a petty cash fund is missing. The burglars made an attempt to break into the bank's vault but were interrupted by the watchman before they could do so.

The vault's knob was broken off, bank officials said.

An abandoned car east of Mobeetie led officers to believe three men are still in the Mobeetie area on foot. Bloodhounds were expected to join the search today. The dogs were brought in from Mangum, Okla.

Pampa police and Sheriff's office units joined the early morning search today. The manhunt has been in progress since shortly after 2 a.m. this morning.

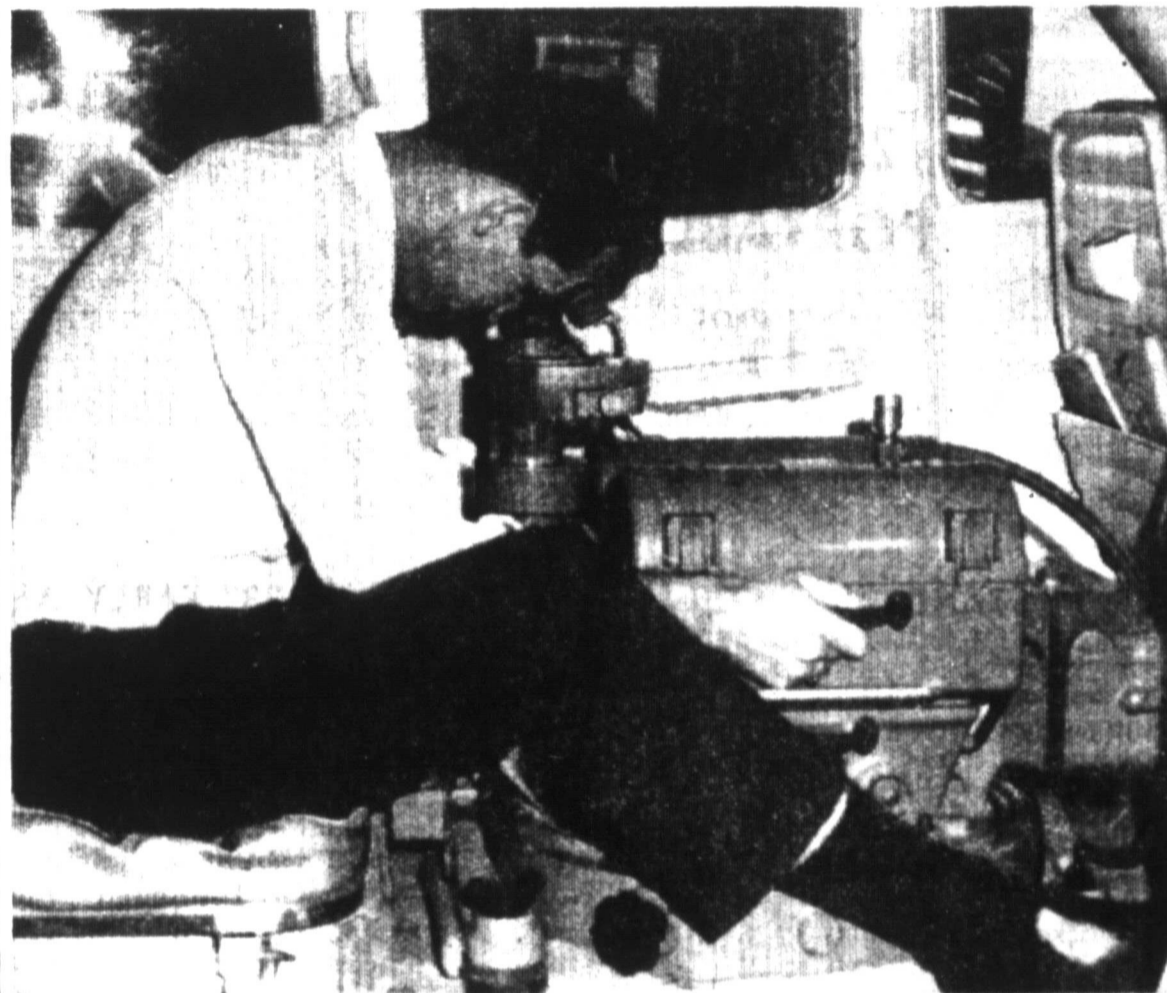

University Sex Club Must Cease Campus Operation

AUSTIN (UPI) — A sexual freedom club which advocates "any private sex act which does no physical harm and is not initiated by force" must cease operating on the University of Texas campus, Chancellor Harry Ransom ordered Tuesday.

A 25-minute protest during which students handed out a forbidden pamphlet telling of the aims of the group was going too far, Ransom said.

"The time has come when universities which are open doors to responsible discussion must not be turned into dorms for irresponsible propaganda and wilful breach of clearly stated university policy," Ransom said.

Mobetie Bank Hit Bloodhounds to Aid Manhunt for Bandits

Bloodhounds are expected to fan out today over the grass country around Mobeetie, joining aircraft in the search for three men suspected of the burglary of Mobeetie's First State Bank.

Storybook Flight To Be America's Most Spectacular Effort

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Gemini 8 astronauts Nell Armstrong and David Scott blasted into orbit from a storybook liftoff atop a Titan rocket today and sped into a 107,000-mile chase of a target satellite launched ahead of them.

The rookie astronauts calmly soared from the launch pad on a burst of smoke and flame at 11:41 a.m. EST, precisely on schedule despite minor technical difficulties during the long night of preparation. They went into space 101 minutes after the unmanned Agena target blasted off on a trail of flame.

voice came back from the spacecraft. Presumably it was Armstrong, who was doing most of the talking.

"All looks good," Gemini control reported and settled back for the long wait to the rendezvous and docking of Gemini 8 and the 26-foot target rocket soaring on ahead.

When Gemini 8 went into orbit, the target rocket was 1,200 statute miles ahead of it, and the chase was on at speeds between 16,500 miles an hour and 17,500 miles an hour.

"Looking good up here," Armstrong radioed.

In bursts of flame on two launch pads, the most spectacular American space effort yet, including a space walk by Scott, got underway with perfect countdowns despite minor problems that plagued technicians almost to the last moment.

The rookie astronauts aimed for man's first linkup with an object in space, a key step in the manned conquest of the moon. The 30-foot Agena satellite lifted off 101 minutes before them.

Russia brought down its two space dogs after 22 days aloft just before the United States began its latest manned space effort, but the double-barreled American effort far outshone the Soviet feat.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy D. Garmon of the home; five brothers, Larry K. Garmon, serving with the U. S. Army at Ft. Carson, Colo.; Troy W. Garmon of Pampa and Jerry, David and Timmy, all of the home, and two sisters, Pamela Kay and Kemberly Gay, both of the home.

A special benefit dance slated for Garman at the Oasis Club, 1300 South Barnes, will be held as planned.

Five bands will be present to entertain for the benefit dance at 8 p.m. tonight.

A long-time Pampa area musician, Garman played with Coy Worley and his Travelers band before cancer curtailed his musical activities. Other bands to be present for the benefit dance are Carl Day and his Knights, Roy Bergin and his Western Pioneers and the Velasquez Brothers.

The Houston International Airport closed at 2 a.m. and Federal Aviation Agency officials said it would probably remain closed to about 11 a.m.

Weatherman Calls For Warm, Clear

While fog rolled into other parts of the state, Spring continued to give the Pampa area a sneak preview of warmth and clear weather today with a high expected near the 80 degree mark. Thursday will be a little cooler with a high in the low-70's. Tonight's low is expected to reach the low 40-degree range. Winds are southerly today at from 10 to 20 m.p.h. and will shift to northwesterly late tonight.

Gov. Connally to Kick Off Annual Shamrock Celebration

Texas Governor John Connally will speak to about 1,000 Irishmen gathered at the National Guard Armory in Shamrock at 7:30 p.m. today for the grand opening of the St. Patrick's Day Celebration.

The U.S. spokesman said they began "receiving small arms, automatic weapons and mortar fire from all directions."

Air, artillery and additional infantry support were rushed to the assistance of the beleaguered battalion, forcing the Viet Cong to withdraw. Zone D covers 100 square miles of forested jungle.

Tomorrow, when the St. Patrick's Day festivities move into high gear, Pampa will be represented by a Junior High School band and a decorated float bearing Pampa's entry in the Miss Irish Rose Contest, Vicki Autry, Members of the Top O' Texans Club will also represent Pampa at the Shamrock festival.

This year's St. Patrick's Day celebration is expected to attract one of the largest crowds in the history of the festival.

Application Blanks Available at Pampa Post Office for Supplemental Medicare Benefits

Postmaster Lynn Boyd of Pampa announced today that application blanks for supplemental Medicare benefits are available at the General Delivery window of the Pampa Post Office.

The application blanks are made available as the Social Security administration seeks to contact 1.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the Medicare law.

President Johnson has proclaimed March as "National Medicare Enrollment Month".

He urged all federal agencies and all citizens to cooperate in enrolling senior citizens in the program.

Initially, some two and one-half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed.

Through direct mailings and other means, the Social Security Administration has had contact with 16 of the 19.1 million citizens who will be 65 or over on July 1. Of the 16 million who replied, less than one million said they did not want to sign up for the supplemental program.

The supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor bill and other benefits. Everyone 65 and over is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under Medicare.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the Pampa post office.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst Long before secret agent 007 (licensed to kill) attained his present popularity, there was in Kenya a politician called by white settlers "Mr. Double O." His real name was the Euphrosius Odinga Odinga, a member of the 1,250,000 Luo tribe living around Lake Victoria.

Almost from the beginning of Kenyan independence on Dec. 12, 1963, Odinga has been at political war with Kenya President Jomo Kenyatta. It was a war that went beyond internal politics for it involved also Odinga's affections for Moscow and Peking and Kenyatta's policy of non-alignment which if anything seemed to lean toward the West.

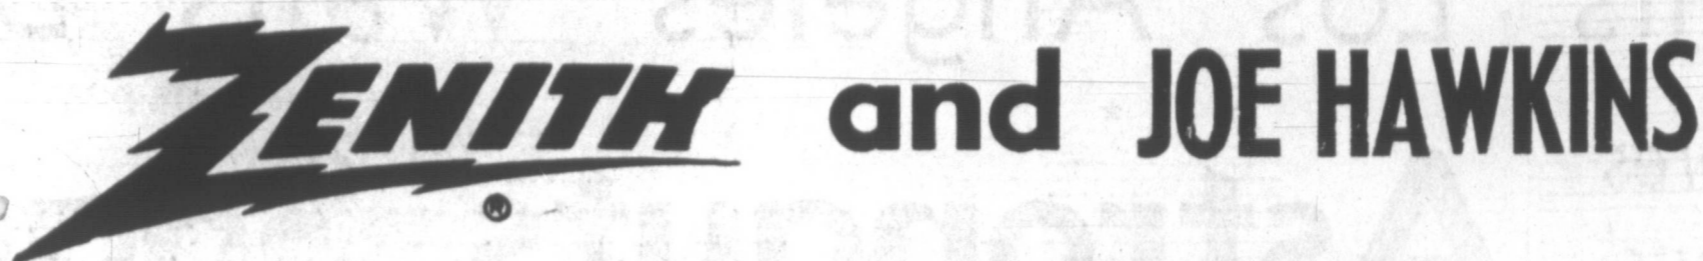

Last Sunday the quarrel came to a head when through a process of reorganization of the country's ruling Kenya African National Union, Kenyatta abolished Odinga's job as deputy president of the party and thus removed him from power.

That had been the base from which Odinga, a man in his early 50's, had claimed the right of succession in the event of the passing of Kenyatta, a man of undetermined age but generally believed to be in his mid-70's.

Although Kenya functions under a one-party system there is no law that says a deputy president of the party automatically succeeds to the presidency of the country. By abolishing Odinga's post and naming in his stead eight vice presidents representing various areas of the country, Kenyatta abolished even that claim.

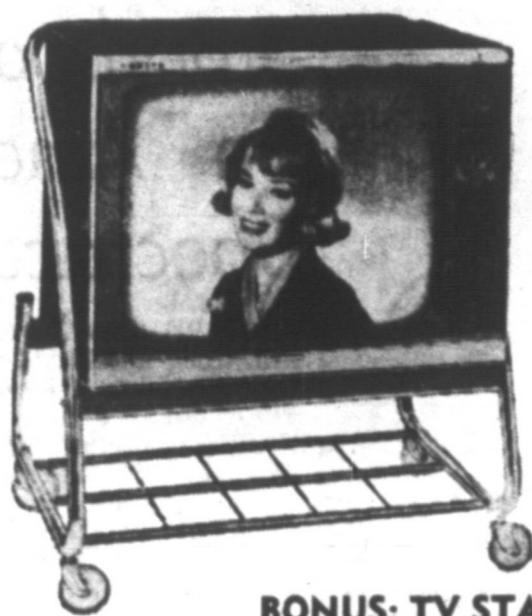

Within the political struggle between the two men also is the story of the struggle for influence in Africa.

Canadian Woman Found Hanged In Clothes Closet

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Louise Rich, about 55, was found Tuesday evening hanging in a clothes closet in her home at 313 Cheyenne in Canadian.

Canadian Police Chief Wilson Crawford said Mrs. Rich was found by her brother, Dow Wheeler, who had gone to the home after receiving no answer to a telephone call.

Wheeler said he had to remove a screen from one of the windows to get into the house. Crawford said Mrs. Rich apparently had gone into the clothes closet, tied a light drape around her neck and stepped from a foot stool.

Dr. Rush Snyder, who ruled the death a suicide, said Mrs. Rich had been dead from 12 to 14 hours.

Mrs. Rich's husband, Joe, had died about a year ago and she had been despondent and in poor health since, Crawford said.

Mrs. Rich was a resident of Canadian more than 41 years.

Survivors include her son, David Richerson of Pampa; her mother, Mrs. Ben Wheeler of Vinita, Okla., four brothers and three sisters.

Arrangements are pending with Stickley Funeral Home.

Carubbi to Attend National Jaycee Board Meeting

A. J. Carubbi of Pampa, president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, left today for the annual board of directors meeting of the United States Jaycees in Tulsa, Okla., tomorrow and Friday. Carubbi is a member of the 324-man board made up of Jaycees from all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Two hundred more Jaycees will be on hand as observers.

During the three-day Tulsa meeting, the board will consider proposed national programs and projects for subsequent adoption and availability to the 6,300 member chapters of the organization. An important item of business to be handled will be the selection of the Jaycees' 1968 national convention site from among three bidding cities, Atlanta, Georgia, Phoenix, Arizona and Honolulu, Hawaii.

Tulsa is the site of the national Jaycee headquarters building and the Jaycee White House, home of the national president during his one-year term of office.

During the board meeting, eleven different planning groups recommend a course of action for their specific area of programming during the 1966-67 Jaycee year. Carubbi will serve on the planning group which reviews the proposals and plan of action for the coming Jaycee year and makes recommendations to the full board.

Decisions of the board are subject to confirmation by the general membership at the Jaycees' 46th annual National Convention in Detroit, Mich., June 27-30.

Rioting

Both fatalities were men cut down by gunfire. A Mexican American truck driver, Lawrence Gomez, 30, was hit by an unknown sniper. Joe Crawford, 33, a Negro, was hit—it was uncertain by whom—at an intersection where a Negro crowd gathered and police opened fire.

There were reports of stabbings and muggings in the riot area, a predominantly Negro, low income neighborhood of southwest Los Angeles where some 50 blocks were leveled by fire last year.

But at its worst Tuesday, the violence never approached the level of last summer when Negroes rioted a week and 34 persons were killed, more than 900 injured, 4,000 suspects were arrested and damage from the fires and looting ran to $45 million.

Dates and Dealers Announced for TC Cotillion Club's Antique Show and Sale

Plans are now being made for the fourth annual Antique Show and Sale sponsored by Twentieth Century Cotillion Club.

Mrs. Lee Fraser, show chairman, has announced that the show will be held April 1, 2 and 3 in Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ralph McKinney, ticket chairman, or from any member of TC Cotillion Club.

All proceeds from the show and sale will go to the Opportunity Plan Incorporated, the unique scholarship loan plan at West Texas State University which is administered by Milton Morris. Mr. Morris will be in Pampa tomorrow to address the Kiwanis Club and will discuss the Opportunity Plan.

Invitations have been issued antique dealers all over the southwest and all available booth space has been contracted for.

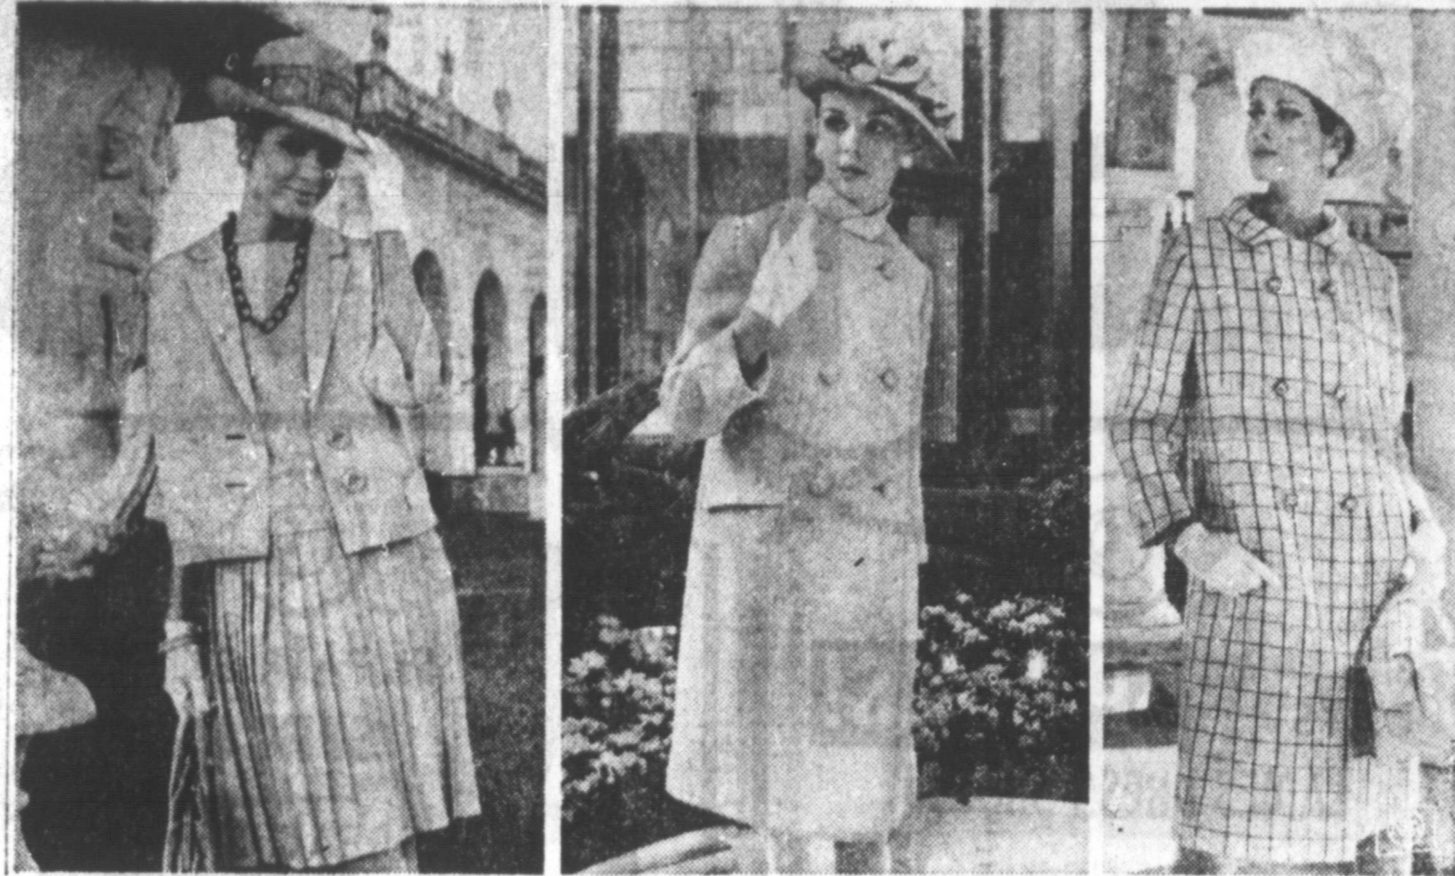

This show is expected to be the most exciting yet offered to antique enthusiasts in the Panhandle. Dealers who will exhibit here include Mrs. Essie E. Schulze of San Antonio, who shows signed pieces of cut glass, art glass and jewelry; Simontoni's Antiques of Sweetwater, showing signed cut glass, silver and art glass; Old Sundial Antiques of Amarillo, brass and primitives; Marge's Nook of Pampa, showing pine pieces, primitives and old prints; Nelson's Antiques of Mangum, Okla., showing primitives, art pieces, grape and cable patterns of carnival glass in all colors and furniture; Leggett's Antiques of Tulsa, Okla., displaying extremely fine art glass and cut glass; Stoffers' Antiques of Tulsa, Okla., specializing in very fine jewelry from eastern estates and art glass; and Mrs. Fred Ptak of Oklahoma City, Okla., showing antique silver, cut glass, glassware and jewelry.

Several of the dealers are new to the show this year and offer a variety of interesting pieces. Colonel Ed Moore of Dallas will bring some Oriental antiques, art glass and old Spanish pieces. Mrs. Aileen Thomas of Sales Street in Dallas will show some very fine glassware and gallery pieces, and Hewitt's Antiques of Brownfield will display old prints and art as well as furniture, jewelry and primitives.

In addition to these fine booths, the show will feature the antique gun collection of

Easter Shapes Up Softly This Year

EASTER FASHION SCENE—Lightweight suits and coats will play a big role in the Easter fashion scene and there are jacket lengths and silhouettes to suit every taste. Barney Max of California does the three-piece suit (left) in featherweight pure napped wool. Jacket tops a matching sleeveless shell and crisply pleated skirt. Jacket has cloverleaf lapels and two-button closing. Softly shaped coat by Henry Friedricks (center) in lightweight pure virgin wool is collarless and has double-breasted buttons and set-in sleeves. Lean column of chic (right) is the linear-checked pure wool coat with narrow, gently rolled collar by Sony Schotland for Adolphe Zelinka. Sleeves are set in and pockets are slipped invisibly into side seams.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Easter will be early enough in April so that a lightweight coat, suit or costume will be practical as well as pretty.

You can suit yourself in a slim little suit with the trim look of a neat tailored jacket perked up by dressmaker touches of white or a suit in bold checks or stripes.

Jackets come in all lengths, but the hip-bone length is the most favored.

A new suit feature this year is a velvet collar or one bound in grosgrain. Skirts are at the knee in most cases and whether pleated or gracefully seamed,

POLLY'S POINTERS

Pooch Picks Plastic Bottles for Chewing
By POLLY CRAMER

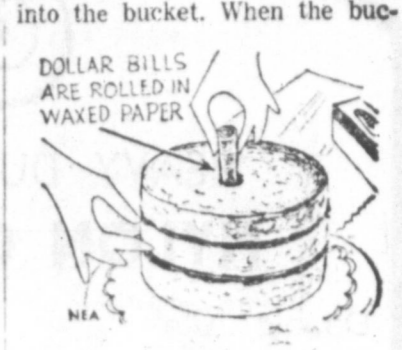

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—We bought various dog toys for our new puppy but he never liked to play with them. He much preferred our shoes and so on. Quite by accident by wife put a clean, empty plastic detergent bottle on the floor and the dog started to play with it and used it for chewing and gnawing. These bottles seem almost indestructible. So when we have a new thoroughly washed empty bottle to replace the dog's old one and have no more chewed up rugs and shoes.

—WILLIAM
DEAR POLLY—My first-grader used to have trouble keeping his crayon box from getting squashed in his school desk and the crayons were always falling out of the box. I purchased a square, clear plastic sandwich box for his crayons. His troubles are over as the box holds 30 or 40 crayons.

—MRS. E. N.
DEAR POLLY—I am preparing for the arrival of my second baby and want to clean the mesh net on my first child's playpen so that the new baby can use it. Does anyone have a suggestion for this cleaning job?

—SHARON
DEAR POLLY—Crocheted edges are attractive on wool dresses but often the wool fabric is so firm that it is impossible to penetrate it with a bone crochet hook to make this heavy yarn trim. The long stitch on my sewing machine was no help so I took a piece of the yarn to be used for the edging and threaded a darning needle to make 1/4-inch-long catch or whip stitches along the edge of the garment as a base for the crochet. Work from left to right so it will be easier to pick up the stitches with the hook when you start to crochet.

—MABEL
DEAR POLLY—Recently I had a birthday and my family wanted to give me money. They baked a birthday cake and in the center was a roll of new one dollar bills, one for each of my years. This was a complete surprise and created a lot of fun for everyone. Of course, the money was rolled in waxed paper er and put in the cake before it was iced. I do hope some of the readers will try this sometime.

—MRS. H. C. N.
Here is one who will—Polly DEAR POLLY—Since my family's many socks go into three different washer loads (white, light and dark colors) keep a plastic bucket near the dryer and as the socks come out of the dryer they are tossed into the bucket. When the bucket is taken upstairs I sort and mate the socks as I watch television.

—JANET
DEAR POLLY—To solve the itchy wool slack problem I cut the lining out of an old lined pair. Elastic was sewed around the waist and I now wear this separate lining with all my unlined and itchy slacks.

DEAR POLLY—Share your favorite homemaking ideas... send them to Polly in care of (Name Paper). You'll receive a dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Dear Abby...

Family Peace Should Prevail Regardless

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married this summer and I have asked my roommate to be my maid of honor. (I am away at college.) She isn't a "new" friend, Abby, we have gone all through school together. I wrote my sister, who is two years younger than I am, asking her to be a bridesmaid. Here is a part of a letter I just received from my mother: (Quote.)

"Marilyn, I am not going to say anything about your choice of maid of honor, except this: Your sister is very hurt and I don't blame her. You will have many friends in your life, but only one sister. Think it over." (End of quote.)

Now I am really in a fix. How can I explain to my friend that she can't be my maid of honor after she's already accepted? I really want her to be it, but I'm afraid if I don't have my sister it will cause permanent hard feelings in my family, and I don't want that either. Can you help me make a choice?

IN A FIX
DEAR IN: You know your family better than I do; so if you fear that "permanent hard feelings" will result should you choose your friend for maid of honor, ask your sister. Explain your predicament to your friend. She will probably be much more understanding than your sister.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know why that wife is making such a big thing over washing her husband's back. Every man likes to be spoiled a little. Take mine. I serve him martinis while I give him a haircut.

EUNICE
DEAR EUNICE: Well, your husband is one man who won't tell his troubles to.

DEAR ABBY: This is for all those Parent-Teachers organizations whose leaders complain because they don't get the support they think they deserve. When a newcomer joins, do they make an effort to make her feel welcome? Or do they gather in their own tight little circles and ignore the stranger? I have just attended my third and last P-TA meeting. In three meetings, in addition to the teachers of my children, I met only one woman. And the second time she saw me she didn't even say hello. You may sign me "HAD IT" FROM LEAVENWORTH, KANS. DEAR HAD IT: Which school in Leavenworth? This should rock them, but don't hold it against all P-TA groups. They usually go all out to welcome newcomers.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PROVED MY LOVE" in CLARKSBURG, W. VA.: You paid dearly for your lesson. If he comes near you again, call the police. Or do you want to try for two?

Problem? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Timely Beauty Hints

Countless women seek ways to save on clothing and household expenditures, but often overlook the possibilities of being thrifty about their precious beauty requisites. According to beauty authority, Max Factor, however, there are many ways to make cosmetics last longer. One is to use every smidgen of your lipstick. By applying it with a brush, you not only create more beauty but a smaller amount is required.

In addition, a good quarter of an inch of the product is held in the base of the case which may be used with the brush. Hold your powder. Patting it on from a distance, sends most of it out into the air. Another good tip is run your fingers around the sides of cream jars, instead of always scooping it up from the middle, and allowing the requisite to dry on the jar walls.

Oranges or grapefruit can be peeled easily if they are first dunked in boiling water for several minutes.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

Spring is almost here! Many signs are visible. Crocus are blooming all over town. Grape Hyacinth, Daffodils and Forsythia are just beginning to bloom. The Pussy Willows are loaded with their little catkins. Leaves of the lilac bushes are barely visible.

On the first day of spring, generally, March 21, the time between sunrise and sunset is exactly 12 hours. The sun rises exactly in the east and sets exactly in the west according to The World Book.

Longfellow has said of this special time of year, "If spring came but once in a century, instead of once a year, or burst forth with the sound of an earthquake, and not in silence, what wonder and expectation there would be in all hearts to behold the miraculous change! But now the silent succession suggests nothing but necessity. To most men only the cessation of the miracle would be miraculous and the perpetual exercise of God's power seems less wonderful than its withdrawal would be."

The weather has been so nice these last few days, it's hard to keep from going overboard in our work in the garden. Quite a bit of work can be done now, but be sure to allow for that cold weather that is yet to come. Flower beds can be improved by digging and adding whatever is needed to improve the soil now so they will be ready for planting when the time comes. Old stalks that weren't removed earlier can be cut now; especially on the peonies, since the eyes of the peonies are just beginning to show. There is a chance of breaking the new shoots when removing the stalks later.

Be sure to water when necessary now. The wisteria trees and vines will produce a better show if not allowed to become too dry.

Besides our pussy willows, there is also a plant called pussytoes. It is a small rock garden, hardy, perennial plant with white woolly leaves and thistles in poor soil. Its botanical name is Antennaria.

Another interesting plant is the Easter Cactus. It is similar to the Christmas Cactus. They receive their names from the time of the year in which they bloom. The Easter Cactus is of more or less upright or spreading growth with pendant, green, flattened branches which are often mistaken by amateurs for leaves. The flowers are showy, red or purple-red and are usually at the tips of the branches. "It is not how much we have, but how much we enjoy that makes happiness," Spurgeon.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A man has defined the ideal wife as one who can instantly locate the screwdriver, the pliers or the hammer.

Don't any of you young and inexperienced homemakers fall for that line. If the first time your young husband misplaces his handyman tools and yells for you to find whatever he has lost you oblige him, you will be held responsible for everything he misplaces the rest of your married life.

The bride's proper and only self-protective answer when her husband asks for the hammer, or anything else he should be responsible for keeping in its place, is a sweet, untroubled, "Why I don't know; it must be wherever you left it."

What's more, she shouldn't rush to help him find what he's looking for, because if she does he'll regard that as an admission that she should know where to find it, but doesn't.

Husbands who go through life around, expecting them to be screwing their possessions put back where they belong by their wives, and fetched quickly whenever the husband hollers for help, aren't as easy to live with as husbands who learned early in their married lives that their wives expected them to look after their own possessions.

Maybe from a man's point of view an ideal wife is one who can instantly locate whatever her husband has neglected to put in its appointed place.

But any man who thinks that is part of a good wife's job isn't exactly an ideal husband from a wife's point of view.

Look for clothing with much shorter skirts this year. Most of the Paris designers gave in to the short skirt. American buyers are expected to follow that decisive lead.

Where Health Dollars Go

Private funds are the source of almost three-quarters of national health expenditures—in 1964, $27.2 billion as against $9.5 billion in public funds. Use also varies greatly, with the biggest share of private funds going to professional personnel in private practice while it is hospital care which takes the biggest bite in public money. The most noticeable change indicated in Newscharts of shifting expenditure percentages from 1950 to 1964 is the jump in the medical research effort with public funds, from 2.3 to 12.3 per cent of the total.

Assistant Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics downrates the Southeast Asian war as an effective remedy for unemployment. President Johnson was able to report last week that unemployment was down to 3.7 per cent, the lowest jobless rate in 13 years.

Hazlewood Blasts Sex Club at UT

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—State Sen. Grady Hazlewood would rather legalize a "well-supervised house of prostitution" than give a sex freedom club at the University of Texas what it wants.

Hazlewood, in a talk Monday before the Texas Police Association at Plainview, Tex., charged that the Texas Student League for Responsible Sexual Freedom operates at the university with faculty approval and said:

"I will never vote for another appropriation for the university as long as that group of queer-minded social misfits remains officially approved to operate on the university campus, using public facilities to wage a campaign to abolish our criminal laws prohibiting sodomy, homosexuality, fornication and adultery."

Politicians like to be associated with good news such as that. They also like to be accepted as the authors of good fortune. Assistant Commissioner Goldstein told newsmen the draft of manpower for military service did not contribute to the drop in unemployment which had been announced by the President. Goldstein thought war production did not have much effect either.

The record of war and employment over the years, however, directly challenges Goldstein's judgment. It was war which finally rescued FRD's New Deal from a jobless morass. War sparks the economy like no other institution known to man.

War is a monstrous consumer of manpower. War creates an enormous demand for production of military and consumer goods. War returns idle plant capacity to production. War popped up in 1950 to help Harry S Truman out of an unemployment hole. In 1943 the rate of unemployment had reached 5.5 per cent. It dropped to 5 per cent in 1950, the year which saw the start of the Korean War. By 1952 the rate was down to 2.7 per cent. That is a typical record of war and unemployment.

Another Preference

"I would prefer to legalize a well-supervised house of prostitution where they could teach equally as much freedom of sex."

Other opposition — thought not as articulate — arose on the campus to the sex freedom club. Edwin Price, director of student activities, forbade distribution of a club pamphlet advocating sexual freedom on the campus.

About 40 students met Monday night to consider plans to protest the ban as a violation of freedom of speech.

The sexual freedom club's pamphlet says "any private sex act which does no physical harm and is not initiated by force, whether undertaken by one or by two or more consenting adults, is not morally wrong and should not be legally wrong."

President Signs Viet Finance Bill Into Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson yesterday signed into law an authorization for $4.8 billion supplemental military spending for the Viet Nam war, asserting that it is signified that Congress stands behind U.S. troops fighting there.

In a White House ceremony at which he signed the authorization bill, Johnson expressed sadness at having to spend "such great sums for the bombs and planes and the gun power of war." He said he wished that "these great resources could be put, instead, to the service of peace."

As military leaders, Pentagon officials and members of Congress looked on, Johnson signed the bill in the White House East Room. He noted that it authorized part of $13.1 billion in emergency military appropriations up for House action later in the day.

There was no hint of argument in the House during debate on the appropriations measure over how or why the United States was fighting the war — but over the manner in which the Johnson Administration was financing the conflict. The Senate became embroiled in hot debate over the whole conduct of the war when the authorization measure came under consideration.

However, the bill ultimately was approved by Senators by a vote of 95 to 2 and the House passed it 392 to 4. Signing the measure, Johnson said:

"By its overwhelming vote on this measure, I believe the Congress has declared to the American people that they stand behind our fighting men in Viet Nam."

The President said "most of the world leaders today genuinely prefer peace" because most of the world has learned "the final futility of war." But he said there still are a few who do not understand this.

"And so, to those who ask what our present struggle in Viet Nam really means," Johnson declared, "Let me say again — our purpose is to demonstrate to the remaining advocates of violence that there is more human profit to be had from peace than there is from war."

He said that was his only purpose in the bloody war — and the "real purpose of the more than 200,000 brave

Hazlewood, of Amarillo, Tex., charged that sexual freedom groups are operating at the University of California and Stanford as "Student Leagues for Sexual Freedom."

It's The Law In Texas

To clean her rugs, a housewife made use of a powerful cleaning fluid. But, working in a closed room, she inhaled so much of the lethal fumes that she died. Was the manufacturer of the cleaning fluid legally liable for her death?

After a court test, the company was indeed held liable — mainly because of a misleading label on the can. The brand name, in large letters, strongly implied that the product was safe to use. As for danger, the only warning was small and inconspicuous.

Damage suits are rising with growing frequency in the field of "product liability." One key issue is the responsibility of a manufacturer to warn the consumer of possible danger.

Sometimes the matter is covered by specific statutory requirements, such as marking poisons with a skull and crossbones. But even without any specific requirements, a manufacturer generally has a duty to give warning, when needed, of dangers inherent in his wares.

For, in this age of synthetic and complex products, the consumer is often unable to detect those dangers for himself.

"Such a dependent society," said one judge, "must exact greater care than in more simple days and must require from manufacturers or producers increased integrity and caution as the only protection of its safety and well-being."

Nevertheless, the law will not blame the manufacturer for every mishap in which his product plays a part. He need not warn the consumer of hazards that should be obvious.

For instance, the manufacturer need not place a "Handle with Care" notice on a hammer, just because it can mash your thumb. Or on a needle, just because it can puncture your skin.

Nor is the manufacturer liable if his warning, although properly given, is not properly heeded.

Shamrock, An Irish Island in the US

Just below the last escarpment of the Rocky Mountains in the great Panhandle Plains country of Texas, lies an Emerald Isle. Its name is Shamrock (Texas, that is). Every year on March 17th there is a tremendous gathering of the clan (spelled, of course, with a "c") — The O'Tooles, the O'Shaughnessys, the O'Worleys, the O'Blonsteins, the O'Pavlovskys, the O'Garmons, the O'Pakans, the O'Macinas, the O'Torgersons, the O'Leiwises, the O'Lum-muses, the O'Adkins, the O'Joneses, the O'Zeiglers, the O'Weldons, the O'LeBlancs, the O'Rogerses, the O'Ryanas, and the O'Kellys, just to name a few of the most Irish-sounding names. It makes no difference whether you are Jew or Gentile, Mohammedan or Christian, green, pink, black, or white, on March 17th in Shamrock, Texas, you're Irish, and you'd better believe it.

Anything might happen and usually does, but whatever it is, the color of it will be green, whether it be a horse and rider in the parade or the stew at the local cafe. On this day, the crowds that gather at Shamrock will do most anything within the law short of blowing up Lord Nelson's monument, and they might even do this if they had one. The wit and charm which permeate the air would equal what one would hear in any celebration in the Old Country, and there are plenty of snappy comebacks — like the one where the waitress was asked by a customer if the glass of milk was fresh. She replied, "If it was any fresher, it'd be grass."

And there are plenty of Irish jokes, like the one about the Irishman who walked in the bar one morning with a bulge in his pocket. The bartender said, "MacGillicuddy, what is it you have in your pocket?" MacGillicuddy replied, "A stick of dynamite." "And what," said the bartender, "are you going to do with it?" To which MacGillicuddy replied, "Every day when O'Houlihan sees me he belts me in the side and breaks me pipe. Today, I'm telling you, he's goin' to blow his hand off."

Or the one about the widow whose husband had fallen into the river and drowned. The insurance company gave her a fortune of 10,000 pounds. A friend, consoling the widow, said, "Poor Paddy, he was a fine man, even though he never did learn how to read nor to write." The widow interrupted her weeping to reply, "Nor how to swim, thanks be to God."

And then there's the one about the Irish nobelman who was suspected of being in the IRA. The British regiment invaded his castle and literally ransacked it looking for him or some evidence. As the soldiers were leaving empty-handed, the Irish butler said to them, "Whom shall I say called?"

And then there's the one about the will contest. The contestants claimed that the deceased's signature had been forged. The opposing counsel said that the testament was signed while the deceased was on his death bed and "while he still had life in him." To which the contestants' counsel replied, "Yes, he had a fly in his mouth."

And, of course, the one about the errant Irishman whose life had not been entirely sinless, who was about to depart this life and was being given the last rites by the Father, who said, "And, Pat, do you renounce the Devil and all his works?" To which Pat replied, "Father, the shape I'm in, I'm in no position to offend anyone."

It is a well-known fact that the Irish can do more with words than a crooked confidence man with three walnut shells and a dried pea. It is said that the average European has a vocabulary of approximately 500 words, while the Irish employ at least 5,000 in their everyday conversation. It isn't always the words but the way they put them together and the meaning that comes out. An example of ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Ken Curtis, who portrays Festus Hagen in the television series "Gunsmoke," announced Monday that he married Mrs. Torrie Connelly of Denver, Colo., last Saturday in Las Vegas. Milburn Stone, who plays Doc Adams in the Western series, was best man. Mrs. Connelly had been secretary of the Rodeo Cowboys Association in Denver.

"This is my favorite Irish toast. May you be in Heaven one hour before the Devil knows you're dead."

So, if you want a real taste of Ireland, you can get it without resorting to the method suggested by the Irish tourist attendant when the Englishman asked her the cheapest way to get to Ireland. Her reply: "Swim." You can get to Ireland by walking, riding, or flying, if you will go to Shamrock, Texas, on March 17th of any year.

White Turning Trick for Phils

By United Press International
Pardon Philadelphia manager Gene Mauch for laughing up his sleeve, but the Phillies put one over on the Cardinals last winter.

The deal the Phils pulled off involved getting first baseman Bill White and shortstop Dick Groat from St. Louis in exchange for pitcher Art Mahaffey, catcher Pat Corrales and outfielder Alex Johnson. Already the trade is returning large dividends to Philadelphia.

The key man in the deal, as far as Mauch was concerned, was White, who batted .289 and hammered 24 home runs for the Cardinals last season. The Phillies' skipper described the all-star first baseman as a "winning type of ball player who can give any club a big lift."

White took those words right out of Mauch's mouth Tuesday as he hammered three homers to lead the Phils to an 8-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Bucs Beat Reds
Home runs by Bill Mazeroski and Matty Alou helped the Pittsburgh Pirates defeat the Cincinnati Reds 4-3 for their fifth straight victory in exhibition play.

Tim McCarver and Tito Francona each cracked a two-run homer for the Cardinals in the eighth inning to rally St. Louis to a 7-3 triumph over the Minnesota Twins. Julian Javier also homered for the Cards while Zoilo Versalles, Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher smashed four-baggers for the losers.

The loss was the defending American League champions' sixth straight, but the team did receive some good news Tuesday when pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant signed his 1966 contract. Grant, who has missed almost a month of spring training, received an estimated $36,500.

Veteran southpaw Gary Peters pitched three hitless innings and drove in three runs with a triple to pace the Chicago White Sox to a 7-3 victory over the Houston Astros.

Pinch-hitter Randy Schwartz belted a two-run triple in the eighth inning to tie the score then scored on Detroit shortstop Ray Oyler's throwing error to give the Kansas City

Athletics a 7-6 triumph over the Tigers.

Yanks Take Braves
The New York Yankees took advantage of three errors and blasted out 13 hits to hand the Atlanta Braves a 7-2 defeat. First baseman Joe Pepitone led the Yankee assault with two hits.

The New York Mets erupted for three runs against relief ace Ron Perranoski in the seventh inning to upend the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1. Pitchers Dick Rustuck, Dennis Ribant and Bill Hepler combined to hold the Dodgers to just three singles as the Mets won their third game in three starts.

Pitcher Lewie Kopitz's throwing error and wild pitch in the sixth inning enabled the Baltimore Orioles to defeat the Washington Senators 6-5. Kopitz threw wild to first on Dave Johnson's infield single, enabling the Oriole second baseman to reach third base, then wild-pitched to allow the tie-breaking run. John Orsino belted a three-run homer and Fred Valentine a solo blast for Washington while Frank Robinson and Curt Blefary connected for Baltimore.

Jackie Hernandez doubled home Vic La Rose in the ninth inning then scored on a sacrifice fly by Willie Smith to hand the California Angels a 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The Indians pounded out 13 hits in a losing effort.

Jim Davenport's first inning homer and southpaw pitcher Al Stanek's bases-loaded double were the big blows for the San Francisco Giants as they whipped the Chicago Cubs 6-2. Roberto Pena hit a homer for the Cubs.

Cadets, Villanova Hit Semi-finals

NEW YORK (UPI)—Army, whose star player failed to make the National Invitation Tournament, and Villanova, whose entire team almost missed the boat, have turned the form sheet for the nation's oldest post-season basketball classic into a worthless scrap of paper.

The Cadets, relative midgets with no starter over 6-foot-3, lowered the boom on tall and talented San Francisco 80-63 Tuesday night in the quarterfinals before Villanova hung on for a stunning 86-85 victory over Boston College.

That left only one highly regarded team, top-seeded Brigham Young, in Thursday night's semifinals. The Cougars will take on Army and Villanova will oppose New York University, another upstart, for the two berths in Saturday's final.

Army, which lost its 6-foot-6 star Mike Silliman prior to the tournament with an injured knee, toppled the heavily favored Dons with some phenomenal shooting and an aggressive, collapsing defense which completely bottled up San Francisco's towering front line of Erwin Mueller, Joe Ellis and Dennis Black.

Hot Shooters
The scrappy Cadets connected on their first nine shots from the field, five of them from sharpshooter Bill Helkie, and spurred to a commanding 39-24 lead at intermission. Helkie scored 25 points in the first stanza on phenomenal 12-for-15 accuracy.

Army closed out the game at a 69 per cent clip while Helkie finished with 34 points. More impressively, however, the Cadets held the 6-foot-8 Mueller to 14 points and blanked the 6-foot-6 Ellis. San Francisco's leading scorer, over the first half, Ellis tallied six points in the game before fouling out in the second half.

Army has finished third in the tournament in each of the two previous years, both times edging NYU in the consolation game.

"Villanova is an inspired team," noted BC Coach Bob Cousy after his team's furious second half rally had just fallen short. "Bill Melchioni on an amateur level completely controls the game in a man-to-man situation."

Take Large Lead
Melchioni, a wispy 6-foot-1 guard, scored 30 points, including 10 of the Wildcats' first 12 as they raced to a 46-39 half-time margin. The 'Cats widened the edge to 15 midway through the second half before BC's full-court press began to pay dividends.

The Eagles rattled off six consecutive baskets to cut the deficit to three, and after Villanova had moved out to seven, pulled to within two with two minutes left in the game. But BC failed in three attempts to tie the score, the last time on a one-and-one foul situation by Jack Kvanec, and Doug Hice's driving layup at the buzzer left the Eagles one point short.

Soph sensation Steve Adelman topped the Eagles with 32 points, the same number he scored in leading BC to its upset victory over Louisville in triple overtime last Saturday. Willie Wolters contributed 19 points and 21 rebounds.

Golf's 'Big Three' To Make Debut in Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Those virtual unknowns who have been mopping up on the winter golf tour better get braced—the 'Big Three' have returned.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player are all entered in the brand new $110,000 Florida Citrus Open which makes its debut here Thursday. It'll be the first time in seven months these three have played in the same tournament.

Their last three-way battle was last August in the Carling World Open at Sutton, Mass. Player, reigning U.S. Open champion, hasn't competed in the States since and Nicklaus, Masters champ and record money winner in 1965, is entering only his third of 10 tournaments so far this year.

Palmer, who appears to have returned to form after a comparative off year, will be making his seventh start of '66. Arnie is top money winner so far this year with more than $36,000. He won the Los Angeles Open, was second at San Diego, lost to Doug Sanders in a playoff in the Bob Hope Desert Classic and tied for fourth this past week in the Doral Open.

Nicklaus, who won more than $140,000 last year, wound up five strokes off the pace at Doral but shot fine golf after an opening round 77. That had been his first tournament round in nearly two months since he and Player had spent the interim staging a lengthy exhibition tour through South Africa.

Final practices at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House will be held Thursday. Each coach will bar newsmen, photographers and spectators from the drills except for the first 10 minutes, which are set aside for picture-taking purposes.

Duke and Utah face the prospect of losing the use of one of their starting five. Coach Vic Bubas of Duke reported at a round-robin telephone news conference Tuesday that Bob Verga, junior guard and ace playmaker, was hospitalized with a throat infection.

NCAA Finalists Hold Workouts

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Coaches of the final four contenders for NCAA basketball championship today imposed top secret restrictions on their pre-tourney workouts.

The showdown struggle Friday and Saturday will bring together the big three of college basketball—Kentucky, Duke and Texas Western—and unranked Utah. Top-ranked Kentucky (26-1) meets No. 2 Duke (25-3) in one semifinal and (26-1) faces Utah (23-6) in the other.

Wills Reported Ready to Sign

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Los Angeles Dodger Captain Maury Wills arrived in camp Tuesday night and agreed to terms verbally with General Manager Buzzie Bavasi.

Wills, who turned down a "final offer" of $75,000 last Friday, is believed to have agreed to that figure in the absence of holdouts Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, he is the highest paid Dodger in history.

"I don't feel I should quote any figures," said Wills. "That's up to the club. All I can say is that everything is satisfactory. I'm happy as a lark."

Pampa Baseballers Fall to Borger, 9-3

Dogs Score Quick To Ice Harvesters

BORGER (Spl) — Borger struck early with seven runs in the first two innings Tuesday to knock off Pampa, 9-3.

The non-conference affair sent Pampa's record to 1-3 and the Harvesters hope to improve on this Saturday when they journey to Dumas for another doubleheader.

Coach Bobby Stephens said Tuesday night that Pampa and Borger may play again Friday in Borger. The Dumas game was scheduled in Pampa but the Harvesters' playing site, Optimist Club park is not ready for play. Dumas took a twinbill from Pampa last Saturday.

Extra base hits were "The Thing" Tuesday with the Bulldogs raining in three doubles, one triple and a homerun. Pampa struck for two doubles and a homerun by Gary Molberg, his second of the season.

Bob Connelly went five innings for Borger allowing two runs on but two hits. Bob Burns finished up giving Pampa one run on three hits in the final two innings.

Bud Hammons went six innings for Pampa and was routed for seven runs in the first two innings on a total of seven hits.

Hammons settled down and gave up only two more runs on seven hits the rest of the way for an 8-2 record.

Pampa jumped to a 2-0 lead in their half of the first inning on a walk to Larry Stephens and a 325-foot blast by Molberg.

The Harvesters didn't score again until the sixth when Molberg doubled and Roy Harper got a two-bagger to send him home.

Borger went ahead in the last of the first when Pruitt led off with a single, Sanders doubled and both runners scored on a single by Brewer.

Brewer stole second and scored on an error by second baseman Jimmy Moore.

The Bulldogs scored four times in the second when Kelly touched Hammons for a leadoff double and scored on Connelly's single. Connelly scored when Pruitt homered. Hammons set down Billington and Sanders but Brewer was hit by a wild pitch, stole second and scored on a single by Gooch.

The Bulldogs tallied again in the fifth when Rodgers tripled and Kelly singled him home.

The last Borger run scored in the sixth on a walk to Brewer and singles by Gooch and Plumlee.

Connelly struckout five and walked two in his five innings while Hammons whiffed six and gave up one walk.

Italian Named Top Boxer Of Month by Ring Magazine

NEW YORK (UPI) —Piero Del Papa of Italy, who won the European light heavyweight title by outpointing Italian veteran Giulio Rinaldi, today was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine.

The victory enabled Del Papa to advance to seventh in Ring's semi-monthly division rankings while Rinaldi fell to 10th. Chic Calderwood of Scotland made the biggest advance in the light heavyweight division by moving from seventh to fourth. Wayne Thornton of Fresno, Calif., continues to rank second behind champion Jose Torres of Puerto Rico.

Fullmer Favored Against Gonzalez

NEW YORK (UPI) —Don Fullmer, scheduled to finish training today for his American middleweight championship defense against Jose Gonzalez at Madison Square Garden Friday, has been installed as a 6-5 favorite for the fight.

Fullmer and Gonzalez, who also will finish training today, both expect to hit the 160 pound limit on the head for the scheduled 12-rounder.

HOUY NAMED TRAINER ATLANTA (UPI) —Clint Houy, former trainer of the Dallas Cowboys, was appointed trainer Monday for the new Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League.

Pro Basketball's New Image Named Kennedy

NEW YORK (NEA) — When the National Basketball Association realized it was being lapped by the National Football League in the race for acceptance and dollars, the league owners reached into suburbia for a new image.

Out of the mayor's office of Stamford, Conn., came Walter Kennedy. Perfect.

He commuted on the New Haven, wore button-down shirts and was seen at times, wearing striped ties. He even carried an attache case like Pete Rozelle.

Right away this was an improvement. Some of the NBA owners still carry the night's profits in a brown paper bag.

Kennedy immediately went to work on the league's main problem — its image.

He put the NBA back on national television, he fined Wilt Chamberlain for talking about bushes — the unpalatable kind — and he made the Detroit Pistons forget about Reggie Harding who was commuting between his home and the Detroit jail.

Everything had been quite peaceful this season until the Philadelphia 76ers missed a game in Cincinnati. It cost the team a $5,000 fine under league rules.

The fine would have been understandable if the team had not tried to make the game, but the 76ers did, and the incident just points out the biggest weakness of the NBA — its scheduling.

Each team plays 80 games. But the city of Philadelphia thinks so much of pro basketball that it gives the 76ers last choice of dates at Convention Hall. That means trade shows, ice shows and the circus all come first.

So this year the 76ers, a genuine threat for the league title, are playing 24 home games. The other 56 either are on neutral or away courts.

This leads to some nightmarish scheduling. For example, during the week when they missed the Cincinnati game, the 76ers had seven games scheduled in eight days in six different cities.

Friday evening before the Cincinnati game, they played New York at home. The next morning at 11:30 they flew out to Cincinnati. En-route, it began to snow.

They missed their connection in Pittsburgh because the plane couldn't land. They went on to Cleveland where the airline assured them they would get a connecting flight to Cincinnati. The snow worsened. All commercial flights to Cincinnati were canceled, and it was 235 miles by bus over icy, snowy roads.

Bowling Breaks by Gil

GIL BURGUND

There were several outstanding achievements deserving the spotlight this week. Believe me it isn't every day that we have a 700 scratch series bowler.

Buck Donnell just couldn't do anything wrong the other night and blasted out a 706 series, the first league 700 this year.

Virginia Pettit wasn't exactly proud of her scores in the Women's State Tournament last week but she was mighty proud of picking up the big four split and that's a once in a lifetime accomplishment.

Then in the junior tournament a listing of all the winners is in order. I'm sure that the following kids are going to cherish the beautiful trophies they won.

Top individual honors go to Janet Morgan who won both the scratch and handicap all events in the girls division. All events scratch in the Junior and Senior boys was Billy Davis, all events handicap Randy Ziebarth and in the Bantams Larry Alkers is all events Champ.

Girls singles, Jackie Clark, Girls doubles, Dee Keefer and Linda Chase. Girls team: Jackie Clark, Karren Riddle and Sharon Riddle.

Junior and Senior singles came up with a tie between Ronnie Gray and Steve Harmon. Doubles, Billy Davis and Buddy Newton, Team Terry Ward, Randy Ziebarth, and Bruce Murchison.

Bantam boys singles: Bryce Williams, Doubles: Chuck Sexton and Gary Hicks, Bantam team: Larry Alkers, Stu Murchison and Jimmy Corley.

Our display case is going to look pretty empty when all these youngsters have been handed their trophies, and by the way, kids, these are scheduled to be given out Sunday, March 27th.

Remember kids, regular leagues start again this coming Saturday, that is if all of you can come down out of the clouds. Up in the clouds too is Irma Beck who had a 604 scratch series the other night. A big 4-6 split in the tenth frame punctured the cloud that Emmet Jenkins was riding on with six strikes in a row going into the fatal 10th.

Then, too, there is Dorothy Hollis flying high with her first 200 and I hear that she practiced up the week before by picking the 6-7-10 split. There were quite a few splits picked this week and to mention a few, James Hembree the 4-10 Carl Wright, 4-7-9-10 (that's a dandy) Bill Richardson 6-7-10, Elsie Gerick 6-7 Mary McNeil 6-7-10 Randy Ziebarth, a Jr, the 2-5-10 and also a 200 game with five strikes in a row. Bruce Murchison also a Jr, the 6-7.

For a real goodie of the week, Walt Fletcher didn't want his picture taken the other night because he didn't have his hair combed. Pat Patrick had a big smile to for the camera, he was probably thinking of that $5.00.

Martin Howard came up with a nice 568 series with a 199 high and Ron Havens came up with a 200-200-192 for a 582 series. I'd call that pretty smooth bowling. And here is a close race for the nights high series in one league Pat Patrick 610, John Snuggs 608 and Lon Harmon 598.

Floyd White came up with a stairstep 140-148-156 and La Nell Cook with a 110 average had 110-110-98.

Darrell Dupy came close with 145-165-184, Lorie March also had a near stairstep and I'll be nice and not mention what it was. Then too Tiny Harmon had 157-156-158.

I'm afraid that if I find anymore to write about I won't have room so I'll just save it for next week.

Ladies don't forget that in just another week the City Tournament is at hand. Let's have a record entry. See you next week.

Like Mantle, Mario A Champ

By MURRAY OLDERMAN NAZARETH, Pa. (NEA) — Little Mario Andretti of Montona, Italy, never heard of Mickey Mantle. Alberto Ascari, yes. The end product of every red-blooded Italian boy's dream, Ascari was a championship driver.

At the age of 13, Mario and his twin brother Aldo were racing formula junior cars. Aldo fractured his skull, and Mario fractured his kneecap. And a couple of years later Luigi Andretti removed his brood to Nazareth, Pa., which is a few miles from Easton and where Luigi could get a job in the steel mills.

"I hated to come over to the States," recalls Mario. "The only thing you ever heard of was 'Indy' (for the Indianapolis 500-mile race)."

Mario and Aldo got here on a Wednesday in June of 1965, and on a Sunday they were already out at the half-mile dirt track in Nazareth watching the modified stock cars whiz by.

"I thought," he says, "it was the greatest thing since popcorn." (Note: Mario never tasted pizza till he got to Pennsylvania.)

"I told my brother, 'We're going to build one of those.'"

As soon as they learned to speak English, they organized a syndicate of seven kids and bought a 1948 Hudson for $1,500. The Andretti brothers started racing it the last Sunday of April in 1958. By July, they had the syndicate paid off.

Today Mario Andretti is the national champion race car driver, as determined by the United States Auto Club. He's a handsome, dark-haired, affable, pint-sized paisano who quit his factory foreman's job in 1963 to devote full time to a life of racing and made $8,000. Last year it was $64,000 and a third-place finish in Indianapolis which made him the rookie of the year.

"My relatives in Italy thought it was wonderful," grins Mario. "The first race in your life," they wrote me, "and you are third at Indy. Che bella!"

Even Luigi Andretti, watching on closed circuit, popped his buttons.

Luigi wasn't always an aficionado. "When we bought that first car," says Mario, "my parents didn't even know we were driving. But the last race in 1959, my brother Aldo was hurt. He fractured his skull."

"When he came to 45 days later in the hospital, he looked at me and said, 'Boy, am I glad I was here.' He knew what I went through at home."

Surprisingly, the boys spent the whole winter rebuilding the car. The family crisis boiled in the spring when papa Luigo drove up to the service station where they worked, across the road from the race track. There stood Mario nonchalantly leaning against the pump, smoking a cigarette, all duded up in his Salasport racing outfit imported from Italy.

CLUB BOUT PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The first world championship ever staged in a supper club will take place June 20 when Carlos Ortiz defends his lightweight title against Johnny Bizzarro at the Holiday House in Monroeville, Pa.

Job Corps Indocination

The Camp Gary Job Corps Center near San Marcos, Texas, is something special to President Johnson. It's in the hill country near the LBJ ranch and the President considers the center a showpiece in his war against poverty.

Camp Gary was one of the first Job Corps training centers opened and Johnson indicated he would like to see the facility set the pace for efficiency and discipline for others to follow.

Johnson's current assessment of Camp Gary is not generally known, but it is common knowledge the discipline of trainees off base leaves something to be desired. For instance, earlier this year two trainees on the town in San Antonio beat up a military policeman and more recently in Austin a trainee got mixed up in a drunken brawl and ended up dead. He was stabbed to death.

Incidentally, the Office of Economic Opportunity which operates the Job Corps centers, provides funds (tax money) for lawyers to represent trainees who get in trouble with the law. An OEO spokesman said the government feels the trainees "are our babies" and it has a responsibility to furnish legal counsel for the accused youngsters. How's that for a paternalistic attitude of Big Brother government?

Information on what's going on at Camp Gary is not too easy to get. However, the Dallas Morning News assigned two reporters to do some digging for facts at the camp and, with an assist from the News' Washington Bureau, they came up with a creditable account of the center.

Among other things, the story said Camp Gary has 2,457 trainees and a staff of 1,100, or one staff member for each 2.2 trainees. (Texas schools have one employee for each 20 students.)

The camp budget for 18 months (Dec. 31, 1964, to June 30, 1966) is $8,160,000. An OES spokesman predicts the camp will have an enrollment of 3,300 next June and assuming the center has an average of 3,000 trainees for the 18-month period, the budget would break down to $2,700 for each, or a yearly expenditure of $1,822 per trainee. The budget also earmarks $73,440 for public information and community relations, which the OEO considers extremely important factors in the success of the camp.

Julian Reed, a Fort Worth public relations man, is on the camp payroll as a consultant. Reed, an ideal man who also does public relations and speech writing for Gov. John Connally, refused to tell the News reporters how much he is paid by the OEO, insisting this was an "administrative matter" which he could not divulge, and the OEO in Washington said it did not know.

Who's kiddin' who, or is it whom? Trainees at Camp Gary and other centers will grow up with the erroneous conviction that the government owes them a job, a home, medical care and everything else for the rest of their days, which is exactly what the Great Society proposes to provide.

They're getting complete care now and in all probability such underground movements as free enterprise and individual responsibility are seldom, if ever, mentioned by instructors at the camps. So what else could we expect? One thing can be said of President Johnson: he's not overlooking a single facet of our society in his campaign to indoctrinate one and all with socialism.

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

Life is Just a Bowl of Queries NEW YORK (NEA) —It was our original intention to write a hearty and rousing review of the little $1.45 manual just published by Arco Books entitled, "How to Beat Personality Tests."

We have had no first-hand experience with these tests which are now used so widely to screen job applicants. Our career is almost entirely the triumph of touch-typing and anti-biotics.

But as we understand it, the personality test is supposed to reach deep down where it really counts and question you on whether you are trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, kind, cheerful, clean, unimaginary and heterosexual—in short, the Dull Normal that American business and industry expects to hire.

In that regard, "How to Beat Personality Tests" appears to be an excellent defense against this invasion of privacy, explaining question-by-question how to be what you are expected to be—the kinds of hobbies to prefer, what images to find in inkblots, how to feel about your mother, whether it is safe to have any worries, and if so, what sort you are allowed.

So, as we said, it was our intention to write an enthusiastic endorsement of the little manual.

But it turns out that we cannot in all honesty do so, having skimmed through the material only once and then passing a simple personality test with flying colors.

Well, it may be an indignity to have to answer questions like these to get a job. But nothing is so appalling as finding out how easily you can share your personality to be just what it is expected to be.

To our way of thinking, learning how to answer all the questions correctly and get an A in Dull Normality does not really seem like any way to beat the personality test. Especially as the test is never really over but continues on after you get the job, in memos, conferences, and good times at the club.

No, the only way to beat the personality test—or any other test for that matter—is by refusing to answer the questions in the first place.

In fact, one of our recurrent dreams is of the day when everybody suddenly stops answering questions.

True, there would be some dislocations in the police station, on the highway and at the marriage license bureau. But on the other hand, the Internal Revenue Service would come to a halt, the College Entrance Examination Board would waste away, the birth rate would drop, television fare would change at last, and the kind of imaginative mavericks who built this nation's business, industry and education would be allowed back into the establishment.

We must concede, however, that it is vain to dream that people will suddenly stop answering questions when everything from the cradle to the grave conspires against it.

If childhood memories serve (and they do indeed), no grown-up could ever stop with a plain "Hello." Perfect strangers simply had to ask: How old are you? What is your name? Do you remember me? And, of course, what do you want to be when you grow up?

A fireman, naturally—as any wise child learns to answer if he does not want to be packed off to group therapy.

And so it goes through the years: 2 plus 2 equals? Where are Yonkers found? What is your high school average? Where is your license? What is your serial number? Your gross income? Your dependents? Your insurance policy?

As far as we can tell, life is just a bowl of queries. And the human personality is just one expected answer after another.

We can illustrate this sad fact conclusively from our own experience the other evening while being jostled to the back of the bus by a burly lady. At length we turned to her and snapped:

"Who do you think you're pushing around?"

"I don't know," she said. "What's your name?"

It took every ounce of will power to keep from telling her.

tax-supported school system could teach the principles of individual enterprise when it violates those principles by their very operation.

Disapproval of Schwartz Handling of Passports For Reds Behind President's Backing of Removal Plan

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The inside reason President Johnson approved the plan that reorganized Abba Schwartz out of his strategic State Department job was the latter's controversial handling of passports for U. S. Communists.

The last straw for the White House was the unannounced action of the former head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs in authorizing a passport for Communist newsman Joseph North to attend the Tri-Continental Conference in Havana, January 3-15.

North, a columnist for the Worker and with long experience in the party apparatus, took an active part in this meeting of Communist leaders.

Schwartz, who several months ago personally took over the handling of the passport applications of U. S. Reds, approved North's plans to go to Cuba despite strong protests from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and intelligence agencies.

These security authorities objected to North's trip because of his extensive Communist associations and pro-Castro writings and lectures throughout the country.

When President Johnson learned Schwartz had disregarded these complaints, he directed White House assistant Marvin Watson to work with Deputy Undersecretary William Crockett to find a way to take passport and security waters out of Schwartz's hands.

The first Watson Crockett attempt to do that ran into a stone wall when Undersecretary George Ball vigorously defended the controversial State Department official.

Ball succeeded in delaying action by arguing Schwartz was doing nothing more than carrying out "official policy" in passport cases. In making this contention, Ball cited recent Supreme Court decisions which he held were deemed by the State Department's legal officers as restricting the government's power to bar travel by U. S. Reds.

THE SECOND ROUND — While Ball's support of Schwartz sidetracked the reorganization plan for several weeks, Crockett and Watson used the time to rally congressional and security officials to convince the President that Schwartz went much further in granting Communists passports than State Department policy contemplated.

They pointed out that North, and more recently Gus Hall, executive director of the Communist Party, were given preferential treatment, although Schwartz had the power to bar their going to Cuba and North Viet Nam.

The President also was told that North's visa was issued at a time when Cuban authorities were flatly refusing entry to U. S. newspapermen representing leading publications.

After weighing these factors and reading FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's latest report on increased Communist espionage activities in the U. S., the President gave Crockett the green light to proceed with the plan to abolish Schwartz' job.

During this White House meeting, the President telephoned Secretary Rusk telling him of his instructions to Crockett and saying he expected all State Department officials to support the reorganization plan.

Rusk gave assurance the directive would be promptly relayed to his assistants, including Undersecretary Ball.

THE COUNTER-ATTACK — Word of President Johnson's approval of the reorganization plan reached Schwartz in Geneva, where he reportedly was endeavoring to arrange the exchange of U. S. and North Viet Nam prisoners.

If that was his mission, it was one of the administration's best-kept secrets. Representative John Rooney, D-N. Y., chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the State Department's budget, after checking with the White House stated:

"If Schwartz was on a prisoner exchange mission, nobody in the White House knew anything about it. In fact, I couldn't find a single administration official who knew about it."

Friends of Schwartz are indicating he decided to challenge the reorganization plan by resigning and rallying friends in and out of Congress to oppose it.

This controversy, which appears to be headed for airing before several committees and on the floor of both the Senate and House, could be one of the stormiest of the session because of the powerful forces on both sides.

Already it is evident the "Schwartz affair" will widen the rift between the President and Senators Robert and Edward Kennedy, who publicly rushed to the support of the former State Department official. He was appointed to the department by President Kennedy, whom he vigorously supported in 1960. In 1964 Schwartz campaigned for Senator Robert Kennedy's election.

THE MAN NORTH — At least two congressional committees probing Schwartz' resignation plan to hold hearings on North's passport and his links with Moscow and Havana.

The Senate Internal Security Committee and the House Immigration Investigating Subcommittee have voluminous files on North's alleged Communist activities.

Elizabeth Bentley, former spy and FBI informer, testified May 5, 1959, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities that North was a "lookout man for Russian Intelligence," a post in which he reputedly kept an eye open for likely espionage recruits.

Former Communist William Remington told the House Committee on May 4, 1950, that North introduced him to Jacob Golos, Soviet agent who headed World Tourists, a declared Communist front used to cover espionage activities.

Justice Department records furnished the two committees show that North was born Jacob Seifer near Kikolayev in the Ukraine, May 25, 1904. He came to the U. S. with his mother around 1905, and became a citizen after his father was naturalized in 1910.

After attending the University of Pennsylvania, he entered newspaper work and later became editor of the Communist magazine Defender and then the weekly New Masses. In 1936, he became editor of the Sunday Worker. He was also a member of the Communist John Reed Club during the '30s. Assigned by the Communist Party to cover the Spanish civil war for the Daily Worker and New Masses, he crossed the Ebro River with the Communist-dominated International Brigade.

On returning to the U. S. in 1938, North traveled frequently to Mexico and Cuba. He has been one of Castro's most vocal supporters, following a two-year stay in the Red-ruled island.

ANOTHER TARGET — To counter the North case, Schwartz' backers are expected to center their opposition to the President's reorganization plan on Mrs. Frances Knight, director of the passport division, whose job was unchanged.

She strenuously opposed Schwartz' passport policies, but was overruled by him. At one point in their feud, Schwartz summoned Mrs. Knight and told her, "You will be out of a job in six months."

Because of the high stakes involved and the Democratic leaders arrayed on both sides, the expected congressional battle could shake not only the State Department but the Democratic party.

Between the Bookends

The Age of the Moguls "A business absolutely devoted to service will have only one worry about profits. They will be embarrassingly large."

Thus said Henry Ford in discussing his business philosophy with a biographer. And Ford's attitude sums up the perspective that all successful businessmen have acquired — that they succeed as they provide something valuable to their customers.

A historically - sound summary of the lives and activities of the business heroes of the nineteenth century is "The Age of the Moguls" by Stewart H. Holbrook (published by Doubleday, Garden City, N.Y.; $5.75). The author describes the ventures, exploits and successes of such men as Andrew Carnegie, Commodore Vanderbilt, Philip C. Armour, Samuel Insull, W. R. Hearst, and many more.

The careful reader can draw much insight from the facts laid out by Holbrook. He will be able, for example, to distinguish between those entrepreneurs who utilized the government to gain their profits and those who were concerned only about mutually - profitable exchanges with customers.

Describing John D. Rockefeller, Sr., the author says: "That public opinion was something that he ought to deal with had never entered the senior Rockefeller's mind. To him the public meant a customer. It was important to give the customer the best of oil and the best service. That ended the matter. When the public abused him, as it had almost since men could remember, he merely took shelter from it 'in his scorn.'"

And describing how that abuse had come about, Holbrook quotes John J. McLaurin: "If a man anywhere in Oildom drilled a dry hole or backed the wrong horse, lost at poker, dropped money speculating, stubbed his toe, ran an unprofitable refinery, missed a train, or couldn't maintain champagne style on lager-beer income, it was the fashion for him to pose as the victim of a gang of conspirators and curse the Standard Oil vigorously and vociferously."

Holbrook's task was not to overcome the vicious propaganda that has been heaped upon many of these men, but rather to set forth the facts as he found them as a historian. The result is interesting, profitable and entertaining reading.

By Frank Markey

The Spoils System of dispensing political patronage still holds true in local, state and federal government. It had its beginnings during the administration of Andrew Jackson. Old Hickory asked Postmaster General John McLean to fire some capable postmasters and appoint supporters of Jackson. McLean refused. Jackson hid his anger by praising McLean's high code of ethics and said such a man should be on the Supreme Court. McLean snapped at the bait and Jackson appointed him. Then Angry Andrew named William T. Barry of Kentucky to be the new Postmaster General and he had no qualms about firing Jackson's political enemies and hiring his friends.

Today's snipe: A drunk wandered out on New York's Fifth Avenue where a police officer was directing traffic and asked: "Can you direct me to the nearest hospital?" The cop looked at him and said: "Yes, just stand here for a few minutes."

You never hear of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh these days, but back in 1927 Lucky Lindy electrified the world with his epochal flight across the Atlantic Ocean from New York to Paris. When you see his famed plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis" in the Smithsonian Institution these days, you wonder how he made it. . . . You never think of a member of the President's Cabinet as having been an athlete, but Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall was once a crack basketball player at the University of Arizona. He starred in the National Invitation Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden in 1946.

Thoughts while shaving: We haven't seen it on any bottles yet in our favorite package store, but a Kentucky distiller has registered the name "Sputnik" as a trademark for his vodka. . . . Hailstones as large as marbles are not uncommon, but the largest authenticated hailstones recorded were those weighed and measured, dissected and photographed at a Nebraska town in 1928. One weighed 1 1/2 pounds and was 17 inches in circumference. . . . In our book Ted Williams, now retired from baseball, is one of the world's greatest fishermen, but even the redoubtable Ted will have to improve to surpass the record catch of Alf Dean of Australia. Using a rod he pulled in a 2,664-lb., 16-foot long man-eating white shark while fishing off Denial Bay back in 1959. . . . No doubt physicians and Latin scholars knew this, but it's news to us that "angina pectoris" literally means "anguish of the chest." It occurs when the heart isn't getting enough oxygen and nourishment to keep its tissues alive. Its sign of distress is a burning pain near the breastbone. . . . Half a century ago you could buy whiskey, made by the so-called Cushing method, for a half-dollar a full quart. Today the federal taxes on a quart of the same stuff is more than $2.50. . . . The Bay City (Mich.) TIMES headlined a story: "Life Term Extended For Convict." Maybe he likes living in jail.

Country Editor speaking: "Hard work will never hurt you, but why risk it?"

BY H. L. HUNT

Hunt for Truth

"WHAT CAN ONE DO IN BEHALF OF FREEDOM?" Millions ask what they can do to preserve our nation's sovereignty and their liberty. Freedom's enemies campaign to convince us that we, as individuals, are powerless to stop them. But those who love liberty can chart their own course.

If groups can accelerate liberty action by 1 percent per week; 4 percent per month, cumulative and compounded, it reaches 100 percent in 20 months, and all participants will know they have "done something." Competing groups will propel each other into expanded activities and contacts, with individuals becoming dedicated missionaries for freedom. Each positive stroke for freedom suggests another, and new avenues for freedom's preservation are opened.

Youth should rally its legions to constructive action; youth has longer to suffer and endure the mismanagement of today's public affairs. Youth is impulsive, buoyant, active and a great asset to the constructive cause. They may arrange essay and speaking contests with patriotic themes, and applaud speakers when they make points for patriotism.

Friends of freedom must make business establishments know that their use of patriotic media in advertising is profitable. Many businesses think they cannot afford to let their patriotic feelings show. This fatal situation, which may result in destruction of our nation, can easily be corrected. Members of the staffs of communications media who love our country should be found and encouraged.

A vast number will be in action working constructively to do everything possible to combat the menace of communism, with its ghastly philosophy, determined to destroy us just as one of its followers murdered our valiant and brilliant President.

Matter of Fact

The tree sloth has four legs but it never walks on them. Instead, it hangs by them from the branches of trees. The sloths are completely arboreal, which means they almost never leave the trees. When they do, they are forced to crawl along level surfaces with considerable difficulty. Sloths are nocturnal, solitary animals and only produce one young at birth.

Hollywood Report

By VERNON SCOTT HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Loretta Young is more at home in front of a camera than behind a typewriter, but appearance notwithstanding, glamorous Loretta has become a columnist.

She is syndicated in some 30 weekly newspapers with a column titled, fittingly enough, “Dear Loretta Young.”

It is advice to the lovelorn, heartsick, doubtful, outraged and confused. Readers write to Loretta, pouring out their hearts. She in turn advises them on whether to marry the nice young man or throw the loafing husband into the street—as the case may be.

Unlike the high-powered lonely hearts columnists, Loretta refrains from writing the little zingies, the smart alec answers that get a lot of laughs from readers but leave the letter-writer frustrated.

Certainly Miss Young isn't writing the column out of economic necessity. And neither does she hope to become a Pearl Buck some day.

Loretta's purpose is simply to keep in touch.

“When mother ran a boarding house I entertained the boarders,” she said. “In movies and television I was always surrounded by people. Now I don't have all that communication with other people.

I've always carried on correspondence with friends over the years, and I've enjoyed writing. So it was a natural extension of my personal feelings to begin a column. It's been going more than two years now, and I may be even doing a daily column soon.”

Each column consists of three letters and an equal number of solutions or bits of advice from Loretta.

Less than one per cent of the letters request a photograph from the actress which disqualifies the writers as Loretta Young fans per se.

I've had letters asking me why I qualified to write such a column, and I answer that I've had my share of troubles, disappointments and failure. And I've had a few successes, too. Over the years I've given a great deal of thought to them.

“The only thing I'm afraid of being is gossipy. So I make it a point not to illustrate my solutions to problems by using names or identifying situations with people I know. I hate gossip.”
