NEW US RIGHTS BILL IS READY

Official Says Russians Will Lead Space Race

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A U.S. space official said today Russia may well capture the lead in planetary exploration "during the years immediately ahead."

Edgar M. Cortright, deputy associate administrator for space science and applications for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said it remained to be seen which country will dominate exploration of Mars, Venus and the rest of the solar system in future decades.

As far as the United States is concerned, Cortright said, "This coming year will be a crucial one for the decision makers."

Cortright addressed the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the American Astronautical Society at a meeting here on "stepping stones to Mars."

He said Russia has yet to match the planetary discoveries made by the American Mariner spacecraft which flew past Venus in 1962 and Mars in 1965.

The Soviets sent a probe past Venus in late February and hit the planet with another probe March 1.

But neither craft sent back any data about Venus as far as is known.

Nevertheless, despite many failures, the Russians have a planetary flight program "several times the size of ours," and "there seems little doubt their luck will change," Cortright said.

NASA now spends less than 1 per cent of its annual budget on planetary exploration, Cortright said. "This nation is ready and able to step up" work in this "exciting area of space."

But when such an expanded program will get a go ahead is uncertain, he said, adding that the critical decisions must be made in the coming year.

COMMENDED AND CITED

JOHNSTON, Pa. (UPI)—Russell Johnson, 41, of Newark, N.J., risked his life to prevent possible tragedy over the weekend. He was praised and handed a summons.

Johnson's tractor-trailer slipped its brakes and ran out of control on a steeply graded road here. Rather than risk a major accident, Johnson flipped the rig onto its side and incurred scalp lacerations and body injuries.

Police commended him for his bravery—before he was fined $50 and costs for exceeding road restrictions limiting truck weights.

Will Ban Housing Prejudice

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Johnson administration was putting the finishing touches today on a new package of civil rights bills with an emotional time bomb for the North—a proposal to ban discrimination in housing.

The legislation, aimed at carrying out the pledges the President made in his January State of the Union message, also was expected to include measures designed to outlaw Jim Crow juries and to permit the attorney general to initiate school desegregation suits.

Johnson originally planned to submit the civil rights legislation to Congress today, but White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said the press of the Chief Executive's schedule for Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's state visit made it impossible. "We're shooting now for Wednesday at the earliest," he said.

Despite the pleas of civil rights leaders, it was understood the proposed legislation would not include a request for new authority for federal courts to try those accused of murdering, attacking or intimidating civil rights workers.

Instead, the Justice Department is awaiting Supreme Court decisions on two 1964 murder cases in Georgia and Mississippi. In each case the federal government relied on an 1870 law forbidding a conspiracy to deprive a person of his civil rights.

Johnson's fair housing bill would prohibit racial discrimination in the sale or rental of all homes, both new and old, no matter how they were financed.

It would be based on the federal government's constitutional power to regulate interstate commerce, the same power cited as a basis for the controversial public accommodations section of the landmark Civil Rights Act of 1964.

GOP-Sponsored China Experts Set to Testify

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two GOP-sponsored experts on China get their turn at the rostrum today in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's wide-ranging examination of U.S. policy toward the Communist giant of Asia.

Former Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., a medical missionary in China for 10 years during 1920s and 1930s, and Dr. David N. Rowe of Yale, a native of China who lived there 17 years, were scheduled as witnesses as the committee resumed its hearings.

Judd and Rowe were booked at the request of Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, and other GOP members who complained the committee seemed to be hearing exclusively from university experts who had logged little or no time in mainland China. They wanted more witnesses with actual experience on the scene.

Of the nine previous witnesses, only two were natives of China and all but one—Retired Marine Brig. Gen. Samuel B. Griffith—were from the universities. Griffith, who has translated Mao Tse-tung's writings on Guerrilla warfare, served in China.

No Absentee Votes Cast In School Election

Abstentee balloting deadline for Saturday's Pampa Independent School District trustee election fell at 4:30 p.m. today.

Homer Craig, school business manager, said at noon today no absentee ballots had been cast up until that hour.

Dr. R. M. Hampton, seeking re-election to a three-year term, is the only candidate for the school board post.

The election is set for 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa Junior High School gymnasium, Browning and Cuyler Sts.

Airplane Makes Emergency Landing At Amarillo Field

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Piper Comanche light plane's landing gear collapsed on landing Sunday and the pilot was forced to pull the plane back up. Three hours later, it landed safely on a bed of foam at Amarillo Air Force Base.

Thomas J. Purser, 21; Paul Lance, 19; Wayne Crady, 24 and Gene Armstrong, 25, all of Jal, N.M. had rented the plane to attend drag races in Amarillo.

New Satellite May Open New Secrets of Universe

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The countdown gets underway today for the launch of a 3,900-pound star Gazer satellite that may unlock some of the secrets of the universe that have baffled men for centuries.

The Orbiting Astronomical Observatory (OAO), heaviest and most complex scientific satellite built by the United States, was scheduled to be shot into a 500-mile high orbit today by a 117-foot Atlas-Agena rocket.

Launch time was scheduled for 2:19 p.m. CST.

The shot will be followed Tuesday morning by the seventh test flight of the Atlas-Centaur that is being groomed to shoot a Project Surveyor lunar landing spacecraft to the moon in May. For Tuesday's launch, Centaur will propel a dummy surveyor toward an imaginary moon.

With its 10 telescopic eyes peering deep into space from a platform stationed 500 miles above the distorting effects of earth's atmosphere, the OAO is expected to observe celestial bodies never before seen.

Dr. Theodore Houck, a scientist at the University of Wisconsin said the thick layer of air blanketing the globe has the same obscuring effect to astronomical telescopes as a pair of yellow glasses would have to a person. "You would see reds and yellows, but the glasses would erase all greens, blue and violets."

"OAO takes the 'glasses' off the atmosphere," Houck said at a pre-launch briefing. "We expect to find things we never thought about."

Indonesia's New Government Free Of Red Backers

JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesia's new government today was free of President Sukarno's Communist oriented backers and under the firm control of anti-Communist military leaders.

Sukarno who announced the formation of a new 30-member cabinet Sunday retained his titles of president and prime minister but he was considered to have only a face-saving figurehead status.

The presence of two tough anti-Communist military leaders in the new government indicated that the 64-year-old Indonesian leader had given in to the demands of the military students who demonstrated during the last five weeks against Communist sympathizers in the government.

Army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto, 45, who arrested 15 leftist members of Sukarno's previous 100-member cabinet, including pro-Peking ex-Foreign Minister Subandrio, was appointed fifth deputy prime minister. He retained his post as army chief and continued to be responsible for the nation's defenses and security.

Former Defense Minister Gen. A. H. Nasution, 47, a tough anti-Communist, was named deputy commander of Indonesia's top national body of "Kogam," the "crush Malaysia command."

DR. BLISS AND HIS PATIENT

GOP Heading for Comeback in November

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A year ago Ray C. Bliss was picked to doctor up a national Republican party organization reeling from catastrophic defeat in the 1964 elections.

It was agreed his patient was among the walking wounded. Many doubted it would ever be whole. Some doubted it would even survive.

But Bliss had 16 years of service as Ohio Republican chairman behind him. He had faith—and he had a plan.

Today the patient looks healthier, and although the next diagnosis will not be available until November, predictions are the elections will show a rejuvenated party.

The selection of Bliss was a new experiment for the party. Except for one short-termer, he is the first fulltime professional to be named party national chairman.

Bliss was an appropriate choice for such a change since professionalism is his motto for success in building political strength.

He took office April 1, 1965, succeeding Dean Burch, who had been installed during the 1964 campaign by conservative Barry M. Goldwater, the presidential nominee.

Bliss was the first step toward rejuvenating the party, and it was hoped the fact that he was acceptable to all its segments would go far in healing the breaks of Republican factionalism.

A year later, Bliss feels that the GOP has indeed regained a measure of unity, that suspicion and hostility between factions is subsiding. He also believes his headquarters team has progressed toward rebuilding a party structure which he thought had been rotting away for years before the 1964 elections.

Having scraped bottom then, the Republican party appears to be on the comeback, although Bliss himself denies any political party can depend on an "automatic comeback" after defeat.

Bliss blames the decline of Republican strength in recent years in part on a tendency to treat politics on a part-time basis just in campaign years. His remedy has been a broad and continuing series of political workshops to train and advise party officials. The committee has sponsored scores of conferences for state and city chairmen, prospective campaign managers, research and public relations directors, and rank-and-file workers. He urges more on the state and local levels.

Spring-Like Weather Due To Hang On

Pampa's "goin' fishin'" weather will stick around through Wednesday, at least according to the Amarillo Weather Bureau.

The Tuesday and Wednesday forecasts call for fair to partly cloudy skies with temperatures in the mid-60's both days.

Tonight's low is expected to be in the mid-30s. Winds Tuesday will be southeasterly about 10-15 miles per hour.

Community Concert Member Drive Opens

One hundred and fifty volunteer workers today began final solicitation of memberships for the Pampa Community Concert Association's 1966-67 season.

The campaign for open memberships got off the ground at a workers' dinner last night in Coronado Inn at which George Blake, vice president and western manager for Columbia Artists, New York City, was the principal speaker.

Blake said there never has been a time when the country was so concert-conscious.

"There is a cultural boom on all across the nation," Blake said. "There is hardly a town over 10,000 population in the U.S. that doesn't have concerts."

Blake said Pampa was unusually fortunate in having already booked two of the top concert attractions in the world for the coming concert season. The concerts already contracted are Ruth Page's International Ballet and Mantovani and His Orchestra. Two more attractions will be selected at the conclusion of the current membership drive.

Campaign headquarters in the Southwestern Public Service Co. lobby, 315 N. Ballard, was busy this forenoon as the final drive got under way. The office is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily. The telephone number there is MO 5-5541.

Mrs. Mack Hiatt and Mrs. Ruth Riehart are co-chairmen of the membership campaign. Mrs. Tom Rose is membership secretary and Mrs. Kirk Duncan is headquarters secretary.

Mrs. M. McDaniel, concert association president, introduced the speaker at last night's dinner. Mrs. Hiatt gave final instructions to workers. The invocation was given by Aubrey Steele and Gary Stephens, Pampa High School student, entertained at the piano, playing the Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.

Concert association memberships are $10 for adults and $5 for students. The drive will continue this week until capacity of the Pampa Junior High Auditorium is filled.

Soviet Newspaper Warns Against One-Man Rule

MOSCOW (UPI)—A leading Soviet publication today started Moscow on the eve of the Communist party congress with a sober warning that another Stalin would rise to one-man rule in Russia.

An article in "Problems of Philosophy," a theoretical journal, admitted that during their 17-month reign, the post-Khrushchev "collective leadership" has not closed the loopholes through which a determined man could seize total power.

The unprecedented warning came as delegates—including leaders of Eastern Europe's Communist-ruled nations, headed here for Tuesday's opening of the 23rd Soviet party congress.

Party's delegations from North Viet Nam, North Korea, Hungary and other Communist states already had arrived. Leaders from Poland, Czechoslovakia and other nations were expected today.

New Italian Luxury Car Makes US Debut

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A famous name returned to the American automotive scene today with the unveiling of the first Duesenberg luxury car built since the mid-1930s.

The virtually hand-made prototype of what its manufacturer calls "a new standard of motoring excellence" was being shown to newsmen this morning in the ballroom of a downtown hotel. Other invitation-only previews were planned Tuesday and Wednesday. The first public showing will be Friday at a shopping center.

The long, sleek automobile was rolled into the hotel ballroom Sunday night and armed guards stood by during the night to keep the curious from getting an advance peek.

The Duesenberg goes on sale later this year at $19,500 and up—mostly low. The 1966 production run is expected to be 150 cars.

The prototype was assembled in Italy but later cars will be assembled at a plant now under construction here. A small force of workmen at the plant will put together the Chrysler-built engines and the bodies to be made by Ghia at Turin, Italy. They also will add the extras hand-crafted to each customer's specifications.

The base price for the four-door luxury sedan, the only model to be made at first, will be $19,500 but the extras will run the price higher. Later, the ultimate four-door convertible will have a price tag of $29,500 plus extras.

Even without the extras, the basic car will have innovations never before seen in a passenger car. It also will be the world's largest and heaviest production car with a wheelbase of 138 inches and an overall length of 243 inches and a weight of 8,000 pounds.

The innovations include an 18-gallon safety fuel cell in each rear fender. The cells, built by Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., are similar to those used in the 500-mile race here.

The entire interior of the car will have mahogany paneling and the instrument panel will resemble that of a commercial airliner, including an autopilot. This will enable a driver to maintain a designated speed on any kind of terrain.

Child Born To Nine-Year-Old

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—An African girl said to be only nine years old gave birth to a baby at a hospital 30 miles east of here, it was reported today.

The girl, who came from the nearby town of Brakpan, and the baby were reported well. The baby was delivered by Caesarian section.

A hospital official said "although there had been three authenticated cases of nine and eight-year-old mothers in Latin America and West Africa, this was the youngest known mother in South African history."

Radar Tracks New Sightings of UFOs

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI)—An airport control tower operator reported seeing a glowing, oblong object maneuvering high in the sky Sunday. He said it was tracked on radar.

Six Columbus policemen, and a control tower operator at Ft. Benning, Ga., also said they saw the strange object.

Boyle Palmer, an air traffic control operator at Muscogee County Airport, said he first spotted the greenish white, cigar shaped object at about 5:30 a.m., and that it was tracked on radar at Atlanta for over an hour. He estimated its height at about 5,000 feet.

Palmer said he had first thought the object was a star, "but you don't pick up stars on radar." He said he could still see it clearly after the sun came up—when stars normally disappear—but by that time it had shrunk to the size of a pin head and was moving south-east.

Columbus police detective G. H. Ferguson said he spotted the object after hearing radio reports about it. He described the glowing thing as wedge-shaped and said he saw it rising in the air. He reported it was much brighter and moved faster than a star. Ferguson said he observed the object until after 7 a.m.

Dear Abby...
 Off-On Bride Plans
 Shower for Profit

DEAR ABBY: I enjoy going to bridal showers. But not for a 44-year-old "bride" who has shed three husbands! I can't get out of going because of family obligations, but I feel certain that a woman who has been married off and on for 20 years doesn't need to be set up in housekeeping. I think showering a bride under these circumstances is in the worst possible taste. Who is to blame? The future sister-in-law who is putting on the shower? Or the bride who is permitting it?

"PICKLE FORK" DEAR PICKLE FORK: I'd say it's a joint venture. And between the two of them they hope to fill the joint with gifts.

DEAR ABBY: You keep stressing in your column not to judge too harshly the person who is caught stealing because he might be a kleptomaniac. That's real, sweet of you and all, Abby, but how can you tell if a person is a kleptomaniac or a common thief?

DEAR STUPID: Stupid Kleptomaniac is an illness, that's for a doctor to decide. But if a woman steals a pair of gloves, her size, that just happen to match her outfit, she's probably a common thief.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a reader of your column wrote in with the brilliant (?) idea that women who are looking for a man should wear some kind of special ring to indicate that they are available. And since there are so many widows and divorcees around today, some smart jeweler should design such a ring. Your reply was to the point. You said, "Any man who is interested in finding out if a woman is available, can and will." Being an eligible male, I can back up your 100 per cent.

But I would go a step further and say that if a woman is looking, she should leave all her rings home. Engagement and wedding rings that have been switched to the right hand can be confusing. And just the shift of them can discourage a man. Those "friendship" rings some women wear can mean anything

Avoid Too Much Sun Dermatologists urge less exposure to the sun. Those taking winter vacations in the South or Southwest or going skiing should take heed. Select tanning lotions with special sun-screening ingredients. These cut down on excessive tanning or burn and help check the aging threat of sun-dried skin.

Expect to see sandals in abundance this spring. The trend is toward every variation on the sandal set on a pancake heel for wear on city streets and in the suburbs. That pancake heel is also an indicator of something new afoot. Heels are getting lower and lower and the days of the three-inch are gone, the days of the flat, wide heel are fast upcoming.

Handsome Swimwear From Israel

IN THE SWIM — Israel boasts beautiful beaches and a sunny climate and so it is no surprise that this country also produces handsome swimwear. From the firm of Gottex in Tel Aviv come the black cotton lace one-piece suit (left) over pale shantung and gaily printed Helanca knit bikini (right) with scoop-necked, sleeveless top.

By HELEN HENNESSY Women's Editor
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 TEL AVIV (NEA) — It is difficult to think of this land of sun, citrus groves, blue sea and desert in terms of silk, mohair, Dacron, Acrilan and handsome fashions.

But the recent second annual Israel Fashion Week held here in Tel Aviv proved that the land of milk and honey is fast emerging as an important export fashion center. Nearly 400 buyers from 14 nations attended the event, led by a delegation of 75 from leading American stores.

The fashions ran the gamut—formals and furs, rainwear, knitwear, leather and beachwear—all beautifully cut, sewn and designed. There is news in Israeli fashions, but it can't be covered in one fell swoop.

Beachwear seems a good place to start. It's so natural a product to originate in this country, where the Mediterranean sparkles and the sun shines.

There are all kinds of clever wrap-ups, multiple beach suits and bikinis. But the best looking beachwear I've seen in a long time is the handwork of Lea Goldberg, a woman who came to Israel 16 years ago and today, with her husband, is co-owner and designer for the Gottex firm, fast becoming a name to be reckoned with in swimwear.

Her color range and combinations of fabrics are almost as varied as her designs. Smocking, pleats, ruffles and crocheted touches add eye-catching appeal to even the simplest suits.

And speaking of eye-appeal the cut and fit of her bikinis make others I've seen look like school uniforms.

There were exciting a r o n g skirts and pants and halter teams as well in gay, colorful cotton prints.

As an aside, so you'll know what is being worn across the Atlantic this season in the sun, Mrs. Goldberg reports that pink and turquoise are color favorites for swimwear in Europe. The United States favors white.

There is much more to report about other types of fashion hailing from Israel. But with summer approaching it seemed best to begin at the beach.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
 Thursday morning several "Girl Scouters" met in Jackson's Cafeteria to hear guest speaker Brack Biggers from Berger, so see the film "Journey Into Friendship" and to receive their pins for active years spent in Girl Scouting. Biggers spoke of the importance of the volunteer worker in Girl Scouts. Eligible for a 35-year pin was Mrs. John Brewer: Mrs. D. B. Jamison, 20-year pin and Mrs. Fred Neslage, 15-year pin. The 10-year pins were awarded to Mmes. Dick Stowers, John Holt Jr., N.G. Kadingo and Eugene Turner. Eligible for 5-year pins were Mmes. R. W. Karr, E. A. McClellan, James Crouch, O. C. Cox Jr., Archie Maness, J. P. Brumley, Raymond Lacy, J. C. and H. J. Homer, all of Pampa. Receiving 5-year pins from Miami were Mmes. Cecil Smyth, Wallace Ehman and Troy Hopkins.

Junior Troop 54 with Mrs. Raymond Laycock and Mrs. Jackson Black have been busy. Last weekend found them at Camp Mel Davis and then home again to work on the name tag of the Leader Appreciation event. The name tags consisted of a green circle with an outlined yellow trefoil glued to it. Very appropriate for the occasion, with time and effort of the members of Troop 54 making these available.

Betty and Ruth Felter, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Felter, were on the Altusa program presented last Saturday morning over a local radio station. These girls are both in Girl Scouts.

More promise in action projects will be brought to you next week. Has your troop finished their's recently? Most troops are talking camping now and there are not too many troop meetings before the end of the school year.

Collisions Send State Death Toll Soaring

United Press International
Steadily mounting highway collisions sent Texas' weekend violent death toll to its highest point in weeks.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday showed at least 37 violent deaths, including 25 traffic fatalities.

One accident killed three persons and two others were double fatalities.

School, Drive-In Hit by Burglars

Pampa police were investigating burglaries this morning at the Top O' Texas Drive-In Theatre and Horace Mann Elementary School.

Arville Hayes, manager of the theatre, told police that between midnight Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday someone had entered the concession stand at the theatre.

Entry was gained by kicking in the door and $17.60 was taken from a can.

Irvie Smith, custodian at the school, reported the school burglary. Police said entry was gained by kicking open the door to the cafeteria.

Several pounds of ground meat were taken.

The article in the theoretical publication added a somber note to today's activities with the observation that despite the de-Stalinization efforts, the former dictator's reign could return to haunt the Soviet Union.

"In the conditions of the application of socialism," it said, "there exists the possibility that, while taking part in collective work, definite personalities may pursue aims which are their own or which are aims of a faction."

"Moved by ambition, they can have personal aims and cause harm to the common cause, particularly if those personalities have leading positions," it said.

It urged reforms designed to prevent the repetition of past mistakes, a reference to the Stalin era.

California Man Discovers Way to Hold False Teeth

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — A new discovery called Acryline is big news. Users say it fits plates so beautifully they can't believe it. Acryline uses a startling new vacuum principle. It flows on plates and forms an air tight seal. Users say this feels akin to natural teeth. This wonderful feeling lasts six months before a new application is necessary. Acryline is available at Gibson Stores.

AN INVESTMENT IN NATURE—Our National Forest System covers 186 million acres, an area as large as France and Great Britain combined. The portion of the 154 national forests and 19 national grasslands located in the 48 contiguous states are shown on the above map. There are other areas in Alaska. Last year, the system observed its 60th anniversary. Job Corps Conservation Centers are located in these forests. Among the benefits obtained by our country from the preserves are watershed management, managed timber production, livestock forage, wildlife habitats, recreation and the preservation of natural beauty.

PHS Newspaper Receive Award

Pampa High School's newspaper, The Little Harvester, won the school, its sponsor, Elizabeth Hurley, editor Jane Hiatt, and its staff more honors Saturday at the Interscholastic League Press Association convention in Austin.

The Little Harvester was given the 'Award of Distinguished Merit' in Division Five, which includes approximately 50 other school papers.

Saturday members of the Little Harvester will attend the Panhandle Press Association meeting in Canyon.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most signing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynar) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 220. At all drug counters.

Houston Police Hunting Sledge Hammer Killer

HOUSTON (UPI) — Police sought today a thin, sandy haired man who carried a tin suitcase and insisted on room 11 in the sledge hammer slaying of the manager, Mrs. Essie Scott Barr, 36.

Mrs. Scott's body was found sprawled across a bed in her apartment at the hotel Sunday. Her head had been crushed with a three-pound sledge hammer that lay on the bed.

Someone—police suspect it was the murderer—ripped several pages from the hotel register book. The missing pages were the part where the missing man's name should have been.

A 71-year-old guest at the hotel whom police would not identify said the man left the hotel late Saturday. She said he checked in and out of the place several times in the past week.

Police said they understood the missing man first was given another room but kept insisting he wanted room No. 11. He finally got it. Room 11 is next to Mrs. Scott's apartment. Police said the adjoining door had been unlocked from Mrs. Scott's side.

Police found the body after getting a call from another guest, James R. Gray.

Gray said he tried to rouse Mrs. Scott and when he failed, called police.

Mrs. Scott's room had been ransacked and $124 stolen from the hotel cash register. The victim's husband was at sea.

McLean Holds Baptist Banquet

McLEAN (SpI) — "Faith in Victory" was the theme Saturday night at the Baptist banquet held in the First Baptist Church.

Approximately 75 persons heard Rev. Leon M. Hill, minister from Amarillo, deliver an address on "Faith in God and what it means."

Jay Thompson, manager of Southwest Public Service in McLean, acted as master of ceremonies and Herb Gurmer, band director, crowned the King and Queen of the banquet.

Joe Redwine was crowned King and Pam Bailey was crowned Queen.

Pampans to Visit Oklahoma State Tech Institute

A delegation of Pampa businessmen will be in Okmulgee, Okla. tomorrow visiting the Oklahoma State Technical Institute, a vocational training center. Making the trip will be Gene Green, president of the Pampa Industrial Foundation, Norman C. Henry, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Jack Edmondson, superintendent of schools, Joe Reid, member of the Pampa School Board, and Frank Culberson, chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The group will be looking for information which might be helpful in trying to provide a vocational training school for the Pampa area, an idea that has been discussed here for some time.

The Okmulgee school has an annual enrollment of approximately 2300 students and specializes in the vocational arts.

The group will leave at 8:30 in the morning by plane and is expected to return tomorrow afternoon. The Education Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7 a.m. tomorrow in the Chamber of Commerce offices, with W. A. Morgan, chairman, presiding.

The purpose of the meeting will be to hear a proposal from M. T. Klein, of the Small Business Administration, relative to conducting a management clinic in Pampa for the benefit of small business management.

THREE BODIES FOUND

CARLETONVILLE, South Africa (UPI) — Three more bodies were recovered Sunday from the 3,200 foot level of the West Driefontein Mine here, bringing to four the known number of dead in Friday's pressure blast. Seven other miners are still missing and feared dead. All 11 trapped by the blast were Africans.

TW's Haskins Cast From Hank Iba Mold

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.
COLLEGE PARK, Md. — (NEA) — Defensive perfection was such a major part of Hank Iba's game at Oklahoma State that one evening after his team had given up three baskets on the fast break, the coach decided his players needed a chalk talk to review fundamentals.

tired to listen after that particular game.
"So," Haskins said, "I dozed off during the chalk talk and the next thing I know, I get hit with an eraser right between the eyes."
"I hope I didn't miss too much because if we're ever going to win this tournament, we better know how to stop the fast break."
Haskins is the coach at Texas Western, and he told the story the day before his team stopped Kentucky (72-65) and its highly regarded fast break to win the 1965-66 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship.

Defense won for Texas Western, a calm, poised and supremely confident team that finished the season with a 28-1 record.
After beating Utah, 85-78, in the semifinal game, Haskins was extremely upset with his team's defensive performance.

"We haven't had a good defensive game the last seven or eight times we've played," Haskins said, "but . . . we've been getting away with it."
"We've been going so well offensively lately that maybe we have been relaxing on defense."
Somehow, in the 24 hours between the semifinal and championship games, Texas Western rediscovered its defense.
"I gave it to them after the Utah game," the 35-year-old

Haskins said. "I guarantee I wasn't too complimentary to them. You would never be able to write what I said."
From the beginning, Texas Western, which seemed to be the slight favorite among the coaches present, pressured the Wildcats every time they handled the ball.
"Their overplays were exceptional," said West Virginia coach Bucky Waters, "and the pressure they exerted on such a fine ball-handling team was amazing. They forced Kentucky into a poor shooting night (38 percent), and they did it without getting in foul trouble."

"I think Willie Cager turned in the key job on Pat Riley, especially in the second half."
While the defense was unrelenting in its pressure, a 5-10 guard, Bobby Hill, was leading Texas Western's offense with 20 points. He also contributed some key steals which turned into important baskets.
"Hill caused Kentucky's zone tremendous problems," Waters said. "They were splitting it perfectly with drives instead of relying on the outside shot."

Oddly, after the game, Texas Western was exceptionally subdued for a team that had just won the national championship.
Hill had the perfect summation:
"We surprised everyone else more than we surprised ourselves."
"You know it hurts a little when not too many people give you a chance. And that's the way it seemed after the Utah game."

Texas Western has an exceptional basketball team whose key members were recruited from the metropolitan areas of the East, Midwest and Southwest.
It is basically a seven-man team, and it is so well-balanced that Hill, the leading scorer, averaged just 14.7 points per game.
Hill is a junior from Detroit and plays the backcourt with soph Willie Worsley of New York and senior Orstein Artis of Gary, Ind. The strongest starter is 6-6, 240-pound David Lattin of Houston, Tex., who is only a sophomore. But senior Harry Flournoy (6-5), another import from Gary, Ind., beat Lattin for the team rebounding leadership.
Cager, who didn't play high school ball in New York because he worked to help his family, is only a sophomore. Nevil Shed, a 6-8 junior, is the other New Yorker.
"When we were in high school," Worsley said, "the three of us played together in games up at P. S. 120 in the Bronx. I went to a different school but Cager and Shed went to the same one."
The togetherness seems to have helped because in the championship game against the Wildcats it was a tremendously synchronized effort that eventually won for the Miners.
Over on the Kentucky side, it was a grim scene. There were tears. There was silence. This was a team, like Texas Western, which was expected to be watching the finals on television.
It was a team with no starter taller than 6-5 which depended on discipline and aggressiveness all year.
It also was a team which depended on a 64-year-old man named Adolph Rupp who was trying for his fifth national championship. They will tell stories and write books about this man long after he retires—stories about his vanity, his unwavering discipline, and the way it all faded this year with this team.

Pampa, Bulldogs Renew 'Series' Today

Pampa and Borger baseballers renewed their season "series" today at 4 p.m. in Borger. This was to be the fifth meeting between the two clubs this year and thus far they have battled to a 2-2 standoff.
Pampa won the first contest, 15-7, lost the second, 9-3, won the third, 11-10 and lost to the Bulldogs last week, 3-2.
The Harvesters broke a three game losing streak Saturday when Bud Hammons tossed a five-inning no-hitter at Nazareth.
Dickie Henley (1-0), Jim Lang (0-2) or Roy Harper (1-2) will be on the hill for Pampa.
The game was changed from Tuesday to today due to the Harvesters basketball banquet Tuesday night.
Borger is 4-2 for the season, having beaten Pampa twice and two Oklahoma teams over the weekend.

Friday Borger pounced on Gould, Okla., 5-2 and pitched a no-hitter against Granite, Okla. Saturday, 6-0.
Pampa played by far its best game Saturday, playing flawless ball in the infield, a place they had been hurting in most of their games.
Roy Harper actually saved Bud Hammons no-hitter when he made a diving catch of a sinking line drive in the fourth inning that had "hit" written all over it.
Coach Bobby Stephens indicated Saturday night that he would probably start with Alvin Achord leading off and playing third base; Larry Jones batting second and playing first base; Gary Molberg, hitting third and playing shortstop; Catcher Corky Dodd hitting in the fourth spot; Harper, hitting fifth and playing left-field; Larry Stephens, hitting sixth and playing center; Jimmy Moore playing second and hitting seventh; and Price playing right field and hitting eighth.

Golfers, Track Squads Journey To Amarillo Relays
Friday and Saturday will be "sports" day in Amarillo with schools from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico moving in to the city for a golf tournament and track meet.
Pampa's golfers will take time off, as will other 3-4A schools, from district competition for the annual Amarillo relays.
The Harvester thinclads will have a chance to see just what their chances are when district track meet time rolls around, when they participate in the track meet.
Most of the 3-4A schools are entered in the track affair.
Last week Pampa finished third in a 50-50 field at Perryton.
Three other 3-4A schools were at the Ranger meet, Borger, Caprock and Plainview.
Caprock won the meet with Borger second. Plainview was way down the list.
Also Saturday Pampa golfers had their worst day yet in the district golf round and fell to fourth place, behind Borger, Monterey and Tascosa.
Richard Ellis, George Snell, Ricky Roach and Tom Rose or Thomas Warren will represent Pampa at Amarillo.

REVOLT STILL GOING

Royals Shoot Down Boston

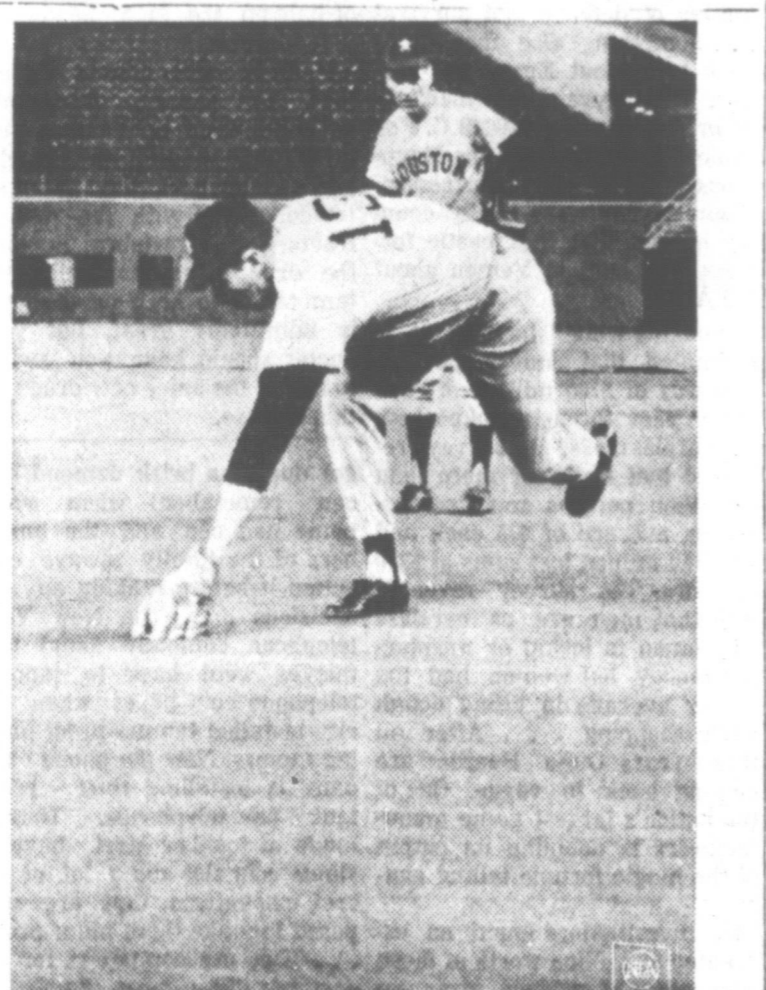

BOSTON (UPI) —Happy Hairston, hobbled by injuries less than one week ago, is the new hero in the latest palace revolt against the long National Basketball Association reign of the Boston Celtics.
Hairston, a second-year man from New York University, and the rest of Cincinnati's Cinderella Royals shot down the eight-time champion Celtics in convincing fashion, 113-107.

Sunda, to take a two to one lead in the playoff series.
What's more, the brash Mr. Hairston thinks the Royals can complete destruction of the championship domination the Celtics first established in 1956-57.
Sunday's Boston game, witnessed by a Garden crowd of 13,531 and a national television audience, was more of a foul-shooting contest than anything else.

Tickets Still On Sale for Banquet

Tickets are still available for the Pampa Harvester basketball banquet, slated at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the High School cafeteria.
Ducats are on sale for $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students at the school business office, located at Pampa Junior High and at the school Co-op, located at the high school.
Abe Lemons, basketball coach at Oklahoma City University, and one of the winningest coaches in the country is guest speaker.
Harvester coach Terry Culley will present the "Fighting Harvester" award and introduce the Harvester varsity. Coach Gary Griffith will introduce the Pampa Schockers.
Another feature of the banquet is the crowning of the basketball queen.

HE HASN'T MELLOWED

Stanky's Sox Winning

By United Press International
Eddie Stanky thinks his nickname "The Brat" may be a bit inappropriate for a 48-year-old grandfather.
He may finally be right, too.
The brash firebrand who was so controversial during his stormy stint as St. Louis Cardinal manager in the early '50s, Stanky hates the word "mellowed"—but he's obviously changed a bit during his 10-year absence from the major league managing ranks.
Stepping into baseball's most challenging job, replacing patient, quiet Al Lopez as Chicago White Sox manager, Stanky has been very uncontroversial this spring.
In fact, he's been very dull and monotonous —his White Sox just keep winning and winning and winning. They clicked off their ninth straight Sunday, a 7-1 clobbering of the Detroit Tigers that boosted the Sox spring mark to 15-2, the best in the majors.
The Sox pounded out 14 hits against the Tigers, including a three-run homer by Jim Hicks and Joel Horlen, Dennis Higgins and Eddie Fisher combined to pitch a six-hitter. Jim Northrup homered for the Tigers who are 11-5.

New York's Amazin' Mets boosted their record to 9-5 and 8-1 against National League teams by edging the Philadelphia Phils, 5-4, in 12 innings. Choo Choo Coleman singled in the winning run after the Phils' John Herrstein hit a solo homer in the ninth inning to send the game into extra innings.
The Californian Angels exploded for four runs in the 11th inning to whip the Cleveland Indians, 11-8.
The Atlanta Braves turned in their first victory in their new Atlanta home by edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 and Clete Boyer singled in the winning run in the 15th inning to give the New York Yankees a 7-6 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.
Charley Smith, obtained from the Mets in the Ken Boyer deal, kept his spring average at .400 by hitting a two-run fourth inning homer to give the Cardinals a 4-3 victory over Houston.

Ron Santo and rookie Byron Browne homered to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.
Bob Bailey and Jose Pagan hit back-to-back doubles in the sixth inning to snap a 3-3 tie and hand the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 triumph over Baltimore.

Pressure Putt Wins For Sanders in Jacksonville

ATLANTIC BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —Doug Sanders won the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Sunday with a dazzling 14-foot pressure putt on the 18th hole but Jack Nicklaus stole the show on the same green with a seldom seen double eagle.
Sanders' final round 71 over the Selva Marina course gave him a 15 under par 273 and his second tournament victory this season. It was good for $13,500. Gary Brewer was a stroke back and collected $7,200.
Gary Player, the defending U.S. Open champ, was third with a 70-277. Frank Beard and Tommy Bolt were tied at fourth with 278s and Tony Lema and Bert Weaver shared fifth at 279.
But it was the spectacular double eagle by Nicklaus on the 18th hole that people will be talking about for years to come.

A double eagle —two on a par five hole —is the rarest event in golf. By comparison, holes in one are a dime a dozen.
The 26-year-old Nicklaus performed the feat in full view of thousands of persons surrounding the green and by happy coincidence it was recorded on television film shown to millions more later in the day.
The beefy slugger from Columbus, Ohio nailed a beautiful drive of some 285 yards on the 492-yard hole. He selected a four iron for his second shot and socked it straight for the pin.
The oohs and ahs as the ball zeroed in on the green changed to gasps as it rolled up the hole. A roar went up when the crowd realized he made it.

AMERICANS ADVANCE

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., has reached the second round of the Caribe Hilton tennis tournament.
Ashe, who routed Ramon Almonte of Puerto Rico 6-2, 6-1, was joined by fellow Americans Vic Seixas and Ron Holmberg, each of whom won its first round match against Puerto Rican opponents.

Clay Lopsided Favorite To Win

TORONTO (UPI) —Cassius Clay's physical and mental condition today became the giant question marks hanging over the heavyweight champion's Tuesday night title defense against roughhouse George Chuvalo.
Although still a lopsided 7-1 favorite, the 24-year-old Clay and manager-trainer Angelo Dundee admitted that the champion will enter the ring at the heaviest weight of his career and also showed concern over whether the 28-year-old Canadian challenger might try to "steal" the title with dirty tactics.
In addition, Clay launched into a 40-minute oration in which he claimed "a few sports writers and politicians" were responsible for the bad publicity surrounding the storm tossed promotion. The original match between Clay and World Boxing Association champion Ernie Terrell was viewed as a $5 million bout but insiders now talk hopefully of a $150,000 gate at Maple Leaf Gardens and perhaps $750,000 from the ancillary rights.
Clay revealed Sunday that he weighs 218 pounds compared to the 208 he had planned to make and the 206 which he weighed when he KO'd Sonny Liston in a one-minute fiasco at Lewiston, Me., last May 25. And Dundee conceded that Clay might weigh anywhere between 210 and 2215.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

An Insurance Tip

It is risky to make predictions, but occasionally one can see coming events casting shadows and call the turn on a sure thing.

Today's soothsaying concerns insurance. Already the federal government is knee-deep in various kinds of underwriting but one of these days there is likely to be a vast expansion, unless the insurance companies take steps to forestall this action.

Uncle Sam's first big venture as an insurance man was when he established the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to insure savings accounts. This paid handsome political dividends by portraying the administration as the protector of "the little man." Next Uncle Sam opened another kind of insurance office, dealing in pensions called Social Security. Many experts have criticized this as fiscally unsound, and have said that if a commercial company operated like Uncle Sam in this field its officers would wind up behind bars. However, Uncle's pension setup will doubtless continue, and heaven help the politician who tries to point out its shortcomings. Finally, and as a logical follow-up to Social Security, Uncle Sam is now offering Medicare, born in political labor and already a proved vote-getter.

Next, Washington will start peddling insurance protection to those who suffer from the kind of damage done by rabble when aroused by trained rabblers. The types whose handicraft marked the razing of Watts, a section of Harlem and a few blocks of Rochester.

Insurance companies, understandably, don't like to pay out millions because of the wanton acts of criminals and Communists. And this may cause insurance companies to make a strategic error, get out of this kind of underwriting and turn it over to Uncle Sam. Politicians, you may be sure, would welcome the prospect of new millions to play with, to make good the damage done by rioters.

We suggest a different course for insurance executives. Instead of waiting to be forced out of business by the rabble and their political handmaidens, they should take forceful action now. We suggest a hard-hitting educational campaign, to remind decent Americans of the dangers of mobocracy, and to call for necessary corrective steps. Since politicians don't show much interest in true responsibility, the field is wide open for private enterprise to promote it. It sounds like good insurance to us.

The Head Whiz Kid

Many people are convinced that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is a virtual human computer, at least the equal of those complex electronic brains operated by the Secretary's crew of Whiz Kids. A quick scanning of all the facts, and figures, and our Secretary is fully programmed. In short order out came the answers, strongly tinged with infallibility.

It's said in Washington that this performance is a never-ending source of amazement to President Johnson. But then it's a source of wonder to anyone who records what the Secretary says — and later on looks at the record for example.

In September 1963, the Secretary reported that the South Vietnamese position was getting "better and better." Certain military goals, he said, would be "reached relatively shortly."

A month later, the Secretary declared that most U. S. troops would be home by Christmas, 1965.

In March 1964, on TV, Secretary McNamara said: "The training personnel we have assigned there will come back as soon as their training mission is completed. Perhaps some can return later this year, some next."

A few weeks later the Secretary made another estimate of the situation and pointed out that the unpleasantness in Vietnam was not a war, and that Americans who were being killed there were not soldiers but advisers and instructors. However, he said that progress was being made against the Viet Cong.

Answering charges that beat-up, propeller-driven B-26's and T-28's were falling apart in Vietnam, the Secretary's Defense Department told Congress the planes were perfectly all right. Subsequently there was some backtracking on this as fighter-bombers were grounded and jets placed in service.

Only last May the Secretary announced it would take $700 million a year to fight the war in Vietnam. But possibly because of inflation, a few months later Johnson has called for an additional appropriation of $13 billion.

However, things are said to be improving. Just before Christmas the Secretary said that the U.S. had stopped losing the war in Vietnam.

Now we are really worried.

Deduct 75 Per Cent

It has long been suspected that the reason nature provided people with two ears was so that what went in one could readily find its way out the other. Now there are statistics to back up this suspicion.

According to Mr. C. Howard Watts, a consultant in management communications: "Untrained listeners hear only about 25 per cent of what they're listening to."

In other words, we retain about every fourth word or every fourth thought that impinges on the ear. This would seem to suggest that the human cranium contains some sort of matter acting as an impediment to the transmission of sound across the void.

One might expect college students to possess a greater amount of this sound-absorbing substance than the general population. However, Watts cites a study which showed that college students listened to a 10-minute talk with only a 25 per cent efficiency, the same as the rest of us.

This, of course, might simply be because young people of college age already know just about everything, so it is understandable that they consider three-fourths of what they hear not worth listening to.

Watts also says that the average person spends 9 per cent of his time writing, 16 per cent reading, 30 per cent talking and 45 per cent listening.

It's this average of listening time as against talking time that is intriguing. We've often used our 45 per cent of listening time, but never yet have we met anyone who had run out of his 30 per cent of talking time, leaving us with 15 per cent of pure, golden silence.

But we're hoping.

CAPITOL EYE

Kennedy Grip Firm With Bob and Ted

By BRUCE BLOSSAT Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The notion never quite dies that Senators Robert F. and Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy of New York and Massachusetts have a fairly sturdy "political establishment" around the nation, with great potential for 1972 and beyond.

If the idea is meant to convey the existence of some sort of well-knit structure, holding the formal allegiance of many political professionals and receiving the constant care of the two Kennedys, it is wholly fanciful.

The brothers themselves flatly say nothing of this sort exists. A veteran Kennedy man, known for tough judgments, says: "There is nothing—not so much as a card-index file of names." A handful of knowledgeable Democratic governors tapped recently in interviews agree.

This does not mean that the U. S. map is not heavily sprinkled with Kennedy friends, mostly loyal carry-overs from the high days of the late John F. Kennedy's campaign and presidency.

Their names are household words in the Kennedy entourage — Patrick Lucey, lieutenant governor now trying for governor of Wisconsin; Robert McDonough, former state party chairman in West Virginia; Jesse Unruh of California; William Dunphy of New Hampshire.

These and others still check in fairly regularly with Bob and Ted. But they make no common plans and talk no "Kennedy strategy."

The list of Kennedy loyalists in formal party positions across the country is greatly diminished. The cause, observes Ted Kennedy, is the inevitable heavy turnover in the roster of state chairmen and national committeemen. A canvass of the current register shows less than a score who are properly describable as Kennedy men.

All aside from the question of professional political support, the "Kennedy phenomenon" — the great reservoir of attachment built by the late President — is still very much a fact of life. The governors whose views were sought all say that this well is as deep and full-flowing as ever.

Unquestionably, it is fed by the seemingly inescapable public attention that attends every observable word and move of the two Kennedys.

When, on a rare occasion, they walk together down a Capitol Hill corridor, no show in town can beat it. Even the most seasoned secretaries cannot resist turning their heads to watch. Receptionists in Bob Kennedy's office are poised for those frequent moments when the outer door is suddenly flung open and a cluster of teen-agers hollers: "Can we see the senator?" They will be able to vote when it counts.

There is no reason to doubt that the Kennedys consciously strive to chart for themselves an issue-course which will give them clear identity and thus separate them, in some measure, from the Johnson administration.

It would be wrong to conclude, however, that the two young men are calculating their every action and utterance with their eyes strained to gauge its likely political effect in 1968, 1972 or later. Says Bob Kennedy:

"If I tried to do that, I'd destroy myself as a senator. I'd be a basket case in three months. It would be completely unnatural."

It is his judgment, and Ted's, that higher ambitions—whatever they may be—are not well-served by plotting for their fulfillment at the cost of concentration on the job at hand.

Unless some unforeseen heavy shadow should darken their careers, they could not destroy the Kennedy mystique if they wanted to. As they live with it, they know it represents future promise but also great burden. They are at once its prisoners and its symbols. No early escape from either status seems likely.

Commerce Dept. Ok's Strategic Exports to Russia and Poland 'Scores' of Times Since Oct. 1; Claims Nonstrategic

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is good reason the Johnson administration is pussy-footing on ex-coriating that shocking Paris-Bonn deal to build a $150 million steel complex for Red China.

The administration is doing pretty much the same sort of thing.

This column has obtained lists of scores of unannounced export licenses issued by the Commerce Department from October 1, 1965 to March 3, 1966 authorizing the sale to Russia and Poland of a wide range of machinery, equipment, materials, supplies and technical data — with distinct strategic potentialities.

Graphically illustrative are the following:

Boron isotopes, a vital element in the production of heat-resistant metals for supersonic planes and spacecraft; airborne communications and navigation equipment and parts for Aero-Flot, the Soviet's rapidly expanding global airline; technical data for the design and operation of a sulphuric acid plant; numerous unnamed chemical compounds; nylon and rayon tire cord.

Commerce Department officials maintain these exports do not fall directly in a strategic category. Also that the sums involved are not high.

This is whitewashing rationalization.

Most of the items on these export lists have definite military import. Virtually everything the Communists buy abroad has a military connotation. That's the primary motivation behind these purchases. They are to strengthen and expand the Red economy, whose basic purpose is waging war.

Also, while the over-all value of these sales is not huge, some of the items run into millions of dollars and a number into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Both strategically and financially, this trade is not of minor moment.

REVEALING DETAILS — Following are significant items on these backstage lists of U.S. exports to the Communists:

Sales to Poland: Industrial instruments for use in laboratory analyses for production of plastics; technical data for phosphoric acid evaporators; signal generators and parts; navigational equipment for airport; rotary drill and parts; technical data for the design, erection and operation of electrostatic precipitator; rubber antiozonant.

Technical data for the production of automobile and truck bodies; synthetic resins; technical data for the design and erection of butadiene plants; wire mill rolls; industrial chemicals for manufacture of synthetic resins; precision test receiving system and parts; technical data for construction and operation of ethylene oxide glycol plant; testing instruments for tension of compression; electrical testing instruments.

To Russia: Synthetic rubber for manufacture of rubber products; unspecified chemical compound; photographic equipment; industrial chemicals for manufacture of solvents for use in textiles and leather industries; chemical wood pulp for manufacture of tire cord; temperature control instruments and parts for use in sugar plant; pulverizing machinery parts; technical data for production of sodium cyanide; technical data for the erection, operation and maintenance of a coil build-up line for hot rolled steel strip.

Beet harvester; field cultivators; double-action disk harrows; row crop tractors; industrial instruments for scientific research; hydraulic fluid power pumps; technical data on method of applying glass lubricant to steel bars prior to hot extrusion; filtering machines for liquids, air and gases; technical data for erection and operation of ammonium sulfate crystallizer; transmitters and receivers for facsimile transmission; plain cylindrical grinding machine for metal working plant; technical data for synthetic resin plant; transformers; technical data for waste gas disposal units; tungsten carbide rock bits for geological drilling.

MILITARY EQUIPMENT LOOPHOLE — Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, chairman of the Foreign Aid Expenditures Subcommittee, is still waiting for a reply to his demand on Defense Secretary McNamara for an immediate worldwide freeze on the disposal of surplus military property urgently needed in the Viet Nam fighting.

Since calling on McNamara for such action several weeks ago, Gruening has received an advertisement in a San Francisco newspaper announcing a public auction of "military aircraft components, parts and accessories."

Among the listed items are engines, communications equipment, prop shafts, a wide variety of aircraft instruments, trucks and trailers.

In a telegram to McNamara, Gruening stated "preliminary reports from subcommittee investigators studying government surplus property disposal practices at home and abroad indicate huge quantities of generators and engine and materials handling equipment is being disposed of as surplus. I personally observed these conditions in Italy, Germany and France."

"Urge immediate worldwide freeze on all items needed in Viet Nam which have been declared excess or surplus to needs of Department of Defense. Also suggest that you recover from AID (foreign aid agency) all items now held which are needed in Viet Nam."

As reported by this column early this month, directly as a result of probing by Gruening's subcommittee, U. S. forces in Viet Nam are getting much-needed portable gas engine generators which had been scheduled to be sold as surplus.

Many merchants have installed convex reflectors as aids in their never-ceasing war against shoplifters. They provide a 160-degree panoramic vision of store areas previously hidden from view. Every blind aisle, every hidden corner is thus protected against pilfering. A shoplifter, seeking privacy to secrete the merchandise to be stolen, can cook up and see his image on these trick mirrors and immediately will realize that someone else may be watching, too. To date this silent watchman has prevented the loss of millions of dollars worth of merchandise in stores from coast to coast.

Fencing is one of the oldest sports in the world. The ancient Egyptians held regular fencing matches as far back as the 12th century B.C. However, modern fencing came into popularity in the middle 1800's in England when dueling was prohibited. Before that the art of swordsmanship was not a sport, but a matter of defense and survival.

Something else that dates back to ancient Egypt are castles. They were first mentioned in history about 3000 B.C. For some unknown reason the Egyptians didn't build fortresses. Their castles were really country houses. The first castle fortress was built in Yemen about 100 A.D.

Thoughts while shaving: It is estimated that Americans lose upwards of $700 million in cash every year through pickpockets or carelessness. A survey revealed that last year more than 9 million persons reported losing an average of $75 each and another million lost sums of $200 or more. The survey revealed also that men are as careless as women in losing or misplacing money, but women had the higher average in losing dough while shopping.

After all these years Ouija Boards are coming back in vogue. One of the nation's largest game manufacturers is doubling its output of the magic fortune telling gadget due to a brisk demand. We can remember when every home had one and the members of the family always consulted it before making any big decisions.

The New York telephone company found that thieves went back to tapping telephone coin boxes when the city installed tamper-proof parking meters. Now the phone company is installing thief-resistant pay telephones. EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

What's Government Asking, Monopoly or Competition?

By KIRK WELS Business Editor

I wish someone who believes in the value of governmental controls and regulation would explain to me my error in thinking that two news items of the past 48 hours exhibit little more than the constant contradictions of government.

I would like to assume that members of the Federal Trade Commission and members of the Civil Aeronautics Board are comparatively intelligent people, who could be termed ignorant only in those areas which they have not studied enough.

The problem, of course, is that such ignorance in men of authority is paid for ultimately by John Q. Public after created costs are shifted down to him.

The first item was one about the Federal Trade Commission which ordered the National Tea Co. not to buy any retail food stores in the next 10 years without prior FTC approval. The majority opinion was based on a Supreme Court decision that tendencies toward concentration... are to be curbed" and on the purported fact that "if the 1954-58 trend toward concentration in the food industry continues, by about 1984 the 20 largest chains would be doing 84 per cent of the country's retail business."

The second item, was an announcement by Braniff International and Pan American World Airways that they have reached agreement which will give Braniff ownership of Pan American-Grace Airways, Inc. (Panagra) for $30 million—$15 million to Pan Am and $15 million to W. R. Grace & Co.

Braniff will ask the CAB to approve a merger or consolidation of Braniff and Panagra when the CAB approves the purchase contracts.

"We regard the terms and conditions of the... (contracts) ... as a great step forward in accomplishing the CAB'S STATED OBJECTIVE OF REDUCING FROM THREE TO TWO THE NUMBER OF U.S. FLAG CARRIERS PERMANENTLY CERTIFICATED TO SERVE THE CANAL ZONE PANAMA AND POINTS IN SOUTH AMERICA south of the north coast of that continent," Harding L. Lawrence, Braniff president.

It seems to me that one government bureau is saying that competition between 20 chains and multiple independent grocery stores is too monopolistic the public would suffer, but three airlines is too much competition.

Is that what they're trying to say? Isn't that rather like the right hand not knowing what the left is doing, or deciding that the left hand doesn't know what it is doing?

Wouldn't a free market... with people's dollars deciding what they want... provide a better answer in each instance?

Q—What are the dangers from asking cortisone for arthritis? It is the only drug that will keep me going.

A—Cortisone is fine for reducing acute inflammatory conditions, but it should not be taken for a chronic disease such as arthritis unless you take it only one week in each month. Persons with a definite adrenal deficiency can take small doses indefinitely, but for inflammatory conditions larger doses are given. Large doses taken for a prolonged period may cause acne, thinning of the skin, growth of hair on the face, headaches and dizziness.

If these side effects do not lead to prompt discontinuance the drug may cause peptic ulcers, wasting of muscles and softening of the bones (osteoporosis) with the risk of fracture of a vertebra. Because the drug gives you relief the temptation to keep on taking it is admittedly great, but your doctor should have you switch to one of the safer new drugs for this disease.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
 United Press International
 President Johnson has booby-trapped his 1967 budget with the fierce ingenuity of a Viet Cong guerrilla. As written, the budget script provides that Congress shall play the part of the trapped booby.

Congress will accept the role. When the play is finished it will appear that Congress burst through all of the President's economy restraints and went rolling off on a spending spree which will surely burden the nation with more deficit and public debt.

The President budgeted to spend in fiscal 1967 the enormous sum of $112.8 billion. He estimated revenue at $111 billion, all of which would mean a fiscal year deficit of $1.8 billion. The deficit actually is most likely to be much bigger than that. This fact is generally recognized in Washington. LBJ knew it when he sent his budget to Congress. So his budget men arranged for Congress to take the rap for increasing expenditures beyond the proposed $112.8 billion.

Johnson accomplished that by reducing below previous allocations the sums proposed for such popular federal programs as school lunch, special school milk, rural electrification loans, soil conservation assistance, farmers' home loans, special school activities and similar projects.

These are grass roots economies and most of them will excite a grass roots rebellion. Congressmen are loudly complaining because the folks back home also are loudly complaining. The most frequently denounced economy would deprive the school kids of their federal dollars for daily milk rations.

It is quite obvious Congress will not accept these economies but will appropriate money to maintain the usual programs. And Congress thus will be booby-trapped into blame for some and maybe all of the overspending inherent in LBJ's 1967 budget.

While LBJ's budgeteers were trimming allocations for such time-tested federal projects as school lunches and school milk, the money faucets were turned full on for the administration's poverty program which is not time tested and about which there is some reasonable doubt.

The basic budget argument, of course, is whether the nation can afford to fight a war which is increasingly costly while upping home front spending. Can it afford to landscape the Great Society terrain while at the same time manuring the voters, putting new creases in their pants and paying a good chunk of their rent?

Guns or butter was the choice presented to the populations of nations involved in World War II. The Great Society has made it read guns and butter. Voters will like that, especially those who cannot or do not count the cost. A notable estimate in the 1967 budget is that interest on the public debt will be just short of $13 billion, up $1.5 billion in two years.

The public debt now is approaching $325 billion. It will go higher because U.S. politicians have abandoned the habits of thrift. These habits of thrift were counted among the essential virtues until the late FDR began 30 years ago to demonstrate that spending public funds on the voters was almost a guarantee against election reverses.

You Need More Than Medicare

Let's face facts. Medicare will be helpful but doesn't go all the way. It can pay part of your hospital bill; part of your doctor bill. But Medicare can't and never was designed to pay them all. For example:

Under Medicare, you must pay the first $40 of your hospital bill. After 60 days, you must pay $10 a day of that bill. After 90 days, Medicare hospital benefits run out.

And you must pay the first $20 of out-patient diagnostic services, then pay 20% of the rest. And Medicare pays nothing at all if you get sick outside the U.S.A.

Why Not Go First Class?

But — why risk depending on Medicare alone, when now, for so very little, you can "go first class"? When you can have Blue Cross-Blue Shield's great new Senior Texan Companion Service with Medicare?

It's just what the name says: a "companion" service; picking up parts of the load Medicare doesn't; greatly extending the benefits; you might say, completing the bridge to recovery. Together, a health-care protection never before possible for such small cost.

Your Choice: Two Great Plans

And Senior Texan Companion Service is available in two quite different forms, and for two different purposes, or needs. They are:

SENIOR TEXAN "BASIC" — pays the first $40 for you, pays that $10 a day for you, and if you need it, extends your hospital stay a full 30 days, up to a total of 120 days. And much, much more.

The cost: $3.75 per month.

SENIOR TEXAN "MAJOR MEDICAL" — works like the "deductible" insurance on your car, leaving the ordinary items to Medicare and you; but stepping in on the very serious case with 80% of just about every needed medical service Medicare does not cover, in or out of the hospital, up to $5,000 in any one year, or $10,000 over a lifetime.

The cost: $6.75 per month.

Plainly, the cost of either is far below what such protection has cost up to now; and major medical protection has been just about unavailable for those already over 65.

Good Anywhere in the World

Medicare benefits are good only in the U.S.A. Senior Texan Companion Service protects you anywhere in the world! Senior Texan "Basic" will also provide all the hospital benefits Medicare would have provided in the U.S.A. in addition to its own. Senior Texan "Major Medical" will provide 80% of the hospital benefits Medicare "A" would have provided in the U.S.A., plus all the doctor benefits under Medicare "B," in addition to its own.

OUR GUARANTEE
 It is impossible to give all the details of Senior Texan Companion Service, even in this large ad. But — apply now; and when you receive your Senior Texan contract, read it carefully. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return the contract any time within ten days, and your money will be refunded in full.

The Proof is in The Paying

It's no secret: illness hits harder as we grow older. A "spell of illness" can be long and costly. Just to illustrate, from actual hospital cases of our older members, we put together a sample hospital-medical bill of an illness running 6 long months, as so many do.

The table below shows graphically: 1) How much Medicare leaves for you to pay; 2) How Senior Texan "Basic" steps right in from the beginning to make the balance for you; and 3) How Senior Texan "Major Medical" gets more and more valuable the longer the spell of illness lasts.

	Expense Total	Balance After Medicare	Senior Texan Basic Pays	Balance You Pay	Senior Texan Major Med. Pays	Balance You Pay
3 Months	4,730.00	689.00	582.00	107.00	471.00	218.00
4 Months	6,152.50	1,793.50	1,967.00	126.50	1,667.00	426.50
5 Months	7,402.50	2,739.50	1,712.00	1,027.50	2,111.00	416.50
6 Months	8,657.50	3,794.50	1,757.00	1,987.50	2,308.00	389.50

No question about it — YOU NEED MORE THAN MEDICARE!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FOR PRESENT BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD MEMBERS

Q. If I do not sign up for Medicare, or in any way use Medicare's benefits, what happens if I keep my present Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage?
 A. You may continue your present coverage and Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits will be paid as in the past.

Q. If I sign up for Medicare and use Medicare benefits, may I also keep my present Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage?
 A. Yes — you may continue your present Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage.

Q. If I keep my present coverage and use Medicare benefits, what happens?
 A. Medicare benefits will be available to you, and will, of course, apply first as set forth in the Medicare Law. Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits will then apply to pay for any services called for in your membership agreement which have not been provided under Medicare.

Act NOW!

Medicare benefits and Senior Texan Companion Service both begin July 1, 1966.

But Senior Texan Companion Service is being offered only general public for a limited time only. If you need more than one application, and can't find another copy of this newspaper, call your nearest Blue Cross-Blue Shield office (in 18 Texas cities) or ask us for another when you send your own in to us. You'll get another one by return mail. If you, or someone else for whom you are concerned, would like a descriptive folder giving full details of Medicare and Senior Texan Companion Service, it is available at any Blue Cross-Blue Shield branch office or your local hospital or write us direct.

BUT IT'S TIME TO ACT NOW, GET THE APPLICATIONS BELOW, AND MAIL THEM TODAY!
