France Plans To Tell US To Get Bases Out

FAMILY RELEASED UNHARMED

Convict Picks Fourth Choice; Takes Own Life

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (UPI) — A slim ex-convict sipped sherry in the modest home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fawbush Thursday and calmly evaluated his chances against the small army of law enforcement officers waiting outside.

"I have three choices," Harry Acree told United Press International by telephone. "I can take them (the Fawbushes) out as hostages," he said. "I can shoot my way out, although I know I will get shot—or I can throw the gun out the window."

But the 33-year-old gunman picked a fourth choice to end his 12-year life of crime, which he climaxed Thursday by wounding a police officer and holding two hostages—the Fawbushes—in a dramatic eight-hour showdown with authorities.

Amid swirling clouds of tear gas Acree sat down in the shower stall in the Fawbush bathroom and shot himself through the roof of the mouth with a .22 caliber pistol. He died a short time later at nearby Eugene Hospital.

Acree's desperate flight began just before dawn when he and two companions were stopped by two city patrolmen on a routine traffic check in this lumber community of 23,500 persons.

One of the officers, Terrence Wilson 24, noticed a shotgun on the front seat of the car. Acree's companions, identified as Stanley Beaubien and Dennis Wallace, were taken into custody. But Acree opened fire on Wilson.

"When they found the shotgun, I had no choice," Acree explained to UPI later in a quivering voice from the Fawbush home. "I was an ex-convict." (See CONVICT, Page 3)

Clearing House For Sex Raided

ATLANTA (UPI) — Authorities raided a "clearing house for sex" Thursday and confiscated stacks of pornography and a membership list containing the names of several prominent Atlantans.

Known as "Club Rebel," the organization's publication specialized in classified advertising bluntly stating the sexual desires of the membership.

A man and two women, one a shapely redhead, were present when authorities raided the club located in a posh double suite of rooms on the 18th floor of a high-rise apartment building.

No arrests were made, but Solicitor General Lewis Slaton said he will take the case before the Fulton County grand jury next week.

"This is the raid we've been expecting," officers quoted the man as saying when they walked in.

Authorities said the club was a regional "clearing house for sex" of a national organization that also operates in New York, Chicago, Dallas and Orlando, Fla.

The club, for a $1 fee, forwarded letters between members. The letters were answers to the provocative ads carried in the club's magazine. Membership in the club was $12 annually.

Records indicated the club handled up to 1,000 letters a month.

Officers confiscated some of the letters and they contained detailed accounts of adultery, unnatural sex acts and other perversions.

Hey, BNS 613 And BNX 951—The Tax Office Needs You

The county tax collector today called for help from two Gray County motorists. The office wants the owners of new 1966 license plates BNS 613 and BNX 951 to call the tax office at MO 4-6827. There's nothing wrong except the tax collector is unable to find the office copy of the receipts issued for these two license numbers.

"It's just a matter of getting the necessary information for our records," said Bill Steger, deputy tax collector. "And we would appreciate it if the owners of these plates would call us."

De Gaulle Turns Thumbs Down On NATO Proposals

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle plans to serve notice on the United States in "the very near future" to start moving its troops and bases out of France, government sources said today.

They predicted this would be the French leader's reply to President Johnson's letter on NATO which De Gaulle was said to consider "negative" and an evasion of the call for "tactical negotiations."

De Gaulle was said to have been completely unmoved by Johnson's declaration that the door remained open to France.

French officials said De Gaulle had hoped the original March 7 letter to Johnson would be taken as an invitation to open talks on a joint evacuation timetable.

Meanwhile, the United States and France's other NATO allies were working on replies to De Gaulle's memoranda of two weeks ago informing them of his decision to pull out of the alliance's military setup.

American sources said the replies probably would simply acknowledge De Gaulle's statements and would ask for details on how he planned to put them into effect.

The sources said there is no possibility of the United States meekly getting out of the bases until De Gaulle has spelled out in detail what he wants.

American sources estimated the absolute minimum time needed for evacuation of the bases of one year and said it probably would take considerably longer.

They said the bases and military installations are estimated to involve a $2.5 billion investment by the United States. They said lengthy negotiations will be needed to determine their residual value before they are handed over to De Gaulle.

UFOs Sighted From Wide Controversy Surrounds FCC Control Of CATV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For three days, congressmen listened to backers of Community Antenna Television (CATV) talk about clear reception and a wide selection of programs.

Today, one thing was clear: A wide selection of controversial issues surrounds the extent to which the federal government should regulate, and restrict, the booming CATV industry.

The House Commerce Committee Thursday recessed until April 5 its hearings on proposals by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to extend regulation over CATV.

During the first go-round, these facts and issues began to take shape.

About 6 million (3 or 4 percent) of the nation's families now are served by CATV, which plucks broadcasters' signals from the air and pipes the programs into subscribers' homes for a fee averaging about $5.50 a month.

Once aimed at rural areas, CATV is moving into the cities, where it offers clearer signals and more varied programming.

And it's growing. FCC (See FPC, Page 1)

Initial Steps Taken For Arts Organization

First steps in the development of a Fine Arts Association for Pampa were accomplished Thursday evening in a meeting in the Citizens Bank & Trust Hospitality Room.

A standing committee to "get the ball rolling" was appointed after representatives of various art-conscious Pampa groups heard a description of the Fort Worth Arts Association from its president, Ed Hudson, a Fort Worth attorney.

Dr. Carl M. Lang presided over the meeting.

George Cree, Homer Johnson, Marcella Hudson, Paul Keim and Anna Lee Gordon were appointed to a standing committee to carry out plans for the formation of a Pampa Arts Association.

Dr. Lang said Marcella Hudson should be recognized for "sparking and spearheading the drive for an Art Association."

Mrs. Hudson said this morning the formation of an Arts Association for Pampa "will not supersede other community arts groups but will unify all the groups in a combined effort."

Dr. Lang said the acquisition of a Fine Arts Center is a prime interest of the Association for the next year. "Someone might will a very fine home to become a museum. We must have a front with some awareness to take advantage of these possibilities.

The proposed Arts Association would unify and combine the efforts of all Pampa area groups interested in the fine arts, it was stated.

Dr. Lang described the steps in the "modus operandi" for forming the association. First, he said, a standing committee must be formed from counseling and participating persons interested in the Association. Second, this committee will choose a nominating committee. A dinner will be held with people paying for plates to become members of the Association. A slate of officers will then be presented for selection. Fourth, four members will be selected as a WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic National Committee has reduced or abolished the registration efforts and labor liaison work the AFL-CIO has backed strongly in the past.

"We can't find anyone to talk to at the committee or at the White House," said one union official. "Larry O'Brien was our last link and he went into the cabinet as postmaster general."

In an appeal for continued union backing for their traditional Democratic allies, Humphrey told a building trades legislative conference Thursday that the party needed organized labor.

"We won't let you down," Humphrey said. "We're on the same wave length."

But the vice president conceded that the Democrats could not deliver on labor's prime objective—nullification of state laws that forbid union shop agreements, the so-called "right to work" laws. He said the Johnson administration would try again in the future.

Construction union leaders are upset because their pet bill—a measure to liberalize picketing rights on big projects—appears snarled in Congress for this session. They have been trying to get it enacted for 15 years.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., declared he had not given up the fight but he refrained from any prediction of passage. So did Humphrey, partly because he was embarrassed about a previous prediction that did not come true.

Democratic spokesmen keep telling the union chieftains that most of their friends are Democrats. But this doesn't soothe the bruised feelings.

In 1962, Argentine military forces ousted President Frondizi in a bloodless coup. In 1964, an earthquake ripped Alaska, hitting Anchorage the hardest.

Wide-ranging reorganization of U.S. forces in Europe will result if President De Gaulle carries through on his demands for changes in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military setup. Fighting forces affected by American refusal to accept French command of all foreign military personnel on French soil will be primarily Air Force units, but supply lines which now for the most part run through France also will have to be relocated. Newsmap shows present deployment of land, air and sea forces in the European NATO countries and Spain. Boxed figures indicate approximate total of U.S. military personnel in each country. In addition, the U.S. 6th Fleet patrols the Mediterranean but is not based in any one country.

 SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A judge trying a person on misdemeanor charges of feeding pigeons, asked defense lawyer Molly Minudri, to consider the "health hazard" of pigeons.

"Have you ever been bombed by a bird?" he asked.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — My copy of the 1966 "Success Digest" has just arrived and already I can feel myself growing more dynamic.

As soon as I unlock the "titanic mental forces" that have been cooped up inside my brain, there'll be no stopping me.

All I have to do to reach my full potential is order the more than 100 self-improvement books that the digest offers at prices ranging between $3.98 and $15 per copy.

Being a little short of funds at the moment, I may have to delay my start up the ladder. But just reading the blurbs published in the digest has done me a world of good.

Being told that "you are twice as smart as you think" and that "you are at least $50,000 richer than you think" gives you a lift all by itself.

brutal crime." Sharp, a 34-year-old cotton picker, was convicted in 1964 of beating and stomping his wife to death during a drunken rage at their Beckham County farm home. His five children watched the killing.

His attorneys have sought to stop the execution by maintaining Sharp was "dead drunk" and did not know what he was doing. The state contended the act was premeditated.

Bellmon was brought into the case last weekend when one of Sharp's five children, 13-year-old Brenda, wrote the governor asking "please don't electrocute my father... I love him." The children now live in an orphanage.

Brenda appeared before the pardon and parole board Sunday to plead for her father's life. The board, by secret vote, rejected the pleas.

Burglars Hit Three Pampa Businesses

Burglars hit three Pampa businesses Thursday night.

About $15 in change from an open cash register was missing this morning from Bob Clement's Cleaners, 1437 N. Hobart. Entry was gained by prying open the front door. Police said the thief or thieves left in a hurry for some of the change was dropped on the way out.

Money from a soft drink machine was missing this morning from Dwight's Welding Shop, 500 E. Tyng. Police said the burglars pried at the shop's back door but failed to gain entry. A panel of the wooden door was knocked open and a latch unfastened. Only two or three dollars was reported missing this morning from the welding shop.

Another small change burglary drew police investigation this morning. Only three quarters and a dime were reported missing from the State Farm Insurance office at 1105 1/2 Alcock this morning. Police said the firm's back door was pried open to gain entry.

DWI Charge Filed Following Wreck

Pampa police charged Jewel Smith, 318 Albert, with driving while intoxicated following a one-car accident Thursday.

At about 2:35 p.m. Smith's car spun out of control after crossing the railroad tracks near the Somerville and Ford intersection. Police described the car as a total loss.

Paul Russell Jones, 855 South Banks, was injured when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by Milton S. Nottingham, 1513 Williston, Thursday. Jones received scratches and bruises about the face and hands in the accident. The collision occurred in the 800 block of W. Kingsmill about 5:00 p.m. Thursday.

Convict

Wilson was rushed to a hospital, where he was reported in "fairly good" condition after two operations.

About 40 minutes after the shooting Acree appeared at the front door of the Fawbush home, located at the dead end of a gravel road in a middle-income area. Police immediately surrounded the stucco house.

Fawbush, 46, who also talked to UPI on the telephone, said he was just getting ready to go to his job as a truck driver.

"I went to the front door and opened it. And there was this guy with a gun," Fawbush said. "He came in and he's been real nice to us."

Mrs. Fawbush, who gave her age as "several years younger" than her husband, said she cooked breakfast for Acree and later played cards with the fugitive. She said he also took a bottle of sherry. And wrote several notes.

"I talked to him several times and asked him to give himself up," she continued. "He let us call our bosses and say we wouldn't be at work. That was nice of him."

Midway in the morning, state police Capt. R. G. Howard entered the house unarmed in an attempt to get Acree to surrender. The ex-convict asked for more to drink, explaining that he wanted to be drunk when he surrendered, but Howard refused. The captain also refused a demand for a getaway car.

Acree's sister, Mrs. James McCutcheon, and a brother were then brought to the house. Mrs. McCutcheon went inside and pleaded with him to give himself up.

Acree seemed on the verge of doing so, but then his mood changed. He put his arm around Mrs. Fawbush's neck, came to the front porch and stuck the muzzle of his pistol into his mouth.

"Harry, don't," screamed his girl friend, Juanita Tucker, who was standing at the end of the driveway with a police officer. "Not in front of your sister and me. Don't do it, please."

The gunman hesitated and then went back inside the house. Police decided they could wait no longer.

Bringing up reinforcements, officers fired two tear gas grenades through the front window. Several more were lobbed by hand through side and back windows.

Mrs. McCutcheon and the Fawbushes stumbled from the dense clouds of smoke that enveloped the home. Then bystanders thought they heard a muffled shot.

After hearing Fort Worth attorney Ed Hudson describe the Fort Worth Arts Association, participants at the meeting heard spokesmen from various groups endorse the Pampa Fine Arts Association idea.

Representing the Pampa Community Players, Ron Graves said, "This is an area where we are definitely in the infantile stage — a nucleus is definitely needed. We have a long, long way to go. An association of this type will make the arts an integral part of Pampa life. Through this program the Community Players will put forth a children's theater and conduct theatrical workshops open to the whole community."

Rev. Donald Hauck said his first reaction to the formation of an Arts Association was negative. "At first I thought, here's another organization," he said. "Now I have come to believe the community has a real need to find the great minds who have written great plays and great music. There is an opportunity here for great ideas to pass between minds and to bring talent hidden and buried to the forefront."

"We will certainly cooperate with any group promoting the arts in Pampa. We stand ready to cooperate," a spokesman for the Community Concert told the group.

Blanks for Draft Deferment Tests Available Here

Applications for tests that will help determine draft status of college students and those preparing to enter college next fall are available at the Pampa Selective Service office in the Post Office. It was announced today by Mrs. Kathleen Zmotony, clerk of the local board.

Seven area colleges have been selected as sites for the tests to be given May 14, May 21 and June 3.

The tests may be taken on those dates at Texas Tech, Lubbock Christian, West Texas State, Frank Phillips College in Borger, Wayland College in Plainview, and South Plains College in Levelland.

The tests will be used in determining draft classification of students registered with the boards.

Selective Service officials indicated that students who pass the tests as well as those who rank in the top one-third of their class probably will be deferred.

At Austin, Col. Morris Schwartz, state Selective Service director, stated that approximately 30,000 students in Texas would take the tests.

They will be given to students on 69 college and university campuses throughout the state.

Dear Abby...

Sales Advice—Stay Behind the Counter

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé is a very attractive sales girl in a department store. Men customers very often ask her personal questions, such as, "What is your name?" "How old are you?" "Where do you live?" "Are you married?" She answers every question without hesitation. I tell her she should stick to selling, and not give the customers a run-down on her personal life, but she says she doesn't want to give the impression that she is stuck up. She carries on similar conversations with strangers she meets on the bus, or even on street corners. Do you think this is the proper way for a young lady to act. How should she answer personal questions from strangers?

DOWNTOWN CHICAGO
DEAR DOWNTOWN: A young lady should ignore personal questions put to her by a stranger. Your fiancé could use an orientation course in the ways of the big city, and one in judo on the side.

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago I was courted by Mr. S. There was some talk of marriage, but I was a young widow with children and property and it seemed best at the time not to marry him. I never married. Mr. S. is ill now and unable to live alone or pay the cost of a nursing home so I have taken him into my home and am caring for him. We are not living in sin, Abby, but there has been much criticism from my friends and relatives. I have no status as a nurse. The question is how shall I introduce him? Should I say, "This is Mr. S, my friend and patient?" or, "This Mr. S, my boarder?" His living in my home seems to require some explanation.

MRS. D.
DEAR MRS. D.: If he courted you, there must have been a mutual romantic interest at one time. If there is absolutely none now, introduce him as "Mr. S., my friend." If perchance the romantic interest should be revived, I suggest you marry the man and introduce him as your husband.

DEAR ABBY: I am married, the mother of three, and my problem is my husband. I left him and filed for divorce only to call it off at the last minute because he cried and begged and promised he would be a good husband. So I went back to live with him again. I have no parents and no one to get advice from. Since I've been back he has been worse than ever. One minute he is fine and the next minute he is calling me every dirty thing he can think of. He goes into a rage, throws things, and ends up beating me. The only time he is half-civilized is when he wants marital relations. What am I to do? I am afraid of him. I haven't worked in years and couldn't support myself and the children. We have lost all our friends because of his vile temper and filthy accusations. If I leave him again I am afraid my life will be in danger. Is he sick?

NO MORE HOPE
DEAR NO MORE: Of course he's sick, but you're no doctor. Don't spend another night under the same roof with this man. If you can't hire a lawyer, call your local Legal Aid society.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to go to mixed parties?

WINNIE
DEAR WINNIE: It all depends on what they're mixing.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Teen Complexions Need Extra Care

NATURAL GOOD LOOKS — The teenager who insists on maintaining her wholesome, natural good looks stands out in today's sloppy crowd. The youthful model here knows complexion and skin care are essential. She shampoos her hair frequently, has it cut in a becoming style and gives special attention to normally neglected areas (left) such as elbows and knees. Her make-up consists of a moisturizer, lipstick, eye make-up and (right) touches of powder.

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Problem skin may last beyond the teen-age years but care during youth can prevent excessive complexion woes as one matures.

Unfortunately, many youths accept blemishes as part of their growing years and do little to ease the infections. This spring the natural look again will be seen throughout the land. This means a suntanned or suntanned-looking skin, casual but neat hair styles worn with bangs and a flip and cosmetics in peach and apricot shades to complement the look.

The young woman searching for her image will want to experiment with cosmetics and fragrances. At this stage she can make the most use of toiletries that are of the same fragrance or in the same family.

Stocking her beauty kit with a milky foam for bath, a bath oil, spray and friction cologne and body cream, all of the same scent, gives each teen-ager a very personal aura. It may seem superfluous to remind a young woman that a refreshing bath is her best friend. However, many school officials and parents find there is room for such prodding.

Problem skins demand special attention to diet, adequate sleep and cleanliness. A daily bath or shower is necessary to cut down on acne and other teen-ager skin eruptions. Frequent shampooing of hair — especially if worn in deep bangs or over the side of the face — is essential to cut down on facial irritations.

When applying make-up, pat it on rather than rubbing it in. It may be wise to ask your doctor to recommend nonallergenic or medicated products for use. Whatever you do, steel yourself against picking at your face or other areas that become irritated. This only leads to further infection and possibly permanent scarring. Proper cosmetics and soothing bath products work to ease itchy irritations.

Mrs. Johnson has modeled all her new clothes for her husband, who takes a keen interest in what his girls wear. He likes his wife in bright colors and, because of her vivid coloring, she also prefers yellow, greens and shades of red.

According to Mrs. Carpenter, the first lady has always taken care not to be a "captive of clothes," but she finds that her active life requires her to spend "more money, more time and more thought" on her wardrobe.

She even has "tree planting" clothes to wear on her frequent beautification safaris around the country.

Mrs. LBJ's Fashion Plans Crimped By Being One of Most-Photographed

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson is finding that her role as one of the world's most-photographed women is putting something of a crimp in her fashion plans.

The first lady's new spring wardrobe features skirts 17 to 18 inches from the floor—not exactly the "mod" 20 inches—but short enough to be in style, according to her press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter.

But for Lady Bird Johnson there'll be none of her beloved prints—they don't photograph well. And she needs easy skirts for getting in and out of limousines and helicopters. The Auxiliary will meet next in the home of Mrs. Ed Wiens on April 9.

DMF Auxiliary, Cities Service Gas. Co., Meets

Mrs. J. W. Gambill and Mrs. Dave Kerns were hostess for the recent meeting of DMF Auxiliary, Cities Service Gas Company, when the group met in Cities Service Recreation Hall, west of the city.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Clint Stewart, president. Mrs. Joe Hood gave the secretary and treasurer's report. Mrs. H. H. Kessinger was reported ill.

Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed by Meses. Ernie Mesneak, Ed Wiens, J. W. Gambill, Dave Kerns, Clint Stewart, Joe Hood, Jack Becker, Cynthia Carnes, Glenn Giblin and Charles Tate. The Auxiliary will meet next in the home of Mrs. Ed Wiens on April 9.

Pick Fashions Carefully
Try not to be carried away by eccentric high jinks as you flip through your favorite fashion magazine. Many slick fashions appear becoming and colorful but on the wrong type girl they can prove grotesque.

Pampa High School Campus News

By VIRGINIA DEWITT

At the beginning of this semester, 73 high school students enrolled in a new reading improvement program. Mrs. Wanda Doughton teaches the course. Among the special equipment is a controlled reader machine that projects reading material on a screen at different speeds. Another machine is the Tach-X. The Tach-X trains students to see written material accurately. This machine flashes a series of numbers, words and phrases on a screen, and asks students to write down what they see. Mrs. Doughton also uses a tape recorder and records to improve phonics.

The course also employs the use of the SRA Reading and Understanding Laboratory and the EDL Study Skills. The SRA Laboratories develops reasoning abilities of the students by perhaps giving students an incomplete sentence and asking them to fill in the blank with the correct word by using logic from the evidence given.

"We also use many supplementary materials," said Mrs. Doughton, "including many books."

Four senior drama students will present Pampa's entry in the district one-act play contest tomorrow in Canyon at West Texas State University.

Doug Altom, Dorothy Davis, Beth Falkenstein and Patsy Holway make up the cast of "The Lesson," a contemporary satire by Eugene Ionesco.

"It was originally a satire on Nazism, but the cutting that we are doing deals more with education itself," said Mrs. Virginia Myers, speech department head. Mrs. Myers is directing the play.

Doug plays the professor, a mentally disturbed man who will not tolerate a student who questions his ideas or has an original thought. Dorothy and Beth portray students, and Patsy plays the maid.

Mrs. Mary Vance of the Vance Employment Agency in Amarillo, spoke to business classes March 17. Mrs. Vance stressed five points students should follow to succeed in finding a job. Appearance was at the top of the list. Personality, good attitude, responsibility and character are the other important qualities.

"Many students were interested because most were seniors and will soon be faced with the job-hunting situation," Melvin Cardwell, typing teacher, said.

In preparation for the district typing contest April 16 in Canyon, six typing students have been competing in interschool matches with White Deer.

"These preliminary rounds were to strengthen our students and show them their weaknesses," said Cardwell. "In the match held here, White Deer took first, second and fourth places, and we won third and fifth."

Pampa's entries in the district contest are Glenda Cox, Nita Eads, Genie Matney, Shirley Reno, Pam Thomas and Eileene Trout.

Next Friday about 20 girls will audition before the student body in the cheerleader tryouts. The girls will tryout in groups of five said Dorothy Davis, head cheerleader.

Each student will vote for five girls. The five girls with the highest votes will be next years cheerleaders. Students will

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Unmiffed Union Gail

With taxes of all kinds, including the indirect but most vicious tax of inflation, adding up to near the confiscatory level, the AFL-CIO, itself tax exempt, is urging the federal government to "boost taxes on skyrocketing corporation profits if necessary to pay growing wage costs or curb inflation" according to a news dispatch from Miami Beach, and quoting from an AFL-CIO Executive Council statement on national economic policy.

Blithely ignoring the fact that "skyrocketing profits" is a use of the AFL-CIO term, are today vastly distorted by inflation to the point where they may appear to be a profit while they may, in actuality, be a loss; and further ignoring the fact that inflation, spurred on by unrealistic union demands for wage increases, is itself government induced, the monopolistic unions are calling for more of the "medicine" that brought on the disease.

Affecting a mawkish compassion and concern for the poor, the union statement went on to say that the plunder of "President Johnson's Great Society" programs should not be slashed in the face of rising wage costs" because "the poor should not be compelled to bear the major burden of the conflict in Viet Nam." We wonder if our readers would care to examine the rationale of that statement. With the "Great Society" being funded by massive theft from those who earn in order to give to those who do not, the unions are now "reasoning" that the "poor will be compelled to bear the major burden of the conflict in Viet Nam" if some of the loot being stolen from the earners of the nation is diverted from the "Poverty Program" to the war effort. How's that for Marxian dialectics or, in plainer words, socialistic double-talk?

And while the AFL-CIO is mounting "skyrocketing profits" and yelling "soak industry and business" from its tax-exempt sanctuary, listen to what Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., of New York are saying in a news release dated February 24 about the impact of mounting tax costs on business and industry:

"The exploding T-bomb of state taxation" (the same reasoning applies to taxes at all levels, including the federal excise and paperwork) "has produced a fantastic fallout of paperwork that threatens to slow down the momentum of marketing an appreciable degree, a witness declared today before a hearing of the House special subcommittee on state taxation of interstate commerce.

"In the past four years the state and local taxing bodies have turned into predators, prowling across state lines, hungrily searching for new tax revenues from companies located wholly outside their jurisdiction, he asserted, and added: Remember, it's the consumer who pays the ultimate cost of inefficient and excessively costly taxation. Without relief, he will pay more for the products made by companies harassed by this type of taxation."

The witness was Werner N. Davidson, vice president-finance of Caloric Corp., Topton, Pa., gas range and appliance manufacturer. Davidson, according to the Byoir report, told the subcommittee:

"Today the overlapping state, county, city and school district" (wonder why he shied away from the federal "overlap") tax structure reminds me of a pyramid built by drunken Egyptians." He cited state income taxes, payroll taxes, disability taxes, state, county and city franchise taxes, sales and use taxes, highway use taxes, ad valorem taxes, gross receipts taxes, and occupational license taxes. "Some of these, he said, must be reported quarterly; others semi-annually, and still others annually. And many of these taxes feature a unique formula for arriving at the total dollars to be paid."

"Trying to find one's way to the top of the pile is a nightmare," Davidson declared. "In four years, the number of tax returns my company has had to file has increased 36 percent, from 999 to 1,363. In addition we find that our cost of preparing our average tax return has increased 57.2 percent in that period, from $70 per return to $110. Thus, the total cost of filing tax returns for my company has doubled in four years, from $70,000 to $149,000."

We will leave it to the reader as to which makes the most sense: the AFL-CIO, spouting platitudes and economic nonsense, or businessman Davidson, citing hard facts and cold figures?

Sadly to add, however, we read on in the Byoir report to find that vice president Davidson appeared before the House subcommittee to urge passage of another federal law: one that would remove sales and inventory taxes as bases for state and local taxation. Evidently, he is not aware that it is the federal government which, by preempting the states' sources of taxation has set the state bureaucrats to frantically looking for new ways to loot the taxpayers and, further, that by calling on the federal government and trying to use the political machinery to correct a situation brought about by the political process, he is feeding the monster and begging it to expand and grow.

A Look Into Crystal Ball

Besides its usual reliable facts and figures on planes, engines, rockets and spacecraft, the current edition of the respected "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" summarizes the "state of the art" and ventures a few speculations on the future:

—While the United States government marks time on a supersonic airliner, the Anglo-French Concorde is taking shape and Russia is cutting metal on its twice-the-speed-of-sound TU-144. "The prospect," says Jane's, "is hardly pleasing for the American (aircraft) industry."

—The trend in private aircraft is to larger planes — one manufacturer is going to bring out a six-seater — with correspondingly more powerful engines and complex radio and blind-flying equipment.

—The number of home-built airplanes is growing so rapidly that Jane's is considering putting them in a separate section.

—The 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution is in 1967 and the Russians can be counted on to celebrate it in an appropriate way. "Is it too much to expect... to see the first attempt to put a man on the moon?"

—In 1965, a U.S. Air Force pilot had to abandon his plane and became the 1,000th person whose life has been saved by Martin-Baker ejection seats. "This is a magnificent record of service to humanity."

—Finally, Jane's wonders who will be the first to produce the photograph "that would make front-page news in the press of the entire world — a picture of the earth as a complete sphere, taken from space?"

It is strange, muses the editor, that such a feat, which would be comparatively easy, has never been performed. "This is a picture that would give us earth-people a completely new and thought-provoking visual impression of our place in the universe."

Sounds a little like not seeing the forest for the trees, or in this case, the planet for the moon dust.

In 1941, King Peter I, 17, ascended to the throne of Yugoslavia.

The search for solutions to the air pollution problem is complicated by the fact that a procedure that gets results in one community may be worthless in another place. Differences in the size and type of industrial development, in population patterns in climate, geography result in corresponding variations in the origins causes and methods of correcting air pollution problems. It is a growing menace in most of the large cities.

One of the reasons Harvard enjoys a top reputation is the fact that 90 per cent of those entering the freshman class finish their courses and receive a degree. The national average for most other colleges and universities is 50 per cent.

Today's smile: A youngster rushed home to his mother and asked: "May I have an apple?" The mother said: "But you just had your lunch." "I know," said the youngster, "but an apple a day keeps the doctor away and I just broke his window playing baseball."

A friend wondered recently how Walt Disney could have erred in naming Donald Duck. He pointed out that the durable Donald is a male and the male of the species is a drake. We'll bet that at this late date Disney won't change the name and we don't blame him. Donald is known to everyone and loved by all. Samuel Gompers, founder of the American Federation of Labor, started out as a cigar maker and was seldom seen without a cheroot in his mouth. When, late in life, his doctor told him he must cut his smoking to one cigar a day, Gompers went back to rolling his own turning out a huge 2 1/2-inch each and every day.

Thoughts while shaving: Back in the good old days before World War II so-called motels were not much better than chicken coops or woodsheds and were mainly operated as adjuncts to a rural gasoline station. The modern motel business started in the West and moved East and with that move came a demand for increased luxury and greater convenience. Now they have moved into the larger cities and are putting the hotels out of business. Although more than 40 million Americans own guns, only 750,000 of them are considered gun collectors. It's a hobby that is as demanding as any we know about and can also be very expensive. We know a gun collector who spent thousands to acquire and authenticate the two revolvers of Jessie and Frank James. One of the most popular songs of all time is "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here." It was a bare-faced steal from Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance." The average home buyer these days is about 33 years of age. He pays approximately $16,000 for a one-story, five-and-one-half room house with three bedrooms. After paying initial costs averaging about $376, he secures a mortgage for the purchase price. His monthly rent comes to about $120 for principal, interest, insurance and taxes. If he's lucky, he'll pay for the place in 30 years.

The Los Angeles (Calif.) REPORTER reported in a story: "We can write our duly elected officials and let them know how we feel." And we'll be sure to get a dull reply to our letters.

President's New Food Sales, Giveways Bill Omits Restrictions On Food Sales, Giveways to Red Countries

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is high-powered political dynamite in President Johnson's so-far-little-discussed multi-billion dollar Food for Freedom legislation.

It opens the door wide for selling and giving away surplus commodities to Communist countries, including Red China.

Under the proposal U. S. farm surpluses could be sold or donated to any country in the world, regardless of ideology, form of government or anything else.

That's squarely different from existing law.

The Food for Peace program, under Public Law 480, which expires December 31, contains specific limitations on food transactions with Communist countries. These are:

—Outright ban on surplus food sales to Communist countries for their currency — so-called counterpart funds. The U. S. has more than $2.9 billion in such "soft" currencies in 83 countries. Poland and Yugoslavia are high on the list with more than $442 million for the former, upwards of $278 million for the latter.

—Express congressional approval must be obtained for the sale of food to Communist countries for dollars. Congress must enact a bill or resolution before that can be done.

—Similar congressional authorization is required for food donations to Communist countries.

The President's Food for Freedom bill, to replace the Food for Peace program, eliminates these restrictions — by the simple device of not mentioning them. They are just omitted from the measure.

en important provinces are experiencing the worst drought of this century. They are Shantung, Hopei, Honan, Shansi, Kiangsu, Tsinghai and Inner Mongolia.

In all of them the winter wheat crop has been severely damaged due to lack of rain and snow.

Food rationing is in effect in large areas throughout China despite the huge wheat purchases from Canada, Australia, Brazil and elsewhere. The Central Intelligence Agency has told congressional committees that an outright famine is a definite possibility in wide sections of China.

Despite Peiping's past truculent rebuffs, the Johnson Administration apparently feels the opportunity may arise to offer food aid.

Top congressional leaders have been sounded out on that, foremost among them Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass. It is understood they have indicated they would not oppose such a move to "avert starvation."

MORE BOMBHELLS—Three other provisions in the Food for Freedom legislation are virtually certain to encounter strong congressional opposition. They are:

A broad grant of authority to the Secretary of Agriculture to determine how much of what crops should be produced for home consumption and to meet the anticipated greatly expanded foreign aid program. The factors the Secretary would consider in reaching his decisions are only vaguely detailed in the measure. As submitted to Congress, he is given far-reaching latitude on this highly important matter.

—Of the $3.3 billion annual expenditures for five years specified in the bill, $2.5 billion would be to finance sales for "soft" (local) currencies, $900 million for give-aways. With congressional ire steadily mounting over the President's slashing of school lunch and milk programs and funds for educational purposes, the White House is trying to allay opposition to the proposed $3.3 billion Food for Freedom budget by putting out word that not more than $1.6 billion would be spent the first year. How far this backstage strategy works remains to be seen.

—Empowering the Secretary of Agriculture to set strategic reserve levels for major crops. These levels would be designed to meet domestic requirements, commercial exports and the Food for Freedom program. This sweeping authority already is under vigorous bipartisan attack. Democrats as well as Republicans are assailing it on the ground it would enable the administration to use these reserves to manipulate the markets by dumping large stocks at will.

The House Republican Task Force on Agriculture, headed by Representative Odlin Langen, Minn., contends this has already

Around the World

By ROBERT MORRIS

It appears that another State Department idol, Sukarno, has fallen, joining Nkrumah, Cheddi Jagan, Goulart, Ben Bella and Lumumba. All of these Communist or pro-Communist dictators held sway over their hapless people for years with the active help of our State Department which nurtured them and sustained them even though they were giving succor to our Soviet enemy and practicing cruelty against their people.

As I wrote two weeks ago, my evaluation of the consistent topping of these pro-Soviet dictators leads me to the conclusion that President Johnson has taken over control of foreign policy from the policy planners and in his very pragmatic way has simply stopped propping them up. Since their policies and theories were bankrupt, they could not stand on their own feet and went down amid the cheers of their people.

Sukarno has been a particular target of my own feeble efforts since 1944. I first encountered him when I was a psychological warfare officer in the Pacific and he was the Japanese puppet in the Dutch East Indies. With the surrender of Japan he switched to Communism and the State Department proceeded to idolize and sustain him.

In my book, "No Wonder We Are Losing," I wrote of Sukarno: "In my first campaign for the Senate, I frequently deplored our government's assistance to this Indonesian leader who was voting regularly with the Soviets in the international agencies and crushing our friends and supporters in Indonesia who had made up the resistance to the Japanese during the war. Poor Karel Nikijulw whom I have met on several occasions, representing two million South Moluccans, who live in the Indies, for one, has been rebuffed not only by the international agencies, but by our leaders and in fact by the whole free world. He has tried valiantly to bring to the surface the just cause of his people whom Sukarno has been grinding to destruction. The double standard that we invoke when it comes to self-determination and liberation deserves, some day soon, to be fully analyzed. The cause of self-determination when the poor souls seeking liberation want to be free of Soviet or crypto-Soviet rule, has a few champions in the forums of our day."

There is much to learn from the decline of Sukarno and the other spent pro-Soviet dictators. The principal lesson is that Communism is weak and without the aid of the West will tend to moulder away. This is true not only of the satellites but particularly of Red China. When you get close to mainland China and talk to escapees, you become impressed with its hollowness and weakness.

History Forbids That Ho Use Red Chinese Troops

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The general had been responsible for a range of guerrilla operations in South China and North Indochina in the war against Japan. At the end, he'd had the job of seeing that the Japanese troops in North Viet Nam were disarmed and sent home.

In this, he negotiated with Ho Chi Minh, whose guerrillas operated in the area.

The American general said: "I wanted to send in two Chinese divisions to disarm the Japanese."

"But at that, Ho exploded. He told me he didn't want any Chinese divisions in his country. He insisted they'd never leave."

"So I made a compromise proposal. If Ho would agree to the two Chinese divisions, I'd personally guarantee they left on schedule."

"That's the deal we made. After the disarming, I saw to it the Chinese got on board ships I had ready."

Later, some of us were talking to another American general just back from Viet Nam. "Why isn't Chiang Kai-shek furnishing troops for the Viet Nam war," one man asked. "We turned him down in Korea—now here, too?"

"No," said the general. "The simple fact is the prime minister (of South Viet Nam) doesn't want Chinese troops in the country, even to fight for the south. He says the people wouldn't stand for it."

The first records on the Viet in the Red River Delta were written by the Chinese after they conquered the area in 111 B.C.

Two sisters led an uprising that threw out the Chinese in A.D. 39. The invaders reconquered the country five years later with harsh suppression.

Revolts against the Chinese were frequent during the next 900 years. But it wasn't until A.D. 938 that the Viet were able to drive them out. For almost seven centuries after that the Vietnamese fought off repeated Chinese invasions.

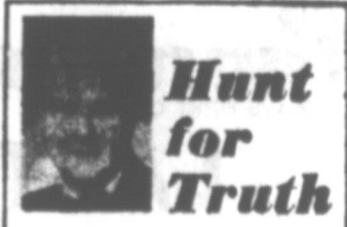

In 1406 the Chinese again took over the country. Their oppressions brought hatred. They were thrown out in 1527 after a 10-year guerrilla war.

The Chinese, who considered the Viet to be their "vassals," continued their invasions off and on until the French took over.

This history isn't evidence Mao Tse-tung won't ever send his divisions into Viet Nam.

It's not proof Ho's ruling group won't get desperate enough to ask for Red Chinese troops.

But it does indicate that if Mao's Red Chinese came into Viet Nam in numbers, a violent anti-Chinese underground would grow fast, in both North and South Viet Nam — directed against the "invaders" and against the government that brought them in.

BY H. L. HUNT

MEANING OF TERRORISM

Most people have heard that in recent years the opponents of free world governments in general, and the Marxist revolutionaries in particular, have taken up terrorism as their primary weapon of attack. Terrorist tactics have been the main theme of the conflict in Viet Nam since its beginning.

There is always the danger that the real meaning of a word and the pictures it ought to suggest will be blurred by too frequent usage and growing familiarity. When we hear the word "terrorism," we ought to take a minute or two to reflect on just what it stands for. If we do so, we will be taking the full measure of our enemy.

Terrorism is not just another word for warfare, terrible as war is in all its forms. Nor is it just another word for crime, which at least is limited by the personal greed and hates of the criminal.

Terrorism is organized, planned violence against helpless and innocent people. Its immediate purpose is to kill and destroy, to maim and disfigure. Its long-range objective is to frighten the ordinary citizen so badly that he will offer no further resistance to his enslavement by revolutionaries and conquerors.

Matter of Fact

The earliest reference to the practice of diving occurs in the Iliad, where Patroclus compares the fall of Hector's chariot to the action of a diver diving for oysters. Thucydides mentions the employment of divers during the siege of Syracuse to saw down the barriers which had been constructed below the surface of the water.

Episcopal Bishop Explains His Stand On 'God Is Dead' Idea

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International "What we need today is fewer beliefs—and more belief," said the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, as he stubbed out a cigarette and reached for the pack to light another. The Episcopal Bishop of California was tired and haggard after a long flight. He walked nervously up and down his hotel room in Washington, D.C. sipping black coffee and chain-smoking, as he tried to explain to a reporter the theological views that have prompted some members of his church to accuse him of heresy. The reporter asked how Bishop Pike felt about the "death-of-God" theology which lately has received so much publicity. "I don't dig it," he said. "If Altizer (Prof. Thomas J.J. Altizer of Emory University) means what he seems to be saying—that there once was a God and now there isn't any more—that is nonsense, in the strict meaning of the term. It just doesn't make any sense. Either God has never existed or He is eternally existent." Q. I take it you still subscribe to the latter view? A. Oh, yes indeed, I believe in God. Q. Do you think of God as an abstract, impersonal force pervading all of nature, or do you conceive of Him in personal terms?

Jehovah's Witnesses Plan Amarillo Area Convention

An area convention of Jehovah's Witnesses is scheduled to be held in Amarillo on April 17, and will be attended by 40 publishers from Pampa.

Announcement was made to the local congregation recently and plans are being completed for car pools and accommodations requirements for the families that will be attending the Christian gathering.

Supervisor for the pre-convention activities is Mr. C. A. Stoermer, Circuit Manager and tri-annual visitor to Pampa, who is working under the direction of the Watchtower Society in New York. Special arrangements have been made to send Mr. A. A. Catanzaro, District Director, to be the principal speaker for the sessions.

Several Pampa residents are scheduled to have parts in the program and plans are being completed for others who have volunteered their help to share in helping in some 21 different departments that have been set up to provide for the delegates during their stay in Amarillo. Highlights of the meeting, according to Mr. Charles Regal, local presiding minister, will include a model ministerial development school which Regal described as a perpetual training school for men, women and children, with students giving short talks to the group and practicing sermons meant for individuals. A similar school is conducted every week here in Pampa, Regal said.

A service meeting, patterned after meetings held by Christ and the Apostles for their instruction, as described in Luke, the Acts, and Corinthians, will be held. Also a baptism of newly dedicated Witnesses will be featured on Saturday and a widely advertised public talk by Catanzaro on Sunday, April 17, entitled "Does God Have Influence in This 20th Century?"

All delegates will attend the 3-day convention at their own expense and a special assembly department will make room reservations as well as setting up a cafeteria at the Municipal Auditorium for the convenience of the families attending.

Borger Nips PHS On Unearned Run

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Pampa's down, but not out, baseball forces host Nazareth Saturday at 2 p.m. in an effort to break a three-game losing streak.

The Harvesters gave up an unearned run in the top of the seventh Thursday and fell to Borger, 3-2.

The loss was Pampa's sixth in eight outings and evened the Borger series at 2-2. Pampa plays Borger at Borger Tuesday before entering league action April 1-2 in Lubbock.

Roy Harper went six and two-thirds innings for Pampa in an attempt to pick up his second victory against a lone defeat and gave up three runs, two of them earned, on but five hits, struck out eight and walked a single batter.

In the fatal seventh after Kelly fled out Richard Shaw was safe on a bad bounce error to third baseman Alvin Achord.

Winning pitcher Steve Pruitt sacrificed him to second and Shaw scored on a single by Sanders who had tied the game at 1-1 in the third with a home-run.

When Billington followed with a single Jim Lang was called in to relieve Harper and got Gooch to fly to center to end the inning.

But the damage had been done. Pampa threatened in their half of the seventh but couldn't push the run across.

Dickie Henley led off by grounding out but Achord singled, Jones fled out and Molberg singled to send Achord to third. Catcher Corky Dodd, who paced Pampa hitting with two hits in three trips, forced Molberg at second to end the game.

Steve Pruitt took the win, his second against no losses, pitching three innings and giving up one run on three hits.

Pruitt relieved Don Brandon, who worked the first four innings, giving up but a lone tally on two hits, both coming in the first inning.

Pampa tallied their first inning run when Jones doubled and scored on another double by Dodd.

Then the Harvesters went down until the sixth when Dodd single, went to second on an error, to third on a wild pitch and scored on another wild pitch.

Borger's first run came in the third when Sanders homered off Harper. The second run came in the fifth when Burns walked, was sacrificed to second by Pruitt and scored on a single by Billington.

THEY'VE GOT WILLIE

Giants Have To Be Stronger

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Anyway you look at it, the 1965 San Francisco Giants will be stronger in 1966 than they were in 1965. And last year they finished just two games behind the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

The return of Orlando Cepeda, Len Gabrielson's availability for the whole season and the acquisition of pitchers Joe Gibbon and Lindy McDaniel figure to plug the holes that broke the Giants some heart-breaking decisions in 1965.

"There is no doubt in my mind that we will be stronger," says manager Herman Franks.

"The only question is how much stronger did the other clubs with a chance for the pennant get."

Cepeda, it is recalled, sat out practically the whole season in 1965; Gabrielson came to the club in time to play in only 88 games, and Gibbon labored for the Pittsburgh Pirates and McDaniel for the Chicago Cubs.

Orlando, obviously recovered from a knee injury, is hitting the ball with the same authority that saw him bang 22 homers in seven previous big league seasons.

The question that needs resolving before the season starts, though, is where will McCovey and Cepeda play. Both prefer first base but one will have to go to the outfield, which means Willie Mays will have to work overtime on defense.

McCovey played left during most of his major league career while Cepeda played first. Indications are that the positions will be swapped this year.

Thus, with McCovey on first, Hal Lanier once again will play second, Dick Schofield will be at short and Jim Ray Hart at third. That is exactly the same infield which played most on the 1965 season.

Mays, of course, will be in center, starting the season with a total of 505 career homers and lacking just 30 to move into second place behind Babe Ruth on the all-time list. Jay Aloh, who batted .298 with nine homers in 1965, will be in right and Cepeda will be in left.

Tom Haller, one of the league's finer catchers who batted .251 with 16 homers and 49 RBIs, and Dick Bertell will work behind the plate.

Sandy and Don, who? No. It hasn't come to that yet for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Walt Alton hasn't exactly forgotten about his pair of holdout aces, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

But the Dodger manager, who insists he's preparing to defend the Dodger championship without the holdout twins, wasn't talking about Koufax and Drysdale Thursday.

Alton was talking about Sutton and Moeller.

Who? That's right — Don Sutton and Joe Moeller. They did something unique for the

Guerin to Play Starting Five Far As Possible

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — One iron-man performance must deserve another.

Playing Coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks said Thursday night he believes his team can win the Western Division semifinal playoff series by violating a basic rule of the National Basketball Association and going as far as possible with his starting five.

With a one-game edge in the best of five series after beating Baltimore 113-111 Thursday, St. Louis shoots for its second victory over the Bullets here Sunday afternoon. Guerin contends that the Hawks are strong enough to win the playoff with the same type of strategy he employed Thursday night.

In the Eastern Division semifinal series, where the visiting team also scored a victory in the opener, the Cincinnati Royals bid for a second victory over the defending champion Boston Celtics in the resumption of their rivalry Saturday night in Cincinnati.

Using three substitutes for a total of only eleven minutes, Guerin went almost the entire game with his five starters in St. Louis' victory over the Bullets, who had won seven straight from the Hawks in Baltimore.

The Bullets were not at full strength with Kevin Loughery, Gus Johnson, and Johnny Kerr injured. But the way Guerin refused to substitute, Baltimore still had the manpower advantage. Guerin, Len Wilkens, Joe Caldwell, Zelma Beatty and Bill Bridges were the five starters

Barefoot Skiing 'The Thing'

Since 1947, the year in which the first human being rode across the water on barefoot, every skier who takes pride in his accomplishments has felt something lacking until the day he too could say he was a barefoot skier, and back up his claim by giving a proud demonstration to his friends.

Any skier, in good physical condition, can—with persistence and perseverance—learn the art. All you need is a boat capable of maintaining 36 miles per hour while towing a skier and in this altitude these aren't as common as one might think. Next, find a stretch of calm water—ripples no more than an inch are really better than glossy water, but stay from waves any bigger than three inches. Above all, stay away from shallow water; you may go to a depth of four or five feet on a barefoot spill.

The only remaining piece of equipment needed is a "take-off" ski, a lightweight, small ski with the binders removed and perhaps a patch of nonskid tape placed at the balance point where your foot will be placed. With a good lifejacket, a not belt, securely fastened, you are now ready to take your place in the barefoot fraternity—or at least make a stab at it.

Stepping off the ski is a race against time for the split second you take to get your other foot in the water; the longer you take, the more likely a fall will occur. With your weight far back you can actually ride on one bare foot a good distance, and therein lies the secret of transferring the other foot successfully from the ski to the water.

Nothing need be said about how to fall barefoot riding. It happens so quickly you hardly have time for reflex actions, much less thought-out reactions, but with your weight far back, the spills are not nearly so bone-chattering.

"CHAMPIONS" ON TV — NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Company announced Wednesday it would televise live the last two rounds of the Tournament of Champions golf tournament from Las Vegas, Nev., April 16-17.

Boating's Salty Phrases are Giving Way to Science

Salty phrases are slipping out of the language of pleasure boaters. Scientific terms are easing in. It is the runabout skipper who shouts "Ahoy!" any more. He were told to "belay the order downhaul" there's no long what he'd try. He probably has never seen oakum, used to keep seams from pulling. If he started to sply with caulking iron and mallet, he'd probably split his hull.

Say epoxy resin, though, or gel coat pigment, Dynel fabric or glass fiber-reinforced laminates and you're talking his language. The old salt might guess polyester was a two-named Southern belle, but most modern boatmen recognize it and the other terms as ingredients of a plastic hull. An outstanding new boating bonus from the test tube boys is called "Thiokol polysulfide polymer. Fortunately, it shows up under a variety of shorter trade names, but the cans usually mention it on the label. As a sealant that won't harden or dry out, it may make leaky seams a plague of the past. Some forms come in two cans which are mixed just before use. In four to seven hours it's no longer sticky. In a day it turns into rubber and is cured forever. Then it's so tough that wood it has joined will usually splinter before the adhesive jets go.

Yet if the planking works and bands a little as hulls like to do, the polysulfide stretches or contracts without letting a drop of water through. The compound is made in one-part pre-mixed form as well.

It was developed for curtain-wall buildings — skyscrapers enclosed mostly with glass. Hot or cold weather could make the metal window frames expand or contract, and let driving rain convert offices into shower baths. Today this sealant takes a death grip on both panes and frames to make the building watertight.

Highway and bridge surfacing is another long wearing use for the multi-purpose mixture.

Now that Thiokol is applied to boats, it has made lapstrake sea shifts popular again. These hulls with rugged overlapping planks were well proven as rum runners during prohibition when they had to outrace the U. S. Coast Guard through rough-and-tumble waters off the New Jersey coast. But it was a hard hull to keep watertight until polysulfide came along. Almost any clean surfaces can be joined with the stuff. Once cured, it resists water, oils, fuels and most chemicals. Compounds in this family have gone far beyond what the inventors might have guessed. Mixed with other chemicals and hardened into a giant booster, they become the solid rocket fuel that can fire astronauts and bring them back safely.

Panhandle FAF Doing Good Job

Boating and skiing in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains being coordinated by the fledgling Area Federation of Boat & Ski Clubs. The federation, formed in January of 1963, has a noble function first, it serves as a legislative body for the benefit of member clubs; second, acts as a "clearing house" for boating area boating and skiing events on the calendar. Members of the federation represent the Panhandle Boat & Ski Club Amarillo, Lubbock Water Ski Club, Pampa Boat & Ski Club, and Borger Boat and Ski Club. The federation is open to any other organized boat and ski club in the area.

Ewell Parker of Amarillo is president of the federation, other officers are LeRoi Ogden of Pampa, vice president, and Gail Stapp of Amarillo, secretary. Club representatives to the federation are Ewell Parker and Jim Calcote of Amarillo, Wendell Cromer and Jerry Bridges of Lubbock, Le Roi Ogden and Jimmy Kell of Pampa, and Darville Orr and Dub Goin of Borger. "Primary purpose of the federation," Parker said, "is to coordinate boating and skiing activities in the area and prevent any major interference by the activities of one club with the activities of other clubs."

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The natural and close ties of the United States and Britain are providing the bridge by which American television is suddenly becoming more involved with regularly-scheduled entertainment programs originating abroad.

There have, of course, been series on American video in the past that were produced overseas—for example, the excellent drama show, "Espionage," and the circus program, "International Showtime," both on NBC-TV.

Never, however, has there been—as there is now—such a spurge of British shows either on U.S. television or getting ready to go on.

The fact that virtually all of them are either mid-season or summer replacement series, and that sponsors and networks still feel a foreign accent may hurt ratings in the provinces, cannot dispel the certainty that such shows are merely the forerunners of greater American involvement in international productions.

Thus far, U.S. viewers are perhaps best acquainted this season with two British entries in the spy category: CBS-TV's "Secret Agent," which has turned out to be the most charming and polished escapade fare on American network television, and ABC-TV's "The Baron." Both series are expected to be dropped because of ratings by the time the new season begins.

Another English adventure series, "The Saint," continues to be highly popular on a syndicated, non-network basis, although NBC-TV has lately not had anything to say about its former plans to pick it up.

This Monday, yet another British secret agent series with humor, "The Avengers," has its premiere on ABC-TV, replacing the canceled "Ben Casey."

And on April 8, ABC-TV will introduce a one-hour English-produced series, "Court Martial," starring two Americans, Bradford Dillman and Peter Graves, as "army officers-lawyers attached to the judge advocate general's department in Europe during World War II." This program replaces the Jimmy Dean show.

Starting in May, NBC-TV will offer a series of six one-hour variety shows taped at the London Palladium, and featuring American stars as emcees. The program will be produced by England's ATV network, and the three emcees set thus far are Kate Smith, Jonathan Winters and Lorne Greene.

CBS-TV, meanwhile, has announced that Red Skelton's summer replacement will be a one-hour British comedy-variety-circus series, "Hippodrome," with a different American comedy star as host each week.

The same network has also announced that Jackie Gleason's summer replacement will be a one-hour weekly variety hour produced in Europe, "Continental Showcase," with U.S. comedian Jim Backus as the regular host. The program will have its premiere June 11.

England, it also turns out, has helped provide essential material for an apparently unusual two-part story on Ireland scheduled for NBC-TV's "Frank McGee report" April 10 and 17. London's Imperial War Museum made available 50-year-old films of the Irish rebellion of Easter week, 1916, and the aftermath of fighting in the streets of Dublin.

German physicist and discoverer of the X-Ray, Wilhelm Roentgen, was born in 1845.

Pampans Join in Library Discussion at Conference

Pampa's three representatives at the First Texas Governor's Conference on Libraries in Austin yesterday joined with nearly 2,000 other delegates in adopting a resolution commending Gov. John Connally for calling the conference.

Pampa was represented by Mrs. William Spidell, Lovett Memorial Library librarian; Mrs. Aubrey Steele, president of the library board, and A. J. Carubbi, a member of the governor's advisory committee on libraries.

Participants were registered from 226 counties with Harris, Dallas, and Travis showing the largest registrations with more than 100 each. Forty-five representatives of newspapers, radio, television and magazines were in attendance.

Delegates included a large number of mayors and city managers, county judges and commissioners, school superintendents, college and university officials, and members of library boards and state boards and commissions.

A keynote address by Governor Connally highlighted the one-day program which concluded with a reception at 4 p.m. Following the formal program the participants met in groups to discuss local problems.

Conference observers, who did not have discussion group assignments, saw a film on library development or, visited the Texas State Library during the discussion period.

Luncheon for the 2,000 guests was served in the glass-enclosed area of the Austin Municipal auditorium which overlooks Town Lake and the skyline of the Capitol city.

Participants were asked to return to their local communities and set up meetings to follow up the Conference on the local level. Most of the meetings will

US Highway 60 Convention Set April 28-30

Letters will be going out this week to members of U. S. National Highway 60 Association, urging attendance at the National U. S. 60 Convention to be held in Pampa April 28, 29, and 30.

Howard Buckingham Jr., Pampa businessman, is president of the national association. Buckingham said he expected more than 100 out-of-town delegates to be registered for the convention. This number will be supplemented considerably by people in the Pampa area who will be commuting back and forth to the three-day convention.

U. S. Highway 60 traverses the entire United States from Los Angeles to Virginia Beach and is one of the most scenic trans-continental highways.

Woman Gives Birth to Two Children 29 Days Apart

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—A 23-year-old woman with a double uterus has given birth to a daughter and son only 29 days apart. The children were not twins.

Mrs. Irby Pugh gave birth Feb. 18 to Lisa Michelle, a 5-pound, 14-ounce girl who was five weeks premature. Mrs. Pugh's obstetrician revealed Tuesday.

Last Saturday, Mrs. Pugh returned to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and gave birth to an 8-pound, 13-ounce boy, Eric Norman, by Caesarean section.

In stressing that the babies were not twins, the doctor, who declined to be identified, explained that Mrs. Pugh has a double uterus. He said such double births occur only once in 160,000 times and therefore are nearly as rare as quadruplets.
