US AGAIN HITS RED OIL SITES

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. warplanes returned to North Viet Nam's industrial heartland for the third straight day today and blasted a major petroleum dump 15 miles northwest of the key port of Haiphong.

U.S. Navy jets hit the Dong Nhom oil dump which intelligence officers said contained about 8 per cent of the Communist nation's oil storage capacity. Pilots reported "all bombs on target" and streaked away leaving thick black smoke streaming from the oil depot.

The raids were a continuation of the systematic destruction of Viet Nam's petroleum and oil supplies. The biggest raids came Wednesday when Air Force and Navy jets knocked out about 50 per cent of the country's oil storage capacity in raids on the fringes of Hanoi and Haiphong. This was followed up with attacks on three smaller facilities north of Hanoi Thursday.

U.S. officials disclosed today that three Air Force jet fighters accidentally dumped their bomb loads on a South Vietnamese village while returning from a combat mission today, killing five civilians and wounding 43 others.

The spokesman said the tragic accident occurred as the three F-4s were attempting to jettison their unused bomb loads over a designated jettison area about 15 miles north of Bin Hoa air base.

The bombs failed to release properly as the pilots pulled out of their runs and the deadly canisters fell on the village of Ta Nuyen.

Trucks and helicopters carrying medical aid rushed to the area.

In ground action, remnants of a Viet Cong regiment fled through the jungles north of Saigon today toward the Cambodian border leaving the bodies of 220 comrades behind.

They were fully pursued by units of the U.S. 1st Infantry (See SITES, Page 3)

LBJ Tells Reds To Talk Or Expect More Bombing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson waited on his Texas ranch today for a communist answer to his cards on the table challenge: Come to the peace conference and expect more bombings in North Viet Nam.

Johnson laid it on the line Thursday in a pair of forceful and often impassioned speeches in the corn belt centers of Omaha, Neb., and Des Moines, Iowa.

He sent word to Hanoi that air strikes in North Viet Nam will continue, but that he is ready to start peace talks at a moment's notice—any time, any where, on any sound invitation—to end the killing in the South and the bombings in the North.

He also let his critics in Washington and the youths who picketed him in Des Moines know that he believes the Viet Cong are banking on disension in the United States to pull out a victory for them.

The President wound it up by flying to his Johnson City ranch, 70 miles from San Antonio, for a long Fourth of July weekend. His wife, Lady Bird, his daughter, Luci, and Lucie's fiance, Pat Nguyen, will accompany him to the Midwest tour—part with him.

Part of the time, Thursday, Johnson was talking in warm and emotional terms to the tens of thousands who turned out on roadsides, city streets, river banks, corn fields and auditoriums to hear him proclaim peace and prosperity at the top of his voice.

But some of the time he was talking loud and clear directly to Hanoi.

The first time was in a speech at Omaha, where he announced that the tide of battle has begun to turn in Viet Nam and served notice:

"The air attacks on military targets have increased and will continue to impose a growing burden and a high price on those who wage war against the freedom of others."

The second time was in Des Moines, before a $100-a-plate party banquet Thursday night. He threw away much of a prepared text on farm matters and called on Hanoi to talk peace—or else.

"Let me be absolutely clear," he said. "I want the leaders of North Viet Nam to know exactly where we stand."

Then, after repeating his firm determination to fight and win in Viet Nam, the President told the men in Hanoi:

"If they will only let me know when and where they would like to ask us directly what can be done to bring peace to South Viet Nam, I will have my closest and most trusted associates there in a matter of hours."

"There need be no agenda. There need be no previous understanding of what will and will not be discussed. The only need only be a room and table and people willing to talk respectfully."

"This is one way to stop the fighting. It is one way to move toward peace. It is one way to end the killing in the South and the bombing in the North."

"If they will give us but one single chance, we will prove our good faith."

The patriotic phase of the program will start at 8:45 p.m. with a brief address by Travis Lively, with Norman Henning, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding. The colors will be presented by a color guard from Boy Scout Troop 14 with Don Lusher, scout master.

The invocation will be given by Rev. M. E. Smith.

The fireworks display, produced by the Burnett Fireworks Company of Enid, Okla., will start at approximately 9 p.m. and will last for 35 minutes.

Pampa Key Club will put out flags in front of various businesses Monday morning, and take them down that afternoon. Then the club will decorate the grandstand at Recreation Park for the display.

Most stores will be closed Monday, enabling most employees to have an extra day off for the holiday.

All city, county, state and federal offices also will be closed in observance of the Declaration of Independence department of the police, sheriff and fire departments.

There will be no window service at the Pampa post office Monday. Postmaster Lynn Boyd (See RESIDENTS, Page 3)

Residents Prepare For July 4 Holiday

By LARRY HOLLIS

Many Pampans will have a long weekend because of the Fourth of July holiday, and will spend the day relaxing, traveling or enjoying the fireworks display at Recreation Park Monday night.

Pampans can expect hot weather for the beginning of the holiday weekend, with a high in the mid-90's and no showers in prospect until Sunday afternoon.

The fireworks display will get underway at 8 p.m., with music by the Catalinas, a local combo.

The patriotic phase of the program will start at 8:45 p.m. with a brief address by Travis Lively, with Norman Henning, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding. The colors will be presented by a color guard from Boy Scout Troop 14 with Don Lusher, scout master.

Judge Refuses To Admit Statement In Klansmen Trial

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—A federal court judge refused to allow a written statement by Ku Klux Klansman Joseph Howard Sims in evidence today at the trial of Sims and two other Klansmen because of a recent Supreme Court decision.

U.S. District Judge William A. Rountree barred the statement, which Sims allegedly gave to FBI agents in 1964, under the Supreme Court ruling setting up strict guidelines for the questioning of suspects.

After hearing arguments on the statement while the jury was out of the courtroom, Rountree said he was "compelled" to take this step, but added that he should not be taken as a reflection on the work of the FBI agents. He permitted two other FBI interviews with Sims before his arrest to be used.

The government called today on rebuttal witnesses in the trial of the three Klansmen for violating the civil rights of Negro educator Lemuel Penn, who was killed in a night rider ambush on a North Georgia highway in 1964.

AMA Urges Doctors Boycott Non-Cooperating Hospitals

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association urged today a boycott of hospitals that don't cooperate with the organization's fight against anti-trust suits.

The AMA's stormy 15th annual convention came to a close on the eve of perhaps the biggest change ever to hit the U.S. medical profession—the advent of Medicare.

The AMA's new president, Charles L. Hudson of Cleveland, Ohio, asked the AMA's policy as an organization," he said, making House of Delegates to reconsider its resolution calling from St. Louis, Mo., replied, for the boycotts which it passed

Today Is W-Day For De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI)—Today was W-Day for French President Charles de Gaulle. As he had commanded, France's armed forces officially withdrew from NATO and the United States continued uprooting its military installations on French soil.

Withdrawal day dawned with no special goodbye-to-France activities planned at NATO headquarters in Paris or at Supreme Headquarters Allied powers Europe (SHAPE) on its central European command outside the city.

French flags remained flying on both installations in deference to De Gaulle's declaration that France remains a member of the alliance politically.

French officers and men have been leaving their NATO jobs for weeks. Many will stay on until October to ease the changeover and keep essential communications and administrative services running. As of today, they are formally "members of the French mission to NATO."

The giant U.S. withdrawal from France, ordered by De Gaulle to reassert national sovereignty, is also being spread over a period of months.

When De Gaulle dramatically named today as the deadline for the French pullout from NATO and American military withdrawal, French officials stressed the state was only symbolic and said De Gaulle would be satisfied if the pullout and withdrawal were obviously under way.

De Gaulle Departs For Home Boosted By Soviet Alliance

MOSCOW (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle bade goodbye to Russia and headed home today with firm support from his new Soviet political partners for his vision of a Europe free of U.S. influence.

Several thousand Soviet citizens, including Premier Alexei Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, two cosmonauts and most Soviet government officials tured out at Moscow's Yuzovka 2 airport to see the French leader off at the end of his 12-day visit.

"I take back with me the conviction . . . that the Soviet Union and France, far from the manner of national, historical, popular and political reasons, have every reason to cooperate . . . in a practical and political way," De Gaulle said.

He concluded his speech by shouting in Russian to the flag-waving crowds: "Long live Russia, long live Soviet people."

In a farewell speech to De Gaulle, Podgorny voiced the satisfaction of the Soviet Union and the government at "the happy conclusion of our talks."

He said the further progress of "Soviet-French relations will contribute greatly toward improving European political relations and strengthening European security and world peace."

In a joint declaration signed Thursday with Podgorny, De Gaulle also joined the Russians in denouncing the war in Viet Nam as a "threat to world peace" and demanded an end to all foreign intervention.

French sources said he vetoed a Soviet attempt to brand the United States as the aggressor in the declaration. But he sat quietly by at a reception less than an hour later while Soviet Premier Kosygin charged that Washington is not interested in a peaceful settlement of the war and denounced America's "criminal acts" in bombing the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong.

FIRST MEDICARE PATIENT—Mrs. Mary Swayne, 91, of 2322 N. Russell, is Pampa's first patient under the federal government's Medicare program for persons 65 or over which went into effect today. Mrs. Swayne, who has been ill since February, was admitted to Highland General Hospital late yesterday. Nurse Maxine Ince, 737 Deane Dr., is shown here administering to Mrs. Swayne in her hospital room.

Medicare Quietly Becomes Official

Hundreds of Texans became participants of Medicare today—many were asleep at the time. Medicare went into effect at midnight, and at hospitals throughout the state persons over 65 were discharged and readmitted under Medicare for bookkeeping purposes. The patients, who did not move, probably were unaware of the transaction.

Individual physicians meeting in Chicago this week for the American Medical Association convention had predicted that "bedlam" would break out when Medicare went into effect.

However, an American Hospital Association spokesman in Chicago said Thursday, "We expect no big rush in as far as in-patient hospitalization is concerned. . . . We expect no more than a 5 per cent increase through the first couple of months."

In Pampa, Highland General Hospital does not expect much of an increase in the number of patients over 65.

"But we have ample beds ready to take care of them," stated Bill Robertson, administrator, "in case a greater influx occurs than expected."

Nearly all hospital administrators questioned by United Press International in a spot check across the nation thought they were equal to the task.

Medicare will provide payment for up to 60 days of hospitalization after the patient pays the first $40. If additional hospital care is required, Medicare will pay for 30 more days, with the patient paying $10 a day.

The second part of Medicare is optional, costing the older $3 a month. It provides the bulk of the money for doctors' bills after an initial payment of $50 by the patient.

Expansion Planned At Moody Feed Lots

Work has begun on a $200,000 expansion program at Moody feed lot a year and with the expansion, according to Rex McAnelly, general manager of the feed lot and mill operations, east five to ten employees.

On an average McAnelly said, his some 7,000 cattle will produce two and one-half pounds of beef fat or almost seven million tons a year. This is enough to feed a town three times the size of Pampa, he noted.

The amount of feed consumed by the feed lot each year is twice the 25 million pounds of Milo produced in Gray County. The new mill will produce a ton of feed per minute.

McAnelly said that the Moody Farms operation grosses more than a million annually.

In other foundation business, Ed Myatt was named to head a delegation to attend the Texas Industrial Development Conference at Texas A&M University, Sept. 15 and 16.

Course in Sales Training Sponsored by Daily News

A capsule course in Human Relations and Over-The-Counter Selling will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 18, for local merchants and their sales personnel at the Coronado Inn.

Sponsored by The Pampa Daily News, the sales training event is the opening gun to a city-wide promotion in which leading merchants are participating.

It's a brand new approach to improving the image of Pampa as a friendly, progressive, community, with emphasis on shopping facilities.

The sales clinic will be conducted by Bill Leigh, president of William A. Leigh Associates, Inc., a national sales promotion firm.

Other communities where the clinic has been held report the capsule course gives an informative and comprehensive presentation of down to earth problems in both salesmanship and human relations.

Leigh has a background of many years of experience in sales and sales training problems in both management and direct selling. He is well versed in advertising and community promotions and for the past 15 years has been a consultant and director of sales promotion

BILL LEIGH . . . course instructor over 2,000 communities throughout the nation. His informative lectures have always been a feature of his stops in cities around the nation. Although the sales clinic is designed principally for the benefit of salespeople who come in direct contact with customers, professional people in varied fields say the course is of great educational inspirational value. Bill Haight will assist Leigh in explaining the city wide promotion to Pampa businessmen.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On April 28, 1965, the United States intervened militarily in the affairs of a Latin American nation for the first time since 1926.

Acting upon orders from President Johnson, U.S. Marines moved into Santo Domingo to protect the lives of American citizens caught in the middle of the violence and bloodshed of another revolt in the Dominican Republic.

This was in the beginning soon the U.S. effort became a frank expression of U.S. determination that the Dominican Republic would not become another Communist Cuba.

Within the Organization of American States (OAS), which had not been consulted, the action aroused a storm. To Mexico, a firm advocate of non-intervention it was a throw-back to gunboat diplomacy. Venezuela, Chile, Uruguay and others reacted similarly.

Even within the United States there was a feeling that perhaps its government had acted hastily.

That was 14 months ago. And, as Joaquin Balaguer takes over as the country's newly-elected president, regardless of past recriminations and doubts, the Dominican Republic has a chance to resume the ways of democracy of which it has known so little.

The force that restored peace to the tiny republic of 3.5 million ultimately totaled some 8,200 men, including 6,800 from the United States, about 1,200 from Brazil and others from Paraguay, Costa Rica, Honduras and Nicaragua. It has begun its withdrawal and hopefully will complete it within 90 days.

But credit for this new opportunity given the Dominican Republic also must be given to the quietly persistent

TO UNVEIL SST
BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—Lockheed-California Co. unveils today its full-scale mockup of the first U.S. supersonic transport (SST) aircraft almost as long as a football field and designed to fly at 1,800 miles an hour.

Hangan doors at secret building 360 at the Lockheed plant here are to be opened at 8:30 a.m. (9:30 a.m. CST) to allow newsmen their first view of the 273-foot model.

On the planning board, the plane will seat 266 passengers and would be capable of flying from Los Angeles to New York in two hours and from New York to Europe in less than three hours.

Russell Urges US To Bomb 'All-Over' Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., urged Thursday that the United States quit waiting and start bombing "each and every peace target in North Viet Nam that the game can contribute to the war in South Viet Nam."

The get-tough proposal by the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee during a brief Senate debate was quickly endorsed by several others including Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen and Senate Democratic whip Russell B. Long.

"We did everything but get down on our hands and knees and beg for a settlement in Viet Nam," said Russell, endorsing the bombing of oil depots at Hanoi and Haiphong.

"We have very limited objectives in the fight in Viet Nam, but we have been dilatory in winning these objectives," he said. "Now we must catch up for the time lost by not hitting these targets before even if it means what some call an escalation of the war."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who fears the raids will damage hopes for peace talks, sat quietly during the exchange.

Another dissenter from the new program is making some bombing policy, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., expressed his reservations at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing which prompted Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to defend the raids as prudent and good sense.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Awards and practical results for the best network documentary of the season, NBC-TV's "Who Shall Live?"—about artificial kidney machines—point up the opportunities for programs on little-understood subjects.

The one-hour broadcast, which will be repeated July 10, dealt powerfully and humanly with the lack of enough of these machines—despite their proven effectiveness—and the resultant huge cost to needy patients, and the facing of possible death by those unable to "qualify" for treatment.

"Who Shall Live?"—which draws its title primarily from the fact that other human beings must decide which of their fellow citizens have a chance to survive—tied for a first place award in the video category of the American Medical Association's annual medical journalism competition.

The broadcast also won recognition in the 1966 Ohio State awards competition, conducted by the Institute for Education by Radio-Television of Ohio State University.

Now comes word from the National Dialysis Committee in N. Bellmore, N.Y., concerning the program, which originally was seen Nov. 28, 1965, and was produced by Lucy Jarvis, previously known for such shows as "The Kremlin" and "The Louvre."

Enclosing excerpts from a congressional committee report submitted to the House of Representatives is a white back by Rep. John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island, the National Dialysis Committee says in a letter.

"Frankly, we were inspired to further efforts because of Lucy Jarvis. The legislative presentation used as testimony on June 3, 1966, was a reflection of the more dynamic approach we are now able to assume towards those who will decide to provide more funds for treatment of kidney patients because Lucy Jarvis softened them up."

"Each new patient treated with the therapy of dialysis on the artificial kidney will owe some portion of his life to the camera and cutting shears of Lucy Jarvis."

The legislative presentation says in part, according to the excerpts:

"The committee has been greatly impressed by the rapid strides made during the past few years in the development of the artificial kidney and the techniques of hemodialysis by which impurities, normally removed from the blood by the kidneys, are removed externally."

"The necessary equipment, however, is still too clumsy, complicated to operate, and prohibitively costly to meet the widespread need."

"It is indeed distressing that probably as many as several thousand people will die this year who might have been saved if artificial kidney equipment were available in more than just the few centers in which this research is now being conducted."

Neslage is Relected President of Center

Fred J. Neslage was elected to his second term as president of the Pampa Youth and Community Center at a recent directors meeting of the organization at the Center.

Also named to succeed them for another year were: Tom Tooley, vice president; Bill Atkinson, secretary; and Mack Blatt Jr., treasurer.

Although in operation less than six years, the Center has had almost one-half million participation in leisure time activities for the youth of the community in 1965 according to professional director George Smith.

Built entirely by private funds the $250,000 plant on W. Harvey includes a 75 by 30-ft indoor heated swimming pool, a 100 by 60-ft gymnasium, a recreation room, dressing rooms and a television and meeting room.

During the summer months, Smith said some 200 swimmers are using the pool during the day, while another hundred use it at night. All told, between four and five hundred persons use the Center facilities daily. Among the many Center activities besides swimming are basketball, volleyball, tumbling and wrestling ping-pong, pool, shuffleboard and trampolines. An adult square dance group meets at the Center each Saturday and about 200 youths attend the Friday night teenage dances every week.

Slight Damage Occurs in Wreck

Two Pampa women escaped injury Thursday in a two-car collision on Gray and Francis Sts.

Pampa Police said Mrs. Orvala W. DeWeese, 54, of 2400 Gray was stopped at a stop sign on Gray and Francis when another vehicle, driven by Velda M. Huddleston, 27, of 1321 E. Foster hit the DeWeese car from behind.

Damage to the DeWeese vehicle was estimated at $50 and to the Huddleston car as none. No citation was issued.

Doggett Appointed To Law Association Directors Board

Pampa Constable, H. A. Doggett, has been appointed to the board of directors of the Law Enforcement Officers' Association of Texas.

Doggett was appointed at the annual meeting of the association held last week in Mineral Wells.

Car Reported Damaged

Ted Finley, 404 E. Craven, told police today that someone put sugar in his gas tank and punctured holes in the tires on his car.

Pampa police found a footprint at the scene. No estimate of damage was given.

Visitor Facilities To Open July 2-4 At Lake Meredith

LAKE MEREDITH — Plans have been made to temporarily open visitor use facilities at Fritch Fortness on July 2, 3 and 4, according to M. J. Becker, superintendent of Sanford Recreation Area.

The temporary opening at 8 a.m. Saturday, July 2, and reclosure on Monday, July 4 at 9 p.m. are necessitated by additional contract work yet to be performed by the E. B. Baker Company of Bojger.

Available facilities will include a 60 ft. concrete launching ramp, courtesy dock, parking area, chemical toilets and access roads.

Becker stated due to lack of space there will be no vehicle and boat trailer parking in the immediate area of the launching ramp. Approximately 85 car and trailer parking spaces, are provided in a nearby parking lot accessible by a short flight of stairs. To avoid congestion and blocking of traffic, all parking in excess of the marked capacity of the parking area must be at the top of the Fortness hill. Parking violators will be issued citations, Becker said.

Until such time as a comprehensive concession contract can be written, there will be no on-site services at the Fortness. Visitors will have to rely on a mobile canteen and gasoline services provided on weekends at Blue West and Sanford-Yake, or they will have to bring sufficient supplies with them each day.

Becker said the new comfort station at the Sanford-Yake picnic area was open and about half the picnic shelters have been erected and 24 tables have been installed in these shelters and are ready for public use.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Carmichael-Whalley Colonial Chapel with Rev. E. Lee Stanford of Dimmitt officiating. Burial will be in Miami Cemetery under direction of Carmichael-Whalley Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Perry was born June 27, 1887, in Lipan. She was married to T. A. Saxon on June 4, 1906, at which time the couple moved to Higgins, moving to Miami in 1912. Mr. Saxon preceded her in death in 1947. On May 8, 1951, she was married to Grover C. Perry and the couple made their home south of Pampa near the Grandview Community. They moved to Pampa last fall. Mrs. Perry was a member of Lamar Christian Church.

Survivors include her husband of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Bowers of Pampa and Mrs. Laurence Berry of Miami; one step-daughter, Mrs. Spurgeon King of Abilene; three step-sons, Max Perry of Midland, Roach Perry of Plainview and Van Perry of Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Allen of Lockney, Mrs. Henry Bell of Mineral Wells and Mrs. Lorena Aitken of Los Angeles, Calif.; and three grandchildren. Pallbearers will be Sam Bowers, Joe Wilson, Ross Byars, W. A. Wagoner, C. T. Locke, Ellis Locke, Jim Reeves and W. H. Carr.

Lubbock Man Sentenced On Burglarly Charge

WHEELER — Ted Jerry Ballentine, 26, of Lubbock, was sentenced to eight years in the State Penitentiary in Huntsville Thursday by District Judge Lewis Goodrich.

Ballentine pled guilty Thursday to the February burglaries of a Lumber Co., grocery store, Production Credit Association and a drug store, all in Wheeler County.

Residents

Holiday mail collections will be made as usual. The post office lobby will remain open for box patrons.

There will be no home delivery of mail on the holiday, although special delivery service will be maintained.

As a break from work, many Pampans will take to Lake McClellan and Lake Meredith for boating, swimming, fishing and picnicking.

Others will take trips to resort areas or visit relatives. Record traffic is expected on the highways, which makes traveling more conducive to traffic accidents.

State and local police face another long, hot weekend of trying to keep motorists from killing themselves in record numbers.

The National Safety Council in Chicago estimated as many as 510 to 610 Americans would die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. tonight.

If the worst prediction proves true, it would be the bloodiest July 4th holiday on record for the nation's motorists.

The National Safety Council, which came under attack this week from a group of physicians at the American Medical Association convention, said 60 to 70 lives could be saved if all motorists would use seat belts.

The doctors said the council's holiday death predictions were "a grisly numbers game and meaningless."

Obituaries

J. D. Merriman Jr., of Silver City, N.M., died yesterday at his home.

Mr. Merriman was formerly a newspaper man having worked on the Pampa Daily News at one time and was owner of the Wheeler, Panhandle and Mountaineer, N.M. newspapers at various times. He retired as manager of the Silver City Credit Association two years ago and had recently returned from a trip to Bologna, Italy, where he visited with his son and family.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete with a Silver City funeral home.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Helen Merriman of the home; one son, James Merriman of Bologna, Italy; two brothers, Wayland Merriman of Pampa and John Merriman of Amarillo; four sisters, Mrs. J. M. Turner, Mrs. H. R. Van Sickle and Mrs. Jack Graham, all of Pampa; and Mrs. Robert Crisp of Los Lunas, N.M., and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Perry, former long-time resident of Miami, died at her home at 317 W. Buckler at 11 p.m. yesterday.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Carmichael-Whalley Colonial Chapel with Rev. E. Lee Stanford of Dimmitt officiating. Burial will be in Miami Cemetery under direction of Carmichael-Whalley Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Perry was born June 27, 1887, in Lipan. She was married to T. A. Saxon on June 4, 1906, at which time the couple moved to Higgins, moving to Miami in 1912. Mr. Saxon preceded her in death in 1947. On May 8, 1951, she was married to Grover C. Perry and the couple made their home south of Pampa near the Grandview Community. They moved to Pampa last fall. Mrs. Perry was a member of Lamar Christian Church.

Survivors include her husband of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Bowers of Pampa and Mrs. Laurence Berry of Miami; one step-daughter, Mrs. Spurgeon King of Abilene; three step-sons, Max Perry of Midland, Roach Perry of Plainview and Van Perry of Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Locke, Ellis Locke, Jim Reeves and W. H. Carr.

Hot Forecast For Pampa, Area

Pampans can expect hot weather for the beginning of the Fourth of July holiday, as the high is expected to reach the mid-90's with no showers forecast.

Skies will be clear to partly cloudy. The night is expected to be warm, with a low in the lower 70's. Southerly winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour are predicted, but decreasing after sunset. Outlook for Sunday calls for a few afternoon thunderstorms.

High yesterday was 89, with a low this morning at 69.

In other parts of the state, thunder showers, damped in the northeastern quarter of Texas, again today, and eastern parts of the state through Saturday.

Haze hung over much of extreme South Texas and temperatures ranged mostly in the mid to high 70s throughout the state.

Showers fell in an area from the Red River to south of Tyler.

A windstorm buffeted the Caddo Mills area near Greenville late Thursday afternoon, causing light damage and lightning knocked out power to the Washburn Tunnell beneath the Houston Ship Channel.

The tunnel, the only major link between northeast and southeast Harris County across the waterway, was closed for two hours after the evening rush period. Power to three large exhaust fans in the tunnel was out.

The mercury rose to a high of 100 degrees at Presidio Thursday and it was 99 at Wichita Falls.

(Continued From Page 1) Division which tangled with the Reds in a fierce, close-quarters fight Thursday. Helicopter patrols whirled over the rolling hill country 60 miles north of Saigon in efforts to spot and block the battered force which numbered about 1,200 men before the "Big Red One" troopers cut them up.

U.S. Marines reported they added 39 to the death toll in air and ground action in the northern provinces around Da Nang, Chu Lai and Phu Bai Thursday. Twenty were killed by Marine pilots who caught an estimated company of guerrillas moving across an open field.

A Marine patrol accounted for 10 others during a tank-supported battle near a Viet Cong village.

Authorities said one Air Force F105 jet was shot down 15 miles northwest of the coastal city of Dong Hoi in today's raids over the North. But the pilot, Capt. Lew W. Shuttuck, 33, of Vancouver, Wash., parachuted into the South China Sea and was picked up 40 minutes later by an H115 Albatross rescue seaplane piloted by Capt. Duane A. Miller, 32, of Seymour, Wis.

U.S. authorities also disclosed today that Communist defenders launched five surface-to-air anti-aircraft missiles at American planes during Thursday's raids against oil depots and radar sites in the Hanoi area. The pilots saw one missile explode but all missed their targets.

Officials said the raid was highly successful. The Bac Giang fuel storage area 44 miles northwest of Hanoi was destroyed.

Police Receive Reports of Calls

A Pampa woman, who lives on Farley St. reported to Pampa police Thursday she had been receiving anonymous phone calls.

The woman told police the caller used abusive language.

Pampa Youth Hurt in Wreck

Gary David Dudley, 16, of 700 N. Somerville, was listed in good condition in Highland General Hospital today from injuries sustained in a car-motorcycle accident Thursday night.

According to Pampa police Dudley, riding a motorcycle, was going west on Francis St. and collided with a car, driven by Cecil Wayne Dalton, 56, of 1011 Christie, traveling north on Gray St.

Police Sergeant Preston Bailey, who investigated the accident, said Dalton was attempting to cross the intersection when the accident occurred. No citation was issued.

Victim Declines To File Charges On Assault

Joe David Casey, 22, of 505 Oklahoma was treated and released from Highland General Hospital Thursday night after he was stabbed in the left arm. Pampa Police said Casey declined to file charges against his assailant.

Worley Hospital in Pampa will not participate in the program. "This is a free enterprise institution," stated Mrs. Fern Root, administrator, "and we operate for a profit."

Mrs. Root said that Worley would lose money if it admitted patients under Medicare and that Worley cannot operate on a non-profit basis, much as it would like to.

Social Security officials say 580 Texas hospitals applied under the program, and agreements have been signed with 474 of them. The rest are expected to be signed up soon.

Dear Abby... What Those Guests Needed Was a Hotel

DEAR ABBY: We have a nice home with a lovely guest room which has a big comfortable double bed. We had a couple come to visit us for a week, and when we showed them their room the man said: "A double bed! We haven't slept in a double bed in years. At home we have twin beds."

His wife gave him a dirty look so he kept still. We would have offered them our bedroom, but we have a double bed, too. After they went home, we heard from a mutual friend that they didn't enjoy their stay with us because they aren't used to sleeping together.

Must we exchange the double bed for twin beds to accommodate people like that?

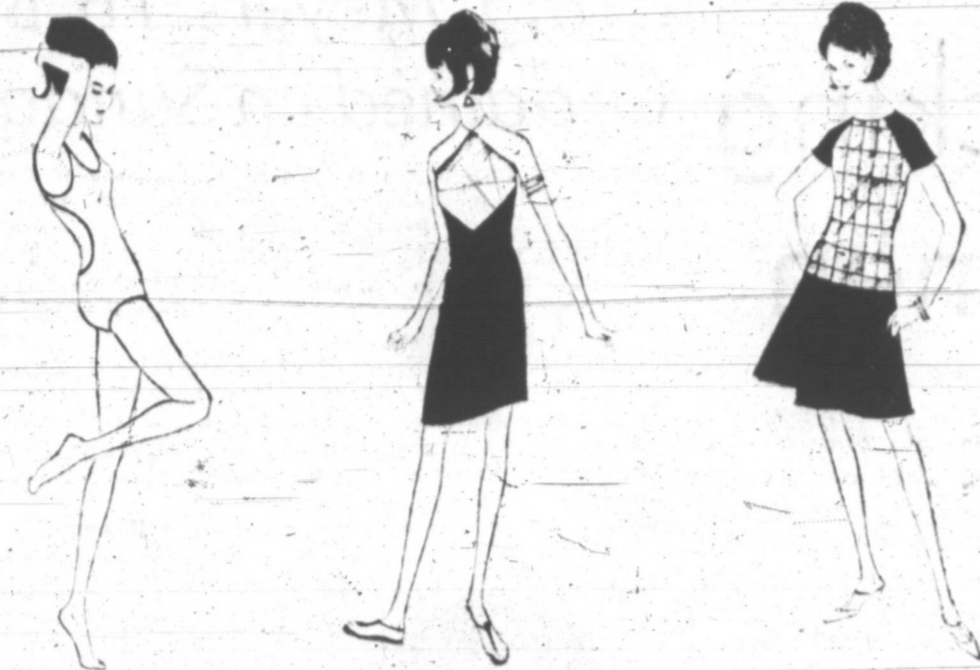

told her so. Her false analogy reminded me of something I learned in psychology class: "All Indians walk in single file— at least, the only one I ever saw did."

The British psychiatrist who got Americans all stirred up by that footedly stating that women had taken over the United States now says he was wrong in one detail.

American women haven't taken over, he has decided. "What has happened is that American men have turned over everything to their wives. This is the greatest handover in history."

You bet it is. Men have handed women the responsibility for bringing up the children. But at the same time they have handed them the term "Momism" and the full blame for whatever is wrong with the young.

Men have handed women the family's second car. And with it goes the job of being family chauffeur, car-pool driver and errand-runner.

Men have handed women the right to hold down a job after marriage, and with it, my mail indicates, the dubious pleasure of helping to provide their husbands with such luxuries as expensive hunting and fishing equipment and trips' boots, sports cars and almost anything their hearts desire that one paycheck couldn't provide.

Men have handed women the right to make most family decisions and with that right comes the inevitable blame when things go wrong.

Men have handed women the right to help them climb the success ladder and with it the responsibility for having to present the image of the perfect wife, mother and hostess to her husband's superiors in the organization for which he works.

Men have handed women the right to outside interests of their own and with it the understanding that such an indulgence lets the men off the hook at home since a woman wouldn't like to hand it back?

Aerials, Adjustment Key Color Reception

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Color television appears over the hump in sales but many viewers still feel they are not getting their money's worth.

To do this it is essential to have the proper antennas and set adjustment. Often the tendency is to skimp on the extras such as top quality antennas. This is a mistake because color transmission requires top reception equipment. Fiddling with the set also presents problems— even more than with a black and white set.

When it comes to establishing good color reception in the home, one major manufacturer of antenna equipment for color television recommends the final choice rest with the woman of the house. This advice is based upon the scientific fact that more men than women are color blind.

There are other basic techniques who can get out in the daytime doesn't need a husband to talk to at night. He can just tune in the television set and tune his wife out.

It's the greatest handover in history all right. But what wife hook at home since a woman wouldn't like to hand it back?

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 2

GENERAL FORECAST: The big Holiday weekend value can be put in the bin if you do not agree and disagree with new concepts of influential personalities who are about you. Make sure that you use today's July Moon to organize your weekend in a just fashion.

ARIES: July 2 to Aug. 23. Affairs in the business world are of prime importance and you are expected to follow all laws pertaining to them. A higher-up could prove somewhat cantankerous, but keep calm. July 2 to July 20.

Taurus: July 21 to Aug. 21. You were away from the pressure of your ideas today and you are feeling through an old, old plan. You are somewhat tired and you are a bit of a skeptic. You are a bit of a skeptic.

LEO: July 22 to Aug. 23. Some labor or that which is required before you dash off to whatever is appealing and necessary to your mental and physical well being. Dynamic associate may be a little demanding. Carry through something.

LIBRA: July 23 to Sept. 23. Morning planning activities on the day, evening make up for the "black" week. You are most agreeable, remember, you are a professional. Some remarks are made to you. Be a bit of a skeptic.

SCORPIO: Sept. 24 to Oct. 23. If you do not attempt to please those at home and very happy day and evening. Deepening friendship is also possible. Very gracious manner does a great deal for you.

SAGITTARIUS: Oct. 24 to Nov. 23. Contacting those individuals who can give you advice or data you need to get projects operating nicely in this. Be very practical in fundamental affairs. Show largesse to the right people.

CAPELLA: Nov. 24 to Dec. 23. You can be very clever in handling certain important affairs today, so get busy. Profit and business improvements, be prepared to also make. Fine night for some special hobby with congenial pals.

CAPRICORN: Dec. 24 to Jan. 20. You have to get in touch with either animals or merchandise outside if you want to gain your share today. Tonight, use your intuition, be gracious. Please others greatly by your charm, appeal.

AQUARIUS: Jan. 21 to Feb. 19. First solo most important— if you truly want to overcome quietly tonight with some gaining the approval of higher-ups. Assist those who come to you for help. Avoid those who are merely mooch.

PISCES: Feb. 20 to Mar. 20. You are able to get the assistance of a rather dull but well-learned individual for your projects, provided you state your aims honestly, including being completely realistic in aims. Be more sure of yourself.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: If you are a parent, you will be interested in having everything in the home, including with property in the best outlet here, whether male or female, and any there is a tendency to be too practical minded, give spiritual and ethical training early. Do nothing that will deplete the time, natural drive and ability here.

THINKING OUT LOUD

DEAR THINKING: Your reasons for wanting to leave everything to this woman are benevolent, and I see no reason why you should not do so.

She could be "embarrassed" only if the inheritance came as a surprise and gossip resulted. Talk it over with her first, and then consult your lawyer for the best way to handle it.

DEAR ABBY: How can you tactfully get out of letting someone borrow your wedding gown and veil? I suppose I sound very selfish, but I want to keep them in good condition and I have heard of girls who have let friends wear their gowns and they got them back ruined.

The girl who has asked to borrow mine is not a relative. In fact she isn't even a close friend, but we work together and I will have to see her every day. I hate to tie.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Why lie? Tell her the truth. But don't expect the would-be borrower to be delighted with your refusal.

DEAR ABBY: For Morality, who stated that she didn't want her children associating with children of divorced couples because they all ran wild and had no supervision at home, was truly "mad" and I am glad you

NEW YORK (NEA) — Winds of change have swept the fashion establishment right out of its ivory tower. Suddenly all the safe little cliches are in disuse. Elegance is square, playing up your good points is passe and the little basic black has had it. The new word is "camp" and the new cliché is "contemporary."

To keep step with the mood of the young pace-setters who have kicked up their heels at fussy protocol, today's clothes must be held short and above all, free. And that's why stretch fabrics are more important than ever before in every fashion area.

Clarence A. Ross of Stretchnit, Inc., a knitter with a knack for synthetic stretch fabrics, had this to say about the current fashion scene:

"Stretch is the 'now' fabric. Without it, fashion's blossoming new freedom might have died on the vine."

"Only a short time ago," he pointed out, "stretch fabrics were pigeonholed as strictly for swimsuits, pants and underpinnings. But this season they go around the clock. For the first time stretch goes to town, plays in the sun and shows up at home for late dinner."

A man tuned to the contemporary mood from the word go, Ross gave up a successful business in cotton knits three years ago to play a hunch about synthetics, stretch and ease. Together with associates he formed the firm which today deals exclusively in stretch. He is very much a man of the moment, constantly searching for innovations in the world of fashion. The switch to stretch was a natural move for him.

Called the "darling of the jet set," stretch sets a new course in space age travel. It packs in a wink, travels light and sheds wrinkles overnight. And when you wear it, you can twist, monkey, tug, flex your muscles, bend or turn with the greatest of ease.

Enthusiasm for stretch fabric as a way of life is also shared by some of the important young Coty Award winners who design for the "BYP" (Beautiful Young People).

Gayle Kirkpatrick, who designs for Atelier, said, "I design clothes for now. And stretch is the fabric of today because it relates to the modern demand for freedom and motion. Stretch has no limit. It lends itself to all moods in styling and requires a minimum of underpinnings, a fact which fits into the new approach to dressing. To wear stretch all you need is a healthy, young body."

Referring to her knacky little tank suit which received such acclaim, Deanna Littell of Paraphernalia points out, "I am striving for the free-wheeling leotard-look in swimsuit design. I find that an all-stretch knit is the only fabric that properly duplicates this look."

A striking example of how stretch lends itself to dress design is a kooky little number created by Leo Narducci of Guy D. Combining solid black with a black and white overplaid, the dress is made entirely of stretch. Said Narducci, "Stretch is the answer for 'today-women'."

It is predicted by the fashion experts that next to herself the modern woman will like stretch best.

As the hackneyed catchwords "elegant" and "regal" fade into fashion's sunset, new ones come over the horizon to reflect the contemporary mood. For what they're worth you can add "now people," "today-women," "knacky" and "the BYP" to your fashion jargon. But you better use them fast. Who knows what verbal pearls will be coined to describe the fashion mood for fall.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

HARRY VANDERPOOL, Pastor FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

In his letter to the Christians at Ephesus, Paul said "Be ye kind to one another." There isn't much profound about such a statement, but there is a great deal in it for us to think about.

Not long ago a lady in distress came to me and said, "All I need is a job and a pat on the back." Maybe she wasn't really telling the truth. Perhaps she needed more than that, but how a word of encouragement helps us. How far it can go in giving us a needed lift in life.

The fact is, I suspect one of the greatest needs in the world today is for kindness and thoughtfulness. To be sure, in some parts of the world people are starving for food, for medicine, and for material things. But as great as those needs may be, the need for love and kindness is greater. A kind word, a friendly handclasp, an expression of appreciation — such lifts from unexpected sources have often changed the course of people's lives.

When we think of our own lives, we are forced to say that it hasn't always been some material gift which has cheered us most. Sometimes it has been a word from someone who said, "We believe in you — we have confidence in you." That kind word we value more than anything, because it lifts us from the depths of despair and makes the whole day brighter.

As I study the life of Jesus, I conclude that restoring self-confidence in people is one of the greatest things we can do for others. Jesus himself went about restoring confidence and self-respect in people who had lost all zest for living. He saw beneath the rough exterior of crude fishermen to their finer selves and helped to bring them out. He looked with tenderness and compassion upon fallen women and caused them to want to be better. Wherever the Master went, his faith in people never wavered; and this faith in them engendered their faith in themselves.

It is so easy to see flaws in people, to pick out faults, to look for their weaknesses. But what the world needs today are not more "faultfinders" but more "appreciators" — people who are not blinded to human failures but who look beyond to human virtues, people who lift up rather than push down.

Today you will have many opportunities to speak a kind word. Remember that when you do, you may change the course of someone's life. You may give him just the lift he needs.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Time for Perspective

As the medicare law goes into effect today, the United States enters a new phase of government control over the health and well-being of private citizens. Regardless of the wisdom or the merit of politically oriented government programs such as medicare, it is highly important for everyone to retain a sense of perspective.

Medicare marks no great breakthrough in scientific achievement. Passing a law which creates nothing in the case of medicare, there is a law now which, in effect, simply says that all of the cumulative achievements of medical science over a period of centuries is to be made available to certain groups of citizens, and paid for to a major extent by taxation.

There are serious flaws in the program which, it is to be hoped, may be corrected as time goes on. The medical profession is concerned that it may result in a lowering of medical standards through the over taxing of medical facilities and the danger of medical care generally becoming a political football. But, doctors are cooperating with appropriate authorities to help do everything in their power to make medicare work.

They will go on in the future as they have in the past, seeking to expand the frontiers of knowledge and bring the benefits of that knowledge to as many people as possible. This has been the goal of the American Medical Association since 1913. The AMA began studying health insurance and helped develop voluntary health insurance and prepayment plans to pay for medical and hospital care. The voluntary plans proved successful. The problem now is to see that tax-supported medical care plans do not impair what has become the best medical system in the world.

Right now, the United States is busily engaged in the creation of the most gigantic structure of public welfare that the world has ever seen. The resources which we have at hand to turn over to government for distribution to groups of citizens entitled to benefits under ever-broadening welfare legislation are immense. Of course, all this wealth was created under a different philosophy which put a premium on individual initiative and provided the incentive of rewarding the productive people and enterprises.

The history of this country should have demonstrated one fact: That all men simply are not equal, never were and never will be. An editorial in the Colorado Trumpet and the Public Ledger points out that: "The Declaration of Independence asserts that all men are created equal, but it says nothing about the duty of a government to maintain citizens at an equal level thereafter." A good example of welfare state "equality" is provided by the following: "Two families living side-by-side are a dramatic example of government favoritism. The one with an income of $3,100 a year is entitled to special tutors and medical checkups for their four-to-six-year-old children, summer jobs or free summer seminars on college campuses for their high school kids, and Youth Corps benefits for the school dropouts. They reap numerous other special privileges as well, but the family next door with an income of $3,300 a year gets nothing."

As taxes go up and dollars go down in value, it becomes more and more apparent that the super welfare state may bankrupt us, but it cannot ever make us equal—except perhaps in the sharing of universal national poverty.

Bureaucrats' Way With Schools

The superintendent of the school district in the little city of Beaverton, Oregon is having troubles—troubles which are not of his own or his community's making. They are troubles which are shared by innumerable other such districts the country over. They have to do with the masses of red tape involved in federal aid to education.

Specifically, it is the superintendent's view, "the requirements are completely unreasonable" in applying for funds under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. As an example, it is stipulated that each and every one of the books of the district's libraries be inventoried. He says of this, "All the information they need they could be given on one piece of paper."

Beaverton School Board unanimously supports the superintendent and fears that federal aid is turning into federal control. The sad fact is that it would be remarkable if it did not. The old adage still applies: He who pays the piper, calls the tune. And the demands made on local bodies inevitably grow even larger. This is the bureaucrats' way of showing that they must have more funds, more staff, more authority. So little by little, local and individual responsibility, local determination to force ahead, and local rights and liberties, are whittled away.

Nothing is sharper than the knife of the bureaucrat as he cuts deeper and deeper in Beaverton, Ore., Pampa and elsewhere.

BERRY'S WORLD

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

There are now two major parties in the U.S.: the Democrat Party and the National Council of Churches. An old labor union slogan decrees: "Agitate, Educate, Legislate." Such is now the program of the National Council of Churches.

The N.C.C. is not primarily a spiritual organization. Nor is it primarily a group of churches or denominations working together. It is primarily a small group of power-hungry ecumenicals using 40 million largely unknown Protestants in a super-political party to build a super-socialist world church.

The parent, or perhaps I should say the uncle, of N.C.C. is the communist-studded World Council of Churches, which stresses among other un-American goals, a completely planned economy (Socialism), an "equitable" distribution of wealth and peace co-existence. The World Council contends that "doctrine divides and social action unites."

Political action has been given a high priority by N.C.C. programs. During 1965, for instance, the N.C.C.:

- Testified before Congress against right-to-work laws.
- Opposed any constitutional amendment which would allow states to reappear one of their upper chambers on any basis other than "one man one vote."
- Demanded weakening of U.S. immigration restrictions.
- Supported the "civil rights" bill, the "poverty" bill, "medicare," "renticare" and other socialist-fascist measures.
- Promoted the pro-communist forces in the Dominican Republic and our surrender in Vietnam.
- Invaded the State of Mississippi with its so-called Delta Project, which has been expanded beyond its original boundaries and has become involved in public works, low-rent housing, small loans and other political and economic actions not even remotely related to its alleged religious interests.

As the great new book "Your Church—Their Target" says: "The Council's antagonism to Capitalism has been well stated by Dr. John C. Bennett and his liberal conferees at Amsterdam: (1) Capitalism tends to subordinate what should be the primary task of any economy—the meeting of human needs—to the economic advantages of those who have most power over its institutions. (2) It tends to produce serious inequalities. (3) It has developed a practical form of materialism in Western nations in spite of their Christian background, for it has placed the greatest emphasis upon success in making money. (4) It has also kept the people of capitalist countries subject to a kind of fate which has taken the form of such social catastrophes as mass unemployment."

You don't have to be a Communist to be a subversive. The National Council of Churches is a far greater menace to America than the American Communist Party, because the American people won't follow a known Communist, not yet anyhow.

Way back in 1947, J. Edgar Hoover said: "I do fear for the liberal and progressive who have been hoodwinked and duped into joining hands with the Communists. I confess to a real apprehension so long as Communists are able to secure ministers of the gospel to promote their evil work and espouse a cause that is alien to the religion of Christ."

Some semi-informed faint-hearts occasionally rise up on their hind legs and demand that none of their money go to the N.C.C.—This is like attaching a letter to your income tax return demanding that none of your income tax be used to give foreign aid to enemies.

It's Loaded for the Long Weekend!

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

Backstage Washington

WASHINGTON — The widely-controversial anti-poverty program is loaded — with some $782 million in unspent funds.

Few congressmen are aware of this huge cache — including most of the 31 members of the House Education & Labor Committee which recently approved the Johnson administration's bill authorizing a $1.75 billion anti-poverty budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

If this additional money is finally voted by Congress, it will give the Office of Economic Opportunity, the agency that administers the anti-poverty program, a total of $2.532 billion to spend in the next 12 months.

This period includes the crucial congressional and state elections in the fall. It goes without saying the Democrats will take the utmost advantage of the two and a half billions in anti-poverty funds to improve their uncertain election prospects.

The estimated $782 million carry-over has piled up in the two years of the OEO's existence. Each year the agency, under Director Sargent Shriver, has spent considerably less than the administration sought and Congress voted, as follows: 1964, $793 million, of which only $208.6 million was spent; 1965, $1.5 billion, of which an estimated $1.3 billion was expended.

OEO authorities, who carefully say nothing about this tremendous carry-over and are extremely reluctant to discuss it, claim most of the $782 million is obligated — that is, already committed for continuing and new projects. But even if that is so, the accumulation is sufficient to maintain an extensive level of anti-poverty activities for another year even if Congress doesn't vote another cent.

MOOT QUESTION — Whether Congress will and how much is conjectural.

The new $1.75 billion authorization bill approved by the Education & Labor Committee is pending in the House Rules Committee. Its fate there is highly uncertain. The committee is scheduled to vote on it July 12, following the two-week recess.

All five Republican committees are certain to vote against sending the measure to the full House for consideration. Also virtually sure to line up with them are Representative Howard Smith, D-Va., chairman, and William Colmer, D-Miss. That's the way they voted last year when a similar bill was cleared by a hairline 8 to 7 margin.

Representative James Delaney, D-N. Y., is considered the swing vote. Last year he supported the administration. But this year he has been highly critical of the conduct of the anti-poverty program, and the Republicans think there is a good chance he will swing to them.

If Delaney does, that will stall the measure in the Rules Committee — a jarring setback for the White House. However, this defeat will not necessarily bottle up the bill in the committee.

Under the so-called 21-day rule, the committee could be bypassed. This parliamentary procedure permits committee chairmen to bring legislation direct to the floor of the House if it has been stalled more than 21 days in the Rules Committee. This device was adopted by the House soon after this Congress convened in January 1964.

Administration leaders apparently anticipate they may have to resort to this stratagem.

Representative Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., chairman of the anti-poverty subcommittee, is telling colleagues the 21-day rule will definitely be invoked if necessary. Preparatory steps already are underway.

And Representative Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., chairman of the Education & Labor Committee, has interrupted his European junket to appear before the Rules Committee this week to urge approval of the anti-poverty measure.

Powell, attending the annual meeting of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, flew back at the strong urging of Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, La.

If the administration has to resort to the 21-day rule to pry the anti-poverty bill out of the Rules Committee, that will delay its consideration in the House until some time in August. President Johnson has been pressuring Democratic leaders to get it disposed of by the middle of July.

MORE BATTLING — Whatever the outcome in the Rules Committee, the legislation faces a barrage of hostile amendments in the House. The Republicans have a number ready and waiting.

Foremost among them are amendments to shift the popular Head Start pre-school program from the OEO to the Office of Education, and the widely-criticized Job Corps to the Labor Department. Another proposal is to abolish the hotly-controversial Community Action program.

On all these moves, the Republicans expect considerable support from Democrats — particularly Southerners.

It's entirely possible this coalition could drastically alter the measure.

Representative William Ayres, O., ranking Republican on the Education & Labor Committee, who will play a leading role in this battle, wants OEO Director Shriver to explain how and why the $782 million has gone unspent.

Shriver should be summoned to explain in detail why so much money is left over," says Ayres. "The committee should know how this money is budgeted, how much is obligated and how much is in uncommitted cash. There has been an immense amount of waste in the anti-poverty program, and this huge accumulation of unexpended funds raises the serious question that there may be a lot

Even "Believe It or Not Ripley" might have doubted it, but the University of Illinois recently made a movie for an audience of selected pigeons. These birds and the movie made especially for them were part of a physiological study of the eye of vertebrates, intended to prove the eye does more than just transmit information to the brain. Previous theories have asserted the eye merely sends impulses to the brain and the brain does the sorting out and processing of information. Frogs were used in earlier experiments, but this study showed the need of using a vertebrate with a more complex eye. Thus the lowly pigeon was selected for research and cinematic experiences. Needless to say, it was a silent film since the movie makes didn't know how to transmit "pidgin English" to the screen.

Today's smile: A bride complained to her husband a few months later their marriage, saying: "Look at the old clothes I'm wearing. If anyone came to dinner they'd think I was the cook." "Not if they stayed for dinner," he assured her.

The automobile has changed our habits in grocery shopping, attending the movies, banking and a variety of other ways, but the one thing we never planned on was changing the postal system. However, the drive-in post office is just around the corner. It will operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and will dispense stamps, postcards, etc. It will even have a change-making machine. The only thing it won't do is guarantee our mail will be delivered within a reasonable time—with or without the proper zip code.

Thoughts while shaving: Jack Warner has insisted on a policy of "Adults Only" for the showing of his latest film, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" by including in all contracts with exhibitors that no one "under the age of 18" will see the picture unless accompanied by parents. That simply means that kids under 18 everywhere will pester their parents to take them to the movies. We don't know how many babies were born that day in Saskatchewan, but a mining company there recently offered a single share of its stock to each baby born in the Canadian province on the day the firm struck potash. We don't know if the miners ever struck potash, but it sounded like a cheap publicity gimmick to us.

There isn't a state in the U. S. that doesn't impose some kind of tax on cigarettes. Even North Carolina, which doesn't levy a cigarette tax, gets the weed purifier through a statewide more than we have any idea of. "The Rules Committee, particularly, should have all this information before it votes on the anti-poverty measure. Before anything else is done on this legislation, it's imperative that we have before us all the facts. Obviously we don't now."

Tips on Avoiding Motion Sickness While Flying
Most long-distance travel is now done by air. In many persons this results in motion sickness which may vary from a slight loss of appetite to vomiting and "rolling" when there is a high degree of turbulence.

Motion sickness is less frequent on night flights than on day flights and is less frequent on large jet-propelled planes than on small or propeller-driven planes.

Pills to prevent motion sickness can be prescribed by your doctor and persons who are highly susceptible should take one just before boarding the plane. Although motion sickness is not "all in your mind," as some hardy souls insist, it does help if you busy yourself reading or watching the movie. Even eating the meal served aloft will often help.

Another source of trouble is the change in air pressure. When you are traveling at 35,000 feet, your cabin is pressurized to simulate an altitude of 5,000 to 7,000 feet. Such an altitude is enough, however, to cause the air in your middle ear, nasal sinuses and digestive tract to expand. The pressure within your ears and sinuses will equalize with the outside pressure unless the passages are obstructed — usually by an inflammatory swelling.

Inhalation of a nasal decongestant, such as oxymetazoline (Afrin), is the best way to get relief from pain in the sinuses. For obstruction of the eustachian tube leading to your middle ear, yawning or chewing gum should help. On the descent, gentle blowing with your mouth and nose closed will often equalize the pressure. The expansion of the air in your digestive tract is rarely a problem.

It is said that anyone who is able to walk aboard a plane can endure the flight. I would make an exception of a woman in the last month of pregnancy. If you have a leaky heart or are recovering from a coronary attack, you should not travel by plane unless oxygen is available. This is standard equipment on all large commercial planes. If you have had an abdominal operation, it is well to postpone your flight until 10 days after the surgery.

As for safety in general, there is less loss of life per mile of travel in planes than in any other form of transportation. Lightning may strike your plane repeatedly without doing the slightest bit of harm. Since, if anything goes wrong, your pilot will alert you, you should relax. No news is good news.

Wit and Whimsy

An old grouch suffered a dog bite that would not heal. A doctor advised that it was too late to administer a serum, and that the chance for his survival was not bright. Seeing his patient had taken a pen and writing something on a sheet of paper, the doctor said, Doctor—Now don't give up. You still have a fighting chance. I wouldn't be in any rush about writing my will.

Grouch—Who's writing a will? I'm just writing a list of names of people I'm going to bite.

Mother—Jimmie, did you hear me? Did you thank Mr. Banks for taking you for a ride?

Jimmie (whispered) — Yes, Mother, but he told me not to mention it.

Arlington National Cemetery is on the site of what was once the estate of George Washington Parke Custis, grandson of Martha Washington. Federal troops took possession of the property during the Civil War and it later became a military cemetery.

Kathy Rates as Favorite in Ladies Open

By MURRAY OLDERMAN, MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (NEA)—The Women's Open golf championship comes of age this year in the little suburb of Chaska at the pond-dotted Hazeltine Country Club—June 26 to July 3. This is the 21st annual competition. Patty Berg won the inaugural in 1946, before it came under the aegis of the United States Golf Association (in 1953.)

It's almost homecoming for the little freckled-faced lady who used to be part of the Tenth Street Gang, playing sandlot football with Bud Wilkinson. Here in Minneapolis, on the In-lachen Country Club course, Patty first made people aware of the fact she had grown up enough to wear skirts and zing a golf ball down a fairway.

Patty was the 17-year-old sensation of the 1935 Women's Amateur championship. She met Glenna Collett Vare in the finals of the match play and took her down to the 36th hole before losing, 3 and 2. That was Glenna's sixth national title.

Prescott Bush, the president of the USGA (later U.S. senator from Connecticut), stepped up to make the presentation of the silver medal. He looked down at the snub-nosed, tousled redhead and grinned, "Well, Patty, I don't know whether to call you a great kid or a noble woman."

Patty's coming home to play in the current Open. She still shoots a fair brand of golf. So far in the seven tournaments she has played this year, her average score per round is 74.9, not bad for a lady who has been competing for 31 years.

But for the people who are interested in such mundane things as winning, the stress of interest is on Kathy Whitworth, leader of "la nouvelle vague." Kathy's 25 years old, a statuesque swinger out of Jalisco, N.M., who was the leading money winner on the Ladies PGA tour last year and leads it again. The Open represents the big plum—$4,000 to the winner.

Wright Takes Lead in Women's Open

CHASKA, Minn. (UPI)—Mickey Wright, the blonde bomber from Dallas, fired "one of the best rounds I've ever played" in taking the first-round lead of the U.S. Women's Open at Hazeltine National Golf Course.

She had two birdie putts on the front nine, an 18-footer on No. 3 and a 15-footer on No. 8 to offset her two bogeys and finish with a par 36.

Defending champion Carol Mann shot a one-over 73 and tourney Donna Caponi had a 74. Bunched at 75 were Sharon Miller, Sandra Spuzich and amateurs Roberta Albers and Joyce Kazmieski. Ruth Jessen, Clifford Ann-Creed and Peggy Wilson shot 76s.

Veterans Kathy Whitworth, a tourney favorite, Patty Berg and Barbara Romack were tied at 80.

Short, Johnson Are Valuable to Phils, Baltimore

By United Press International The duel was razor-sharp, but tonic for Short, as he posted a 1-0 victory and struck out 13 Mets.

The San Francisco Giants beat the Atlanta Braves 3-1 to maintain their three game lead and the Pittsburgh Pirates shut out the Houston Astros 9-0 in the only other National League action.

The victory increased Baltimore's first place lead to four full games over the idle Detroit Tigers. Cleveland, struggling to keep pace, blanked Minnesota 4-0 and Boston clipped New York 3-2 in the only other scheduled league game.

Johnson received considerable support from his hard-hitting teammates, particularly Boog Powell and Luis Aparicio. Powell and Aparicio each collected three hits and little Luis drove in three runs as the Orioles saddled Ralph Terry with his fifth defeat in six decisions.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) Thursday conducted an underground nuclear test of "intermediate yield" at its Nevada test site. A spokesman defined "intermediate" as a yield of 200 kilotons, the equivalent of 200,000 tons of TNT. The blast was part of the AEC's weapons-related test program.

CORE Pledges Harder Fight For Negroes

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), more militant than ever in its drive to achieve full civil rights for Negroes, opens its national convention today in an atmosphere of defiance. Many delegates came here to discuss "black power" and how to get it.
CORE's leaders, increasingly aggressive in recent months, chose to hold the convention here because they believe Baltimore has one of the most explosive racial climates in the country.

Referring to Baltimore as its "target city" for 1966, CORE contends that civil rights problems here in the vital areas of employment, housing, education and "police malpractice" have reached the critical stage.

Twice The Unemployment
There are approximately 400,000 Negroes in Baltimore out of a total population of about 950,000, and the Negro unemployment rate in the "target city" is said to be twice that of the white community.
"Some 35 per cent of employed (Negro) males receive wages of less than $3,000 per year," said CORE national director Floyd McKissick, "and slum housing conditions are so bad and substandard that a major effort will be directed in this area."

CORE's new hard-line attitude, reflected in its mountain defiance of what it calls the white power structure and other, less militant civil rights groups, was expected to be very much in evidence at the convention.

Embrace New Philosophy
The group's leaders have embraced a relatively new philosophy of "black consciousness," which includes a concerted effort to attain "black power," especially in the political arena.

Roar of Jet Age Arouses Nation

By ROBERT COCHNAR
LIMA, Peru (NEA) — Peru's traditional midday siesta may soon become another relic of the country's rich but economically depressed past, mainly because Peruvians are finding little time for such luxuries these days.

IN THE COUNTRY—Indians and mestizos at the market place in Cuzco in the Peruvian highlands know little of their government. Some are not aware they are Peruvians and many do not speak Spanish, the national language.

After four sleepy centuries, Peru — if not wide awake — is stretching and President Fernando Belaunde Terry seem not about to let it doze again.

Belaunde, a soft-spoken architect turned politician who was elected president in 1963 after a military junta had disposed of the last government, is one of a growing number of activists who are attempting to pull their country out of the poverty in which it has languished.

It's no easy job, Belaunde freely admits, but he also says some progress has been made in his country of 12 million people.

Tourism has aided the economy considerably and is bound to be an important factor for future growth. "During the age of the propeller plane," Belaunde says, "Peru was just too far away."

"Now, jets have brought us closer to the world. We can now compete."

The occasion for his remarks was a session with reporters who had participated in Branniff International's inaugural nonstop service from New York to Lima. The flight, which once took as long as 20 hours, now takes seven.

Belaunde is proud of the fact

Prices Critizes Department For Price Decreasing

BROWNWOOD (UPI) — U. S. Agriculture Secretary Freeman. The new program will reduce farmer returns for wheat by about 5 cents a bushel next year, Tower said.
Tower addressed a meeting of Brownwood civic clubs.
"The secretary's program of engineered low farm prices is indefensible," Tower said. "It cannot be defended as an inflation-fighting measure because the prices paid farmers have been going down all the time, not inflating."

The Texas Republican said the farmer deserves a better fate.
"It is almost unbelievable the Department of Agriculture has once again taken an action that will lower farm prices," Tower said, referring to a wheat program announced last week by

LBJ Says $1.4 Billion in Food For Peace Send

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson reported to Congress Thursday that the United States in 1965 shipped $1.4 billion of food and fiber overseas under the Food for Peace program but warned the problem of world hunger remains critical.
Johnson noted that last year's shipments bring to $14.6 billion the food aid effort since enactment of the program in 1954.

He cited a number of encouraging trends in the program, then added: "The increasing pressure of world population growth was the most disturbing indicator in a year otherwise highlighted with promise in the war against hunger and malnutrition."

The President conceded "there was more food grown in 1965 than in 1964," but there were 64 million more mouths to feed.

"In simplest terms, he told Congress, the task of bringing food and population into balance — while maintaining progress in health, education and economic growth — is the most critical challenge many countries are facing today."

"France is a very responsible country," he says. "But we are worried anyway. Anything that could happen to the water would be disastrous. I think it is more important for France to keep the food will she has always had in Latin America than to explode a bomb."

Nevertheless, France plans to explode the bomb and Belaunde admits there is nothing much he can do about it.

Peruvians say that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy put his finger on a major problem in this recent Senate speech on Latin America when he declared that "isolation and insularity are the rule even within nations." Kennedy added:

"Peru is a seacoast nation, with an advancing export economy based on maritime products. It is also a mountain nation, a place of scattered inaccessible villages where peasants have never heard of the United States — where even the word 'Peru' has no meaning."

"And it is a nation of Amazon jungle beyond the mountains, a jungle which is no closer to the thoughts of Lima than to the thoughts of Washington or Indianapolis."

Belaunde says his country must "recover the relationship of men to land. The Inca culture had this. We should be self-sufficient in food and, right now, we are spending $100 million a year for basic food."

The Alliance of Progress, while "a wonderful proposition," is not doing nearly enough to help, Peruvian officials believe.

Says Belaunde: "For the unity of the hemisphere, we must shorten the distance between the rich and poor. The job is too big for us. We need to attract foreign capital."

The Alianza has given Peru $158 million since Belaunde office three years ago, most of it in the fields of tax and customs reform, agricultural credit and training. Very little, therefore, of immediate benefit to the great mass of Peruvians.

If agricultural difficulties were not enough, Peru also suffers from an urban population explosion. Lima, a city of 1.5 million people, gains at last 50,000 new residents a year.

The city is ringed with dusty, waterless slums which people, fleeing from the total poverty of the country, are constructing daily. Lima's mayor, confronted with all the problems which beset growing cities, and more, says blandly: "We are doing what we can," which, unfortunately, is very little.

Yet Peru's potential is great. New highways are opening the hitherto untapped jungles which are rich in lumber, rubber and sugar.

More and more U.S. companies are exploring the mountains where great reserves of copper, iron ore and other minerals are located. Oil, too, has been found.

Belaunde hopes that the new interest U.S. airlines have taken in Latin America will bring down tourists — and businessmen — to see what is taking place.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson praised the Central Intelligence Agency as its new director Thursday as unsung heroes without the glamour of a fictional "007" agent.

The President referred to James Bond, agent 007 of Ian Fleming's spy novels, in remarks at a White House swearing in ceremony for Richard M. Helms, new CIA director.

Johnson said that Helms, 53, a career man in intelligence operations, and outgoing CIA director William F. Raborn had done the kind of work that "does not allow public acknowledgment."

The CIA is "more often damned than praised" and its officials are "not permitted to speak out in their own defense," he said. The President said he never read the morning newspaper without seeing their work "distorted by critics."

Johnson said that Raborn and Helms, who has been deputy CIA director, "are unsung just as they are invaluable." He expressed his "absolute complete confidence" in them, and said he would present an award later to Raborn, who was present.

In his two and one-half years of dealing closely with the CIA, the President said, he has yet to meet an 007-type agent. "Their most significant trials come not in secrets passed in the dark but in hours and hours of reading and analyzing documents," he said.

Johnson told an audience that included FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other officials that CIA specialists in all fields were "moved — and motivated by the highest purpose."
