

U.S. 'Double Agent' Tells of Life As Counterspy

By DONALD H. MAY
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frank John Mrkva had led an ordinary life. He had never been a spy, had never thought himself much of an actor.

But he proved adept as a double agent who foiled a Communist attempt to "bug" the State Department in a story of counterspionage disclosed Wednesday.

It was a story of five years of meetings between Mrkva and two Czech diplomats who paid him $3,440 to install an electronic "bug" in the office of Robert Lisle, director of Eastern European Affairs for the State Department. Mrkva went along with the plot with the full knowledge of the FBI. The Czechs also tried to persuade Mrkva to "bug" the office of Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

It was the first disclosed attempt to electronically eavesdrop on the State Department, although there have been reported attempts at U.S. embassies abroad.

One of the Czechs, on diplomatic duty in Washington, has been given three days notice to leave the country. The other is now attached to the Czech mission to the United Nations.

It all started so casually.

Mrkva said in an interview with UPI, that his entry into the world of spies and counterspies was barely perceptible. The door opened in 1961 with an invitation to a Czech embassy party.

Mrkva 38, slammed it shut himself five years later after leading his double life as passport courier, and later, agent and administrator in the department's passport office.

The invitation came during Mrkva's rounds as a passport courier, a job he had come to after joining the department in 1955.

Mrkva had been told previously to alert the department if, in the course of his rounds, any embassy officials tried to cultivate him. He told the department of the invitation and then went to the party with his wife.

After this initial contact, the embassy's third secretary, Zdenek Pisk, began inviting Mrkva out to restaurants. Again Mrkva reported to his superiors and the FBI he felt something was up. There was.

After a while "Dr. Pisk" as he was called, turned their conversations to Mrkva's world—well, the U.S. has a good passport office... as a matter of fact we in our country have some problems in running our own office.

They were interested in our procedure," Mrkva said. "How do we issue passports? What are the security aspects of passports? ... I never gave them anything. The information I gave them was strictly unclassified.

The deeper probes started with little things. Mrkva said "they wanted little things... telephone book procedure." (Pisk) kept asking for more (See COUNTERSPY, Page 3)

Chicago's Racial Violence Spreads

CHICAGO (UPI)—Riot police dodged flaming fire bombs and clear mobs of Negroes from the streets of three neighborhoods Wednesday night and early today as Chicago's racial violence spread.

Police swept rioters off the streets while from darkened tenement windows high above residents hurled molotov cocktails, bottles and bricks.

Five policemen were injured and three Negroes were shot, none seriously. Seven other persons were reported injured. Authorities scheduled urgent meetings with leaders of the Negro neighborhoods.

An estimated 39 persons were arrested Wednesday night and early today, bringing to 60 the total of those taken into custody during two straight nights of looting, rock-throwing and violence by roaming Negro gangs.

At one point Wednesday night, firemen were showered with bricks while trying to put out a blaze started by the mob and had to call for police reinforcements to get their equipment away from the area.

One of the injured policemen was hurt when a group of about 50 persons attacked his squad car.

Dr. Martin Luther King, who tried unsuccessfully to quell the opening violence Tuesday night, stayed away from the latest rioting. But at a news conference, he placed much of the blame on city officials who "won't make concessions" and on police who "abused their authority."

At one point, embattled police fired over the heads of a gang of 300 youths who had crashed into a drugstore along Roosevelt Road, scene of Tuesday night's opening violence.

No sooner was that over than, massed police cleared a seven-block area of West Madison Street as bottles and bricks rained down upon them from the Skid Row buildings on either side. The police moved in military fashion, flashing their spotlights into dark corners.

State Legislator Asks Rate Probe

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont wants auto insurance rates investigated by the Texas Legislative Council.

The veteran legislator wants the council to provide "impartial authentic and pertinent facts and figures" on methods used by the State Board of Insurance to set car insurance rates.

Last month the board announced an average 6 per cent hike in auto insurance rates effective Aug. 1. A year ago the rates went up an average of 13 per cent.

Smith filed his request for the investigation with Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, chairman of the council, Speaker Ben Barnes and Bob Johnson, council executive secretary.

He questioned the accuracy of the formula used by the board in setting car insurance rates. Smith said last year the board raised rates after predicting an increase in accidents in the first six months of 1965. But accidents went down, according to the Department of Public Safety.

"Automobile owners were forced to pay higher rates, apparently without proper justification," Smith said.

School Board To Continue Federal Aid

The Pampa school board today voted to renew its application to the Texas Education Agency for approval of a federal fund grant for services and activities to meet special needs of educationally deprived children of low income families.

The program has been in operation here for six months under Title I of the federal government's Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The first grant received by Pampa schools was for $98,000. The program is directed by the Panhandle Educational Services Organization (PESO) with headquarters at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Board members deferred action today on applications for federal funds being considered under Titles II and III of the Act. These would apply to library funds a cooperative program for updating instructional materials.

The board called for a 1966-67 school budget hearing at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25. Thursday, Aug. 11, was set as the date for opening bids for milk supplies for school cafeterias.

Approval was given to the school business manager's additions, cancellations and correction or errors in the 1965 tax roll.

School business manager Homer Craig reported that 98.99 per cent of taxes or a total of $1,655,499.02 had been collected to date. Craig also stated the current property valuation for school tax purposes is $101,363,064. The current tax roll total is $1,672,370.64.

Bills and invoices totaling $12,658.45 were approved for payment.

WEATHER-WISE — V. M. Hudson, Lubbock field aide for the US Weather Bureau's regional office in Ft. Worth, gives Pampa News' Ron Cross, sitting, instructions on how to read the technical weather instruments installed yesterday at the Pampa News offices. The News was named by the weather bureau as the official weather recording station for Pampa.

Pampa News Named US Weather Station

The Pampa Daily News has been named official weather observation for Pampa by the United States Weather Bureau's supervising station in Fort Worth. Installation of intricate instruments at The Pampa News offices was completed late yesterday afternoon.

The instrument shelter houses maximum and minimum thermometers; weighing rain gauge which also records snowfall; standard rain gauge measuring up to one-hundredth of a moisture inch. Daily summaries and hourly recordings will be available.

In addition to providing an accurate and up-to-date weather service for its readers, The News will be cooperating with the Amarillo Weather Bureau. In order to give a comprehensive forecast, the bureau needs accurate readings of temperature and precipitation in this area. Data recorded will also be used for scientific and meteorological purposes by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

V. M. Hudson of Lubbock, Field Aide for the regional office in Fort Worth, installed the instrument shelter at The News. "Benjamin Franklin initiated interest in this type of weather observation," Hudson told a News reporter. "He kept his own log readings and was interested in weather other parts of the country were having."

West Texas has 220 climatological stations providing weather data for the National Record (See OBSERVER, Page 3)

Pampans Can Expect More Hot Weather

Pampans can expect the continuance of hot weather, as for the past 13 days, with temperatures in the 90's, with little prospect for cooling showers.

Skies will remain clear to partly cloudy with a chance for a few evening thundershowers. Probability of showers, though, is only 10 per cent.

High is expected to reach the mid-90's, with a low near 70. Winds will be southerly 12 to 18 miles an hour. Outlook for Saturday calls for little change.

High for Pampa yesterday, according to the new Pampa Daily News weather station, was 96, with an overnight low of 71.

Throughout the state showers dampened scattered parts of West Texas and the Panhandle today but it was clear almost everywhere else. Rain was expected in much of the western third of Texas and along the Gulf Coast.

Thunderstorms brought scattered rain along the Gulf Coast Wednesday, along with a tornado and a waterspout.

Only Survivor Tells Of 'Tall Young Man'

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eight student nurses were strangled, stabbed and shot to death today by a tall young man while a ninth girl huddled in terror beneath a bed.

The survivor of the massacre on Chicago's far South Side remained cowering in her hiding place for almost three hours. Then she dashed hysterically into the streets to a policeman.

The officer, Daniel Kelly, found one girl, nude, lying on a couch on the first floor of the new, two-story building. The bodies of the seven others, clad in night clothes, were in two bedrooms on the second floor.

All had been strangled, police said. Some were mauled and there was evidence that they had been stabbed or shot. Police believed they had been sexually molested.

Police said it appeared the assailant, described as young and white, appeared "out of nowhere" in the duplex shared by 10 student nurses in training at South Chicago Community Hospital. The hospital is seven blocks from the scene of the massacre.

The intruder apparently held them at gunpoint in an upstairs bedroom, terrifying them, then took them individually to rooms and killed them.

Only one victim, identified as Corazon Amoro, 23, escaped. Miss Amoro, a native of the Philippines, crept beneath a bed and apparently was overlooked.

It was Chicago's greatest mass murder in recent history, surpassing the fabled St. Valentine's Day massacre, when seven gangsters were machine-gunned against a wall in 1929.

Coroner Andrew J. Toman said "this is the crime of the century."

Two of the victims were, like Miss Amoro, natives of the Philippines. The others were American, one a Negro.

They were identified as Marilita Gargullo, 21, the Philippines; Valoenta Passin, 23, the Philippines; Pamela Wilkening, 22, 18016 Commercial, Lansing, Mich.; Gloria Davy, 23, 2151 Randolph, Dyer, Ind.; Susan Farris, 22, 11055 (See ATTACKER, Page 3)

Assistant Labor Secretary James J. Reynolds canceled an evening bargaining session to attend a meeting requested by airline management officials.

There was speculation the airlines might be considering some change in their offer to the 35,400 IAM members.

But when contacted late Tuesday night after the meeting, Reynolds declined comment and answered no questions on the strike's status.

At a mid-day news conference he had said both sides were "still far apart" in their talks. The negotiations had reached the serious stage, he said, after a week of what he termed a "ridiculous situation."

Meantime, 60 per cent of the nation's airline traffic remained grounded, inconveniencing scores of thousands of vacationers and business travelers.

The five lines carry 150,000 passengers a day.

Searing Heat Wave Bakes Nation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: From the Rocky Mountains on the West to the littered beach at Coney Island on the East, millions of Americans have been suffering through one of the worst heat waves in years. UPI reporters across the nation were asked to mop their brows and report on the searing heat. This is their story.)

By DONALD ZOCHERT
 United Press International
 In southern Illinois, David Dasch of Lawrenceville stepped outside and did what everybody has been talking about. He tried an egg on the sidewalk.

In Brooklyn, N.Y., a man rushed up to an appliance store after closing hours and nearly knocked the door down. His patience had run out. He wanted an air conditioner.

In Ohio, the Bucks and Deers Square Dance Club of Akron threw protocol to the wind, and plunged into Tamsin Lake for their annual dance contest. They did their do-si-does knee deep in water and went for a swim afterward.

The mid-summer madness was due to one of the most stubborn heat waves to plague the Eastern two-thirds of the nation in years. While temperatures soared into the 100s from the Great Plains to the Atlantic Coast, death rates have climbed, power systems have broken down and life has been slowed to a crawl.

It took the man in Lawrenceville 30 minutes to fry his egg Wednesday on a sizzling, 158-degree sidewalk. A newspaper editor at Harrisburg, Ill., did him one better by frying an egg on the trunk of his car in 10 minutes.

The man in Brooklyn was lucky. The sympathetic shop owner opened his store and sold the man not one but two air conditioners.

But for the very young and very old, the heat wave has been very hard.

In St. Louis, which has been under a suffocating blanket of 100-degree heat for five straight days, morgue facilities have been taxed to the limit. The city counted 54 heat deaths since Sunday and Coroner Helen Taylor said the victims were "coming in like a parade."

An elderly hobo who lives around Foley Square Park in New York City was quite philosophical about the heat. "It beats winter," he said. But (See HEAT, Page 3)

Brown 'n Serve Sausage Links Make An Elegant and Nutritious Breakfast

In only 3 minutes a nutritious, elegant breakfast can be on the table every day of the week when the homemaker discovers quick, fully-cooked brown 'n serve sausage links. With a little organization the spiced applesauce toast can be prepared while the links are sizzling in the skillet. Once the tempting aroma of the sausage and the sweet, buttery smell of the toast mingle and waft through the house, the homemaker will discover she'll have no strangers to the breakfast table.

The cook will enjoy the many advantages of these new, juicy brown 'n serve sausages. While ordinary sausages take 20 minutes to cook, these links take only 3 minutes to thoroughly heat. With regular sausage one can expect up to 50 per cent shrinkage, but these have very little drippings or shrinkage. Therefore, with brown 'n serve sausages you eat all you buy.

Both adults and children will acclaim the homemaker when a hot platter of spiced applesauce toast is presented to them with the links. Little time or effort is necessary for preparation. A sweet, cinnamon - sugar mixture is sprinkled generously over the hot, buttered toast, followed with an ample topping of applesauce, hot or cold, as preferred. The flavors and aromas of meat and toast compliment one another — and the home chef.

For a well-balanced, nutritious breakfast tangle, colorful orange sections or citrus juice will send the family off to school, work, or play with the day's vitamin C requirement they need for healthy bones, skin, and teeth.

SPICED APPLESAUCE TOAST
(Yield: 6 servings)
1 pound brown 'n-serve sausage links
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
6 slices buttered toast
1 cup applesauce.

Cook sausage according to package directions. Sprinkle mixture over each slice of hot, buttered toast and top with approximately 2 tablespoons hot or cold applesauce. Serve hot with brown 'n serve sausage links.

Hawaiian Delight

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Katsuro Miho of Honolulu, a leader among Japanese-Americans of Hawaii, and legal counselor for many mainland and Oriental corporations, has three loves — his wife, his two handsome sons and fine food. Noted for his mastery of the outdoor grill, he often prepares the main dishes when he and the talented Mrs. Miho entertain at home.

One noon we lunched together at Michel's in the Colony - Surf, along the shore beyond Diamond Head. Probably the most exclusive restaurant on the island, completely French in cuisine, decor and atmosphere, there is nothing about the place to remind one of its Polynesian setting. Our Japanese-born host ordered our Continental meal.

The following evening we dined at his home in the volcanic hills above the city. Toshio Shibata, of the influential Yomiuri Press of Japan, en route to conferences at Harvard University, two local Japanese bankers their wives and a young American medical research scientist from John Hopkins University and his wife, were the other guests. The dinner, served on the open rock garden lanai, overlooking the city and the lights on planes and ships coming into Honolulu harbor, began with small flower-shaped china cups of poached local clams in broth with minced seaweed. Next came a delicate potato soup, also in flower bowls, which our host called "Vichyssoise a la Tokyo."

On an earlier visit to the islands, he had prepared "koshi" or corned beef Japanese style" for us — a masterpiece of international charcoal cookery. This time, however, he served a spit-roasted sirloin roast, basted as it turned with a marinade of pineapple juice, freshly ground ginger root, soy sauce and dry sherry.

Between the beef and dessert (tropical fruits and fruit lecs) we were served tiny cucumber slices with diced lobster and a grated hard-cooked egg yolk on them, topped with more cucumber slices. During dinner we drank warm saki in thimblelike lacquer cups and later strong clear kona coffee.

Corn Flakes And Peaches Combined In Cereal Treat

What's new in cereal bowls these days? Corn flakes and peaches, newest fruit-in-the-box cereal, is now appearing on breakfast tables. This new year-round fruited cereal combines freeze-dried sliced peaches with crisp corn flakes. Pour on cream or milk and the peach slices regain their tender texture and ripe flavor, bringing a summertime freshness to breakfast.

Corn flakes and peaches are the third cereal to extend the fruit season to twelve months. Corn flakes and strawberries and corn flakes and blueberries are already on the grocers' shelves. Fruits in all these cereals are first quick-frozen; then dried under vacuum. The method retains much of the original shape, color, and flavor of the fruit.

The new fruited cereals are stored on the cupboard shelf just like any other cereal. A special foil inner bag preserves the fruit and keeps the corn flakes crisp.

Corn flakes and peaches are available in both 5-ounce and 8-ounce packages with easy-to-pour-and-store closures.

A recent survey of expenditure patterns of United States families made jointly by the U.S. Departments of Labor and Agriculture, shows that the average weekly cost of food for the person living alone was $12.94 but for the two-person family it was $23.37, an increase of 81 per cent.

Chilled Soups Gain Popularity

CHILLED VEGETABLE SOUP AND FRUIT team for summer fun.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

More and more Americans are learning to enjoy chilled vegetable and fruit soups for summer meals. This European idea fits easily into our modern menus which are built around variety, good nutrition and something new.

Here are two we think you'll enjoy "all on a summer's day."

GASPACHO MAS FINO

(Serves 7)
4 slices bread
2 cups cold water
5 large, ripe tomatoes, diced
1 clove garlic, mashed
3 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 cup finely diced fresh green pepper

1/2 cup finely diced cucumber
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
4 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper.

Soak bread in cold water 30 minutes. Add tomatoes, garlic and oil. Let stand 2 to 3 hours. Mash and put through sieve or blender. Add green pepper, cucumber, lemon juice, salt and black pepper. Serve very cold with crackers.

CHILLED FRESH STRAWBERRY SOUP

(Serves 6)
2 quarts capped fresh

strawberries
2-3 cup sugar
4 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
4 teaspoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups cold water
Few drops red vegetable coloring (optional).

Crush strawberries and put through a coarse strainer. Blend in lemon juice and set aside. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Blend in cold water. Bring to boiling point and cook 1 to 2 minutes or until transparent. Remove from heat and stir in pureed strawberries. If color is not deep enough add a few drops of red vegetable coloring. Chill and serve.

Fashions Embrace Togetherness

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fashion has embraced togetherness almost totally.

Few garments in the new fall and winter collections of women's wear go it alone. Everything has a companion or companions. Coats and dresses go together. Jackets and dresses go together. Coats and skirts go together. In suits, the blouses, skirts and jackets go together. Even hose and shoes complete the togetherness.

In short, the costume idea has been taken over in both daytime and evening wear.

As typical of togetherness as you can find are the new collections of Adele Simpson, who makes some of Mrs. London B. Johnson's clothes, and Mollie Parnis, who numbers among her customers, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey.

Mrs. Simpson and Miss Parnis were among New York designers who, as members of the American designers group showed their new collections for visiting women's and fashion editors.

Wild Color Scheme

The costume theme ran through the collection too of where Gaston Berthelot is the designer. Some of the combinations were pretty wild in color scheme.

A daytime coat, with an off-center closing, came in Kelly green wool fleece, worn over a plaid skimmer dress in purple and green tones.

An orange wool suit showed with a deep purple and orange blouse.

Mrs. Simpson's collection paired any number of seven-eighths length coats, slim of silhouette, with unbelted skimmer dresses, usually sleeveless and collarless.

Many of her colors were "neon" shades, as she called them—swizzle pink, lime green, American beauty red, and purple punch. She paired a purple coat with a mauve-pink skimmer dress.

Almost every suit came with its coordinated blouse. Pastel crepe cocktail and dinner dresses came with matching jackets with beaded cuffs and collars. A neon orange evening cloak, long and sweeping, went over a green and orange printed dinner gown.

To complete her togetherness, Mrs. Simpson showed a beige wool suit with red crepe blouse and jacket lining, plus red and beige horizontally striped stockings.

Preferred Coat

Miss Parnis said she preferred the coat and dress costume, but showed a few dresses with jackets anyway.

Among her stunning coat-dress combinations were: Beige coat worn over a wool tube of a dress in huge, houndstooth print of deep red. The coat lining matched the dress. And, a pale gray twill coat, slightly tent shape, with deep red lining to match a narrow red wool dress. For the firm of Tiffau & Busch, designer Jacques Tiffau, also part owner, using the turtle-neck for both day and evening for his togetherness theme. A gray and camel plaid dress was worn over charcoal gray bermuda shorts. The top of the dress had the turtle collar.

Suit blouses had the high-throated look. Even collarless coats showed the turtle neck on blouses beneath. A purple coat with matching skirt came with a mustard colored turtle neck top.

Tiffau also showed two phony lizard suits with matching gaiters. One suit was black, the other magenta.

Geoffrey Beene, the designer-manufacturer who this year got a repeat award from the American fashion critics, showed a series of coat costumes. The coats, tubular in shape, came in patterned "Aztec" plaids and covers, each with its own wool dress.

His "country squire" costumes were meant for the woman who "walks, drives, stays at home or flies off to Rome." These were classic houndstooth checks in subtle lavender and charcoal, blonde and bottle green, or caramel and black suits with softly gathered skirts and short jackets.

Divorcee's Boss Has Strange Office Hours

DEAR ABBY: Can a 62-year-old man be getting senile? I can't imagine why else my boss would be acting this way.

He asks me to work late when there is nothing for me to do that couldn't wait for tomorrow. Last evening he told me his wife is very cold and unsympathetic, and I was the prettiest woman he had ever known, and if he could get rid of her he would marry me. (I am a divorcee.)

When I came here I was warned that the boss fancied himself as a real lady-killer, but I didn't think he would be this bold. He is a grandfather, active in his church, and is very generous. How can I keep him at arm's length? This job is handy to my home, and the hours and pay are better than I could get elsewhere.

REAL PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: When he asks you to work late, tell him you aren't able. And when he starts bending your ear about his domestic problems, cut him short and tell him you would rather not hear about his private life.

Keep your attitude 100 percent professional. If he fires you, he fires you. Remember, a man can't get any chummiest with you than you let him.

DEAR ABBY: I have read the etiquette books and I know the groom's mother is supposed to keep her mouth shut, but here is the situation. My son's bride-to-be is planning her wedding. She wants a 9 p.m. formal wedding. I know it is entirely proper in some places, but our town is not that metropolitan, and I have never heard of a 9 p.m. wedding here, even among the very elite, which we are certainly not.

Most of our relatives are in their 60's and 70's and they will not attend a reception which starts at 10 p.m. I am afraid our side of the family will have very few. It seems a shame. Shouldn't someone from our side talk to the bride's side in an effort to get her to reconsider?

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. And the "someone" should be the groom.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "Quiet Please," who complained about talkative hair-dressers, I had to write. May I inform that dear lady that the poor beauty operators are the ones who do most of the listening. I have been a beautician for over 20 years, and believe me, there have been times when I have wished I were deaf!

Strangely enough, the higher-class the shop, the more the clients talk about their sex lives (or the lack of it), fights with their husbands, problems with their children, and the petty gossip about the neighbors.

The girl in the booth next to mine had to quit the profession because she developed an ulcer. Her doctor said it was from the frustration of having to listen to clients without being able to tell them to shut up. So please tell "Quiet Please" that there is one operator who will welcome her with open arms. And if she'll be quiet, so will I.

MARY AT THE LOOKING GLASS

CONFIDENTIAL TO BEWILDERED IN BINGHAMPTON: No, it's not because a woman has gray hair, uses the wrong deodorant, is too fat or too thin that causes her husband to stray.

It's a man's weakness in the face of temptation. If a cheating man were married to a Venus de Milo, he'd look for a Cleopatra.

Girl Remembers Abraham Lincoln

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Charlotte Murray, 10, had a quick answer when a city girl walked seven miles to school one day.

"It was nothing," Abraham Lincoln used to do it every day," she said.

Charlotte missed the school bus when she forgot her lunch and ran back into the house to get it. So she had to walk.

Charlotte didn't want to bother her mother, sick with a broken hand.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is only one way for you to make any real progress and stay out of serious trouble that could follow: by being as charming as you can, and by being very considerate of the views of everyone with whom you come in contact. Also, do your best to sidestep all arguments and disagreements.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—You have to be most careful in motion and in speaking if you want to get the results you desire through clever angling. Being very precise in preparation of reports, etc. is vital. One small error could be costly.

TUR (Apr. 20 to May 20)—Try not to spend lavishly just to put on a big front, since this is not necessary and will get you nowhere. See where you can top off expenses in business affairs also.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Although you are in a mood to be forceful in dealing with others, generally you will get far better results. Don't give in to feelings of anger, show temper. This could also cause you to injure health.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Something may come up that would cause you to feel depressed, but rising above such temporary difficulty will see all working out just fine. Assist those who are in need. This helps you regain equilibrium.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You and your associates can join in some fine, worthwhile recreation that will lighten your spirits, bring sunshine, for a while anyway, from tensions. Avoid those persons who are not amicable. Be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Any unnecessary criticism of higher-ups will only result in serious boomerangs. Do whatever you can to safeguard your good name. Don't jeopardize all you have built up for a silly whim that is hardly worth a thought.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—While you are anxious to get out to new interests, if you do not carry through with obligations to others, much trouble comes of it. Attend to your work well. Acquire more knowledge in new line tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Fulfilling obligations to the best of your ability should make this a very important

Some Symptoms Of Being 'Too Married'

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
There's such a thing as being "too married."

You're probably "too married" if—

The only friends you and your husband have are mutual friends. You've both quit seeing any friend that doesn't appeal to both of you.

When you are in a group you interrupt each other and correct each other's facts.

Your gifts to each other are never surprises but practical purchases, discussed in advance.

You have no separate interests or hobbies.

You wouldn't think of taking a trip without the children.

You long ago quit paying each other compliments.

When you go out to dinner to gether you eat a silent meal.

Neither of you listens attentively and with obvious interest when the other talks.

Nothing that either of you does ever surprises the other.

You believe in being perfectly frank with each other—even when frankness isn't kind.

You would rather watch a boring television program than talk to each other.

You are each certain that you know how the other will react in any situation.

Neither of you allows the other any privacy.

You don't hesitate to mention each other's shortcomings or mistakes to outsiders.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
 Truman's fitness to succeed to the presidency seemed not much to enter the pre-convention calculations. That Harry Truman proved to be a good man and true when the test came was wholly a matter of luck. It is likely that Roosevelt was not up to making a selfless decision at the time he sought a fourth term.

This nightmare is Hubert's reminder that there is another Kennedy in his future, as though the first Kennedy in 1960 had not been enough. The vice president's future is clouded.

There has been some improbable speculation that President Johnson might dispense with Humphrey in 1968, choosing some other for second place on the Democratic ticket. Improbable but not impossible. There is precedent for a switch like that.

But, how it would be possible for LBJ to explain a rejection of Humphrey: LBJ chose the Minnesota senator to run with him in 1964 with the explanation that Humphrey was best fitted to succeed to the presidency. Maybe so! Political realists will need convincing that Humphrey was chosen for any greater reason than that LBJ believed he needed him on the ticket.

And so it is that LBJ might drop Humphrey if he believed Hubert on the ticket would jeopardize the 1968 presidential election. It was for that reason that Franklin D. Roosevelt abandoned Vice President Henry A. Wallace in 1940. There is the precedent!

Wallace was an eccentric whom FDR had picked in 1940 as his running mate and possible successor. FDR compelled an angry Democratic national convention to ratify the choice, generally regarded as a bad one.

That was the third term convention in which FDR sponsored for himself a draft which was the best organized, spontaneous political coup of the 20th century. John N. Garner, the vice president of the first two Roosevelt terms, would have no part of FDR and his third term dreams. So FDR looked elsewhere and found Wallace, whose developing political strength lay with the left wing of labor and political liberalism.

Roosevelt's mental and physical deterioration by 1944 compelled all but Wallace's lefty playmates to take another look at Wallace. Boss Edward F. Flynn of New York, tycoon Edwin W. Pauley of California and others in Roosevelt's confidence made a quick 1944 survey. They reported to FDR that to renominate Wallace for vice president would jeopardize FDR's re-election to the presidency.

To protect against that calamity, FDR looked elsewhere; not for the best man available to succeed him, but for the man best able to help him election day. Finding none really adequate, Roosevelt turned to Harry S. Truman of Missouri.

Flynn's memoirs, "You're the Boss," relate that the search was for a man who would hurt FDR the least at the polls. "It was agreed," Flynn recalls in his memoirs, "that Truman was the man."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. feels that traders are awaiting what would appear to be an inevitable hike in the discount rate by the Federal Reserve Board and are being cautious until the move is made and evaluated.

The company believes the booming economy counterbalances the monetary and military problems besetting the market and that it should continue to move in a narrow range until some of these uncertainties can be clarified.

Purcell, Graham & Co. says the market seems to be at the upper limits of a two-month consolidation period but shows no inclination of a broad upside move. Rather, the company believes further consolidation will continue followed by a decline which would bring a major bottom at heavy volume.

Goodbody & Co. feels that traders may have to study the uncertain money situation a while longer before making commitments of sufficient strength to absorb the tremendous amount of stock available in this market area. The inability of the list to penetrate the 900 resistance level of the Dow Jones industrial average would indicate a further test on the mid May lows, the analyst says.

Highlights and Sidelights From Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
 AUSTIN, Tex. — Taxes—with its what, why, where, who and because — raised its unpopular head in the Texas capitol this week.
 Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy presented a report to Gov. John Connally and the Texas Legislature.
 Everybody's request for more money indicates that the spending program to be presented the 1967 Legislature will eat up the $75,000,000 state surplus — and require new money to finance.
 Higher education, pay raises for teachers and state employees, water development, state park and recreation expenditures, Texas Highway Patrol — all want in on the act.
 The tax policy committee is headed by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, who asked the Texas Research League to list possible sources for new taxes.
 Proposed were:
 —Increase the state sales tax from its present two per cent to two and half or three per cent, raising $72,400,000 to $144,800,000 a year;
 —Corporation income tax of 4.4 per cent (average of those in the 37 states which levy it), raising from $18,000,000 to $106,000,000 a year;
 —Graduated personal income tax, raising $75,000,000 a year. (There are 36 states with personal income taxes.)
DRAFT CALL — Texas' part of fulfilling the national draft call for 31,300 men in September includes furnishing 1,381 men in July; 1,837 in August; and 1,585 in September, says Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director.
 In addition, between 4,000 and 5,000 Texas men will be called for preinduction physical and mental examinations in September.
GRAIN FARMERS CAUTIONED — John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, advised Texas grain farmers to "make certain your harvest is stored in a state-licensed warehouse and to demand a valid Texas Grain Receipt."
 Approximately 70 warehouses have failed to renew their licenses this year, though the grain harvest is well underway.

in many parts of the state. Grain stored in these warehouses is not protected by bonds and license required by law, said White.
MORE BOAT RAMPS — Thirty-three new boat ramps across the state, making a total of 94 such ramps, have been approved by the Texas Highway Commission.
 Twenty of the new ones are adjacent to farm-to-market or park roads.
 These new ramps will increase launching facilities by more than one-half and will cost $241,800, or an average of $7,327 each. Source of money, provided for under the Texas Water Safety Act, comes from Certificate-of-Number-fees collected from Texas boat owners.
 And, speaking of boats, new boat inspection fees and unclaimed boat gasoline sales taxes are reaping about $100,000 a month for the state.
 According to the State Parks and Wildlife Department, a new system is being set up so that fines collected for boat safety law violations will go to a State fund, rather than to county funds where most other law-breakers' fines are deposited.
BIG THICKET ENDORSED — State Parks and Wildlife Commission endorsed "in principle" the creation of a Big Thicket State Park. It will embrace some 15,000 acres of the 300,000 acres in Liberty, Hardin, Tyler and Livingston Counties known as the "Big Thicket."
 Will Odum of Austin, commission chairman, said endorsement would be made "specific" after the Parks and Wildlife staff has studied the proposal. Then all the Commission needs is legislative approval.
OTHER PARKS NEED REPAIR — According to William M. Gosdin, park services director, state parks' buildings need repairs to the tune of $970,000. State Parks are expected to get $2,200,000 for improvement from federal sources during each of the coming two years. But Gosdin said a complete statewide outdoor recreation plan is needed by 1970 to keep the state qualified for federal aid for park construction.
COUNTY GOVERNMENT STUDY — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed the following as an advisory committee to the Legislative Council Study Committee on County Government: Harold Green, president, County Judges and Commissioners Assn.; L. D. McCormick, president, County Treasurers Assn.; O. D. Ginegan, president, County Tax Assessors' Collectors Assn.; V. G. Young, assistant director, Agricultural Extension Services at Texas A&M University; Joe G. Resweber, Harris County attorney; Dick Kirby, president, County Auditors Assn.; and Bill Waters, president, District and County Attorneys Assn.

 Council is composed of 10 State Representatives and five Senators, with Smith as chairman and House Speaker Ben Barnes, vice-chairman.
CONTRASTING JOB SITUATION — Texas employment is continuing its upward trend, but at the same time, unemployment is rising too, the Texas Employment Commission reports.
 Total employment rose from 3,867,600 in April to 3,896,000 in mid-May, while unemployment rose from 121,000 to 124,000 during the same period. The number of workers on non-farm payrolls rose by 6,500 to 3,585,300, and farm employment jumped 23,900 during May. The 3,000 increase in unemployment was caused by early entrants into the market from schools.

SHORT SNORTS — Governor Connally has approved nine grants under the Economic Opportunity Act. Fort Worth and Tarrant County got the biggest chunk of money — $368,980 — for use in planned parenthood services, family-neighborhood services, poverty centers and dental care. Waco and McLennan County received $346,130 for day-care services, booster edu-education, remedial and summer education, expansion of Planned Parenthood.

 Department of Agriculture designated as drought disaster areas Carson, Lipscomb, Wheeler, Hemphill and Collingsworth Counties.
 Dr. Hal Potts, Dallas, is new district program consultant for Texas OEO, appointed by Governor Connally.

Roller Skating Still Popular

By LARRY HOLLIS
Daily News Reporter

Many youngsters—and adults—enjoy roller skating at the Pampa Roller Rink, but some get more from skating by joining the Pampa Skating Club. The purpose of the club, according to the club constitution, is "to promote amateur roller skating and to build character by encouraging the members' loyalty to their God, their country, their club and their rink." Approximately 50 to 60 persons are members of the club, said Bill Watson, operator of the Pampa Roller Rink and one of the sponsors of the club. Members range in age from two years of age to adults. The only prerequisites for membership is an interest in skating, Watson said. In addition to the regular skating hours, the Pampa Skating Club has other activities.

"We try to have a monthly social outside of skating," Watson stated. This may be a picnic, swimming party, and so on. This month the local club is having a joint picnic with the Berger Skating Club at Lake Meredith. Also, club members may play roller hockey once a week. "Club members are the only ones allowed to play roller hockey," said Watson. The club also receives skating instructions and lessons from Watson, outside those of regular skating. These classes consist of beginners skating, fundamentals, roller dancing, and free style and figure skating. "At this rink," Watson said, "most emphasis is placed on roller dancing." The club meets the first Friday after the first Tuesday of every month. The adult advisory committee meets the first Tuesday of each month, to make plans to help the club. Most of the members are sub-teens or teens. "Mostly, though, we let the kids run the club as much as they can," stated Watson. They usually suggest most of the projects.

One of the projects was the construction of a float for the Santa Day parade last winter. The float won first place in clubs and in sweepstakes. A club queen is elected each year. At the present time she is Susan Dorley. An annual coronation is held for the queen, who represents the club at the regional contests. The region is composed of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Contests for various skating skills are also held.

"Most of our contests," Watson explained, "are inter-rink contests with other rinks in this area, such as Berger, Amarillo, Clovis, N. M. and Portales, N. M."

The better skaters go to the state contests, Watson said. From there, they may go to the regional contests. Three members advanced to regional this year.

"The local rink sponsors the club, but it is also a registered amateur club with the United States Federation of Amateur Roller Skaters," Watson said. When they participate in contests, as amateurs, the members represent the club. At the present time, Mrs. Jean Dorley is a registered judge. She is the only one from Pampa to have been commissioned as an amateur judge, Watson said. Officers are elected each year. This year they are John Hollis, president; Kathy Barnes, vice-president; Stephanie Stewart, secretary; Mrs. Jean Dorley, treasurer; and Mrs. Estella Porterfield, historian. Mrs. Helen Bristek is chairman of the adult advisory committee.

Viet Nam War Fight to Finish

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON (UPI)—Red China has expressed determination to fight the Viet Nam war to the end—or at least to the last Communist Vietnamese.

Peking's determination was made clear by Premier Chou En-lai to the Romanian leaders during his recent talks in Bucharest with Communist party chief Nikolai Ceausescu. There is little doubt the Mao Tse-tung regime is taking an increasingly tough line in the Viet Nam conflict.

Peking, therefore, will oppose any peace move, no matter what is suggested. It will put pressure on Hanoi to stay away from any conference and refuse to endorse any settlement which it might eventually produce.

Peking is standing firm on Viet Nam for no less than the vindication of its basic principle. Bucharest talks some two weeks ago that they would the best method to shake off so-called imperialist shackles.

Failure would have serious repercussions for Peking's prestige everywhere in the world where Red China has been in action—in Asia, Africa and Latin America—and has been forming liberation wars.

It also would prove Moscow's "co-existence" policy right and reaffirm Moscow's leadership of international communism which Red China has been seeking to wrest from the Soviet Union.

This is why Peking is watching developments in Viet Nam with such anxiety. It is out to prolong the fight in the hope of winning on the battlefields of Viet Nam, ideological supremacy over Russia, and with it the leadership of the Communist world.

Golf, as it is played today, originated in Scotland, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Quality Control Meet Scheduled

The Amarillo Subsection of the American Society for Quality Control will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 28, at the Crossroads Motor Inn in Amarillo.

Elmer Devor, supervisor of the Value Engineering and Cost Improvement Div. Sandia Corporation, Albuquerque, N. M., will speak on "Why a Value Engineering Program." The discussion will point out reasons a value engineering program will produce cost savings by disclosing how to eliminate unnecessary costs through identification of product function and determination of function worth. The presentation also includes a review of the voluntary and mandatory requirements necessary for the establishment of a value engineering program.

Devor was graduated from Pennsylvania State University in 1938 with a degree in Industrial Engineering. Prior to joining Sandia Corp. in 1958, he was a Field Industrial Engineer for the United States Rubber Co. and has been Supervisor of Industrial Engineering and Supervisor of Inspection and Quality Control at General Electric plants.

Foreign News Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
PARIS (UPI) — French Premier Georges Pompidou is acting more and more these days like a man who expects to step into the shoes of the boss — President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle's second seven-year term still has another six and a half years to run. But he will be 76 in November and many Frenchmen believe he will step down before serving out his full term.

If he does so, few doubt that the suave roly-poly Pompidou will be ready to succeed the old general.

But the 55-year-old premier has some major hurdles to overcome.

France will hold national parliamentary general elections next spring, probably in March or April. Pompidou has been given the assignment by De Gaulle of ensuring that the ruling Gaullist Union for the New Republic (UNR)—majority party in France since 1962—is returned to power.

If Pompidou can pull that off, his political future seems to be in the bag.

But if he should flop—and particularly if he fails to get elected himself—Pompidou is the first to admit it would be curtains for his political career.

While he prepares for battle, Pompidou is acting confidently as a man who expects to go places politically. And De Gaulle himself seems to be helping quietly in the buildup.

In recent months, Pompidou has spent a great deal of time at his central France country home in Cajarc, where he will run for election.

He is "nursing the constituency," to use a phrase from British politics, shakes hands with the voters and no longer shuns occasional rounds of baby-kissing.

Pompidou also has been giving himself increasing political exposure on television.

Though he is only in robust middle age, he manages to project something of a comfortable "father figure." He speaks with ease and fluency on all manner of subjects.

Last week De Gaulle sent Pompidou to London for two days of talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Using one of the boss man's little tricks, Pompidou delivered a carefully polished airport statement he had memorized.

Then, in a manner reminiscent of De Gaulle, the former House of Rothschild banker proceeded to deliver a long, though polite lecture to Wilson, himself a trained economist, about what Britain should do to put her economic house in order.

In all this, political observers in France felt some of the De Gaulle grand manner was beginning to rub off on the man who would like to succeed him.

Flight coast-to-coast or across the Atlantic will be accomplished in two hours by supersonic airlines of the future.

Education Shows Rapid Growth in Every Way

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Education has grown rapidly in quality and quantity the past few years. There has been much improvement of the educational offering. The quality is a result of such factors as improved materials and methods of instruction which have been developed by educators and the business world working together.

During recent months much emphasis has been upon recruiting qualified staff members for the 1966-67 school year. Has your school system had a substantial number of qualified candidates? Teachers are attracted to communities for several reasons. One important reason is a desire to join a school system in which the community has supported a quality program.

What are the ingredients in a program which encourages instructional quality? At all levels there should be a continuous search for materials, techniques and programs which will contribute to the betterment of the learning process.

There is a need to try out new texts and materials in the classroom. Experiments with programmed learning, look at new teaching techniques and expand special programs in the sciences as well as literature and the arts.

The use of teachers' aides to assist with instructional as well as administrative duties such as supervising the lunch and access program, can allow more time to provide additional professional staff members more time to provide additional educational services.

At the secondary level a wide variety of basic and advanced courses should be available. Are foreign languages offered to seventh graders? Are students able to pursue vocational programs? Is a course in humanities offered?

Local colleges will often cooperate by accepting selected high school students in specific courses which can not be offered in the high school.

Education should be interesting and challenging to students and teachers. Programs and activities which create an exciting atmosphere for the implications for your particular school system.

Progress in the area of instructional improvement results from a combination of factors including staff attitude, research, and an atmosphere conducive to such activity. An orderly progress based upon evaluation, research and sound judgments should be the aim of every board of education and professional educator.

Second Half Struggle Starts for Major Leagues

By United Press International
Members of the San Francisco Giants and Baltimore Orioles, meeting briefly on the banks of the Mississippi, hope to strike up a longer relationship on the shores of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans come October.

The Giants led the National League by one game over Pittsburgh while the Orioles boast an eight-game margin over the Detroit Tigers in the American League.

The Orioles, attempting to bring Baltimore its first modern-day pennant, and the Giants, looking for their first league title since 1962, sent a combined total of 10 players to the All-Star game in St. Louis Tuesday.

Before meeting in the World Series this fall, however, the clubs must each survive another 75 league encounters. Prior to the mid-season classic, San Francisco owned a 34-33 record, Baltimore a 38-29 mark.

The Giants begin a five-day road trip today by facing the fourth-place Philadelphia Phillies in the opener of a three-game set before moving into Pittsburgh for a crucial two-game series against the Pirates, who have won six of their last seven games.

Tougher Trip

The Orioles embark on an even tougher road trip starting today, with three contests against the Tigers and two against Chicago before returning home for nine days.

Of all the challengers, the Pirates look the most capable of spoiling San Francisco's bid for a senior circuit flag. Possessing an amazing .282 team batting average, 24 points ahead of second-ranked Philadelphia, the Pirates boast the top three hitters in the league. Matty Alou is No. 1 with a .338 mark, Willie Stargell ranks second at .337 and three-time NL batting champ Roberto Clemente is third at .328. Besides hitting, rookie Woody Fryman, Steve Blass, Bob Veal, Vernon Law and Tommie Sisk give Pittsburgh a dependable pitching staff.

The Giants rank a surprising ninth in team hitting and even Willie Mays is having a sub-par season, batting only .277. Pitchers Juan Mtrichal (14.4) and Gaylord Perry (12-1) have kept the Giants in front. Baltimore has completely dominated junior circuit statistics. Russ Snyder's .348 batting average is tops among regulars. Frank Robinson ranks No. 1 in RBIs with 70 and Stu Miller's 7.1 record is best in percentage.

The third-place Los Angeles Dodgers, fighting to become the first NL pennant repeater since the Braves won back-to-back flags in 1957-58, are five games off the pace but hope to make up some ground starting today at the expense of the ninth-place New York Mets.

Cleveland, weak at the plate but tough on the mound with such standouts as Sam Mc-Dowell (6-3), Sonny Siebert (9-4) and Gary Bell (9-4), invade Chicago faced with the task of making up a 10-game deficit on the Orioles.

The Tigers, primed for the struggle against Baltimore, own the league's winningest pitcher in Denny McLain (13-4), who turned in three perfect innings against the NL All Stars, Al Kaline, batting .325 with 21 homers and 56 RBIs, is enjoying one of his finest years.

The surprising California Angels, secure in fourth place only three games behind Detroit, hope rookie Rick Reichardt continues improving during the second half of the campaign. The Angels invade Boston today for a series against the Red Sox, who are 22 games behind.

Elsewhere in the AL, the New York Yankees, shockingly in ninth place only 1½ games out of the cellar, visit sixth-place Kansas City.

In the senior circuit, fifth-place Houston, enjoying its highest perch ever at this stage of the race, travel to Atlanta and Cincinnati, giving interim Manager Dave Bristol a chance to improve on the Red's eight place showing, entertain St. Louis in a doubleheader.

Griffith Victor In Close Match

By CURT BLOCK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The pre-fight publicity called it "the last chance for the Irish" but that's not quite so.

Emile Griffith was still wearing his middleweight crown after 15 action-saturated rounds at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night but Joey Archer made it plenty close and everyone called it the best fight in years.

So, why not do it again? There could be no objections.

The 28-year-old champion, eight days older than Archer, garnered the votes of two of the three officials at ringside to annex a majority decision over the Irish challenger, who got considerable backing from the crowd of 13,776.

Referee Johnny Lobianco couldn't pick a winner and called it a draw 7-7-1 with seven points for each man. Judge Al Berl scored it 8-7 for Griffith and Judge Artie Aidala gave it to the winner 9-5. United Press International saw it the other way, giving Archer an 8-6-1 edge.

Seeks Another Bout
"I'd be glad to get these guys together again any time," said Harry Markson, director of boxing for the Garden.

Both participants were eager for another go at each other also.

"I'd be glad to fight Joey again if he wants to meet me," Griffith said after the gruelling 15 rounds.

"Sure I'd like another chance," Archer said, "but I thought I won it this time. At least it was a good fight and people enjoyed it."

If they meet again it probably will be the same type of fight. Neither boxer has a devastating knockout punch but both have proven they can go 15 rounds and not coast a minute.

Griffith's best round was the fifth when he nailed Archer with a combination of left hooks and straight rights and had the challenger holding on. An accident, but during a clinch in the eighth round opened a one-inch cut over the Irishman's right eye and although it looked like it might hamper him and possibly influence the judges Archer discounted those possibilities.

"If they are (the judges) looking at it," Archer said, referring to the gash on his eyebrow, "it should cost Griffith because it obviously came from a butt. I can't use it as an excuse, I thought I won it."

"I thought I was ahead from the 12th round on," the disappointed loser added. "I figured I won it about 9-6. Next time I'll win it more decisively."

Archer, who hadn't been in the ring for eight months, stopped Griffith in his tracks twice in the 10th and 14th rounds. Griffith was adamant in his claim that he was never hurt.

"He never hurt me," the native Virgin Islander insisted. "I was dizzy, of that I can assure you. I'm not trying to say Joey isn't a puncher but he didn't hurt me."

Jimmy Brown May Retire

LONDON (UPI) — Jimmy Brown, the leading ground gainer in professional football history, called a press conference today amid speculation that he would announce his premature retirement from the game in favor of a movie career.

Brown, 30, repeated several times last year that he planned to retire from football after the 1966 season, which would mark his 10th campaign in the National Football League. However, the star fullback of the Cleveland Browns has been in London the last few months filming a movie, "The Dirty Dozen," and work on the picture is still far from complete.

In the meantime, Brown is under the pressure of a suspension and fine from the Cleveland club if he doesn't report to its summer training camp at Hiram, Ohio, this Sunday.

Brown still has a year remaining on a two-year contract with Cleveland calling for $65,000 a season.

However, Ken Hyman, producer of "The Dirty Dozen," said Wednesday that Brown's contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer calls for him to be available until the end of shooting. Work on the film here is not expected to be finished until the end of September and Brown's presence will be reported until then.

STEVENS CUP
NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada will oppose India in the first round of the Stevens Cup matches at the West Side Tennis Club, July 28-30, with the winner meeting Mexico Aug. 13. It was decided Wednesday in the draw conducted by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The survivor of the match with Mexico will meet the defending champion U.S. squad for the title on Aug. 5-7.

Ralston Leads Field of Six

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Dennis Ralston, the top-ranked player in the nation, headed a field of four American and two foreign seeds in reaching the quarter-finals of the National Clay Courts tennis tournament today.

Ralston, 23, of Bakersfield, Calif., has been a Davis Cupper for the past five years and is seeking a third consecutive National Clay Courts title—a feat accomplished only once before.

Seeded first here, the defending champion gained the quarter-finals with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Lenny Schloss of Baltimore Wednesday.

Two third-round matches remained to be played after Wednesday's action and seeded players were involved in both.

Third-seeded Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico and fourth-ranked Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., were scheduled to go against unranked opponents Thursday.

Joining Ralston in the quarter-finals were Cliff Richey of Dallas, seeded second here and third in the country; Stan Smith, seeded seventh; Frank Froehling, the eighth seed, and the two top foreign seeds, Tony Roche and Owen Davidson of Australia.

In quarter-finals competition Ralston was scheduled to play Froehling, from Coral Gables, Fla., and Richey was slated to take on Smith, Pasadena, Calif.

Rookies Arrive for Grid Workouts

CHICAGO (UPI) — Fifty of the highest paid rookies in professional football history began arriving today to begin training for their ultimate goal—beating the kings of the football world, the Green Bay Packers, Aug. 5 in the annual All-Star game at Soldier Field.

The stars will set up camp at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., for three weeks of drills under John Sauer, who replaced Otto Graham as college coach for the charity game.

Sauer's roster is full of the names that made college football headlines in 1961—(5,000 meters), Rene Mattison (100 meters), pole vaulters Jim Eshelman, Jeff Chase and Dennis Phillips plus high jumper Tom Clyburn.

U.S. Planning Big Track Meet

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The United States plans Saturday and Sunday to come up with a substitute track meet that could put the canceled U.S.-Poland extravaganza into the shadows.

"All in all, I think we will have a great meet that is similar to the Olympic trials," Sam Bell, director of the gathering, said Wednesday after receiving eight new acceptances.

The bids were sent out Tuesday after Poland followed Russia's lead by refusing to meet the United States in a dual meet at the University of California this Friday and Saturday. Russia had canceled out of a July 23-24 meet at Los Angeles with the United States the previous day. Both nations said that their athletes voted to stay home in protest over United States policies in Viet Nam.

At first stunned, the Americans got busy to put on a better meet here.

"Even if we have lost the international flavor, we still could have an improved meet because we can use more talent rather than two persons per event," Bell, California's track coach, declared.

Those coming to compete are Bill Toomey, claimant to the world decathlon mark; George Hunt (800 meters), Doug Brown (1,500 meters), Rene Mattison (100 meters), pole vaulters Jim Eshelman, Jeff Chase and Dennis Phillips plus high jumper Tom Clyburn.

Kathy Says Gal Golfers Improve

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the Women's PGA tour, says the girls are getting better every year but still have a long way to go to equal the top men pros.

Besides the obvious advantage of the men in being able to drive farther, Miss Whitworth believes the males also have the edge in concentration required to be successful in golf.

"I think men are naturally more aggressive than we are, and I'm impressed by their concentration whenever I see them play," Kathy said.

Miss Whitworth, here for the Lad Carling Open at Stoney Creek Club beginning today, is the top money winner so far this year with $15,939 in 16 tournaments. She finished last year in the top spot with $28,658 in official money earnings.

Her total earnings was a far cry from the leading money winner among the men during 1965. Jack Nicklaus collected more than $400,000 as the top money winner among the men pros.

"It's hard to imagine winning as much money in one week as some of the men do, but I'm not envious of them. They have more responsibility and the fields are bigger," she said.

New Reds' Manager Isn't Awed by Job

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Dave Bristol got his first managerial job in the minor leagues at the tender age of 23. Today, at 33, he has his first major league managerial job.

Bristol was named interim manager of the Cincinnati Reds, succeeding Don Heffner, who was fired Wednesday, midway through his first season as a major league manager.

If Bristol was apprehensive about becoming the fourth man to manage the Reds in less than two years, he didn't show it.

"I was very surprised but not awed," he commented when informed of his new position by William O. DeWitt, the Reds' president and general manager. "I'm still standing on my own two feet."

Bristol got the word by telephone at his Andrews, N.C., home where he is visiting his family during the All-Star game break. Heffner left a New York Mets coaching job to become the Reds' manager.

"It is with deep regret that we announce that Don Heffner has been relieved of his duties as manager of the Reds. While we feel that Heffner, who is a dedicated baseball man, did a good job, we believe a change at this time is in order," the statement said.

Heffner has been offered a job to continue in the Cincinnati organization next year, but DeWitt would not disclose what the job would be.

Bristol changes from the youngest coach in the major leagues this year to the youngest manager. He takes over a ball club that is mired in eighth place with a 37-46 record, 15 games behind the pace-setting San Francisco Giants.

"I believe in going by the book," said Bristol, "but if you have to change the book to win, then you have to change." He has no drastic changes planned for the team but will take things as they come.

Canyon Drops National Stars From Tournament

Pampa's American League Babe Ruth stars remained the only Pampa team in district tournament action when the Nationals lost Wednesday to Canyon, 10-3.

The American League stars meet Dumas at 8 p.m. tonight in Pampa.

Canyon scored their 10 runs on only three hits off losing pitcher Ross Holman and re-never Larry Katara. Errors plagued the National stars.

Phil Long led the Pampa team with two hits in three at bats.

Neither team scored until the second inning and Pampa went in front 3-1 in the third only to see Canyon take a 6-3 lead in their half of the third, add two more in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Rambling With Red

RON CROSS

It really didn't seem like an All-Star game. There was no Mantle or Ford, no Howard or Berra. You had your Robinsons, Kaline and Oliva but the power wasn't there.

The Nationals had the reported power in Mays, Aaron, Clemente and Torre but it didn't show as the 37th classic turned into a pitchers duel from the start in 106 degree temperatures.

If you happen to be a Yankee fan perhaps you had a lump in your throat too, when in pre-game television Old Case was on with Ted Williams.

He still likes Mantle and calls Williams the greatest hitter ever and Mays is the best in the National League. But it seemed strange to see Casey in a business suit. The pitchers were the stars in this one and was there any better than Dennis McLain?

But he had something going for him for his daddy-in-law, one of the finest short stops in the game was watching him for the first time.

And don't you know that Lou Boudreau was proud. Rambling:

California made a bid for Frank Robinson when they heard the Reds were going to unload him but Cincinnati wanted Dean Chance and Fred Newman and the Angels backed off.

Robinson is leading the American League in just about everything while Chance has won six games and Newman none.

Joe Adcock has hit the most homers in the most major league parks. He holds the all-time record with 25. Dick Stuart is next with 24.

The Tigers McLain thinks the traditional system of rating pitching effectiveness is all wet.

"I don't feel an earned run average is a true picture of a pitcher," says the ace. "Some of your top relievers have high ERA's because they'll go eight or nine games in a row doing a great job and give up five or six runs in one game and up goes the ERA."

Believe it or not Leon Wagner of the Cleveland Indians now comes equipped for all occasions with contact lenses: brown for sunny days, pink for cloudy days and clear for in-between weather.

The first U.S. entry in Olympic competition was in 1896 when Harvard freshman James Connolly won the hop, step and jump with a 45-foot span.

between them and it is a big difference.

Clay frequently is boorish and overbearing and he irks people. Griffith has the showy, flamboyant manner of a proud peacock, but he also has a flair for kidding himself and making everyone like him.

They should because he not only is an excellent fighter, but also a genuinely decent human being who shows proper respect for others both inside and outside the ring.

He had all the right in the world to crow Wednesday night after retaining his middleweight title with a 14-round decision over boxing master Joey Archer at Madison Square

Made Good Fight

Griffith made a good fight of it and there were few in the crowd of 13,776, including those rooting so loudly for Archer, who could seriously question the decision.

Yet, Emile thought it was necessary to apologize.

"I have no complaint about the fight," he said in his crowded dressing room. "The only complaint I have is about myself."

Griffith chided himself for not making a good fight when actually he had. He nagged himself about letting Archer tie up his left hand and about giving the challenger too much room. He down-graded himself so much that someone finally asked him whether he felt he had lost.

"Oh, no," Emile quickly pointed out. "I thought I won, but I feel I could have performed better."

There was nothing peculiar about that bit of self-analysis, and Griffith was handling his post-fight interview in perfect fashion until someone asked him whether Archer had staggered him with a right hand in the 14th round.

That did it.

Emile sucked in his breath sharply and suddenly looked as if he was about to explode.

"He never staggered me," he shouted in that shrill tone he uses every time he becomes excited, which is often. "He never did... never... never."

Set Straight

Co-Manager Gil Clancy, who was at Griffith's side, attempted to set the questioner straight.

"That's not the proper question to ask him," Clancy pointed out. "What you want to ask him is, was he ever dizzy?"

"Okay, Was Emile ever dizzy?" "Never, never, never," he said, raising his voice again.

Clancy took over once more. "Remember what I told you about being humble," he said softly to his fighter.

"Okay," said Griffith. "I won't say what I was going to say. But he never hurt me. I got to give it to Archer, though. He's a beautiful boxer. And I mean that from the bottom of my heart."

"I'm not trying to say Joey ain't a puncher. When you get hit by a baby, he can hurt you. And Joey ain't a baby."

Suddenly, Emile was the charmer again.

He never did get over that question about whether Archer staggered him, though. Nor did he ever admit it.

Peculiar fellow, this Griffith. But not a bad fellow, with it all.

Qualifying Set for Junior Golf

DALLAS (UPI)—Qualifying rounds will be held Monday at Haggard, current Dallas city Glen Lakes Country Club for the 2nd annual Texas State Junior Girls Golf Tournament. Defending champion Kathy Ahern of Dallas, runnerup last week at the Broadmoor Invitational Tournament in Colorado Springs, Colo., will head a strong field of about 40. The Dallas Times Herald is sponsor of the tournament.

The match play tourney will run through Friday. Entries will be accepted on qualifying day. Some of the players entered include Kathy Hutson of Lubbock, a semi-finalist in the national junior last year; Nancy Haggard, current Dallas city champion; Lou Dill, current Houston women's city champion; and Jackie Evans of San Antonio, Kansas State junior girls champion.

Oilers Expected to Start Cutting Down on Players

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers had contacted him today with the first mass player cut expected sometime this morning.

Head Coach Wally Lemm said of Wednesday's workout, "It was just about like a Chinese fire drill." He was referring to the more than 80 rookies whom he had to look over to determine who would play and who would be cut.

Three rookie free agents called it quits Wednesday — Larry Hartup, an offensive tackle from Bethany; Dave Simon, a center from St. Norbert and Gene Gebhart, a line-backer.

According to rumors in Houston Wednesday night, former Pittsburgh Steeler Fullback John Henry Johnson would sign with the Oilers. Lemm said Johnson had contacted him some time ago and he had referred him to the Oilers' front office. He said he had heard no more about the matter.

Oiler General Manager Don Klosterman was not available for comment.

The rest of the Oiler hopefuls will show up July 17, little more than a week before the intra-squad game in Beaumont July 26.

Lemm plans to play the No. 1 offense against his No. 2 defense, and the No. 1 defense against the No. 2 offense.

Tickets are $2 for reserved seats in the Lamar Tech stadium. General admission tickets are $1 and student admission for those 17 and under is 50 cents.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Don't Pity Poor College Professors

A newspaper office probably gets more unsolicited reading matter than any other place in the world, except maybe a library. The magazines, pamphlets and publicity releases pour in daily and go out, via the wastebasket after a quick glance, just as fast.

Occasionally one piques our interest. About the most untempting in appearance is a modest little 20-page booklet, with only a drawing of a Greek (or Roman) column on the cover for decoration.

It's the spring issue of The University Bookman, a quarterly that lists its subscription price at $2 a year but apparently goes free to anyone mildly interested.

Here, we thought, is bound to be a scholarly study of the academic world right from the horse's mouth.

What did we find? That the professors are writing for fellow professors about the same things everyone else has on his mind: Money and security.

The first article is titled "The AAUP: Blessing or Danger" and is written by John P. Leary, S. J. He is president of Jesuit-Run Gonzaga University at Spokane, Wash.

Leary takes eight pages to kick the tar out of the American Association of University Professors for blackjacking his school into paying $6,000 to an instructor whose contract had not been renewed.

"This union (and it is a union, basically)," writes Leary, "threatened to blacklist Gonzaga unless the money was paid."

"To show how much the threat was felt one could have seen the almost panic on the part of the lay staff. They felt we had to settle, equity be damned; otherwise the school would be ruined. New instructors would steer clear of a marked institution. It was small passion for justice that moved some of them; just plain fright was a big problem."

On the next page, Leary writes: "We settled. Paid $6,000."

Enough for Father Leary. He tangled with the professors' union, got his fingers burned and settled against his principles.

The second article in the little pamphlet is another eye-opener.

The Meaning of Advertising

It has been truthfully said that economic and political liberty live or die together. By the same token, a free press cannot exist without private enterprise and neither private enterprise nor personal liberty can exist without a free press.

If statements such as these seem dogmatic, academic or trite, the pages of the nation's newspapers, periodicals and other publications tell a different story.

In columns of advertising, investor-owned enterprise, big and little, seeks the patronage of the public. A national news magazine recently carried a full-page advertisement over the signature of the president of a major investor-owned electric power system. The purpose of the advertisement was to call attention to the opportunities for industrial development in its service area.

'No' is a Nasty Word

Since 1949, when it was constituted, the East German parliament — the Volkskammer, or "people's chamber" — has never recorded a single "no" vote in any measure.

A reader of "Young World", the organ of Communist youth, wrote a letter recently asking how this could be. Evidently too young to understand the wisdom and perfection of the Communist system of government, he asked how it was possible that so many representatives (434) over so many years had always, decided in complete unanimity on everything.

The reply, from Johannes Dickmann, president of the Volkskammer, was simple: "There is no room in the East German parliament for anybody who is against the majority. Such a person would only make himself foolish and show himself up as an odd person indeed."

Foolish is right, about as foolish as a man voluntarily walking up to a ticket counter and buying a one-way fare to Siberia.

A thought for the day—Norwegian novelist Henrik Ibsen said: "I hold that man is in the right who is most clearly in league with the future."

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Something every visitor to New York should always carry is a new 124-page guidebook that tells tourists where to find clean rest rooms in the Big Town. It's aptly titled, "The Better John Guide."

The next big thing for camera fans will be three-dimensional photography. The method was discovered in England about 20 years ago, but it has remained beyond the possibility of being practical for the average photo snapper because it needed a particular kind of light.

Today's smile: A certain sales manager, noted for his loud voice, was shouting in his office one morning. The head of the firm happened to pass and inquired of the sales manager's secretary: "What's he shouting about?" She told him her boss was talking to San Francisco. "Then why doesn't he use the telephone?" asked the boss.

The first coast-to-coast airplane flight, in 1911, took 48 days. The plane really wasn't that slow, but the engine kept breaking down and the pilot, C. P. Rodgers, had to cool his heels in various pastures while new parts were shipped by rail.

Thoughts while shaving: Henry J. Kaiser, the industrial genius, learned early in his career that no man can go very far without the assistance of others. We recall, during an interview back in World War II days, Kaiser said: "I make progress by having people around me who are smarter than I am. I listen to them."

And the salaries, he continues, are nothing compared to the chances to "make a very quick buck indeed" on jobs as outside advisors or consultants to industry or on editorial boards.

Some engineering impresarios use their college stipends for paying their taxes," says Wagner.

He quotes chapter and verse—a visiting professorship that pays $20,000, a job on a book club panel that pays the same, an assistant professor who was sent to the Middle East to teach three hours a week, for $18,000 a year, during his half-pay college sabbatical year.

The conclusion from all this is inescapable: What we thought all along was an ivory tower is really a lookout post for guys looking for a buck—even as you and I.

Johnson Strategy? Intensified Summer Air Ground Attacks in Viet Nam To Encourage Early September Truce

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's Viet Nam strategy calls for intensification of bombing and ground attacks this summer followed by a vigorous peace offensive in the fall.

High point of this military-diplomatic drive will be an attempt to arrange a cease-fire before the mid-September constitutional assembly election in South Viet Nam and the congressional election in the U.S. in November.

Under plans being discussed in White House councils, the President will make a direct offer to Hanoi to halt air attacks on North Viet Nam if the Communists agree to a 30 or 60-day truce.

Still under consideration is whether the President will make his proposal in an address before the United Nations or through diplomatic channels.

State Department officials, who originated the cease-fire idea, are urging it on the ground it would be of immense value in ensuring an orderly and effective election in south Viet Nam. They also are convinced that once fighting is suspended, even for a brief period, that would open the way for formal peace negotiations.

It is the opinion of White House advisers that intensification of both air and ground operations against the Communists in the next several months will "soften them up" to the point where they will be receptive to a cease-fire offer by fall.

The intensified bombing raids, that have concentrated on oil depots, will be expanded to include the large complex of airfields, railroad marshaling yards, power, steel and other plants in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. Slashing strikes against these targets, with as many as 100 planes, will become routine in the next 60 days — weather permitting.

OTHER FRONT — The increased aerial blasting of North Viet Nam will be accompanied by a powerful ground offensive in South Viet Nam to open main highways and the north-south railroad.

Planned for several months, this operation is awaiting reinforcements, which are enroute and will be available by the end of this month.

Objective of this offensive is to drive North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces out of the coastal provinces astride arteries into the interior. The operation could produce some of the bloodiest fighting of the war if the enemy stands and fights.

Plans call for a series of air, land and sea pincer movements to envelope enemy positions and battalions. Amphibious Marine units will sweep in from the sea to drive the Communists inland into the envelopments. Massive tactical air power will be used in these operations.

Until the results of these elaborate plans are known, the President is withholding decision on the recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff that

WOODEN NICKELS AND COPPER QUARTERS

"You have in your hand two quarters. One contains 25 cents' worth of silver, the other has only a few cents' worth of copper and nickel. You owe me a quarter. Which one do you give me?"

When there is a really significant difference between the intrinsic values of two coins that have the same debt-paying value, the more valuable one tends to be hung onto, and the less valuable one tends to be used in circulation.

In this way William F. Rickenbacker describes how "Gresham's Law" applies to 1966 America. This is an excerpt from his new book "Wooden Nickels" (published by Arlington House, 81 Centre Ave., New Rochelle, N. Y.; $3.95).

"Wooden Nickels" provides an excellent insight into the monetary machinations that led to the virtual removal of silver from our coinage. Historical background and contemporary evidence are presented to give the reader an understanding of the forces at work that led to the "disappearance" of silver.

The author believes that silver should be removed from our coinage, convinced that a free market price for it would not attract greater production, and the reader may find himself in disagreement with that conclusion.

At the same time, however, Rickenbacker states the case for private ownership of gold, presently outlawed.

He keeps the present inflationary cycle in clear view of the reader at all times. He recognizes that a great deal of the silver disappearance may be due to private individuals who are apprehensive about future inflationary policies.

A few silver coins with their inherent commodity value may someday be worth many times a pile full of paper dollars.

He summarizes thusly: "Silver was never the backbone of our monetary system, but nevertheless in recent years it did serve in its minor fashion to measure the speed of our monetary debacle. Now it is gone, and the United States is on a completely fiat basis (the trivial connection between gold and that 20 percent of our money supply that is composed of Federal Reserve notes can be, and will be, ignored).

"That is, for the first time since 1792, we are on a money backed by nothing better than the politician's pledge. The stage is set for the final inflationary blowoff, if that is what our money managers desire. The shelves of the libraries groan under the weight of the evidence that wealth cannot be created through the printing of paper money, and the cemeteries are filled with the corpses of the grandeees whose search for the philosopher's stone ended at the tomb. Our leaders have not learned from history. We cannot bid farewell to silver without profound foreboding."

Harry Browne

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Nervous Stomach Has Varied Causes
Q— In a recent column you recommended sodium hypochlorite solution to remove a sweaty odor from clothing. What strength should be used?

A— If you use a household hypochlorite such as Clorox, one teaspoon to a gallon of water is the recommended concentration. Observe the warnings about fabrics that can't be treated in this way. Some authorities believe that thorough washing with a detergent followed by rinsing in plain water is just as effective.

Q— Five different doctors have said I have a nervous stomach. Is this serious? What treatment would you recommend?

A— A nervous stomach or gastric neurosis may be due to different causes. Some emotional difficulty, such as financial worries, an unhappy home life, an unsympathetic boss or anxieties that started in childhood is usually the underlying cause. The condition is not serious but may be very hard to get rid of. For this reason your doctor may want to reassure you, give you some fatherly advice about rearranging your life, and prescribe medicines to calm your nerves and relieve your stomach symptoms.

Q— My husband was hospitalized for several weeks with "antral gastritis and propped stomach." Aside from giving him a bland diet what can we do to prevent a recurrence?

A— Antral gastritis is an inflammation of the stomach at its antral or lower end. A propped or so-called fallen stomach is a normal finding in a tall thin person and has no clinical significance. Once the gastritis is cured, thorough chewing of one's food and relaxed peaceful surroundings at mealtime are more important than a strictly bland diet.

Q— Is it necessary to have surgery for hemorrhoids that bleed occasionally? Could the bleeding be a symptom of cancer?

A— Keeping the stools soft will help prevent piles from bleeding but most bleeding piles must eventually be removed. This is the only sure cure. Since bleeding from the rectum is also a symptom of cancer, your doctor should determine the source of the blood.

Q— My diagnosis when I came out of the hospital was chronic cholecystitis with pylorospasm. What does this mean?

A— Cholecystitis is inflammation of the gall bladder and is usually caused by an infection. Pylorospasm is a spasmodic contraction of the outlet of the stomach that is usually congenital. It may cause the stomach to empty more slowly than normal.
