Report Relates Nation's Crucial Water Shortage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson sent Congress Saturday a research report on the nation's crucial water problems which included a plea for ideas as far out as towing Arctic icebergs to water-short California.

In a letter to the House and the Senate, he said the problem would be solved only if the nation uses "the very best of science and technology." This must be tied to a continuing search for bold new ideas, he said.

The reason for the letter was the completion of a report called "A Ten-Year Program of Federal Water Resources Research." Johnson had asked the Committee on Water Resources Research of the Federal Council for Science and Technology to pinpoint areas where more research was needed.

In its plea for new ideas, the committee said that in the past water research programs have lacked a central point of responsibility.

"A suggestion to supply Southern California with water by towing icebergs from the Arctic finds no home in agencies whose authorized mission is to build dams, canals or pipelines," he said.

The idea of towing an iceberg to a water short area might be considered a crackpot suggestion, the report said. It added, however, that if it had been evaluated it might have suggested other ideas that could prove practical.

U.S. Tells School People They Will Have to 'Toe Line'

Three Pampa school officials were among some 350 Texas educators at a Dallas meeting Thursday when representatives of the U.S. Office of Education and the Texas Education Agency told them just how the "cow will eat the cabbage."

School superintendent Jack Edmondson and school board members Creel Grady Jr. and John Gikas attended the session.

They heard John Hope II, the Office of Education's director of desegregation for the Southwest, tell them that school officials must actively promote desegregation if they expect to continue receiving federal aid.

A new set of federal guidelines for school integration was explained and the school officials were told that a passive attitude toward the guidelines would not be acceptable.

Pampa is in the federal aid program now up to approximately $100,000 a year on its government PESCO program of remedial reading plus federal aid for the school lunch program.

"We have the responsibility now to desegregate the schools and that's that," Hope said.

A Dallas News story stated Hope noted that in outlining the areas to be served by individual schools, educators must not simply rely on the "national boundaries" phrase used in last year's guidelines.

"The boundaries," he said, "must promote desegregation."

Warm Front Set to Move In Monday

A cold front got as far as the Texas Gulf coast early Saturday where it reversed its field and returned northward across the state as a warm front.

The Pampa area is expected to warm with the warm front to temperatures in the lower 80-degree range by Monday. Winds borne along by the warm front are from the southwest at from 8 to 18 m.p.h.

Skies were cloudy to partly cloudy over most of the Lone Star state and afternoon temperatures rose into the 60s and 70s.

The front had brought cooler weather to much of the state Friday night and produced dense fog early Saturday. It dissipated by noon at all areas but Galveston, where visibility still was less than one mile.

Swallows Return To Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI) — The pretty lit legend of the returning swallows was carried out once again Saturday in this mission community.

The mass of the swallows return to build nests in the old mission March 19-St. Joseph's Day.

Saturday morning there were relatively few swallows here but enough to substantiate the legend. Some swallows, mixed in their timetable arrived Tuesday. These traditionally are called scouts.

A parade was held Saturday and a special mass celebrated at the mission which was founded almost 200 years ago by the Franciscan missionary fathers.

Any US Coastal City Now Within Missile Range

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia's expanding undersea fleet has reached the stage where missile-firing submarines could be stationed continuously within reach of large U.S. coastal population centers.

The Soviets now have on station at all times at least one nuclear-powered missile submarine in the Atlantic and another in the Pacific.

They are deployed in ocean areas from which they could zero in on launch positions off the U.S. coasts in two to three days.

Information on the Soviet operations was obtained by United Press International through long inquiry among sources in the United States and Europe. It has not been publicized but the development is being eyed anxiously in Western capitals.

The submarines are spearheads of a growing fleet that can logically be expected to take stations in due course within firing range of American population centers.

The Russians thus could try to counter the American Polaris submarines now stationed in the Atlantic, Mediterranean and Pacific within easy reach of Soviet and Red Chinese targets. This in effect could redress the military balance in a way the Soviets failed to do with their missiles in Cuba in 1962.

The Russians today have 45 nuclear-powered submarines, just 11 fewer than the United States and larger by number than previously revealed. Of these, 20 carry torpedoes to attack shipping and other subs, 10 are ballistic missile subs, and 15 carry winged guided missiles.

The Soviets also have 75 diesel-powered submarines armed with missiles—35 ballistic and 40 guided.

The information available indicates that the 45 nuclear and diesel submarines have a total of 120 launchers. These apparently give the Soviets a potential rocket firing capability near the American coasts about triple the number of missiles delivered in Cuba.

The 15 nuclear and 40 diesel subs carrying guided missiles have a total of 200 launchers. It is calculated that with its (See SOVIETS, Page 3)

Short Circuit Caused Failure of Gemini 8

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Project officials reported Saturday night that a short circuit in Gemini 8's vital maneuvering rocket system caused the ship to whirl out of control, and make the first emergency landing in America's manned spaceflight program.

The trouble was pinpointed within hours after the spacecraft's pilot, Neil Armstrong and David Scott flew to a hero's welcome at the launch site to begin a nine-day series of debriefings.

The crew demonstrated remarkable piloting skill in bringing the spacecraft to a safe landing," said Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

The space agency said in a statement released in Houston that a short circuit in the control system or one of the capsule's attitude control rockets started firing continuously sending the ship into a series of violent gyrations that taxed the pilots to the utmost.

Trouble In Thruster

Armstrong had reported shortly after the trouble started Wednesday night that a 25-pound thruster used to turn the craft to the left was stuck open. The pilots finally controlled the spacecraft by using small rockets normally used only for re-entry control.

Gemini 8 was hooked up to an Agena target satellite at the time, but Saturday night's report cleared the Agena of any part in the near disaster in space.

The short circuit apparently meant that the problem would have little or no effect on the remaining four rendezvous and docking flights scheduled for the Gemini program. The next launch, with a mission nearly identical to that of Gemini 8, is tentatively set for mid-May.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the No. 8 yaw thruster was the entire problem, firing for three seconds, then turning off for three seconds and then firing continuously.

The astronauts completed the last leg of their trip back from the far Pacific Saturday and told an applauding crowd of officials at the Cape. "We're very pleased to be back here."

The space men, beaming broadly and dressed in bright flight suits, were quickly shuttled to the seclusion of their quarters at the nearby Merritt Island moonport for three days of debriefings here and six more in Houston.

RIGHT-OF-WAY CONTRACT DUE

City Commission to Begin Initial Improvement Steps

First step in the highway improvement programs approved by voters on March 8 will be taken by the Pampa City Commission when it meets Tuesday morning in City Hall.

Pete Stimer, representative of the State Highway Department will appear before the commission to discuss a contract between the city and state for buying necessary right of way along State Hwy 152, U.S. Hwy 60 and State Hwy 273. The proposed improvements include Alcock, Wilks, Brown, Frederic, S. Cusler and S. Barnes Sts.

Also on the Tuesday agenda will be legislation calling for the annexation of certain areas and setting a public hearing for property owners.

An area west of Hobart to a point just west of Nelson and north of Gwendolyn and north of Boyd and west of N. Sumner.

An area north of 25th and east of Perryton Parkway north to 28th Ave.

The area east of Fairview Cemetery and north of Harvester to Worrel and 16th Ave.

And two blocks of Aspen St. from 25th Ave. north to the city limit line.

Also on the Tuesday agenda will be consideration of Coronado Center merchants request to lease the city's street sweeper service, approve a street lighting contract with Southwestern Public Service Co. award contract on street sweeper bids, and consider purchase of property for location of a Community Center building in Cohen Park on the South Side.

NOT ALL PROGRAMS ARE 'GIVEAWAY'

Director of WTSU's Opportunity Plan Tells How It Helps College Students

By TEX DEWEESKE

Federal aid programs are a life line for the people of the United States because they sit idly on their hands and do nothing about it.

That was the statement of Milton (Buff) Morris, founder and executive director of Opportunity Plan, Inc., at West Texas State University in Canyon, as he spoke to Pampa Kiwanians at their Friday noon luncheon.

Opportunity Plan, described by Morris as a private corporation, is in operation at WTSU and now has 245 students getting a college education who otherwise would not have been financially able to continue beyond high school.

Appearing with Morris at the luncheon was Sharon Michaels, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Michaels, 1813 Duncan. Miss Michaels, a freshman student studying accounting at West Texas State, explained how the Opportunity Plan advances money for tuition, room and board and incidentals.

The student is governed by a budget set at the beginning of each semester. Miss Michaels' current semester budget is $550.

All money advanced by Opportunity Plan, Inc., is eventually paid back by the student. Seventeen students from Pampa attend WTSU under OPI.

"We do not loan students money," Morris said. "We sponsor them through college."

Morris stated in the several years the plan has been in operation there has been less than 2 percent delinquency on repayments.

Morris explained that the plan is for students in what he called the "middle" category of need for financial assistance in college.

"There are always scholarships for the top-ranking athletes or top-ranking academic students," he said, "and if they are poor, LBJ will take care of them."

"But, what about the young people in the middle? They need an opportunity, too—and that's the purpose of Opportunity Plan."

Morris stated his opinion that people "are taking things too easy today" and are not alert to what is happening.

"We have government programs because we don't do anything at home," Morris said.

The Opportunity Plan director stated that in his present capacity he is forced to use some government programs.

"Forced," he added, "because the people at home haven't done anything about it."

Morris stated that the WTSU Opportunity Plan now has $340,000 in its treasury and the money is available to aid in the college education of any boy or girl "who is honest, ambitious, modest, willing to work and who has enough ability to study and pass."

H-Bomb Recovery Try Expected Today

PALOMARES, Spain (UPI) — A missing American hydrogen bomb located at a depth of 2,500 feet in the Mediterranean was dragged carefully Saturday off an extremely steep slope of the sea bottom to a more favorable recovery area. The bomb was expected to be brought to the surface by Sunday night.

An official U.S. announcement in Madrid said the dragging action will lessen the risk of having the bomb with its parachute still attached, slip off "its present precarious position into much deeper water."

The bomb, missing since an air collision Jan. 17, was found Wednesday about five miles off the shore from Palomares by the Naval task force headed by Rear Adm. William S. Guest.

Informed sources said the bomb should be raised before Sunday night unless unforeseen salvage problems or bad weather force a delay.

Salvage Ship Moves In

The vessel expected to lift the bomb out of the water is the USS Hoist, a salvage ship attached to the Navy's 6th Fleet. The Hoist is equipped with two lifting booms—one of 10-ton capacity and one of 20-ton capacity.

The 22-foot two-man submersible Alvin and the 51-foot underwater research craft Aluminaut—both of which can be equipped with mechanical claws—were expected to secure a line to the bomb and the Hoist would then raise it.

Although there has been no official announcement that the object located on Wednesday was the missing weapon, no one expressed doubt it was the bomb.

Recovery will end almost nine weeks of searching a 120-square mile area of sea and a massive land hunt by hundreds of U.S. airmen for the weapon that was lost in the crash of a B52 bomber with "unarmed nuclear armament" on board.

Three of the four bombs aboard the B52 were found on land. When the land search failed to turn up any trace of the fourth device, the hunt switched to the sea. About 120 Navy frogmen and divers searched the depths while Navy warships scanned the water with sonar.

Election of New Jaycee Officers Slated Tuesday

New officers to serve during 1966-67 for the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will be elected Tuesday.

Six officers are up for election, however, only two of the positions are contested so far.

Bud McVicker, A. C. Higgins and Morris Wilson are trying for the second vice president position and Joe Dickey and Jim Killian are vying for club treasurer.

Only one candidate has announced so far for the position of president. Jake Webb announced Saturday he will seek the office. Larry Wingert is the only candidate in the race for first vice president.

Jaycee spokesmen said Saturday that additional candidates may announce prior to election time Tuesday noon.

Retiring president is Eddie Polnac.

Installation of new officers is set for April 2 in the Moose Hall. State Jaycee President A. J. Carubbi will speak and serve as installing officer.

New directors for the club, from which new officer candidates must come, were voted on last Tuesday.

Lynda Bird 'Goes Hollywood' To Celebrate 22nd Birthday

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lynda Bird Johnson celebrated her 22nd birthday Saturday with a small dinner party that included her Hollywood favorites at the baroque mansion of boy friend George Hamilton.

The handsome actor did not disclose the guest list for the intimate party of 12 but said, "I promised Lynda there would be a dozen of her favorite people in our town. Certainly among them will be Ed (Kookie) Byrnes and his wife."

President Johnson's elder daughter spent much of her birthday lolling beside the pool with Hamilton at the 39-room mansion he shares with his mother. The temperature climbed into the 70s, providing ideal weather for relaxing poolside.

The actor, whose home has a projection room, obtained 18 millimeter versions of three movies — "The Petrified Forest," the old Leslie Howard classic; "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" and "An Affair to Remember" — so that Lynda could mix moviegoing with sunning.

Among the birthday gifts Lynda received was a gag pair of huge dark glasses from her mother, Lady Bird Johnson, "For going Hollywood."

Two of Mrs. Johnson's aides — Press Secretary Liz Carpenter and Social Secretary Beth Abell — sent an oversize pen along with the glasses for Lynda "to (See BIRTHDAY, Page 3)

During the first half of her deployment, she operated in the South China Sea with the attack aircraft carrier USS Bon Homme Richard, providing anti-submarine defense and pilot rescue services while the carrier launched her air strikes against communist targets in North Vietnam.

Shelton also provided naval gunfire support for American and South Vietnamese troops ashore, often moving to within a mile of the coast to fulfill her target.

Whelton will spend the next few months in refitting and retraining in preparation for another deployment.

Computer Will Getcha If You Don't Watch Out

DALLAS (Sp) — Many taxpayers in the Internal Revenue Service's Southwest Region may ask the question "Why are you using the computer system for our returns and what benefit is it to the Internal Revenue Service?"

In anticipating such a question, Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director for Internal Revenue Service's northern Texas District in Dallas, says the Internal Revenue Service benefits in a number of ways such as the compiling of Master Files.

These files, he says, benefit the Service in that: information returns from many sources can quickly be matched to a specific return; a systematic, nationwide check on failure to file will be an automatic operation; meaningful enforcement leads will be more timely, show more information, and cover multiple years; accounts receivable will reflect current net amount of tax owed; and improvement in returns filing system under ADP assures a taxpayer's record in one place, readily accessible.

Third Grader's Letter Receives Standing Ovation

A letter written by a Sam Houston School third-grader got a standing ovation from the 1,000 delegates in attendance at the first Governor's Conference on Mental Retardation in Austin Friday afternoon.

The letter was written by 8-year-old Kay Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Wilson, 1300 Williston, as a class assignment during Texas Education Week.

The subject assigned by third grade teacher Mrs. Bernice Larsh was "What I Want To Be When I Grow Up."

Mrs. Larsh thought so much of the letter's contents she sent it along to the conference with Marcella Patterson, a special education teacher in the Pampa schools.

Miss Patterson, in turn, handed the letter to Dr. George A. Constant of Victoria, a member of the State Board for Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Dr. Constant said he was reading the letter to the delegates to back up his point that youth can find interest in the "helping professions" and that even a third-grader would be interested in what he called "the desperately needed man-power field for reducing mental retardation."

The letter reading incident happened Friday afternoon just before the 1,000 delegates were ready to leave the conference hall.

Kay's father is a partner in Windsor Well Services in Pampa and is a former member of the Pampa school board.

Kay's letter is reproduced here verbatim:

"When I am grown, I want to be a special (special) education teacher. I want to help the children of any age. I am glad I am not one of those children for then I could not teach these children. I want to grow to love them and I hope they will grow to love me. I hope if I ever have children I hope its not a Special Education child. But if I do have a child while I am helping the other children I still want to go on helping them. But I will love my child and the other children, too."

The conference gave Kay a standing ovation.

Narcotic Ring Smashed During State Arrests

AUSTIN (UPI)—Four persons from three states have been arraigned in federal court on indictments for importing marijuana into the United States and operating in a conspiracy with others in a narcotics ring involving 2,500 pounds of marijuana worth $2.5 million.

The four were arraigned Friday and 10 others — to be arraigned April 4 — were placed under total bonds of $253,000 and several were jailed in the Travis County jail.

The two-count indictment alleged at least 15 overt acts involving the operations in a period from Nov. 2, 1961, until the return of the indictments. The indictment said specific activities of the ring occurred in Texas, California, New Mexico, New York, New Jersey, Michigan and Ohio, with San Marcos one of the major contact points.

The marijuana presumably was brought across from Mexico through the ports of Laredo on the Texas border and Tijuana on the California border.

The indictment said the suspects "did conspire, confederate and agree knowingly to import and bring marijuana into the U. S. contrary to law and to receive, conceal, sell and facilitate the transportation, concealment and sale of such marijuana." The second count alleged a conspiracy with unknown persons.

The deliveries varied from 200 to 570 pounds, with the biggest shipment coming Oct. 18, 1963, from Jose Vidales, 28, of Laredo to Albert Hillaire, 44, of Englewood, N. J., officers said.

Vidales was arraigned Friday along with Abe Hopkins, East Orange, N. J., $10,000 bond; Ezekiel Brown, Los Angeles, $25,000 bond; and Edward Charles Matthews, 38, Los Angeles, $25,000. A $50,000 bond was set for Vidales.

All pleaded innocent to the first count, although Vidales pleaded guilty to the second count.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Saturday the Democratic party would lose a minimum of 50 seats in the House and 4 or 5 in the Senate in the November election because of the Vietnamese war.

Speaking at a reception of the United Federation of Teachers Morse said the losses "may well go bigger."

"It all depends on the size of the casualty lists," he remarked.

Morse suggested that the American public was far from enthusiastic about President Johnson's Viet Nam policy.

Soviets

existing fleet, Russia could maintain 10 nuclear submarines continuously off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts with enough rockets to kill 15 million people. If they brought up all their missile-firing subs for a one-shot operation—a most unlikely prospect—they could kill 50 million people.

Countering this threat is an enormous American anti-submarine program costing more than $2 billion a year, plus the deterrent power of the vaster U.S. missile forces.

A comparison with U.S. nuclear submarine forces shows how rapidly the Soviet fleet has grown.

The United States today has 22 nuclear-powered, torpedo-carrying attack subs in commission. This is somewhat fewer than it should have because of a submarine safety program resulting from the loss of the Thresher off the New England coast. It has 34 Polaris missile submarines.

Goals for both types are 68 attack subs and 41 Polaris subs.

At present construction rates, the time could come soon when the Russians will be building more nuclear powered submarines than the United States.

The Soviet drive has moved forward in three phases. From the mid-1950s there was a worldwide ocean-surveying and reconnaissance effort. In the second phase, still going on, there are as many as 15 submarines operating throughout the world at all times. In the third phase, the logical next move, there would be missile-firing submarines stationed continuously near the United States.

Grandson Of Pioneer Area Settler Succumbs

CLARENDON—Thomas Everett Bugbee Jr., 59, the grandson of Thomas S. Bugbee, one of the first white men to settle permanently in the Texas Panhandle, died Friday night in a Dallas hospital following a long illness.

Bugbee was the owner of the Tumbling T Ranch near Goodnight. He was born in the old Bugbee home in Clarendon, which now has become a landmark.

His grandparents came here in 1876, lived first near the Canadian River and later on the Shoe Bar Ranch, the first ranch in Hall County.

His family moved to Long Beach, Calif., when he was a boy. He graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

Bugbee was married to Miss Ann Craven on June 25, 1932. He purchased the Tumbling T Ranch that year and lived there since.

The body will be returned to Clarendon for services.

Egyptian Plane Crash Kills 30

CAIRO (UPI) — An Egyptian airliner that crashed Friday night with a loss of 30 lives appeared to be making a normal approach for a landing when it suddenly dropped like a stone in a swirling sandstorm.

The Soviet-built twin-engine turboprop Antonov 24B lost 1,000 feet of altitude as it approached the outer markers at Cairo airport, the source said.

The plane smacked into the desert about 12 miles east of Cairo, flipped over as it hit and burst into flames. There were no survivors.

The victims included a member of the American Embassy staff at Nicosia, Cyprus, Kenneth Gilbert; a Bulgarian diplomat, and Arab government and airline officials.

Others aboard the craft were Arab and British citizens, two Danish soldiers and a crew of five, including veteran pilot Mohamed Shawky, 32, who had more than 10,000 flying hours.

MARRIES WIFE TWICE

LONDON (UPI)—Singer Dick Haymes will be married Friday for a second time to Wendy Smith, a 28-year old English model who became his sixth wife last year in a Mexican wedding.

The 48-year old Haymes said the marriage was necessary because their Mexican match is not recognized in Britain or Ireland where they have been living since January, 1965.

Haymes was granted Irish citizenship last December.

His former wives include actresses Rita Hayworth, and Joanne Dru and singer Fran Jefferies.

THE WEAPONS OF VIET NAM

War has changed little over the years but the weapons of war have greatly changed. ● The M-16 rifle, above and at right, and the M-14 give American soldiers a great fire-power advantage in Viet Nam. The M-1, familiar to so many former servicemen, is gone from the scene. ● Some of our other weapons being used in Southeast Asia are shown at left and below.

Sgt. Ernest Whiting of the 101st Airborne Division keeps his M-79 grenade launcher at the ready. He is also equipped with a .45-caliber pistol and a low-back pack.

Long the scourge of foot soldiers, the .50-caliber machine gun, shown above, is still one of our most effective weapons. The lighter M-60 is also in use in Viet Nam.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cry of anguish emerging from the basement where we keep our Batvision set could only mean that something dreadful had happened.

I dropped the evening paper and raced down the Batstairs to see what was amiss. There I encountered a small figure in a blue cape and mask staging a protest demonstration.

"Holy interruption of my favorite program!" he wailed. Or words to that effect. "They've knocked Batman off the air."

It was then that I learned that that dynamic duo, Neil Armstrong and David Scott were having trouble with their Gemini 8 spacecraft. The real life drama unfolding in space was, of course, far more gripping than any television show. But it was difficult to follow under the circumstances.

The American Batcasting Co. kept switching back and forth between Houston and Gotham City. Each time it jumped from the Bat cave to the space center my 4-year-old boy wonder renewed his lamentations.

"Holy lachrymal glands!" I shouted. "Stop that crying! I can't hear what they're saying about the Batonauts!"

My wife, having heard the commotion, appeared at the head of the Batstairs with a portable hair dryer on her head. Its buzzing added to the din.

"Holy shampoo!" she yelled. "What's going on down there?" "I don't know the details yet but apparently something is wrong with the batsule," I said. "Did they say what caused the trouble?"

"I missed the explanation from NASA but Commissioner Gordon suspects it was the work of the Cat woman," I said.

When I returned to the screen, a wall of spikes was closing in on Armstrong and Scott, and Batman and Robin were trying to control the spinning Batsule. Or vice versa.

Then the Batwork switched back to Houston and something was said about a landing in the Pacific. Before I could catch what was happening the boy wonder began crying again.

Pow! Zam. Blooie! I let him have it across the Batseat of his pants.

a one-set sprinkler that will water the exact shape of your lawn!

Throws low, flat spray that's virtually unaffected by wind. Saves water. Saves time.

The Sprinkler with a brain.

Now Gates gives you a better way to water. The amazing new Rain Dial Contour adjusts to water the exact shape and contour of your lawn. Because it delivers water only where you want water, the Rain Dial is better than a soaking rain. Avoids areas you want to keep dry. Eliminates handwatering corners and hard to reach areas. Spray radius extends from five to 40 feet. Set it once and forget it. Simple cam adjustments enable you to "program" the contour in minutes to fit the shape of your yard. Once set, the sprinkler "remembers"—waters exactly the same area every time. Hundreds of pattern variations at your command.

Low, flat spray virtually unaffected by wind. Like the original Rain Dial, the Contour Sprinkler sprays large, rain-like drops, low to the ground, unaffected by wind. Uniform coverage and minimum evaporation save water.

Will give years of service. Metal parts are treated to resist corrosion. Quality materials and construction assure long, dependable service. Gates Rain Dial Contour Sprinkler $19.95

Quotes From The News

By United Press International
WASHINGTON — A U.S. space official, expressing amazement at the calmness of this country's astronauts in the face of possible disaster: "The American spaceman is no Superman. But damned if he doesn't sometimes act like me."

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott reporting via tape on the intensity of the gyrations of their capsule after it disengaged from the Agena target satellite: "We were just barely able to hold our own."

LONDON — Mrs. Elizabeth Kilham-Roberts, producer of a very candid sex-education radio program titled "Starting A Family," which was heard by school children aged 13 to 15: "We feel it is quite suitable to tell 13-year-olds about such matters. It could be dangerous to give only some of the facts... an incomplete picture."

OXFORD, Miss. — A University of Mississippi student newspaper, calling for order and courtesy during a visit by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who was attorney general when the riot erupted in 1962 over the admission of Negro student, James Meredith: "We urge that level-headed Mississippians refrain from any action which would once again bring national attention... to a state and a student body which has unjustly received so much publicity in the past few years."

So Far, Death Has Backed Away, But—

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It has been death, so far, that backed away. Something went seriously wrong when Soviet cosmonauts Pavel I. Belyayev and Aleksei A. Leonov were concluding their historic flight of March, 1965, in which Leonov became the first human to walk in space.

Something went wrong, and the two cosmonauts were forced down in a snow-buried forest hundreds of miles north of the planned landing place.

Wolves prowled near. There must have been moments before the descent when death, too, seemed close.

On Dec. 12, 1965, astronaut Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford were lying atop a firing rocket which suddenly misbehaved. For a fraction of a second no one could tell whether disaster was about to strike.

If there ever was a time to push the panic button and meet death halfway, this was it. But Schirra, the command pilot, did not panic. The engines shut down in the nick of time. Death backed away.

Death looked in on astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott as they fought high over the earth Wednesday night to regain control of their wildly rolling Gemini 8 spacecraft. For a while it looked as though death, this time, would Administration Record: First Session of the 89th Congress, would cost the government about $63 a page and would sell for $2 a copy.

He said federal employees who worked on the book may be guilty of violating the Hatch Act, a law which forbids civil service employees from engaging in partisan politics.

retreat. It was making its closest rendezvous thus far with human beings in space. As a grim-faced flight official said, the situation was "very, very serious."

Once again, however, death backed away. But death will not forever be balked by spacefaring man.

This is a certainty, according to Dr. Edward C. Welsh, which the world must school itself to accept.

Welsh, executive secretary of the President's National Aeronautics and Space Council, has often warned that space exploration, like all the great technological innovations which have preceded it, will exact its toll.

Says Its "Amazing"
U.S. and Soviet spacemen, up to the time of the Gemini 8 flight, had amassed a total of 1,860 man-hours in orbit (1,353 U.S., 507 Russian).

"It is simply amazing, considering the extremely hazardous path we have taken, that this record has been established without a single loss of life in space," Welsh said. "It is only reasonable to expect that there will be fatalities in the future."

That death has backed away from all confrontations in space so far is due not merely to the efficient safety systems built into spacecraft. It is due primarily, one veteran of the U.S. space program said, to the "very, very impressive performance" of men rising superior to their machinery.

These carefully selected, finely trained, "superb individuals" simply do not panic, he said. They look death in the eye and stare death down.

"The American spaceman," this official said, "is no Superman. But damned if he doesn't sometimes act like one."

Dickinson Widens Lead in Citrus

By DAVID M. MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer
ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Slender Gardner Dickinson played steady, par golf Saturday despite a nagging back ache and widened his lead in the rich $110,000 Florida Citrus Open to two strokes at the end of the third round.

Dickinson's even par 71 gave him a five under par 208 for 54 holes and put him in good position to grab off the $21,000 first prize money in Sunday's final round if his back holds out.
The 130-pound "Thin Man" said before he went out on the course Saturday that old back ailment appeared to be recurring and as he finished the round he said he "didn't feel too good."

Gay Brewer, who has won four times as many tournaments in the past six months as any other pro in the Citrus Open, and trumpet-playing Lionel Herbert both caught up with the ailing Dickinson during Saturday's round—but neither could maintain the pace all the way.

They wound up in a four-way tie with Joe Campbell and Dick Lytle at 210. Herbert had a 69; Brewer, who has won four of the last 16 tournaments, and Lytle, an ex-Marine who has never been in contention before, both had 70s. Campbell shot a 972.

Dickinson had only a one stroke lead going into Saturday's round but the co-runnersup, Campbell and pendulum-putting Dean Refram, both fell back. Refram was in Saturday with a 74 for a 212.

Masters champ Jack Nicklaus shot a three under par 68 Saturday and stayed in contention three strokes back of Dickinson at 211. Also at 211 were Big Al Besselink, who had a 66 for the day's best round, Tommy Bolt, with a 71, Mason Rudolph, with a 68 and John Lotz with a 69.

Besselink, a six-foot-four 220-pound blond, credited his five under par round with a new putting secret which he immodestly proclaimed will make him the finest putter on the tour.

Texas Western Rips Kentuckians, 72-65

Miners NCAA Champs

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — A ball-hawking team from Texas Western under the fierce leadership of little Bobby Joe Hill upended Kentucky's top-ranked Wildcats 72-65 Saturday night to win the NCAA basketball championship.

The Miners from El Paso defeated the favored Wildcats with their shooting skills down to block Kentucky's bid for an unprecedented fifth national collegiate crown.

They edged into the lead at the midway point of the first half and were never headed thereafter. It brought the 1965 title to the Texans on the first time they ever reached the finals.

A sellout crowd of 14,000 saw the nationally televised upset. Texas Western carried a three point lead into the dressing room at halftime, saw Kentucky edge up to one point when their own shooting accuracy went askew early in the second half, then caught fire again to move to a commanding nine point lead which they made stand up over the last eight minutes.

Hill and his mates time and again broke up the tempo of the stuttering Wildcat attack, waylaying passes and converting them into decisive points with a deliberate pattern of play that worked into the seams of Kentucky's defenses.

The big breakthrough came with 8:30 left in the game with Texas Western holding to a 52-49 edge.

At that point Hill swept in for a basket and after an exchange of field goals, he hit again to hike the margin to 58-51. Big Dave Lattin followed with a stuff-in and it was Texas Western 60-51 with 6:55 remaining.

Little Willie Worsley who stands only 5-foot-6 popped in a shot and Orsten Artiz and Hill cashed in a pair of free throws each to hike the lead to 66-56 and the end of the Kentucky title bubble was in sight.

Dumas Nips Pampa Twice

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
DUMAS (Sp) — Dumas used the long ball with much success Saturday as they downed Pampa, 7-4, 7-5 in a doubleheader.

The twin wins made the third and fourth times the Demons have beaten Pampa this season. The losses were Pampa's fourth and fifth in seven starts.

Pampa trailed 2-1 going into the sixth inning of the second game and came quickly alive for four runs and a 5-2 lead.

But the Demons tied it with three runs in their half of the sixth and won it on Rick Freeman's two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh.

Up to the six Harvester hurler Bud Hammons had set the Demons down on three hits.

choice, stole second and came home on a double by Roy Harper.

The Harvester runs in the sixth came on Achord's leadoff single and doubles by Dodd and Molberg and singles by Harper and Sanders.

Homeruns spelled Pampa's doom in the first game when the Demons, trailing 4-1 in the sixth, exploded for six tallies, all as the result of the long ball. Sophomore Jim Lang was sailing along with a three-hitter when Molberg bobbled a bouncer by Galloway to open the last of the sixth.

Boyd followed with a 315 foot blast, Robins singled, Kimbley singled and Stephenson boomed one over the right field wall, 330 feet away. Don Smith followed Stephenson's blast with a 310 footer to ice it for the Demons. The Harvesters went in front 2-0 in the first on Dodd's double, a single by Molberg and Achord's two-run single.

Pampa made it 3-0 in the second on singles by Harper and Moore and a sacrifice by Lang. The last Pampa run came in the fifth on a triple by Dodd and Achord's run producing single.

LONG STRETCH — Larry Jones, Pampa Harvester first baseman, stretches a long way to glove a throw. The first sacker felt nothing but disappointment Saturday, however, as Pampa lost twice to Dumas, 7-4 and 7-5.

MELCHIONI NAMED MVP
NEW YORK (UPI) — Top-seeded Brigham Young, its lethal fast break working to perfection, stamped New York University in the second half Saturday and whipped the smaller Violets 97-84 to win the 29th annual National Invitation Tournament.

The high-scoring Cougars, shrugging off the loss of star Dick Nemecka for half the game due to foul trouble, blitzed the Violets after intermission to capture their second NIT title.

Bill Melchioni, the tournament's higher scorer with 109 points, was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy after he tallied 29 in the consolation game to lead Villanova to a 76-65 victory over Army for third place.

Craig Raymond, the Cougars' 6-foot-11 center, teamed with forwards Gary Hill and Steve Kramer to clear the backboards, and Jeff Congdon, a ball-handling wizard, triggered a blistering fast break that broke open the game after a tight first half.

Raymond, who shared scoring honors with Hill for Brigham Young with 21 points each, and Kramer were the key men as the Cougars, holding a slim 48-43 halftime margin, poured it on in their first eight minutes of the final stanza to take a commanding 73-55 lead.

Although the plucky Violets cut their deficit to 10 points late in the game on the shooting of Stan McKenzie, they could not compensate for a cold spell early in the second half when they went without a field goal for four minutes.

McKenzie posted 21 points in the second half for a game high of 27. Mal Graham and Bruce Kaplan each contributed 18 to the Violet attack.

Raymond, who was on the bench when the tournament started, scored 14 points and pulled down nine rebounds in the first half. NYU, however, trailed by only a single point at 42-41 with 1:30 left but the Cougars ran up six of the next eight points for the widest lead of the half.

Heil Named To All-Star Squad

Dannie Heil, former Harvester, Frank Phillips College's prolific scorer, has been named to the Western Junior College Conference all-conference team coach, Don Loyd, announced Wednesday.

Other members of the ten-man squad include Robert Evans of Lubbock Christian, Ron Nelson and Don Durgin of New Mexico Military Institute, Kurt Papp of Howard County, Dwight Haley and Dennis Patton of South Plains, Jay Christopher of Amarillo and Rusty Heskett and Pete Zuniga of Odessa.

Two speed boys who also can hit will patrol center and right field — Curt Flood and Lou Brock, respectively. Flood hit .310 last year with 11 home runs and 83 runs batted in. Brock batted .288 with 16 HR's and 69 RBI's.

There were no no-hit, no-run games in the major leagues during the 1949 season.

Matson Throws 'Only' 62 in First Outing

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rusty Randy Matson, the reigning king of the shot put, Saturday outclassed a three-team field with a 62-foot putt in his specialty.

The 236-pound Pampa, Tex., strongboy said he was "rusty" at the shot put from his duty during the just-ended basketball season.

"It'll take me quite a while to get back in shape for track and field," Matson said. Matson's winning toss in the triangular event was 62 feet 3/4 inches. The next competitor was George Resley of Texas A&M University with a 54 foot, 4 and 3/4 inch heave.

Matson also won the discus throw with 181 feet, 8 inches, with Rice's Joe Williams getting off a throw of 158 feet. Rice won the triangular meet with 75 points, A&M was second with 65 and weak Louisiana State University had 30 points.

Randy Geyer of LSU set a new meet record in the high jump with a leap of 6-foot-7 inches. A&M's Gilbert Smith set another in the 220-yard dash with a time of 21.1 seconds and Rice's Jimmy Ellington broke the meet quarter mile mark with a time of 47.5.

Braves Trial In Third Week

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A Braves' official never told one of the team's Wisconsin directors in advance that the club was going to leave Milwaukee, the defense contended Saturday in the state's baseball antitrust suit.

The introduction into the record of deposition testimony by Richard Cecil, business manager of the Braves, climaxed the third week of the unprecedented trial, which seeks the team's return from Atlanta unless Milwaukee gets another franchise in 1966.

On Monday, Duane Bowman of Madison, Wis., testified as a state witness that Cecil had told him July 7, 1964 in a meeting at Denver, Colo., that "Your Braves, they're long gone." Furthermore, Bowman had said, Cecil told him "Well, if you don't know, everybody else does."

"Never, at any time, any place, anywhere in the world," said Cecil in the deposition taken Friday, did he ever make such statements. In fact, Cecil testified, he hadn't been to Denver, "except to change planes," since 1952 and on July 7, 1964 was at County Stadium in Milwaukee watching the baseball All-Star game on television.

Bowman, president of a Madison dairy, was a director of the Braves for more than a year until the October, 1964 board meeting when the owners dropped the Wisconsin directors and announced the move to Atlanta.

The 6,170 yard Plainview Country club course plays to a 35-36-71.

Richard Ellis matched his opening round 75 for a 150 total to pace Pampa golfers while Tommy Rose fired a 76 Saturday after an opening round 78 and 154 total the same as George Snell Jr. who fired a 79 Saturday after an opening round 75 and Tommy Roach had an 80 Saturday to go with a 77 and 157 total.

Brat Differs in Method

By DOVE BURGIN
NEW YORK (NEA) — Jaws started coming unhooked when Eddie Stanky proclaimed in excited Chicago that he would manage the White Sox about the same way Al Lopez did.

"What?" everybody cried. "you mean The Brat has mellowed."

Stanky, who was fired by St. Louis in 1955 after 3½ years as top kick, quickly alleviated any fears. "I don't like the word mellow," he said. "It reminds me of a piece of fruit that's gone soft."

What Stanky meant was that his philosophy of managing is essentially the same as Lopez's. Stanky didn't say anything about "method."

Lopez was a master tactician. Everybody in baseball acknowledges this. Through nine years, Lopez won more than his share of games by skillfully manipulating a team that had superior pitching, no hitting and fair defense.

Stanky is of the same cut— a master manipulator who prides himself in staying a jump ahead of both the action and the head man in the other dugout. He'd rather win with a smart move than a home run any day, if given the choice.

Said Stan Musial of Stanky, "Eddie was probably the sharpest, tactically, of the eight men I played for in St. Louis."

The difference is that the fatherly Lopez got his points and strategy across to his players with the soft-sell and stalwart example while Stanky will, as he often did with the Cardinals, go right down a player's throat.

As if there was a White Sox player brave enough to challenge Stanky's reputation, the former Giants' and Dodgers' infighter quickly served notice.

"The two things I do not like and will not stand for are signs being missed and fat ballplayers," Stanky said. "Ballplayers have to follow the rules of the manager, and I'm the manager. I believe in a close relationship with my players, if they want it that way. But I will insist that they give me everything they have. I do not subscribe to this nonsense where the player says, 'I don't want to play double-headers,' or, 'I'm tired.'"

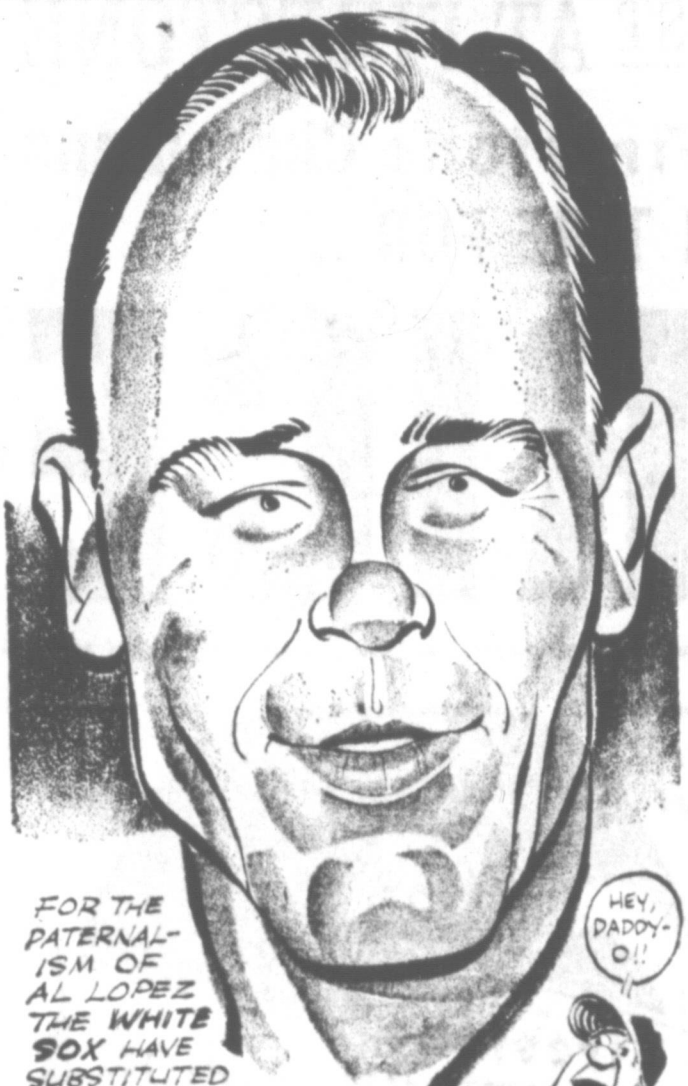

Stanky realizes that Lopez was well-liked by White Sox players and fans, and he knows his job is going to be rougher because he will be compared constantly to Lopez.

"People always compare," Stanky said, "but that's life. I'm used to it anyway. Somebody was forever calling me Leo Durocher Jr. when I was in St. Louis."

It remains now, in the Stanky-Lopez comparison, to see which of the two "methods" is most effective in the application of the same managerial philosophy.

Of course, Stanky is quick to say his is. "Al Lopez has carried the ball to the goal line many times," the Brat said, referring to Lopez's raft of second and third place finishes, "and now he's handed it to me to score."

Cutoff Time For Baseball Players Start

By United Press International
Spring training is the best time for a baseball player to knock off some excess weight. Of course, the player always runs the risk of being knocked off himself if he becomes excess weight on the roster.

The wholesale hatchetings began in earnest Friday as the New York Mets lopped off 13 players and the Pittsburgh Pirates hacked six nonentities from the roster.

Although the cuts have begun mildly enough with only unfamiliar names being crossed off the rosters, the borderline veterans might have cause to start worrying.

In exhibition games Friday, the Kansas City Athletics lost to the Houston Astros 6-3, ending a five-game winning streak.

Jim Hickman led the Mets to an 8-7 triumph over St. Louis, while the Detroit Tigers unleashed a 12-hit attack, including a grand slam homer by rookie Wayne Redmond, to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 16-2.

Cleveland defeated the San Francisco Giants 6-2. Home runs by 36-year-old Joe Adcock, Tom Egan and Rick Reichardt helped the California Angels whip the Chicago Cubs 10-1. The Chicago White Sox took advantage of a Washington error in the seventh inning to score five runs, four unearned, and beat the Senators 5-0.

Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Jim Britton combined to pitch a two-hitter for Milwaukee as the Braves beat the New York Yankees 7-0.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-7, and Boog Powell's third homer in two days to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Harvesters Regain Series Lead From Borger

By RON CROSS News Sports Editor
 BORGER (Sp) — Erratic series with Borger Friday and snapped a three-game losing streak in the process, 11-10. Pampa took the lead in their The Harvesters, in running their season record to 2-3, looked like a baseball team should, for six of the seven innings they played.

Roy Harper was sailing along with a 9-1 lead and a three-hitter for four innings before the bottom fell out in the last of the fifth and the Bulldogs tied the score with an eight-run fifth. Harper had been pulled out of possible trouble in the second, third and fourth innings by three double plays by the smooth-fielding Harvesters.

But it took a two-run single by Corky Dodd, his third hit of the game, to win it for Pampa. Dodd's single in the seventh climaxed a four-hit inning for the Harvesters.

Harper went the distance for Pampa, allowing 10 runs on 11 hits, eight of the runs and seven of the hits in one inning.

Gary Molberg continued to find the Borger park to his liking as he slammed his third home run of the year, all at Borger, over the right field wall.

Pampa jumped in front 1-0 in the first when Larry Stephens reached first on an error, stole second and scored on another error.

The Harvesters made it 2-0 in the third when, after two were out, Dodd singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Molberg's double.

Pampa ran the string to 8-0 in the fourth when six big tallies came across.

Henley led off with a walk, Jimmy Moore sacrificed him to second and beat out the bunt, then Harper and Stephens singled, Jones doubled, Dodd singled and Molberg followed with his three-run, 320-foot blast. Achord followed with his second hit but Henley forced him at second to end the inning.

Borger picked up their first run in the bottom half of the inning when Billington led off with a 315 foot homer over the right field wall.

Pampa scored once in the top of the fifth on a double by Moore and a single by Harper.

The Bulldogs struck for the tying runs in the bottom of the inning on some lack luster play by the Pampa infield.

The Dogs Rodgers doubled, then Shaw and Kelley singled, Pruitt was safe on an error by Achord, Billington was on a fielder's choice and Sanders, Brewer and Plumlee sent slow taps through the hole for base hits.

Neither team scored in the sixth but in the seventh after Moore grounded and Sanders and Harper and Stephens singled to load the bases, Jones popped out and Dodd sent the winning runs home with his single.

The Bulldogs came right back for a run in the bottom of the seventh when after Sanders popped out, Brewer walked, stole second and scored on Gooch's single. But Harper bore down to get Plumlee to pop to catcher Dodd and Rodgers grounded out Achord to Jones.

Grant Remembers That Other Life

JIM GRANT AND BOB ALLISON
 ... "I have not hate ... I love everybody"

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
 NEW YORK (NEA) —The creak of the door in the muggy Texas night wakened Mudcat Grant sharply. It was pitch black in the old movie theater.

Mudcat was asleep on the ground floor, being chopped up into rooms. The other Negro ballplayers on this exhibition layover in Harlingen, Texas, were upstairs playing poker. The only way to get upstairs was to walk a construction plank, and Mudcat wanted none of that.

He reached stealthily for the .22 caliber pistol he kept under his pillow in strange towns. The door opened a notch wider and he heard a scraping on the floor.

Mudcat jumped out of his bed and over to the wall, and flicked on the light. He looked down and saw this big rat glaring at him. Mudcat held the pistol with both hands and pulled the trigger furiously ... one ... two ... three ... four shots! Then he hit it with a bottle.

The landlady, alarmed by the commotion, came rushing in. She stopped as she got inside the door and shouted, "What happened?"

"Well, lady," answered Mudcat, "there was this ..."

The landlady looked down and shrieked, "Ooh, you killed my pet!"

"How was I to know," shrugged Mudcat in retelling the story. "This rat was used to running around opening doors?"

That was in another life for Jim (Mudcat) Grant, ace pitcher for the American League champion Minnesota Twins, dancer, singer and bon vivant.

"We flew into one town," he recounted, "and the other players were taken to the hotel in an air-conditioned bus. We had to wait three hours for a Negro cab to take us to our rooming house. And then, when we went down to the hotel to get our bags (they were all loaded on the bus), the man said, 'You can't come in here, boy.'"

Those were they days Mudcat carried the .22 because he never knew what would happen. He used it only one other time that he can remember.

"We were on our way to La-coochee in Florida," he said, "my wife and I. That's my home town. She was eight months pregnant. We stopped for gas in this southern state. There was a beer hall part of the service station, and I noticed they look at me. When we start driving, they follow. I speed up, and they speed up. I slow down, and they slow down. I told my wife to get in the back seat and lay on the floor. They finally cut me off and forced me off the road. Well, I grab that pistol and I step out of that car same as they do, and I fire three shots high in the air."

"That was the last I seen of them."

Mudcat told the story without bitterness.

"The thing about me," he said, "is I don't hate. I love everybody."

Johnny Lattner, former Notre Dame halfback, was awarded the Maxwell Trophy twice, in 1952-53.

Hogan to Play In Colonial Open in May

FORT WORTH — Colonial Country Club's own Ben Hogan will make one of his limited tournament appearances in the 21st annual Colonial National Invitation golf tournament, May 16-22.

Hogan, a former dues-paying and now honorary member of Colonial, will be making his 19th start in the $110,000 event — a tournament he has won five times.

Also joining the field are two other former NIT champions, Johnny Palmer and Tommy Bolt, a pair of history-maker golfers from another era.

Meanwhile, Byron Nelson, also a former dues-paying and now honorary Colonial member and a man who apparently set an unbreakable PGA record when he won 11 tournaments in a row in 1945, has said he will try to play. Nelson has been plagued by back trouble and if it continues to improve so that he can practice he'll tee it up.

Hogan's appearance at Colonial will be one of only three or four the little master will make this year. The legendary linksman was only last year named the greatest professional golfer of all time in a national poll. He was honored with a presentation at the 18th green at Colonial after the third round of 1965's NIT.

Hogan won the National Invitation in 1946, 1947, 1952, 1953 and 1959 and this is the only event he has captured five times. Last year Hogan tied for 10th and he is always a challenger on the 7,132-yard, par 70 layout on which he either owns or shares five scoring records.

Johnny Palmer, now a club pro at Tulsa Country Club, won the NIT in 1954 and Bolt took it in 1958 — the same year he won the USGA Open.

The new additions add a dash of nostalgia to the NIT, which has perhaps the most selective field in golf. Only 72 players will take part in the Fort Worth tournament. Currently, 19 are delivered and they are:

Rambling With Red

By RON CROSS

Oklahoma University football coach Jim Mackenzie do on the football field I don't know. But I'm sure he can year-old former Arkansas assistant always finds time to answer questions for nosy newsmen.

If Mackenzie doesn't have the answer to the question he'll come right out and tell you, he'll never evade you or hem and haw around.

We asked the youthful coach about former Pampa grid star, Ricky Goodwin, now a full-fledged 'Big Red' griddler.

"About the only thing I can tell you about Ricky is he's a fine boy," Mackenzie said, adding, "What he can do on the football field I don't know. But I'm sure he can do something since he's here playing."

Mackenzie was leading up to the fact that since he only took over the job from Athletic Director Gomer Jones this year he hasn't had a chance to watch his personnel in action.

"Of course I've met the boys but the only action I've seen is to watch them work in gym class lifting weights and the like," he said.

With the Sooners predominately a running team down through the years does he plan any changes with maybe a little more passing?

"I don't like to just run but, we won't do as much passing as say, Tulsa but we will throw the ball. Of course if we start throwing it to the other team then we'll have to stop," Mackenzie allowed.

Would he compare the Big Eight and Southwest Conference where he served as Frank Broyles assistant since 1958?

"I never compare conferences," he said, adding, "The Big Eight is where I first started in college. I was with Frank (Broyles) at Missouri in 1957. I'll tell you one thing its (the Big 8) one of the toughest conferences in the country."

When April 7 rolls around Mackenzie and his southern assistants will have their first chance to see what they have or haven't got.

Oklahoma opens spring drills on that date, a Thursday and a full scrimmage is planned the following Saturday.

"The big thing is to decide in spring drills just how to get your personnel set at their positions. We'll probably have to do some switching later, but we want to have a definite plan in mind in the spring."

He calls the Oklahoma-Texas game one of the unique rivalries in sports, saying this was the only game where the gate receipts were divided up even before the contest was played.

"Personnel has a great deal to do with how good a coach you are. That's why coaches work so hard at recruiting and that's what we are doing right now," he concluded.

Rifle, Pistol Club Sets Tournament

The Pampa Rifle and Pistol club will sponsor the 13th annual Junior Invitational Rifle Tournament next Saturday.

Boys and girls under 19 will compete in the tournament with teams also entered and the shooting will take place at the indoor range of the club in Recreation Park.

Teams will be sponsored, either by an organization or responsible adult and any boy or girl may compete alone for individual awards.

There is no entry fee nor will there be any charge for targets. Contestants must furnish their own ammunition.

The only weapon to be used is a .22 caliber rim fire rifle that can be fired single shot, iron rifles are not allowed.

Contestants will shoot from the prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions on a regula-

Agriculturally Speaking

By POSTER WHALEY
KIRK HOLT replaced David Miles as Farm Placement Interviewer with the local Employment Commission office. Kirk has had recent farming experience and is very willing to help both laborers and farmers with their employment needs. He says he has a number of farmers listed that are needing both part-time and full-time help. If you have a steady job and would like to do off-hour work, contact him soon.

Rex McKay has a pretty fair population of greenbugs in his irrigated wheat.

There weren't enough to warrant spraying but weather conditions could make it necessary. At seven to eight days of age a female greenbug is capable of giving birth to 50 - 60 greenbugs. In seven more days each of the females can repeat this process. The rate of reproduction is enormous and almost beyond comprehension. Ladybugs and a tiny wasp prey on greenbugs. When the temperature range is sixty-five degrees or above, they multiply very fast.

Greenbugs can reproduce at a fast rate when the temperature range is from forty to sixty-five degrees. When you have prolonged periods of damp weather in the forty - fifty degree range greenbugs can give you some serious trouble.

We are fortunate to be pretty well past the season of the year when the above condition is likely to occur. The larger the wheat the more resistant it is to greenbug damage even with heavy populations. I don't anticipate any need for large scale control. Parathion by aerial application is most effective.

D. W. Swain, Pampa, will meet with two Agronomists from the Lubbock Experiment Station shortly to work out a five year off-station soil and plant testing program. Both Milo and Wheat test plots will be placed. The test will involve different rates of both Nitrogen and Phosphorus.

Clarence Zyback, Wheeler County farmer, produced two hundred sixty-nine pounds of beef per acre last summer and fall in a grazing demonstration utilizing a hybrid sudan sorghum. If you have steers that are worth twenty-eight cents per pound, this is seventy-five dollars an acre gross.

This rate of gain per acre isn't anything exceptional for this area. We know of one dryland test in this area where the producer obtained four hundred twenty-six pounds of beef per acre with hybrid-sorghum-sudan cross. Under irrigated conditions the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station obtained close to nine hundred pounds of gain on the same hybrid cross. At twenty-five cents per pound of gain this would be $225.00 per acre.

Farmer and Ranchers in this area are missing a good bet if they do not plan to utilize this relatively new grazing crop.

Mrs. O. E. Bradford, 444 Hughes Street, recently brought a vicious spider by the office which we sent off for identification. Donald Rummel, our Entomologist, Lubbock Experiment Station, called to advise that the spider was called "Brow Recluse." They are very poisonous and have a very painful bite. The bite makes a very severe sore that will be 6 - 8 weeks healing. Much flesh deteriorates in the bite zone. He recommended contacting a physician immediately. It is a good idea to have a reputable pest control operator to fumigate underneath your floor and in the attic occasionally. If you have been hit with this dangerous pest, I would contact one immediately. A two-tenths to five-california, Colorado and Nebraska-half to two percent solution of dieldrin is very effective when sprayed in proper areas of infection. Follow directions closely and take extreme precaution if small children are around.

Placement of cattle on feed in Texas feed lots for this past February was seventy-three percent higher than same month last year. In five selected cattle feeding states - Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado and Nebraska twenty-six percent more cattle were placed on feed in February of 1966 as compared to same month in 1965.

Law Controls Use Of Test Animals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House agriculture subcommittee Thursday approved a bill aimed at "petnappers" and inhumane dealers in research animals.

The measure goes to the full agriculture committee for action. Subcommittee approval came after two days of heated testimony on pet stealing and animal torture.

The so-called "dog and cat" bill would require federal licensing of both dealers in research animals and of the research facilities using them. The legislation would also authorize the agriculture secretary to prescribe humane standards for the transportation and handling of animals to be used in laboratories.

In a special effort to present use of family pets, the secretary could also require humane marking or tagging of the pets handled by research dealers, making it easier to trace their origin.

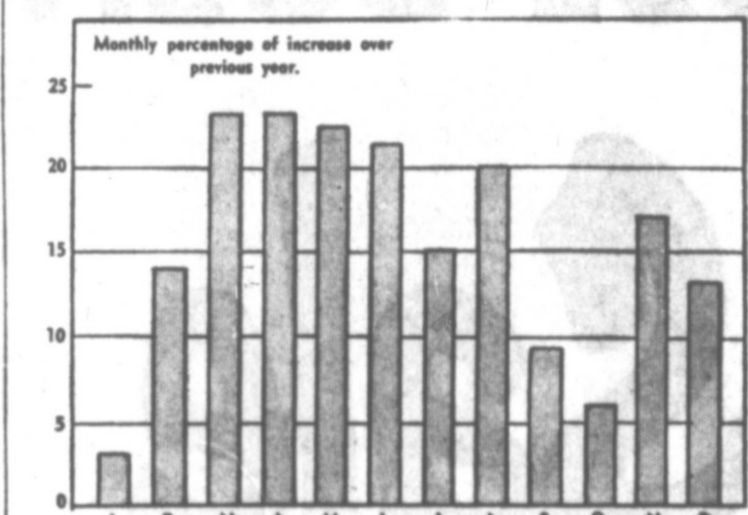

Other congressional news: Tapes: Servicemen in Viet Nam would be able to mail tape recorded messages home without charge under a bill approved Thursday by the House Post Office Committee. A House vote on the proposal was expected Monday.

Ammo: Senate investigators have found ammunition stocks for the Viet Nam war are in generally good condition but, had the war been fought along more conventional lines, there would have been a "woeful inadequacy." The finding was issued Thursday after closed testimony was given the Senate preparedness subcommittee.

Health: The House Rules Committee buried President Johnson's international health plan Thursday, and there were dim prospects it could be revived. The vote was 8 to 5 against clearing it for floor action and some grumbling about its $45 million price tag in view of mounting Viet Nam Mink did not become widely popular as fur until about 1930, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

FOREIGN TRAVEL UP—Despite a plea from the government for citizens to see America first on their vacation and curtail foreign travel, the past 12 months found increasing numbers of Americans visiting beyond our borders. Less foreign travel would improve America's position in the balance of payments. Chart shows, in percentage, the increases in the number of passport applications in 1965 compared with 1964.

ALLIGATOR'S APPETITE—Mrs. Robert English of Largo, Fla., claims Eddie the alligator is as gentle as a lamb and has much too refined an appetite ever to bite the hand that feeds him. She lists her pet's food preferences as chicken legs, ham, just about anything in the Italian line and, for dessert, marshmallows.

Farmer Will Get Panhandle Award

PANHANDLE — The Carson County Agricultural Extension Service will receive a $2,000 Ford Motor Co. Fund grant during a dinner Tuesday in Panhandle High School.

Walter Dittberner, one of 15 farmers nationally to receive the 1966 Ford Farm Efficiency Award, named the Extension Service as recipient of the grant. Dittberner was cited for his ability to produce high acreage yields in 1965 with only eight inches of rain. His 200 acres of irrigated grain sorghum yielded 7,300 pounds per acre. In a good year, his best land averages between 8,000 and 9,000 pounds. One 20-acre test field yielded 10,422 pounds per acre.

Deep-sea divers make a distress signal by holding up four fingers or rapping on an object four times.

Can Valley Land Be Improved Pastures?

CANADIAN — Don Powell, Hemphill County Soil Conservation District conservationist, said Friday an extensive research project to determine if 50,000 acres of Canadian River Valley land can be recovered and converted into improved pastures will be started in May. The research project is a cooperative effort between ranchers, the Soil Conservation Service, the Extension Service and the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland. It will be conducted on the Charles Wright ranch six miles east of Canadian.

The experiments will include bush control, the introduction of desirable grasses, and fertilizer studies. Grasses to be used are Indian, Switch, Bermuda and sweet clover. The fertilizer studies will determine the gain and maximum amount of foliage and nutrition of native grasses.

Powell said the experiments of Dr. Harold Eck, researcher with the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station, will be of special interest. Dr. Eck has a special formulated fertilizer which has a slow dissolving character that may prove valuable because of the high water table predominate in the Canadian River Valley. Powell said the high water table creates a leaching problem in which plant nutrients are washed from the soil by capillary action.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District staff is working up the necessary guidelines required by the Internal Revenue Service in order that irrigation farmers who live in Carson, Gray and Potter Counties may claim a depletion allowance. It is hoped that the guidelines will be finished before the April 15 deadline in order that a protective claim may be filed by April 15 for the year 1962.

Irrigation farmers are eligible to file for a refund on water depletion for the years 1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965. Those who do not file an amended return for the year 1962 by April 15 will forfeit that year. They have until April 15, 1967 to file for the year 1963.

Assembling the necessary information has been a tremendous task for the staff and officials of the Panhandle Water Conservation District.

Lockwood Grigg, attorney for the Internal Revenue Office in Lubbock, will meet with the Board of Directors of the District on Wednesday, Mar. 23 at 2 p.m. at the Water Conservation District Office in White Deer. He will review the tentative guidelines that have been set up indicating the value of the water in the land as related to the value of the land and improvements on the land. Special forms, approved by the Treasury Department, are being prepared, that will be used by the irrigation farmer to make his claim for a refund. Separate forms for a refund will have to be filed for each year claimed.

As soon as the necessary guidelines are finished, an announcement will be made through the news media covering the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District area.

Approximately 800 people attended the recent six-day school sponsored by the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association at Texas A&M University. The federal government was also represented at the school. In regard to the moving of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration from the Health, Education and Welfare Department to the Department of the Interior. A number of its present employees have indicated that they would resign rather than make the change.

This move would be in line with the bill proposed by Senator Moss to move all water agencies into a single Department of Natural Resources.

Governor John Connally has announced the re-appointment of W. E. Tinsley of Austin and Robert B. Gilmore of Dallas to the Water Development Board. Their terms will expire Dec. 30, 1971. Tinsley has been with the Water Development Board since it was created in 1967. Gilmore is a petroleum engineer and is president of DeGolyer and MacNaughton.

A number of the river basins are showing tremendous population and industrial growth. The San Jacinto Basin shows possibilities for a greatly accelerated growth in the near future.

Franklin and Titus County Water Districts filed applications on March 17 with the Water Development Board. The two districts are planning to use the money to develop projects on the Cypress Basin area. These projects when completed would store water to be furnished by the Districts to local users.

During the past two weeks, eight permits for irrigation wells have been issued to Gray County landowners. Six were issued to the W. H. Taylor Estate. These wells were located in Sections 69, 82 and 83, Block B-2, H&GN Survey. One was issued to Doshia Anderson in Section 203, Block B-2, H&GN Survey. The remaining one was issued to W. F. Shepherd to be drilled in Section 188, Block B-2, H&GN Survey.

Sunday Passing Show

SEN. GRADY Hazlewood's recent bombardment of the free-wheeling Texas Student League for Responsible Sex Freedom in a speech at Plainview last Monday is meeting with widespread approval in the senator's home area of the Panhandle as well as elsewhere in the state. Women's clubs in particular are praising Hazlewood's opposition to the sex freedom club at the University of Texas campus. The senator's forthright attack on the campus minority group that advocated "any private sex act which does no physical harm and is not initiated by force" has already brought results. The university chancellor Tuesday ordered the club to cease operation on the Texas campus, declaring that while universities open their doors to responsible discussion, this freedom must not be turned into "door mats for irresponsible propaganda and wilful breach of clearly stated university policy." Most local club women we have talked with say Senator Hazlewood should be showered with congratulations for his stand and the quick action he got.

THE SIXTH ANNUAL Invitational Exhibition of Paintings and Sculpture, sponsored by the Amarillo Legal Secretaries Association, will be held next Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. in the Commercial Exhibits Building at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo. Judges for the exhibition will be Miss Isabel Robinson of Canyon, Roderick Parkinson of Lubbock and Stefan Kramer of Amarillo. The four categories in open competition will include oil painting, water color, graphic arts and sculpture. Net proceeds from the exhibition will be deposited in the Legal Secretaries Scholarship Fund administered by Opportunity Plan, Inc., at West Texas State University. The first five shows have resulted in a contribution of $1,000. Local artists interested in entering the contest may contact Mrs. Jo Behrends, 4408 Bonham, FL 5-0343, Amarillo, co-chairman of the show, for further information. Know one Pampa artist, Mrs. D. J. (Marion) George is entering her wood sculpture of the "Last Supper" in the contest. C. K. Chesterton, turn of the century prominent English novelist and man of letters once said "The artistic temperament is a disease that afflicts amateurs." ... heard that Dr. M. C. and Dot Overton will be leaving in another week for a month-long African safari. Sounds so interesting and exciting that we'll certainly have to have a complete report on their return. Also heard numerous people remarking after the Lion Club's Minstrel Show that several of the stars put many of the TV personalities to shame. Pampans are not always aware of the outstanding talent among its own citizens.

VICKI AUTRY, daughter of Joe and Norma Autry, had a most exciting week. Miss Autry went with the Pampa High School A Cappella Choir to perform in Kansas City, Mo., then flew home Wednesday evening in order to be Pampa's representative in the Miss Irish Rose contest in Shamrock Thursday. Understand there was a sort of family reunion while the Autrys were in Shamrock with some of the family members coming from Crowell to attend the festivities. The attractive and charming contestant was second runner-up in the contest. A week ago yesterday the home of Mrs. Lorene Locke was the scene of a gift coffee honoring bride-elect DeAnne Drew. Miss Drew's chosen colors of pink and white were carried out in the perfect spring setting of a centerpiece in a large crystal basket. Co-hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Henry (Sally) Butler, Mrs. George (Gladys) Taylor, Mrs. Bob (Alma) McCoy and Mrs. Chester (Marguerite) Thompson. A group of teachers entertained a large host of friends at a coffee-bridge yesterday morning in Coronado Inn. Hosting the social were Miss Inez Clubb, Mrs. Paul (Mary) Keim, Mrs. McHenry (Alta) Lane, Mrs. Glenn (Emma) Larson, Mrs. C. D. (Willie Mae) Mangold, Mrs. J. A. (Hazel) Poole and Mrs. Kenneth (Essie Mae) Walters.

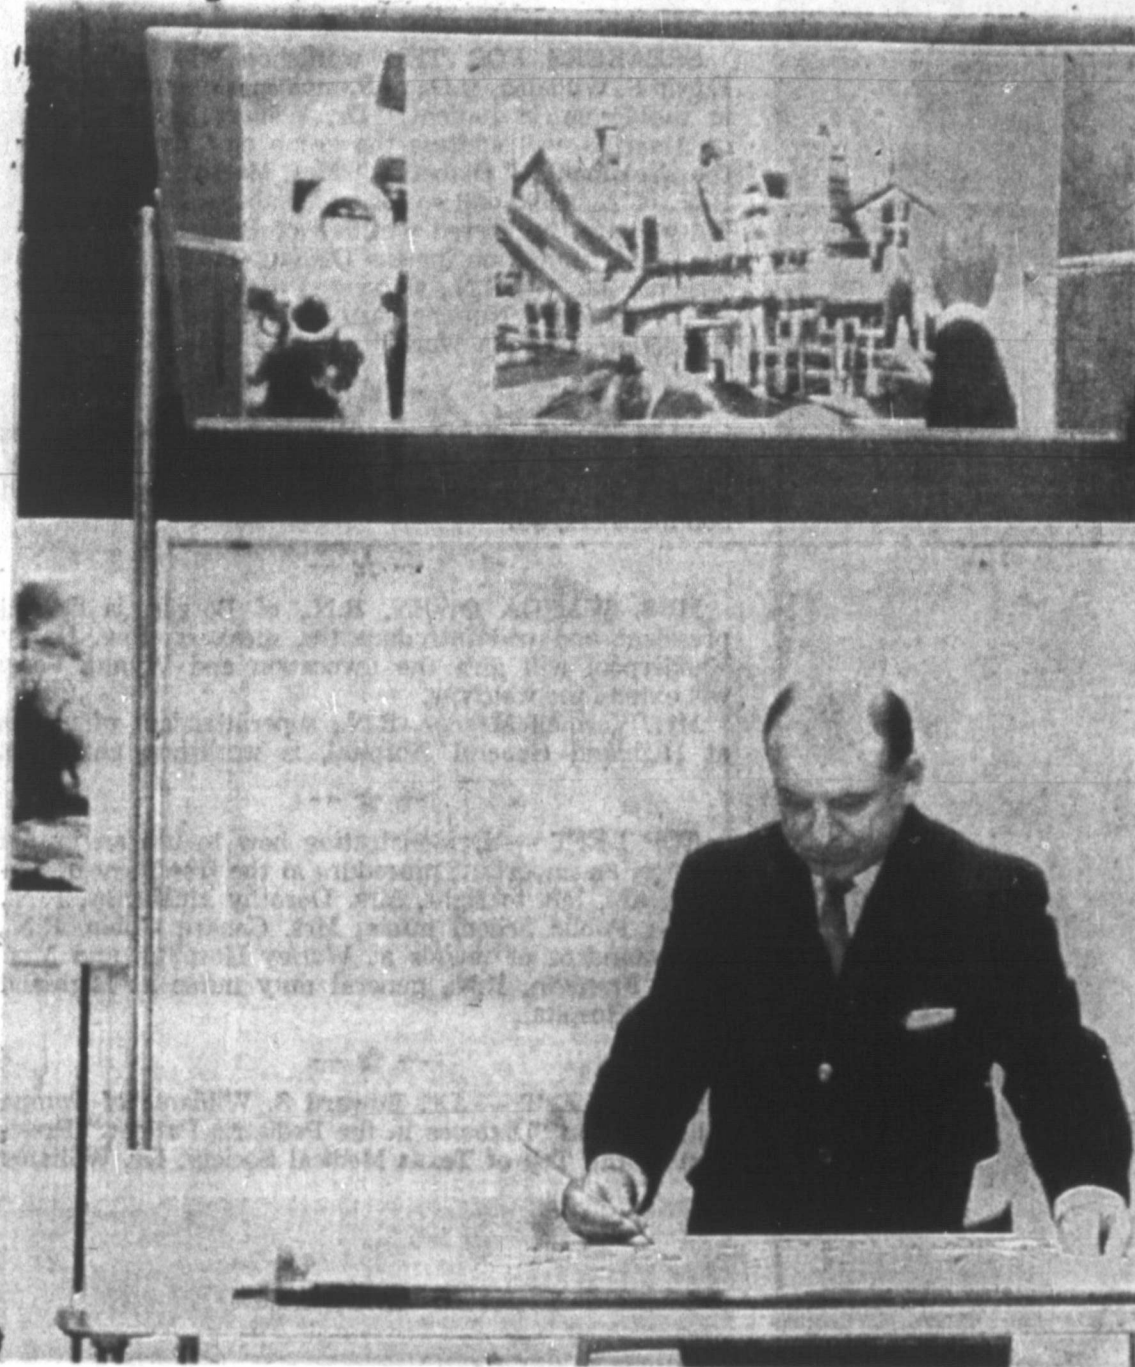

NEXT WEEK WILL be a busy one for Pampa women. A large group will be working on the annual Community Concert Drive for membership. Mrs. MacField (Connie) McDaniel has been seen about town hurriedly completing arrangements for the drive. Mrs. Glenn (Florence) Radcliff and Mrs. R. W. (Ada) Lane will travel to Abilene where they will attend the Annual Meeting of the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service as delegates from First Methodist Church. Mrs. Raymond (Icie) Harrah, Mrs. D. V. (Lottie) Burton, Mrs. A. D. (Olive) Hills, Mrs. Emmett (Billie) Osborne and Mrs. Kermit (Josephine) Lawson will attend the Top of Texas Federated Clubs Convention in Hereford Thursday and Friday. Delegates from each Federated Club in Pampa will also attend and the La Cultura Club will be recognized as a newly organized club and presented the traditional gavel at the session Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Harrah is a past district president of the organization and now serves as a member of the nominating committee. Mrs. Hills is Hallmark Art chairman, Mrs. Osborne is a member of the Medal of Honor Grove and Mrs. Lawson is third vice president of the district.

PAMPA ART CLUB members are completing final details for their Arts and Crafts Exhibit and Guest Day Tea to be held April 5 and 6 in Lovett Memorial Library. The group is led by Mrs. A. D. (Olive) Hills, president, Mrs. J. G. (Viola) Doggett is exhibit chairman. A workshop and luncheon was enjoyed by the club members last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Cecil (Bethel) Shirley. Program on 'Perennials' Presented By Students Present P-TA Program

The regular monthly meeting of Pampa Rose Society was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Darsey Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bennink as co-hosts. Mrs. Darsey presided over the business meeting, with Mr. Bennink giving the Club Prayer. Mrs. Bennink read the minutes of the previous meeting and also the 1965 and current treasurer's reports. Mr. and Mrs. Holly Gray were welcomed as new members. Mrs. Dan Glaxner extended an invitation to the group to attend the annual African Violet show to be held on April 12 at the home of Mrs. Holly Gray. Milo Carlson presented a program on "Perennials" in which he stated "The amateur gardener is happy with the annual hardy varieties such as zinnias, phlox, marigolds, etc., which produce an expanse of color for the flower garden; but he eventually becomes interested in the more sophisticated varieties and resorts to the cold frame or nursery bedding plants. The brilliant display of annuals can be tempered with perennials, which definitely reduce the work load, permitting a better balanced color combination, and giving the gardener more time for selecting varieties that complement each other for height and color." The speaker selecting some varieties of shrubs or perennials that would enhance the wintery scene, such as shrubs with berries, permanent green or other colored varieties, also those suitable for the Panhandle. A general exchange of ideas concerning plants was held by the members and a suggestion made that each one plant a new variety this year and a plant exchange be made at the next meeting. The St. Patrick's theme was carried out by the hostesses. The table, covered with a white Irish linen cloth, was centered with a white rustic tree, decorated with green Shamrock leaves, flanked by a potted Hyacinths. Napkins and plate favors were in green and white. Members present were: Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair and Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell and Messrs and Mmes. William A. Bennink, H. H. Boynton, D. A. Caldwell, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth, R. E. Darsey, Dan Glaxner, Holly Gray and Glenn Radcliff.

Ruidosa, N. M. this summer from July 4 to July 18. Dr. Caballero divided his program, devoting the first portion to the history of watercolor. He stated that watercolor, contrary to popular belief, is much older than oil painting dating back to before Christ—even as far back as prehistoric cave paintings. Oil painting, on the other hand, is only three or four hundred years old. The lasting quality of watercolor was also discussed and he pointed out that some of the oldest surviving paintings are in watercolor. It was stressed that watercolor does not yellow or crack with age. Dr. Caballero also stated that many of the old masters painted in watercolor as well as oil, for instance, Rembrandt. Examples of watercolors from various countries were shown and the difference in style and technique explained. The audience was particularly interested to learn of the Japanese tradition of using gold, jewel encrusted brushes which were handed (See ARTIST, Page 18)

Horace Mann Teachers Feted by P-TA Unit During Texas Public School Week

Horace Mann P-TA unit observed a special Teachers' Appreciation week during the activities of Texas Public School week March 7-11.

Each morning throughout the week coffee and pastries were served from a table covered with a blue cloth edged in gold fringe. The centerpiece depicted Horace Mann School and a home with large gold letters of P-TA on the sidewalk connecting the two. This carried out the unit's theme of the year, which is "We the P-TA Participants in the Community Story."

On Monday morning teachers found on their desk a blue booklet with a "magic" gold pencil. Each morning a note was added informing them of coffee being served in their honor. The "magic" pencil also added a gold letter to the booklet front until P-TA had been completed.

On the last day of this special week each teacher was presented a home-baked cake by the home room mothers. Horace Mann P-TA unit declares their golden rule is "We Appreciate You" for their teachers.

Parents visited the classrooms and had lunch with their children throughout the week. The school was host for a luncheon meeting of the Pampa Jaycees' Club on Tuesday at which time a program was presented by the entire student body.

School was dismissed on Friday and the faculty of Horace Mann attended the Texas State Teachers Convention in Amarillo.

Fathers Preside At P-TA Meet

Woodrow Wilson P-TA met in general session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium. Billy J. Stephens, husband of the president, presided. In observance of Father's Night, the husband of each officer presided in her place.

Mrs. E. A. McLennan presented the devotional.

Gifford Kerksieck read the minutes of the previous meeting and Jack Chisum gave a treasurer's report. Mrs. Jack Percy gave a City Council report and the project for the year was approved.

Officers elected for next year included Mrs. Jerry Davis, president; Mrs. Gifford Kerksieck, vice president; Mrs. Wayne Lancaster, secretary; Mrs. Walden Haynes, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Harris, historian; Mrs. Billy J. Stephens, parliamentarian and Mmes. Jack Chisum and Jack Percy, City Council delegates.

Jerry Davis introduced the speaker for the evening, Don Cain, who spoke on "The Importance of Making a Will."

Teachers were presented with corsages and boutonnieres in observance of Teacher Appreciation Week.

The Executive Board met at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Billy J. Stephens, president.

Mrs. J. C. Morris, teacher appreciation chairman gave a report.

Delegates to Spring Conference elected were Mrs. Jack Chisum, Mrs. Jerry Davis, Mrs. Gifford Kerksieck, Mrs. Wayne Lancaster, Mrs. Billy J. Stephens and Bob Parks. Alternates are Mrs. Calvin Hogan and Mrs. Max Smith.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 30

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A Sunday when it is advisable that you do refuse to make any drastic changes and that you think out the ways and means by which you can modernize and put new meth-ods into long accepted conditions. Keep your ideals, but see that they can operate better in the present-day world of progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): By dwelling upon a higher level of consciousness, you find that you can get rid of small annoyances that can still be very annoying. Be more poised and calm. Assist long-deferred matters or color-blind assist, or anyone else in need.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Better rely on yourself where that vital matter is concerned, since close ties and allies give you varying suggestions, advice. Get together with persons you admire later. Don't monopolize the conversation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): A day to handle both home and outside prom-ises or you can act. Don't permit some impractical home tie to interfere when dealing with a big-wig or there is trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You are able to get inspired thoughts if you attend services of your choice or study philosophical, classical works. Then make plans to do something about them. Get out and see people, talk over ideas, etc.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Although you want to make some radical changes around you, be sure that those who dwell under your roof also are consulted. Be affectionate with male. Avoid any further discussion that would be very bad in the future.

"Come thou with us and we will do thee good..."

Dear Abby....

She's Putting the Cart Before the Horse

DEAR ABBY: This man, age 52, has been meeting my sister age 54, in his barn every night for the last nine years. This started one year before her husband died. I have been praying for her and trying to help her all these years, but to no avail. She denies any wrong doing. I have spoken to several clergymen in town about her shameful sinning, and have asked all our friends and relatives to pray that my sister will put aside her evil ways and repent. My brother who is a pastor is on her side. He says I should not judge, that the Lord will be the Judge on Judgment Day, but by then it will be too late. (Galatians 6:1) How can I help my poor misguided sister to be saved if everyone is against me?

ALONE: DEAR ALONE: Your brother is right. "Judge not, that ye be judged." (Matthew 7:1,2.) You could be mistaken. Put yourself in your sister's place. How would you like it if your sister went around asking everyone in town to pray for you when you had done no wrong?

DEAR ABBY: I am 59 years old but don't look it. I weigh 147 pounds and stand 5 feet 2 inches tall. I keep myself looking nice and carry my weight well. I think I look a lot better at this weight than if I were to reduce and get all wrinkled in the face and neck like lots of women I know. I am divorced and have been going with Walt for a year now. He is 50. He speaks of marriage and I am all for it, but here is the catch. Walt says, "If you will go on a diet and keep losing weight until I tell you to stop, and then show me your birth certificate, I will marry you." Abby, I never told him how old I was because I never thought it was important. Besides, we are near enough the same age, and I look younger than Walt. How about the dieting part? Set me straight, I like him a lot.

WALT'S LADY FRIEND: DEAR LADY FRIEND: Better show him your birth certificate first. It might not be necessary for you to lose the weight.

DEAR ABBY: When I invite Eve or six widowed friends to my home for a lovely dinner and an evening of cards their gratitude is overwhelming. Several have commented that it has been "years" since they have used their nice china and silver. That set me to wondering. Why do so many widows fall into a lazy do-nothing rut and tell themselves, "I have no one to set a lovely table and cook for." They could do it for each other, couldn't they? They all have beautiful apartments, lovely things with which to entertain, and many are excellent cooks. I am not talking about widows who must watch their pennies. I mean those who have money for travel and clothes. I don't mean to sound unkind, Abby, but perhaps some lonely widows would be less lonely if they entertained a little instead of waiting for someone to entertain them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LITTLE D. IN BIG D.: Don't call a doctor a "quack" if you aren't prepared to prove it, or you're a dead duck. Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ABWA Tea Will Honor Mrs. A. W. Neff

(Kenneth Butler Photo)

Mrs. A. W. Neff
... ABWA "Woman of the Year"

Mrs. A. W. Neff, ABWA "Woman of the Year" for 1966, will be recognized and honored at American Business Women's Association's "Hand of Friendship Tea" this afternoon. The tea will be held from 2 to 4 o'clock in the Hospitality Room of Citizens' Bank.

Business women of the area are invited to attend the event. Mrs. Bessie Franklin, tea chairman, may be contacted at MO 4-7514, or Mrs. Mary Summers, membership chairman, at MO 4-7514, concerning the event.

Mrs. Neff was chosen for the honor through her contributions to community and civic welfare. She has been a loyal and faithful member of ABWA since its organization in Pampa and is a charter member of the chapter. The honoree makes her home with her husband, an employe of Phillips Petroleum, south of the city. The couple has two sons, Henry Wayne Neff, serving with the U.S. Army, and Clemon Neff who resides in Rogers, Ark.

Each year Pampa Charter Chapter nominates a member of the ABWA for an outstanding accomplishment the "Woman of the Year." Others who served in this capacity were Mmes. Dorothy Herd, Ruby Wylie, Mary Lee Wright and Lucille Smith.

The American Business Women's Association is an entirely new kind of organization. It is not a club, not a sorority, but an educational association which seeks to advance women in business through education, thereby increase their ability, success, and happiness; to improve employer-employee relationships. Twice each year, carefully planned "Hand of Friendship Teas" and "Enrollment Parties" are programmed and presented by the Pampa Charter Chapter along with 600 chapters, located throughout the United States. This year A.B.W.A. will host approximately 10,000 guests. The National Headquarters is located in Kansas City, Mo., where it was chartered in 1949. Education is essential in our society and the association emphasizes the sponsorship of scholarships for deserving, qualified young women. Last year, the local chapter awarded a scholarship to Barbara Dwight, laboratory technician at Worley Hospital. The Stephen Bufton Memorial Educational Fund, the national education fund of the Association, was established in 1963. Chapters are privileged to prevent stocking snags created by worn or cracked shoe linings, smooth a plastic bandaid over the worn lining... to make application for scholarships. These grants and loans are normally limited to outstanding students who are already working toward their college degrees. The members of the National Board of Directors of the Association serve as the trustees for this fund. Each of the six districts throughout the United States holds a district meeting in the spring. A National Convention will be held in Tulsa, Okla., on Oct. 14, 15, and 16.

A.B.W.A. president is Mrs. Velma Sutton; vice president, Mrs. Eunice Maddox; recording secretary, Mrs. Marge Redd; corresponding secretary, Miss Maxine Nabors, and treasurer, Mrs. Alta Mae McElreath.

Officers Named By Lamar P-TA

Lamar Parent-Teachers Association meet Thursday afternoon. The board met preceding the general meeting. Mrs. Roy Frankie presented the school with a tape recorder as a gift of appreciation. Officers for the coming year were presented by the nomination committee to the general meeting and were elected by acclamation. They are Mrs. L. Paronto, president; Mrs. David Drann, vice president; Mrs. Jack Robertson, secretary; Mrs. Glen Day, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Jackson, historian; and Mrs. R. E. Warren Jr., parliamentarian. Mrs. Hesta Hestand's room won room count.

Expect to see sandals in abundance this spring. The trend is toward every variation on the sandal set on a pancake heel for wear on city streets and in the suburbs. That pancake heel is also an indicator of something new afoot. Heels are getting lower and lower and the days of the three-incher are gone, the days of the flat, wide heel are fast upcoming.

Despite the great strides in medicine in the last decade, a one-shot cancer cure isn't in the cards according to no less an authority than the chief of the cancer branch of the U.S. Public Health Service. A stumbling block in the serious search for a cure is the fact that there are between 100 and 150 different diseases in the category of cancer.

Many new drugs show promise, but research has disclosed that a drug effective against one type of cancer is ineffective against another type of the dread disease. Heartening, however, is disclosure through research that some malignancy is caused by viruses. For many years viruses were excluded from study in cancer research in the belief that they had no connection with the disease.

Opportunity Plan Is Discussed

scholarship loan fund on the plan which Mr. Morris founded in 1954. Mr. Morris then answered questions from the group.

With offices located on the campus of West Texas State University, Opportunity Plan, Inc. is a unique "package deal", combining part-time student jobs and financial assistance for worthy students. Milton Morris, Director of Student Financial Aid for the University and executive vice president of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., founded the Plan in 1954 for students who possess ability, ambition, character and yet, for financial reasons cannot attend college. The Plan offers no free ride to an education. Morris emphasized that it is only for those who want to help themselves and have courage to do so. After being operated successfully for five years, the Opportunity Plan was formed into a corporation and received its Charter Nov. 25, 1959.

This student loan plan was developed and designed into a program whereby any worthy high school graduate of the Golden Spread may have the opportunity to attain a higher education. Students with top scholastic ability are always welcomed. The American artist, Winslow Homer, was also discussed. The second portion of the program was used in a watercolor demonstration. Dr. Caballero explained to the guests the various methods by which a watercolor could be painted.

and demonstrated the wet wash or transparent method. Some of the artist's watercolors and gouache paintings were displayed and were referred to by the speaker in discussing different techniques. Hostesses were Mmes. R. A. Johnson, chairman; Kay Fancher, Charles Walsh, Ted Alexander and Don Hayes. Guests attending included Mmes. J. E. was in Pampa Friday to discuss the operation of this unique scholarship loan plan with the noon Kiwanis Club. He was introduced to the club by Mrs. Lee Fraser, chairman of the Twentieth Century Cotillion Antique Show and Sale. Twentieth Century Cotillion Club holds this Antique Show and Sale annually, with the entire proceeds going directly to the Opportunity Plan. The show this year will be held April 1, 2 and 3 in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn, and tickets will be good for all three days of the show. SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

EVER TRIED to read two books at the same time? . . . Several chapters of this one tonight. . . Several chapters of the other one tomorrow night? . . . Right now we are deep in Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood" and James D. Horan's "The Seat of Power," a couple of grippers that keep you glued to their pages until your eyes won't hold out any longer. . . "The Seat of Power" has to do with corruption in big city officialdom and, although written several years ago as fiction—much of that fiction has become fact in the news within the last couple of years. . . Startlingly so. . . Briefly, it is the story of a persistent newspaperman who smelled something wrong and kept digging and digging until he unearthed a City Hall-Police scandal that rocked an entire city with local, state and national repercussions. . . "In Cold Blood," of course, is the story of another newspaperman who spent months turning up personal background in the lives of a couple of cold-blooded murderers, beat on robbery, and in the lives of the four members of a family they murdered in order to cover up their tracks. . . This multiple slaying case was on the front pages of newspapers and the killers managed to hide away for six months before they were caught up with. . . Capote's story delves minutely into the lives of people in a small town, the skeletons in their closets, their darkest secrets, their suspicions and all the small talk that follows such a tragedy in a minor community. . . He lived with the people for months, became a confidant of the slayers after their arrest and tells their stories with a vibrant, down-to-earth style of writing that gives you the feeling you have lived in that town all your life and that you have been incarcerated in the cells with the murderers learning their innermost thoughts right up until the day their lives were taken as penalty. . . But, reading the two books on alternate nights has a tendency to combine the two and transfer the characters in both books back and forth from the small town in Kansas to the nation's greatest city with the result that you come to a decision that all of the persons involved could have lived in either one of the places and that there is little, if any, difference in the intimate goings-on in the lives of people in a great city and those in a small town. . . Anyhow, never try to read two books at the same time.

THIS SPACE seems to be on a reading binge this week. . . A bit of side reading informs one that it is true what they say about snake bites. . . LIQUOR DOES help cure 'em. . . At least that's the conclusion Dr. Herbert Stahnke of Arizona has drawn from tests he made on rats. . . The reference is not to the kind of rats who come home stoned and give the little woman a hard time when they haven't even been bitten by a snake, but to laboratory rats. . . There's a catch, though, in the comfort Dr. Stahnke may be bringing to viper victims and to whiskey distillers. . . The doctor, who is a zoologist at Arizona State University's poisonous animals research laboratory at Tempe, says that all kinds of hooch will not work on snake bites. . . Scotch and vodka, yes. . . Grain alcohol, brandy and tequila, no, no, no. . . Bourbon and blended whiskeys haven't yet been tested, so fans of these beverages are advised to stay away from snakes for awhile. . . Dr. Stahnke has found that the most effective dosage for his venom-infected rats in the laboratory is equivalent to about a quart of liquor in a man. . . With that much spiked antidote in him a snake-bite victim not only would feel no pain, but probably would insist on hunting up the snake and biting it back.

ALL OF THIS brings to mind a happening of years ago when Pampa's Frank Culbertson and several friends went on a fishing or hunting expedition. . . They were sleeping out of doors and during the night, Culbertson turned over in his sleeping bag and was attacked by a rattlesnake. . . It struck him just above the bridge of his nose. . . Quick emergency aid on the part of a companion, Carl Benefiel, as we recall it—saved Culbertson's life while he was being rushed to the nearest town for medical assistance. . . Benefiel was manager of the old LaNora theater, located at that time on the site now occupied by Heard-Jones drug store.

The Cause of Inflation

By ROSALIE M. GORDON

Editor, America's Future

The Great Societers have been in something of a tizzy in their effort to assure the American people we aren't going to have inflation. Of course, considering the steady rise in the cost of living, many authorities believe we are already in a period of inflation and that, given the government's policies, it is not going to get any better.

Following the crackdown on the aluminum and copper companies because they wanted to raise prices a little to meet rising production costs, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler told us that the administration was going to "blow the whistle" on all price and wage increases that might interfere with "price stability." Since the government's whistle was strangely silent last June when the aluminum labor unions got a wage increase much above the government's so-called guidelines, some analysts believe the whistle will get very selective use. But such a statement as Secretary Fowler's is an indication that the administration thinks it can prevent inflation with a gimmick characteristic of socialist and fascist regimes — government control of prices and wages.

Those who understand the real cause of inflation were quick to suggest that Secretary Fowler's whistle ought to be blown at himself and his colleagues in the government — a suggestion quickly confirmed with the announcement that the federal government's spending for the current fiscal year for the first time in our history would run well over 100 billion dollars; actually between 105 and 110 billion dollars. This means the government will spend perhaps ten billion dollars more than it takes in. In other words, it will pile on top of its already incomprehensible debt an additional deficit of ten billion dollars more or less. And that is the cause of inflation — the pumping into the system of borrowed government money which brings rises in the costs of rents, services and everything you buy. Most of this vast increase in spending is due not to the war in Vietnam but to those innumerable programs — some call them bondoggles — which comprise the Great Society.

All this raises the question of what we are heading into as the government hamstringing the industries which provide the profits and jobs that supply government taxes for spending. Will we then turn to the unrestricted government printing-press money that wrecked so many European governments in the past?

Lao Troops Thorns in Ho's Side

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A year ago, 70 Lao were training at the reserve officers school at Dong Hene, just south of the 17th parallel in the Laos panhandle. There were 10 officer-instructors.

The school is about 50 miles from the Ho Chi Minh trails which carry troop reinforcements from North Viet Nam to the south.

One evening in mid-March last year, Ho moved a battalion of his regulars to Dong Hene. These first-line North Vietnamese forces (about 350 troops) surrounded the school and its 80 men.

The school wasn't organized for a strong defense. There was a little wire strung around. There were a few machine guns and sufficient rifles — but little or no heavier armament.

But the Lao school commandant chose to stay and fight. The attack came at 2:30 in the morning. The Communist Vietnamese rushed the school in a series of human waves. The Lao stood. They were still fighting at six in the morning when the Lao air force moved in with low-level strikes.

The North Vietnamese regulars finally gave up and moved on, leaving 180 dead.

Again, just several weeks ago, Hanoi had to throw in three fresh battalions direct from North Viet Nam to overcome hard fighting Meo and Lao troops hanging on to a small key airfield in northern Laos. The battle had been nip and tuck.

Ho's men took the airfield, but paid a heavy price in dead and wounded and with no assurance they could keep it. The Lao and Meo troops fought stubbornly. Day after day, the Lao air force came in low to hit Vietnamese concentrations.

Just three and a half years ago, the United States agreed to an "unenforceable" treaty on Laos because our officials were convinced "Lao troops wouldn't stand and fight," so Laos could not be held.

U. S. advisers consistently reported Lao units broke and ran when attacked by North Vietnamese. They frequently ran even when Vietnamese troops were rumored in the neighborhood.

One U.S. adviser told of being stranded on a battlefield when the Lao ran on reports the Vietnamese were coming. But he wasn't captured; the Vietnamese troops never arrived.

Army for army, the Lao still are no match for the North Vietnamese. Hanoi has several times the trained troops and a great deal more major armament.

But today, a sizable number of Lao units are able to take on the best troops of Hanoi's army and stand up man for man.

The change has been gradual. Incidents like the 80 reservists at Dong Hene gave them a new pride. The growing strength and ability of the air force added confidence. In the past several years, too, a new breed of trained officers has gradually risen to high rank, shunting a side men who had been sergeants under the French and colonels and generals in free Laos.

The growing Lao competence and confidence will help in the Viet Nam war. It means that Ho will have to peel off troops from time to time to keep things under control. The Lao air force and infantry will eat a little into Ho's supplies of men and equipment.

President Authorizes Bombing of Power Plant And Huge Oil Depot Near Haiphong

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The Joint Chiefs of Staff are finally making some headway in their long effort to carry the war against North Viet Nam to key military targets in the crucial Hanoi-Haiphong area.

President Johnson has authorized the Air Force and Navy to bomb a huge oil depot and nearby power plant some five miles from the port of Haiphong.

The depot, largest in North Viet Nam, is estimated to hold more than one million barrels of oil. It is located in sparsely populated open country and extends over several square miles. It is heavily defended with SAM (Russian ground-to-air missiles) and radar-operated anti-aircraft guns.

The President's decision followed a series of intelligence reports indicating a considerable increase in Iron Curtain shipping to North Viet Nam ports, particularly Haiphong.

According to intelligence, more than 30 Soviet bloc and leased Western vessels are now enroute to North Viet Nam with war supplies.

The air strike against the oil depot and power plant is a compromise.

The Joint Chiefs have long urged that all Haiphong harbor facilities be destroyed and the port blockaded. Secretaries Rusk and McNamara have strongly opposed the latter on the ground it would lead to a direct confrontation between the U.S. and Russia, as the latter's ships would be involved.

While still siding on this fateful issue with his Secretaries of the State and Defense Departments, the President's authorization of an air attack against the oil depot and power plant is a significant gain for the Joint Chiefs.

This is the first time he has permitted bombing in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. Also, there may be more such strikes.

CONGRESSIONAL PRESURE — It is hoped this raid will accomplish two things: Cripple Haiphong's fuel and power supply; curtail the number and extent of truck convoys transporting arms and other supplies to Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces in South Viet Nam.

The Joint Chiefs have told the President they doubt one air strike will have much effect in deterring the Soviet from increasing war shipments to North Viet Nam. In reply, the President assured the military leaders that if their misgivings are borne out, he would reconsider his ban on bombing Haiphong harbor facilities and mining the harbor.

"If Moscow continues to escalate the war by increasing military shipments to Hanoi," the President told a top congressional leader, "Haiphong will be shut down completely. I'll have no other choice."

Also a decisive factor in the President's approval of the bombing attack is mounting congressional demand for forceful measures against Haiphong.

In the past several weeks influential Republican and Democratic legislators who strongly support the President's Viet Nam policy have been increasingly insistent that effective steps be taken to curb the inflow of Red armaments.

These congressional leaders include Senators Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee; Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill.; Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., member of the Armed Services Committee; Frank Lausche, D-O., member of the Foreign Relations Committee; John Williams, R-Del., member of the Foreign Relations Committee; George Murphy, R-Calif.; Representative Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Service Committee.

Rivers has intimated he is considering holding public hearings on the administration's delay in striking at the import of Red arms into North Viet Nam. At a recent hearing before his committee, Rivers bluntly warned Secretary McNamara:

"The American people will not stand for our fighting men being wounded and killed in Viet Nam while we do nothing to halt the flow of arms to the enemy. Our people do not understand how we could bomb virtually every city in Germany and nearly all of them in Japan and now refrain from striking even fuel storage and dock facilities in North Viet Nam."

"If this policy isn't changed soon, I plan to hold public hearings to ascertain why we are not taking such necessary measures to protect our fighting men, and to find out which officials are responsible for forcing our troops to fight under these conditions."

McNamara replied that these targets have not been ruled out, but have not been attacked in an effort to limit the extent of the war. Said McNamara:

"We have not bombed Hanoi; we have not bombed Haiphong. We have not bombed certain petroleum supplies which are important. We have not mined the Haiphong port. We have gradually evolved, from last February to now, a target system that includes all of North Viet Nam except certain specified locations."

"The targets were very carefully chosen and the rate at which the bombing program is going is very carefully controlled, all for the purpose of trying to achieve our limited objectives without widening the conflict."

In recent weeks 10 Western, one Red Chinese and 11 Russian ships have unloaded cargoes at Haiphong. These vessels are as follows:

Western — Agenor (Greek), Aktor (Cypriot), Amon (Cypriot), Hellas (Greek), Santa Granda (British), Jollity (British), Fortune Wind (British), Helmos (Lebanese), Admiral Hardy (Norwegian), Herborg (Norwegian).

LETTER FROM RHODESIA

A few days ago I received the following letter from the office of the Prime Minister of Rhodesia, Mr. Ian Smith:

"At the direction of the Prime Minister, I write further to my telegram of the 29th January to advise you of the present position regarding the proposed lecture tour of the United States by a Rhodesian cabinet minister. Following an instruction by the Prime Minister, the Ministry of External Affairs inquired from Mr. Cebelt, the United States Consul in Salisbury, if his government would permit such a tour, and the reply now received indicates that the United States Government would be averse to such a tour either by a cabinet minister or any person representing the Rhodesian Government."

"In the circumstances, perhaps you would now like to make representations regarding this ruling through your own channels to the White House because it does appear that someone along the line is afraid of the full details of Rhodesia's case being put frankly before the American public. If, however, you are unsuccessful in this regard, the Prime Minister is prepared to consider sending someone unconnected with the Rhodesian Government to the States for this tour."

I have just been told, but can not substantiate before press time, that our Ambassador to the United Nations, Mr. Goldberg, has prevailed upon our president to order the Rhodesian office in Washington closed.

All of the leading world criminals have offices here. Castro come here. Tito can come here. Brezhnev, Kossygin, Nkrumah, Nasser, Sukarno — all of the world's top criminals can come here. But not an anti-communist like Ian Smith or members of his cabinet.

If the office of the Prime Minister, Krasnovoksk (Russian), dMalojaroslavac (Russian), Sal (Russian), Saransk (Russian), Stanislav (Russian), Svoboda (Russian), Ussurijsk (Russian), Yuri Gagarin (Russian), Kostroma (Soviet) Khimik Zelin-sky, (Russian).

WARFLASHES — U.S. authorities are checking reports that American employes in South Viet Nam are financing bars and other establishments frequented by servicemen. . . U.S. contractors in Viet Nam are hiring away American government employes by offering them higher salaries, in some instances twice what they were getting. U.S. agencies have complained to Washington about this, citing not only the loss of essential personnel but the added cost to the government to replace them. . . Former Ambassador Julius Holmes has been named head of an inter-agency committee to recommend measures for setting up a uniform system for all U.S. civilian employes in Viet Nam on so-called fringe benefits, relating to dependents, duration of tours of duty, and other matters.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

We are told over and over again about the "struggle for freedom" going on in Vietnam right now. Supposedly, only the U. S. Marines stand between communism and "freedom and self-determination" for the people of South Vietnam.

And yet the absurdity of this is pointed up by the announcement that a South Vietnamese citizen is being sentenced to die for "illegal speculation". Special courts have been set up to hand out death sentences for black market activities and other "economic crimes".

No Difference

Now, once again, the question must be answered: What is the difference between that and communism? Did the condemned man and his customers have the right of "self-determination"? Did they have freedom? Or are they just as much slaves to a totalitarian state as are the citizens of North Vietnam?

To preserve this kind of tyranny, American youths are drafted against their will to fight and die. Why? Is it your wish that the South Vietnamese government be preserved at any cost in lives of your friends, relatives and neighbors?

This entire operation hinges for its success upon the draft. Without the ability to coercively raise an army, no government could engage in this kind of foreign empire-building.

If the U. S. Government had to go to the people and justify these gigantic expenditures, make sense out of the Defense Secretary's contradictory statements, explain its involvement in an area where people dislike us as much as they dislike the Communists — if the government had to do all these things, it could never recruit a sufficient fighting force to make any dent in South Vietnam.

No Justification Required

But it doesn't have to justify its actions. It simply drafts the unwilling and prods them off to fight — to kill or be killed. Kill whom? A mortal enemy? Obviously not. American soldiers are unable to tell the enemy from the local people — so both are killed.

Can you imagine yourself thrown into this situation — where you must kill people you don't know in order to prevent your own death — death by the enemy or court martial. This is the situation faced by the draftee. It is indefensible, immoral, and inefficient.

If our citizens do not have the right to decide whether or not they will join the armed forces, then how can the government tell us there is anything worse we must fight across the sea?

Obviously, we are not fighting communism — we are promoting it.

BY H. L. HUNT

Hunt for Truth

My attempts to project the title "Constructive" into public affairs in 1950 unfortunately did not prevail although it had some powerful proponents in the U.S. Senate. The American public was taking about "cleaning up that mess in Washington" which could have happened had "Constructive" become the leading name for the freedom side.

The name is needed now as much as ever by Americans who oppose communism, socialism, and other threats to freedom. Once upon a time these freedomists took pride in being called "Liberals" but that fine name was expropriated by the opposition. "Progressive," another fine name much favored in the days of Teddy Roosevelt, fell victim to those who used the word in campaigns which cheapened it.

The title "Constitutional" is frequently used as a name for a cult and at times for a political party, but the title loses meaning when considered in connection with the fact that the U. S. Constitution is evaded and changed until it is "only what the Supreme Court says it is."

"Independent" is impractical because it connotes about 20 per cent of the electorate who, when asked, proudly answer they are "Independents." They are unwilling to adhere to either of the major political parties. The two-party system is vital to the nation and control by good citizens of one or the other of the parties must save liberty, if at all.

"Right" with the persons inclined to the right-of-center philosophy called "Rightists," has been spoken of so disparagingly that "Right" labors under a handicap at home and abroad. "Constructive" has none of these disadvantages.

Ister anticipates that I will exert my influence on Caesar Bird, I'm afraid the Prime Minister doesn't understand the situation here. Our dictator has decreed that no American shall sell anything to Rhodesia. Article I, Section 8, Paragraph 3 of our "out-of-date" Constitution says that only Congress has the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations. Thus, Daddy Bird and his birdwatchers in the State Department and the United Nations are in direct violation of the Constitution of the United States. But of course there's nothing new in that.

Leftist American Bishop Pike agrees with leftist British Archbishop of Canterbury that Britain should attack Rhodesia. (The view from Pike's Peak's Pink). Why is it that practically all pinks are "pacifists" when it comes to opposing Communism anywhere, but are warmongers when it comes to anti-communists?

The answer is simple. These people are either Communists or pro-Communists at heart. It doesn't matter what kind of cards they carry in their pockets — "by their fruits ye shall know them." The cardinal sin today is not murder by the millions, not atheism, but "racism".

The collectivist conspirators and their stupid dupes use "one-man, one-vote" as part of their grand design for their "One World"; one citizenship, one currency, one debt, one religion (atheism) under the United Nations.

And one firing squad.

BUDAPEST ON EDGE (Washington Post)

The reports of arrests in Hungary on charges of "conspiring" against the government attest to the taut nerves of the communist leadership 10 years after the Hungarian revolution. No real challenge to communist power has been made or unmasked. But the political fabric in Hungary is still stretched tight enough so that the whole country shudders when one corner is pulled.

This is what has happened over the last few months. The government redrew prices in December to the advantage of farmers and the disadvantage of city consumers. Popular grumbling was loud and widespread. Indeed, the Communist party leader, Janos Kadar, addressed himself defensively to it.

At the same time Budapest has been dealing gingerly with a peculiar hangover of the revolution. Under the terms of a rather broad amnesty in 1963, several thousand of those involved in the revolution were freed and in effect put on probation for three years; the period ends next month. Thereafter the government's deterrent power over these men and women will be markedly less. It is apparently to get over the expected jitters of the coming months, which will include the sensitive 10th anniversary of the revolution in October, that the government has been putting on a display of sternness.

The arrests of priests, grumblers and certain political suspects have been part of it. In addition, travel and contacts with the west have been dampened down. The communist government of Hungary has taken great strides in 10 years to ingratiate itself with the Hungarian people. Its nervousness is perhaps a fair index of its success.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Baby Jane Holzer, swinging cutie of the international jet set, landed in Hollywood this week to see about becoming a movie star. In her own milieu the blonde gadabout is already a star. She has been the leading lady in no fewer than seven of New York's "underground movies." Among the campy set she is best known for her performances in "Kiss," "Camp," "Soap Opera" and "Dracula."

None will ever win an academy award. But then you can't beat the budget.

"According to Baby Jane each epic came in at a cost of about $200, filmed in basements and apartments in Manhattan with an occasional street scene thrown in for authenticity.

"They're really 'happenings' on film," Baby Jane explained. "I thought I was being funny in my roles, but they weren't supposed to be played for comedy."

Even to the beatniks and non-conformists, Baby Jane is something from outer space. She wasn't paid a dime for her underground movie roles and couldn't care less. She's married to a wealthy real estate man.

Baby Jane has long, carelessly combed blonde hair and a penchant for the off-beat. During a mid-day feast of eggs benedict, the underground actress was dressed in a light yellow sweater and suede blue jeans fashioned along the hip-

Santa Fe 1965 Net Income Hits An All-Time High

Santa Fe Railway System's annual report of its 134,699 stockholders consolidated net income reached an all-time high of $90.9 million in 1965, an increase of $10.2 million or 12.7 pct above the $80.7 million earned in 1964, according to Ernest S. Marsh, Santa Fe president. The report pointed out that 1965 earnings include credit of approximately $30.2 million representing federal income tax effect depreciation acceleration, investment tax credit and adjustment of prior year's taxes. Consolidated net income for 1965 also includes a non-recurring item of $4.2 million realized from sale of Western Pacific stock.

Rail freight revenues were a record $51.8 million despite adverse effects of the dock strike at gulf ports, floods in the mid-west and Rocky Mountain regions during the first half of the year and absence of military traffic related to the 1964 desert strike maneuvers in California and Arizona. Express revenues increased 3.8 percent, while passenger revenues decreased 3.9 percent and mail revenues dropped 2.0 percent.

Total carloads increased 1.17 percent while revenue freight ton miles increased 4.59 percent and rail freight revenues increased 3.4 percent, reflecting a continuing trend toward heavier loadings of cars, longer average haul and changes in the types of commodities handled, producing a higher average revenue per car.

The most significant increase in loadings was in grain but there were also encouraging increases in iron and steel products, chemicals and in the movement of coal and coke. Pigback traffic and shipment of new automobiles in multi-level rack cars showed increases of 21.4 percent and 35.8 percent, respectively, over 1964.

Capital expenditures for modernization and improvement reached a record level of $157.3 million in 1965. The major expenditures were for 11 road diesel locomotives and 5,970 freight cars of various types. Physical plant improvements included completion of 37.5 miles of track in the York Canyon Line over which a unit coal train will commence operations in 1966.

Gross capital expenditures now programmed for 1966 total a record $188 million, including appropriation of $43 million for Miller was supervising construction of a steel building for the Miami Implement Company when the accident occurred. The drill Miller was using shorted, shocking him.

Unable to turn loose of the drill after it shorted, Miller managed to kick himself off the ladder he was standing on and fell to the ground. He suffered no injuries in the fall.

New equipment authorized includes 60 diesel road locomotives and approximately 3,000 rough hatch 100-ton covered hopper cars for handling of bulk commodities. Further modernization of shop, signaling and communications facilities plus installation of some 258 trakk miles of welded rail are programmed for 1966.

TWO MONTHS SUPPLY OF MILK

SAVE ON INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE, TOO.

A GAS clothes dryer costs less to install and maintenance costs are the lowest of any dryer. A GAS burner, the heart of your dryer, carries a lifetime guarantee.

WHEN YOU DRY WITH GAS

When you dry your clothes with GAS, you can save $29.76 a year on your utility bill! That's enough to buy twenty-five gallons of milk... a two months' supply for an average family of four. You get quality performance, too. GAS dries your clothes faster... yet gently... and leaves them as fresh on springtime.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary

The balance of 'Need for Funds' drive is well underway, with $800 added to our need for $1,388 for the Viet Nam and disaster fund for the balance of funds for our organization this year. A big thanks to all of our friends and for all of the board members, gray ladies and instructors who worked their block Tuesday. It was like many funds drives, much misunderstanding and many wonderful surprises and a few funny incidents. Many people did not understand why the Red Cross who had not had a fund drive since 1953 felt that they had had to ask the community after the UF drive. We had explained that the UF did not make its goal and the balance of need was great this year. We had had to ask the community for $1 membership to make up the difference. We felt that this would not hurt anyone but that it would make it possible for us to continue the fine work we were doing in our community.

One person told us they were doing all they could for Red Cross to have their children in our swim program. She did not realize that each instructor cost the Red Cross money to authorize them. When we send an instructor to aquatic school, it costs the chapter $55 and transportation. You pay this by your support to the American Red Cross. This year we do not have any money to send a boy or girl or man or woman to Aquatic school but we plan to send a car to West Texas State University with 4 boys taking the course there. This will cost us about $45 and must come out of our funds. This good person did not realize that the $1 she spent for her child to take swim lessons goes to the City or to the Youth Center for the use of the pool, not to Red Cross although we help with the collection!

Who should pay the $1 membership for Red Cross? Everyone who cares for our servicemen! For the Red Cross is the agency designated by Congress to be the liaison between the home and the military. Everyone who cares for Safety, for the Red Cross is the only agency who has a graduated course in Water Safety and stresses First Aid in the schools, plants and the home. Everyone who needs Nursing Service — for the Red Cross has three wonderful courses that they teach the community. Care of the Sick and Injured, Mother and Baby Care and a course for Rest Homes. Everyone who wants to help those who have been affected by disaster — for the Red Cross is designated by our government to be the agency to care for the families or people who are in transportation. You pay this by a

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

Fiction:

"The Caper of the Golden Bulls" — William McGiverni: a novel of nerve-racking suspense and surprise, set against the colorful backdrop of Spain.

"The Fourth Gift" — Elizabeth de Travino: an historical novel about the Cristero Revolution which began in Mexico in 1926, when the decrees of President Calles — designed to destroy the Catholic Church — drove men, women and children to guerrilla warfare in defense of their faith.

"Mr. Three" — William Butler: a taut, fast-moving spy story which shuttles in the undercover world of international espionage between Africa and the United States.

"The Pulse of Danger" — Jon Cleary: a superior novel of adventure, whose elements include Red Chinese aggression against India, a botanical expedition, the intense cold and rarefied air of the high Himalayas.

"The Competitor" — Thomas Bontly: the story of one day in the life of a trapped man, Marty Hansen is the 39-year-old assistant manager of a shoe store, one of a national discount chain, located in a large shopping center. The narrative follows him through the hours of a one-day "Special Sale."

"Bay of Traitors" — Garland Road: a doctor falsely outcast at home, finds romance, intrigue, and self-discovery in the South Seas.

"The Ragged, Ragged Warriors" — Martin Caidin: the heroic story of the early air war against Japan in the Far East and Pacific; a vast amount of authentic and revealing material, much of it from first-hand combat records and recollections of participants.

"No One Hears But Him" — Taylor Caldwell: once again the author turns to the theme of man's eternal search for spiritual peace, for compassion, love and understanding

"Some Doves and Pythons" — Sumner Elliott: Tabitha Wane, the central figure of this novel, is a woman of great charm and social ability, who in another age might have ruled a salon. Instead, she makes a flamboyant if hazardous career from encouraging, manipulating and merchandising talented writers and theatre people.

Non-Fiction:

"When the Teacher says 'Write A Poem'" — Maurice Applegate; a book for junior high school students.

"How to Improve your Speaking Voice" — Georgiana Peachner: this book will show you, step-by-step, how to make your voice an instrument toward greater satisfaction and achievement in life and work.

"The Press in the Jury Box" — Howard Felsler & Michael Rosen; through analysis of the Lindbergh kidnapping trial, the Lingeran case, the Sam Shepard case, and seven others the authors show the difficulty of getting a fair trial in spite of journalistic hullabaloo — with some suggestions for improving matters.

"Through the Barriers of Deafness and Isolation" — Boris V. Morkovin, Ph. D.: oral communication of the hearing-impaired child.

"Famous Texas Landmarks" — W. L. (Bill) Hooper; designed to give you, in one volume, all the information needed for study of the great historical monuments of Texas.

"Growing Orchids for Pleasure" — Jeanne Garrard; commonsense and practical tips are mingled with fun and good humor to make orchid culture as simple to understand as growing common plants — and a lot more interesting.

First Wagnerian festival was performed at Bayreuth, Bavaria, in 1876.
