Sniper Scare Stalls Trip To Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sniper scare today caused Prime Minister Harold Wilson to be 15 minutes late for the start of a White House conference with President Johnson, a British spokesman disclosed.

The spokesman said a man was reported seen this morning in the vicinity of Blair House, where Wilson spent the night, carrying what appeared to be a wrapped-up rifle.

A search of nearby office buildings turned up no evidence of the man or a weapon, however.

Wilson arrived here by plane from London late Thursday night and spent the night at Blair House, the President's guest house for foreign visitors across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House.

The prime minister and the President were scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. CST in the west wing offices of the Chief Executive.

According to Trevor Lloyd Hughes, Wilson's press attache, the British party at Blair House was warned at about 8:30 a.m. CST by police and security forces to remain inside until further notice.

Wilson arrived at the White House at 9:10 a.m. CST.

Hughes said that earlier this morning a pedestrian on Pennsylvania Avenue told the security guard outside Blair House that he had seen a man carrying what appeared to be a wrapped rifle walking into a new office building, the Mills building, about a half a block from the entrance to Blair House.

LBJ Personally Attempts To Settle Airline Strike

Representatives Of Companies Called To White House Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson brought negotiators in the deadlocked airline strike to the White House today and urged them to come up with a prompt settlement "without anyone winning a great victory or without anyone suffering a great defeat."

Johnson met for nearly 30 minutes in the Cabinet room with 22 representatives of the five struck airlines and the striking machinists union.

Both sides agreed to continue the talks in the executive office building next door to the White House and to make periodic progress reports to the President.

There had not been a joint meeting of negotiators since Sunday.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson asked the negotiators to reach an agreement "without anyone winning a great victory or without anyone suffering a great defeat."

As related by Moyers, Johnson told them collective bargaining still was the classic way to settle differences "in a free democratic way—a better way than legislating the breaking of a strike or by seizure or presidential fiat."

The Chief Executive imposed no deadlines, no ultimatum and no threats, according to Moyers. He simply asked the labor and management teams to "find a point of movement."

The management teams headed by William J. Curtin and the union delegation led by P.L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), accepted Johnson's invitation to resume talks under White House auspices.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and his assistant, James J. Reynolds, accompanied the negotiators to the new scene of the negotiations and sat in on the strike talks as they resumed.

The President's summons for five-man teams of the two sides to come to the White House today came in the wake of increased demands from congressmen for him to intervene.

At the same time as the White House mediation effort began, the Senate Labor

Morse Calls For Helms to Resign Intelligence Post

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called today for the resignation of the Central Intelligence Agency's (CIA) new director, Richard Helms, for lauding a newspaper editorial attacking Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

Morse, a member of the Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee, issued a statement as the apologetic Helms—already having telephoned his regrets to Fulbright—came before the committee to report on CIA activity.

The 53-year-old Helms promoted to CIA chief only a month ago, was the target of Senate outrage Thursday for a letter he wrote to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat endorsing an editorial which criticized Fulbright as "crafty."

Morse said Helms "can best serve his country today by resigning his position."

"Until he does, the American people cannot rest secure in the belief that the agency is living up to its legal mandate not to operate within the United States or influence of participates in affairs within the United States, the Oregon senator said.

Neither Fulbright nor Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, a committee member, would go along with Morse's demand, however. Fulbright called it premature.

"He (Helms) made a mistake, admitted it and has faced up to it," Mansfield said. "I think it will be a good lesson. He came in with the best qualifications for the job and ought to be given a chance."

AWAY WE GO — Wild Brahma bulls proved just too tough for cowboys entered in the Top o' Texas Rodeo Thursday night. The second night of the event, saw only one cowboy manage to stay atop his bull. ## Teens Stage Negro Attack

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A screaming mob of white teenagers, aroused by a racist's cry "to hell with the niggers" stormed through a racially mixed neighborhood Thursday night attacking Negroes with fists, bottles and other improvised weapons.

Eight persons, including one armed Negro, were arrested in the uprising and two injuries were reported.

The outbreak of violence was sparked by a National States Rights party rally, at which "the reverend" Connie B. Lynch called for war against Baltimore's Negroes.

Lynch, 54, an avowed white supremacist, told the crowd of about 1,000 the federal government and the Supreme Court had committed treason against the United States.

"To hell with the niggers," Lynch shouted, "and those who don't like it can get the hell out of here." He denounced Mayor Theodore McKeldin as a "super-pious jackassie nigger-lover."

After the rally broke up, gangs of white youths charged into a predominantly Negro area, throwing bottles at Negroes and attacking those they could lay their hands on with their fists. One Negro, out walking his dog, was knocked to the ground and kicked by three youths until he was rescued by police.

Most of the Negroes ran into nearby houses.

There was some retaliation. After a car full of white teenagers made four trips down a predominantly Negro street shouting "nigger," Negroes rushed out of the houses and threw bottles and bricks at the car.

Eventually the police, reinforced by dogs and white-helmeted riot squads, rescued those under attack and restored order to the area, but a hostile mood lingered on.

The rally was held on a sidewalk alongside Patterson Park because the city earlier in the day had revoked the license granted the party to hold the rally in the park. Joseph Collier, state chairman of the NSRP, attributed the revocation to "nigger pressure."

A police officer said the disturbance might not have occurred if the license had not been revoked. "If they had been in the park, we could have controlled them," he said.

U Thant, Brezhnev Meet on Peace Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General U Thant discussed a compromise Viet Nam peace plan and U.N. affairs with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid M. Brezhnev today at a hastily arranged meeting in Brezhnev's office, diplomatic sources reported.

Among the topics at the two-hour meeting was whether Thant would seek a second term as secretary general. The sources said the Soviets promised Thant their support but no announcement was expected until the end of August.

"The talks were very friendly—a free, frank exchange of views," the diplomatic sources said.

There were no details of their talks on Viet Nam, but Thant's plea for a compromise peace plan was reported to have been politely but firmly rejected Tuesday when he talked with Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Thant, who arrived here Monday for a four-day visit, postponed his departure from this Russian capital today for the hastily arranged meeting with Brezhnev. He will leave Saturday instead, flying to New York via Paris.

There was no indication why Brezhnev decided at the last minute to meet Thant, who had already had several talks with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and other Soviet officials.

But it was believed U.N. affairs and general world problems were on today's agenda. Thant was also expected to touch on Viet Nam and his efforts to end the fighting in Southeast Asia.

But Brezhnev, who had been vacationing in the Caucasus Mountains, apparently returned here recently and decided to meet with Thant had postponed his departure by 24 hours to see the party secretary general, but did not say where the meeting would take place. It apparently took place in the Kremlin.

BEHEAD FIVE PERSONS

ADEN (UPI) — Reports reached here Thursday that five persons were publicly beheaded in Sana, the capital of Yemen, Wednesday. A traveler, who witnessed the executions, said one of the victims was a woman sentenced for throwing a bomb in a mosque. The traveler said the bomb had killed five persons. The woman, he said, was arrested for possessing hand grenades.

U.S. Jet Believed Downed

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States launched the heaviest raids yet against North Viet Nam Thursday, a military spokesman reported today. The number of raids was not disclosed but reports said there were more than 350 sorties against military targets.

The planes returned in strength today but results of the attacks on oil storage depots and communications were not announced, although a spokesman said a U.S. Navy jet was shot down over North Viet Nam today and the pilot is missing.

An Air Force F100 Super-sabre jet was shot down 35 miles southwest of Saigon today and the pilot was listed as killed. A U.S. Army HU1B gunship helicopter was shot down 40 miles southwest of Saigon but the crew escaped injury.

The U.S. military command said three U.S. Navy aircraft carriers launched their jets at target after target in the Communist North while U.S. Air force and marine jets joined the massive assault in a series of other blows.

The only figure released today on the number of strikes was: A total of 110 missions, 52 by the Navy against 70 different targets, 46 by the Air Force and 6 by the Marines. A spokesman said no planes were lost in the raids.

A mission is an attack by two or more planes. But the spokesman called it a record number of sorties—flights by one plane. Previously American planes had flown nearly 350 sorties in one day against the North.

It was the second consecutive day records were set in the almost non-stop airwar. A spokesman Thursday said American planes flew a record 542 sorties against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

During the massive strikes against the North the planes struck 14 oil depots and successfully dodged a barrage of surface-to-air (SAM) missiles.

Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak of the Marine Corps said meanwhile in Honolulu that the Marines who killed an estimated 1,600 North Vietnamese (See SAIGON, Page 3)

Sooner Wins First Go Round Of Calf Roping

Contestants at the 22nd Annual Top O' Texas Rodeo move into second-to-round tonight in all events but bull riding, which is one go-round lasting throughout the performances.

The arena, which had been soaked Wednesday night, had dried out some, enabling entrants to perform under better conditions for the second night of the first go-round.

One reported injury occurred during the saddle bronc riding event last night. Lank Creacy of Slaton, Tex., was taken to Highland General Hospital by ambulance after being thrown off the bucking horse. He was treated and released.

Bob Ford of Cheyenne, Okla., captured first place in first go-round of calf roping and won $246.13 with a time of 13.1 seconds with a 14.2 and won $184.60. Third was J. T. Johnson of Wheeler, Tex., with 14.8 and prize of $123.07.

Garald Eichelberger of Olney Springs, Colo., followed with 15.0 time to gain fourth and win $61.53. All competed last night.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I never like to admit that I was wrong about something, but circumstances force me to do so now.

Several months ago when it was disclosed that House members were installing an expensive indoor swimming pool in the Rayburn Building, I was unable to grasp its true significance.

I jumped to the conclusion that the pool would be used mainly for fun and frolic, and therefore should be classed as a luxury. I realize now I was mistaken.

There are strong indications that the world, having gone through periods of trial by sword and trial by fire, may be entering a period of trial by water. Let us review some of the evidence:

Proves Point

—When the United States lost an H-bomb off the coast of Spain, our ambassador, Angier Biddle Duke, plunged fearlessly into the surf to prove it was non-radioactive.

—When Rep. Carlton R. Sikes, a candidate for governor in Maryland, asserted that Chesapeake Bay was dangerously polluted, his opponent, Thomas B. Finan, flung himself into the waves to prove the beaches were still safe for swimmers.

—When it was rumored that Mao Tse-tung was ailing, the aging Red Chinese leader immersed himself in the Yangtze River and paddled around for 65 minutes to prove he was physically fit.

These incidents illustrate the important role that swimming plays in politics and diplomacy.

Aids U.S. Policy

It is obvious that Duke could not have effectively implemented American foreign policy in Spain if he had waded into the ocean wearing water wings.

Mao's aquatic feat confronts our diplomats with a new challenge. They would be wise to keep a bathing suit in their attache cases at all times, along with an extra pair of striped pants.

In the light of these developments, no one could logically blame members of Congress for trying to stay in the swim of things. They, too, have a responsibility in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Congressmen never know when they might have to take a plunge to prove a point. Here, for instance, is one type of situation that could easily develop:

BIRD DOG PATROL

The small plane skimming tree tops at left looks innocent enough, but it is one of the Viet Cong's most hated foes—a "bird dog" patrol. Like patrolmen on their beats, a force of more than 100 U.S. Air Force light planes daily flies set routes over the Vietnamese countryside, watching for Viet Cong activity and calling in fighter bomber strikes when targets are spotted. The operation is essential to the U.S. military effort but hazardous for the "bird dog" pilots. Most veterans of World War II and Korea, they have one of the highest casualty rates of all combat men in Viet Nam.

Capt. Kingsley Wood of Oneida, N.Y., checks his flight plan before takeoff from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base. Smoke rockets, to mark Viet Cong targets, nestle under wings of his plane and another in foreground.

A puff of smoke marks the launching of a rocket from Wood's wing mount in a steep dive over a target. Visible at right of cockpit is muzzle of Wood's rifle, a must over Viet Cong territory where forced-down pilots can expect no mercy.

Television in Review

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three of the contributors to a forthcoming NBC documentary on the American underworld are now in hiding.

And they will probably make themselves even scarcer after Aug. 25 when the network gives its entire prime time to a 3 1/2-hour special "American White Paper: Organized Crime in the United States."

Producer Fred Freed told today in discussing the seven months of preparation for the program, the most exhaustive study ever undertaken by television of what is estimated to be a $40 billion a year industry.

"A man on the fringe of the mob talked to us," Fred said, "and then went into hiding. A 'bagman'—a fellow who carries money to the mob from its victims—told us what it was like to be one and he's no longer available in Miami. And a man who ran a luncheonette that is almost a model of mob takeover is now living in a small town."

The luncheonette owner worked up a thriving betting business as a sideline. One day two men walked in and announced they were his partners. Then they began to siphon off his best customers by giving them a phone number to call. When the business began to fail the owner had to turn to loan sharks. And they got all the money he had left. "It's a classic story of an ordinary citizen in the clutches of the mob," Freed said.

He said the program is designed to examine the basic businesses of organized crime, including the profitable new move into loan sharking, and how it manages to operate on such a vast scale. Gambling on sports alone is estimated at $7 billion a year.

"One thing we hit," the producer said, "is that this kind of crime could not operate without the corruption that goes with it. It couldn't operate if the police constantly enforced the gambling laws."

Freed said that in narcotics the mob finances the wholesale side of the racket but turns over the retailing to others. It sees that the stuff makes the journey, from the growers in Turkey to Marseille and then to North America and takes its profit on arrival.

"We have an interview with a user who spends $36 a day on narcotics. She has to earn the money by prostitution. An interesting sidelight is that heroin is cut so much by its sellers that addicts seem to be getting off it because of the poor quality. We show a single suitcase of the stuff which would have brought $32 million after cutting."

"Loan sharking is the big new business. In money lending it's hard to draw the line on what's legal or illegal; many places have no laws against usury. The usual shylock charge is 20 per cent a week. One big difference between the loan shark and the money lender is that the former will use violence."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a host of law enforcement experts will appear on the show along with those on the other side of the fence. Freed said the program does not suggest a solution. But it mentions Britain, where gambling is legal and registered addicts can get a "fix" from their own doctors for as little as 14 cents a time.

RAINS SLOW KOREA
SEOUL (UPI)—Over 2,500 South Koreans, including a newborn baby girl, were evacuated from flood devastated areas near Seoul Tuesday as torrential rains continued for the twelfth straight day. An American Army medic, SP5 Gareth Wurges of Santa Maria, Calif., taking part in the rescue operation, helped deliver the baby just five minutes before she was evacuated. Over 50 people have died in the floods.

RIVERS FLOOD INDIA

Building Strike Differences Ironed Out in Houston

HOUSTON (UPI)—Union and management ironed out their differences late Thursday and brought an end to the crippling 23 day old construction strike that had affected a county area in South Texas.

The almost 22,000 workers idled by the strike were expected to begin returning to their jobs today to resume work on the $300 million worth of construction that had been halted during the strike.

The agreement came at 9:30 p.m. between the General Laborers Union and the Associate General Contractors.

A joint statement was issued by J. E. Middleton, secretary-treasurer of the union's local 8 and Richard V. Lewis, executive secretary of the Houston chapter of the contractors.

"We have reached an agreement on a totally new contract calling for a total wage increase packet of 55.5 cents spread over the next three years," the statement said. The statement also said an agreement had been reached on hiring procedures, one of the sore points during negotiations.

Just what hiring procedure agreement was arranged was not stated.

The two men said another statement would be issued in two or three days clarifying the terms of the contract.

The strike began on July 5 when 6,500 workers walked off their jobs in a 22 county area. But another 15,000 persons were affected when they would not cross the picket lines.

School Threatened
Construction throughout Houston ground to a halt, and at least one school was threatened with remaining closed in September because it could not be completed in time.

Workers at the terminal building of the Intercontinental Airport returned to work July 14 as a result of negotiations arranged by the city, but there the first hint of a settlement did not come until Wednesday.

A spokesman for the negotiators said Wednesday night that although nothing had been settled, things looked hopeful enough to return to the bargaining table Thursday. After a full day of discussions Thursday, the agreement was reached.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Investors Service believes there is a good possibility the worst of this year's market performance is over and improvement may be expected after a mid-summer intermission. It says many issues are now moderately priced and several "blue-chips" are at their best price levels in more than five years in relation to earnings and dividends. It recommends selective commitments in prime investment issues which are clearly undervalued in the stock market.

Goodbody & Co. suggests the market's penetration of the 864 low in the Dow Jones industrial average reflects continued concern over the Viet Nam war, uncertainty over British attempts to save the pound and the poor performance of several of our domestic economic indicators. The company says it would seem further declines are in line but believes business fundamentals suggest another support level perhaps around the 830-800 level in the Dow Jones Index.

Stanley Heller & Co. feels the recent penetration of the May low on the Dow Jones Industrial average could be the cause of a considerable amount of pessimism and result in a climactic selling wave in heavy volume. If this happens, the company would recommend purchasing some of the hard hit issues with impressive upside potential in any subsequent upside correction.

In 1939, Albert Einstein wrote a letter to President Roosevelt urging him to accelerate atomic research which led to development of the A-bomb.

Preparations Start On Pampa Budget

Pampa's annual budget for fiscal 1966-67 is in the process of being put together, City Manager Jim White said today. The city manager said study and preparation had not yet reached the point where an estimate could be made on the budget total for the 1966-67 fiscal year. White stated he had been conferring with various city department heads and going over their submitted budgets. Deadlines for filing the budget, he said, is Aug. 31. The city manager says he hopes to be able to submit it to the city commission not later than the regular meeting of the council Aug. 24. After the commission has studied the budget and made changes or additions, a tax rate must be set to meet the budget requirements. This is followed by a public hearing and final commission approval.

Two Charged In Area Thefts

Two Pampa men were picked up on a fugitive warrant late Wednesday charged with over $50 felony in connection with theft of batteries, copper wiring, and other auto accessories in Carson County. Willie Harper and Tom W. Wiggins were arraigned before Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford, who set Harper's bond at $5,000 and Wiggins' at $2,000. Unable to make bond, they were transferred to Carson County, where they will be arraigned on theft charges.

Police Investigate Three Accidents

Three citations were issued by city police to a Pampa driver following an accident at the intersection of Doyle and Buckler Thursday around 3 p.m.

Derald Nick Martin 457 Pitt was charged with failure to grant right of way, having no Texas operator's license, and leaving scene of accident following collision with a car driven by E. D. Wallace, 518 Crawford, according to the police report.

The Wallace car incurred $175 damage with $300 damage to the Martin auto.

Neither driver was cited in a collision occurring around 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the 1100 block Alcock involving a car driven by Janet Gail Donaldson 2530 Duncan and Beverly June Cummings, 1104 Juniper, a police report stated.

Raymond D. Nice, 1129 S. Christy, was cited for failure to control speed to avoid an accident, following collision with a car driven by Barbara Ann Brown, 435 N. Ballard. The Nice car had approximately $50 damage, the Brown car, $75.

There was no damage to two cars involved in a collision in the 600 block N. Francis around 11 a.m. Thursday, but one driver complained of neck injury.

Romy C. Martin, 703 E. Browning, was cited by city police for failure to control speed after colliding with a car driven by Sidney A. Laughlin of Gage, Okla.

High is again to reach the mid-90's with a low near 70. Winds are to be southerly 10 to 15 miles per hour. Outlook for Sunday calls for continued warm temperatures, with possible thundershowers.

The only rain showing up on radar screens early today came in the vicinity of Wichita Falls. A few widely scattered thundershowers were expected in the Panhandle and in West Texas, as well as a few sprinkles along the coast.

Temperatures early today ranged from 72 at Dalhart and Amarillo to 87 at Wichita Falls.

The mercury soared to 106 at Wichita Falls, taking over the top of the heat charts from Presidio, which recorded a mere 102 degrees. Laredo and Mineral Wells each had a 101 reading and it was an even 100 degrees at Abilene and Waco.

Pampa JW Delegates To Dallas District Meet

Charles Regal, presiding minister of the local congregation said, "Congregational activity of Pampa Jehovah's Witnesses will be suspended this week as the entire group has been invited to serve as official delegates to the 'God's Sons of Liberty' district assembly in Dallas, August 3-7.

"All sessions will be held at Dallas' giant new Market Hall," Regal said. "The Dallas convention is one of ten set for the United States this summer, and our delegation will help make up the more than 30,000 anticipated for the five-day event.

Regal said several car groups are being organized for the trip and that any interested Bible students wishing to attend the convention with the local group may do so by making their needs known.

"We are going to Dallas for Bible education and fortification," he said. "We are certainly living in critical times when the Christian's spiritual strength is being tapped constantly. We plan on the Dallas assembly to replenish and vitalize us spiritually."

Regal added that the program will be bilingual to assist the many Spanish-speaking Witnesses making the trip to Dallas as well.

A series of Bible-based discussions, dramatizations, symposiums and panel discussions will complicate the total program.

Delegates Swarm To Kansas City

United Press International KANSAS CITY, Mo (UPI)—Thousands of delegates and visitors swarmed Kansas City today for the opening of the 59th annual meeting of the American Baptist Convention.

The group's general council, in a pre-convention meeting Tuesday, authorized the creation of a Commission on Christian Unity to "engage American Baptists in a study of the wider and deeper meaning of Christian unity."

The council earlier this year declined an invitation to participate in the consultation of church union with other major denominations.

The council Tuesday, however, approved almost unanimously the recommendation of its executive committee.

Action came after Rev. Dr. Robert G. Torbet of Kansas City, Kan., concluding a year as convention president, called attention "to the persistent expressions of disappointment on the part of many in our convention that we are not participants in the consultation."

The Rev. Dr. Torbet, dean of Central Baptist Theological Seminary at Kansas City, Kan., will be the featured speaker tonight at the convention's formal opening. He will talk on "The Alternatives Before Us."

Various events, including the 15th annual meeting of American Baptist Women, preceded the formal opening.

Featured speaker at the women's meeting today was Miss Violet Rudd, executive director of the Valley Forge, Pa., chapter, who reported on her recent world tour where she visited several mission workers.

The annual meeting of the American Baptist Ministers Council was scheduled to elect officers and hear annual business reports.

More than 1,800 pastors attended the annual complimentary luncheon sponsored by the American Baptist Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board.

Approximately 10,000 persons are expected for the convention, which runs through Sunday night.

Golden Text To Be Taken From John 1

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The Golden Text is from the first Epistle of John: "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Related passages to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following lines:

"Whatever holds human thought in line with unselfed love, receives directly the divine power... Hold perpetually this thought... that it is the spiritual idea, the Holy Ghost and Christ, which enables you to demonstrate, with scientific certainty, the rule of healing, based upon its divine Principle, Love, underlying, overlying, and encompassing all true being."

Youth Groups To Be In Charge Of First Christian Services

In the absence of the minister, Rev. J. W. Duke, the Youth of the First Christian Church will be in charge of the Sunday morning worship at 10:50 a.m. The Chi Rho (Jr. High School) Group, sponsored by Mrs. Jim (Marilou) Cunningham, will conduct services of giving and the taking of the emblems. The elders will be Eddie Hopkins and Chris Gambin.

The Youth Choir, under the direction of Miss Jo Ann Craig, will sing "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee" by Ludwig Von Beethoven, accompanied by Mrs. John Gill at the organ. Miss Shirley Downs will give the Lord's Prayer and the scripture reading followed by the morning prayer given by Miss Jennifer Cunningham. Glenn Justice will present Communion Meditation with Miss Lindsay Wilson presenting the Stewardship Sentence.

The sermon, entitled "What We Believe," will be presented by Bill Skaggs, Dave Stewart, and Stan Kable in three parts. The entire service will be handled by the CYF under the sponsorship of George Gambin and the Chi Rho under Mrs. Cunningham. Both Groups have been assisted this Summer by Mike Stewart.

At 5:30 there will be a snack supper in the Fellowship Hall for the young people and the young-at-heart for 25 cents, to be immediately followed by the regular Sunday evening youth group meetings at 6 p.m.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The U.S. space agency is set to rocket a photographic laboratory into orbit around the moon next month to snap pictures of astronaut landing sites, the Surveyor 1 spacecraft and possibly part of the moon's backside.

Project officials said Thursday the Lunar Orbiter is scheduled to be launched by an Atlas-Agena Aug. 9. It should swing into a moon orbit Aug. 13 with its week-long photographic studies starting Aug. 18.

Besides photographing nine likely Apollo landing areas from an altitude of 6 miles, Lunar Orbiter will get a birdseye view of the surveyor spacecraft that landed on the moon's Sea of Storms last month. It may also snap a few pictures of the moon's side never seen from earth.

The 850-pound camera craft is the first of five in a $195 million program designed to search for suitable touchdown sites for Surveyor robots and Apollo manned ships.

The lunar satellite effort is the Third photographic project initiated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to pave the way for Apollo landings. Three Ranger craft produced 17,250 pictures before crashing into the moon, and Surveyor 1 flashed 11,237 views back from the moon's surface.

Protestant Pilot Project May Effect Church Life Pattern

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
In the brand new city of Columbia, Md., 10 Protestant denominations are undertaking a pilot project in Ecumenical cooperation that may have far-reaching effects on future patterns of church life in America.

Columbia is an ideal laboratory for testing innovations. It is a projected community of 122,000 persons which is being built from scratch on a 15,000-acre rural tract halfway between Baltimore and Washington.

Developer James W. Rouse, a Presbyterian elder, invited religious leaders to join in the planning of Columbia while it was still in the drawing-board stage. And he encouraged them to think creatively—to abandon the well-worn ruts of the past and seek better ways of serving the religious needs of a community.

Challenge Accepted
The challenge has been accepted. When the first families move into Columbia next year, they'll find a unique church setup. It is largely the brain child of Dr. Stanley J. Hallett, planning executive of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

Dr. Hallett believes that religion in America has suffered greatly from an "edifice complex." Whichever a new suburb opens up, each denomination rushes to erect its own church. Since land and buildings are costly, the new congregations begin life saddled with debt, and are so preoccupied with building fund drives that they have little time or energy left for service to the community around them.

The solution which will be tried in Columbia is for several different congregations to share the same physical facilities. Each congregation will continue to worship according to its denominational tradition—Episcopalians at Episcopal services, Lutherans at Lutheran services, Baptists at Baptist services, etc.

They may worship at different hours in the same sanctuary, or maintain separate chapels within the same building complex. Either way, they'll be able to share many common facilities, at a tremendous saving.

Worship services for each congregation will be conducted by a minister of its own denomination. But many other pastoral functions, such as counseling, youth work and administration, will be handled cooperatively, with each minister doing what he's best qualified to do.

Bold New Approach
Perhaps the most significant feature of the Columbia experiment is a bold new approach to religious education. Land is being allocated for construction of a religious education facility adjacent to every elementary school in the community.

These interdenominational religious schools, conducted by salaried professional teachers, will offer classes five days a week.

School officials have agreed to work out schedules so that children may be released, at their parents' request, for an hour a day of religious training.

They will be taught by professionals rather than well-meaning amateurs. And there'll be no problem about church-state separation, because the religious schools will be on privately owned property and will be financed out of church funds.

The interest charges on the huge capital investment required to build a Sunday school plant more than offset the salaries of professional teachers in a fully used weekday religious school.

The 10 denominations which have already signed up for Columbia's cooperative ministry are the American Baptists, Quakers, Evangelical United Brethren, Episcopalians, Lutheran Church in America, Missouri Synod Lutherans, Methodists United Church of Christ, United Presbyterians and Church of the Brethren.

Baptists Dedicate Large Auditorium

GLORIETA, N.M. — Southern Baptists from across the nation gathered in this mountain community Wednesday for the dedication of the new $1.23 million auditorium in the Glorieta Baptist Assembly's new $1.23 million auditorium to the "reality of God."

About 2,200 persons attended the dedication services for Holcomb Auditorium, the largest building in the Glorieta master plan. Completed this summer, the four-story auditorium will host more than 23,000 Baptists visiting the assembly yearly.

"Here in the midst of all the materialism and secularism of the world," Dr. Harold E. Ingraham, dedicatory speaker, said, "we would dedicate this building and Glorieta to the reality of God."

De. Ingraham, former director of the Baptist Sunday School Board's service division, Nashville, was instrumental in projecting plans for construction of the new building.

"In these days of scientific advance," he said, "we have a tendency toward feeling self-sufficient. We need a constant reminder of the reality of spirituality, to be told over and over again that God is God."

"Here we will worship God, find our burning bush and listen for the still, small voice of God."

Dr. Ingraham charged all Baptists to dedicate the new auditorium "and all that it is to the worship and service of Jesus Christ."

The dedication service marked the opening of the semiannual meeting of elected Baptist Sunday School Board members, bringing together outstanding Southern Baptist leaders from over the nation.

Dr. James L. Sullivan, executive secretary - treasurer of the Sunday School Board, Nashville, presided over the service, with Dr. John H. Parrott, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Roswell, delivering the invocation.

The dedicatory prayer was given by Dr. T. L. Holcomb, treasurer of the Board. Holcomb Auditorium is named after the former Board leader, who now resides in Dallas.

A special organ solo was presented by James W. Good, assistant professor of church music, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

The new 2,500 seat auditorium, plus storage space for 100,000 conference materials. The auditorium is 120 feet wide plus side aisles, and 145-foot long. The 35-foot by 70-foot multipurpose platform features offstage work and dressing rooms.

The building and conference room complex is crowned by an octagonal masonry tower 125 feet high. Color fiberglass panels in the eight sides of the tower will be lighted from the inside at night.

Architects for the project were Kruger, Lake and Henderson of Albuquerque. Contractors were Bradbury and Stamm Construction Company, Inc., of Albuquerque.

Hardie C. Bass of the Board's church architecture department represented the Board in construction of the building.

Located 18 miles east of Santa Fe, Glorieta is one of two church leadership training encampments owned and operated by the Sunday School Board.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. JOE HAWN
Calvary Baptist Church

Matt. 1:23 "Behold a virgin shall conceive, and shall bring forth a Son, and they shall call His Name Emmanuel, which being interpreted, God with Us."

Did you know that you are never alone? At all times; under all circumstances; in all places there is God. The Bible declares that God is with us. David said: "If I ascend up to heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold thou art there. . . . If I say surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me. Yea the darkness hideth not from thee." (Psa 139:7-12).

To know and feel God's presence is reassuring and offers great strength to those who love Him. For the careless and the rebellious, this fact may be more sobering than uplifting. What does this mean?

1. God is present in your business life: In every transaction; legal or illegal; just or unjust; moral or immoral; God is an unseen but nonetheless present witness. He can be a Divine Partner or a righteous Judge pricking the conscience.

2. God is present in your social life: You may or may not want him along, but with or without your invitation, He is present. Not only is He there, but He is concerned that you have wholesome uplifting fun. At a ball game, rodeo, fishing trip God is there. If you are at a bar, in a dance or following the lust of the flesh into debauchery and sin, He is there. He knows if tomorrow will bring a lashing headache or a fond remembrance of happy times.

3. God is present in your home: A home without God would be like a spring without flowers dull and incomplete. He is the Divine institutor of all binding love and marital bliss. To Him belongs the honor and praise for this wonderful institution. In a Christ centered home He is welcome; but into a house where individual selfishness rules, He remains only an unwelcome witness to misery and marital suicide.

4. God is present in your personal life: In the darkest night when all the world is oblivious of your existence, God finds you. He can calm your fears and bear you up in the midnight hour of loneliness. He knows your secret thoughts; your inner passions; your most coveted ambitions. He searches the heart.

The ever present Lord can be a constant companion if you will call upon Him. He can make life meaningful and rich. In His presence there is peace. He wants to be your friend; He may become your judge. Will you by faith receive Him not only to be with you; but in you. Producing everlasting life?

Dear Abby... Well-Bred Person Can Overlook Crummy Deal

DEAR ABBY: I was married for three long, unhappy years the first time. We divorced and then I married a wonderful man. One of his relatives told us they were giving us a new toaster for a wedding gift. When it came, it was her old toaster. Her excuse was they needed the double toaster because they had a family, and we needed only a single one. So she kept the new one and gave us her old one.

I was hurt inside, but I didn't say a word to anyone. My husband was furious, but he said, "Let's not start out marriage out with a fight in the family." Do you suppose that she thought that since I was secondhand all I was worth was a secondhand toaster? Should I keep it, give it back to her, or wrap it up and give it to her daughter as a wedding gift. She'll be married soon.

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: Keep the toaster and help your husband avoid a family fight. It takes a well-bred person to overlook a crummy deal.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor wrote you an anonymous letter. She said her husband came home from work every evening and asked her what she had been doing all day.

You advised her to do nothing one day, and let him come home to find the beds unmade, breakfast and lunch dishes piled in the sink, the laundry basket spilling over with unironed clothes, and not a trace of supper started.

Well, she followed your advice, Abby. Her funera is tomorrow. Will you be able to attend? Regards.

MR. A.
DEAR MR. A.: No. But if you'll wire me her name and address I'll send flowers.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 10 years to a deeply religious woman. During the course of our marriage she has used marital relations to reward, bribe, and punish me. I seldom objected until she went to extremes. She hasn't slept in our bed for over two months.

Yet what is a man supposed to do? I do not want to see my marriage destroyed because we have two of the most beautiful children who have ever graced this earth. But my wife has de-secrated the sacrament of marriage and has caused me such misery and bewilderment. What is your advice?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: Since your wife is "deeply religious," ask her clergyman to speak to her. There are some battles no man is able to fight alone. And this is one of them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MICKY:
It all depends on her papa's bank balance. A rich girl is "well-traveled." A poor girl has "been-around."

Wig Quick Answer to Hair Woes

FROM EMERGENCIES TO SPECIAL AFFAIRS, almost every woman can use the convenience of a wig. Model with long hair (inset upper left) is being prepared for

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Today just as four centuries ago, owning a wig is a mark of high style. It also has become a vital part of a chic woman's wardrobe.

Queen Elizabeth I had as many as 80 wigs which she wore over a shaved head. In 18th century France wigs became more and more elaborate until the revolution cut them off. Heads and all!

No longer in the luxury class, wigs are the modern answer for looking glamorous when the need arises.

Now a woman can have a beautiful coiffure while traveling, for the unexpected party after swimming or for the other times when her own hair collapses or is growing out.

Here are some important facts you should know about a wig:

A properly fitted wig will not come off accidentally. A few pins will anchor it down for extra assurance.

With a little practice a wig can be put on in less than three minutes. It can be worn right after hair has been washed. The owner simply dries her hair and slips on her wig.

The frequency of cleaning required by a wig depends upon how often it is worn.

If it is worn constantly, a wig may require cleaning every four to six weeks, less often if worn only occasionally.

A wig set will last much longer than a woman's own hair set since it is unaffected by her natural scalp oils. She also doesn't sleep in her wig. Now for a few tips on how to put on your wig:

First, pin up your hair. If your hair is short, however, it need not be pinned. Be sure to insert bobby pins downward to hold small quantities of hair. This keeps the pins from spreading apart, leaving no exposed ends to tear the wig netting as you put on your wig.

To lift the wig off the block (always keep it on a wig block) hold down the base of the block with one hand. Use the thumb and index finger of your other hand to grasp a small amount of hair near the front of the wig and gently pull the wig off the block.

Bring your free hand inside the wig to grasp an end of the elastic section located at the back of the wig cap. Shift your other hand to grasp the opposite end of the elastic section. Stretch the elastic with both hands, to bring the wig out to its full size.

With both hands holding the elastic, place the front against your forehead, midway between your eyebrows and hairline. Then slip the wig down slowly over your hair.

Make final adjustments by grasping a small batch of hair in the front and back of your wig. Gently shift the front of the wig to come even with your own hairline.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — If you want to freshen the flowers on last year's summer hat, put your kettle on, Polly. Yes, put the water kettle on and let it steam, hold the hat a few inches from the spout and let the steam filter through. The flowers will lift up before your eyes. Veiling also freshens this way. Those who do not have a tea kettle can use a pan of steaming hot water.

DEAR POLLY — The plastic ties on my rain bonnet would not stay tied very long and always seemed to come loose when I was shopping and had an armful of parcels. I removed the original plastic ties and replaced them with a pair of 18-inch white shoe strings. The ends were run through the eyelets on the bonnet and tied there in a knot. They really stay tied.

—ETHEL

POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY — What will give my hair a sheen or lustrous look without using a spray? Is there any household item which will bring this about, especially for short hair?

—EDDIE

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for the reader who wanted to know how to tint bread. I just add food coloring to the batter. The amount depends on how deep you want the color. I use red and green for holiday breads and once helped make sandwiches for a wedding out of blue bread. Spread several slices with alternating colors and then slice for sandwiches and you can also alternate the white bread with the colored for this sandwich loaf.

—MOLLY

DEAR GIRLS — A baker tells me the food coloring should be mixed with the water that goes in the bread for an even look to the tinted bread.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — After we purchased a dishwasher, I had no use for my rubbercovered dish drainer, so I bent the wires even on the bottom and then made a pillow to fit inside. My small dog likes his new bed better than his expensive dog basket and visitors always comment on it. These drainers may be purchased in different colors if you wish them to harmonize with the colors in a room.

—MRS. S. T. S.

DEAR POLLY — With cut flowers now being brought in from our gardens, I hope some of the readers will appreciate my Pointer. If the stem of any cut flower is too short for the vase being used, pull out a broom straw, bend in the center and gently insert the doubled end up into the cut stem and clip off to the desired length. Even when a clear glass vase is used, this is not unsightly.

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: What do you think about college fraternities? Our son will be attending a state university this fall, and some of his friends have been talking up this, and that fraternity.

Formal rushing doesn't begin until second semester, but informal rushing, we understand goes on all the time. We wonder if he would be better off as a "Greek" or an "Independent."

He's always been a good student but not too active socially. Please comment.

TOM'S PARENTS
ANSWER: No one can decide this but Tom himself, but he might consider the following:

A fraternity that helps its members develop academically and socially is a valuable asset to most college boys. On the other hand, one that "uses" its members and interferes with their scholastic activities can be a real menace.

So much depends on the fraternity, the university and the boy. On some campuses a non-fraternity man is like a fish out of water; on others, the independents hold the major offices and become the "big men on campus."

Ideally, a fraternity provides a personal group life for a small number of men who share common interests. At a large state university, where students may get lost in the shuffle, this is reason enough for its existence. In a fraternity house, among their close friends, boys can get away from the impersonality of large lecture halls, objective professors, and computer-graded tests. The fraternity helps relieve the pressures and strains of college life.

There's always the danger, of course, that pledges, in particular, will be required to perform duties that conflict with hitting the books. The hours spent cleaning the house, running errands for actives, decorating floats and planning social events might well be put to better use. The excessive hazing, drinking and wild parties to which some fraternity chapters are guilty detract from their value, too.

All in all, however, if a boy is invited to join a group of students whose outlooks and attitudes are similar to his, fraternity life will probably make his college years more enjoyable. He might do well to find out how many "steak-eaters" were honored at the chapter's last scholarship banquet as compared to those who ate "beans." This will clue him in on the scholastic ratings of the brothers.

Greek or not, he should never lose sight of the real reason he's in college.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Many 'Exercises' Are Not Healthy

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Past this desk came a quick observation that set me thinking. It mentioned that one exercise not good for you is "jumping to conclusions."

Digging into the store of cliches that do involve physical exercise, so to speak, there are many exercises that are not good for you besides jumping to conclusions. Also, I discovered, many that are beneficial.

Not recommended, for instance, are running into debt, running down your friends, racing to keep up with the Joneses, throwing bars, and pushing your luck.

Good for you, in turn, are reaching for the stars, stretching the imagination, pulling on the purse strings, walking off with honors, riding out the storm, and swinging into action.

As the list grew, I separated the cliches into "good for," and "not good for" you categories. Take some of the "good for" group:

Toeing the mark, pulling yourself up by the bootstraps, pointing with pride, sitting down to talk things over, standing up to a crisis, picking up the pieces.

Climbing the ladder of success, taking one step at a time, tossing out worries, bending over backwards, diving in all over once a decision is reached, and putting your best foot forward.

Some of the cliches might be considered good exercise on one hand, not so good on the other, depending on the situation. For instance, tossing a hat into the ring, grasping for a straw, walking a tight rope, sitting this one out, a run for the money, tossing in the sponge, throwing down the gauntlet, running the gamut.

In the "not good" for you group I came up with:

Stretching the truth, ducking responsibility, walking out in a huff, swimming in self-pity, throwing a tantrum, tossing a brickbat, tottering on the brink, carrying the weight of the world on your shoulders, throwing a curve.

Pacing the floor, carrying gossip, skipping town, kicking over the traces, muscling in on, walking all over somebody, jumping the gun, flying off the handle.

Throwing a one-two punch, kicking a man when he's down, tossing your weight around, bending the elbow too frequent.

Pad Has New Shape
That old home remedy, the heating pad, is in a new shape. The wrap-around version can be used comfortably anywhere on the body. It gives you relief for any minor ailment. You can wear it if you have sinus and headache relief.

Fur-fringed Eyelashes
You haven't seen anything until you've witnessed the new false eyelashes. They are jeweled - luxuriant fringes of fur highlighted with crystal brilliants at lash line.

Ruth Millett In Summer the Son Also Needs to Rise

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
"What do you do with a 16-year-old who tried but couldn't get a summer job?" asks a reader of this column. "Our son, with nothing to do for three months, is about to drive me crazy. He sleeps until noon. The rest of the day and evening he is out riding around in my car and spending more money than he does during the school year."

What to do with a big, strong young man with three months of idleness to fill up one way or another is to put him to work. If he can't find a job, surely you can find one for him. Does your house need painting? Have you long wanted a patio or flower beds? Do the trees need trimming, the garage or attic need cleaning?

Why not make a list of all the things that need to be done around your house and yard that your son could do for you—and start getting him up in the morning at a reasonable hour and tell him to get going?

You don't have a three-month vacation, do you? And your husband doesn't have three months a year off, does he? And yet you are probably leaving all the jobs your son could be doing for your husband to do, if and when he ever finds the time.

You aren't doing your son a favor to let him loaf day after day, meanwhile growing annoyed with him, when there are all kinds of things he could and probably should be doing to help out the family.

A young man doesn't have to settle for loafing all summer just because he can't find a paying job. Not if his parents treat him like a contributing, responsible member of the family who is expected to use some of his strength, energy and time on projects that benefit the whole family.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The View From Outside

Suppose for a moment that you are a college student from Mars, taking a space ship to America for a summer course on the political habits and trends of Earthpeople. And you selected the U.S.A. for study.

With a fresh outlook you'd see things we Earthpeople do not, because we're too close to frantic day-to-day actions of government — so much engrossed in detail that we cannot pry our selves loose to envision the path we're traveling.

But a student from Mars wouldn't be trapped in our spider's web of daily thoughts and habits. Naturally, from aloft he'd get the general broad geographic outline of our country, noting its shape, its climate, its resources, the great concentrations of people.

Then he'd see the political establishment set up in accordance to a Constitution nearly 200 years old. It has the outward look the symbolism, the traditions of a free country.

Then he'd note that since the Great Depression in the 1930s, politicians who promised more relief, larger pensions, more aid to tax-supported schools, and generally more government of all kinds have been returned to office.

He would note that as a rule the voters are influenced by what the government promises them in the way of economic benefits.

He would note, too, that in the depression people gathered under the banner of fear, and that banner is still in the background of present-day politics. This, in spite of a greater degree of apparent affluence now than any people ever before enjoyed.

Then this student undoubtedly would peek into one-party strategy in Washington to discover what it is doing to maintain itself in office. He'd see some of the things all of us have noted in the news recently, viz: the auto industry under heavy fire; the tire industry criticized; the drug industry attacked for too high prices; plans to hit the food industry, from farmers through retail outlets, probably before the elections in November; merchants in general attacked because they are making money.

The Mars student would probe a little deeper — into the consumer advisory council recommendations, for instance. President Johnson will be asked to create a cabinet-level official to "protect consumers." Comment.

For progress is made only when individual develop in an independent society, when people use their own judgment, enjoy the dignity of earning their own way through life, and depend upon their own ability instead of leaning upon government.

Odd World of Commercials

One thing about radio and television commercials is that you meet such interesting people. Interesting? Would you believe unusual? Odd? Weird? Spooky?

Take the one where the wife wistfully asks her husband, "How do you like the waffle, Harry?"

And Harry says, "SOGGY!" Why can't you make em like my mother does?

So the wife goes meekly to Harry's mom and fears the waffle secret. (We won't reveal it here because that would be telling.)

You know what OUGHT to happen to Harry?

The bum ought to get a big fat, soggy waffle SPLAT in his grumpy puss, that's what.

Then there's the scene where the three little housewife is wearily lugging this huge load of wetwash when an off-camera loudmouth yells, "Congratulations on a SECOND-RATE wash!"

What happens? The weary washer gratefully agrees to use the miracle detergent the sneerer is selling!

What SHOULD happen?

Mr. Bigmouth should be doused with the wettest, sudsiest load of second-rate wetwash any first-rate heel ever caught!

And of course there's the one where the kid jumps up from the breakfast table with his baseball mitt and bolts out of the house to join his pals. And a gress will be asked to investigate, probably will establish some sort of agency to review standards of products with a whole batch of new proposals to "protect" the voter from, business.

The master's thesis the student writes likely would include a number of observations. Like an active disident element in the society which believes, in essence, that people can be trusted, and their judgment also can be trusted when they get the facts.

But, he would note, the party in power with a too-weak opposition, controls all the public news platforms. The party, or the establishment if you prefer, selects the mode of attack and stresses criticism against individual enterprise wherever it conflicts with what the establishment wants government to handle.

Because of political strength, government, "news" is "managed" news. Government always stresses that everything government does is for the "benefit" of the people.

The thesis also might emphasize that the November elections are only a few months away, and that in the meantime there is no possibility of the Great Society's government help program being curtailed in the slightest, even though the war in Viet Nam takes another turn for the worse and U.S. involvement increases.

Also the student might observe that one of the reasons for attacking business right now is to take the "heat" off inflation, and that nothing will be done to halt government spending — or curtail inflation — by curtailing federal pump-priming, until after the election.

If the student should come from an advanced society on Mars, a highly intelligent society which developed space travel beyond anything we dream about, he might also begin to wonder when the people of the U. S. will come to understand that government regulation chokes off human liberties, mothers' independence, promotes conformity.

What leadership reaction to riots of major size should persuade the extremists that from the earliest moment of real disruption they will be contending not against the police they hate but against heavily armed military force.

Thus overmatched, they can never hope to win anything big, no matter what they destroy or how many people they hurt.

In a futile lashing out, the cost may be high in their own and many innocent lives. Those who say, as some did again in Chicago, that they are willing to die since they must die sometime, miss the point. Their assaults could bring death to hundreds of whites and Negroes who have no wish to die, according to the cruel timetable fixed by unfeeling radicals.

Among nonextremist militant leaders, thoughtful whites are saying there is too much to "erance" of these radicals. Militant utterances, and even those by such moderates as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., are seen as offering coded, indirect encouragement to the wild men. King was openly accused of this in Chicago.

The blurring of value lines affects the Negro movement's judgment of police performance everywhere. "Police brutality" has long been so automatic a cry that it seems to suggest there is no proper sphere for use of police power against Negroes.

There is no sympathy for urban police, compelled as is to separate legitimate Negro social protest from criminal or subversive activity using it as a cloak. The police stand constantly at a point of confrontation, never occupied by their sweeping critics.

These confrontations are often ugly. Police, some of them obviously brutalized by too many contacts with disreputable per-

Riots Are Setback To Negro Goals

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
CHICAGO (NEA) — Riots like those in Los Angeles last year and Chicago and other large cities this summer are the raw edge of the Negro revolution. Like any other social revolt, this one is untidy, uncomfortable and more than a little self-defeating.

A major rebellion is a massive criticism of society. But, as a midwestern white liberal told this reporter, the participating critics do not themselves wish to be criticized on any count. To yield at any point strikes them simply as reverting to old attitudes of subservience.

Yet some wise Negro heads, and a good many thoroughly sympathetic whites, argue that refusal to acknowledge human flaws retards the Negro revolution at the very juncture when its most militant activists are shouting that speed is everything.

Surely a riot represents swift action. But the concessions wrung from white authorities by outbursts in Watts and Chicago's West Side tend to be minor. The gains seem, however, to have misled some Negroes into believing that violence really pays off.

There is strong contrary evidence that it only heightens the wall of stubborn white resistance, which both races should be trying to knock down.

In California last month, voters turned down a bond issue for a major advance in Watts — a badly needed hospital. Temperate Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, menaced in a re-election bid by rising post-Watts white backlash, finds himself promoting and boasting of stiff new law enforcement measures — including an anti-riot bill — to suggest to voters a tougher attitude.

It is common today for some fiery Negro spirits to say that whites have no understanding of millions of almost totally alienated Negroes. It may be so. It may also be true that isolated Negroes, seeing all too little of whites, do not understand them.

Just as countless Negroes are gravely confused as to how to mount a swift revolution in a society where, changes on the vital job, school and housing fronts come with painful slowness, so are many sympathetic whites troubled over what they see as the unfortunate fuzzing-up of basic values in the Negro movement.

A good proportion do not take seriously Negro extremists' para-military groups, nor their dark talk of dealing trains, blacking out cities, etc. To the extent these threats may be serious, the Negroes involved may not grasp how fully self-destructive their undertakings might prove to be.

White leadership reaction to riots of major size should persuade the extremists that from the earliest moment of real disruption they will be contending not against the police they hate but against heavily armed military force.

Thus overmatched, they can never hope to win anything big, no matter what they destroy or how many people they hurt.

In a futile lashing out, the cost may be high in their own and many innocent lives. Those who say, as some did again in Chicago, that they are willing to die since they must die sometime, miss the point. Their assaults could bring death to hundreds of whites and Negroes who have no wish to die, according to the cruel timetable fixed by unfeeling radicals.

Among nonextremist militant leaders, thoughtful whites are saying there is too much to "erance" of these radicals. Militant utterances, and even those by such moderates as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., are seen as offering coded, indirect encouragement to the wild men. King was openly accused of this in Chicago.

The blurring of value lines affects the Negro movement's judgment of police performance everywhere. "Police brutality" has long been so automatic a cry that it seems to suggest there is no proper sphere for use of police power against Negroes.

There is no sympathy for urban police, compelled as is to separate legitimate Negro social protest from criminal or subversive activity using it as a cloak. The police stand constantly at a point of confrontation, never occupied by their sweeping critics.

These confrontations are often ugly. Police, some of them obviously brutalized by too many contacts with disreputable per-

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration has suffered a serious setback in its fight to prevent a breakup of the controversial anti-poverty program.

In a little-noticed action, the Education subcommittee of the Senate Labor & Public Welfare Committee recommended transferring the popular preschool Head Start program from the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) to the Office of Education.

The move was initiated by Senator Peter Dominick, R-Colo., and has the full backing of subcommittee chairman Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Dominick's proposal would add Head Start to the elementary and secondary education program administered by the Office of Education. The transferred program would be authorized for three years with $180 million available for each year — the same amount provided this year. Grants would be allocated to state education agencies according to the number of children, aged three to seven, that come from families with incomes under $2,000.

MAIN TARGET — The Senate attack is part of an overall Republican strategy to scuttle the anti-poverty agency by shifting its most popular programs, such as Head Start and VISTA, the domestic peace corps, to other government agencies.

Controversial and trouble-racked programs, such as the Job Corps and Community Action, would be left by Republicans within OEO where they eventually could be killed by slashing their funds.

Attempts to transfer Head and VISTA to the Labor Department will be made by the GOP when the House considers the $1.75 billion anti-poverty bill next month. A major effort also will be made to cut funds for the controversial Job Corps and Community Action program.

Democratic House leaders privately admit that one or more of these Republican attacks may succeed. Their polls show the outcome in doubt. Many Democratic lawmakers are smarting from criticism of OEO programs in their districts; others are concerned with the mounting costs of the anti-poverty program.

President Johnson may have inadvertently helped the Republicans by calling congressional leaders of both parties to the White House recently to warn against exceeding his budget requests for total government spending.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., was especially critical of the timing of the President's economy suggestions.

Both white and Negro; do not always act with restraint. But the whole of this ferment leaves in some doubt the concept of law and order held by many Negro leaders. A revolt for freedom that seems to give Negroes immunity from law will be hobbled by the dominant white community at every turn.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

No Harmful Side Effect From Thyroid Extract

Q—I've taken thyroid extract daily for years. My doctor says I'll need it for the rest of my life. Are there any harmful side effects?

A—If your thyroid doesn't secrete enough of its hormone, you must continue this replacement therapy. There will be no side effects if the dosage is adjusted to your individual needs. Too large a dose would cause nervous irritability, palpitation and a feeling of excessive warmth in a room where others are comfortable.

Q—What are the symptoms of thyroid deficiency? Is it a common disease?

A—Too little thyroid hormone causes slowing up of mental and physical activity but in their milder stages these symptoms are hard to measure and may be due to fatigue and other causes. In a more severe stage your skin would get rough and dry, your hair would become dry and brittle. All these symptoms can be controlled with carefully adjusted doses of thyroid extract.

Q—Thyroid deficiency is not common but it is seen five times more often in women than in men and most frequently between the ages of 30 and 60. The deficiency may be congenital or it may be the result of removing too much of an overactive thyroid.

Q—How is the protein-bound iodine (PBI) test made? How does it compare with the basic metabolic rate (BMR)?

A—The PBI test is a measure of the protein-bound iodine in your blood. This and the radioactive iodine uptake test are simpler and more reliable tests of thyroid activity than the older BMR.

Q—I am an unmarried woman, 26. I have a goiter that is growing outward. I believe this is not as dangerous as an inward kind. Should it be removed? Is this type of goiter unusual in a person my age? What is the likelihood of it being a cancer?

A—Since the simple or colloid goiter is caused by a lack of iodine in the water or food it can occur at any age but usually starts at puberty. It is 10 times as common in women as in men. Although the use of iodized salt will prevent the disease, it will not cure it once it is established. Small doses of thyroid extract, taken daily for a

Half the Peace Corps veterans so far have returned to university and college campuses. . . . John Seeley, head of the sociology department of Brandeis University and a consultant to the Peace Corps has given the corps an ambitious aim: "The Peace Corps trembles so close on the verge of greatness that the very forces it has generated demand that it go all the way over; that it become, in effect, the model of a new education, appropriate to the opportunities and problems of his age."

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. I. HUNT

RIGHT OF PETITION
It is generally thought that 90 percent of the Members of Congress will turn in as good administration. By the thinking back home will permit—Congressmen suppose public opinion in their districts to be in line with whatever the district's communications media reflects. If constructive constituents would make their views known to their MCs they should employ "the best means" available.

Many people write their MCs. Once telegrams were considered more impressive and much money was spent, probably wasted, sending wires. Various letter-writing campaigns have been launched on particular subjects in the hope that MCs would be influenced.

Unless you are a close personal friend of your MC your letter to him will merely be tabulated by his staff "for" or "against" the letter's subject. But you can practically be sure its being read by the MC by having 3, 4 or 5 people note, "We concur" on the back of the letter, signing their names, addresses and telephone numbers.

It is recognized that MCs read almost every letter on public affairs which they believe are reaching their constituents. Voters can reach their MC effectively through writing letters to the editor dealing with public affairs and sending a copy to their MC. The effectiveness will be increased if they will attach clippings of letters from other writers as well as editorials and columns supporting their point of view.

Do not assume that your MC has already read the clipping since he is a very busy person and may not use a "reader" to help keep informed. If the paper fails to publish your letter the MC learns which side the newspaper is on, and he is in position to make allowances for its editorial policies and the news dispatches it publishes.

LUBBOCK NEEDS HELP? Odessa (Texas) American

The mayor of Lubbock, 140 miles north of here, has declared that his city must get geared for a run on Washington for a big bundle of federal handouts. This must be done, he said, in order to meet stiff competition from some 200 cities across the nation.

Described by his hometown newspaper as "dynamic," the mayor said Lubbock "must obtain federal funds or face the prospect of falling even further behind."

"We are going after our share of your income tax dollars that we have sent to Washington and get some of them back down here," the mayor told a group of Lubbock homebuilders.

Did you get that? "We" are going after "our" share of "your" income tax dollars.

Nothing was said, apparently, in defense of the poor soul from whom the tax money was stolen in the first place. No proposal was made, as far as we know, to stop this wholesale robbery of private citizens by the federal government. Instead of considering that this alone would serve to keep those income tax dollars in Lubbock, the pitch was made for a chase to Washington to get "our" share of what's left of "your" money.

Hopefully, the reason and restraint of wiser and more responsible heads in Lubbock will prevail.

GETTING IT STRAIGHT

Fredonia (Kans.) Herald

It might be hard to take at times, but some of our most outspoken enemies have the ability to come out with the most pointed truthful statements about us. One time Indian Defense Minister Krishna Menon, deposed by Nehru some years back, recently commented on this nation thusly: "So far as the U.S. is concerned, you do not get any more money by sucking up. If you want aid, don't beg them. Kick them." Even though we might not like to admit it, he's right. That's today's recipe for foreign aid.

Operation to remove this type of goiter is necessary only when a rapidly growing goiter causes undue pressure on the windpipe or when there is bleeding into the goiter itself. Simple goiters do not tend to become cancerous.

Q—On a recent PBI test my reading was 23. Is this high or low?

A—Since the normal range is four to eight your reading is low and, if persistent, would indicate that you need thyroid extract.

Today is Friday, July 29, the 210th day of 1966 with 155 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Mars, Venus and Saturn.

There are no evening stars. An American novelist, Booth Tarkington, was born on this day in 1869.

On this day in history: . . . In 1588, Queen Elizabeth I, fearful of a Spanish invasion of England, traveled to Tilbury to spur on her troops.

In 1754, the first international boxing match took place, with British champion Jack Slack knocking out Jean-Petit of France.

In 1914, a successful conversation between New York and San Francisco heralded the first American transcontinental telephone hookup.

In 1945, an armada of American bombers dropped 3,500 tons of fire bombs on six Japanese cities following a warning broadcast.

A thought for the day—American author Mark Twain said: "Soap and education are not as sudden as a massacre, but they're more deadly in the long run."

How's That Again?

Cards Quietly Stealing Into Pennant Contention

BASEBALL'S NEW GENERATION is represented by Kansas City pitcher, Lew Krausse, a $125,000 bonus baby who finally is making it big this year with the A's after spending four frustrating years in the minors.

By United Press International
The St. Louis Cardinals, stealing quietly into pennant contention a la 1964 when they won the flag, are being led again by the most accomplished thief in the majors. The Cards were in fifth place seven games off the pace exactly two years ago before coming from nowhere to win the pennant on the last day of the season. Today, they're also seven games behind but in a better position—fourth place. While the National League buzzes about a three-team pennant dogfight between No. 1 Pittsburgh, runner-up San Francisco and third-place Los Angeles—all bunched within 10 percentage points of each other—the unnoticed Cards are enjoying the hottest winning streak in the majors. Brock Made Difference

Lou Brock, who played a large part in St. Louis' 1964 "little miracle" by abtting 348 over the last two months of the season and, according to then manager Johnny Keane, "making the difference" during the pennant drive, is awakening the Cards with his base stealing and hitting this season.

St. Louis has won 13 of 17 games since the All-Star break and 10 of its last 11, including a 7-5 victory over Atlanta Thursday night.
Brock, the top thief in the big leagues with 30 steals, has been a terror at the plate since the All-Star game, during which time St. Louis has moved 51-2 games closer to first place and jumped past two clubs in the standings.

Prior to the mid-season classic, Brock was batting .257. But since then the swift leftfielder has collected 27 hits in 77 at bats for a .351 clip to raise his average nearly 20 points to .276.

In other major league action, Cincinnati whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-5 and the Chicago White Sox shaded Detroit 2-1. Kansas City at Boston was rained out in the only other game scheduled.
Brock paced a 13-hit St. Louis attack against five Atlanta hurlers by ripping a triple and two doubles and driving in three runs. Brock's triple knocked home two runs to cap a five-run St. Louis uprising in the second inning.
Orlando Cepeda touched off the outburst with his 17th homer of the campaign to help hand the Braves their eighth loss in the last nine games and drop them into ninth place. Dal Maxville also walloped a two-run triple in the second.
Bob Gibson, who had to leave the game in the eighth because of a sore arm, chalked up the victory, his 13th in 22 decisions.

Pittsburgh Players Are Grumbling About Walker

NEW YORK (UPI)—Remember that old wartime slogan: Loose talk sinks ships. Well, the Pittsburgh Pirates are beginning to worry their dream boat could be torpedoed the same way.
Right now, the Pirates are in first place. Undeniably, the man who helped put them there is Manager Harry Walker. And if he isn't careful, he may talk them out of there just as easily.
Walker's players believe that basically he is a sound manager and a dedicated baseball man. They also believe he talks too much. Far too much.
Chronic Complainers
The first thing you have to understand about ball players is that few if any of them ever are in love with their manager. Also, they generally are chronic complainers. But there are times when they do come up with a legitimate beef.
Frankly, I've usually found Walker's discourses on hitting instructive and even fascinating, but then I don't have to sit on the bench listening to him for 100 games. The Pittsburgh players, on the other hand, are obliged to do so.
Their chief kick about Harry is that he isn't always objective with his remarks. Too often, they claim, he becomes subjective—or to put it more simply, they feel he has a habit of being overly sarcastic.
"Rain, snow or shine, he's always got something to say," points out one of his former hired hands. "He'll always take the credit and give you the feeling that no matter what you did, he won the ball game."

Bench Jockey
"You go up there to hit and you'll hear him yell from the bench, 'he's setting you up, he's setting you up.' Like he knows what's coming. I'll admit he led the league in hitting one year, but he isn't that good."
Now I read in the paper where he chewed out Vern Law. I've been around a while and I've never seen anyone work harder for the ball club than Vern Law. He gives you 200 per cent, not 100. If you have trouble with Vern Law, there's got to be something the matter with you.
Primarily, the Pirates players don't like the idea of Walker's way of criticizing them in front of others.
In Walker's defense, however, it should also be said he has a habit of later walking over to the same fellow he bawled out, patting him on the back and quietly telling him:
"I'm just trying to make you a better ball player."
There is no real malice in Harry Walker, only sometimes he's too impulsive for his own good. Take this incident which occurred in Chicago last year, for example.

He told Bob Bailey to go to right field with a runner on first base, but Bailey, who prefers to get up there and swing away, succeeded only in tapping a meek dribbler down the first base line which forced the runner at second.
When he returned to the dugout, the disgruntled Bailey muttered, "right field, my grandmother."
"Then hit the ball hard some place," Walker snapped back angrily.
Bailey answered in kind whereupon Walker topped him with "I'll fix it so you don't play for a month."
Cooler heads prevailed, as the saying goes, and that crisis was over, temporarily. There have been others since, however.
When and if the Pirates should go on to win, Harry probably will have all the players out to his house for a big barbecue.
One guess as to who'll do all the talking.

Unknown Leads by 2 In Indy '500' Golf

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Johnny Schlee, a happy-go-lucky youngster from the badlands of Arizona with an ancient putter, took a two-shot lead into the second round of the $92,000 "500" Festival Open today.
Schlee whipped threatening weather and the field with a sizzling 6-under-par 66 Thursday, a record for the revamped Speedway course which in the past was an easy touch for the touring pros.
But only 25 of the nearly 140 play-for-pay swingers bested par 72, with Dale Douglass and Johnny Pott tying for second spot with 68, followed by five others at 69, including defending champion Bruce Crampton of Australia and Billy Casper, the U.S. Open champ who is the top favorite for the $16,500 top prize.
Schlee, 27, of Sun City, Ariz., was runnerup in the Minnesota Pott hit 15 greens. He belted a four-wood to within 20 feet of the pin on No. 18 and canned the putt for an eagle 3.
Both Casper and Don January finished late in the day to join the leaders with 69s. Casper, top money winner on the tour, birdied the last two holes while January birdied two of the last three. Also at 69 were R. H. Sikes and Glenn Teal.
All flags in San Leandro were flown at half-staff Thursday in memory of Lema, whose habit of buying sportswriters champagne after he won tournaments first earned him the nickname "Champagne Tony." But friends agreed it was his relaxed, wisecracking personality that made the nickname stick.

England Manager Has Quaint Problem
LONDON (UPI)—The manager of England's World Soccer Cup challenger was faced today with a choice between two blunders in preparing for Saturday's title game with West Germany.
Manager Alf Ramsey must decide whether to play Jimmy Greaves. If his answer is "yes," he'll be hung in effigy by thousands of British fans. If his answer is "no," he may be only drawn and quartered in effigy.
British soccer experts regard Greaves as the No. 1 clutch player in England—perhaps in the world. Unorthodox and inconsistent, Greaves nevertheless has come through under pressure so often that he has almost as many fans in Merrie Olde England as do the Beatles.
Greaves suffered a leg injury during England's 2-0 July 20 victory over France and was sidelined as his teammates downed Argentina 4-0 and Portugal 2-1. Now he's ready for action again. But Ramsey hesitates to break up the winning combination in the victories over Argentina and Portugal.
German Manager Helmut Schoen reported, meanwhile, that his team will be at full strength with the return of right-back Horst Hotzger.
A sellout crowd of 100,000 is assured and will produce a record gate for any soccer crowd of more than 200,000 pounds ($570,000). The game will be seen on television in the United States beginning at noon, EDT.

Portugal clinched third place in the tournament Thursday on Jose Torre's goal in the 88th minute which produced a 2-1 victory over Russia. Eusebio scored for Portugal in the 12th minute and Eduard Malofeev tied the score for Russia in the 43rd minute.

Final Tribute Paid Tony As 1,000 Watch High Mass

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (UPI)—A huge throng of mourners—many of them openly weeping—paid final respects to golfer Tony Lema and his beautiful wife Thursday.
More than 1,000 persons overflowed St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in nearby Oakland where a Requiem High Mass was sung. Hundreds of others stood outside, but were quiet and orderly.
The internationally famed golf star, 32, and his wife, 30, were killed last Sunday when a chartered plane carrying them to a one-day tournament crashed on a golf course in Munster, Ind.
Eight priests—all men, who knew Lema—shared in offering the mass of concelebration. Golf greats Ken Venturi and Tommy Jacobs and PGA Tourney Chairman Fred Corcoran were among the friends who served as pallbearers.
Mrs. Clotilde Lema, flanked by surviving sons Harry and Walter, and their sister, Bernice, attended the rites in addition to hundreds of men and women from the world of golf.
All flags in San Leandro were flown at half-staff Thursday in memory of Lema, whose habit of buying sportswriters champagne after he won tournaments first earned him the nickname "Champagne Tony." But friends agreed it was his relaxed, wisecracking personality that made the nickname stick.

US Faces Threat In Curtis Cup

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI)—A young determined squad, boasting the best amateur women golfers from the British Isles, appeared a strong challenge to the U.S. today as the 14th international Curtis Cup matches moved to the tee.
The British team, containing five rookies, was a slight underdog to the U.S. women's team as the first day of action opened on the rolling Cascades Golf Course.
The U.S. leads in the semi-annual Curtis Cup series with nine wins against two victories for British Isles women and two ties.
Hot weather in the southwest Virginia mountain country was expected to make the play a test of endurance. Course officials said the sprawling Cascades was expected to play shorter than usual because of the dry conditions.
The last Curtis Cup action saw the United States take its third straight win 10 1/2 to 7 1/2 at South Wales.

South Looking For Upset Win

HOUSTON (UPI)—It's been a long drought for the South schoolboy all-star footballers in the annual Texas coaching school game, but if history means anything coach Pete Sultis can expect to be a little "Koy" about next week's grid classic.
Set for Rice Stadium next Thursday night, the 32nd annual game matching the top senior stars from throughout the state will bring to a close the world's largest coaching school.
Not since 1961 has a South squad emerged victorious in the game and that was when the Rebels took a 14-7 victory at San Antonio.
In that game it was a pair of Class AA backs, Budgie Ford of Taylor and Ernie Koy Jr. of Bellville, who sparked the South.
Sultis, who coaches at Baytown, has another Koy on his 1966 squad and he hopes history will repeat. This time it is Ernie's little brother, Teddy.
Little brother is 6-2, weighs 200 and won all-state honors while rambling for 1,749 yards on 193 carries for a 5.06 yard average in leading Bellville to an 11-2 season.
Although the South appears to be outmanned in the front line, Sultis has some top-notch talent headed by all-stars in talented linebacker Bobby Wuensch of

Bell, Mobile Keep Winning Streaks Alive With Wins

One team braved the mud and another found that Miami is having a bit of a drought in Pampa Softball Association action.
League-leading Bell Pontiac almost found Miami's merchants too much, but eked out a 23-16 victory.
Despite Pampa's 1.27 inches of rain day before yesterday, Miami residents had dry skies and a dry ball field.
Bell used three pitchers, Jerry Thomas, Mike Velasquez and finally Nelson Kitchens who was the winner. Chris Walsh went the distance for Miami and took the loss.
Rex Lewis with three hits in three trips and John Perry with four hits in an equal number of time at bat paced the Bell hitting while Benerman and Daughtery and Seitz led Miami.
All games at Pampa were called off but Mobile Oilers and the Pampa Jets decided to brave a muddy field and Mobile won, 11-4.
Bennie Wyatt gave up just two hits to get the win while Proctor was touched for eight hits and the loss for the Jets.
Melvin Davis tripled in the sixth to drive in three runs for Mobile and Watie and Harris collected the Jets' two safeties.
One game is on tap tonight with Mobile and Mayfair meeting at 7:30 p.m.
Monday Bell and Walsh meet at 7:30 p.m. and the Jets and Mayfair play the late game at Lions Club park. Miami is idle.
Tuesday Miami hosts Mayfair at 8 p.m. and Bell and the Jets play the first game and Walsh and Mobile the second contest, both at Lions Club park.

WELFARE AGE Dromedarier were imported from the one-rump camels now rove in wild herds.

ANDORA (UPI)—The welfare age has begun in this tiny mountain state in the Pyrenees between France and Spain.

Local administrators have ordered the state of a social security system for all local and foreign employes. They fixed the working day at eight hours and ordered employers to guarantee workers one day off a week and two weeks' annual vacation.

THIS GROWING-UP BUSINESS

A home-delivery newspaper route is a "growing up business" unlike any other. It alone provides a youngster with an opportunity to put muscle into what he is taught in school, by putting him in a part-time business where he buys at wholesale and sells at retail; serves all kinds of people; keeps his own records; makes his own collections; and discovers the rewards of salesmanship.

Here he learns, before his classmates, the importance of responsibility, self-reliance, punctuality and courtesy, and adopts right attitudes about what will be essential to his future success.

Encouraged by parents who realize the many benefits which come from route management and by men who are interested in and trained to work with boys, he will some day look back on his newspaper route experience and say "This was when I really started growing up."

If you have a son or know of a youngster who might similarly profit by having newspaper route experience, phone or write to our Circulation Department.

EEL DAY
TOKYO (UPI)—Restaurants serving "unagi" (eels) did a booming business today.

For several hundred years, Tokyo residents have made it customary to eat eels on "udonohi"—a day of celebration in Japan.

The ritual was begun in the belief that eating eels on "udonohi" would promote good health throughout the hot summer.

MOB ATTACK
KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)—One prisoner was killed and ten other persons, including three policemen, were injured when a mob tried to free 27 men standing trial on criminal charges in the town of Roseires, 300 miles south of here, Radio Amudman reported Friday. The report said police were forced to open fire on the mob, many of whom were armed with knives.

MATERNITY LEAVE
LUSAKA, Zambia (UPI)—A parliament member Thursday urged the Ministry of Education to allow pregnant school girls to take maternity leave, and then encourage the mothers to return to their studies after the babies are born. Seralina Mulenga also praised an article which urged contraceptive instructions be given all schoolchildren.

Education Is 'IN' All Year

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Education no longer takes a summer vacation. Throughout the nation valuable educational programs are taking place. There has been an expansion of old programs as well as an introduction of many new activities.

A large number of these summer projects are being financed by federal funds. Others are being funded by financial grants from foundations and industry. Universities, colleges, as well as public and private schools are contributing to the many programs.

What types of programs are we talking about? Some involve students, others are designed to train teachers, and still others involve planning as well as the development of new curriculum materials.

Although these programs may fall into the several major categories described above, their specific purposes and methods are often quite different.

Many pre-school children are involved in programs aimed at preparing them to be successful kindergarten students. Such programs are generally designed to provide experiences which will help develop the children socially and physically. In addition, the children participate in activities which both improve their attitudes towards learning and also their ability to participate in school programs. One such program is "Head Start" financed by the federal government in order to assist economically and culturally deprived children.

Elementary students often have the opportunity to participate in a regular summer sponsored by their own school systems or with federal funds. These special programs may be aimed at enrichment or developing skills with which the children have had difficulty during the regular school year. High school students may have the opportunity to participate in a regular summer school where they can take courses just for interest or possibly to make up failures.

Other high school students have been fortunate to receive scholarships to participate in special workshops or college courses in areas where they have shown unusual talent.

Many colleges operate regular classes which students may take either as a part of their regular program or as visiting students from other colleges.

At the education area, teachers have an opportunity to take courses and participate in programs for professional improvement and advanced degrees. It is very common to find teachers taking courses during the summer.

Educational activities are in operation throughout the nation during the summer. Besides actual instruction, many schools are using the summer to develop curriculum materials and plan new programs for the coming school year.

FLOOD WATERS RISE
VIENNA (UPI)—Flood waters were reported Wednesday to be on the rise throughout eastern Europe. Swollen rivers swamped fields and villages from the Baltic to the Adriatic. Radio Prague reported four deaths from flooding in central Czechoslovakia, without giving details. In Budapest, the Danube embankment was sealed off after the river rose to danger level. In Czestochowa, Poland, flood waters covered low-lying parts of the city. The Jasna Gora monastery at Czestochowa, a national shrine, was not in danger.

We'll give advice... loan anything you want for as long as you need it (like power mowers, tillers, edgers, trimmers). Doesn't cost much either.
