EARLY PURCHASE — George Smith of Pampa was in line early this morning as tickets went on sale for the Top O' Texas Rodeo, scheduled to get underway Wednesday night. Mrs. Bill Atkinson, rodeo ticket sales, is shown presenting Smith with his four tickets. The rodeo office in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. until Wednesday. Reserve seat tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children. General admission is 50 cents less. Admission price for the Kid Pony Show is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Ticket Sales for Rodeo Reported Going Briskly

Ticket sales were reported "going briskly" at rodeo headquarters in the Hughes Building this morning in preparation for Pampa's 22nd annual Top O' Texas Rodeo.

Cowboys will compete for more than $5,500 in purse money and entry fees starting at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

Contestants can look forward to tangling with some of the program's roughest bucking stock from Buettler Brothers, Elk City, Okla. herd; among them such spine-jarring saddle broncs as Descent and Lay, both recent acquisitions and the venerable Knott Inn, whose 10-year list of buck-offs include top riders in the event.

The first of the two performances in the Kid Pony Show will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday with no admission charge. There is a twenty-five and fifty cent admission to the 7:30 p.m. performance.

Signaling the official start of Rodeo Week in Pampa will be the Top O' Texas rodeo parade Wednesday scheduled to assemble at 2:30 p.m. west of Coronado Center. The parade will begin at 3 p.m.

Astronauts Home After Engine Trouble On Plane

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — John Young and Michael Collins, who performed the nation's most ambitious space flight, finally got home early today following the frustrations of airplane engine trouble.

Collins turned to his vivacious, dark-haired wife, Pat. "Hi, sweetie, how in the world are you? I'm glad to see you looking so good."

Young, his face nearly as passive as ever but with his eyes twinkling, looked down at his children.

A crowd surprisingly large considering the lateness of the hour greeted the space heroes at Ellington Air Force Base. The astronauts apologized "for keeping you folks up so late."

A twin-engine Gulfstream airplane of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) brought them from Cape Kennedy.

"What are you guys doing up so late?" He kissed his wife, Barbara.

The plane that was to have brought the astronauts home had engine trouble. The replacement plane had to be flown to Cape Kennedy from the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

"Howdy," said Collins, copilot aboard the three-day journey of Gemini 10 and the nation's latest spacewalker.

"How are you? Gee, it's good to be back."

Collins and Young faced a week of debriefing at the Manned Spacecraft Center. One thing NASA wants to determine is what happened to film Young took of Collins' walk in space.

Reds Shoot at Least Six Captured Marines

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops ambushed a Marine company and captured at least six wounded Leatherneck captives, American survivors said today.

"It was darn near a massacre," said Cpl. Raymond L. Powell, 22, Kansas City, Mo., after remnants of India Company—part of the Marine task force engaged in Operation Hastings near the North Vietnamese border—fought their way out of the jungle trap late today.

The battered company literally stacked its dead in a jungle clearing littered with blood-soaked bandages and the discarded boots of the dead and wounded.

Another survivor, a radio operator with his stomach laid open by mortar fire, said the North Vietnamese ambushers walked along a trail of captured, wounded Marines and shot in the head any Leatherneck they suspected of being alive.

"They must have looked at my spilled guts and figured I was dead," the radio operator said. "I was lucky."

An estimated company of North Vietnamese troops ambushed India Company of the 5th Marine Regiment Sunday on a jungled hillside a short distance from the demilitarized

Grand Jury Gets Speck Case Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward planned to go before a county grand jury today and seek murder indictments against Richard Speck, the man accused of slaying eight student nurses.

There were indications that Corazon Amurao, the 23-year-old Filipino exchange student who survived the massacre, would be the state's star witness before the grand jury.

Miss Amurao was reported doing "very well" by a spokesman at the South Chicago Community Hospital, where the slain girls studied.

Ward also lined up detectives and investigators for an appearance before the grand jury, including the crime laboratory technicians who police said identified Speck's fingerprints in the bedroom of the dead girls' apartment.

The state does not need to establish absolute proof of guilt to obtain murder indictments from the grand jury. Substantial evidence, sufficient to bring formal charges, is all that is required.

Speck, 24, has been charged with murder in connection with the death of only one of the student nurses.

He has been held in the city jail hospital, since his capture a week ago Sunday, only three days after the slaughter. Doctors said he had suffered an inflammation of the sac around his heart.

Jail superintendent C. William Russell said Speck's physical condition was progressing steadily. He said Speck's pulse and temperature were normal, and added that the suspect has been out of bed and walking about his heavily guarded hospital room.

Speck's weakened condition has thus far prevented his being arraigned, although it was considered likely he will be brought into court sometime this week.

zone separating the two Viet Nams.

First they pinned the Americans down with automatic fire and then drove them back, forcing the Marines to leave their wounded.

Twelve hours later when the Marines fought their way back to the wounded they discovered the massacre.

Powell told UPI correspondent Robert Kaylor, who joined the company in the last hours of its ordeal, that India Company's second platoon came running to the rescue.

"Then they got hit, too," Powell said. "That's when mortars started coming in on us."

The fighting was some of the fiercest so far in the 11-day-old Operation Hastings in which 698 Communists are known dead and another 658 are listed as "probable" kills.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force B52 bombers struck enemy troop concentrations from one end of South Viet Nam to the other. Viet Cong units stepped up guerrilla activities around Saigon, striking 10 times near the capital.

One of the B52 raids was in support of Operation Hastings, which covers a broad area just south of the 17th parallel.

The high-flying bombers also hit a Viet Cong troop area 35 miles north of Saigon and a guerrilla base camp in An Xuyen Province deep in the Mekong Delta about 150 miles southwest of Saigon.

Officials said U.S. pilots hit North Viet Nam with 82 missions Sunday, striking oil depots, communications lines and transport facilities.

Meantime, officials kept a veil of secrecy around the daring escape of a Navy pilot from a North Vietnamese prison camp last week, apparently so as not to tip the Communists to what may be escape routes for other captured Americans.

But from a number of sources, the following account was obtained.

The pilot was shot down last February. Since then, he had been held in a prison camp north of Vinh, more than 100 miles north of the border.

He and a second American managed to break away from their captors.

They fought their way through jungles and rice fields southward with Communist search parties on their heels. North Vietnamese soldiers caught up with them. The pilot who was rescued managed to hide, but his companion was caught.

While the Navy pilot watched from concealment, the soldiers beheaded his companion with a sword.

Guardsmen May Leave Cleveland Riot Area Soon

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetter, Ohio National Guard commander and adjutant general, said today he would order the release of troops from riot duty here Tuesday "if the situation remains quiet tonight."

"If there is no trouble again tonight the first guardsman may leave the area by tomorrow," Hostetter said.

Details of reducing National Guard strength were discussed at a morning strategy meeting between Mayor Ralph Locher, Cleveland police officials and Hostetter.

"This means that about one-third of the more than 1,700 troops will leave," the general said. "After that we will gradually cut down and have a standby in the armory for as long as necessary."

Hostetter said his recommendation was based on the fact relative quiet prevailed throughout the weekend in the troubled east side area, scene of six days of violence which claimed four lives and resulted in

House Launches Debate Today on Racial Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today launched itself into a week or more of civil rights debate focused for the first time on the racial problems of the North as well as the South.

The big issue was President Johnson's request for a federal law outlawing discrimination against Negroes and other minorities in the sale or rental of housing.

Johnson's 1966 proposal, the fifth civil rights bill in nine years, also would seek to end discrimination in the selection of juries; strengthen federal laws against racial violence, and give the justice department new power to combat segregation.

But the House's attention was riveted on "open occupancy," a provision that promised to have its strongest impact in the crowded central cities and all-white suburbs of the North.

The President asked Congress April 28 to write a blanket prohibition on housing discrimination. After two months of struggle, the House Judiciary Committee responded with a partial ban. It would cover mainly larger apartment buildings and new developments of single family homes.

With the tacit support of civil rights groups who felt the President's proposal was too sweeping to pass, the committee wrote two key exclusions into the housing section.

The first would exempt the sale or rental of owner-occupied housing with no more than four dwelling units. The second would permit owners to sell or injuries to numerous persons.

Detective Lt. Carl Delau said he would go to the police prosecutor today and ask charges be placed against two adults and a juvenile in the death of Benoris Toney, 29, who was shot in a lumber yard parking lot early Saturday.

Six arrests Sunday night brought the total arrests in the week-long riots to more than 230.

About 250 police were on duty in the troubled areas Sunday night, along with 1,000 guardsmen. Police strength, however, was expected to be doubled tonight.

Meanwhile efforts were being made to find positive programs for the Hough district. The Community Relations Service of the U.S. Department of Justice took part in the sessions.

An employment center for persons who have lost jobs as a result of looting and destruction of property was the first step. It opened today.

There was scarcely enough work in the area Sunday night to keep the regular police force busy. National Guard troops were mostly out of sight but commanders said there had been no cutback at that point.

"The same number of troops are being used," Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetter, commander of the National Guard, explained. "We have most of them in mobile units now instead of on foot."

Meanwhile Negro groups made their own desperate efforts through weekend mass and private meetings to establish communications lines between rioters and city hall.

Washington (UPI) — U.S. officials today were studying a cryptic telegram, ostensibly from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, for some clue to his plans for the captured American fliers Hanoi has threatened to try as "war criminals."

The telegram was sent to the Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday in response to two questions CBS wired the aging Communist leader. One of the questions was whether Ho had decided to place the captive airmen on trial.

In response Ho said only, "no trial in view." He did not elaborate in the telegram, believed to be his first public pronouncement of any kind on the prisoner issue.

The other question asked "under what conditions, in your opinion, peace could return to Viet Nam?" Ho responded by stating: "American government sent troops to wage barbarous war against Vietnamese people causing the immense suffering, death and destruction. Let U.S. stop aggression and withdraw its soldiers from Viet Nam then peace will return immediately."

But, while Ho himself was non-committal about the threatened trials, the Hanoi government appeared to be attempting to find a legalistic basis for the trials and to be building a case against the pilots.

Hanoi Radio announced Saturday that an official 11-member committee had been established to investigate U.S. "war crimes" in Viet Nam. It also charged that U.S. raids had hit schools, populated cities, hospitals, dams, dykes, farms, factories and public health buildings.

Presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman, the American official chiefly responsible for prisoner of war negotiations, said Sunday that the United States had tried repeatedly without success to arrange a prisoner exchange with North Viet Nam.

He said during a television interview the United States has been trying to make it clear to Hanoi that it is not in North Viet Nam's best interests to mistreat U.S. prisoners.

Harriman said any kind of trial or execution would further unite the American people "to see this thing through" and would turn world opinion against the North Vietnamese.

Dear Abby... Neighbor Is in Need Of Music Lessons

DEAR ABBY: We recently purchased a very nice home in what we thought was a quiet, refined neighborhood. Shortly after moving in, we discovered that our next door neighbor had decorated the trees in her yard, as well as her porch, with "wind chimes."

They are little brass bells, ceramic discs, wooden clankers and glass do-dads—supposedly "musical"—noise makers.

The slightest little breeze sets these things knocking against each other and creating the darndest clanging, ringing, tingling racket you have ever heard. Now we don't want to make enemies of our neighbors, right off the bat, but we would like to know that we do not care for this kind of racket. Or is that music?

ANTI-CHIMES
DEAR ANTI: One man's racket is another man's Rachmaninoff. Invite her over for coffee and ask her if she read Dear Abby today.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old divorcee with a 7-year-old child. For the last two years I have been keeping house for a divorced man who has four children I live in and can keep my child with me. I fell in love with this man and things went farther than they should. Sometimes he acts like he loves me, but other times he slaps me around.

He also brings other women to the house and asks me to wait on them. This just about kills me. I can't leave because I have nowhere to go. The pay is good here and no one else would hire a woman with a child. How can I win this man over to marry me? I've never had it so good.

DESPERATE
DEAR DESPERATE: What's so "good" about living with a man who "slaps you around" and asks you to wait on his lady friends? There are other jobs available if you will look for them. Look in your local newspaper for help wanted. Try the employment agencies. It's my view that you could hardly have it worse.

DEAR ABBY: Mother of twins could just as well have signed her name. Everyone around here knew who she was anyway. She made such a big commotion about mothers sending their kids to a birthday party given by a pair of twins, with only one gift, "for the twins."

Ask her if, when she sends her twins to a birthday party, each twin brings a separate gift? Or do they both bring one, and put in a card saying, "from the twins"?

"pride" has caused more women to waste the best years of their lives regretting than all the other phony virtues combined. Forgive him while you are both young enough to enjoy it.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
Troop 69 members completing their Creative Dramatics badge last week were Brenda Boyd, Sheryl Hedrick, Karen McNair and Sherry Ridener. Janet Touchstone is to complete her badge this week. The members celebrated with a wienner roast and party honoring Brenda on her ninth birthday. This group is earning their Backyard Fun badge and this enabled them to fulfill some of the requirements. Gloria Dumais is earning this badge and attended the wienner roast.

Boy Scout troops from Greenville, Pa. had lunch in the Hobart St. Park last Friday. Scout uniforms are attractive and when seeing a group such as this one it commands attention. Although their Scout Masters modestly claimed the boys were training them, such organization and orderliness certainly didn't occur accidentally. The park showed little evidence; barrels loaded with boxes from carry-out lunches, of the visit of 37 Boy Scouts, 3 Scout Masters and their bus driver. Such out-of-doors manners will certainly make this group welcome across the nation.

Lee Osborne, Scout Master of Troop 75, assistant Scout Master Bob Kimmy and Ray Frankenburg from Troop 81 are the responsible and courageous adults accompanying these boys. When reaching Greenville, in the northwest corner of Pennsylvania, Sunday they will have traveled around 4,600 miles, spent 12 days in one camp, hiked to the bottom of the Grand Canyon with just ponchos and canteens, which is a feat in itself, at night with their flashlights. They toured several interesting places across the country and stayed nights at different air bases. Sunday will end 22 days of adventure and sight-seeing. A trip they will treasure the rest of their lives. One the boys will always remember and the scout masters shall never forget.

Can you imagine taking a tour of 22 days duration with 37 youngsters? It takes a certain type of person to assume duties as scout masters or Girl Scout leaders. These men certainly deserve a salute and honorable mention for duties performed above and beyond their roles as scout masters.

First week of Established Camp has concluded and now the second session is underway. Mrs. Jackson Black reported that her daughter Janet, along with others, are planning to attend both sessions. Janet is a Girl Scout exemplar. Such a true feeling for Scouting makes a person feel "good."

Mrs. Jack O. Miller said the Creative Dramatics sessions have had a nice turnout over the past five weeks. Next week will conclude this program. The group enacted "The Pied Piper" last week. Members of the Trustees assisted. Misses Betty Goodwyn and Sherry Harner conducted a separate class for Girl Scouts. Many thanks to those responsible for setting up the Summer Recreation Program. A needed and enjoyable way for youngsters to spend their leisure hours.

Buy Clothes to Last Says Pauline Trigere

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) —Pauline Trigere doesn't like very short skirts.

"Tell me," she said, "What's so pretty about a fat knee or a bony one? You would think we would be glad to keep them covered."

"I fought this trend, the Paris-born, New York designer told me. 'But it did no good: I had to give in. But only to the knee—no higher.'"

Things are buzzing in Trigere's Seventh Avenue showroom. It was nearing time for her fall collection to be presented. Phones rang, people bustled in and out of her office and so did Trigere. But in between the bustling and sips of black coffee she gave me her views on fashion.

"I think the kooky youth movement is dying," she said. "These clothes were made to attract attention but not to look good."

"If you hang a sleeve on the back of a dress it will certainly cause heads to turn. But not because it is pretty."

And so disposing of such things as the mod look and "peepholes" ("gimmicks are not fashion"), Pauline Trigere, whose own designs are beautiful and timeless, explained how she believes a woman should plan her wardrobe.

"I am an extravagant girl with the money I have at my disposal," she admitted. "But I am still French enough to feel that things should last. So you have to have a bit of quality. And my taste has always developed around good fabrics as a base for quality. You should always try to buy the best."

FROM THE TRIGERE fall '66 collection come these two timeless creations. Cape with Mephistopheles collar (left) in wool is worn over American Gothic hand-filled red and gold paillettes-embroidered evening dress. The shoulder belt of this full-skirted satin gown (right) exposes one bare shoulder. In lieu of buckle on the shoulder, a miniature coronet of precious stones is used.

Trigere deplores the trend toward buying two inexpensive dresses instead of one good dress and then throwing them out in a very short time.

"I go along with the man who with pride points out that his suit was made in 1946."

"I don't expect my customer to throw away a dress she bought a few years ago, but to add others to it to build a basic wardrobe."

With Trigere's clothes this is entirely possible. Her designs never look anything but current. She had her model put on some dresses, coats and capes she had designed in 1950. They could go anywhere today. One black cocktail dress she made in the '50s even did a good turn for its creator.

"Not long ago," she said, "I was going to a party and didn't know what to wear. I took that dress and put a white satin band on it. It was a sensation. She gave me a quizzical look from behind her green-tinted glasses. 'Of course, I didn't have to wear an old dress. I have lots of clothes,' Trigere gives me a good price."

Pauline Trigere designed the first reversible coat in 1942. Today it is a fashion first. The long evening gown in wool was her idea and, she admits, a hard one to sell. Yet today it is considered among the most chic fashions. She pioneered the cape, too, and says that for years women were shy of them. Today everyone is aware of the glamorous feminine feeling you slip into along with your cape.

Trigere has some advice for women planning a basic evening wardrobe.

"Get one long evening dress (not a ball gown) in red, black or gray. This will give you good wear for about three years. Later you add another, but the red, black or gray dress is still there. It supplies the same need as a mans tuxedo. When she travels, she has a full schedule—dinners, radio and television appearances—and must be beautifully turned out for all sorts of occasions. She solves the luggage problem by taking everything in one color so that the number of accessories and makeup items needed is cut to the bone.

On a recent trip to Europe it was all midnight blue. For Palm Beach it was all white. And this kind of thinking can make packing and planning a lark.

Pauline Trigere, who at an early age learned to cut and fit in her father's Paris tailoring shop, came to New York in 1936. She still does all her designing herself and has won every major American fashion award including the fashion world's highest honor, the Coty Hall of Fame Award.

Star quality in any field is the ability to take the stage, attract and then sustain an almost hypnotic attention from the audience. Season after season Trigere does just that.

Is It True What The Men Are Saying?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Men say: "Women take everything personally."
Men say: "Women used as little tact in their association with men as men use with women there would be fireworks all the time."

"Lookout for a woman driver." But chances are that car cutting in and out of traffic and that one roaring up to a stop sign all have a man at the wheel.

"Women don't know anything about money." Except how to stretch a dollar by careful, comparative shopping.

"Women talk too much." If men are such silent creatures how does it happen that a girl usually gets a man in the first place by attentive and appreciative listening?

"Women are born gossips." But so are men—only they never label their bits of inside information as gossip. When they bring home an eye-raising bit of gossip it's inside information.

"Women hate to grow old." How many men die from heart attacks trying to prove that they are just as physically fit in their thirties as they were in their twenties? (Women may kill a lot of time trying to look younger than they are but they don't kill themselves trying to act younger.)

"Women don't really like other women." Then why are there so many women's clubs and organizations if women don't enjoy each other's company?

"Women aren't logical." When men claim that, they do not seem to remember that it isn't exactly logical to lump all women together in one broad generality.

"It's impossible to understand a woman." Men may find it hard or even impossible—but women understand each other only too well.

Pharmaceutical Firm's Skin Specialist Is Concerned With Women's Allergies

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Today's guessing game won't bring any week's supply of groceries or a trip to Paris. But it affects every woman who wears cosmetics.

It seems the amateur psychoanalyst is having a field day with her neighbor's skin complaints. Diagnosing each other's allergies is becoming as much a kaffeeklatsch sport as depriving a psychiatrist of his $25 couch fee once was.

The truth appears to be that most women believe they are allergic to some of their cosmetics. Is this possible?

According to a woman executive for a pharmaceutical firm specializing in skin preparations, no one really knows statistically how many persons have allergies.

It is estimated that 10 to 20 per cent of the population are allergic to something, says Katherine Netting, vice president and director of marketing for Texas Pharmacal Co. Yet, a door-to-door survey by the company revealed that when the door-answerer was asked, "Is anyone in your home allergic?" 50 per cent replied affirmatively.

Were the replies truly reflecting an increase of rashes, wheezes, bumps and boils associated with "an allergic reaction." Or do they back up the industry's observation that many women say they are allergic to cosmetics although they never have been tested for sensitivity nor told by a doctor they were allergic to their hair spray, lipstick, mascara or perfume?

Many women do react to these products so essential to putting their best faces forward each day. This is why Mrs. Netting is concerned with women's attitudes toward allergies and cosmetics.

Her firm is among the four major manufacturers of cosmetics that bear a "frightening, misleading label for most women." These are the hypoallergenic cosmetics, these culprits—are eliminated completely or partially and synthetics substituted, if necessary. This happens when women still insist upon having scented cosmetics. Several years ago a scare over the possibly cancer-producing dyes used in lipsticks brought about a fear situation.

She describes the over-reaction to this as being similar "to a goifer who tries to correct a slice and winds up with a bad hook." Currently, she says, the Toilet Goods Association is testing lipsticks to see what colors should be eliminated and what colors will be all right to use. She says she hopes the problem will be worked out with "calmness and dignity."

Although Mrs. Netting says she can't speak for the giants in the cosmetic industry, she does believe there are few products that kid the public today. "No matter how crass the manufacturer, his business sense would tell him he can't get away with it."

tors working to develop an effective sun guard turned to this as studies revealed more people are developing photo-sensitivity through increased use of drugs.

Common ingredients that cause the most trouble, Mrs. Netting explains, are perfume that runs through most cosmetics, bromo acid, the fixative that gives staying power to lipstick, and lanolin that seems to add to the allergic load. As she explained, "lanolin" seems to jump in when people are feeling poorly and causes more trouble."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

FOR TUESDAY, JULY 26
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a beautiful day, and evening for learning about whatever may be cosmatic or mysterious to you and for gaining the will of those who are able to aid you in any and all behind-the-scenes vocations and interests. Tonight you can enjoy motion pictures, TV, etc., more than usual.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) — Much can be accomplished where both government and departmental work, business, securities, etc., are concerned. Be clever in all that you do. Then forget the nonsense for pleasure with loved one.

TARUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Have long talks with associates about present deals or contracts, and the future will result in fine benefits soon for all concerned. Talk over moot points. Come to a perfect understanding quickly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Getting right down to business will see all that week behind you quickly and then you have free time to address any other vital matters that interest you. Show the capabilities. Be energetic.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — If you are attuned properly to your planets, you find that this can be a very happy day and night for you. Be very agreeable to suggestions of others. This is especially true where recreation is concerned.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Improving home rains should be first on the agenda today. Whatever you feel is not helping you to get ahead as fast as you should can be forgotten. Increase security through concentrated effort.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) — Your ideas are excellent, so be sure to contact those with whom you wish to discuss them. An early start will free time for amusement and happiness later. Have a facial before going out in p.m.

LINBA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Fascinating partners can be depended upon to back you loyally in whatever you have in mind for the days ahead. Build up present abundance. Budgeting properly can help a very great deal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Doing what most pleases you brings success but you have to be patient with what, rube appearance. Be most interested in beauty and all its accoutrements. Bring out that inner beauty.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — A little self-analysis will reveal whether you are truly living up to the philosophy you espouse so freely. Assist those who are in most need. Evening is excellent for romantic leanings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Many clever allies will aid you to your aims if you confide in them what they are. Just about social places and make new acquaintances. These can be a source of inspiration to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Your public prestige can soar if you use your talents wisely in such directions. Show others what great ability you have in the outside world. Be full of vim and vigor and bubbling over with enthusiasm.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You are able to carry through with ambitions more easily if you get out and meet the right people, add to your circle of friends. Find right allies for new ideas. Show that you are cooperative appreciative.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those young children who will be filled with determination to gain own aims at any cost, so you had best teach early to cooperate more with others and be fair with them. If real success is to be had in adulthood, the right outlet here is one in which the finding is the main interest and which can lead to helping the public in general. Train properly, for such.

World's Largest Gas Well Flows Near Mobeetie

WHEELER (Sp) —What is described as the largest gas well in the world has been completed five miles north of Mobeetie in northwest Wheeler County.

The completion was made by the Phillips Petroleum Co and the well has been given a daily potential of 1.74 billion cubic feet of gas.

The Phillips No. 1 Dyson "A" potential is one-tenth of the entire 1965 marketed production of natural gas in Texas, which amounted to 18.54 billion cubic feet.

The enormous gasser, observers say, is unequalled for production anywhere in the world. It is located about 1 1/2 miles from the Phillips No. 1 Carville "A" well which was the first well in the Gageby Creek Field.

Two other wells have been completed by Phillips in that field for a total of 829 million cubic feet of gas daily from the Hunton zone, which is the same zone of the No. 1 Dyson "A."

The well, which went to a depth of 13,000 feet, was started by Phillips in April of 1965. It is 1,700 feet from south and 900 feet from west lines of Section 100 Block A-3, H&N Survey.

Formal Opening Of Sewage Plant Scheduled Soon

Formal opening of Pampa's new sewage disposal plant is scheduled in three or four weeks, City Manager Jim White said today.

Final payment for the $900,000 project will be made at tomorrow's city commission meeting to contractor A. W. Boren.

The city manager said some work still remains to be done by city workers before the plant is ready for formal opening. This will include grass seeding and completion of landscaping.

Plan to Close-Check Federal Bills Working

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (UPI) — J. Phillip Crawford, an assistant Texas attorney general, said today a three-year-old program to provide close check of federal legislation affecting Texas has worked out well so far.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr named Crawford to head the program in July, 1963, although no other state had tried such a project.

Primarily, Crawford scans new legislation introduced in Congress and determines the potential effect on Texas economy, natural resources, education and growth.

He reports his findings to the attorney general and the state legislature.

In Summer Training, Crawford, 36, has been in Ft. Chaffee the past two weeks with an Austin, Tex., Army Reserve unit undergoing annual summer training. A major, he is material maintenance officer and inspector general of the unit, the 363rd General Support Group.

Because of Crawford's prior investigation, Texas officials often are able to organize support for or opposition to a measure.

"You prepare for war in time of peace," Crawford said. "I'm not saying there is war between the state and federal government, but we can prepare prior to a bad piece of legislation being enacted. It is a lot harder changing something after it is enacted than while it is still being debated."

Flows Bill Through His reports on a particular bill often result in a directive from a state legislative committee for him to follow a bill through the various congressional committees, continuously submitting summaries of his findings and recommendations.

If a bill appears potentially good for Texas, in his opinion, Crawford determines what it will take for Texas to qualify "without giving up any of its sovereignty."

On the other hand, if Crawford believes the bill is against the state's best interests, he explains the areas he disagrees with.

Often his recommendations find their way to Wayne Gibbons, a former Texas legislator now lobbying for the state in Washington, D.C.

Texas was the third state, behind New York and California, to send a lobbyist to Washington, but the first to initiate a position such as Crawford now holds.

IFC Group To Start Hearings

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Sp) — Congressman Walter Rogers said today the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which he is ranking majority member, will begin hearings Tuesday on so-called "truth in packaging" legislation.

Rogers said the proposal is one that "must be weighed very carefully because its provisions could constitute an absolute encroachment into the free enterprise system — and could measurably jeopardize manufacturing progress and opportunities for young people and small businessmen."

Rogers said the bill to be considered would delegate decision-making powers affecting one-fourth of all consumer goods expenditures to officials in Federal regulatory agencies.

"The Committee will have to decide during its careful review of this matter, whether legislation posed in the name of consumer protection is in reality a further effort by federal regulators to expand their power to regulate this country's economic life and future," Congressman Rogers said.

As initial witnesses, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor and officials of the Federal Trade Commission and Food and Drug Administration will appear before the Commerce Committee.

In Monday's session of the Committee, Rogers said, a final decision is expected to be made on provisions to be included in auto safety legislation to be recommended to the House. Congressman Rogers said the controversial, highly publicized issue of auto safety had been handled by the Committee "in an extremely responsible manner" and that the bill to be reported, will be "more practical and workable" than similar legislation passed recently by the Senate.

In the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, on which Congressman Rogers serves as second ranking majority member, deliberations will continue on the Lower Colorado River Basin Projects Act, legislation which was forwarded to the full Committee by the Rogers Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation. As a result of efforts led by Congressman Rogers, the Texas Panhandle and High Plains area is included in the bill's provisions for planning the future use of Western and Southwestern water resources.

The full House of Representatives will spend the week deliberating the Civil Rights Act of 1966, which Congressman Rogers termed "a highly controversial measure certain to touch off a bitter fight on the floor, because the bill's housing provisions, contained in Title IV, are looked upon by some as a flagrant violation of the Constitutional right of private ownership of property."

Mini-Skirts Latest Rage

PARIS (UPI) — Mini-skirts had the opening of the Paris winter style shows today looking like the Follies Bergere.

Leg and lots of it — skirts from 4 to 12 inches above the knee — caused photographers to scramble at the presentation of designer Jacques Esterel.

Several wool coats and dresses were so short they were the length of bathing suits.

Esterel, a designer with talent for headlines as well as hemlines, had advertised his line as "long-short."

But to the amazement of the fashion press and buyers, "long" meant a purple coat and dress four inches above the mannequin's shapely knees.

The outfit was convertible to "short" with the girl unbuttoning a wide orange hemband and, good grief, both coat and dress came to the top of the leg.

Tribute Paid Jack Edmondson At C-C Lucheon

Tribute to 26 years' contribution to Pampa's schools and community life were paid L. J. Edmondson, former superintendent of schools and Mrs. Edmondson at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at noon today in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Norman Henry, chamber president presided as testimonials of appreciation were given by E. E. Shelhamer, chamber vice president and president of Pampa School Board; Mayor Jim Nation; Floyd Watson, past president of the Chamber of Commerce and school board; and Miss Judy Neslage, representing Pampa Classroom Teachers' Association.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Don Hauck, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Misses Joan Craig and Susan Benton, soloists, accompanied by Susan Patrick, pianist provided special entertainment.

Senate Gets Two Plans to End Airline Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two proposals to end the airlines strike — one a six-month back-to-work mediation formula and the other compulsory arbitration plan — were introduced in the Senate today. Both were headed for consideration at a meeting of the Senate Labor Committee later today.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., introduced a bill to require compulsory arbitration of the 18-day-old strike similar to that used in heading off a railroad strike.

Dirksen's measure would set up a seven member arbitration board which would have authority to go to court to compel both sides to accept its findings.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., offered a revised proposal calling for a six-month back-to-work directive without putting the five struck airlines under federal receivership.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds, chief federal mediator in the strike, said at the Labor Department, "as long as there is discussion on Capitol Hill there can be no serious bargaining here. They're waiting here to see what kind of shoe they drop on the hill."

Rebels Capture Tournament, 6-2

PITTSBURGH First baseman Donn Clendenon takes cover after a high inside fastball came just a bit too close. It may not look graceful, but at least it's safe.

Harper Pitches Victory

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Pampa beat Borger for the second time in two days Sunday, something that had been quite a chore for them recently, to win the championship trophy in the Pampa American Legion baseball tournament.

Roy Harper, who singled in the winning runs Saturday night, pitched a six-hitter, retiring the last nine men to face him and sending Pampa to a 6-2 victory.

Harper fanned eight and walked one, in the seventh, but the runner was cut-down in a game ending double play.

The Rebels won four straight games during the tournament, downing Perryton, 6-5; Canyon, 5-0 and Borer twice, 13-2 and 6-2.

Borger went in front 1-0 Sunday in the second when Page singled and was wild pitched to second and scored on a single by Connelly.

The Bulldogs made it 2-0 in the third on an unearned run. Brewer singled, went to third on an error and scored when Molberg threw wild on a grounder by Hatley.

Pampa tied it in the third on Harper's lead-off double and walk to Achord. Hyatt's sacrifice and a two-run single by Rick Foster.

Both Foster and Harper had the hot bats for the day, each going three for three.

The game stayed tied until the sixth when the Rebels broke the ice for four runs.

Summers and Jones singled. Sanders sacrificed them to second and third, Harper bunted safely to score Summers and Jones scored when Achord bunted and reached first on an error.

Hyatt was safe on a fielder's choice with Harper scoring and Larry Turcotte singled home Achord.

San Francisco's Willie Mays socked his 22nd of the year with a man aboard in the third inning but winning pitcher Ron Herbel (4-3) needed relief help from Bill Henry in the seventh inning to nail down the victory.

Henry got Philadelphia's Bill White on a fly ball with the bases loaded and Frank Linzy pitched one-hit ball the last two frames.

Joe Torre's 26th home run of the season and second of the game, made Cincinnati relief pitcher Billy McCool the second game loser after he had been credited with the opening game win. Torre's throwing error gave the Reds the first game.

Vada Pinson walked in the 10th, went to third on Dick Kelley's wild pitch and scored when the Atlanta catcher fired the ball past Mike De La Hoz at third base after retrieving the pitch.

Chicago snapped St. Louis' six game win streak with a 14-run hit first game attack. Adolfo Phillips and George Altman had three safeties apiece and Glenn Beckert knocked in three runs. Lou Brock's three run homer in the 10th inning gave the Cards a split.

Drysdale Bats, Pitches Dodgers Nearer Pirates

By United Press International

Walt Alton figured he'd seen everything when Don Drysdale took part in a double header this spring but there was one thing missing - until now.

Alton, the major league's senior manager in point of service, has been blessed with one of baseball's finest pitching staffs most of the past decade, but for all their talents his teams had not blanked the opposition in double headers since he took over in 1954.

Drysdale supplied half the remedy Sunday when he turned in his first whitewash of the season, blanking the New York Mets 5-0 on six hits and Joe Moeller and Phil Regan combined to register a five hit, 6-0 nightcap win to complete the double shutout. The twin triumphs enabled third place Los Angeles to pick up a half game in the National League race, leaving them only 2½ games behind Pittsburgh.

Alton inherited a pitching rotation led by Don Newcombe, Johnny Podres and Carl Erskine and the current generation boasts Sandy Koufax, Claude Osteen, Don Sutton and Drysdale. In 12 seasons, his teams won five National League pennants and three world championships but not until Sunday was the double shutout achieved.

One reason is that Los Angeles schedules very few twinbills, Sunday's was the first this year at Dodger Stadium. Also, the team is rarely rained out at home, decreasing the possibility of a postponed game being re-scheduled as part of a doubleheader.

Drysdale, off to a miserable start after missing spring training when he teamed with Koufax as co-holdouts, recorded his seventh triumph against 11 setbacks and belted his second home run of the season to help his cause. John Kennedy and John Roseboro added to the score with homers later in the game.

Moeller (1-2) went seven innings giving up four hits and Regan worked the last two frames. Maury Wills doubled home Jeff Torborg in the fifth and the Dodgers added four unearned runs in the seventh after Met third baseman Ken Boyer dropped a throw in a rundown. Lou Johnson and Tommy Davis took advantage of the situation to single home two runs apiece.

Elsewhere in the senior circuit, San Francisco beat Philadelphia 4-1, Pittsburgh downed Houston 11-6, Cincinnati split 10 inning decisions with Atlanta, winning the opener 4-3 and dropping the second game 5-4, and Chicago defeated St. Louis 10-7 and then lost 7-4.

Willie Stargell, the league's number two batter, pinch-hit a three-run homer, his 24th of the year, in the seventh inning to break a 5-5 tie and spark Pittsburgh's come from behind victory. It was hit off losing pitcher Ron Taylor and followed Mety Alous double and a pinch-hit single by Manny Mota. The homer was the

Golfers Mourn Death of Lema

MUNSTER, Ind. (UPI) — Professional golfers today mourned the death of Champagne Tony Lema, one of the most carefree and colorful stars of the pro golf tour.

The happy-go-lucky golfer, his wife and two others persons were killed when their private plane crashed and burned on a golf course straddling the Illinois-Indiana state line Sunday night.

Lema, 32, had planned to play the $12,000 Lincolnshire Open at nearby Chicago Heights, Ill. today.

More than 100 horrified onlookers watched from the windows of the Sportsmen's Club golf course club house as the twin-engine plane tried an emergency landing near a small lake.

The wing-tip touched the turf not far from the seventh hole and the plane burst into flames as it fell into the water. One witness said onlookers heard screams as they rushed from the club house.

The plane carried Lema; his wife of three years, Betty; Dr. George Bard, Kankakee, Ill.; and the pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, mother of five. Mrs. Lema was a former airline stewardess.

Lema, a native of Oakland, Calif., who was first bitten by the golf bug as a caddy in San Francisco, had just wound up a disappointing 34th in the PGA Tournament at Akron, Ohio.

A flight operator at Joliet, Ill., said the pilot of the ill-fated plane gave no reason when she advised she was attempting an emergency landing. "We understand they tried to avoid a fisherman on the lake and they crashed," he said.

Lema, whose trademark was champagne parties after each tournament victory, had picked up $44,571.25 on the pro tour this year, including $775 in the PGA tourney which ended Sunday.

Matson Throws Shot 66-8½ in LA Meet

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Theron Lewis of Texas Southern, who anchored a U.S. team to a new world 1600 meters relay record Sunday in the Los Angeles Times International Games, wasn't the only Texan to pick up points in the meet.

Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the world's shot put champion, had won his specialty Saturday with a toss of 66 feet 8½ inches.

OKKER WINS HILVERSUM, The Netherlands (UPI) — Tom Okker of Holland defeated Bob Hewitt of Australia 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, to capture the men's singles title of the Dutch International Lawn Tennis Championships.

The women's crown went to Annette Van Zyl of South Africa, who beat Trudy Groenman of Holland, 6-3, 6-1.

Jimmy Brown ... Running in Another Direction

The gentleman wearing the Cleveland Browns uniform, left, is the same as the one wearing the U.S. Army uniform, right. And that is why Art Modell, owner of the Browns, is having headaches. Jimmy Brown has announced his retirement from pro football to concentrate on his acting career and other business interests. Currently, Brown is in England filming "The Dirty Dozen." Brown has been one of the great running backs in the history of pro football.

Casey, Ted Go To Hall Today
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — The doors of baseball's Hall of Fame will finally swing wide open Monday for Ted Williams and Casey Stengel.

Williams, the finest hitter of the last 30 years, and Stengel, the most successful manager in the last three decades, will be formally inducted into the baseball shrine in the small community where according to legend the game was founded.

William D. Eckert, the baseball commissioner, will preside over the ceremonies including the 75-year-old Stengel and 47-year-old Williams into the hall.

Homers Help NY Topple Angels In Doubleheader

By United Press International

Tom Tresh is still hitting less, but he's beginning to enjoy it more.

The 27-year-old Yankee outfielder is experiencing his worst season in professional baseball with only a .219 batting average to date, but he has caught the home run fever this past week and the smiles are starting to come back.

Tresh, who blasted 26 homers and batted .279 last year, unloaded a grand slam homer in the opener and a pinch-hit homer in the nightcap Sunday to spark the New York Yankees to a 9-1, 4-1 doubleheader sweep of the California Angels.

The twin blasts by the talented switch-hitter gave him five homers in his last eight games despite the fact he has managed only eight hits in his last 45 official at bats.

In other American League action, Washington swept a better than my batting average indicates," Tresh said after the doubleheader. "I've been bothered by a muscle pull in my leg, it doesn't hurt as I start but as the game goes along, it begins bothering me."

Tresh's grand slammer in the opener, his second in the majors, broke open the contest in the fifth inning while his pinch-hit blast in the nightcap tied the game at 1-1 in the sixth inning. His second round-tripper of the day was his 13th of the season and gave him a career total of 100.

"It was my first pinch-hit homer ever," Tresh told reporters. "I knew it was my 100th because somebody told me the other day when I reached 98. Both homers were gratifying but I suppose the second was more important."

In other American League action, Washington swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 7-4; Cleveland split a doubleheader with Detroit, winning the first game 3-0 and dropping the nightcap 2-1 in 10 innings; Minnesota topped Boston 4-2; and Chicago blanked Baltimore 4-0.

Tresh's grand slam and additional homers by Mickey Mantle and Jo Pepton made the victory an easy one for Mel Stottlemyre in the opener. Mantle's homer, his 20th of the season, was the 493rd of his career and tied him with Lou Gehrig for sixth place on the all-time list.

Jake Gibbs singled home the winning run in the seventh inning of the nightcap to give reliever Dooley Womack his third victory against three losses. Dean Chance suffered his 12th setback against seven victories. Jim Fregosi had a homer for the Angels.

The Senators unloaded six homers in their doubleheader sweep of the Athletics as they moved out of 10th place. Bob Saverine, Don Lock, Ken McMullen and Fred Valentine blasted round-trippers to help Pete Richert to his ninth victory in the opener while Ken Harrelson belted a three-run pinch homer and Paul Casanova added a solo blast in the nightcap. Casanova's smash broke a 4-4 tie in the nightcap and sparked a three-run winning rally that handed reliever Casey Cox his third victory.

Geiberger Masters Firestone Again

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Arnold Geiberger, the new PGA golf champion, readily confesses he has fallen madly in love — with a local piece of real estate.

The name of the property is the Firestone Country Club course and although the 28-year-old California beanpole doesn't hold the deed on the place, he acts as if he owns it.

Geiberger already has earned $45,000 on the course during the past 11 months and the only condition under which he finally left it Sunday night after winning the PGA title by four strokes was that he be permitted to come back soon.

He assured him he could on Sept. 10, 11 when he will have a shot at another $50,000 in the World Series of Golf against U.S. Open king Billy Casper, Masters title-holder Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler, who gets in as the Canadian Open winner because Nicklaus also won the British Open.

The exhausted, emotion-wracked Geiberger allowed he was "pretty tired" following his final round 36-36-72 which gave him a 280 total, the same one he posted in winning the American Golf Classic over the 7,180-yard Firestone layout 11 months ago.

He had a right to feel weary after his roller-coaster-like final round in which he started out like a Sunday duffer by bogeying three of the first four holes and then heroically pulled himself together for a comfortable victory over runnerup Dudley Wysong.

Wysong checked in with a 72 that gave him a 284 total, worth $15,000, while Casper, Littler and former U.S. Open champion Gary Player each earned $8,333 for winding up deadlocked at 286.

Palmer managed his finest round of the tour on the final day, a two under par 68, but still closed seven strokes off the pace at 287 along with Julius Boros, Jacky Cupit, Doug Sanders and 54-year-old Sam Snead, the second round leader who limped home with a 73.

Nicklaus finished with 292, and defending champ Dave Marr a stroke in front of him with 291.

The two "big boys" — Arnold Palmer and pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus — never were serious factors from the start.

Palmer managed his finest round of the tour on the final day, a two under par 68, but still closed seven strokes off the pace at 287 along with Julius Boros, Jacky Cupit, Doug Sanders and 54-year-old Sam Snead, the second round leader who limped home with a 73.

Nicklaus finished with 292, and defending champ Dave Marr a stroke in front of him with 291.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all his products, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Putting Ghosts to Rest

Man, for thousands of years, has been plagued by myths, superstitions, and old wives' tales. Walking under ladders and breaking mirrors was considered "bad luck." Let a black cat cross your path, and you were in for real trouble. Friday the thirteenth was a day for the wise to stay home in bed; no one in their right mind would take a hotel room on the thirteenth floor (most hotels, even today, skip from 12 to 14 in numbering their floors); three-on-a-match, and you were doomed; and "witches," as everyone knows could put a "hex" on you.

But as time went on and man acquired more knowledge, learned to reason from facts and with logic rather than to be ruled by fear, these crippling beliefs, one-by-one, were put away.

Strange thing, though. As the old mental cripples were exploded and relegated to limbo, new ones were continually being conjured up to take their place.

One of the most persistent fallacious and destructive is the widely held conviction that automation is a destroyer of jobs. Fed by both government and union propaganda, this modern myth was well on its way to becoming one of those things that man "knows" that are simply not so.

Another fallacy gaining popular belief, is the idea that newspapers are on the way out. How this one got started, no one seems to know with any degree of certainty. If the truth were known, the trial would probably lead to some bureaucratic closet. Certainly the fact that government has taken it upon itself to license and control radio and television and in the process, to throw some juicy "advertising" contracts their way, has done much to convey the idea that communication via chasing power lost through inflation amounts to $6,492. Even these figures are on the conservative side since they do not include other federal, state or local taxes, all of which have climbed to phenomenal heights.

Suppose the same family had an income of $10,000 in 1939. It then would have been subject to $269 in federal income and social security taxes. Today it must have income of $27,288 to buy the same amount, since $4,770 would be taken in federal income and social security taxes, and $12,787 in purchasing power would be lost through inflation.

If the family was in the $25,000 income bracket in 1939 it then would have paid $1,727 in federal taxes. Now to purchase the same amount, the family would have to have total income of $76,416. Of this $22,562 would go for the federal taxes, and $30,581 would be lost purchasing power from inflation.

To those who contend they never had it so good because of all the dollars they see rolling in, we suggest they do a little checking to see if they are not doing "all the running they can do, to keep in the same place."

Editor & Publisher, trade magazine of the newspaper industry, reports that W. D. Maxwell, editor of the Chicago Tribune, and Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of papers in Indianapolis and Phoenix, have resigned from the board of trustees of DePaul University because of the board's decision to seek federal aid for a new science building. A third member of the board to resign with them was Ernest M. Sims of Elkhart, Ind.

The board voted to apply for $1.3 million of federal tax payers' money to assist in construction of a $4 million building.

The three trustees objected that federal "aid" would lead to federal control of the school, the airways will replace your daily newspaper.

Both of these modern myths are, of course, without foundation. Automation, rather than destroying actually creates jobs. And newspapers, with their news coverage in depth and business-getting advertising, are not about to be replaced by capulsated news briefs and asinine commercials.

As a myth killer, Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, rates considerably above par. Speaking before the Newspaper Personnel Relations Association at its convention in Denver recently, Smith gave forth with these ghost-laying gems:

"Smith said newspaper employment has increased by 100,000 since 1947. 'This will dispel the long-standing myth,' he said, 'that the newspaper business is declining.'"

"A significant aspect," he went on to add "of the increase in newspaper work is the proof that the bogey of automation hasn't lived up to its advance billing as a destroyer of jobs, a creator of unemployment and the villain to snatch bread from the mouths of women and children."

"As Smith said, 'these machines don't operate without people. They make it possible for the same number of people to do more work with less effort. The net effect is to enhance the position of newspapers versus the other media.'"

"Only in cities where union resistance 'backed up,' we might add, by governmental regulations and preferential laws," prevented the use of new technology has the number of newspaper jobs declined."

Rest well, ye ghosts who caused men to live in ignorance and fear.

Country Editor speaking: "A lot of folks would be nudists if they were clothed in their own humility."

The underground railroad was a term used popularly in the northern states during the Civil War to designate the organized system by which slaves were helped to freedom. The Quakers of Pennsylvania initiated the system. Estimates of the number of slaves helped to freedom via the underground railroad range from 40,000 to 100,000.

Messrs. Maxwell, Pulliam and Sims are to be congratulated for standing by their principles.

Freckles are back in style. That's the word from Paris, style capital of the world, where the French models have started an international fad by accentuating the small brown spots on the skin. Those without them are penciling them on. Years ago the gals used to bleach them out — not so today with Hollywood lassies like Geraldine Chaplin and Julie Christie displaying theirs. Many leading cosmetics and beauty experts consider them a wonderful sign of youth and part of the trend toward natural beauty. And stylists are even matching them with ready-to-wear clothing. Imagine a mauve dress with mauve freckles. So get swinging, gals. If you ain't got 'em, paint 'em on.

Today's smile: A judge was questioning a police officer and asked: "How could you be certain the man was drunk?" The cop replied: "He was carrying a manhole cover. Your Honor, and he told me he was taking it home to play it on his hi-fi."

Washington's anti-poverty war is a lot more lucrative for the generals fighting it than the other war in Vietnam. Sargent Shriver gets $30,000 as director, which is better than General Westmoreland's base pay of $23,268 in far-off Saigon. Six of Shriver's assistants get $26,000; 18 get more than $25,000; another 54 are paid about $19,600; and 510 get upwards of $14,680. In addition, 1,006 of the 2,350 employees in the Washington headquarters and branch offices of the Office of Economic Opportunity are paid more than $10,000 a year. At those prices we wonder how Uncle Sam can have enough dough left to win the war against poverty.

Thoughts while shaving: They have found a new way of naming babies in Sweden. An IBM computer was fed 2,000 first and last syllables of typical Scandinavian monikers like John, Ingrid, Astrid and Gustav. The incredible machine turned out 900,000 potential new names. Leg - watching is a national sport, and with skirts being where they are these days the gals are giving as much cosmetic attention to their gams as they do to their faces. One leading cosmetic firm has put out a kit of leg makeup with a two-ended brush, one fat, the other flat. The idea is to highlight the good areas and minimize the bad. Another firm's kit requires color to be applied with water and brush. The idea is to paint little designs on the knees, or simply shape them. What's next? ... Few persons outside of New York and New Jersey ever heard of a Surrogate Court until Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's candidate, Surrogate Judge Samuel J. Silverman, won a noteworthy political victory a few weeks ago. In other parts of the country they are called probate, orphan's or ordinary courts. They deal exclusively with probating wills, administering estates and similar legal business. The name comes from the Middle Ages when a bishop's assistant, or surrogate, settled all estate claims. ... The Evansville (Indiana) PRESS headlined a story: "Birth Pills May Stop Accidents. Experts Claim." A lot of folks hope so.

THE BIG DECISION — U. S. intelligence experts contend that the timing of Hanoi's war trial warnings is as significant as their content. If President Johnson is going to order the dikes bombed this year, they point out, the decision will have to be made within the next three or four weeks to be fully effective. During this monsoon period, the rivers will reach their peak, and destruction of the dikes would result in massive flooding throughout North Viet Nam. One intelligence estimate is that the high-water bombings might cause enough damage to force North Viet Nam to abandon the war. However, once these flood waters start to recede the attacks will be less productive. While the Hanoi government is expected to go through with its threat to try the prisoners in the near future, the intelligence authorities believe the North Vietnamese will stop short of actual executions. As part of its blackmail plan, the Hanoi regime is expected to hold the fliers as "official hostages," threatening their execution if the U. S. attacks the dikes.

Defense Department records show there are 34 known U. S. prisoners in North Viet Nam. Another 56 servicemen are missing and believed to be prisoners of the Reds. Ninety-three more are listed as "missing" with no knowledge of their whereabouts.

THE FORGOTTEN WAR — Although a truce was signed 13 years ago on July 27, 1953, North and South Korea are technically still at war, according to a State Department report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. It points out that a peace treaty has never been concluded. ... A demilitarized zone 151 miles long and some three miles wide separates the armies of the UN Command and the North Korean and Chinese Communist forces. Of the original 13 nations that fought the Communists, only the U. S., Thailand and South Korea still have troops in Korea. ... The UN Command has established that the Communists have committed more than 2,300 truce violations since the agreement was signed. The Communists had admitted only two. Major and minor violations of the terms occur on an average of one every 48 hours.

The Korean war lasted three years, one month and two days. An estimated 1,820,000 men were killed or maimed. The Communists suffered 1,420,000 casualties, dead and wounded, of which 900,000 were Chinese and 52,000 North Koreans. South Korea lost 415,000 dead, and 428,000 were wounded. The U. S. suffered 157,530 casualties, of whom 33,629 died in battle. ... Nine months after the armistice was signed, a political conference was held in Geneva—April 1954. It ended in failure, and no other meeting has since been called to try to work out a political settlement — A grim reminder for Viet Nam.

DELUXE LOBBYING — President Johnson is so intent on getting his latest civil rights proposal through Congress that he is making his yacht available to Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach for a crash lobbying drive. In a major effort to enlist support for the controversial housing section of the civil rights bill before it comes up in the House next week, the attorney general has wined and dined legislators aboard the USS honey fitz all week. His invitations, sent to more than 50 members, read: "I am having an informal party for my friends in Congress aboard the USS Honey Fitz. Drinks and dinner will be served on board. The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Dumping Syndrome Bothers Many High-Strung People

One of the most unpleasant results of the removal of a large part of the stomach is a condition called the dumping syndrome. Some persons with a surgically diminished stomach within an hour or less after eating feel suddenly weak, and are dizzy and nauseated. This is because the food in their stomachs is precipitously dumped into the upper small intestine (jejunum) too rapidly.

The victims are usually women with a highly sensitive nature. It has been shown that the spells are most likely to occur when a large amount of cold liquid is imbibed hurriedly. If the meal contains a large proportion of sugar, the spell will come on even more quickly. The cause, therefore, appears to be a high degree of jejuna irritability with cold, distention and sugar acting as the principal irritants.

The prevalence of this condition has discouraged many surgeons from removing part of stomach if the patient is high-strung and if the reason for considering the operation is a chronic stomach ulcer. If, on the other hand, the patient has a gastric cancer, there is no choice but to remove it.

Those who suffer from the dumping syndrome can learn to control the attacks by using a judicious diet low in carbohydrates, avoiding cold fluids and taking methysergide or cyproheptadine. These measures rarely fail but when they do, certain operative procedures may be required to correct the trouble.

Q—My husband has had a duodenal ulcer for 20 years. Recently he lost a lot of tarry blood in his stool and became very weak. The doctor said his ulcer was bleeding. How could he tell without taking X-rays?

A—Although there are other causes of blood in the stool, a massive hemorrhage is almost always from a bleeding ulcer, especially if the blood has been at 6:30 p.m. and will return about 10 p.m.

On one cruise down the Potomac, the attorney general hosted the entire House Judiciary Committee. Members say he plugged vigorously for the compromise proposal, which bars racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing except by a single owner-occupant.

He also urged all legislators to be present when the House Democratic leaders call up the bill under the 21-day rule on Monday, July 25.

While passage of the measure is expected in the House, the issue is still in doubt in the Senate, where Southern members are threatening to stage a filibuster.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., is now making a poll to determine whether he can obtain the necessary two-thirds vote for cloture. If he can not, he plans to ask the President to junk the controversial housing provision.

Illegal Boycotts

(The Chicago Tribune)

A decision by the United States Supreme Court indicates that the court at last may be losing patience with picketing by civil rights demonstrators. The case originated in Savannah, Ga., where a grocer sued the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and its Savannah branch, charging conspiracy to destroy his business by picketing. Evidence at the trial indicated that pickets had been stationed near the store for about three weeks after a Negro boy employed at the store said the grocer had beaten him. The grocer denied beating the boy and said he fired him for stealing.

A jury awarded the grocer $85,793 in damages. The award was upheld by the Georgia Supreme Court. On appeal to the United States Supreme Court, the parent N.A.A.C.P. contended that the Savannah branch was "semiautonomous" and that the national organization was not responsible for the picketing.

The Supreme Court, by a 5 to 4 vote, dismissed the appeal, thus allowing the damage award to stand. The four dissenters—Justice Warren, Douglas, Brennan, and Fortas—said the judgment should have been reversed.

The decision serves notice on civil rights organizations that they are not free to boycott a business establishment whenever they feel they have a grievance against the proprietor. Picketing can be regulated under local laws because it may interfere with public traffic and it may be coercion in restraint of trade. Under some circumstances it is likely to be an incitement to violence.

The decision will have special interest in Washington, D.C., where picketing to induce patrons to boycott stores whose owners have refused to put up window stickers supporting the movement for a "free" District of Columbia. If this kind of coercion is permissible, there is nothing to prevent various kinds of shakedowns of business proprietors.

In seeking to avoid responsibility for the actions of a local branch, the parent N.A.A.C.P. was on shaky ground. The national group has often intervened in support of local branches in legal actions growing out of civil rights demonstrations. It can hardly be responsible when it chooses and irresponsible when it chooses.

Perhaps many of us have become so "sophisticated" that we can no longer think straight. For it is obvious that crime is actually being encouraged by making excuses for it, by insisting that "rejection by society" or the criminal's psychological problems remove all blame attaching to his crimes. That line of thought comes close to actually justifying crime as a response to real or fancied slights from others.

If crime is excused or seemingly justified by respected members of the community, it will become attractive to more people, and more crimes will be committed. No person old enough to know the meaning of his own acts should escape the strongest moral condemnation and the most convincing punishment for any crime he commits.

exposed to the digestive juices and is larry rather than bright red. Your husband's long history of ulcer was another clue. X-rays would have shown nothing unless he drank a mixture of barium sulfate and water. In

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Cooperative Hi-Jacking Mr. James R. Hoffa is urging labor leaders to work toward common expiration dates in major cities and key industries. He wants them to cooperate in putting our major industries and cities under the pressure of simultaneous multi-union strike threats. In this way he says the unions can achieve large contract gains.

If this policy were adopted, it would be equivalent to a plot among organized labor leaders to hi-jack the remainder of society. It could only be effective because a large part of the public does not belong to labor unions. If we all belonged to unions, a policy of this kind would only result in all of us paying more for the various goods and services which we consume.

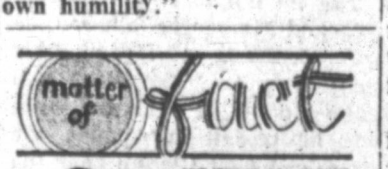

It should never be forgotten that labor now gets about ninety percent of all the money earned by the American corporations available for distribution between labor and owners.

How much more does Mr. Hoffa think labor can get by further encroaching upon the ten percent now going to owners? If labor should get it all, it would mean only about one-ninth more than labor gets at present. But if owners received nothing, there would be no incentive for them to save, and we would soon run out of capital. If the owners' share is squeezed much lower than at present, shortages of capital will grow worse.

It should furthermore be remembered that every good job in America requires the investment of about $22,000. Some body must save this capital, or jobs will not be available. No one is going to save unless he is relatively certain of some reward for his self-denial.

If Mr. Hoffa will think the matter over carefully he will see that the owner's share, as a reward for saving and risk-taking, cannot be reduced much more without destroying the incentive to save. That would of course force us into a totalitarian economy where the government did the saving by withholding production from the holders. Surely, Mr. Hoffa did not want a Chinese or Russian form of Communist economy.

Let him beware that he does not bring it upon us by excessive demands.

Television In Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK (UPI) —The remarkable Patrick McGooohan of "Secret Agent" is working on his new series in a small office at MGM studios — at Elstree outside London. Recently I dropped in to see what he has in preparation for the American networks next year.

This is not as casual as it sounds — it takes a bit of negotiation to get to see McGooohan. For one thing he is shy. For another he feels his views on sex and violence in television are well known — he won't have any of the first and limits the second to the action absolutely essential to the plot. And he insists on keeping his private life private: He is happily married to the woman he described as "my first and last wife." So the handsome U.S. born Irishman tends to find an interview a repetitious ordeal in ordinary circumstances. But my visit did not come at an ordinary time.

For McGooohan had only just crystallized the conception of his new series "The Prisoner" and was excited enough about its possibilities to forget the 15-minute limit he usually imposes on questioners. This time he did most of the talking, and if he manages to bring off before the camera the many facets of drama he sees in its basic situation, "The Prisoner" may be one of the more gratifying TV successes of 1967.

"The Prisoner" is an effort to take the curious world of counter-espionage into a new and deeper dimension. It will be a one-hour show in color limited to a minimum of 13 episodes and a maximum of 30.

"The trouble with television is that it takes an idea and milks it to death," McGooohan said. "They keep it going until they're scraping the barrel for plots—we did 86 'Secret Agents' and we went through the bottom of the barrel. But 'The "Prisoner" will be different. "Each episode will be self-contained but part of a continuing story line. It will be absolutely essential, however, to see the first segment for an understanding of the series. So we are going to publish that one as a book and anyone who misses it and who is intrigued by later episodes can get the book and read all the basic information.

"John Drake of 'Secret Agent' is gone" he said, "but we're not foolish enough to try to change the image we have established with TV audiences.
