Judge Bars Photographer From Venue Hearing for Dr. Sheppard

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Judge Francis J. Talty has barred a United Press International photographer from attending today's change of venue hearing for accused wife-slayer Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

Talty took the action Tuesday against Ron Kuntz of the UPI Cleveland staff because Kuntz took two pictures Monday of newsmen picking up hearing credentials in bailiff Lawrence D. Patrick's office.

He also asked that the picture negatives be turned over to the court. A UPI spokesman said the negatives would be delivered to the bailiff's office "under protest."

In taking his action, Talty said the UPI could have a staff man at the hearing, but he barred Kuntz personally and said he would "hold open" any possible contempt citation.

Talty said the pictures violated rules governing newsmen who will cover the hearing. The regulations were announced Monday. Kuntz said he had acted in the belief that pictures of newsmen picking up credentials did not violate the rules.

Roger Tatarian, UPI vice president and editor, said in New York:

"It is difficult to understand how a photograph of newsmen being issued credentials for a hearing still to be held can in any way disturb the judicial process. We are delivering the negatives to the court only because an employe agreed to do so, but we are doing so under protest and in the hope that this difficulty can be resolved without needless complications."

Talty, who has been a judge for less than two years, issued an 11-point order Monday limiting the news reporting of the first step of the Sheppard trial.

The rules spelled out by the 46-year-old jurist govern today's hearing on the attempt of Sheppard's attorneys to move to another county his second trial for the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

Talty declared no cameras, tape recorders, stenographic devices, teletype machines, telephones or any similar device will be permitted in the court building.

Cambodia and Indonesia to Be Mediators?

MANILA (UPI)—Japan, Cambodia and Indonesia are being considered as prospective mediators in the Viet Nam war, informed sources said today.

One or all of them might be asked to establish contact with North Viet Nam and present the peace formula which the United States and six other allies hope to forge during their summit meeting here Oct. 24 and 25.

Officials have refused to publicly comment on the search for a mediator in the Viet Nam conflict, saying it is a "sensitive" question which must be handled in secrecy. But Indonesia appears to be the most likely candidate. It is one of the few Asian countries which has diplomatic relations with Hanoi.

Heavy Agenda Faces School Board Meeting

A sixteen-item agenda and twenty information items are to come to the attention of the Pampa Independent School District trustees at a board meeting tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the office of school superintendent, John D. Dameron.

Included in the discussion items will be procedures to be utilized in the selection of an architect and bond adviser; leasing of a pickup for vocational agriculture department use; the Special Education program; recent acts of vandalism and the immediate need for two portable classrooms at Travis School.

Dameron announced there would be report of registration for adult night and junior college classes as well as employment, resignation and reassignment of personnel.

Dameron said Vallo L. Voight of the school plant section of the Texas Education Agency will be in Pampa to conduct a custodial and maintenance workshop Oct. 17-20. The workshop will be held in Houston School beginning at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Rail Switchmen Walk Off Jobs

CHICAGO (UPI)—An estimated 2,500 switchmen walked off their jobs Tuesday night, tying up all traffic on the 8,000-mile-long Rock Island Lines Railroad.

A Rock Island spokesman, Ted Zirbes, said today that the road had obtained a temporary restraining order from federal Judge Joseph Sam Perry in Chicago.

The order, Zirbes said, would be served on several officers of the striking union and would restrain them from continuing the strike until Oct. 22 at which time a hearing would be held.

The sudden strike at 8 p.m. CST took company officials and some union members by surprise. Trains were suddenly pushed off to sidings from St. Paul, Minn., to Tucuman, N.M., stranding passengers and freight.

McNamara Visits GI's On Viet Nam Battlefield

DA NANG (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara toured one of the war's hottest battlefronts today to learn first hand from American GI's what is needed to win the conflict.

McNamara spent so much time at a briefing at the field headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry at Phu Cat he was forced to cancel an intended visit to the Communist Horror camp discovered Tuesday by Cavalry troops.

From Phu Cat, the cavalry's forward command post, for Operation Irving, which has virtually wiped out the Communist 610 Division in three weeks of fighting, the kahki-clad McNamara visited American troops in a field hospital at Qui Nhon and then flew to Da Nang.

There he boarded a plane to fly to the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany to spend the night.

At the Cavalry command post, McNamara was shown pictures of the Communist butchery at the jungle prison camp. Before fleeing advancing American troops North Vietnamese guards manacled 19 prisoners together, tossed them into a pit and sprayed them with machinegun bursts and hand grenades. Seven survived. McNamara spent about an hour at Phu Cat, about 200

US Division Await Clash

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States has moved nearly three divisions near the demilitarized zone (DMZ) to meet an expected major monsoon offensive by the Communists and plans to saturate the zone with the heaviest bombing of the war if the attack materializes, it was reported today.

Military sources said the Air Force hit targets in the zone and supply routes in the North Viet Nam panhandle just above the DMZ Tuesday and that if the monsoon offensive comes it is ready to hit North Vietnamese troops with the most intense, prolonged bombing of the war.

Recent U.S. Marine operations are believed to have slowed the North Vietnamese plans, but Marines today discovered a North Vietnamese company probing their positions just south of the zone and killed 16 in a five-hour battle.

While 4,000 more U.S. troops landed today south of Saigon to boost U.S. troop strength in South Viet Nam above the

Acting Army Secretary Says There Are No Plans for Reserve Call Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army said today it had no plans at all to call up reservists although Congress has sent President Johnson unsought authority to do so.

Acting Army Secretary David E. McGiffert labeled as erroneous reports that Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor wanted to call up some reserves now.

McGiffert said reports that Resor wanted to call some reservists to active duty came from misunderstandings about a memorandum the secretary now in Europe, issued Sept. 1. "It was intended to express his recommendation that if ever there were a call up of individuals, it should be limited to certain individuals in the ready reserve pool and should not include individuals from units," McGiffert said.

The Pentagon said that under Resor's memorandum, about 200,000 individual reservists could be affected, plus some individuals now serving in units but who have not fulfilled duty

Johnson Opens 2-Day Swing Through East

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today opens a two-day campaign swing through three eastern states in what was likely to be the last of his domestic politicking before departing for the Far East.

Johnson was stopping in nearby Baltimore before going on to New York for a swing through the city and the populous suburbs of Long Island to boost the gubernatorial candidacy of Democrat Frank D. O'Connor.

The Baltimore stop was for a major speech in which the President was to announce his plans to ask Congress for major changes in Social Security, including an increase in benefits that would boost them 10 per cent.

Many Ways of Celebrating Columbus' Day of Discovery

By United Press International—The tropical night was warm and the seas were calm. Then, about 2 o'clock in the morning, Rodrigo de Triana, a sailor on watch on the "Nina," looked toward the western sky.

The sailor spotted what appeared to be a sliver of land on the horizon. It was the New World. The harrowing voyage of Christopher Columbus and 87 hearty adventurers was at an end.

At that moment, the age of discovery had begun. And today, 474 years later, the great event was commemorated on both sides of the great ocean that Columbus crossed, notably.

A parade of some 75,000 persons of Italian-American extraction down New York's Fifth Avenue while the politi-

Next Congress May Consider Proposal

BALTIMORE (UPI)—President Johnson said today he would ask the next Congress to make major changes in the Social Security system, including a 10 per cent boost in benefit payments to the nation's 22 million pensioners.

The Chief Executive outlined his proposals in a speech prepared for ceremonies at Social Security headquarters in Baltimore honoring employes who helped launch Medicare last July 1. Johnson stopped off in Baltimore while on his way to New York for his last purely political stumping trip before leaving on a Far East tour next Monday.

"Today Social Security and Medicare stand as two of the most far-reaching programs enacted by Congress," Johnson said. "They stand as two of the most far reaching programs ever carried out by a government agency."

But, the President added, "far too many Social Security beneficiaries today—not only older citizens, but widows and orphans and the disabled—are trying to live on too little income."

"Far too many citizens on Social Security—more than a third—exist on incomes below the poverty line. Most of them have Social Security as a main source of income. For some, it is their only income."

Acting on the recommendations of a study made by John W. Gardner, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Johnson said he would send Congress next January "four basic proposals to keep Social Security afloat of our times."

In addition, he said, he would recommend ways to finance the major new changes so that the Social Security system "will remain actuarially sound." He did not elaborate on this, but it was believed a boost in Social Security taxes would be needed since the cost of his proposals was estimated by officials at about $2 billion a year.

Congress Sets Adjournment Goal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress, like Columbus, was looking for a short route this Columbus Day. The goal was adjournment by Oct. 22 and the lawmakers were convinced they would make it.

Money bills and authorizations running into many billions of dollars were stacking up for the final push.

For starters, the Senate was meeting early to act on a $406 million District of Columbia appropriation and a $4.1 billion public works money measure.

President Johnson's anti-inflation package—suspending the 5 percent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation for business—was out of the finance committee and ready for Senate action Thursday or Friday. The House has already passed it.

A compromise on Johnson's proposal for a new department of transportation also was agreed to by House-Senate conferees and put in position for later Senate consideration.

A conference agreement was reached on money items in the big $10.5 billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation, but negotiations got stuck on a civil rights issue. This was the Senate's provision in the bill permitting segregation of certain hospital patients if a physician and a hospital medical director certify it is in the patient's interest.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Say what you will about the television ratings — but the latest ones are a classic indication of how to have success in appealing to video's mass audience.

The indication is offered by CBS-TV, the longtime ratings champion, which placed among the top 10 shows (actually there were 11 because of a tie) seven of the ranking hits. And these are what the seven were:

Four comedy series with blockbuster stars—Lucille Ball, Red Skelton, Jackie Gleason and Andy Griffith. And three more comedy series with libidinal orientation—"Green Acres," "Gomer Pyle," and "The Beverly Hillsbillies."

There it is in a nutshell—colloquially, raw and with no mince or fancy words about "the minority audience" and all that other public relations pap. This is the rating to carry in your hip pocket when you go to try to sell the boys on Madison avenue on a show.

The ratings do indicate also, however that although it is well nigh impossible to unseat such a parlay of programs, it is possible to challenge them seriously in the inter-network competition.

The rivalry in this area reaches a pinnacle on Monday nights, when the competition between CBS-TV and ABC-TV, from 8:30 to 9 p.m., CST represents the major head-to-head ratings battle of the season.

Traditionally, Monday nights were all CBS-TV, which was anchored by the powerhouse ratings triumvirate of Griffith, Miss Ball and Danny Thomas. The Thomas series is gone, but the network appears to have built another triumvirate with Griffith, Miss Ball and "Family Affair"—a new situation comedy about a bachelor who inherits orphans. This new entry finished 13th among all shows.

Remarkably, however, from an industry viewpoint, ABC-TV has built at least to this point—a powerful triumvirate of its own in the same period. It consists of "Rat Patrol," third-ranked and the No. 1 new series; "Felony Squad," which came in 18th and is also new; and the Monday episode of "Peyton Place," which finished 18th, very high.

In fact, at this point, ABC-TV looks to have an excellent chance to claim Monday nights—the old CBS-TV cornerstone—as its own because of the solid end-to-end programming, from "Iron Horse" to "Rat Patrol" to "Felony Squad" to "Peyton Place" to "The Big Valley."

And there is a classic programming lesson in this lineup—or, I should say, a counter-programming lesson. For against CBS-TV's Monday lineup, which consists entirely of alleged fun and games, ABC-TV threw a schedule that is almost all action, with a little melodrama.

"Iron Horse" is a new Western. "Rat Patrol" is a World War II action series. "Felony Squad" is about police. "Peyton Place" is sex and sorrow. "The Big Valley" is another Western.

CBS-TV according to the ratings, simply can't claim that solid a lineup—except for its middle three powerhouses of Griffith, Miss Ball and "Family Affair." On the early side of Miss Ball CBS-TV has "Gilligan's Island" and "stun Buddy, Run," two comedies that finished way behind "Iron Horse." And on the late side of "Family Affair," the two other CBS-TV shows—a situation comedy with Jean Arthur and "I've Got A Secret"—came in well behind "The Big Valley."

One of the real continuing wonders of television is the pulling power of Red Skelton. This Tuesday night CBS-TV entry finds himself against three ratings winners—the NBC-TV movie, "The Pruitts of Southampton" (a Phyllis Diller situation comedy) and "Occasional Wife" (another laugh-seeker) — and still finished ninth.

Texas leads the nation in production of sheep and goats, of wool and mohair.

First Community Concert Set for Saturday Night

Pampa Community Concert Association officials today issued another reminder to members that the first in the fall and winter series of concerts is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

Theodore Lettvin, renowned pianist, will be the first concert attraction.

Admission to Saturday night's concert will be by season membership card only. There will be no box office ticket sale.

After Lettvin's appearance in Dallas, the Dallas Morning News music critic had this to say:

"Lettvin made the piano thunder, hiss and spit. He could also make it speak in gentle tones as he picked out the gentle pianissimos. However, it was the bombast, the razzle dazze, the flourish with which Lettvin ripped off the glissandos and the tremendous crescendos that brought on the echoing applause."

Lettvin is being brought to Pampa by the concert association through special arrangements with Columbia Artists Management, Inc., of New York City.

Other concert attractions scheduled for the new season in Pampa include Montavani and His Orchestra, Ruth Page's International Ballet and the Columbus Boys Choir.

Thief Takes Tire From Rental Service

Police are investigating theft of a 6.70 by 15 inch six-ply tire from the U-Haul Rental Service, 119 N. Ward.

Berton Doucette, owner, reported the theft late Tuesday afternoon.

Police said the tire could have been taken from the trailer sometime before it arrived here from Duncan, Okla., on Monday since mud on the lug bolts indicated that the theft could have taken place elsewhere. The tire was imprinted with U-Haul.

The stolen tire was replaced with an old tire, police said.

In 1963 thousands of persons died when a dam in northern Italy overflowed.

Former Pampan Is Appointed to State Development Staff

A former Pampan, A. C. Cox, Jr., 44, has been appointed by the Louisiana Department of Commerce and Industry to their Economic Development staff, according to W. T. Hackett, executive director of the department.

Cox, who now resides in Bossier, La., with his wife and two children, is a retired Air Force major who served as a pilot with the Strategic Air Command.

In the new position, Cox will work with out-of-state industry and provide them with information on the state, Hackett said.

Radio Club Plans 'Coffee Break On Wheels'

Plans for a "Coffee Break on Wheels" will be discussed at a meeting of the Top of Texas Citizens Band Radio Club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at 500 W. Brown.

All citizen's band owners are invited to attend.

The Sunday outing is being planned for Oct. 30. Members are to meet at 2 p.m. in Hobart Street Park for a foliage tour at Canadian. Members will be asked to bring a basket lunch with drinks provided by the Berger and Pampa clubs.

Plans

Congress passed and sent to the White House Tuesday a $58 billion defense appropriation bill which contained authority for the President to call up individual reservists if he thought such a move necessary.

Neither the President nor his military advisers had sought this authority.

The callup provision of the bill technically would apply to almost all the nearly one million men in the National Guard and the ready reserve forces of the military services.

Johnson had not sought the authority nor given any indication he would use it. It was passed in Congress under pressure from those who believe reserve service had become an escape hatch for those trying to avoid the draft and Viet Nam duty.

Other Pentagon spokesmen said the Resor memorandum's recommendation was only for the callup of the so-called "ready reserves," comprised of men with prior Army training. An estimated 30,000 men are in this force.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has said previously he opposed the call up of reserve units to meet the drain on manpower resulting from the Viet Nam war.

Division

tom jets streaked through heavy ground fire and smashed base camp 42 miles southwest of Can Tho. A Super Sabre was shot down but both crewmen were rescued by helicopter.

Scattered showers drenched the jungled slopes today and the full fury of the monsoon rains was expected to hit within the next few days.

The last 4,000-man contingent of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division came ashore at Vung Tau, south of Saigon, today and was quickly loaded into transport planes and shuttled to its base camp in the Central Highlands. Their arrival boosted total U.S. fighting strength in Viet Nam to about 325,000.

American jets again hammered the southern panhandle of North Viet Nam, striking war supplies being assembled to support the feared offensive and hitting bridges, barges and transportation routes.

Meantime, U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara making a battlefront tour of U.S. forces in the field, flew into Phu Cat on the central coast today near U.S. 1st Air Cavalrymen Tuesday found a "Little Dachau" Communist prison deep in the jungle.

McNamara had said he wanted to visit the camp, but it was not immediately known if the area was secure enough for him to do so.

North Vietnamese guards, fleeing from the combined Allied pincers movement closing in on them, handcuffed 19 prisoners, hurled them into a death pit and cut them down with machinegun fire and hand grenades.

Somehow, seven of the 19 survived. Five managed to crawl out and one of them reached the Americans and led them back to the camp. What the troopers saw made them retch.

The other two were still among the tangled mass of bodies stitched with machinegun bullets. A live hand grenade which failed to go off was found in the death pit.

Police Investigate Extensive Vandalism

Police are investigating extensive vandalism at Caldwell's Drive-In, which occurred sometime after 11 p.m. Monday.

Police said an 83 by 60-inch plate glass window on the east side was broken with a rock. Seven 8 by 12-inch glass panels and one 16 by 12-inch glass window were knocked out with a hammer. Empty beer bottles were scattered about the area, according to the police report.

Police estimate damages at approximately $100.

Television mini-cameras measuring 1.5 by 3 by 4.5 inches are being tested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Stolen Car Found Here

Ownership of the 1967 blue Oldsmobile Toronado, found close to Blake's Food Store on N. Hobart, was determined today by city police.

Police said the car was reported stolen from the Oldsmobile, Inc. at Grand Island, Neb. on Oct. 8. Also reported stolen was a set of 1966 Nebraska license plates 8B-4208.

Pampa School Children Given Art Adventure

Pampa elementary school children this week are having an "Adventure in Learning," sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association in cooperation with Pampa schools.

Throughout the week, they are taken on a conducted tour of the association's one-man showing of the art works of Maurice Benson of Canadian now on display in the Coronado Inn.

Throughout the week, at designated hours, students from Austin, Mann, Lamar, Carver, Houston, Wilson, Travis are given a brief pre-tour talk by Mrs. R. A. Johnson, association secretary. Mrs. Johnson explains techniques used in executing the paintings and gives pointers on how to view them and what to look for to obtain the most enjoyment.

Henry Louis Gunter of Pampa entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

He was fined $50 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and placed on six months' probation.

Louis Buel Lewis, 224 N. Wells, was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully carrying arms. He was released on a $500 bond.

The Lewis car was stopped on a traffic violation in the 400 block E. Craven yesterday, according to a police report. The investigating officer found a .22-caliber pistol in the front seat, encased in a holster, and a box of shells beside the pistol.

March of Dimes Leaders Named

Key leaders in the annual "March of Dimes" fund raising campaign were announced by Jim Morris yesterday at a directors meeting of The National Foundation in the chamber of commerce conference room.

Morris, who is county chairman of the January event, named Cameron Marsh, city chairman; David Tucker, "bucket brigade" chairman; Mrs. Georgia Mack, youth coordinator; Mrs. Jake Osborne Jr. and Mrs. Paul H. Howard, Mothers' March co-chairmen; Joe Clarke, Lefors chairman and Jay Thompson, head of the McLean drive.

The National Foundation, which spearheaded the drive to eliminate polio, is again dedicated to the fight against birth defects.

Bonds Set In County Court

Three bonds were set in Gray County Court yesterday, according to County Judge Bill Craig.

Delbert Lee Peel, 620 N. Zimmers, was arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault. Bond was set at $500.

Henry Louis Gunter of Pampa entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The shots appear to be from a BB gun, Pollard said.

Wall Street In Review

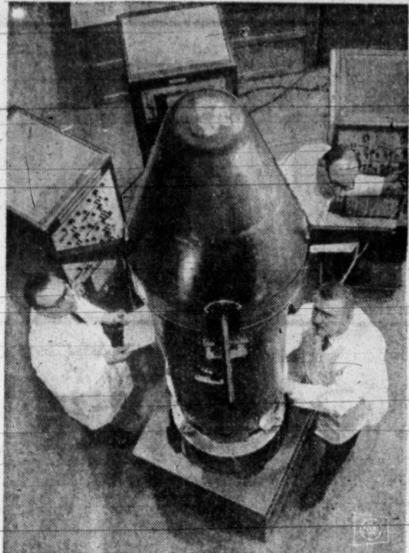

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shearson, Hammill & Co. says it believes stock prices have found a floor and after a period of consolidation and digestion of the bad news that is still to come, the market should start on a more extensive recovery phase than has occurred thus far.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. hutton & Co., Inc., says that regardless of the overall market direction or the eventual objective, extended market movements are invariably subject to periodic corrections or recoveries. Zinder points out the market has declined 70 points in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone Inc., says that until the market indicates a willingness to stabilize and rebuild a necessary base interim rallies will probably be limited.

Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes says technical studies indicate the market has been attempting to form a base on which a broad recovery could be staged but progress in this direction has not been reassuring until prospects for a sustained uptrend become more convincing, the firm says, investors are likely to maintain a wait-and-see attitude.

Six Lions Escape In France; One Is Shot During Attack

LILLE, France (UPI) — Six lions escaped from an overturned circus van and roamed through this region of northern France Tuesday. All were tracked down and one was killed by police machinegun bullets as it leaped at a terrified roustabout.

The lions fled the van after it overturned on the superhighway between Lille and Paris. The best fanned out through forests near the villages of Secin and Phalempin.

Residents were awakened at 4 a.m. by wailing police sirens and firemen who patrolled the streets, ordering villagers to lock their doors and windows.

By LYLE WILSON
The New Frontier, war and the Great Society have cost the taxpayers a bit more than $563 billion so far but in the classic slange of the late Al Jolson: You ain't seen nothing yet!

The cost rises steeply year by year. The Kennedy-Johnson 1961-66 taxing, spending and deficit score card is an eye-popper.

Revenue $532.6 billion
Expenditures $563 billion
Revenue $532.6 billion
Expenditures $563 billion
Deficit $30.4 billion

In fiscal 1966, which ended at midnight last June 30, President Johnson collected $104.6 billion and spent $106.9 billion for a deficit of approximately $2.2 billion. His original budget for the current 1967 fiscal year estimated revenues of $111 billion and expenditures of $112.8 billion. There is more to come, however, because war costs are at a rate of nearly $2.5 billion a month. The war will require enormous supplemental appropriations for this year.

President Johnson and the Congress equally refuse to accept responsibility for fiscal policies which continue to boost the cost of living. President and Congress are playing a political game of pass the buck at the expense of the national welfare.

The swooning U.S. dollar is urgently more in need of defense against irresponsible politicians than South Vietnam is in need of defense against Vietnamese and Chinese Communists. The United States can be no stronger than the strength of our economy and the strength of the U.S. economy best can be measured by the strength of the U.S. dollar.

The Democratic party is in power and bears the largest share of responsibility for the national defense at home and abroad. The Democratic record on protection of the dollar's purchasing power is astonishingly bad. The Republican record is not much better, if any. Citizens have cause to be disgusted with both parties.

There is some bipartisan support in either House for responsible federal spending policies but there is no majority for fiscal sanity.

The Republican coordinating committee of the party's best brains made a big thing last week of federal spending and the high cost of living. In the same week, 13 Senate Republicans joined 41 Democrats to authorize a two-year program of $6.4 billion in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, a sum greatly in excess of Johnson's request. Eight Republicans and eight Democrats voted against this excessive authorization and they are about the measure of fiscal integrity in the U.S. Senate.

The United States has been on a dizzy deficit spending binge since Franklin D. Roosevelt succeeded Herbert Hoover in 1933. The dollar's purchasing power has declined steadily under the something-for-nothing magic whereby the politicians have bemused the voters for 30 years or more.

The Great Society Labor Department reported that since 1957-59, the purchasing power of the dollar had shrunk by 12.1 per cent as of last August. The dollar is shrinking now at an annual rate of 4 per cent.

At that rate, the 88 cent dollar of August, 1966, will be an 84 cent dollar in August, 1967. Politicians who bellow and bleed for the common man might give some thought to the millions of common men and women whose incomes are being overtaken by the high cost of living.

No person may be elected president of the United States for more than two four-year terms.

Long before the white man settled in America, the Indians concocted a rum drink they called "Coow Woow."

Notes from a correspondent just returned from South Viet Nam.

First, after a speech delivered immediately upon return from another couple of months spent in South Viet Nam on my fourth visit to that beautiful but unhappy land, the man who drew me aside and demanded: "Now tell me! What really is happening in South Viet Nam?" Or the note awaiting me at my desk in New York from an intelligent woman who wrote: "We hope you will give us your candid opinion for many feel we are not getting it."

And out of it, a terrible sense of frustration, not only for myself but for some 200 other U.S. correspondents still there, whose working hours are limited only by the clock as it travels from one day to the next, their jobs frequently dangerous and each day devoted to the single task of reporting what really is happening in South Viet Nam.

And from my notebook, little items:

The wife of Nguyen Van Tan, 33 and looks 70. Missing teeth, leave gaping holes in her smile. The remaining teeth are capped with what must be the family fortune in gold. I poked through her kitchen and observe rice cooking over a small open fire fed by coconut husks and bamboo. I taste fermented fish oil which gives the family its protein. And at the end I am invited to sit with four generations of her family and share a bowlful of ripe bananas. I like her and her family.

Or the wife of the powerful high official whose name is known to me. She wins consistently at power when she plays with wealthy Vietnamese contractors. He is poor on the books but her play has made her wealthy. He has been warned by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky that his thinly disguised thievery is to stop or he will bring them all down. In my opinion, Ky and most other top-ranking officials are honest.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There's an old nursery rhyme that starts out like this: "The north wind, doth blow / And we shall have snow / And what will the robin do then, poor thing?"

If you think the robin has it rough, consider the mini-skirt. Some fashion experts are predicting that the mini-skirt, poor thing will fail to survive the winter.

"They say mini-skirts, being even more vulnerable than robins to breezes that freeze knees, will vanish with the first goosepimple."

But I think they are—pardon the expression—selling the mini-skirt short.

Discount Predictions

The dire predictions, I note, come mainly from Paris, and therefore may be discounted. The mini-skirt, as you know, is an English creation. French anti-mini-skirt.

Actually, in this country at least, the fall and winter are cannot be compared to the peace, demonstrators in the United States who have never seen anyone die.

And the military who say: "We have stopped losing the war." Or the economist who says that economic gains of the last year "have not been insignificant." Or the pitifully small gains in population control... up only two per cent in the last year.

the most appropriate seasons for mini-skirts. Ice skaters have been wearing them for years, as have football cheerleaders.

It can truly be said that a girl who goes out in winter wearing a mini-skirt is dressed for anything.

The argument that mini-skirts will bring on red knees is, of course, spurious. Redness caused by frostbite is no worse than redness caused by sunburn.

Besides that, there are many people, myself among them, who consider red knees attractive.

Part Indian

If a girl is embarrassed by them, she can tell everyone she is part Indian.

Some women who have trouble with water on the knee may find themselves bothered by ice on the knee. But that is no reason why mini-skirts should hibernate in mothballs for the winter.

If the icing problem arises, all you need do is add anti-freeze to your daily bath.

Tests show that a daily bath in a solution of 10 per cent anti-freeze will prevent knee icing at temperatures down to minus-10 degrees Fahrenheit.

This leaves only the problem of snowdrifts. Snow tends to accumulate at higher elevations, causing a snow-capped kneecaps. Then, when it melts, there may be knee erosion.

Presidential Citations for the Fit, or The War on Slobberty

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Can you do 100 situps, 12 overhand pullups and make a standing broad jump of 7 feet, 11 inches? Can you run 50 yards in 6.2 seconds, 600 yards in a minute and 37 seconds, and throw a softball 213 feet?

If so, you're a pretty good physical specimen no matter what you age, but if you're a 16-year-old boy and can meet these standards, you qualify for a presidential citation.

They're not easy to meet, however. Only 15 out of every 100 16-year-olds will be able to qualify, predicts the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (AAHPER), an organization which has spent six years designing the test forms for the Presidential Physical Fitness Awards.

Part of President Johnson's campaign for fitness—dubbed the War on Slobberty by irreverent observers—the award is the latest approach to a problem which has been on increasing concern to every president since Grover Cleveland—how to keep Americans from growing soft in the middle before their time.

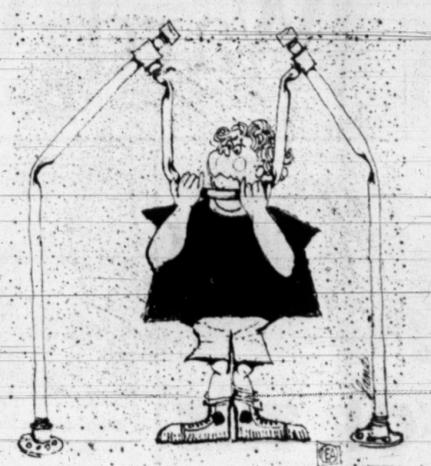

Though limited by the demands of his job to a semi-regular dip in the White House swimming pool, Johnson is pretty much a "physical fitness nut" himself. His first paycheck (as a high school principal) went for the purchase of a volleyball and net for the playground use of his pupils.

Many approaches to the "Flab Gap" have been tried since 1885, when AAHPER was created.

None seems to have worked too well, since most recent surveys have shown that the average American is slowly growing softer and lazier.

The President's Council on Physical Fitness hopes this year's award program aimed at the roughly 35 million students in the 8th through the 12th grades—will reverse the trend.

Any boy or girl between 10 and 17 is eligible to compete in the tests, which will be administered by his school. To win the award—a certificate signed by the President and a sweater emblem—the youth will have to better the AAHPER standards in each of seven fitness tests of his age group.

Standards for girls, of course, are slightly less exacting than those for boys. A 16-year-old girl, for example, would only have to do 50 situps, run 50 yards in 7.5 seconds and throw a softball 104 feet.

Though the award program is aimed at the nation's teenagers, adults are being recruited into the campaign. Parade magazine reports that its recent booklet, "Fitness is a Family Affair"—an exercise program for the entire family—is in heavy demand today.

Fortunately for most of us adults, however, AAHPER has not yet set formal standards for anybody older than 17.

UFO's Continue Their Appearance

By United Press-International
Authorities in two widely separated areas—New Jersey and South Dakota—Monday night reported sightings of unidentified flying objects. The incidences were apparently unrelated.

Two UFOs were reported sighted in the Fort Thompson, S.D., area, both resembling "lighted merry-go-rounds." The first sighting was reported by Kanabec rancher Roger Huston about 9 p.m. CST. He said a bluish-colored light appeared to be hanging over the Crow Creek Indian Reservation community of Fort Thompson.

This sighting was later corroborated by motor patrolman Patrick Gribbin, Sheriff Lee Roberts and Game Warden Floyd Gardner of Preshon all of whom drove into the country to view the lights.

The first object slowly faded from an overhead position to an easterly direction and two hours later Fort Thompson police said it had brightened and was joined by another object in the sky. The lights on the second object seemed to rotate, witnesses said, changing from red to green to yellow, while the original object went from white to bluish-green to red.

Gribbin said the first object appeared to be about three times as big as any of the brightest stars in the sky. They saw it from a point about 26 miles west of Fort Thompson. The motor patrol said there was no aircraft reported in the area at the time.

A Little Voice Goes a Long Way

There was a time, long ago, when it took real lung-power to make yourself heard on the telephone. And you had to listen closely to make out what the other party said. The problem was transmission—getting your voice from here to there. Today, it's easy to hear and be heard. In fact, tots and telephones get along fine, whether it's a Long Distance call from grandmother across the country or just a chat with a youngster down the street. That's because a little voice goes a long way—clearly and distinctly. Continual improvement in the transmission of your voice is one way Southwestern Bell makes your telephone service—already the world's best—even better.

County SCD News

By VAN C. MILLS

The recent heavy rains pointed out the need for diversions, terraces and waterways. Some severe water erosion occurred in the northeastern part of the county. The diversion terraces and waterway recently completed on H. W. Waters and Bill Stockstill farms worked real well.

How much does erosion cost? In the Gray County Soil Conservation District we have from one foot to four feet of productive soil on most of our cropland. The soils in the Pamna and Groom area hold about 2.2 inches of water per foot of soil. The cropland soils in the McLean area hold from 1 to 1.5 inches per foot of depth. The deeper the soils, the more water and minerals we can store.

Our dry cropland will sell from $100 to $200 per acre. If we paid $100 per acre for our land and had only one foot of productive soil, this would make our soil worth $4.16 per acre inch.

You can see from the above figures that erosion is very costly. Every time you lose an inch of soil it is worth from $4 to $8 per acre inch. The loss of production over a period of years will make it even more costly.

Look at your own farm or ranch and see what soil erosion has cost you. Do you see caliche spots showing up? If so, you have already lost some valuable soil. When you lose soil you lose part of your storage for minerals and water. How can we afford this erosion, especially when it is so easy to control?

Unfortunately, there is not sufficient surplus water in Texas to irrigate all of its irrigable land. So until such time as additional supplies of water can be found and brought in, we must use our limited supply to the very best advantage. To follow any other course is to waste a part of our water's productive potential.

In West Texas, and on the High Plains in particular, we have hundreds of miles of enclosed irrigation systems already in place. We have the largest and most concentrated block of irrigable land not only in Texas but anywhere else. We have the technological know-how to squeeze the last unit of productivity out of every inch of irrigation water. We have the topography for maximum mechanization and maximum efficiency.

Advanced Vote Collection System Shown

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The most advanced vote collection and tabulation system ever to be used in a national election was demonstrated Monday by the New Election Service (NES).

NES, a vote-gathering agency formed by the two major NES services and three broadcasting networks, will collect votes telephonically from 11 western states Nov. 8 and feed them into a computer center here for tabulation and high-speed returns to the states of origin. J. Richard Eimers, executive director of NES, said the first multi-state collection center in Los Angeles will "form a pattern for national coverage in future elections."

NES will gather returns for governor, U.S. Senator and Congress in the 11 states, using one or more reporters in 411 counties and an additional 24,500 precinct reporters in California, Arizona, Oregon and Colorado.

Other states to be handled by the western computer center include Nevada, Washington, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and New Mexico.

The election services makes the returns available to its members: United Press-International, Associated Press, American Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and National Broadcasting Co. It does not analyze results or determine winners.

"We are simply the process by which the unofficial returns are added up," Eimers said. "We have concentrated much of our attention on this Los Angeles project," he said. "It has never been done before. This is a showpiece for computer tabulation. NES wants to gain experience which will let us apply this principle to the rest of the nation in the presidential election of 1968."

In other states this November, NES will continue the system it inaugurated in 1964 with election reporters transmitting returns to individual state centers.

Frank J. Jordan, manager of election planning for NBC, outlined the operation of the Los Angeles computer center.

9TH YEAR THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1956

Dear Abby...

'Phone Thank You' Meaningful, Too!

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend and I were secretly married by a judge last year while we were college seniors. Now we are graduated and my parents want to give me a church wedding. My being an only child it would mean a lot to them. We live in a small town and with my own ears I have heard our pastor tell things he had no business telling.

Do I have to tell him we were married before? He would surely tell someone and it would get back to my folks, and I hate to have them hurt. Also, is it legal to have two marriage licenses on file without a divorce in between?

MUST KNOW
DEAR MUST: First, find a lawyer in your town who talks less than your pastor. (This should be easy.) Ask him about the legality of two marriage licenses. And I advise you to tell your pastor about the previous ceremony.

But tell your parents first. Since it was only a civil ceremony, they will want you to have a religious ceremony as well.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years I have sent many greeting, anniversary, birthday, get-well, and sympathy cards. And Abby, I am not lying when I say that out of the 32 cards sent last year, only three people have had the courtesy to thank me. Aren't people supposed to say "thank you" for being remembered with a card? Should I just save the price of these cards, my postage, and my time?

IGNORED
DEAR IGNORED: People of breeding still telephone their thanks, or drop a note in response to a greeting card. If you enjoy remembering people with cards, continue to do so, but if the rudeness of some has soured you for all, call a halt.

DEAR ABBY: My son passed away suddenly a year ago. He was only in his twenties and left a widow and two small children, 1-year-old and 2 years old. The day after my son was buried, my daughter-in-law got rid of every stitch of clothing he owned, took down their wedding picture and put away his pipes, and everything that was his.

She said that way the children wouldn't ask questions about where their father was. My son was a good husband and father and he loved those children. She never visits us. If we want to see our grandchildren we have to go there. This has been on my mind so long I just can't stand it. Please help me.

HEART-BROKEN
DEAR HEART-BROKEN: Your daughter-in-law could have been understandably distraught and befuddled when she removed all reminders of her husband, but as time heals the hurt, she should realize that the children should know something of their father. Until and unless she changes, it will be up to you to visit your grandchildren and to preserve the memory of your son.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HUMILIATED HOST" IN BIG SPRINGS, TEXAS: Don't invite him again. It is just as ill-bred and hogish for a man to monopolize the conversation all evening as it is for a guest to eat all the food at the dinner table.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions."

When removing a spot on carpeting, blot rather than rub the stained area with an absorbent material.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

FOR THURSDAY, OCT. 12: GENERALLY FAVORABLE: This is a day and evening when the stars are giving you the opportunity to show others just how you can make "the struggle" pay. You will do something that especially like to do or please them while later you have the energy and the ability to handle whatever "realities" present themselves.

AIRIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Others are in a receptive mood and this is a good time to get your finest ideas across to them. You can make "the struggle" pay in your career, show ingenuity in dealing with associates, and acquire true strength of character.

TALIES (Apr. 20 to May 20) — First and foremost, you will find that you will later give you support and for some big plans of yours. Find appliances that increase efficiency. Then get to work with a vim!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) — Many people are planning to get together and you should be one of those who make them happy. You have excellent talents, and prestige, to increase income, and make good use of this fine personality of yours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 21 to July 21) — Strive to do whatever will gain you the good will of those who mean a great deal to you, whether in business or recreation. Be firm in your right-acting, but be ready for challenges to be met.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — Be charming, too magnetic in doing what interests you and you will increase profits and prestige. You are thinking very clearly and you get most satisfactory results. Take it easy tonight and retire early.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sep. 22) — Instead of worrying about every little person, get advice from experts and start making real money. Use your talents wisely. Find the right associate. A good business, though small, would be ideal as a starter.

LIBRA (Sep. 23 to Oct. 22) — If you are an attorney, plan to get a new case. If you are a doctor, carry on with what you have to do. Handle most affairs carefully. Do not get off on a wild-goose chase.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — Impress others favorably by handling and "problem" people. Do not be a victim and be careful instead of fretting and fuming. Show gentleness to others. This can pay off in big dividends later on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — A good friend has some wonderful ideas how to make money. Use some of these ideas on them quickly. Evening should be spent in social ways and away from tennis and pressures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Getting your "bottom" across is a sign of a man who appreciates you is quite easy if you state your ideas clearly and convincingly. Whatever you do to make others better, get success to you. Show consideration.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You are a very just person, but if you feel that you are being treated unfairly, do something wonderful things. Others look up to you. Keep your ears alert for excellent ideas that others can give you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — An ideal way for opening your heart to one of your friends and getting various "blessings" and "cheer" that can bring wonderful results and help you to be the better man (or woman). Have faith and all good will.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

Gardeners are also good cooks. An example is the following cookie recipe that Louise Stephens served at the last Pampa Garden Club meeting. It is very easy to make but also very rich. These cookies are called Hello Dollys.

In an eight inch pan melt one stick butter or oleo. On this layer, mix the following ingredients in the order given: one cup crushed graham crackers, one cup coconut, one cup chopped pecans and one cup chocolate chips. On this mixture pour one can Eagle Brand Milk evenly. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool and cut into bars.

In the 2200 block of North Russell several homes have geraniums blooming. At 2228 N. Russell Billie and Hansford Ousley have an attractive planting of red geraniums with blue lobelia as an edging plant.

Mrs. Guill, 1715 Williston has a big showing of geraniums along the front of her home. Mrs. Guill is considered an authority on this plant. She has grown them tree-size in a pot in her home. No doubt the geraniums in bloom at the Pioneer Cottage were planted there by Mrs. Guill. She has been seen in that area many times working around the grounds.

The neat circular cuts that are made on leaves of roses and some other plants is done by the Leaf-Cutter Bee. America's Garden Book says, "The bees first make a tunnel in the stem and then construct their nest within it. In most cases they cause the death of the shoot. The bees cut a neat circular piece of some growing leaf, usually preferring roses, and with this they build a nest composed of thimble-shaped cells within the tunnel which has already been prepared in the stem of some half-woody plant. The cells are arranged one above another and when they are completed each contains a single egg, some nectar and some pollen."

Rambling With Red RON CROSS

Rambling about the OU-Texas, Dallas-Eagles, Pampa-Monterey football games.

Just as the half ended in Dallas Sunday (or did it?) in the game between the Cowboys and Philadelphia, Dallas coach Tom Landry lost his cool, something that very seldom happens.

Short Clock

The Cowboys got the short end of the clock, or so they thought.

The Cowboys were only about five yards away from the goal line with two seconds showing on the scoreboard clock and they had apparently called time out.

One official gave them a time out but the head official said no, the half was over.

Usually the official time is the scoreboard clock, but this day it wasn't and Dallas coach Landry had not been told.

Now, in all fairness friends should or shouldn't Dallas been given time to run another play, since they had not been told the scoreboard clock was not official this day?

The Eagles looked like anything but a professional football team. They played very dead and gave Dallas no competition.

Texas University played a better football team. At least Saturday, Oklahoma was a better team. They took the fight to the Longhorns.

You must remember there were only two touchdowns scored in the game and it was quite a defensive contest. It is hard to defend against the field goal.

Many people, including myself, are still somewhat puzzled why the Longhorns didn't call time out when they had the ball on the Oklahoma three-yard line in the first period.

Don't Go

Texas was penalized five yards for delay of game and had to settle for a field goal.

We have seen no comment from Darrell Royal on this and just assume someone was mixed up.

Some special advice to anyone going to the Cotton Bowl for a ball game while the state fair is on. DON'T.

Pampa and Monterey meet for the 11th time at 2 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock. Pampa is 0-10 against the Plainsmen but this could be the year.

Don't let the Harvesters' loss to Palo Duro fool you. The Dons were ready; they came to play and caught Pampa flat and just a little cocky. I doubt the Harvesters will let this happen again.

And, as we pointed out last week, the Dons were due, having been shutout in four straight games, while Pampa's defense had been leaky all season.

The closest Pampa has come to beating Monterey was 20-18 in 1964, 7-6 in '59 and 21-19 the first year the team played in '56.

The injury situation is still muddled for Pampa with Gary Hyatt, James Matney and David Martindale working out Monday but just a little and all are still on the doubtful list for Saturday's contest in Lubbock.

Casper, Nicklaus, Palmer Favored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) Billy Casper, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, titans of the professional golf circuit, lead a pack of 132 other money players today in the opening round of the ninth annual $2-million Sahara Invitational tournament.

Casper has official PGA earnings of $113,372 this year and drew the favorite role for first prize of $20,000 in the desert classic. Unofficial benefits have accrued him an additional $25,000 and a repeat win in the Sahara would give the "slimmed-down" San Diegoan five tourney titles for 1966.

Nicklaus and Palmer with 1966 earnings of more than $90,000 each, were hot on the heels of Casper. All three have successfully defended championships this year—Nicklaus in the Masters, Casper in the Western Open and Palmer in the Tournament of Champions.

The 72-hole invitational on the par 35-36-71, 7,069-yard Paradise Valley Country Club course followed a 36-hole pro-amateur event in which $11,111.11 was doled out.

Other top swingers included fashion plate Doug Sanders, playing out of Tulsa; Gay Brewer of Dallas; Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ark.; and Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif.

Each has gathered in more than $70,000 for the year. Pushing the leader, and hoping for a big like with Sahara earnings, were Gene Littler, Frank Beard, Al Geiberger, Don January, Bobby Nichols and Bruce Devlin.

The only top money player missing was South Africa's little Gary Player, who turned back Nicklaus last week in a match play tourney in England, during which the Columbus, Ohio, bomber lost his temper with officials.

TWO NEW PHILS PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies announced Tuesday the purchase of righthanded pitcher Billy Champion and shortstop Terry Harmon from their Bakersfield farm club in the California League and the acquisition of outfielder Larry Hise from their Huron farm club in the Northern League.

IN HIS GRASP NOW

AGS UNDERDOGS AGAINST TCU

Raiders Looking Good

By United Press International Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings has almost three days before his Aggies come up against Texas Christian but he already has grabbed the underdog role.

Stallings says his team should be a 14-point underdog Saturday.

"TCU runs right at you and they control the football," Stallings said at his weekly news conference.

"They also have named Sonny Campbell, who is a good receiver and they throw the ball to him."

Stallings said he recalled hearing TCU Coach Abe Martin saying TCU's strength was its lack of weakness.

Lack of Strength "Our weakness is the lack of strength," said Stallings.

At Lubbock, Texas Coach J. T. King said his team started slowly in practice, "but the squad was looking pretty good before we finished."

The Red Raiders meet Florida State Saturday in Lubbock, trying to bounce back after three losses.

"King said his team came out of last Saturday's loss to TCU in good shape.

King praised halfback Roger Freeman of Dublin, halfback Bobby Davis of Brownfield and linebacker Ed Mooney of Wallkill, N.Y.

Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin said his Frogs "looked ragged in some spots and smooth in others" Tuesday.

Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin said his Frogs "looked ragged in some spots and smooth in others" Tuesday.

Martin said he liked the performances of sophomore backs Norman Bulaich and Ross Montgomery and said quarterback Rick Bridges "was doing his chores real well."

Martin said Bulaich would start against the Aggies at College Station Saturday night at fullback.

Montgomery will be at halfback and Bridges at the running slot.

Davis to Start Coach Jess Neely of Rice plans to start either Murphy Davis or Tommy Tyner at defensive end against Southern Methodist if George Alexander is still out.

Alexander and reserve tackle Tony Labay hurt their knees against UCLA last week. Davis has been the No. 2 split end and starting defensive halfback. Mike Buxton or Pascual Piedfort will go in for Davis, Neely said.

Piedfort has recovered from a knee injury sustained in a water skiing accident in June. The Owls worked a hour and a half, mostly on recognition Mustang plays and polishing their kicking and passing.

Arkansas Razorbacks toiled in pads for 90 minutes Tuesday with Coach Frank Broyles keeping the heat on the defense.

William Ketcher and Jack Moran both tried out in Mickey Maroney's defensive end spot. Maroney hurt his hip against Baylor.

Broyles said he was pleased with improvement of the pass defense. He said Baylor had the Hogs playing cautious defense "and we weren't as effective as we have been."

Broyles said Travis Mauldin would be back in action against Texas Saturday. He fractured his hand against Baylor.

Bears' Bridges UPI Coach of Week WACO, Tex. (UPI)—For the past 10 years, John Bridges has nurtured a love affair with a pro-style offense.

It paid off for him last Saturday as his Baylor Bears used the forward pass to upset sixth-ranked Arkansas 7-0 and earn him the honor of United Press International College Coach of the Week.

"This is the first time anything like this has ever happened to me," he said. "It wasn't me, it was our players that did the job."

Bridgers' prized performer, senior quarterback Terry Southall, capped a five-play, 46-yard scoring drive with a 21-yard strike to split end Bobby Green with but five minutes left in the game. It was the Razorbacks' first loss in 25 regular season titles.

It meant a lot to us to beat Arkansas. I don't think I've ever coached a team that was more intent, more anxious to win a ball game," Bridges said.

DEFENSE OR OFFENSE? In the 50 pre-conference games that have been played a total of 668 points have been scored by the 3-4A teams for an average of 13.3 per team.

Only Tascosa, and Caprock, the two top teams in the north and south zones will not see league action this week.

Both get together Saturday in Dick Bivins Stadium.

Pampa (3-2) and a pre-season choice to capture zone honors journeys to Lubbock to play Monterey (3-2), who was picked to win the zone.

Pampa opened with a win over Perryton, then lost to ranked Wichita Falls Rider, but bounced back to trim top rated Dumas, then Plainview but lost last week to, then winless Palo Duro.

Monterey, who hasn't been scoring many points, will be a 13-point favorite to trim Pampa. The Plainsmen won last year 40-12 and have one of the better defensive units in the league.

Borger (2-2-1) plays host to Amarillo (2-3) in a league game and Plainview (1-4) plays at Lubbock Coronado (2-3) in a league outing while Lubbock (1-4) journeys to Amarillo to

Pro Footballs' Two Unbeatens To Meet Sunday

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The National Football League's only two unbeaten teams, the blazing Dallas Cowboys and the St. Louis Cardinals, meet Sunday in a game that may let people know early who is going to win the Eastern crown.

St. Louis quarterback Charley Johnson thinks the Dallas defense should not be too hard to figure out, since they play it straight away like the Green Bay Packers. But then, getting through it will be another story.

Burgess, Lynch Given Releases

By FRED DOWN UPI Sports Writer Time has run out for two of the greatest "minute men" in baseball history.

Smokey Burgess and Jerry Lynch may or may not have been the greatest pinch-hitters the major leagues ever knew but they'll do until records they set are erased from the books.

The 39-year-old Burgess amassed a record total of 136 pinch hits over the years while the 36-year-old Lynch hit a record total of 18 pinch-hit homers.

The end of their careers as major league specialists apparently came Tuesday when the Chicago White Sox asked waivers on Burgess and the Pittsburgh Pirates asked waivers on Lynch. Each has indicated a desire to go into private business next spring so it is unlikely either will turn up on another major league roster.

Pa's Burgess Compliment "Smokey Burgess is the only man in the history of baseball who could be gotten out of bed at 3 a.m. in December, walk out into a driving snow and hit a line drive on the first pitch," once said Burgess by ex-big league catcher Joe Garagiola.

"Jerry Lynch scares you with everything he does in baseball," Branch Rickey once said. "He scares you when he tries to catch a fly ball. He scares you when he runs the bases. He scares you when he throws the ball. But most of all he scares you when he comes off the bench as a pinch-hitter with a game waiting to be won."

Rickey once tried to convert Lynch from an outfielder into a catcher but gave up the experiment when Lynch went out to catch an exhibition game without his mask.

Burgess never looked like the standard conception of a ball player but Lynch did. Burgess was short and stubby and looked 40 years old the day he entered the majors. Lynch stood 6-1, weighed 190 and seemed to have every standard asset.

The slow-starting Cardinals and the Cowboys, who have been in high gear since the season began, will put their respective 5-0 and 4-0 records to the test before a sellout of 49,500 at the city's new riverfront stadium.

One thousand standing room only tickets went on sale today at $6 a crack with a limit of four to a customer.

The expected Sunday crush, which city officials expect to match last Summer's All-Star baseball jam, set police working on special traffic plans. Special police plainclothesmen will mingle with the pre-game crowd to nip would-be ticket scalpers.

A cardinal club spokesman said judging from the calls they have received the standing room tickets would go "like wildfire" and many without tickets apparently had planned trips outside of the St. Louis television blackout area to view the game.

Just how successful the Cardinals will be will depend on their ability to shed their chronic first half inefficiency. In four of their five games they have come from behind in the second half to win, including last week's contest against the winless New York Giants, a team the Cowboys polished off Charley Winner's post game game in which Cardinal coach Charley Winner's post game comment was: "Boy we were lucky."

St. Louis' phenomenal second half story is borne out by the figures which show they have scored 101 points to their opponents 16 in the second half. The rugged St. Louis defense has held the opposition to only one second half touchdown, by Cleveland. Cleveland is the only team to score more than one touchdown in a game against the Cardinals.

Sensational rookie Johnny Roland, who leads the league in punt returns with a 16.5 touchdown sprint, will have to average, including a 83-yard touchdown sprint, will have to continue his fine offensive play. Last Sunday he showed his versatility by tossing a 40-yard touchdown pass from his halfback slot.

Spartans, Notre Dame Solid Choices

NEW YORK (UPI)—Unbeaten Michigan State, with a 4-0 mark, is a 10-point favorite to knock Ohio State out of the Big Ten race, when the two teams clash Saturday afternoon.

The Spartans, the top-rated college team in the nation, beat the Buckeyes by 25 points last year and appear certain to stall the sputtering Ohio State machine again. The Buckeyes lost a close one to Big Ten rival Illinois last week by a 10-9 margin.

Goad Replaces Vanpool as Scoring Leader

Wheeler, like White Deer, is blessed this football season with some of the better running backs in the area.

It must be too, that both teams have very good offensive lines, for it's no secret that without blocking backs score very little.

The Mustangs, for the third straight week, produce the area's scoring leader in Fred Goad, their junior fullback.

Goad replaces teammate Bobby Vanpool who held the lead for two straight weeks but is now tied for second.

Fullback Goad scored four times Friday to pace Wheeler past previously unbeaten Canadian and raised his season TD total to eight to go along with three conversions and a total of 54 points.

Three gridders are tied for second with 36 points each.

From Wheeler Vanpool has five touchdowns and three conversions while Robert Baker of McLean tallied once Friday for five for the year and three conversions and Kenneth Steine of Canadian scored his team's lone marker against Canadian and now has six touchdowns.

The 10th leading scorer in the area is Terry Robinette of Canadian who has one touchdown, 11 conversions and a field goal for a total of 20 points.

The top ten is rounded out by Hugh Sanders of Canadian and John Paul Guinn of White Deer with 30 points each. Gary Smith of White Deer and Johnny Walker of Canadian with 24 points each and Dan Rives of Wheeler with 22 points.

Area teams begin conference play this Friday with White Deer, Wheeler and McLean all seeing district action for the first time.

The Bucks (4-0) host Sunray while Wheeler (4-1) travels to Silverton and McLean (4-1) plays host to Claude.

In class B Groom (1-3-1) is idle and Lefors (1-4) hosts Erick, Okla.

White Deer continues to be the area's top offensive and defensive talent with 151 points in four games while giving up but six. Canadian is second with 135 points and 46 given up.

Bat News for Unholy Foes

"Holy Batman!" Robin didn't say it. Nor did a clergyman, actually. But the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Terwilliger of All Saints Episcopal Church in downtown New York did refer recently to television's incredible super-superman as a "practical messiah" and as "a savior who comes in from above to rescue the victims of malignant power with absolute goodness."

The point Dr. Terwilliger was making to his congregation in an informal afterpiece to his regular sermon was that Batman provides a "much-needed emotional and almost religious" outlet for many viewers by performing "miracles" which are "the kind modern man likes most — not supernatural but scientific."

Dr. Terwilliger indicated that he, along with virtually all Batfans, is intrigued by the "incredible devices" (Bat-gas, Bat-phone, Bat-mobile and other Bat-eyebuggers) Batman employs to squash and squelch such fiendish foes as False Face, the Joker the Riddler, the Penguin, the Cat Woman, the Mad Hatter and the Grisly Ghoul, to name just a few.

He emphasized that, as delightful as it is to see such scoundrels get Bat-ted down, Bat-therapy is still second-rate to religious worship.

But the fact remains that he did mention religion and Batman in practically the same breath, or at least in the same pulpit. And even when voiced with tongue in cheek, it is not hard to imagine who would be among the first to grab a bat man.

Do you get the message, Satan? Do you realize what could happen? BAM! ZOWIE! CRUNCH! Unholy terror!

Well, Anyway—We Like 'em!

Well, sir, you would think the last thing that could ever be said against American women is that they are wearing their skirts too long.

But, by jove, it HAS been said—by members of the London Symphony Orchestra, who with their wives and girl friends recently toured our primitive land of the low, low hemline. The wives and girl friends of the English musicians really showed our American women—and men, too—something in the way of short skirts.

Our ladies, who had thought they were up to at least their knees in style, gaped aghast at the English gals. And the English gals gaped right back in amazement and derision.

And then a violinist in the London orchestra, who obviously ought to keep his eyes and his mind on his music, really sounded a sour note when he sidely sneered that no woder American women wore their skirts so long — "they have such terrible figures."

That tore it. The Limeys can knock our Viet Nam policy, our currency system, our economy, our politics, our morals or any other similar phase of our way of life. But just don't knock our ladies' legs!

The caustic comments from London have naturally evoked a torrent of bitter reprisals in America. Things couldn't have been much hotter between the two countries just before the Revolutionary War.

And along with it all, one thing is simply beyond comprehension. Where, oh where, did those critics find those American gals with the long, long skirts?

Sauce for the Gander

A high school football coach in Minnesota has hit upon a novel way to punish players who fumble the ball.

The fumbler has to carry a football everywhere he goes for a week — to and from school, to class, to lunch, even in the shower.

It will be interesting to see if living publicly with his shame will make the offender surefingered and fumble-proof.

It is also interesting to speculate on what might happen if the coach were to impose the same penalty on himself — and wear a dunce cap for a week whenever he sends in the wrong play.

It would be a practical demonstration of teamwork — and democracy.

We Call 'em 'Wild Indians'

The current struggle between school administrators and boys with long hair is not new to American education.

According to B. B. Chapman of the Florida State University History Department, back in 1901 the Office of Indian Affairs began a campaign to make young Indian males stop the "objectionable and immoral" practice of wearing long hair.

The Indians resisted, and it wasn't until they became more assimilated into American culture that they voluntarily gave up their long hair, says Chapman.

Now American culture, at least as expressed by teenagers, looks on short hair with disfavor. There doesn't seem to be much teachers and parents can do about it but reflect that time not only heals all wounds but, for a large proportion of men, shears all locks.

Smog Sours Milky Way

Just at the time man is bounding into space, the industrialization that has made it possible is blurring his view of what's out there.

"Air-pollution is no longer merely an earthly problem," complains Prof. Orren C. Mohler, chairman of the University of Michigan astronomy department. "It is affecting our observation of the stars."

Haze in the atmosphere, coupled with greatly increased night lighting, has already made observations of faint heavenly bodies impossible from optical telescopes situated near population centers, he says.

Smog is also a problem for radio astronomers because small particles of dust and dirt also emit radio waves and heat, creating "ghost" readings on their instruments.

The ideal location for an observatory, short of outer space, would be on top of a high mountain thousands of miles from the nearest human beings.

"But then," says Mohler, "you wouldn't be able to get astronomers to go there."

Restless Electorate

As the congressional and gubernatorial campaign season comes down to the final stretch, it is increasingly clear that the voters intend to hand the Great Society a surprise on election day. From coast to coast, political observers report a ground swell of conservative backlash.

In California, the rioting in San Francisco is regarded as having moved the electorate even more in the direction of conservative reform. Many Californians are determined to restore the rule of law and order in their state. The working public in that state also seems very indignant over long-standing abuses of welfare.

In Georgia, conservative newspapers characterize the defeat of former liberal Governor Ellis Arnall as repudiation of the social views and political programs of the Johnson administration. Those politicians who have played ball with the liberals in Washington are, in the words of today's young-guns Herald, for example, state to defy the bureaucrats, commented editorially that the people of Georgia "have become fed up with the social planning, unchecked spending, and experimentation of the national administration."

The "backlash," as the phenomenon is sometimes described, is a remarkable tribute to the principles and common sense of the American people. Since the Kennedy administration took over in Washington in 1961, the people of this nation have been subjected to an unparalleled bribery attempt. Both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations have sought to "buy" the American people with their own tax dollars. The officials of both administrations have offered large sums of federal aid to communities and states on the condition that they accept programs and adopt plans that the communities and states regard as wrong.

Those communities and states that refused to go along with the new reconstruction edicts have been victimized by federal pressure. In the case of the unconstitutional school "guidelines," officials have resorted to underhanded methods. The toughest demands have been given in personal conferences or over the telephone so that no records are available that would outrage the public.

The evidence of the "backlash" indicates that the American people can't be bought or beaten into political submission. These days, it is hard for an individual, a company, town or state to defy the bureaucrats. The federal judiciary is almost completely in the hands of those who want to force reconstruction of American customs. People who stand up to the bureaucrats may find that their business records and back tax payments are subject to fishing expeditions and to general harassment. But the American people still have one immensely powerful weapon with which to protect their traditional liberties. This is the vote.

On November 8, Americans who see their nation slipping deeper and deeper into a state of virtual totalitarianism can strike back against the Johnson administration and its collaborators in Congress and governors' mansions. They can send to Congress men who will impose constitutional controls on the administration and who will inhibit the arrogant bureaucrats.

As Americans follow the final electoral maneuvers, they would do well to bear in mind President Johnson's proposals for four-year terms for members of the House of Representatives. If he had his way in this matter, the people would be deprived this year of an opportunity to vote "no confidence" on the Great Society. Fortunately, the two-year term is still in effect, and the voice of the people cannot be silenced by the White House.

The liberal attitude always has been that the people are stupid and don't know what is best for them. But the American people are plenty smart. A man who works in a plant or office or on a farm knows that those who refuse to work don't deserve government coddling. The average parent knows that the best kind of school for his child is a neighborhood school, not one that is based on sociological experimentation. The homeowner knows that his home truly is his castle, and his right to rent or sell should not be restricted by federal bureaucrats.

It is because Americans understand these things so well that a powerful "backlash" is likely.

'Civil Rights' and Wrong Placed in Context

By TIBOR R. MACHAN

Let me to make a few observations in connection with the current racial and civil rights problems.

First, it would be a mistake to suppose that the widespread infringement on the rights of individuals undertaken by civil rights marchers is the sole responsibility of the Negro leaders who instigate the infringements (by morally condoning them as proper actions in behalf of civil rights). Long before the political and legal atmosphere in this nation underwent a sharp change in the direction of the welfare state. The implications of the welfare state are such that they encourage the belief among the citizenry that an equal distribution of the national wealth (regardless of its source) is a proper ideal to be pursued. The original propagators of the principles underlying the welfare state concept were equipped, of course, with subtle and relatively inoffensive means to implement their policies and to achieve the needed political and legal provisions to further their ultimate aims. At that time, the Negro population of the United States was not yet granted its legitimate civil rights, a fact which made it impossible for Negroes to advance to political and professional positions from which political effectiveness was possible. In effect while white welfareists were beginning to reap the fruits of their subtle change of our political and legal framework, the Negro was both oppressed by old laws and left out of the legalized benefits of the looting achieved by welfareists.

Recently, however, the Negro decided to change his circumstances. He recognized the fact that actual oppression, by way of segregationist laws (e.g., anti-Negro municipal, county and state laws in most southern states) existed; but he also recognized that the principles of the welfare state have permeated the legal structure of our society. So he set out, without questioning the propriety of these two different goals, to attain both an equal status as a citizen and an equal status as a reaper of the fruits of our national wealth. The first aim was a proper one; the last was (and is) the improper aim.

The situation has become crucial and offensive only due to the fact that Negroes are not employing the sophisticated and subtle means in their fight to share the wealth as did the white welfareists. And if one accepts the proposition that the distribution of the wealth in this nation is a proper social policy, then the fact that Negroes aim to gain what they believe is theirs by right outside of the law cannot be offensive at all. This must be understood, in accordance with this analysis, as the logical consequence of the principles of the welfare state applied to those whose MODUS OPERANDI lacks the kind of polish that made the progress of welfareism relatively effortless.

Those who have recently become more conducive to anti-Negro sentiments should remind themselves of the above interpretation of the current crises. The immorality of stealing and of any infringement on individual rights (e.g. property rights—the direct derivative of one's right to life) remains the same, regardless of the means by which the stealing is accomplished. Thus, the whites (or mostly whites) who instituted the provisions of the welfare state and now sit safely enjoying something to which they have no right, are no less guilty than are those who participate in riots and looting or in the intrusion on others' private property. If anyone must be condemned in this situation, the intellectuals and politicians who advocate the principles of the welfare state should be the first ones.

These men have not only established a political and legal atmosphere within which the aims of the Negro rioters and marchers are perfectly justified (via whatever means) but they have succeeded in diverting attention from their own crimes by allowing the Negro to carry the burden of his unsuitable deeds. The white backlash, which is not fiction by any means is the direct result of the deeds and policies of welfare-statists. This is not to say that racism, resulting from whatever contributing causes, is justifiable. It is to say, rather, that the evils that result from racism may have several causes, some which are easily detectable, others which escape direct observation.

Too many so-called peaceful citizens, whose "only" contribution to the current moral, political, legal and economic crises is their systematic evasion of the facts — resulting in their particular voting patterns — have cried "they are going too far" as they viewed the recent eruptions of violence in connection with civil rights marches. The holier-than-thou attitude with which these men confront the situation should once and for all be shattered. They must realize, or be faced with the fact, that the Negro is not some sort of an odd creature whose nature is to instigate violence and to loot and rob, in contrast to the peaceful white man who, when he wants something for nothing, constructs a complicated rationalization which shall aid in the establishment of legal and political policies that result in his getting something for nothing (nothing, that is, from him). They must also realize that immorality consists not only of overt physical action (e.g. murder, robbery, looting), but also of intellectual action and non-action (e.g. a failure to think, the resulting confusion in one's moral values as in the head of a master criminal who only devises plans but never actually commits an overt act.)

Should some of these realizations become widespread within the minds of the people in our society, perhaps more citizens will attempt to solve the problems at their roots, i.e., where the principles of the social system within which we operate are challenged. The process, of course, is much more difficult and slow than simple reactions to day-to-day events in the news. But its rewards are also far more lasting.

New Viet Nam Building Up In Middle East, Africa And Latin America, President Warned; Asked for Prevention Now

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is devoting so much of his time to the Viet Nam conflict that the development of policies for other trouble spots is being seriously delayed.

This is the growing complaint of diplomats and intelligence authorities pressing for presidential action to counter the mounting flow of Soviet arms to Algeria, Egypt, Cyprus, Congo, and Cuba.

Their memorandums, now gathering dust on the President's desk, warn of "new Viet Nams" in the Middle East, Africa, and Latin America unless the U. S. takes immediate preventive action.

While admitting the Soviet arms problem may appear insignificant to the bloody Viet Nam struggle, these administration experts are stressing that diplomatic and economic moves now by the President could help avert tragic U. S. military involvement later in many of these tension-ridden areas.

Illustrative of their warnings is the dangerous situation developing between Morocco and Algeria, the country chose by the Kremlin for the biggest Red military build-up in Africa.

These worried intelligence-diplomatic experts estimate recent Soviet arms shipments have given the Algerians from six to one lead to an eight to one lead in military equipment over Morocco.

For example, Algeria is credited with receiving 6,000 Russian artillery pieces during the past two years — eight times more than Morocco purchased from France and the U.S. With upwards of 300 modern tanks, Algeria has a lead of six to one over her pro-U.S. neighbor.

In the past two months, while everyone's attention has been focused on Viet Nam, at least 20 Soviet Mig-21s have arrived in Algeria, giving that country 80 fighters and bombers. Morocco has transports, but no operational combat planes, although that government is now seeking to purchase a small number of fighters from the U.S., with financial help from Saudi Arabia.

Eight hundred Soviet military instructors and technicians are known to be in Algeria. Moscow is training Algeria's military officers in Russia at the rate of 500 a year.

THE GATHERING STORM — If this growing military imbalance isn't corrected immediately, these experts warn, Algeria will be tempted to revenge its 1963 defeat by Morocco.

Although Morocco has a highly efficient army, it is now desperately short of modern equipment comparable to what the Soviets have given the Algerians.

When fighting broke out between the two countries three years ago, the Algerian army was still basically an ill-equipped guerrilla force and was soundly beaten by the Moroccans.

This would not be the case today, the experts assert. The scale of Algeria's military expansion now gives that country a commanding military edge over Morocco.

According to their recommendations to the White House, the President could defuse this explosive situation overnight by warning Algeria to halt its military build-up or the U. S. will stop its food shipments.

Under present foreign aid programs this country now feeds more than 25 per cent of the Algerian population, including part of its growing armed forces.

Halting these food shipments would disrupt Algeria's faltering economy, these experts claim, that it would be impossible for her armies to fight a war.

WAITING THEIR TURN — Presidential action on this proposed economic warning to Algeria, along with plans to step-up U. S. arms sales to Morocco, has been put off until after the Manila conference on Viet Nam.

Other recommendations for direct diplomatic and economic pressure on Russia to end her arms traffic to Africa and Cuba will not be considered by the President until after his upcoming Far East trip.

White House aides, deeply concerned about the President's growing work load, say these foreign policy decisions are not nearly as urgent as those pertaining to Viet Nam and can be put over until the President has

Time To Clarify

(California Feature Service)

Violence breeds violence, and it is not surprising that the deliberate extension of "civil rights" marches into middle class white areas of Chicago and other cities for the avowed purpose in the words of Martin Luther King — of bringing "this hate into the open", has achieved just that. The resultant reaction may bolster Dr. King's martyr complex, but it hardly advances the worthy cause of the minorities he professedly bleeds for.

What disturbs a great many people, however, is the apparent inability of the law enforcement agencies to quell the violence under the laws designed to protect person and property. George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi Party, for example, had to be arrested on charges of unlawfully soliciting funds in a public park, rather than for creating a bloody riot.

It is a cliché to say there ought to be a law but it does seem high time we should recognize the need for clarification of the laws we do have which govern our basic right of petition and assembly; a clarification that would remove them as a privileged sanctuary for ideological destroyers of safeguards of the public interest, property and personal safety, and strengthen them as well.

Wit and Whimsy

Once again, the father wound up on the losing end of the family hassle around the dinner table.

"Everybody gets their way around here except me!" he shouted. "What do I have to do to get my way just once!" His small daughter, Sandra, tugged at his sleeve. "Papa," she whispered, "cry a little."

Two teardrops were floating down the river of time.

First Teardrop — I am the fear of a woman who lost her man to another.

Second Teardrop — And I, am the fear of the women who got him.

Red Guard's School Takeover Demotes Teachers To Janitors

By JOHN BARTON
 TOKYO (UPI) — A "black board jungle" is rising behind the Bamboo Curtain, reports from Communist China indicate Tuesday.

Militant Red Guard teenagers at a major Peking high school were reported to have taken over the school and demoted its principal and eight teachers to janitors.

The Kyodo news agency said the students were angered because of the principal's "interference" with their attempts to study the thought of Mao Tse-tung. Some of the arguments are copies of the report.

The takeover was said to have occurred at the prep school of the Chinese University, a school of science and engineering. The principal and eight of his 150 teachers now are "doing such chores as sweeping floors, growing vegetables and other labor reform jobs," Kyodo said.

At least 16 of the school's teachers have joined the Red Guards of the student body, it was reported. The youths have

Orange Crop Sets Record

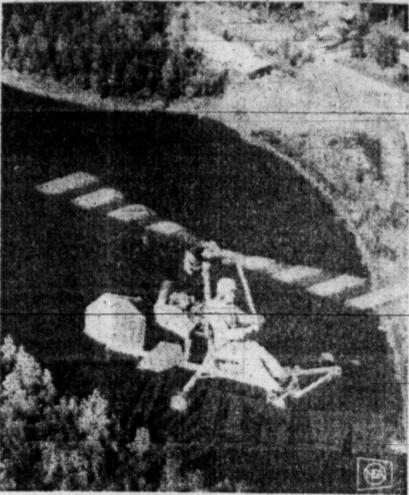

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Tuesday estimated the early and mid-season 1966-67 orange crop at a record 89,600,000 boxes.

This was up 23 per cent from last season.

The crop reporting board issued these additional citrus reports based on Oct. 1 conditions:

All in tons:

Oranges—California navel and miscellaneous (no Valencia estimate until December) 525,000 tons; Florida, all oranges 3,303,000 including 2,970,000 of Valencias; Arizona, all oranges, 90,000 including 60,000 of Valencias; Texas all oranges, 453,000 including 45,000 Valencias; Grapefruit—Florida 1,679,000 tons; Texas 216,000; Arizona

'Ghosts' Plague Indiana Home; Family Won't Move Back In

OSCEOLA, Ind. (UPI) — Strange things have been happening at the Walter Sznajfuch home here, and his family won't come home until he finds out what is causing them.

Sznajfuch told police Sunday night an "unseen force" has been moving furniture, making sounds and throwing pebbles against the side of his house.

Police Capt. Richard Handley said he went to the home in this community east of South Bend and saw a picture fly off the wall and a heavy ash tray shattered into pieces.

"If I had not been a witness to this," Handley said, "I certainly would not have believed it could happen."

Handley said a 20-0 pound chair was flung off the floor and dropped at his feet. He said he sat the chair up again and went on to investigate. He said he found the chair tipped over, again when he returned. There was no one

War Veterans Have Less Than Year for GI Loans

World War II veterans have less than one year left to take advantage of GI guaranteed or insured loans, according to A. W. Stratton, Chief Benefits Director of the Veterans Administration.

July 25, 1967, is the deadline for World War II veterans' eligibility, he said.

Eligibility for World War II veterans is determined by a formula which adds ten years to the date of their last discharge plus one year for each 90 days of service.

Thus eligibility for many has already expired, but the July 25, 1967 date is the cutoff for all other World War II veterans.

Veterans who were discharged for a service-connected disability and the widows of such veterans will be eligible up to the July 25, 1967 deadline.

Those eligible may obtain a guaranteed or insured loan to purchase a home, farm or to buy or start a business.

For veterans of the Korean Conflict the formula for determining GI loan eligibility is the same as for veterans of World War II. However, the Korean Conflict entitlement did not begin to expire until Jan. 31, 1965, and the final deadline is Jan. 31, 1975.

As in the case of World War II veterans, Korean Conflict veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities and their widows are eligible up to the final 1975 deadline. Eligibility for Post-Korean veterans under the new GI Bill does not begin to expire until 1976.
