WASHINGTON (UPI) — A settlement was reached early today in the 39-day-old airline strike after a 20-hour non-stop negotiating session. But Congress continued work on legislation to stop the walkout in event strikers rejected the agreement.

The announcement that the five struck airlines and the International Association of Machinists (IAM) had reached the settlement—subject to ratification by strikers—came shortly after dawn.

It was reported to have a price tag of about $90 million—about $16 million above a previous settlement accepted by IAM negotiators but turned down by the strikers with Eastern, United, National, Northwest and Trans World Airlines.

The House Rules Committee said it would meet as scheduled today to take up the bill, approved last week by the Commerce Committee.

Detective Raid Yields Nothing

LONDON (UPI) — Armed detectives from Scotland Yard's crack "Flying Squad," believed acting on an underworld tip, raided several London homes before dawn today in their search for the slayers of three unarmed British policemen.

The three suspects were not found. The policemen were gunned down Friday on a quiet London street in the worst police killing in Britain since 1910.

While police scientists searched for clues in the abandoned station wagon used by the slayers, contributions poured in to police stations throughout the country for a national appeal fund established to aid survivors of the dead policemen. One anonymous donor gave $280,000.

Sir Joseph Simpson, metropolitan police commissioner, said late Sunday night police would seek assistance from the underworld in tracking down the wanted men.

"Some of the most persistent criminals don't stand for this sort of thing and sometimes we get help from them," he declared. "I would welcome such help now."

Police Sunday located the getaway car used by the killers. The battered, 10-year-old sedan, a blue-green station wagon, was found in a vacant lot.

A woman who lives in an apartment overlooking the lot called police with the tip. She reportedly saw one of the men park the vehicle Friday. Police asked that her name be withheld because she would be a key witness in any court proceedings to follow.

The area where the car was found is a run-down neighborhood about five miles from the West London where the three plainclothes officers were shot as they sought to question three men in a station wagon.

The victims were Detective Sergeant C.T. Head, 30; Detective Constable D.S.B. Wombwell, 25, and police Constable G.R. Fox, 41.

Police said late Sunday they had received the names of two London men who may have been involved in the slayings.

One man has a criminal record and reportedly left his West London home in a hurry Saturday. The other suspect has not been seen since the day of the shootings. Scotland Yard detectives and police were staking out the homes of the suspects.

At least 18,000 officers are involved in the search, one of the most intensive manhunt in British history.

Fiery Crash Raises Toll For Weekend

by United Press International

A fiery smashup in a rainstorm in East Texas that killed five persons combined with steadily mounting highway accidents in other parts of the state to drive Texas weekend violent death toll tragically upward.

A United Press International survey from 6 p.m. Friday to Sunday midnight showed at least 40 violent deaths, including 20 highway fatalities.

The worst accident of the weekend occurred Sunday on U.S. 69 south of Wells, Tex. Two cars collided and burst into flames that required more than an hour to extinguish.

The dead were Joe Bailey, 28, of Huntington, Tex.; his wife, Anna Joyce, 25; his mother, Gladys, 56; his aunt, Dee Sheffield and Robert L. Karnes, 29, of Hurst, Tex.

Three persons died in a gunfight in a barbecue restaurant in Fort Worth early Sunday. The dead were John Paul Cartwright, 24; his brother, Jell, 20 and Earl Wilson, 48, owner of the cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thompson of Anthony, N.M. were killed in El Paso in a two-car collision Sunday night. The driver of the other car, Mrs. Alicia Martinez, was charged with negligent homicide.

Israeli-Syria Planes Battle Second Time

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Israeli jet fighters today shot down two Syrian MIGs in an aerial dogfight over Lake Tiberias and then "silenced" two Syrian gun positions on the shore, a military spokesman announced.

The battle took place after Syrian shore guns opened fire on a stranded Israeli fishing boat and a patrol boat that had come to its rescue on the border lake. According to the spokesman, Syrian jets moved in to attack the boats and Israeli air force planes were quickly called into action.

It was the second full-scale dog fight between Israeli and Syrian jets in little over a month. Israeli officials claim one Syrian jet was shot down July 14 during an Israeli attack on a Syrian Jordan River engineering unit.

According to the military spokesman, today's dogfight lasted only a "few minutes."

One of the Syrian jets fell into Lake Tiberias and the second crashed on Syrian territory. The action ended when United Nations truce forces intervened.

Damascus radio, monitored in Beirut, quoted a Syrian military spokesman as saying one Syrian and two Israelis were wounded in a battle "when an Israeli boat opened fire on Syrian positions." It said nothing about the aerial dogfight.

The trouble began when the unidentified fishing craft became stranded—apparently with engine trouble—near the eastern shore of Lake Tiberias. Syrian shore batteries opened fire on the boat twice and the patrol boat rushed to its assistance.

Israeli officials complained to the United Nations truce supervision organization and, according to the announcement, the Syrian jets attacked the boats after the Syrian government had agreed to let the stranded boat be towed away without further trouble.

GOP Vote Ordered Cast Out

The Seventh District Court of Appeals in Amarillo handed down a decision this forenoon reversing the judgment of 31st District Court Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in the June 4 runoff primary contest between incumbent County Judge Bill Craig and A. J. Carubbi.

In reversing Judge Goodrich's ruling of that Craig was the primary winner by 8 votes, the three-man court ordered the case remanded to District Court here with instructions to Judge Goodrich to open the ballot boxes and "remove the some seventy odd Republican votes and then ascertain who was the winner in the county judge second primary runoff and certify the same to the county clerk and order that name placed on the ballot for the general election to be held in November this year."

The per curiam opinion was handed down by the appeals court one week to the day after Carubbi's appeal case had been heard before it in Amarillo.

Judge Goodrich could not be reached today at his home in Shamrock or at his office. Court attaches said he was on vacation.

It was assumed Goodrich would open the ballot boxes and follow the appellate court order as soon as he was notified of today's opinion.

At the appeal hearing Carubbi had contended 71 Republican votes were cast out.

Contraceptives Prove Effectiveness, Safety

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration is lifting its two-year limit on the use of birth control pills, which it says are the surest and most effective contraceptive now available to women.

At the same time, however, FDA Commissioner Dr. James L. Goddard is ordering his agency to continue to caution the nation's doctors against the possibility of side-effects resulting from use of the pills. As many as 6 million American women are estimated to be taking these pills at present.

The FDA's cautious approval of what is universally known as "the pill" was based on the report of a 10-member advisory committee of leading obstetricians and gynecologists who made a nine-month study of available scientific data.

In the report, made public Sunday, the committee said there just was not enough data to prove or disprove claims of tragic side-effects. "In the final analysis, each physician must evaluate the advantage and the risks of this method of contraception in comparison with other available methods or with no contraception at all," the report said.

"We wanted to place a yellow light of caution on their usage without causing a panic," one committee member said.

Put another way, he said, the report's conclusion that there was no scientific data to prove birth control pills unsafe for human use could just as well have been worded: "No data to prove the compounds safe for human use."

Nevertheless, the committee recommended that the FDA lift its current requirement that manufacturers recommend that women not use the pills for more than two years. Dr. Goddard said this would be done within the next 90 days.

The FDA, which regards the advisory committee's report as preliminary, is planning to conduct an expanded study of pill usage. This will involve controlled groups of upwards of half a million U.S. women and may take as long as 10 years to complete.

While the FDA's advisers were uncertain about the pill's side-effects, they were unanimous and emphatic about its effectiveness as a contraceptive. "We feel the pills are 99 percent effective," the report said. (See Contraceptives, Page 3)

Two U.S. Jets Lost Sunday Over Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — An entire U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief squadron—25 planes—has been lost over Communist North Viet Nam in the last month, reliable sources said today.

The disclosure came as U.S. military spokesmen announced that two F105s were lost over the North Sunday during 108 missions against oil depots, warehouses, military targets and river and road traffic.

Seventeen U.S. planes have been shot down since Aug. 7, when seven aircraft—including five F105s—failed to return from raids over Communist territory. Aug. 7 saw the worst one-day toll of the war.

Marchers Spur Violence In Chicago Neighborhood

CHICAGO (UPI)—Civil rights leaders adopted new scatter-shot tactics Sunday and sent open housing marchers into three all-white Chicago neighborhoods at the same time. Violence broke out after a Nazi rally in another neighborhood.

Hundreds of Negro and white marchers—including some Roman Catholic priests—hiked into the Gage Park and Bogan areas on the southwest side and the Jefferson Park area on the northwest side.

Police arrested at least 20 persons, most of them "outsiders" from other neighborhoods.

The most serious outbreak of violence occurred after an American Nazi party rally in Marquette Park on the southwest side, an area not even visited by marchers.

There, a party speaker called for a "white revolution," and hundreds of white youths began to roam the streets looking for Negroes or policemen. Two cars with Negro passengers were turned over by the mob and one car was set on fire.

One mob of white youths hurled bricks at a car driven by a Negro woman, shattering the windows and injuring the woman's small child. Several other white youths rushed to the woman's assistance, and escorted her and the bleeding child to the nearest knot of police.

Embattled police tried to break up the roving gangs, and three officers were injured. Police finally had to fire their revolvers into the air and restore order in the white neighborhood.

Authorities said about 2,000 persons had attended the Nazi rally.

Extinction Versus Overpopulation

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Yale Prof. Clement L. Markert said today "the most important problem facing human beings is the problem of atomic war, or, in biological terms, the problem of extinction."

"Ironically, the next most important problem is the problem of overpopulation," he continued, adding: "Failure to solve the first constitutes a solution for the second."

Markert, chairman of the Yale Biology Department, is 1966 president of the American Institute of Biological Sciences which is holding its annual meeting here at the University of Maryland.

The Yale biologist presided at a discussion of "Population Growth and the Quality of Life." Although atomic war is a "clearly unacceptable" solution to the problem of overpopulation, "there can be no doubt," Markert said, "concerning this long-term prognosis."

"Either the birth rate of the world must come down or the death rate must go back up

Had today's growth rate existed since the time of Christ, the world population now would be 60 million billion—or 100 persons to each square foot."

But continued increase in the population growth rate, he said, "becomes impossible after a while."

"If man does not control his numbers voluntarily," Markert said, "then we can be sure that the traditional methods of famine, pestilence, and war will provide us with highly unpleasant limiting controls."

Reliable sources reported earlier that a U.S. Army gunship accidentally killed five Vietnamese civilians and wounded 15 in a strike in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

The informants said the attack occurred Friday near Can Tho during a government operation supported by American aircraft.

Dear Abby....

Tell Him the Facts On Making a Will

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a wonderful widower. He is considerate, kind, and generous, and we are very happy together. One thing has me worried. He has no intentions of drawing up a will. He feels that inasmuch as a wife number one helped him earn everything he now possesses, should he precede me in death, everything should go to his children. They are all married, and doing extremely well.

When I married this man he told me I wouldn't need a thing as he had everything, which was true, so I disposed of all my worldly goods and divided up everything among my married children.

I am too old to make my own way in the world now, and although I don't expect a great deal, don't you think he owes me security?

WONDERING: DEAR ABBY: Yes. And if he is "kind, considerate, and generous" as you say he is, it is highly unlikely that he would leave you penniless should he die first. Does he know that it is possible for a wife to inherit more than her spouse had intended should he die first and leave nothing in writing? Tell him this, and he will probably break his neck getting to his lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has always taught me not to lie, but sometimes when one of her friends calls her on the telephone she asks me to say she isn't home when she is, isn't that lying? I am 11 years old and all mixed up.

DEAR MIXED: Yes, it is lying. Ask your mother if you may say, "Mother is busy now, may she call you back?"

DEAR ABBY: Everyone I mention planning my wedding, my mother changes the subject. She says it is a lot of fuss and expense for nothing. I have the money saved and would pay for it myself, and my fiancé's mother offered to help me with the plans. My mother says if I do have a church wedding she won't come because she never went to any of my brothers' or sisters' weddings. (They were all married by justices of the peace.)

I dearly would love a church wedding, Abby, but what's a wedding without a mother? I asked mom if she'd care if we went out of state and got married, and she said, "I wish you would." What do you think?

WANTS A WEDDING: DEAR WANTS: Since you are able to pay for it yourself and your fiancé's mother can help with the plans, go ahead and have your church wedding. Your mother (assuming she's well) is only being peevish and contrary. But I'll bet she wakes up in time to smell the strange blossoms.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GARY IN LUBBOCK: Work in the yard that raises the kind of dough you're looking for.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The National Safety Council is going all out with a public service campaign urging all automobile drivers to drive defensively.

That is just what I've been doing... watching those other drivers and I'll tell you right now there are some I watch a lot harder than others.

I never trust the woman driver who keeps turning her head to talk to the woman on the seat beside her. She's obviously far more concerned with having a nice chat than with watching the road.

I never trust the teen-age boy whose car is filled with other teen-age boys trying to catch up with a car full of teen-age girls. I never trust the woman who is zipping in and out of traffic with a small child standing up in the front seat. (Anyone that stupid—I figure—shouldn't be allowed to drive.)

I never trust the man who sprawls behind the wheel of his car, one elbow out the window and one hand on the steering wheel. He looks too near asleep to be trusted.

I never trust the driver of a kiddie car pool who doesn't have the kids under control.

by the subculture with its chain mail and plastic there was a definite feeling that we are entering an era where the woman of 30 will no longer be a negligible quantity in fashion. From Dior to St. Laurent (notwithstanding his amusing pop-art and nailheads at very unfunny prices) there was elegance without stuffiness in every collection.

And Chanel was, as always, Gabrielle at her best. The hemline ran the gamut from thigh to mid-calf. But at most houses it hovered at the knee for dresses, longer for coats.

Waistlines, too, moved all over the lot and there was a return to subtle shaping and away from the unfitted shift.

Marc Bohan's collection for Dior created the usual sensation when he showed long guardsmen's coats and nurses' capes with short dresses. A vague Russian influence was in the air in the shape of long greatcoats, hip boots and shaggy furs.

Coats are divided into two factions — the slim, semiredingote and the tent coat with fullness sometimes restrained by a martingale placed just below the shoulder blades.

Suit coats have stand-up collars and diagonal closings. Skirts wrap around or are gathered in front. And ankle-length capes add an aura of romance to evenings.

Fur flew in every collection and favorite fabrics were crepe, velvet, lace, jersey, wool and gabardine. Silver glitter was big for after-five.

Despite rumors to the contrary black is well-established in the fashion picture along with all the pastels and neon shades. Boots in every length are in with a vengeance.

Haut Couture Roundup
DIOR: Marc Bohan went out on a limb by showing guardsmen's coats and long capes for both day and evening. But his daytime dress and suit length just hit mid-knee.

PATOU: Michel Goma made the fur fly in his collection. White mink was combined with vertical, cable-knit bands. Beaver was bound with leather. He also designed trouser skirts, to swing at mid-calf over boots.

CARIN: Pierre took us for a trip into space. Helmeted boys showed sleeveless jackets zipped up, down and across, over turtleneck sweaters. Girls wore very short skirts hanging from suspenders. There were barrel shaped wool skirts, too, over lace petticoats that showed. Coats and suits had side cut-outs and a trio of amazon dresses had pointed, stiffened cups set in at the bosom. The collection was good theater.

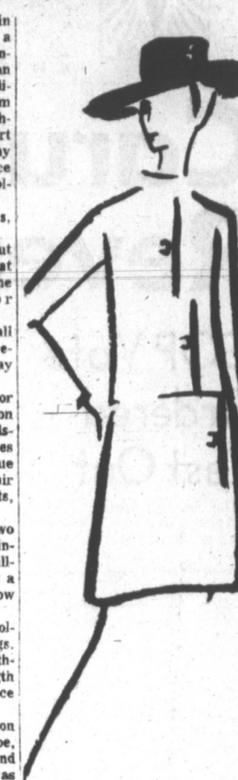

CHANEL: Coco couldn't care less about hemlines pinpointed at any length. Each mannequin wore her coat or suit at the right length for HER. Chanel's suit jackets were longer this time and had side closings. Coats were fur-trimmed even around the bottom. For evening she showed beautifully cut black velvet pajamas worn with black chiffon, ostrich-trimmed coats. She proved once again that fashion is not an age.

ST. LAURENT: It's three inches above the knees for Yves. Dresses and coats were closer to the body and more fitted than in past seasons. St. Laurent has replaced his preoccupation with the nautical. It's army jackets this time, with self tabs and silver buttons. And he has put romantic velvets back into the fashion picture. But, with his design of a nude figure outlined on purple jersey and enough nailheads to make a dress look like a tool box, he has injected too much pop-art into his otherwise beautiful collection.

LANVIN: Jules Crahay showed a handsome collection with daytime hems hovering at the knee. For evening his figure-shaping black crepes drop the hemline to the ankle.

BALMAIN: Pierre still projects his feeling for the sophisticated woman in her 40s. But the hard, smart suits are softened this time with fur trim in the Russian manner. A new, young skinny sweater-type dress with yxskinny sweater-type dress with T-shirt stripes.

Jeanne Lanvin into his otherwise beautiful collection.

MATURE PARENT
By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
At a recent forum on teen-age sex problems, many of the questions put by its audience of prosperous, sophisticated parents dealt, not with their children's problems, but with their own. Typical of the questions asked was: "How often should husbands and wives have intercourse?"

Reporting on this in the New York Times, Ruth and Edward Brecher suggest that we American parents are too confused about sex ourselves to educate children in it.

I agree. I also think that we are too confused about sex ourselves to qualify as children's sex educators. What's more, I think that we are entitled to our confusion.

If ever there was a generation beset by conflicting notions on sex, it is yours and mine.

First, we're all still struggling with our old racial hate of woman as Eve, the tool of Satan, the very symbol of sin and man's fall from God's grace. Then, in addition to the sexual confusion created by this old hating view of woman, many of us are still influenced by the threatening sex instruction given us by our parents. Next, we live in a melting pot to which our forebears brought as many different traditions of proper sexual conduct as they brought cooking traditions.

As if these historical and social influences were not enough to destroy our sexual sanity, over us for years has played the poisonous spray of phony Freudianism. This is the "Don't repress your sexual impulses, kid" propaganda.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD

Sympathy of everyone in the Quivira Council is extended to the Forrest Pitts family for their recent loss of a son and brother. Mrs. Pitts was the very capable leader of Troop 43 until the illness of her son.

Sweaters, camp stools, mosquito netting, just about anything you can name has turned up in the lost and found box in the Girl Scout office. Girls should check their belongings to see if they returned with all the equipment that accompanied them to camp. This includes items found during Day Camp and Established Camp. Mrs. Fern Dawson, registrar, made a desperate plea for help in locating the owners of these items.

The Law at Your Fingertips is a very practical guide for the Scouts to learn their Girl Scout Laws. Of course, we all know that being able to say the laws letter perfect is not the most important thing. Just as idle hands are useless, so idle laws are valueless. Girl Scouts should learn the laws and live by them. This, most of the time, is easier said than done. Girls entering junior grade of Girl Scouting have much to learn, a new Girl Scout Promise, requirements on earning badges, etc. So if leaders can give the girls a helping hand in an easier way to learn the laws why not? The fingertip method of learning is much like a game to the troop members so it becomes fun as well as challenging.

The first law: A Girl Scout's Honor is to be Trusted. To say that your honor is to be trusted means that you can accept and carry out responsibility. It takes strength to do this, so on a very strong finger, the thumb, stands this important law. So each law is represented by a fingertip, making it easier to remember. Members of Troop-69 meeting this summer used this method and had fun tracing their hands and writing the laws on the appropriate fingers. Leaders of new junior troops would find this helpful.

"Party Favors and Decorations" is a very worthwhile booklet for leaders, many clever ideas concerning tray favors and such and a special group of features showing facial expressions. This may be obtained from the Extension Dept. of Oregon State College. For those always on the lookout for something out of the ordinary, this one is a "must."

Just two weeks until the fall school term begins. What happened to summer? Many troops will resume their regular Scout meetings. Some have met throughout the summer, others suspend their Scouting activities. This is entirely a matter of choice of leader and troop.

Members of the Girl Scout Junior Troops 18 of Herculaneum had gone quite a distance in their four-mile hike when they looked back to find "Peanuts" keeping up with them.

The animal had gone too far for the girls to shoo her home. It became an ordeal for the low slung dog, walking up and down ledges and dragging along, exploring surrounding hillsides.

Enroute home, the girls had to stop and wait while "Peanuts" rested along the way.

Cathy Sims suggested that the girls fashion a litter from her raincoat. They did. Then they took turns carrying "Peanuts" home.

Pampa Police Kept Busy With Prowlers, Shootings

Pampa police were busy over the weekend investigating complaints of shootings, prowlers, theft, malicious mischief, a window peeper and a bedroom intruder.

None of the cases proved to be of major proportion but they kept police on the run in all sections of the city.

Two brothers were under a police quiz this forenoon following a quarrel and shooting on Canadian St. shortly after 1 p.m. Sunday. Police said they were told a 17-year-old youth took two rifle shots at his 15-year-old brother. Both shots missed and went through a door.

Police Chief Jim Conner said it was possible a citation would be made for unlawfully discharging firearms.

John Crawford, 700 E. 14th St., reported to police Sunday that boys had been firing shots at a street barricade sign behind Fairview Cemetery just off E. Harvester. He said it happened both Friday and Saturday nights.

Mrs. Thomas Bandy, 1002 N. Somerville, informed police she awoke at 4:50 a.m. Sunday and a man was standing at the foot of her bed. She screamed and the intruder ran out the rear door. Investigating offices could find no one in the neighborhood.

Another complaint of a "man in the house" was lodged by Mike Ditmore, 412 Pitts, at 9:55 p.m. Sunday. He had fled before police arrived.

A nurse at Worley hospital reported prowlers on the hospital parking lot. Investigating officers were unable to find trace of them.

A window peeper was caught by police in the 1000-block of S.

Group Favors Reforming Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A majority of the divided Senate Rules Committee believes a good start can be made toward reforming election finance laws with a bill it favors, but a gloomy minority predicts no action this year.

These views, contained in a weekend committee report, offered little solace to reform-minded senators who have tried for a decade to get the corrupt practices act of 1925 and the Hatch Act of 1939 modernized.

The committee majority said it is offering Congress a bill which meets "most of the criteria for a workable new election finance law."

But it was apparently considered deficient even by some who voted for it.

Other Congressional news: Rep. Garner Shriver, R-Kan., asked Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., in a letter Sunday what plans he has for reopening his investigation into the controversial TFX aircraft case. Shriver, noting new reports published on the airplane's cost, reminded McClellan that in 1964 the senator said the matter would be re-examined "as soon as certain information can be coordinated and prepared for presentation."

The TFX, now known as the F111, has been the center of running dispute between Congress and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Faulkner about 10 p.m. Sunday. The man was first observed by Dennis Hunter, 1016 S. Banks, when he went out to empty some trash. When police arrived, Hunter was holding the man at rifle point. The suspect was taken to the police station where he admitted he was window peeping. He told police he had done the same thing before at a Pampa apartment house. The man was warned and released.

Freeman Suspects Villian Causing Rising Food Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman is convinced the Federal Trade Commission investigation of soaring food prices will show profiteering by middlemen.

Freeman told United Press International in an interview made public Sunday that the farmer is not responsible for rising prices. But, he said, "somewhere along the line, from the farmer to the consumer, someone is getting more than a reasonable fair share for services rendered."

The secretary said the farmer was getting only half-a-cent more than last year for the wheat going into a loaf of bread, while the retail price went up 3 cents. The rest, he said, "went somewhere from the time the wheat left the farm till it reached the consumer."

He said that "in the last year, and particularly in the last month, a sharp jump in food prices...in relation to the farm price, has led everyone to feel that someone is profiteering along the line."

Asked what the administration was doing about it, Freeman said he has requested the Federal Trade Commission to investigate "to determine if there is a villain in this chain (from the farmer to the consumer)."

"It seems to me," he added, "that more than a fair and reasonable markup somewhere along the chain is being asked, and has been asked in the last few months, and we ought to know who that is and where that is and to take corrective action."

Freeman expressed confidence that the "force of public opinion" would bring some food prices down after the FTC spotlights that "somewhere, someone has done some profiteering."

Police answered a call at 1:20 p.m. Sunday to the 1100-block of Ripley where Santa Fe depot employees had reported boys on top of box cars throwing rocks at passing automobiles. The youths were gone when police arrived.

Lloyd Davis, Davis Hotel, told police someone stole a tool box with tools valued at $45 from his car parked in front of the Empire Cafe Saturday night.

The crash occurred at 2:32 p.m. about 200 yards from two grandstands after Kritzer attempted a hammerhead stall maneuver in his World War II Grumman F8F Bearcat.

Funeral services were to be held today at 11 a.m. at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo with Rev. Evans Moreland, rector, officiating. Burial was in Llano Cemetery with Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home in charge.

Kritzer was president of Tradewind Airport in Amarillo and chairman of the Texas Aeronautics Commission. He had also served on the Texas Game and Fish Commission. Until recently he had served as vice president and general manager of the Globe News Publishing Co. of Amarillo and had remained on the newspaper's board of directors.

Having begun his flying career at 17, Kritzer constructed Tradewind Airport in 1946. The private airport is considered one of the more modern private airports in the nation, and it received the Haire Airports Award for being the top airport of its class in the nation in 1946.

Thursday night Kritzer was elected by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Pampa for his devotion to the cause of aviation. He was also cited Friday during an Aviation Appreciation banquet.

Kritzer was born on May 19, 1914, in Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Kritzer, pioneer Panhandle residents. He married Jeanne Howe, daughter of Mr. Gene Howe and the late Mrs. Gene Howe, founder of the Amarillo Globe, in October 1939. He was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Surviving are his wife of 3006 Ong in Amarillo; his mother, 2401 Van Buren; a son, Sloan, of Amarillo; a daughter, Gail, of the home; two brothers, Tom and David of Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. George Miller of Lubbock, and three grandsons, Phillip, Lee and Mark, all of Amarillo.

Carubbi

Will Davis, Austin attorney and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, also appeared at the hearing last Monday in Amarillo and argued on the basis of a brief filed by the executive committee.

Davis maintained that if Judge Goodrich's opinion were allowed to stand it would, in substance, jeopardize the closed primary voting system in Texas and throw any party open to destruction by its opponents.

Bill Kolius, Judge Craig's counsel, maintained there was nothing in the Texas statutes to provide for voiding an election and that the 71 Republican votes could not be thrown out unless fraud was alleged and he said no fraud had been alleged in Carubbi's appeal. For that reason, Kolius said, the votes should be counted.

But the court held otherwise today.

The ballot boxes from the June 4 primary runoff are under lock and key in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut.

"I've had them locked up ever since election night, Thut said today.

Judge Craig could not be reached for a statement. He was reported to be on the Chamber of Commerce tour of Lake Meredith today. He was with the group that left about 10:30 a.m. to make the trip.

Carubbi, when informed of the appeals court decision at mid-forenoon, made this statement: "I am, of course, delighted that the Court of Civil Appeals has borne out our contentions pertaining to the basic illegality of votes cast in one party's primary by persons who have previously voted in another party's primary. This was the all-important issue in this case, and I sincerely believe the Court's decision will maintain a healthy and stable two-party system in our state.

"As for our County Judge's race, I am as anxious as everyone else to see the ballot boxes opened and have this matter settled once and for all."

and a fraction per cent effective," one doctor said.

Side Result

A side result of the study was the discovery that the "diaphragm"—a rubber disc designed to seal off the entrance of the womb—is not as effective as has long been believed.

The committee's study showed that between 10 and 16 women out of 100 who relied on diaphragms risked unwanted pregnancies.

In addition, 4 of 100 women using the comparatively new "inter-uterine device," a plastic coil inserted in the cervix, also were apt to become pregnant.

Rites Monday For Popular Amarillo Flier

Shelby M. Kritzer, 52, a well known veteran Amarillo flier, crashed and died before a crowd of about 2,000 persons Saturday afternoon while performing in the Aviation Day activities at Amarillo Air Terminal.

The crash occurred at 2:32 p.m. about 200 yards from two grandstands after Kritzer attempted a hammerhead stall maneuver in his World War II Grumman F8F Bearcat.

Funeral services were to be held today at 11 a.m. at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo with Rev. Evans Moreland, rector, officiating. Burial was in Llano Cemetery with Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home in charge.

called news conference that he hoped to begin work on setting up the ratification procedure by late today.

Weekend Flights Possible

Under this time table, the airlines could possibly have their first flights in the air sometime during the weekend.

The terms of the contract were kept a closely guarded secret, but they were reported to completely disregard the administration's 3.2 per cent wage guidelines.

The contract was reported to contain a cost-of-living escalator, opposed by the administration, wage increases in excess of 56 cents an hour over a three-year period, and fringe increases in excess of those contained in an aborted agreement reached at the White House July 29.

Reynolds, chief federal mediator throughout the strike, said both sides have "reached agreement on terms of a memorandum of understanding."

He said arrangements would be made as soon as possible for an "orderly presentation of the terms."

Rejects First Proposal

Striking rank-and-file machinists overwhelmingly rejected the contract proposal that came out of the White House. Part of the blame for rejection was placed on the haste with which the union tried to get it ratified.

The cost of today's agreement was estimated at around $90 million, some $14 million more than the package recommended by a presidential emergency board last spring.

After announcing the settlement, Reynolds said "I want no stress that it is an agreement reached by the parties themselves."

The agreement takes the political pressure off Congress, which this week was scheduled to take final action on a back-to-work resolution—the first of its kind in congressional history.

The resolution was deplored by organized labor and AFL-

Civil Service To Hold Exams for Postal Employees

Postmaster Lynn Boyd announced today the Pampa post office is seeking applications from local residents interested in becoming postal clerks or city mail carriers.

Boyd said the first written civil service test since 1964 will be given soon and persons who apply now and then pass the test will be placed on an eligible list for future job openings.

Clerks and carriers are now paid a starting rate of $2.64 per hour, with annual increases for six years to $3.17 an hour and additional increases every three years to $3.60 an hour. Boyd said anyone interested in a career in the postal service may obtain complete information from the secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, at the Pampa Post Office Bldg.

"Postal employment is unusually stable and normally leads to a lifetime career," Boyd said. "Outstanding postal workers advance to supervisory positions as vacancies occur."

"Together with all federal employees, they receive regular step increases in salary. They enjoy the benefits of low-cost life insurance, comprehensive health benefits programs, paid vacations, and substantial retirement incomes."

Boyd said the first written civil service test since 1964 will be given soon and persons who apply now and then pass the test will be placed on an eligible list for future job openings.

Clerks and carriers are now paid a starting rate of $2.64 per hour, with annual increases for six years to $3.17 an hour and additional increases every three years to $3.60 an hour. Boyd said anyone interested in a career in the postal service may obtain complete information from the secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, at the Pampa Post Office Bldg.

"Postal employment is unusually stable and normally leads to a lifetime career," Boyd said. "Outstanding postal workers advance to supervisory positions as vacancies occur."

"Together with all federal employees, they receive regular step increases in salary. They enjoy the benefits of low-cost life insurance, comprehensive health benefits programs, paid vacations, and substantial retirement incomes."

Civil Service To Hold Exams for Postal Employees

Postmaster Lynn Boyd announced today the Pampa post office is seeking applications from local residents interested in becoming postal clerks or city mail carriers.

Cassius to Quit Ring for Ministry After 5 Fights

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
LONDON, England (NEA) — The Reverend Muhammad Ali, who professes to be a peaceful man, is tired of using his fists to make a living.

"Just five more fights," vowed the apostle of Islam and all the cats who dig Black Muslimism, before he went out to start target practice on Brian London. "Then I'll become a minister and travel all over the world and talk to the people of the world Salaam aleikum."

The reverend is better known to you and me as Cassius Clay, the simple boy who came out of Louisville and discovered a troubled world where the white man was to be hated and ostracized.

Except for those moments when he's secluded with members of his own entourage and his natural exuberance is on display, Clay is a somber man. "I don't like fighting any more," he confessed. "I don't like the training. I'm not as happy a man as I used to be."

His life is complicated by the fact that people still want to call him Cassius Clay.

"Cassius Clay," he spattered, "that's a slave name." The whites of his eyes grew larger as he drew back his head and roiled the pupils and spouted the glories of Elijah Muhammad, the wizened little leader of the Black Muslim sect.

But he does tolerate it when friends like Jimmy Brown, the retired football player and stockholder in Main Bout (which handles the ancillary fights for all of Clay's fights), slip occasionally and call him Cassius. His father calls him Cassius.

"My mother," he said, "calls me 'Gee-gee' or 'Baby.' The little kids in England come up to me and call me Clay, and I don't pay no mind. It's the way they say it that counts. But when that man from the Illinois Boxing Commission — and he's colored, too — say to me, 'Mistuh Clay,' I tell him, 'My name is Muhammad Ali.'"

Actually, Clay's self-designation as a minister fits in most appropriately with his impending hearing before the Louisville draft board. It's to be used in conjunction with his plea to avoid military service as a conscientious objector.

Robert Arum, the lawyer for Main Bout, said, "A proceeding is pending before the Justice Department to determine his status as a minister of Islam. If it is determined he's a bona fide minister, he will be entitled to a deferment and will not serve in the armed forces other than perhaps in the capacity of a chaplain."

Arum guesses the situation could drag on till next spring before it's resolved. He also intimated that the government already offered the heavyweight champion a special deal: to tour for the armed forces as a civilian, which Clay indignantly turned down.

"I spend 14 of my years fighting and getting ready to fight," Clay (who's 24) noted, "and I'm tired. It's no fun no more. But I want the people of the world to see me, and I'll give every challenger a chance."

And so he works off his excess energy with his fists. During his training for Brian London, he stayed at West End hotel near Marble Arch. In the hall outside his room, a couple of carpets had been rolled up and stood on end. Every time he passed, the Reverend Muhammad Ali, oblivious to the risk of damaging his bare fists, pounded those rugs and snorted like they represented unbelievers.

Although he envisions a life of himself traveling Europe and Asia, where he feels he is more appreciated, he can't shake the roots of his native Louisville. During his stay in England, he was invited to dine with a Pakistani family whom he had befriended when he was here to fight Henry Cooper. Three daughters were paraded before him for inspection. Angelo Dundee, his trainer, wanted to know what he thought.

"They nice," he said, then grinned, "but I'll get me a little girl to marry from Louisiana or Tennessee or Mississippi. I still like them American foxes."

Like they say, you can't take the country out of the boy.

Namath's Knee Is Talk of Grid World

By United Press International
Joe Namath seems to have the most celebrated knee in America since Betty Grable stopped posing for pinups.

Everytime his right knee is twisted, it causes everything but a slump on Wall Street — and since Sonny Wrehlin has $400,000 invested in the knee, it may come to that.

Namath's wobbly knee was injured in an exhibition game against the Houston Oilers Saturday night — and it immediately started a controversy between the two teams on how it happened.

Namath was injured when he was blocked in the first quarter by Don Floyd in the game at Birmingham, Ala., before the largest crowd ever to see an AFL exhibition — 57,206. There seems to be that many versions of the incident.

The controversial play started with Namath handing off to Snell and ended with Houston defensive end Ernie Ladd in possession of the ball.

The Oilers claim Snell fumbled. Ladd picked up the loose ball and Floyd then made his block. The Jets claim Snell heard the whistle blow and got up off the ball, thinking the play was dead, and Ladd then grabbed it.

The officials ruled it was a fumble and awarded Houston possession.

Whatever happened, Mike Taliaferro replaced Namath and led the Jets to a 16-10 victory as he hit on 11 of 20 passes for 155 yards.

In the only game played Sunday, Frank Ryan showed Cleveland can still win without Jimmy Brown by engineering a 28-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers. Cleveland took a 21-7 halftime lead and then hung on for the victory. Ryan completed five passes for 73 yards.

In Saturday night action, Johnny Unitas, showing no effects of last season's injury, tossed two touchdown passes to lead the Baltimore Colts to their second straight victory, a 31-17 triumph over Philadelphia.

Carl Merritt tossed TD passes to Homer Jones in the third period and Joe Morrison in the second period to give the New York Giants a 14-7 victory over fledgling Atlanta.

Don Meredith tossed a 33 yard TD pass to Pete Gent and a 63-yard TD pass to Bob Hayes to lead the Dallas Cowboys to a 20-10 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

The Minnesota Vikings, who were tied last week by Detroit, 6-6, exploded for a 35-6 triumph over the winless Pittsburgh Steelers. Bob Berry scored two touchdowns to pace the rout.

Tom Flores flipped a 20-yard TD pass to Art Powell with 54 seconds remaining to give the Oakland Raiders a 14-7 victory over the defending AFL champion San Diego Chargers.

Although he envisions a life of himself traveling Europe and Asia, where he feels he is more appreciated, he can't shake the roots of his native Louisville. During his stay in England, he was invited to dine with a Pakistani family whom he had befriended when he was here to fight Henry Cooper. Three daughters were paraded before him for inspection. Rudolph Credits Pott With Victory

CLIFTON, N.J. (UPI) — Bessiepectacle Mason Rudolph, $20,000 richer for a one shot victory over brassy Jack Nicklaus in a head-and-head duel through the final round of the Thunderbird Golf Classic, credited his old pal Johnny Pott today for the tip that helped him win the biggest jackpot of his career.

Rudolph, two shots back of third round leader Billy Martindale but all even with Nicklaus as the finale began Sunday, fired a three-under par 69 to a 70 for Nicklaus and swept to his first triumph since the 1964 New Orleans Open with a 10 under par 278. Martindale blew himself out of contention with a triple bogey seven at the 10th hole and wound up third with 281.

Just a little over a week ago, the usually consistent Rudolph felt his game was going to pot. He stood 30th on the prize list with a shade over $25,000 in official winnings. He didn't win a nickel in the Cleveland Open a week ago.

"But just before the final round at Cleveland, Johnny Pott came out to watch me on the practice tee and he told me what I was doing wrong," said the 32-year-old Rudolph. "Johnny told me my hands were too far behind the ball. I've been hitting great ever since and I've been wanting to tell you about this before but sure as I did I'd shoot a 78 and ruin the story."

Pott, said the happy Tennessee, is a long time friend and a playing partner in a televised golf series. Pott, however, finished in a tie for 25th at 280 and won $37,500.

Rudolph was a contender most of the way on rounds of 69-70-70-69 over the par 72, 7,055-yard Upper Merion Clair County Club course. He was one of nine tied for the first day lead, dropped a shot back of Billy Casper in a second place tie at the halfway mark and was tied with Tommy Aaron and Nicklaus in second place after three rounds.

Nicklaus won $12,000 for second, boosting his official earnings to $74,953. Martindale won $7,500 for third place on a final round 74 for 281 while Aaron won $5,600 for fourth at 282 with a closing 73.

Dudley Wysong had 71 for 284 and a tie for fifth with Jacky Cupit who wound up with a 74 on his final round.

Whitworth Shoots For 4th Straight

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Kathy Whitworth isn't exactly happy with her game, but she's heading for Milwaukee today in a bid for a fourth straight victory that would put her in very exclusive company in the world of women's pro golf.

Miss Whitworth's hang-on championship Sunday in the Lady Carling Open gives her three straight tournament titles, and another victory this week in the Western Open would enable the San Antonio player to tie a record which has been achieved twice by Mickey Wright.

Miss Wright, now only a part-time tour player who bypassed the event here, will be in Milwaukee for the Western.

Miss Whitworth stayed off a little-known Peggy Wilson of Rosall, Calif., to win the Lady Carling by three strokes with a 54-hole total of 214, one over par. The triumph was the 25th of Miss Whitworth's career, her sixth this year and boosted her leading 1966 earnings to $22,777.

Down by seven shots when the final round started, Miss Wilson used a hot putter to fire in five birdies, giving the former Mississippian a 60 for the day and a total of 217.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., fired a 67 on the last day, but she had too much ground to make up and finished third with 219.

Torres-Cotton Fight In Las Vegas Tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A classic battle between a bruising mauler and a clever boxer was in prospect tonight when Jose Torres defends his light heavy weight crown against crafty Eddie Cotton of Seattle.

The Puerto Rican, born Torres, who now makes his home in New York, was heavily favored to retain his title against the ring-wise Cotton. The challenger's chief hope of an upset victory rode on his boxing ability if the bout should go to a 15-round decision.

At the age of 40, Cotton is one of the oldest men in the fight game ranking as a major title contender. But the Seattle aircraft worker was in the peak of condition for the biggest opportunity of his long ring career.

Few men, however, have been able to stand up under the champion's body attack and power punching. The odds were successful in his second title defense.

Torres is motivated by more than just the desire to retain his crown. He has received indications that a decisive win might put him in line for a bout with heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

The champion, in 39 bouts, won 37 and knocked out 26 of his opponents. In addition to his loss, he also has a draw on his record. Torres knocked out another clever boxer, Willie Pastrano, early last year to gain the title. He defended it for the first time May 21, scoring a 15-round decision over Wayne Thornton at New York. Cotton, has a record of 69 fights in a ring career of nearly 20 years, winning 49 of them, 27 by knockouts.

Mota Shows He Can Hit Rightys Also

By United Press International
The Pittsburgh Pirates may go on to win the National League pennant — by accident.

Of course, the way the first place Pirates continue to pull out late-inning victories, like Sunday's 4-2 thriller over the Reds, is no accident.

The mishap the Buccos converted into an asset occurred Saturday when centerfielder Matty Alou, the league's leading hitter at .343, was struck in the right eye by a fly ball that caromed off the outfield wall.

As a result, Manny Mota who is batting a sensational .360 but usually plays only against southpaws and hence does not come to bat enough to qualify for the top 10 hitters, got a rare starting call Sunday even though Cincinnati was using righthander Milt Pappas.

Gets Three Hits
Mota made the most of his chance with three hits, including a seventh inning double that drove in the first run and a game winning two-run homer in the ninth against righty reliever Sammy Ellis that snapped a 2-2 tie.

Alou's injury doesn't appear to be very serious and he should be back for Tuesday's game in New York — shiner and all — but Manager Harry Walker feels secure knowing he has a fourth outfielder of Mota's caliber.

Elsewhere, the Giants managed to pick up a half game with a 5-3, 5-2 sweep of Houston that left them 1½ games off the pace. Los Angeles, split with Chicago taking the 14-inning opener 4-3 and dropping the nightcap 12-10 in 10 innings.

New York divided two with St. Louis, winning 5-4 before losing 4-3, and Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 7-1.

Cincinnati's Art Shamsky equaled a major league record when he pinch hit a home run in the seventh inning, giving him round-trippers in his last four times at bat, the first three coming Friday night. The homer was served up by starter Vern Law, who otherwise pitched seven strong innings. Pete Mikkelsen (8-6) worked the last two and benefitted from Mota's fifth homer.

Willie Mays powered his 28th homer of the season which moved him one behind Jimmy Foxx's 534 and a share of second place on the all-time list. Willie's was a two-run shot that broke a scoreless tie in the sixth inning of the first game. Winning pitcher Bob Bolin (7-7) limited the Astros to five hits and also had a two-run homer. Batterymate Tom Haller slugged his 24th home run to round out the Giants' scoring.

In the second game, Len Gabrielson knocked in three runs with a seventh-inning double that wpped out a 3-2 Houston lead. Earlier, San Francisco tied the score 1-1 on third-inning singles by Ollie Brown, Hal Lanier and Tito Fuentes. They added another run in the fourth on Brown's fifth homer.

Wes Covington paced a two-run pinch single in the 14th inning as the Dodgers erased a 3-2 Chicago advantage. Los Angeles loaded the bases on an error and two walks to end the four-hour and 27-minute opener. The Dodgers trailed 6-1 and 8-2 in the second game before tying it in the ninth with three runs. Chicago won it in the 10th on Ron Santo's sacrifice that scored Glenn Beckert, who reached third on an infield hit, an error and a sacrifice. Phil Regan wild pitched the last run home but Don Sutton suffered the loss.

Charlie Smith's two-run single climaxed a three-run ninth-inning rally that gave St. Louis a split with the Mets. Mike Shannon doubled home two runs to tie the score 3-3 and Smith got his hit off reliever Ralph Terry. Ron Swoboda cracked a two-run single in the seventh inning of the first game as Dennis Ribant went the distance, giving up eight hits to win his eighth game.

Lefty Dennis Lemaster

fanned 14 and pitched a five-hitter as Atlanta downed Philadelphia. Hank Aaron, the NL's top home run hitter, slammed his 33rd with two on to climax a five-run Brave rally in the second. It gave Aaron the majors' RBI leadership with 91.

Frank Robinson, the No. 1 American Leaguer in homers, run scored and total bases, is also the No. 1 booster for Frank Robinson for MVP.

About the only interesting battle left in the junior circuit — the outstanding player award — is more like a family feud. With Baltimore leading the league by 13 1-2 games, either Frank or Brooks Robinson is going to wind up with his second such honor.

Although only sports writers may vote, the Robinsons and Baltimore manager Hank Bauer were asked for their selection.

"I'm just glad I don't have to vote," Bauer said.

"I'd have to vote for Frank right now," Brooks admitted.

"I'd vote for me," Frank answered with confidence.

Ready For Plaque
"If I win," added Frank, who was honored by the National League in 1961 and would be the first player to be MVP in both circuits. "I've got a spot on a wall in my den all picked out, right next to the other one."

Frank justified his opinion of himself Sunday by slamming two home runs in leading the Orioles to a 6-0 victory over Washington. The homers raised his season total to 36 and his career mark to 360, sixth on the all-time list — one behind Joe DiMaggio.

Robby also increased his league-leading totals in runs scored to 91 and total bases to 256. He trails RBI leader and teammate Boog Powell 88 to 85 and ranks second only four points behind the No. 1, 317-batting average of Minnesota's Tony Oliva.

Elsewhere, New York swept Cleveland 7-3 and 6-4, Boston upended Detroit twice 8-5 and 5-3, Kansas City won two from Minnesota 5-0 and 4-3 and Chicago blanked California 4-0 before losing 4-0.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Farmers Take It on Chin

Farmers have good reason to believe that the better job they do for the American people, the more criticism they will receive.

For instance, Americans spend a smaller percentage of their income for food than any other country in the world—between 15 and 20 per cent.

In 1940, one man on a farm fed himself and ten others. Today, he feeds himself and 35 others.

So what happens? Delano-like strikes, which are not strikes at all but essentially political interference with the very farmers whose ingenuity and mechanization of their farms is providing food for our people at lower cost—percentage wise—at the retail counter than anywhere else in the world.

Success in expanding mechanization, in using better seeds, in perfecting better cultural practices, made Americans low men on the totem pole for percentage of income spent for food.

Instead of appreciation, the farmers reap a whirlwind of government and church-inspired criticism. Labor officials pull the strings and Puppets and Willard Wirtz and Lyndon Johnson dance onto the public stage to say their little pieces.

Never do they refer to the food chart showing that the rest of the world pays from 23 to 53 per cent of its income for food. Canada is next low, Australia and Denmark follow closely; Belgium jumps to 26 per cent, Sweden, Puerto Rico, United Kingdom, South Africa and Norway run on up to 30 per cent. Israel, the Netherlands and France are slightly over 30 per cent, then come Austria, Ireland, Jamaica, Panama, Spain and Peru, up to 40 per cent. Honduras, Italy, Japan, Greece, Ecuador, Yugoslavia graduate to 46 per cent. Russia tops the 50 per cent mark, followed by Ceylon, Republic of Korea, Taiwan, and Ghana, running as high as 55 per cent.

Government interference in the bracero program; government handling of employment with rules favoring organized labor; and preachers getting confused between what is politics and what is honest concern for the poor and the drifters—these, plus illegal boycott and disregard of law—pretty well assure that food prices for Housewives already notice it. The round robin of reactions will hit our pocketbooks from several directions.

Politics and government have a way of making everything more costly.

No Breathing, No Smoking

Out where the air is so clean it's a pleasure to breathe, a clinical research psychologist at the University of Oregon is asking people to hold their breath.

He believes it may enable them to quit smoking.

Dr. Hayden L. Mees tried out his idea on a group of cigarette smokers who wanted to quit, but apparently couldn't as long as they were breathing. And it seemed to work.

One woman who smoked 30 cigarettes a day for 20 years—quit entirely. So did four others. And still others cut their smoking by more than half.

The system was simple. Each smoker was asked to hold his or her breath as long as he or she could every time he or she felt like smoking.

In the case of the 30-day lady this meant she was holding her breath a good part of the time—and obviously holding it good like a breath-holder should.

Dr. Mees, while encouraged by the results of the tests, was not extravagant in his claims. The experiment, he said, was too restricted to be statistically solid.

Which to the layman sounds as if the doctor may be telling us that this thing looks like it will work, all right, but just do not hold your breath.

Minute Millions

Delays at major airports, amounting to 20 million minutes, cost U. S. aircraft operators more than $63 million last year, reports the Federal Aviation Agency.

The delays were caused by congestion, both in the air and on the ground, weather conditions and limitations caused by ground construction.

The airlines were delayed 38.9 per cent of the total and suffered $4.7 million of the cost. General aviation incurred 55.3 per cent of the delay time and 29.2 per cent of the costs. For military aviation, the figures were 5.8 per cent of the delay time and 6.1 per cent of the costs.

The average cost of delays for each takeoff or landing ranged from a high of $17.50 at JFK International Airport in New York to a low of 75 cents at Medford (Ore.) Municipal Airport.

Now, of course, there is the Big Delay of 1966—the airlines strike, the cost of which nobody can yet reckon.

Occupant Who?

Mrs. Vincent Bowling tried, anyway.

The Camarillo, Calif. resident put a sign on her mailbox reading:

"No one named Occupant

Postal officials said they sympathized, but snow or sleet or gloom of put-upon patrons notwithstanding, the junk mail had to go through.

Articles for this column are preferred to be 200 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed.

Editor:

In a recent issue of a newspaper delivered in Pampa, I noted a man who writes a column, and offered a solution to the food shortage, and the population increase.

First, he said surplus human beings can be eradicated by poison gases and atomic explosions. An alternative, he said, is to start cannibalism, which is, I understand, living off each other.

It is not for me to guess if this fellow, is a feeler from Washington but the human foodstuff jars me up. I never saw a stringy, bony steer bring any money in a sale ring, and us "stout" people would, maybe, be first in case we go to being cannibals. Looking at my waist line makes me nervous.

It may sound foolish, but remember all the laws, and directives, that have started by someone's suggestions. Why, I can just hear a white aproned waiter call out, "One L. P. sandwich on rye, with mustard, and draw a tall one, with the foam on the bottom."

If a waiter sang out—"brains and eggs, with browned toast" well, that would catch a lot of Washington people, but I might be in cold storage, waiting for the Bureaucrats to get ready for a stew with plenty of rich gravy.

The column man leaned heavily toward the cannibal solution, because you can quit it when necessity is past. The cut-off line in Bureau programs never comes, once it has started.

One thing I know, My doctor's work on my waistline is not nearly so effective as the man who writes that column. NOW, I am really going to start fighting the battle of the bulge.

Hunt for Truth

BY M. L. MUNT

BLUEPRINT FOR RIOTS

Evidence is mounting that the riots and demonstrations in the nation's big cities this summer were planned and "egged on" by outsiders who have no real interest in the rights of minorities but do have a very great interest in causing trouble.

Two committees of the U. S. House of Representatives, the Judiciary Committee and the Committee on Un-American Activities, have announced plans to turn the spotlight on individuals and organizations behind the rioting. They want to know more about the stories of out-of-town agitators coming into cities like Cleveland, Chicago, and Brooklyn. They are especially interested in evidence that there are "professional" rioters, who go from one city to another.

Perhaps there is a connection between these happenings and the fact that—as FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover testified before Congress last March—the Communist Party, USA, is entering a new era. Hoover predicted that the Communist Party would give up its posture of secrecy and move openly into and effort to make Americans believe it is a legitimate political party.

The prediction came true quite soon. In June, the Communist Party, USA, held its first national convention since 1959. And, of course, the convention speeches were marked by vicious attacks against the United States.

It is interesting that the big-city riots, participated in by outsiders and the coming up from underground of the Communist Party, USA, have occurred almost simultaneously. Perhaps the investigation by the House committees will throw light on this coincidence.

Decision on $1.75 Billion for Anti-Poverty Faces House — With Program's $2.3 Billion Record of Past Waste, Bungling

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — With the House shortly to vote on authorizing a $1.75 billion anti-poverty budget for the current fiscal year, it is time for the legislators to squarely face up to the inescapable fact that this costly program is a gigantic bust and should be discarded.

President Johnson has sternly lectured congressional leaders on the imperative need for stringent economy to meet the steadily soaring outlays for the Viet Nam conflict and to curb threatening inflation. For once, he is absolutely right. And by the same token, no better start could be made on slashing needless government expenditures than by junking the immensely expensive anti-poverty boondoggle.

At one stroke, $1.75 billion in exceedingly dubious and wasteful spending could be saved. It is a perfect opportunity for Congress to meet the President's sound demand for economy, and simultaneously get rid of one of the most chaotic, extravagant and trouble-racked experiments in years.

That would be an immeasurable boon to the economic and fiscal stability of the country, and an end to a disgraceful status. Conceived in politics as a Democratic electioneering gimmick in the 1964 presidential campaign, the anti-poverty program has cost taxpayers more than $2.3 billion with no evidence of having made the slightest impact on poverty anywhere.

The great seething centers of urban poverty remain utterly untouched. Nowhere can a single instance be cited where poverty has been significantly alleviated. The irrefutable proof of that is the almost daily riots and violent outbreaks—attributed in most cases to racial and civil rights factors. But, indisputably, underlying causes also are grinding want, joblessness and despair.

The various superficial projects of the anti-poverty program has undertaken in a groping effort to cope with these highly volatile conditions have either been fantastically expensive for the meager and questionable results, or have bogged down in a welter of dissension, mismanagement, incompetence, bungling, chiseling, squandering and numerous other failings and abuses.

A striking illustration of the basic incoherence and fallibility of the program is the fact that its top echelon has undergone virtually a 100 per cent turnover in its two-year existence. Director Sargent Shriver is the only original executive still remaining—and the inside word is he will depart after the November election.

Also in recent weeks, a number of Job Corps and Community Action officials have thrown up their hands and quit in frustration and disgust. DISMAL RECORD—The list responsibility and chicanery, high-salary grabbing, waste, mismanagement, abuse of funds and other scandals.

Similarly, Neighborhood Youth Corps have been mired in dishonesty, kickbacks, political patronage, gross disregard of eligibility standards, waste and bungling. Labor Secretary Wirtz, testifying before the House Labor Committee, flatly contradicted previous claims by Shriver by admitting that at least 5,000 of 6,000 enrollees in the Neighborhood Youth Corps had been found ineligible and dropped. Of this number, 1,700 were dropped in Chicago alone since January 1.

Even Headstart, widely hailed as the most successful of the anti-poverty programs, has been skidding into the same trough of bureaucratic muddling and bungling. It has seriously suffered from shifting eligibility criteria and other major defects.

As a consequence, there have been a number of instances where a high percentage of far-from-poor- and-disadvantaged children have been included in the program.

The Senate Labor Subcommittee considering the new anti-poverty budget feels so strongly about this gross snafu that it has voted to shift Headstart to the Office of Education. There is strong likelihood this will be approved by Congress. Whether Congress, with its eye on the November balloting, has the statesmanship and courage to ditch the wasteful and scandal-riddled $1.75 billion anti-poverty boondoggle is doubtful. There is a lot of political boodle in that huge grab-bag.

But the fight to end it should be made—and will be to the lasting credit of those legislators who make it.

GRASSROOTS PROBLEM—Senator Edmund Muskie, D-Me., chairman of the Subcommittee on Inter-governmental Relations, is opening hearings next week on a subject of utmost moment to more than 8 million state and local employees throughout the country.

This is improving their level of competence, their standing in the public esteem, and pay. It is Muskie's contention that the success of the numerous and ever-expanding federal programs is crucially dependent on the quality and capacity of state and local governments.

"I am more than ever convinced," says Muskie, "that the success of our great federal programs, and indeed perhaps the future of American federalism, depends largely on whether we recognize and overcome the crisis in governmental manpower, especially as it involves state and local governments. Thus far, we have acted as though this crisis does not exist."

The Maine legislator has introduced a bill to strengthen and improve administration at state and local levels. It consists of three major proposals: (1) Extension of the merit system in state and local governments, (2) federal grants and aid to improve the quality of their personnel, (3) a service training system to strengthen and upgrade state and local administration.

"We need greater administrative competence at state and local levels," Muskie contends,

'WRONG NEWS' ENRAGES LBJ

(The Daily Oklahoman) President Johnson's reported rage about "leaked" information in the recent Hanoi-Halphong bombings invited renewed attention to the whole subject of news management.

In calling on the FBI to investigate the purported "leaks," he follows the example of the late President Kennedy who also was prone similarly to sic the FBI on anybody he suspected of having disseminated information displeasing to him.

The only "leaked" information that ever disturbs the White House is the unmanaged "leak" it doesn't originate itself. For of course the managed "leak" is an established part of the normal White House press routine. "Trial balloons" in the form of "planted" stories are set afloat regularly and then are disclaimed promptly if they elicit an adverse public reaction.

Thus it isn't entirely clear what the president has in mind when he orders the FBI to investigate the bombing "leak" with the reported aim of guarding against similar "leaks" in the future.

Is he talking only about published speculation? If so, he should save some of his chagrin for himself. He told a news conference less than two weeks ago that "we must continue to raise the cost of aggression at its source." This was understood to mean that intensified bombings were in prospect.

Published speculation about the possible future course of operations is inevitable even in a declared war, to say nothing of the undeclared present war which is being fought without censorship.

The conjecture about a possible expansion of air raids to the Hanoi-Halphong oil depots was by no means confined to sources in this country. Hanoi's own propaganda broadcasts have been saying for a long time that the air strikes would be carried eventually to the North Viet-because its absence threatens the success of the many and expanding federal programs. We need it because we live in an age of administrative federalism; in an age of more, not less, use of federal grants-in-aid; of more, not less, contact among administrative officials at all levels of government."

WE PREDICT—Next major blow to President Johnson's crumbling 3.2 per cent wage-price guideline will come from his Labor-Management Advisory Committee when it meets in the White House later this month. Comprising business and labor leaders, the group will call for discarding the guideline for a more realistic policy. . . . The new 1967 automobiles will cost from $90 to $100 more. The motor makers still haven't decided on the increases, but they are certain for three main reasons—increased labor costs, higher costs for materials, particularly steel, new mandatory safety equipment. . . . Wage settlements for the Communications Workers and Electrical Workers, whose contracts expire soon, will definitely exceed 4 per cent. . . . With the cost of living constantly edging upward, military retirees are certain of at least a 3 per cent pay boost by the end of this year.

If the Consumer Price Index for July (due to be published later this month) is 113.3 or higher, a December increase is guaranteed. The June index was 112.9. Two prominent Mormons are likely 1968 presidential candidates. They are Michigan's Governor George Romney and Ezra Taft Benson, agriculture secretary in the Eisenhower administration. Romney's presidential aspirations are well known. But Benson, a militant conservative and Birch Society partisan, also has White House ambitions. A Midwestern group, calling itself the "1976 Committee," is launching a drive to put him into the 1968 race to "save America from subjugation and enslavement." Benson is set to throw his hat into the ring. He has a letter from David McKay, 62-year-old president of the Mormon Church, giving him permission to do that. . . . Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leading anti-Viet Nam war critic, is making no bones he will vote for Governor Mark Hatfield, Republican candidate for the Senate. But Morse is also making it emphatically clear that, while backing Hatfield, he will not bolt the Democratic party. Morse is staying strictly on the reservation. . . . Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the Finance Committee, is going to Germany at the invitation of the Bonn government to discuss trade and financial problems. Hartke has

3. The FBI going to investigate fan's sources also?

A clear-cut breach of security could have occurred if the published conjecture had included such specific details as the exact timing of the intended raids, the participating units, and the bases or aircraft carriers mounting the attacks.

Even had such specific information been made fully available to the enemy, it's problematical whether the outcome would have been much different. It wouldn't be particularly helpful for a bantamweight office worker to learn in advance that Rocky Marciano intended to belt him into dreamland. The indicated result would be the same regardless of whether the intended victim put up his dukes. Nor is it apparent that any intended aerial punch the United States might have in mind would be impaired greatly by being telegraphed to a country as relatively impotent as North Viet Nam.

Presidents and their appointed sycophants have a tendency to equate their own interests with what they conceive to be the "national interest." This explains in part their frequent inability to tolerate unmanaged "leaks" that anticipate their momentous decisions.

But if President Johnson had sought deliberately to stir speculation about a possible intensification of the air war, he couldn't have chosen a better way than to say he was going to "raise the cost of aggression at its source."

Wit and Whimsy

June — I notice your husband calls you 'Stupe'?

Jill — Yes, it's short for 'stupendous'!

Perhaps nothing confuses a man more than a drive behind a woman who does everything right.

Winslow was handed a note by his wife just as he was about to begin an after-dinner speech. The note, at first glance read "KISS."

He was thinking how nice this was of Florence when he noticed the smaller letters: "Keep It Short Stupid!"

Hold-up Man — Stick 'em up or else?

Victim — Or else, what? Hold-up Man — Don't confuse me — this is my first job.

also been asked to go to Switzerland to confer with authorities there on these matters. Retired Admiral William Raborn, recently-resigned CIA director, will resume his connection with Aerojet General. . . . Speculators who have been bidding up silver futures, and mining stocks, and in some cases actually hoarding bullion, are due for disappointment. There isn't the slightest prospect of the Treasury Department's raising the 1.29 cents per ounce silver price. That lid won't be kept on indefinitely, but it's certainly good for at least another year. . . . Egyptian dictator Gamal Nasser has been definitely told he will have to pay in dollars for any grain he gets from the U.S. In the past 10 years the U.S. has sold him more than $1 billion in wheat surpluses for his own currency, which has remained in Egypt. The last of these "give-away" deals was in January, when Nasser obtained $55 million in grain. But from now on, he has to pay in hard cash for wheat from this country. Mounting congressional opposition and persistent Nasser hostility to the U.S. have finally impelled the Johnson administration to give him a dose of his own medicine.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson signed into law Thursday a bill to permit the government to award gold star lapel buttons to next of kin of servicemen who lost their lives in Viet Nam and other cold war actions. The buttons would be similar to those awarded during the two World Wars and Korea.

B&B Offers All Drug Needs

Summer is slowly coming to a close. The back-to-school shopping days are here once again. And with the coming school season, we have the usual bad weather, the usual studies, the usual routine that can constantly be interrupted with the colds and flu. Your child's education is regarded very highly by the folks at B & B Pharmacy. This is the reason they try to fill your prescription needs with the very best of care. Your child's health is very important to their final outcome of their grades. The better they feel, the better grades they will make. Thus whenever your boy or girl comes down with the winter colds, shop B & B Pharmacy. There you'll find all the proper drugs they need to put them on the right path to better health.

Perhaps your pondering the idea of stocking up for winter in advance. If, so, when the streets becomes icy, you will feel confident you can stay home and take care of your family without taking a chance of trying to get to the drug store. But when you do go downtown, and it's a little bit cooler than you like, stop by B & B for a warm cup of coffee, a piece of pie, or even a full meal. You'll find your day a little bit better if you do.

Proper Insurance Solves Problems

One of the insurance policies that has received a good workout in the past two months is the policy affording coverage against hail on dwellings. Many people have been faced with unnecessary problems because of the type coverage afforded by their dwelling policies. It is possible to buy a dwelling policy that eliminates problems on the hail and windstorm damages and also affords a much broader coverage for other type losses. This policy covers many types of water damage, pays additional living cost if you have to move to another location while repairs are being made to your present dwelling, and has many other coverages too numerous to mention. For all practical purposes, it affords all risk coverage.

The Top O' Texas Agency will be happy to go over this policy with you at your convenience. They are also qualified to assist in placing your insurance locally even though you have your home loan with an out of town loan company. Any problems that arise from your automobile, life, hospitalization or any other type of insurance will be handled personally, cheerfully and efficiently. Just call on the Top O' Texas
