

SMILE OF A WINNER — A. J. Carubbi Jr. and County Judge Bill Craig (with the victory smile) shake hands in court immediately after Craig was declared the winner of a two-month long court battle to determine which would be the Democratic nominee for county judge at the Nov. 8 general election. The final count showed Craig the winner by 16 votes: Craig 1,753 and Carubbi 1,737.

LENNING SAYS: Voters Can Take 'Pick' In November

Sherman Lenning, the Republican candidate for Gray County judge who has been waiting to learn who would be his opponent, today advised voters of their rights at the Nov. 8 general election.

In a statement issued this forenoon Lenning said he believed a majority of Gray County voters felt as he does "that it is time for a change in the Court House." He also emphasized voters will be free to take their pick of candidates in November.

Lenning's full statement follows: "Now that the contested election for the Democrat nominee for Gray County Judge has been resolved and my opponent has been determined, I again appeal to the citizens of Gray County for their vote and support in the upcoming general election.

"I would like to emphasize that the recent court decisions in no way affect the right of any qualified voter in Gray County from voting for the county judge candidate of either party in November, regardless of who they supported in the primaries and run off.

"If elected to the position of Gray County Judge I pledge to support a program of economical and conservative county government. I am not interested in, nor do I intend to be involved in, any personal attacks against any person or party.

"Gray County has had enough adverse publicity in election matters recently and I feel it is time for all the candidates to come forth with a positive program for the benefit of all the citizens of Gray County.

"I do not expect to find an easy road to election in November but I am confident the majority of the people in Gray County believe in a two-party system of government, as I do, and that it is time for a change in the Court House."

Jets Mistakenly Bomb and Fire On U.S. Troops

SAIGON (UPI) — Several U.S. infantrymen were killed and more than 20 wounded today when two U.S. Air Force jets mistakenly dumped fiery napalm on an already bloodied American unit, then turned and strafed its ranks for five minutes with 20mm cannon fire.

The fighter-bombers swooped in on the position of a battalion from the Army's 1st Infantry Division near Phu Loi, 30 miles north of Saigon, as the Americans were cleaning up the last pocket of Viet Cong resistance from a two-day battle which had been costly for both sides.

"It took five minutes on the radio to get him to quit firing at us," 2nd Lt. Walter Harrison of Taylor, Tex., told UPI correspondent Leon Daniel in describing one run.

Troopers from the "Big Red One" killed at least 70 Viet Cong in the heavy fighting which preceded the accidental bombing. American losses were "moderate," commanders at the scene reported. The battle involved about 800 men on each side.

"We called the air strikes in close because we were in close contact with the enemy," 1st Division commander Maj. Gen. William E. Dupuy told reporters. "We did not deliberately call this strike down on ourselves. It was an error of only 50 yards and, at 200 miles an hour, these things can happen and it did happen."

The planes involved were F100 Supersabres, the same model plane that bombed a village in the Mekong Delta two weeks ago with disastrous consequences for South Vietnamese civilians.

"Everything was on fire," said Pfc. William Sparks of Champaign, Ill. "I never saw anything like it. A guy in back "The count proceeded methodically and was finished at 4:17 p.m. Judge Goodrich then revealed for the first time the voter's choice on each of the illegal ballots. He counted them off one at a time. The court reporter, lawyers, newsmen and a few court spectators kept tally.

When his count was concluded, Judge Goodrich asked court reporter Baker for the totals—40 (See CRAIG, Page 3)

Temperature To Warm Up

Temperatures are expected to continue to warm up after several days of cooler weather across the state.

Not much change in temperature is forecast for Pampa and vicinity, with a high in the upper 80s expected Saturday and an overnight low in the lower 60s. No showers are forecast.

Skies will be partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with southerly winds 10 to 20 miles an hour. Outlook for Sunday calls for mostly cloudy skies but mild, with a possibility of thundershowers.

High Thursday was a mild 79. Overnight low was 55.

Trustees Refill School Coffers

By DORIS E. WILSON
The coffers of Pampa Independent School District were replenished for the 1966-67 school year following the school board's official acceptance of a $2,939,448 budget at a public hearing last night.

The current budget reflects a $120,274 increase over the 1965-66 budget of $2,819,174, but will not necessitate a tax increase.

The board approved a motion by H. C. Grady Jr., seconded by John Gikas, that the ad valorem tax rate remains at $1.65 per $100 property valuation, the same it has held for the past three years.

Revenue for the 1966-67 budget will be provided by taxes, uniform school tuition, interest on investments, county available, out of district tuition, state sources, and miscellany, totaling 2,939,750 keeping the Pampa Independent School District operating well within the black.

The $120,274 increased budget will be used in salaries for one elementary curriculum supervisor and special service personnel; a five per cent increase for supervisors and employees in the maintenance and school bus departments; automatic salary increases for teachers, who have complied with length of service requirements; and salary for an additional maintenance employe.

John Dameron, school superintendent, told the board the teaching staff for all schools was complete with the exception of two vacancies at Carver and

Disguised Terrorists Kill Six Vietnamese Police In Daring Raid

SAIGON (UPI) — Six Viet Cong terrorists marked the start of campaigning for South Viet Nam's Sept. 11 elections today by killing six Vietnamese policemen and marines in one of the most daring raids Saigon has experienced.

The terrorists, disguised as South Vietnamese soldiers, drove up to a Saigon police station in a civilian automobile and raked the station with fire, killing three South Vietnamese policemen and three marines before speeding away.

U.S. Military Police who reported the incident broadcast an alarm for the terrorists' automobile.

The station raid highlighted a blitzkrieg rise in Communist terror attacks in the past few weeks as the Viet Cong began an all-out effort to disrupt the campaign for the Sept. 11

Titan 3C Rocket Explodes Shortly After Blastoff

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A Titan 3C rocket loaded with eight military communications satellites exploded a minute after launch today, showering smoking debris over the Atlantic.

The huge, triple-barreled booster, making its fifth test flight erupted into a cloud of pink flame and smoke as two powerful, solid propellant rockets thrust it about 10 miles into the sky.

"The vehicle destroyed itself 80 seconds after launch," an Air Force spokesman reported.

At least half a dozen separate pieces rained into the Atlantic far offshore, trailing white smoke. The rocket lifted off its launch pad at 8 a.m. CST after a flawless countdown. For the first minute the flight appeared perfect, with the Super Titan climbing into the sky atop a geyser-like column of smoke.

Then, about 40 seconds before the two 1.2-million-pound thrust solid rockets were scheduled to be jettisoned, the 124-foot tall vehicle blew up.

It was the first launch failure for the Titan 3C that is scheduled to start lofting the Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL) for the Air Force in two or three years.

The trail of smoke that the Titan was leaving all the way back to the launch pad suddenly ended in a puff of range flame that turned to a reddish cloud of smoke. About a dozen ribbons of white smoke followed the debris as it plunged toward the Atlantic.

The debris apparently fell far away from inhabited areas. Ten minutes after liftoff, a long trail of pinkish white smoke still drifted over the launch site.

The failure followed the successful launch Thursday of a Saturn 1 super rocket, even more powerful than the Titan 3C, which hurled an unmanned Apollo spaceship to a Pacific Ocean splashdown.

The Air Force said the cause of today's spectacular failure was not immediately known. An identical Titan 3C orbited seven other 100-pound communications satellites in June in a six-hour series of precision maneuvers that today's Titan was programmed to match.

It was a question concerning the operation of the original seven satellites that was blamed for the postponement of an attempt to launch the eight new spacecraft on Wednesday. Nine hours before that launch time, the Air Force said project officials feared the spacecraft were producing low signal strength.

Debate Is Blocking Money Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House and Senate today were at sword's point over a plan for selective use of reservists in Viet Nam, thus blocking final passage of a $38 billion defense appropriations bill.

The plan, devised in the Senate, was rejected by the House Thursday, 378-3. House members apparently wanted no part of the onus of ordering reservists to active duty in an election year.

As approved by the Senate, reservists or National Guardsmen, with little or no active duty, could be called to serve by President Johnson, who has not asked for such authority.

A House-Senate conference committee may have to resolve the dispute unless the Senate backers of the plan back down. House members of the committee have been told to stand by the Thursday vote rejecting it.

The defense money bill is to finance most of the nation's defense activities during the 12 months which began July 1.

In voting to eliminate the plan from the bill, the House rejected a charge it was permitting some youths to use the reserve forces as a means of avoiding the draft.

Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., vigorously supported the plan. "If we defeat this," he said, "133,000 men will be able to find a sanctuary from the draft."

The 133,000 figure represents the reservists and National Guardsmen who have never, as one House member said, "spent a single day on active duty." Sponsors said the measure specifically aimed at them.

Actually, the amendment would give Johnson the power to call up all youths who had undergone less than two years' active duty. Those who sign up for the reserves ordinarily are required to serve six months on active duty.

The reserve call-up "rider" to the bill was passed by the Senate earlier this month without administration approval after hearing charges that youths were joining the reserves and staying at home while draftees were being sent to Viet Nam.

A House-Senate conference kept the rider when it reconciled differences in both chambers' versions of the bill.

McNamara Senses New Cong Effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says that — despite heavy casualties and low morale — there are signs the Communists have rededicated themselves to fighting as hard as ever in Viet Nam.

The Pentagon chief made the statement Thursday at a joint news conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk held at the White House shortly after both participated in a cabinet meeting with President Johnson.

Rusk and McNamara appeared to differ somewhat in their interpretation of the Viet Nam situation, but the difference seemed to be more a matter of form than of substance.

Rusk told newsmen he knew of no new Communist decision on prosecuting the war. He said the problem was simply that there has been no decision by the Communists to make peace.

After Rusk made this point, McNamara said that, while no new political decision had been made to change Hanoi's 1960 declaration to take over South Viet Nam, there appeared to be a "clear decision as of today" to continue the war at a "high level of intensity."

One of the signs of renewed Communist determination, McNamara said, was increased Communist infiltration from North to South. Red forces are entering South Viet Nam at a rate of 5,000 men a month. This is triple the level in mid-1965 and six times the rate in 1964.

At the same time, he added, the U.S. war effort was inflicting heavy casualties, had thwarted a Communist monsoon season offensive and her eroded Communist morale to the point that the Reds' defection rate had doubled.

U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam had caused a "very dramatic decline" in Communist petroleum supplies, he said.

The Allies have been killing Communists at the rate of 1,000 per week, McNamara reported, compared to 100 Americans and 200 South Vietnamese killed each week.

CAMPAGNING GETS UNDER WAY in South Viet Nam for balloting Sept. 11 for an assembly to write new constitution. "Each Ballot Is a Brick to Build Democracy" is the translation of the Vietnamese slogan at the top of the wall poster depicting a ballot box and, below it, bricks labeled "Rural Construction," "A New Society" and "Victory Over Communism."

Cambodian Chief Is Getting Important

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, a country roughly equal in area and population to the state of Missouri, is getting a lot of high-level international attention these days.

Sihanouk is chief of state of one of the most strategic pieces of real estate in Southeast Asia, bounded by Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand.

He is a sitting duck in the crossfire of conflict pulled and hauled between Communist and anti-Communist and the recipient of considerable advice from those who are neither.

President Charles de Gaulle is visiting Sihanouk early next week. The French leader, who strongly opposes U.S. policy in the area, is expected to take the occasion to praise Cambodian "neutrality" and warn that the United States is risking World War III.

The United States, which asserts Sihanouk's "neutrality" has a distinctly red tinge, hopes to get roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman into Phnom Penh a few weeks after De Gaulle's visit for a fence-mending session with the prince.

Big Brother Watches.

Meanwhile, Red China and Communist North Viet Nam keep reminding Sihanouk that big brother is watching lest he become too friendly with the American "imperialists."

Harriman originally secured an invitation to visit Sihanouk Sept. 7 to see what could be done about restoring diplomatic relations, broken by the prince in May, 1965.

Sihanouk angrily "postponed" the Harriman visit after American pilots shot up a couple of Cambodian border villages while hunting Viet Cong whom they believed to be on the Vietnamese side of the line.

American officials, by virtue of behind the scenes contacts with Sihanouk through New Delhi, are convinced the Harriman visit will still take place within the next couple of months.

The officials are hopeful that Sihanouk's anger can be eased by general guarantees against violation of his territory and informal assurances to compensate Cambodian border villagers.

When Sihanouk broke relations with the United States more than a year ago he gave two official reasons:

—Attacks by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces across his border in pursuit of Viet Cong fleeing Viet Nam.

—Publication by an American magazine (Newsweek) of an assertion that Queen Sisowath Kossamak, his mother, had an interest in a string of bordellos on the outskirts of Phnom Penh.

American officials have contended for several years that Communist North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong are using eastern Cambodia as an infiltration route and sanctuary. Sihanouk contends the charges are baseless.

Both he and the United States asked for a thorough investigation by the International Control Commission.

However, Communist Poland, one of the three members, has blocked this on grounds that the commission lacks legal authority from the co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indochina, Britain and Russia.

London and Moscow have been unable to get together on anything concerning the conflict in Viet Nam.

Sihanouk's necessity to walk a diplomatic tight rope while dodging the slings and arrows from both sides has earned him a reputation for vacillation which his friends says is undeserved.

While he may be flattered by all the attention he is getting, the prince can hardly be comfortable.

Rusk Defends Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk today defended this country's far-flung commitments to defend more than 40 countries on five continents against attack. He said these reduce, rather than increase, the risk of war.

Rusk said the United States should act in good faith to meet these pledges. At the same time, he said, this country does not want to be the "world's policeman" or establish a "pax Americana." He urged other nations to lend a hand at peace-keeping.

Rusk warned would-be aggressors that the United States might under some circumstances come to the military aid of countries with which this country has no defense agreement.

Rusk's remarks, amounting to a formal policy statement, came in a prepared opening statement at a Senate preparedness subcommittee hearing on whether the United States has become "over-extended" in its treaty commitments.

FDR Jr. Drops From NY Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. Thursday angrily withdrew from race for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York, a post once held by his father. He charged he was sidetracked by "boss control" even though he had 50 per cent of rank-and-file support.

Withdrawal of the 51-year-old son of the late President left only upstate industrialist Howard Samuel as challenger to frontrunner Frank D. O'Connor, president of the New York City Council. O'Connor, claims to have enough delegate votes for a first ballot nomination at the Democratic state convention in Buffalo Sept. 7-8.

It was the latest in a long series of political frustrations for Roosevelt, whose only successful bids for elective office were three terms in Congress in the 1950's. He lost the gubernatorial nomination once before to Averell Harriman, was defeated for state attorney general by Jacob K. Javits, and was overlooked as a majority candidate last year.

BANK PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits R-N.Y., proposed today that foreign banks doing business in the United States be placed under federal regulation. They are now under only state control.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery on introduction of his bill, Javits said national regulation of foreign banks should encourage other nations to grant reciprocal privileges to U.S. banks abroad.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THIS FALL YOU'RE GOING BACK TO SCHOOL BY THE MILLIONS. You number 24 million! You're the tallest, richest and best-educated students America has ever had... Here are some highlights about your world this fall:

More than 15 million of you will sit behind desks in more than 25,000 high and junior high schools (80 per cent of them public), where some 700,000 teachers will preside.

YOU'RE BUYING A MOUNTAIN OF THINGS AND you're important to business. Teen-aged girls will spend close to half a billion dollars this year and teen men nearly a third as much, for grooming. Together, you will pay for well over $300 million worth of records, buy more than $400 million in food snacks, and treat yourselves to $1.5 billion worth of entertainment. You're a sizable segment of the economy, with the total $15 billion you spend this year and the additional $30 billion of your family's purchases that you will influence.

BUT YOU'RE BIG EARNERS, TOO. Must more than than your fathers' or mothers' generation. Two-thirds of you work — part-time or year-round. So, it's no wonder your earnings are running well over $20 billion a year and — right now — they're edging higher each month.

JOBS: THINGS ARE LOOKING UP FOR WORK THIS FALL. Teen-agers employed now number more than eight million. Though there are also some 1,800,000 who are unemployed, the rate is down around 12 per cent, against 14 per cent last year. It's the lowest in a long time in the teen job market. But the unemployment rate is still three times as high for teens as for all unemployed — and for high school dropouts it's double the over-all teen rate. So if you want a job, the looking is pretty good... but you're better off staying in school.

SPORTS: SCHOOL SPORT TO GO OUT FOR. Though historians say the game started when ancient armies kicked around the heads of enemies they'd executed, today soccer is the leading spectator sport in the world. This fall it will be the fastest-growing school sport in the United States. For most guys (and there are soccer teams for girls, too) it's a new sport. You don't have to be one of those football basketball giants... just quick and well-coordinated, especially with your feet and legs... and a fast and durable runner.

STYLE NOTE FOR GIRLS: THE NEWEST ABOUT KNEES. Fall and winter skirts reveal knees are here to stay. Despite older voices complaining about skirts hating up when wearers sit down, the two-year-old trend of hemlines going even higher will continue. A sampling of observers' comments: "Knees are not attractive," "knees are no uglier than elbows," "pretty legs are pleasing, ugly one amusing."

But the clothing manufacturers say, "Legs are legs, they've been around for a long time and, in this year's designs, they're the focal point of the feminine body." For girls who maybe have the amusing kind of legs: Live them up with patterned stockings or tights or that cosmetic wrinkle-painted knees. For instance, circle your kneecaps with alternate stripes of eye liner and eye shadow, till you look as if you're wearing a piece of 1890's bathing suit. Warning: Some of this winter's short short skirts will be thigh-length... but they're really for skiing with knitted tights worn underneath.

BOYS' STYLE NOTE: PERFUME??? — Maybe girls copy boys (pants!) too much... maybe boys copy girls (longer hair!) too much... But the latest copy-cat style note may seem much too much — real he-man are dousing with perfume. Previously the grown-up boys hid under their shaving lotions and "skin bracers," but now they openly buy perfume.

YOU'RE GROWING BIGGER and maybe better. Teen men entering college this fall stand three to four inches taller and weigh 30 to 40 pounds more than half a century ago... while girls are two inches taller and that'somemuch tp about 10 pounds heavier... But nutritionists deplore that some 15 per cent of you skip one meal... yet you overconsume sweets so that 84 per cent of you need fillings... and doctors find that 10 to 15 per cent of teens nationally are too fat.

Federal bureaucrats believe they have found a satisfactory substitute for federal law with which to compel a racial mix in Northern suburban elementary schools where neighborhood patterns tend to establish, all-white classrooms.

The substitute is money. These Washington bureaucrats are unable to find in the Constitution, in any act of Congress or in rules of the Supreme Court any authority to compel these nearly all-white communities to accept a racial mix in their public school systems. To the contrary, the Congress at least, appears to be against it. Lacking any law, the bureaucrats reach for money which is their remedy for all ills, a miraculous blend of Hadaool, Peruna and Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Civil rights zealots of all races and, most notably, the civil rights zealots among the bureaucrats happily have interpreted laws and Supreme Court decisions forbidding racial segregation to be laws and Supreme Court decisions requiring racial integration or a racial balance in the public schools.

That is a misinterpretation against which the Northern suburbs probably are defenseless. They are defenseless because there is not much solid challenge to the extremists' insistence that the Congress and the courts have ordered instant integration or else.

Congress and the courts, in fact, have joined only to forbid segregation in almost all circumstances, most emphatically under any circumstance wherein a local, state or other governmental authority is in any way a party to the segregation, a responsible party, that is.

But when racial segregation is beyond reach of any law now on the books or likely soon to be, Federal bureaucrats are reaching with money toward that kind of segregation.

They will succeed more often than they fail in their effort to buy off opponents of integration or racial mixing in those schools which are outside the scope of existing civil rights statutes. When these local officials balk, federal officials can withhold federal subsidy funds. The bureaucrats believe the locals cannot withstand that kind of pressure, and they probably are right about that.

Johnson Thanks N.J. Couple For 5 Sons' Marine Service

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has written a New Jersey couple expressing thanks on behalf of the entire country for the service of their five sons in the Marine Corps.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hoffman of Rumson, N.J.

Johnson's letter, dated Aug. 22, said he had learned only recently that the Hoffman family was the only one with five sons now on active duty in military service, which he said was unprecedented in the Marine Corps.

"I am deeply impressed by this record," he wrote.

He said the Hoffman sons "individually and collectively have demonstrated the highest degree of loyalty and dedication."

"But just as I am proud of them, I also want to commend you for imparting to them a deep sense of patriotism and a full understanding of the responsibilities of citizenship," the President said.

"As long as we have families such as the Hoffmans, I have not the slightest doubt that the liberty this nation has enjoyed for almost 200 years will continue to be a birthright for future generations of Americans.

"I wish you would express to each of your sons my appreciation as well as that of the entire country, for the contributions they are making to the cause of free men everywhere."

Dallas Planes Try Final Assault, But Larvae-Eating Fish All Die

DALLAS (UPI) — Six aircraft hope today what city officials hope will be the last day of spraying for encephalitis carrying Culex mosquitoes which have killed seven persons and put another 102 in hospitals. Dr. Hal J. Dewlett said "the crisis is past," but that tests were underway to determine the cause of death of thousands of fish in area streams and lakes. The city health director said fish do not have enzymes to counteract insecticides of any kind. Earlier Dewlett said the Malthen spray was not harmful to humans, animals or plants. The death of the fish may cause a mosquito problem, according to Mrs. Richard T. Malone. One of the many small lakes in the Dallas area backs up to her patio. She said fish there were "dead by the hundreds. This has never happened before. Now we're going to have a mosquito problem without the fish to eat the mosquito larvae."

Dewlett said water samples were being taken, and health department crews would remove the fish Friday. A 57-year-old man died in Parkland Hospital Thursday of encephalitis. While the Dallas situation improves, other Texas communities had problems with the mosquito. The State Health Department said Corpus Christi, on the Gulf Coast, had 71 suspected cases, including 14 confirmed. Aerial spraying was planned Monday. Ground spraying in the coast city has been under way all week. Spray units also were at work in Fort Worth after a dozen cases were reported. Other cases were reported in Austin and Lubbock. The West Texas town of Hale Center has recorded one fatal case of encephalitis this summer. But State Health Department officers fear worse is yet to come across the state.

Youth Injured In Cycle Crash

Dearld Nick Martin, 15, was reported in satisfactory condition this morning in Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, where he was taken yesterday afternoon following a motorcycle accident in the 1100 block of Alcock. He received leg and possible internal injuries in the accident that occurred at 1:21 p.m. yesterday, according to a police report. Martin, riding a rented motorcycle struck the rear bumper of a car driven by Arthur Britten Clark, 1121 Neel Road, who was also headed east on Alcock and had stopped in a traffic lane. A passenger on the Martin vehicle, Larry Mangus, 905 S. Schneider, was shaken up but was uninjured. The injured boy was taken by ambulance to a local hospital, but was later transferred to the Amarillo hospital. Martin was cited by city police for having no operator's license and for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

3 Pampa Students Make Honor Roll

Three Pampa students attending the University of Texas and majoring in business administration were listed on the university's honor roll for the spring semester which was recently released. Listed "with highest honors" was John Lee Arthur. Listed "with honors" were Dean C. Evans and Helen V. E. Moffitt. Immediately following the conclusion of the case, lawyers for both principals flocked around them in the courtroom and Craig and Carubbi posed together for news photographers.

Mailboxes Torn Down on Highway

A report of vandalism along Highway 70 south was received by city police early this morning. Investigating officers found that rural mailboxes along the highway had been torn up and were strewn along the highway. Officers removed the hazard of one mailbox from the middle of the highway. Gunman Slays Five During Beserk Spree

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — A goateed gunman shot and killed five persons and wounded two others early today and then fled in an automobile. The suspected slayer was arrested several hours later by state police near New Brunswick, N.J. The gunman, identified by authorities as Arthur Davis, about 25, was captured on the New Jersey Turnpike after a high-speed chase. Davis was taken to the State Police Barracks at New Brunswick. It was not known if he was injured in the chase and capture. He was apprehended about dawn, some four hours after the mass killing in New Haven. Authorities said they believed Davis was the man who gunned down a volunteer church worker and four other persons in the latest outbreak of mass slayings this summer which has taken the lives of more than 40 persons starting with the slaying of eight nurses in Chicago. A friend told police Davis had called her and said "I'm going to wipe out all my friends." Police said Davis, who had a record of minor offenses, knew the victims. Authorities said after the slayings the gunman walked to his car carrying a 30-caliber carbine and drove off. Davis was arrested on the New Jersey Turnpike at 4:20 a.m. on a speeding charge and it was not until about 8 a.m. that police learned he was wanted in New Haven. Earlier, there were reports a man answering the gunman's description was seen in Massachusetts.

Pampa Sailors Return To Port

USS RANGER Aug. 23 — Airman Gary R. Johnson, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Johnson of 800 N. Dwight; Seaman Ernest E. Parker, USN, son of Mrs. Eliza A. Parker of 430 W. Crawford St., and communications Yeoman Seaman Apprentice James L. Daniels, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Daniels of 332 North Wells St., have returned to their homeport of Alameda, Calif., as crewmembers aboard the attack aircraft carrier, USS Ranger, after an eight and one-half month deployment in the Western Pacific with the Seventh Fleet. While operating off the coast of Vietnam, the Ranger struck strategic sites in North Vietnam, delivering nearly eleven thousand tons of ordnance on enemy positions. Driver charged with intoxication. Roland Kenyon of Pampa was arraigned in Justice of Peace Court this morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense. Judge Nat Lunsford set bond at $1,500. Kenyon was stopped by city police in the 100 block N. Ward at 9:25 p.m. last night after being observed making a u-turn in the middle of N. Purvian St. at a high rate of speed. Kenyon was cited by city police for having no Texas Driver's license.

There are a total of 540 candidates for the 108 vacancies in the assembly.

Clashes Mar DeGaulle's First Stop on Journey

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (UPI) — Visiting French President Charles de Gaulle today rode in an open car through streets jammed with some 3,000 hostile demonstrators demanding independence from France. Erect and stern-faced in his general's uniform, De Gaulle ignored the protestors as his motorcade wound through this tiny Red Sea port city. But later, at the Governor's Palace, he declared: "The destiny of a country cannot be decided with placards." At least one person was killed and more than a dozen injured in clashes that erupted as French police and Foreign Legionnaires struggled to keep nationalists waving banners reading "independence now" away from the French leader. It was the second straight day of violent demonstrations. Fifteen persons were injured in violent, hours-long demonstrations Thursday after De Gaulle arrived on the first leg of his three-week, 30,000-mile trip around the world. Most were Africans demanding independence from France. Much of the unrest surrounding the general's visit was blamed on the Popular Movement Party (PMP), a nationalist organization. Its local headquarters was seized Thursday night by the police. France seeks to retain its last African possession, situated strategically as gateway to the Red Sea. French Somaliland will gain importance in two years when it becomes the sole western outpost in the area after the British withdraw from Aden. De Gaulle's next stop on his tour will be Ethiopia.

Dear Abby... Attractive Divorcee Has You in Mind

DEAR ABBY: Last month our church auxiliary held its annual luncheon and tickets were sold for $2.50. At the bottom of each ticket was printed Door Prize. I sold two tickets to a member who said she would be unable to attend, but requested that I drop her stubs into the box for the door prize. I did. Her number was drawn and when I stepped forward to claim the prize for her, a burst of objection went up in the crowd!

Some women insisted that in order to win the door prize the holder of the number had to be present. Not wishing to create a worse scene, I sat and down and let them draw another number. The second number was held by a woman who was present so she got the prize. In your opinion was this fair? Do you think a person has to be present in order to win the door prize?

TOO REFINED TO FIGHT DEAR TOO REFINED: When a door prize is offered, it should be clearly stated on the ticket whether or not the holder of the number drawn need be present to win.

I personally would assume that in order to win I would have to be present. But I'm sure there are an equal number of people who would assume the opposite. This is a good question for a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive divorcee at the home of a mutual friend the other evening. She is a very lively and amusing type, and I liked her immediately. Before I had an opportunity to ask her if I could see her again she said to me, "I am giving a cocktail party at my apartment tomorrow night at seven, would you care to come?"

Naturally I accepted on the spot. When I got there I found her all alone. And she hadn't invited anyone else. What do you think she had in mind?

DEAR RON: You.

DEAR ABBY: Would you be kind enough to advise me as to the following: Is it customary to give a gift to the bride and groom after they have been married for the second time—to each other? I was not invited to the wedding.

A RELATIVE DEAR RELATIVE: I think not. It is difficult to imagine that one would be expected.

DEAR ABBY: I do not share your sympathy with those who say they are sorry their parents did not "force them" to practice the piano, violin, trombone, or any other musical instrument when they were young. There is no reason why a normal adult cannot continue his musical studies if he has sufficient interest and determination. One is never "too old" to learn.

As for myself, I make no apologies. I suffered through seven miserable years of piano lessons, which terminated in a great disappointment to my parents. I never touch the piano today, and avoid piano recitals

Opportunities for Women Present and Future

(Second in a Series.)
By KATHRYN HUNTER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—It would be exciting if I could tell you about mature women employed in the full gamut of jobs and careers across the country. The sad truth is that most of them are still engaged in what we have come to know as the "feminine" occupations: nursing, home economics, education, librarianships, secretarial positions and retailing.

However, here and there is a breakthrough. The fact is that while there still may be a prejudice or two lingering in some dark corners, the real reason women have been confined to these areas has been their own choice, rather than the crushing heel of a male-dominated society. For where women have prepared themselves for fields not usually considered for women, they have been welcomed.

Mathematics, for example, is an area where women are gaining a more important foothold. Rutgers University has a program for retraining women in this field and graduates can often write their own tickets as part-time computer programmers, statisticians or computer trainers.

Research on the college level has provided opportunity for other women. Mrs. Willis B. Bailey of Zanesville, Ohio, has recently received a grant from the Great Lakes College Association. Her project is a study of Burmese art in order to prepare a circulating exhibition of the Burmese material owned by Denison University. Mrs. Bailey is the visiting lecturer in oriental studies at Denison.

Alice Norton of Bronxville, N.Y., has just been awarded the first Mary Elvira Stevens Traveling Fellowship for travel or like the plague.

The Mature Parent

Parental Concern Outlasts Childhood

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Though our daughter has never told us that her marriage is unhappy we know it is. Her husband seems to take pleasure in making cutting remarks to her in our presence. Recently I noticed that her hands tremble. Last Friday my husband had words with her husband over a remark he made to her and we left their house. I am so afraid that my husband only made more trouble for her. There is a little boy of 4...

ANSWER: Maybe your husband made good for her, not trouble. Anyway, if you're asking me my opinion of what he did, I must tell you I think it was splendid. His explosion of honest and open resentment of your son-in-law's behavior may be exactly what your daughter needs to explode her own—and end this hand trembling.

You're upset because your husband "interfered" in her business, aren't you? He broke the law that governs the behavior of parents of married children.

O.K. So you're another member of the American Association for the Repression of Parents. Oh, I know you don't know you are. This subversive association doesn't openly solicit membership. The professional child-adorers who direct it just write books, magazine articles and make speeches about the psychological disasters we will inflict upon a child if we ever express ourselves honestly and forcibly. When we've read and heard enough to be scared out of our wits, then we're sold. We live by their slogan, "Parents should be seen but not heard under any circumstances"—and become a member in good standing of their million-membered passive parent organization.

If your daughter didn't like her father's "interference" in her business, let her push it away, for heaven's sake.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 27
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fairly unimportant time, but the day is filled with choices that you can get behind you quickly by organizing your duties in such a fashion that no time or energy is lost. The evening however becomes a very difficult period and you need a good sudden change that snags others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — An early start away from home will see you doing an excellent day's work conscientiously and getting good will of higher-ups. Don't argue with coworkers, settle credit affairs, and forget the social tonight.

TABERUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Much study of your newspaper, talking to very enlightened persons etc. can make this a day of real learning. Forget that project with an element of risk to it. Care and caution must be exercised tonight, though.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) — A new system by which to make your present status regarding retirement can be found and initiated. Be exact. Day could be a bit trying, but don't be demanding in p.m. Relax and take it easy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Although boring, be sure you meet expectations of associates in a.m. and give their good will. Reach true rapport. Mate is also somewhat demanding, but be patient. If jealous, placate.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) — Getting these dull routines out of the way early gives you a chance to meet demands of a partner with good grace. Show that you are co-operating to the best of your ability. Run out for a little drive, fun later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Ideal day to make hobbies more workable in your rare spare time, but be sure you do something to make your health better in p.m. Make new arrangements with pals. Enjoy your radio or TV tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You must be very precise in taking care of important affairs at home during day, and also be very careful in driving, walking, etc. especially in p.m. Start new upward. Think twice before you speak with others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Find out how better to do your shopping, selling, buying, etc. that will top off time and expense. Be sure later you get surroundings nicely cleaned up. Be highly interested during day doing what you like. Relax p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Spend some time getting financial affairs better organized so that the future becomes more pleasant and comfortable. Make reports out accurately, insurance, etc. Be comforting to distressed pal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Good treatments, healthy sports can make you far more charming now, and your fun get out society with "possi" wit. Don't be extravagant, though. Postpone putting those talents to work. They need more practice first.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) — Life, some situations can be put behind you easily today and you go back on the road to success, but try not to act impulsively tonight. Assist those who come to you. Do not go to bed knowing that somebody is probably even hungrier.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — Getting out in society will put you in touch with some very worthwhile and charming persons. Be more sure of what it is you want to accomplish during day. Keep out of the public eye in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He, or she, will early in life have the desire to start earning a sizeable income and have true security so that others can also be helped, and will do so in a variety of fields as personnel work, inventions and organizations of all kind so that there will be greater efficiency. However, early learn not to criticize others so much and be so demanding. Teach not to enter into arguments so quickly.

brarians. But let's face it. These occupations are out of the ordinary and unattainable by most who are considering second-time-around careers.

But many women have found satisfaction in more common pursuits. Mrs. Jay Currey has gone back to secretarial work after raising a family of three. She says she finds "juggling home and office exciting, interesting and a real shot in the arm."

Mrs. Charles Kahl has a new job with a library bookmobile and says, "It's thrilling to realize I haven't completely rusted away. My whole family is delighted with the 'new me'."

In almost every area, opportunity for women is present or coming in the near future. Dr. Irene C. Peden, associate professor of electrical engineering at the University of Washington, says that "Old prejudices associated with the masculine image of the traditional engineering fields are disappearing as new scientific thought comes into prominence."

"Shorter industrial working hours in a more-populated, more-automated world will allow the young as well as the mature woman more choices in balancing her career goals and family needs."

Some women are transferring their community interests into a banking career. A national bank administrator reports that, "It is no longer uncommon to see women leading the self-starting progress of communities. Women as bankers are in a unique position to provide this kind of community leadership." And an agriculture expert predicts that there will be careers open for women in industrial, marine, international and space agriculture.

Really, today's woman is limited in job opportunity only by her own preconceived ideas. (NEXT: How to Find That Job)

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Apparently these three-and-a-half-hour, prime time television blockbuster documentaries are going to be a regular thing. NBC-TV, which has tuned out such massive reports on civil rights and foreign policy, came up with another Thursday night — on organized crime. And ABC-TV has scheduled one on Africa. So I think it's time we started considering intermissions.

I don't mean to be picayunish after an important network has gone to such great lengths to inform me, but I confess that my saturation point for almost anything on a hot August night is about two hours. I submit that if Hollywood epics of such length have the good sense to include intermissions of about 15 minutes, then video can do the same. Brief commercial breaks aren't enough. I wouldn't have even minded seeing a short promotion from on NBC-TV's new fall series, or something else you could miss.

Anyway, Thursday night's massive effort was called "American White Paper: Organized Crime in the United States." and it showed hard work and excellent arrangement even if it was generally basic stuff, pretty much on a primer level. I would frankly like to see executive producer Fred Freed and his hard-digging crew do the next blockbuster special on just one of the areas touched on Thursday night—the infiltration of crime into legitimate businesses and unions. This is more than basic stuff, much more, and requires a Lincoln Steffens.

Thursday night's program was quite good on its level, and its pessimistic conclusions about the contemporary atmosphere and crime were justified, if lacking in originality. There were notable talks with officials and newspapermen, and there were scintillating film clips, but best of all there were some human—and therefore incredible—interviews with citizens who had, for instance, run into personnel conflict with syndicate hoods and/or political payoff. A muscled-out bookie and a former police chief gave fascinating detail.

Remarkably, there was no segment about the glorifying of crime by television programs and movies, but after all there was only three-and-a-half hours. In case any innocents doubted it, the program did make its point about crime being organized.

COST OF FILM

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Information Agency (USIA) says a film featuring President Johnson and his native Texas, to be shown overseas, cost $87,612. The 23-minute color film, called "A President's Country,"

In 1954, Adolf Hitler said he wanted peace with France but also demanded the return of the Saar to Germany.

cropped up at Johnson's news conference Wednesday when a questioner complained she could not find out the cost.

Method Prayer Not Effective

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

In an era that greatly values how-to-do-it tips from experts, it seems appropriate to turn to a monk for advice on prayer. Monks could fairly be called the "pros" of prayer, if for no other reason than that they spend more time at it than the average person.

Here then are a few observations about the life of prayer from Father Alban, a gentle and thoughtful Benedictine monk who serves as abbot of St. Anselm's Monastery in Washington, D.C.

(It should be made clear, in fairness to Father Alban, that he was billed as an expert on prayer. He finally agreed to talk about it with the understanding that he was simply expressing one Christian's personal view of "a very big subject.") He also emphasized that his remarks were concerned entirely with "interior" or private prayer of individuals, as distinguished from formal or liturgical prayers such as those used in the mass or in the divine offices said by monks at stated hours.)

"Prayer is not some sort of technique that you can learn," he began. "It's not a psychological trick or skill. It's no good studying methods of prayer as if you could somehow develop this one form of relationship with God all by itself."

New Why of Life
"Prayer is part of the whole new way of life which St. Paul called 'living in Christ.' We can pray only out of a life of charity, a life of faith and hope."

Most people worry entirely too much about what to say in their prayers, Father Alban continued.

"It really doesn't matter what you say as long as you get started praying."

However, monks have found it helpful to approach private prayer in three steps or phases. The first preparatory phase is "holy reading."

"Not just intellectual reading, for the sake of acquiring knowledge," he said. "I mean the kind of reading that is a spiritual act, in which you open your heart and mind to the word of God as it comes to you through the Bible, or through other books in which greater and holier minds have transmitted God's word as they understood it."

Few Books Needed

No one needs an extensive library for holy reading. "You need only a few books besides the Bible—but no one else can tell you which books will be best for you. You must find them for yourself—the books that speak to you in terms of your own special needs and circumstances. Once you've found such books, you can keep returning to them, and you will always find fresh messages in them."

Devotional reading passes naturally and imperceptibly into the second phase of prayer, which is known as meditation. Father Alban said he was not speaking of meditation as a formal and systematic mental exercise, but was thinking of "a freer thing, a less self-conscious thing—the spontaneous reaction of your mind and heart to the word of God as it comes to you in your holy reading."

Actually, he said, if you read slowly and thoughtfully, letting your mind dwell on the meaning of any sentence that strikes home, the first and second phases tend to blend into one.

Meditation in turn leads naturally to "moments"—and he stressed that they are never more than moments, even for the most saintly soul—in which "we perceive the light of God's truth in our mind and soul."

Personal Contact

"For a moment, God's grace and goodness moves the heart in that kind of personal contact which is, as far as it is possible in this life, the personal relationship of the child of God with its Heavenly Father."

This is true prayer—a simple "movement of love" in which a human heart suddenly acknowledges, and rejoices in, the infinite goodness of God.

The impulse to reach out in love toward God is not the fruit of grim human striving. "It's God's gift. That's what makes it possible, sometimes even makes it easy. On our side, I'd say mainly it's a matter of acceptance. It is accepting . . . to the Holy Spirit of God dwelling within us."

The moment of pure prayer is quickly over, and "you can only fall back again on reading and meditation to wait for the Holy Spirit again to lift up your heart."

"But if you persevere in this thing," he concluded, "the moments of prayer will multiply in your life. One day you may discover that you are maintaining a spirit of prayerfulness even in the midst of your busiest activities. That, I think, is what the saints mean by 'living in the presence of God.'"

Bible Sermon Listed for Scientists

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science church services on Sunday.

The Golden Text is a verse from I Thessalonians: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

Episodes from each of the four Gospels will be read, covering different aspects of the life of Jesus, accompanied by selections from the denominational textbook, including these lines: "Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. . . . It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practiced. . . . We must forsake the foundation of material systems, however time-honored, if we would gain the Christ as our only Saviour."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.)

Sermon Series Continues For Presbyterians

The second in a series of doctrinal sermons is planned for morning worship at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

"The Sovereignty of God," a sermon based upon the 16th Chapter of Luke's gospel will be the sermon subject at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship hours.

The Pastor, Donald S. Hauck will preach and will be assisted in the services by Ruling Elder N. Dudley Steele.

Sacred Music Program Set At St. Paul's

St. Paul Methodist Church, 511 N. Hobart, will have a Special Program of Sacred Music at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Carl Shafer, director; Joel Combs, hymn narrator; Mrs. Lois Fagan, organist and Mrs. Donald Walburg, pianist.

A reception will be held immediately following the program. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Criticizes Prosperous NEW YORK (UPI) — Chief responsibility for the existence of poverty in the midst of plenty is laid at the door of the nation's prosperous in a book by the Rev. Dr. J. Edward Carothers, national home mission leader of the Methodist Church.

"It is the attitude of the prosperous, more than economic deprivation or anything else, that compels the poor to remain in poverty," says the Rev. Dr. Carothers in "Keepers of the Poor." "They stay in poverty as outcasts, ranked as indigent, hostile in deeply sullen ways, hopeless and without great dreams. The poor are generally the unlovely, redemption waits for love generated in the hearts of the pros-

Difficult to Learn To Love Maturely

GLORIETA, N. M. — Learning to love maturely is life's toughest task, an expert in marriage guidance and sex education said August 17 at Glorieta Baptist Assembly here.

Dr. David R. Mace, executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, led more than 300 church leaders in a depth study of sex and its relationship to love, marriage, sin and society.

"If we do not grow in our love," he said, "we fail to become mature persons, and learning to love maturely is life's toughest task."

Dr. Mace described sex as a function of the love relationship but warned against harmful sex domination.

"When it is the expression of love," he said, "it is beautiful." The Quaker layman told a mixed audience of adults and youth that sex behavior reveals the individual's total attitude toward others.

"Acting sexually reveals and involves the whole of yourself," he said. "If you want to know what kind of person you are at your deepest level, watch how you act."

"Today couples are completely free in the love play," said the president of Sex Information and Education Council of America. "Nothing is taboo. Whatever is physically sound is ethically all right."

"If parents are deprived of sexual fulfillment they will set up conflicts between themselves which prevent them from being good parents."

In any true love relationship, he said, three aspects of love will be present:

Eros love is desire which reaches out to grasp and possess. Philia love is the nonsexual basis of all friendships centering in common purposes and interests. Thirdly, agape love is a continuing love that recognizes the absolute worth of the loved one despite human failures.

"It is hopeless to expect romance to last in marriages," Dr. Mace said. "Philia and agape must take over to replace romance. But our capacity for romantic love remains. "We always have the capacity to become involved in another romance. Because of this, Christian love is based on fidelity."

Referring to the Catholic opposition of birth control, Dr. Mace advocated manipulation of nature if the end result is good.

"If the ends are good then the manipulation of nature is good," he said. "That is the power God gave us over nature. Is it wrong for me to shave off the beard that protects my skin? Is it wrong for me to wear false teeth that I might have a better chance of eating toast?"

Dr. Mace has lived and worked in 74 countries of the world, studying marriage and founding marriage guidance services. The conference on sex was sponsored by the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville.

Rev. Manning In First Baptist Pulpit Sunday

Rev. J. R. Manning, assistant pastor, First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday. He has chosen "How Sin Lost a Battle" with text taken from Joshua 7:21 for the eleven o'clock morning worship sermon subject.

Sam Allen, minister of music, will direct the church choir in singing "O Be Joyful" (Angel). Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play Meditation on "Mellita" (Wolff) for the offertory.

"How to Refuse Evil" is the sermon topic the assistant pastor has chosen for the six o'clock evening worship, text from Isaiah 7:16. The church choir will sing "The Song of the Soul Set Free" (Ackley) and the organ offertory will be Meditation on "St. Petersburg" (Peery).

The First Baptist Church cordially invites all newcomers to Pampa to any or all of the services of the church "where the visitor is never a stranger."

Highland Baptist Welcomes Return Of Own Pastor

The pastor of Highland Baptist Church, Rev. C. R. Bridges, will be in the pulpit Sunday after being in revival last week at the Briscoe Baptist Church. All members and visitors are urged to be present for Sunday School at 9:45 a.m.; Morning Worship at 11 a.m.; Training Union at 5:30 p.m.; and Evening Worship at 7:30 p.m.

The Morning Worship Hour will begin with the singing of the Doxology. Following the Sunday School reports and announcements, an innovation in the worship service will be made: making time for intercessory prayer. The names of those for whom request for prayer is desired may be given to the pastor or called into the church office, MO 4-6509.

Rev. Bridges will preach from the text, Mark 2:1-12, entitled, "Right With God, Erect With The World." He will bring a series of messages from the Epistle of Jude in the evening service. Following this service, the nominating committee will continue seeking new officers and teachers for the incoming year.

Church Attendance And Geography NEW YORK (UPI) — Where you come from may have a bearing on whether you go to church regularly, according to a study of religious beliefs made for the Catholic Digest by Dr. George Gallup's Public Opinion Survey.

The survey shows that in New England and the Middle Atlantic region, 51 per cent and 42 per cent, respectively, attend services every Sunday. In the Mountain and Pacific regions, the figures are 32 per cent and 30 per cent, respectively.

Church Of Christ Lists Sunday Worship Subjects

Guy Caskey, minister of the Pampa Church of Christ, Mary Ellen and Harvester, announces his Sunday morning sermon topic will be "The Church in the Book of Ephesians." It will detail Paul's dissertation on the importance of Christ's church in which the church is referred to in nine different passages. The synonymous terms which are used in the Book, give added emphasis to the importance of the institution purchased by such high price as recorded in Chapter 5, Verse 25. Caskey will present the plea of the Gospel for "the present generation to bring themselves into subjection in obedience and glory God in the church, Christ's body."

"Buy Of Me", with references to Revelation 3:18, will present God as a merchant with wares of "gold" which refers to the priceless value of eternal life and the present need for His wares. "These invaluable blessings are not bought with money," Caskey will bring out, "but with great impetus, the opportunity of converting the world to Christ is presented as the purchasing price for the present generation to offer in exchange for an eternal life of bliss."

Programs throughout the week, are open to the public and invitations to all are offered to examine worship services in light of the inspired examples in the New Testament, Caskey said.

At worship services, Bibles will be presented to children entering elementary third and fourth classes.

Roy Ford, superintendent of Sunday School, will present attendance pins for perfect attendance for three, six, and ten months.

Christian Education NEW YORK (UPI) — Christian Education Week this year is Sept. 25-Oct. 2, according to the National Council of Churches, which says: "This annual . . . service seeks to open ways for the Christian worker to become more efficient in his calling. It challenges men and women to personal daily reliance on the Gospel. The theme for 1966 is: Our Lord, Our Faith, Our Brotherhood."

PRAYER, YOUR SPIRITUAL COMPASS

"The next morning He was up long before daybreak, and went out alone into the wilderness to pray." Mark 1:35 Living Gospel.)

While serving in the Navy during World War II, I was assigned the responsibility of setting and maintaining the Gyro-compass aboard L.S.T. 736. The Gyro-compass operates on the same principle as that of the little balance wheel which children enjoy playing with. The wheel of the compass turned 22,000 revolutions per minute. It was built in a cage and mounted on swivels and no matter how the ship turned or rolled, the gyro-compass maintained a balanced and steady position.

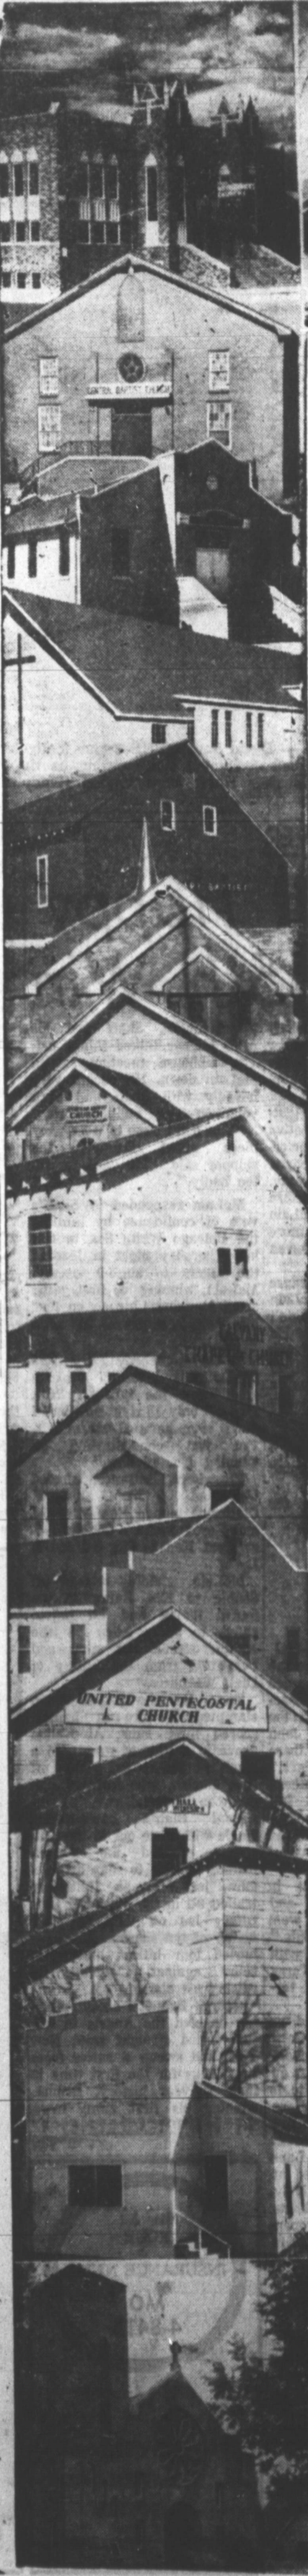

The Gyro-compass was dependable only as long as there was electrical power to operate it and an accurate magnetic compass by which to set it. The magnetic compasses are easily effected by magnetic fields other than that of the North-Pole. Usually munitions aboard ship would cause some variations on the compass needle and if the course of the ship happen to depend upon the magnetic compass, it might well lose its course. Therefore, the gyro-compass when set accurately was a valuable guide for setting the course of the ship.

Sometimes it became necessary to stop the ship along a shoreline and the compass would be set by an accurate magnetic compass on the land.

Jesus felt it necessary to set His Spiritual compass before charting His course for the day. He paused long enough to talk to His Father about their plans for the day. He prayed all night before he announced His choice of apostles. If Jesus, the Son of God, felt His need for fellowship and consultation with His Father; how much more should we, a confused and sinful generation, feel it necessary to pause long enough to set our Spiritual Compasses with that of our Father's, the only accurate compass available for life.

The dark and seemingly impossible problems of our world could all be solved in one area of endeavor, that of prayer. Its course is now layed in the direction of the rocks and certain peril. It is a good time for the people of this world to stop and chart a new course that would lead them around the perilous rocks.

"Lord, teach us to pray —"

RESPECT A NICE WORD

Pirates Get 5-B Nod

By A Staff Writer LEFORS - Respect is a nice word and is nice to have. Lefors coach Jack York has it from the district 5-B coaches.

two. No other team drew any first place votes. Neither Lefors nor Groom was picked lower than second and it's easy to tell from the closeness of the votes the coaches figure on a better balanced league than in 1965.

But new coach Richard Eddie-man has six returnees, including speedy Jerry Littlefield, who plays halfback and fullback Lynn King.

HE SHINES AND SHINES

Regan-Spitter or Sinkers

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—Phil Regan is a 6-3, 200-pound pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers who neither smokes nor drinks, though there are some who insist he spits.

"It seemed like every time I used the curve," says Regan, "I would get bombed."

Claude Osteen. "Then in the late innings the Vulture sweeps in for the kill."

Booker had only a 3-6-1 record in 1965 but might be a bit stronger this season with seven starters back but only nine lettermen.

When Regan was with the Detroit Tigers, a team for which he toiled with mixed results and emotions the last five years before being traded to Los Angeles last winter, he got hooked up on a curve ball.

The Dodgers acquired a pitcher whose major league experience had been almost exclusively as a starter, and immediately converted him to the bullpen. Regan says he had no objection - now.

By United Press International The Baylor Bears became the second Southwest Conference football team to hit the practice field Thursday, one of the things that pleased coach John Bridges most was that there "was not a fat man out there."

Rambling
With Red
RON CROSS

There is a feeling around Canadian that the Wildcats will surprise a few folk in the football wars this fall.

Things couldn't be much worse than they were in 1965 when Canadian finished 1-9 and had the least number of points scored of any team in the Panhandle.

The Wildcats tallied only 43 points in all 10 games, an average of 4.3 per game and gave a whopping total of four touchdowns per contest.

The only 1965 victory came over McLean, who doesn't look to be any better this season.

But injuries hurt Canadian badly last year with hot-shot back Johnny Walker out for most of the season. Walker was just about all the offense the Wildcats had last year. He's back again this season, but he should have some help.

Nine Starters

Coach Dwaine Currie returns nine starters from last season, including his entire starting backfield.

Besides Walker, a 140-pound senior with three letters at quarterback the Wildcats return Kennet Thrasher, a 135-pound senior halfback, Butch Nicholson, a 150-pound senior at wingback and Howard Sanders, the biggest of the lot at 191 and a fullback.

Line-wise Currie has both starting guards back in Roger Wainwright, a 192-pound junior and Charles Ortega, a 166-pound junior with three letters.

Both tackles, Gary Schoenhals, 172 and a senior and Ray Allen, who at 191, plays center or tackle. Also back is Jarel Norris, a 151-pound senior, who plays end and halfback on defense.

Currie's squad is thin after these nine but he has help coming off a good B team from a year ago.

Currie feels he has fair size and speed, but is hurting in depth and his line has only fair experience.

"We should be improved over last year, although we'll be the smallest team in our district. Our backs have pretty good experience but our line is suffering," the coach said.

The Wildcats are in the same conference with White Deer, Stratford, Gruver and Sunray.

"We have our work cut out for us," Currie said, "however I feel that as we gain the needed experience we will improve with every game."

Russian Pole Swimming for U.S.

DALLAS (UPI) — Vladislav Kommissarov, one of the contestants in the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Championships in San Antonio, is—as the name implies—a Russian Pole.

He said he decided four years ago to leave Russia.

He won the Russian pentathlon championship in 1959, was third at Budapest in the 1960 Russian-Hungarian matches and was first in a triangular meet involving Hungary and East Germany in 1964.

He had won the Russian Master Sport award in swimming at the age of 18, the same award in pentathlon at the age of 20 and at 24 he got it in fencing.

He's Bit Rusty

Kommissarov isn't likely to win the U.S. championship this year because he's a bit rusty. Too, U.S. firearms shooting is one of the pentathlon events are unfamiliar to him, and the Texas heat has hampered his workouts in running.

But, in fencing and swimming he has shown exceptional talents.

It was this proficiency at swimming that paved the way for him to flee Russia, "because I did not like communism."

When he finally decided to defect, he swam some 25 kilometers (15.5 miles) from Batuni on the Russian-Black Sea coast to Turkey.

From there, he made his way to a refugee camp in Lebanon. It was there that a religious group discovered his athletic abilities and the fact he wanted to come to the U.S.

It was worked out that he came to this country under sponsorship of Brig. Gen. John Grombach (Ret.), an official of the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Association, for tryouts with the modern pentathlon team while his background was checked.

Kommissarov only last Saturday received Department of Defense clearance after the check-out, which revealed the Pole had spent three years in the Russian Army and had held the rank of lieutenant assigned to the sports division of the army.

His parents and a brother still live in Russian Poland, but Kommissarov doesn't think they are in danger. He hasn't heard from them and hasn't tried to communicate with them.

After the pentathlon competition is over, Kommissarov's future is a bit uncertain. But, he may join the U.S. Army—a move that would help him achieve his goal of citizenship.

Since it would take at least three years to gain his citizenship papers, he cannot earn a berth on the U.S. pentathlon team for the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

Asked if he later won a spot on a U.S. team what would he do if he had a chance to compete in Moscow, Kommissarov replied:

"I stay here."

ALL SMILES because his Baltimore Orioles are way ahead in the American League race, manager Hank Bauer hits grounders during fielding practice. The Orioles manager knows all about prosperity. He picked up nine World Series checks with the New York Yankees.

Pancel Firing Starts Saturday

Practice rounds are scheduled Saturday for the annual Pancel golf tournament, slated to get underway Sunday at Celanese golf course.

A strong field is assured the championship flight with defending champion Don Lackey of Borger back to try to make it two in a row.

But Lackey will have his work cut out for him with such players as Buster Carter, Malcolm Douglas, Max Hickey, Jack Foster and Jerry Hrciar all in the fold.

Prizes will be given to the winners of each of the flights. No entries will be accepted after 1 p.m. Sunday.

Golfers in the championship flight will play 27 holes of medal play and golfers in other flights play nine holes medal and nine holes of match play.

BARBER ON SHELF

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore lefthander Steve Barber was placed on the 15-day disabled list Thursday and righthander Frank Bertina recalled from the Orioles' Rochester farm club to bolster Baltimore's injury-riddled pitching staff.

Barber was able to face only two hitters Sunday against Cleveland before he was forced to retire with elbow trouble.

Bertina, 22, was 9-2 at Rochester with a 2.23 earned run average.

Clay Ordered to Pay $50,000 Alimony

MIAMI (UPI) — It appears that Cassius Clay will avoid a jail sentence for contempt of court. But it is costing him $50,000.

The heavyweight champion was ordered by a judge to come up with $50,000 as bond for his alimony payments before Aug. 28 or face a 30-day sentence.

Thursday, the attorney for his shapely ex-wife, Sonji, said he felt the money would be paid.

"I haven't seen the money yet," said attorney Lawrence J. Hoffman, "but I've been led to believe it's here."

Clay won a divorce on grounds that Sonji refused to abide by the customs of his adopted Muslim religion, but the court ordered him to pay her $1,250 a month for 10 years.

He was later told to come up with the $50,000 as assurance that the payments would be made on time.

HE'S TOUGH ON PIRATES

By United Press International
Jim Bunning is making Harry Walker's "book on hitting" seem as difficult to read as the "Alexandria Quartet."

The Philadelphia Phillies' righthander beat the Pittsburgh Pirates for the fourth time this year—Thursday night as he scattered eight hits for a 4-1 victory, but his satisfaction came mostly from scoring another personal triumph over Walker, the Pirates' outspoken manager.

"I enjoy beating Pittsburgh because I enjoy beating Harry Walker," Bunning said after the Phillies had knocked the Pirates out of first place in the National League. "He thinks he wrote the book on hitting and I like to beat him."

Bunning was reminded that since he allowed eight hits Thursday night and 11 in his last outing against the Pirates, perhaps he didn't hold the Bucs in such complete check after all.

Giants On Top Again

By United Press International
Cubs edged the New York Mets 3-2.

Run-scoring doubles in the fourth inning by Dick Groat and Jackie Brandt provided Bunning with all the runs he needed as he notched his 14th victory against nine defeats.

Southpaw Bob Veale suffered the setback.

Score Insurance Run

Brandt also drove in an insurance run in the sixth inning with a single and Tony Taylor's steal of home in the ninth completed the scoring.

Pittsburgh's only run came in the seventh when Donn Clendenen singled and scored on Bill Mazeroski's bad-top triple. The loss dropped the Pirates into second place, one-half game behind the idle San Francisco Giants.

Relief pitcher Bill Hepler's wild pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth inning scored Don Kessinger with the winning run as the Cubs edged the Mets in the final inning for the second straight day.

Kessinger and Glenn Beckert opened the ninth with singles off Hepler and after Billy Williams popped out, Ron Santo was walked to fill the bases. Hepler's second pitch to Ernie Banks was in the dirt and bounded to the backstop, allowing Kessinger to score easily with the deciding run.

Curt Simmons, who came in on relief of Ferguson Jenkins in the ninth, picked up the win. John Boccabella and Byron Browne hit home runs for the Cubs while Larry Elliot homered for the Mets.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Billions Going to Waste

Once again, Congress has published a report on the federal stockpile inventories and once again, we are amazed by the data.

More than five billion dollars in usable goods, ranging from diamond tools to cotton balls are stored in silos, sheds, underground vaults, and abandoned government facilities from one end of the country to the other.

Stockpiling needed supplies for emergency use—such as medical equipment, civil defense material and various weapons may have its value. And even this should be subjected to serious question when it is realized that before the government can stockpile anything it must first steal it from its owners via the taxing apparatus. But what Uncle Sam socks away in the area of emergency supplies is small in comparison with the total stockpile.

For example, more than $1 million worth of brass is being held by the government, $70,000 in bronze is stockpiled, 159 million pounds—that's right—159 million pounds—of castor oil is stored somewhere.

There's 221,000 pounds of coconut oil buried somewhere, and half a million dollars worth of diamond dies in storage.

Add to this $10.7 million in down—that's 2.5 million pounds—and 16 million worth of feathers—3.8 million pounds—and you have another example of stockpiling that the American people have to pay for.

Somewhere, there's $2 million the welfare department determining the woman is living with a man. It describes home visits and searched, explains the "right" to appeal and advises the hearing is not open to the public. It describes what to do in case of over payment or under payment, talks about professional services, medical care for children, dental care, and birth control.

The pamphlet is put out by the Welfare Rights Organization, 528 Seventh St., Oakland. This is in the area where able-bodied men on welfare successfully refused to take jobs picking fruit and harvesting vegetables on nearby farms, on the grounds of lack of training and inconvenience.

In a way, all of this is "old stuff" and to be expected. But what isn't expected is that an agency of the War on Poverty apparently is organizing recipients of welfare to demand more and more welfare and do less and less work—one agency of the federal government working against the declared aims of other agencies of both state and federal governments.

The Sneak Thief

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Landscape architects may no longer have to wait as long as 20 years for a sapling to grow into a good-sized tree for outdoor decoration. Saplings are generally used because larger trees frequently die when transplanted. Some British foresters have devised a new method of growing trees to semi-maturity. With special pruning and care, the roots are confined to a manageable ball that makes them easy to move and replant. This method cuts the costs of landscaping tremendously.

Today's smile: One of the older employees said to a new stenographer: "How do you like working here?" The new typist said: "Just fine, but the boss is bigoted." "What do you mean?" demanded the other. The new stenographer said: "He thinks words can only be spelled one way."

Although the Canary Islands are a natural habitat for canaries, they were named for another reason. When the Romans visited there they were astounded to find huge packs of big wild dogs. Since the Latin word for dog is "canis," the Romans so-named the string of 15 islands. In time the inhabitants became known as "canarios" and the islands acquired the name "Canary."

Automation has really hit the building trades. Someone has invented an automatic bricklayer that can lay bricks seven times faster than a human being. Since it sells for the relatively low price of $3,000, you can expect to see them in operation very soon.

Thoughts while shaving: Great oaks from little acorns grow, but not enough acorns have been planted to satisfy the needs of the whisky distilling industry. Federal regulations prohibit distillers from aging whisky in used barrels. As a result, one of the largest distilleries has undertaken its own conservation program by planting white oak seedlings on forest land which they own in four states. Seems that white oak makes the best casks for aging the stuff. Speaking of islands, that member of the Florida group that lies farthest west did not get its name from its geographical location. It was originally called "Cayo" (Spanish for small island) and Huesco (Spanish for bone). Americanized, the name became Key West because early visitors found bones there. . . . And mention of the West reminds us that in early times in western England it was a generally held belief that any person having a blue vein across the bridge of his nose was likely to die by drowning. . . . They're making it easier for law violators all the time. We just learned the Milwaukee police station has a drive-in window where overtime parkers may pay their fines without the inconvenience of getting out of their cars. . . . Barbara Streisand was reported to have received a fee of $100,000 for a single appearance at the Newport (R. I.) Music Festival a few weeks ago. When we hear of those astronomical salaries, it makes us wonder how much of the dough those entertainment stars can keep for themselves and how much must they hand over to Uncle Sam. . . . The Oakland (Calif.) TRIBUNE reported in a story: "Two bandits tied up a clerk with electric wire." How shocking!

Country Editor says: "Always remember to laugh at the joke. Your boss tells; he might be giving you a loyalty test."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "When there is a strike, the reasons for the strike are never published or aired. Even after settlement terms of agreement are obscure. Why?"

Answer: The reason generally is that negotiations no longer are simply on a matter of wages and hours. Union contracts go into such fringe benefits as living holidays including the worker's birthday; cost-of-living increases, longevity pay, severance pay, higher pensions, higher group insurance payments (one union obtained psychiatric care) shift differentials, additional sick-leave pay, more vacation time or pay. All of those fringes, other than psychiatric care, were included in a contract recently negotiated by the International Association of Machinists, as reported by The State Labor News of Columbus, Ohio.

Other clauses in contract negotiations frequently include such devices as pay for union stewards doing union work on company time, providing union representatives with space in company buildings; compulsory membership (union shop) requirements; dues check-offs.

As a result, it becomes virtually impossible to list all of the factors included in union disputes. About all the newspapers are able to do is to report the principal items in dispute. This generally is reported, although some times it is difficult to obtain these details from the negotiators.

Another difficulty is in reporting the differences of estimates between union and management in reporting the cost of fringe benefits. A contract may include 25 cents an hour in wage increases, but the value of the fringe benefits may be estimated by the employer at 50 cents and by the union negotiators at 10 cents. All the news media are able to report then is the two different figures, since some of the items may be subject to interpretation.

Some people with experience say the reason it is difficult to obtain details of strike settlements is that neither the union nor the employers want the public to know the terms. The employers presumably realize that readers are intelligent enough to know that as consumers they have to pay the costs of the fringe benefits.
in Washington and their families, and all ex-city commissioners with loud mouths, would not be included. Naturally all persons included in ballot recounting should be granted unlimited longevity.
A friend of mine has gone along surprisingly well with all the great society. He abhors the population explosion. He is 83 years old and refuses to be responsible for said explosion.
This friend says he mixes cereal with his meat loaf, buys steaks of questionable origin, and has cut out sugar in favor of saccharin, and has used so much saccharin that he now has artificial diabetes.
The Bureaucrats have a fair batting average, but they can't win 'em all.

Basic Economics For Children

By OSCAR COOLEY

Happiness and success in life depend greatly on having a common-sense knowledge of economics. Leonard Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, thinks parents and teachers can convey such knowledge to children at an early age.

With school-opening day almost here, let us look at three rules which Read thinks all children should be taught. They are:

1. If you drop anything, pick it up. 2. If you make a promise, keep it. 3. Play the thank you game.
- What do these rules have to do with economics? Let us look at each in turn:

1. To pick up what you have dropped is to be self-reliant. Nobody, then, has to clean up after you. You take responsibility for your own deeds and misdeeds.
The child who learns always to pick up what he has dropped, to close the door that he has opened, etc., becomes the grownup who supports himself. If he makes an error in business, he takes his loss; he does not expect his neighbors, the community, or the government to bail him out. Hence, he is careful to avoid making an error.

2. This is a close sequel to No. 1. Just as having dropped a thing you pick it up, having made a promise you keep it. Business consists largely of making and keeping promises, or contracts. Modern social life would be impossible if people did not, for the most part, keep their promises.

When borrowers pay back what they have borrowed, at the time and on the terms specified, they are keeping a promise. To learn to do this is to gain a healthy respect for private property.
Under the law, people may avoid paying their debts by "going through bankruptcy." That many do this suggests that many children are not being taught the importance of paying debts. Whether the debtor goes through bankruptcy or simply defaults, the creditor loses property.
American youngsters should read the stories of Mark Twain and Ulysses S. Grant, both of whom repaid heavy debts through hard work in their old

Hunt for Truth

BY K. L. HUNT
YOUNG CRIMINALS IN THE JOB CORPS

Reliable reports continue to come in from all over the country about the criminal acts committed by Job Corps trainees both inside and outside their training camps. Though the anti-poverty bureaucracy still refuses to pay any attention to them, they should alert every thoughtful citizen to what the anti-poverty program really is in practice.

No one is opposed to the idea of training school drop-outs and needy young people in a useful trade, though many believe this could be done better by private industry or by local communities than by a federal program. But the worst indictment of the Job Corps is not that it spends money recklessly, but that it makes no attempt to distinguish between the youth who really wants to learn a trade and the young criminal who has no interest in it.

Most of the victims of the young criminals in the Job Corps have been fellow trainees, who might have gained some real benefit from the program if they had been allowed to learn in peace. Innocent trainees have been murderously assaulted. One described how "we formed our own sentry duties and we slept with our boots on and iron pipes under our blankets in case the gangs tried to break into the barracks."

The anti-poverty bureaucrats in charge of the Job Corps have so far confined themselves to making excuses for the young criminals. They are eager to keep them on the rolls, while they do not seem to worry about losing the better young people who are victimized. No handout can help anyone who does not wish to help himself.

New System Is Needed

(Editor and Publisher Magazine)
Almost four months ago Anthony DeAndrade, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union, told members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in New York City: "If we cannot bring about a policy whereby unions in multiple bargaining will accept negotiated benefits agreeable to the majority, or the employers will not stand fast after signing contracts with the majority of the unions, then we must search for a better system of negotiated contracts."

E&P's story said: "He added there are enough brains, experience and ability on both sides of the bargaining table to create some system whereby news papers can continue to publish and the employes can continue to draw their wages during the period when contractual differences exist. He observed that 'perhaps we both have been a little negligent in the search for the common meeting ground.'"

That negligence still exists. A week after Mr. DeAndrade spoke the American Newspaper Guild struck the newly merged World Journal Tribune Corporation preventing publication of morning, evening and Sunday papers. All other unions respected the picket lines. Today the nine other unions have agreed to terms but it is the pressmen of Mr. DeAndrade's union who are holding out for a settlement that will be radically different from other existing pressmen's contracts in the market. It is three and a half months since the Journal-American and the Herald Tribune suspended publication. The new corporation has yet to publish a single copy.

At that same ANPA session, Gene Robb, publisher of the Albany (N.Y.) Times - Union and Knickerbocker News, outgoing president of the association, said: "I personally believe it is entirely possible that the World Journal Tribune Company will never publish a newspaper at all and that three papers, instead of only one, will disappear forever from New York. Thus through the intransigence of these union leaders, not 2,000 but fully 5,000 jobs can be gone."

Labor Day Rodeo Feature Is Food

AMARILLO (Sp) - A feature attraction of the 22nd annual Labor Day rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 4 and 5, will be giant-size barbecued beef sandwiches, prepared and sold by the boys who are learning meat-cutting and cooking as their future vocations. Spectators and visitors who arrive early can buy the sandwiches for a picnic meal for $1.25. The price will include potato chips, all the trimmings, and iced tea. Youngsters in charge of the barbecue are learning their vocations by working in the Ranch's dining hall where they feed all 346 boys and staff families daily. The rodeo and other special events during the year give them additional opportunities for practical experience, while at the same time helping to build their home through concession sales. The rodeo will begin at 2:30 p.m., both Sunday and Monday. Tickets for either performance

McNamara's 'Salvage' Plan Delays Draft of Some Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's plan to "salvage" for military duty 100,000 men previously rejected is to delay the drafting of some men now classified 1A. And it may trigger yet another round in the continuing congressional debate over the fairness of the Selective Service system's method of choosing who will be drafted. In addition, some government authorities said the McNamara plan obviously meant that deferred college students would be even less vulnerable to the draft than they are now - another sore spot with congressional critics. Among those already classiified by selective service, the only ones who could be affected by the new plan are in Class 1Y - a marginal group of men who failed to qualify for service for mental or physical reasons. Officials estimate there are about 200,000 of these. Elaborating on the plan to bring mentally and physically disqualified men up to military fitness standards, defense manpower officials said Wednesday that: Thirty per cent of the men to be drafted or accepted as volunteers will be Negroes. can be bought in advance from the Boys Ranch office, Box 1890, Amarillo, or at the arena. Reserved box seats are $2.50, general admission is $1.50, and children's and servicemen's tickets are 75 cents.

College Group Endorse Policy

DALLAS (UPI) - The 11th annual convention of Circle K International, a college service group, endorsed Wednesday a resolution supporting armed forces "risking their lives" for freedom. The resolution did not mention Viet Nam. More than 400 delegates concluded a four-day meeting with passage of the resolution. "Thousands of fighting men are daily risking their lives to insure the rights of free men everywhere and to maintain the stability of the democratic processes," the resolution read in part. Circle K is affiliated with Kiwanis International. The resolution's original wording said "thousands of fighting men were specifically working to stop the spread of communism in Viet Nam and throughout the world." The deletion was in deference to Circle K International's Canadian membership.

V.N. Statistics Are Released

SAIGON (UPI) - Allied forces killed 1,827 Communist troops - a record high for the war - in Viet Nam during the week ending Aug. 20, according to figures released by U.S. military officials today. The previous record was 1,530 Communists who died in a battle with American forces in the Ia Drang River valley during the week of Nov. 20, 1965. A military spokesman said 91 U.S. servicemen were killed last week, pushing the American total for the war to 4,832 dead. The week's casualty list also showed 425 Americans wounded and eight missing in action. Other Allied military forces - South Vietnamese, Koreans, Australians and New Zealanders - reported 239 killed and 477 wounded. American 1st Cavalry forces scored the victory in the Ia Drang River valley last November. U.S. dead in that fight totaled 248.

Matter of Fact

In the last few years a need has been felt to somehow distinguish between the types of books which are conceived only as a piece of saleable merchandise and those which are undertaken for some artistic purpose. The term "non-book" was coined recently to describe the first type of book.

Russia Discloses Lenin's Body Was Moved to Ural Mountains During War

MOSCOW (UPI) - Twenty-one years after the end of World War II, the Soviet Union today disclosed that V.I. Lenin's body was removed from Red Square in 1941 and evacuated to the Ural Mountains. The body was taken away in early July of 1941, about 10 days after the Germans invaded the country, the Soviet magazine Science and Religion said, and was returned to Moscow three years and nine months later, on June 24, 1945. Rumors that Lenin's body had been evacuated swept the Soviet capital in July 1941 when the Germans were marching towards Moscow but were not official confirmed then. "Comrade Lenin is and always will be with us," Solomon Lozovsky, the wartime Soviet spokesman then told the United Press when asked what had become of Lenin's body. The embalmed body has been exposed in an air conditioned granite mausoleum since 1924 and, as the country's most sacred shrine, has been visited by millions.
