EL PASO PARALYZED BY POWER STRIKE

150,000 ARE IN DARKNESS IN WIDE AREA

AREA IN TEXAS AND NEW MEXICO IS AFFECTED

EL PASO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Electric service was partly restored to El Paso at 10 a. m. after an early morning strike in the El Paso Electric Co. plant which plunged the city and surrounding territory into darkness without warning.

An auxiliary steam plant that had been out of service for years was hastily put in order and pressed in to service to supply power to hospitals and the downtown business district with electricity, but the residential and manufacturing sections still were without service.

EL PASO, Feb. 27. (AP)—The city of El Paso and the Mesilla valley, embracing Texas and New Mexico territory with a population of 150,000 persons, was plunged into darkness early today by a sudden strike of union workers of the El Paso Electric Co.

The lights and power went off at 3:53 a. m. without a warning, leaving hospitals, homes, hotels, factories and streets in darkness.

Radio stations, including police broadcasting system went off the air and the street railway system was tied up. An immediate appeal to the governors of New Mexico and Texas was sent out and a request was filed with the department of labor in Washington for mediation.

M. C. Smith, president of the company, said efforts to renew service were balked by the fact that steam engine boilers have been drained and small parts of the generating machinery had been removed or destroyed.

Peaceful picketing to prevent non-union workers from opening the plants was started immediately. N. P. Clay, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the walkout was the direct result of failure of the company to keep faith with the union on an agreement reached a year ago tomorrow which ended the last power strike here.

His charge that the company has dismissed workers for union activities was denied by Smith. Clay said all of the 100 union workers had quit. Smith also denied this.

Not only was the main power unit in El Paso shut off but efforts to open the emergency standby plant failed.

Candles at Hospitals
The immediate effects of the shutdown was felt first in hospitals. Nurses at the Providence and Masonic hospitals said two union men had inquired after the power was off, if they had emergency plans or any patients critically ill.

A baby girl was delivered by candle-light at Providence hospital at 5:15 a. m. At William Beaumont hospital.

Twinkles
Considering that we escaped those terrible blizzards and did not have to dodge snow slides, we can accept with equanimity a few dusters.

Throwing a dollar is easy, except for some of our local Scots, but for real protest you ought to try out the catching ability of some of the boys across the river—any river.

Our Young Man says he will just consider himself kissed and save the candidates some time.

The voice of experience: If you would avoid a cold, put on a dust-mask or its equivalent when doing spring cleaning and dusting.

It is figured that there are 21 drivers per car in this state. Or two drivers and a half-wit?

Musing of the moment: Snow is so uncommon around here that some folks and the great City of Pampa seem to feel no obligation to shovel it off the walks.

New York spends millions to remove the snow from the streets. Humans may find the secret of hibernation. We can think of worse things than going to sleep for 20 years.

Brevitorials
GOING OVER the mail: "Shall we have constitutional government or Supreme Court Dictation?" asks Rep. O. H. Cross of Texas in a not-printed-at-governor-expense extract from the Congressional Record. It arrives a bit belatedly, but thought everyone was tired of that subject. Rep. Cross introduced a bill to deny the Supreme Court the right to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional in matters put before the Court on appeal. Constitutionality could be challenged only by a state filing an original suit. Let the argument start, but don't forget that the Constitution is still subject to amendment and that the Supreme Court is the only body now clothed with the authority to hold lawmakers to the limitations imposed by the written Constitution.

March 2 is Texas Independence day... And a date which should signalize a state-wide beautification program. We grant that dusters imposed a handicap on plains dwellers, but there is much that can be done to make our towns more attractive. Pampa with a Centennial Exposition and Oil Show set for the first week in June, certainly has no time to waste. Let's get busy.

DEMOCRATIC campaign thunder: Governor Landon of Kansas in a public statement February 12, 1933, advocated giving the President dictatorial powers—powers not yet asked. The first 230 corporations to report earnings for 1935 showed an average net gain in income of 38 per cent over 1934. The 5,392 active National banks reported aggregate deposits of $1,200,000,000 in 1935 of nearly 25 billions—the highest figure in the history of the system. Even the rock-ribbed Republican Herald Tribune of New York recently wrote: "If the GOP merely frets out a totally decrepit elephant, with one of its oldest trainers and insists that this is a new circus, the supply of peanuts will be deservedly small."

Yet in all candor it can be admitted that not all is right with the new deal and with the country. Some experiments have been notably successful. Times are steadily improving. Some experiments have failed, as was inevitable, and the wreckage must be cleared away and the government payroll reduced. The surest indications that all is not well is the fact that there is unemployment continues. Unemployment is a problem which will not be solved in one administration, nor in five.

THE TREND toward a social democracy, or a democracy in which individual rights are surrendered in behalf of the common good, and in which the federal government takes a paternalistic attitude is due for arrest through a decade or more. Americans too greatly prize their individual rights to take a drastic step in "normal times." Our bloodless social revolution will require several phases and several presidents. We have seen the first.

W. P. A. S. H. P. Drought of San Antonio in a recent speech called for a return to the states rights theory—the theory that states ought to do for themselves everything which can be done without infringement of the rights of other states and of the central government. Uncle Sam is attempting to return to state and local communities the "right" to take care of the sick, injured, and unemployed.

THIS COUNTRY certainly not ready to adopt the belief that millions of citizens can never find jobs and that a work or cash dole will be their income. We are not ready to bring up children who have never seen their fathers do a day's work for a private employer. We are not ready to assume that

Army Persuades Assassins To Go Back To Barracks

DERN IS ASKED TO SET ASIDE HAGOOD ORDER

SOLONS INTERVENE IN BEHALF OF ARMY OFFICER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Senator Byrne (D. S. C.) accompanied by two representatives, asked Secretary Dorn today to set aside or modify the disciplinary action taken by the army against Major General Johnson Hagood.

Byrnes, Chairman McSwain (D. S. C.) of the house military committee and Rep. Blanton (D. Texas) went to the war department after General Main Craig, chief of staff, had assailed Hagood for "wiscracking" remarks in an extraordinary public explanation of the order removing Hagood from command of the 8th corp area.

Republicans coincidentally demanded a senatorial inquiry in behalf of "free speech." The three from capital hill spent nearly two hours with Dorn and Craig.

They told the army leaders they believed that the removal order was too severe. The war department was urged to restore Hagood's command or to alter in some way the punishment given for his criticism of Works Progress spending activities before recent hearings in a house appropriations sub-committee.

Upon leaving the war department, the three congressional visitors let it be known that they had failed to obtain any assurances that further action would be taken in Hagood's case.

Both Dorn and Craig refused to discuss their conversation in any way.

HOUSE SENDS FARM ACT TO SENATE BODY

PRESIDENT SUMMONS LEADERS TO TALK ABOUT TAXES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Congress sped the administration's new farm program to the White House today where President Roosevelt already was studying tax plans for financing the $500,000,000 bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—The soil conservation farm program drew nearer the White House today as President Roosevelt summoned leaders to discuss taxes for financing the $500,000,000 measure.

The house speedily approved the agreement reached in conference on a final draft of the subsidy bill. Only senate action was needed to send the measure to Mr. Roosevelt's desk.

At the White House, the president planned to confer tonight with Vice President Garner, Secretary Morgenthau, Speaker Byrnes and senate and house democratic leaders on the important question of revenue. Whether a tax bill might go beyond the farm program to embrace the bonus was unknown at capital hill.

The house adopted the conference agreement on that farm bill by a voice vote after a few technical points were discussed.

The new deal payments to replace AAA authorized payments of up to $50,000,000 until December 31, 1937, to farmers practicing conservation measures. After that date or sooner if the states are ready, grants are to be made through voluntary state programs based on soil conservation and stabilization of agricultural and maintenance of farmers' purchasing powers.

In the senate, Chairman Smith (D. S. C.) of the agriculture committee served notice he would move Monday to override the president's veto of the $50,000,000 seed loan bill.

Pampa Student Hurt in Wreck

The car in which they were riding with Lloyd Russell, star back on the Baylor football team, over-turned after crashing into the rear of a car that had stopped on the highway.

Miss Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Baker who reside on the Magnolia Petroleum company's Bowers lease south of Pampa, graduated from high school here in June, 1935, and enrolled for the fall term at Baylor university where she is now a student.

Arrangements Completed To Start Units At Fairgrounds

DALLAS, Feb. 27. (AP)—James A. Dorsey, Victor Pick, and Zell G. Roe were convicted of mail fraud, conspiracy and violation of the federal securities act by a jury in federal court here today. Four other defendants in the government's case against employees and officials of the bankrupt securities service corporation, were declared innocent.

LONDON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Italy, understood to be talking at the constitution of League of Nations sanctions against her, advised the British government today that she was not ready to sign any new naval treaty with Great Britain, France, and the United States.

WALLACE FILES SUIT AGAINST ACTRESS WEST

Would Compel Mae To Acknowledge Marriage

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—A Supreme Court order was sent to Los Angeles, Calif., authorities today to authorize service upon Mae West of a suit by Frank Wallace, an actor, who seeks to enjoin Miss West from denying he is her husband or that she is married.

The order was signed by Supreme Court Justice John E. McLean and Wallace stirred a turmoil in the screen and stage world a year ago by his assertion he had married Miss West in Milwaukee.

"I never heard of that guy," was Miss West's retort.

A marriage license bureau clerk hunting around in the records found a marriage license issued to Mae West and a Frank Wallace in 1911 but Miss West remained firm in her denials she had ever married.

Wallace, who had done a dancing turn on the vaudeville stage, went to Supreme Court last May to obtain an order to serve notice on Miss West that he had applied for a declaratory judgment affirming his status as her husband.

The suit asks that Wallace be judicially declared Miss West's husband and that the court declare void any divorce she may claim to have received on the ground that Wallace never was served during the divorce proceedings.

Service of the complaint is an essential formality to make a divorce legal in this state.

The order Wallace obtained from Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer last year never was served because of the cost. Counsel for Wallace said it would have cost $100 to serve the suit by publication while the sheriff

Material Purchased For Grandstand, Auditorium

Some of the best news of recent months was announced today by City Manager C. L. Tine, who said that arrangements had been completed for starting most of the units of the fairground park under WPA supervision with the City of Pampa as sponsor.

The race track is about 50 per cent complete. Material is being purchased by WPA for the grandstand and auditorium, which are being staked out on the ground for an early start.

A total of $14,986 has been allowed by the Amarillo WPA office for materials, bought advantageously by the WPA officials. All labor will be furnished. It is estimated that 120 men will work four months on the major projects. The City must furnish whatever material is needed to complete the projects.

No WPA money is available now for display buildings, which must be considered later. Ordinarily WPA requires that one project be finished before another is begun, but the Pampa projects are so overcrowded with workers that additional units were approved.

The bridge east of the Sam Houston school is in the concrete pouring stage, with footings completed and steel being placed. Pouring of the main structure will start next week if weather permits.

Topping of the tennis courts will begin as soon as frost is out of the ground and danger of hard freezes is past.

City Manager Stone is giving much of his time to engineering details of the local projects. Buster Kaufman, architect, is completing specifications for the buildings soon to be started. The two men spent Tuesday in Amarillo with R. W. Willis, district project supervisor for WPA.

County projects also include the McLean-Hedley road, Alameda-Lefors road school projects at McLean and starting the Monday, the Gray county portion of the Laketon-Miami road.

Mrs. Shirley Cox of Miami visited her mother, Mrs. F. P. Reid, yesterday.

Edgar Gardner of San Antonio is visiting his brother Arthur Gardner this week.

If they have won their first game it will be important, and if they have lost it, the Friday night tilt will be the deciding tilt for the boys. The girls pep squad will also make the trip.

J. W. Garman and he said that the period from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15 was the coldest from a gas consumption standpoint in the history of Pampa, and that the gas billings are the highest in history, being 25 per cent more than last month. He said Pampans used 100 million cubic feet of gas, a new monthly record.

EVIDENCE OF TAXI DRIVER IS DOUBTED

Hoffman Questions Testimony of Perrone, Man Who Delivered Note.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27. (AP)—Governor Hoffman today questioned the identification of Joseph Perrone, taxi driver of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the man who hired him to deliver a note to Dr. John F. Condon prior to the payment of ransom for Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Perrone delivered the note to Condon the night of March 12, 1932. A man on Gun Hill road, the Bronx gave it to him. It contained instructions to Condon how to make contact with the kidnaper.

At Hauptmann's trial Perrone said the man who gave him the note was Hauptmann.

The statement cited by the governor was signed by Detective Claude Paterson and Sergeant A. Zapolsky, of the state police.

"Perrone," it said, "states that a few days after he attended the Bronx county grand jury he had taken a passenger to City Island and there had observed Dr. Condon talking to man whom he thought was the man that gave him the note."

The governor made his announcement almost at the moment Attorney General David T. Wilentz Hauptmann's chief prosecutor, was saying at his Perth Amboy home he would make "no move at all" to combat the governor's renewed attacks on the evidence against Hauptmann.

Influenza Takes Discoverer of Reflex Theory

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., Feb. 27. (AP)—Ivan Petrovitch Pavloff, the psychologist who became internationally famous for his "purely materialistic" theory of conditioned reflexes, died today of influenza. He was 86 years old.

The son of a village priest, he argued that human life is based on reflexes or reactions of the nervous system to outside interests. This, the Soviet encyclopedia says, applied to "the highest nervous activity—formally called the soul."

Conduct of both men and animals, Pavloff maintained, is directly dependent upon this relationship between organism and its environment.

The Soviet government contributed large sums toward his scientific work. He had extensive laboratories in the Leningrad district, at Koltushy, and was director of the physiological section of the Institute of Experimental Medicine as well as the Academy of Sciences.

CAR ACCIDENT FATAL

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 27. (AP)—Six-year-old Edward Lee Phillips was the third victim of automobile accidents during 1936 in Wichita Falls when he died shortly after noon Thursday in a hospital. He was struck by an automobile Wednesday evening as he attempted to cross a street in front of his home. He underwent an operation for abdominal injuries Wednesday night.

ROTARY CLUB AWARDS CHILDREN CASH PRIZES IN SAFETY DRIVE

The Pampa Rotary club recently conducted a contest among school children of Pampa as part of the B. & P. W. club's safety drive. At noon yesterday, winners in five schools were honored. Checks for $5 for first place, $2 for second place, and $1 for third place in each school were presented.

Walter Daugherty made the presentation after introducing L. L. Stone, principal of the high school, R. A. Selby, principal of junior high, Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal of Woodrow Wilson school, Miss Josephine Thomas, principal of Horace Mann school, and A. L. Patrick, principal of Sam Houston school.

Prize winners were: High school—Hazel Bath, first; Vernon Kidd, second; Erma Pritchard, third.

Junior high—Lloyd George Williams, first; Dorothy Jane Day, second; Harold Thompson, third.

Woodrow Wilson—Betty Jane Dillman, first; Wilma Joyce Daugherty, second; Wanda Roberts, third.

Horace Mann—Lacrita Bryant, first; Frankie Poster, second; Kyle Bunch, third.

Sam Houston—A. L. Patrick Jr., first; Mildred Austin, second; Lavagha Taylor, third.

The school principals thanked the Rotary club for its interest in safety, one of the major problems of the school. They predicted a change for the better in safety among both students and parents since fathers and mothers assisted the children in preparing answers to the questions submitted by the club.

This week being the anniversary of the birth of the Rotary club, Guy Saunders of the Amarillo club was guest speaker. He filled in a large Rotary wheel with developments of the Rotary movement since its organization February 23, 1905.

Other Rotarians attending from Amarillo were H. F. Allspaugh, Jim Farwell, C. T. Crowe, C. R. McAfee, and N. S. Griggs. Harry E. Hoare was a guest.

THE "LANDON MIRACLE"

Supporters of Governor Landon for the Republican presidential nomination may draw encouragement from the fact that he is now drawing the attention of investigators of national organizations. On the other hand, those not so friendly to the Kansan's candidacy, may be cheered by the thought that since that candidacy has emerged into a wider arena we shall have something besides Kansas enthusiasms by which to judge what manner of man is Landon and to estimate from past performance what he would be if elected.

Under the heading, "Who Pays for Landon's Balanced Budget," the American League Against War and Fascism issues a statement taking a critical view of the Kansas messiah. "A survey of the actual accomplishments of budget-balancing by Governor Landon," says the statement, "bears out the accusation made by Harry L. Hopkins, chief of the Relief Administration, that the Kansas budget had been balanced by 'taking it out of the hides of the people.'" The statement continues:

"In 1934, the Federal Government sent $14,569,927 to Kansas, or 73 per cent of the relief bill. The balance of $5,311,815 was contributed by counties and municipalities. The State did not contribute one cent. For the first half of 1935, Washington paid $15,114,406, or 79 1/2 per cent while the cities and counties spent $4,934,481. In addition, Kansas received $66,723,187 from the AAA, $32,333,813 from the PWA, and more millions from the CWA, the CCC and other emergency relief agencies, these contributions from the Federal Government being all that kept the Kansas unemployed from starving.

"The balancing of the state budget was accomplished by closing offices and slashing salaries of state employes 25 per cent. Day laborers on Kansas state highways, working 8 to 12 days a month, earned $24.32 to $36.48. Recipients of old-age pensions in Kansas get an average of less than $9 a month.

"Of all the States in the Union, Kansas contributes the lowest proportion to the cost of operating schools—only 1.5 per cent as compared with 60 per cent in California, 30 per cent in New York, 28 per cent in Maine, 24 per cent in Michigan. Hundreds of Kansas schools are closed and others have been kept open only by cutting teachers' salaries to, in some cases, $25 a month. The State of Kansas has not utilized as a revenue taxation on the production of oil and gas, as have other States. Governor Landon is himself a wealthy oil man. He believes, theoretically, in collective bargaining, but his own properties are not unionized. In a labor dispute in June, 1934, he called out the National Guard. At Fort Scott, Kan., eight persons were seriously injured by tear gas and blackjacks when 300 people protested against inadequate relief. Miners in the 1st State district had their strike broken by Landon's troops."

The American League Against War and Fascism is not an entirely unprejudiced group. But it seems to have a fair understanding of the "Kansas miracle" of a balanced budget in times like these. Forty-seven other States might also have witnessed such a "miracle" if they had been content to do nothing for relief of their people.—Star-Telegram.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—In the new farm bill, the administration had to choose between the farmer and the consumer, and its decision was purely political.

Farmers are well organized and consumers are not. Hence, although both the White House and Secretary Wallace really are sympathetic toward the latter group and abhor the principle of scarcity production as well as its eventual political dangers, they just didn't dare urge the Wagner amendment which would have insured city families against food shortages under the new crop control-soil conservation program.

It's a mistake to blame the administration for anything more than failure to insist on the rights of one group as well as those of the other. The strange popular delusion that Secretary Wallace and Undersecretary Tugwell, rather than the farm leaders themselves, were the master minds behind the AAA program shouldn't be allowed to persist, now that there's a new program.

Every insider here knows that the most important fellow in the secret councils on new farm legislation is always President Ed O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation. AAA Administrator Chester Davis is more powerful in the farm administration than Wallace (Tugwell is almost completely out of the picture), and that is because Davis plays closely with O'Neal and has O'Neal's support.

When administration leaders obtained consent of O'Neal and other farm organization leaders to the soil program as a means of farm aid, they decided not to ask for anything else, fearing an agrarian revolt in favor of the export debenture or some other plan. Some of the so-called farm leaders are linked with middlemen and other special interests to which they have brought farmer support. But this is a campaign year and politicians dare not antagonize them.

Hence, when O'Neal strode from Roosevelt's office, demanding immediate Senate action on the bill, and expressed opposition to consumer-protection amendments, Wagner's amendment seemed a gone goose. It was defeated, 51 to 25.

Attempt will be made in the House to insert a similar amendment. But similar factors will operate and the amount of the national food supply probably will be left to administrative discretion in a new act which will cover all types of food instead of but a few, as under AAA.

The militant position taken by John L. Lewis at the United Mine Workers' convention has brought a flood of requests for his personal appearance before groups of workers over the country.

Organizers of industrial unions, beset by attempted inroads of crafts unions seeking their members, are especially eager for him. The United Rubber Workers claim to have added 4,000 members since Lewis addressed their meeting in Akron.

Attempts are being made by Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization to merge the three chief automobile workers' unions into one strong industrial union, but the ambitions of three existing sets of officers appear to be a hindrance to the committee's desire to make its first big drive in the automobile field.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Feb. 26 (AP)—Newspaper reports from Washington that relations between state and national democratic chiefdoms were harmonious around much speculation in capital circles. Indications that Roy Miller of Corpus Christi would head the Texas campaign forces and United States Senator Tom Connally lead the state's delegation to the national convention has aroused fear that should these appointments prevail it would lead to a party rift.

Reports current here before Myron Blalock, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, left for Washington to confer with national party heads were that friends of Governor Allred felt the governor, as titular head of the state party, should lead the Texas delegation to Philadelphia. There also was a feeling that a happier choice of campaign chairman could be made in view of Allred's pronounced opposition to Miller.

That interparty differences and factionalism may have been settled to the satisfaction of everyone was seen in the joint announcement of campaign plans by Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham, representing the national side of the party, and Blalock, representing Allred and the state executive committee.

Some significance, however, was attached to Blalock's remark: "On other matters all factions are represented."

There appeared to be little doubt from the start of negotiations that President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner would have the support of Texas democracy, but there was considerable agitation over who should lead the state campaign and head the convention delegation.

Harmony prevailed among leaders under a plan worked out for the Texas activities at the Philadelphia convention in June," one account stated.

"The plan provides that Senator Tom Connally is to be chairman of the delegation. Governor James V. Allred will be given the honor of presenting the name of Vice President Garner to the convention for renomination. The division of honors apparently suited all parties."

The state committee probably will be called early in April to map plans for the state convention. Several cities, including San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and Waco, have submitted invitations.

BORAH HAILS PUBLISHER AS RUNNING MATE

GANNETT WILL ENTER OHIO PRIMARY AS CANDIDATE

By Leonard B. Shubert.
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The forces of Senator Borah of Idaho rolled on toward the primary skirmish grounds of Ohio today, equipped with the required "second choice" for the republican presidential nomination.

Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, New York publisher of a chain of newspapers, will fight alongside the senate veteran for the 52 delegates the Buckeye state will send to the Cleveland convention.

Informed that his Ohio forces had selected Gannett, Borah said: "I have a very high opinion of Mr. Gannett. I think it is a most admirable choice."

Prior to the announcement at Columbus last night, there had not been a hint of the identity of the man who, as required by Ohio law, would be selected to receive the votes of any Ohio delegation pledged to Borah should the latter be blocked in convention. The "second choice" rule does not mean the selected person would be a vice-presidential candidate.

Gannett has been a strong supporter of the Idahoan. Last Saturday he issued a statement pointing to Borah as "the only man who can wage a successful campaign against a master politician and arouse the nation to action by vigorous, convincing appeal."

Representatives of John Knight, a Borah leader in Ohio, in announcing Gannett's acceptance, released a statement from him in which he said it would mean a "great sacrifice."

"However," said Gannett, "such a grave crisis confronts the nation that all who believe in our precious institutions, who wish to preserve the constitution and the integrity of the Supreme Court must be ready and willing to make any sacrifice."

At his winter home in Miami Beach, Fla., Gannett declared he had been persuaded to have his name on the ballot only after "a long talk with Senator Borah in which he convinced me of his deep sincerity and his determination to make a vigorous fight for the nomination."

The republican state central committee of Ohio was in session today to decide whether it will support some potential candidate. It must do either that or follow its original plan of putting an unstructured delegation in the field.

While the republican pre-convention activity speeded up, the G. O. P. was assailed in Chicago by Secretary Ickes as "cold blooded exploiters" of the negro.

In an address before the Chicago Urban League, an inter-racial organization to aid negroes, Ickes declared:

"During political campaigns the republicans were the solicitous friends of the race but between campaigns it was a different matter, then the economic exploiter could have his will with the negro."

Nye Threatens Filibuster to Force Passage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A threat of a filibuster "if necessary" to force consideration this session of a bill to curb war profits was voiced today by Senator Nye (R., N. D.).

The bill, devised by Nye's munitions committee, provides stiff taxes on earnings and virtual confiscation of individual income above $10,000 a year in time of war.

"If a tax bill comes before this session," Nye told reporters, "we will attempt to attach it to that as an amendment." And I think we have the votes.

"But if no tax bill comes, we will, if necessary, conduct what is called a filibuster against an appropriation bill to force consideration of the war profits bill."

At present the war profits bill is being considered by a finance subcommittee headed by Senator Connally (D., Tex.), one of Nye's bitterest opponents in the conduct of recent phases of the munitions investigation.

However, Nye said he had been assured the subcommittee was considering the bill and he expressed confidence it would be reported out.

Asylum Prospect Unnerves 'Crozy' Girl of Anadarko

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Emma Willis was blue today because a jury had called her insane.

The 18-year-old high school girl who slew her father with a shotgun showed more foreboding over the prospect of confinement in an institution than joy that she had acquitted her of a murder charge.

Her characteristic stolidness was gone. Her manner was dejected.

"Yeah, but they've called me crazy," she said to her exuberant relatives who congratulated her on her acquittal. "And I don't feel any different than I did before they said I was insane. I want to go home. I don't want to go to a hospital."

The jury of ten farmers and two businessmen stipulated in their verdict of "Not guilty by reason of insanity" that she should be sent to an institution for slaying her father, Iddis H. Willis, tenant farmer.

The prosecution asked for "the limit" penalty, which would have been execution on conviction of murder.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

Chapter XXIII

As long as Julia Craig lived she would never spend another hour such as the one which followed her entrance into that dark building with Dunphy at her side. The big Irishman had been full of consideration, but it was all too obvious that he regarded her with suspicion. He had watched Julia's every move, even during the ride in the taxi from the White Club.

"But what can they want me for?" she asked him nervously. "I don't know anything about it."

He grinned. "It don't do any good to tell me that, miss. You got to tell me to the captain and the prosecuting attorney."

"That was while they were in the taxi, before he had led her into a cluttered, dimly lit office where two men sat in a thick haze of cigar smoke. One was uniformed, thick-set and almost bald. The other was young and sharp-featured. As he turned his head to look at Julia he reminded her of some bird of prey suddenly regarding a field mouse.

"This is Julia Craig," Dunphy said, as if she were some insignificant object he had just taken from his pocket and tossed onto the table.

The police captain nodded. "Sorry to trouble you, Miss Craig, but Mr. Buchen, our prosecuting attorney, has some questions to ask you."

The young man smiled, but there was nothing in his smile which appealed to Julia as she obeyed his order—it was hardly an invitation to sit down.

You were aboard George Woodford's yacht when it cruised up to his hunting lodge on Evergreen Island, weren't you, Miss Craig?"

"Yes, but—"

"Please," he held up a meticulously manicured hand. "Just answer my questions, Miss Craig. It will be easier—quicker. Now," he stopped a moment, giving her that false smile again, "now, you saw Royal Nesbitt."

"Of course."

"When was the last time you saw him?"

"The evening before he—"

"Was murdered?" asked Buchen quickly.

"I—I wasn't going to say that."

Again Buchen's smile. "Of course not. What was you going to say?"

"I was with him the evening before he disappeared from the yacht. They told me he'd stopped off at Condon to take the plane into town."

"Why?"

"There'd been a hunting accident. Mr. Nesbitt was shot in the shoulder, and—"

"Jult stopped, confused and helpless. She grew suddenly angry. "Why are you asking me all these questions? Why don't you ask Mr. Woodford? It was his yacht. Nesbitt was his guest, and—"

"I've already talked with George Woodford," said the prosecuting attorney. "In fact," his voice grew smooth, "it was he who suggested we talk with you."

Julia's mouth opened in astonishment. "Why did he suggest that? Why don't you talk with the rest? With Nash and Mrs. Joseph—"

"All in good time," interrupted the police captain. "Just now we wanted to see you."

"How long had you known Nesbitt? Before you made the yachting trip?"

"Yes," Julia answered—and then could have slit her own tongue.

"Indeed?" said Buchen, his eyes widening. "How long before?"

Julia bit her lip. Unwittingly she had opened the way for Amy to be dragged into this. And that mustn't happen. She'd had nothing to do with it, and if her name were brought in she might easily lose her job at the exclusive dress shop.

"Come on, Miss Craig. Answer the question. How long before this cruise had you known Nesbitt?"

"About a year."

"Ever go out with him, Miss Craig?"

Julia shook her head. "No—"

"That's curious. You knew him a year, yet you'd never been out with him. It was a business relationship, then?"

"No—it wasn't."

"No?" repeated Buchen. "Did he call on you, then, at your apartment?"

"Yes," Julia said quickly. "That's where I saw him."

The captain and prosecutor exchanged significant glances, as if to say, "Now we're getting somewhere!" Julia could feel little beads of perspiration on her forehead. Her hand trembled violently as she raised it to brush them away. The room seemed to be swaying.

"I can't stand this," she told them suddenly, her voice breaking. "It's not fair! It's not fair! I tell you I—"

There, there, Miss Craig. Just one more question, then that's all. Did anything happen at Evergreen Island that was at all curious? I mean, beyond the hunting accident?"

He talked with Woodford, Julia told herself. He knows about Payson. "Yes," she faltered. "A man tried to get into the radio room of the boat."

"Oh, yes. Who was he?"

"I—I don't know." She stood up uncertainly. "That's all, now?"

Buchen bowed slightly. "For the present, yes. But I must ask you to remain here as a material witness."

"You mean I—I have to stay in jail?" She looked from one to the other, horrified.

"It's not so bad," the police captain said. "I'll see that the matron, Mrs. Barton—"

"But isn't there any way you can fix it so I don't have to stay?"

Buchen nodded, told her that she might be released on bail. He named a figure which to Julia seemed fantastic.

"But I haven't that much money! I—I couldn't possibly raise it."

Mr. Buchen shrugged. The police captain bent over a paper on his desk. Then the door opened, and a black-garbed elderly woman entered. Julia felt the room whirling faster than ever. She knew that her knees were failing her—and then, quite suddenly, she knew nothing at all.

When she opened her eyes she lay on a strange, narrow bed in a small room which contained, besides, a bureau and a chair—and one small framed lithograph on the wall. She lay there numb in body and mind, too dazed to review the swift chain of events which had put her in this place, and too weary to think of getting out.

She looked at the door, surprised that it held no bars. But it was obviously heavy, and the lock was complicated. She looked at the knob and the door opened, and she saw the woman in black behind her was Tom Payson.

"Julia!" He hurried to the side of the bed and lifted her to a sitting posture. "Julia, I just now heard what happened, and came down at once. Let's get out of here as quickly as you can manage."

She looked at him vaguely. "I can't, Tom. They're—they're holding me as a material witness. I think they called it."

"But I've put up bail. You're free to leave. All you need do is be available."

"Tom, you can't do that," Julia protested.

"But I have done it! Come on, Julia. I've my car outside."

"But I was wordless all the way to the apartment, and Payson did not ask questions. He seemed to know that Julia had answered enough questions for one night. But he insisted on going upstairs with her. In the hall of Julia's floor they encountered Peter Kemp. His tie was awry and his eyes were wide with excitement. "Julia, I was just going down to see what had happened." He stopped, looked at Payson. "Is Miss Craig out on bail?"

Payson nodded. "It's a rotten trick. They had no right to take her down there like that, and she's no more a material witness than you are."

"That's Buchen. He's out to get somewhere politically in this town," Kemp turned to Julia again. "I'm going to defend you, Julia, if they try to point it at you."

"But look here," said Payson suddenly. "I was going to have my own lawyer handle it. She couldn't do better, you know. It's G. Williams Miller."

Peter Kemp looked at Julia. "It's—It's nice of you, Tom," Julia said. "But I've known Peter a long time, and I have confidence in him. Even more confidence than I'd have in your lawyer. She stopped, leaned wearily against the wall with her head in her hands. "Peter... do you think it really will be bad for me?"

KIDNAP LADDER FRAMED, BRUNO'S FRIENDS CLAIM

Governor Continues His Attack on Whited

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP)—The ladder allegedly used by Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Lindbergh kidnap-slaying held the center of the stage today in efforts of private investigators to prove the crime has not been completely solved.

From an authoritative source it was learned two investigators have asserted "proof" that part of the evidence linking the condemned Hauptmann to the ladder was "framed," and that a report of this will be made shortly to Governor Harold G. Hoffman.

The same source said the investigators claimed they were able to show through violet ray tests, that four nail holes in joists in Hauptmann's Bronx attic—holes which the state contended matched four holes in "rail 16" of the ladder—were made about the time of Hauptmann's arrest.

The governor himself continued his attack on the testimony of Mildard Whited, Sourland lumberjack, one of the chief identification witnesses against Hauptmann. Whited was questioned Saturday by the governor, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr. of Hunterdon county, and Hauptmann's chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher.

In New York last night the governor made public excerpts from Whited's examination, which he submitted as "proof" that Whited was promised part of the reward ($25,000 offered by the state) if he identified Hauptmann, and that he was shown a number of photographs upon different occasions before he went to New York.

Whited was the sole identification witness at the Bronx extradition proceedings, and testified at the trial he saw Hauptmann prowling in the woods near the Lindbergh estate shortly before March 1, 1932, the date Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's son was kidnaped.

BRING YOUR OWN GUTTER

REIDSVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Municipal Judge E. H. Wren took legal cognizance of the premise that a ditch might be a place of concealment rather than a "public" place and freed Cleve Durham, 21, who had been arrested and charged with "public drunkenness." He had been arrested in a ditch.

The history of Portsmouth, Va., dates back to Bacon's rebellion in 1676; the city itself was founded in 1752.

Attack Victim Dies at Mangum

MANGUM, Okla., Feb. 27 (AP)—The second victim of a brutal beating which resulted in the shooting down of a negro fugitive was dead today.

Mrs. Alice Wilson, 31, who had not regained consciousness since the beating last Thursday, died last night. Her five-year-old daughter, Alice Othello, died a few hours after Willie Jones, Texas negro ex-convict, was killed by shotgun fire from a posse.

Negro friends of the slain man said he had admitted striking the girl over the head with a skillet and beating Mrs. Wilson with a sharp hoe.

Officers who called a posse of citizens into swift action said robbery was the motive for the attack.

CONFEDERATE DIES

MARIETTA, Ga., Feb. 27 (AP)—General J. Colton Lynes, 91, prominent in military and educational circles of the south for many years, died last night after a brief illness. He joined the confederate army at the age of 16 and fought in ten major battles in Virginia and South Carolina.

TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN HIT BY EPIDEMICS

SCHOOLS OVER STATE ARE FORCED TO CLOSE

DALLAS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Thousands of Texas school children were under the watchful eyes of physicians today as one of the worst epidemics of communicable diseases in recent years spread over the state.

New cases of colds, mumps, scarlet fever, measles, influenza and pneumonia increased rapidly and the death toll was reported high in some places. Many schools were closed as pupils and teachers were stricken.

Nine deaths from spinal meningitis were reported in the Texas area before physicians expressed belief danger of a further spread of the disease was curbed. Schools, churches, theaters and other public places have been closed in that section several days.

Ahlens reported seven deaths from pneumonia and influenza and more than 1,000 pupils were absent from school there. Many of them were ill and others remained at home as a precaution.

A majority of schools in Jefferson county were closed after the percentage of illness increased from 5 to 18 per cent of the enrollment of 10,000 yesterday. Many Port Arthur teachers were stricken and substitute teachers were not available.

More than 100 pupils and eight teachers were ill at Grand Saline and the school was ordered closed indefinitely.

Thousands of absences were reported at Houston schools because of influenza.

Health officers at Dallas said there was no reason for alarm, although around 3,000 pupils were absent from school and many cases of colds, mumps, measles, scarlet fever and influenza were reported.

Physicians at Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston and the Longview area of East Texas reported epidemics in those sections were under control.

Father of Young Slayer Killed in Restaurant Fall

FORT WORTH, Feb. 27 (AP)—E. A. Oakes Sr. died in a hospital here today of injuries received last night when he fell down a stairway at a coffee shop. He suffered a fractured skull in the fall.

According to Mrs. Maude Rainey, proprietor of the coffee shop, Oakes entered the place and without speaking, opened a door that leads to the basement stairway. After hearing a noise she found him at the end of the stairway in the basement.

Oakes was the father of R. A. Oakes Jr., 19, who fatally shot Miss Eleanor M. Robinson near the San Angelo airport and then killed himself. He witnessed the shooting of Miss Robinson.

The hand of an Indian chief, cut off by an Indian Texas Ranger in a battle years ago, will be displayed at the Texas Rangers' exhibit during the state's centennial this year.

COMPOSER OF STATE SONG IS SUBJECT FOR CLUB PROGRAM

TEXAS MUSIC IS HEARD BY TREBLE CLEF

GUESTS ARE PRESENT WITH MEMBERS AT TEA

Life and works of William J. Marsh, composer of Texas' state song, were reviewed for members and guests of Treble Clef club at the meeting yesterday in city club rooms. The program was part of a Centennial year course on Texas musicians.

Mrs. Alex Schneider acted as program leader and sketched the life of Marsh, who was born and educated in England, but whose mother was a Texan and who has composed all his songs since he moved to Fort Worth in 1904. He won recognition after his "Texas, Our Texas" was adopted as the state song, and he is now one of the most widely known composers in the state.

Personal meetings with Marsh were recalled by some of the members, who said that he was willing to talk incessantly of music, and that he gives hours of time to playing in several Fort Worth churches, directing civil and school choruses, and teaching promising youngsters who are unable to pay for music lessons.

Mrs. J. W. Garman led the group in singing "Texas, Our Texas," with Mrs. Walter Stein, club pianist, accompanying. Other compositions of Marsh heard were "Chinita," a Spanish serenade sung by Mrs. A. N. Dilley with Mrs. Bob McCoy as accompanist; "Canterbury Bells," and "Memories," sung by Mrs. W. A. Bratton.

The program also included a piano solo. When Silver Moonbeams, by Oscar Fox, another Texas, played by Mrs. Stein; the "Last Hope," Gottschalk, a piano solo by Miss Jimma Searcy; and a trio, "Nocturne, Prothero," by Mrs. Garman. Mrs. Dave Dilley also sang "Dust-Storm King," composed by a cousin residing in western Oklahoma.

Cherry pie and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Horner, Mrs. W. L. Brummett, and Miss Evelyn Shanklin, to the following members and guests:

Mrs. W. E. Fatheree, Clyde Fatheree, Walter Wanner, Harry Lyman, E. N. Donnell, C. C. Dodd, Jerry Hoare, Sam Irwin, Fred Cullum, McWilliams, Tom Rose, Raymond Harrah, Clifford Braly; Misses Althea Ellison, Stella Linsler, Lorene Bastion; Mrs. Louise Darnell of Sweetwater, and those on program.

A cherry motif was used for programs, the guest book, and appointments for the refreshment course.

ONE-ACT PLAY WILL BE GIVEN BY H. D. CLUB

Benefit Performance Planned After Preview

Amusement for both audience and cast was furnished by the one-act play "The Catalogue," presented at a meeting of Hopkins Home Demonstration club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. I. Davis.

Admission for the supper and entertainment will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children between the ages of 6 and 12. Funds received will send a club delegate to the state short course at A. & M. college this summer.

During the business session Tuesday, Mrs. Opal Franklin, parliamentarian, read a list of by-laws to be voted on. With a few minor revisions the laws were adopted. A list of entries for the Amarillo meat show was made by the exhibit chairman, Mrs. E. F. Vanderburg.

Members present were Mmes. Davis, C. P. Couts, J. D. Campbell, S. J. Fleming, B. V. Brummett, Jim Hopkins, Ralph Manley, G. Pinnell, Vanderburg, Franklin, Robert Brown, and Miss Faye Davis.

CENTENNIAL IS AGAIN SUBJECT OF CLUB STUDY

Monuments in State Are Described in Paper

Continuing a Texas Centennial theme chosen for this month in El Progresso club, a program was given under leadership of Mrs. W. Purviance Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Dodson.

Mrs. Claude Ledrick read a paper prepared by Mrs. John K. Sweet, member who is out of town this winter on Monuments of Texas' Past. She described monuments, historic towns and landmarks, and early forts.

As an outstanding monument she described that to the old trail drivers, four historic panels picturing the life of the trail, executed by Gutzon Borglum in San Antonio. It is 33 feet high, with figures of horses and riders 16 feet high.

Another is the monument to heroes of the Alamo, which stands at the entrance to the state house in Austin. Names of all who fell in the Alamo are inscribed on a bronze monument, the Sydney Smith memorial on the state fair grounds at Dallas, created by Clyde Chandler, was mentioned also.

The paper discussed forts built during frontier days by the federal government from the mouth of the Rio Grande across 445 miles to Fort Clark. Forts Brown, McIntosh, Duncan, Clark, and Ringgold barracks were maintained, each with a small garrison.

Mrs. Purviance spoke on "The Present and Permanent Value of the Centennial." She stated that the celebration grew out of an advertising convention in 1923, when first steps were taken.

Historical in nature, the exposition is designed to show visitors the state's progress for 100 years, she said. It will be international in character, typical of the six flags which have ruled the state.

"It is to be a great patriotic celebration, which calls for burial of sectarianism and means that every one of every creed and belief must work together for its success. It is something sacred in the history of the Lone Star state. It should inspire every native Texan and every Texan by adoption," she concluded.

At the close of the program Mrs. C. T. Hunkapiller assisted Mrs. Dodson in pouring tea for Mmes. Chas. Tint, J. M. McDonald, Purviance, A. G. Surratt, Carson Loftus, T. D. Howard, W. R. Ewing, Ledrick, John Andrews, P. C. Ledrick, George Waldstad, James Todd, C. P. Buckler, and Miss Irene Irvine.

Miss Irvine, a guest from Business and Professions Women's club, spoke on the safety crusade sponsored by her club. She stated that 35.31 per cent of motorists drive too fast, and said if the present auto death rate is continued, one in every 20 persons now living will be killed in the next five years. She urged care in driving.

This was one project of pupils at Horace Mann school in a Centennial unit which is being carried out in all grades. The other fourth grade room, taught by Mrs. Jennette Craft, has recently written to chambers of commerce in leading cities of Texas, asking information on products, industries, and business in various parts of the state.

Projects in all grades include a Texas hall of fame, news bulletins issued to all the pupils on Centennial activity, and study of the lives of Texas heroes. At the close of the year, since the Centennial marks the birthday of Texas, pupils will present a gift to the state.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. Insist on Doan's Pills.

Texas Songs Sent To State Teachers

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—"Songs Texas Sings," a 32-page book, is being sent this week to the public school teachers of Texas by the school division of the state department of education for Texas Centennial celebrations.

This book has been designed to assist teachers in preparing school and community programs planned for Centennial activities. The 28 songs contained in the book were chosen after conferences with music supervisors in Texas schools. The collection is representative not only of the songs of and about Texas, but also those of the nation and the south best known to Texas.

Negro spirituals, patriotic airs, and regional and cowboy songs are included in the book. John Lomax, compiler of Texas

JAP FASCISM IS FORESEEN BY RUSSIANS

MILITARISTS TO RULE NATION, WRITES COMMUNIST

By JOHN LLOYD Associated Press Foreign Staff MOSCOW, Feb. 27. (AP)—In Soviet Russia's first official reaction to the Tokyo military uprising, the authoritative commentator Karl Radek today predicted the attempted coup would mean "a further shift toward military fascism" in Japan, with possible serious consequences in foreign policy.

Radek, writing in the government newspaper Izvestia, expressed the belief the Japanese plotters "were convinced force would not be used against them, and therefore the result will be a further shift toward military fascism."

"It may have very serious consequences in Japan's foreign policy," he added.

The recent series of sanguinary conflicts on the borders of Soviet-occupied Manchoukuo have brought the foreign policies of Russia into sharp conflict.

Tokyo-Moscow negotiations for a mixed commission to inquire into the latest clash, in which fifteen soldiers reportedly were slain last Jan. 30, were proceeding in satisfactory fashion at the time of the Japanese revolt.

But Moscow observers speculated today on whether these negotiations might now continue, in the light of developments.

BASEBALL

It was intimated yesterday afternoon when this writer met for a long "pov-wow" with the "bird bosses." The 1936 club is going to be even stronger than last year's team which took third money in the Denver Post tournament.

The management would not re-choose the names of prospective candidates for the team but said they would give out the information when the players arrived in Pampa. Many of last year's stars will, of course, be available.

Practice will not begin until late in March or early in April. It has been agreed. Last year the players started limbering up early in March and progress was slow because of cold weather and dusts.

Tentative date for opening the season is April 12, with the Ponca City Angels providing the opposition. The Oklahoma nine still remembers the team but said they would give out the information when the players arrived in Pampa. Many of last year's stars will, of course, be available.

Practice will not begin until late in March or early in April. It has been agreed. Last year the players started limbering up early in March and progress was slow because of cold weather and dusts.

Tentative date for opening the season is April 12, with the Ponca City Angels providing the opposition. The Oklahoma nine still remembers the team but said they would give out the information when the players arrived in Pampa. Many of last year's stars will, of course, be available.

50 CALVES TO BE ENTERED IN GROOM'S SHOW

Animals To Be Sent From 5 Nearby Counties

Fifty or more calves fed by 4-H club boys and students of vocational agriculture are expected to be entered in the second Groom Fat Stock show to be held March 6 and 7, according to P. B. Farley, secretary. These calves will come from Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Armstrong, and Roberts counties.

The business men of Groom are doubling the prize money of last year, bringing the prize money up to a total of $125, to which the American Hereford Breeders association have added $17 to be applied on prizes of which the animals show a preponderance of Hereford blood.

Calves will be entered and weighed on the morning of March 6 and will remain until 3 p. m. March 7. Judging will begin on March 7 promptly at 9:30 a. m. There will be no entrance charge to boys entering calves; however, the entries will be required to furnish their own bedding.

Special rates are being offered by the hotels to boys entering calves in the show. Groom business men are giving a barbecue at noon Friday and special entertainment for the boys will be given Friday night.

M. P. Leaming, county agent of Carson county, will superintend the show. Roy Snyder, meat specialist of the Extension Service at Texas A. & M. college, will judge.

Any angler who has hooked one will tell you a swordfish is every inch a fighter. These remarkable pictures of a strike made on the famous fishing grounds off New Zealand give you an idea of how they fight to free themselves from the hook. At top a huge six-foot-er hurls himself clear of the churned up water in an effort to escape. Below, its swirling wake belies the appearance of surrender.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, THE NEWS: We wish to express our appreciation of the assistance, suggestions and the courtesy you have extended to our club in our efforts to arouse Pampans on the local and national traffic situation.

We fully comprehend that were it possible your paper would devote much more space in arousing the individual from his indifference and his sluggishness toward the mounting toll of automobile fatalities, even this club would have devoted more time and effort to the same cause.

We would like to make the 'Campaign' of a years duration but cannot. However, we as individuals and as an organization pledge our support to the City and to your paper in this work and hope that our small contribution will have some effect.

Sincerely, Business and Professional Women's Club, IRENE IRVINE, Chairman, Safety Committee.

ARMY'S CHIEF FLAYS HAGOOD FOR OUTBURST

LETTER MADE PUBLIC BY DEPARTMENT OF WAR

WASHINGTON, Fe. 27. (AP)—The row over Major General Johnson Hagood developed today into a fierce free-for-all, with the army's high command assailing him for "wildcatting" remarks and republicans demanding a sweeping senatorial inquiry in behalf of "free speech."

At the same time, powerful democrats moved for a quick settlement of the explosive controversy, which started when Hagood was suspended from active command for telling a house subcommittee that it was "almost impossible" to get WPA's "stage money" for "anything worthwhile."

Senator Byrnes, democrat, and Chairman McEwain, democratic chairman of the house military affairs committee, both of whom hail from Hagood's home state of South Carolina, arranged a conference with Secretary of War Dorn. Rep. Blanton (D. Tex.), vehement critic of the war department's punishment of the general, was expected to be present.

No one would predict the upshot of this row. Hagood's champions were striving to vindicate him completely, but there were hints of sentiment in the war department for further discipline, perhaps forcing him to retire permanently.

Breaking its "usual rule of silence," the war department made public a letter from General Malin Craig, chief of staff, to Secretary Dorn, declaring Hagood's record was "made by repeated examples of lack of self-control, irresponsible and intemperate statements."

General Hagood is an officer of higher professional and technical attainment, of brilliant intellect and great energy," Craig reported. "But he apparently feels that these endowments entitle him to express himself in a manner that would bring condign consequences on others."

"His remarks before the subcommittee can only be characterized as flippant in tone and entirely uncalled for an designed to bring ridicule and contempt upon civil agencies of the government."

A resolution introduced by Senator Metcalf (R. I.), calling for an inquiry into the Hagood incident, is expected to be discussed in the senate military committee tomorrow.

Snow Avalanche Buries Train; 4 Persons Missing

WALLACE, Idaho, Feb. 27. (AP)—Four missing persons were believed dead today, buried under tons of snow that roared down Coeur d'Alene mountain and swept a railroad passenger coach to the bottom of a debris littered cañon.

The avalanche slid down the mountainside at dusk yesterday and ripped the coach from the rear of a two-car branch line train.

The tragedy occurred about 200 miles east of Shoshone Pass in the Cascades where three persons were killed in a snowslide Sunday.

A rescue crew of 75 found two injured passengers in the wreckage of the splintered car, but the Look-out Summit station reported four persons were missing. The Summit operator said:

"Unlikely they will be found alive." The missing were: Thomas Byall, conductor, and F. A. McClean, brakeman, both of Missoula, and an unidentified man and woman, both passengers.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—The smart thing for the Garbo type of young woman will be culottes—those pleated, divided skirts that allow greater freedom to the outdoor girl.

They say one can't possibly tell whether a skirt is divided or not unless one sees somebody straddle a fence or get on a horse. The long pleats in front and back completely disguise the trouser-like effect. They are to be made of tweeds, worsteds, gaberdine, and other of the tougher fabrics.

(Note: Mary Plummer, who knows about these things, was writing a fashion story and I peeped over her shoulder).

There's also a new type of eyeglasses being eagerly sought by romantic actors and actresses. This is the invisible lens, which fits snugly under the lids and, so they say, is worn with astonishing comfort. It is practically impossible to tell if one is worn, and they never show in photographs. Actors who ordinarily are denied romantic roles (producers say eyeglasses detract from sex-appeal) assert the new lens will enhance their financial opportunities fifty per cent.

Wary of seeing the men get all the breaks, one night club operator is advertising a new "It" boy revue. There are four thousand (well, maybe not quite 4,000) "It" girl revues in New York but this is the only one that stresses the masculine angle. If nobody minds, I'll take the four thousand.

I want to go down to Kirklund Brothers and those other places again where the new fishing equipment is on display. The opening day is three months off but it's a sort of "pain-killer" to wander ga ga through the long displays of whippy rods, the luridly painted plugs, and vivid lithographs of perspiring anglers battling hard-fighting smallmouth black bass. That's why we piscators have it on everybody else. We get spring fever in February.

Peggy Wood is one actress who has a burning ambition to write. Such cravings aren't amiss in her case, for her father is a newspaperman, and she is married to J. V. A. Weaver, a whanging good fictionist himself.

Theodore Dreiser, who was repudiated by a Pennsylvania legislature a year or so ago at an "American Tragedy" trial, will see his famous two-volume novel whoop back on Broadway again—this time under a new name and presenting an entirely different idea of the celebrated case he fictionalized. It's to be known as "The Case of Clyde Griffith," after the ill-fated character in the novel, and it is the work of Erwin Piscator, who has already presented it on the continent.

This will be "An American Tragedy's" fourth excursion on Broadway—once as a novel, second as a play, third as a motion picture (which caused the author much lament and anguish), and now as an entirely new drama.

It's this way: When actress Nancy Hamilton wants to write a tune—she writes a tune. Several years ago she understudied Katharine Hepburn on Broadway in "The Warrior's Husband," and then caused consternation in Tin Pan Alley by writing and singing "I Hate the Spring." It was so good they put it in that show, "New Faces."

The first act of the North Carolina legislature of 1861 provided for "military aid to Virginia."

JAPAN'S CASE AGAINST CHINA IS WEAKENED

ULTIMATE DEFEAT OF REBELS FORESEEN BY CHINESE

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—The startling Tokyo military uprising threw an ominous cloud over immediate Sino-Japanese relations today, but Chinese sources foresaw a collapse of the rebellion and an eventual emergence of "common sense" rule.

With successful attainment of their primary objective—the blasting of Premier Keisuke Okada out of power—and we are counting on the expected to yield peacefully to the persuasions of their superiors and return to their commands.

Although the sensational events in the Japanese capital aroused some apprehension in Nanking, China's capital believed the military coup might prove a boon to China in the long run.

While official comment was not yet forthcoming, many government leaders expressed the opinion unofficially that if younger militarists succeeded in gaining ascendancy, Japan would be certain to adopt a more aggressive policy abroad for a time, adding to China's woes.

The representative view, however, was: "Such a group of radical militarists cannot long hold the reins of power, and we are counting on the common sense of the Japanese people ultimately to prevail."

Informed sources pointed out that the Tokyo developments weakened severely the Japanese army's case against China, since Japanese militarists heretofore had been unable to point to the Chinese government's alleged inability to maintain law and order within its borders as a pretext for aggression.

New Cold Wave Freezes North Central States

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Subzero returned to the north central states today and a new cold wave was forecast bringing heavy precipitation and high winds.

Residents of states threatened by floods which have caused several drownings and much property damage hoped the return of freezing weather might bring relief from ice jams and rising flood waters.

Another flood death, Ohio's first of the season, was reported from Newton Falls where Donald Musser, 12, was drowned in the Mahoning river. A Michigan woman died of a heart attack while bucking a blizzard at Gladstone.

Heavy snow falls paralyzed parts of northern Michigan, southern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. The mercury stood at 18 degrees above in Minneapolis at midnight with the forecast for zero. Bismarck, N. D., reported -6 and Dickinson, N. D., -8. Chicago had 26.

After unofficial estimates of $1,500,000 damage in California, flood waters were reported receding. Many rivers continued to overflow in Indiana and Ohio, where roads were closed and many reported fleeing from their homes.

Formal Opening Of Funeral Home To Be Tomorrow

The Charlie Duenkel funeral home has a door-bell at the front entrance, but the management does not want patrons and visitors to use it, especially tomorrow and Saturday when the formal opening will be held. Carnations will be given all women visitors. Visitors will be welcomed all day, and they may come early or late both days.

Mr. and Mrs. Duenkel and Charlie Johnson will show visitors through the new establishment. The lower floor of the Duenkel home is devoted entirely to the funeral home. Recently, the owners remodeled the house, papered the walls with appropriate designs. Now, the entrance leads into a waiting and reception room which has a fireplace. Adjoining this large room on the north is the display room which contains an attractive display of caskets. West of the reception room is the embalming room which is equipped with the most modern implements and appliances.

Mr. Duenkel came to Gray county in 1905 and lived on a farm west of the city. He moved with his parents to Pampa in 1916. He was graduated from Pampa high school after passing four years of football and basketball.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hawkins are the parents of a son, born Tuesday at Worley hospital. He weighed 9 pounds 10 ounces and has been named Bobby Mike.

Frank Keim is able to be out again, hobbling on a crutch. He suffered a broken leg some time ago.

division, to take part in the councils on the government.

The prince from 1930 to 1932, served as a captain in the third infantry regiment to which the majority of the rebels belong. He is a major in command of a battalion.

The agreement with the rebels was understood to be confined to their promise to return to their regimental barracks at Asahi, leaving the question of their punishment for future negotiation.

An authority stated that the rebels had agreed to dissolve their insurrectionary organization and to submit at once to the order of their regimental commanders. They must lack in barracks by 8 a. m. Friday and, in the meantime, are permitted to retain their arms.

Warships Draw Up.

Among the first to leave were said to be those who had occupied the residence of the late Premier Okada whom they assassinated in their sudden uprising Wednesday before dawn.

Loyal army forces ruled the imperial capital under martial law, and warships of the imperial navy steamed into positions to help enforce public order.

The insurgents were enclosed in a cord of soldiers under the command of Lieutenant General Kashi, enforcing martial law in the name of the emperor, who was himself seeking a new government.

The second fleet, in command of Vice-Admiral Viscount Takayoshi Kato, arrived at Osaka Bay, on the southern end of the main island. The first fleet was expected to arrive tonight at the Yokosuka naval base, at the mouth of Tokyo Bay.

Curious crowds thronged to the waterfront at Shibaura, a suburb of Tokyo, to gaze at the first destroyers which arrived there yesterday from the Yokosuka base.

Surviving leaders of the empire, members of the cabinet of the assassinated Premier Keisuke Okada, supreme war councilors and other high militarists convened at Hirohito's palace to select a new premier.

Right Wing Favored.

Speculation over the identity of the next premier's nominee, most frequently Baron Kichiro Hirayama, vice-president of the privy council and noted head of fascist organizations, and former War Minister Gen. Sadao Araki.

A belief grew in political circles that the emperor's advisers would urge the right wing elements to be given a chance to form a cabinet, to see whether they would be able to conduct the government.

Even liberal political sources shared this belief, confident that such an experiment would produce a strong public reaction to the left, permitting early restoration of a normal government.

The search by princes, ministers, and the highest militarists for a successor to Okada continued through the day, the conference declaring they intended to remain in the palace until a new regime was named.

The fact that Admiral Kanji Kato, retired former chief of the navy general staff, joined the deliberations this afternoon with the supreme war council was interpreted to mean ultra-nationalist views were prevailing, in strong support of Kato, a leader of the ultra-patriotic faction of the navy.

Takahashi Dies.

A brief announcement disclosed that the late Premier Okada was buried with simple rites, conducted by two of his secretaries, and with no distinguished persons present. The place and time of the funeral were not mentioned.

The government also announced this afternoon that Finance Minister Komeki Takahashi died after being attacked yesterday, bringing the total number of government leaders dead to four.

The details of the premier's death were finally disclosed. The insurgents rushed into his residence about 5 a. m. yesterday, overpowered the police guard, invaded the bedroom and shot Okada.

He was able to flee and reached the garden of his home, but already wounded mortally, he fell in the snow and died.

Houston Park of Kilgore arrived in Pampa yesterday to visit friends and relatives.

Mrs. P. E. Haymes was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital this morning.

WALLACE

of Los Angeles county requires a fee of only $5.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 27. (AP)—Mae West's blue eyes snapped with indignation today when she was told of Frank Wallace's latest legal maneuver involving her.

"Publicity," she sniffed. "The guy's trying to cash in again. I got a new picture out, and he's pulling the same stunt he pulled the last time one was released."

Her first question, when informed of the action, was: "Wait a minute, sweetheart—which Frank Wallace is it? There are three of 'em who bobbed up before you, know, along with six other guys who claimed to have married me."

She said, suit or no suit, she would continue to deny Wallace is her husband.

unemployed men are charges against the federal treasury, and that states have no responsibility. This assumption would eventually change our form of government. . . . The federal government is providing work for 140,000 men and women in Texas at this time through WPA projects. The State is caring for 40,000 unemployables. Old age pensions will soon be available for thousands. There is a "forgotten list" or several thousand men who are unemployed and not eligible for WPA work. The WPA lists have been closed. What can 254 counties and 500 cities of Texas do? What is wrong with the self-government of our cities and counties? Are we ready to admit that democracy—"the people"—cannot cope with the situation? The answer is tremendously important.

Suit Is Begun

The suit of Alex Schneider vs. Dr. A. McClary et al for commission in the sale of a refinery several years ago was begun today in 31st district court.

Judgment of $20,000 for the plaintiff in a previous suit was reversed on appeal.

Eusie Turner of McLean was a business visitor in Pampa today.

C. C. Woodward was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital last night.

Mrs. Jimmie Davis of LeFors was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

Fred Cullum has returned from a business trip to Dallas.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27. (AP)—The market around noon settled into the dull rut that has characterized recent trading. Speculative interest was lacking and caution was noticed in the slight activity that was shown.

March appeared to be well liquidated and at noon held at 11.04, one point down from the opening and two points above yesterday's close. Spot interest has shifted to the May option and under some hedge selling that month sold off to 10 67 five points under yesterday's close.

where Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior is critically ill. Major Thomas Hurley said the shutdown came without preliminary warning.

In all of the half dozen hospitals nurses made their rounds through the early morning hours administering to patients by candle light or flashlight. Gas lights were used in the halls of the Masonic hospital.

Chief of Police L. T. Robey ordered all available officers on duty and two New Mexico state police ordered from the capital at Santa Fe, went on duty at the Rio Grande plant in that state.

Clay said pickets were warned to conduct the strike peacefully in the face of feverish efforts by the company to restore service with non-union workers.

Faced Destruction

The executive committee of the union in a prepared statement said in part:

"The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers last year went on a six-months strike here under the impression they would get some kind of an agreement.

"The company continued to discriminate against members in every form, and discharged them for union activities.

"Our company seems to be able to block every effort we made to get our case before the labor board. We felt it was our duty and privilege to take it upon ourselves to try to get a fair adjustment before our organization was destroyed."

Georgian Ejected From Hearing in Patents Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Miss Susan Lawrence Davis, a gray-haired woman of about 65 from Athens, Ala., was forcibly ejected by capital police today from a hearing of the house patents committee on revision of the copyright law.

She was hustled to a guard room in the new house office building and later released.

Rep. Carmichael (D. Ala.), who said the woman was a friend of his and claimed to be related to Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, said she sought to testify about infringement of a copyright on a history of the Ku Klux Klan she had written.

After guards had prevented her from moving up to the front of the caucus room where the hearing was being held, Miss Davis went to Carmichael's office and obtained a letter requesting that she be allowed to appear before the committee.

But when she returned and somewhat noisily demanded to be allowed to testify, a committee aid instructed police to remove her. Sergeant Frank Gann and Lamar Saxon, a plain-clothes man, shoved her through the door and offered to let her leave. When she protested stormily, they seized her by the arms and took her to the guard room.
