Campaign Reaches Climax With Wind-Up Speeches

Voter Turnout May Be Near 54 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1966 political campaign rolled into its final hours today with a strong statement from President Johnson accentuating Democratic fears of losses based on the white backlash issue.

The campaign roared to a close in some states and sputtered in others, where candidates were battling against the apathy which always holds down the turnout in off-year elections when the White House is not at stake.

On the basis of past mid-term elections, the turnout Tuesday should be in the neighborhood of 54 million — still a record for a non-presidential year. The weather forecast was favorable for most of the nation except in the north central states.

A weekend survey by United Press International indicated at least modest gains in the House, a virtual standoff in the Senate and a net gain of a few governorships for the Republicans.

Besides thousands of state and local officials, the voters will elect:

—All 435 members of the House of Representatives.

—Thirty-five senators to seats now held by 20 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

—Thirty-five governors to offices now held by 20 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

—Sixty-five senators and fifteen governors are holdovers whose jobs are not to be filled this year.

Although Sunday is usually a relatively inactive day for campaigners, the voters heard from Johnson, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and members of the Johnson Cabinet, Nixon talked mostly about the Viet Nam war and inflation.

The President's denunciation of white backlash — a protest against the pace of the movement for racial equality — came from Texas, where he is resting at his ranch after his Far Eastern trip and is awaiting surgery.

Against "Second-Raters" Johnson said the issue was dangerous because it threatened to give power to second-raters "whose only qualification is their ability to pander to other men's fears."

"But the answer to their bigotry is not more bigotry in return," he said. "We will solve nothing by resorting to racism — it poisons public life."

White backlash threatens to hurt Republicans and help Democrats in some of the Southern and border states, where many of the Democratic candidates are running against

Pleas Go On But Local Voters Have Minds Made Up

By TEX DEWEESE

The candidates were working feverishly right down to the deadline, but as election eve came around most of the voters had made up their minds about tomorrow's election.

What the candidates say or do tonight probably will have little or no effect on the decisions the electorate will make at tomorrow's general off-year election. Most minds are already made up.

In Gray County, approximately 9,600 persons are eligible to vote. Election observers guess all of the way from half to three-fourths of them will go to the polls.

The voting booths will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. County voters had a half dozen or so races claiming most of their attention.

They will make choices from the following:

Dee Miller or Bob Price for Congress, Sen. John Tower or Waggoner Carr for U.S. senator from Texas, Seibert Worley or Malout Abraham for state representative, W. C. Epperson or Clyde Organ for Pct. 2 county commissioner, Bill Watson or Ed Anderson for justice of the peace in Pct. 2, and Sherman R. Lenning or Bill Craig for county judge.

Gray county voters, along with the entire state, also will cast ballots for or against 16 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The Price-Miller contest seemed to be claiming the greatest interest with the Tower-Carr battle running a close second in Gray County.

Price is a Pampa rancher-businessman who has opposed administration policies in his campaigning, and Miller is an Amarillo attorney who has made no complaints about the administration in his campaign speeches.

Price sent the following telegram to The News this morning:

"I would like to thank the residents and surrounding

Polls Show Close Race For Senate

By KYLE THOMPSON

United Press International Election eve pleas to the electorate were prepared for tonight by the two main contenders for the U.S. Senate seat from Texas. Polls showed them running neck and neck.

Charges and counter charges from the camps of Republican Sen. John Tower and Democrat Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr filled the airwaves.

Both men were seeking to woo the estimated 1.7 million Texans who will vote. This is just over half of the total eligible voting force.

Last minute polls, and most pundits, say both Tower's chance for re-election and Carr's chances of unseating him were about even.

Although the Senate race has generated the most interest on a state-wide basis, there are a host of other contests, which could be more potentially important.

Expected Shoo-in

Gov. John Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith were both seeking their third terms. Most pundits granted them a shoo-in.

All of the state's congressmen are running for reelection and Republican hopes were strong that the 100 per cent Democratic solidarity of the House would be ended. The GOP had strong hopes for gaining at least two seats.

Also running were all state representatives, many senators and many of Connally's elective subordinates.

The GOP, hoping for a strong turnout for Tower in populous

Red China Warns That Viet Is Only One of a Series

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China warned today that the Viet Nam conflict is only one of a series of Asian wars in which the United States will become deeply and dangerously involved.

A commentary in the official Peking Peoples Daily said this was because the United States is determined to destroy "all national liberation movements and struggles in Asia—a move that will be countered on every front by China."

"A great Red power has already risen firmly on the mainland of China" and is the "revolutionary front and fortress for Asian peoples and world peoples in waging their peoples wars against American imperialism," the commentary said.

"Today's Asia will witness more and more peoples wars being waged," the commentary warned. "The American imperialists will encounter and become embroiled in more and more peoples wars in Asia in the coming days."

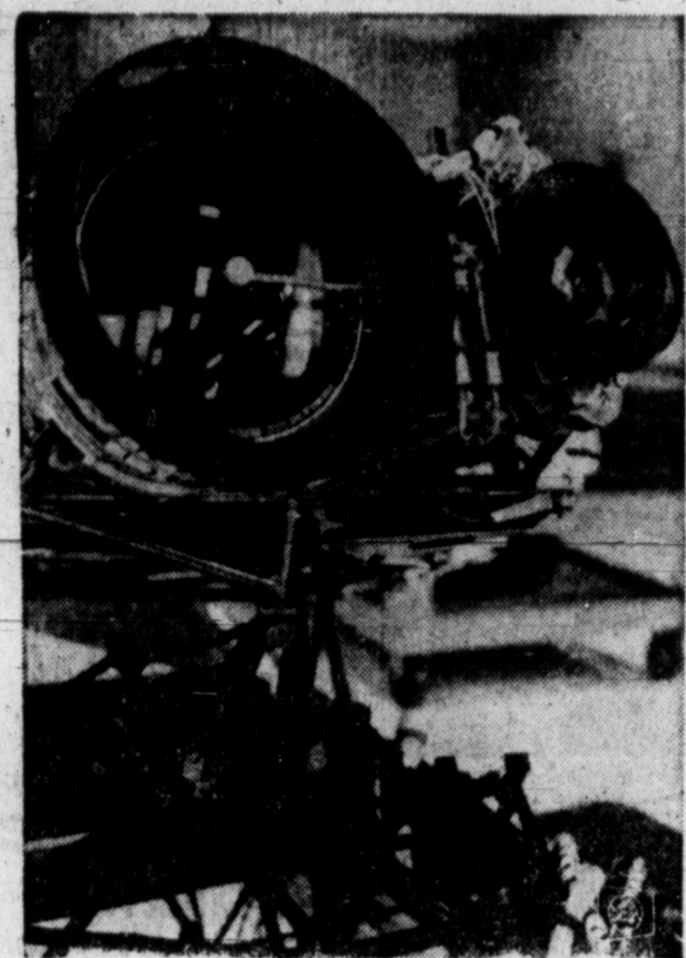

The commentary, broadcast by Peking radio, gave the most thorough Chinese assessment yet of the Manila summit conference and President Johnson's Pacific tour.

"All the numerous words that Johnson spoke, during his recent Asian trip," it said, "boiled down to the following three main points:

1. He is determined to destroy the national liberation movement of the Vietnamese people.

2. The American imperialists are determined to oppose and

Death Toll Near 200 in Florence

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Avalanches launched by torrential mountain rains joined the killer River Po and other rampaging waterways today in a death-dealing wave that battered northeastern Italy.

Crying and hungry Florentines dug with their bare hands through only mud trying to rescue irreplaceable art treasures in the receding aftermath of the Renaissance cradle's worst flooding in seven centuries. Some battled among themselves over muddy drinking water and threw garbage at the president of Italy.

The known death toll stood at 180 with hundreds more reported missing between the Alps and the churning Po. Avalanches of mud and water swamped dozens of mountain villages in the Alps and Dolomites.

At least 100 persons were dead and some 50,000 homeless and without food or drinking water in the northeast, the current target of the three-day catastrophe that has moved northward over the entire nation. More than 40 dead were reported in the province of Belluno, where several avalanches cut off dozens of villages from outside help.

The Po and at least five other rivers continued to swell above their banks and rampaged over thousands of acres of lowlands. Adriatic seawalls collapsed in many spots and seawater pounded the countryside.

More than 120,000 rescue workers held hope the improved weather forecast would spare dangerously exposed Venice and let the charging rivers recede. There were still fears a new storm would surpass the grim toll of the 1951 flood which swept the Po delta and claimed 273 lives.

At least 20 persons were known dead in Florence, where Florentines cursed and threw garbage Sunday at visiting Italian President Giuseppe Saragat. Angered at the slow pace at which food and relief supplies trickled in over flood-disrupted highways, they yelled, "We don't need you. We need water and bread."

Central Florence was still without electricity Sunday night and thousands attended an open Mass by candlelight on the steps of the silk-smear 13th Century Cathedral.

Pope Paul VI held special prayer services in Rome and ordered Vatican relief organizations to render all possible assistance.

Many of Florence's 440,000 inhabitants remained dependent on hastily disinfected flood water and some battled over buckets of it in the famed Piazza della Signoria. Emergency health measures were underway to avert an epidemic.

More than 200 American students from Stanford and Florida State universities left their Florence campuses today to help salvage brittle ancient manuscripts from the flooded National Archives in the Uffizi Gallery.

None of the students was hurt in the disaster and both campuses escaped damage.

Officials said most of Florence's art treasures were saved, and damage to priceless objects and monuments was severe but less than had been feared.

Neo-Nazi Party Wins Seven Seats

BOON (UPI) — A neo-Nazi political party today claimed seats in a German state legislature for the first time in seven years.

The two-year-old National Democratic Party (NDP) polled about seven per cent of the votes in Sunday's election in the state of Hesse. This was enough to give it seven of the 96 seats in the new state legislature.

The startling right-wing vote spurred Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democratic Union (CDU) to new efforts to patch its dispute with the Free Democrats, their coalition partners who walked out 11 days ago.

Since 1959 when the German Reich Party won 51 per cent of the vote and a single seat in the Rhineland-Palatinate Legislature, no neo-Nazi party had been able to win a place either in the federal parliament or in one of the state assemblies.

Leaders of the three traditional parliamentary parties expressed concern for the new right-wing breakthrough and called for increased vigilance.

"It would be too bad if the democratic parties tear each other down so much that a party which opposes the system itself can pick up votes," said Bruno Heck, executive director of Erhard's CDU.

Herbert Wehner, wartime Communist leader who is now chairman of the opposition Social Democratic Party, blamed the CDU for the gains. "The extremists gain from crises," he said. "The National Democratic poll is the direct result of the inability of the government parties in Bonn to deal with the issues."

Vessels Records Notice of Appeal With Court Clerk

Thomas Ray Vessels, convicted rapist under death penalty awaiting sentencing in Gray County Courthouse, shortly before noon today filed a handwritten motion of appeal for a new trial and a request for appointment of counsel.

The requests were made by Vessels in District Clerk Helen Sprinkle's office in Gray County Courthouse.

Vessels was taken to the clerk's office by Deputy Sheriff D. L. Day.

The notarized motions are for the record that Vessels has made the requests in his own handwriting and in person, it was stated.

Day said Vessels was acting on the advice of a Fort Worth attorney. While in the sheriff's office, Vessels made three collect long distance telephone calls.

Astronauts To Get Review Of Spacewalk

CAPE KENNY (UPI) — With two big space launches cleared from the schedule, Gemini 12 astronauts James Lovell and Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin today were expected to wind up preparations or their appointment in space Wednesday.

The astronauts faced a review of all aspects of their four-day rendezvous and spacewalk mission in a morning-long session with Project Gemini's top officials.

It will be the final Gemini spaceflight and launch teams have been giving the 108-foot space machine extra attention. Gemini's Titan 2 booster has been reported one of the most trouble-free of all.

Lovell and Aldrin took the day off Sunday while the countdown was proceeding toward the night launch of the Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft.

The busy shooting schedule was opened Thursday when a triple-barreled Titan 3C blasted into space carrying an unmanned Air Force Gemini capsule and four satellites. Like orbiter's Atlas-Agena launch rocket, the super Titan performed flawlessly.

The flight of Gemini 12 will be one of the project's business with a third orbit rendezvous planned, four dockings with an Agena target satellite, a long spacewalk by Aldrin and two open hatch "space stands" in addition, the pilots will have 14 experiments to perform.

The rookie astronaut's Extra Vehicular Activity (EVA) — the operations outside the capsule — is one of the major objectives of the flight and scientists hope it will answer the one problem Gemini has yet to resolve.

Walks in space have turned out to be far more difficult than once expected. Officials want to know just what man can and cannot do in space and Aldrin will try to find out.

Hindu Rioters Battle Police in New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A mob of 100,000 rioters led by naked Hindu holy men stormed through the streets today battling police and trying to storm parliament. Police opened fire killing at least 10 and wounding many more.

The mob, demonstrating against the slaughter of sacred cows, smashed police barricades and stormed All-India Radio.

They set fire to some of the furnishings in the building.

Some of the holy men jabbed at officers with the long three-pronged spears they carry as symbols of their station.

The rioters ignored a government decree issued only three days ago which extended the ban on slaughter of sacred cows to cover all of India's 17 states.

It already was in effect in 10 states.

The massive demonstration started peacefully with thousands of the faithful squatting in the street in front of parliament.

But as Hindu leaders harangued the crowd, a vanguard of holy men broke through a police cordon and rushed toward the iron gates of parliament.

The police, under orders to use as little force as necessary, made a half-hearted baton charge.

But the fighting escalated. The mob hurled sticks, stones, bricks—anything they could get their hands on. A number of policemen were injured.

Police retaliated with horse-mounted charges and tear gas attacks.

The mob then swirled through the streets on an orgy of destruction. They set fire to a number of automobiles.

The shooting broke out at the radio station where police lines were breached and some of the rioters entered the radio station's offices and set them afire before they were ousted.

Even as the outbreaks erupted, Premier Mrs. Indira Gandhi was accusing opposition parties of making a persistent effort to organize violence and bring about the breakdown of the machinery for law and order.

SAVING TIME AND MONEY is very important to every housewife. By purchasing the right kind of laundry equipment, like those pictured above, the housewife can find time to do her daily chores faster and more efficiently. Johnson Radio and TV offers the latest design in Norge laundry equipment.

Don't Lose Clothes, Use A Norge

With the advent on winter high winds whipping clothes, the chilling temperatures, makes washing days nothing less than sheer drudgery. Having to watch the children, load the car with heavy baskets of clothing, then carry them into the neighborhood laundry is almost too much for the husband, not to mention the wife. Think how easy it would be, how convenient to simply put them into your own Norge washer and dryer, ignore the snow, wind, and Texas dust. Johnson Radio and TV, 307 W. Foster, offers the latest in scientific cleaning equipment in the Norge line, one of the leaders of laundry products. Years from now you will be glad it's a Norge. Buying now will save you money. Johnson Radio and TV, is offering liberal trade in allowances.

Do you grow tired of clothes stacking higher and higher in the hamper? Become distraught when you work all morning assorting clothing, reach the laundry then discover you have to wait an hour or so before you can wash? By then, it's your husband's dinner time, and not enough time remains to finish your wash! So you leave them knowing you'll return later. Go home, prepare hubby's dinner, then rush back to your wash. But, holy laundry, your clothes have been stolen!

Don't laugh... It's happened! To my wife! Now we have our laundry equipment from Johnson Radio and TV, 307 W. Foster, MO 5-3361. It's much cheaper than we imagined.

Remember Johnson Radio and TV... Real nice folks!

Local Librarians To Attend Meet

Mrs. Barbara Cockrell, Lovett Memorial librarian, and Mrs. Winifred Crinklaw, assistant librarian, will attend the District I Texas Library Association meeting Saturday in Amarillo.

The association, which comprises 44 counties of the Panhandle area, will meet in Amarillo College Library with Mrs. Christian McGregor of Plainview, district chairman, presiding.

The Friends of the Bivins Memorial Library, Amarillo, with Miss Peggy Stack as chairman, will serve coffee during the registration from 9 to 10 a.m.

The theme of the one day meet is "An Opportunity and a Decision". William Gooch, librarian of Ector County Library, Odessa, will present slides and talk on proposed library laws for Texas. Mrs. Virginia Pauwels librarian of Hutchinson County Library, will speak on the Dana Cotton International Award which Hutchinson County Library won in 1966.

Mrs. Dorothy Pijan of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, will speak at the luncheon on children's reading habits and the Newbery Books.

In the afternoon, the librarians will have sectional meetings and the opportunity to discuss problems relating to their local libraries.

There has been a lack of enthusiasm in the local county judge, county commissioner and justice of the peace races.

Worley and Aoraham are expected to be in a close race for the 84th District state legislative post to be vacated by Grainger McIlhany who is the unopposed Democratic candidate for 31st District judge.

The results of the Senate race are said to hinge on voter turnout. Normally Republican districts usually have a higher turnout than normally Democratic areas. This year's race also has been clouded by support by liberal Democrats for Sen. Tower.

A low turnout was seen by many as a strong factor in Tower's favor and if a large number vote, the nod would probably go to Carr.

Margaret B. Hinds - BORGER - Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Blair Hinds, 77, will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in First Presbyterian Church here conducted by the Rev. Roy Byrd, pastor.

Mrs. Hinds, a resident in this area for 40 years, died at 4:45 a.m. Sunday in Highland General Hospital, Pampa.

She is survived by four sons, Clem of Liberal, Kan., Charles of Pampa, John M. and Robert B., both of Borger; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Coulter of Pampa, Mrs. Mae Roundtree and Mrs. Gene Scarbrough, both of Millbrea, Calif., Mrs. Rosalie Roeden of Van Nuys, Calif.; three sisters, Rose Sims and Eve Wagner of San Luis Obispo, Calif., Mary Knolton of Santa Barbara, Calif.; one brother, Charles Espino of Cambria, Calif.; 23 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Highland Park Cemetery under the direction of Minton Funeral Home, Borger.

Vera D. Mackey - McLEAN - Graveside rites for Mrs. Vera Dell Mackey will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Oakland Cemetery in Wynnewood, Okla.

Mrs. Mackey, who resided two miles east of McLean, was dead on arrival at the Shamrock Hospital Saturday night after suffering a heart attack in her home.

She was born Oct. 4, 1889, in Gustine and moved to McLean from Terrell in March, 1966. She was a retired rest home operator and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Worth Low of McLean, Tommie Mackey of Fatahana, Okla. and 12 grandchildren.

Arrangements are under the direction of the Lamb Funeral Home.

'Here's Love' In Final Rehearsals

Final rehearsals are in progress in Pampa High School for the A Cappella Choir's presentation of "Here's Love" on Nov. 12 and Nov. 17 in the high school auditorium.

"Here's Love" is a Meredith Wilson musical adaptation of the movie "Miracle on 34th Street", which involved the sanity trial of Kris Kringle (Paul Cantrell) who claims to be Santa Claus.

Doris Walker (Vicki Aultry) and Shelhamer (Terry Trice) hire Kris as the Macy's Santa Claus when the original Santa (Terry Ellis) arrives drunk minutes before the Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade.

Kris tries to convince Doris' daughter Susan (Kim Wilson) that he is the real Santa Claus and to restore her faith in some things which can not be seen. Fred Gaily (Jan Farley), who is an ex-Marine captain and an attorney, meets Susan and soon falls in love with Doris, who is a divorcee.

Mr. Sawyer (Billy Hawkins) is the store psychologist who commits Kris to a sanity hearing despite the objections of his secretary, Miss Crookshank (Jeanie Prock).

Fred decides to defend Kris, who is prosecuted by Thomas Mara (Filmore Merrill). Judge Martin Group (Fred Barber) must decide whether Kris is the real Santa Claus.

The choir will present night performances on Nov. 17-19. Tickets for the production cost $1 for students, $1.50 for adults and $2 for reserved seats. Girls' Choir and A Cappella Choir members are selling the tickets.

Climax

Democratic strategists have been concerned particularly that backlash would hurt Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., running against Charles H. Percy; former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, trying to unseat Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.; and Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a third term candidate in California against Republican Ronald Reagan. All of these pivotal states have been scenes of racial demonstrations.

Meany Denounces Backlash - AFL-CIO President George Meany also denounced the backlash issue in weekend radio network speeches.

Nixon, a tireless GOP campaigner and a target of Johnson's scorn last week, emphasized the war in Viet Nam and the cost of living in his Sunday appearances on two television networks.

He said Republicans wanted greater use of air and sea power, instead of more ground troops in Viet Nam, and a "maximum military force" to end the war soon instead of to react to Communist moves. He said there should be a cut of non-defense spending instead of a tax increase.

Jabbing at the administration's Great Society programs, Nixon said the nation "became great not because of what government did for the people but for what the people did for themselves."

Humphrey, in effect, set the same domestic goals in his appearance by saying that the administration was trying to avoid, not create, a welfare state by providing "a state of opportunity for all Americans." He appeared with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

UPI's pre-election survey indicated that the GOP should expect at least modest gains Tuesday.

The survey indicated that

Where To Vote

Theft Suspect Caught Quickly

A 19-year-old Pampa youth was arrested Sunday, just one hour after he allegedly stole two tire rims, an air gauge and two pairs of pliers from the Hardin and Roth Truck Stop on Highway 60.

An employe at the station said the youth drove into the station with a flat and fixed it himself. The employe said the youth then diverted his attention and put the articles in his car.

League Opposes Amendment No. 1 Reports Indicate Draft Forecast Down But Also Up

City Manager Jim White today released a statement by officials of the Texas Municipal League in opposition to Amendment No. 1 to be presented to voters at the polls tomorrow.

White said the League is opposed to the amendment on the grounds that it represents an unsound tax policy detrimental to cities and other political subdivisions of the state.

The amendment, if passed, would change the state constitution to permit land designated by the owner for agricultural use to be assessed for all tax purposes on consideration of only those factors relative to such use.

City Manager White said the League opposes the amendment on the following grounds:

- (1) Would result in a boom in land speculation by holding so-called agricultural land out of development at low tax value.
- (2) Would increase the cost of utility service as a result of the extra cost of providing service to undeveloped agricultural land.
- (3) Would cause an increase in litigation as a result of vague definitions and provisions of the amendment.

(4) Would create confusion in planning for orderly municipal development.

(5) Would increase probability of higher tax rates by holding the agricultural land at artificially depressed value.

DWIs Sentenced

Two persons charged driving while intoxicated received fines and jail sentences in county court Saturday.

Joel Douglas McElrath of Irving and Hazel Clark Scott, 1709 W. 18 were fined $50 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and placed on six months probation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's optimistic prediction report on the Viet Nam war is at odds with the views of an influential congressional authority on military affairs.

At the same time McNamara was forecasting this weekend that draft calls and the rate of the U.S. troop buildup in Viet Nam would diminish. Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., was telling a Biloxi, Miss., audience that reliable estimates indicate 750,000 U.S. troops might be needed.

McNamara told reporters at President Johnson's ranch in Texas Saturday that draft calls, running from 37,000 to 50,000 month the last four months, will probably average "less than 25,000" the next four months.

He also said the increase in U.S. forces in Viet Nam in 1967 "will be substantially less than this year," when the level of U.S. forces will have increased about 200,000 men.

About 365,000 U.S. troops are expected to be in Viet Nam by Dec. 31.

"I have worked hard in this campaign and have tried to see as many of you as possible.

I very much hope that you have decided to elect me as your Representative.

I have lived in this area all my life and feel that I know the problems of each of you... working man, housewife, farmer, rancher, educator, and businessman.

I won't be able to perform any miracles but I assure you that my only interest in this office is to be able to represent all of you fairly and to the best of my ability.

I appreciate the many nice things you have done for me these past months. Your civic clubs have been very nice to invite me to their meetings and I have enjoyed every bit of this campaign.

Many thanks!

"We have known Oofie Abraham of Canadian personally for a great many years and have worked with him on a number of area projects. We have the highest regard for his ability and his dedication to the high principles of public office.

We are going to have to cast our ballot for Oofie Abraham because we think he will make an outstanding state legislator, an able successor to Fritz Thompson of Borger who represented us well for the past couple of terms.

Oofie Abraham is a successful business man, and we feel like a lot of other people in that we are fortunate to have a man like him willing to take off from his business and represent us in Austin.

He has been active in the civic and political affairs of this area for many years and is widely known throughout the Panhandle. He knows our problems and will represent us well.

Dear Abby.... A Simple Letter Can Get 'Action'

DEAR ABBY: I have written to my congressman and to both my senators to protest a certain television program which I feel is a menace to our society. It shows a gang of young punks defying the law and attacking innocent people. And all of this on motorcycles to make it more daring and appealing to our teenagers. Please tell me, and other mothers who are trying to raise decent children how to combat this disgraceful type of television program.

Please don't use my name. I don't want my head blown off by these motorcycle bums.

SEATTLE
DEAR SEATTLE: The only way to effectively combat such programs is to write to the network which carries it and to state your objections vigorously. Write also to the sponsors stating you refuse to buy their products in protest. And send copies to the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D. C.

DEAR ABBY: I know this will sound crazy, but I'm serious. I flipped over a guy named Alan, but he doesn't care a thing about me. He has never dated me, but he comes over sometimes and we "make out." I guess the older generation called it necking.

Alan tells me not to get serious about him because he likes me only as a friend but he kisses me because he needs the practice for when the right girl comes along. I have tried to refuse to let him kiss me, but I always weaken when I see him. Can you help me?

WEAK
DEAR WEAK: No one can help a person who can't help himself. Next time he comes over, refuse to let him in. Practice makes perfect but this kind of practice is making a perfect fool of you.

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked, "How does a mother part with her child when an institution for the incurably handicapped is the only answer." Your reply, "She prays for the wisdom and strength to put aside all thoughts of herself and to consider only what is best for the child." Abby, you will never know the amount of good your one-sentence reply may accomplish.

I have six children and one of them is retarded. I couldn't bear the thought of "institutionalizing" him, although his unruly behavior became more and more a problem. Finally I reached the point where I had to face the facts. It became a matter of what was best for the majority, so off he went to a state training school. My prayers, work in the church and caring for the needs of my family saved me from a nervous breakdown. This was three years ago.

Today my son is happier than he has ever been. He comes home for visits and can hardly wait to get back to school. I only wish for his sake I had made that decision years before. The Lord never places a heavier burden on us than we can carry. Sincerely,

Halliburton Ladies Club Plans Party

A Christmas party with gift exchange was planned by members of Halliburton Ladies Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Boyd Stewart.

Mrs. Bob Burrows, president, conducted the business session at which final plans were made for preparing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family that will also receive a Christmas basket from the group.

The Christmas party planned will be held in the home of Mrs. Bob Burrows, 1621 Grape, on Dec. 1.

During the social hour games of Canasta and Wah-oo were enjoyed.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed in a Thanksgiving motif.

Mrs. Jim Miser, an out-going member, was presented a milk glass fruit salad bowl from the club.

Mrs. Hill Coffey, mother of Mrs. Stewart, was welcomed as a guest.

Members present included Mmes. Ed Fischer, L. C. Cable, Ira Hutchinson, Jim Miser, Billy Rape, Boyd Stewart, Gordon Pursley, Bob Burrows and Don Long.

Mrs. W. R. Woodward, leader of troop 11, reported their troop held a girl-planned party recently, complete with costumes, patrol selecting menus and girls setting "lights-out". Although this was a slumber party, otherwise known as a "no-sleep" party, with girls setting their own schedule, a reasonable amount of sleeping time was planned. Other leaders should make a note of this.

Mrs. Gordon Lyons, answer to a Girl Scout leader's prayer, is assistant for troop 11. She is helping the troop on their Dabblers badge and they all enjoy this one. Troop members are: Alisa Pettit, Diane Dominish, Lynn Richardson, Jana Rudick, Debbie Gray, Kathy Allen, Jane McCausland, Angela Woodward, Jane Boyd, Cynthia Cary, Laura McAnelly, Linda Pereboom and Rebecca P60te. "Challenge of Social Dependability" is the aim of troop 214. They recently planned and held a wagon-ride and weiner roast, complete with out-door meal, games, songs and hostess duties. Guests invited were Vickie Cobb, Debbie Fletcher, Diane Hatfield, Cindy Holloway, Lynn Hoyler and Linda Robertson.

Troop 214, a traveling troop, has covered a total of 856 miles, by train, car, bus, bicycle and mule-pulled wagon. Quite an achievement.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 7
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is one of those days and evenings which should be marked full of action, particularly concerning the interests you wish to have in your life for a considerable period of time. Take some time out to think deeply upon how far you have progressed to date.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) - Invest in new chronograph or other mechanism that can make your specialized work more precise. Less fatiguing. At least study them well. Regular cronometers will carry through with your ideas gladly.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) - Your finest benefits can come today from any social or entertainment avenues upon which you may tread. Be generous in entertaining others. Let close ties be conscious of your true affection for them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - Con- centrize on the best of being greatly harmonious within your own four walls, which is so very important a part of successful living. Gradually any mistakes you have made. Make changes that are vital.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) - A day for much activity, whether in business or visiting friends and relations, in sports, etc. Take the time to gather information that is important for you to have. Don't waste time with wrong persons.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) - Be alert to the opportunities afforded you by others to make more money by cooperating with them. It only requires a few minutes a practical. Rewards will be commensurate with the amount of energy an interest you put into enterprises.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) - You have an opportunity to assist others with their problems at some social affair and gain their gratitude. Be sure you dress in high fashion. Bring out your finest points. Forget about the lesser, and so will others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) - Practice to become perfect in some talent that can be used to replace one that is already advanced can then come quickly. You can assist a worthy individual best if you invest in his business plan. Finance and other resources.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 23) - Social, highly and being with those who admire you is the best method for progressing today and tonight. Entertaining some good friend at a special place or time. This helps to increase your circle of worth-while acquaintances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 23) - Start operating on whatever will make your position very easily. Pay bills and collect monies owed you. Use your intuition and know what mate aspects of you. Be generous and kind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) - Try a new approach to present outlook. Find new system to replace one that is already liquidated and brought in very poor returns. Talk to persons of different experience from yours. Get their formula for success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) - Getting into insurance and security matters seriously sees you bettering your financial position very easily. Pay bills and collect monies owed you. Use your intuition and know what mate aspects of you. Be generous and kind.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) - Much talk with regular patients, customers, etc. helps you cement better relations with everyone. Get new contracts. Make intelligent arrangements for the days ahead. Show ingenuity and ambition.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...
If you know your child is already a particular young child who will always be a success in life, you should be very precise, order, immaculate, condition, and very much concerned with minutiae. It behooves you first to learn to take care of the big issues, otherwise the dollars will be lost for the pennies throughout the lifetime. Ideal chart for the banker, big business, medicine, etc.

Hobart Baptist WMU Circles Have Joint Meet

A Royal Service program and general business session was conducted by Hobart Baptist WMS at the church Wednesday morning.

The program, "Baptist in Japan," was presented by the Rea-Conrad Circle with Mmes. Thomas Johnson, W. R. Brown, I. H. Woodward, O. L. Oliver and A. G. Purvis taking parts.

The business meeting was opened by those present singing the WMU Hymn and repeating the WMU Watchword.

Mrs. Charles Glascock read the prayer calendar and Mrs. W. R. Brown gave the prayer.

Mrs. Dale Butler, president, presided. Mrs. Cairi McAnally gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Bobby Marlar presented the treasurer's report.

Committee reports were heard and recommendations from the WMU Council were approved. The community-missions project was planned.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHET DI MAURO
United Press International
UNITED NATIONS (UPI) —
Nothing sends shock waves through the United Nations more than a Soviet veto.

At the 104th time in two decades a Soviet ambassador Friday raised his hand in the Security Council to vote "yet" on an issue involving peace and security.

This time the task of barring United Nations action fell on Nikolai Trofimovich Fedorenko.
At stake was a piece of paper known as Security Council Document No. S-5757. It spelled out the concern of the overwhelming majority of the members of the Security Council over the "deplorable" border incidents between Israel and Syria.

As an Arab ally, the Soviet Union felt the resolution unduly chastised Syria and refused to go along with the document that urged both sides "to refrain from any action that might increase tension in the area."

A majority of diplomats here, however, recognized that despite the Soviet veto, Israel and Syria have been duly warned not to tamper with the always delicate peace in the Middle East.

Thus barring any dangerous flareup in the area, the Mid-East issue is not expected to be brought before the Security Council again, soon for any prompt action.

What made the Soviet veto more shattering is that it came at a time when the United States and the Soviet Union were making progress on a major disarmament issue and had just concluded an agreement to start direct air passenger service between New York and Moscow.

The veto served adequate notice that there was still a long way to go before all the obstacles in the way of normal East-West relations could be expected to fade away.

It drove home the fact that when self-interest is at stake, the surface amity between East and West dissolves fast.

More significant, however, and perhaps more heartening to the world community here, is that one frosty Soviet veto in this day and age does not chill
East-West progress.

Despite the major differences that exist in the Middle East and over the war in Viet Nam, the United States and the Soviet Union are still moving ahead on talks to reach agreement on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

Television in Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The incredible and inspiring story of Dr. Louis Leakey and his 40-year search for the remains of earliest man in lost Africa were the basis of a weekend CBS-TV documentary that amounted to a scientific thriller.

The one-hour Saturday night broadcast, done by the National Geographic Society in association with David Wolper, and titled "Dr. Leakey and the Dawn of Man," reconstructed the anthropologist's eventual discovery with a rare combination of gentle civility and detective-story pursuit.

The greatly-pleasing urbanity and lack of self-consciousness of the British scientist were considerable assets to the hour.
They gave such a touch of sanity to the program that suddenly all the petty ambitions of people for status symbols and material things seemed absurd, trivial and absolutely sad by comparison.

"The scale of his quest defies the imagination," wrote the producer, Nicolas Noxon, in his sensitive and model-like script about Leakey's career of searching. And surely it does, for it involved nothing less than a quest for what and whom we evolved from.

As a student at Cambridge, Leakey stated his belief that the dawn of man was in Africa, not in Asia, as widely held. For years, as the CBS-TV hour patiently proved his theory, showed, he and his wife worked sometimes being the objects of ridicule.

When it was shown how, in 1959, his wife discovered the first traces of the oldest living remains ever found—eventually computed as almost two million years in age—the camera captured an excitement and geniueness infrequently seen on the home screen.

CBS-TV, in its mature and excellently informative press releases preceding the documentary, noted that Leakey, who was born in Kenya in 1903 and whose father was a missionary, grew up among Kikuyu tribesmen, "learning the ways of the wild."

At Cambridge, "he was allowed to continue his studies in Kikuyu as one of his modern languages, but had to teach Kikuyu to a language professor so the latter could properly examine him in the subject."

The further character of Dr.
Leakey was definitively etched in the broadcast when, asked why he and his wife go on and on with their work, he replied:
"It's highly satisfying—it's knowledge for knowledge sake."

The latest attempt to come up with another "Wizard of Oz" was offered by NBC-TV Sunday night: a 90-minute musical entitled "Alice Through the Looking Glass," based on the Lewis Carroll classic.

The opening and closing parts were rather noisy as Nanette Fabray, as the white queen, fussed around too broadly and gave me a headache. But I thought that in between there were plenty of enjoyable moments. Jack Palance was a standout in his son as the villain Jabberwock. And I also like Roy Castle as the jester, Judy Rolin in the title role, the Smothers Brothers as Tweedledum and Tweedledee, and Iris Adrian as the flower called Tiger Lily.

Others included Jimmy Durante, Agnes Moorehead, Robert Coope and Ricardo Montalban.
And future showings might get off to a much more pleasant start if Miss Fabray's big opening number were redone.

FUTURE OIL RIGS such as this drawing depicts, may make it possible to send roughnecks to the bottom of the ocean while searching for oil or natural gas. Using the above concept, one of several being considered, the rig would be enclosed in a watertight shell and lowered to the sea floor by inflatable rubber boots.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library Nov.
7, 1966 are:

"A Role in Manila" — Eugene Burdick; a collection of the best short stories by the co-author of "The Ugly American" and "Fail safe."

"A Girl Like I" — Anita Loos; autobiography of the life and views of the woman who was the original flapper, the social and literary handmaiden to an age, and the creator of that historic American institution, the dumb blonde.

"White Collar" — C. Wright
Mills; a book about the new middle classes in 20th century
USA — managers and teachers, secretaries and nurses, reception-ists and lawyers.

"Tomorrows Children" — Isaac

Asimov; 18 tales of fantasy and science fiction.

"The Rag Pickers" — H. Ver-nor Dixon; a novel about the human dramas and power struggles within the fiercely competitive world of high-fashion.

"Tree Frog" — Martin Woodhouse; a spy thriller with a background of the desert, science and aircraft (that's the "tree frog") a pilotless airplane too light to be picked up on radar.

"The Case of the Jumbo Sandwich" — Christopher Busk; Lu-dovic Travers serves up a three-decker treat for all crime tasters, prepared by a proved master of the genuine detective story.

"The Baron and the Mogul

Swords" — John Creasey; further adventures of the Baron, who comes into contact with one of a pair of Mogul Victory Swords, and he is assigned to find the missing sword.

"The Ghost Car" — Bill Knox;
everyone was after the plans of the legendary Ghost Car — and some would kill for them.
Set in England is this story filled with more thrills and danger for Detective Inspector Colin Thane and Inspector Phil Moss.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENTS — The Center will sponsor fall volleyball tournaments for both men and women in November. Women's volleyball tournament will be held on Nov. 21 and the men's tournament on Nov. 17. Both tournaments will be one nighters unless overabundance of teams enter. Entry fee is $5 per team and is due by Nov. 10 for men and Nov. 14 for women. Out-of-town teams are very welcome to enter. Send entry fees to P. O. Box 1161.

SWIM LESSONS — Parents attention is called toward the last swim session of 1966. These lessons will start Nov. 14 and last through Dec. 2. Classes offered will be beginners from 4-5 p.m. and swimmers from 5-6 p.m. All classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 meeting dates. Enrollment for any of these classes is now available by coming by the Center. Enrollment is free to Center members and $3 for non-members.

MEMBERSHIPS AVAILABLE — With these new swim lessons and basketball season approaching now would be a good time to purchase or renew your memberships at the Center. The Centers admission is by membership for the Center is self supporting by the goodness of the community. Many activities are available for participation such as shuffleboard, badminton, pool tables, ping pong, basketball, volleyball, swimming, swim lessons and many others.

If your family has more than two, the family membership plan is the best for you. A family membership includes all members of the immediate family (no in-laws or out-laws) for just one economical rate of $20 for a year or $12 for six months. Children under eight years of age must be carried on a family membership. Individual rates for persons eight years of age or older is only $8 per year or $5 for six months. You need only come by and fill out the simple application form and your membership cards will be issued immediately.

BATTLE OF THE BANDS — The big dance of the season was staged last Saturday night with some 450 teenagers participating along with three bands. The consensus of the young people favored the Velasquez Brothers of Wheeler and the Essex of Pampa as predominately favorites. All bands were very good. Teenagers may look forward to other major attractions at the Center for them. For the next five Friday nights the Essex will play for the teen dances. On Saturday nights for the next three weeks a Jr. High Dance will be sponsored with a Jr. High Band playing. These dances are for Jr. High age and sophomores only while the Friday night dances are open to everyone.

BASKETBALL MEETING — The organizational meeting for the men's league will be held on Nov. 23 at the Center at 8:00 p.m. Teams should have representatives at the meeting to voice their vote on rules and regulations. Entry fee for the league will be $30 plus a referees fee of $3 per game played. Entry fees are due Nov. 23 as is referees fees after the meeting. League action will get underway on Nov. 28. For further information call George Smith at MO 5-2012 or MO 5-2622.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL — The women's participation this year in basketball will be limited to a team sponsored by the center called the Queens. The Queens will travel around to nearby towns and play games as benefits. If you have played basketball in high school and are interested in playing this year, please attend the next practice session on Wednesday night, 8:00 p.m. at the Center. Both forwards and guards are still needed.

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS — Cock O Walk and La Bonita head into their showdown match next week by remaining with wins and the same records. Cock O Walk is 8-0 and La Bonita 7-1. Cock O Walk bumped Cree's ins. 15-11 and 15-1; La Bonita took Hopkins 15-1 and 15-4 while Malcom-Hinkle continued to rise with a win over First National Bank 15-1 and 15-4.

Flash Floods Hit In Historic Italy

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — The historic piazzas and palaces of Florence with their priceless art treasures were submerged Saturday in a sea of mud, with damage described as "incalculable," worse than that during World War II.

The known death toll throughout Italy, cut in two by the flooding, stood at 50. But hundreds were missing and feared dead in collapsed houses and beneath tons of water in Florence, Venice, Trenton, Grosseto, Padua, Arezzo and other cities.

White Backlash Curls Over New York City

United Press International — The white backlash curls and snaps like a bullwhip over New York City this election eve.

This is reason for wide-eyed astonishment. New York is the capital city of civil rights, the most articulate and vigorous source of scorn and ridicule of backward race relations in the South.

At issue in tomorrow's vote is whether a Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) may continue to hear minority complaints. They complain of police brutality, of incivility, of overly vigorous maintenance of the public peace at the cost of indignities to members of the minorities individually or in mob assembled.

Red-Hot Issue
This red-hot issue exploded the New York political campaign out of its lackadaisical doldrums. Mayor John V. Lindsay made a 1965 campaign promise to name such a civilian board if he were elected. Minority voters would accept no less. Lindsay made good on that and there was instant response. The New York Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA) (20,000 uniformed members) and the Conservative party of New York each moved to obtain in tomorrow's election a referendum on civilian review of police conduct.

The conservatives and the organized cops argued that police morale and effective law enforcement require that any review of police performance be by a police board, without civilians. It was further contended that permitting civilian reviewers to second guess the split second, emergency action of the man on the beat would encourage the cops to avoid involvement whenever was possible. The cops and Conservatives also contended that police brutality was wildly, irresponsibly exaggerated.

PBA and the Conservatives each got on the ballot with a proposal that Lindsay be commanded to disband his civilian board and, at most, set up an all-cop review in its place.

Lindsay's ploy then was to prevent any referendum at all if the courts would permit him to get away with it. This was sufficiently astonishing in itself because Mayor Lindsay is a notable friend of the common man pledged to be guided by the will of the people.

Might Go Wrong
But Lindsay evidently thought the people might go wrong on this one. The courts refused to forbid the referendum. And now it is a question for the voters of New York City.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Lindsay jointly launched on Oct. 12 what they called a major campaign in behalf of the civilian board. They said the cause of civil rights and progressive government would be set back nationally if New York City rejected civilian review.

Lindsay and Javits performed some joint campaigning. Kennedy did not stay the route but went off building his own political empire around the country despite his earlier promise of maximum efforts.

The most effective argument against civilian review seems to have been that minority charges of police brutality were more imagined than factual; that police behavior has been substantially proper and that police morale and effective law enforcement would suffer if civilians were given second guess privileges.

In 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed the Philippine Islands a free commonwealth.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new, healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 129. At all drug counters.

Parents Honored By Son's Bravery

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— "I think it's a great honor, a great great honor," said the mother of Pvt. Ernest D. Reynolds when informed recently that her 20-year-old Army son had been nominated for the Medal of Honor.

Reynolds, who had been in Korea only 17 days before his death, was the hero when North Korean invaders virtually wiped out an American patrol a half mile south of the Korean demilitarized zone (DMZ).

Both parents were visibly shaken and in tears when informed by United Press International that their son may receive America's highest honor posthumously.

"We're real proud of him," said Mrs. Lowell D. Reynolds. "I hope his having to die will help those other poor boys over there."

"It's a terrible thing, I tell you. We have a small son at home and two little grandsons, and I hope in 20 years we won't have to go through this again."

"I'm pretty shook up. And I can say we're terribly proud of our son. Thanks for calling us," said Reynolds' father.

The father and mother were so shaken they could hardly speak at times. Their son entered the Army only last May 13 and left the U.S. Oct. 13 on his 20th birthday, following basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He arrived in Korea Oct. 16.

"We had heard nothing, this is all a shock," said the mother. "We didn't know I sat and cried when I read recently about a mother at Topeka, Kan., losing her son in Viet Nam; then later getting a last letter from him, saying he had to go on patrol."

The Family Lawyer

When Money Won't Do

By winning his lodge's annual golf tournament, Roger became entitled to the traditional silver loving cup. But to his chagrin, the previous winner refused to part with it. When Roger filed suit, the other man told the court:

"This cup can be duplicated for about $95. If I am wrong in keeping it, suppose I just pay him the $95 and we will call it square."

But the court ordered him to hand over not $95 but the cup itself. The judge said the trophy had, over and above its cash value, a unique sentimental value. Hence, mere money could not be a satisfactory substitute.

Whenever money damages would not be "just as good," the law may insist upon what it calls "specific performance"—that is, performance of the actual obligation rather than just damages for non-performance.

Specific performance is decreed most often in cases involving real estate. Suppose you make a contract to buy the lot on the southeast corner of Maple and Spring, and then the seller backs out.

You could probably get a court order commanding him to transfer that specific property to you. For there is no other piece of land in the entire world exactly like the one you bought. Money damages would not make you come out even.

Will a court always order specific performance, whenever money damages would be inadequate? No, because sometimes it is simply not practical. For example:

When an opera star broke his contract, the management asked a court to force him to sing. True enough, money damages were no substitute for an actual performance.

Yet, the court refused a decree. The judge said he would have no way of telling whether the star, if forced to sing, was singing as well as the management had a right to expect.

Besides being impractical at times, specific performance may also be unjust.

Leukemia is an overgrowth of white cells in the blood.

Pampan Elected Coming Home Queen For TCU's Festivities

Elated over being elected "something other than president of the P-TA or chairman of the cookie committee," Mrs. Joe M. Daniel Jr. of Pampa will be honored Nov. 10-13 during Texas Christian University's 1966 Homecoming events as the Coming Home Queen.

The former Peggy Golver of Pecos was chosen for the honor in balloting recently by members of the honored Class of 1946. She will be introduced at the Nov. 10 pep rally, which will make the official opening of the Homecoming activities at TCU, and will be presented during half-time ceremonies at the game on Nov. 12 in Amon Carter Stadium.

To be introduced and presented at the same times will be the 1966 Homecoming Queen and two duchesses, as yet unannounced, who were elected in a recent campus-wide voting.

Mrs. Daniel, graduated from TCU in 1946 with a major in geology and minor in biology, served as secretary of the student body as a junior and a senior. While enrolled in the Natural Science Society, serving as an officer for two years, and in Los Hidalgos, a Bryson Club member, she was honored her junior and senior years as a class favorite.

After her graduation in June, Miss Golver became Mrs. Daniel in August, 1948, and the couple moved to Austin where he was studying petroleum engineering at the University of Texas. After living in Jal, N.M., the Daniels moved to Pampa about 10 years ago, where he is an engineer for the Cabot Corporation.

The couple, who co-sponsor the senior high group of Episcopal Young Churchmen at Pampa's St. Matthews Episcopal Church, have two sons, Joe III, 15, was elected "friendliest sophomore" at Pampa high earlier this fall. A member of the school's football team, he earned his Eagle Scout award last year. A seventh-grade athlete at Robert E. Lee junior high, 12-year-old Jim is serving as president of his home room.

Since 1963, the 1966 Coming Home Queen has been teaching general science in the eighth grade. She attended West Texas State University in Canyon to complete certification requirements. During the last summer she participated in a National Science Foundation-sponsored institute at St. Cloud State College, Minn. While enrolled in the six-week course in chemistry, she found time to visit with TCU's 1965 Coming Home Queen, Mrs. Herley Glasscock Unger in Minneapolis, and to spend weekends canoeing with other women students at the institute.

A family that enjoys activities together, the Daniels particularly like vacations in the Rocky Mountain region where the three men spend their time fishing and Ms. Daniel takes her geologist pick and "has a ball."

"I've been nicknamed 'Mother Nature' on these outings by the boys," she said, "as I'm forever pointing out a mountain, a tree, the grouse, the elk and the like."

Daniel and his sons had as their summer project the building of a two-man kayak for use on near-by lakes. The trio has now undertaken the restoration of a 1931 Model A.

Questioned about her family's loyalty during the TCU-Texas game, Mrs. Daniel said, "In honor of the occasion, I believe I'll have the boys on my side during the game." She is less sure of her husband's reaction, though. "He threatens to wear an orange and white TCU beanie to the Homecoming coffee and the barbecue."

After being notified of being selected by her former classmates for the 1966 honor at Homecoming, Mrs. Daniel's typically feminine reply was, "But I don't have a thing to wear!"

"TCU is a great school with a fine tradition," she said in a more serious vein. "There will always be a spot in my heart for my alma mater. The experiences and knowledge I gained there prepared me for my present life and, in addition, made me a better sort of person than I might have been."

"To be remembered by classmates is truly the most wonderful experience I have had in a long time," she continued. "I'm so pleased to have the opportunity to share in the university's tradition in this way at homecoming."

Medicare Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE—This column of questions and answers on Medicare is provided by the Pampa Social Security Office and is published by the Pampa News as a public service.

Q—Please explain when drugs and medicines are covered under both parts of the program. I have heard that they paid nothing and that they paid all of your drug and medical bills. Since both of these answers could not possibly be correct, please elaborate on this.

A—Under the Hospital Insurance Program, drugs are covered only when they are furnished to a patient in a hospital; or extended care facility. Under the Medical Insurance Program (the doctor bill portion), drugs are covered only when they are administered by a physician and cannot be self-administered.

An estimated 2,362,000 persons were added to the U. S. resident population in the 12 months before Aug. 1, 1965.

The Children's Bureau is an agency of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Fifty percent of the persons located who are heirs to estates never knew the person who left the money.

Texas' constitution gives it the right to form four new states within its borders.

TEXAS IS ON THE MOVE!

In virtually every field of endeavor, our state has made dramatic progress the past four years under the strong leadership of Governor John Connally. His administration's bold, yet sensible programs have helped provide new opportunity and a better way of life for all our people.

IMPROVED EDUCATION—Since 1963, state investment in higher education has doubled, and faculty salaries have increased 40%. State support of local public schools have increased 44% in four years, including a $100 million teacher pay raise enacted in 1965. Technical and vocational training programs have been vastly increased; junior college enrollment doubled during the current bi-ennium. Special literacy programs for migrant workers and their children have been expanded. A college student loan fund of $85 million has been established. And a special Governor's Committee on Public Education currently is studying all facets of elementary and secondary education.

WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT—Long range planning and development have been given top priority. $100 million in bonds have been issued for development of needed storage facilities; authorization has been granted to expand this program to $200 million for the next two years.

CONCERN FOR THE AGED AND NEEDY—Since 1963, assistance to our elderly has been increased 27%. The Governor's Committee on Aging is continually working for the benefit of our senior citizens.

OUTDOOR RECREATION—More than $2 million has been invested in improving ten of our most attractive state parks during the past two years to provide additional recreational facilities.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION—A record 855 new industrial plants have been established the past three years, moving Texas into second place in the nation in industrial expansion. Last year, more than 23,000 new jobs were created in manufacturing alone—the best year ever for the Texas labor force.

INCREASED TOURISM—More than 17 million tourists visited Texas last year, adding more than $900 million to the state's economy, and creating 140,000 new jobs. The state's tourist advertising program has been sharply expanded.

MENTAL HEALTH AND MENTAL RETARDATION—New emphasis on prevention of mental illness and mental retardation has been achieved through establishment of new community centers, replacing the former practice of "warehousing" patients. Investment for research into causes of mental disorders has doubled the past four years.

BETTER HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION—Texas has more farm-to-market roads than any other state—more than 35,134 miles. We lead the nation in construction of interstate highways, at a cost 40% below the nation's average.

COMBAT AIR AND WATER POLLUTION—New legislation for public health. "The Clear Air Act of Texas," provides state action to combat air pollution. Similar vigorous action has been initiated to control pollution of Texas streams, bays, and estuaries.

NEW CULTURAL GROWTH—The Fine Arts Commission was established in 1965 to nurture the cultural enrichment of Texans. The state's cultural heritage will be preserved and portrayed in the state's pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio.

BUSINESSLIKE ADMINISTRATION—With unprecedented teamwork, our state government has operated responsibly and efficiently. The Legislature has finished its work on time in each session. Following a pay-as-you-go policy, we have maintained a healthy surplus in the general revenue fund without curtailing essential services.

HEALTHY, GROWING ECONOMY—Business activity rose 11% last year, as Texas continues one of the brightest growth areas. Employment and income are at an all-time high, unemployment at an all-time low. Despite increased responsibilities, our state government costs only $168.78 a year per citizen, fourth lowest in the nation. No broad-based tax has been enacted the past four years. Texas still has no personal income or payroll tax, no corporate income tax, and is one of few remaining states with a limited sales tax of 2%.

State Representative
54th District

You voters will make your decisions tomorrow. The campaign is over. My greatest regret is that the size of the 54th Legislative District made it impossible for me to visit with each of you personally.

I traveled many hundreds of miles and was able to contact thousands of persons in public meetings, individual calls through newspaper and radio messages. But those of you whom I was unable to see, I want you to know it was not because of a lack of desire.

Thanks to the many old and new friends who have worked so hard with my wife, Frances, and me in this campaign. The confidence you have shown in my ability to represent your district is deeply appreciated and will never be forgotten.

If I am elected your state representative I will go to Austin with a sincere dedication that my first consideration in all legislative matters always will be for the people of our district.

Going Back — For Progress

We got so fed up during the past several weeks with talk from one after another candidate about "going forward" and "moving ahead" that we began to wonder if that kind of electioneering was turning us against progress. But then we came across something which reminded us that progress isn't just a matter of moving forward or ahead. True progress calls for frequent checking back, and quite often, a backward step or so for a fresher start. Sometimes progress takes us in a circle.

What prompted those random thoughts was a short article describing developments which have taken place over the years in the mundane matter of the family wash. It's really quite a fascinating story: In the beginning — who knows just when or by whom — it was discovered that a long-worn garment could be made a little less dirty and, perhaps, a bit less smelly, simply by dousing it in water. Then some "forward-looking" ancestor found that boiling his clothes got them still cleaner, plus ridding them, at least temporarily, of lice and fleas. Thousands of years later soap was invented to "loosen" the dirt and produce a still cleaner wash. Finally, and quite recently, the automatic washer provided the ultimate in washday plus "detergents" seemed to provide the ultimate in washday convenience and efficiency. But, science is never satisfied. Now hours of research, plus millions of dollars, have been spent to develop new detergents so we can go back to washing our clothes in cold water. Why all that time and expense for what appears to be a step backward? Of course it eliminates the need to heat the water. But the main reason, say the scientists, is because cold water is easier on the fabrics and the clothes last longer. There's far less shrinkage and setting of stains than with hot water, and yet, laboratory tests have shown that the finished laundry is just as free of germs as when hot water is used.

We think there may be a lesson here for those politicians (and others) who think progress automatically comes from just "moving ahead." Real progress, in any field, calls for constant checking back; not only to avoid or correct mistakes of the past, but also to make sure we don't forget those "olden" things and ways which were right and good. Improvements in the family laundry have now been made "because research chemists remembered the certain advantages of cold water for washing clothes, and have brought us full circle back to it. Perhaps our government and our politics would be better and cleaner, too, if instead of just barging ahead for the sake of "moving forward," we could swing back around and pick up some of those clear and unheated principles of our political beginnings.

Are You Lonely?

Do you find yourself with many acquaintances but few, if any, real friends with whom you can enter into meaningful, communicative conversation? Perhaps it is time to reexamine your basic values and behavior dictated by those values. Do you know what respect for private property really means?

If A Recession Comes

Within recent weeks economists and financial writers have begun to voice deep concern about the economic outlook, saying that a recession is possible if not actually likely. Across the Atlantic, Prime Minister Harold Wilson of England went further. He warned that a world-wide depression with widespread unemployment could occur.

At home, President Johnson announced what he termed a broad attack on rising inflation. He also asked for a similar rollback of the accelerated tax write-off for depreciation of industrial and commercial buildings.

Now, let's look at the situation and at the President's proposed remedy. The outlook is disturbing, for investors clearly are gloomy about the immediate future. A jittery stock market is the result, with major corporate securities suffering heavy losses in value. Meanwhile the public is becoming increasingly apprehensive as prices increase for necessary commodities. If a recession takes place, it will be the most unnecessary recession in history. The American people are hard-working, energetic and progressive in outlook. They supply a tremendous demand for the new goods and services developed by U.S. enterprise. Young people now in college — where they are acquiring valuable skills for the age of automation — will want new homes, new cars, new appliances. This demand should provide a real deal of prosperity in the years ahead. The skilled youth of America form a high productive segment of our society. Their drive and imagination should further enrich the American way of life.

But this isn't the entire story. The productive groups and forces in American life are not dominant on the political scene. There are, one is sad to say, counter-productive groups and forces. A segment of American voters — and they are demanding — is crying out for more federal welfareism. This segment of our society wants to be carried along at taxpayer expense.

Instead of helping support themselves. To be specific, there is a tremendous demand from the slum areas that the federal government spend billions of dollars in reconstructing urban areas where the residents — as a point of fact — have done nothing to abide by reasonable standards of residential behavior. In Chicago, so-called "Tenant Unions" have been formed. Residents of slum districts are seeking to bind landlords to contracts. But the contracts are one-way affairs. Tenants are unwilling to assume any responsibilities on their part. In New York City and other great metropolitan centers, the handouts causes Big Government is politically powerful. Bloc voting by the aspirants for handouts causes Big Government to bow to their wishes. Money is lavished on welfareism instead of being saved or devoted to constructive investment. Here we come to Mr. Johnson's so-called "remedy" for inflation. His miracle cure is to make it more difficult for corporations to invest in new plants and equipment. Yet it is precisely this investment that creates new jobs and adds to the importance of old job opportunities further undermine the confidence of business in government's intentions. The first thing to be curtailed by the Great Society is industry's chance to grow and expand. Why didn't Mr. Johnson propose instead that welfare spending be cut back and all manner of wasteful government handout programs be curtailed? The answer is simple: It is that Mr. Johnson is thinking about the votes of the handout seekers. He appeases them while he jeopardizes the economic security of the country. This kind of appeasement is what could bring on a recession or worse. It is a prime example of counter-productive political action.

A thought for the day — American poet Robert Frost said: "Most of the change we think we see in life is due to truths being in and out of favor."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Through reading your newspaper, I have become an advocate of both the conservative political stand and the free enterprise system. There is, however, one question about the free enterprise system that I can't reconcile.

"It is an economic 'fact of life' that the United States has a great deal of economic independence with other nations. Many of these nations are traditionally economic dictatorships and not likely to change. If the United States were to adopt a pure free enterprise system, we would have to dissolve economic ties with any other nation which would not adopt this system. Free enterprise is a two-way street. The traditional economic dictatorships, which would not make this change, would be among those with which economic ties must be broken. Some of these nations supply us with some of the raw materials which are essential to both national defense and a generally sound economy. Wouldn't this break-down in trade weaken our economy to the point that some aggressive nation could swiftly move in and take control before we could find a substitute for these needs?"

R. H. W.

ANSWER: We believe the statement and question imply that free enterprise efforts are possible only if all — or a majority — of nations accept the principle. This is not necessarily the case. If the United States were to remove the restrictions on trade of free individuals in this country, it would stimulate all sorts of business activity and would have repercussions throughout the world.

If Americans were permitted to trade with whomever they wanted, and were given no special protections by government, they would trade with individuals or companies — or even nations — they have cause to believe they could trust.

It is conceivable they might seek scarce materials from those in completely collectivist nations. But, we believe, they would attempt wherever possible to have business associations only with persons they could expect to pay them for their produce, either in gold or goods. Even dictators probably would have to trade with the free enterprise merchants in order to maintain themselves in power. It would be up to the individual to determine whether he believed it was to his best interest to sell to or buy from a dictator. Since they would be responsible for their own acts we believe most of them would be extremely careful of business contracts.

Rather than weaken our economy, freedom would strengthen it. And the example of a thriving, enterprising economy of individuals pursuing their own self-best interests voluntarily would be a model for the rest of the world to follow.

It should be understood that the present mixed economy was not imposed on Americans in a day, and a return to more nearly free economy cannot be accomplished suddenly without chaos. Resumption of free enterprise should be gradual in removing of political interventions bit by bit.

GONE FISHING (Industrial News Review)

Statistics can be made to prove almost anything. The earnings of 3,862 leading American corporations were 15 percent higher in 1965 than in 1964, according to a brief item in Human Events. From reports like this, many assume that wage increases for labor should be permitted to rise 6, 8 or even 10 percent, but total employee compensation for all American corporations averaged six times as much as corporate earnings — nearly $250 billion compared to a little over $41 billion of corporate earnings. If the entire amount of the 15 percent increase in corporate earnings in 1965 were paid out in employee compensation, it would mean a wage increase of only 2.5 percent. A 10 percent wage increase would have wiped out approximately 60 percent of all corporate earnings in 1965. If this had happened, investors, who after all, are entitled to a share of the earnings of corporations to encourage them to put their savings into job-creating activities, would have been entitled to have called it a day and gone fishing. In many industries, it takes thousands of dollars of hard-earned investment savings to make one job.

President Finds International Education Program Balked By Congress' Refusal To Grant Funds After Voting Bill

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is ruefully discovering that his effusive praise of Congress for approving the international educational program was decidedly premature.

On returning from his fabled trip, the President was informed by his educational officials that Congress in its pell-mell rush to adjourn had failed to appropriate any money for the $165 million project.

While Congress in the final days did approve the International Education Act authorizing an expenditure of $165 million over the next three years, the House and Senate Appropriations Committees balked at granting any funds for that purpose.

In a memorandum to the President, Health, Education & Welfare Department authorities explained that the lack of money would delay launching this educational plan until next year when a new request can be sent to Congress.

Originally, Administration officials had planned to get the program underway this month with a big pre-election announcement.

Democratic congressional leaders are saying the Senate and House Appropriations Committees refused to vote the money on the grounds that HEW officials failed to submit details on how it would be spent.

HEW's secrecy on how the program would function so incensed committee members that they even rebuffed closing-day pleas that $1 million be granted for planning purposes for an advisory committee to be named by the President.

The authorizing legislation calls for setting up such a group to assist HEW Secretary John Gardner. But Congress' failure to vote the funds makes it doubtful that the committee can function.

BACKDOOR FINANCING — Still undetermined is whether money can be used from the President's contingency funds to establish a Center for Educational Cooperation, also authorized by the legislation.

The center, which will also be responsible for other educational programs, is expected to be created soon by an executive order. Justice Department lawyers have ruled that the center, to be located at a leading university, can be launched although Congress voted no funds for it.

The international education program, to be administered by HEW, is the brainchild of Secretary Gardner. It is intended to provide grants to colleges and universities for graduate and undergraduate programs in international education, and for convening a series of conferences — of international educators' savings to make one job. The owners of those savings deserve a fair wage, too. That is why earnings and profits are necessary.

Issues of peace and war will be major topics at these meetings.

In approving the International Education Act, Congress eliminated one provision from the administration's bill that would have authorized direct loans to students for studies in foreign institutions, including Russia.

This controversial program was approved by the Senate, but eliminated in conference after the House rejected it.

Although no formal request has yet been made to the White House, HEW authorities are discussing seeking a supplemental request should there be a special session of Congress.

The possibility of a special post-election session arose when a member of the White House staff asked all cabinet members to submit to the Budget Bureau a report on the top priority legislation they would like Congress to consider should the President ask it to return for a special session. There is no other indication that a special session is contemplated.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES — Latest figures of the Department of Health, Education & Welfare show that there are now 93,000 foreign students in the U.S. Of this number, 11,000 have indicated they want to remain here.

While HEW records are incomplete, a recent survey discloses that at least 18,000 U.S. students are enrolled in foreign institutions.

HUMAN RIGHTS — President Johnson is considering asking the United Nations to hold regional seminars on human rights next year.

A State Department proposal recommending that such a conference be held in Atlanta, Ga., is on the President's desk.

No decision on the proposal is expected until after the November 8 election because of the possible impact such an announcement might have on campaigns affected by the civil rights backlash.

The proposal was suggested by Morris B. Abram, formerly from Atlanta, a U.S. delegate on the UN Human Rights Commission. The proposed Atlanta seminar, similar to others contemplated for Asia, Africa and Latin America, is designed to build up U.S. support for ratification of the Human Rights Convention approved by the UN.

The Atlanta seminar is also being pushed as a rostrum to rally backing for the establishment of a UN High Commissioner for Human Rights. The authority of the high commissioner would be mainly moral.

Editor: I am enclosing the following excerpt from Liberty Letter, published in Washington, which contains some facts which I believe are not generally known: "Even though no nation in the world has enough military and economic power to attack America, Lyndon Johnson is planning to use the threat of war to clamp a total dictatorship over the Nation!"

"The latest proof of the President's intentions came on October 11, in the form of a new 'Executive Order' (Number 11310), in which the next Attorney General of the United States (to be identified after the election?) is ordered to prepare the detailed legal plan for a Presidential takeover of the Nation with respect to all conditions of national emergency, including (but not limited to) an attack on the United States."

Ayres said, "The word has gotten around among civil servants in Washington that the big money is in poverty." Ayres added, "Few know how big it is."

We don't know how the poor are faring, but the bureaucrats certainly are feasting.

Written evidence exists that in some communities where there are not enough poverty stricken families to qualify the schools for federal aid, teachers have been instructed to find two more children coming from families below the poverty line in order to help build that group up to the minimum required before federal aid would be granted. This is just another evidence of the fraud which permeates the welfare state.

In commenting on this scandal, one teacher called attention to the fact that "Any nation in ancient or modern history that deliberately engages in a redistribution of its wealth has destroyed itself."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Allergies Are Controllable

Q — When my daughter-in-law gets very nervous she breaks out with hives. Her doctor is giving her pills for her nerves but she still has hives. What causes this?

A — Since hives is usually due to a food allergy your daughter-in-law should see an allergist to find out to what she is sensitive. He will also look for sensitivity to various drugs and cosmetics and exposure to the sun. As with other allergies, avoiding the cause is the best treatment.

Q — I am allergic to tree pollens and molds. My doctor says there is no treatment but to continue weekly shots for the rest of my life. Prior to starting the shots I took antihistamines for three years. They seem to do as good a job as the shots for less money. What do you advise?

A — If you can't avoid or remove the cause of your allergy there is no reason why you should not use antihistamines to control your symptoms but the dosage must be carefully regulated to prevent such side effects as drowsiness and mental depression.

Q — Every summer for years I have had severe attacks of hay fever. What causes it? Can it be cured? I am taking Dimetane. Is it of any value?

A — Hay fever is caused by an allergy to pollens. The chief offender is ragweed but you should have tests to determine the exact cause in your case. Hay fever cannot be cured but desensitizing injections taken every year well in advance of the pollen season will control it. Brompheniramine maleate (Dimetane) is one of many antihistamines that are of value in providing temporary relief of hay fever symptoms.

Q — In a recent column you stated that it is difficult but not impossible to get enough proteins in a diet that contains no proteins of animal origin. Can I rely on a prepared 900-calorie diet for this purpose?

A — Since these preparations contain milk proteins they will not help. That leaves high-protein vegetables, soybean products and nuts. I warned you it wouldn't be easy.

Q — My daughter, 14, is in an institution for the mentally retarded. They are giving her Benadryl for an allergy. What kind of allergy would it be used for? They are also giving her Thorazine. Is this a minor tranquilizer?

A — Diphenhydramine hydrochloride (Benadryl) is an antihistamine. It is given for all forms of allergy. Chlorpromazine (Thorazine) is classified as a major tranquilizer.

RUNAWAY SPENDING

During the session of Congress which ended October 22, a total of approximately $144.6 billion dollars was appropriated. This included a supplemental appropriation of about $16 billion for the fiscal year ended last June 30, much of which was for conducting the war in Vietnam. Far-reaching new programs were approved by Congress, and the heavy appropriations included only small down payments on some of them. The cost of many of these programs will increase from year to year if the past offers a fair basis for judging.

Three of the programs alone will create extremely heavy pressures for increased spending. These are the "demonstration cities," aid to elementary were approved by Congress, the anti-poverty program.

Under the demonstration cities program the Federal Government assumes a major part of the cost of rebuilding blighted metropolitan areas. The original program will cover 50 or 60 cities. And of course that will be only the beginning as one city after another demands to be included. It is estimated that $50 billion will be needed in 10 years in New York City alone.

In Federal aid to education, Congress authorized some $6 billion over a two-year period for assistance to elementary and secondary education, and the anti-poverty program.

It will be hard to keep the cost of the politics-oriented anti-poverty program from growing substantially. The people pay in taxes and in the cost of inflation caused by deficit spending.

Vets Day Set For Friday
Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday announced plans for a Veterans Day observance on Nov. 11 in tribute to U.S. servicemen of all wars.
 Mayor Jim Naton Jr. issued a proclamation stating:
 "Whereas November 11 is now set aside as the usual special occasion for paying public tribute to our servicemen in all wars, especially those who made the supreme sacrifice and those who bear the scars of conflict."
 "Therefore, as mayor of Pampa, I hereby officially designate November 11 to be 'Veterans Day' in commemoration of the veterans of the Armed Forces of the United States and urge that all business houses observe this day by the display of flags and other appropriate observation, in memory of all veterans of all wars of the United States."
 Alvin Macartney, commander of the Pampa VFW post, and Mrs. Hattie Wright, president of the VFW Auxiliary, are in charge of arrangements for Veterans Day observance.
 Commander Macartney said the observance, the annual Pampa of Flags, will be staged at 11 a.m. Friday, Nov. 11, at Memory Gardens.
 Program details will be announced later this week, Macartney said.

Clown Night for Skelton Set Wednesday on Television

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—For 16 years they've called Red Skelton the greatest clown on television, or anywhere else for that matter—and this week he will feature an all-clown show. He has assembled more than a dozen professional and would-be clowns for a night of buffoonery Nov. 9.

Red has enlisted Martha Raye, Jackie Coogan, Audrey Meadows, Amanda Blake, Vincent Price, Robert Merrill and Bobby Rydell. All are frustrated clowns.

In addition the redhead has raided various circuses for such pros as Johnny Day, Jack McAfee, Mark Antrony and others.

"There's a big difference between clown and comedians," Red said between rehearsals in his CBS dressing room. "Comedians say funny things and clowns do funny things."

Skelton does both on the show.

The network suggested that Red pack his studio audience with children for the clown program, but, curiously, Skelton balked.

"I said no because kids don't understand clowns," he explained. "They're frightened and awed by all the make-up and the costumes."

"We did the rehearsal with a group of little orphans and there was hardly one laugh. Then we brought in adults and a few children for the actual taping and everyone laughed."

"Clowns are really for adults, and if kids see their parents laughing then they join in the fun."

"Another thing, you can't play comedy when you're in a clown outfit. The make-up and wardrobe provide the humor, so you have to play down comic gestures and overtones."

Red is something of a nut on clowns. And why not? His own father was a circus clown. His Freddie the Freeloader is a clown in the finest tradition. But Red also paints clowns as a hobby. He has slapped oil to canvas to produce almost 500 clown portraits, many of which he gives away to friends.

Like all great clowns there is a tragic element, a threat of despair running through his life. His own near brushes with death, the death of his son, Richard, and the recent accidental shooting of his wife, Georgia, whom he calls "Little Red."

"A real clown must be able to make people cry as well as laugh," Red concluded.

Once again, Red does both superbly.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Marietta College in Ohio has been reproducing and publishing a series of "letters from famous Americans" selected from its collection of more or less historic correspondence.

I was in Marietta recently inciting the student body to a state of torpor with one of my fiery orations, and while I was there someone gave me a set of the letters. I found them very impressive.

What impressed me most was the lousy handwriting.

I somehow had the notion that the early days of the republic were a sort of golden age of penmanship. It came about, I suppose, from hearing people say that penmanship is becoming a lost art.

These letters make me wonder whether the art ever existed at all.

No Calligraphic Expert
I claim no expertise in calligraphy, but it is obvious to anyone that George Washington couldn't write any better than Lyndon Johnson does.

The other 12 famous Americans whose letters were included in this set also were Palmer Method dropouts. Which may have been a lucky coincidence.

Had their letters been readily readable, chances are they wouldn't have been preserved. Someone might have decided they weren't very significant and thrown them away.

But being unable to decipher them, the people who ran across the letters probably said to themselves: "This may be important. I guess I'd better save it."

They show us, among other footnots to history. Fortunately with translations supplied by the cmgege.

They show us, among other things, that famous Americans of the past spent a good bit of time writing letters when they didn't have a great deal on their minds. Even as you and I.

They concern, by and large, routine matters that a famous American nowadays would have his secretary handle. But most of them were written before Dictaphones were invented.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thomson & McKinnon says further market backing and filling is necessary so as to broaden the base of any consolidation. This, according to the analyst, could provide momentum for more favorable sessions in the weeks ahead.

E. F. Hutton & Co. Inc. says the over-all technical performance of the market remains encouraging but says Wall Street may mark time at current levels until after the election. It says glamor issues still look as if they could participate strongly on any further market strength.

Hornblower & Weeks Hemphill, Noyes notes that a more confident environment prevails on Wall Street, as reflected in recent buying of good quality equities. As a result, the analyst says, prospects are good for a recovery in the Dow Jones industrial index above the September rally top before any significant corrective action hits the market.

BOB PRICE... the family man

Bob Price is a man whose interests are centered around his family. It's his desire to help create a better America for his children that led Bob Price into seeking the office of Representative to Congress. Bob and his wife Marty, along with their children, Janice, Carl and Grant, are a family we can be proud to send to Washington.

BOB PRICE... wants to stop inflation

Food, clothing and house payments must be paid out of take home pay after taxes. Inflation makes this more and more difficult for every family in the Panhandle. As a man operating his own business, Bob Price knows the effect of inflation on earnings.

BOB PRICE a man known for his vital interest in water

Bob Price's family started ranching in the Panhandle in 1907. Following in his father's footsteps as a businessman and rancher, Bob Price knows that we must use greater water conservation to raise food and to attract new industry to the Panhandle. City and County alike are concerned with this problem. Bob Price has the knowledge and experience to plan ahead for our future water needs.

BOB PRICE... knows about war... he's been there

As a jet pilot, Bob Price experienced first hand the effects of war on the young men of today. This knowledge acts as a guideline to decision in regards to foreign policy. Experience is a valuable teacher.

BOB PRICE... keeps in touch

Over the past 2 years, Bob Price has talked to citizens of every county in this district. He has learned the problems facing us today and has the experience to work toward their solutions. Bob Price owes no debt to any single group and can give all of you representation in our nation's capital.

VOTE FOR BOB PRICE FOR U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

*Yes, you can vote for BOB PRICE regardless of your choice of other candidates. A split vote ticket is a legal ballot and will be counted.
