Johnson Issues Invitation To Soviets for U.S. Visit

President's Message In General Terms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has issued a new invitation for Soviet leaders to visit the United States. But, as in the past, he kept it in the most general terms.

The Chief Executive was telling reporters at his news conference Thursday about his meeting at the White House Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

"I said to him that we would welcome a visit by the leadership of his country to this country," Johnson said. He added that he told Gromyko the United States welcomed exchange programs with the Russians and that "we wanted to know them better."

Mansfield Applies Brakes to Social Security 'Quickie'

WASHINGTON — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield applied the brakes to a pre-election push for a "quickie" increase in Social Security benefits through Congress before adjournment next week.

Sen. Mike Mansfield

He told newsmen that even if the House speedily passes the benefit increase, as now appears likely, "it would take some hearing" in the Senate and should be put off until next year.

The boost, as being considered by the House Ways & Means Committee, would raise monthly benefits by an average ranging from $6.80 to $8.50 a month.

Asked for his feelings on this late-blooming legislation, Mansfield said:

"I don't intend to delay adjournment. I'm glad that Democrats and Republicans are united in their desires on Social Security, which I think would be a good issue to bring up next year."

Other sources said that once House Ways & Means completed action on one of two possible plans—possibly today—the increase might snowball through Congress despite the Oct. 22 adjournment date.

President Johnson gave the unexpected move his blessing at a news conference Thursday. He said he would not insist on an immediate increase "but I would welcome it."

The only barrier to swift Ways & Means action seemed to be Chairman Wilbur D. Mills' deep concern over the inflationary aspects of boosting benefits now without, at the same time, pulling an equal amount of money out of the economy in added payroll taxes.

It was the President who started the ball rolling on Wednesday when he announced he would ask Congress next year to hike benefits 10 percent. This increase would take effect Jan. 1, 1968—a presidential election year, GOP leaders pointed out caustically.

McNamara Back From Viet Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara returned from Saigon today prepared to tell President Johnson the enemy is taking heavy losses, the pace of the war was satisfactory, and there is no need for a big U.S. stepup.

After his one-week inspection tour, he told newsmen on his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., that there is "no reason to expect any significant increase in the level or tempo of operations in the foreseeable future."

The statement could be taken as a knockdown of Republican claims that the war might be heavily expanded after the November elections.

McNamara also sought to knock down speculation that American forces would be deployed in large numbers in the Mekong Delta area south of Saigon, which now is the responsibility of the South Vietnamese army.

The secretary said the Defense Department would be able to continue replacing military men in Viet Nam after one-year tours without "calling reserves or National Guard personnel."

"There is no basis at present to anticipate any such calls from the reserves," he said.

He also said there is "no intention of changing the 12-month tours" now served by military men in Viet Nam.

McNamara said the enemy had intended to launch an offensive aimed at cutting South Viet Nam in half during the June-October monsoon season, but had failed.

Enemy forces took "heavy casualties" and were forced to shift their supply lines from the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos to the demilitarized zone dividing the two Viet Nams, he said.

The enemy will be "equally unsuccessful in avoiding losses" in coming through the demilitarized zone, McNamara said.

He was purposely vague in discussing the future military buildup in Viet Nam. He said there would be "no significant change" in the rate of deployments, but he would not discuss the planned rate.

At the rate that has prevailed in recent months, U.S. forces, which now number about 328,000, could exceed 500,000 by late next year.

As for operations in the Delta, McNamara said one battalion of the 25th Infantry Division is there now, and that was "not a major change; I don't expect any drastic changes in the near future."

McNamara spent four days trooping the front lines for a first-hand look at the war's progress.

County Budget Hearing Planned By Commissioners

Gray County Commissioners will convene at 9 a.m. tomorrow for a public hearing on the proposed 1967 budget for the fiscal year beginning Jan. 1.

County Judge Bill Craig said today an estimated budget of $1,090,964 will be discussed.

Estimated expenditures to be met by the budget include $3,249 for jury expense; $175,812.68 for the general fund; $50,000 for permanent improvement fund; $272,285.95 for office salaries; and $116,458.25 for the interest and sinking fund.

Craig said the property tax valuation in Gray County is $57,501,184, which is the figure used to levy taxes to bring in the necessary funds for the budget. This is an increase of $763,504 over last year's tax valuation, Craig stated.

He said the county tax rate is $1.28 per $100 property valuation, the same rate as last year, but down six cents over the 1964 rate.

Propagation Team Replacing Guard

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China's sweeping purges entered a more subtle phase today with the formation of "thought propagation teams" to spread Mao Tse-tung's preachings by reasoning rather than violence.

The teams apparently will replace the young Red Guard zealots who have been terrorizing the population and intimidating foreigners for more than two months in a violent campaign to eliminate western influences on the Chinese way of life.

The new development also appeared to be part of a mushrooming drive to build up the public image of Defense Minister Lin Biao as the chief advocate of Mao's ideology and to consolidate his position as heir apparent to the 72-year-old Chinese leader.

The announcement today by Peking Radio and heard here said the Red Chinese army had taken the lead in the formation of the "Mao Tse-tung propagation teams." But it also indicated similar squads were being formed in many areas by civilian workers and peasants.

Details of the organization and its operations were not disclosed, except that it was their "holy" duty to encourage the study of Mao's writings.

PAMPA MUST NOT FAIL

United Fund Lagging 20 Pct. Short of Goal

Pampa's United Fund campaign today was lagging about 20 per cent short of its goal, providing everybody contributes their fair share.

General Chairman A. A. Schuneman said at 10 o'clock this morning that only approximately $62,000 of the $78,000 needed to go over the top, has been contributed so far in this year's drive.

Schuneman issued a last-minute appeal to campaign workers to complete their calls and turn in reports.

"Pampa must not settle for eighty per cent," Schuneman said. "If campaign workers will devote the time and make it come from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdw. (Adv.)"

Harvester Earns Excellence Award

Pampa High School's yearbook, The Harvester, was a medalist winner in the 32nd annual yearbook critique and contest conducted in New York City by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The association said Thursday the medalist award goes to only a few of the thousands of yearbooks judged each year.

The Harvester was entered in a category of an off set yearbook for senior high schools with enrollment of 1,000 to 1,500. Abilene and Highland Park were the only other Texas senior high schools to earn the medalist award.

When informed of the award this morning, Miss Elizabeth Hurley, journalism instructor, expressed delight with the honor and commended the 1966-67 yearbook staff for their work.

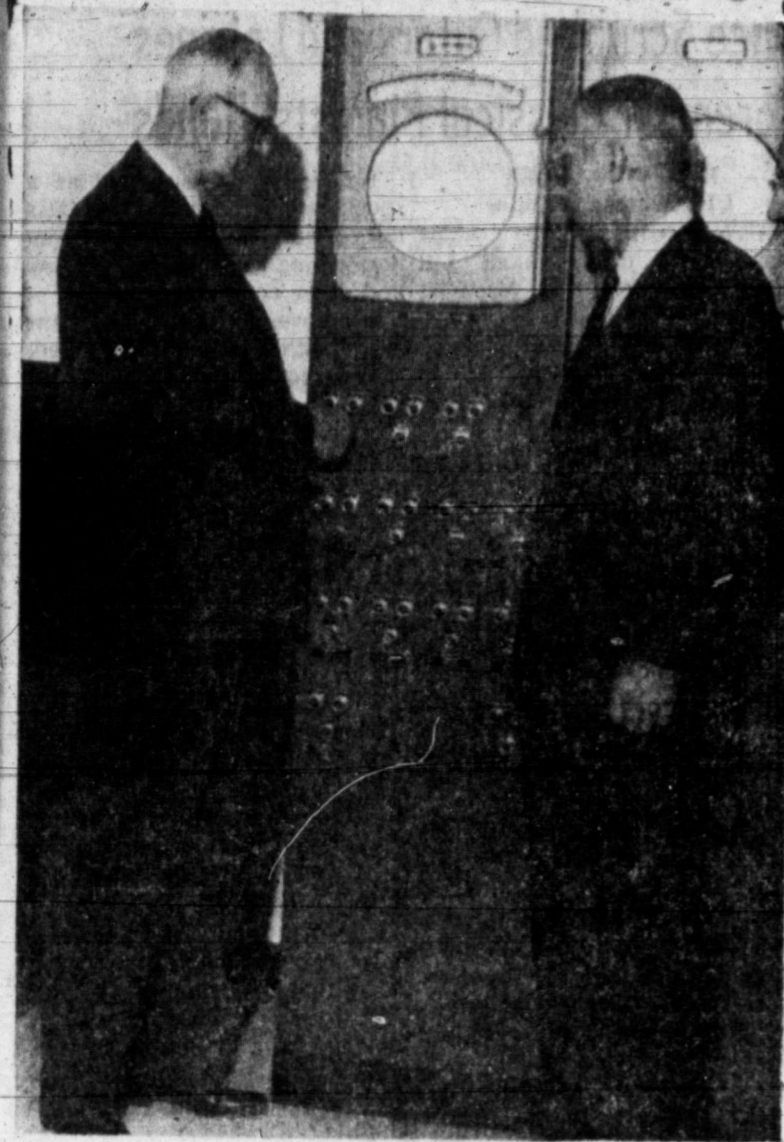

Co-editors for the award-winning yearbook were Daryl Nienstiel and Andrea Buzzard working with associate editors, Barbara Hopkins and Karen Coppenhaver. Glenn Justice was chief photographer.

173 Missions Flown Against North Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States sent one of the mightiest air armadas of the war on a record 173 missions against North Viet Nam Thursday and told the Communists it would resume bombing throughout the demilitarized zone, an American spokesman said today.

An estimated 300 to 500 jets struck anti-aircraft sites, bridges, supply dumps and military barracks in a massive blow aimed at crippling North Viet Nam's arsenal before the feared opening of a major Communist attack through the international buffer zone.

B52 bombers followed up the record raids by raining tons of bombs into the demilitarized zone today. They hit staging areas and infiltration routes 18 miles northwest of the U.S. marine bastion at Dong Ha in an area straddling the demarcation line. But they stayed away from the eastern tip of the zone where a bombing pause was ordered Sept. 27.

The pause was halted to allow the International Control Commission (ICC) to inspect the area and see how the Communists were using it to mass troops and supplies in violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement.

But the Communists refused to allow the inspection teams into the area so a U.S. spokesman announced today that it was no longer a sanctuary and henceforth open to bombing.

Thursday's record 173 missions topped the previous 171-mission high for one day set Sept. 11. A mission is a strike by at least two planes, often four and sometimes more.

The spokesman said, however, that the number of sorties—one flight by one plane—was not a record.

The spokesman said there were no losses Thursday, but one Air Force F105 Thunderchief was knocked down over the Communist nation about 70 miles northwest of Vinh this morning. The pilot was rescued by helicopter.

The jets hit chiefly in the southern panhandle just north of the border where men and supplies are being massed. (See MISSIONS, Page 3)

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK—OCT. 9-15, 1966

GRIEF STILL PAINFUL

Percys Recall Murder Night for Coroner

CHICAGO (UPI) — The room in the Cook County Morgue was quiet. The voice soft. The words were heavy with terror, relieved and grief still painfully new.

For the first time in public, the events surrounding the death of Valerie Percy were told by her family—who lived there.

"She was the one of our daughters' embodiment of rooms. It was a low moan, it sounded as if someone was sweetest," the sick."

21-year-old Charles H. Percy, victim's father, was led gently over the events by Coroner Andrew J. Toman Thursday.

She said she got up to investigate and saw a light shining from beneath Valerie's closed door. "Valerie? Val?"

Charles Percy

The six men on the coroner's jury listened as Percy and his wife, Loraine, and Valerie's twin sister, Sharon, told about the night of Sept. 18.

It began with a "noise and steps," Mrs. Percy testified.

But she said she was only half wakened. "Then—I don't know how much later after that—I heard a noise coming from the room."

Choking back sobs, her voice near a whisper, Mrs. Percy said she was led gently over the events by Coroner Andrew J. Toman Thursday.

She said she got up to investigate and saw a light shining from beneath Valerie's closed door. "Valerie? Val?"

she opened the door and saw a man with a flashlight bending over the girl's bed.

"I was frozen for a moment and stood there and I didn't say anything when he shined this light in my face and I screamed."

Mrs. Percy closed the door, "called to my husband that there was someone in Valerie's room, and ran to trigger an alarm siren mounted atop the house. Percy called police.

"As he (the killer) was bending over the bed; I noticed he had on a light shirt," she said. "It may not have been white but it was light with a small sort of a check... and it didn't go all the way down his wrists because I could see his forearm and he had trousers and a belt that were a darkish color."

"I just saw his outline and I saw no distinguishing characteristics. I didn't see eyes or mouth. I just saw a dark outline and I noticed the shape of his head and his hairline. That's all."

Then Percy took up the story, explaining he is a heavy sleeper but that Mrs. Percy—like most mothers—sleeps lightly.

"I was fully awakened by her scream. It was a scream of terror," he said.

The millionaire industrialist and pretender to Paul H. Douglas' Illinois seat in the Senate, said he ran to Valerie's room and saw her blood-covered form and then dashed down the front stairs, "thinking down the front stairs," thinking (See PERCY'S, Page 3)

THEY GAVE FAIR SHARE — There would be no question about the success of Pampa's United Fund campaign if everyone gave their share as did employees of the local office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. who contributed more than $2,000.

George Newberry, local manager, at right, is shown congratulating, left to right, Mrs. Loyal Wilson, Mrs. Mary Cook and Mrs. Bell Stephens, three of the employees who helped make possible the 100 per cent contribution among 99 employees with an individual contribution averaging $21.91 per employee.

These public spirited firms are making this weekly messages possible — and join with the ministers of Pampa in hoping that each message will be an inspiration to everyone.

VICTORY IN THE EVIL WORLD

"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." Romans 12:21
The Christians in Rome were surrounded by an evil world. The government was looking with increasing suspicion on the growing Christian movement. Soon that suspicion erupted into terrible persecution wherein thousands of God's people were imprisoned or put to death.

Much as it is in our day, standards of personal morality were set by a pagan culture. Society was in the grip of sensuality and selfishness. A Christian life was like a light shining in the darkness.

The Christians of Rome would be encouraged by these words of the Apostle, "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

The Bible describes a life without God as being according to the 'course of this world.' (Ephesians 2:1). Because of the evil in this world, we are told by John, "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the vain of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." (John 2:15-16)

Not only are we confronted by evil around us, but we are limited by evil tendencies within. If a man should isolate himself from the world hoping thereby to avoid its temptations, he would discover that temptation would arise from its own nature.

We are furthermore beset with opposition from Satan. The Bible describes him as being like a roaring lion going about seeking whom he can devour.

TRAGEDY OF EVIL --

The tragedy of walking in the ways of evil is clearly stated by Jesus. "Everyone that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin." (John 8:34)

Paul put it this way; "the wages of sin is death." (Romans 6:23)

Many persons learn through extreme bitterness the truth of these statements. Many begin walking in an evil way thinking that liberty and license are synonymous, but they discover that the sin which could be entered upon as easily soon became a cruel taskmaster. The sinner is enslaved and finds himself having to do the things which he ultimately comes to hate.

In addition to the moral evil abounding in the world, there are adversities, sorrows, disappointments, defeats, and frustrations which often cast down and make the life of the individual full of gloom. Almost daily we read in the papers of those who in despair have ended their lives by suicide. Many others plunge themselves into intoxicating drink to drown out the sorrows they have come to know.

Amid so much evil in the world, can there be found a way of victory? Is it possible for a person to find peace and joy and grow toward becoming the kind of person God wants him to be?

FAITH THAT SAVES --

The testimony of the Scriptures is that through faith in Christ Jesus there is victory in an evil world... for any man.

We must note that it is faith in Christ. The faith that saves is not a general, nebulous kind of faith in everything at large, but it is faith in Jesus Christ, specifically. We look to Him as God's own Son who died for our sins, was raised from the dead, and now lives to make intercession for us at the right hand of the Father. It is this same Jesus who will some day come again and judge the world.

Saving faith is a deep personal experience involving all the faculties of man. It is not a mere belief in a theological statement, but it is the response of the whole person to Jesus Christ.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Voluntary Sector

While the coercive, political, sector taxes, talks, and spins its collective wheels, the voluntary, free enterprise sector quietly gets the job done in a multitude of ways without great fanfare. The great volume of mail (from both sectors) coming across our desk each day provides a means of comparison and analysis. And nowhere is the relative effectiveness of the voluntary sector as compared to the coercive more evident than in the areas of natural resource conservation and air and water pollution prevention. "Oil Facts," a public service publication of the Committee on Public Affairs, American Petroleum Institute, reported an outstanding example in an article entitled "Refinery's Clean-Water System Wins Praise of Conservationists." We quote from the article:

"The Izaak Walton League of America, one of the nation's leading conservation organizations, recently presented its Honor Roll Award to a Texas oil refinery. "The refinery was recognized for what the league called 'fore-sighted leadership' in water conservation. "Specifically cited was the installation and operation of a three-stage system of water purification. This consists of three ponds totaling 380 acres, into which waste water is pumped and held for 45 days after it has already gone through the plant's complex treatment facilities. "The long holding period permits oxidation and bacteriological treatment of the water before it is discharged into a nearby ship channel. "The lagoon area provides a haven for many kinds of waterfowl and other wildlife. Fish thrive at the point where the cleaned-up water leaves the refinery. "Among the birds which nest around the lagoons are roseate spoonbills, which were threatened with extinction a few years ago because they were hunted for their beautiful plumage. Various types of herons, egrets and other water birds. "This refinery alone has spent more than $10 million since World War II to prevent pollution of air and water. "Members of the Izaak Walton League include 50,000 sportsmen, conservationists, and others interested in protecting and preserving natural resources for future generations. "The League's award is the latest in a growing list of honors earned by oil installations for conservation activities over the past several decades. Industry-wide cooperation in water conservation began almost 40 years ago. "A news release accompanying the issue of "Oil Facts" reported a development which should set even the members of our local garden clubs atwitter: "Vermont oilmen," according to the news release, "were praised for launching a plan to have oil tanks on Lake Champlain painted green or other pastel colors to blend with the background of trees and grass." "And another release, giving warnings of things to come in the United States if we don't curtail political governments' regimentation of the market place, reported: "Cash has gone out of style at gasoline stations in the Soviet Union. Russian motorists have to fill out a questionnaire, go to a government office to buy a coupon booklet, then go to a government-owned station to trade the coupons for gasoline. "At the stations, which are hard to find even in large Russian cities, the motorist may have to wait in line for a long time. Then he has to guess how much his tank will hold, check his coupons, and handle the hose himself. All the attendant does is to collect the coupons and set the pump dial. For oil and antifreeze or repairs, the driver has to go elsewhere. "By contrast, United States motorists are free to choose among an estimated 214,000 privately owned stations, each competing to supply the best possible goods and services." "The free way, the market place way, beats the coercive way, the government way, every time.

The Coercive Sector

In the same mail which brought the material discussed in today's lead editorial came two pieces of propaganda printed and mailed at taxpayer expense. The first, a letter signed by John C. Baker, public information officer for the U. S. department of commerce, bureau of the census, Washington, D. C., with obvious satisfaction called attention to an accompanying chart which shows the relative growths of local, state and federal government employment during the period 1953-65. The chart, which lends support to our oft repeated warning that socialism begins at the local level, spreading upward and outward from there, shows that the number of persons employed by state and local governments climbed from 5,100,000 in 1953 to 8,000,000 in 1965. Federal employment figures, according to the chart, have increased from 2,400,000 in 1953 to 2,600,000 in 1965. The other piece of material printed and mailed at taxpayer expense was a flyer, sent out by U. S. Sen. Peter Dominick (R-Colo.), in which the senator takes great pride in the fact that he is pushing for another coercive bill, which, if passed, would add to the 56 million laws, regulations and decrees already regenerating our daily individual lives.

Accusing one of his political cohorts, democratic chairman John M. Bailey, of being a "slum landlord" in Hartford Conn., Dominick would have the federal government pass a law requiring the names of persons determined, by the government, to be "slum landlords" to be publicized. "It has been my contention for sometime," opines Dominick, "that the most effective way to encourage slum landlords to clean up their slum property is to publicize their names so the weight of public opinion will be brought to bear upon them. I have introduced legislation (S. 2419) to bring this about. "We wonder if it has ever occurred to the senator from Colorado that it is the function of the free marketplace, by its very nature to publicize such things, and that, if the government would get off the back of private enterprise, would quit taxing away the capital the market place needs to improve itself, that the competition inherent in the free way of life would work to make slum dwellings so unprofitable as to eventually eliminate them? "If Republican Dominick and Democrat Bailey want to fight and call each other names, that is all right with us. But, PLEASE, no more laws! We just can't afford them.

LBJ Plays It Too Cool On Viet

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — Part of the suspicion on the Vietnamese war by some educated, highly motivated young people can be laid at President Johnson's door. There is in the Pentagon and the State Department these days — as there was not in the past two decades — an attempt to prevent the people from learning what the possible courses of U.S. action are — what decisions the government is wrestling with.

Even when the action has been decided and put into effect, frequently there are attempts to hold off letting the people know until a polished, uniform version of success can be put forth. Every official is expected to speak with one voice. Information for the public must be correlated and cleared of every difference of opinion. This type of information is so patently false in its over all content (even though each individual fact may be true) that people — especially young people — recoil in disbelief.

President Johnson's secrecy has thus boomeranged. It can seriously hurt the conduct of the war. If all major segments of the American people are to back the war fully in Viet Nam then something has got to be changed about the government's secrecy policy on news. The tragedy is that controlled news causes people to distrust all news and to distrust the motives of the man who controls the news.

Johnson's "management" of news on his Viet Nam decisions causes some young people, therefore, to distrust why the war is being fought. It isn't enough to announce why the war is being fought or to explain and explain again. It is necessary for people to be in on the step-by-step arguments and discussion that lead to the decisions before and while the decisions are being made or people don't feel a trust in those decisions. Before action in a democracy there must be knowledge and a great debate. That debate sorts out the issues and promotes wise decisions. It also makes people feel a part of those decisions and insures that those decisions will have public backing. Debates after the fact leave the people with a bitter taste in their mouths.

There was no great decision-making debate in Congress and in public before we moved into Viet Nam or when we intensified our commitment from "advisory" to full-scale participation. The debates came after the decisions. It is clear to me that we made the right basic decision in deciding to stay in Viet Nam. But it's just as clear that the President has failed in not bringing the American people into the decision-making. Even wise decisions made in secret leave a bitter taste in one's mouth. They leave people suspicious that there may be some ulterior purpose in the decisions. Before the United States entered World War I and World War II there were long periods of public discussions and debate on the issues. People saw the problems openly argued and thus felt they had a part in the argument. So, when war came, it had their understanding.

Johnson like a good poker player, holds his cards close to his chest. This is good in poker. It is bad for winning confidence in the open, honest quality of your intentions. The young men fighting and dying so valiantly in Viet Nam deserve something better than this.

Interestingly enough, 1941 was also the year that three of the members of 45-1121's present seven-man crew were born.

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel
Where Is 2-Pants Suits Please? NEW YORK (NEA) — "Valentino, live a hundred years." — Jacqueline Kennedy to her couturier as reported by the New York Times.

It was our original intention to put on a funny hat and run around laughing and scratching over that particular remark, with a few side snickers over women's fashion design in general. But, unfortunately, it is not going to work out that way. With Mrs. Kennedy's toast to her dressmaker still rising in our gorges like ipecac, we received an invitation to a ladies' specialty store called Bonwit Teller's for a fashion show — a gala event to open a new men's togs created by French couturier Pierre Cardin.

Needless to say, we did not attend the festivities. Not that we have anything against Bonwit Teller. On the contrary, we hope he lives a hundred years. It is just the idea of a menswear boutique seemed rather alien. And, in fact, the specter of haute couture for men was a bit more than we could stomach. However, as is frequently the way with a specter of this sort, once it appears, you suddenly can see it in every corner. And so, in these few days since our eyes were opened, we have been assaulted from every direction by the revolution in men's styles.

In addition to the French look, it turns out, there is the British look, the American look, and the Italian look. Further, there is the African influence, the Military influence, the Western influence, the Safari influence, and the 1930s reminiscence. There is also the Knicker suit, the Bush jacket, the Mod pants, the fur trim, the plaid slacks, and a whole line of something that is called the Traditional. Well, there is no need to go on with this recitation. Suffice it to say that we have been shocked out of our 43-long and cannot figure out where we were when all this haute haberdashery arrived.

It has always been our understanding that buying a new suit was the easiest thing in the world. You simply walked into the store properly attired and ordered another one just like it. But that apparently is no longer the case. And it seems to us that the change is not entirely for the best. We can, in fact, see great problems arising out of this new union of man and couturier. For one thing, there is the hazard to the national economy. It is hard enough to build a good management team without having to worry whether they are color coordinated. We would also like to know how you can tell at 7 a.m., with your face burning from stypitic pencil, whether you are going to spend the rest of the day feeling French, Italian, British, Af-

THE GUEST PEN: The Blame for Inflation

By ROSALIE M. GORDON
Editor, America's Future
While the American people, particularly the housewife, is beset by rising prices for food, clothing, housing and services — to which is added the rising taxes on the breadwinner's earnings — the politicians and bureaucrats stumble over each other trying to find somebody to blame for the inflation which is reflected in these rising prices. In many parts of the nation the usual scapegoats are dug up — manufacturers, processors, wholesalers, of business generally. The President's chief economic adviser, Mr. Gardner Ackley, joined the chorus last month by calling the steel companies "irresponsible" for raising prices without first asking for a conference with the government — meaning without first getting Washington's permission. Mr. Ackley, of course, is a "new economist" who thinks it is possible constantly to pump oil in the form of government spending into the seething boiler of a heated up economy without it exploding.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman also joined the chorus by telling the people of New York City he would get the Federal Trade Commission to investigate rising, food prices there. This is the same Secretary Freeman who presides over an Agricultural Department that for years has been using government money — which means your money — to prevent a free market for farm products and to keep their prices high to the housewife. It is natural, of course, especially in an election year, for politicians and bureaucrats to try to kid the voters about so serious a subject as inflation which affects everybody's earnings. But there should be nothing complicated in the truth about inflation — certainly not to any citizen who takes the trouble to look at the Washington government's spending figures.

In the last six years that government has consistently, year after year, spent more than it takes in, despite its tremendous tax-take. The cumulative deficits for those six years amount to nearly $3 billion dollars. Bear in mind that this deficit spending, unlike that of private industry, is nearly all non-productive. This is where the blame for inflation lies. And there is no way to stop the inflation save by stopping the government's deficit spending.

Today's smile: A college student told his new girl friend: "Since I met you I can't eat, I can't sleep, I can't drink." She asked: "Why not?" The lad replied: "Because I'm broke."

When we were young the only toiletry sold to men was an occasional bottle of bay rum to be used after shaving, but these days men's toiletries are big business. They have all kinds of lotions, colognes and powders. Now they're going after the youngsters by offering them cologne in sure-to-please bottles and jugs. In our day any boy who smelled "sweet" was considered a sissy. Shopping on New York's Madison Avenue we saw a ski practice machine that can be used in any living room to improve your form and action on the snow slopes. It's a small device that consists of two inclined-rubber-wheeled skis that can be maneuvered like real skis on aluminum rollers.

Thoughts while shaving: The most dangerous of all sports is mountain climbing. Football causes about 15 deaths a year and boxing about seven. There hasn't been a fatality in major league baseball since 1920. Seeing news photos of Veep Humphrey patting a small whale at a California aquarium, we thought that, despite their great size, whales are among the most acrobatic of all marine life. They can leap as much as 20 feet into the air. The most closely-guarded piece of metal in the U. S. is not at Fort Knox, as you might imagine. It is a single piece of platinum used exactly one pound and is used to check all weights in the U. S. It's kept at the Bureau of Standards in Washington. The latest thing in coin vending machines dispenses draught beer. Sports stadiums and arenas will be sporting them this winter. After the success of such record albums as "My Fair Lady" and "How It's Uphill."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADY
Hematoma. Hemiparesis. Terms Used in Strokes
Q—What is an intracerebral hematoma with left hemiparesis? What can be done for it?
A—An intracerebral hematoma is a collection of trapped blood within the brain. Although it may be caused by a direct injury to the skull or by an infection, the usual cause is a rupture of a severely hardened artery — often accompanying high blood pressure. Hemiparesis is extreme weakness or paralysis of one side of the body — in other words, a stroke. The outlook depends on the extent of the damage and the skill of the attending physician. With time and modern methods of rehabilitation many stroke victims make a remarkable comeback.

Q—Please explain in simple terms what is meant by "two areas of amorphous calcification in the left frontal lobe area and meninges; does not appear to be vascular." Is there any treatment?
A—The X-ray examination of the skull revealed two areas of shapeless or irregular calcium deposits in the front part of the brain and in the thin membrane (meninges) that covers the brain but apparently no calcium deposits in the arteries in this region. Without more information I could not presume to say what caused these changes but they are not the type that can be dissolved or removed surgically. Q—Is cerebral arteriosclerosis differentiated from general hardening of the arteries? Do anticoagulants and Ismelin for blood pressure control alleviate the effects of it? Is there always a psychosis with it?
A—Hardening of the arteries affects the whole body but not evenly. Therefore, in some persons the effect is greatest in the brain and in others in other areas. Some doctors give anticoagulants to prevent blood clots in the vital organs but their effectiveness is still in doubt. Guanethidine (Ismelin) will not affect hardening of the arteries but, by controlling high blood pressure, will lessen the danger of rupture in a severely hardened artery. The commonest symptoms of hardening of the arteries in the brain are forgetfulness and easy fatigability. As the disease progresses the symptoms depend on the severity and the brain areas involved. Some victims show mild

Wage and Price Controls
As signs multiply of coming serious economic trouble in America, there is evidence that a desperate administration may resort to wage and price controls to try to stave off the effects of its own actions. Inflation has already become an issue no one can hide or suppress. At the same time, over-expansion of credit has brought about a tightening of the supply of money for loans. These two economic trends could bring about price inflation and economic recession at the same time. This is a very serious threat to every American. The clear cause of our troubles is the heedless, unrestrained spending of the federal government, especially during the last two years, during which federal spenders have thrown all discretion to the winds. The federal budget shot up by nearly 25 percent. Deficits seemed to worry none of these "planners." Federal borrowing to make more spending possible depleted the supply of money for loans and pumped more money into general circulation without any increase in productivity, thus cheapening the dollar and furthering inflation. Now the federal government, which created this crisis, is considering wage and price controls, though never controls on its own spending. Except in war-time, when they are sustained by patriotic feeling, wage and price controls are essentially unenforceable. They make criminals out of honest men. When and if they do work, they simply make the citizen pay still more, in the lowered real value of his wages and profits, for the government's extravagance. And they deny the fundamental property rights of free citizens.

Q—What is the difference between a stroke and a cerebral aneurysm?
A—A stroke is a collection of trapped blood within the brain. A cerebral aneurysm is a bulge in the wall of an artery in the brain. Both can cause paralysis or loss of consciousness. A stroke is usually caused by a blood clot or a rupture of a blood vessel. A cerebral aneurysm is usually caused by a rupture of a blood vessel. Both can be treated with surgery, but the prognosis is often poor.

'YES, DEAR' (The Wall Street Journal)
Sometimes, said the lady of the house, Congressmen don't seem to know quite what they are doing. Um, said the head of the house, seeking a neutral position and hoping she soon would finish his Wall Street Journal so he could have it back. Take, for instance, she said, that House vote on the Federal highway bill. It voted to authorize $1.1 billion for a two-year extension of the highway beautification program. She was, she said, in favor of highway beautification. Um, said the head of the house, patiently. Did the Administration ask for $493 million to battle billboards and roadside junkyards? she asked. It did not, she said. Does anybody really know how much is needed for prettifying the highways over the next two years? No. And yet those Congressmen went ahead and voted to spend almost a half-billion dollars. For what? The head of the house, recognizing a rhetorical question, said nothing. Moreover, the lady of the house went on, last year Congress voted more than 70 million for highway beautification. How much of it was spent? Nobody seems to know exactly, she said. And where was it spent — have you noticed that any highways are more beautiful than they were a year ago? she asked. Um, well, said the head of the house, no. Then how come, asked the lady of the house, our Representatives have voted to spend $493 million more to pretty up the roads, especially when President Johnson has asked for only a little more than $90 million for this year? Imagine, she went on, what would happen if she ran the household that way. The trouble is, she said firmly, handing the newspaper to the head of the house, that there are not enough women in Congress. You are absolutely right, dear, he said, putting the paper back together neatly.

In your fine paper on Oct. 5 I read with much interest the article that pointed out that a Vocational Survey had started, a survey to determine the present and future vocational needs of Pampa. I have noticed for many years the progressive people of the Pampa area have been especially active in efforts to secure anything that would be good for your entire area and at the same time continue to build a bigger and better Pampa. One of your citizens has recently written a most interesting and wonderful book that I notice is on sale in the book stores. The book is "Spataqua Flat," the author is James Waldrop of Pampa. I think this is one of the most authentic pieces of fiction ever written about the people of the Panhandle. I have been thinking the people of the Panhandle should learn about this book and its author. The book was so interesting I read it twice. James Woodward Box 1132 Perryton, Texas

Harvesters Shoot for First District Victory

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

LUBBOCK—Pampa and Lubbock Monterey open conference action in district 3-A's north zone at 2 p.m. Saturday at Lowery Field.

In this, the 11th meeting between the two clubs, Monterey will be a 13-point favorite to stop the Harvesters, winners of three of five games.

Monterey is 3-2 this and has won all previous 10 contests.

The Plainsmen were pre-season favorites to capture the north zone.

Monterey has come far for an inexperienced team with only four regulars back from the 1965 club that posted a 9-3 record and downed Pampa, 40-12.

Coach Jims Odum returned Randy Franks, a 195-pound senior, who has been turned out a fullback, tackle Dennis Phillips, a 195-pound senior; Jimmy O'Jibway, a 180-pound senior, who played tackle last and is a guard this year; and quarterback Jimmy Stiles, 165-pound senior.

Odum has been running Randy Surratt, a 170-pound senior and Scott Cassell, a 169-pound junior at the other backfield slots.

The Plainsmen have Wayne Whitaker, 180 and Les Shipley, 170 and both junior; at ends and 185-pound senior Gary Jones and 195-pound senior Dennis Phillips at tackles with 185-pounder Gary Jones at guard and junior Ted Bell, a 165-pounder at center.

The Plainsmen, who run out of the I formation, like to run off guard and tackle, on both sides and run the quarterback on trap plays and the roll out.

You can look for Stiles to do a lot of pitching to Whitaker and Shipley. Monterey hasn't been scoring a lot but their opponents have been scoring less. The Plainsmen have scored an average of 17.2 points per game while giving up an average of 8.2 per contest.

The Harvesters, shooting for their first winning season in 13 years, have been hobbled by injuries the past two games.

But Eural Ramsy is hopeful that quarterback Gary Hyatt, the club's leading scorer and ends David Martindale and James Matney will be back in action for tomorrow's contest. Matney also does the Pampa punting and is averaging over 40 yards per kick.

Guard Billy Scribner was taken to the doctor Wednesday but will probably be in action against the Plainsmen. Scribner had been bothered with a shoulder injury the past couple of weeks.

Pampa worked hard on their defense this week in an attempt to stop the flow of points that has been scored against them.

In five games the Harvesters have given up 82 points.

In other games involving 3-A teams, Amarillo and Borger meet in a league game tonight as does Plainview at Lubbock and Lubbock at Palo Duro.

Caprock and Tascosa play Saturday in a non-league contest.

Wind is Tough In Sahara Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Old man par, aided by gusty desert winds, had the upper hand today going into the third round of the 72-hole $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament with lucky Bob McCallister nursing a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark.

McCallister, former star with the University of Southern California golf team, made a late start Thursday in the second round when the wind died down a bit and he carded a three-over-par 74 for a 36-hole total of 145.

He had a first-round even par 71 on the Paradise Valley County Club course—an oasis in the Nevada desert.

One stroke behind McCallister after 36 holes was a wealthy Californian, Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, who has won $71,091 this year. Rodgers had a first-round 71, the same as McCallister, and carded a second-round 75—four over par—for 146.

"We were pretty lucky," said Rodgers who played in the same threesome with McCallister and Ray Floyd, St. Andrews, Ill., the first-round leader with a 68. Floyd soared to an 81 in the second round and had a 36-hole total of 149.

The field was cut to 72 golfers after two rounds of this tournament which ends Saturday.

The cutoff point was 157, highest in the memory of any PGA official on the tour. The previous high cutoff this year was 151.

A half dozen golfers withdrew after seeing their scores soar on the wings of the wind.

Arnold Palmer, bedeviled by the wind, had a second-round 60 and a 36-hole total of 151. Also at 151 was defending Sahara champ Billy Casper who has a second-round 78 to go with his initial 73.

Eight pros were tied at 148, three strokes behind McCallister and two back of Rodgers. They included big Jack Nicklaus who had rounds of 71-78; Chi-Chi Rodriguez, the Puerto Rican flash, with 71-77; and George Archer, the lanky cowboy from Gilroy, Calif., with 69-79.

BALTIMORE MANAGER Hank Bauer, left, gave winning pitcher Dave McNally plenty of attention after the youthful hurler blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1-0, as the Orioles swept past LA in four straight games to win the 1966 World Series.

IN SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE

Hogs, Horns in Battle

Texas and Arkansas, who usually play for the Southwest Conference football championship about this time each fall, meet for the 48th time Saturday in Austin, but the complexion of the game is changed.

The winner still may go on to the title, just as history has recorded it over the past seven years, but several other clubs like Baylor, Texas A&M, Southern Methodist, Rice and Texas Christian are in much better position to argue with history.

The Longhorn-Razorback feud, which has been settled by four points or less six of the past seven years, headlines a week end slate that finds SMU and Rice making their league debuts against each other at Dallas. TCU pitted its 1-1 loop record against the Aggies' 1-0 at College Station. Texas Tech (0-3) playing Florida State at Lubbock and Baylor resting on the laurels of its 7-0 upset of the Hogs.

The game, which starts at 2:30 p.m. because of regional television, will mark the first time since 1963 that neither team sports an unblemished record and the first time since 1960 that at least one of them, and usually both, have not been among the nation's Top 10.

Arkansas is now 3-1 for the season and Texas is 2-2 as the result of last week's activity that saw Baylor snap the Hogs' regular season victory skein at 24 and Oklahoma beat Texas 19-10 to end eight years of Texas domination.

The Porkers will be three-point favorites, SMU will be favored by 10 over Rice, TCU by one over the Aggies and Florida State by three over Texas Tech. All but the Texas-Arkansas game will be night tilts.

Texas, which boasts a 1-0 league record to 1-1 for Arkansas, hopes to have sopho-quarterback Bill Bradley back for at least some action and two or three other cripples, may be ready to rejoin the club. Arkansas has no major injuries.

SMU is 2-1 and Rice 1-2 for the season, but both look like real troublemakers for anybody as witness Rice's 17-15 upset of Louisiana State and near upset (27-14) of UCLA and SMU's 27-6 and 21-3 wins over Illinois and Navy against a 3-23 loss to Purdue. SMU will make one major change in starting Mike Livingston instead of Mac White at quarterback, while sensational Robbie Shelton will carry the same load for Rice.

TCU will have a new starting quarterback, too, against the Aggies when sopho Ricky Bridges gets the nod for his fine second half in last week's 6-3 defeat of Texas Tech. He will be opposed by the hottest passing star in the conference, sopho Edd Hargett of A&M.

Tech, out of the title running with an 0-3 record, will be starting a new rivalry against Florida State, which extended eighth-ranked Florida 22-19 last week or a 1-2 season record. The other defeat was to Houston.

Vols Try Comeback Over Rated Alabama

By United Press International
As the song says, "Something's Gotta Give" Saturday when the nation's two stingiest defenses collide at Knoxville, Tenn., for a share of the Southeastern Conference leadership.

Alabama (3-0), third ranked nationally and the national leader in scoring defense with only a touchdown and an extra point going on their opponent's scoreboard, meets Tennessee, 2-1 and second in the nation in scoring defense with only three field goals allowed, to finally settle last year's 7-7 tie at Birmingham.

Paul Bryant's Alabama squad, convincing winner over Louisiana Tech, Mississippi and Clemson, is led by southpaw quarterback Kenny (Snake) Stabler and hard running Les Kelley and Gene Raburn. Stabler, a lean 6-foot-1, 172-pounder, has hit on an amazing 78 per cent of his passes, connecting on 25 of 32 for 348 yards and five touchdowns.

The Crimson Tide's defense, anchored by Cecil Dowdy and Johnny Sullivan in the line and Johnny Mosley and Dickie Thompson in the secondary, will be trying to make life miserable for Dewey Martin, the most prolific passer in Tennessee history with 47 completions in 76 pass attempts for 538 yards and five scores. Martin will be concentrating primarily on his favorite target, Johnny Mills, already well on his way towards being the leading pass receiver in Volunteer records, and Austin Denney, with fullback Bob Mauriello trying to keep the Tide defense honest with a ground attack. Alabama is a six-point favorite.

Ohio State's Woody Hayes claims he'll "abandon his 'three yards and a cloud of dust' ground-attack for the airways when his Buckeyes take on top ranked Michigan State, third nationally in rushing defense at 41.5 yards a game, but the oddsmakers still rate the Spartans an 11 point choice.

Second ranked Notre Dame, second nationally in total offense, is an overwhelming 23-point choice to maintain its waning ways against North Carolina (2-1), but Tarheel Coach Jim Hickey promises, "We're gonna fire everything we've got at em."

Gary Beban and his fourth ranked UCLA cohorts are 21-point choices to dump lowly Penn State and fifth ranked Southern California, headed by Rod Sherman, is an eight point pick over Stanford.

'Dogs Bump Shocks; Junior High Teams Lose Four Games

Pampa's Shockers, winners last week, couldn't catch Plainview Thursday and the Bulldog's B team rolled to a 32-0 victory.

Plainview led 13-0 and half-time and easily increased their lead over Pampa, now 1-6 for the season.

The Shockers threatened twice, moving inside the Bulldogs 20 but fumbled once at the Plainview four-yard line to set up a Dog touchdown.

The Shockers host Lubbock Monterey next Thursday at 4 p.m. in Harvester Field.

Pampa Junior High played four games Thursday and lost all four to out of town opponents. Lee ninth lost their third straight after a season opening win over Memphis. Borger Austin-stopped Lee, 25-20 with a fourth period touchdown with just three minutes left.

Borger jumped ahead in the conference outing 19-0 in the second period only to see Lee storm back for a 20-19 third period lead.

Scott King caught a fumble in the air and ran it back 74-yards for a Lee touchdown and Mike Heskell went in from five yards out and Rick Holman scored from one yard out for Lee's other two scores.

Borger's winning tally came on a 20-yard pass and their other touchdowns came on a returned punt for 60 yards a 20-yard pass play and a four-yard run.

Lee eighth lost their fourth straight, 36-18 to Austin at Borger. Lee went in from 60 in the first period on a 35-yard pass play from Barry Kihnerman to Mike Poole but trailed 20-6 at halftime.

Lee went into the fourth quarter trailing 28-6 but Kihnerman ran 65-yards and 15-yards for fourth period touchdowns.

Pampa's two seventh grade teams played this afternoon with Lee seventh playing at Dumas and Pampa Junior High seventh at Borger Houston.

Celtics Facing Tough Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The world champion Boston Celtics may find it doubly difficult to regain their toll over Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association.

Boston, perennial NBA champ during the last decade, was edged out by Philadelphia for Eastern laurels last season and now has a strong Cincinnati team to contend with as the 1966-67 action opens Saturday night.

The Celtics won eight consecutive world titles under Red Auerbach, but the cigar-smoking firebrand has given way to Bill Russell in the coaching ranks and can only lead assistance now in a capacity as advisor and general manager.

Boston atoned for its loss of zeal at the close of last season and whipped Philadelphia in the playoffs before beating Los Angeles, the Western Division titlist, for the NBA crown.

The Celts, strengthened by the grade of Mel Counts to Baltimore for Bailey Howell, start their 21st NBA campaign against the visiting San Francisco Warriors, who traded off playmaker Guy Rodgers to Chicago for shooting strength manager.

MacPhail Starts New Yankee Job

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quiet, energetic Lee MacPhail started one of the toughest jobs in sports today—the task of trying to put Humpty-Dumpty back together again.

MacPhail was named general manager Thursday by the proudest team in sports history—the New York Yankees, the team which has won 29 pennants and 20 World Series. But the Yanks took their great fall this season when they finished in the American League cellar for the first time since 1912 and MacPhail now has the task of building them back into a contender again.

The architect of the Baltimore Oriole team that swept the World Series in four games this season, MacPhail predicted it will take five years to restore the Yankees to the top of the heap.

"I don't believe the Yankees will be a contender next year," MacPhail admitted as Manager Ralph Houk, standing alongside him, winced. "I think five years would seem to be a more reasonable time, we'll just have to do the job as well as we can."

Most baseball followers figure neither the Yankees nor any other team will ever be able to dominate baseball the way the Yankees used to. Too many of the other teams have now copied the Yankee techniques and also have the financial backing to carry them out. Also, the passing legislation designed to specifically cripple dynasties like the Yankees—such as the draft—have also changed the game.

But MacPhail still hopes to rebuild the Yanks back into a respectable club that can compete in attendance with the Mets, who outdrew the Yanks by 700,000 last year.

Powell was the choice of seven of the 24 writers who participated in UPI's annual post-season baseball survey. Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox was second with five votes and Jack Sanford of the California Angels was third with three votes.

Powell's 1965 slump actually carried over into the 1966 season and he was hitting around .100 in mid-May. His bat wasn't missed because the Orioles were gambling along in first place on the home runs bats of Frank and Brooks Robinson.

Powell began to hit again in late May and from July to the end of the season batted .300. Robinson for the runs batted in leadership. Had Powell not taken up the slack when B. Robinson slumped, it is possible the Orioles' big early lead would have been threatened by either the Minnesota Twins or the Detroit Tigers.

The UPI's 1966 panel of experts was composed of one writer from each of the 20 cities in the majors plus four ning both conversions to give the Warriors a 24-0 first period lead.

Gill scored from six yards out in the second quarter and then ran the conversion and scored again in the third period from 15 yards with Murphy running the conversion.

Jim Moore scored the last Warrior touchdown from one yard out.

The Warriors end their season next Friday when they travel to Tyrone, Okla.

Groom broke a three game losing streak by holding off a Perryton rally to edge the junior Rangers, 22-12.

Kerry Jones went in from six yards out and Kyle Black ran 54 yards and Jones ran the conversion for a 14-0 first period.

Crippled Bucks Host Sunray

WHITE DEER Ratings, or where his White Deer Bucks are rated, doesn't bother coach Sherill Bottoms much, but injuries do.

Bottoms is a very bothered man.

Although his Bucks are the No. 2 rated team in the state in class A with a 4-0 record, Bottoms says they have not been at full strength at any time this season.

"We've had 14 boys out at least one game each so far," the friendly coach stated. "I hope we'll be at full strength sometime this year," he added.

Still out with injuries is end Ronnie Anderson, a 145-pound senior who started last year. Ot Wheeler, 150-pound senior who was expected to spell John Paul Gunn at quarterback; fullback Gary Smith, who has scored four times this year and is a 175-pound senior; Guard Gary Stewart, Burl Pipas, another guard, the area's top scorer in 1965; Bandy Elliott, have all missed games.

Elliott, Stewart, Pipas and maybe Smith will play Friday night.

The Bucks open conference warfare against Sunray (2-3) after a week's idleness.

"It seems injuries just runs in cycles. I know our boys are in good shape but its just things like a broken or jammed thumb, cracked elbow, the flu, bad shoulder. These type injuries keep coming at us," Bottoms said.

Other conference games dot the area schedule with Wheeler playing at Silvertown and Claude at McLean in league outings while Canadian and Clarendon get together at Clarendon for a non-league affair and class B Lefors hosts Erick, Okla. a class C school.

The Bucks have beaten Boys Ranch, Panhandle, Sanford-Fritch and McLean.

Bottoms was gotten in the habit of another injury-hit coach, Daryl Royal, in that he always, when his team goes back to the huddle sees that he's still got 11 players standing up.

Two area teams saw action last night with Miami winning for the first time this season, downing Gate, Okla., 46-0 in an eight-man football contest and Groom beat Perryton B, 22-12.

Ken Gill ran three touchdowns and Deveral Murphy two to pace the Warriors.

Gill went in from 12 yards out in the first period and Murphy ran the conversion then Murphy ran in from one yard and 14 yards with Claude Coffee running both conversions to give the Warriors a 24-0 first period lead.

Gill scored from six yards out in the second quarter and then ran the conversion and scored again in the third period from 15 yards with Murphy running the conversion.

Jim Moore scored the last Warrior touchdown from one yard out.

Picking the winners of football games isn't the easiest thing in the world, for no matter how many you pick, 99% of the time you are going to miss at least one.

Last week we missed two of nine and now have a season record of 45-15-2, which isn't too good in anybody's book.

We'll try to do better this week, so on with the forecast:

BORGER 16, AMARILLO 7—The Bulldogs are still a year away from being a good football team, but evidently someone forgot to tell them.

TASCOSA 21, CAPROCK 14—Shades of Amarillo, the Longhorns are the surprise team of 3-4A and should play the Rebels a good game. But beat them, not hardly.

PAMPA 7, MONTEREY 6—It could be worse, depending on how mad Pampa is over losing to Palo Duro last week. The injury situation has healed and all hands should be ready to go.

CORONADO 21, PLAINVIEW 6—The new team in the district is showing a lot of stuff and the Bulldogs haven't come up to talent they were supposed to have.

LUBBOCK 22, PALO DURO 10—Lubbock knows they have to win this one. The Dons' found out they can win and score but can't against Lubbock, win that is.

PERRYTON 28, LIBERAL, KAN. 10—A good Texas team is better than a good Kansas team anytime, which Liberal isn't.

CANADIAN 28, CLARENDON 0—A true test for the Wildcats to see if they have the stuff to make a comeback after losing for the first time last week.

WHITE DEER 35, SUNRAY 0—The Bucks continue to roll up the points and blank the opposition. See you in the state finals.

WHEELER 31, SILVERTON 8—The Mustangs don't like to lose, especially a conference game, so pitty poor old Silvertown.

MCLEAN 16, CLAUDE 0—The Tigers are a good team and have found winning is better than losing. This is something they will keep on doing.

LEFORS 37, ERICK, OKLA. 7—Actually the score could be worse. The Pirates are picking on an Oklahoma team and not the Sooners either.

Newly Discovered Evidence

Suppose that, after a man is convicted of murder, the "murder victim" turns up alive. Everyone would agree that:

- 1) the jury's verdict was wrong; and
- 2) the prisoner should go free.

Such melodrama is rare in real life. But new evidence of some kind often does come to light after a man has been found guilty of a crime. Does that entitle him, if not to outright freedom, at least to a new trial?

Generally speaking, the law is wary of granting a new trial on the claim of "newly discovered evidence." For there is a distinct danger of fakery. The looming reality of a jail cell may inspire the defendant (or his sympathetic friends) to suddenly "remember" things that never happened at all.

In one case, a convicted rapist sought a new trial on the basis of "newly discovered evidence" that he had been playing poker with his cronies on the night of the crime. But the court denied his request, observing drily:

"Doubtless his conviction stimulated his memory and the memory of his friends."

Furthermore, since a new trial costs money and effort, the law will not grant one if the new evidence is not likely to make any difference in the result. Thus:

A man was convicted of shooting his neighbor to death. After the trial it was learned that the neighbor, too, had owned a gun. But there was no evidence that the other gun had anything to do with the fatal quarrel.

New trial? The court said no, since the neighbor's ownership of a gun simply wasn't important enough to change the verdict.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Among Israel's avowed Arab enemies, none in recent months has been as abusive and reckless as the left-wing regime currently running Syria.

Last July, tired of repeated raids and other provocations from across the Syrian border, the Israelis loosed their air force against the Syrian water diversion project eight miles inside the Syrian border. In the ensuing air battle, a French-built Israeli Mirage shot down a Soviet-built MIG 21.

Last week, four Israeli policemen were killed and two others injured by a land mine he Israelis said he had been planted by Arab agents who wanted more had come from across the Syrian border.

This time, the Israelis went to the United Nations but warned they would take whatever measures they felt necessary to protect their borders and their citizens.

Actually, the Syrian tactics probably are more worrisome to its Arab neighbors than to Israel.

Mutual Hatred
Since 1948 and the declaration of Israeli independence, the single unifying factor among the Arab nations has been a mutual hatred of Israel.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

The political dispute over compulsory unionism and the protest against pressure group domination of the presidential Electoral College will move now from the Congress to the Supreme Court.

The National Right to Work Committee—NRWC—intends next year to press for a Supreme Court rule holding compulsory unionism—the closed or union shop—to be unconstitutional.

NRWC was the red-hot sparkplug of opposition this year to repeal by Congress of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act which protects right-to-work laws in those states which desire to forbid compulsory unionism.

The challenge to pressure group domination of the presidential Electoral College already is headed for the Supreme name of the state of Delaware.

The situation now created in these two fields of political controversy is sweeter than syrup to conservative minded American citizens. American liberals have been loud and often alone in cheering the Supreme Court for its trend toward landmark decisions in field of civil rights. Liberal enthusiasts bubbled high in response to the Supreme Court's rule that legislative bodies must be apportioned on a basis of one-man-one-vote.

Now it is proposed that the court be asked to apply its rules with respect to certain cherished rights to the question of right to work. Delaware's legal proceedings with respect to the presidential Electoral College asks the court to apply the one-man-one-vote rule.

In essence, the trial will be asked in these two cases whether some inalienable rights are righter than others. If a man has a right to vote, how about his right to eat and to work?

Speaking for NRWC, Hugh Newton is circulating this statement: "Recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court in the field of civil rights give us increased hope that we are not far off from ending compulsory unionism via court decision. The NRWC intends to pursue actively in the next year this path to guaranteeing freedom of choice to all Americans."

This statement accompanied an article written by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., for the De Paul Law Review in which the senator argues that the matter of individual freedom versus compulsory unionism is a constitutional question.

Dirksen's argument against compulsory unionism was based variously on the freedom of association guarantee of the 1st Amendment, the due process clauses of the 5th and 14th but more precisely on the 9th Amendment, which states that:

"The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or to disparage rights retained by the people."

In its simplest layman's language, Dirksen's argument is that if there is a right to join a union there also must be a right to refuse to join. This latter is the right to work.

The Supreme Court has had recent opportunities to rule on the legitimacy of compulsory unionism. It has ducked the issue after one such quibble in 1961, Justice Hugo Black said the court would be compelled in time to meet the issue head-on.

That time is almost in sight. The Israelis would be ready to test Israel's deterrent strength.

But Syria has persisted. Noting the attitude of the Arab states, there seems little reason to believe that Israel will rise to the Syrian bait.

From time to time, it seems probable Israel will retaliate against specific incidents but at no time to the extent that it believes other Arab states will feel compelled to join action.

Hussein seemed to express the general Arab view that the only gainer in such a war would be Israel.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Considering how much time, effort and legitimate concern ABC-TV has put into its honorable new experimental series, "Stage 67," it is disconcerting to note how often the network has mishandled it publicly.

The first and major mistake was the righteous, pretentious and "cultural" approach of the early publicity and speeches, which rubbed many persons wrong within the trade—and even within ABC-TV—and failed to serve the ultimate purpose: Drawing an audience, or at least trying to in a sensible way.

But even aside from this, there are little details here and there which add to the indication that the network people in charge are falling at the basic job of protecting this important series as much as possible on every flank.

For example, some days before "Stage 67" presented this past Wednesday's original musical comedy, "Olympus 7-0000," an album of the original cast recording was received by this reviewer, which of course means other copies were sent to persons in similar or allied fields.

Now, "Olympus 7-0000" was clearly far from an exceptional show, and the musical numbers were generally very forgettable. People I have spoken to at ABC-TV even admitted this openly, which means that surely those in charge of promoting and protecting the series and its individual programs knew this in advance if they had any taste.

Therefore, the only result of listening to such an album in

The residential school, a branch of Oklahoma State University, is celebrating its 20th anniversary. Since its establishment, Tech has trained 25,000 persons in crafts and technical courses and has increased the occupations offered to 32 different fields. Students learn both theory and hand skills on instructional equipment valued at six and one-half million dollars.

In 1937, Germany promised Great Britain and France that it would not violate Belgian neutrality.

Playing with fire is literally as well as figuratively dangerous, according to a study of the National Fire Protection Association. Of the 10 most frequent causes of building fires, smoking and careless use of matches led off the list by a good margin. Some 12,000 lives were lost in fires throughout the nation last year, the association reports, and the property loss is estimated at $1.76 billion.

Honest Abe Will Tell

A Lincoln penny will tell you whether or not your tires are unsafe. Simply hold the penny directly upside down. Put it in the tread groove nearest the center of your present tires. Try it in a few different places, at least a foot apart, on each tire. If you can see the top of Abe's head, the tread is worn thin. You are ready for a tire or a set of them.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THEY'RE STEALING YOUR WAGONS, GUYS: Latest snitch by adults is now going on in the slot-rod world. Originally the joy of preteens, first teens, then adults found the little cars fascinating. The toy racing cars, two to eight inches long, with names such as Grand Prix, Black Widow, Fireball, Indianapolis, clock speeds, in relation to their size, of 600-700 miles per hour for real cars.

Slot cars hopped the ocean from Britain to the United States.

Only 10 years ago and now 10 million are sold annually. California first took them out of homes and put them into commercial raceways. Today, there are 3,000 slot raceways across the country. The buglike cars, powered by tiny brushes that pick up the electric current speed along with their fins guiding them in the track's slots. Young adults, old adults and professionals race their cars against each other and look forward to competing for international prizes now totaling over $100,000. The first American champion will win a $5,000 scholarship, a full-sized car and a trip to the international slot car races in France.

NO NEED TO LET ACNE GET YOU DOWN: This time of the year, you get less sun and exercise, sit in closed rooms, are tempted more by sweets. Acne flares up—it's widespread, but most frequent among teen-agers. With a season of dances and social life coming up, unpredictable acne can upset emotionally and cause you to clam up socially.

Now, relief of acne is predictable. Recognition of its major health importance has led to sharp medical progress. Clinics to serve teen-agers only have been set up in many cities, cutting out all candies, desserts, soda isn't always necessary. Most important—comes the word from medical societies—is the application of modern treatment. These stress sulfonamides, antibiotics, estrogens and X rays—as well as antibacterial detergents, thorough cleansing, and super-clean linens. Today's medicine, scientific sources report, "can care all cases of acne within a year." Take it to the doctor.

MAKE ROOM FOR THE COFFEEHOUSE: The 600 commercial coffee houses in America are outnumbered today by private coffeehouses established only recently by young adults in home towns everywhere. The coffeehouse image has been cleaned up. do-it-yourself is the new spirit. Some earooin the basements of homes, other in facilities borrowed from churches, high schools or YMCAs. . . still others have sprouted in vacant stores, theaters and other likely spots. For these new teen coffeehouse clubs, the enterprising founders beg furniture, slap out their own decoration, pay their own costs, lug in their own musical equipment, and charge—but only nominal prices. Taped or group music, dancing, old movies keep these hangouts jumping. But most come to drink coffee and be with friends—some come to study.

Of, by and for young adults, these clubs are a down-to-earth switch on the Bohemian coffeehouse craze. Sure, rum and brandy are sometimes served, but they're strictly nonalcoholic. . . and the popularity of coffee drinks and cider. These new-style mushrooming coffeehouses are the answer to—"Where can we go tonight?"

RUN-AWAY-FROM-HOME FLASH—GIRLS: For the first time in history girls are running away from home in greater numbers than boys, say New York City police, whose previous records show boys have always outrun girls in this pastime. The explanation: "Girls put more, are more sensitive, hold grudges longer." Among the 10,000 names New York chalks up as "missing persons" every year, most now are teen girls. . . But, luckily, four out of five go back after a couple of days roaming city haunts. To the old question, "Why do girls leave home?" police answer, "Because parents are delinquent as well as kids."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The average congressional press aide commands a higher salary than the average newspaper man, and for good reason. Press aides have a keener ear than can be found on ordinary mortals. Take, for instance, that glorious (tragic) day this week when the House passed the bagpipe bill. This bill, which brings joy to (brings terror in) the hearts of millions of music lovers, authorizes free importation of bagpipes.

If also approved by the Senate, it will permit U.S. bagpipers to import as many of the instruments as they please without paying a tariff. All Bagpipes Imported At present, all bagpipes are imported. No bagpipes are produced in this country, which is most (unfortunate) (fortunate).

Removal of the tariff is expected to increase the inflow of bagpipes and, to an even larger degree, increase the output of bagpipe (music) (noise).

It is a well-established fact that the output of bagpipe (music) (noise) does not increase in direct ratio to the increase in bagpipes, the reason being that one bagpipe sounds like all bagpipes.

Shortly after the House acted on the bill, the office of Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., put out a press release quoting the congressman as saying bagpipes were a "bulder of international brotherhood and goodwill."

"Rolljcking House Debate" It said Fascell made that statement "during rolljcking House debate" on the bill. Which was rather strange.

I checked with several newspapermen who were in the House chamber when the bill was passed and none of them recalled being rolljcked. Some said they definitely were unrolljcked.

In fact, they didn't hear any debate at all.

There is, however, a procedure whereby congressmen can have speeches printed in the Congressional Record without actually uttering a line. Speeches, subsequently were printed. I assume the lawgivers conducted the debate entirely writing. This is why I say that congressional press aides have supersensitive hearing. It takes a truly acute pair of ears to be rolljcked by silent debate. If bagpipes were played silently, too, it would indeed be a (pity) (blessing).

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes says that after such an extensive retreat it would seem logical to expect a strong technical recovery. White says a trace-ment from one-third to one-half of recent losses would seem a reasonable hope if no unexpected favorable outside news development disturbs confidence.

R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. says in his opinion the return of the two way market of shorts and a convincing climax in high flyers can be viewed as the most constructive development in some weeks.

Bache & Co. says it feels the manner in which the market handles the next consolidation period could be important but nevertheless, the firm says blue chip leadership is a favorable element that was not present during previous abortive rallies.

IKE'S BIRTHDAY
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrates his 76th birthday today at his Gettysburg farm. The former President planned to spend the day quietly with his family and friends. Ike's son, John, and his wife were in Europe. Eisenhower was reported in good health Thursday. He spent most of the day at his office on the campus of Gettysburg College.

In 1949, Russian occupation authorities set up an East German puppet state with headquarters in East Berlin.
