Inez Heads Toward Haiti

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Inez' murderous 160 m.p.h. winds smashed into the tin-shedged southern mountains of the Dominican Republic today and headed for the "valleys of death" where it could funnel up into the heart of Haiti.

In its wake came mounting reports of devastation wrought by the mighty storm on the French isle of Guadeloupe—23 killed, 500 injured and 10,000 homeless.

At 6 a.m. CST, Inez was battering Dominican Republic's Barahona Peninsula with its awesome winds and hurling 15-foot flood tides into low lying areas. The storm at that hour was located by Navy reconnaissance aircraft near latitude 17.5 north, longitude 71.2 west or about 10 miles east of the southern tip of the Barahona Peninsula.

Red Guards On Rampage Again

HONG KONG (UPI)—A new burst of anti-Western Red Guard activity swept south China as Peking made final preparations today for Saturday's celebrations of 17 years of Communist rule. Reports said Chinese with relatives in the United States and Canada were the main targets.

As the Chinese capital geared itself for a massive rally and demonstration in Peking's "Gate of Heavenly Peace," reports reaching here told of the new turn in the teen-age Red Guard campaign that has led to at least 100 suicides.

A Hong Kong newspaper said Red Guard youths, the vanguard of Mao Tse-tung's "cultural revolution" purges, were carrying out a rampage of persecution against Chinese with relatives in the United States and Canada.

The people have been "subjected to all kinds of humiliation," made to stand before kangaroo courts and often roughed up, the newspaper said in an article based on letters received from the mainland by Hong Kong residents.

The suicides occurred among the residents of Toishan, 65 miles southwest of Canton. Most of those who killed themselves were Chinese with relatives abroad, the newspaper said.

The official Communist New China News Agency (NCNA), meanwhile, reported that buildings on Peking's main square were being repainted and huge new portraits of Mao, Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin and Sun Yat-sen dominated the square.

Police Get Leads In Percy Case

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police followed two promising leads today in the baffling murder of Valerie Percy, 21-year-old daughter of Republican senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy.

Miss Percy was found stabbed and beaten to death in her bed in the family's suburban Kenilworth home Sept. 18. Despite an intensive investigation, police are still without a suspect, motive or murder weapon.

One of the new leads which developed Wednesday was the disclosure that authorities had found a black wool glove with leather palm on the Percy estate the morning of the murder.

The wool of the glove was reported to be similar to the black wool fibers found in the second floor bedroom where Miss Percy was murdered and on a slashed screen door through which the killer is believed to have crept into the home.

The glove was small, and was for the right hand. The mate has not been found.

Senate to Okay Cabinet Office Of Transportation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Quick Senate approval was expected today for a bill creating the government's 12th cabinet-level department—the Department of Transportation.

Little opposition was expected among the election-minded senators whose legislative pace quickened in time with their efforts to finish work and speed adjournment.

The bill would commit $6 billion to organizing the new department which would combine under one secretary the government's role in shipping, aviation, highways and railroads.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, still sticking to his Oct. 15 adjournment deadline, set aside only one day for the measure with debate opening Friday on the administration's $2.5 billion antipoverty program.

When the antipoverty plan is out of the way, sometime next week, the senate will turn to a $3 billion money bill for another year of foreign aid.

By a 65 to 3 vote Wednesday, the Senate approved a $10.5 billion appropriations bill, providing money for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor Department programs. The measure now goes to a House-Senate Conference Committee.

Guardsmen Patrolling Tense Neighborhood

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—National Guardsmen and police patrolled two tense neighborhoods in a "show of force" today to prevent any renewal of the worst outburst of Negro racial strife in the city's history.

Even though the two Negro districts were quiet, police officials declined to say the violence—touched off Tuesday by the police killing of a suspected car thief—was finally over.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, after a brief trip through one riot area, told newsmen he was "sick and tired of this lawlessness."

"We're going to protect the life and property of this state," he added.

More than 80 persons, mostly Negroes, were injured in the two nights of rioting and taken to emergency hospitals. Ten persons were treated for gunshot wounds. Several firemen and policemen were treated for injuries suffered when hit by rocks or bricks.

Police inspectors reported 75 persons were arrested Tuesday night and 90 Wednesday night. Most were charged with inciting to riot and violating the curfew that was imposed to cut short the violence.

Meanwhile, Mayor John F. Shelley appealed to President Johnson and U.S. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz for emergency federal funds to establish a youth job program. In a telegram, the mayor said, "unemployment among youth" was a leading cause of the strife.

Tuesday night's violence was put down shortly after midnight when Brown, from a southern California campaign headquarters, ordered 2,000 guardsmen placed on standby alert.

At midday Wednesday, sporadic outbursts were reported and troops were sent into the trouble zones.

A blaze of gunfire started following a faulty report that a policeman, who actually was hit by a bottle, had been shot.

"Oh, damn them, anyhow," a sergeant shouted. "They've shot a policeman, let's move out. Let's get them."

More than 100 officers grabbed their firearms and headed toward hundreds of Negro youths who had gathered on the street.

A fire bomb exploded near the officers. They fired warning shots into the air and ordered the youths to disperse. When a rifle shot pierced the air, the officers hit the ground and opened fire, wounding several youths in the legs.

Looting, burning and rock-throwing then began in earnest throughout the area. It quickly spread to the Fillmore District. Guardsmen, police and highway patrolmen descended on the areas and ordered everyone

Anti-Poverty Bill Backers Foresee Evening Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democratic backers of the $1.75 billion war on poverty bill today believed they had the opposition on the run. Their strategy was to push hard for victory by nightfall.

Plowing through a score of proposed amendments, mostly from the GOP, the House appeared near passage of the long-stalemate measure authorizing a third year of the high-priority great society program.

For the most part, managers of the bill were able to fend off attempts to trim or radically change the measure.

Supporters of the bill had their big moment Wednesday when they defeated, 143 to 115, a Republican substitute measure that would have stripped the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) of most of the antipoverty functions it now supervises.

The bill being considered by the House was worked up by its Education and Labor Committee and calls for the same total the administration requested but divides it among the various programs a little differently.

The bill would authorize $696 million for youth programs, including $496 million for the Neighborhood Youth Corps with the remainder for a 45,000-member Job Corps; $832 million for community action activities, including $352 million for the popular head start programs; $119 million for job training; $119 million for rural antipoverty programs; $15 million for adult education and literacy courses; and $31 million for OEO administration and the vista volunteers.

St. Louis Negroes Raid Downtown

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Armed police patrols attempted to keep a lid on the explosive racial situation today after Negroes shouting "Black power" raided downtown streets for the fourth straight night.

Roving bands of Negroes—many numbering up to 100 persons—began smashing windows and attacking bystanders following a Congress of Racial Equality sponsored rally at police headquarters.

The Wednesday night rally was in protest of the slaying last Saturday of Russell Hayes, 24, a Negro robbery suspect from East St. Louis, Ill.

A coroner's jury Wednesday returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" in a hearing that was marred by incidents even though police had barred the meeting room to angry demonstrators.

The marauding bands threw stones at passersby, smashed windows and car windshields, and walked over the tops of cars as they meandered along their way.

Three persons were taken to city hospital No. 1, including a white couple intercepted by a large mob of "black power" shouting Negroes adjacent to City Hall.

The mob formed a circle around the car occupied by Dr. Edward Pepper, 26, and Miss Kathleen McKernan, 23, and banged on it with their fists.

Marines Smash Viet Cong Force

SAIGON (UPI)—Furiously fighting U.S. Marines routed a North Vietnamese force from a key hill commanding strategic Communist infiltration routes today and then attacked a second heavily fortified hills fortress.

The dogged Leathernecks pushed on despite serious shortages of ammunition and water. Enemy fire was so heavy supply helicopters had difficulty reaching them. Some of the wounded refused evacuation and returned to the battle.

Officers said 50 Communist bodies had been counted after the first 24 hours of the bloody battling, but UPI news photographer John Schneider reported from the battlefield that about 200 more enemy bodies had been dragged away.

142 Yanks Dead

In Saigon, meanwhile, U.S. authorities reported 142 more Americans died in combat last week, sending the American death toll in Viet Nam to 5,302.

In the air war U.S. jets hit with 100 missions against transportation facilities and supply areas. F105 pilots spotted four Communist MIG 21s, the hottest aircraft in the North Vietnamese arsenal. But the MIGs stayed 15 to 20 miles away and there were no

Peace Hopes Dim Again As N. Viet Nam Denounces U.S.

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese mentors went back to ranting against U.S. imperialism today after raising hopes they might make some concessions to help achieve peace in Viet Nam.

Both radio broadcasts and newspapers from Hanoi denounced recent U.S. peace overtures and said the only way to end the war was for the United States to halt its aggressions.

They made no mention of the possibility raised Wednesday by a top Viet Cong leader that the Communists might be willing to compromise on their key requirement that all U.S. troops be withdrawn before peace talks begin.

The possibility was raised in a broadcast by Nguyen Huu Tho, president of the National Liberation Front, parent organization of the Viet Cong, who issued a new and shortened list of conditions for negotiating peace.

Despite the new outbursts today from Hanoi, Western experts were studying Tho's remarks for indications the Communists are softening their demand for total U.S. capitulation as the price for peace.

Today both Radio Hanoi and the Hanoi daily Quan Doi Nhan Dan charged the United States was trying to cover up its war escalation.

The paper termed the peace proposals advanced by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations last week a psychological warfare move "to cover up their plot to expand their aggressive war in Viet Nam."

Restaurant Operator Gets Demo Vote for Georgia Governorship

ATLANTA (UPI)—Lester Maddox, a onetime fried chicken restaurant operator who battled two decades against integration and "Godless communism" was propelled by a white hot civil rights backlash into the Democratic nomination for governor of Georgia.

Maddox, an ally of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and an outspoken foe of the Johnson administration's "Great Society," swept aside former Gov. Ellis Arnall, a moderate, in an upset. Maddox will face Republican Rep. Howard (Bo) Callaway in the GOP's most serious bid to capture the state in this century.

The Wednesday contest was a runoff between Maddox and Arnall who led a six-man field in a Sept. 14 Democratic primary. In that contest, Arnall outpolled Maddox by a margin of about 45,000 votes.

Maddox rolled up a vote of 419,557 to 356,078 for Arnall with 1,742 of 1,908 precincts reported. The figures also showed Maddox to have swept all but 13 of 123 counties from which final totals were available.

Maddox was formerly owner of "The Pickrick," a restaurant specializing in skillet fried chicken. He once passed out ax handles labeled as "Pickrick drumsticks" to his customers when Negroes tried to integrate his establishment and finally closed it when the courts ordered him to serve them in compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Maddox, hitting his highest point of success of three attempts to capture public office was jubilant and urged Democrats to unify behind him.

"This is a great victory, not for Lester Maddox, but for the people of Georgia," Maddox said. "It is a victory which will enable us to offer to the voters on Nov. 8 a magnificent program for liberty, progress and prosperity."

Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King did not share the former Atlanta restaurant owner's enthusiasm.

"The days ahead in race relations will be confusingly dreary and the nights will be darker than a thousand midnights," King said.

In another race that appeared to go against the backlash pattern, Speaker of the Georgia House George T. Smith, a racial moderate, unseated incumbent Lt. Gov. Peter Zack Geer.

Johnson's Far East Trip Could Be Big

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has made no concrete plans to expand his Far East trip next month but there are indications he may visit a number of countries besides the Philippines.

Informed sources said today that it was unlikely the chief executive would travel 10,000 miles across the Pacific and make only one stop—at Manila for the seven-nation "war and peace" conference on Viet Nam.

Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea and even war-torn South Viet Nam were believed to be under consideration by the President for his itinerary.

During an informal chat with reporters two weeks ago, Johnson offhandedly mentioned that he would some day like to visit the first four countries.

The fifth—South Viet Nam, where more than 300,000 U.S. servicemen are stationed—is only an hour's jet flight from Manila.

Earlier this month he hinted he might make a trip to the war zone. In a Sept. 5 speech at Battle Creek, Mich., Johnson said, "In the near future I plan to meet some who are working the miracles of medicine on far off battlefronts."

The President's reference was to Army, Navy and Air

Plane Strike Averted by Union's OK

NEW YORK (UPI)—American Airlines and the Transport Workers Union (TWU) reached agreement on a new labor contract Wednesday night, averting a major strike affecting service to 44 cities. Union locals were expected to ratify the contract within the next few days.

Company and TWU negotiators met almost continuously for more than 24 hours Tuesday and Wednesday putting together a mutually acceptable package and keeping the nation's second biggest airline flying. American flies 36,000 passengers a day.

The agreement came a few minutes before the 6:45 p.m. EDT strike deadline. The TWU leadership said it would unanimously recommend acceptance by union rank and file who Tuesday had rejected American's latest offer by 6,139 to 186.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

The most political President in recent United States history is stymied and stifled by three political problems beyond his control.

More accurately, these problems are beyond Lyndon B. Johnson's control at this moment.

Johnson is haunted, in order of importance, by:

—A bloody, costly, unpopular war in Viet Nam.

—White voter resentment against Negro demands and Negro violence.

—The politically deadly increase in the cost of living.

These in combination could wreck a presidential reputation. LBJ's frantic efforts to get these monkeys off his back create new problems for the President. He has discovered the Russians, like the Red Chinese and North Vietnamese, scorn his peace feelers. They demand that the United States cut and-run from Southeast Asia in repudiation of all Johnson has said about the necessity for staying there and fighting, whatever the risks.

War spending has zoomed this year by more than $1 billion a month at a minimum. Some say $2 billion. The administration has been compelled to abandon the pretense that this is a cheap little war to be paid for with loose pocket change. Rising costs inflate living costs. But Johnson has not dared to cut welfare state spending to compensate for war costs.

These and other developments have aroused the left wing pressure groups to rebellion against the Johnson administration. These left wingers were recruited by FDR in 1933-36. These left wingers have come to be the dominant element in the Democratic party. They put John F. Kennedy in office. LBJ must keep them to win in 1968.

Big labor's high command has been chilled by Johnson's failure to make good on basic campaign promises. Negro leaders are breaking out of the Great Society corral. They believe that the Johnson administration failed them when the civil rights bill reached the Senate. LBJ cannot sleep free of nightmares when long love and trust him.

Negroes and labor leaders no longer love and trust him. Negroes also are unhappy because the Johnson administration has failed to win home rule for Washington, D.C., where Negroes have a clear majority. LBJ's home rule plan would include a help-yourself invitation to Washington municipal authorities to dip at will into the federal treasury regardless of the constitutional prerogatives of the Congress.

Administration enthusiasm for other civil rights legislation appears to have been weakened by white voter resentment outside the South against increasing Negro demands and flaming Negro violence in the streets.

Johnson watchers are fascinated as the President again begins to manipulate his four-on-the-floor political gear shift. This safety device usually has won elections by permitting quick adjustment of LBJ's political principles to political needs.

Johnson variously has been a New Dealer, a Texas conservative, for and against labor legislation, against civil rights, for civil rights; for filibusters, against filibusters. Although this agility often wins elections it does not always win the voters' lasting affection and trusting confidence.

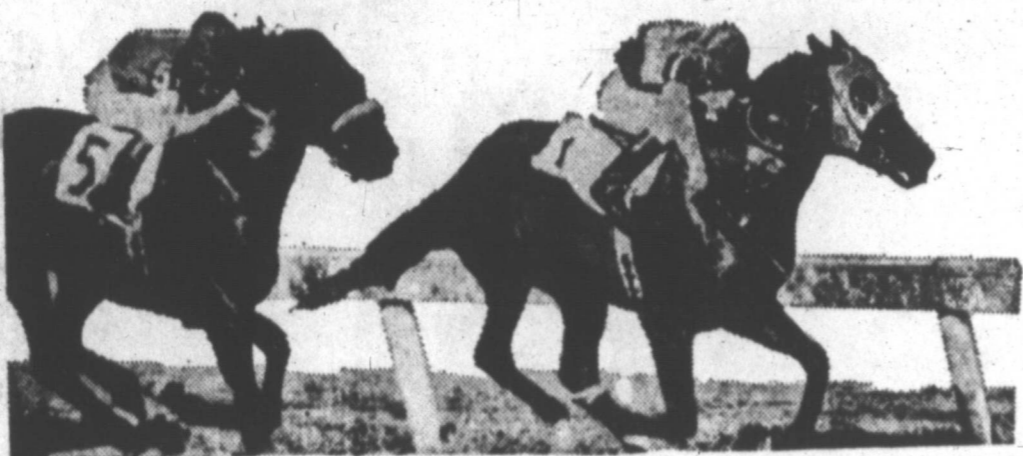

The hard core of Johnson's welfare state political machine is being fragmented by doubt and disappointment. These fragments are disgruntled, distrustful or even revengeful. Our most political modern President must shift gears now faster than ever at constant risks of stripping all.

TOKYO (UPI)—About 3000,000 commuters were stranded during the morning rush hour here today when Metropolitan buses and street cars service was stopped by a strike.

About 4,400 workers of the transportation service of the Tokyo metropolitan government stayed off the job for about three hours to demand an average monthly overtime of about 900.

Youth Injured; 3 Cars Damaged In Morning Crash

A 17-year-old Pampa youth was injured in good condition this morning after the car he was driving collided with another car around 8:45 a.m. at the intersection of 17th and Hamilton then crashed into a car parked in the driveway at 1617 Hamilton, plummeting it into a garage.

Jackie Shaw, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Shaw, 641 Christy was taken to Highland General Hospital with possible leg and internal injuries.

A car, driven by Bill Arrington, 2111 Dogwood, sustained approximately $1,000 damages following collision with Shaw's car.

Police said Shaw, headed south on Hamilton, failed to stop at a stop sign and swerved to avoid collision with the Arrington car, which was heading west on 17th. The impact spun the Arrington car around, facing east. The Shaw car finally came to a stop after crashing into the car parked mid-way in the Lewis driveway on the southwest corner of the street.

According to a police report, the Lewis car was knocked 14 feet into the garage, resulting in approximately $200 damage to the garage door and side of the garage.

The Shaw and Lewis cars were total losses according to police.

Shaw was cited by city police for failure to yield right of way from a stop sign.

Police said Shaw, headed south on Hamilton, failed to stop at a stop sign and swerved to avoid collision with the Arrington car, which was heading west on 17th. The impact spun the Arrington car around, facing east. The Shaw car finally came to a stop after crashing into the car parked mid-way in the Lewis driveway on the southwest corner of the street.

Obituaries

Mrs. Dru Allen - Mrs. Dru Allen, 86, of Dallas, former long-time resident of Pampa, died last night in Dallas.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday in the First Baptist Church at Carrollton under direction of Rhoton-Welland and Merritt, Inc., of Dallas. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Olivia Higginbotham and Mrs. Jaunita Higgins, both of Dallas, and Mrs. Opal Gilmore of Amarillo; a son, Lewis Allen of Reading, Calif., and 27 grandchildren.

Mrs. Anna Leuker Jones - CANADIAN - Mrs. Anna Leuker Jones, 82, Canadian pioneer, died early this morning in Hemphill County Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Canadian First Presbyterian Church with Rev. Fred Dawson of Kansas officiating. Burial will be in Canadian Cemetery under direction of Stickleby Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jones was born April 7, 1884, in Sumner County, Kan. She was married to John H. Jones, Hemphill County pioneer rancher, in 1905 in Canadian. He preceded her in death on June 16, 1912.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Frank McCormie Sr., and three grandchildren, Hobart, John and Frank McCormie Jr., all of Canadian.

Marines

The fighting was part of the Marines' campaign to strangle off infiltration routes through the demilitarized zone. It centered around the "rock pile," a huge hump of jungle-covered rock that overlooks four valleys used by the North Vietnamese to funnel men and supplies into the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

The North Vietnamese were so well entrenched on the second hill they kept firing even after direct hits from supporting U.S. airplanes.

Arnald de Borchgrave, a senior editor for Newsweek magazine, received a slight wound during the battle. Three slivers of shrapnel sliced into his right forearm.

Just to the north of the demilitarized zone Air Force Phantom jets hammered two fuel dumps Wednesday, triggering 14 secondary explosions.

In an unusual report, a military spokesman said cluster bombs, usually used against troop concentrations, were dropped at one of the fuel dumps.

In the Gulf of Tonkin about 25 miles southeast of Haiphong, Navy jets attacked a suspected patrol torpedo refueling base and sent a huge orange cloud billowing skyward.

Committee To Discuss Bringing Santa Here

Plans for Santa Day and a parade will be discussed at a meeting of the Retail Trade committee at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the chamber of commerce conference room.

J. C. Roberts and Ken Shearer are co-chairmen for this year's holiday event.

All retail merchants are invited to attend. Doughnuts and coffee will be served.

Oliver Cromwell was called the "uncrowned king of England."

Collisions Cause Damages To Cars

Minor damage was sustained by two cars in collision at 6:35 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Hobart and W. Francis, according to a police report.

A car driven by Garland C. Davis, 2206 N. Nelson, sustained $40 damages after collision with an auto driven by Robert H. Rutledge III, 1121 S. Hobart, which incurred approximately $35 damages, police said.

Rutledge was cited by city police for failure to yield right of way to a vehicle.

Two cars, driven by Harold Cecil Payne, 943 E. Francis, and Helen Frances Wagoner, 2224 Evergreen, collided at the intersection of 22nd St. and Chestnut at 9:05 a.m. today resulting in $180 damages to the Payne car and $325 to the Wagoner car, according to a police report.

Tommie Wayne Williams and Mrs. Jimmie Mack Williams, both of 1116 S. Barnes, but driving separate cars, were in collision shortly before 8:30 last night in the 100 block of W. Craven.

Police said there was a total of approximately $100 damages to both cars.

Mrs. Williams was cited for driving with no lights.

and with a street sign. The sign was tossed through the windshield but neither was cut. A Negro who attempted to go to the couple's rescue was pulled away and struck by the mob, authorities said.

The woman was treated for shock and Dr. Pepper was kicked in the back.

Numerous windows in a downtown commercial area were smashed by the largest of the mobs before it melted into an apartment project on the city's near west end.

Police, patrolling the area in riot helmets, were stoned by youths who appeared just long enough to throw at the cars before disappearing into darkened hallways, police said.

off the streets. Earlier in the day Negro adult leaders vainly tried to organize "Operation Freeze, Baby" to head off further violence but said later the "kids wouldn't buy it."

Armed with Guards Throughout the day ambulances and fire trucks—all manned with armed guards—raced through the two sections.

When darkness fell, a National Guard helicopter equipped with a huge spotlight flew over one area seeking out snipers on the rooftops.

Late in the night Police Chief Thomas Cahill told Brown and Shelley that the rioting was "under control right now, we have sufficient manpower to keep it that way." But he declined to estimate whether there would be more trouble.

The guardsmen were under orders not to take any chances. "If you are attacked or fired upon, shoot to kill," an officer told them. "Don't fire over anybody's head... you're professional men—take no guff from anyone."

The Mississippi River empties into the Gulf of Mexico 724 billion cubic feet of water every year, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Grapes Are Now on the Market And There's Lots You Can Do With Them

GRAPES IN THE SAUCE: Chicken Supremes with Thompson Seedless Grape Sauce is in the fine tradition of grape cookery, using native American ingredients to create an appealing and imaginative dish. Served with wild rice and a simple salad, it is easy to create, difficult to forget.

This is the height of the season for Thompson Seedless grapes — the sweet green table grapes named after William Thompson, the California farmer who discovered them by a lucky accident 75 years ago. Today, these "white grapes" are easily the most popular of all table grapes eaten in this country, and every one of them is a descendant of the single vine that Thompson planted in a corner of his vineyard "just to see what would happen."

Most people simply eat them right off the bunch in the refrigerator, popping them in their mouths for a snack, putting them in picnic lunches, or serving them as a casual dessert — often with cheese. But like most great fruits, seedless grapes offer possibilities for imaginative dishes. A good many of these, as you'd expect, are easy-to-prepare desserts. Their cool sweetness, uncomplicated by the grit of seeds, make them a flavorful addition to many of the usual foods in the menu. Used whole or halved, they are an easy fruit to prepare. Just wash, drain and remove from stems. Here are a few suggestions for using these appealing juicy berries:

(1) Mix stemmed Thompson seedless grapes with sour cream. Sprinkle brown sugar and cinnamon over top. Serve icy cold.

(2) Prepare orange gelatin and allow to chill until it thickens slightly. Fold in stemmed Thompson seedless grapes and then chill until firm. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

(3) Prepare a cheese cake mix or other favorite chiflon pie. When filling is firm, cover the top with stemmed Thompson seedless grapes.

(4) Melt 1-3 cup strawberry jam and spoon over grapes. Chill until ready to serve.

(5) Add stemmed Thompson seedless grapes to your favorite cole slaw for a bright new flavor.

(6) Mix them up with vanilla or fruit flavored yogurt. Serve 2 cups stemmed Thompson seedless grapes right out of the carton, or in an elegant dessert dish.

(7) Thicken orange juice with cornstarch. Add stemmed Thompson seedless grapes when the sauce is cool. Use sauce over cake slices, ice cream or pudding.

Grape sauce is a perfect companion for chicken and many light meats. Here's a dish that will give any cook a reputation for excellence — yet is as easy to prepare as it is to eat.

CHICKEN SUPREMES WITH SEEDLESS GRAPE SAUCE (Makes 6 servings)

- 6 large whole chicken breasts
- Salt and garlic powder
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 can (6 ounces) whole button mushrooms, drained
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup (1/2 pint) heavy cream
- 3 egg yolks
- Trim excess skin from chicken

breasts. Wash and pat dry. Sprinkle halves with salt and a little garlic powder. In a large skillet melt butter and add oil. Brown chicken breasts on all sides. Drain excess fat. Add button mushrooms and white wine. Cover tightly and simmer for 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. In a saucepan beat cream and egg yolks until smooth. Drain pan drippings from chicken and stir gradually into cream mixture. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens slightly. Stir in grapes. Season to taste with salt. Put hot chicken breasts on a platter and spoon grape sauce over them. Serve with hot cooked wild rice. Like to turn that packaged pudding into something a little

Crispies Keep Cooky Jar Well Filled

School time is also cooky time if there are youngsters in your home. They do double or even triple duty if they go into lunch boxes and then serve as after school and bedtime snacks. This large quantity, refrigerator type cooky has wonderful flavor because of its lard, brown sugar and oatmeal mixture, advises Reba Staggs, home economist. If the cooky rolls are kept wrapped in the refrigerator, they can be baked on quick notice.

unusual? Here's a fluffy dessert that's perfect for family dinners — or for those special guests, when you want to round off a tasty meal with an added triumph at the end.

FLUFFY GRAPE PUDDING (Makes 6 servings)

- 1 package cook type vanilla pudding
- 2 cups milk
- Grated rind of 1 small orange
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 2 cups stemmed Thompson seedless grapes
- 1-3 cup crushed peanut brittle

Cook pudding according to package directions using 2 cups milk. When thick remove from heat and cool. Stir in orange rind. Fold in whipped cream and grapes. Spoon mixture into sherbet glasses. Chill until ready to serve. Just before serving, spoon crushed brittle over top.

Oatmeal Crispies

- 1/2 cups sifted enriches flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 cup lard
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, salt, and soda. Thoroughly cream together lard and sugars. Add eggs and vanilla. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Add rolled oats and nuts. Mix. Form into rolls 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill thoroughly. Cut into 1/4 inch slices. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 8 dozen.

Back-to-School Luncheon Menus

It's time for reading, writing and the new math. To help Mom make her school bound youngsters' lunches as varied as their new curriculum, the Home Economics Department of the H. J. Heinz Company suggests these menu and sandwich ideas.

- Tomato-Soup
- Pickleburgers
- Potato Chips
- Fruit Cocktail
- Milk

- PICKLEBURGERS
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef chuck
  - Salt and pepper
  - 6 large onion slices, 1/4 inch thick
  - 2-3 cup dill hamburger slices, fresh cucumber pickles or India relish
  - 1/2 cup tomato ketchup
  - 2 tablespoons water
  - 6 sandwich buns, toasted

Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Shape meat into 12 thin patties; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place an onion slice on half the patties; divide pickles or relish evenly over onion slices. Top with remaining meat patties, pressing edges together to seal. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake 10 minutes or until browned. Combine ketchup and water; spoon over patties. Bake 10-15 minutes or until done. Serve in toasted sandwich buns. Makes 6 sandwiches.

- Vegetable Soup
- Broiled Tuna Cheese Sandwiches
- Cole Slaw
- Cookies
- Milk

- BROILED TUNA-CHEESE SANDWICHES
- 1 can (9 1/4 or 9 1/2 ounces) tuna, drained, flaked
  - 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
  - 1/4 cup chili sauce
  - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
  - 8 slices toast
  - 1 cup grated process sharp cheese

Preheat broiler. Combine first 4 ingredients; spread on toast, sprinkle with cheese. Place sandwiches on baking sheet; broil 8 inches from heat 3-5 minutes or until cheese melts and sandwiches are hot. Makes 8 open-face sandwiches (approximately 1-1 1/3 cups filling).

- Egg Noodles Chicken Noodle Soup
- Piquant Bologna Sandwiches
- Potato Salad
- Ice Cream
- Milk

- PIQUANT BOLOGNA SANDWICHES
- 1/2 pound bologna, coarsely ground
  - 1 cup finely grated American cheese
  - 1-3 cup relish
  - 3-4 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
  - 12-16 slices bread, toasted

Combine first 4 ingredients. Chill to blend flavors. Spread approximately 1/4 to 1/3 cup filling on half of toasted bread. Top with remaining slices. Makes 6-8 sandwiches (2 cups filling).

- Frankburgers 57
- Campside Beans
- Pickles
- Fruit Gelatin
- Milk

- FRANKBURGERS 57
- Combine 1 pound ground beef chuck with 1 tablespoon 57 Sauce and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Form beef mixture into frankfurter shape. Pan-fry or broil to desired doneness. Serve on frankfurter buns with sauce made by combining equal parts Heinz 57 Sauce and Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Makes 5 sandwiches.

Food Buying Guide
EDITOR'S NOTE: The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this coming weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.)

WASHINGTON (UPI) —As September gives way to October, good news for food shoppers is that pork is becoming more plentiful and will continue to be throughout the coming months. Also, most fruits and vegetables are still in adequate supply.

Boston butt cuts, hams, roasts and spareribs are the outstanding items in the pork supply column. Broiler-fryers and turkeys, along with dry beans, are other mainstays in the protein-buy sections.

Vegetables which should be good weekend buys are: Beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes, squash and tomatoes.

Weekend shopping for fruits should include: Apples, grapes and pears.

Nationally, the best weekend buys in fish are fish sticks and portions, and canned tuna.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 30
GENERAL TENDENCIES: We slip just past the Full Moon and the intense activity of the past day or so starts to wane but there is still sufficient energy granted to make big headway in almost any avenue of expression that calls for an alertness and a realization for a need for changes and new arrangements to make your life more successful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) - Giving that touch without further delay in important plans you have been working on is vital in A.M. Get into matters of both with alertness for the day ahead. This time tonight for recreation you like.

TALIES (Apr. 20 to May 20) - Studying how to get out of dull routines will see you coming up with wonderful new ideas that open up a whole new horizon for you. Expect to be very helpful. Show that you are ambitious.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - If you go your utmost to help others you find that you go up another rung of the ladder of success yourself. Be enthused about social matters that also bring specific interesting persons.

SCORPIO CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) - Show gratitude to one who has helped you or her utmost to help you commiserate on your ideas. State aims very clearly. Find out how you can please the public in general more than you have in the past.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) - Wonderful ideas occur to you that you can work on immediately, but be sure you make notation of others that might later shade you. You can later get into the less serious side of life. Be with interesting persons.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) - Find some new system that will assist you to make your daily routines more pleasant while less tiring. Trust your intuition. A romantic bent can make your evening very pleasant.

Schools' Reading Program Discussed By Elementary Consultant for P-TA

"Reading is the basis of all learning; and if we fail to teach children how to read we fail them entirely, regardless of the number of facts we may give them." This is the philosophy upon which the reading program of the Pampa Schools is founded.

Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, elementary consultant, recently discussed the schools' reading program at a meeting of Sam Houston Elementary School P-TA.

Mrs. Gaut pointed out that reading receives major emphasis in the schools and that every child is given an opportunity to reach his full reading potential.

"Of course, every expert in the reading field has his own pet theories about the best method of teaching the subject," Mrs. Gaut says, "it is important to recognize there is no one best way to teach reading. "At the present time, the Pampa schools use the Reading for Meaning Series written by Dr. Paul McKee and Dr. William K. Durr. It is felt the basal reader method with its carefully built-in phonics system and the consistent stress on meaning is best for most children," Mrs. Gaut reports.

"To supplement the basal reading program, the Pampa schools have joined with the Panhandle Educational Services Organization, commonly known as PESO, to set up special reading improvement rooms to help those children who have reading disabilities.

"This year there are 12 reading improvement stations—one in each of the elementary schools, the junior high schools, and the senior high school.

"Each individual reading disability case is diagnosed and a multi-media technique is used. The variety of approaches is appealing to the unsuccessfull reader and often produces some startling effects on the students' reading habit and vocabulary comprehension.

"If the child's reading disability will permit improvement, he remains in the station until he achieves the reading level of his homeroom. He then discontinues the program, making way for another child who needs the extra help.

"One who is concerned about

Dear Abby... Engaged Couple Has a Lot to Learn

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and my fiance is 20. He is in the navy. When he was home last we became engaged with intentions to marry when he gets his next leave. This meant nearly a year's wait which is a long time for a girl to sit home, so I went out with his best friend. It was not anything serious, just a friendly date, so I wrote my fiance and told him about it.

He wrote back saying he did not want me to date anybody, and if I did, our engagement was off. Well this isn't fair because when he wrote and told me he dated a couple of girls to keep from going nuts, I didn't get mad, so why should he? Where do we stand?

ENGAGED
 DEAR ENGAGED: In trouble. Where I come from, when a couple becomes engaged, neither dates others. But since you don't want to "sit home," and he has to go out to "keep from going nuts," don't look now, but that sound you just heard was your engagement cracking up.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and here is my problem. Our school is having a dance and I would like to go but I don't know how to dance. I don't have anybody who can teach me either. I just don't know what to do because at this rate I will never learn, so how do I get started?

 JEFF
 DEAR JEFF: Since when do you have to know how to dance to go to a school dance? Go anyway, watch the other kids, and do what they do. After shuffling around the floor a while with a girl of your choice, if she does not offer to give you a few lessons, ask her.

Rose Society Meets

Pampa Rose Society held its regular meeting at Jackson's Cafeteria recently. Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell were hosts. The dinner tables were attractively decorated by the hostesses with roses from their gardens.

The invocation was given by Milo Carlson, with Mrs. R. E. Darsey, president, presiding over the business meeting, which consisted of the collection of the "Proof Of The Pudding" reports to Mr. Caldwell, appointment of Mrs. H. H. Boynton as representative to attend the forum on bind weed control sponsored by the Pampa Garden Club and voting on new members.

Dr. Adair, program chairman, introduced H. K. Andrick, a rosarian from Darrousett, who spoke on "Raising Roses in a High and Dry Climate." Mr. Andrick stressed the importance of planting roses in a protected area, behind an enclosed fence if possible, in well prepared, neutral acidity soil. He advised consulting a buyers guide or local reliable dealer for choice of plants as to variety and availability, also types that are most disease resistant. He recommended planting the roses to soak the plants overnight, spreading the roots and tamping the soil firmly around them and mounding 6 or 8 inches until the plants are well started. Mr. Andrick stated that "Medicare" is of utmost importance, covering new plants with straw on removal of mounds, mulching heavily, spraying and watering regularly, and cleaning up beds before winter. A gift of appreciation was presented to Mr. Andrick by Dr. Adair from the Rose Society.

Members present were: Drs. and Mrs. Weldon Adair and Mrs. W. L. Campbell, and Messrs. and Mmes. H. H. Boynton, D. A. Caldwell, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth, R. E. Darsey, Dan Glaxner and Holly Gray.

Guests welcomed included Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Andrick and Mrs. R. L. Wheatly, all of Darrousett.

Control That 'Shoulder Snow'

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—No doubt about it. Spots are "in" this year bigger than ever.

The ones that do the most for you, however, are on coats and jackets and are affectionately called leopard, jaguar, ocelot, cheetah and the big daddy of them all, giraffe.

We'll agree with the big game hunters. These spots are just great.

Not so, however, when the spots turn out to be unwanted dandruff.

Unbelievable as it may sound, dandruff is one of the most common beauty problems in existence.

The causes for dandruff are many and include overactive glands, rich diets, fatigue and perspiration. Many women don't realize the incautious use of hair cosmetics, especially strong bleaches and lacquers, is one of the main reasons, too.

When trying to solve, your dandruff problem be sure to use products that leave your hair not too dry and not too oily. Experiment until you find preparations that leave your hair shiny with a certain amount of elasticity. In other words, avoid products that would rob your hair of its natural beauty.

Not only using the proper dandruff removal products is important. Add to that immaculate cleanliness, daily brushing to stimulate the scalp and massage.

Brushes with soft natural bristles don't scratch the scalp and combs with rounded teeth ends are the gentlest.

Mildly gentle baby shampoo cleans hair effectively and does not upset the scalp's natural chemical balance.

Shampooing once a week if your scalp tends to be normal of dry, and twice a week if your hair and scalp are oily, is recommended.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM, COMFORTABLE, TOO

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at

Designer of Topless Bathing Suit Is Totally Unconcerned With Hemlines

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rudy Gernreich, who two years ago designed the controversial topless swim suit, says he is weary of the current controversy over abbreviated hemlines. "I'm totally unconcerned with skirt lengths," said the California-based designer. "They're not the issue. The issue is flying to the moon, killing men in Viet Nam, teen-agers pouring kerosene over Bowery drifters and setting them on fire."

"Wild," said Gernreich, "that's what it's all about now. Life isn't pretty. Clothes can't be pretty little things. They must be bold—strong. We have to take this terrible world and make fun of it with fun clothes, functional clothes."

Gernreich, in town to receive a repeat Coty fashion award, comments that "ornamentation of the body is the next step in fashion. Fashion has a whole new consciousness of the body, freer than ever before."

Gernreich showed several instances of ornamentation in his new knit wear collection for Harmon, one of four firms for which the versatile designer works.

Triangle cutouts in black plastic with adhesive backing were scattered over the figure exposed by bathing suits almost as nude as his topless. These have the briefest of bikini trunks cut low over the pelvis, bib fronts barely covering the bosom, and backless except for one horizontal skinny strap.

Another Gernreich for beach or patio is in shiny vinyl, a sleeveless and collarless A-line silhouette reaching about mini-skirt or tennis dress length. Underneath it, a bikini bottom in knit, and pasted over bare areas were big plastic circles cut from the garment itself.

"I admit some fashion is absurd," said Gernreich. "But that's the direction of fashion, a bit decadent, like our society a bit decadent. That's what's wrong with French haute couture. It's outmoded, it doesn't apply to what is now."

Gernreich, born in Vienna, came to the United States when he was 16, and has been actively designing for 20 years. Now 44, he does day and evening wear under his own label in Los Angeles, does lingerie for Exquisite Form,

Sundown Opti-Mrs. Presented 'Flower Arranging' Program

"Flower Arranging" was the program presented by J. C. Hopkins to Sundown Opti-Mrs. Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Curtis Griffin at 516 E. 17th St.

Following Mr. Hopkins' address, Mrs. T. L. Garner, president, led a brief business session at which final arrangements were made for a covered-dish supper to be held at Jim's Steak House with members of the Sundown Optimist Club as guests.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mmes. John Fitzgerald, Doug Ward, Sharon Haralson, Jim Bossay, Marvin Holman, Vincent Simon, and T. L. Garner.

Mrs. Jimmy Keel and Mrs. Norman Davis were welcomed as new members.

'Menu for 2001' Discussed for Group

Mrs. Jimmy Hayes was hostess to the open meeting of La Cultura Club in her home 1919 Chestnut Tuesday morning. Mrs. Arnold Wesely, club president, welcomed the guests after which Mrs. Thomas Auwelen led the group in the Federated Club Collect. Guests attending the meeting were Mmes. Dick Seawright, John Bird, Gene Steel, Robert Allison and Freddy Cooper.

"What's on the menu for the year 2001?" was presented by Mrs. Douglas Luedecke. Not only new ways of distributing, packaging, storing and preparing the foods we know today were discussed, but Mrs. Luedecke also told of high quality proteins resembling ham, chicken and beef made from crude oil and advances made in obtaining food products from the ocean.

Pies, cakes and cookies which are "family favorites" of the club members were served from the refreshment table which featured a cornucopia of fall flowers. Recipes for the featured dishes were exchanged by members and guests.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

DON'T WASH THAT DRESS. throw it away! Rumors are running rife that paper is in, laundering is out. Printed shifts made of disposable paper already are being worn on some... a white paper dress with a stock such full paper items as a slinky, kooky silver foil dress that crinkles but does not wrinkle... street-length dresses and at-home hostess' gowns... a white paper dress with a package of colors to splash on your own design... and a football shirt with team numbers for both girls and guys. Heavy accent is on young adult tastes, though items also come in children's and mommas' sizes. Styles feature prints (plum, Paisley, stripes and tweeds;... materials are colorfast, water-resistant... each can be worn about five or six times... May be the future will bring paper pants that can be snipped into cutoffs, then into bathing trunks? A 1967 line is in the works for beach wear, including super-extra (we hope) water-proofed men's swim trunks. So don't throw out your family washing machine yet.

NUDES IN THE NEWS: From Hollywood comes word that more nude actress scenes are coming up in movies being released. The clothesless trend started with the Swedes a decade ago... then, naturally, the French followed with Brigitte Bardot... next the Italians. Hollywood hints of what's to come in the "reveals all" (or "almost all") undress sweepstakes—Jan Fonda, who protested earlier exposures, will in "La Cucco"...

Creating Storage Problem It said the covers were creating a storage problem and that some of them would be sold as surplus property. This was the part that intrigued me. I am wondering what use anyone would have for surplus bomb covers. The GAO didn't describe them but logic suggests they would have a weird appearance. If you wanted to be really crafty, you might make it like a huge barrel with five cylindrical appendages. Then, if a spy came snooping around, you could pretend there was an elephant inside.

wonders if "the incorruptible Italian teen-ager will copy these American habits?"

NOW VENDING MACHINES ARE STALKING YOU: Operators of vending machines, who annually sell tons of quickie merchandise with their pop-a-coin-in, pop-a-Go-Go-ring (or similar item)-out... are eyeing you hungrily. Up until now the vending marketers concentrated on 4-to 10-year-olds. While they want to hold these, now they plan to pull you in by the millions (with your disposable cash in billions) to slip a coin in for such cuties as — decals to decorate fingernails, toes, elbows, and even slap on an eye patch in weird designs. To find (or fend off) this coming vendomat ammunition, watch out for machines which will be aimed at you in spots like— chain and dime stores, supermarkets, highway terminals, services organizations (YMCA, etc.), and "neighborhood teen hangouts". The vending machine marketers have high hopes about you because "older guys and even parents pick up teen-age fads and become customers, too."

SCHOOL STUDYING TIP: To whip up that studying heat, try a cool. Turn to an advantage the chillier days now... this can help your studying. Laboratory research shows the human mind works best at not over 70 degrees — with the optimum range for most of you between 65 and 70 degrees. If the going gets gummy on those textbook pages, check the room temperature. You may well find you do better after you edge the thermostat down... or simply open a window.

Another Distaff Invasion NEW YORK (UPI) — Women, it turns out, have just as much endurance as the man who sells insurance.

More than 6,000 women nationwide are making a living selling insurance, putting a big dent in the once male stronghold. The Institute of Life Insurance says the female writers of policies like the idea of working close to their homes and of choosing hours that dovetail with their homemaking schedules.

In 1789, the U.S. War Department formed a regular army with 700 men to serve three years.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) —Some critics of U.S. defense policies claim America has enough nuclear bombs in its stockpile to kill every enemy two or three times. They call this potential "overkill."
By that I mean we have more bomb covers than we have bombs that need covering. Maybe about $650,000 worth.
The bomb cover surplus recently came to light in a report submitted to Congress by the General Accounting Office (GAO). Permit me to bring you into the picture:
If you were building nuclear bombs and wanted to conceal their size and shape, you would make covers for them. Wouldn't you?
Did The Same
The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) naturally did the same thing.
And if you reached the point where concealment became unnecessary, you would stop making the covers. Wouldn't you?
That apparently is where you and the AEC differ.
In 1960, according to the GAO, "the external dimensions of many types of nuclear

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) —Bache & Co. says it sees a trading range of 840-760 in the Dow Jones industrial average holding sway with the "performance" stocks continuing to assume market leadership. The firm says third quarter results will undoubtedly be an important factor in shaping the near term course of individual stocks.
Thomson & McKinnon says it appears that the dynamic move which characterized the averages in the past several weeks should now be less frequent as the market searches for a solid bottom and prudent selection of attractively valued stocks can be recommended.
Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone Inc., says that in this highly divergent and discriminating market it seems much more realistic to maintain a un equivocally bullish or bearish or pay attention to the performance of the distorted averages.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Help wanted: high school principals. Pay: $20,000 a year for the right man.
Dr. John J. Kelley, director of placement, Teachers College, Columbia University, says such job openings are coming to his attention increasingly. But the right man is difficult to find, according to Dr. Kelley. "If he can fill a large high school job," he said, "he also can fill a superintendency." Many of the prestige superintendencies now are offering $25,000 a year or more, he reported.
In 1918, the Central Powers in the European War were beginning to collapse as Bulgaria signed an armistice with the Allies.

Mercury unleashes Cougar!

Untamed elegance! America's first luxury sports car at a popular price.

This is the day of the Cougar. An entirely new kind of driving machine from Mercury.

Mercury Cougar is a true luxury car. With an ice-cool elegance. With a European flair and thrust to its styling. With a roomy, full-width rear seat! With standard features found, until now, only in expensive cars. Examples:

- Sequential rear turn signals are standard! They flash in three steps (at the rate of 70 times a minute) to point the way you're turning.
- Concealed headlamps are standard! They hide by day and, cat-like, open at night.
- Inside, vinyl-covered bucket seats, cushioned with molded foam, are standard! Wall-to-wall deep-loop carpeting, standard! 3-spoke steering wheel, standard!
- And in a car this luxurious, you'd expect a V-8 engine. Cougar has it. A 289 cu. in. V-8. Compression ratio: 9.3:1. And it uses regular fuel.
- When we say Mercury unleashes Cougar, we mean it. Cougar is a superb sports car. It moves on cat feet. Tracks true. Rides smoother, quieter... such better-idea options as: The price! Less than you'd expect. At previews, people have overpriced by $1,000! We believe Cougar is the best-equipped luxury sports car for the money.
- And at Cougar's price, you can indulge yourself in true. Rides smoother, quieter... such better-idea options as: The price! Less than you'd expect. At previews, people have overpriced by $1,000! We believe Cougar is the best-equipped luxury sports car for the money.

Panhandle Included in Terms Of Colorado River Basin Project

Dear Fellow Texan: The Panhandle and West Texas are included in the provisions of the Lower Colorado River Basin Project Act for complete studies and investigations toward meeting the future water needs of this area. The Colorado River referred to is not the one located in Texas. It is the Big Colorado that rises in Wyoming and runs westerly through several states into Mexico and into the Pacific Ocean. The Panhandle and West Texas, by the terms of this act, are constituted as a major "constituent part of the Southwest". This means that West Texas and the Panhandle are on equal footing with the Upper Basin of the Colorado River, the Lower Basin of the Colorado River and the westerly portions of the State of Kansas insofar as studies and investigations for future water needs are concerned.

The studies and investigations made possible by this legislation, which has recently cleared the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, are primarily directed toward importation of water. "Importation" means not only the basin-to-basin diversion of surface water, but also includes every possible source of obtaining additional water. The Act authorized studies and investigations in all possible fields of solving water-need problems. Studies will be made with reference to conservation and more effective use of existing supplies, increased usability by reduction of pollution, innovations to encourage the highest economic use of water, interbasin transfer, technological advances in all areas including desalting, weather modification, vast water purification, water reuse, and sources such as underground as well as surface supplies, wherever located.

When I first proposed inclusion of West Texas in the studies and investigations sections of the Colorado River Basin Project Act, it was generally thought that I was confining authorization to studies as to the feasibility of bringing water from the Columbia River Basin to Colorado or New Mexico and thence into the West Texas area. I quickly advised that this was only one of the many possible sources to which we in West Texas and the Panhandle were looking. I pointed out that we had in mind full studies of obtaining ample supplies of fresh water whether it came from Alaska, the St. James Bay in Canada, the Missouri or Mississippi Rivers, or whether it came from sources other than surface deposits. The point was made that a full study of underground sources should be made both as to fresh water and water having a mineral content that could be purified by desalting processes now in being. It was also pointed out that the studies might look to man's ability to better control atmospheric conditions. Also much can be gained in better development or purification of polluted water and of recycling and reuse of available supplies.

It might be pointed out that accomplishing the inclusion of the Panhandle, West Texas, and the western part of Kansas in this bill was not easy. The people in the West are all plagued by water shortages and they do not look with great favor on bringing in other areas to divide the pie. However, in our case it was an absolute must that I be successful in including the Panhandle and West Texas in this legislation, because our section of the State of Texas had been virtually orphaned in our own "Texas Water Plan." Frankly I did not like our being left out of the "Texas Water Plan." It has always felt that our section of the State should be included in studies having to do with water problems of the West, and we should not be left out of projects and programs in our own State. We should be included in both. I am indeed proud that by virtue of the "Act" you are now a part of the low committee members of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs that I was able to have our section included in the federal phases designed to help solve the water problems.

Price Lists Three Ways To Aid Oil

PERRYTON — With the world's largest gas field, largest helium storage area, and second largest oil field in the Texas Panhandle, congressional candidate Bob Price Wednesday enumerated three ways he will attempt to help the petroleum industry if elected November 8.

In a noon address to the Perryton Jaycees, Price listed the three principles:

"First, I believe the competition of the market place is sufficient to protect the consumer without government regulation of the price of natural gas at the wellhead."

"Also, there should be greater restrictions upon the importation of foreign petroleum products. Such imports not only reduce the amount of domestic petroleum purchased for domestic use but the Federal government can use its control over imports as a means of controlling petroleum prices."

"Finally, I believe it absolutely necessary that the 27 1/2 percent oil depletion allowance be retained. No only does this allowance serve as an incentive for further development of new oil reserves, which helps the economy, but these reserves also assure the nation of an adequate supply of oil in case of national emergency."

The Family Lawyer

Will Power

When elderly widower Green sat down at the dinner table, he had to unusual companions. At his left sat a favorite cat, and at his right a favorite dog—both with their own portions of food in front of them.

This scene was recalled in the courtroom by Green's disgruntled relatives when, after his death, they challenged the validity of his will. Any man who would dine with beasts, they argued, lacked the mental capacity to dispose of his estate.

But the court held the will valid, since Green had otherwise shown normal acumen in managing his affairs.

How much intelligence does the law require, for a person to have "will power"? At the least, he must have a moderate grasp of:

- 1) What he owns;
- 2) what it means to make a will;
- 3) who are "the natural objects of his bounty."

But he need not be free of all eccentricities.

Thus, the mere fact that a person had slovenly habits, or believed in communicating with the dead, or kept counting his money, or would seldom venture outdoors in the daytime—each of these characteristics has been held not serious enough, in itself, to invalidate a will.

Of course, a combination of eccentricities may add up to evidence that the person's mental capacity is inadequate. There is no reason for the law to carry out the commands of a mind that is not even in command of itself.

Furthermore, an eccentricity weighs more heavily against a will if it has a direct and important effect on what the will provides. For instance:

In 1941, the United States and Britain agreed to send supplies to the Soviet Union to help resist the Nazi invasion.

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS

THAT LED TO OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge

See last paragraph

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.
2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law—only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal." Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International (UPI) — Although the so-called "definitive" national television ratings for the new season won't be issued until Nov. 7, some early statistical estimates are already taking a toll.

Precisely as expected, ABC-TV's half-hour situation comedy, "The Tammy Grimes Show," about an offbeat heiress, has been formally cancelled, and will be replaced a week from Thursday by "The Dating Game," which has had daytime ratings success.

For the uninitiated, "The Dating Game," which will also continue to appear daily in sunlight hours, is described as follows:

Asks Questions
 "A girl contestant asks a variety of questions about the interests, likes and dislikes of three young men who are concealed behind a screen. Their answers enable the contestant to decide which of the three qualifies as her date. The contestant and the escort she chooses are treated to unusual fun-filled dates."

The quick cancellation of "The Tammy Grimes Show" — it has been aired only three times — was a rare case of agreement between critics and ratings. The network originally ordered 17 episodes, and 10 have been shot. The program's opposition was "My Three Sons," starring Fred MacMurray, and "Star Trek," a science-fiction entry.

Other spot ratings scuttled, meanwhile, has it that NBC-TV's "The Hero," a new situation comedy half-hour about a television Western idol who is a bumbler off-screen, is currently not expected to last more than 13 weeks or so.

The competition for "The Hero" is very tough — the Thursday night movies and "That Girl," a new half-hour situation comedy starring Marlo Thomas, daughter of Danny Thomas, as an aspiring actress.

Kwal Great
 If ABC-TV had an obvious lemon in "The Tammy Grimes Show," it also came up with a ratings whopper Sunday night in the movie "The Bridge On The River Kwai," for which it paid about $2 million.

The oscar-winning film, which ran three hours, overwhelmed a time period that included such series as the top-rated "Bonanza," the Andy Williams Show and "What's My Line?" and gave ABC-TV the night, as well as being a certainty to shake up the overall statistics. Such is the power of one huge hit, which is why the financial rewards in television can be so great.

THE WAR on poverty is serious business in Chicago, but one demonstrator took a lighter and more personal view of the problem as she picketed the home of Mayor Richard Daley.

Jellyfish' Sex Life Lets Only Every Other Generation Sting

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The sables to shells, beer cans and crazy quilt sex life of the fish. Jellyfish makes sure that the offspring of those who hounded swimmers this year will turn out sexless and stingless. But watch out for those wild grandchildren stinging season hte following summer.

L. Eugene Cronin, director of the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory, explained to a Senate commerce subcommittee that only every other generation of jellyfish floats around stinging.

Cronin said the jellyfish not only stings but mates in the summer and produce tiny polyps, which attach them

Although the polyps never mate, they reproduce by themselves and this next generation is ready for the stinging season hte following summer.

Cronin detailed the sex life of the jellyfish, and the results of other research, as he testified in support of federal legislation designed to find a way to get rid of all jellyfish —also known as sea nettles.

On The Sports Front
Bud Wilkinson

All athletes are dreamers. As youngsters, they're the kind who sleep in their helmet, or jersey, or any piece of new equipment they've received: It is much more than just a part of a uniform to them. It is the stuff of which dreams are made.

They dream of making the team, and helping it win. And, reluctant as they may be to admit it, they dream, too, of playing a major role in the victories, before the biggest possible audience.

A Little Luck

Rarely do all the athlete's dreams come true. He starts with his grade school or neighborhood team, and progresses through high school and college, and perhaps even to the pros. With each step up, he dares to dream a little bigger, but secretly he strongly doubts that it ever will happen that way.

No amount of success can erase all the doubts. He knows competition becomes tougher with each step up the football ladder. He knows, too, that it takes a little bit of luck along the way — freedom from injury, the right coach to build his confidence, the right timing, the right circumstances.

It all came true for two young men last Saturday when Notre Dame defeated Purdue. Even their most spectacular dreams were fulfilled. If they dream on, and if the dreams keep coming true, it is difficult even to imagine how far they — and Notre Dame — may go in the next three years.

It is an old — and well-verified — story that thousands of youngsters from coast to coast dream of playing major college football, and many of them dream of playing for Notre Dame. Terrance Hugh Hanratty of Butler, Pa., and James Patrick Seymour of Berkeley, Mich., must have dreamed those dreams.

They had reason to. Hanratty was a prep All-American. Seymour won a record 11 letters in high school. Last spring, as freshmen, quarterback Hanratty was named the squad's outstanding back and offensive and Seymour the outstanding lineman.

Saturday, they made their varsity debut by leading the Irish to victory over Purdue. Hanratty hit 16 of 24 passes. Seymour set school records by catching 13 for 276 yards. He also scored three touchdowns.

They Came True

All the elements for having dreams come true were there. The game was nationally televised and was a sell-out at home. Hanratty and Seymour came on the Notre Dame scene in an era that demands good passers and good receivers, and at a time when Notre Dame sorely needed both. Purdue upset Notre Dame last season, and this added extra interest.

And, before the game, Notre Dame's fine coach, Ara Parseghian, told me, "Those two young men can be great. All they need is confidence in themselves. I just hope I've built that confidence to the right degree."

Obviously, he did. Possibly only a coach can appreciate the difficulty of instilling confidence without producing cockiness. Ara seems to have done it superbly.

It has been my rare privilege in my years in football to know young men from every walk of life, from every economic level, from every size of town, who have dared to dream and who have made the dream come true. I think of names too numerous to list, but their stories are basically the same.

There was Jimmy Harris of Terrell, Texas, not a highly sought high school player, who said he always had wanted to play for Oklahoma. He was our quarterback for three years, and we never lost a game. There was Jack Ging, a thin 150-pounder out of Alva, Okla., who introduced himself to me one day and said he was going to play for us. Nobody was more surprised than I was when he did just that.

There were more — many more. They were, in a real sense, like Sam Levenson, the educator-humorist who was born and raised in a New York slum. He said that to escape the slum you had to dream and you had to be lucky.

He added: "Of course, you soon discover that the more you hustle the luckier you seem to get, and the more dreams seem to come true."

There's a message there for athletes, and for every young man. Keep dreaming, keep studying, keep hustling. You may be amazed at how lucky you get...

Scovell Proves Self As Tech Quarterback

LUBBOCK, Tex. — (UPI) — Since John Scovell's first major acclaim this year was for making all "A's" it's no wonder Texas Tech's signal caller has been able to convert a question mark into an exclamation point.

"Questionable," was the pre-season consensus of Texas Tech's quarterbacking after the graduation of Tom Wilson, one of the most successful passers and play callers in Southwest Conference history.

When Guy Griffin injured a knee this month, Scovell — a junior — was the sole surviving Red Raider with any varsity quarterbacking experience. You could count Scovell's offensive minutes on the fingers of one hand since most of his playing time was on defense.

By any measure of a quarterback's ability, Scovell now has established himself as one of the more effective quarterbacks in the Southwest.

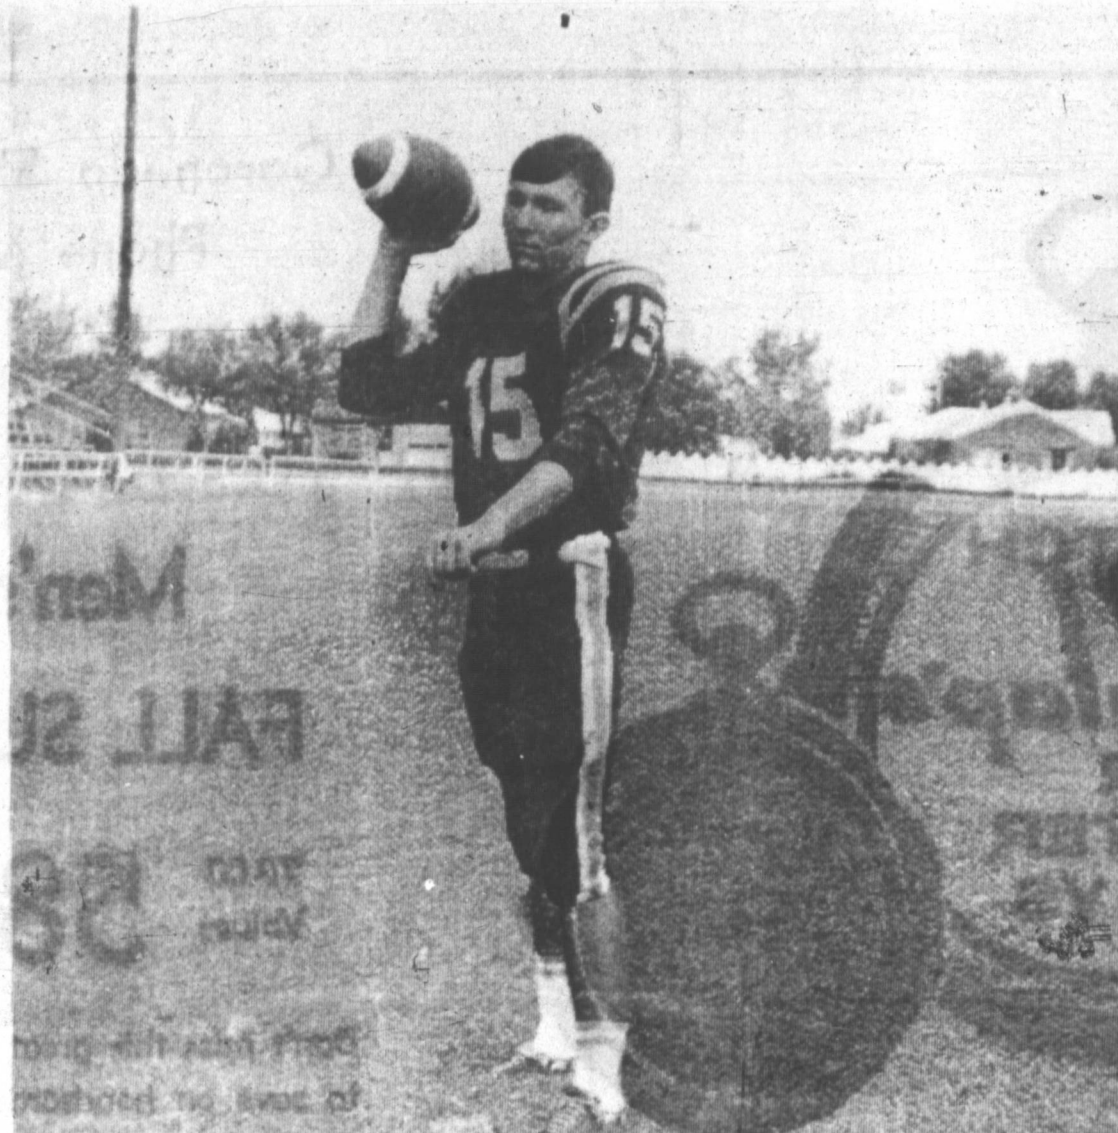

Scovell's debut as a starter came two weeks ago against the University of Kansas. He completed 11 of 20 passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. More importantly, Scovell directed the Raiders on scoring drives of 73, 83 and 78 yards. A half dozen times he faced third down and long yardage situations and produced the first down.

University of Texas decided Tech 31-21 last week but couldn't keep Scovell from amassing 225 yards and two touchdowns on 16 completions out of 37 pass attempts. He guided the Raiders on two touchdown marches of 79 yards each and one of 57 yards.

What's more, Scovell accounted for 50 rushing yards to send his total offense mark to 275. Only one Raider has ever made more yardage in a single game — Wilson with 287 against Arkansas in the final game of his senior season and 28 against Texas Christian.

Speaking of Wilson, Scovell is traveling at a fast clip as far as scoring passes are concerned. Just one touchdown pass against Texas A&M at College Station this Saturday night would let him tie the mark of five Wilson counted for in 10 games his junior year.

ON THE BEAM — Pampa quarterback Gary Hyatt has been on the beam with his passing this season, connecting on 11 of 24. He also leads the Harvesters in scoring with four touchdowns.

HYATT THIRD IN SCORING

Johnson Leads Scorers

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

The 3-4-A scoring leader hasn't changed a bit, in fact, he helped his cause over the weekend adding two touchdowns, another field goal and three extra points. Monty Johnson, the quarterback of No. 1 ranked Tascosa pulled far out in front in the 3-4-A scoring chase in pre-conference activity.

Johnson has six touchdowns, two field goals and seven extra points for a total of 49 points in three games. This means he's scoring at a clip of just over 16 points per contest.

Johnson's nearest competitor is his own teammate Dean Lester who has four touchdowns and a two-point conversion for 26 points.

Pampa has the third best scorer among 3-4-A players in quarterback Gary Hyatt who has tallied 24 points on four goal line crossings.

Hyatt has a one point edge over Ron Chaney of Coronado who has three touchdowns and three two-point conversions and 23 points.

These are the only three players with 20 or more points.

Everybody will have a chance to improve on his point totals Friday and Saturday.

Tascosa will host Bryan Adams of Dallas while Pampa hosts Plainview and Coronado hosts Lamesa.

In other 3-4-A games Amarillo hosts Dumas, Caprock plays at Perryton, Borger hosts Fort Worth Tech, El Paso Coronado plays at Monterey, and Lubbock plays El Paso Coronado at El Paso.

The Pampa Plainview game will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Pampa showing only one injury and that to senior and James Matney, who also does the punting.

Matney, averaging over 40 yards per kick was sidelined Monday with a twisted ankle and his starting status is still doubtful. If Matney is unable to go then halfback Dickie Henley will probably get the punting call.

Ramsey indicated that halfback L. D. Rowden may do some punting also and that Stanley Mathis would do the kicking off.

Wendall Watson, who has been playing most of the time on defense will replace Matney on offense.

White Deer Tops UPI Poll As No. 1 in Class

DALLAS (UPI) — Garland High, Jacksboro, Keller and Dublin jumped into the Top 10 United Press International's Top 10 Texas schoolboy football ratings this week replacing Abilene High, Brady, Ozona and Willis Point.

Generally, there were only minor changes, if any, in the ratings.

The big exception was in Class AAA where Brownwood, defending state champion, moved to the No. 1 spot after the former top team, Dumas, was upset 20-6 by Pampa. Dumas dropped to sixth in the ratings and McKinney, San Marcos, Del Rio and El Campo each moved up one notch to fill in the Nos. 2 through 5. Gainesville, Bridge City, Lockhart and Athens held firm to round out the list.

In AAAA, San Angelo, Amarillo Tascosa, Nederland and Austin McCallum, held to the

Abbott to Miss Indiana Contest

By United Press International

The Texas Longhorns will have to do without Danny Abbott Saturday against Indiana — and maybe for the rest of the season.

The sophomore guard hurt his back in Texas' 31-21 victory over Texas Tech Saturday, but his injury became known only Wednesday.

The Amarillo athlete was rated one of the brightest sophomores hopes of the team and played tight guard in the offense.

His injury was believed to be a fractured disc and Coach Darrell Royal said Abbott was out indefinitely.

Texas canceled further contact drills before the Indiana game because of its many injuries.

More Work Needed

Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas said the Razorbacks looked "just fair — not quite as good as they should" Wednesday.

The Hogs meet Texas Christian Saturday.

"We need both Mike Jordan and Steve Hoehn — and we'll be glad when Hoehn is permanently returned. Hoehn's foot injury is almost healed," Broyles said.

Rice's Owls held a varsity vs. freshman scrimmage Wednesday preparing for the Tennessee Volunteers Saturday.

The varsity offense ran against the varsity reserves in Tennessee defensive formations. The squads worked linemen at full speed, but without contact.

Baylor's Bears elected freshman team captain Wednesday with three former high school stars winning the honors.

They are halfback Bryan Blessing of Dallas Hillcrest, guard Danny Cantrell of McKinney and tackle Richard Stevens of Dublin.

Southall Sharp

The varsity conducted what Coach John Bridgers termed its best workout since before the season opened. He said quarterback Terry Southall looked "great."

Shoendienst Signs Pact

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Red Schoendienst was named Wednesday to lead the St. Louis Cardinals for a third consecutive year.

Schoendienst inherited the Cardinals when Johnny Keane quit after beating the New York Yankees in the World Series in 1964. Last year the team dropped into a seventh place finish and this season holds a grip on sixth place.

No salary terms were announced.

"We are confident that Schoendienst will lead the Cardinals through a successful rebuilding program," owner August A. Busch Jr., said after the announcement.

Schoendienst, 43, a former second baseman with the Cardinals, New York Giants and Milwaukee Braves, presided over this year's "new look" squad. He was given a vote of confidence by General Manager Bob Howsam.

"I am looking forward to a successful season in 1967," Howsam said.

Busch said club officials believe that with Schoendienst' "additional experience" he will be able to complete a successful rebuilding program.

"Our 1967 Cardinals will give a good account of themselves and we look forward to the next season," Busch said.

Pennant Race Is Tight Again as Jaster Blanks LA

By United Press International

The Pittsburgh Pirates' chances for winning the National League pennant are as unlikely as a rookie firing five consecutive shutouts against the defending world champions.

But that's exactly what happened Wednesday night when St. Louis' 22-year-old freshman hurler Larry Jaster stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 for his fifth straight whitewash over the league leaders.

Jaster's continued mastery over the Dodgers plus Pittsburgh's 2-1 and 4-2 doubleheader victory over Philadelphia have suddenly transformed a Los Angeles cakewalk to the pennant into a dogfight.

Held Good Lead

The Dodgers held a comfortable three-game lead over the runner-up Pirates going into Wednesday's action and could have possibly clinched their second consecutive flag by beating St. Louis while Pittsburgh dropped a twinbill to the Phils.

But today Los Angeles' magic number remains at three with four games to go and the Dodgers own a 1½ game advantage over the Pirates, who have only three games left.

Without having to face Jaster this season, the Dodgers would have been recovering from a victory celebration already. But without Los Angeles, Jaster would be just another pitcher today instead of the holder of a major league record.

Snapped Mark

His five consecutive shutouts over the Dodgers snapped the mark of four set by Fred Fitzsimmons over the Cincinnati Reds in 1929. Jaster also tied the standard established 50 years ago by Grover Cleveland Alexander, who blanked the Reds five times but not successively.

"It's really unbelievable," Jaster said after his four-hitter improved his record to 11-5. "I knew about the record but I tried not to think about it. First of all I wanted to win the game and then the last couple of innings I really wanted that shutout."

Elsewhere in the N.L., San Francisco downed Atlanta 5-2, Houston nipped Cincinnati 4-3 after losing the opener 7-1, and Chicago beat New York 4-1 before dropping the nightcap 1-0.

In the American League, Cleveland blanked Minnesota 4-0, Detroit edged California 5-4 in 10 innings, while the doubleheaders between New York and Washington and Kansas City and Baltimore were rained out.

Jaster, blanking the Dodgers 2-0 April 25, 2-0 July 3, 4-0 July 29 and 4-0 Aug. 19, hasn't fared as well against other opponents and possesses an unimpressive 4.67 ERA against the rest of the league. Both St. Louis runs were unearned and came home on Ed Spiezio's fourth-inning double, as the Cards broke an eight-game losing streak.

Don Clendenen slammed his 28th homer of the season in the fourth inning and Steve Blass pitched 4-1-3 innings of shutout relief ball in leading the Pirates to victory in the opener. Manny Mota also drove in a run off Jim Bunning, who had beaten the Pirates five previous times.

In the nightcap, Pittsburgh broke a 2-2 tie by scoring twice in the eighth inning while Bob Veale limited the Phils to nine hits in going the route to win his 16th game.

Gaylord Perry, trying since Aug. 20 to win his 21st game, finally succeeded by stopping the Braves on eight hits behind a two-run homer by Tito Fuentes. The Giants are still mathematically alive in the race but a Los Angeles victory and San Francisco loss would eliminate them.

Don Pavletich and Art Shamsky supported the eighth-inning hurling of Jim Maloney (16-8) with home runs for the Red's in the opener. Ron Davis doubled home Billy Heath in the ninth inning of the nightcap and Houston southpaw Mike Cuellar walloped a home run in raising his record to 12-10.

Ron Santo drove in two runs with his 30th homer in sending Chicago to victory in the first game and Bob Shaw provided the Mets with a split by pitching a six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

Al Kaline tied a career high by stroking his 29th homer of the campaign in the 10th inning following his solo home run in the sixth to secure Detroit's hold on second place in the AL. Dick McAuliffe also connected for the Tigers with a mate aboard in the fifth.

Luis Tiant limited Minnesota to four hits as the Indians prevented Jim Kaat from winning No. 26 and becoming the top hurler in the majors. Tiant, improving his mark to 12-10, singled across a rud during Cleveland's two-run second inning.

Spartans Will Remember Illini

By United Press International

From the governor's office on down, the word in Lansing, Mich., this fall is "remember."

Maybe Michigan State can pick up a few of those "remember" buttons the Notre Dame partisans wore for the year.

But the Spartans, attempting to become the first team to win two straight national championships since Oklahoma did in 1955 and 1956, won't need any buttons to remember.

Haven't Won There

The Spartans can't forget the fact that they've never won a game in Champaign, Ill., where they will play Saturday.

They also can't forget the fact that a decade ago in 1956 they went to Champaign rated the No. 1 team in the country with a 4-0 record on victories over Stanford, Michigan, Indiana and Notre Dame. They can't forget they blew a 13-0 halftime lead in that game after their star runner, Clarence Peaks, was injured and suffered a 20-13 defeat.

UCLA, ranked second, is also expected to win its third straight when it sends Gary Beban against 11th-ranked Missouri in the television feature.

Notre Dame, which is already looking forward to a Nov. 19 date at Michigan State which could be the biggest college game of the year, as it was in 1965, is also expected to win in a breeze when its sophomore passing combo of Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour goes against Northwestern, Coach Ara Parseghian's old team.

In fact, of the remaining top 10 teams, only ninth-ranked Arkansas is supposed to have trouble when it runs into Texas Christian.

Vanpool Back In Saddle Again, Leads Scoring

WHEELER — Hold on there friends an old familiar name has popped up in the area scoring chart and you'll never guess who is the leader after three weeks of play.

Bobby Vanpool? Well, you did guess it didn't you? Vanpool, the 136 pound speedster from Wheeler scored twice in last week's 27-0 victory over Groom to take the lead from McLean's Raymond Baker.

The three-year starter for the Mustangs now has four touchdowns and three, two-point conversions for 30 points.

Last year Vanpool scored 14 touchdowns and eight conversions for 112 points to finish second to White Deer's Randy Elliott.

But Elliott has been bothered by the injury bug this season and has scored only once.

White Deer hasn't been suffering much though, with 12 different players having scored a total of 19 touchdowns.

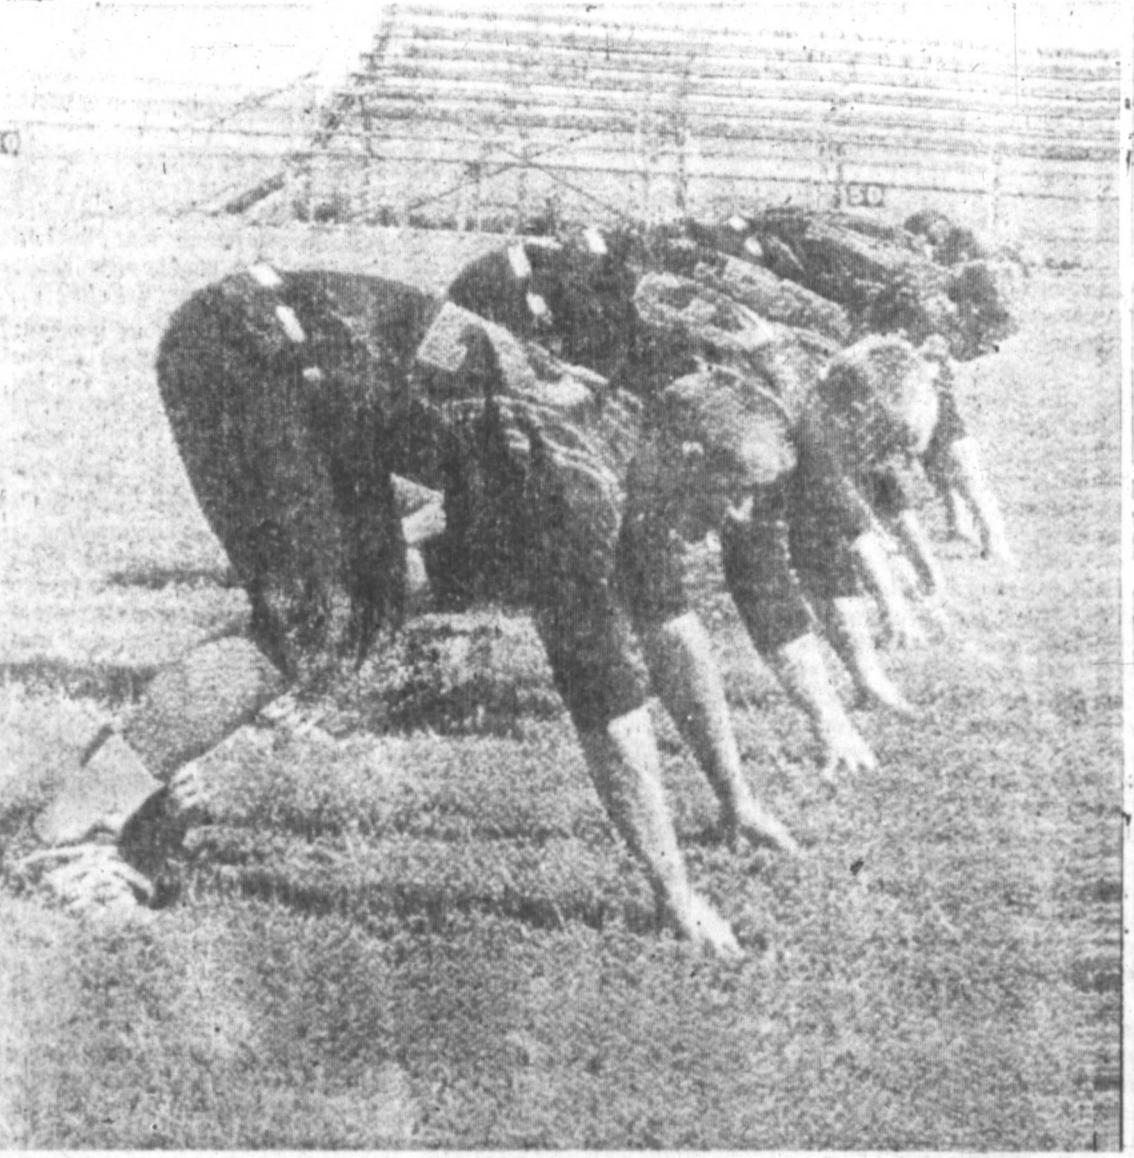

Baker, the Tigers fullback, added another touchdown to his list for a total of four, to go along with two conversions and a total of 28 points for the year.

Third in the point race is Vanpool's teammate, fullback Fred Goad. Goad has delivered four times and added a conversion, a two-pointer for 26 points.

Just two points back of Goad is Johnny Walker and Kenneth Steine, both of Canadian with 24 points each while Gary Smith, White Deer's fine fullback-turned-halfback, who also has tallied three times for 18 points.

Two other players are just under the 20-point mark for the season in Dan Rives of Wheeler who three touchdowns and Verdon Marlar, a fullback-turned-halfback, who also has tallied three times for 18 points.

They'll all be in action Friday night with Canadian hosting Booker. Wheeler playing its fourth straight game at home, hosting Wellington, Groom

ANOTHER TOUGHIE — The Groom-Tigers have met some pretty tough Panhandle teams this season but still have a 1-1-1 record. This Friday will be no exception with the Tigers' forward wall, shown above, ready to do battle with Clarendon Friday night.

Point System To Decide Net Champ

NEW YORK (UPI) — A points system, based on the five major international tournaments, will be utilized in 1967 to determine an "official" world champion of amateur tennis.

Wimbledon and the United States championships, long recognized as the premier tournaments on the amateur circuit, will have the most value. The French championship will next, followed by the Australian and Italian tournaments.

The point system was developed by a committee of New York tennis writers.

plays host to Clarendon and LeFors plays at Silverton.

The big game on the Friday card takes place at McLean where the Tigers host White Deer. Both teams are in class A and both have won their initial three games without a loss.

Tubbs Had to Play Again

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI)— If balding Jerry Tubbs hadn't turned to radio broadcasting, he probably would not have come out of "retirement" to rejoin the Dallas Cowboys as a coach-linebacker.

The 31-year-old Tubbs blamed his radio association with the team as furnishing the trigger which prompted him to renege—just as he has for the past few seasons—on his announced retirement.

Tubbs had signed on with a Dallas radio station (KLIF) to help Cowboy announcer Bill Mercer do the color and analytical comments on the Cowboys' games.

"If I hadn't been with Bill on radio, I wouldn't have given it (the comeback) much thought," Tubbs reminisced.

"You know, there's a special emotion about being part of a team that is hard to give up," he said.

Tubbs recalled that his decision to return to an active career was made aboard a plane flying to Tulsa for an exhibition game with the Detroit Lions.

"I felt like I was halfway warmups with them and halfway on the outside and that wasn't a good feeling," he said.

Then there was the idea that place in his bank account for him might like to close out his National Football League career with more than a decade on a winning note, now that the Cowboys appear to be in a strong position to win the Eastern Division title after having swept aside all five western division foes in the preseason.

rather than a "player-coach," and that he actually might wind up "retired" in spite of all the hullabaloo.

"I'm strictly insurance for Lee Roy Jordan," Tubbs said, referring to the four-year veteran from Alabama who has stepped into Tubbs' shoes as middle linebacker. "Unless Lee Roy gets hurt, you might as well consider my playing days have ended any way."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Ability of Congress...

With overloaded and outdated information gathering techniques, the Congress of the United States must judge the merits of $160 billion budgets, pass on measures minutely affecting the lives, jobs and businesses of 190 million Americans and decide policy that shapes the destiny of the world. The ability of Congress to carry its legislative burden wisely and use its immense power well is a matter that should be of deep concern to every American.

How efficient and effective is the Congress of the United States? Not as efficient or effective as it ought to be. That is the conclusion of a management study report on Congressional machinery by Arthur D. Little, Inc. Commissioned by the National Broadcasting Company for a special television report last year, the study appraised Congressional effectiveness and efficiency in terms of its ability to exercise the legislative power assigned to it by the Constitution, and the extent to which use is made of modern management practices.

The report said, "Congress is burdened by an increasing work load that is an impediment to its effectiveness," and further criticized the national legislature for "... failure to relieve itself of unnecessary work detail." According to the report, the time problems and the overwhelming Congressional work load are, to a great extent, the result of poor scheduling and poor management of the great body itself.

Perhaps most worrisome from the standpoint of Congressional independence was the conclusion that the national legislature does not have the facilities necessary to make an informed and independent judgment of legislation proposed by the executive branch. Growing rather like "Topsy," and following many of the procedures of a bygone age, both houses of Congress need organizational updating. Deficiencies were cited in staff support and analytical procedures necessary for meaningful review by Congress of proposed budgets, legislative programs and fiscal policy.

Practical Economics

At a time when there is real concern that American economic principles are being inadequately taught in schools, it is worthy to note that in Portland, Oregon, Donna-Claire Ringle, a school teacher, is being applauded by parents because she teaches economics in kindergarten through the third grade.

America's Smallest Businessman

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc. has published a short brochure on the right of free men to engage in legitimate business. The brochure is a soundly reasoned defense of the door-to-door salesperson who, it is pointed out, can trace his ancestry to the very birth of our traditional system of free trade and enterprise.

A Turning Point

The defeat of the Johnson administration's civil rights bill in the U. S. Senate properly may be regarded as a turning point in the political life of the United States. Since the 1950s, advocates of "civil rights" have only had to demand new legislation opening up privileges for a minority and the Congress has jumped to obey. Only two years ago, former Sen Barry Goldwater said he believed that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was unconstitutional. He found himself in a political position of great loneliness. His candid, courageous stand on this question unquestionably contributed to his defeat in the presidential race.

But things have changed in two years. Indeed they have changed very much in the last four months. U. S. Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill), the minority leader in the Senate, took an unshakable stand against the Civil Rights Act of 1966. He said that, in his judgment, the so-called open housing provision of the bill was unconstitutional. His stand against open housing proved decisive in settling the bill's fate in the Senate.

What is apparent is that Sen. Dirksen's stand was not only correct in terms of principle but politically wise — perhaps even necessary. The Illinois electorate is in a very different frame of mind from two years ago. Invasion of respectable white-collar and blue-collar neighborhoods in Chicago and other Illinois communities by bands of agitators calling for open housing has caused a re-evaluation in that state. Illinois citizens are tired of harassment by exponents of "black power." They are sick of political leaders in clerical collars who use pious talk to cover up the building of a political machine.

They have come to the point where they aren't going to take any more from the professional disturbers of the peace who incite violence while giving lip service to idealistic goals. In other words, there is in Illinois and other Northern states what newspapermen have come to describe as a "white backlash." Suddenly, it has become a tremendous force in the public arena. Politicians who long have toadied to the "civil rights" leaders are aware of public resentment. This is why the Civil Rights Act did not get through the Senate.

It seems clear that the professional masterminds of the "civil rights" campaign have overplayed their hand. For more than a decade, they used divide and conquer tactics. They managed to persuade many people in the North and West that Southerners who objected to harassment were uniquely evil people. Southerners became hate objects and were the target of innumerable prejudiced analyses on television.

But the divide and conquer tactics aren't working these days. Northern and Western cities have had a big dose of the same medicine inflicted on Southern communities. They have learned that the marchers act as though they had a monopoly on civil rights. Northern judges have had sit-ins on their doorsteps. Northern mayors have been abused by street revolutionaries. Rioters have spilled into the streets of Northern and Western cities in a campaign of terrorism. There has been, in short, a shock of recognition in the North and West — a great awakening. The full meaning of civil disobedience — of civil rights protest — has come to these regions in the form of burned stores, attacks on police and firemen, and in a general reign of terror. It is not likely that the people of these regions will soon forget what they experienced in the long hot summer of 1966.

But an angry reaction isn't enough. There should be a follow-up in terms of a cool appraisal of the whole question of "civil rights." For example, there should be a general acknowledgement that no minority has a right to special privileges above and beyond those enjoyed by the majority. The country needs a new awareness of the danger to traditional freedoms inherent in a ruthless campaign to confer privilege on a few. It isn't enough to defeat an open housing provision. What is important is that the whole concept of the sanctity of private property be reasserted and buttressed anew in legislative form. In the long run, ways and means must be found to get onto the federal bench judges who will uphold the rights of the majority — not simply those of a minority — and who will rec-

Sure, It Was A Great Record—

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

A few years back the only persons who did any scouting on college campuses in the fall were rival football coaches, but these days big business is the chief snoper around the ivy-covered buildings. And they're offering all kinds of inducements to bright young men and women to join their particular organization after they graduate. The scramble for college talent is a fast-growing phenomenon. Once confined to the spring season, representatives of such firms as Firestone Rubber, Standard Oil, the telephone company, electronics, chemicals, and just about every other line commence interviewing likable prospects as soon as they arrive back from summer vacation. One business executive summed it up for all the rest when he said: "We'll pay whatever's necessary to get the people we need." So, if you're in high school or college and have any ideas about quitting—DON'T. If you stick it out for a few years, the chances are good that you can write your own ticket.

Today's smile: A young minister discovered at the last moment he had neglected to invite a stalwart parishioner, a little old lady, to his lawn party. He called to make amends, saying: "Please come. The affair won't be a success without you." She replied: "It's too late. I've already prayed for rain."

The largest amount ever paid for an invention went to Clarence Birdseye for his patents on frozen food. He sold more than 100 of them for $22 million in cash. And it only cost him $7 for a few buckets, some brine, ice and an electric fan to develop his idea, which has become a multi-billion-dollar industry.

Thoughts while shaving: The fastest game in the world is Jai Alai (pronounced Hi Ali). The ball used has been clocked at 150 mph. It's of Cuban origin and has wide appeal in Florida. It's hard to believe, but there's a colony of Mohawk Indians living in Brooklyn, N.Y. They're not at all warlike and most of them earn a good living as steel workers on the high rise buildings. Seems they have no fear of high places, are nimble-footed and like that kind of work. Most of them migrated to the big city from upstate New York and Canada. The most popular sport in the U. S. is fishing, with upwards of 25 million participants. Bowling comes next, with an estimated 22 million trying to knock down the tempins. Hunting rates third, with 18 million gun toters. Of course we've had armal crackers for children for years, but now they're making "people crackers" for dogs in the form of milkmen, mailmen, police officers, dog catchers and burglars. Just the thing to train your pooch and give him an appetite for chewing up a letter carrier or a cop. The Olean (N.Y.) TIMES HERALD headlined a story: "Fresh Dates Are Great." But some gals will tell you they don't like fresh dates.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

WRONG BY WRONG

One night recently a distraught mother called me from Louisiana saying that her daughter had called from Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. to report that a girl had just been raped there in the dormitory. I went to Peabody and was told that a Negro man had gone up to the fifth floor (no elevator) and had assaulted a girl. The girl's screams were heard by the woman in charge of the dormitory who hollered "Where are you?" The girl gave her room number and the woman proceeded to the room. When she got there, she lost her nerve — afraid she'd get hurt! So she ran back down five stories to the lobby where there were three Negro men sitting, waiting for their dates. She told them a girl was being raped, asked them to help, and they indicated they couldn't care less. She then called the campus police. By the time they got there the rapist was gone.

School officials claimed the girl was battered but not raped. The blame was placed on the girl, for not having her room locked. It was before dark when it happened and all dormitory doors are open and anybody can walk in and go upstairs if they proceed carefully. After dark only the front door is open, and anybody can still go upstairs. This little item was not even mentioned by the newspaper and got three or four lines in the other. So what's new about a little rape these days?

J. Edgar Hoover has warned: "The increasing number of sex crimes is due precisely to sex literature madly presented in certain magazines. Filthy literature... is creating criminals faster than jails can be built." We are the only civilization in history which has moved from adolescence to decadence in two generations. In today's America rebellion, sex, aheimism and materialism reign. Pornography is a $2-billion-a-year racket condoned by clergymen, the Supreme Court and most people. If they didn't condone it, they would boycott the guilty—which would include most of the drug stores, cigar stands, movie houses, nightclubs and bookstores in the country. Even a high percentage of movie advertisements are lewd and suggestive, and they are printed by newspapers which sanctimoniously talk about morality on our editorial pages while their advertising department takes the dirty dollars of the movie houses.

The "liberals" have deliberately tried to destroy among our people the ability and the will to choose between old-fashioned ideas of right and wrong, fact and fiction, black and white, friend and enemy. Everything, they say, is relative. Like the old story about the man who was asked: "How's your wife?" He replied: "Compared with who?" Many university professors now proclaim that the rejection of religion is the most hopeful sign of a man's future!

But Christ said: "He who is not with me is against me." Our real problem in education is not too few classrooms — but too many atheist teachers. The "God is dead" preachers say man is God and Heaven is on earth. A teenager rampaging in a Florida beach orgy last spring said the same thing, in different words: "Heaven is acres of babes and a beer truck." When asked as a father to "comment on the loosening morals of our young," President Johnson replied, "From my observation there has been an improvement in morals since my day." In his case, that may be correct. Lyndon Johnson is a self-made man. He started at the bottom and climbed the ladder of success wrong by wrong.

private plots of farmland which, despite official disapproval and heavy taxation, provided three-quarters of all the wheat grown in Yugoslavia last year. But the communists are putting $1 billion a year into collective and "cooperative" farms which show nothing but deficits. They dare not face the truth that only freedom works.

Belt-Cinching Necessary as War Escalates

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. HONOLULU (NEA) — From here it is clear that the war is going to escalate at a steady pace in men and dollars. This escalation will put increasing pressures on the economy. It can no longer be business as usual.

The United States has more than a million men in this war — in the field, including troops in Viet Nam, Thailand, Okinawa, Hawaii, the B-52 bases on Guam, naval men afloat off the Southeast Asia coast and in backup, line of communications and training in the United States itself.

War costs are escalating by $2.5 billion every 90 days. Plans for the post-moon space program are being pushed back because the money is needed for Viet Nam.

We are pouring more than a half billion dollars a year of economic aid into the war areas.

There is no escaping the pressure the growing size of the war will put on the U.S. economy in the next 12 months.

The war is chewing up material at a great rate. Losses in some key types of arms and equipment—including some major plane types—are growing faster than replacements can be produced. This will call for a growing number of major emergency orders.

Shortages in critical materials are putting pressures on prices of raw materials, components and a range of finished products.

There are parallel and growing shortages of men with critical skills in the armed forces and industry.

These shortages and the rising cost of living are pushing labor costs up. These increasing labor costs, in turn, are increasing production costs and forcing prices still higher.

The administration can do great harm to the economy by continuing to play Viet Nam as a life-as-usual, don't-rock-the-home-front war.

The war is suffering because certain badly-needed types of arms and equipment aren't being developed and produced quickly enough. The bogdown is not in the delivery system but in development and production bottlenecks.

The fighting men are handicapped because selected reservists and reserve units with critical abilities and critical training and skills aren't being called up.

At home, inflation next year will be worse. Major labor unions are expected in 1967 to boost their wage increase demands by 20 to 25 per cent above the increases demanded this year just to meet rising living costs.

If the economy is not to get out of hand: —Some tough measures have got to be taken to make certain that essential supplies of skilled manpower and critical materials are channeled to critical war tasks in 1967. —Taxes will have to be raised. —A considerable chunk of non-war government programs will have to be pared.

Wit and Whimsy

The girl student was trying to freeze out the young man who wanted to marry her. Said she: "Mary — Circumstances compel me to decline a marital arrangement with a man of no pecuniary resources." Jerry (stammered) — Er. I don't get you. Mary — That's what I'm telling you!

Collegiate — Open this door, Roommate — Can't, Key's lost. Collegiate — Good gosh! What would you do if there is a fire? Roommate — I won't go.

Jack — Ever buy anything at a rummage sale? Jerry — Yes, I bought back my Sunday pants the last time our church gave one.

A teacher wrote the following remarks on the edge of a boy's report card: "A good worker, but he talks too much." When the card was returned, it bore, in addition to the father's signature, this report: "You should hear his mother."

Communion With The Departed

(Indian Libertarians, Bombay India)
By M. N. THOLAL

It is Nirjala Ikadashi today and I have been asked by my wife to buy an earthen pot, a fan and a few melons for presentation in the temple nearby for the dear departed souls. My first reaction was one of ridicule, but as I saw a procession of men and women wending their way to the temple with these gifts, my thoughts ran back to some thirty-five years ago when I was senior Assistant Editor of the Indian Daily Mail of Bombay under my old chief, F. W. Wilson.

I had just joined the paper when an oldish man came to the office with a request for publication of a news item and the editors referred him to me. He came and put the piece of paper before me and, as I went through it, I could not help smiling. It was a notice of a seance to be held the following Sunday evening on behalf of the Indian Spiritual Society and the man standing before me was the celebrated Mr. Rishi of international fame. Seeing me smile, he asked "You won't publish it?" "Why not?" I retorted. "I know there are lots of people who believe in it, and we serve all kinds of readers."

"But if you care to attend the seance," he ventured in all humility "I will convince you of the truth of the existence of spirits. I will help you communicate with them and you will know from their answers to your questions that no one else could have answered those questions." I felt intrigued and amused. "But I must warn you," I replied, "that I am an atheist, and perhaps your spirits will not respond to an atheist's questions." "No, no. They will. Your faith has nothing to do with them," he rejoined. "Among our members are Christians, Muslims, Jews, Parsis, to say nothing of Hindus. Everyone who wants to communicate with the dead is welcome to our seances."

Only a few months earlier I had lost my sister and my sister-in-law. My thoughts naturally went back to them and I agreed. I noted down the address and he told me what bus to catch from where. As I reached the place, I found a cosmopolitan gathering of about a dozen people, solemn and earnest, sitting round a few three-legged tables. Among them were Europeans, Anglo-Indians, Parsis, Gujaratis, Maharrattas and Muslims. As soon as Mr. Rishi saw me he came forward to indicate my seat, saying, "We'll have our seance in quiet after the gathering has dispersed."

Hardly had I taken my seat when a table started jumping of its own accord, without any one being in touch with it. "Good Heavens!" I said to myself, and, finding that Mr. Rishi was looking at me, I asked him, "What is this?" and he replied in a matter-of-fact voice, "An evil spirit." The table went jumping to a corner of the room before it stopped jumping and the surprising part of the feat was that it did not lose its balance and fall. It was as if a drunken man was trying to balance himself on his feet and was tilting from side to side in attempting to do it, just with this difference that he was jumping in the bargain. I held my breath. No one else felt surprised. They were used to such sudden visits from evil spirits. My ahelms was receiving the biggest shock of his life. "This is no joke," I said to myself. "This is no fraud."

with." I thought of my sister and then of my sister-in-law and then again pointing to me, he said in his broken Hindi, "let the table rise once." The table rose once. "Please write down your name," said Mr. Rishi, and the planchette wrote down a name in Hindi. It was my sister's—not the name I, her younger brother, used to call her by but the name given her by her parents.

Mr. Rishi questioned me with his eyes as to who it was and I whispered, "My sister." "Have you anything to say to any one here on this earth?" "No," she answered with the movement of the table. "Not even to your husband?" I asked, naming him. "No," she replied with a double movement of the table, and the planchette started moving and writing. "I saw him a few days ago and had a pleasant talk with him." "What does this mean?" I asked Mr. Rishi. "It must have been in a dream," replied Mr. Rishi. "If you write to her husband, he will be able to confirm it." I did. Back came the answer that it was true. He still remembered that happy dream.

She had nothing further to communicate and I asked her if she could send my sister-in-law, my brother's wife. "She is standing by," she wrote, "to talk to you." The answer sent the shivers down my back. Mr. Rishi was there to render his expert assistance and he said, "Write down your name." She wrote down her name. "Have you anything to say?" asked Mr. Rishi. "Yes," she said and the planchette started moving and writing: "Ask my daughter . . . to read my Ramayana every day." Her copy of the Ramayana had been preserved in her prayer room as a mark of respect for her but nobody had been reading it. As I thought over the request later, some good reasons came to my mind as to why she should have made the request. I had thought that she would inquire about her youngest daughter, who was a child when she left us. But she did nothing of the kind. Her Ramayana was farthest from my mind.

Then I remembered the Jewish offerings that were made to make her life beyond happy. A five-figure sum had been spent to provide her soul with everything that a human needed; jewelry, bedsteads, utensils, clothing of all sorts, cereals, fruit, everything that she used here on earth was loaded there to make her happy. Her daughters insisted on the ceremony and my brother yielded to please them. "Have you received everything that was sent you?" I asked. "Yes, everything that was sent," the planchette wrote, "but no pan." As I knew nothing about the matter except that every conceivable object had been provided, I mentioned to her daughters, my nieces, when I met her a soon after, that my sister-in-law told me that you had forgotten to put pans among the offerings. "Oh, yes," they cried, "we forgot the pans altogether, and she was so fond of them!"

Altogether it was a shattering experience for an atheist like me. I had been asking for proof all my life and here it was, provided unmistakably, all of a sudden, by a chance meeting with Mr. Rishi, President of the Indian Spiritual Society. Mr. Rishi had never known me. There was no question of his finding out something and then supplying me with answers as from spirits. Mrs. Rishi was handling the planchette with me. Even if she was a thought reader, the answers were farthest from my mind. I did not know until my nieces told me that pans were not among the large number of offerings whose list I had taken them weeks to prepare. I was in fact only an amused looker-on, with hardly any interest in this wasteful superstition, as I then called it.

And then a strange thing happened at the poojah that went on for hours before all these odds and ends were considered to be on their safe journey to Heaven. A little Ladakh lap dog that I had brought with me from Kashmir lay on the wooden frame of the door of the room where the ceremony was proceeding. It lay there for hours because it was not allowed to go into the room and, as soon as the poojah was over, it breathed its last, without showing any signs of illness. Every one said it was my sister-in-law who had come back to life in the form of that lap dog to attend that ceremony. I laughed at what they said then, but ceased laughing at it after that seance at the Indian Spiritual Society in Bombay.

Last Word at Every Board Meeting

Creative Federalism

(The Freeman)
By LEONARD E. READ

Every promoter wants an attractive label regardless of what goods or services or ideas his package contains. So, we sometimes find pronounced discrepancies between the label and the content. The word liberal, for instance, once fairly labeled those who favored the liberation of the individual from government domination. But this attractive and desirable label has since been expropriated by those favoring what the original liberals opposed—until it now means nothing more than a liberality with other people's money.

Creative federalism is one of the newer masterpieces of labeling. Creative conjures up man's highest aspiration; federalism, in the American tradition, calls to mind the separation of powers, the checks and balances against unlimited political authority, always with a view toward maximizing the freedom of choice of the creative individual. Taken together, the two words constitute a semantic tour de force. Each word, however, has been lifted from its traditional setting and made to adorn a concept of opposite content. Yet, a certain rationalization supports the use of both creative and federalism in the current context. To see the substance beyond the label, we must examine the rationalizations.

Federalism here, of course, denies the historical concept. In stead of the Federal establishment having only those powers specifically ceded by the people and the states—really their agency and nothing more—the new federalism aims at the states having such powers and monies as are coded by the central government, a reversal of roles, with citizens as mere wards of the government. This proposed new relation between national and local governments still may be deemed a type of federalism, but lost entirely is the original emphasis on the dignity of the individual.

But just how can the word creative be rationalized in this new strengthening of the governmental monopoly at the national level? The Erosion of Capital. The states and municipalities, as well as the Federal government, have the power to impose direct tax levies. But political expediency limits the percentage of the people's wealth that can be obtained in this manner. Beyond a certain point—usually when the total tax exceeds the 20-25 per cent level—the voters revolt; they'll have no more of it. Thus this method serves to put a crimp in spending and to keep governments within bounds, more or less. But the Federal government—alone among the more than two hundred thousand units of government in the U.S.A.—has a way of creating funds beyond what can be collected by direct tax levies, out of this air, seemingly! Not only is it now creating all of the funds it wants for over-expanding Federal activities, but it urges the use of these Federally created funds upon the lesser governments. Indeed, foreign governments are urged to feed at its cornucopia. Because the desires of governments are insatiable, the program is not difficult to sell. More than anything else, "his 'creativity' accounts for the shift in political sovereignty from the states to the central government.

ENTERTAINERS — Terry Scoggin, left, 1816 N. Wells, and Robert Lee Shackelford, 2129 Lynn, freshmen music students at Frank Phillips College at Berger, are rehearsing numbers to present during the luncheon at the Frank Phillips College-Newsfoto Seminar scheduled to be held in the Fine-Arts building of Frank Phillips College on Saturday, Oct. 8. More than sixty invitations have been sent to high schools and colleges over the entire Panhandle.

Screening Meet For Prevention Of Blindness Set

A Glaucoma screening program for citizens of Amarillo and surrounding areas who are thirty-five years of age and over will be held on Thursday, Oct. 6th from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the City of Amarillo Potter-Randall Health Unit, 411 Austin. The screening is being co-sponsored by the Panhandle Branch—Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the seven Lions Clubs of Amarillo, in conjunction with the Potter-Randall Medical Society. Serving as volunteers in the program will be members of the Lions Clubs and their wives, members of the Amarillo Delta Gamma, city and county health nurses, and members of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association, District No. 2. The tonometry tests will be administered by local optalmologists (medical eye doctors), serving as a public service. Glaucoma . . . strange sounding . . . could be the title of a song . . . or the name of a racehorse. It is a leading cause of blindness in adults. One out of every eight blind persons you meet, is blind from glaucoma. Glaucoma—a treacherous eye disease which occurs most often in people 35 years of age and over—usually is a gradual, painless loss of side vision, of which you may be totally unaware. Early detection of this disease, from which some one million persons are now suffering, unrecognized, is of vital importance. Once vision is lost from glaucoma, it can never be restored. However, if detected and treated in time, medical science can check the progress of the disease with simple surgery or medication. Symptoms which may suggest the presence of glaucoma are: frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory; loss of side vision; blurred or foggy vision; rainbow-colored rings around lights; inability to adjust eyes to darkened rooms. Having these symptoms does not necessarily mean a person has glaucoma—on the other hand, these symptoms might not even be present and a person still could have early glaucoma.

Guards Accused Of Smuggling

CANON CITY Colo. (UPI)—A prison guard and a kitchen steward were accused Tuesday of smuggling "pep pills" into the Colorado State Penitentiary. Warden Wayne L. Patterson said both men had been fired. He said they were tripped up with the help of a prison inmate who agreed to help prison officials. Patterson identified the two men as Sgt. William A. Jones, 43, a guard for the past four years, and kitchen steward Obie Mc Donald, 36. The warden said Jones brought amphetamine drugs, also known as pep pills, into the prison in a bottle. He said the other man used a cigarette package to get the drug inside prison walls. Irsi was a symbol of Christianity in ancient times.
