

Republicans Sweep Polls in National Election

Reagan, Rockefeller Lead G.O.P. Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans roared back with a vengeance today from their 1964 election disaster, grabbing enough House seats from Democrats to scuffle or reshape President Johnson's Great Society.

Lenning Unseats Judge Bill Craig In Biggest Upset

By TEX DEWEENE
The biggest upset in yesterday's election in Gray County was the tumbling from power of County Judge Bill Craig by Republican Sherman R. Lenning.

Shortly before noon today with only about 300 votes still to be counted in Pct. 10, the county Courthouse box, Lenning had been elected.

Infantry Stops Cong Guerrillas

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. infantrymen fought off charges by screaming Viet Cong guerrillas from four sides and killed 293 in fierce fighting in the War Zone C jungles, a military spokesman said today.

Units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, supported by pinpoint aerial bombardments, beat back the attackers trying desperately to seize a helicopter landing area in three hours of battling Tuesday.

They also elected or returned to office some potentially powerful men who will figure large in the choice of the 1968 GOP presidential ticket.

Other winners who automatically became potential kings or king-makers were Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Sens.-elect Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Charles H. Percy of Illinois.

Reagan promptly phoned Romney and suggested that they work together to accomplish on a national level what they had done in their own states.

In Massachusetts, the Republicans elected Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, the first Negro sent to the U.S. Senate since Reconstruction days following the Civil War.

Abraham Is Winner in 84th District

Republican Malouf Abraham of Canadian was an easy winner over Democrat Seibert Worley of Shamrock yesterday in the contest for state representative.

The total vote at noon today with only 600 votes remaining to be counted in Ochiltree County showed:

Tower Stifles Carr's Bid; Demos Hold Statehouse

Bob Price Wins Seat in Congress

By RON CROSS
Democrat Dee Miller said, "We got a late start and we had a lot of work to do. I don't believe we will reverse the trend."

Republican Bob Price said, "I think this election proves the people of Texas want a two-party system and that they are tired of the present administration."

Thus, at 11:15 p.m. Tuesday Miller conceded defeat to GOP candidate Price in the race to become the representative from the 18th Congressional District.

Texans Approve 15 State Amendments

DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas Constitution, a cumbersome document changed 163 times in the last 90 years, got 15 new amendments in Tuesday's election.

One proposal failed. Proposal No. 4, which would have increased the terms of office for conservation district officers, went down to defeat 403,753 to 424,496.

The opposition claimed permanent registration would be better and that by passing the amendment, it would be extremely difficult to change in the future.

The poll tax abolition amendment and all others all passed easily, by margins of up to almost 250,000 votes.

Democrats Hold 21 Congressional Seats in State

DALLAS (UPI) — Houston oilman George Bush and Pampa Rancher Bob Price won Congressional seats Tuesday to put Texas Republicans in the best shape since the 1964 "Lyndon Landslide," despite a sweep by Democrats of the state's other 23 seats.

Bush considered by some more liberal than his Democratic opponent, narrowly defeated the former Harris County district attorney, Frank Briscoe.

Price, who lost to Rep. Walter Rogers in 1964, kept a 55 per cent lead most of the night to win over Dee Miller, 33, of Amarillo in the Panhandle District 18.

Incumbent Dallas Reps. Joe Pool, 35, who gained prominence in defying a federal court injunction against hearings by the House Un-American Activities Committee, and Earle Cabell, 60, both won reelection.

Gov. Connally Wins An Easy Re-Election

DALLAS (UPI) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., a modern day version of David, slew the Goliath that is the Texas Democratic party Tuesday and swept to victory, retaining the seat that was formerly held by President Johnson.

While Democrats took every other statewide contest with ease, Tower, a diminutive former college professor, outpolled his opponent in almost every major city in the state.

With less than 50 per cent of those eligible voting, Tower carried two Republican congressmen with him into the 90th Congress, and the state GOP elected its first state senator in modern Texas history.

Republicans George Bush of Houston and Bob Price of Pampa defeated Democratic opponents to give the GOP the same representation in Congress it had before the 1964 "Lyndon landslide" virtually buried the party in Texas.

Tower's defeat of Democrat Waggoner Carr, who is completing his second term as state attorney general, virtually spells political death for Carr.

SEN. JOHN TOWER

Preston Smith and the other Democratic statehouse officials all easily won reelection. Democrats also took virtually all the state legislative seats, giving up only one Senate seat in Houston to the GOP and three House seats scattered across the state.

The significance of the victory by the 41-year-old Tower is seen in the fact that he is the first Republican to win a major office in a Texas general election in over 75 years, or since Texas regained control of their elections and chased the carpetbaggers out at the end of Reconstruction.

Republican State Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. of Dallas hailed Tower's win as a victory "against such tremendous odds."

President Johnson was against us, Gov. John Connally was against us, the lieutenant governor, the speaker and many other Democratic politicians were against us," O'Donnell said.

Victor's Wife Takes the Tense Pace of Election Day in Stride

It was a radiant Marty Price, wife of the new 18th District congressman, who stepped off a plane around 1:30 a.m. this morning at Perry Lefors Airport.

She and her husband had left his Pampa headquarters for Amarillo just a few hours earlier, when victory seemed imminent. They were flown over by Dr. and Mrs. Bill Wallace to make television appearances there.

The children went off to classes in Stephen F. Austin school, as usual: Janice to the first grade, Carl to the third, grade and Grant to the sixth grade.

At 7 p.m. the couple made an appearance at campaign headquarters where friends and workers were having a pre-victory dinner.

Things went as usual yesterday at the Price's home, 2135 Charles. The new congressman's wife was born in Missouri, but was (See VICTOR, Page 2)

Pampa Anchors Nigeria-Bound

TORIS J. WILSON
News Staff Writer

Well, you see, it was this way. It was a slow afternoon in the News room... we were just there... doin' nuthin' when the telephone rang. H. O. Darby, owner of Pampa Foundry, on the other end of the line asked, "How would you like to have a story about our making anchors in Pampa?"

"You mean," we asked, "those things that are used on ships... instead of brakes?"

"Well, Mr. Darby," we hedged knowing him to be a conscientious businessman, "do you really mean anchors? Is there a market for them in this part of the country?"

"No exactly," he replied, "but come on down and I'll show you what I mean."

This we have to see, we mumbled as we gathered up notepad, pencil, camera, and lot of doubts.

But it's all true... they are making anchors in Pampa down there on South Somerville St. It's an intriguing operation to watch... casting 20,000 pound anchors.

Anyone who has dabbled in ceramics will easily understand the operation... only its on a larger scale, of course.

First the pattern for the anchor was drawn and scaled by a Pampa foundry employe, Armando Mayeda... the first model was made of wood.

After the pattern met all specifications, were tested and okayed by a prospective customer, the first anchor was cast.

The wooden pattern is inserted in a large steel vat. Then ground sand is blown in and around the pattern under high pressure forming an almost-ike cement hardness.

The pressurized sand contains several foundry materials including pitch, bentonite, ground coal and wood flour... all the ingredients needed to keep hot metal from penetrating the sand, when it is poured into the mold, and to keep its shape.

The wooden pattern is removed after the pressurized sand is in place. A void is left when the wood pattern is removed... and it is into this that the molten-iron is poured at a temperature of 2600 degrees (F).

Since iron sinks as it cools, a feeder at the top of the vat replaces the shrinkage.

Twelve hours later, the anchor is removed by crane from the vat to a cleaning area, where it is left to cool before slag is removed.

Two anchors have already been shipped to Houston. Four more will be ready for shipment Thursday with six more contracted to be ready by November 15.

The anchors made in Pampa will see service in off-shore drilling operations in Nigeria, West Africa. They have been contracted for by the J. Ray McDermott Inc. of New Orleans one of the world's largest off-shore drilling companies. McDermott's lays off-shore pipeline for major oil companies. Pampa's anchors will be used on barges that are engaged in this work.

The anchors will go from here to Houston where they will be shipped by boat to Nigeria.

(Smith's Studio)

WEIGH WE GO — H. O. Darby, owner of Pampa Foundry, left, and Jimmy Morse, an employe of E. M. Keller Trucking Co., oversee the loading of the first anchor off the foundry assembly line. The anchor, destined for overseas off-shore drilling operations, is 8 feet by 15 feet and weighs 20,000 pounds.

Board To Turn Attention To Crowded Classes

Pampa Independent School District trustees will continue discussion of portable classrooms for Travis School at a board meeting Thursday morning in the superintendent's office.

The portable classrooms have been under consideration by the trustees to alleviate crowded classroom conditions at the school. The board is also considering the feasibility of transporting students from Travis to Houston by bus in lieu of purchasing or leasing portable classrooms.

Other agenda items slated for discussion Thursday morning include a report on school-ground lighting; approval of local textbook committee for 1966-67 as appointed by administrative staff and needed building construction as reported by Andy Anderson, School Plant Division of the Texas Education Agency.

The board is also expected to hear a report from Dr. John

Pampa Gets Light Snow

Overcoat time again for the Texas Panhandle was forecast by the Amarillo Weather Bureau today.

Light snow was falling in Pampa at noon today and forecasters were calling for a chance of more light snow and a cold wave warning tonight. Lows tonight are expected to be in the upper teens with high for Thursday only in the upper 40s.

This will be quite a contrast compared to Tuesday's high of 73 and overnight low of 29.

The Weather Bureau said there was a 20 per cent chance of a few snow flurries today and tonight.

O'Donnell also said he believed the election "shows that the Belden Poll in so far as politics is concerned, attempts to mould public opinion rather than measure it." He said as late as August the statewide poll showed Tower with only 33 per cent of the vote.

Although Carr led the voting in 118 counties to 136 for Tower, the junior senator carried all the big population areas. The city vote in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth alone gave Tower a 64,000 plurality.

Nearly all the counties carried by Carr were small in the population bracket, and many of them he took by less than 51 per cent. His best showing was in some South Texas counties where, for instance, he carried Duval county with 94.9 per cent, Starr 81 per cent, Brooks 76 per cent and Laredo 77 per cent.

Lenning

reed, 5 at the City Hall in McLean and 11 at Phillips Camp. Craig did not carry a single polling place in Pampa. Lenning was victorious in Pets. 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13 and 14. They included boxes at Baker School, Grandview, Laketon, Horace Mann School, Woodrow Wilson School, Lamar School, Milliron Engineering Co., and Travis School. At 11 a.m. today Lenning was leading in the Pct. 10 Courthouse box, 425 to 321 with about 300 ballots still to be counted.

Craig last was elected in 1962 when he defeated Bill Watson by around 2,300 votes. Watson went down to defeat in yesterday's voting when Ed Anderson, Democrat, easily won the Justice of Peace post in Pct. 2.

Political observers were advancing several reasons today for Lenning's win over Craig. Some called it a "backlash" from Craig's battle with A. J. Carubbi Jr. for the Democratic nomination for county judge.

Craig was forced into a runoff with Carubbi after a five-way May primary race. Craig won the June runoff by 8 votes. But the election was contested. The contest was thrown out of district court and Craig was declared the winner. Carubbi carried the case to the Court of Civil Appeals where he won a recount of ballots because some 70-odd Republicans voted in both the GOP and Democratic May primaries. When the Republican ballots were taken out and counted it was discovered more of them had been cast for Carubbi than had been cast for Craig, so Craig was the final winner of the nomination by only 16 votes.

Some of the bitterness left from the fight for the Democratic nomination, some observers suggested, was carried over into yesterday's voting for county judge, and aided in Lenning's victory. Others were inclined to a belief that Lenning had everything going in his favor with the heavy Republican vote polled in Gray County because of the intense interest in the Bob Price-Dee Miller congressional race. Price carried his home county by a heavy margin, with the possibility that many Price voters rubbed off on Lenning.

But the "backlash" from Craig's mid-summer battle with Carubbi for the nomination seemed to hold first spot in the thinking of those trying to figure out what helped Lenning to win. Add to this the fact that Lenning was by no means the "pushover" candidate some Democratic leaders thought he would be. Lenning had much going for himself on his own. With the results in, it is a certainty that many Democrats voted Republican in the county judge contest. Lenning said this forenoon he was "happy for the whole ticket."

Republicans

Republican gain of 40 to 50 House seats would not affect U.S. foreign policy.

The Republicans rode to victory on assorted issues ranging from war worries to high prices and the white backlash. The backlash effect was muted, however, and cut both ways. Many Republicans pitched their campaigns against Johnson and big "one party" government and said a better balance was needed in Congress.

Democratic strategists privately were shocked at the outcome, although publicly they sought to minimize their House losses. They characterized them as a return to what they now were picturing as the pre-LBJ "normal" margin between Democrats and Republicans.

But the fact was they had figured to lose only 25 to 35 House seats, as the inevitable product of a non-presidential election. Since 1912, when the House membership was fixed at 435 the average loss of the party in power in off-year elections has been 36 seats.

Incomplete returns showed the Republicans had elected 174 candidates for the House and led in 11 other races for an indicated total of 185, compared with the 140 they won in 1964. The Democrats won 242 and led in 8 contests for an indicated total of 250, compared with their 1964 total of 295.

In the Senate, where 35 of 100 seats were at stake, the GOP won 16 seats and led for 1 other for an indicated total of 17. The Democrats won the other 17 Senate seats. With 47 holdover Senators and 18 Republicans, the indicated new Senate split was 64 Democrats to 36 Republicans. The present Senate lineup is 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans.

With 35 of 50 governorships at stake, the Democrats won 10 and led in 2 races, giving them an indicated total of 25, counting 13 holdovers. The GOP won 20 governorships and led for 3 for an indicated total of 25, recounting two holdovers.

Two Democratic giants felled in the Republican comeback drive were Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., 74-year-old lifetime crusader for liberal causes, and Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California. Douglas lost to Percy, a youthful new face in the GOP, and Brown lost to Reagan, the new favorite of Republican conservatives.

Among Republican presidential prospects, Romney definitely helped himself with his easy victory over Democrat Zolton Ferency which also helped keep Sen. Robert P. Griffin in the Senate. Griffin won over former six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

"They did a tremendous job and through their efforts we have victory," Price said.

The new congressman said he would strive to serve the people to the best of his ability and let their voice be heard in Washington.

"I want to thank all those who agreed with our views enough and cared enough about our country to vote for what they believe.

"As I have stated many times during this campaign I owe allegiance to no one but the people of the Panhandle. Also I want to represent all the people of the 18th District. My doors will always be open to every citizen of the district, state or nation who care to discuss our common problems or any special problems.

"I urgently solicit the advice and council of everyone in the district on legislation which may come before the house of representatives," Price said.

4 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1966 59TH YEAR

Dear Abby... Teens Can Earn Their Privileges

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 17, a senior in high school and a straight-A student. I went to a drive-in movie with the same boy three Saturday nights in a row. Each time I was home at 12:30 A.M. The third date they calmly told me I couldn't go to the drive-in with this boy any more. Their only reason was they thought I might do something I might regret.

"When they told me this I cried all night. In the past you have always told kids if they listened to their parents and obeyed the rules, they would come. A well, I've been doing it for nearly 17 years and you can see where it got me. Don't you think my parents are being unreasonable?"

NOT TRUSTED
DEAR NOT: Yes, but worse yet they are being unrealistic. Were you hurt as doing something you might regret, denying you permission to go to a drive-in movie with a boy wouldn't Teens who have demonstrated good judgment, integrity, and respect for their parents' rules should be rewarded by being given added privileges. They've earned it. In the meantime, go as you are told, and I think eventually your parents might see the error in their decision.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law asked my husband to give her the money he was going to spend on my birthday present. They bought me something she picked out. A fine engine red wool coat with a low belt all the way round. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 155. She has excellent taste when it comes to selecting her own clothes. What would you say happened in this case, and how would you handle it?"

DEAR BOILING: There are two possibilities. She either did it on purpose or she didn't. But regardless, I would handle it very carefully while placing it in its original box to return it.

Facial Cleanser For Pretty, Clear Skin

FOR A SKIN THAT'S AGLOW WITH LIFE you need more than old-fashioned soap and water to remove make-up. A space age cleanser is what's needed to penetrate the layers of foundation, contour color, blush-ons, powder, lipstick and eye make-up. The ideal cleanser moisturizes and softens the skin. It leaves the pores free to breathe and the skin looking radiant and pure.

Renaissance Or Decay' Is Theme Of Study Course

"Renaissance or Decay" will be the theme of the fifth P-TA study course session, to be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Thursday in Baker School film room.

Travis Lively, businessmen in Pampa for 40 years, will speak on the subject "Our Heritage." Second speaker will be a student from Pampa High School who will express the teenager's view-point on "Are We Building Youth of Moral and Spiritual Fiber, Emotional Stability and Love?" John Warner, local attorney, corporation judge and recent recipient of the Key Club Adult Leadership Award, will discuss "What is the Greatest Influence on Our Teenagers?"

Following the coffee break, Rev. Wayland Murray, pastor of Pampa Baptist Temple, will present the question — "Do we as adults accept our individual responsibility, as parents, as citizens in our community and our nation?" A discussion period will follow.

A nursery will be provided for pre-school children.

Mrs. Forrest Hills is study course chairman for P-TA City Council and Mrs. Harold Moore is Baker chairman. Any interested person is welcome to attend the study course.

Attitude Helps Org Reach Ripe Old Age

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — (UPI) — Certain social and psychological factors may help determine who lives to a ripe old age.

A survey of a rural Pennsylvania community by Joseph and Jean Britton, a husband and wife research team at Pennsylvania State University, indicates that women live longer than men because apparently the attitudes a woman holds, and general feelings of satisfaction and morale are more importantly related to her survival than the activities she carries out.

They also found that men who were better educated and men and women whose family wage-earner was in a higher status occupation tended to live longer than their fellows.

Color, Charm Seen In Newest Watches

NEW YORK (UPI) — High color charm watches that can be worn as accessories just about anywhere, including the wrist, are a fashion trend in timepieces.

"This new trend toward coloring fashion watches fits in with recent findings of psychologists who report that most women dream in color, while men dream only in black-and-white," says George Keyo, women's fashion expert for the Caravelle Division of Bulova.

"Traditionally, women have preferred yellow gold color watches with yellow gold, color dial markings and hands. Now this traditional feminine preference is enhanced by the bright reds, yellows, blues, greens, and other rich colors found on the newest charm watches."

He noted that the color appeal of the new watches enhances their versatility as fashion accessories that can be worn from the lapel, around the neck, from a belt, on an spaghetti, or draped, hung or pinned on a hat, hairdo, handbag, furpiece or scarf.

But one question remains: Will color on the watch help to get the woman to the meeting, place or time?
Only time will tell.

A person would think that there is not much to do in the garden this time of the year but after reading the Greysone Encyclopedia of Gardening calendar for November, it seems that there is much yet to be done.

If the caladium tubers have not been dug, this should be done immediately. They should be spread out on shallow trays or flats and kept in a dry, warm place.

Dahlia stalks should be cut off to within six inches of the surface of the ground and dug for storage if this has not been done. Some gardeners prefer to leave the dahlias in the ground, this is a matter of opinion. One gardening book says, "After the first heavy frost, cut the stalks to within six inches of the ground and leave the tubers in the ground for a week or ten days to become thoroughly ripened. They should then be dug and prepared for storage. The clump of tubers should be turned upside down in order that any sap or moisture may drain from the stalk, and should be exposed to full sunlight for several hours until thoroughly dry. They should be stored in peat moss or dry sand in a dry, frost-free place where the temperature ranges between 45 and 55 degrees."

A source for care of cannas says, "After frost when the leaves die wait a day or two to allow some of the juices to run into the root. Then take up the plants, leaves and all, with whatever dirt adheres to the roots and store in a cool but frost-free place. After the foliage is brittle, it may be removed for easier storage. If you clean all the dirt from the roots in the fall, you must cover them with some material like sawdust to prevent desiccation. Like bulbs and corms, these tuberous roots must not dry out completely. Check once or twice during the winter. If there is any mold, your roots are too damp; improve ventilation around them. If they begin to shrivel, add some damp peat moss.

Chrysanthemum stalks should be cut down to three or four inches from the ground. Then, in January cover them with Christmas tree boughs or other coarse mulch such as wheat straw.

As to the planting of tulips, America's Garden Book says, "Tulips should preferably be planted between the middle of October and the middle of November. If the bulbs are planted too early in the autumn, they are apt to start into active growth, and will suffer a severe setback during the winter. It's important, however, that the bulbs be planted far enough in

Wainscott Finishes Combat Training

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — Marine Private Larry D. Wainscott, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baten of 940 E. Francis, has completed four weeks of individual combat training here.

During the training period, he received more than 200 hours of instruction in guerrilla warfare, the use of infantry weapons, combat patrols, and squad tactics.

His next assignment is four weeks of basic specialist training to prepare him for a specific job in the Marine Corps. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught sub-specialties such as the technical operation of the machine gun, grenade launcher, or mortar.

Those entering highly skilled occupational fields will receive advanced training at resident technical schools.

Snapp Receives Army Promotion

Specialist Allen Snapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Snapp, 1806 N. Sumner, has received a recent Army Promotion and two letters of appreciation from commanding officer of the Nam where he is serving in the 394th Transportation Battalion.

Lt. Col. John J. Chrzanowski, commanding officer of the 394th Transportation Battalion, wrote to Snapp, "I extend my personal congratulations to you for the efficient assistance which you rendered the 854th Transportation Company."

Chrzanowski went on to say that Snapp's spirit of cooperation was a credit to the 387th. Capt. Andrew J. Ondich, commanding officer of the 854th Transportation Company, wrote in his letter to Snapp, "I would like to extend my greatest appreciation for the outstanding job done by you in helping my company get established in its new area."

Through Snapp's hard work in conjunction with an advance party from the 854th, Ondich pointed out, the men laid the base for the entire company.

One of the most significant accomplishments, according to the captain, was the construction of an orderly room.

"In addition," Ondich said in his letter, "these men can take sole credit for the construction of a rather large mess hall platform."

"Snapp came to us with a thorough understanding of what was needed," Ondich said, "He went on to provide these needs in an exemplary manner."

Pampan Completes Recruit Training

SAN DIEGO, CALIF. — Marine Private James H. Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Williamson of 1809 N. Wells, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

Under the supervision of veteran noncommissioned officer Drill Instructors, he learned small arms marksmanship, bayonet fighting, and methods of self-protection. He also received instruction in military drill, history and traditions of the Marine Corps, and other academic subjects.

He will now undergo four weeks of individual combat training and four weeks of basic specialist training in his military job field before being assigned to a permanent unit.

MARINE Lance Corporal Curtis King, son of Mr. and Mrs. George King, 2222 Beech, is currently aboard the USS Boxer where he serves in helicopter maintenance. He will return home in December for a leave after which he will be stationed in Vietnam.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Granville Market Letter says that current indications "increasingly are pointing" to a long bear market, one in which the Dow Jones Industrial Average probably will fall to the 1962 lows of 535. It says that "nothing is going to stand up against such a market debacle," and advises shortsellers to "wait it out" and "not panic."

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that if investors like the election results and no unfavorable new developments occur in the immediate period thereafter, the market should turn in a good performance, possibly even breaking the backbone of the downtrend. However, the analyst says if the market starts moving downward again after the election, "nothing could really be concluded until prices drop far enough to start testing the lows."

Science Investment Reports says there now appears to be a general conviction that certain issues are attractive at particular levels and additional buying will resume to support the market should any price weakness develop. It says that, if enough support develops to keep the market above October lows, further confidence will pave the way for another advance to higher levels.

Hornblower & Weeks Hemphill, Boyes says there may be a greater degree of agreement soon on whether the market decline should be regarded as a total bear market or a "little bear market" as has been experienced since the postwar inflationary boom. It says that if the market advances, it should meet resistance above the 820-820 level in the low, followed by a reaction to the 780-770 level where effective buying may develop and open the way to a more vigorous recovery movement.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Economic Facts of Life

The dictionary defines economics as a social science concerned chiefly with description and analysis of the production, distribution and consumption of goods and services.

Everybody is or should be interested in economics, because it deals with our primary needs—food, clothing, shelter, etc.—and how we acquire them. It follows, then, that we would want to live and work under an economic system that provides more of the better things of life.

There are to opposing economic systems at work in the United States: (1) Socialism, which advocates government ownership or control of the means of production and distribution of goods; (2) What's left of free enterprise. Free enterprise for the benefit of our young readers who weren't introduced to the term in school, leaves the individual in freedom to operate for profit in a competitive system without government interference.

Measured by its capacity to produce more and better products, the free enterprise system is unsurpassed. Under the profit system, the United States became the most prosperous nation in the world and has produced enough surpluses in almost all fields.

A Basis for Freedom

"A people without reliable news," Harold Laski once observed "is, sooner or later, a people without a basis of freedom." A newspaper, if it is a newspaper, provides you with information by which to compare, pick and choose, accept or reject, plan your own life and, thus, govern yourself.

Sound of Drill Remembered Still

Dentists, dentists everywhere, like that of the M.D. than it is now," says Dr. Teuscher. He will be more involved with basic physiological structure, surgery and diseases, not only of the mouth but in neighboring regions.

Actual working on teeth and bridge and denture making, which occupy so much of his time now, will be largely turned over to technicians after a diagnosis and treatment plan has been prepared by the dentist.

As the function of the dentist changes, so will that of the dental school. Less time will be spent on teaching the technical tasks of dentistry and more will be devoted to genetics, physiology and other life sciences. Already at Northwestern, dental students take many of the same courses as medical students.

It sound like a toothsome future for dentists and patients alike.

Taking us Down

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Among the terms we never hear any more, but we can remember when they were popular expressions, are "old fog" and "There's no flies on him." The first meant a person was "behind the times" and is of Scottish origin. The second, we believe, was a New England colloquialism that meant the person referred to was smart, bright, alert. It was considered quite a compliment. Uncle Sam is still fighting the express companies. Commencing in January the Parcel Post division of the Post Office Dept. will start handling increasingly heavier packages. Of course the rates will increase, too.

Today's smile: Art Moger, author and TV wit, tells us there's a new baby food on the market. He says it's half-orange juice and half-garlic. It not only makes the baby healthy, but easier to find in the dark for that 2 o'clock feeding.

Now that the season for throwing your lawn is over for another year, the power mower manufacturers have decided the time is ripe to launch a campaign to encourage safer use of the grass-choppers. The insider's newsletter has long been a U.S. phenomenon in keeping businessmen, industrialists and the various professions informed about present and future trends of interest to them. For many years' Klinginger's Washington Letter had the field to itself, but now there are about 1500 of them.

Thoughts while shaving: A hardware salesman told us women are now taking over the do-it-yourself tasks from the men. He says females are among the principal purchasers and users these days of wood-working and power tools for the home. Maybe life is too serious in these troubled times, but still to play in a Broadway play since George M. Cohan impersonated F.D.R. in "I'd Rather Be Right," back in 1937. The show was written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, with music and lyrics by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. It was a clever charade and Cohan gave a perfect caricature of Roosevelt. One of the reasons we like a compact car is because they're so easy to park. That thought was brought to mind when we were looking at a new Mercedes-Benz that was at least 20 feet long. We can't picture ourselves trying to back that one into an average-sized parking space without denting the fenders. If you are around in 1990, drive over to Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota and look at the massive sculpture of Crazy Horse, once chief of the Ogala tribe of Indians. It will be just about finished then and will be close to the huge granite portraits of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and T. Edgar Roosevelt, which were done between 1927 and 1941 by Gutzon Borglum. Crazy Horse is being depicted on a mountainside there by Korczak Ziolkowski and will be larger than the Borglum figures. The Indian chief, when finished, will be 561 feet high and 641 feet long. Ziolkowski has been working on it since 1948. The Madison (Georgia) MADISONIAN reported in a story: "Notice of undelivered copies should be mailed in." With the undelivered copies, of course.

Country Editor speaking: "The only state where women work 18 hours a day is the state of matrimony."

In a memorandum to the House Ways and Means Committee, which will open hearings on the proposal in January, the Treasury department stated that the Johnson administration favors boosting the "earnings limitations" ceiling from $1,500 to $1,620 immediately.

Democratic and Republican lawmakers have much more grandiose plans. Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., who wants any ceiling increase voted by Congress next year to become effective as of January 1, 1967, favors lifting the figure to $2,400.

His recommendation, forwarded to Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman, last month, endorsed his activity and financial hook-up violate any of the big country's rules or principles of propriety.

Let's hear from Mr. Warren promptly and in language we can all understand. Otherwise let's have a Senate investigation.

Hike in Earnings for Social Security Beneficiaries Due to Come Next Year

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There is good news coming for social security beneficiaries who must work to make ends meet.

Regardless of what Congress does about increasing benefits next year, the amount of outside earnings that individuals will be permitted to make and still continue to draw full social security benefits is going to be hiked.

As the first order of business when the 90th Congress convened in January, congressional leaders of both parties and the Johnson administration are in agreement that the ceiling on "earnings limitations" should be relaxed.

This legislative decision was reached during the furious round of politicking in the closing days of the 80th Congress after President Johnson announced plans to seek a $2.2 billion-a-year boost in benefits next year.

Although the frantic jockeying by Democrats and Republicans that followed the presidential pronouncement produced no agreement on the benefits, the legislative leaders did decide to move swiftly in January to ease the "earnings limitation" ceiling.

Only thing left undecided is how much additional outside income persons drawing social security should be allowed to earn before their benefits would be cut back.

Under present law, individuals can earn up to $1,500 per year without loss of any benefits. Earnings from $1,500 to $2,700 result in a loss of $1 benefits for each $2 earned; and earnings above $2,700 result in a loss of $1 benefits for every $1 earned. There is no ceiling on outside earnings for persons over 72.

LIFTING THE CEILING—Social security beneficiaries can count on being permitted at least an additional $10 a month in outside earnings next year without loss of benefits.

According to their reasoning, social security is essentially a retirement program, and if beneficiaries are permitted to make unlimited earnings without affecting their benefits, this would radically change the concept of the program.

Republican committee members are planning to challenge this position by urging the $2,400 ceiling as a key "anti-poverty measure" that would permit persons to help themselves.

SOCIAL SECURITY FALL-OUT—More than 22 million citizens, the elderly, the disabled, widows and orphans, receive $1.6 billion each month under the social security program now. Treasury officials are now working on a proposal in financing the program that would put a major share of the cost onto the general Treasury revenues, in contrast to earmarked payroll taxes.

Last year's Medicare bill and amendments tagged on it—will pay into the trust fund about $1 billion from general revenues.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

One of the purposes of President Johnson's recent Asian trip was to lay the groundwork for a sort of Asian Marshall Plan.

Americans who object to the confiscation of their assets to subsidize sin and loafing, and to provide global goodies for the Hottentots and Mau Maus of this planet are called selfish cynics by the "selfless" multimillionaire Lyndon Johnson. Him telling anybody a cynic is like Liz Taylor alling any woman "loose."

There is only one great giver—and that is God, not Lyndon Johnson. Governments don't give freedom; they take freedom. People have to wrest freedom from governments. Then, after the people secure freedom, they have to work constantly to keep it.

Lenin said that the best way to destroy capitalism was to debase the currency. And our collectivists have proceeded to do so. We now have printing press paper money backed by nothing, sandwich coins and a 43-cent dollar (compared with 1935).

What is the answer? It is real simple. We the people must throw out the rascals who are delivering us to ruin and elect statesmen who will return us to constitutional government.

There is a shortcut which would accomplish the task: it is to enact the Liberty Amendment, which would force the government to get out of every business and activity not specifically authorized by the Constitution of the United States; and then to kill the personal income tax, which would not be needed were the government not engaged in countless illegal activities.

If you let them have the money, they will spend it, and more. Yet the bureaucrats' answer is not to cut down and eliminate this colossal debt but to raise our taxes and debt and steal more.

Our forefathers engaged in a revolution to escape taxation without representation. Taxation without representation was not nearly as bad as taxation with the representation we now have.

Although the tax gatherers already take 35 percent of all income in this country, you can expect increased taxes, open and hidden, in 1967 and henceforth. As Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. has stated, "There are new and potential sources of taxation we haven't even explored yet." It is not generally known, but all persons aged 70 or over not receiving social security benefits are entitled to $35 a month under a law passed by the 89th Congress. If you and your spouse qualify, you can receive combined benefits totaling $52.50—$35 for the husband, $17.50 for the wife. The first month for which benefits were payable was October 1966. The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Physical Conditioning Not a Sometime Thing

With the end of the football season approaching, thousands of young players will be released from the rigors of training. Too sudden a cessation of a program of vigorous exercise is just as bad as participating in such exercise without a gradual buildup.

The latter may injure the muscles and joints, the former will cause the heart muscle to become flabby.

Another result of an abrupt cessation of training is that the boy who has become accustomed to a diet that is high in calories is likely to eat more than his reduced activity demands. He will hereby accumulate unwanted fat that may be hard to get rid of.

All professional athletes know that a program of physical conditioning must be maintained year-round, regardless of how seasonal their chosen sport may be. Such a program makes for a high level of performance and helps to protect the body from injury.

If your boy is athletically inclined he would be well-advised to switch to basketball at the end of the football season and with the approach of spring go out for baseball. He need not be expert at all three but he does need a fitness program that will hold his interest. Physical fitness should be a way of life.

Q—My grandson, 7, has osteogenesis imperfecta and the doctor says that nothing can be done for it. What caused it and is there any cure?

A—In this disease, the bones are fragile and break very easily. The whites of the victim's eyes are usually blue and a progressive loss of hearing may be associated with it. The condition is hereditary. The degree of severity of the bony weakness varies. Some victims become helpless cripples, and others can live a fairly normal life by using extra precautions against injury. The bone often become stronger as the child grows.

Although there is no medical treatment for this disease, Dr. Robert W. Bailey of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor has been able to reinforce the femur of these patients with a self-adjusting telescoped metal rod which increases in length as the child grows.

Q—How often should I take my baby to the doctor for a check-up?

A—As a general rule, every 4 to 6 weeks in the first year; every 3 months in the second year; every 4 to 6 months between the ages 2 to 6 years; and once a year thereafter.

Hunt for Truth

SELLING AMERICA SHORT—Every hour of every day, a flood of carefully designed and smoothly delivered propaganda flows out of Moscow and Peking, over the airways to the rest of the world. Vast sums of money are spent on it, taken from the earnings of the millions enslaved by communism. Vast rewards are reaped in a more friendly view of communism by millions outside the Iron Curtain who are fooled by this radio propaganda.

Our own government has set up the Voice of America and the United States Information Agency to help combat this communist propaganda and present the truth about the free world and the free way of life.

America does not have to be sold by lies, by deceit or evasion, or by pretty packaging of an ugly product. No salesman in all history ever had a better product to sell than the magnificent American achievement, the American standard of living, the American way of life.

But the Voice of America and the United States Information Agency have been selling America short. Often their directors and programmers seem to feel that their primary purpose is to give a tax-supported forum to America's home-grown critics, especially those who denounce our military opposition to the communist conquest of South Vietnam.

Senators Fulbright and Morse have appeared at length on our government broadcasts to foreign peoples, along with detailed accounts of beatnik riots and draft card burning. Foreign audiences will hear more than enough about this in any case. They need to be shown the best in America, not its worst.

Some uninformed people think it is all right for the government to raise taxes on corporations. Actually, corporations do not pay much taxes. They merely pass them on to you in increased prices. Individuals pay virtually all the taxes; corporations just collect them for the government—from you.

Karl Marx said, "Spend them to death." And spender-Bird is. When I think about our total debt of 1 trillion, 400 billion dollars (counting all commitments), I turn as pale as an undertaker's apprentice. But our collectivists don't care. Their program is one debt, one nation, one citizenship, one church and one firing squad—all under the United Nations.

Wit and Whimsy

Mr. Jones—I've come to pay that bill I have owed you for so long. That letter you wrote me would get money out of a stone. How did you ever think it up? Mr. Black (his creditor)—I didn't. I selected the best parts from letters my son sent me from college.

Barber (whispering to new employee)—Here comes a man for a shave.

Employ—Let me practice on him.

Barber—All right, but be careful and don't cut yourself.

"Has your son's college education proved of any real value?"

"Yes, indeed, it's entirely cured his mother of bragging about him." —Midland (Ont.) Free Press Herald.

Teen-age girl—Last week I was crazy over Charlie, and now I can't stand him any more. Isn't it funny how changeable men are?

Diets are for people who are thick and tired of it.

Ethel was just home after her first day at school.

Mother—Well, darling, what did they teach you?

Ethel—Not much. I've got to go again.

Harry—Say, why did you tip your hat to that dame that just passed? You don't know her, do you?

Joe—What happens to guys who flunk their driver's test?

Moe—They become parking lot attendants.

Service is the rent you pay for the space you fill.

Dad (asked of his four-year-old heir)—Why, what are you crying so for, sonny?

Four-year-old son (sobbed)—I heard you say you were going to get a new baby, and I suppose that means you'll trade me in on it.

Matter of Fact

Bulldogging steers was practiced during the spectacles in the Roman Colosseum in the days of Julius Caesar. Steers for these early Roman circuses were imported from Spain. The sport became so popular that emperor Augustus built the Statius Taurus, the first Roman amphitheater designed for this spectacle. Eventually, this sport of brute strength of men over bulls developed into bullfighting.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

American Education Week (AEW) which began on Sunday, Nov. 6 and ends on Saturday, Nov. 12, was first launched by a presidential proclamation on November 30, 1921. Every president since then has proclaimed the event which is sponsored jointly by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the U.S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The theme of AEW has been "Education Adds Up." It adds up to human dignity, rational thinking, creative spirit, self-reliance, economic competence, informed citizenship and lifelong opportunity. On a very personal basis, education means dollars. A study released by the U.S. Department of Commerce indicates that with increased education comes increased income.

The nation has been made aware of AEW. EXTENSIVE publicity put out by the many organizations and schools concerned with education. All kinds of programs have taken place in order to familiarize the public with the school and its programs.

Parents and other community members have been invited to observe classrooms in action, visit special displays of educational materials and student projects, as well as participate in planned PTA programs.

Your child along with all the other students is entitled to the best possible education which we as a nation can provide. All of the needed resources should be brought to bear on the educational programs in your school system.

AEW should only be a beginning. Too many people forget, can't find time or are too "uninterested" to become active in the educational affairs of their community. They visit the school once a year and think they have fulfilled their responsibilities.

How many of you have attended a school board meeting during the past 3 months? How many parents have offered their services to the PTA? Did you ever assist your child's teacher on a class trip? Have you attended a meeting designed to introduce you to some new program in the school?

It is important that efforts to provide a quality education program continue throughout the year. Don't be only a special events participant. Show your interest and offer your assistance on a continuing basis.

Education has become a partnership which involves students, parents, educators, government, and industry. There is a great future on the horizon if everyone puts forth the effort to participate.

Viet Troop Buildup May Reach 500,000

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department acknowledged Tuesday that America may have 500,000 troops in Viet Nam by the end of next year.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's weekend statement at President Johnson's Texas ranch did not rule out a buildup of that size, the Pentagon said in reply to questions from United Press International.

Questions were asked in an effort to get clarification of statements on the war effort in recent weeks which seemed either to be contradictory or to be expressed with different intended meanings at different times.

Congressional authorities, notably Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, have predicted an expansion to 500,000 men. But the Defense Department has not officially commented before.

The present manpower strength in Viet Nam is 345,000 and is slated to reach 400,000 at the start of the new year—the exact timing depending on how swiftly certain elements of a new division can be shipped.

McNamara's pre-election comments generally seemed intended as reassuring statements on the course of the war and prospects for stemming U.S. military operations rather than expanding at the high rates of late 1965 and 1966.

Selected items that he announced as affecting next year's defense budget were a cut in draft calls for 1967, a slowdown in troop shipments to Viet Nam, possible new cutbacks in planned air and munition production and a leveling off of air combat operations.

Noting that manpower in Viet Nam will have increased by about 200,000 during 1966, McNamara said the increase in 1967 "will be nothing on that order."

That left plenty of room to expand the forces to 500,000 in 1967 and the Pentagon was asked whether McNamara ruled it out.

Were it not for a very bad judgement call by an official at Lubbock the Pampa Harvesters would be playing for at least a share of the north zone championship Friday night.

As it is the Harvesters will be playing for something almost as important and as important to a lot of people when they host Borger at 7:30 p.m. on Harvester Field.

6-4 Record

A Pampa win will give the Harvesters the first winning record in football since 1953 when that aggregation finished 6-4, the same record Pampa can close out with. Too, this bunch of fighters has a lot of pride and will remember the whipping Borger handed them last year. Pampa has not beaten a Borger team in the last eight years and the well is running mighty dry.

The Harvesters have proved they have a sound team, after all they beat Dumas, ranked high in triple-A circles. But they fell flat against Palo Duro, who came to Pampa winless and hadn't scored all year.

Up for Title

Now they can finish 2-2 in zone play or they can let Borger, of all people, win a share of the title. The Bulldogs, playing as spudmatically as Pampa has, proved that Monterey isn't the football team everyone thought it was, by slapping an 8-7 defeat on the Plainsmen.

The Harvesters will have the chance to be real spoilers and burst the Bulldogs Balloon. We think you'll see the best defensive game of the season by Pampa and a better than ever ground game.

The Pampa lineup is full of seniors and knowing this will be their last effort ever for Pampa, they surely will give that extra effort.

A couple of touchdowns by L. D. Rowden would give the hustler a good bid for the district scoring crown, Ted Heiskell could do it too, although Ted needs a good night and he can wrap up the district rushing and total offense titles.

James Matney could rank high in the standings in punting with a couple of good kicks. But there are no individuals on this Harvester team, they play together, for better or for worse.

But let's win this one Friday for all those people who have stuck with you through thick and thin.

Shocks, Pampa Ninths To End Seasons

Pampa's Shockers and Lee ninth grade and Pampa Junior High ninth grade teams all end their football seasons this week. The Shockers will shoot for and third of the season Thursday when they travel to Palo Duro at 4 p.m.

Last week the Shockers upset Tascosa, 20-0 for their second victory. The Shockers stand, 2-7 for the season.

Today Lee and Pampa Junior High eighth grade teams ended their season with a 4 p.m. game at Harvester field.

Lee is 1-6 for the season and Pampa Junior High stands 1-5-1. Thursday the ninth grade teams from the two schools wrap their season at the Harvester Field at 4 p.m. Lee is 3-4 while Pampa Junior high stands 1-6.

Palmer, Nicklaus Favored in Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus of the United States and defending champions Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa today drew the largest galleries in a pro-amateur tournament on the eve of the 14th International Canada Cup golf match.

Players from previous winning countries and other nations that have hosted the Olympics of Golf participated in the goodwill event at the 6,962-yard, par-72 Tokyo Yomiuri Club course outside of Tokyo.

They were from Canada, South Africa, England, Costa Rica, the United States, Australia, Japan, France, Mexico, Ireland, Spain, Hawaii, Argentina and Belgium.

Henning teamed in the best-ball competition with Gijiro Nakabe, Japanese amateur champion, and Player with John Gates of the U.S.

Palmer said after the first nine holes that he did not keep any score, but Nicklaus said he had an even par and Palmer a one under 35 for the first nine.

Both Palmer and Nicklaus amazed spectators with brilliant two-on shots on the par-four, 428-yard ninth hole. Palmer sank his 10 foot putt for a birdie but Nicklaus missed his eight-footer.

Palmer paired with James A. Linen, president of the International Golf Association, and Nicklaus with well-known Japanese author Fumio Niwa.

Palmer and Nicklaus continued to prevail as top favorites to win the team title with defending champions Player and Henning expected to give them a tough battle.

Japanese experts favored Nicklaus to repeat for the third time as winner of the individual trophy. Nicklaus, however, said emphatically it was a competition for the team title and the individual trophy was secondary.

Spartans, Irish Face Another Week of Rest

NEW YORK (UPI)—It looks like another easy weekend for first-ranked Notre Dame and second-ranked Michigan State before they meet each other in a crucial showdown on Nov. 19. Notre Dame, averaging better than 400 yards per game offensively while whipping seven straight opponents, is favored by 25 points against Duke, and Michigan State, which gained 450 yards rushing against Iowa last week for its eighth victory, is picked by 22 points over Indiana.

Most of the other teams in the top 10 also are heavily favored with Alabama (No. 3) picked over South Carolina by 27 points, Nebraska (No. 4) over Oklahoma State by 16, Georgia Tech (No. 5) 13 over Penn State, UCLA (8) 14 over Stanford, and Florida (10) 15 over Tulane.

Sixth-ranked Arkansas and ninth-rated Georgia figure to have the toughest time among the top 10 teams. Arkansas is picked by eight over Southern Methodist and Georgia is seven over Auburn.

In other games, Texas A&M is rated even with Rice, Maryland is a three-point choice over Clemson, Baylor is a three-point favorite over Texas Tech, Washington is three over Oregon State, Syracuse, five over Florida State, Tennessee five over Mississippi, Texas six over TCU, Princeton six over Yale, California six over Army, Navy six over Vanderbilt and Louisiana State seven over Mississippi State.

Dartmouth is favored by seven over Cornell, Oklahoma by eight over Missouri, Purdue by eight over Minnesota, Pennsylvania by eight over Columbia, Houston by 12 over Kentucky, Georgia Tech by 13 over Penn State, Ohio State by 13 over Iowa, Colorado by 14 over Kansas, Illinois by 15 over Wisconsin, Iowa State by 17 over Kansas State and Harvard by 25 over Brown.

In the National Football League, Baltimore is a 28-point choice over Atlanta, Dallas is seven over Washington, Chicago is seven over San Francisco, Cleveland is 11 over Philadelphia, Minnesota is 14 over Detroit, Los Angeles is 14 over New York and St. Louis is six over Pittsburgh.

Buffalo is a seven-point choice over New York, San Diego is seven over Oakland, Boston is eight over Houston and Kansas City is 23 over Miami in American Football League action.

Robinson Goes Full Cycle in Winning MVP

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles went full cycle today when he was named the American League's most valuable player for 1966 by acclamation.

The hard-hitting Robinson, a National League MVP with Cincinnati in 1961, became the first player to attain the honor in each circuit and enroute brought Baltimore its first world championship.

Fabulous Frank also won the triple crown in the AL with titles in batting (.316), home runs (49) and runs batted in (122). For this outstanding performance, the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA) unanimously voted Robinson one of baseball's top tenors.

Robinson's ascension to the MVP throne marked only the third time that an American League player received all the first-place votes in the balloting.

Fellow Ma'ntle, Roben Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was similarly honored in 1956 and Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians was first all the way in 1953.

Robinson said if he does undergo surgery, it would hospitalize him for 10 days, place him on crutches for two or three weeks and follow with a series of exercises for about three months. This would take him right up to the 1967 season.

Robinson won the MVP balloting with 280 total points in voting that gave 14 for first place, nine for second, eight for third and down to one point for a 10th-place vote.

Brooks Robinson the 1964 MVP, polled 153 points and Powell drew 122 to go in front of three Minnesota Twins. Harmon Killebrew was fourth with 96 points, Jim Kaat had 84 for fifth and Tony Oliva 78 for sixth. Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers collected 66, Tommie Agee of the White Sox 63, Aparicio 51 and Bert Campanaris of the Kansas City A's 36 to round out the top 10.

Robinson said he faces surgery and a long recuperation period.

Talking by telephone with a massed sports writer audience gathered at the Hotel New Yorker, Robby said the first MVP with the Reds was a milestone, but that "this is even bigger because I'm the first one to do it in two leagues."

The 31-year-old Robinson said he didn't know what kind of

Ted Nearing Rushing Lead In National

If statistics mean anything then in Borger Pampa will be facing the best defensive team in the north zone Friday night when the Bulldogs invade Harvester Field.

Through three games Borger has limited foes to 146 yards through the air, 448 more on the ground for a total of 594 or an average of 198 yards per game.

Pampa, on the other hand has picked up 597 yards on the ground and only 73 through the air for a total of 670, or an average of 214 per game.

The Harvesters have the poorest defense of any club in the north zone, having been touched for 265 air yards and 698 on the ground for a total of 963 per game average.

But by the same token the Harvesters will be facing a team that is dead-last in total offense.

The Bulldogs have churned out only 455 yards on the ground with 96 through the air for a total of only 551, which is an average of 183.7 per contest.

The Bulldogs do not have anyone in the top 10 in rushing with halfback Mike Plumlee carrying 16 times for 91 yards, Steve Evans with 23 carries for 69 yards and Steve Pruitt with 29 carries and 76 yards.

Pruitt has been a formidable passer connecting on 11 of 36 for 93 yards and one touchdown. He has had two interceptions.

Plumlee has been the chief receiver with five catches for 32 yards and one touchdown while Jim Padella has three catches for 43 yards.

The Bulldog kicking game has been weak to say the least with Alexander kicking 13 times for 311 yards for an average of 23.9 yards per kick. He has had one blocked. Pruitt has six kicks for 151 yards and an average of 25.1 yards per kick.

Pampa's Ted Heiskell and halfback L. D. Rowden could pick up a couple of individual titles with good performances Friday night.

Heiskell is fourth in rushing with 255 yards on 49 carries with Hollars of Amarillo with 318 yards, Robbins of Amarillo with 313 and Surratt of Monterey with 258 yards. Both Hollars and Robbins have ended conference play so Heiskell must outdo Surratt Friday to win the title. About 150 yards would probably do it.

In total offense Heiskell is third, trailing Surratt and Ken Stiles of Monterey. Stiles has 297 total yards for an average of 39 yards per game while Surratt is averaging 36 yards per contest.

Heiskell has an average of 85 yards per contest, all on the ground while the other two have air yardage to go with their ground yards.

A touchdown by Rowden Friday night would put him in a good position to win the league scoring title or at least tie for it. The same is true for Heiskell.

Hollars leads with 24 points, while Rowden, Steve Alston of Caprock, each have 18 points. Heiskell, Stiles, and Surratt each have 12 points.

Cards Leg In Stats But Not In NFL Lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—From a quick glance at the National Football League statistics, you'd never guess the St. Louis Cardinals boast the best record in pro football.

Of the 70 different categories in which the NFL keeps statistics, the Cardinals lead or are tied for the lead in just four categories. And two of them aren't much to brag about.

The Cardinals have been forced to punt 48 times, a league-leading figure, and have kicked the most field goals (15), an indication that the team hasn't been able to keep its sustained drives going for touchdowns. The Cards have also run back one punt for a TD to tie the lead mark.

The only figure that gives an indication of the team's strength is that it has thrown the opposing passers for 289 yards in losses, a league leading mark. The Card don't even lead the league in pass interceptions even though they've become famed for their pass thefts.

But despite that, the Cardinals still have a 7-1 mark and, with three of their final five games against Pittsburgh and Atlanta, they have an excellent shot at the Eastern Division crown.

Dallas is still the best offensive team. The Cowboys lead in first downs, total yards gained, and passing yardage. Cleveland is best in rushing yardage.

Dallas has gained a total of 3,251 yards this season for an average of 406.4 a game. They've amassed 2,009 in the air for an average of 251.1 a game. Cleveland has gained 1,349 yards rushing, an average of 168.6 per game.

Dallas is also the best defensive team (1,777 yards) and best against the ground game (368) but the Chicago Bears have the best mark against passing (1,073 yards).

'AGING CELTICS'

Bulls Find Boston Still Good

By United Press International
The "aging" Boston Celtics have taught those young whippersnappers from Chicago a lesson.

The Celtics, who continue acting like youngsters despite the average age of 31 for their starting five, have been in existence in the National Basketball Association for 20 years, longest tenure along with San Francisco and New York in the league.

The fledgling Bulls, born this year as the NBA's ninth team, haven't been acting their age at all, winning half their 14 games and sharing the western division lead. Chicago was in sole possession of first place until Tuesday night when the Celtics won 112-101.

Boston, co-leading the East with Philadelphia at 8-1, ran up a 91-71 advantage in the third quarter but player-coach Bill Russell stopped a Chicago rally by blocking three shots and collecting a portion of his 27 rebounds. Bailey Howell led the Celts with 25 points.

In other action, the 76ers mauled Detroit 118-100. St. Louis ripped the Knicks 135-121 and Baltimore shaded Los Angeles 104-102.

Wilt Chamberlain, shooting less nowadays, scored only 18 points but hauled down 24 rebounds to ignite the 76ers. Chet Walker netted 21 points and Billy Cunningham matched Chamberlain's 16 for Philadelphia, which exploded for a 25-9 burst in the fourth quarter and never saw its margin dwindle to less than 16 the rest of the way.

The Hawks exhibited fine scoring balance as four players tallied 22 points or better, with Bill Bridges netting 29, rookie Lou Hudson, 24, Lenny Wilkens 23 and player-coach Richie Guerin 22. St. Louis, down by one at halftime, rallied to take a 96-95 edge into the fourth quarter and stretched its margin despite the efforts of Willis Reed, who scored 29 points.

Kevin Loughery tallied a career-high 39 points to lead the Bulls to only their second victory in 12 games. Reserve Den Worley sank two free throws within a minute to snap a 100-100 tie and Loughery preserved the triumph with a pair of charity tosses in the last seconds of play. The loss sent the defending western champion Lakers deeper into the cellar with a 3-8 mark.

Neely Told Not To Play With Dallas Cowboys

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—U. S. Dist. Judge Stephen S. Chandler signed an order Tuesday prohibiting tackle Ralph Neely from playing with the Dallas Cowboys.

Chandler, however, did not immediately issue a formal injunction as directed by the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals, which ruled Neely must play for the Houston Oilers of the rival American Football League and quit playing for the Cowboys.

The Cowboys asked for a federal order to prevent Neely from playing for anyone else. Neely signed a contract with Houston but returned it and later signed with Dallas.

The Supreme Court denied the Cowboys' plea Monday for a rehearing. The court previously upheld a federal appeals court and declared Neely the property of the Oilers.

The order appeared to end Neely's career with Dallas, except for the Cowboys' suit against Neely himself. It sought to force him to stay with them if it is pending.

Attacks on Football Ill-Informed

By BUD WILKINSON
There is a seasonal disease known as educators deploring football. It strikes, naturally, every fall, like a similar malady known as hanging the coach in effigy. It actually affects very few, but unfortunately it almost always is well-publicized. It seems there are publishers who, for one reason or another, are eager to castigate college football.

about this latest attempt by the magazine to put the college game in a bad light.
The Post is in a long losing streak against college football, and Professor Shaara's essay won't break it. To anybody who is even slightly knowledgeable about football, the story is no more than amusing.
The professor contends that football players are so busy playing football they haven't time to get a good education. He says they too often are bruised and aching when they attend class, and can't maintain the academic pace. He says too many of them suffer permanent injury.
He says much more, but those are his primary contentions. Let us consider them.

Football takes less of a student's time than almost any other extra-curricular activity. It takes a fraction of the time demanded by the debating team or the band. Its season is two months shorter than basketball, and it includes less than half the number of games and trips.
Through the years, I have known football players who have participated in every variety of campus activity, have passed with high honors every academic major from drama to physics, and have gone on to assume the full range of responsible positions as business men, professional men and citizens. Many of them, particularly in the earlier years, did all this in college and still had time to work four or five hours per day at a part-time job that was necessary to finance their education. And most of these men will list football high among the company presidents like Roger Blough and Don Laurie, or University Presidents like Brud Holland and Bull Elkins. You might even ask Dwight Eisenhower.

The risk in football is exaggerated. In all my years in the game I never had a teammate has virtually wiped out abuses regarding financial aid. Academic requirements just recently have been substantially stiffened across the nation.

Football, with its 20 days of spring practice (limited by rule), and its three-month, ten-game season, destroys neither men nor opportunity. What is destroyed is the myth that the game is played by the academically unfit.
What the professor overlooked is a well-researched statistic showing that football players average higher academically than the student body. To anybody who knows the game and the young men who play it this is not surprising. On the contrary, it is what one would normally expect from talented young men who believe in competition, rather than false security.

Goad in Scoring Lead

Fred Goad stayed atop the scoring lead and in fact increased his margin, while Robert Baker was held scoreless and Vernon Marjar, White Deer's do-everything back moved into third place in the standings as the results of Friday night games.
Goad, always at his best when he goes the toughest, scored a touchdown and conversions against McLean Friday night.
The only trouble with Goad being the scoring leader it means area teams have to look at him for another year.
He's only a junior and a good all-state candidate this season. Goad has run 16 touchdowns and scored seven 2-point conversions for a total of 110 points. He's quite a defensive player too and leads his team in yards rushing.

The Wheeler fullback has a big margin over another fullback, Baker of McLean who was held scoreless by the bruising Wheelers and six conversions for 78 points.
Marjar, a fullback - turned-halfback and almost a cinch for all-state honors this year, scored two against Gruver Friday to soar into third place with 11 touchdowns and two, 2-point conversions for 70 points.
Wheeler's Bobby Vanpool, last year's scoring leader isn't out of the running yet. The speedy Vanpool has eight touchdowns and five conversions for 58 total points, good for fourth place.
Gary Stewart, White Deer's guard-turned - fullback, jumped to the top 15 in scoring with a two touchdown effort and three extra points against Gruver Friday night. Stewart now has two touchdowns and 15 conversions for 29 points.

The Bucks will be out to clinch the district 1-A title Friday at Stratford while Wheeler will journey to Clarendon in hopes of wrapping up district 2-A. In other games Canadian plays at Sunray and Thursday Groom hosts Tulia B.

Football robs a man of his chance to get an education? You can go along with the professor and the Post - You might ask men like Byron White of the Supreme Court, or Dr. Barry Wood of Johns-Hopkins, or Cliff Battles of General Electric.
You might ask a former teammate of mine named Orville Freeman. You might ask com-

Professor Shaara suggests that football players be paid, and that they not be required to attend class during the season. This is patently absurd. The quickest way to destroy football is to offer aid beyond the well-administered standard scholarship, and to ease academic requirements.
The trend, professor, is in the opposite direction. The NCAA

Highlights and Sidelights

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Addition of kindergartens to the public schools will be a major school proposal in the 1967 session of the Legislature.

State Board of Education has recommended it. Texas State Teachers Association feels it is vital to public education; and will support the board's position.

Expanding the public school system to 13 grades is advocated by educators on the ground that children learn more quickly at age 5, and simply because more education is needed for this complicated world. It would, of course, increase the cost of public schools by one-twelfth, at both state and local levels.

School teachers will press for a pay raise to lift Texas salary levels to the national average, but will let the Board of Education carry the ball on the kindergarten proposal.

SCHOOL COST RECORD — Last year's price of $647,516,534 for the minimum operation of Texas public schools set a record, but State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar says the "Minimum foundation fund" will be even greater this year — $667,357,000.

Fund, which is distributed according to the needs of the school district and its average daily attendance, draws its resources from two state sources; the available school fund, including a fourth of all occupation taxes by the state, and other state revenues.

Of last year's total, $123,439,896 was furnished by the school districts themselves, and the rest by the state. Figures do not include federal aid.

EAST TEXAS OIL — Railroad Commission has given proposals by five oil companies for changing the method of allocating oil allowances in the East Texas Field to eliminate what the companies said was discrimination.

Atlantic Richfield, Mobil, Sun, Cities Service and Superior oil companies all put forth widely different plans to eliminate both inequities within the field between marginal and proratable wells and inequities between the East Texas Field and other fields in the state.

City of Kilgore, Kilgore Chamber of Commerce and other local governmental bodies oppose all changes.

HIGHWAY BEAUTIFICATION — "Texas faces the prospect of losing about $20,000,000 a year in federal highway funds," Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said, if it does not conform fully with the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Smith pointed out that, in writing the Act, the federal government included a 10 per cent penalty in federal aids to states that do not cooperate fully with the provisions of the new law.

State must fulfill its part by seeing that billboards and other outdoor advertising are moved back 600 feet from interstate and federal-state highways. Garbage dumps and junkpiles can be no closer than 1,000 feet. This would involve approximately 17,500 miles of Texas highways.

TOURIST DEVELOPMENT TALKS — "Imagination: Dare to Use It" will be the theme of the second annual Governor's Tourist Development Conference Nov. 22 in Austin. Gov. John Connally will head the participants.

Experts in various fields of tourist development and tourist promotion will meet with delegates to the conference, along with administrators of Six Flags Over Texas and San Antonio's HemisFair '68.

SCREW-WORMS DECLINE — Screw worm epidemic in Texas appears headed for an end. Only 97 cases were confirmed to the Animal Health Commission during the week of Oct. 22-28, compared to 197 three weeks before, at the height of the infestation.

Dr. S. B. Walker, executive director of the commission, said the geographic area of the epidemic seems to be narrowing. Most serious areas are in Dimmitt, Val Verde and Maverick Counties. At the crest of the infestation, the southwest one-third of the state was involved.

BUILDING PERMITS DECREASE — Estimated value of building permits issued in Texas during September showed a sizable decrease from August's, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Declines both in residential and non-residential permits accounted for the fall of a seasonally adjusted 23 per cent from Austin and 11 per cent from September, 1965, the bureau said.

Fort Worth showed the most total, non-farm construction during September, $17,060,377, but Houston was right behind at $6,978,031. Dallas figure was $15,151,973. Austin, El Paso and San Antonio were far behind.

EQUAL VALUES ASKED — State Board of Education will urge the Legislature to take action toward equalizing land values among all 254 Texas counties for property tax purposes.

Values now vary from five to 100 per cent of what the property actually sells for, according to Board member Paul Greenwood of Harlingen. Greenwood had unsuccessfully sought to substitute assessed valuations for complex "economic index" used to figure local fund assignments of minimum foundation school program costs.

In separate action with implications for many districts, the board held that the Rio Hondo schools cannot withhold report cards and transcripts from students who do not pay special fees.

Board ordered Texas Education Agency to make a study to find out just what fees districts are charging students for such things as locker services, towels and soap in physical training classes.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas will receive $724,557 in federal funds to assist in the improvement of Stephen F. Austin State Park in Austin County, Bastrop State Park in Bastrop County and Palo Duro State Park near Amarillo in Randall County.

State Bar of Texas has produced a bill for the 60th Legislature which will clarify and expand the rights of married women. Revisions are part of a project to change and codify all the family laws of Texas into an organized Family Code.

Club Suspended For Topless Act

AUSTIN, (UPI)—The Texas Liquor Control Board Monday suspended the license of the Mardi Gras Club for 60 days in a decision that could affect every topless night club in the state.

William L. Ferguson, administrative assistant to commissioner Coke Stevenson Jr., ordered the North Austin Club closed for two months for permitting the first topless dance act in the city.

Ferguson said he personally did not know of other topless acts in the state, but any such administrative cases filed by other agents would "be treated the same."

PRESIDENT RETIRES

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—South African President Charles Swart, 71, will retire from office next May, one year before his present term would expire, it was announced today. Swart has been president since May 31, 1961.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The first and continuing job of the new 90th Congress will be to decide whether the United States can prosecute a big war in Southeast Asia and simultaneously continue to support the Great Society in the style to which it has become accustomed.

Involved also are the questions of whether, when and how much to increase taxes. War costs are zooming. Great Society costs likewise are zooming. But there has been no responsible administration estimate of what costs may be expected in the years to come. The war is costing about $2 billion a month this year.

The best to be expected from LBJ on war and Great Society spending will be contained in the annual budget message to Congress in mid-January. The annual budget performance has become a charade of understatement. Spending and treasury budget estimates. Without exception deficits are larger than budget forecasts.

Next January's budget will contain exactly what President Johnson chooses to reveal of his spending intentions and revenue beginning next July 1. That will be fiscal 1968 which will end on June 30 of that year. We are now about four and one half months into fiscal 1967 which will end next June 30.

Figures are available today only for the first quarter of fiscal 1967—July, August, September—and they are not reassuring. A mom pop candy store would not survive beyond the first of the month if mom and pop ran their store on the principle of giving their candy for free if the little kids didn't have any pennies or were otherwise unprivileged. That would get mom and pop lots of repeat business, of course, and the politicians figure it that way with votes.

On the record of the treasury books, it is reasonable to believe there is not enough money anywhere to pay for the kind of government administered by the last four or five presidents of the United States. For example:

In his first New Deal year, FDR collected from the taxpayers the sum of $3 billion. He spent about $6.6 billion for a deficit of $3.6 billion. From the Republicans FDR inherited a public debt of $22.5 billion. After FDR, Harry Truman, Ike, JFK and LBJ, the public debt has gone to more than $323.2 billion. The public debt increased nearly $8 billion in the past year. It jumped $907 million in eight days last month. With a war and a Great Society going for him, President Johnson is sending the hump-backed taxpayers scrambling into their sugar bowls and other hideaways to produce the tax revenues he demands. LBJ wants $112.3 billion from the taxpayers in this 1967 fiscal year. He will get it too, and probably more. But whatever the tax loot may be, it will not be enough to maintain the war, the welfare state and the citizens subsidized on its free lunch pay roll in the style to which they have become accustomed. LBJ estimated in his budget message last Janu-

ry that the fiscal 1967 deficit would be well under $2 billion. In the first quarter of fiscal 1967—July, August, September—LBJ already has racked up a deficit of more than $7.8 billion. In three months of this fiscal year, Johnson collected $25.3 and spent $33.1 billion. The taxpayers can't win. If taxes are not raised now they will go up later. The United States

TWO BRITISH CHILDREN had trouble moving this giant toy that captured their attention outside London's Strand Palace Hotel, where a pre-Christmas display of toys was being set up. The ponderous plaything should take up a lot of room in Santa's sled.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As the final (I hope) absurdity of the 1966 campaign, here is an Election Day interview with that immortal wardheeler, William Shakespeare.

I'm not sure Shakespeare had politics in mind when he penned these lines, but if he had been a candidate he might well have expressed it thusly:

Q. Well, Mr. Shakespeare, it's all over now but the voting. Would you care to comment on your chances?

A. "Must I hold a candle to my shames?"

Q. I take it you have seen the latest poll?

A. "Here are a few of the unpleasantest words that ever blotted paper. My ventures are not in one bottom trusted, nor to one place."

Q. You sound kind of hoarse. Is something wrong with your voice?

A. "I have lost it with hallooing and singing of anthems."

Q. How do you account for the fact that you made such a poor showing in the polls?

A. "Done to death by slanderous tongues."

Q. Are you accusing your opponent of conducting a dirty campaign?

A. "All his successors gone before him have done it, and all can't live forever on borrowed money."

his ancestors that come after him may."

Q. Your opponent has charged that your own campaign was dirty. What do you say to that?

A. "He that stands upon a slippery place makes nice of no side hold to stay him up."

Q. How were your campaign contributions this year?

A. "Call you that backing of your friends? A plague on such backing."

Q. I suppose you will be watching television tonight to get the election returns?

A. "The first bringer of unwelcome news hath but a losing office, and his tongue sounds ever after as a sullen bell."

Q. Cheer up, Mr. Shakespeare. The polls have been wrong before.

A. "Well said: That was laid on with a trowel. The best in this kind are but shadows. Oft expectations fails, and most oft there were most it promises."

Q. Good luck to you, sir.

A. "We miserable have no other medicine, but only hope."

BRENTFORD, England (UPI)—Police using television scanners sent a patrol car to a nearby highway after watching 15 cars crash in a chain reaction collision.

The patrol car became car 16.
