New Sheppard Trial Hobbles News Media

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Staff of rules laid down by Roy McMahon, president judge of the Cuyahoga County Criminal Court, Sept. 7, but in one instance the new rules reversed McMahon.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Although the so-called "definitive" television ratings won't be out until Nov. 7, the video industry people have a compulsion to suffer, and can't wait to do it. Therefore the first national ratings, issued Monday, were seized upon as important.

To no one's surprise, the ABC-TV movie "The Bridge on the River Kwai" simply slaughtered all the opposition and finished in the No. 1 spot. However, when the blockbuster motion picture is removed from competition, NBC-TV's "Bonanza," which was opposite it and still came in to tie for fourth place, rises to its usual ranking atop the heap.

Also as expected, ABC-TV's "Rat Patrol," a half-hour adventure opus about four dazed devil allied soldiers in jeeps who harass the Nazis in North Africa in World War II, was the top-rated new series. It came in third. However, CBS-TV's Lucille Ball Show, which is opposite "Rat Patrol," still finished eighth. As a result, the third series in competition with these two successful programs, NBC-TV's Roger Miller variety outing, was vastly outclassed statistically, and currently is considered an uncertain bet to stick around for long.

"Rat Patrol" was the only new series to finish in the "top 10." But two other freshman entries placed in the top 20. CBS-TV's "Family Affair," a situation comedy about a bachelor who inherits some orphans, and ABC-TV's "Felony Squad," a program about police doings.

Other new series that finished respectably include "The Girl from U.N.C.L.E.," the Friday night movie, "The Pruitts of Southampton," in which Phyllis Diller plays the head of a rich family gone broke; "Love on a Rooftop," a comedy about a newlywed couple; "Pistols 'N' Petticoats," which features Ann Sheridan in a hillbilly item about a family of female sharpshooters; "Star Trek," a science-fiction program; "It's About Time," about two astronauts who fly back into the caveman era (comedy); and "Iron Horse," a Dale Robertson western.

The top 10 overall were: "The Bridge on the River Kwai"; "Green Acres"; "Rat Patrol"; "Gomer Pyle"; and "Bonanza" (tied); Andy Griffith; The Saturday Movie; Lucille Ball; Red Skelton; and Jackie Gleason and "The Beverly Hillbillies" (tied).

All of the five weekly network movies finished high up, which is why ABC-TV is going to add a sixth motion picture night. The only remaining anthology of television dramas and melodramas, NBC's Bob Hope theatre, also held its own. However, the major new experimental series, "ABC Stage 67," predictably finished pretty near the bottom.

Items open for sponsorship at Montreal's Expo 67 range from a bridge to a flower pot.

Highlights and Sidelights

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Shape of Gov. John Connally's major legislative goals is beginning to emerge.

He gives high priority to his proposal for a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's basic laws. Modernization of local governments is essential to state progress and effective management of local affairs. "Functional government by federal guidelines" is the likely alternative to a "renaissance of local responsibility," Connally warned.

Governor outlines a tough, seven-point traffic safety program including driver education for all 16-year-olds, severe penalties for violations of driving laws and a minimum licensing age of 16.

"Without question," he acknowledged, "the 60th Legislature is looking at a raise in our state taxes, but it is impossible to tell exactly how large or how small."

He also ticked off these subjects from his lists of legislative "essentials":

Revision of the penal code and code of criminal procedure; additional sources of revenue for growing cities; substantial salary raises for state employees; continuation of progress in education, tourist and industrial development, community services for the mentally ill and mentally retarded and park system development and improvement.

In discussing streamlining of local government with county officials, the governor declared:

"We cannot progress on a preconceived notion that modernization is politically impossible."

SCHOOL STRETCHOUT URGED — Texas children ought to start to school younger and stay in school longer. So concludes the State Board of Education in its 16-point legislative program.

Board proposes schooling for five-year-olds, state-supported summer school for all grades. A study of feasibility of a 10-month school year and seven-hour day, and higher salaries for teachers.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has ordered a new trial for Jack Ruby, who faced a death sentence for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man the Warren Commission said assassinated President John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963.

Court said Ruby must be tried elsewhere than Dallas, scene of the crime, and concluded that testimony of a police officer concerning statements indicating premeditation were improperly admitted at Ruby's first trial.

Supreme Court handed down a record 137 orders. Among its decisions were:

—November 30 date was set for arguments on Humble Oil and Refining Company's suit to recover $73,302 in franchise taxes paid under protest.

—State Board of Insurance rule requiring insurance companies to charge at least six per cent interest on installment premium payments was thrown out.

—Transfer of two small sections of land from Frenship Rural High School District to Shalwater Independent School District of Lubbock County was upheld.

—Court will review dispute of Rio Grande Valley residents over possession of half of a winning $34,000 Mexican national lottery ticket.

AG OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has held that a county may provide ambulance service for its citizens under the authority given counties to spend public money on public health services.

In another opinion, Carr said that the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation may join forces contractually with the Texas Education Agency to initiate and supervise "half-way houses" to help restore mental retardates to society.

Carr also held that children with only a language skill deficiency do not legally qualify as "exceptional children," so no special classrooms may be set up for them.

EPIDEMIC CONTAINED — Texas' screwworm epidemic still is present in the Southwestern and South Central part of the state. However, Dr. S. B. Walker, director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, says the end may be in sight.

Texas' worst infestation since the screwworm eradication program began reached its height two weeks ago. Number of cases levelled off last week. Federal, state and private resources are being used to battle the worm.

MOTION FILED — Attorneys General for Texas and New Mexico have filed a motion with the U. S. Supreme Court for permission to file a complaint against Colorado for insufficient releases of Rio Grande water.

Motion was filed by Attorneys General Carr of Texas and Boston Witt of New Mexico for alleged violations of Rio Grande Compact providing for releases of water to the two states to the South. Proposed complaint says Colorado has withheld 939,900-acre-feet of water, as of December 31, 1965.

Foreign News Commentary

By AJIT K. DAS
United Press International
Calcutta, India (UPI) — The Buddhist kingdom of Bhutan, nestled in the high Himalayas between India and Tibet, may soon seek United Nations protection against Communist China.

Sources close to the Bhutanese palace report that the kingdom may apply for U.N. membership in the hope of having U.N. troops stationed in the country to stop Chinese intrusions into its territory.

India, at the request of Bhutanese King Druk Gyalpo Jigme Dorji Wangchuk, recently protested to Peking about a number of intrusions across the borders.

The king, who visited India earlier this year, secured India's written guarantee that it will support Bhutan's application for U.N. membership whenever the move is made.

Bhutan has only a small, ill-armed army. Officials fear that any attack on it would be timed to coincide with a similar attack on India so that that giant country would be too preoccupied with its own affairs to rush in assistance.

India, under the terms of the 1949 treaty, has promised military support to Bhutan in the event of attack.

The Black Hills of South Dakota are not hills but mountains, says the National Geographic.

Social Security Questions and Answers

Q—I will reach 65 in December of this year and I want the doctor bill insurance under medicare as well as the hospital insurance protection. But I don't intend to retire until a year or two from now. What should I do?

A—You have 7 months—September 1966 through March 1967—to apply for the medical insurance to supplement your basic hospital insurance with protection for the cost of doctor bills and certain other medical services. But if you want your doctor bill insurance to start as soon as you reach 65, you must apply in one of the three months before the month of your 65th birthday. If you wait until the month of your birthday or the following three months, there will be a delay of one to three months in the start of your protection. When you go to your social security office, you should apply for your monthly cash social security benefits, too—even if you don't plan to retire for a while. That way, your benefit checks can start as soon as you notify the social security office that you have stopped working. And if you should get laid up at home or in the hospital for a period of time, you will have your social security benefit checks coming in in addition to medicare's help with your hospital and doctor bills.

A—You are still eligible for hospital insurance and you should get in touch with your nearest social security office immediately. However the deadline for the supplementary doctor bill insurance was May 31 for people 65 or over before March 1, 1966. Unless you can show good cause for missing the deadline, your next chance to sign up for the supplementary medical insurance is October 1, 1967. You will probably have to pay slightly higher than the $3 monthly premium, too.

A—My mother-in-law is 80 years old and is a semi-invalid. She has been in a nursing home for several years. Will medicare pay for her care in the nursing home?

A—There is no provision under medicare for paying for custodial-type care in nursing homes. Extended care following hospitalization will be covered beginning Jan. 1, in nursing homes that meet the quality standards in the medicare law, not only when a patient is transferred from a hospital (after a hospital stay of at least 3 days) for care that is primarily for restorative or curative purposes and is prescribed by a doctor.

Propane Industry Expects Increase

Propane production in the United States during 1966 will increase about 9.5 percent over 1965, according to a study by the Statistical Committee of the Natural Gas Processors Association. The findings were reported to the NGPA Board of Directors by president A. L. Vaughan recently.

The study, which updates an earlier committee estimate, forecasts total 1966 production of over 9.150 million gallons, an increase of nearly 800 million gallons over 1965. Vaughan noted that production for the first six months of the year, based on U. S. Bureau of Mines data, is running substantially ahead of last year's production.

Walter Rogers Reports:

Trend for Outdoor Recreation Pushed

The mounting public interest in outdoor recreation opportunities is clear from our own experience in the Panhandle, where attendance figures at Lake Meredith surpassed all forecasts this summer. The trend is national, and Congress has recognized the people's growing interest by engaging in a stepped-up program of improving and expanding existing parklands by authorizing new parks, by extending financing assistance to States and other political subdivisions as they develop their own programs, and by aiding private landowners in developing recreation facilities.

The Federal government has become so involved in fostering recreation development that an 83-page booklet has been published to summarize provisions of the various programs. Its title is: "Federal Assistance in Outdoor Recreation Available to States, Their Subdivisions, Organizations, and Individuals." If you would like to obtain a copy of the 35-cent booklet may be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Programs of assistance outlined include credit, cost-sharing, technical, educational services, and research.

The number of new proposals for expanding the National Park System rises with each new year. More than 400 measures (some duplicates and some non-recreational in character) have been filed in this 89th Congress and referred to the Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Obviously, there are more proposals and bills than can be given adequate consideration in any one year or in a single Congress. The 88th Congress recommended a dozen major additions to the National Parks system and the 89th Congress has approved the addition of several more. In addition, this Congress enacted authorizing legislation for a number of smaller areas, including four national historical sites and four new national monuments. Among the latter was the Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture National Monument, approved following House and Senate enactment of legislation I had introduced, to be established near the south shore of Lake Meredith. Our National Monument in the Panhandle, I am proud to say, is the first ever approved by Congress in the State of Texas. Some work will begin this fiscal year in developing the Alibates site. More is expected to come in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

In order to finance expanding recreation facilities development, Congress in 1965 passed the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act. The purpose of the act was to relieve the General Fund of the Treasury—to provide for collecting entrance and user fees and by applying revenues from the sale of surplus property and the motorboat fuel tax to make the Federal park acquisition program largely self-sufficient. While the purpose of the act certainly has merit, I have continued my strenuous objections to the pro-

For Surfers, Inez Means Only Fun

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (UPI)—To more than 300 persons in the last 16 days, Hurricane Inez meant death, to thousands of others destruction.

But to the tanned teen-age surfers on Texas' Gulf Coast, Inez meant the possibility of riding "the greatest wave of all."

Flocks of surfers crowded the beaches of Port Isabel on the lower tip of the Texas coast Monday, trying to talk police into letting them brave the 8-foot breakers crashing in across the two-mile lagoon stretching out to Padre Island.

"Boy, they're beautiful," said Ed Ferrero, 16, of Harlingen, Tex., staring wistfully at the curling green combers.

"There are offshore winds, the waves are tubing off the jet-ties, and the surf has fantastic lefts. You can get about a 300-yard ride if you're lucky."

"Lefts" means the rising curve which surfers ride to the left. "Tubing" means the tube-like shape the breakers form splashing off land.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Association of Travel Organizations has just made an important discovery, folks:

It has found that the average tourist will not travel great distances nor spend large sums merely to look at interesting rock formations.

According to Harry G. Clement, chairman of the NATO (now there's an odd set of initials) Research Committee, the five things that have the biggest impact on tourists are "fire, water, sex, greed and fear."

He said "travel and tourism cannot be successfully developed if it is not based on at least one of these motivating elements."

Just In Time
Clement outlined his findings at the association's convention here this week, and in a moment too soon, the information, properly utilized, can have a bearing on this country's balance-of-payments problem.

One of the factors that contribute to our international deficit is the so-called "tourist gap"—the difference between what American tourists spend in other countries and what foreign tourists spend in the United States.

Our tourists have been outspending their tourists by nearly $2 billion a year, which is a lot of fire, water, sex, greed and fear.

What the federal government and private tourist operators need to do now is make sure their attractions provide one of more of these elements.

Clement pointed out that "the most popular three tourist attractions in Washington are the Smithsonian Institution, the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument—all of them free."

"I leave it to you to decide what motive might be implied here," he added.

Since the Washington Monument is notoriously dry, non-flammable, unsexuctive and safe, I assume he was referring to greed.

Think how much more attractive it would be if the government hired six pretty girls in bikinis to stand atop the monument, and throw flaming bags of water at the crowd below.

Other tourist attractions can be similarly improved, I have in mind Jayne Mansfield riding over Niagara Falls in a topless barrel by candlelight.

That would provide water, fire and sex. For the greed motive, she could toss trading stamps to the spectators while in midair.

Add a little fear to that and—wham!—the tourist gap would be permanently closed.

SLOW MAIL
TUREN, Venezuela (UPI)—Raul Aguilera, president of the Turen Businessmen's Association, always has suspected that mail service in Venezuela has its deficiencies. Now, he knows it.

Aguilera received a business letter four days ago from Barquisimeto, 80 miles away. The envelope was postmarked Sept. 22, 1965.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill Noyes says that, despite the fact that many stocks continue to hit new lows for the year, signs of a reversal of trend are becoming clearer, underlined by the increased demand for blue chips. The fact that stocks computed in the Dow Jones average show resistance to pressure also encourages the hope that some of the ground lost since last February may be retraced.

Bache & Co. says that with the economy being subjected to inflationary pressure in the form of defense spending and deflationary pressure in the form of tight money, it is small wonder that investors are confused and timid. The company feels Wall Street needs something dramatic, such as a Viet Nam peace move, to turn the present market around. Until such a time, it feels that the list will continue to search for a bottom.

Thomson & McKinnon feels traders already might have discounted possible profit shrinkage brought about by higher taxes, tight money increased labor costs and the Viet Nam war, and that long-term commitments in non-cyclical issues may prove rewarding.

Dear Abby....
Live as You Please,
It's Your Right

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and for the past year have been going with a married man of 44. He was nearly separated from his wife when I met him. He is a fine intelligent man, and we love each other very much. His wife is a snore who has turned their four children against their father. Since she has found out about me she has been pestering my family with anonymous telephone calls and messages about me.

She has called me, too, and said some horrible things to me, calling me names, etc. She has also sent me hate cards. I know she'll eventually get still of the way things are and will divorce him to be with me. But in the meantime, I'm there anything I can do to keep her from making my life so miserable?

DEAR BORN: It is the right of every decent, law-abiding, respectable citizen to go about his daily business without fear of being harassed, intimidated or threatened. If you qualify, seek police protection.

DEAR ABBY: A teacher in a public school wanted to make an example of my son because he talked out of turn, so she put a piece of adhesive tape across his mouth. Well, Gilbert wasn't going to walk around school with that tape on his mouth all day, so he tore it off just as she was leaving her class.

And with it he tore off a piece of his lip. The principal had to rush Gilbert to a hospital to have six stitches put in his lip. What I want to know is, can we sue?

DEAR MRS. G. G. L.: I have an agreement with the bar association. They won't write advice columns and I won't practice law. But they have allowed me to state that no one can prevent anyone else from suing. Whether they can collect or not, is another matter. In the meantime, why not give the teacher a piece of your lip?

DEAR ABBY: I hate alcohol and my sons know it. Yet when

Here's the 'Newest' From London

By BOB COCHRAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LONDON (NEA) —While Mod tycoon John Stephen sits merrily about the United States opening kicky British boutiques, his colleagues in London are showing their new fashions.

And good news, American traditionalists. The new Darnaby Street styles are practically carbon copies of the natural-shoulder, Ivy League fashions which have long been the backbone of the U. S. market.

The stuff Stephen is filling his American shops with is out-of-fashion in London. Young Londoners aren't wearing flowered shirts and strange jackets. The basic suit is dark, worsted, narrow-lapelled, three-buttoned. Double-breasted are popular, true. But the favored fashion is strictly Ivy League.

There is a difference, however. The British goods are decidedly inferior in quality to U. S. made clothing. And prices, on the whole, are a lot higher.

Take, for example, the button-down oxford shirts seen in almost every Carnaby Street storefront. Very Ivy, of course, but poorly cut and sewn. Forgetting their traditional reserve, high-fashion Britishers regularly confront American travelers and offer to buy the button-down shirts they're wearing. At nice prices, too.

No self-respecting mod designers will admit it, but I suspect that when they first visited the States in the wake of London-hesitating city propagandists they saw well-cut traditional clothing and took plenty of notes. The results are displayed in their shop windows.

The British Ivy suit is not a bad silhouette, actually. Trousers in both countries. The Brit, looser than the once-popular stopevipes. Lapels are narrow and jackets are fitted at the waist and have deep (11-inch) side vents.

The only concession to Early Mod appears to be ties. They are bold, wide and fashioned from a variety of materials — hopsacking, cotton knit, cotton jacquard, monk's cloth. Taking the long view, this British-American cross-pollination is good for manufacturers in both countries. The British have contributed to their Yankee colleagues what they long needed: imagination and flair.

And the Yanks have shown the British what quality, off-the-peg clothing is all about, although the Englishman who wants first-class clothing must still visit a bespoke tailor.

WANDERING AROUND London Dept. — John Michael, a young, wit-tailor who several years ago opened a shop in staid Savile Row, now operates a chain of flourishing boutiques featuring merchandise which only well-heeled Londoners can buy. His off-the-peg clothing is a cut above standard ready-to-wear wares. The man shopping for expensive accessories need go no farther than the Burlington Arcade in Piccadilly, hard by the equally intriguing shops on Old Bond and Jermyn Streets. One haberdasher, Turnbull & Asser, had been selling those wide (five-inch) ties long before they caught on in Carnaby Street and the United States. "One of London's best buys" is a pair of cus-

No Mating On Panda's Honeymoon

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two disenchanted pandas took to separate cages Monday night after a lost weekend honeymoon failed to produce an historic mating.

Moscow Zoo officials expressed fears that history's first mating of giant pandas outside of China would not take place as hoped—at least not this year.

"Chi-Chi doesn't need an An," was the way Moscow Zoo Director Igor Sosnovsky summed up the rejection of Moscow's male giant panda by London's lady panda, Chi-Chi.

"I don't think that anything will happen between them," Sosnovsky said, "that the animals were separated for a 'rest' after unsuccessful mating attempts Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights which had started off well but steadily deteriorated.

Then they will be put back together Tuesday night and efforts will be continued until Chi-Chi is shipped back to London he said.

A BATTLE BETWEEN Volkswagen and Renault may be around the corner. The 1957 VW, beety as ever but significantly improved under the skin, could be running against the restyled, beefed-up R-10.

Germans and French Grapple in the Compact Car Market

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Volkswagen, that long-time leader of unsuspecting American public

Wheeling it

call it quits in the United States. The company is Renault. It sullied its honorable name in the '50s by thrusting upon a lot of cars in Europe — it nevertheless acquits itself admirably on city streets and the superhighways.

According to a Canadian motor-magazine, the "handling of this car is excellent in our books and one becomes completely confident in throwing the car through corners."

"It is definitely a fun car to drive with its peppy acceleration, but at the same time this four-door, five-passenger automobile becomes a practical buy for anyone in the market for the smaller-type vehicle."

For 1967, the Volkswagen sports a new electrical system and generator, a dual braking system and a gaudier new engine which gives the car faster acceleration on level ground and better all-around performance on hills with less need for downshifting than in the past. Top speed is 78 m.p.h.

Although the Renault engine has a slightly smaller displacement (1108 cc. vs. 1493 cc.), it cranks out on 85-m.p.h. top speed.

The R-10 also is a bit zipper than the VW; a driver can run through the gears and top 60 m.p.h. in 60 seconds.

The R-10 also offers prospective buyers comfortable bucket seats, plus optional automatic transmission, a sensible idea given the fact that a whole generation of Americans aren't interested in messing with a three or four-speed manual shift.

Both cars are well-made machines. We'd give VW the edge on quality control and interior fittings and award Renault the prize for its smooth transmission, handling qualities and roominess.

We'd say that the prospective small-car buyer should look at both cars before making a decision. Two years ago, there wasn't much of a choice.

SPINOFFS: There are evil rumors circulating that 1967 is the last year for the Corvair. General Motors denies it but all the bad publicity Corvair received from Ralph Nader, the U.S. Senate and a number of court cases may be too much for even GM to handle. It would be a shame, for the car, by and is a sweet little machine and in a class by itself. . . . One of the reasons auto racing is the No. 2 spectator sport (after horse racing) is the pleasant social sidelines. At Watkins Glen, N.Y., for example, a weekend of racing means partying, camping out and having a swinging good time. The races are also fun to watch.

Study Reports Many Cigarette Filters Fail in Doing Their Job

BUFFALO (UPI)—Dr. George E. Moore, a leading authority on cancer research, labeled certain filter tip cigarettes "ineffectual" today and claimed some varieties actually pass more tar and nicotine on to the smoker than do non-filtered cigarettes of the same brand.

Dr. Moore, director of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, urged the cigarette industry to accept "the responsibility of protecting its customers." He asserted that none of the tested filters is really protecting the smoker from possible lung cancer, emphysema, cardiovascular difficulties and other diseases.

According to the study, "True filter cigarettes—a new brand being test marketed in the New York City area—were the most effective in removing tar and nicotine from the smoke, while Pall Mall filter tips proved to be the worst of the eight brands tested."

"It is alarming to note that Pall Mall filter tip cigarettes pass more tar and nicotine on to the smoker than do the regular Pall Malls without filters," the researcher said. The same results, he added, were found with Chesterfield plain and filtered cigarette.

Pall Mall filters are longer than the unfiltered Pall Mall, thereby allowing the smoker to smoke more tobacco "and it apparently has a poor filter," he explained.

Closely following True filters, which showed 16.9 milligrams of tar and .79 milligrams of nicotine per cigarette, were filter-tipped Kents with 18.8 milligrams of tar and 1.10 milligrams of nicotine per cigarette. The other brands tested, in order of rank, were Marlboro, Winston, Lark, Salem, Lucky Strike, Chesterfield and Pall Mall.

The research, performed at the Institute's Orchard Park Laboratory, was conducted by Dr. Fred Block, laboratory director, he said.

"The current results destroy the myth that all filters are helping to protect the smoker against the deadly effects of cigarette smoking," Dr. Moore said.

"Many filters are just not doing a job and until the cigarette industry accepts the responsibility of protecting their customers who refuse to stop smoking regardless of the health warnings, we will continue to see a staggering and unnecessary death rate due to cigarette smoking," he said.

The breakdown of tar and nicotine content of the tested brands were shown as follows, with information on non filters where available:

	Filtered	Tar	Nicotine
True	16.9mg.	.79mg.
Kent	18.8mg.	1.10mg.
Marlboro	22.4mg.	1.24mg.
Winston	22.9mg.	1.32mg.
Lark	23.1mg.	1.26mg.
Salem	23.6mg.	1.43mg.
Lucky Strike	27.3mg.	1.34mg.
Chesterfield	27.6mg.	1.72mg.
Pall Mall	43.3mg.	2.13mg.

The figures for nonfilter Lucky Strikes were 27.2 mg. and 1.42 mg.; for nonfilter Chesterfields 27.0 mg. and 1.18 mg.; and for nonfilter Pall Malls 32.7 mg. and 1.75 mg.)

Total circulation of all daily newspapers in 1965 was 60,357,563, the second consecutive year above the 60-million mark. Total circulation of all weeklies for the same year was 26,088,230, an increase of 50 per cent over 1965.

the little car market, finally may be getting some competition from a firm which several years ago was almost ready to the old, unlamented Dauphine which more than a few people have called a hunk of junk with some justification.

Recently, VW and Renault presented their new models — in Detroit, of all places — to the automotive press. The German entry was comforting because it is always comforting to know that some things are changeless (externally anyway) in an ever-changing world.

Renault introduced its R-10, a sleeker, less boxy version of the old R-8 with a bunch of improvements which should, if Renault goes about it in the right way, make the burghers of Wolfsburg take close notice.

No firm, of course, can ever take away from Volkswagen the reputation it has earned by producing dependable, economical machines. Renault made the mistake of once attempting to sell Americans a car that was fine for French driving conditions but hopelessly inadequate on U.S. roads.

So in the years when Americans began to turn to foreign cars, Volkswagen had the product and the means to sell it; Renault did not. Renault now has a vehicle of which it should be proud.

While the R-10 was not specifically designed with the U.S. driver in mind — Renault sells
