Sounds of Drums Increase With Nearing Election

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

With only nine days remaining before voters cast ballots in the Nov. 8 general election, candidates are adding a drum roll beat to their theme song "Hey, Look Me Over."

On election day, identified with either a poll tax receipt or a registration slip, Gray County voters may go to the polls as early as 8 a.m. and not later than 7 p.m.

"This identification will save them time," Jack Back, county tax assessor said Saturday. "Of course, we have a master registration list that we can verify the voter's eligibility in case they don't have a poll tax receipt or registration slip."

At the polls, voters will be handed a large white ballot, 18 by 23 inches, on which they will be asked to scratch out names of all candidates they do not wish to vote for and leave only the name of their candidate visible.

While enclosed in the balloting booth, Gray County citizens will have the prerogative of choosing men for 27 offices, ranging from governor on the state level, to justice of peace on the precinct level. Sixteen constitutional amendments will also be listed for their pro or con vote.

Upon determining which precinct they reside in, voters in Precinct 1 will go to City Hall; Precinct 2, Baker School; Precinct 3, Grandview School; Precinct 4, Alanreed School; Precinct 5, City Hall in McLean; Precinct 6, Laketon Farm Supply; Precinct 7, Horace Mann School; Precinct 8, Woodrow Wilson School; Precinct 10, Curthouse; Precinct 11, Phillips Camp; Precinct 12, Lamar School; Precinct 13, Milliron Engineering Co. and Precinct 14, Travis School.

Johnson Winds Up Tour of Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—President Johnson wound up his three-day visit to one of America's staunchest Asian Allies Saturday by boosting U.S. military aid to Thailand and issuing a new appeal to Hanoi to talk peace.

Thousands of Thais abandoned their traditional reserve and gave the President thunderous and spontaneous ovations during his public appearances. They bobbed joyously around his limousine in the streets.

He hosted a "Texas style" state dinner at the grand palace Saturday night for King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit and 132 other guests in his last official act before flying to the Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, Sunday morning (at 6:50 p.m. Saturday CST).

Hill Decorated
Yellow and white bunting decorated the hall. Green, red, white and yellow flowers formed center pieces on each of the 14 round tables.

The king is a noted jazz expert and performer so the President arranged to have American jazz saxophonist Stan Getz and his combo entertain. In Kuala Lumpur, most time, officials tightened security in the face of more anti-American demonstrations.

About 40 youths screaming "Johnson go home" tore down American flags placed by the government along Johnson's motorcade route just 12 hours before his arrival.

Malaysian authorities disclosed they had arrested 75 members of the Peking-oriented labor party and rounded up another undisclosed number of potential troublemakers.

The President's warmest reception Saturday came during his appearance at Chulalongkorn University where he was awarded an honorary degree. About 6,000 students jammed onto the campus and into the gold-decorated auditorium where Johnson, wearing the gown of a doctor of political science, appealed to Hanoi to "renounce the works of death."

Some of the students peered into the auditorium and others watched on television.

"My nation today is bearing a heavy load in the Vietnamese conflict alongside yours," Johnson said.

"The central tragedy of our times is the human and

Udall Speaker For Lake, Dam Dedication Rites

Dedication ceremonies for Sanford Dam and Lake Meredith will be highlighted Tuesday with an appearance and a talk by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Udall is scheduled to speak at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Vista Point in the Sanford-Yale Recreation Area.

Rev. J. W. Duke of Pampa First Christian Church has been asked by the Board of Reclamation to give the invocation.

Commissioner Floyd E. Dornay of the Bureau of Reclamation will serve as master of ceremonies with talks scheduled by Texas Governor John Connally, and Congressman Walter Rogers.

The climax of the event will be the unveiling of two dedicatory plaques by Congressman Rogers, Mrs. A. A. Meredith and Secretary Udall.

The Borger High School Band will present a concert starting at 3 p.m. with a boat show staged at the same time by the Borger Boat and Ski Club and the Amarillo Yacht Club.

Planes from the Reese Air Force Base will stage a flyover-salute at 3:20 p.m. Colors will be presented by the Texas National Guard Unit of Borger. Traffic will be directed by members of the National Park Service, Texas Department of Public Safety and the Hutchinson County Sheriff's Department.

Sanford Dam and Lake Meredith are a part of the Canadian River Project which will provide municipal and industrial water to member cities of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. Water will be delivered to Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Plainview, Lubbock, Slaton, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Levelland, Lamesa and Brownfield following completion of the aqueduct system.

The Bureau of Reclamation started construction of Sanford Dam in 1962 and completed it in 1965.

Rising Wages Keep Gray County Families In Good Financial Shape

Gray County families as a whole are in good financial shape, a survey shows. Many of them, in the last year or two have moved into higher income brackets.

Rising wages and salaries is the answer. Progress in that direction has been made at almost every level.

The result is that there is now a larger proportion of the population in the middle and upper brackets than ever before.

The extent of these changes, locally and in other sections of the country, is indicated in a copyrighted report released by Sales Management. It shows, for every community, the percentage of families in each bracket.

The breakdown gives a better understanding of the term "average income," as applied to a particular locality. It makes clear whether its so-called "average" represents earnings that are broadly distributed among the majority of families or whether it stands for a small segment of families with very large incomes compensating for a much bigger number with low incomes.

FATE'S WINDOW — News photographer Ken Leach made this time exposure photo late Friday night as a jury pondered the life or death of Tom R. Vessels. The only lighted window was in the southwest corner jury room on the courthouse third floor. The light went out at midnight, the jurors went to bed—and the final verdict did not come until nearly 12 hours later.

Appeal Notice Filed For New Trial After Verdict in Rape Case

By TEX DEWEESSE

"We the jury assess the punishment of T. R. Vessels as death."

Those words, read by Clerk Helen Sprinkle at 11:20 a.m. Saturday in 31st District Court here, sealed the fate for the time being of Thomas Ray Vessels, the 29-year-old ex-convict who had been found guilty of rape by the same jury 18 hours earlier.

His conviction on the rape charge and the death verdict brought to a climax the week-long trial in which Vessels had entered a plea of not guilty to raping a young Pampa housewife last April 28.

The death penalty in Texas means death in the electric chair.

Only two ballots were taken when the jurors deliberated on the first part of the trial to establish guilt or innocence. They were close to agreement on the first ballot and before an hour had elapsed the guilty verdict was unanimous.

Although the jury deliberation lasted five hours and 10 minutes on the second part to determine the extent of punishment, only three ballots were taken. The first was 7 for death to 5 for life or 99 years, the second was 10 to 2 and the final ballot brought the unanimous verdict.

It was the first death penalty assessed in Gray County since 1930 and the first time death punishment had been asked by District Attorney Bill Waters in his 12 years as district attorney.

Vessels' mother, wife, stepfather, sister, and grandmother were sitting on the front row in court as the death penalty was announced. Vessels showed little or no emotion.

His wife, Mrs. Rosemary Vessels, and his mother, Mrs. W. T. Freeman, were visibly shaken by the verdict and broke into tears. Mrs. Freeman sobbed audibly as she left the courtroom on the arm of her husband.

Later, Sheriff Rufe Jordan permitted the condemned man's wife and mother to visit with him under guard in a room near the sheriff's office.

Present plans are to keep Vessels in the county jail here, pending further legal action.

Defense attorney James R. Bowers, who had been appointed by the court in event Vessels, immediately filed notice of exception and appeal on error. District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich said the next procedure would be for the court to rule on a written motion for a new trial.

Following the court's dismissal of the appeal, the court's dismissal.

Cong Hit Troops In Repeat Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Veteran North Vietnamese troops Saturday charged repeatedly in human wave attacks against "greenhorn" American infantrymen in the central Highlands near the Cambodia border. But the hard-hit GIs held their ground and killed 52 while suffering "moderate" losses.

Three U.S. Army helicopters flying to the aid of the besieged Americans were shot down by Communist ground fire. One of the air craft crashed in flames, with "heavy casualties" to the crew.

A U.S. spokesman said the Communists apparently threw a reinforced North Vietnamese battalion against inexperienced American troops from units of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division that arrived in Viet Nam only two months ago.

The Americans, in their heavy combat debut, absorbed some of the worst punishment troops of the crack North Vietnamese 610 Division could deliver during the attacks which military observers feared might be the prelude to a major Communist offensive.

U.S. spokesmen said the North Vietnamese regulars, shrieking and shouting as they charged, staged at least five major charges at the U.S. infantrymen in the largest attacks of the kind since last July's "Operations Hastings" fighting in the area 240 miles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for the 4th Infantrymen in the largest attacking Communists "came from all sides and got to within 15 to 25 yards of two of our companies' positions but couldn't penetrate."

Trial Grips Public Attention for Week

By RON CROSS
News Staff Writer

The Tom R. Vessels rape trial attracted much attention locally, state-wide and even nationally.

Probably many persons who attended the trial and have been following it in the newspapers, have some questions they'd like answered.

For instance, why since every juror was questioned about insanity if introduced in evidence, was there no testimony on the question of insanity presented? A continuance was asked by Bowers so Vessels could be examined. It was denied.

Vessels' own mother, who has remarried and lives in Fort Worth, said in an interview with Pampa News staff writer Doris Wilson, that her son suffered birth injuries and head injuries in a fall as a child.

The mother also told of blackout spells Vessels allegedly has and that even while the trial was in progress he was taking "pills."

The woman told also that Vessels had asked repeatedly for psychiatric help while in prison in Mexico, while in the Air Force and while in the Potter and Gray County jails.

She said he had been denied this help. She said her son had been given a general discharge from the Air Force and that she had a picture of him when he erred a blackout while in the service.

A general discharge from the armed service covers a multitude of things.

The prisoner's mother said she felt her son needed help badly, but that he did not need to die.

The entire Freeman family expressed feelings time and again that Vessels could not and would not receive a fair trial.

Vessels was so convinced of this that when the guilty verdict was read by District Clerk Helen Sprinkle, he turned to his wife and mouthed the words "I told you so."

Vessels had complained of being abused while in jail, put in a security ward in Amarillo, and said he was not allowed to use the phone nor call his family at any time.

"There was a sign at the jail in Amarillo that said I was not to be allowed to use the telephone at any time," Vessels said.

Vessels also said he had never served time for rape. A credit report in Pampa, at a loan company where he tried to make a loan, shows he served time for rape in New Mexico.

Vessels told of sending a letter to the United States Attorney General's office but it apparently did him no good.

Vessels told this reporter he

Porter Ends 54 Year Career

Obie F. Hunter, train porter for the Santa Fe Railway, makes his last run today.

Hunter, who has had six presidents among his passengers, retires with more than 54 years of accident-free service to the railroad.

Hunter's "run" is from Amarillo to Belen, N.M. He completes his last run when the San Francisco Chief arrives in Amarillo at 5:15 tonight.

In addition to serving Presidents Wilson, Hoover, Truman, Roosevelt, Eisenhower and Kennedy, Hunter lists service to Will Rogers and Charlie Chaplin.

On one trip, then First Lady, Eleanor Roosevelt invited Hunter to join her for a cup of coffee.

"Now," says Hunter, "I am going to catch up on all my hunting and fishing."

"And I am going to catch up on all the sleep I missed because I had to get up and come down to the station and pick him up," says his wife Sadie.

Mrs. Hunter always sees her husband off on his runs.

"He has never failed to give me a goodbye kiss," she said.

Hunter was born at Troupe in 1888 and entered service as a train porter on the Plains Division working out of Amarillo on June 5, 1912.

He served as a porter on the superintendent's business car from 1916 to 1913, after which he returned to service as a train

Tricksters Given Tip-Off For Fun-Safe Halloween

Since Halloween is a child's night for make-believe and fun, not injury or death, Chief of Police Jim Conner and Fire Chief Ernest Winborne are advising Pampa parents and children to take precautions.

Chief Conner said that Halloween can be made safe for young children if parents will recognize the dangers and instruct their children to avoid hazards that Halloween portends.

Halloween celebrants are always excited and they get overtired, Conner stated. "See that youngsters of all ages travel in groups and that preschool children have the supervision of an adult. It will cut down on the danger potential if 'trick or treat' seekers confine their route to the four sides of a single block so there is no need to cross streets."

The chief of police advised that boundaries and curfews should be set up for the older kids too. "Regardless of age, they shouldn't be allowed to roam all over town at late hours."

Fire Chief Winborne pointed out that fire is still one of the (Continued From Page 1) had not raped anyone, that the Pampa victim was mistaken. He said he tried to burglarize a home in Amarillo but panicked when the woman came home. He said he cut her, but did not try to rape her.

The Pampa rape victim identified Vessels in a lineup and again in the courtroom and said there was no doubt he was the man who raped and stabbed her.

That's just about as positive an identification as you can get.

Is Vessels mentally ill? One can only guess.

Quite possibly defense attorney James Rowdy Bowers felt he had no chance to prove insanity without further psychiatric examination. This is a touchy and drawn out process and you have to decide who is an expert and who isn't.

Bowers called only two witnesses, Sheriff Rufe Jordan and the manager of a domino parlor in Pampa.

Jordan was questioned only briefly while the other man said that he had put money in a parking meter for Vessels and that Vessels had been in his place of business. But he also said he didn't know if it was in the place on April 28, the day the rape occurred.

He was asked about a parking ticket put on Vessels' car that day. The man said he had never seen the ticket.

Vessels, in his talk with me, said he was never at the victim's home and had a parking ticket to prove it and that the time on the ticket was at the same time the rape occurred.

The ticket Vessels said he had was never found. The ticket introduced in court was placed on his car at 11:09 a.m. The rape attack was around 2:30 p.m.

Two men who run a club in Pampa where Vessels often played poker, were also subpoenaed but not called as witnesses.

After the domino parlor man was questioned, Bowers conferred with his client privately.

He evidently made it clear to Vessels that testimony from other witnesses would be much the same and none would be able to testify to seeing him the day of the rape.

One of the witnesses told this reporter he had no idea if Vessels was in his place the day of the rape.

Vessels, earlier let it be known he didn't want Bowers as his attorney and Bowers let it be known he didn't particularly want to be there either, but he had been appointed by the court and would do his best.

He did. To have gotten Vessels off with a lesser sentence would have been a miracle.

In his summation Bowers told the jury that Vessels was a "bad penny" but did not deserve to die.

He said that only the victim

Damage Suit Filed In District Court

A personal injury damage suit in the amount of $1,000 was filed in the 31st Judicial District Court yesterday by Dennis Duncan against Charles Cauthorn.

The suit alleges personal injuries to the plaintiff's wife, Achsa, following a two-car collision Sept. 26 on West Brown Street.

● Election

Thut said Saturday that 163 absentee votes had been received to date.

Deadline for voting absentee in person is Nov. 4. Absentee mail ballots will be accepted up to noon of election day.

Serving as election judges, with their precinct number listed before their names are (1) Mrs. Ruby Blackwell; (2) Mrs. Earl Taylor; (3) Johnny Johnson; (4) Marvin Hall; (5) Homer Abbott; (6) Ralph McLaughlin; (7) Mrs. Clyde Batson; (8) Joe Miller; (9) E. O. Pulliam; (10) Arthur Rankin; (11) Durant Brock; (12) Mrs. Georgia Mack; (13) N. P. Brown; (14) Lindy Houck.

● Porter

Hunter and his wife Sadie, reside at 421 Maple St.

They have an adopted daughter who is married and lives in California. One of their two grandchildren, Dr. W. F. Thompson, a dentist, lives at Amarillo.

She could prove she was raped and it was only her word, but that she was not examined at the hospital to see if there had been sexual intercourse.

Her word was good enough for the jury.

Vessels himself remained calm throughout the trial and stared intently at each juror, at the victim when she testified and remained impassive when sentence was read Saturday morning.

Judge Lewis Goodrich had warned spectators not to make any outbursts when the verdict was heard.

This was impossible for members of Vessels' family who broke down when the verdict of death in the electric chair was heard.

The victim's husband looked grim as he walked down the steps of Gray County Court-house afterward.

What's next?

Bowers gave notice of appeal, which in a rape trial where death is the sentence is automatic.

The appeal will go to a higher court where a mistrial will be sought.

One day next week Judge Goodrich will officially sentence Vessels.

● Vessels Given Death Penalty

"There is too much concern today for defendants and too little concern for the public and society in general.

"The people have a right to be protected. It is now your duty to protect them. It is not lightly for me to stand before you and ask you to give death punishment. But, I have no apologies when I stand before you in this case and ask you to give death punishment.

"If you turn this man loose and it happens again — and I have every reason to believe it will — the blood of his next victim will be on your hands."

Waters told the jury there were two purposes for punishment — to reform the offender or to deter and prevent crime.

Then he recited the defendant's 11-year criminal record of 11 convictions and 11 sentences in felony cases.

"All of the punishment given him so far has not reformed him," the district attorney said. "If anything, he has become progressively worse. As soon as he got out, he preyed on society and if he gets out now he'll do it again."

"You will recall he told his victim that even if he got caught all he would get for rape would be seven and a half years."

"I ask you to make a liar out of him."

Defense Attorney Bowers began his final argument at 8:35 p.m. Friday.

"I think you have done right," Bowers said. "We are not asking for mercy. But what is the obligation of the State? It was expediency that turned this man back on society."

"When in prison he was ready and in need to be looked after with concern. But in the pen they just lock them up."

"It is an obligation of juries and courts — not to show mercy — but to put him away. He should have been put away for life before, but now the State asks for death."

"I do ask you to consider the whole span of punishment. The evidence justifies a good term."

"I ask you to give him life, but not death. It's up to you."

In his brief final statement, the district attorney told the jurors:

"I think this man intended to kill his victim or leave her to bleed to death."

"This man, in his viciousness, has forfeited his right to live. If he is let loose, you cannot wash from your hands the blood of his next victim."

"I have washed my hands of the blood of his next victim. Now, I ask you to join me."

The case went to the jury for its final decision at 8:45 p.m. Friday.

Deliberation continued until 5 minutes before midnight when the jurors decided to go to bed.

They were up at 6 Saturday morning, went to breakfast in a downtown coffee sop, returned to the jury room and resumed deliberation at 8:55 a.m.

Judge Goodrich was waiting in his chambers and was notified at 11 a.m. the jury would be ready with its verdict in ten minutes.

The jury came in minutes later and there was a ten-minute delay awaiting the arrival of Defense Attorney Bowers who had been notified by telephone that a verdict had been reached.

While waiting for Bowers, the defendant joked with Sheriff Jordan who sat at his side.

Vessels' wife, who has been living with her parents in New Mexico since a few days after her husband's arrest last May 12, appeared in court for the first time Friday. She had been subpoenaed as a defense witness, but the defense called but one witness and rested its case.

Court attaches said the last major case in Gray County was a murder trial that attracted unusual attention in 1957.

The Vessels case opened last Monday when selection of a jury began. The original 196-member venire was exhausted with only 11 jurors selected. The 12th man was not seated until noon on Thursday after a third venire list had been ordered by Judge Goodrich.

The actual taking of testimony and presentation of evidence did not begin until 3 p.m. Thursday.

day. The trial went into a Thursday night session, that lasted until 8:35 p.m. when the State rested its case. Court was resumed at 10:30 a.m. Friday and the case went to the jury at 8:45 p.m.

Members of the jury were: Lou Troja, 2330 Navajo, clothing salesman; Marion F. Williamson, 1809 N. Wells, machanic; E. J. Windom, McLean, mechanic; D. E. Robbins, 600 N. Sloan, oil field pump; S. A. Dunham, 2128 N. Sumner, oil company office manager; Morris A. Powell, 2318 Charles, shop foreman; Cecil G. Shirley, 1822 N. Russell, beer distributor; J. Boyd Smith, McLean, oilfield pump; D. L. Kindie, Lefors, farmer; Dick Brown, 1421 N. Russell, pipeline repairman; J. R. Abbot, 441 Graham, mechanic; and Arthur W. Skewes, 1612 Christine, electrician. Windom was the jury foreman.

When the death penalty was announced, Judge Goodrich polled each member of the jury individually and asked him if that was his verdict. All answered in the affirmative.

It will go into the record of the trial that the defense filed a motion asking continuance of the trial in order to have Vessels taken to the Veterans Administration hospital in Fort Worth for psychiatric examination.

Defense attorney Bowers told the court in a written motion the examination was necessary to obtain proper evidence to determine the defendant's sanity in event the sanity plea was invoked.

The motion was overruled.

The verdict brought in by the jury Saturday marked the second death penalty ever assessed in Gray County.

The first one was in a rape trial 36 years ago when on May 22, 1930, a man was convicted and sentenced to death for the rape of a four-year-old girl.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service, and is published by The Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers.

Q—I quit my summer job to go back to school. When is my employer supposed to give me a Form W-2?

A—In your case it should be within 30 days of your final pay day. Be sure to file the Form W-2 with your 1966 tax return. If your total income was under $600 for the year you still have to file to get a refund of income taxes withheld.

Q—I'm making more money this year than I expected. Can I change my declaration of estimated tax?

A—Yes you can. On the reverse side of the estimated tax installment notice you receive there is a place to make a change. Instead of using the next notice form you may take a copy of Form 1040-ES (Amended) which you may obtain by dropping a post card to your IRS district office and send that in. If the change occurred after Sept. 1, the amended declaration should be filed by Jan. 16, 1967.

Q—I disagreed with the agent auditing my return and told him so. I then received a letter suggesting I take my case to the Appellate Div. of the IRS. Can't I also ask for some other sort of conference with the IRS?

A—Yes you can. Income cases however, where it seems likely that the issue cannot be resolved at a district conference, IRS encourages taxpayers to go directly to Appellate.

Q—How do I go about setting up a pension plan for myself and my employees? I have a small unincorporated repair business.

A—This is explained in the free Document No. 5592, Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Inds., which is available by dropping a post card to your IRS district director.

Q—Will your Teaching Taxes program be offered to schools again this year?

A—Yes it will. Notices on the program are being sent to junior and senior high schools as well as some business schools and colleges. Schools wishing to participate will receive their free materials the first of the year when the 1967 tax forms and instructions are available.

Q—My boss told me that if I knew how to take shorthand I'd be promoted to secretary. If I took a course for this would the cost be deductible?

A—No, since educational expenses incurred to obtain a promotion or a better job do not qualify. If a course is required by your employer to keep your present job the costs would be deductible.

Board Bugs Byrd's Beau

NEW YORK (UPI)—Actor George Hamilton, Lynda Bird Johnson's favorite beau, has been ordered by his draft board to report for a physical examination.

Hamilton has been deferred from service on grounds that he is the sole support of his mother, but local Selective Service officials said they planned to review the controversial deferment within two months.

The movie star, who lives in a 39-room Beverly Hills mansion and drives a Rolls Royce, has been a prime target of critics of the draft system.

In 1948, political pollsters predicted Thomas Dewey would defeat Harry Truman in the presidential elections.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The people of the West Texas Area rank among the highest per capita income levels in the nation. A lot of hard work and ingenuity by the people of this area has helped make this possible.

People who come back to visit after an absence of 20 years are amazed at the agricultural and industrial growth that has taken place during the period.

The soil, the minerals, the water, the people, and the wonderful year-round weather have combined to build a standard of living that is unequalled anywhere. Small wonder that the term "Golden Spread," used to describe our area, fits like a glove.

Although we continue to grow at a phenomenal rate, there is the somber realization that we can leave the next generation with a serious water problem.

Texas is making every effort to insure the next generation a plentiful water supply. The water problem is general all over the nation. The water problem has crept upon us so gradually that the general population has only recently become aware of it.

The Texas Water Development Board's fund to guarantee the continued growth of water supplies will depend a great deal on Amendment No. 11 to be voted on on November 8.

Projects financed by loans from the Texas Water Development Fund are intended to develop or provide additional water supplies and cover nearly all facets of reservoir development - land purchases, clearing, relocation of highways and utility lines, construction of dams, pipelines, treatment and pumping facilities. In addition, the Texas Water Development Fund is used in the development of interstate projects. At present, Texas, the Sabine River Authorities of Texas and Louisiana, and the State of Louisiana are committed to the construction of Toledo Bend Dam and Reservoir on the Sabine River, an interstate stream forming the eastern boundary of Texas and the western boundary of Louisiana. This is the largest project in the southwest that is being constructed without federal participation or interest. Total cost of the project will be about $60 million, with the state of Texas owning a fourth of the storage space in the reservoir.

So far, the state, through the Texas Water Development Board, has paid from the Water Development Fund $14,408,185.63 toward its share of the cost of the project. The remainder of the $15 million commitment will be paid quarterly as funds are needed.

Funds used by the Board to provide financial assistance do not come from State appropriations, but are obtained from the sale of Texas Water Development Bonds. Loans are made at 1/2 of 1 percent above the average interest cost of all bonds sold by the Board. The bonds have a triple A rating, the highest given.

All sections of the State have shared in the Texas Water Development Fund. Water development projects have been planned and completed or are nearing completion in almost every major river basin in the State. Following is a list of projects that have received Water Development financial assistance or have funds committed:

Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority - Two loans amounting to $300,000 have been made the district. The first loan, $4,100,000, was closed on Oct. 15, 1964, and the other, $4,200,000 on April 13, 1966. The authority is constructing water supply facilities to serve Childress, Quanah, Clarendon, Hedley and Crowell. In addition, the state of Texas, through the Texas Water Development Board, has agreed to purchase storage facilities in the dam and reservoir being built by the Greenbelt Authority on the Salt Fork near Clarendon. The state will own a $950,000 interest in the project. The state has paid $536,900 into the project, with the remainder to be paid as needed.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WEALEY

On Tuesday November 1, 1966 diverted acres that were planted to wheat this Fall can be grazed.

We believe you will see a slight rise in the stocker market in Amarillo as a result of this. The recent warm weather has been just what we need for the wheat. It was not so much the lack of moisture that has failed to get the wheat started as it has been unseasonably cool weather. The September rains fell at a time that delayed plantings until latter part of September. If you want wheat pasture, late August or early September plantings are best. If you plant solely for grain production, October 1-15 is the best planting date. A rule which we recommend is to plant anytime after September 5-10 that you can get your wheat up. This gives a two way chance... both grazing and grain. A big hazard-always present when you wait too long is losing the moisture to where you can't get up a stand. Rainfall averages drop off sharply after October 1.

We are hearing a lot of people talking the blues over the cattle price decline. It is very true that some classes of stocker

Range Rotation Paying Dividends - The following report was put out by the Texas Experimental Ranch at Throckmorton. This report has some very interesting information concerning stocking rates and different grazing systems under actual ranching conditions. Their five-year average of wearing weights of calves are as follows: heavy continuous stocking 484 lbs; moderate continuous stocking 499 lbs; 2 pasture rotation deferred 506 lbs; 4 pasture rotation deferred 522 lbs; the desirable grasses were increasing in the two and four pasture rotation deferred pastures and decreasing under the heavy continuous stocking rate. The ultimate objective in range conservation and good range management is the highest possible yield of quality range forage. Range condition, range trend, range management and treatment practices and the economics of ranching business are

US Census Bureau Reports On Ag Picture In County

A total of 421 farms was counted in Gray County during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1959), the total counted in the county was 400 farms.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 1,465.3 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $129,385.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $7,918,712; in 1959, $5,791,649.
2. Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $2,020,974; in 1959, $2,378,113.
3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $5,895,708; in 1959, $3,223,536.

A Census of Agriculture is taken every 5 years in years ending in '4' and '9' to gather information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. The data are needed to make decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. The 1964 farm census was the 18th in a series that began in 1940.

The preliminary report for the county contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Among additional facts it contains are the number of farms by size, type, and economic class; the number of farm operators by method of tenure, age, color, off-farm work, and number of school years completed; land in farms by use and by land-use practices; data on equipment and facilities; farm expenditures; number of hired workers; and number of farms reporting poultry and livestock production and those reporting crop production by acres and quantities as well as sales.

Notre Dame Sails Past Helpless Middies, 31-7

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Notre Dame's dedicated defense, glowing with three interceptions by linebacker John Pergine, throttled Navy Saturday and helped a sluggish Irish offense carve out a 31-7 victory over the Middies.

Pergine set up two Irish touchdowns and came close to setting up a third when he returned a theft 27 yards to the Navy 13.

The offense failed to capitalize on that opportunity, but in between, shook the effects of a letdown from the outstanding victory over Oklahoma a week ago to send quarterback Terry Hanratty over for two touchdowns, Larry Conjar for another and sophomore Bob Gladioux —who replaced the bruised Nick Eddy in the third period—across for another score.

Joe Azzaro contributed a 42-yard field goal for the first Notre Dame score in the opening period. The touchdowns all came from short distances after sustained drives.

The Irish, who rushed for 1,042 yards in their first five games, ran for 281 on the ground today. They gained 45 in the air compared to the 222-yard average to date.

Notre Dame's first string defensive unit effectively tied up Navy, which got past the 50-yard line only twice.

It was the Navy defense which gave the Middies their lone score when Jon Bergner raced through to block a punt deep in Notre Dame territory in the fourth period and then gathered in the ball on the three and threw himself into the end zone.

A sun-drenched crowd of 70,101, the biggest to see the teams play in Philadelphia, saw the Irish begin their scoring when Tom Schoen returned a punt 16 yards to the Navy 47 in the first period and when the Middies dug in, Azzaro booted his 42-yard field goal.

Conjar galloped over from the seven on the first play of the second period to give Notre Dame its 10-0 halftime lead.

Hanratty's two important six-yard stabs kept a 51-yard march alive in the third period the final score.

and the quarterback went over from the one to widen it to 17-0. Pergine's third interception for a season total of five and his 14-yard return set up Gladioux' later score from the one.

Texas had held a 12-7 lead going into the fourth period and Partee had made it 12-10 on a 31-yard field goal on the second play of the final period.

The Longhorns then dominated the game and Texas quarterback Bill Bradley was engineering a good drive downfield when he fumbled on the SMU 32, and George Wilmut pounced on it for the Mustangs.

The loss left Texas with three wins and four losses for the year, assuring the Longhorns a tie for their worst season since Coach Darrell Royal came here 10 years ago. Last year's 6-4 record by the Longhorns was their poorest, showing under Royal.

Texas jumped to the front in the scoring with less than two minutes gone in the game when back Chris Gilbert broke through left tackle and raced 74 yards to score. David Conway missed the extra point—a miss that turned out to be the losing margin for Texas.

But Conway kicked a 31-yard field goal in the second period and made a 45-yarder good in the third quarter to give Texas its 12 points and the lead until Partee wiped it out in the last 18 seconds.

Mustang quarterbacks Mike Livingston and Mac White then drove SMU to the Texas 22 with the key play a 25-yard pass by White to Mike Richardson. Partee then put a long, high kick through the uprights for the victory.

Southern Methodist's best drive opened the second quarter and resulted in the Mustangs' only touchdown. They drove 62 yards for the score with Livingston passing the final 10 to end Jerry Levias.

Arkansas Strikes Down Aggies; Field Goal Gives SMU Victory

Hogs Score Early For 34-0 Victory

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Jon Brittenum and the Arkansas Razorbacks struck like lightning for three first period touchdowns Saturday night then proceeded to overpower Texas A&M for 34-0 Southwest Conference victory.

Brittenum could do no wrong as he quarterbacked the fired-up Hogs to a quick 20-point margin in the first period with fullback David Dickey going the final yardage each time.

Dickey also scored the fourth

Arkansas touchdown at the end of an 82-yard drive in the third period and safetyman Martine Bercher ran back a punt for 59 yards to account for the final Razorback score.

The Hogs hit with such fury in the first period that the Aggies never recovered. At the end of the first period, A&M had made only one first down on four yards rushing and eight yards passing.

After running up 34 points toward the end of the third period, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles sent in second string quarterback Gordon Norwood and several other subs to run the clock out. The Aggies managed to hold their scoreless in the final period.

Dickey's first two touchdowns each came on one-yard plunges, then he went over from the 4 on each of his next two. Bob White mixed his third extra point try, but made the other four.

Arkansas grabbed off two Aggie fumbles and intercepted two passes. One Aggie fumble and one misdirected pass led to two of the Arkansas touchdowns.

Quarterback Edd Hargett of A&M threw 44 passes but could complete only 17 for 143 yards. Several of his key passes were on the money, but the Aggie foreivers dropped them.

The best showing for Hargett was in the second period when he put together a drive that moved to the Arkansas 18. But four straight incomplete passes saw the drive die at that point.

The powerful Razorbacks, who lost their only game this season 7-0 to Baylor Oct. 8, pined up 317 yards rushing, with Brittenum himself going for 82 of them on 14 carries.

Dickey's 24 points were the most ever made by an Arkansas player in a Southwest Conference game.

This was A&M's first conference loss, although the Aggies dropped their two first games to Georgia Tech and Tulane, and tied LSU. Arkansas now has a 3-1 conference record, trailing Southern Methodist which is 3-0 in conference play.

Florida Strikes Late to Edge Auburn, 30-27

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida quarterback Steve Spurrier booted a 40-yard field goal with 2:12 remaining in the game Saturday to beat Auburn 30-27 and save the seventh-ranked Gators' perfect record.

Until the 11th hour kick, it appeared that the fired-up Tigers would come out with at least a tie despite the brilliance of Spurrier, who had passed for one touchdown and run for another.

The Gators outgained Auburn all day but a 91-yard run with a fumble recovery by linebacker Gusto Yearout and an 89-yard kickoff return by fullback Larry Ellis kept the Tigers in the game all the way, before a record 60,511 fans on Florida homecoming day.

Yearout also set up the tying touchdown in the fourth period when he recovered a fumble on the Gator 17. Auburn scored in six plays with quarterback Larry Blakeney carrying over from the two.

While it was his toe that won the game, Spurrier's passing kept Florida on the move all day long. Halfback Larry Smith ground out 102 yards on the ground to balance the attack.

The Gator quarterback completed 27 of 40 passes for 259 yards and a touchdown, and scored once himself on a one-yard plunge to add luster to his All-America bid. Smith also scored on a two-yard plunge.

Longhorns Beaten in Toughie

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A 32-yard field goal by Dennis Partee with 18 seconds left gave Southern Methodist a 13-12 win over the University of Texas Saturday.

Texas had held a 12-7 lead going into the fourth period and Partee had made it 12-10 on a 31-yard field goal on the second play of the final period.

The Longhorns then dominated the game and Texas quarterback Bill Bradley was engineering a good drive downfield when he fumbled on the SMU 32, and George Wilmut pounced on it for the Mustangs.

The loss left Texas with three wins and four losses for the year, assuring the Longhorns a tie for their worst season since Coach Darrell Royal came here 10 years ago. Last year's 6-4 record by the Longhorns was their poorest, showing under Royal.

Texas jumped to the front in the scoring with less than two minutes gone in the game when back Chris Gilbert broke through left tackle and raced 74 yards to score. David Conway missed the extra point—a miss that turned out to be the losing margin for Texas.

But Conway kicked a 31-yard field goal in the second period and made a 45-yarder good in the third quarter to give Texas its 12 points and the lead until Partee wiped it out in the last 18 seconds.

Mustang quarterbacks Mike Livingston and Mac White then drove SMU to the Texas 22 with the key play a 25-yard pass by White to Mike Richardson. Partee then put a long, high kick through the uprights for the victory.

Southern Methodist's best drive opened the second quarter and resulted in the Mustangs' only touchdown. They drove 62 yards for the score with Livingston passing the final 10 to end Jerry Levias.

Frogs Boot Baylor, 6-0

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Bruce Alford kicked Baylor 39-yards.

Virtually out of contention for the Southwest Conference championship Saturday with 32 and 48-yard field goals which gave Texas Christian a 6-0 victory.

Alford's kicks were about the only bright spots in the dull, listless game marred by interceptions, fumbles and some of the most futile offensive efforts seen in conference circles in years.

The victory gave TCU a 2-2 league record and left Baylor with a 1-2 mark and both all but out of contention for the title.

Baylor's two quarterbacks, starter Terry Southall and understudy Kenny Stockdale, and TCU's P. D. Shabay were constantly over, short, or underthrew open receivers and defenders. Both sides dropped numerous almost certain interceptions to the groans of a crowd of 24,378.

It was the third straight time Alford had subdued Baylor with his kicking toe. He beat the Bears 17-14 with a 25-yarder in 1964 and 10-7 last year with a 39-yards.

Alford added to the dismay, himself, by misfiring on two other field goal attempts a 29-yards and a 34-yards, both in the final quarter.

One of the numerous penalties wiped out Baylor's chance for victory when safety Jackie Allen scampered 78 yards with a punt for an apparent touchdown only to find that a teammate had clipped a TCU man about the time he got up a full head of steam.

Baylor, touted as a potent offensive power with its heralded passing game, failed to cross midfield in the first half until the final minute and then it was by virtue of a penalty.

Baylor did a bit better in the second half, marching to the TCU 17 and 22-yard lines but each time the TCU defense stiffened and the Bears' own mistakes caused the drives to mire down.

They were driving again in the final seconds, but TCU defensive end Rodney Marek stole the ball from Stockdale on the final play of the game.

Spartans Rumble Past Tough Northwestern Team

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Michigan State's touted offense bogged down repeatedly against determined Northwestern Saturday, but the No. 2-rated Spartans put together three long scoring pushes for a 22-0 win to remain unbeaten after seven games.

It was the Spartans' fifth win without a loss in Big Ten play and moved them within two victories of clinching a second straight conference title—a feat performed only twice, by Michigan and Ohio State, since World War II.

Michigan State paraded 74 yards in 11 plays to score after the opening kickoff. The last touchdown came on a 17-play drive which covered 91 yards.

In between, the Wildcats gave Michigan State the ball on the Northwestern 35 after a punt which traveled only 12-yards against the wind. It took only four plays, one of them a 31-yard pass from Jimmy Rave to Gene Washington, to score.

The Wildcats also stifled a Michigan State march and forced barefooted placekicker Dick Kenney to boot a 39-yard field goal with the help of 16-mile per hour wind.

Michigan State's touchdowns came on a nine-yard punt Clint Jones, a one-yard plunge by Bob Apisa, and an eight-yard pass from Ray to Washington.

WEST TEXAS STATE LOSES SECOND

Memphis State Rolls, 26-14

CANYON — West Texas State played Memphis State even for a half Saturday night but could not contain the Tigers the final two quarters and lost 26-14.

West Texas scored near the end of the second period and earned a 14-14 halftime tie.

The Buffaloes scored first with 6:05 left in the first period when Albie Owens bulled into the end zone on a four-yard sweep.

The score came as the result of a fumbled punt, recovered by Eddie Golecji. Tom Fambrough kicked the conversion, his 23rd out of as many attempts.

The Tigers came right back to score on a two-yard run by Tom Wallace that climaxed a 60-yard drive in 11 plays. Jim Stephens kicked the conversion to tie the game with 14:18 left in the half.

Memphis State scored again with 3:11 left in the quarter on a 26-yard pass from quarterback Terry Padgett to Dale Brady. Stephens kicked good again for a 14-7 lead.

The Buffaloes battled back to score with 1:31 left before halftime with Owens going in from the two. Fambrough kicked good to knot the score.

In the third period Memphis State drove 13 yards after intercepting a West Texas pass. The Tigers took seven plays to score with Hurb Covington going in from the one. Stephens missed the conversion for a 20-14 lead.

Tom Wallace ran four yards with 52 seconds left in the third period to ice the game. This touchdown came when Dick Cockrell intercepted another pass and went 56 yards down the sidelines to the West Texas 24. It took five plays to score a pass for the conversion failed.

Hebert, Houston Rips Tampa, 48-9

HOUSTON (UPI) — Split end Ken Hebert caught touchdown passes of 85, 46, 3, 4, and 13 yards Saturday night to lead the University of Houston to a 48-9 victory over an outclassed Tampa University.

Hebert, who also kicks extra points, scored 30 points, including 23 in a row during one stretch. He made three consecufive scoring catches in the second quarter and his 46-yarder was the first touchdown of the third period.

Fullback Dick Post scored Houston's first two touchdowns in the first quarter on runs of six and 23 yards and halfback George Nordgren scored the last one with a two-yard dive in the fourth period.

Buffs Slay OU

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado's Wilmer Cooks turned on a powerful running display Saturday to offset two sparkling long distance gallops by Sooner backs as the Buffaloes gave Oklahoma its first conference defeat of the season, 24-21.

Cooks' strong running figured for clutch gains or long yardage in all of Colorado's scoring drives, and accounted for two of CU's three touchdowns and 76 of Colorado's total rushing yardage of 265 in the wide open game.

The dazzling show, however, came from OU backs Eddie Hinton, a sophomore, and replacement Jim Jackson. Hinton ran 93 yards with a booming Colorado punt for a score in the third quarter and Jackson sliced across left end for a 30-yard score the first time Oklahoma had the ball.

Cooks scored Colorado's winning touchdown with 13 minutes left in the game after the Buffaloes had recovered a high pass from center when Oklahoma was trying to punt. Three plays after the ball was recovered on the OU 19, the 215-pound junior smashed through a string of Oklahoma defenders for 15 yards and the score.

Nebraska Slaughters Missouri Tigers, 35-0

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—There is no doubt about it—Bob Devaney and Dan Devine are two big respected names in Midland football.

Devaney's Nebraska giants and Devine's Missouri Tigers draw their crowds from throughout the prairie country. Traffic piles up on the highways leading to either stadium whenever they meet.

Nebraska, looking like the Big Eight fearsome Oklahoma teams of the 1940s and 1950, tallied a pair of touchdowns in the second and third quarters and won in the old series since 1917.

Tech Slams Rice, 35-19

United Press International HOUSTON (UPI)—Halfbacks Mike Leinert and Roger Freeman scored two touchdowns each Saturday to lead Texas Tech to a 35-19 Southwest Conference victory over Rice.

Leinert, a 177-pound junior, led both teams in rushing with 76 yards in 14 carries. Freeman had 9 for 47. Scovell completed 12 of 20 passes for 221 yards.

Miami Takes Cage Wins

MIAMI — It didn't take Miami long to get back on the basketball groove.

Tech broke the scoreless game open in the second quarter with 28 points. The Raiders added a touchdown in the third quarter to set a new school scoring record in SWC play. Their old mark was 33 against Baylor last year.

Cowboys Late Drive Ties I-State, 14-All

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI)—Barney hauled in six of Van Galder's tosses for 107 yards, while Busch netted 96 yards on three catches.

Rice scored on a three-yard pass from Robert Hailey to Chuck Latourette in the second quarter and on three-yard runs by Glen Hine and Robby Shelton in the fourth period.

G-Tech Offense Crushes Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI)—A trusty crew of Georgia Tech linebacks, led by W. J. Blane, blocked a punt and forced fumbles that carried undefeated Tech to a 48-7 win over Duke before 42,000 homecoming fans Saturday.

Alabama Routs M-State, 27-14

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—Senior quarterback Wayne Trimble came off the bench Saturday to spark fourth-ranked Alabama to a 27-14 win over stubborn Mississippi State before 56,000 fans.

The victory broke a five-game losing streak for the Raiders and let them escape the Southwest Conference cellar. Tech now is 1-4 in the conference to 0-3 for Rice.

Cowboys Late Drive Ties I-State, 14-All

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI)—Barney hauled in six of Van Galder's tosses for 107 yards, while Busch netted 96 yards on three catches.

Oklahoma State's big break came with less than two minutes gone in the second half, when a bad snap from center sailed between the legs of punter Harry Alley and rolled to the one.

Johnson plunged across on the next play and Craig Kessler added the extra point.

The defense was so devastating that Tech's famed offense had to stage only one long drive. Blane and fellow linebacks Billy Schroer and Randall Edmunds shattered the Duke attack and took the ball away from the Blue Devils repeatedly.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—Senior quarterback Wayne Trimble came off the bench Saturday to spark fourth-ranked Alabama to a 27-14 win over stubborn Mississippi State before 56,000 fans.

Trimble, splattered with blood from a badly cut elbow, tossed three touchdown passes — two in the final period — and kicker Steve Davis booted two field goals in the Tide's sixth straight victory.

Alabama Routs M-State, 27-14

Halfback Prentiss Calhoun scored both State touchdowns on a two-yard run and an 11-yard pass from quarterback Don Saget. Both came in the fourth quarter.

Trimble, lost in the shadow of regular quarterback Ken Stabler during the first half of the season, hit All-America end candidate Ray Perkins with scoring passes of 26 and 37 yards and passed to lineman Jerry Duncan on a 48-yard tackle eligible touchdown play.

TOUGH YARDAGE — Pampa quarterback Gary Hyatt picks up some tough yardage Friday night against Caprock. Helping to bring Hyatt down are Darrell Main, Mike Goodman and Ronald Short of the Horns.

PIRATES BOUNCE BACK

Lefors Rips Follett, 20-6

FOLLETT — Lefors won their third straight football game Friday night and first conference game in one try.

The Pirates ran their record to 3-4 after four straight losses, as they thumped Follett, 20-6. Lefors is now 1-0 in 5-B play and trails Groom, who is 1-0-0.

Follett contained the Pirates, from scoring anyway, for two quarters, and led 6-0 at half-time.

But Lefors came back in the third quarter and scored after recovering a Follett fumble on the 40 yards.

Dennis Keith went the final eight yards and Glen Hix kicked the conversion for a 7-6 lead.

The Pirates tallied again in the third period when Gary Smith climaxed a 60-yard drive by going in from the 12. Hix kicked again and the Pirates led 14-6 after three periods.

In the final quarter the Pirates took over on downs—and Marvin Finney scooted 59-yards on the second play to score. The kick was missed but the Pirates had the game, 20-6.

Lefors led 23-9 in first downs, and outgained the Tigers, 418-180 on the ground. They ground out 183 yards in the first half.

The Pirates scored on the last play of the game but the touchdown was nullified when officials ruled time had run out.

Lefors held Follett for 16 plays from the 10-yard line and had five pass interception calls made against them, all in the third quarter.

McLean Takes Lead in 2-A

McLEAN — Fred Hedgecock's Tigers took over the top spot in district 2-A Friday night with a 3-0 record and pushed their season mark to 7-1.

McLean scored on drives of 80, 80 and 40 yards to whip Silverton, 22-8.

The Tigers were held to only one first half touchdown, it coming in the first period on a one-yard run by Jim Hester.

Hester's spurt climaxed an 80-yard drive that took 11 plays. Fullback Raymond Baker ran over the conversion to make it 8-0.

McLean scored a marker in the third quarter when they drove 70-yards in eight plays with halfback Joe McCarty going in from the one.

The attempted run for the conversion failed but the Tigers led 14-0 after three periods.

Baker added to this league leading season total of touchdowns when he went in from two-yards out in the fourth period to climax a 40-yard drive. Hester ran the conversion.

Silverton scored shortly before the game ended when Mike Turner scored on a 40-yard run and then ran in the conversion.

Pampa proved beyond any reasonable doubt that you don't have to control the football to win football games.

They proved it to a rather small crowd and a whole host of Caprock football players Friday night in Harvester Field.

Pampa had the ball for only 46 offensive plays while Caprock ran 65 but the Harvesters used the speed of Gary McCarrell, L. D. Rowden, the deception of fullback Ted Heiskell and quarterback Gary Hyatt and the feet of end James Matney and injured Larry Stephens to bounce Caprock, 30-18.

The victory enabled Pampa to even its season record to 4-4 and was the first north zone triumph for the Harvesters against ty losses.

Caprock is now 4-4 and 0-2 in the north zone.

The only trouble Pampa had was stopping Caprock's Steve Alston, a 160-pound halfback, who didn't play last week against Berger because of an injured leg.

But Alston showed he wasn't hurt Friday night as he carried 34 times for 191 yards, an average of 5.6 yards per carry.

The Longhorns-out first-downed Pampa, 22-10, gained 239 yards on the ground to Pampa's 194 but couldn't catch McCarrell nor Rowden.

Blocking was the key in this one and Pampa's offensive line did it to perfection and for the last two quarters Pampa's defense gave up just 35 yards on the ground.

Ted Heiskell, Rowden, Doc Cornutt, James Matney, Glen Lewis and a couple of more busted through the Caprock line for saving tackles in the final half.

Caprock and the Harvesters battled to a scoreless first period deadlock with Pampa driving to the Horns 29 only to see a fourth down pass fail.

The Horns took over near the end of the first period and drove the 71 yards in 15 plays with Alston going in from the three.

With 9:12 left in the half Heiskell broke through the line to block the attempted conversion and the Horns had to settle for a 6-0 lead.

The Harvesters wasted no time going in front with Rowden taking the ensuing kickoff on the six and handing off to McCarrell on the 10 and the fleet senior sped the 90-yards for a marker.

McCarrell got supreme blocking from the entire team and James Matney booted the conversion with 8:55 left in the half and a 7-6 Pampa lead.

Pampa's defense held the Horns on the next series of downs and Caprock punted to the Pampa 24 where Rowden was waiting and then ran 76-yards, again behind perfect blocking, to score. This time Larry Stephens, broken arm and all, his first action this year and nervously missed the conversion. But Pampa led 13-6 with 6:36 left in the half.

The Longhorns came back strong covering 75 yards in 10 plays with Alston again carrying over, this time from the five. An attempted run for the conversion failed and Pampa still led 13-12 with 1:18 left in the half.

The Harvesters then showed what Stephens foot could really do when they drove to the 29 of Caprock and on a fourth down young Larry calmly tied a 45 yard field goal to make it 16-12 with 44 seconds left in the half.

The Harvesters scored once in the third period when Heiskell recovered a Horn fumble on the Pampa 38.

It took just four plays with Heiskell carrying three times and Rowden getting his second marker of the night when he sped in from the 20. Matney added the conversion for a 23-12 lead with 6:43 left in the third period.

The Horns started going to the air in the fourth period with

WD Bucks Defense Holds Off Wheeler For 12-6 Victory

The only other White Deer score came in the second quarter when they drove 57-yards in eight plays with quarterback John Paul Guinn capping the drive by going in from the three. Again the kick failed and White Deer went to the dressing room with a 12-0 lead.

Wheeler tallied their only time at the end of the third period when fleet halfback Bobby Vanpool intercepted a Guinn pass and rambled 40-yards to score. The Bucks threatened two other times, both in the first half but were held on downs once and had another pass intercepted.

Mostly it was defense against defense but the Bucks have now given up only 12 points in their seven games, they stand 7-0, and both TD's have been scored against their offense on pass interceptions.

Wheeler is now 6-2 with losses to Wellington and the Bucks. But Wheeler is still unbeaten in 2-A competition with a 2-0 record while McLean leads at 3-0.

White Deer leads 1-A with a 2-0 mark.

It is quite probable the winner of the Wheeler-McLean game will meet the Bucks in the state playoffs. White Deer has handed McLean its only loss of the season.

The Tigers ran their season record to 4-3-1 with an easy, 30-8 victory over Booker.

Jerry Littlefield and Kyle Black accounted for most of the scoring for the Tigers.

Littlefield scored first for Groom, after the Tigers had recovered a fumble. The fleet halfback traveled, 12-yards and then ran the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

Black went 12-yards for the second tally but the run for conversion failed and it was 14-0 after one period.

Booker scored in the second quarter when Jay Trosper rambled 53-yards and then ran the conversion to cut Groom's lead to 14-8 at halftime.

The Tiger defense stiffened in the second half and the offense scored twice more, once in each period.

Littlefield scored the lone third period marker when he sped 35-yards. The run for points failed but it was 20-8 after three periods.

In the fourth quarter Black covered 24-yards and Lyle King ran the conversion.

The Tigers blocked a punt and recovered it in the end zone for a safety to make it the final 30-8.

But Altam tried to pass on the first play and Heiskell — there that guy is again — intercepted.

The Harvesters got in gear again, moved 66 yards in eight plays with McCarrell — getting most of it on a 50 yard run and being called out of bounds in the Horn five-yard line.

Hyatt carried to the two and Rowden scored again with 1:08 left in the game and Stephens picked-up his fourth point of the night to send the Harvesters home, 30-18.

McCarrell was Pampa's leading ground gainer with 61 yards on seven carries. Heiskell picked up 48 on 13 carries. Hyatt had 35 yards on nine carries and Rowden 47 yards on seven carries.

The Harvesters journey to Lubbock next week to tackle Coronado in a north zone contest.

Rambling With Red RON CROSS

Cowboys, Browns Have Easy Foes

Ken Hebert is becoming something of a household word in Houston, where the former Harvester is just about the best player the University of Houston has on its football team.

As a sophomore Hebert fed the Cougar team in punting, scoring and pass receiving. Things haven't changed for the junior this year.

Hebert, through five games, has caught 16 passes for 293 yards and two touchdowns. In scoring he has two TD's and 15 of 15 extra points for a team leading total of 27.

Hebert is also leading Houston punters with a 41.7 average on 29 punts. He ranks 12th in the nation on his punting and climbs higher every week.

In 1965 Hebert caught 24 passes for 359 yards and four touchdowns. He punted 75 times for 3,047 yards, an average of 40.6 yards per kick.

Quite a Kicker

His best day last year was against Chattanooga when he caught six passes for 126 yards. There have been two teams he didn't catch passes against last year, Texas A&M and Mississippi.

Houston and the Aggies haven't met this year but against Mississippi last week Hebert snagged four tosses for 62 yards.

He also had to do some punting against 'Ol Miss, seven times for 343 yards, an average of 49 yards per boot.

His best performance this season came against Oklahoma State's highly regarded Cowboys when Ken caught seven passes for 140 yards and one touchdown. He punted five times also.

Indoors Ken has kicked the ball 58 times for 2,396 yards, an average of 41.3 yards per kick and outdoors has 46 punts for 1,860 yards, an average of 40.4 yards per boot.

Hebert has hit 27 of 30 extra point attempts and has 16 straight, dating back to the Florida State game in '65.

He has been off on field goals, hitting only three of 11 attempts.

Through 1966's five games Hebert has 16 pass receptions, 293 yards, two touchdowns and has toed the ball 29 times for 1,209 yards, an average of 41.7 yards.

His two year total now stands at 40 receptions for 652 yards and six touchdowns. He has kicked a total of 104 times for 4,256 yards, an average of 40.9 per kick.

By United Press International

The Dallas Cowboys and Cleveland Browns are heavily favored to win their games Sunday and throw the Eastern Conference race of the National Football League into a three-way scramble.

Dallas can move into at least a temporary tie for first place with the St. Louis Cardinals by beating Pittsburgh while the Browns can close to within a half-game of the lead if they dispose of Atlanta.

Then it would be up to the Cardinals to keep pace when they host the Chicago Bears in a Monday night contest. St. Louis goes into the weekend with a 5-1 record, followed by Dallas a 4-1-1 and Cleveland at 4-2-0.

According to the oddsmakers, it can be a long weekend for St. Louis. The Cowboys are 20½-point choices to topple Pittsburgh at Dallas and the Browns are picked by 24 at Atlanta against a Falcon team that has yet to win in seven starts. St. Louis is rated no better than even-money against the Bears.

The situation is a whole lot simpler in the Western Conference, where the defending league champion Green Bay Packers hope to stretch their lead against the Detroit Lions. Green Bay currently has a 1½ game cushion over the runner-up Baltimore Colts, who may be in for a spot of trouble at Los Angeles.

Green Bay, with a 6-1 record, has not allowed a touchdown in its last two victories and is fresh from a 56-3 rout of Atlanta. The Packers are favored by 14 points at Detroit while Baltimore (4-2) is a touchdown choice over the Rams.

In the other games scheduled for Sunday, Philadelphia is rated 3½-points better than Washington on its home field and the Minnesota Vikings are a 7½-point pick over San Francisco at Minnesota.

Dallas and quarterback Don Meredith hope to snap out of a slump against the weak Steelers, who have won only one of six starts. The Cowboys salvaged only a tie in their last two games and in those efforts Meredith was intercepted a total of seven times. Dallas leads the NFL in total offense and passing offense.

Cleveland handed the Cowboys their first loss of the season last week and should fly high against an Atlanta team that has yielded 250 points in seven games—an average of more than 35 per game. Cleveland boasts two of the league's premiere runners in Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green, who lead the NFL in rushing and rushing defense and is No. 1 in interceptions with 20.

Baltimore Quarterback John Unitas needs just 217 yards more to pass Y. A. Tittle's career passing yardage record of 28,339 and the Colts need a win to stay ahead of the surprising Rams (4-3). Los Angeles fullback Dick Bass leads all NFL rushers.

Philadelphia and Washington are tied with 4-3 marks and one of them can perpetuate its slim hopes for the eastern conference title by winning Sunday. The Redskins come off a 26-20 victory over St. Louis while Philadelphia won its last two on the road.

San Francisco is riding a three-game winning streak, thanks to John Brodie's 21-yard touchdown pass to Monty Stickles with three seconds

FIRST LOSS FOR TROJANS

Miami Breezes to 10-7 Win

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami may not make it to a bowl this season, but the Hurricanes may be the blackest-memory for some of the other left outs on an. 2.

Foremost could be Southern California, which came to Florida for the first time Friday night riding high with a six-game winning streak and already starting to smell roses.

But the all-time Rose Bowl champion went home disgraced 10-7 losers with California, UCLA and Notre Dame still to play.

Before fifth-ranked Southern Cal, it was 11th-ranked Georgia that the Hurricanes made victims of their upset specialty two weeks ago. Last year, Miami tied Notre Dame and almost knocked Florida out of a Sugar Bowl bid with an upset.

The Hurricanes, with a 4-2 record now, face Tulane and Pittsburgh before their next chance to be spoilers—against Florida and Steve Spurrier.

It was a bridegroom of barely two weeks, knockout man Doug McGee, who punched in for the winning touchdown to open the fourth quarter Friday night.

One of his wild man leaps—his feet churning shoulder high into a defender—carried the Hurricanes to the Trojan four-yard line.

Next play, Doug slanted off the left side for the score and Ray Harris converted.

Harris also kicked a 28-yard field goal in the second quarter to put the Hurricanes ahead. Jimmy Byes interception of quarterback Toby Page's pass set up that one.

The Trojans scoring drive of 58 yards came in the closing minutes of the half and ended with Rod Sherman throwing a halfback pass to Ron Drake in the end zone.

Kemp, Namath Battle Today

By United Press International
It will be Jackie Kemp's know-how under pressure against Joe Namath's flair for the big play Sunday when the Buffalo Bills attempt to beat the New York Jets and tie for the lead in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

The Jets are favored by one point because they are the home team and lead the Bills in passing defense and total defense. The Bills lead the Jets in rushing offense and rushing defense.

The big question, however, lies with the quarterbacks. Kemp has proved many times in leading the Bills to two straight AFL championships that he has the old pro knack of getting key yardage and touchdowns in the clutch. Namath has often displayed the brilliance of a Johnny Unitas but Sunday will mark his first real test under win-or-else pressure.

Patriots Favored
The Boston Patriots are three-point favorites over the Oakland Raiders at Boston, the Kansas City Chiefs are six-point choices over the Houston Oilers at Kansas City and the San Diego Chargers are 21-point picks over the Denver Broncos at San Diego. The Miami Dolphins are idle.

The two hottest teams in the league clash when the Raiders put their three-game winning streak on the line against the Patriots' two-game winning streak. Both teams have fought back into title contention after slow starts and are coming off big victories over tough foes. A Boston victory and a New York loss would move the Patriots into first place.

The Patriots' Babe Parilli ranks No. 8 in passing with 73 completions in 168 attempts for 1022 yards and six touchdowns and Jim Nance is the No. 1 rusher with 345 yards and a 4.3 average. The Raiders' Tom Flores is No. 5 in passing with 71 completions in 140 attempts for 1138 yards and 10 touchdowns and Clem Daniels is No. 6 in rushing with 315 yards and a 3.3 average.

SCHOOL BUS — The last Jericho school bus, with a 1948 Texas tag, is now used as a shed by a local farmer.

LANDMARK — The most dominant building still remaining at Jericho is the school. Although the sturdy brick structure still stands out strongly against the horizon, the plowed land that surrounds it indicates that the Jericho epic is almost forgotten.

Anatomy of a Ghost Town

... and the walls of Jericho came tumbling down

By MIKE GERALD
Pampa News City Editor

Approximately 30 miles south of Pampa, just about a half a mile south of busy U.S. Highway 66, there lies the dwindling remains of a once-proud Texas community.

No longer marked by road signs and seldom listed on highway maps, this settlement is now virtually a ghost town, and, although ghost towns may be appropriate for this Halloween season, many Pampa residents who were born and raised there, such as Pampan George Hamlin, regret to see its present state.

Its name is Jericho, and indeed its walls have crumbled.

Jericho was born independent of oil, farming or ranching booms around 1890 and reached its bustling peak around 1913, but you could never tell it now.

Only a few long-time residents still call Jericho their home as they continue to farm the quiet, rolling countryside.

As the people of Jericho are fading away, so are the few, but proudly held legends of the community; the years that the Jericho school made "clean sweeps" of district baseball and track competition in Clarendon, being only one.

City planners obviously had big plans for town as evidenced by the large plot aside as the Jericho Cemetery but with hardly a fraction of it having graves.

The graves themselves indicate the beginnings of the community, one being dated 1895.

Only scattered remnants remain to tell the pioneering effort exerted in the beginnings of the town: Burall's Store, Reeve's Station, the Ashmead residence and the Jericho school still identify the site though weeds and weathering are quickly disintegrating them.

Jericho residents took pride in their work. Despite the crumbling of the buildings, after close inspection one may still distinguish the hand-dipped shingles, oil cans with seams made by hand, tin strips nailed over fence post ends to keep them from rotting, even to the separate-doored "outhouse" for men and women.

One Jericho building, still standing at "Main and Broadway" has a seven-unit "motel" adjoining it in the rear — another token of the hopes for the future of Jericho.

The quaint little town has died, as many such towns in the Southwest, for a number of reasons: the great urban movement, school consolidation, worn-out land, the sapping of oil, movement of ranching concentration and the movement of highways.

Who could say what Jericho would be like today if it had been built only half a mile north of its present location — on U.S. Highway 66, commonly called "The Main Street of America"?

One could speculate this question, but for Jericho it is too late — the walls have already tumbled down.

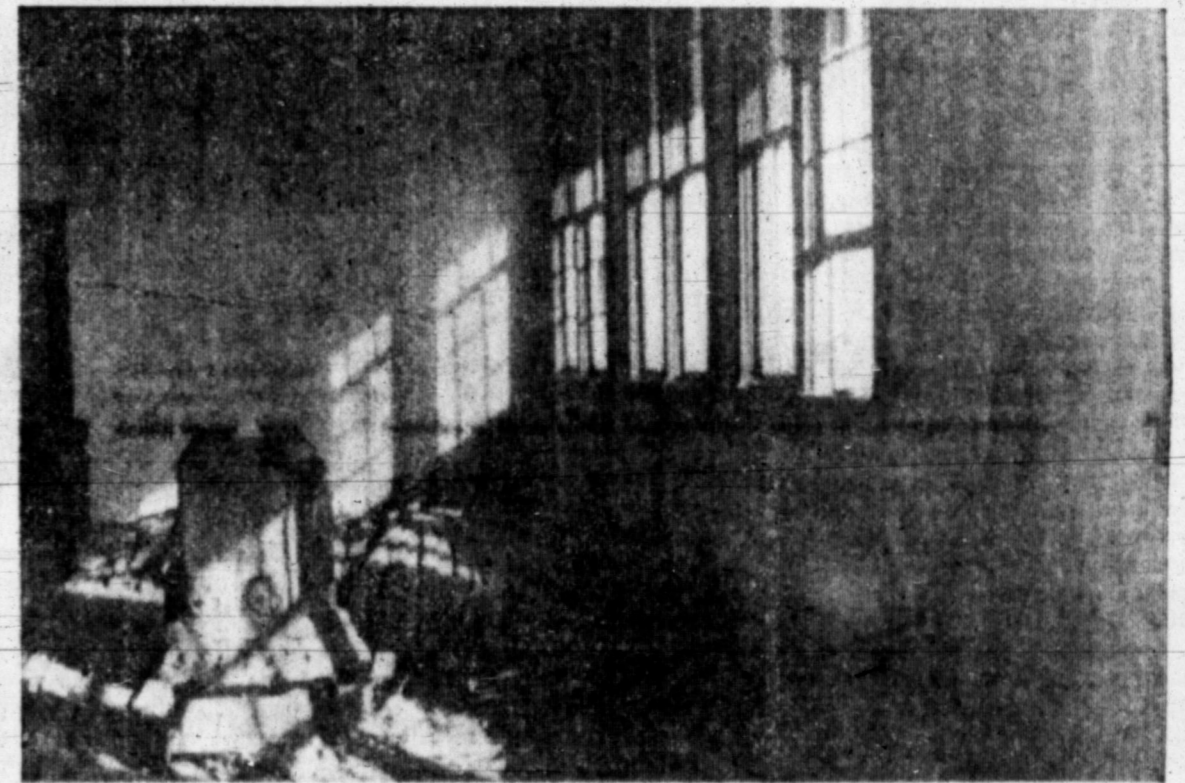

SPIDER — This friendly Tarantula was the only thing "living" that the photographer found in the basement of the Jericho School.

BELT DRIVEN SAW — Once used in the Jericho lumberyard, this old saw is now almost hidden by weeds.

AT REST — Only a few graves were dug in the large Jericho Cemetery (top). Serant's quarters (above) of the Ashmead residence, which burned many years ago, still stand.

JERICHO SCHOOL — A shambles is the only way to describe the old Jericho school. A pot-bellied stove (foreground) is one of only a few remaining relics.

GENERAL STORE — The tumbled down remains of Burall's store will soon decompose as nature takes its course.

DOOR TO THE PAST — Broken window in deserted Jericho house frames the nearby school building.

Mrs. Robert Harmon Is Speaker For TC Forum Club's Guest Day

Members and guests of Twentieth Century Forum enjoyed the club's Guest Day Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Aubrey Steele.

Welcomed as guests were Mrs. John Damron, Mrs. Philip Stovall, Mrs. Barbara Cockrell and Miss Carolyn Sweeney.

The receiving rooms were appointed with red roses.

The program, "The Vatican and Its Art Treasures," was presented by Mrs. Robert Harmon who said "The beauty of the Piazza in which it stands with its clusters of exquisite columns, and its gushing fountains — so fresh, so broad, and free and beautiful — nothing can exaggerate. The first burst of the interior in all its expansive majesty and glory and most of all, the looking up into the dome, is a sensation never to be forgotten."

Thus wrote the dazzled young Charles Dickens almost 120 years ago. Before him and after him men of letters have written tributes to St. Peter's as well as to the Sistine Chapel, to the Laocoon group, and to the other treasures of the Vatican, yet they take for granted the presence of all this splendid buildings and artifacts in what is now known as the Stato della Citta de Vaticano. But it is not that old: when Dickens crossed the Tiber in 1844, the sight that provoked his hymn to architectural beauty had received its final shape less than 200 years before. The magnificent dome of St. Peter's rising 452 feet to the top of the golden cross, the massive pillars of the colonnades were completed only in the 17th century. Precious few of the buildings on Vatican hill are older than the 15th century.

Mrs. Harmon presented the history of the Vatican as well as the story of the ruling pontiffs (See SPEAKER, Page 18)

Mrs. Irl Smith reported that the Pampa Club's scrapbook received first place at the convention and nine members of the local club were awarded perfect attendance awards for last year. They included Mmes. Lora Dunn, C. C. Fitzgerald, F. A. Hukill, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Louise Sewell, Frank Shotwell, Irl Smith and Eli E. Ethridge.

Teenagers Taught ABCs of Courtship

WHITWORTH, Eng. — "We're not trying to make them into great lovers," said Jack Featherstone, smiling.

Featherstone, 46, is headmaster of the recently opened County Secondary School here which has introduced under the heading "Modern Studies" a course on courtship.

The school's aim had been helped by the fact it was set in a country community where children kept pets and could observe farm animals. The children, as it happened, were less diffident than some of the lecturers sent to talk to them.

One of these, a midwife, refused to give her talk until all the boys left the class.

In this bleak valley where the 19th century industrial revolution had its roots some observers profess to see in the course the seeds of an educational revolution.

The class heard a salesman from a commercial company discuss mechanical forms of contraception and an official of the family planning association. Other subjects treated in lectures and films included venereal disease, homosexuality, prostitution and abortion.

Featherstone disagreed although few schools in Britain have gone as far in discussions and classroom debates on the subject of sex for the 14-15 year old age group.

One of the most popular talks came from a married teacher, Mrs. Pat Marshall, who told of her experiences in childbirth.

"The sex angle," he said, "is only one part of a serious and, we hope, sensible campaign to teach our pupils something of the every day realities of life, so that they can meet, with confidence, any situation which might arise during their first adult working years."

"The children are taught every facet of adult life. We do not stop at the question of relationship between the sexes—courting, infatuation, love-at-first-sight, engagement and marriage."

Most parents appear to be in favor of the course, though there are reservations. The mother of 15-year-old Mervyn Sanderson, said she thought her son might be learning too many of the facts of life at too early an age.

But her husband said he believed school was the best place to learn about sex. "They have the books, the facilities, the trained people."

Last year was an experimental year for the course which now has become a permanent part of the school program. Featherstone said only one family in a co-educational class of 60 had refused to permit its son to take part in the sex lessons.

"This fact was, in itself, a splendid encouragement from the outset," he said. "And there has been little childish giggling and whispering as a difficult subject has been presented in simple, frank form."

Mrs. Vivien Davies, the 24-year-old biology teacher responsible for the course, said

Pampan State President of Auxiliary

Mrs. John E. Killian, Pampan State President of Auxiliary.

Mrs. John E. Killian of 522 N. Starkweather, was installed to the office of president of the Department Association of Ladies Auxiliaries Patriarchs Militant IOOF of Texas, at Brownwood on Monday during a state wide meeting of this organization. The men of the Grand Encampment IOOF of Texas and

The Military Council met at the same time in Brownwood. These three organizations are branches of Odd Fellow Degree. The installation was held in the new Coliseum in Brownwood.

These three organizations with the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges of Texas to maintain and support two homes that belong to the Odd Fellow Order of Texas. One home that belong to the Odd Ennis, and the other is a children's home at Corsicana. Mr. and Mrs. Killian visit these homes quite frequently. As president, Mrs. Killian will attend the Christmas party in December at these homes, as well as the birthday parties each month for those having birthdays. This is a privilege that all of the officers enjoy and it is a question as to who has the most fun, the children and the senior citizens or the officers.

In September the Killians attended a world wide meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World in Philadelphia, Pa. Members from several European countries, South American countries, Canada and the United States were in attendance. Among other projects that this organization sponsors is the Odd Fellow World Eye Bank and Visual Research Foundation. They employ a full-time Professor, Dr. Arthur M. Silverstein, a Research Professor at the Eye Research Center of Johns Hopkins at Baltimore, Md.

The group also sponsors a "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth," believing that youth needs to associate with other nations, creeds and groups, as part of growing and understanding. This builds an appreciation for patriotic heritage and strengthens tolerant love for all human kind. Young people are sent to the United Nations each year to mingle with the peoples of other countries.

In November of 1965 Mrs. Killian visited the Rebekah Lodge in Hawaii, and extended greetings from Texas and also an invitation for the members to come to Texas to the meeting here.

Prayer. Prayer calendar was read by Mrs. F. Pennington. Mrs. D. Osborn gave the Royal Service program. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Ed Anderson.

DARLENE ELLIOTT CIRCLE met in the home of Mrs. Carrol Ray for a Royal Service program presented by Mrs. Teddy Knox. Mrs. Wes Langham, chairman, presided, with Mrs. John Zinn reading the (See ROYAL, Page 19)

Speaker (Continued From Page 17) tiffs and the artists and architects making major contributions. She stated there was not a single one who had not made some change in buildings or works of art during his respective rule. What most of the modern popes have done is to build new homes for existing collections rather than to acquire new objects.

The building of St. Peter's Cathedral was described and slides of the cathedral as well as other buildings in the Vatican were shown. Mrs. Harmon stated that the church was completed 120 years after the first stone had been laid. The simple fisherman from Galilee, said to be buried beneath the basilica named for him, would feel uneasy in this city of 20,000 rooms called the Vatican, to say nothing of St. Peter's with its 777 columns, 41 altars, and nearly 400 statues. His eyes would be blinded by the gleam of the polished travertine of the facade, overwhelmed by the marble and gold inside. But the Apostle would also be moved by the knowledge that so many gifted men through the centuries have devoted their talent, inclinations, and even passions toward constructing this splendid Church and making the Vatican the greatest artistic treasure house of Christendom.

Members present included Mrs. Holt Barber, Harold Barrett, Hugh D. Barton, Joe Franklin, Robert Harmon, Donald Hauck, J. R. Holloway, McHenry Lane, M. McDaniel, Aubrey Steele, Frank Stolfa and John Sweeney.

Miss Grimes Bride of Jerry Tucker

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry O. Tucker
...nee Miss Phillis Elaine Grimes

At 7 o'clock the evening of Sept. 24 in First Baptist Church of Mobeetie, Miss Phillis Elaine Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Grimes of Mobeetie, became the bride of Jerry O. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Tucker of Wheeler.

Rev. Dinzie Leonard of Hart officiated the double-ring ceremony before an altar appointed with baskets of white gladioli and seven-branched candles entwined with lemon leaves. Pews of honor were noted by white bows and blue flowers.

Mrs. Lyndon Sims, pianist, presented a program of nuptial airs and accompanied Miss Ann Leonard as she sang "Ava Maria" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father with her mother and I avowal, wore a formal gown of white satin and French lace. The fitted bodice featured a Peter Pan collar with miniature covered buttons extending from the collar to the pointed waist and long tapering sleeves terminating in petal points. A full-gathered overskirt of lace topped the gown. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white lace covered Bible topped by a cascading arrangement of white sweetheart roses. Carrying out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, the bride wore a gold bracelet belonging to the bridegroom's great aunt.

Miss Poutasha Riley, maid of honor, wore an empire styled gown of baby blue crepe and lace. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, James Tucker, served as best man. Ushers were Gary Grimes, brother of the bride, and Bill Tucker, brother of the bridegroom.

Ringbearer was Marvin Lee Grimes, nephew of the bride.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with a pale blue linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white miniature mums. The three-tiered wedding cake, adorned with blue wedding bells and white sugar roses, was topped by a miniature bridal couple. Miss Mary Dell Tucker and Miss Judy Tucker, sisters of the bridegroom, presided at the refreshment table. Miss Earietta Alexander, the bride's cousin, served as guest registrar.

The newlyweds departed on a wedding trip following the reception. For traveling, Mrs. Tucker donned a floral linen suit accented by brown accessories and the rose corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

John Luce Speaks To La Cultura Club

John Luce of Public Finance Corporation was the guest speaker at the meeting of La Cultura Club Tuesday morning. "Credit is the backbone of our country and the tool which we have used to reach our present high standard of living," stated Mr. Luce as he opened his discussion on credit and finance. Using the automotive industry as an example, he traced the use of credit by manufacturer, wholesaler and consumer, with the consumer financing seven out of every ten automobile purchases.

"Finance companies with a rate of only 2 percent bad personal loans in the last year are based on the honesty and integrity of the American people," conclude Mr. Luce.

SEAMASTER DATE DIAL WATCH

When you wear an Omega Seamaster calendar watch you always know the correct date... no guessing, ever. No being late for appointments either... because you forgot to wind your watch and it stopped running. Seamaster doesn't need old-fashioned hand-winding... or power-cells which need replacing. It's gravity-powered... a pendulum-like rotor winds the movement (and keeps it wound) while you wear it.

Why don't you join the thousands of men who rely on the "carefree" Seamaster (it's water and shock resistant, too)... to keep them up-to-date and up-to-the-minute. There's an Omega Seamaster to suit every need. Other Omega watches for men and women, $65 to over $1,000.

False Lashes for Men and Poodles?

A MALE BAG OF TRICKS is on the market today and soon it may take dad longer to dress for a party than it does mom. He'll be a neophyte and not as adept as she with the false eyelashes, wigs, hairsprays and scents now expected to play a big role in creating the well-dressed man.

By HELEN HENNESSY, Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprises Assn. NEW YORK — Ladies, should a new beauty-salon open on your street, a heavy aroma of pipe and cigar-smoke may waft its way through the door to your startled nostrils.

Having always been aware that beauty is in the eye of the beholder, men are now realizing that the eye that beholds them in the mirror is their own and if it's to clamp on beauty, they need some help.

Many barber shops are burgeoning into elaborate salons for men where even toenails get a coat of pale polish, hair coloring is routine, hair dryers an integral part of the furnishings and shelves are stocked with colognes and face creams.

By WILLIAM MCKIE, United Press International HOLLYWOOD — America's number one caterer comes appropriately from the state where everything is reputedly bigger and better. But were it not for a soft, slurring accent (which makes "aura" sound like "area"), you would never know Walter Jetton is a Texan.

The 60-year-old Jetton (pronounced jet-uh-n) is squat, bald, light-skinned and wears horn-rimmed glasses. He somewhat resembles Jackie Coogan, talks with the speed of a tobacco auctioneer and is as mild-mannered as a monk.

Though Jetton may not immediately evoke images of the land of the Alamo, his company does. Throughout the year his big red trucks with a yellow map of Texas on their sides roll out of Ft. Worth, Atomic Age chuck-wagons bound for picnics, conventions and banquets from Wyoming to West Virginia.

Though he has catered elaborate banquets, Jetton's specialty is the outdoor barbecue. A former butcher, he has parlayed a flair for barbecuing et. Another item cropping up on the male cosmetic shelf is baby shampoo. It's easy on dyed hair.

In the men's fragrance area, I counted more than 300 different scents myself. I'm sure there are more but this figure certainly proves we've come a long way from simple bay rum.

Our first reaction to this metamorphosis on the part of the male species may be a scornful reference to the long-haired youths of our time. Still it is a fact that more and more mature men are taking advantage of the wedge made for them by the kids who seek beauty without self-consciousness.

And why not? Women are worshippers at the fountain of youth. Should men have to age faster simply because we feel we have dammed up its waters?

Yet it's gonna take a little while to get used to a few of the highlights in this boom in men's cosmetics — even if these are no worse than our green fingernails and black lipstick.

If your comfortable, middle-aged Joe has a hairline that starts just behind his ears, he may want a hairpiece. But I've read that the new hairpieces are cut in a blunt-edged style so the wearer won't look out-dated in modern clothes.

Then there is the California company that makes false eyelashes only for men and poodles. If you happen to have both in the house, the first one up in the morning will probably be the sexier looking of the two.

TFWC Seventh District Board Adopts Two Resolutions at Meet

Two resolutions were passed at the Seventh District Board and Workshop Meeting of the Top of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs held recently in Perryton. Some eighty clubs were represented at the meeting.

First resolution passed concerning youth and the teaching and nursing professions, states "Encouraging Youth to Enter the Teaching and Nursing Professions: Whereas, the theme of the Seventh Board Meeting of the Top of Texas District points to the fact that 'Education and Community Service Equals Progress With Youth'..."

Whereas, We recognize that the young people in our communities are our leaders and hope for tomorrow; and Whereas, the need for professional people, in particular, teachers and nurses, is apparent in our state and nation today...

Dear Abby... Ten Commandments Given for Husbands

DEAR ABBY: Last year you wrote the "Ten Commandments for the 20th Century Wife." Our minister liked it so much he asked for your permission to reprint it in our church bulletin. You graciously consented. Much has been said and written about a wife's duties and responsibilities in marriage. Will you please even the score and write "Ten Commandments for the 20th Century Husband?"

Sincerely yours,

DEAR FAN: With pleasure, "Ten commandments for the 20th Century Husband:"

1. Thou shalt put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.

Teens Get More Than They Give

DALLAS (UPI) — Ten teenagers have found that "where the action is" is not necessarily always with the younger set.

Nine girls and one boy have been giving of their time to add to the operation and atmosphere of Hospitality House, a care center for older people run by the Senior Citizens Foundation of Dallas.

They have been receptionists, guides, "disc jockeys" for birthday parties, and office helpers.

It is all volunteer work, but as Amie De Wit put it, "I think we are getting more out of it than

Designers of Cars Heed Womanpower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly 40 million women drive cars — up 66 per cent in the past decade.

Harold Henry, who says so, noted that growth in the number of women drivers has had a profound influence on car design and styling. Henry, vice president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. continued:

"This influence is very noticeable in colors. It usually is the they (the old folks) are."

One of the youngsters said: "Some of them are real swingers. They have to be lively to be here."

Surveys of what women want in auto design indicate a strong demand for more storage space and a change holder on the dashboard. Henry said.

He noted that cars are multiplying faster than households, partly because of the growth of two and three car families.

There are 69 million cars on the roads. Henry said — more than half are owned by families with incomes of less than $4,

DEAR ABBY: You advised my husband and me against buying a boat with another couple. If the other couple were relatives would your advice be the same?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: With relatives, I'd have added "positively."

DEAR ABBY: I read an article in the newspaper yesterday criticizing women for wearing short skirts. I disagree. I think women who wear short skirts do a lot to brighten a world that can get mighty tedious and dreary. Viet Nam, race riots, strikes, the bottom dropping out of the stock market — nothing but terror and gloom.

So when I see a few inches above a woman's knee it cheers up what would otherwise have been a lousy day. It doesn't cost the ladies a cent and it does a lot for our morale. So I say, "Hike 'em up, girls, and the higher the better." All the guys in my car pool feel the same way. We discussed it.

Shorthand Has A Long History
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Thomas A. Gore, president of Missouri Shorthand Reporters, says the profession dates back 2,000 years.

Gore said speeches of Cicero were recorded by Marcus Tullius Tiro and others "making the record" in the Roman Senate. He said Samuel Pepys' famous diaries of the 17th Century were written in shorthand to insure secrecy.

"And Charles Dickens," he said, "once was a parliamentary reporter — like the official reporters who make the record in Congress."

Housewives Failing To Connect

In the recent spectacle, in Colorado, Texas and elsewhere, of housewives boycotting grocery stores in protest against high and still rising prices, we have an example of the inevitable consequences of compulsory and government-controlled education. The protesting housewives are products of the system.

Having never been subjected to true economics (the science of human action and how the market place works); having never been taught to reason objectively from facts, having never learned to CONNECT CAUSE AND EFFECT; having been taught to worship the political State and never to question its actions, the housewives now, in attacking the grocers and the free market concept, of which they themselves are an integral part, have taken a course of action which, in all probability, will result in even higher prices and, certainly, in a further erosion of freedom of choice. They, in failing to connect cause and effect, fail to see that the grocer himself is caught up in the government and union induced cost-price squeeze.

It is not that the information, from which to reason and correctly place the blame, has not been provided. It has. Day after day, in banner headlines, in front page news reports, in feature stories, in editorials, the press has put its many fingers on the causes and the culprits. But the press cannot think for its readers. It can only say "Here is what has happened, is happening, add it up."

These examples taken from front pages over the past week or two will suffice, we believe, to make the point:

"Sharp Infantry Losses Noted In Mekong Delta." "Over $1 Billion Projects Slated at Ent AFB." "Military Projects Boosted." "Area Military Bases Plan $13 Million Work." "President Leaves on Pacific-Asian Journey." "GE Workers

"St. Louis Papers Still Crippled by 'Illegal' Walkout." "Earlier Social Security Benefits Sought by Solons." "ComAct Okays Planned Parenthood Program." "Two More Thunderbird Pilots Killed in Crash." "Walkout by Union in St. Louis Stops Two Newspapers." "Headstart Program Is Funded." "Rock Island Is Struck Despite Ban by Court." "LBJ Asks $2.2 Billion Social Security Pension Increase." "Apollo Flight Will Be Accompanied by Live TV." "U. S. Threatened With Insolvency, Frenchman Says." "Two U.N. Resolutions Aimed at South Africa." "AFL-CIO Hits Mergers of Giant Corporations." "Smoother Areas of Moon To Be Photographed Soon." "Johnson Will Expand Trip to Asian Nations."

The list goes on and on.

Union coercion, stoppages and strikes slow down or stop production. Production costs go up. Prices follow.

Governmental activity costs money. The government has nothing which it does not first take from the person reading this . . . grocers included. Figure it out.

And the politicians, how are they reacting to the grocer boycott? They are taking advantage of it, of course . . . making political hay, as the saying goes. An "investigation" (at your expense) will be forthcoming, naturally; and more governmental controls will probably follow. Results? The cost of living will continue to rise and freedom — what little is left — will be further eroded.

Divorce at 'Public' Expense

"Public," as used here, means the taxpayer reading this.

"Taxpayer" means a person who expends part of his energy in the production of goods or services either for his own use or for voluntary exchange with others, part of which the government takes.

"Legalcare" is the popular name for a government program, financed by taxpayers of course, as part of Sargent Shriver's poverty agency.

When legalcare first popped up, a couple of Negro attorneys in Washington, D. C., complained that they were being deprived of their regular clientele who were patronizing the socialized and taxpayer financed law of the poverty warriors.

Now, two poverty warriors have started a new scheme, which they call "judicare," in 26 counties in northern Wisconsin. Under this plan, financed by $240,000 of taxpayer funds, poor people are issued "credit cards" good for legal help from the lawyer of their choice.

The Chicago Tribune noted: "The first judicare 'credit cards' were issued a few weeks ago. The idea, Shriver said, was to find out if the experimental system was capable of producing institutional reforms necessary to get at the legal causes of poverty." Judicare was to help the poor with welfare matters, consumer credit, unsympathetic landlords and similar problems.

"After six weeks the first returns are now in. Once again the poor have confounded the Sarge's corps of sociologists . . . The poor are furiously suing each other in the divorce courts. Of the first 86 cases handled by judicare, 84 per cent involved divorce actions, usually brought by a wife.

"If given a shot at free legal service, it would appear that the poor — at least in Shriver's Wisconsin experiment — are far more concerned with shedding a mate than with getting the landlord to fix the plumbing."

Still wonder why the prices of groceries and other necessities of life are on the increase?

No Specific Treatment For Viral Hepatitis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. (First of two related articles)

Some diseases are seasonal. One that is prevalent in late fall and early winter is infectious hepatitis. Although it is most commonly seen in children between the ages of 5 and 15, it may affect persons of any age and is more severe in adults than in children.

Its incubation period is four to six weeks or about half that of the closely related serum hepatitis.

Both diseases are caused by a virus. The term viral hepatitis includes both types.

Infectious hepatitis is transmitted chiefly through drinking water but it may result from eating shellfish taken from polluted beds. Proper chlorination of the water supply will prevent this disease.

The vacationer who drinks clear, sparkling spring water which the natives have been drinking for years and never had a sick day may justifiably enjoy the taste but sparkle and taste are no guarantee of freedom from the hepatitis virus.

Serum hepatitis is transmitted by the blood serum of a person who has had the disease. Many persons have a mild attack that goes undiagnosed or is thought to have been a mild case of influenza. If such a person gives blood to a blood bank there is no way to detect the virus; if its presence is suspected there is no way to remove it without destroying the blood. For this reason transfusions are becoming an ever-increasing cause of hepatitis.

In the early stages of viral hepatitis the victim complains of abdominal pain, vomiting, low fever, weakness and listlessness. There is nothing about this set of symptoms to distinguish it from many other generalized infections. As the disease progresses a deep jaundice may develop. This is a great aid in the diagnosis but it is estimated that less than half of the victims ever develop jaundice.

The disease lasts from two to four weeks but in some victims full recovery of the former vigor may take four to six months. Full recovery does, however, occur with no complications and no permanent aftereffects.

Since there is no specific treatment, good nursing care and relief of symptoms are the main therapeutic goals. Bed rest in the first two weeks is essential and, if vomiting is severe, feeding by vein may be necessary.

When the nausea has abated a balanced diet should be taken with the bulk of the day's intake given in the morning. It is best to avoid alcohol for three or four months after recovery.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Despite his austere countenance the late Dr. Charles Eliot, president of Harvard University, was a hep-quipster in his day. Headed for a Harvard-Yale football game one Saturday afternoon many years ago, accompanied by his friend, Edward Everett Hale, the college prexy met a friend who asked where he was going. "To the game, of course," said Eliot, "and to yell with Hale." "If you think you're overworked consider the output of Mozart (1756-1791). He died when he was 35 and in that short lifetime wrote 600 operas, operettas, symphonies, piano and string quartets, concertos, violin sonatas, serenades, masses and litanies. Much of it is popular today. Sort of makes you wonder if he stopped occasionally to eat and sleep.

Today's smile: Two foremen were comparing notes and one asked the other: "Do the fellows in your shop drop their tools the moment the whistle blows?" The other replied: "No, not all of them. The orderly ones have their tools all put away before that time."

A lot of famous men wouldn't be recognized if you saw their names in print minus their middle names. Ralph Emerson, George Shaw, Edgar Poe and James Cooper would indeed seem like ordinary folk without Waldo, Bernard, Allen and Fenimore stuck between their first and last names . . . And, you never know where genius will be found. Sir Richard Arkwright, the father of British industry through his invention of the spinning frame, was a Lancashire barber. He worked himself into a lather trying to solve the problem of perpetual motion.

Thoughts while shaving: Ask your wife if she ever heard of St. Homobonus. Then show her how smart you are by telling her that he's the patron saint of clothing and fashion: He was a wealthy merchant in Cernona, Italy, in the 12th century and was canonized because he worked to relieve the sufferings of the poor. In other words he was an early anti-poverty fighter with a cloak and suit business on the side, or vice versa . . . You never hear it played anymore, but the biggest selling long-play record in history was Vaughn Meader's "The First Family," a spoof on the Kennedys in the White House. It sold 5,500,000 copies in seven months back in 1963. Incidentally, you never heard of Meader these days either . . . Proof positive that everyone doesn't like the sex and violence in most of today's movies is shown by the record of Walt Disney. He is the top movie producer of all time. His films have grossed more than $177 million, much more than the earnings of any competitor. And the public was delighted to pay that much money to see such delights as "Mary Poppins," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and all the others . . .

The Albuquerque (N. M.) JOURNAL headlined a story: "Lady Helmsman Quits With Damaged Beam." Reason enough.

Country Editor speaking: "That youngster who used to drive his parents half crazy asking questions has now grown up and he's sending them the rest of the way because he thinks he knows all the answers."

"In that Getup, Chief, Nobody Can Lay a Y Thought Maybe It Was Free, Son?"

The Wild Blue Yonder

(Chicago Tribune)

President Johnson is off to the Pacific on a public relations journey to capture headlines and fog up the fact that he is up to his ears in a war by pretending that his mission will somehow contribute to the restoration of peace in Viet Nam. In a way, he is stealing Mr. Eisenhower's script from 1952. The war was then on in Korea, and the Republican Presidential candidate promised to go there. He did, but the cease-fire negotiations dragged on for months afterward.

Richard Nixon, vice president under Mr. Eisenhower, has referred caustically to Mr. Johnson's essays in "instant diplomacy." He has said that everything the administration has gone to date has created the impression of American weakness and confusion. Nothing has brought peace nearer. The President's virtues, Mr. Nixon asserts, have only prolonged the war by encouraging our enemies and discouraging our friends.

In the endless procession of American peace feelers, there have been appeals to the Communists to "go back to Geneva," appeals to come to the United Nations for a solution, appeals to Russia to mediate. All have been rejected coldly and contemptuously.

Mr. Nixon has called upon President Johnson to repudiate the proposal to return to Geneva to settle the war. The first Geneva conference, in 1954, signaled the defeat of France in its seven-year fight to preserve its colonial rights in Indo-China, led to the partitioning of Viet Nam between a communist north and a noncommunist south. The second Geneva conference, during the administration of John F. Kennedy, led to the partition of Laos.

Asians, Mr. Nixon said, have had enough of this business of being sold out on the installment plan. They will not again return to Geneva. To them Geneva means partition, appeasement, and another war. Nixon says that when peace does come to Viet Nam, it should be negotiated by a conference of Asian states, for free Asian diplomats can best be trusted not to betray the interests of their own people.

Mr. Nixon's proposal that Asians be entrusted with peacemaking is, incidentally, the same plan advanced by Charles Percy, Republican candidate for senator from Illinois, Mr. Percy's Democratic opponent, Paul Douglas, has scoffed at the suggestion. Apparently Mr. Douglas is willing to rely on his party leader's efforts instead, but Asians, aware that Mr. Johnson's party is going into an election in three weeks' time, are not too trustful, for Mr. Johnson would accept almost any device that would extricate him from the war before the ballots are marked.

Nixon has further called on Johnson to repudiate the offer of Ambassador Goldberg before the United Nations to cease all bombing of North Viet Nam "the moment we are assured, publicly or privately, that this step will be answered promptly

The Nation's Press

THE ADOLESCENT (Arizona Republic)

When South Africa's D. P. de Villiers rose to speak in the United Nations general assembly week, members of black African delegations rose from their seats and left the chamber.

As the New York Times reporter noted: "The Africans have made a practice of walking out of the assembly when a South African representative takes the floor."

It walks out were all they did, it would be bad enough . . . especially since U.N. propagandists constantly proclaim that the organization is one place where freedom of speech is protected and respected. In fact, however, the black Africans have all but turned the U.N. into a racial battleground for their tirades against South Africa and Rhodesia, with the result that it is impotent in most other matters.

Thus, when South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw made a speech in the general assembly in 1961, defending his nation's apartheid policy, Liberia's delegate demanded that the speech be expunged from the assembly record, Senegal's delegate demanded South Africa's expulsion from the organization, and delegates from a dozen other black African nations attacked South Africa and Mr. Louw from the assembly's rostrum.

Last year, when it was proposed that a resolution be enacted condemning Red China's rape of Tibet, one African delegate objected, saying, "What can Tibet do for us?"

This is the sort of "diplomacy" that dominates the general assembly. And this is the "world opinion" we are asked to heed even when it means — as it does increasingly — forsaking our traditional allies.

No wonder that one European diplomat complained at a Washington Post reporter that Western officials are afraid to oppose any black African demand, no matter how absurd or how dan-

In all, according to the report, official communist party losses in non-communist countries, has reduced a 1965 membership of 4.5 million to 2.6 million on 1966.

Every communist loss is a free-world gain, but we must keep firmly in mind that a numbers game estimate of communist effectiveness can be highly deceptive — and therefore highly dangerous. That was true at the time of the collapse of the Romanoff regime in pre-Soviet Russia, and it is true today.

When Lenin and Trotsky returned to Russia to plot the overthrow of the Kerensky government, they had very few followers to command. Lenin himself was never an advocate of mass-membership parties. He depended on a strictly trained inner core of dedicated professionals who were willing to wait for decades if necessary to take advantage of a collapse of law and order.

The communists are crafty and adept in getting non-party members to do their work. An example is the way they are relying, in the United States and elsewhere, on dissenting "intellectuals" to carry on their propaganda war against the U. S. effort to defeat communist aggression in Viet Nam. It does not take many bad apples to ruin the barrel.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

COMMUNIST NUMBERS GAME

The U. S. Department of State reported recently that the membership of communist parties in non-communist countries has dropped sharply within the last year. The department reported significant declines in membership in West Germany, Mexico and Iraq. The communist party was outlawed in Indonesia early this year and also has been outlawed or weakened in several African countries.

Feast or Famine—It's Being Planned for You

By OSCAR W. COOLEY, Assoc. Prof. of Economics, Ohio Northern Univ.

Overproduction . . . surpluses . . . grain stored in Liberty ships . . . butter given away in school lunches . . . farmers paid to idle land, that is all we heard for 15 years. Now, suddenly read: "U. S. Food Shortage Looming."

Within months, overabundance has changed to scarcity. Our stocks of wheat, which once were nearly 1,500,000,000 bushels, are now down to half a billion, which market experts say are no more than we need as a reserve to fall back on in case of emergency. Where has it gone?

Much has gone to hungry nations. In 1964 and 1965, we shipped 380,000,000 bushels of wheat to India, and this year we are shipping them another 367,000,000 bushels, or more than one-fourth of our entire crop. Some has gone to fill the vacuum in the world market caused by Canada's shipments to Soviet Russia and Red China. And we ourselves are consuming more. As a result the price of bread has gone up three or four cents a loaf, and housewives in Phoenix and elsewhere are boycotting the bakers and baking their own.

During the last summer, in New York City the price of butter rose 8 cents a pound in two weeks, eggs 16 cents a dozen in a month, and milk 2½ cents a quart. Since January, 1965, food prices at the farm level have risen 16 per cent, at the retail level 8 per cent.

No famine impends. However, let us not be so blinded by all the talk about our "affluent society" that we fail to see in every American community the families that do not have all the good, red meat, fresh vegetables, fruits, cheese, eggs, etc., they would like to have. Even middle-income people go slow on steak at more than $1 a pound. Scarcity is a relative term. Food is scarce in the United States.

Whatever the situation in farm products — whether feast or famine, the farmer is not responsible, for agriculture in these days is a "managed" industry — managed by officials at Washington.

For 20 years they have been managing farm production downward, using the people's money to make food more expensive for the people. This was done on the theory that it would help the farmer, who supposedly needed some special help.

One result of this program has been to "manage" many small farmers right off the farm. Another has been to "manage" many well-to-do farmers into greater affluence. Still another has been to arouse the largest organized farm group, the Farm Bureau, into vigorous opposition and insistence that farming be "returned to the farmers."

This, after all, is the crucial issue: Shall agriculture be free — free to respond to the demands of consumers? Or shall it be planned, and managed by politicians, who pose as both all-wise and all-loving?

The "planned economy" theory denies the principle stated by Adam Smith in 1776, namely, that men, left free to manage their own property and serve their own interests, in effect, serve their country and fellowmen best. The truth of this principle has been fully borne out by the economic history of the United States. It is a principle, however, which leaves little for the politician to do with which to demonstrate his value to his supporters, and so he persists in, acting as though Adam Smith never lived and the wealth-producing free economy of the United States never was.

Managed as our food economy is, whatever happens — whether feast or famine — can be laid to the door, not of the farmer, but Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and his advisers. It appears that Freeman managed the wheat acreage downward at the very time that world demand for bread was moving sharply upward. Thus, our farmers, who grew 53 million acres of wheat seven years ago, this year harvested but 49,800,000 acres. Feed grain acreage, on which the production of meat, milk and eggs largely depends, also was cut back by the managers.

Meanwhile, world population has been growing at a rate of 65,000,000 mouths per year. Last summer, suddenly awakening, Freeman called for an increase of nearly one-third in wheat acreage for harvest in 1967. Such is the management of the experts.

The whole food picture is much clouded — and the risk to the American consumer much intensified — by the desire of the Washington politicians to play Lady Bountiful to people all over the world. Just how much food do we plan to give away? As much as the American taxpayer will consent to pay for? And how much is that? The producers need to know.

The producers can make a stab at guessing how much the market, domestic and foreign, will pay for at a cost-plus price, but how in the world do you guess how much people will take if they pay nothing? Or how much will be given to them by politicians who want to achieve various objects other than satisfying hunger?

That Secretary Freeman himself is having some difficulty in solving this equation is indicated by the fact that he called, in May, for 7,700,000 more acres of wheat next year, and then in August — after many farmers had made their plans — jumped his goal by another 8,900,000 acres.

Well, lean back, everybody. If the bus is wrecked, think what a comfort it will be that you weren't driving.

A thought for the day—former President Harry Truman said: "The responsibility of the great states is to serve and not to dominate the world."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government, which will not insure answers.)

QUESTION: "Four sportswear firms have been fined $68,000 each for price fixing, yet some government agencies have price fixed the cost of a cross-country jet flight. The price fix and regulation of airlines are such that one can fly a round trip cross-country using all three major lines. Why the discrimination against sportswear firm?"

ANSWER: Unfortunately, there is a double standard in legislation which on one hand says it is illegal for two individuals to get together and agree on a price, but which allows those same two individuals to get together with a governmental agency and set a minimum price.

While sportswear manufacturers and electrical motor firms are prosecuted as criminals for fixing prices, those in power in politics seem to favor rate fixing by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Interstate Commerce Commission and under so called "Fair" Price laws.

It all goes back to the theory that "the king can do no wrong," which now has become "the government can do no wrong."

We believe in a single standard of right — applying the same for individuals as for organizations, corporations and politicians.

generous, for fear of being labeled "racist."

This year the U.S. is 21 years old. Until more of its delegates start acting responsibly, the U.N., despite having attained its majority, will continue to be regarded as the eternal adolescent — full of exuberance, but largely immature and irresponsible.

"This Property Is Condemned" Marks 23rd Year As an Actress for Glamorous Star Natalie Wood

Only 27 years old, Natalie Wood has been a working film actress for 23 of those years and a star for more years than many of the new generation of "stars" have lived.

"I guess I'll just have to admit it," Miss Wood remarked after completing "This Property Is Condemned" for Paramount Pictures, "I love acting." The Seven Arts-Ray Stark production opens today at the Capri Theatre.

"I grew up in the business," Miss Wood continued, "I started when I was four years old and all of my schooling was on sound stages.

"Unlike a lot of professional children who've grown bitter about it, I don't think I gave up a normal childhood. I certainly don't feel I missed one. And I probably had better teachers and more supervision than most kids. And the work never seemed like work. It was always too much fun."

In "This Property Is Condemned," Natalie plays a small-town Southern beauty who longs for the freedom and excitement of the big city. And as is true of most of her roles, it is a complete change of pace from her most recent efforts, "The Great Race," and "Inside Daisy Clover."

"I don't believe in doing a lot of pictures just to keep busy," she said, "though I'm rarely idle. That's probably because I read constantly. I'm always looking for the script of the story idea which might turn into a demanding assignment.

"Sometimes," she admitted, "I'm influenced by the people connected with a film project. The right producer and director can often turn a script that seems mediocre into something very special, just by knowing what approach to take."

She was very enthusiastic about her role in "This Property Is Condemned" and about the various creative talents involved like producer John Houseman and director Sydney Pollack.

"I liked the part and I liked the way the writers developed it," she said, "That's why I did it."

She is aware that she is a star and deliberately cultivates that image. Her studio dressing rooms are palatial. She has a star's entourage.

"I enjoy the effect," she laughed, "I think a star should be something special. Besides, if you treat yourself with all the deference your position entitles you to, others will treat you that way too. And your chances of getting better scripts are that much better also."

Actresses being notoriously unreliable on the subject of their ages, we'll just have to take Mary Badham's word for it that she was the youngest actress ever nominated for an Academy Award.

It happened after her first picture, "To Kill A Mockingbird," in which she played Gregory Peck's daughter, Scout. She didn't win the Oscar.

"Yes," she said, "I was disappointed at first. But things have turned out well. I did some television and then this picture came along."

In it, under the watchful direction of Sydney Pollack, Mary plays Natalie Woods' kid sister, Robert Redford, Charles Bronson and Kate Reid co-star.

"It wasn't easy," she said, "For a while I thought the shooting would never start. And I had a problem no one else in the cast had to face. I had to come in every few weeks to get measured while we were waiting. They were afraid I'd outgrow the part."

Luckily, Natalie Wood still towered a good four inches over Mary when the cry of "Camera!" rang out.

"If I don't get an Oscar this time, I'm not sure what I'm going to do about my career," she remarked during a relaxed moment. "I don't think I'm really that interested in acting. Since I made my first movie, I've grown interested in boys and horses."

Mary, who's now 13, never actually pursued an acting career. The daughter of retired Air Force General Henry L. Badham and former actress Mary I. Badham, she lives in Birmingham, Ala. She was discovered by studio scouts who were combing the South for a little girl to play the lead in "To Kill A Mockingbird."

Mary admits she enjoyed making the picture and her obvious talents were rewarded with the Oscar nomination. "But," she never displayed any aggressive interest in acting and, in fact, has never studied acting.

"We'll go along with whatever choice she makes," her mother said. "She has a mind of her own and a good one and we won't be disappointed, whatever decision she makes. She does not have another picture to follow 'This Property Is Condemned,' and if she never does, that's all right with all of us."

BRUTAL REALITY comes in the morning to Natalie Wood in this scene from Seven Arts-Ray Stark's dramatic production of "This Property Is Condemned," a Paramount Picture in Technicolor opening today at the Capri Theatre. Directed by Sydney Pollack and co-starring Robert Redford, the film deals with a small town Southern beauty who longs for the freedom and excitement of the big city. Produced by John Houseman, the script was written by Francis Ford Coppola, Fred Coe and Edith Sommer.

A DANCE with a schoolmate may have launched Pia Dagmar on a film career. A picture of Pia taking a turn on the dance floor at a graduation party turned up in the newspapers because her partner happened to be Sweden's Crown Prince Carl Gustav. It was seen by, among others, Swedish director Bo Widerberg. He has signed the 17-year-old, who had never acted in her life, for the lead in a love tragedy he's filming.

Price Discusses Great Society's Inflation Trend

The continuing increase in wholesale food prices month after month should emphasize to the American public that the Great Society has no solution to the problems of inflation where it hits the average wage earner," congressional candidate Bob Price said Saturday.

Noting that wholesale price boosts are generally followed by retail increases, the 18th District candidate told a group of Littlefield-business men.

"Every day we are paying for artificial prosperity of the Great Society with higher taxes, higher prices at the market, and with higher interest rates. The President's excuse that wages are going up faster than living costs is not only untrue for most Americans but it is no solution to the problem."

Price also listed his schedule next week:

October 31—Campaign in Amarillo until 5:30 p.m. — 7:30 p.m. will speak at rally in the Assembly Room of the Childress County Courthouse. . . . 2:00 — 4:00 p.m. — Mrs. Marty Price will be honored at a coffee at the Royal Inn Restaurant in Follett.

November 1—Campaign in Hutchinson County during the day. . . Price will attend a rally in his honor at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford at 7:00 p.m.

November 2 and 3 — will spend both days campaigning in Amarillo. . . November 3 at 7:00 p.m. will be honored with a coffee at the Rex Sanders home in Spearman.

November 4. . . will spend the day campaigning in Amarillo. . .

November 5. . . Mr. Price will be honored at a coffee in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Martin in Canyon. . .

Medicare Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE—This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers.

Q—My father is more than 80 years old, and never worked under social security. Can he get hospital and medical benefits under the new Medicare plan?

A—Yes. Anyone (except aliens with less than 5 years residence, and some Federal employees) who becomes 65 before 1968 will be covered by the new Hospital insurance plan simply by registering with the social security office. Medical insurance, which will be financed by premiums paid by the beneficiary and from the general fund, will be available to everyone (except aliens with less than 5 years residence) at age 65.

Q—My father is 87 years old and is bed-ridden. He lives with me and I handle all of his affairs because he forgets everything very quickly. Can I enroll him for Medicare myself?

A—Yes. Just have your representative who will fill out the enrollment form.

Q—How long will the monthly premium for medical insurance remain at $3?

A—At least until 1968. The law requires that the rate be examined every two years starting in 1967 to see if adjustments are needed in order to meet the expenses of the program.

Q—I will be age 65 in October this year. I did not sign up for Medicare before May 31 because I understood I had to wait until I was 65. Now my neighbor insists that I will not be able to sign up until Oct. 1, 1967 and cannot have Medicare benefits until July, 1968. Is this correct?

A—No, this is not correct. You may enroll for Medicare any time during the period three months after the month you are months after the month you are 65.

Q—I am nearing age 65 but not retired. Can I apply for a Supplementary Medical Insurance now or will I have to wait until I retire?

A—Entitlement to Medicare, unlike social security benefits, is not related to a person's earnings. Ordinarily if you are working full time, you are not eligible to monthly social security benefits. However, you will be eligible for Medicare benefits at age 65 regardless of your earnings. In your case, you should contact the social security office and file a claim for Medicare.

Q—Will both parts of the Medicare plan, the hospital insurance benefits and the supplementary medical insurance benefits, make payments to me for services paid for under a private health insurance plan that I now have?

A—Yes, they will. If you receive care under an insurance plan, the benefits provided for under the Medicare law will nevertheless be paid in full. However, it is expected that your private insurance will be adjusted to take account of the fact that Medicare will meet part of the patient's health cost.
