

Cong Hurlled Back In Futile Attack

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong launched human wave attacks today against South Vietnamese troops and American infantrymen seeking massive Communist rice stores in the dense jungle of War Zone C northwest of Saigon. They were hurled back with heavy losses each time, spokesmen said.

In the air over North Viet Nam, American fighters duelled Communist MIGs to a bloodless draw during the third consecutive day of massive strikes against the north.

The Communists were frantically trying to save rice from allied troops who already have captured a year's supply in the biggest such seizure of the war. The Americans seized 215 more tons today to run the total to more than one million tons.

The Communists struck in screaming waves against American units of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade after dark today near Tay Ninh City. The Americans hurled them back.

The new attack was not far from where the Communists smashed into a government outpost near the Cambodian border this morning. There, too, the Viet Cong were repulsed with heavy losses.

The Americans were still fighting the attackers late today.

At least 52 of the Communists were killed by valiant South Vietnamese defenders in the attack just after midnight today.

The assault against the Americans came later, near where troops of Operation Attleboro fought two skirmishes with Viet Cong Thursday some 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh.

The fighting was in a war zone area that has long been a Communist stronghold and is a vast open air storehouse for Communist supplies. War zone C lies along the Cambodian border and is thought to contain the headquarters for the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam. It is a frequent target for strategic B52 strikes.

Apparently because War Zone C is so important to them, the Communists have rarely caused major trouble in the densely jungled region.

A large number of supplies were destroyed in a major allied sweep there last summer but few Communists were found.

Since Attleboro began Oct. 15, the Americans have seized enough rice to feed a Communist division for an entire year.

MUM'S THE WORD — A wounded soldier clenches a twig between his teeth, to keep from crying out in pain and giving away his unit's position, after he and his 10-man 1st Cavalry patrol were ambushed by the enemy near Phu Cat, South Viet Nam, recently.

U.S., Russia Sign Aviation Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union today signed a long-stalled agreement to begin commercial air service between New York and Moscow.

The signing of the pact at the State Department marked the first major U.S.-Russian agreement in some time. Some American officials viewed it hopefully as a forerunner of other, even more significant moves, possibly including nuclear controls.

Signing the agreement for the United States was veteran diplomat Llewellyn E. Thompson, who is scheduled to return to Moscow soon for another tenure as U.S. ambassador. Signing for Russia was Yevgeni F. Loginov, the Kremlin's Civil Aviation Minister.

Despite the elaborate ceremony, actual air service between the two cities will not begin until next spring. Pan American World Airways will fly the 4,200-mile non-stop route for the United States. Aeroflot, the Soviet state airline, will provide the other half of the service, complete with caviar, vodka and plump but friendly stewardesses.

Anyone who buys a ticket from Aeroflot will find himself on a TU114, the largest airliner in the world.

Johnson Terms Asian Tour as 'Big Success'

President Lists Four Points of Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today termed his 17-day Asian trip "highly successful" and said it demonstrated the unity of the United States and its allies.

The President told a news conference that the seven-nation Manila conference showed the allies to be united in four respects:

—Their determination to support the men on the fighting front.

—Their determination to preserve integrity of territorial boundaries.

—To develop a "new Asia" with "prosperity and plenty."

—Determination to "walk the last mile" and meet with anyone to seek peace.

Johnson held his news conference 18 hours after announcing he would undergo surgery within 15 days for removal of a growth from his throat and repair of a small hernia around the incision scar from his gall bladder operation a year ago.

The President said the Manila conference put a "spotlight" on Asia and its problems, and reminded the world that two-thirds of the world's population lives there. In due time, he predicted, the world will see results from the conference.

He said this nation will supply all the manpower that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, might need to do his job in Viet Nam.

Johnson said Westmoreland would get whatever was needed. He said the troops would not be left in Viet Nam without the ability to do a job. And he said he expected the U.S. strength to be "added to from time to time."

He hoped, he said, that this growing power would help "the adversary" to see the futility of continuing the fighting.

"I believe most of the nations of the world want to see the fighting stopped," the President declared. "None of them enjoy watching what's going on there."

U.S. Delivers North Korea Stiff Warning on Armistice Violations

PANMUNJOM (UPI) — U.S. military officials warned Communist North Korea today it is on a collision course with free world forces. They said the United States would not be responsible for developments if North Korea continues to violate the military armistice.

The American delegate delivered a message from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, the United Nations commander, to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung demanding he take appropriate action and cease these "wanton attacks of kidnapping, murder and atrocity" unless Kim had decided to abrogate the armistice.

The charge, made by the American delegate of the United Nations forces in Korea, followed his charges that North Korean soldiers killed six Americans and one South Korean south of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) Wednesday and then smashed the heads of the dead men to make identification impossible.

North Korea itself added to the increasingly tense situation by charging that "scores" of American troops made three separate attacks across the DMZ Thursday. The charges appeared to be a propaganda buildup for some sort of North Korean action to take U.S. pressure off North Viet Nam.

The warning to North Korea was delivered by U.S. Maj. Gen. Richard E. Ciccollella, delegate of the United Nations command in Korea which now is made up of American and South Korean soldiers. He also accused the Communists of savage brutality.

In the strongest warning given since the armistice was signed in 1953, Ciccollella told his North Korean counterpart, Maj. Gen. Park Chung Kuk that "the United Nations command will not shirk its duties and responsibilities under whatever conditions exist."

"Your side is traveling on a collision course," Ciccollella said. "My mission is to stay at this table until you understand the gravity of the present situation."

North Korea had called this the 232nd meeting of the military armistice commission, to protest what it said were 10 DMZ violations by U.S. command troops between Oct. 25 and Nov. 3. Ciccollella used the occasion to denounce the Wednesday ambush of the American patrol in the strongest terms.

"After murdering our soldiers in cold blood your vicious, bloodthirsty killers then smashed the heads of the dead men with such savage brutality as to render all recognition impossible," he said.

There was no confirmation of the Communist charges of U.S. attacks but they created fears the Communists were beginning a propaganda buildup possibly in an effort to divert American attention from the war in Viet Nam. Such charges in the past have been followed by Communist attacks.

The Korean Central News Agency (KCNA) in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo said the Americans attacked with hand grenades and fired "thousands" of bullets into North Korean positions. It also accused them of committing "arson," an indication some of their posts caught on fire.

"These military provocations of the U.S. side show that they are head over heels in unleashing a new war in Korea while escalating the war in Viet Nam," the official voice of the Communist regime in Pyongyang stated.

"If the U.S. side continues such provocations they will be held entirely responsible for all the grave consequences arising therefrom."

Star Witness To Take Stand In Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A crisp little man who is Cleveland's veteran coroner and a lean, relaxed man who is a veteran homicide sleuth stood ready to testify today as the state's big gun in its murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

Dr. Samuel R. Gerber, white-haired but exuding energy, was the star prosecution witness in the 1954 trial that convicted the osteopathic brain surgeon of second-degree murder in the budgeon death of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

Dr. Gerber shortly will enter his third decade as coroner of Cuyahoga County, which is retrying Dr. Sheppard on a U.S. Supreme Court order. During three days of testimony in 1954 he rocked the courtroom by saying that in his expert opinion thin marks outlined in the dried bloodsoak of the slain woman's pillow were "the imprint of a two-bladed surgical instrument."

The weapon used on Mrs. Sheppard never has been found. Robert F. Schottke, the homicide detective who followed Gerber to the stand in 1954, was waiting in the courtroom corridor Wednesday when the trial adjourned with the end of testimony by the sixth state witness.

Schottke testified in 1954 that he spent six hours of intensive investigation on the murder day and then went to Dr. Sheppard and said: "In my opinion you are the one who killed your wife." He said Dr. Sam unemotionally and without raising his voice said: "Don't be ridiculous."

New District Boy Scout Executive Takes Position

Scout Executive Steve Odum has announced that William G. Walker of Houston is to be the new district scout executive of the Santa Fe Boy Scout District of the Adobe Walls Council. The Santa Fe District includes Cray, Carson and Roberts Counties.

Walker has served as a district scout executive in the Sam Houston Area Council since 1956. He will arrive in Pampa Nov. 17 and will be introduced to scout leaders of the area at the Nov. 19 Santa Fe District annual banquet at 7 p.m. in Jackson's Cafeteria, Coronado Center.

The Walkers have three children, a son, Tommy, a student at Texas Tech; a daughter, Carolyn, who is a senior in high school; and a daughter, Sara, who is a junior high student. The family will move to Pampa about mid-school term of next year. They are members of the Lutheran Church.

Topcoats Are Fashionable For Weekend

Topcoat weather will remain in the Pampa and the Panhandle area at least through Sunday, according to the Weather Bureau.

Amarillo Weather Bureau forecasters call for partly cloudy and continued cool weather through Sunday with highs in the middle 50s and lows in the upper 20s.

Brisk north winds are expected to help keep the chill in the air.

Pampa warmed up a bit Thursday with the high reading

CLEAR AND CHILLY standing at 60 degrees and the overnight low a chilly 29. Clouds moved through southern sections of Texas today and inched into northern parts of the state. A new "dry" Canadian cold front moved rapidly toward the Panhandle. Forecasters said there was almost no chance that the cold front would set off rain in the northern half of the state. A few showers were expected in the southeast Saturday.

WEATHER
PAMPA AND VICINITY—Partly cloudy and continued cool through Saturday. High Saturday in middle 50s. Low tonight in upper 20s. Winds from north, 10-15 mph. Winds from East on Saturday. Outlook for Sunday: little change.

Man Relates His Conversation With Friendly UFO 'Spaceman'

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — With police and an Air Force representative listening Woodrow Derenberger Thursday told of his meeting with a "spaceman" who did everything short of ask him to "Take me to your leader."

However, the "spaceman" did according to Derenberger—tell him: "Have no fear. We come from a country that is not nearly as powerful as yours. We mean you no harm."

Derenberger, a salesman and father of two, held a news conference Thursday to relate the experience he said occurred about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday while driving home from Marietta, Ohio, on Interstate 77.

Attending the conference were local policemen and an Air Force representative who said he would report Derenberger's account either to Washington or the UFO investigative center at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

object "traveling about the same speed as his panel truck cut in front of my vehicle and continued to travel at some distance sideways."

The object was charcoal gray in color, he said, "apparently made of some kind of metal and shaped something like an old kerolene lamp globe, having a flat bottom and a dome-like top."

With no visible lights, it moved along "eight to 10 inches above the pavement, blocked the highway and finally stopped," he said.

Derenberger said the side of the UFO then opened and a "man" stepped out, approached his truck and told him to roll down the window.

In a "five to 10-minute conversation," he said, the man communicated through "thought waves or mental telepathy."

He described the "spaceman" as about six feet tall, 35 to 40 years old "by our standards" and about 185 pounds. He said the man had dark hair, a dark complexion and wore a "short topcoat, with trousers visible below the coat, and a shirt buttoned at the neck." His clothing was described as "blue and quite shiny, having a glistening effect."

Derenberger said the man described himself as a "searcher" and said his name was "Cold."

Derenberger said the "saucer," which had been hovering 50 to 75 feet above the highway then dropped down and another occupant reached to help his companion on board.

"The door closed, sounding much like a car door," the salesman said, and the UFO took off in a burst of "tremendous speed."

Derenberger said he hurried home, shaken, and called the police.

When asked about a possible return visit, he said "I think they will, but I hope they don't."

Freezing Fall Snowstorm Sweeps Midwest With Death and Misery

THE OFFICIAL ARRIVAL of winter is still more than seven weeks away, but Paula Cramer of Lima, Ohio, finds that fact pretty hard to believe. Paula, and a lot of other people, were caught by surprise Nov. 1 when snow fell all over everything, including this convertible that was caught with its top down.

By United Press International
One of history's worst autumn snowstorms swept into Canada today after clobbering whole states in the Midwest, South and Northeast with death and misery.

The snow, drifting in some places to depths of five feet and lying 22 inches deep in others, stranded thousands of travelers and caused widespread power failures.

At least 23 persons died in the storm—most in accidents on ice and snow-covered highways. A United Press International count showed 11 deaths in Ohio, 4 in Michigan, 3 in Pennsylvania, 2 each in Indiana and Alabama and 1 in Kentucky.

The heaviest snow falls today were concentrated in a narrow band along the southeastern shores of Lake Erie. Accumulations up to six inches or more were expected by daybreak. Two inches fell in Buffalo, N.Y., during a six-hour period ending today.

The storm continued to be felt today. Gale force winds swept (See STORM, Page 3)

Television in Review

By RICK DU-BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Tuesday's California gubernatorial election, between Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Ronald Reagan, indicates strongly the new freedom of television and movie performers to speak out for candidates of their choice. Many have taken sides openly.

In the old Hollywood days, when studios were dominant and actors more subservient, politics was usually a taboo subject for a performer to discuss publicly—it simply wasn't allowed in most cases by the then all-powerful movie publicity departments. Some stars still prefer to avoid being typed politically, for the obvious reasons. Many others, however, feel they have a right to speak up.

On Thursday, for instance, the trade and local press here carried a full-page advertisement, bearing the names of many celebrities, supporting Reagan. Brown likewise has many show business backers.

Hillbillies For Reagan
Among the many television people, for instance, whose names appeared in Thursday's ad for Reagan were Buddy Ebsen and Irene Ryan of "The Beverly Hillbillies," Fess Parker of "Daniel Boone," Efreem Zimbalist Jr., of "The FBI," Forrest Tucker of "F Troop," Pat Buttram of "Green Acres," Dale Robertson of "Iron Horse" and Fred MacMurray of "My Three Sons."

One also noted the names of Chill Wills of "The Rounders," Don De Fore of "Hazel," Raymond Massey of "Dr. Kildare," Reginald Gardiner of "The Pruitts of Southampton," Bing Crosby, who often is host of "The Hollywood Palace," Pat Boone, who has his own daytime variety show, and many others.

On the other side, as an example, Frank Sinatra threw a fund-raising San Francisco evening for Gov. Brown in September, with Dean Martin, Joey Bishop, Ella Fitzgerald, Trini Lopez and Connie Francis among those on hand.

Change of Policy

The trade press keeps a close eye on the doings of celebrities in their public outings. Just the other day an interview in "Daily Variety" with Pat Boone said that in the past he "has been known to trek the political trails on behalf of candidates, but he's curtailed that, after some serious soul-searching." Boone was quoted:

"I have been active and outspoken, but now I'm having second thoughts. I think an entertainer has to be extremely conscientious using his position and popularity as a performer to sway voter decisions. I intend to be active as a voter and citizen, but not in political rallies. When an entertainer mixes in politics, it may influence voters for the wrong reason. Entertainers shouldn't just plunge in. The wrong man could be elected by the performer's influence."

Theology and the Arts

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Catholic university and a Protestant seminary have joined forces to make a study of the relationship of theology to the arts.

The schools are Fordham University and the Union Theological Seminary. The study, to begin January, 1967, at New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, will be on the graduate level in the form of seminars given by Rev. Tom Driver of Union, who has long been active with theater groups, and Fordham's Rev. William F. Lynch, S.J., who has written two books on the arts.

Richard Henry Lee and Francis Lightfoot Lee of Virginia were the brothers who signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Recently I read an article which said that amateur photographers in this country took 2,650,000,000 snapshots in 1964.

I don't know who took the other 2,000,000,000 but I hope they turned out better than the 65,000,000 I took. That was a bad year for me.

I estimate that about 600,000,000 of my 1964 snapshots produced images that could be easily identified. Most of them were in focus, sharply outlined and clearly lighted.

In other words, they were dreadfully amateurish. I blame this on the camera I was using.

No Fashion Plate
It is one of those foolproof models that automatically adjust for distance, lighting, shutter speed and so forth. With a camera like that, you rarely get pictures of fashion magazine quality.

The next time you are in your dentist's waiting room, pick up a 1964 copy of Vogue or some other fashion magazine and you will see what I mean.

You will find numerous photographs that are blurred, fuzzy, shadowy and distorted, with the subjects obscured in a swirling mist or a watery haze. In short, they have a professional touch.

Back in the days when I still had my old box camera, a lot of my pictures turned out like that. I would jiggle the camera, or forget to wind the film, or leave a finger over the lens or shoot into the sun.

This would create a foggy milkiness or a pearly frostiness and everyone would have a good time guessing who or what were in the pictures.

Change In Standards
Unfortunately, I was ahead of my time. In those days only pictures that were clear, sharp and recognizable were considered in the professional class.

When the advent of automatic cameras made it possible for amateurs to take clear, sharp pictures, the professionals naturally adopted a new technique. Otherwise, they might have been mistaken for amateurs.

Many photographers turned to impressionism and in some cases abstraction. Which is exactly the sort of thing I used to do with my box camera.

I must have thrown away a dozen pictures of Aunt Hilda simply because they had zigzag streaks that made it appear she had just been struck by lightning.

Had I but had the foresight to save them I feel certain I could have won this year's prize for the best fashion photograph.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Hutton & Co. says the glamor has been in a "convincing" phase for some time, with a bullish tone "feeding on itself" as more investors get back in.

Still, the analyst says, it would prefer that the market not get too much ahead of itself and that the Dow Jones industrial average do "a little more hacking and filling."

Thomson & McKinnon says the market has been "paying too much attention" to the steel industry, as displayed by an over-reaction to the recent dividend boost by U.S. Steel. But the company says issues will have to find "much more meaningful stimuli" if they are to sustain a bull market move.

Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. says the glamor issues could become "more buoyant" on any future near-term market strength. Zinder says he does not expect new highs in the group but says worthwhile percentage gains seem possible.

Day Observance

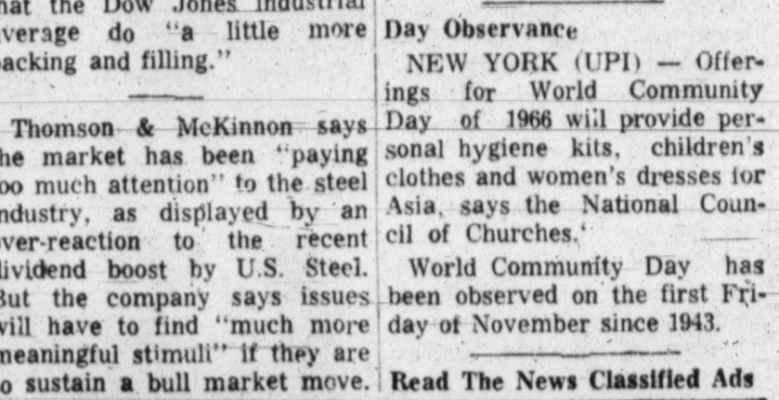

NEW YORK (UPI)—Offerings for World Community Day of 1966 will provide personal hygiene kits, children's clothes and women's dresses for Asia, says the National Council of Churches.

World Community Day has been observed on the first Friday of November since 1943.

Many Woes Beset Pampa Man In Bankruptcy Suit

A pending lawsuit and lack of proper financing were given as causes for the bankruptcy suit filed by J. C. Daniels, 45 400 W. Harvester.

The original bankruptcy petition was filed Oct. 17. Daniels owes $32,438 in back wages to three former employees: Edward Paul Cadra, who claims $8,203; Elmer Immel, $15,722 and C. D. Hanes, $7,513, according to C. R. (Buddy) Wright, an Amarillo attorney.

Although the wages claims were not listed in the original petition, they would come ahead of taxes, Murray explained. An $815,000 pending lawsuit is a major part of bankruptcy claims. The suit was filed by immediate relatives of men injured or killed in a flash fire near Shamrock at a pitch gas booster plant owned by the Cecil Corp.

Three men died of injuries in the blaze. Daniels was listed as president of the corporation at the time of the fire. In the bankruptcy petition, Daniels alleges he is now unemployed due to the sale of Southwest Gas Transmission Co. His net income is $4,800, he said. His total assets are $17,380 and over half of that amount is exempt.

Murray said the final hearing on the petition would be held after a six-month waiting period, probably in May, 1967. Daniels published The Daily Spokesman in Pampa from 1951 to 1952 and was president of the J. C. Daniels Enterprises of Shamrock and Pampa during that period. He was also associated with radio station KPAT, Lincoln-Mercury agencies and the Bel-Aire Men's Store, all in Pampa.

Orientation Meet Planned For New School Officers

Pampa High School student council will conduct an orientation workshop for all new student council and home room officers tomorrow, according to Jim Hulett, student council sponsor.

The session, slated to start at 8:30 a.m. and continue to 12:15 p.m., is designed to acquaint presidents, vice presidents, secretaries and parliamentarians with duties pertinent to their offices. Three special categories will be concerned with the American Field Service program; school spirit and student council projects.

Jo Hiatt, Harriett Henderson and Chris Dunn will conduct the session on American Field Service; Linda Watson and Earlean Sutton on school spirit, and David Martindale and Mike Brown on student council projects.

Over 60 out-of-town automotive parts dealers in addition to several from Pampa attended a buffet supper given by Western Warehouse, Inc., in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn last night.

The event was held to announce the new distributorship recently obtained by Western Warehouse; that of Monroe shock absorbers. The Monroe line makes up over 50 percent of all shock absorbers sold today.

The buffet was highlighted by music provided by a Pampa High School dance band and the showing of two movies filmed by Monroe, one of which included color scenes of the 1966 Indianapolis 500 auto race. Western Warehouse values its new Monroe inventory at $60,000. The warehouse will distribute the shocks to the automotive "jobbers" throughout the Texas Panhandle who in turn make them available to auto dealers, garages and service stations.

"We are honored and pleased to welcome Western Warehouse to the Monroe organization; we are particular about our distributors," Bodie Bulliven, Monroe representative told the group. The new line will be introduced to local retailers at a barbecue Tuesday night in the National Guard Armory here.

Presidents' duties will be outlined by Larry Franklin, Steve Grady, Jim Cornutt and Phil Long, and vice president duties by Smisson Goodlett, Larry Elledge, Will Walls, and Jay Johnson.

Secretarial duties will be discussed by Patti Meador, Karen Sidwell, and Jennifer Cunningham; and parliamentary procedure by Mike Osborne and Doc Cornutt.

Student council officers conducted a similar project for White Deer High School on Oct. 29. Participating in this discussion group for presidents was Will Walls and Richard Fatheree, 1965 PHS graduate, who also gave the keynote address. Martha McMullan led a group discussion for treasurers and Mike Osborne headed a parliamentary group discussion.

● Storm (Continued From Page 1) The Great Lakes, snow fell on portions of Michigan. Snow flurries were scattered in the Northern Plains and western Nebraska. Elsewhere mostly dry, clear conditions prevailed. Bitter cold lingered in the Southeast. Temperatures early today fell into the 20's in sections of Alabama and Mississippi and into the 30's as far south as central Florida.

The snowstorm, which slowed life to a crawl in states from the Canadian border to the Gulf Coast, stabbed unexpectedly. Many communities were unprepared for the heavy snow and the traffic-stopping drifts. At Detroit the weather bureau called it "definitely the worst storm so early in the season in the state's history."

New Low Temperatures Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky were hardest hit Thursday by the snow but temperature records were broken over in the Middle West and South. All major roads in a five-county area in northwestern Ohio were closed. The governor ordered a National Guard armory at Piqua opened as an emergency shelter.

The eighth annual banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

The Rev. J. W. Duke, pastor of First Christian Church, will be keynote speaker for the Pampa Key Club's annual Adult Leadership Award Banquet.

The Key Club makes the award annually in recognition of outstanding contributions by an adult to the youth of Pampa.

Previous honorees have been Cameron Marsh, high school principal; L. J. Edmundson, former Pampa superintendent of schools; Warren Hasse, civic leader; the late M. K. Brown, pioneer and philanthropist; Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, high school science and chemistry instructor and Ruby Capps Fatheree, high school counselor.

Guests of honor will be presidents of school and civic clubs, as well as members of the Pop o' Texas and Downtown Kiwanis Clubs, Key Club sponsors.

The name of the honoree is not announced until the night of the banquet.

Prowler Reports Plague Police

Pampa police investigated three prowler calls Thursday night, but could find no trace of anyone at either call.

The young girls, alone at home at 509 N. Christy, had a neighbor call police when they heard someone scratch on the window screen.

Mrs. Norma Lucas, 622 S. Henry, told police someone tried to break into her home twice, once about 10:30 p.m. and later around 4 a.m.

Mrs. Lucas said she saw a man but it was so dark she couldn't tell anything about him.—The prowler evidently cut a screen on a window and also on the kitchen door.

Mrs. Gary Hubbard, 604 N. Dwight, told police she had been bothered by prowlers for a week and thought one was hiding in her attic.

Police searched but found nothing.

Sunday Sermon Topic Told By Rev. Manning

Rev. J. R. Manning, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday. He has chosen "The Riches of the Redeemed" with a text taken from Romans 8:35-39 for his eleven o'clock sermon topic.

Sam Allen, minister of music will direct the Chancel Choir in singing "Judge Eternal" by Marchant. Paul Barrett will sing a bass solo. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Thanks Be to Thee" by Handel for the offertory.

Rev. Manning will announce his seven o'clock evening worship service subject. Miss Lane will play "Hymn from Finlandia" by Sibelius for the organ offertory. The Chancel Choir will sing "Verily, Verily" by Barrows.

Training Union precedes the evening worship at six o'clock, and there is a department for every age.

PAMPAN — A native of Pampa has enrolled as a first year student at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. Robert E. Clements, son of Mr. R. O. Clements, 1028 S. Dwight, began work toward the master of church music and the master of religious education degrees at the seminary. He received the bachelor of music education degree from West Texas State University in 1965.

First Christian To Have Baby Dedication Rites

Rev. J. W. Duke, pastor of the First Christian Church, has titled his Sun-day morning sermon topic, "Incredible," taken from scripture Acts 26: 8-15.

The choir, under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, will do The Anthem.

A Baby Dedication Service will be conducted during the morning worship service Sunday.

In commemoration of Christian Literature Week, the Fellowship Sunday School Class will display books in the foyer of the church.

The remainder of the church schedule will remain the same beginning with Youth Choir Practice at 4:30 under the direction of Mrs. J. Stanley Hill and accompanied by Mrs. Danny King; Snack Supper which is 25 cents per person for Youth Groups at 6 p.m. and Evening Worship Hour at 7 p.m.

Rev. Charles M. Grow, new associate minister will conduct the evening worship hour. He has chosen for his sermon topic "Take Your Time" with scriptures from Romans 13:11-12. He will be assisted by the Youth Choir under the direction of Mrs. Hill and accompanied by Mrs. King. They will present three numbers with their Anthem being "Hark! The Vesper Hymn is 'Stealing' by J. A. Stevenson.

Growing Pains ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Things got so crowded at the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri that extra office space had to be rented across the street from Christ Church (Episcopal) Cathedral in downtown St. Louis.

Expansion of diocesan services had been authorized by the 127th annual diocesan convention which voted changes in canon law to make possible a new operating structure. A spokesman said the changes would make the church's mission in Missouri "more efficient, more economical and more responsive to a changing world."

Present Generation Makes Dubious Contributions Toward Human Welfare

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International
Posterity will charge our time with the atomic bomb...the TV dinner...rock 'n roll music and other dubious contributions to human welfare.

But it also will have to give this generation credit for producing more good translations of the Bible than any other in history.

Since World War II, readers of English have been offered three magnificent works of Biblical scholarship: The Revised Standard Version (RSV), the new English Bible and the Anchor Bible.

To this honor roll may now be added a fourth name: The Jerusalem Bible. This new translation, which went on sale this week at bookstores across the country, is the work of Roman Catholic scholars. But it is not a "Catholic Bible," any more than the Protestant-translated RSV (which recently was approved for Catholic use) is a "Protestant Bible."

Biblical scholarship has made such enormous strides in recent years—thanks to new manuscript discoveries such as the Dead Sea Scroll, and improved knowledge of ancient languages—that Catholic and Protestant translators now find themselves able to agree about 99.9 per cent of the time, just as a matter of course, without making any particular effort to be "ecumenical."

The Jerusalem Bible gets its name from the famous Bible school of Jerusalem, established by Dominican scholars under the direction of Fr. Marie-Joseph Lagrange. Between 1948 and 1955, the school brought out a superb French translation of the Scriptures, which was published in 43 separately-bound sections. This "Bible de Jerusalem" quickly became the most widely-used translation of the Scriptures in French-speaking countries.

The English version was prepared under the direction of Fr. Alexander Jones, one of the world's foremost Bible scholars. Although it follows the French version in the interpretation of obscure or doubtful passages, it is a direct translation of the Hebrew and Greek originals into English, and not just a re-translation of the French.

Following the happy precedent set by other modern English translations, it uses a modern typographical format, with single-column pages, sub-heads and verse numerals unobtrusively located along the margin. Poetic passages are set in verse form, and direct quotes are set off with quotation marks.

Numerous footnotes Best of all, there are numerous footnotes on every page, clarifying allusions to people, places, coins, weights, measures, distances and events that would otherwise be meaningless to the modern reader.

The stated objective of the translators was to "convey the exact meaning of the sacred texts with grace and felicity, in modern, flowing English." The English is indeed "modern and flowing," and will be easily readable to any person with a grade school education. As for the "grace and felicity" of the literary style, some may feel that it falls a bit short of the high standard set by the RSV, which is an updating of the archaic but still incomparably beautiful English of the old King James version.

But it is no disgrace to fall a bit short of the loveliest English prose ever written. The Jerusalem Bible has a forthright and often felicitous style of its own, as in these passages from Jesus' Sermon on the Mount:

"Treat others as you would like them to treat you."

"Racial justice, slum populations, publishing of new religious books, better teaching in Sunday schools, explaining religion to college students, education of ministers and help for the aged are areas in which no denomination has the resources to work alone," says Dr. Douglas.

These include, he says, a united campus ministry to the nation's college students, joint publishing ventures, placing ministers on the Strip at Las Vegas, churches in shopping areas, and organizing ministers and specialists to serve such "neglected groups as dope addicts and homosexuals."

One of the most significant such experimental ministries include efforts to rehabilitate Negro ghettos. Joint work now is going on in Kansas City, St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Boston, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Rochester, N.Y.

"These projects are ecclesiastically unprofitable, but essential, if the church is to fulfill the mission entrusted to it by Christ to serve the world," Dr. Douglass observes.

Jesus' Mission Sunday Subject
Isaiah's prophecy concerning the mission of Christ Jesus is a part of the Christian Science churches this Sunday: "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound."

Correlative readings from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is."

Worship service will begin at 7 p.m. with Rev. Pollet speaking. There will be several talented singers participating in this service. The public is invited.

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. morning worship at 11 a.m. Basket dinner will be served at noon. In the afternoon there will be a singing and ministering of the word of God. The eve-

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1968 59TH YEAR

Dr. Kirk Attends Annual Meeting

Dr. Luther Kirk of Pampa represented Pampa district at the annual meeting of the Methodist Home's Board of Commissioners in Waco.

Dr. Kirk will have the key role in orienting Methodists of the Pampa areas as to the importance of the annual Christmas offering which will be made in Methodist churches throughout Texas and New Mexico in December.

Bishop W. Kenneth Pope addressed the 157 who attended the meeting in Waco Wednesday and Thursday. He listed the Methodist Home's recent advances in the field of child-care and challenged Methodist laymen and ministers in Texas and New Mexico to do their parts to aid in the Home's continued program.

"There are more than 360 children on the campus at The Methodist Home today, and the average child there is the by-product of a home destroyed by illness or desertion," said Dr. Kirk.

"We are dedicated to contributing our support to the staff's services which will start at 7 p.m. Sunday and continue nightly at 7:30 throughout the week. The public is invited."

New Mormon Missionaries Assigned Here

Elder Max J. Conlin and Elder Alan B. LeBaron, missionaries with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, have recently been assigned to the Pampa area. While here, they will go from door to door in an attempt to acquaint the people with the Book of Mormon and show its correlation with the Holy Bible.

The two elders are full-time missionaries with the Mormon Church and are two of 260 Mormon elders assigned to the Texas Mission with headquarters in Dallas. They are under the direction of Sanfred W. Eliason, president of the Texas Mission.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has over 12,000 young men, serving in the capacity of missionaries in all free countries of the world.

As missionaries, they devote two years of their life in full-time proselyting.

Church Organization Passe, Says Leader

NEW YORK — One of the most controversial missionary leaders among Protestants has declared war on denominational independence and competition.

The Rev. Dr. Truman B. Douglass, executive vice-president of the Board of Homelands Ministries of the United Church of Christ, says today's church organization is "based on conditions outmoded a generation ago."

His own denomination was a formed nine years ago by the union of the Congregational Christian Churches—the earliest New England settlers—and the Evangelical and Reformed Church—those who came from the middle European countries in the 18th century.

"Technological developments and social issues have outrun the obsolete organization of American churches," says Dr. Douglass.

Denominations operate independently, he argues, "on the dubious assumption that people care about distinctions in creeds and church practices when churches are faced with issues of such staggering dimensions that no single church body can hope to solve any of them by itself."

Dr. Douglass, who in the past has criticized Protestant "provincialism" and "its chronic moralism," is currently campaigning for an immediate union of the home missionary agencies of major Protestant denominations. He says he does not want to wait until all the details of total merger can be settled.

On October 30, Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Pollet conducted their first service in the Lamar Full Gospel Assembly.

Rev. Pollet was born in Kansas and worked for Phillips Petroleum Company for several years in the Mathematical Engineering Division of Research and Development. He attended I.B.M. and Programming school, and holds diplomas from a Business college in Washington D. C. and Southeastern Assemblies of God Bible College, Lakeland, Fla.

Mrs. Pollet was born in Idaho, attended school in Oklahoma and Draughton's Business College in Springfield, Mo. She is the daughter of an Assemblies of God pastor in Springfield.

Rev. Pollet has served in the capacities of assistant pastor, pastor, and evangelist for the Assembly of God Church in Lebanon, Mo.

The new congregation was pleased with an attendance last Sunday of 53 for Sunday School and approximately 70 for the morning worship service.

Sunday, Nov. 6, the church is planning a grand opening with services all day. There will be a number of out-of-town guests and neighboring churches participating.

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. morning worship at 11 a.m. Basket dinner will be served at noon. In the afternoon there will be a singing and ministering of the word of God. The evening service will begin at 7 p.m. with Rev. Pollet speaking. There will be several talented singers participating in this service. The public is invited.

Evangelistic Services at Revival Center

Mrs. Gladys Macdonald, evangelist, will conduct a Holy Ghost Revival in Revival Center, 1101 S. Wells, according to Ruby M. Burrow, pastor.

Services will start at 7 p.m. Sunday and continue nightly at 7:30 throughout the week. The public is invited.

The albatross is one of the most powerful flying sea birds in the world.

There is evidence that the phenomenal homing instinct of these birds has enabled them to circumnavigate the southern hemisphere one or more times between breeding seasons. One albatross, taken from its nesting place on Midway Island to the North Pacific, made the return trip of 3,200 miles in just over 10 days, at an average speed of 317 miles per day.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Pastor REV. J. B. CALDWELL
Hi-Land Pentecostal Holiness Church

How are we serving our Generation?

Acts 13:36 Matt. 11: 16-17

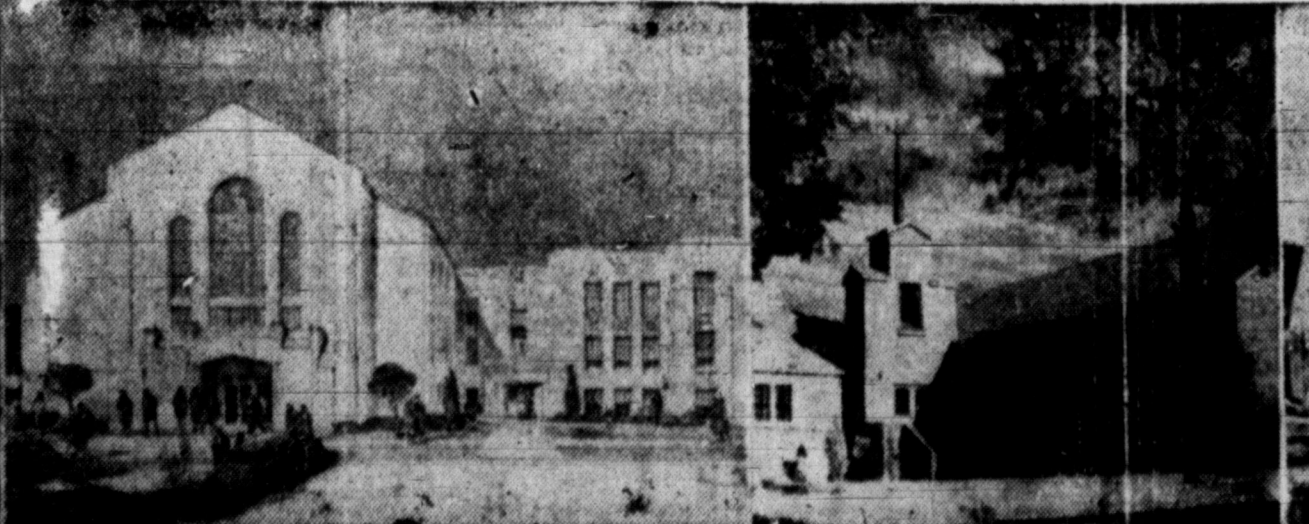

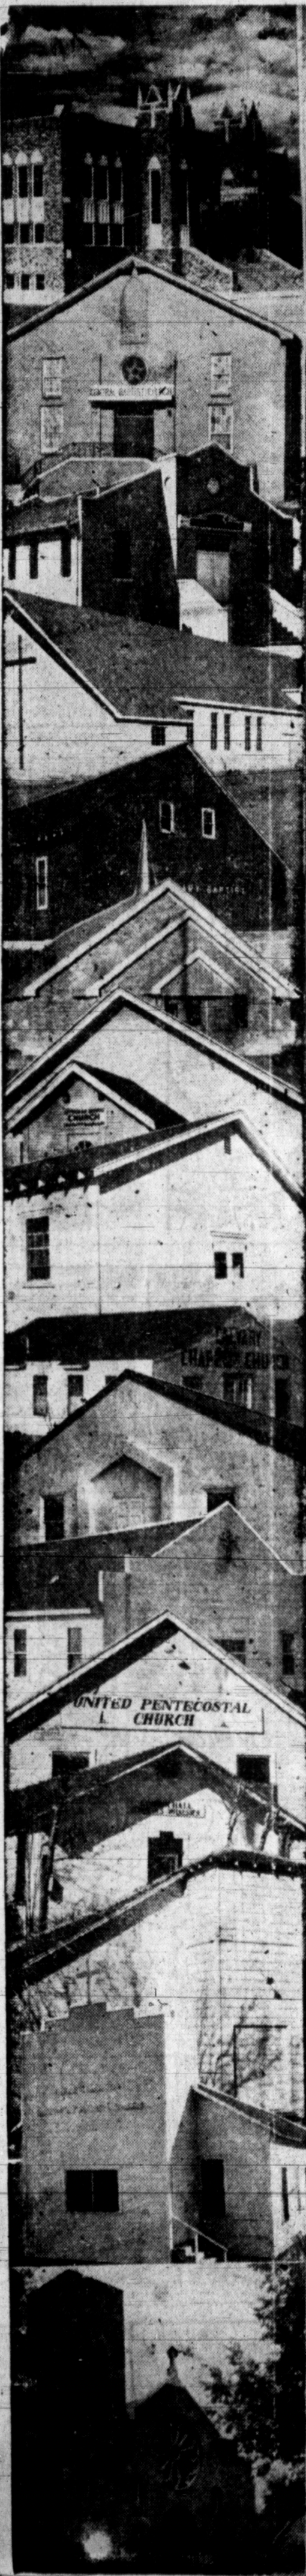

We do not live to our selves. Our lives in some degree influences others. There are two Kingdoms in this world: the Kingdom of truth and light and the Kingdom of error and darkness. The Kingdom of God and the Kingdom of Satan. Every person serves his generation to the extent of his alliance with these two Kingdoms. And he cannot be neutral; neither can he serve the interest of both kingdoms at the same time. As he serves the interest of either of these kingdoms he serves his generation. He can not serve his generation independent of these kingdoms. We render a service of the kingdom we represent of those who are touched by our lives. For example, the godly man, by his walk and talk promotes the kingdom of God. The ungodly, in the same way, promotes the kingdom of Satan.

Future Generations

Man given to the kingdom of darkness he gives it strength and impetus. Man given to the kingdom of light in the same way promotes the future kingdom. Two examples from the Bible, at this point: Pontius Pilate served his generation, that is felt even to this day, Paul, the apostle to the Gentiles, gave strength that is felt to this day. They served their generation and every generation since; because the vigor and direction given their kingdom.

The True Way To Serve

"Is by the Will of God" of this will and its broadest sense we could not possibly know now. "We see through a glass darkly". That is, we have but a reflection in the mirror of divine revelation. To summarize God's will is an eternal thing. The divine revelation of salvation and the gospel of Christ is only the expression in time of God's will as it works in eternity to eternity. In the light of these verses and others that may be given, the only true way in which to serve our generation is in acceptance of the gospel of Christ and in promoting with all our being its interests.

Whip Up a Prized Afghan

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Stitchery is an art as old as time. Originally, stitches were used to put nonwoven fabric together to make a useful object. For example, in the days of earliest recorded history, animal skins were sewn together to form a garment.

Today, the lady of the finest home emulates her cave dwelling forebears by stitching useful, attractive objects. She uses her creativity — and her needles. For generations, the afghan has been a family prize as an heirloom in the making. The history of afghans goes back several centuries. Originally, afghans were Turkoman rugs, according to the Bernat Needlework Research Center. The exotic carpets, woven in a geometric design by semi-nomadic tribesmen of the Middle East, were distinctive luxuries, handed down from generation to generation.

The fine afghans you can make today are far easier and faster to fashion. The modern, simple afghan stitch — actually a tricot stitch — goes along rapidly and smoothly, compared to the laborious knotting of old-world afghans.

Today's treasured afghans are lightweight, much brighter than their heavy burgundy-colored ancestors. And the modern afghan is far more versatile. When you're not enjoying your afghan as a warm wrap-around use it as a throw for the sofa or chair or drape your hands across a low bench, chest or window seat.

Our design for a custom-crafted cover which you can make easily if you knit, is inspired by an antique Danish tapestry bellpull. The multicolored floral pattern is embroidered on the afghan-stitched panels. If you would like knitting instructions, ask for 'Afghan $101' and send 50-cents to STITCHIN'.

THE AFGHAN is a handmade invitation to beauty and comfort. This rich pattern was designed for modern needleworkers from an antique Danish bell-pull.

Knit Knacks
Are you interested in needlework and don't know how to begin? Visit your local art needlework or yarn shop. Most shops have a needlework expert who is ready and willing to help you learn. Knitting, for example, is wonderfully easy. It's simply a matter of knitting and purling intricate-looking patterns are merely variations of these two basic stitches.

Decide what you'd like to do — knit, crochet or perhaps make a needlepoint chair cover. Then visit your art needlework shop or department, ask the expert's advice and you're on your way. Happy clicking!

Dear Abby... Wife's Problems Is A Dirty Husband

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He is handsome and I love him, but he always looks like a bum. Dirty fingernails, dusty shoes, and he needs a haircut most of the time. He'd never get a new suit if I didn't practically drag him to a clothing store. Nagging him makes me feel just terrible. What should I do?

LOVES HIM
DEAR LOVES: Nag him. He needs it. And don't feel "terrible." But keep your values in order. The woods are full of clean-fingered, well-groomed and unloveable heels.

DEAR ABBY: My brothers and sisters and I are all married. We love our mother very much. Our father is dead. Mother is hard of hearing so all of us went together and bought her a hearing aid. With it she hears fine, and it's a pleasure to be around her, but the trouble is she is either too proud or too contrary to wear it. She doesn't want people to know.

When we go to visit her we come away exhausted with sore throats from hollering, and nerves on edge, so naturally none of us visits her as often as we should. She butts into conversations, and gives answers to entirely different questions from the ones you are talking about. It's just awful, Abby. What should we do?

hearing mother must be suffering. Don't assume that she is "too proud" or "contrary" to wear her hearing aid. Perhaps it's not in good working order. Or it could be uncomfortable, or too conspicuous for her tastes. Investigate the newest in hearing aids, and be sure your mother has the best. It will open up a whole bright new world for her. And for you, too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been living in a lovely little rented house for many years. Our lease expired and the house has been sold so we must move. When we moved in there were no flowers or plants here, but we put in twenty-two peony bushes and some other lovely plants and flowers. Since we did this at our own expense, can we take the plants and other flowers we can dig up with us?

LOVES FLOWERS
DEAR LOVES: Better consult your lawyer. But I would guess that unless you made special provisions in your lease to remove the plants, anything affixed to the soil becomes a part of the real estate. Dig? Okay, so no digging, please.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO SMART TOO LATE." There is hardly a man alive who could not retire comfortably in his old age if he could sell his experience for what it cost him.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TIME IS DRAWING NEAR

After all these long weeks and months, November 8th is just around the corner. I have tried to see as many of you folks as possible and will still be in there plugging until D-Day.

I feel that with my background and desire I will make you a good Representative in Austin if I don't have any axes to grind but feel that I can be of service.

I want to thank all of you who have been helping me in so many ways during this campaign. Just one last favor that you make every effort to give me a plus these last few days and BE SURE AND VOTE.

If you are on the fence, I hope you will inquire about me from some of your friends. You won't have to ask very many until you find someone who can tell you what you need to know.

B&PW Members Hear District Nine Director Speak

Miss Jo Ann Clements of Plainview, District 9 Director of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was guest speaker at a salad supper held recently at the City Club Room.

The Federation objectives are to promote the interests of business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

National Business Women's Week has been observed in Pampa by the local B&PW Club with the theme "You In Action." This is an annual event, sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Various activities were planned by the chairman of Business Women's Week, Mrs. Eli Ethridge, which began with a breakfast in the Coronado Inn honoring the chosen "Woman of the Week," Mrs. Jewell Dean Lewis; also radio programs, a coffee, a regular social meeting at which State Rep. Grainger

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

FOR SATURDAY, NOV. 5
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have an sunny idea of a big future and are thinking so big you can have an inflated sense of importance and status. Be able to do, so you would be wise to refrain from putting such ideas into action until they have been double-checked by others that know their business. Leaders of nations would be wise to think twice before attempting to invade.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Going ahead with plans for entertainment is fine, provided you are not extravagant and do not lose your temper with anyone. Words of wisdom from others should be heeded. Try not to be so independent.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Don't go about doing what kin expect of you without consulting your professional adviser. Get rid of any problematical affairs that have been giving you a good deal of trouble. Tid yourself of clutter, too, that is around you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Stop getting a fix on the news. Discuss matters that do not please you or other matters that are not involving out just as you would want them to. Take time to read more, make greater faith and all will work out fine.

NOON (CHILDREN) (June 22 to July 21) — Don't labor under the misapprehension that you can manage anything through or out of anything or everything may the same time around to the rules. Use your money wisely. Make more intelligent arrangements in all of your affairs.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Stop thinking that others have to do what you desire of them. You are not to be a laborer and lose good will so laboriously built up. Lay the Golden Rule. Get some vital affairs handled in a wise and intelligent way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Instead of trying to split one, get busy working constructively on whatever is before you. Get your health built up. Assisting others can help your own and give you a more practical outlook on life as well.

LIBRA (Sep. 23 to Oct. 22) — Your talks are apt to be in a most unusual mood, so be a patient person and all works out fine later. Be more precise in stating your aims to others. Then you get the results you desire.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You need the OK of higher-ups where certain new projects are concerned or you may have trouble later. Don't take on responsibilities without authority. Play it safe and you can't lose.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Don't resist to show control to others even though they may be in a bad mood themselves. Lift the Golden Rule regardless of how others want to carry on. Do not permit others to lead you in wrong directions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Running out for fun when you have promises to keep, would only get you in deep water—so carry through and stay safe on shore. Show kindness to loved one, lie, or she may be feeling unwell. Don't aggravate further.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Be polite even though your associate or partner is in a peculiar mood, since it does not concern you at all. Agreements made should be executed in right spirit. Do not procrastinate any longer.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You can find just the right system for doing your work well, but do not depend on workers who are in rather a dither. Be sure to take health treatments you need. This gives you sufficient physical stamina for your work.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Signs of the Times

Counterfeiting of money, in the legalistic meaning of the term, is the production and introduction into the market place of phony or worthless coins or currency. People who indulge in the practice are called criminals and, when caught and convicted, are usually imprisoned. Counterfeiting and passage of the worthless "money" obviously is stealing. The counterfeiter and passers receive items or services of value, the results of productive energy expended by others, in exchange for worthless paper. That is theft. And illegal counterfeiting is on the increase.

A wire report from Washington noted that "Counterfeiters turned out record amounts of phony money last fiscal year and, apparently, are headed for even higher production marks."

The Secret Service said in its annual report "that it seized a record $9 million in counterfeit money during the fiscal year which ended last June 30. The total seized the year before was $3.6 million." That is quite an increase.

"The Secret Service," quoting an unnamed official, attributes "the ease with which large amounts of counterfeit currency can be produced by technicians with limited capability was largely responsible for the upswing. It reported a record 366 arrests for counterfeiting in the last fiscal year."

Without doubt, there is a large element of truth in the Secret Service's assessment of the cause of increase. But, while we are not naive enough to expect government officials to place blame upon their employer, that is precisely where a large part of the blame rests.

For the federal government, in inflating the money supply with worthless printing press currency and government "guaranteed" credit, is doing precisely, albeit legally, the same thing that the illegal counterfeiters are doing. And the criminal element, outside of government, observing the actions of the people in government, and reasoning, "if they, then, why not we?" is merely following the example and precedent set by the authorities.

If it is possible to distinguish between two shades of dishonesty, the illegal counterfeiter is less dishonest than the government's inflation artists, for the illegal criminal at least takes the chance of getting caught and thus paying for his theft, while the government, hiding behind the force of law, steals with impunity.

Still quoting the Secret Service official, "about 90 per cent of the bogus bills were caught before they got into circulation."

That may be so, although we doubt the Secret Service's ability to make such a determination; nevertheless, there are still literally billions of dollars in bogus bills and credit dollars in circulation which were printed on government-controlled printing presses or brought into existence by some official's use of a pencil.

Stealing is stealing. That the government is doing it "legally" does not change the nature or impact of the act.

More Taxes for Politics

The Congress of the United States has now written into law a provision to finance the presidential elections of the future out of income taxes.

The provision was tacked on as a rider to a hodgepodge bill which originally was a measure dealing with taxation of foreign investments in the United States.

It will allow each federal income tax payer to mark a box on his return, indicating whether he wishes $1 of his tax money to go to a fund for both political parties. For the 1968 campaign the total fund, which could be earmarked for this purpose would be $60,600,000. The only way a minority party could share in the fund would be if it polled more than 11 million votes in the last presidential election.

The legislation has no merit whatever. It is the idea of Sen. Russell B. Long of the Senate Finance Committee, and was proposed as an answer to the claims that the tax payer should be called upon to finance the political campaigns.

President Johnson last May had urged repeal of the present spending limits on elections be eliminated and that voluntary contributions be encouraged by permitting exemption from taxes on gifts up to $100. The Johnson plan had the merit at least of allowing a voluntary contribution to the party one chose, and giving him a tax exemption on it. But the Long plan just sets up an almost sure 60 million dollar slush fund for the national political parties to spend as they please. Since it will make up no difference to the tax payer, he has the Johnson's choice of having his dollar go to the federal treasury or to the two political parties. We suspect he will just mark for the box without giving it much thought.

The new law will not make any difference in the great spending to gain political power by the officials of both parties. It will do nothing to prevent the use of labor union dues money and, in some instances corporation funds, going to elect officials. It won't stop whichever party is in power from using its officials to win re-election.

It just gives the politicians an extra 60 million dollars to play with.

Get Out the Rake, Fellows

The man says he feels like a traitor to all husbands who like to watch football or play golf or otherwise divert themselves on pleasant autumn days, but it is his professional duty to state the facts.

Yes, answers Henry W. Indyk of Rutgers University to frequent queries from housewives at this time of year, it's true that fallen leaves blanketing a lawn do much more harm than good.

The favored argument of male heads of households that leaves eventually break down into some kind of natural fertilizer is wrong, says the lawn specialist. A soggy blanket of leaves often forms a tight mat that can actually smother grass.

For that reason he favors raking leaves off the lawn several times rather than waiting until the last one has finally jumbled down.

The only compensation he offers husbands is the knowledge that leaf raking contributes to the family's physical fitness program.

And just think of the healthy grass you'll be able to cut next summer.

Canadians Wanderlust

It seems quite logical that Americans should be the world's "travelingest" people. They aren't.

Based on percentage of population, more Canadians than Americans take foreign trips, report travel and tourism authorities. They also spend about $36 per capita on travel, which is more than four times the amount spent by U.S. citizens and higher than any other nationality.

Question Box

QUESTION: What does a person mean when he uses the term "Property Rights?"

ANSWER: The term "property rights" is a misnomer. Most people carelessly use it to mean a man's rights in property. Others use it politically with the idea that men are more interested in property rights than human rights. That is a demagogic trick proposition to fool people, because property has no rights whatsoever. Only individuals have rights. Property is inanimate. It has no will. Life is just making decisions, and only individuals can make decisions to acquire property.

It seems it would be better if people discontinued the use of the term "property rights" and said what they really mean—a man's or an individual's rights in property.

The Cross-Transfer Of School Children

(Chicago Tribune)
U.S. News & World Report calls attention to a pending case in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia which may prove of momentous effect on the question of neighborhood schools "where de facto segregation often prevails." The decision could have far-reaching implications for school busing and could open the way, through an appeal to the Supreme Court, for rulings that could fix "the law of the land" without any action by Congress.

The suit, brought by a militant civil rights leader acting with parents of Negro school children, nominally demands that schools of Washington, D.C., be made the equal of those in nearby suburban areas of Virginia and Maryland. Washington's public school enrollees are 93 per cent Negroes. The percentage of white pupils in the suburbs is about the same in reverse.

The case was assigned to Judge J. Skelly Wright, who refused a motion by the defendant school board and superintendent to step aside. The Washington Star, reviewing some of Judge Wright's previous statements on the issue in controversy, concluded that "he has anything but an open mind on the issue of de facto segregation, which lies at the heart of this lawsuit."

In a speech at New York university law school in 1965, for example, Judge Wright referred caustically to watching "some of my judicial brethren in the South twisting and turning and reaching for a result in 'race cases' that will not upset the status quo or the local power structure."

"It is inconceivable," the judge asserted, "that the Supreme Court will long sit idly by watching Negro children crowded into inferior slum schools, while the white people flee to the suburbs to place their children in vastly superior predominantly white schools."

"Obviously, court orders running to local officials will not reach the suburbs. Nevertheless, when political lines, rather than school-district lines, shield the inequality, courts are not helpless to act. The political thicket, having been pierced to protect the vote, can likewise be pierced to protect the education of children."

It was this last remark, the Star said, which led to speculation that Judge Wright might order Negro children bused out of Washington into suburban schools, and white children bused from the suburbs into Washington.

"On its face," the Star observed, "what this suit really comes down to is a petition to the court to deal with an impossible situation as far as de facto

Research Brings New Hope In Treatment of Arthritis
The Arthritis Foundation has recently brought two of its pamphlets up-to-date. "Today's Facts About Arthritis" discusses the cause, symptoms, diagnosis and treatment of rheumatoid arthritis (the crippling kind) and osteoarthritis with a brief mention of gouty arthritis and several less common varieties. The pamphlet on rheumatoid arthritis covers this disease in somewhat greater detail.

In both pamphlets great emphasis is placed on the fact that no case of this disease is hopeless and that the outlook is constantly getting brighter with the discovery of new methods of treatment.

The foundation also has pamphlets on diet and arthritis, on home care for the arthritic and on rheumatoid arthritis in children. Any of these that you need can be obtained free either from local chapters in 70 major cities in this country or by writing to The Arthritis Foundation, Box 2525, New York, N.Y. 10001.

Q — Is there such a disease as arthritis of the blood?
A — I know of no arthritis with that name but there is a hemophilic arthritis (seen in hereditary bleeders) and hemoglobin S-C disease (a variant of sickle cell anemia in which there is destruction of the joints of the long bones). Arthritis may also be a complication of various other blood diseases.

Q — Is Indocin a new drug for arthritis? Is it the best?
A — Indomethacin (Indocin) has been available for a little over a year in this country. Whether or not it would be best for you I could not say because one man's cure is another man's curse. This drug, however, has given excellent results in about 80 per cent of the victims of osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and several other varieties.

In the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis it may be given in place of aspirin in adequate doses. The chief advantages of indomethacin are that, unlike cortisone, it can be taken for prolonged periods and, if such side effects as headache, depression, dizziness or stomach upset occur, they can usually be controlled by reducing the dose. This drug should not be taken by persons who have ulcers of the stomach or intestines.

Q — Is there any value in taking honey and apple cider daily for arthritis?
A — No.

All Expense Paid Tours — At Your Expense

Southern States Industrial Council Bulletin
The Chief Executive of our fair land has now become a traveler to the mysterious East, having tried, we are told, to help find a peaceful solution to present problems in various parts of Asia.

Not being cynical enough to attribute anything but praiseworthy motives (strictly non-political ones, of course) to this Oriental adventure, we found ourselves subconsciously gripping our wallets. Recently, our Vice President made a quick dash to Pakistan where he dropped a paltry $50,000,000 promise of assistance in his host's lap. Later, to placate India, he doubled the amount of instant blessings — a $100,000,000 commitment added to the largest already bestowed upon that country.

Many years ago, an attractive young mother, unable to accompany her husband on his out-of-town business trips was wont to place their baby's shoe in his luggage as a reminder that he had obligations at home. We think it would have been nice if somebody had placed a slip of paper with the words "I.O.U. $122 billion" printed thereon among the President's clean shirts. That is approximately the amount of money we, the taxpayers, have poured out in global foreign aid programs since 1945.

As a practical matter, we do not expect any of it to be repaid, but we'd like to suggest to the President that he be a little restrained in assuming that the only way to international accord is through an American's piggy-bank. And, what with the Great Society at home, an Alliance for Progress to the south of us, the United Nations in front of us, and the global pensioners surrounding us, the piggy bank has become somewhat undernourished.

World peace, of course, is not an objective confined to any political party or faction, but surely its ultimate achievement will not stem from bankrupting the United States. Presidential visits should, we insist, prove more than the seemingly limitless capacity of the American taxpayer to pony up more cash so our foreign friends can enjoy a standard of living to which they have never been accustomed and haven't earned.

Certainly we want the President to enjoy his trips, but we hope we don't have to honor his traveler's checks.

Cowboys Send Kicker to Dallas Pocket Team

DALLAS (UPI)—In the you never know what tomorrow may bring world of minor league professional football, little things mean a lot. Take for instance the Dallas County Rockets of the Texas Professional Football League. They've fallen on hard times. Attendance is averaging only 1,500 per game and the team is losing.

But now help has come from their big brother, the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, who are averaging about 60,000 fans per game and winning.

Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys has decided kicker Colin Ridgeway of the taxi squad needs more experience kicking under pressure. So the Cowboys have made a deal with the Rockets to let the "boomer" do the punting in the rest of their games.

Plenty of Exposure. Bill Crow, general manager of the Rockets, said Ridgeway "will get plenty of kicking exposure with us." At times this season punts have been the only way the Rockets could move the ball.

Ridgeway, an Australian who was an ace high jumper at Lamar Tech, has tremendous leg drive and regularly boots the ball 50 yards or more in practice, but is green under fire.

"He could be a good gate attraction for us," said Crow. "This is a step toward a full working agreement. The league is coming along rapidly but we want to have something to sell the big league teams before we approach them officially about a full working agreement."

South of Dallas. The Rockets are playing at De Soto, Tex., about 10 miles south of Dallas, this year and according to Crow "haven't been drawing a flipped nickel."

He said the stadium was so far out in the sticks "some of our players had trouble finding the place."

"We look for brighter things next year," Crow said. "There is a chance we could play at Turnpike Stadium (Arlington) or perhaps at Cobb Stadium. We are losing money this year because of the lack of facilities, but we're making all the payroll and are in good shape. We will be OK when we can get to a bigger stadium."

Crow said the league average is about 6,000 fans per game and most of the owners are real "happy with the situation."

Aggies in Critical Game With Ponies

By United Press International The Texas Aggies, their own title hopes rudely jolted by defending champion Arkansas last week, challenge Southern Methodist's disputed Southwest Conference football leadership in one of two crucial league games Saturday afternoon.

While the Aggies (3-1) test SMU (3-0) in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Arkansas (3-1) tries to stay in the thick of the battle for a third consecutive championship at neutral Little Rock against dangerous, but oft-beaten Rice (6-3).

Horn's Dilemma. Baylor and Texas, both with two league setbacks and virtually written off as title timber, collide at Waco in a third conference clash in which nothing but personal prestige will be at stake.

Texas Tech hosts Oklahoma State in a night game at Lubbock in the final inter-sectional tilt of the year with some hopes of pulling the conference record to 11-12-1 against outsiders. This is only the fourth season in 52 that the conference has failed to break even against outsiders.

SMU is an eight-point choice over the Aggies, Arkansas is favored by 19 over Rice, Baylor by one over Texas and Tech by seven over Oklahoma State. But SMU, Arkansas and Baylor might take note of the fact that visiting teams have won 10 of the 11 league games played to date.

SMU's 13-12 upset of Texas last week that permits it to go into the Aggie game unbeaten in league play for the first time in a decade was expected to push the Cotton Bowl crowd to around 35,000 or more if the weather hold good. The Aggies were due to be in good physical trim for the game, but SMU will again have a patchwork backfield due to the injury loss of halfback Jim Hagle and fullback D. J. Moore. The game was due to pit two of the loop's more spectacular quarterbacks, passing leader Edd Hargett of the Aggies and rollout artist Mac White of SMU.

Sellout Due. A sellout crowd of 47,000 is due at Little Rock where Coach Frank Broyles hopes his Razorbacks can maintain the efficiency they reached in last week's 34-0 rout of the Aggies. The Hogs will be minus tailback Bruce Maxwell and linebacker Lee Johnson, but they also were benched in the Aggie game. Rice's 205.8-yard per game rushing average, built around sensational Robby Shelton, will be severely tested by an Arkansas defense that has held four foes to less than 45 yards per game.

SMU and Arkansas victories would set the stage for a showdown between the two next week end at Fayetteville.

Texas has an eight-game winning streak going against Baylor and the crowd is expected to be held to 30,000 or less because of the unchallenging position of either team at this stage of the race. Both teams have been disappointing after being touted highly as pre-season contenders.

A crowd of around 25,000 is due at Lubbock where Tech and Oklahoma State renew a rivalry that has produced some cliffhanging games, including three ties and last year's final minute 17-14 Tech triumph. Tech hopes were heightened by last week's 35-19 win over Rice.

Even with fullback Bob Apisa out of the lineup, Michigan State should handle Iowa with ease. Apisa has been suffering a knee injury, and the Spartans, with a 7-0 record, were forced indoors for practice this week due to inclement weather.

Football fans will be out in force tonight at Wheeler, White Deer, Canadian and Lefors when their teams take the field in conference action.

Wheeler (6-2) hosts McLean (7-1) in a game that should decide the 2-A championship. The Tigers are 3-0 and Wheeler 2-1 in district action.

The No. 1 and 2 top scorers in the area will meet head-on in this one. Fred Goad of Wheeler, who leads the area in scoring with 1-2 points and McLean's Raymond Baker, who has 78 total points.

At White Deer, coach Sherrill Bottoms says the Bucks, rated No. 3 in state Class A teams can just about wrap up the district 1-A title with a victory over Gruver.

White Deer is 7-0 for the season and 2-0 in district play while Gruver is 0-0-1 and is the only team in the district, besides the Bucks without a loss.

Iowa has had a tough year under new head Coach Ray Nagle, winning two of seven games. But the Hawkeyes have some big promising interior linemen, like 265-pound John Evenden, who might give the Spartans' tough line a battle.

But the odds-makers have picked the Spartans by a 28-point margin.

UCLA, the only West Coast team to remain in the top five, meets conference foe Washington, and the Bruins are a two-touchdown choice. Gary Beban's passing and Mel Farr's running are too much for the Huskies to handle.

A big battle in the South pits Alabama (6-0) against Louisiana State (3-3) in a Southeastern Conference match. Alabama has disposed of all its opponents with the most trouble coming from Tennessee before the Vols lost 11-10. The LSU Tigers have lost their last two games, and the Crimson Tide is a 19-point pick in the contest.

SMU and Arkansas victories would set the stage for a showdown between the two next week end at Fayetteville.

Texas has an eight-game winning streak going against Baylor and the crowd is expected to be held to 30,000 or less because of the unchallenging position of either team at this stage of the race. Both teams have been disappointing after being touted highly as pre-season contenders.

The No. 1 and 2 top scorers in the area will meet head-on in this one. Fred Goad of Wheeler, who leads the area in scoring with 1-2 points and McLean's Raymond Baker, who has 78 total points.

Shocks Rip Rebs, 20-0

By A STAFF WRITER Strange things happen to high school football players. Take Pampa's Shockers for instance. Thursday they decided they wanted to play football and did, upsetting Tascosa, 20-0, to break a three game losing streak.

The Shockers went into the game with a 1-6 record and Tascosa was 4-2-1 but ran into a stout Pampa defense that gobled up the Rebels single wing offense.

The Shockers had a pass intercepted on their first drive but recovered a Tascosa fumble on the next play.

The Shockers still could not drive and had to punt. Tascosa attempted to pass and it didn't work with Gary Parrish intercepting on the 40 and speeding into the end zone for the score. Hal Clabaugh booted the conversion to give Pampa a 7-0 lead with 53 seconds left in the first period. The two teams played defense in the second period with Pampa stopping Tascosa drives at the 18 and at the 14 as time ran out.

A Pampa drive in the second quarter was stopped at the Rebel nine by a fumble. The Shockers drove 26 yards in the third period in five plays with Parrish spinning 40 yards EXPENSIVE YEARNING. HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Brad Hanover, a brother to world champion Bullet Hanover, was sold Thursday to Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N.J., for $100,000 at the standardbred horse sale. Dancer said he bought the yearling for the Lehigh Stable.

Hanover Farms sold 176 yearlings for $1.2 million, its largest sale ever, during the four-day sale.

on one run and going from the 10 for the touchdown. Clabaugh again kicked good for a 14-0 lead with 2:03 left in the third quarter.

HORSE REUNION. NEW YORK (UPI)—Kelson, the leading money-winning horse of all time, will return to Aqueduct Saturday along with three other famed thoroughbreds for "Old Timers Day."

HEAVYWEIGHT DRAWS. MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Biffy Daniels of Brooklyn, N.Y., fought to an eight-round draw against Italian heavyweight Piero Tomasoni Thursday night. Tomasoni, the official challenger for the European heavyweight crown, weighed 194 1/2 pounds and Daniels was 191.

Neither team threatened until 2:03 remained in the game and the Shockers drove 31 yards in 13 plays, all on the ground.

Clabaugh went in from the one with 47 seconds to play to make it 20-0.

The only other Shocker victory was over Lubbock, 26-24. They play Palo Duro in Harvester Field next Thursday in the last game of the season.

Scoring: P - Parrish, 40-yard pass interception. (Clabaugh, kick). P - Parrish, 10-yard run. (Clabaugh, kick). P - Clabaugh, 1-yard run. (Kick failed).

Mustangs Host Pampa

By RON CROSS Sports Editor LUBBOCK — Coronado, Lubbock's newest high school hosts Pampa, beginning at 7:30 tonight in the first meeting ever between the two schools.

In this non-conference game between the two 3-4A schools the Harvesters will be shooting for their second straight victory and a chance to go above the 500 mark for the first time in three games.

Last week the Harvesters clipped Caprock, 30-18 to reach the 4-4 level and break a three game losing streak.

At the same time Coronado was being victim of a last minute fumble and 14-13 victim to cross-town Lubbock high in a south zone game.

The Mustangs are 2-5-1 for the season but have showed a lot of potential and a strong defensive ball club.

Coronado is averaging giving up 14.1 points per game while scoring just 9.2 points per contest.

Pampa has had a fine rushing attack but defensively have given up 138 points, an average of 17.3 points a game while scoring 116—an average of 14.4 per contest.

Backfield-wise Pampa has been led by halfbacks Gary McCarrell and L. D. Rowden and fullback Ted Heiskell.

Heiskell has gained 582 yards this year while McCarrell has 448 and Rowden 367. Last week Rowden tallied three times, one a 76-yard punt return while McCarrell scored on a 90-yard kickoff return.

The Mustangs are second in total offense in the south zone and trail only Tascosa in that department.

Their fullback, Jim Reese, a 170-pound sophomore is fourth in rushing with 122 yards on 16 carries while Toni Handley, a 160 pound junior wingback has 99 yards in 19 carries.

Ron Chaney, the Mustang's star halfback has been injured, but saw limited action last week and will be in full swing tonight.

Despite his injury Chaney leads his team in pass receiving and the Mustangs have a fine passer in quarterback Gary Kirksey, a 170-pound junior.

Kirksey has hit 15 of 44 for 219 yards and one touchdown. The Harvesters concentrated mainly on their defense this week and plan to blitz on the Mustangs in an attempt to stop their passing attack.

Pampa Junior Highs Fall In Four Thursday Games

Pampa's eighth and ninth grade football teams found the going a bit rough Thursday and lost four games.

Lee and Pampa Junior High seventh grade teams played this afternoon at Harvester Field.

Lee and PJH eighth play Wednesday at 4 p.m. on Harvester field and the ninth grade teams of the two schools meet at 4 p.m. Thursday at the high school field.

This will end the season for the ninth, eighth and seventh grade teams for 1966.

In ninth grade conference play Perryton has the title wrapped up with a 4-0 mark, followed by Borger Austin, 3-1; Lee and Dumas, 2-2; Borger Houston, 1-3 and PJH, 0-4.

Thursday Lee saw its record dip to 3-4 when Perryton built up a 26-0 halftime lead then held on for a 32-0 victory.

The loss snapped a two-game Lee winning streak. Mike Heiskell ran 42 yards for a Lee touchdown but had it called back on a clipping penalty. Twice Lee drove to the five yard line only to lose the ball. Lee eighth lost their sixth game in seven starts and had a one-game losing streak snapped, 28-8 by Perryton.

Barry Kinherman passed for Lee's lone touchdown on a 45 yard toss to Mike Pool. Pool also ran the conversion.

Perryton led only 14-0 at halftime and Lee had made it 14-8 with the touchdown but Perryton broke loose for two fourth period scores.

Lee threatened twice more, dropping passes in the end zone and one on the five-yard line.

Pampa Junior High ninth lost their fourth in a row, 28-3 to Borger Austin on a couple of long runs by Jim Wilkerson and another long dash by Bud Ordan.

Wilkerson staked Austin to a 7-0 first period lead with an 85-yard kickoff return, then ran a punt back 56-yards in the second quarter for a 13-0 halftime lead.

In the third period the Reapers blocked a punt and Larry Katara carried in for the touchdown and ran the conversion to make it 13-8.

But Ordan followed up the Pampa score by running the kickoff back 80-yards and a 20-8 third period lead.

Ordan ended the scoring with a nine-yard run in the fourth period.

Rookie Leads Mexican Open

MONTERREY, Mexico (UPI)—Dave Eichelberger, a 21-year-old unheralded rookie from Waco, Tex., held a one-stroke lead going into today's second round of the $8,000 Mexican Open Golf tourney because he was cooler under fire than some veteran pros.

Eichelberger carded a four-under-par 33-35-68, dropping three under par on the front nine with an eagle and two birdies. He turned pro only six months ago, and is competing in only his fourth professional tourney.

Dudley Wysong, of McKinney, Tex., was four under par after the 13th hole, but bogied the 14th and the 17th to wind up in a three-way tie for fourth place at 34-36-70.

Larry Zeigler of St. Louis tied for second with John Cook of Dallas at 69.

There are 142 entrants in the four-day tourney, including 87 pros from the United States. Organizers were fearful at first that a strike grounding Mexicans de Aviacion—the only airline that serves Monterrey—would keep many entrants from showing up. But the pros drove down from the Texas border, only 180 miles away, in private and rented cars, and officials had to turn away eight last-minute entries for lack of space.

PITY POOR DAVE

Panthers Face Notre Dame

By United Press International Pity poor Dave Hart. Just about the time he completes the foundation of his football powerhouse, he has to meet Notre Dame.

To his Pittsburgh squad there is not a fate that could be worse. The Panthers could beat undefeated and No. 1 rated Notre Dame, but it is highly improbable, as the Irish again draw the collegiate football spotlight.

In other games, No. 2 Michigan State hosts Iowa, third-ranked UCLA plays Washington, four-ranked Alabama meets LSU, and No. 5 Georgia Tech plays Virginia, sixth-ranked Nebraska tangles with Kansas, No. 7 Florida hosts Georgia, No. 8 Arkansas duels Rice, ninth-ranked Southern California meets California and 10th rated Tennessee plays Mississippi.

Rebuilding Squad. In his first year at Pitt, Hart is faced with a rebuilding program, after graduation hit the Panthers right in the interior line and quarterback spots.

And for Notre dame, that is exactly two of the places they are the strongest. The Irish boast Terry Hanratty, the soph passing star, and a flock of rugged offensive and defensive linemen that would make any college coach drool, with envy.

Halfback Nick Eddy and end Jim Seymour have been pronounced fit to play against Pitt, after recovering from earlier injuries, and they will add strength to an already powerful squad. The Irish have the horses and muscle to repeat last year's 69-13 win over Pitt, and will probably do so.

The Bucks defense is still unscored on and White Deer has had only two touchdowns scored against them, both on pass interceptions.

Canadian will try to break a three-game losing streak when they host Stratford in a 1-A contest.

The Wildcats tied Gruver, 0-0, last week and now stand 4-3-1 for the season and 0-1-1 in league play.

Lefors will shoot for their fourth in a row and second straight 5-B victory when they host Booker.

Viet Nam is Integrated, Leesville Isn't

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LEESVILLE, La. (NEA) — This small logging community, snuggled on the fringe of the Fort Polk Army installation, is a temporary home town for some 1,600 soldiers a month who train to wage the war in South-east Asia.

There is a municipal golf course here, a skating rink, a lovely lake nearby, public gardens, three movie theaters and a 29,000 volume library.

A pleasant enough place for servicemen, really.

Except Negro servicemen. Leesville is segregated.

Color is color here, unformed or not. Some eateries will not serve the black man and some theaters will not welcome his ticket. Some barkeeps ignore his orders and some shopkeepers are not interested in his money. He feels uncomfortable swimming at the lake, drinking at the public fountains and walking in the nicer parts of town.

It hurts, of course. Especially now. Especially training for Viet Nam.

"I don't mind going to war," one Negro recruit explains. "But I do dislike going there by way of Leesville, Louisiana."

This feeling is widespread throughout Fort Polk's colored population. Those who have come here from other southern cities are generally used to it but expect something better so near a government compound. And those who have come here from the North are, in the words of one, "simply shocked."

Says he: "I've never been treated like this before."

"Where are you from?" he is asked.

"New Jersey, originally."

"And you never experienced this before?"

"Oh, sure, but nothing so open."

"How do you mean?"

"Nigger, for instance, is proper pronunciation in this place."

"And?"

"And they act like you're leaving germs in your foot-prints."

So embittered are some Negroes, in fact, that they simply refuse to stray from the post. Those who do go tend to stick together, avoid the popular spots and settle for recreation provided by the area's Negro community.

Thus grouped, these soldiers also remain in cliques back in the barracks instead of mixing with the same whites they will live and die with in the war.

"I've no Caucasian friends here at all," one of them says flatly.

And why?

"Because if I can't have a sandwich with a white fellow downtown at a cafe, I don't care to have one with him in camp at the post exchange."

Leesville, of course, is not the only segregated military town in the South. Several others are even more so. But what makes the situation especially pregnant here is that Fort Polk trains soldiers for 12 months of war. Designated Negroes know during nine weeks of classwork that they will ship out to fight when school is over.

"So," says a student, "this is hardly a warm sendoff."

"I hate to think," adds another,

"that this may be the last American town I ever see."

But, though the social predicament is unfortunate, it is by no means unique for colored G.I.s. It has been the same in many military hamlets since American fighting forces were established late in the 1700s.

And perhaps this is the biggest rub of all.

Because the young Negro trooper no longer expects it. He is tutored on enlightenment and law. And, with another chapter being added to 200 years of black-white participation in it, he is stunned that it has had so little effect on racial progress.

As one youngster puts it: "If I can fight for this town's freedom, why can't it do the same for mine?"

THIS NEGRO SOLDIER training at Fort Polk, La., may not be happy about going to Viet Nam, but he is certainly not happy about going to nearby Leesville. It's segregated.

By United Press International
PANMUNJOM, Korea — Maj. Gen. George B. Pickett Jr., reporting on the ambush of American troops by North Korean Communists:

"The casualties were the greatest loss to American military by attack from Communist North Korea since the Korean armistice."

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, commenting on the death of the six Americans in Korea:

"Six of them died... from Communist gunfire on an almost forgotten front of the 38th Parallel in Korea. They died because there are men who believe in force and will not let others live in peace."

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, commenting on his Far East trip:

"I return more confident and hopeful than I left."

Sweeping Security Check Spurred by Scotland Yard

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard Thursday spurred one of Britain's most sweeping national security checks since World War II. They sought a possible link between an alleged U.S. Air Force spy and a French-British businessman accused of the Secrets Acts violations.

Still smarting from the daring London prison escape puled 12 days ago by Soviet master-spy George Blake, Scotland Yard arrested a self-described former French resistance fighter Wednesday in the English Channel coast city of Southern. Cecil William (Bill) Mulvena, a 47-year-old businessman considered one of Southern's leading citizens, was apprehended upon returning from a Spanish vacation. The charges against him included obtaining a British passport that could have aided an enemy power.

Neither Scotland Yard nor the FBI officially indicated any connection between Mulvena and Blake's escape, or between Mulvena and U.S. Air Force Sgt. Herbert W. Boeckenhaupt, arrested Monday in Los Angeles and accused of spying for the Soviet Union.

Campus Suicides Are on the Rise

By PHILIP R. WERDELL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — As the country edges toward universal higher education, one need be no visionary to observe that an alarming number of students are giving out, dropping out or copping out.

Council on Education. Almost 60 per cent of this year's freshman class will drop out or be dropped while attempting to earn a degree, according to projections of U. S. Office of Education figures. Some of these young people will return to college later but many that do not are among the brightest students. They will fail, not because of lack of intellectual talent, but for financial and emotional reasons.

Second, college demands an amount of independence not required in any previous home or school situation. Sudden freedom and often drastically new ideas and people can quickly bring latent problems to the surface.

Last, and most important, young adults are more likely to solve their problems during their undergraduate years if they are provided professional help at that time.

the moderator campus report less favorable environments of the United States. Dropouts continue to be high, including a large number of talented young people. Among those students who stay in college, at least 10 per cent do so under extreme emotional stress. There will be 1,000 students who take their lives this year, 9,000 others who make an attempt and 90,000 more who will threaten suicide, according to projections of statistics by Dr. Edwin S. Shneidman, director of the National Suicide Prevention Center.

There is some evidence that the frequency of student suicide has gone up significantly in the past 15 years, states Dr. Edward Joseph Shoben, director of the Academic Affairs Commission of the American Psychological Association. Psychologists find that three factors combine to make student emotional problems unique. First, entrance into college occurs during late adolescence — the most traumatic period of man's development.

There has been some evidence that the frequency of student suicide has gone up significantly in the past 15 years, states Dr. Edward Joseph Shoben, director of the Academic Affairs Commission of the American Psychological Association.

Dr. Dana Farnsworth, director of the Harvard University Mental Health Clinic and a leading expert on student mental health, estimates that for every 10,000 students, 1,000 students will have emotional conflicts serious enough to jeopardize their happiness and effectiveness in college and throughout their lives if not properly treated.

But most professionals are far from satisfied. "Colleges traditionally consider themselves responsible for the intellectual training and stimulus of students, and some may give at least lip service to the development of student values," says Dr. Willard Darylmpie, Princeton health services director.

"Up to the present, however, there has been virtually no attention paid to the development of creativity, the development of mature handling of personal relations, and psychological maturation in general."

Michelangelo accepted no pay for his supervision of the construction of St. Peter's Church in Rome.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

ARE TEEN-AGERS TAKING OVER IN SPORTS? Already leading as participants, teen guys and gals are moving toward taking over as top scorers, reaping more medals, shining in the spotlight of more national and international events. For some time they've ranked higher every year in the sports that call for all-out energy or a nerve for risk-taking — skiing, skating, swimming, some of the track and field dashes. But this year they've been breaking into the cham-least by 13. . . by the time they are high school seniors more than half slick it on daily. . . while practically all college girls do. The gals — reports the lip-brightening industry — are a chief reason for the doubled lipstick sales over the past five years.

SPACE PROGRAM DIVIDEND TO WRAP AROUND YOU: Naturally we're getting prestige dividends from all the billions the United States is spending on space programs. But an unexpected dividend, say the scientists, will be the new consumer products that will spring from their technical discoveries that are enabling astronauts to zoom around in eerie, frigid space. One has just popped out to the market, especially suited to young adults, and in time for the winter sports season. . . . It is a radically new blanket that puts a down-to-earth twist on that outer-space superinsulation needed for sub-zero temperatures. Called the Space Stadium Blanket, it's a strange, crispy-thin, tissue-light, aluminumized material. . . . weighing only eight ounces. . . . that reflects back body heat. Costs $7.95 and folds into your coat pocket for sudden freezes at chill-weather outdoor activities.

YOU'RE BANKING YOURSELF UP BY THE MILLIONS: This year's National Safety

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE WINNERS OF THE 1966 NATIONAL SAFETY CONGRESS (Oct. 24-27) in Chicago, will discuss teens avidly at its special Youth Congress. Why? . . . Because young adults surpass all other age groups in frequency of accidents. Here's a startling fact: More accidental deaths occur between the ages of 15 to 18 than at any similar age span. Among those 13 to 18, death will strike more than 12,000 times by the end of this year (four times as often among boys as girls). . . . and over a million will suffer disabling injuries. The reason is simple — inexperience. Teen-agers have to work into new life situations and need to learn to handle them. This is why teen-agers are involved in twice as many motor accidents as the average driver; next most perilous come swimming and the misuse of firearms. But danger lurks, too, at school — during physical education hours, in classrooms, labs and shops, and while playing unorganized games. The worst home cause is fires, with attendant burns (mostly girls). . . . next, food poisoning and atmosphere poisoning (mostly boys).

PREDICTION: In the jockey year for the '68 Olympics, watch for more teen-agers than ever spurting to a U. S. team spot. . . . and don't be surprised if a youth infusion spurs our girls on, this time, to upset those hefty Russians.

GIRLS ARE SLICKING ON THAT LIPSTICK SOONER: You men may not always be aware of this, because you can not see it (the white stuff), but you can be sure now that gals are flocking to lipstick at earlier ages than ever. A cosmetic study shows that girls now start dabbing lipstick on at NEWCOMER in the Navy's gunboat fleet is the USS Asheville, the first of 17 of the new class ordered by the Navy. The fastest craft of its size in service today, the 240-ton, aluminum-hulled ship is powered by a unique diesel-gas turbine system. It is armed with radar-controlled guns.

Live Bomb Defused After 25 Years of Quiet Rest

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russian citizen P. Savchenko learned to stop worrying and live with the bomb 25 years ago. The bomb was a 1.5 ton German blockbuster that fell on his house in Taraspol, Moldavia in the autumn of 1941, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported Thursday.

suddenly remembered the bomb. "Stop this work," he cried. "There's a bomb down there." Izvestia said explosives experts uncovered and defused the bomb, which had been "live" all the time.

The bomb crashed through the house and buried itself almost 50 feet in the ground. Savchenko decided it was a dud, filled in the hole, repaired his house and forgot about it. Recently he was moved from the house so it could be demolished to make way for a hotel.

TIPSY SANTAS MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—A consumer agency here said it will investigate complaints that some department store Santa Claus' have been drunk on the job, appeared sloppily and made too many lavish promises to children.

Savchenko passed the site one day, saw workmen excavating the hotel foundations and

UNINVITED GUEST

LONDON (UPI)—James (Ordinary Citizen) Donnelly burst into the midst of a reception given by Prime Minister Harold Wilson for 60 female members of the Labor Party. "I've never been to No. 10 Downing Street," he said. "I thought I'd pop in to see Mr. Wilson."

Parents Locate Lost Daughter

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A 12-year-old girl who wandered away from home five years ago was back with her family Thursday. She was found at an orphanage after relatives spotted her in a newspaper photograph of some orphans. Police found her wandering on the street in 1961 and had turned her over to social workers for care until she was reclaimed.
