

War on Food Prices Spreads as Texas Housewives 'Ladycott'

By United Press International
The seeds of rebellion against food prices, sown by a group of housewives in Denver, spread throughout Texas today with groups banding together from El Paso to Houston to "stamp out high prices."

In Dallas, Mrs. M. J. Ratliff formed a "ladycott." In Arlington, the ladies passed around a petition against spiraling prices. Women passed out leaflets deploring prices in Houston. And in El Paso more than 1,000 housewives signed pledges to work for lower food prices.

Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., speaking in Houston, said he was glad to see the ladies organizing, but said he did not think they were attacking the cause of inflation. He said inflation was caused by excessive government spending, and that the various grocery store boycotts were attacking only a symptom of inflation.

But the high price protests went on.

In Dallas, Mrs. Ratliff said she had volunteers painting signs saying "we want lower prices" and "stamp out high prices."

She blamed gimmicks and trading stamps on the high food prices.

Managers in El Paso said they were not collecting large profits, perhaps averaging only 1.7 per cent profit on their goods. And one store manager in Dallas said he was amazed women in his city would want to boycott a grocery store.

"Dallas is lower on prices than almost any city around the nation," said Nat Gibbs, general manager of Affiliated Food Stores. He said bread sells for 40 cents a loaf in many places, but that it goes for from 29 to 31 cents a loaf in Dallas.

The Houston protest was mixed in with anti-Communist feelings. Mrs. Marie Mitchell drew up a petition in which she asked not only for housewives to fight rising food prices, but to also boycott merchandise imported from Communist countries.

The protest even spilled over into Louisiana, where Mrs. M.

W. Sims of Baton Rouge said housewives in her cities were ready for a boycott.

"Our boycott will come only if the managers will not stop their games and promotions and hopefully, the trading stamps," she said. She set a week from today for their boycott unless there is some easing of the problem.

Bombers Devastate Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force B52 stratofortresses struck a Communist jungle base just south of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) the second day today and a spokesman disclosed the big bombers had hit the zone itself 17 times with devastating results.

No significant ground action was reported today but a South Vietnamese force flown into action in U.S. helicopters teamed up with American and Vietnamese planes Wednesday to kill 238 Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta. The battle was believed still raging but there were no new details.

A military spokesman reported American forces lost 74 soldiers killed and 432 wounded last week, a drop from the 91 killed and 604 wounded the week before. Enemy killed dropped from 1,531 to 993 but the number of captured rose to an all time high of 748.

The spokesman said the heavy B52s hit an enemy storage area 12 miles southwest of the U.S. Marine base at Dong Ha.

Police Breakup Racial Violence

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Police shotgun patrols today clamped a lid on a tense Negro neighborhood where teen-agers smashed windows, hurled fire bombs and assaulted passerby for the second consecutive night.

In a back-stop measure, Gov. Edmund G. Brown kept officials of the riot-experienced National Guard and California Highway Patrol advised of developments.

City officials, meanwhile, planned to re-open Castlemont High School where gangs of youths Wednesday beat up five teachers and threw bricks through windows. A police spokesman said officers would be stationed in the halls and recreation areas.

When violence broke out anew Wednesday night, police barricaded a 24-block stretch and ordered a 10 p.m. curfew. A wedge of 60 shotgun-carrying patrolmen moved down the business street, breaking up groups of milling Negroes.

Police said 27 persons were arrested on charges of arson, carrying concealed weapons, possession of molotov cocktails and disturbing the peace.

City officials said hundreds of windows were smashed and a large number of incendiary fires set.

Negro Voter Registration Nearly Double

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Negro voter registrations in five deep South states almost doubled in the year after passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1965, it was authoritatively reported today.

Total Negro registrations were estimated at 687,000 in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina when the bill was enacted in August, 1965.

The total in the state was 1,147,236 on Sept. 1, 1966.

The law prohibited use of literacy tests in measuring voter qualifications and federal supervision in areas where there was evidence of discrimination against Negroes.

In percentage terms, the biggest gains in registrations were in Mississippi where the number of Negroes registered increased fivefold.

Increased registrations of about the same number as tallied in Mississippi more than doubled Negro registrations in Alabama.

The Sept. 1 Negro registration figures for the five states (with August, 1965 estimates in parentheses):

- Alabama, 249,534 (113,000);
- Georgia, 290,965 (233,000);
- Louisiana, 242,391 (163,000);
- Mississippi, 173,836 (35,000);
- South Carolina, 190,610 (14,000).

In the primaries in these states, the increased Negro vote appeared decisive only in scattered local races.

On Wednesday the stratofortresses hit Communist base camps, assembly areas and bivouacs 18 miles west of Dong Ha.

Anderson made numerous recommendations, but gave priority to the need of a new junior high school and 10 to 12 new classrooms at Travis Elementary and Stephen F. Austin Elementary schools.

In addition, he recommended complete revision of all the old sections of each elementary school; a material center; music room for each elementary school; high school library and cafeteria; area vocational school; and a new fieldhouse for visiting football teams; a central office for the administrative staff and a central warehouse storage for textbooks and supplies.

He based his survey on a five-year building plan with a new junior high proposed in the first part of the program.

Johnson Gets Cheers, Jeers At Setdown in Australia

Board Narrows Architect Pick Down to Three

The selection of an architect for Pampa school's building program has been narrowed to a field of three, Dr. John D. Damon, school superintendent, said following a breakfast meeting of the school trustees today in the Coronado Inn.

The three architectural firms selected for further consideration are Brasher, Goyette and Rapier of Lubbock; Atcheson, Atkinson and Cartwright of Lubbock and Rittenberry and Rittenberry and Associates of Amarillo.

Before final selection, the board plans inspections of school buildings designed by the firms under consideration.

Damon said the board of trustees, in anticipation of the many facets involved in the building program, plans to schedule an additional monthly meeting in addition to the second Thursday of each month. This meeting date has been set tentatively as the fourth Thursday of each month. The first one is scheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27.

J. A. Anderson of Austin, assistant director of Division of Administrative Services of the Texas Education Agency, gave an oral report to the board this morning and will present a written report in 10 days relative to building needs in the Pampa school system.

Ky Keeps Cabinet Dissidents On Ice

SAIGON (UPI)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today he would let one of his dissident cabinet ministers run the country while he is in Manila attending next week's Asian conference.

But while he was soothing the seven ministers who resigned Wednesday, a politically powerful student group threatened new trouble with a charge he is solely responsible for the nation's political crisis.

Ky told newsmen he would turn over the reins of office to Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien, the minister of social welfare who resigned Wednesday.

His announcement confirmed reports he had managed to put the cabinet crisis on ice until at least after the Manila meeting with President Johnson and Asian leaders. Two of the seven ministers withdrew their resignations and the other five promised to hold theirs up.

Vien was one of the two who decided to remain in the government. The other was economic minister Au Truong Thanh who will be Ky's principal economic adviser at Manila.

Ky said he would fly to Manila Sunday with Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and another deputy premier, Gen. Nguyen Huu Co. The other members of the Vietnamese delegation planned to leave Friday on a commercial flight.

Placards Denounce Viet Nam Conflict

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI)—President Johnson arrived in Australia to a bitersweet welcome today with thousands cheering and singing greetings but with such a noisy anti-U.S. crowd outside his hotel he had to slip in a back door.

The President flew in over a brilliant rainbow from New Zealand where he appealed to North Viet Nam to stop shooting and join a peaceful "war for human dignity."

Placards denouncing U.S. policy in Viet Nam and chants of "LBJ go home" greeted him at the airport, though the cheers outweighed the catcalls.

At the end of a triumphant 11-mile motorcade into the city, the President arrived at the Rex Hotel where an estimated 2,000 demonstrators, many of them bearded youths and girls wearing T-shirts, blockaded the main entrance and screamed hatred.

Johnson was ushered in by a rear entrance. Word spread through the crowd virtually blockading the floodlit main entrance and enraged the demonstrators.

They tried to storm the entrance, but police and security agents hurled them back.

Some 2,000 demonstrators had gathered outside the hotel while Johnson was driving through the city along a tree-lined boulevard jammed with 30,000 cheering people.

But thousands cheered the President and his wife on their arrival from New Zealand in (See JOHNSON, Page 3)

Drastic Changes Recommended For Local Government

(Special to the News)
NEW YORK, N.Y.—To combat the rising cost of local government, in Gray County and in other communities, the Committee for Economic Development recommends some drastic changes.

It proposes nine major reforms in the interest of economy and efficiency, including a reduction in the number of local governmental agencies throughout the country from the present total of 80,000 to not more than 16,000.

If such a meat-axe cut were to be made in Gray County, it would mean the elimination or consolidation of 80 percent of these bodies.

The number in the local area, under such a plan, would be reduced by 10.

The latest Census of Governments shows, however, that the number of operating units in the local area is small in comparison with the number found in most communities.

In terms of population, there is the equivalent locally of 3.4 such agencies for every 10,000 people.

Elsewhere in the United States, the average is 4.7 for every 10,000 and, in the West and South Central States, 3.8.

In Gray County, as shown in the most recent official tabulation, there are 12 units of government in operation. They comprise the county government itself, municipal government, 3 township governments, none, school districts, 6, and (See CHANGES, Page 3)

AT LAKE MEREDITH

Udall To Come For Dedication

U. S. Secretary of Interior Stewart I. Udall will come to the Texas Panhandle Nov. 1 for the dedication of Sanford Dam and Lake Meredith.

Word that Secretary Udall will deliver the dedicatory address was confirmed today in Washington.

The dedication ceremonies will mark the official completion of Sanford Dam and designate Lake Meredith behind the dam as ready for service.

Others expected at the dedication include Gov. John Connally, U. S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock and Floyd E. Dornay, commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

The Nov. 1 dedication also will have its political connotations.

Gov. Connally is scheduled to join with Democratic candidates for office at an Amarillo rally that night in what the Democratic publicity men are labeling "The Demo Blockbuster." A barbecue and the rally is slated for 7 p.m. on the Tri-State Fairgrounds.

The ceremony will be held at Visitors' Vista at 3 p.m. The dam is across the Canadian River, 12 miles west of Borger and the reservoir will supply water to 11 Northwest Texas municipalities, including Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

Water at the dam now is 72 feet deep. When it reaches spillway level it will be 120-125 feet. Water is now backed up 10-12 miles and the lake is more than a mile wide at some points.

Nobel Prize Is Awarded Jointly

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Samuel Joseph Agnon and Nelly Sachs, whose works portray the epic struggles of the Jewish people, were jointly awarded the 1966 Nobel Prize for literature today. The two authors have never met.

Word of the awards leaked out well in advance of the official announcement at noon by the Royal Swedish Academy of Letters.

Agnon, 78, who lives modestly in a suburb of Jerusalem, is considered Israel's foremost author. The Israeli government learned of the award two days ago and congratulated him.

Miss Sachs, 75, who has lived in Sweden since fleeing her native Germany in 1940, has for many years been a strong candidate for the prize.

The authors will share the $60,000 honorarium that accompanies the world's most distinguished literary award.

It was believed the academy's decision to honor two Jewish authors, one living in Israel and one representing millions of Jews elsewhere, would be well received in literary circles.

As last year, when the prize went to Soviet novelist Mikhail Sholokhov, some criticism was expected for the academy's practice of naming prize winners "years too late."

Both Agnon and Miss Sachs are still active, but like Sholokhov, the works that won them the honor have been in print for years.

Local Disputes Plaguing GE

By United Press International
Disputes over local issues today plagued 10 diversified plants of General Electric Corp. as 21,000 workers stayed off the job.

Officials threatened to use the Taft-Hartley Act to get them back.

Workers at other plants drifted back to work after settlements were reached and ratified, including 6,300 at the Evendale, Ohio, jet engine plant.

A district court judge granted a government requested injunction ordering the workers back to work because of its possible effect on the Viet Nam war. The plant turns out Phantom jet fighter engines. Involved there were members of the United Auto Workers and International Association of Machinists.

Government officials said similar injunctions may be sought in some of the other disputes if it feels the walkouts imperil national defense work.

At Utica, N.Y., where a GE plant makes light military electronic equipment, 7,000 IAM workers voted by a 3-1 margin to end a strike. Picket lines were withdrawn immediately and employees ordered back to work.

Another 3,500 electrical workers returned to the job at Pittsfield, Mass., after 400 striking draftsmen withdrew portions of their picket lines to let the electrical workers through. The walkout by the draftsmen continued.

At Schenectady, N.Y., where GE's home offices are located, 12,000 workers carried their strike at the turbine plant into the fourth day as negotiations continued on a dispute concerning job evaluation and systemizing of work.

Scientists Trace Disease to Smoking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Scientists today reported finding physical evidence linking cigarette smoking with heart disease.

The tangible signs were found in the heart arteries of 645 men. The arteries containing narrow and blood circulation is impaired. The eventual result may be a heart attack or "stroke."

Strong and his associates took the arteries from the hearts at the autopsy table. They were graded by the amounts of fatty deposits and surviving relatives were interviewed to find out if the men had been light or heavy cigarette smokers or non-smokers.

Pampans Advised to Enjoy Fall While It's Still Here

"Gather ye rosebuds while ye may" is an archaic philosophy applicable to the autumn weather in store for Pampa to-

Temperatures set low records for Oct. 20 in Texas today but it started warming up in the western part of the state.

Frost was reported as far south as San Antonio. In fact, the section west of San Antonio and Austin was the chilliest in the state. Junction had a 3-below-freezing 29.

If there was a cloud in the Texas sky early in the day, weather observers could not find it. While Junction reported day and tomorrow, according to the Amarillo weather bureau.

It would have been a good idea for lightweight Pampans to have had an anchor around an ankle when venturing out today. Wind gusts were from 20 to 30 m.p.h.

It will be generally fair tonight and Friday, turning cooler Friday evening.

High Wednesday was 65 while the overnight low was 37.

LIONS CAGED
 LE HAVRE, France (UPI) — Five lions which escaped from a circus and ran wild in woods for eight hours near here earlier this week reappeared in public Thursday—in a cage.

Biological warfare has been used since time immemorial. In ancient times the bodies of cholera and plague victims were dropped over the walls of beleaguered cities and wells were often poisoned. Napoleon flooded the ground near a besieged city, hoping malaria would result. In the United States blankets were often contaminated by traders and distributed among Indians to reduce their fighting through smallpox.

A test will be run early next week on a section of line that will carry water from Lake Meredith to Pampa, but final test is still about three to four months off, according to an official of the Bureau of Reclamation.

First water from the $83 million Canadian River Project, which will carry water to 11 Panhandle cities by early 1968, will run through Wednesday in pipelines from Lake Meredith to Plainview.

A Bureau of Reclamation official said, though, that only one section of the line, from Lake Meredith to Pampa, would be tested early.

Speed Cited For Accident

Pamela June Johnson, 725 Bradley Dr., was cited by city police for failure to control speed to avoid an accident following collision with a car driven by Donna Bullard Sweet, 1203 S. Dwight.

Tickets Going Fast for Annual Membership Fete

Dinner tickets for the annual Pampa Chamber of Commerce membership banquet are going fast, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager. "We are about 75 per cent sold out now," Wedgeworth said, "and we expect to be sold out by the weekend."

Fred Pool of Longview, executive vice president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker for the banquet to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 25, in Robert E. Lee Jr. High School.

Entertainment will be provided by The Modernaires, a Pampa High School ensemble, directed by Hugh Sanders.

New chamber officers and directors will be presented to the membership for the first time.

E. E. Shelhamer, newly installed president, will accept the gavel from Norman C. Henry, outgoing president.

Other officers to take over, as of the banquet, are Harold Barrett, vice president, and George B. Cree Jr., finance director.

Delegations from neighboring chamber of commerces in the Top o' Texas area have been extended invitations to attend. The tickets may be purchased for $2.50 each at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The public is invited.

The committee finds that "revolutionary adjustments" are called for in most local areas to keep costs from skyrocketing higher.

It points out that the direct expenditures of counties, municipalities, towns and districts have jumped from $20 billion a year, in 1952, to $60 billion at the present time.

The tax load, especially for property owners, who bear the bulk of it, is growing proportionately, it notes.

The committee's main proposals are for the elimination of overlapping layers of local government, for a centralization of responsibility and for a replacement of patronage jobholders with trained professionals.

Price Speaks at Borger Coffees

BORGER — "Another example of this administration's fear of world opinion" was cited Thursday by congressional candidate Bob Price.

"Congress is now considering a five billion dollar Food-for-Peace appropriation while countries presently sharing in this American generosity are breaking all the rules attached to this grant of vital foodstuffs," the 18th District candidate told Borger residents attending a series of coffeees there.

Price pointed out that there is reliable information indicating that Brazil is deliberately breaking a written agreement with the U.S. and selling Communist Cuba grain received through the Food-for-Peace Program.

"The State Department was fully aware of this violation yet did nothing. The department has even refused to give all United States senators a reason for ignoring these violations," the Pampa rancher - businessman added.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

BOSTON (UPI)—Elsa Miranda is the voice of a food trademark whose original one-minute radio commercial grew into a hit song.

Among the many performers who have sung or played the song are the King Sisters, the Five DeMarcos and Kay Bloch's orchestra. Comedian Fred Allen parodied it and pianist Alec Templeton converted it into an operatic sketch.

Miss Miranda once sang the "Chiquita Banana" song in a surprise appearance with the Boston Pops Symphony Orchestra here. She was back in Boston again to sing at a Newspaper Food Editors Conference meeting sponsored by the trademark owner, the United Fruit Co.

In an interview, the petite Puerto Rican, whose hobby is cooking, talked about the food of her native island.

"If I did a lot of Spanish cooking, I'd lose my job fast," said the singer, a size 10 and five feet two inches tall. "I can't understand why all Latin Americans aren't fat. They eat so much starch."

"I gained four pounds on my vacation with my family in Puerto Rico recently. One day my aunt served me spaghetti, rice, and beans and plantains, all at one meal."

Miss Miranda, who was born at Ponce, on the island's south shore, explained that plantains are nonsweet cooking bananas used in many Latin American dishes.

"I've cooked since I was about 12 years old, when my father let the maid go and taught me" she added. For 10 years after her marriage in 1964, she lived in Buenos Aires and played singing engagements in Central and South America with her husband, also a vocalist. They have since been divorced.

"I couldn't get plantains in Buenos Aires so I used to slice firm bananas into bacon and eggs for breakfast," she said. "As a child, I sliced firm bananas into vegetable soup. A Dominican girl taught me that."

Since then, she said she's learned to cook typical Puerto Rican dishes such as carne guisada con funche, carne mecada and rum flan. The first is beef stew with corn meal mush, the second, boneless pot roast stuffed with potatoes, peas, hard-cooked eggs and spices, and the third, rum custard cooked in a double boiler.

For company, she sometimes prepares roast leg of pork with garlic pepper, salt, oregano and culantro (an herb also known as Chinese parsley), which she serves with peeled, baked plantains and-or sweet potatoes.

When she isn't weight-watching, she sometimes makes cassava cakes — "they're thin bread, like a matzoh or a tortilla. We eat them for breakfast."

A Miranda Favorite

Carne guisada con funche is a favorite dish of Elsa Miranda's.

Mix 2 cloves of garlic, finely chopped, with 1 teaspoon of salt, a dash each of oregano, pepper and parsley, 1 bay leaf and 1 tablespoon of vinegar. Coat 1 1/2 pounds of boneless beef, cubed with seasonings and

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the Soviet Union blames the United States for most of the world's ills, it seems entirely probable that its leaders, within their own lights, speak from conviction.

For example, it is possible that the quarrel with Red China might have simmered along for years without breaking into the open had it not been for the United States' adamant stand in South Viet Nam.

And if Soviet leaders wish to go further back into history, to the time when U.S. aid helped Yugoslavia's President Tito to survive his ouster from the cominform, they also can blame the United States for the increasingly independent attitude of East European Communist states.

New U.S. Attacks

When Communist leaders currently meeting in Moscow issue their final communique, the one certainty seems to be that it will contain a blistering castigation of the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

But there will be other matters which the communique will ignore or gloss over—

One of President Johnson's last major moves in the field of foreign affairs before taking off on his Asian tour, was his announcement the United States was lifting export restrictions on hundreds of non-strategic items and that the export-import bank would guarantee commercial credits to Poland, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia.

The President's announcement whetted appetites already there.

And it could force the Soviets into unwilling new concessions to former satellites.

NGPL Employees Are Honored at Service Banquet

Sixty employees and wives enjoyed a banquet last night in the Coronado Inn, at which the Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America honored those with five-year multiples of service.

Triple diamond lapel pins were presented for 35 years of service to Wesley W. Cook, field booster engineer, Fritch, and J. E. Wright, pipeline foreman, Wheeler.

Principal speaker was O. C. Davis, executive vice president of operations, who congratulated all awardees and discussed future plans. Since the occasion also marked the 35th anniversary of the establishing of the company itself, a 20-minute movie reviewed NGPL's history as the nation's first large-diameter, long distance, natural gas transmission company. Chicago is its major terminal and headquarters.

Receiving 15-year awards were F. E. Murdock of the Kingsmill measurement department and Harold E. Hemken of Booster Station 149, Miami. Ten-year awards went to Ramon R. Cowan, Delbert H. Priest, and George Wells, all of the Miami station.

Executives from the company's Chicago and Amarillo offices were in attendance after spending the day touring local facilities. Master of ceremonies was F. M. Dunn, superintendent of booster stations.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—William R. White of Hoornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes says two major reasons for the current rally can be found in the renewed demand for seasoned blue chips which have been dormant for a long while and a growing conviction that inflationary economic forces are likely to increase rather than diminish. The analyst feels that bullish technical factors also aided the advance.

Goodbody & Co. says the current rally seems valid from a technical and fundamental point of view but expects to see more backing and filling to form a base for a sufficient recovery movement. The company feels that caution should be exercised if the rally seems to go too far too fast.

When bison roamed the prairie, buffalo skins cost $12 to $25, today they probably would sell for $500.

Closed Sundays So Our Employees May Attend The Church of Their Choice

Walter Rogers Reports:

Representation Still Congress' Problem

The collective judgment of the Congress is more reflective of the national mood than any evaluation made by pundit, pollster or even President. The 435 Members of the House of Representatives and 100 Senators speak for the people in deciding issues. Whether or not we as individual American citizens agree with the majority verdict, we abide by it. We do so because we believe in the rule of law, that under the Constitution the people themselves are the true leaders of government, that the people's will is best expressed through a responsive, representative Congress.

Congress is frequently criticized because, in the view of some, it is too slow to act. There is nothing new about this kind of criticism; it has been heard throughout our history, through the administrations of both political parties. Critics seem to concentrate especially on the time Congress takes to dispose of legislative recommendations sent to Capitol Hill by the President, who, under the Constitution, is empowered to recommend to the Congress "such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." From time to time resolutions have been introduced in Congress to set deadlines for decisions on Presidential recommendations. In my view, it is well that all such proposals have been pigeon-holed. To assent to Presidential priorities in legislating would be to further intrude upon the independence and prerogatives of the legislative branch — the people's branch — and to threaten uncontrolled Executive domination of Congress.

When Congress is slow to act on legislation it is usually because there is no clear view as to how the people of the nation feel about the proposal. When opinion is divided, Congress does not act swiftly. When the people are obviously united behind a proposal, action by Congress quickly follows.

As we have seen in recent years and again in this Second Session of the 89th Congress, the extent and very serious nature of legislation before Congress is such as to require lengthy sessions. In the early days of the Republic, Congress could dispose of such matters as were placed before it in the winter and spring and then adjourn. But as the country has grown and the facets of problems facing it have become more complex — and as governmental power has shifted from the State legislatures to the national Congress — the responsibilities facing the House and Senate have become enormous. A lengthy study of congressional procedures has been made by a joint House-Senate committee and legislative recommendations may be forthcoming. However, I very much doubt that any substantial steps can be taken to "streamline" the consideration of bills. Further, I believe it would not necessarily be in the country's interest to promote speedy decision-making. Proposed laws must be examined carefully, with full deliberation as to their consequences. Congress should be judged by the wisdom of its actions, not by a stopwatch.

Thomas Jefferson once said, "I think it a duty in those entrusted with the administration of their affairs to conform themselves to the decided choice of their constituents." In other words, Members of Congress are to be REPRESENTATIVES of the people, not TRUSTEES acting in a know-best manner. It has been my observation that the great majority of Congressmen and Senators follow this precept.

When Robin Reynolds, 5, of Garland, Texas visited the State Fair of Texas in Dallas recently, she couldn't resist the generous impulse to stop and offer "Big Tex," 82-ft.-high Fair symbol, one of her Texas-size Kleenex tissues. "Poor man, it's so hot he might want to wipe his face or something," said Robin. Through trick perspective the photographer made it possible for 4-inch Robin to place the over-size tissue in the giant statue's outstretched hand.

KLIPPSTEIN FREED
MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI) — Veteran pitcher John Klippstein was given his unconditional release Tuesday by the Minnesota Twins,

Amarillo Bar Association To Host for Regional Convention

The Amarillo Bar Association in connection with the State Bar of Texas is hosting a regional convention to be held at the Holiday Inn West, Nov. 4 and 5.

The region is composed of a 56 county area which includes Gray County and surrounding counties.

The program includes a panel discussion on "Recent Significant Developments in Criminal Constitutional Law," with Federal District Judge Sarah T. Hughes, John D. Cofer of Austin, Texas, Judge John F. Union of San Antonio, Percy Foreman of Houston and Court of Civil Appeals Judge T. Gilbert Sharpe of Corpus Christi, as members of the panel. There will be discussion sections on "Probate, Real Estate and Trusts" and "Tort and Workmen's Compensation Law." The convention will end Saturday noon, November 5, with a judicial luncheon in honor of Federal District Judge Joseph B. Dooly. There will be special activities for the wives.

Some 400 lawyers from this area and other parts of the state are expected to attend. W. O. Schaffer of Odessa, Texas,

President of the State Bar of Texas, will be in attendance.

The two day session at the Holiday Inn West will be patterned after the statewide bar convention held annually in July in one of the state's four largest cities. The meeting has been designed to bring lawyers up to date on legal matters significant to their everyday practice.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bache & Co. says third quarter earnings have been better than expected and may stimulate some trader confidence. The analyst believes the next objective of the Dow Jones Industrial Average would be around the 815 area but suggests a sharp eye be kept on the consolidation phases of the advance.

that institutional buying seems to be present in some selected areas. The company feels the market may be in for some tax loss selling, some of which already might have taken place.

Marsh Will Speak To ACS in Borger

BORGER — The Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society will meet here Saturday at the Sands Restaurant.

A tour of the J. M. Huber Corporation electron microscope facilities will be conducted at 5:30 p.m. preceding the dinner and meeting. Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m., followed by meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Peter A. Marsh of J. M. Huber will speak on "Electron Microscopy and the Carbon Black Industry". Marsh graduated from St. John's University, Brooklyn, in 1953. He joined the research staff of Columbian Carbon Co. that year. He transferred to Columbian Carbon's Physics Laboratory in 1957. Since that time has been engaged in electron microscope studies on carbon black and black loaded rubber compounds. In June, 1965, he joined J. M. Huber Corp. to head the newly formed electron microscope laboratory.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society and the Electron Microscopy Society of America. He has published several papers concerning electron microscopy and recently delivered a paper on polymer blends at the National American Chemical Society meeting.

Saturday's meeting will be open to visitors, according to J. E. Early, publicity chairman.

US and Britain To Offer Russia Nuclear Ban Pact

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and Britain will offer Russia shortly a new pact to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

The western powers have been encouraged to push a new initiative by their recent talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in New York and Washington when the Russian termed the conclusion of a nuclear treaty "important and urgent."

A new draft treaty was expected to be worked out in coming months and, jointly presented by the United States and Britain.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

PARENTS, PILL SALES AND TEENS: The pill will have sold $100 million worth by the end of this year, should sell a $150 million worth in 1967. Overwhelmingly, young women are the users. How many teen girls use the birth control pills no one knows for sure, but medical researchers believe a surprisingly large number. . . . aside from the million teen girls who are now married. Dr. Joseph D. Teicher of the University of Southern California says that today many parents first caution teen daughters about men, then give them the pill. He worries about "the enormous sexual permissiveness teenagers are exposed to" and warns that "sexual license and permissiveness are not healthy. He reports that "teens often use sex as a weapon to get even with their parents. . . . hurt them." His counsel is: "Establishing a healthy sexual identity and healthy independence from parents are two of the major hurdles of adolescence" and concludes that "failure to establish these and to have a goal in life account for the bulk of teen-age mental problems."

PREDICTION: MEN WILL WEAR CLOTHES THIS YEAR and girls will snitch them. Trends that style makers are pushing now — the Army-Navy look, western and outdoor — and, of course, mod. Men, prepare for lots of epaulettes — on jackets and shirts, too. . . . Get set for wild, bright, swinging shirts—those sport dots, Paisleys, stripes, patterns. . . . with outdoor patch-type pockets and high-roll, long-point collars. The nuttiest sweater is the new shaggy-rug type — with bright horizontal stripes, each fringed, so you look real hairy. On the less wild side are the military jackets—work gear, on-patrol bush jacket, and that favorite, the sailor pea coat, double-breasted and brass-buttoned. If you prefer more subdued clothes, don't worry, there'll be plenty of conventionally styled clothes in stores, too.

YAKS AND YURTS HEED
ROCK 'N' ROLL: Mongolia, land of yaks (hairy cattle) and yurts (skin tents), wedged geographically and politically between China and Russia, recently turned up its red-tinted nose about U. S. offers to aid after disastrous floods. But the report now is that young Mongols are welcoming a new flood — of U. S. music favorites. Getting worn out by constant playing on Mongolia's few but much-used jukeboxes by eager teen-agers are tunes like Petula Clark's "Downtown" and others by the Beatles, Rolling Stones, Frank Sinatra and Elvis.

Open To All
STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Beta Chi fraternity, which pulled out of the national organization four years ago in a dispute over racial policies, has now eliminated discrimination in any form.

KISS DEPARTMENT: IS KISSING DANGEROUS? Luckily, no — at least, as far as laboratory tests indicate. In these, bacteriologists have determined that, although kissing can transfer bacteria, in 95 per cent of the cases they will be of a harmless kind. How was this fabulous fact found out? Strictly scientifically! Volunteers pressed their lips warmly against cold plates containing a goo that grows germs.

PITY THE STARVING TEEN GIRL! Boys are ahead of girls — in eating. No surprise, but U. S. Department of Agriculture findings are surprising, the way they show teen-age boys are doing better than girls in nutrition. Six out of every 10 girls now have poor diets. . . . only four-out of every 10 boys. For example, half of all girls (only 20 per cent of boys) get less than their daily needs in bone-building, teeth-building, blood-balancing calcium. Why? — Because of skipping meals (particularly breakfast), haphazard family meal planning and timing, un nourishing snacks, faddy dieting, and snatching hurried meals. Today's teen girl is "the poorest fed member of the family." The unfair thing is that 30 to 40 per cent of all girls (including many of the diet-poor) are overweight, too — twice as many as boys.

LSU Is In Ruckus Over Birth Pills

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana State University officials and the editor and reporters on the school's student newspaper had different opinions today on just how easy it was for unmarried coeds to get birth control pills from the school infirmary.

An article in the Daily Reveille by editor Larry Holden said Tuesday a woman reporter, Marian Carolyn Wilhoit, got a prescription just by signing a form and telling a doctor at the infirmary that she needed the pills.

The story said three women students got prescriptions from two different doctors at the infirmary merely by asking for them.

But Dr. Eula W. Palmer, director of student health services at LSU, said from September, 1965 to the present only 12 prescriptions for the pills had been filled at the LSU pharmacy.

James W. Reddock, dean of student services, said, "It has been for some time the University's policy that no prescriptions for so-called birth control pills be given to unmarried female students."

President John A. Hunter of LSU, and Chancellor Cecil G. Taylor were both out of town and unavailable for comment.

Those most willing to talk about the paper's findings were the students themselves and most of them were against any policy that provided easy access to birth control pills for unmarried women. There were some exceptions.

"I see no reason why the pill should not be accepted at LSU because it is narrow-minded and inhuman not to care for the need and there is a definite need for birth control here," said Miss Gail Miller, a honey-blond junior from Monroe.

Adults Hand Young Drivers Big Challenge

By BOB CHCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
NEW YORK (NEA) — The incredibly poor driving record of America's youth has brought the country to its knees.

But how long the nation will stay there is another matter. "They've got us begging them to be safety-conscious now," peal. All the safety promotion campaigns of the past 10 years have not cut the death, injury and accident rate among young drivers — or anybody else, for that matter.

The Safety Council official was talking about what other safety-minded people in the nation are asking — that heavy restrictions be put on young drivers.

Young drivers, meanwhile, appear to be ignoring the signs that their driving records put them in an ever-increasing danger of death and, at the same time, of having their driving privileges restricted.

Instead, they complain that insurance rates are too high and unfair.

"They say, 'Cops pick on us.' 'They're right,' said a Dayton, Ohio, safety patrolman. "If we didn't, there'd be a lot more dead boy friends and girl friends around."

Authorities say that the young really aren't bad drivers. They should, in fact, be the best because they are better equipped physically.

But those in the 16-25 age group have the worst driving record because 1) they drive too fast, 2) they take far too many chances, and 3) they are ignorant of both the laws and their equipment.

Too, the cars young people drive often are second-hand, which means double care is necessary to insure maximum safety.

To head off any crackdown on their driving privileges, the best long-run solution for the young driver seems to be driver training. Those who have had the training figure in some impressive statistics.

"Every statistic compiled on this subject shows that students who have completed behind-the-wheel driver education courses have considerably fewer accidents and commit fewer violations than those who have not had the training," says Chicago Motor Club President Gerald Cavanaugh.

According to San Jose (Calif.) High School driving instructor Perry Rodin, "Students seem to emerge from the course with more respect for the other driver and a greater realization of the need for defensive driving."

Still, only a small percentage of the nation's young drivers have had or are now taking driver education. And the threat of a crackdown, police harassment and soaring insurance rates are still there. It is a case of many running it for a few.

SPINOFFS: "Ford," the television commercials trumpet, "has a better idea." Then you see a few glimpses of some of Ford's great moments — the Model T and the old V-8. Next comes a shot of the Edsel grille with the comment, "Well, you can't ALWAYS have a better idea." Nice touch. . . . Got a question (or a tip) on cars, bikes, racing? said a National Safety Council official, "but if young people don't start driving better soon, they may be the ones begging."

For example, in states where a driver's license can be acquired at age 16, there are strong movements to raise the minimum age to 18.

Some areas want to make it illegal for the young to drive after 10 p.m. without a hard-to-get, special permit, or take away licenses for six months whenever a driver under 25 gets even one ticket for a moving vi-

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nothing is more admirable than a playwright who tires to come to grips with a contemporary issue. On the other hand, nothing is more worthy of rejection a play that relies on the intensity of audience feeling about such an issue as its chief crutch, attraction and claim to achievement. This is high-toned finagling.

Which brings us to Mr. David Karp's original one-hour drama, "The Confession," which appeared Wednesday night on the "ABC Stage 67" series, and which dealt with a police detective (Arthur Kennedy) who extracts a murder confession from a young man (Brandon de Wilde) who survives a suicide pact with his pregnant girlfriend.

Need Author's Intention
 What we have to do first about such a play is figure out precisely—or as precisely as possible—what the chief intention of the author was. We take it for granted that he hopes to create an exceptional hour of drama and theater. But more than that, it is clear from the start, and especially at the end—when a preaching is offered—that Mr. Karp is trying to make a comment on the very contemporary and very hot issue of confessions extracted under duress, for that is the situation in his play.

What we have to do next is ask whether the playwright treated his subject and his audience fairly—whether, having given himself a mandate as a logical thinker commenting on a wide and complex issue, he was able to lift himself to the reasonableness of exceptional intellect and universal compassion. Or whether he took the lower road of stacking his story, in effect copping out of a genuine statement that must come from a more typical central character and relying mostly on audience feeling toward the issue.

Well, I stacked that last paragraph, so you must know by now that I feel the author copped out. The detective portrayed by Mr. Kennedy, dissuading the youth from seeking legal aid and taking advantage of his innocence and confusion, is alternately Machiavellian and soul-saving, with a touch of Iago and seems only a few steps from the loony bin himself, with a warped view of life. If a playwright wants to comment most effectively on the confession issue, then such a pivotal character is little help, for surely no sane believer that most police officers are like this.

So much for the play's message, which was rendered as impotent by the stereotyped central character as all those sickening television Westerns with their enless parade of inexplicably psychotic clergy-

IN LOUISVILLE, where Cassius Clay is fighting to stay out of the draft, Iroquois High School English teacher Patrick Curran would rather switch than fight. Veterans Must Certify Their Enrollment To Receive Checks

Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, today reminded veterans enrolled in college this fall under the new GI Bill that the school would have to certify their enrollment before they would receive their first check. Two copies of the Certificate of Eligibility must be presented by the veteran to the school, which submits one of these filled out to the VA.

In the first check the VA will pay the amount due at the end of September upon receipt of the enrollment certification by the college. In most cases the first check will be only a portion of the usual monthly check since many schools did not have a full month's session in September. For all subsequent checks no action is required by the college. However, the veteran must certify his attendance at the end of each month to the VA otherwise he will not get paid.

Coker said that some veterans had experience delays in receiving their first checks during the summer session. Most of these late payments occurred as a result of the veteran's failing to supply the college with his enrollment certificate for completion and return to the VA by the school.

Receipt of this form will permit the Veterans Administration to make the initial payment to college level students. For students below college level, monthly certifications of attendance are required beginning

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A recent survey shows there are now on the market nearly 100 — count 'em! — 100 types of household cleaning preparation tools.

If you include soap, there probably would be 101.

But apparently nobody uses soap any more.

These are types, mind you. Not brands. If brands were considered the figure likely would run into the thousands.

There may be as many as 20 different brands of a single type of low-suds dishwashing detergent for women with oily skin.

Then there may be 20 more brands of low-suds dishwashing detergent for women with dry skin.

Add to this the brands of high-suds detergents for dry and oily skins and the whole with the first month.

In cases where the student enrolls, then changes his courses to a reduced number of hours, it is the responsibility of the veteran to return his check for adjustment.

Texans Supporting Cleaner Air Week

AUSTIN—This week is Cleaner Air Week in Texas and at no time since its inception has the event been recognized with such strong public support.
 Much of this support comes no doubt from legislative action creating a "Cleaner Air Act" for Texas. Already, the recently created Air Pollution Control Board has approved regulations governing what goes into Texas' air.
 This ever-busy board, six members of which are appointed by the governor and three being of ex-officio status, meets every month at the State Health Department in Austin to formulate new attacks against air pollution. The board is charged with the responsibility of controlling and cleaning Texas air through activities administered by the State Health Department.
 During the special week, the Division of Occupational Health, Air Control Program, will have numerous activities throughout the state, working in conjunction with local air control agencies.
 The objective of Cleaner Air Week is three-fold:
 To create better understanding of community problems related to protection of our fresh air supply;
 To report on and encourage all progress made toward solving such community problems; and
 To encourage individuals to accept major roles in coordinated community-wide control efforts.
 Cleaner Air Week, observed throughout the United States since 1949, mounts a national information program on neighborhood budgets with maximum use of local resources. Endorsed by three presidents and hundreds of governors and mayors, it is sponsored by the Air Pollution Control Association, an organization made up of thousands of conservation-minded individuals and groups in this country and abroad.
 Because of an extraordinary high degree of volunteer activity by individuals and groups, Cleaner Air Week is carried out on a smaller budget than some less-publicized and less public-service-oriented "Weeks." However, in Texas the event is given state-wide publicity through the State Health Department, combining efforts of the divisions of public health education and occupational health.
 For three years, now, the state health agency has earned awards for its Cleaner Air Week activities. In 1965 there were 86 U.S. cities and Brampton, Ontario which observed the special week, engaging in an all-out community-wide effort to alert citizens to their personal responsibilities in safeguarding atmospheric purity.
 Reflecting official interest in Cleaner Air Week activities, President Lyndon Johnson made this statement last spring: "Among the rights which constitute the creed of our natural heritage, the right to clean air is especially significant. Our duty not to defile this air cannot be emphasized enough. Indeed, our duty to keep it clean and fresh and healthy can never be overstated."

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS

THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.
2. Stealing is wrong.

It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.

The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law — only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.

Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal." Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontiersism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good political socialism," either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Seeking Prospective Game Wardens

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is accepting applications for prospective State Game Warden Trainees leading up to competitive examinations at eight key state cities in November.
 Successful candidates receive $397.00 a month while studying and $453.00 per month after six months on-the-job training. They are requested to contact the nearest Parks and Wildlife Field Office or write to the Personnel Office, Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas. Completed applications must be received by the Department's Personnel Office, no later than Nov. 4.
 Applications meeting the initial requirements, such as high school graduate, within the 21 to 40 age bracket plus physical requirements, will be assigned to take written examinations at these places: San Antonio, Nov. 16; Corpus Christi, Nov. 17; Houston, Nov. 18; San Angelo, Nov. 21; Lubbock, Nov. 22; Waco, Nov. 28; Dallas, Nov. 29; and Tyler, Nov. 30.
 Applicants qualifying under a rigid selection process involving personal interviews, background and character checks, will be given an extensive training course, including one semester at Texas A&M University.
 The Department, seeking to interest qualified young men in a rapidly expanding law enforcement operation, stressed many new opportunities as a field man in this work.
 Lately, for example, the usual routine of assisting biologists with game management techniques and other duties, has been increased to include water safety on the larger lakes.
 The last mentioned is one reason the warden staff is being increased. Previously, only one training unit was authorized each year. Now two classes of wardens are commissioned each year and assigned to actual patrol responsibilities.

14 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1966 59TH YEAR

Dear Abby....

Daughter's Sense Better Than Mom's

DEAR ABBY: Our 27-year-old daughter, who has been teaching school, asked us to come to the city (we live in the country) so we could meet the man she has decided to marry. He is 30, wears glasses, is bald and can't dance. They want to marry within the next few months. My husband and I are at a loss. A few years ago our daughter wouldn't even date a man unless he was good looking and could dance. We are concerned about whether she will be happy with him. They have kept steady company for a year. He is quiet, educated, owns his own business and treats her well. Should we give them our blessings?

I rarely see her, yet she sends me, my husband and all our children birthday cards. She even remembers my anniversary. It is terribly embarrassing because I don't know her birthday, anniversary, or any of her children's birthdays. Besides, it's a bore having to drop her a note to thank her for her "thoughtfulness." It's not that she is especially fond of me; she does this to people she hardly knows, and I've heard them say they wished she wouldn't. What is wrong with her and how do I cope with it?

DEAR AT: Are they asking for your permission or for your blessings? Your daughter shows better sense today than she did a "few years ago" when she refused to go out with a man unless he was good looking and could dance. Give them your blessings and don't be concerned.

DEAR ABBY: There are some newcomers who live on the edge of town. They have about nine kids. These people (the whole family) came to church last Sunday in a dump truck. And Abby, I am not saying they weren't clean, but they sure didn't look like they were dressed up for church to me. Don't you think this shows lack of respect for the Lord? And shouldn't someone in the community tell these people? I am not a snob, but I think appearances are important.

DEAR NO: I doubt if the Lord cares how people dress for church or how they get there, as long as they go.

DEAR ABBY: A woman I know ever so slightly makes a fetish out of "remembering" people's birthdays and anniversaries. The moment she meets someone she asks when his birthday is. She writes it down and sure enough on that day comes a card from this woman! Half the people she sends EMBARRASSED: The poor woman is desperately bidding for attention and is more than a little envious. Thank her for her "thoughtfulness" and let it go at that.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Lace is to dream in, to dance in, to romance in. Even when you hold it in your hand, you sense the fragrance of perfume and hear a waltz. It's the stuff that feminine dreams are made of.

It turns up at least once in every collection of the great designers as a gentle rebuke to the tough world in which we live.

Except for the poor, crazed-bride of Lammormoor and the sweet old ladies in "Arsenic and Old Lace," it's hard to imagine violence done in lace.

A vinyl-jacketed lass with grubby hands is a disgusting but not a necessarily shocking, sight. We see it all too often. But dirt with lace is unthinkable.

Fashion reflects the times. War, mass murders and unrest among youth today provide the perfect backdrop for the parade of stiff, shiny vinyl, studded leather jackets, chain mail dresses and mini skirts.

It's too naive to think that violence could be stopped if the government provided every woman with a beautiful lace dress. But maybe if there was a law that it be worn at least twice a week, its look of delicate, sheer beauty might give us cause for thoughts on the joy of gracious living.

What we wear plays a big role in how we behave. Put a meek and mild man into a uniform, strike up the band and he's a fighting man. And not just because he doesn't have a choice. For those few minutes he WANTS to be a soldier.

Lace is no instant cure for our social ills. It won't turn a gun moll into a thing of sweetness and light. But it could be a deterrent to falling headlong into the toughness of our times.

When we finally make it to the moon, I hope every woman settler will pack one lace dress to set the mood for the new civilization.

If she doesn't like lace, chiffon will do—anything filmy to remind her of her true role in the scheme of things. The soft touch these days is sadly lacking. And it would be nice to see the end of tough chic.

Corny though it sounds, I do believe that a little more "lace" and all it implies could soften a lot of women and bring out the gallantry rather than the violence in men.

Black Cat, Once a Scrawny Kitten, Brought Husband-Wife Team Fortune

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The black cat that crossed the path of the Gordon Gordons (cq) family of Encino, Calif. brought only good luck.

As a scrawny kitten, the cat cost the writing Gordons $2 at the Los Angeles City pound. As hero of one of their books, "Undercover Cat," which Walt Disney made into a hit movie, he's earned them in "the neighborhood of $200,000," said Gordon.

The cat's still supporting the husband-wife team. He is hero of their just-published sequel, "Undercover Cat Prowls Again" and Mrs. Gordon called him "a better investment than AT&T."

In real life, the cat is Pancho, now a husky 25-pounder but getting along in years—at 12 considered "a little elderly," said Mrs. Gordon. Fictionally, the cat is D.C. (from the initials for Darn Cat in the books, Darn Cat in the film version and in both books he acts as master courier for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Doubleday, the Gordons' publishers, sold more than a million copies of the first cat book. Later the Disney movie, "That Darned Cat," also starring Hayley Mills brought in some $22 million, placing it among the 100 all-time grossers in Hollywood history.

The Gordons told of Pancho's role in their lives and writings during a visit to New York to discuss future works with their publishers. Pancho (or D.C., if you prefer) stayed in Encino, partly Mrs. Gordon assured me with straight face, "to keep A. C. from moving in." A. C., it turned out, is for Assistant Cat, a stray who's taken up at the Gordon house. Then Pancho had the problem, too, of laryngitis—"He doesn't like to fly," said Mrs. Gordon. "I think the laryngitis is psychosomatic."

"Someone suggested we insure the cat," she said, "but at 12 he might not pass his physical. We are trying to get him on Social Security."

The Gordons, both graduates of the University of Arizona, moved into freelance writing via the newspaper profession. Mrs. Gordon, born Mildred Nixon, in Greenwood County, Kans., had been a stringer (part-time employe) in the southwest for United Press International (then United Press) before the war.

Gordon, a native of Anderson, Ind., had done publicity for a film company in Hollywood, been managing editor of the Tucson, Ariz., Daily Citizen and roving correspondent for the Hearst Newspapers.

Gordon also had been one of a small number of newsmen that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover hired during World War II.

Mrs. Gordon, a small and feminine woman with prematurely white hair, said writing is pure joy for her husband but for her it's pure pain.

"I fight it every step of the way," she said, "and to avoid the typewriter have become an expert house painter, brick layer, mechanic, electrician and plumber."

Said her husband, "Millie's the only plumber in the writing business. And if conditions ever get bad, she'll be the only writer in the plumbing business."

Powder Dry-cleans Bangs

Every other day the Carnaby Street crowd dry-clean their "fringe" (bangs) with baby powder. They just dust in the powder to absorb excess oil and then brush it out for bouncy, shiny, delicately scented bangs. To be at their best bangs must have that shiny, newly shampooed look.

Rambling With Red RON CROSS

To lengthen things out and because people say we are afraid to pick the college games we've decided to add a few games this week, including four pro games. Last week's record was a dismal, 6-3-1 for a season average of 51-18-3. PAMPA 21, AMARILLO 7—The Harvesters have scored only once in their last two games and are bound to break out of it. The defense is improved too. TASCOSA 42, PLAINVIEW 6—The Rebs have too much for anybody and Plainview sure doesn't have the horses. LUBBOCK 7, MONTEREY 6—The upset in district 3-A this week. Monterey is good on defense but has no offensive speed. CAPROCK 31, BORGER 16—The Longhorns are going to be tough for anybody to beat and Borger is sad and crippled. LUBBOCK CORONADO 14, PALO DURO 0—The Dons still haven't found the right offensive formula. WHITE DEER 20, CANADIAN 7—The Bucks have had things pretty easy but will find the Wildcats a tough foe. WHEELER 36, CLAUDE 0—The Mustangs are next to White Deer, the best team in the area. MCLEAN 13, CLARENDON 7—The Tigers will have to be at their best to beat Clarendon, who has already beat some of the best. GROOM 16, FOLLETT 10—The Tigers have found the winning formula again but had better watch out. Claude is good. MIAMI 35, TYRONE, OKLA. 30—The Warriors can't get beat in the last quarter every time. OKLAHOMA 17, NOTRE DAME 10—This game should be more defensive, than offensive and the Sooners are good on field goals. Remember 1956? Remember 1963? MICHIGAN STATE 20, PURDUE 19—Don't look for the Spartans to have an easy time. Purdue has nothing to lose. COLORADO 19, NEBRASKA 10—The Buffs are upset minded and the loss to Oklahoma State didn't do anything to help their disposition. Nebraska has not played like they did in 1965. TEXAS 21, RICE 0—Bill Bradley or no the Longhorns will win this one. BAYLOR 28, TEXAS A&M 10—The Bears have too much offense and defense for the Aggies. DALLAS 21, CLEVELAND 10—Who said losing Jimmy Erwin didn't hurt the Browns. The Cowboys have a lot to lose if they lose this one. DETROIT 28, SAN FRANCISCO 20—The Lions have got to find the scoring touch sometime.

Spartans, Purdue In Crucial Contest

By United Press International The Purdue Boilermakers want to make sure the best team in the Big Ten doesn't watch the Rose Bowl on television next January. The Boilermakers play the second-ranked Michigan State Spartans Saturday and are out to dispense the notion that the Big Ten will send its second-best club to the Rose Bowl. The Spartans won the conference title last season and went to the Rose Bowl. But Big Ten rules state that no team may go two years running even if that club captures two straight league championships. So even if Michigan State wins another title, it will be ineligible for the post-season clash and the closest the Spartans will come to Pasadena, Calif., will be as close as their television sets. So the Boilermakers want to win the crown outright and avoid the stigma of being "the team that went because Michigan State couldn't."

The Spartans, who lost their No. 1 rating after edging Ohio State 11-8 last week, are seven-point favorites to remain unbeaten at 6-0. Notre Dame, which moved from second to first in the ratings after walloping North Carolina 32-0 last week for its fourth straight victory, is a 13-point pick against a strong Oklahoma eleven. The Sooners, ranked 10th, don't have the individual stars such as Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty, Jim Seymour, and Nick Eddy, but they do have a well-balanced attack and rugged defense that will give any club in the nation trouble. Third-ranked UCLA is a 17-point choice to whip California, a team that has already lost to little San Jose State. The Bruins would like another trip to the Rose Bowl but have a big obstacle in fifth-ranked Southern California, which is picked by 20 points to down Clemson. Another Breather Fourth-ranked Alabama has another breather lined up after its tough 11-10 decision over Tennessee last week. The Crimson Tide has a huge 27-point edge over Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference clash. Seventh-ranked Nebraska meets a determined Colorado eleven and the Cornhuskers are only seven-point favorites to win No. 6, while eighth-ranked Florida has been given only two points against Louisiana State. Elsewhere: The East-Cornell four over Yale, Dartmouth four over Harvard, Army seven over Pittsburgh, Princeton eight over Penn. Navy 14 over William & Mary, and Syracuse 16 over Holy Cross. The South-Houston even with Mississippi, Auburn three over Texas Christian, Duke six over North Carolina State, North Carolina seven over Wake Forest, Georgia 15 over Kentucky, Georgia Tech 16 over Tulane and Tennessee 18 over South Carolina. The Midwest-Northwestern five over Iowa, Illinois seven over Stanford, Michigan 12 over Minnesota, Missouri 13 over Iowa State, Ohio State 13 over Wisconsin and Miami of Ohio eight over Ohio U. The Southwest-Texas six over Rice, Baylor eight over Texas A&M, and Oklahoma State 10 over Kansas. The West-Washington 10 over Oregon.

White Deer Is Still Rated as Class A's No. 2

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas Wilson, Monahans, Decatur and Anahuac this week joined the select list of the United Press International's Top 10 Texas schoolboy football clubs. It was the first time around for all but Decatur, which was ranked No. 3 in Class AA after the first week end of the season when it upset defending state champion Plano 7-6. The Eagles lost the following week 27-0 to Iowa Park and dropped out of sight. There wasn't a single change in Class A's order of Forney, White Deer, Sonora, Spur, Crowell, Keller, Dublin, Hallsville, Sudan and unscored-on Honey Grove as all won handily last week. Class AAAA's top five—San Angelo, Amarillo, Tascosa, Nederland, Austin-McCallum and San Antonio MacArthur—remained intact, but Abilene Cooper moved up a notch to sixth, Galena Park High and Spring Branch Spring Woods moved up two notches to seventh and eighth and Wichita Falls Rider shipped one to ninth. Angleton edged up to ninth, while Bridge City, Odessa, Taylor and Gainesville held firm in the Nos. 6-7-8 spots. Jackboro, in the same district with Decatur, made the only move in AA—from ninth to eighth. Sweeny, Iowa Park, Plano, Granbury, Phillips, Mincola and Grand Saline held the first seven positions. There will be four games this week pairing rival clubs—San Angelo at Abilene Cooper and Spring Woods at Galena Park in AAAA; Gainesville at McKinney and Monahans at Ector in AAA.

LIVED A DREAM Fake Punt Big Play for Aggies By ED FITE, UPI Sports Writer DALLAS (UPI)—Bill Sallee, who had to give up football in high school because of a broken back, lived a dream last Saturday night. Sallee, 21, is a 192-pound junior fullback on Texas A&M's surprising Southwest Conference pacesetter football team. The Aggies got out in front in the title race by upsetting favored Texas Christian 35-7 last week for a 2-0 record in league play and they will meet Baylor (1-0) this Saturday at lead. Southern Methodist, also waco for at least a share of the 1-0, plays at Texas Tech. Sallee didn't score a one of those 35 points, but he had a big hand in turning the game into the walkaway that developed. The Aggies, leading only 7-0 at the time by virtue of an interception puntback, faced a third-and-21 situation on their own 38-yard line and were having trouble with TCU's defenses. That's when Coach Gene Stallings thought the time was ripe to use a fake punt play he had taught them during the week's practice. "I tried not to think about it (working) during the week," Sallee said in retrospect. "The coaches told us it had worked before and was a big play for them in the past, so I guess I thought it would work for us." On the fake punt, fullback Dan Schneider, who was lined up directly behind Sallee, took the center's snap and shoved the football to Sallee between the latter's legs. Sallee stayed still, crouched to hide the ball while Schneider faked a run to the right and also faked a pitchout to the other halfback. Meanwhile, punter Steve O'Neal went through the motions of kicking. "I was kind of in a daze as the play developed," Sallee said. "I crouched there with the football while those big TCU linemen ran past me and then I took off. "I knew the play was working, but it was like a dream," he said of the 25-yard gain that got the first down, set up the team's second touchdown and broke TCU's resistance. Sallee, who broke four bones in his back his junior year at Midland, Tex., High School, wasn't being called upon as much with halfbacks L.D. Rowden and Gary McCarrell getting to help carry the load. But the past two games, Heiskell has been called on more and more, especially in critical situations where first down yardage was needed. More times than not the 200-pounder picked it up and last week broke loose for a 31-yard touchdown scamper against Monterey. Through six games Heiskell has carried the ball 88 times for 409 yards, an average of 4.6 yards per carry. Heiskell has averaged carrying the ball just over 14 times per game. Closest to Heiskell, who has won two Harvesters-of-the-Week awards, is McCarrell. Gary has carried 63 times for 343 yards, an average of 5.4 per carry while Rowden has toted the pigskin 57 times for 270 yards, an average of 4.7 per carry. When Pampa and Amarillo get together at Dick Bivins Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Friday the Harvesters will be trying to break a two-game losing streak and will also be trying to beat the Sandies for the first time in two years. Actually Pampa has had good success against the much larger school. Since 1944 Pampa and Amarilla have met 22 times with the Harvesters winning eight, dropping 13 and tying one. During the past 13 years, the time since Pampa has NOT had a winning football team Pampa has won five, lost seven and tied one. Oddsmakers have the Sandies a heavy favorite but there is so much competition in this fabled series there is no favorite. Pampa came up with a stone wall defense against Monterey but through their last two games the Harvesters have scored only six points. The Sandies, who lead the north zone in just about everything through one game, do not appear to be any better than Pampa, on paper at least. They, like Pampa, will go into the contest with a 3-3 record, but have momentum with their 28-8 conquest of Borger last week. Quarterback Gary Hyatt still leads the Harvesters in scoring with four touchdowns and one two-point conversion for 26 points but McCarrell and Heiskell are a close second with three touchdowns for 18 points. James Matney, who kicked only once last week still leads in punting with nine kicks for an even 41.0 average per kick. The Harvesters are averaging 13.2 points per game while giving up 14.8 per game.

United States Holding Slim Lead in Olympics MEXICO CITY (UPI)—In the short run, glory in small doses. In the long run, lesson for avoiding olympic disaster. That was the lesson for the United States squad as it headed into the windup of the Little Olympics today, with the over-all crown all but in its hands. The U.S. holds lead of 24-18 over second-place Russia in the gold medal race. But most of the victories were gained in "short-burst" events, contests such as discus throwing where the contestants give their all in one burst of strength, avoiding the strain placed on athletes by Mexico City's oxygen-thin air. High-jumper Ralph Boston and an all-star discus-throwing squad were the stars of the U.S. effort Wednesday.

The U.S. also moved into the lead of the modern pentathlon competition sparked by the U.S. Army's versatile Cpl. Jim Friesley of San Antonio, Tex. In addition to its 24 gold medals, the U.S. has 13 silver, and 14 bronze, for a total of 194 points, compared with Russia's 162 points on 18 gold, 13 silver and 14 bronze. Competing today are Friesley in the pentathlon, and three young runners—Tommie Smith of San Jose State and William Gaines of Clearview, N.J. in the 200 meter dash and U.S. indoor mile champ Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., in the 1,500 meter run. The U.S. picked up two gold medals in track Wednesday—both in short-burst events—as Boston, the Nashville, Tenn., world record holder, covered 26 feet, 5.57 inches in the long jump. Al Oerter of West Babylon, N.Y., the veteran winner of three olympic gold medals, led an American sweep of the discus throw, with a heave of 187 feet, 10.12 inches. Bob Humphreys of Los Angeles took second with 178 feet, and Neil Steinhauer of Eugene, Ore., was third with 157-8.

Playoff for Collegiate Champ

By BUD WILKINSON

There's a possibility that the foreseeable future college football will have its first true national champion. Now, the champion is chosen by the votes of sports editors. The true champion would emerge through a championship playoff supervised by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA is not pushing hard for such playoffs, but neither does it oppose the idea. Executive Director Walter Byers says he believes the playoffs could be worked out to the satisfaction of all.

"Organizing a national collegiate football championship under NCAA supervision," Byers said, "would have to follow the principles which govern the conduct of other NCAA championships, and result in no appreciable dislocation of the current bowl games which are a colorful part of our American tradition. I believe both of these necessary prerequisites could be guaranteed."

There is growing sentiment among college faculty athletic representatives, athletic directors and coaches for NCAA supervision of post-season football. This is totally consistent with the acts that the association conducts highly successful championships in all other major sports.

No single football playoff plan is being advocated now, but it probably would follow the pattern of the basketball championships. Some conference champions would qualify automatically for the playoffs. Other teams would be chosen by a selection committee.

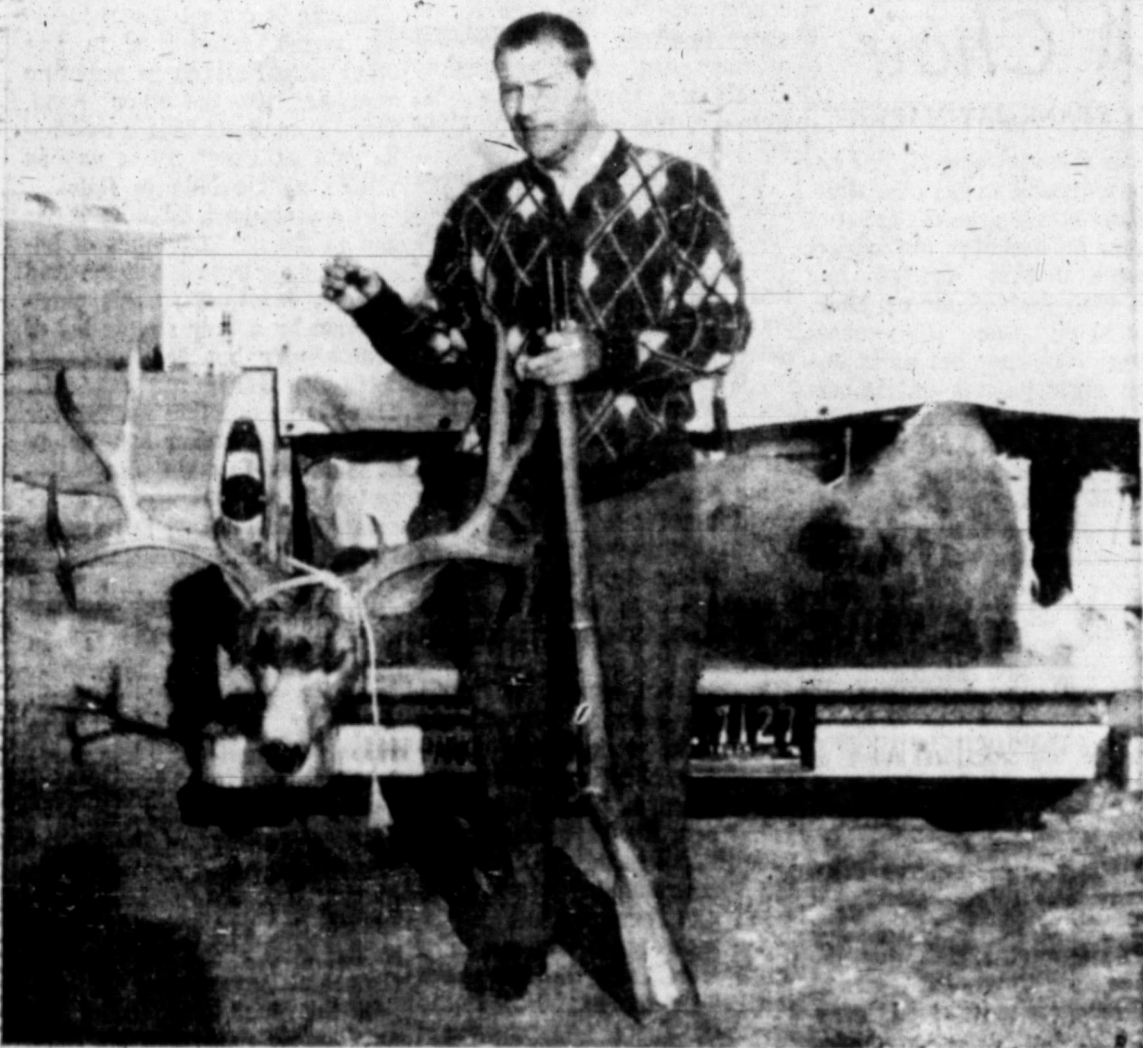

Non-interference with Bowl games might be accomplished in one of two ways. The playoff games could be played in the major bowls, with the semifinals and the championship game being rotated among them through the years. Or, the bowls could go ahead as usual, inviting teams that are not involved in the playoffs.

A bigger obstacle could be the likelihood of rematches in the playoffs between teams which already have played during the regular season. This is not too difficult to accept. The rematch factor took no luster from the Michigan State-UCLA Rose Bowl game last year.

There are many advantages to the playoffs. They would produce a true national champion. They also would be welcomed by fans, and would give college football a tremendous boost by setting, through game competition, the actual ability of teams in various sections of the country. Also, all NCAA schools could be involved in this post-season play.

A few years ago, when Ohio State refused a bid to the Rose Bowl, the President of the University said he would be more inclined to accept if the game were supervised by the NCAA. Notre Dame accepts no Bowl invitations, but has actively supported the playoff idea.

I hope this philosophy will prevail, and that the playoffs will become a reality. It would be a plus for the future of college football.

IN AREA FOOTBALL

Wheeler's Goad Leads Scoring

If you plan on going to Wheeler Friday night to watch the Mustangs when they host Claude in a 2-A conference battle keep your eyes on Fred Goad and Bobby Vanpool.

The Mustangs' fullback and halfback, respectively, have the No. 1 and 3 positions in the area scoring chart.

Goad is the area leader with 12 touchdowns, four more than anybody else, and five extra points, of the two-point variety, for 68 points.

Goad's closest competitor is McLean's Robert Baker who has tallied eight six-pointers and five two-pointers for 58 points.

Behind Baker is Vanpool with seven touchdowns and three conversions for 48 points with White Deer's Vernon Marlar just behind Bobby with seven touchdowns and two conversions runs for 46 points.

The remainder of the top 10 is rounded out with Kenneth Steine of Canadian, 44 points; John Paul Guinn, White Deer, 42 points; S. Sanders, Canadian, 36 points; Dan Rives, Wheeler, 34 points; Gary Smith, White Deer, Johnny Walker, Canadian, Marvin Finney, Lefors and Gary Smith, Lefors, with 24 points each.

Goad, Vanpool and Rives are the chief reasons the Mustangs are sailing along with a 5-1 season record, with only an upset loss to Wellington to mar their record.

White Deer will put its not-scored-on defense against Canadian Friday in a 1-A conference game while McLean (5-1) plays a conference game at Clarendon, in a true test of the Tigers.

In class B Groom will try to extend its winning streak to two games when the Tigers (2-3-1) host Follett in a conference game.

Miami will take its eight-man gridiers to Tyrone, Okla. for the last game of the season for the Warriors.

Last year White Deer (5-0) downed Canadian, 46-0, but the Bucks are expecting a lot more

Spartans, Irish are Favored

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pickin' the weekend winners:

Biggest joke around the country each year is Ivy League football, but Harvard is taking all the laughs out of it.

Would you believe the Crimson breaking into the top 10 before the year is out? They believe it in Cambridge.

And the personal belief this weekend is Harvard, LSU and Rice all will win even though the oddsmakers like their opponents.

The East

Harvard over Dartmouth—By at least two touchdowns.

Army over Pitt—That Pitt defense is pitiful.

Cornell over Yale—A high scoring affair.

Holy Cross over Syracuse—Crusaders pull another surprise.

Also: Colgate over Brown, Princeton over William and Mary, R. Baker, McL., Rutgers over Columbia, Bucknell over Lafayette, Temple over Connecticut, Williams over Tufts.

The Midwest

Notre Dame over Oklahoma—Vachon's field goals could make it close, though.

Michigan State over Purdue—Spartans win another squeaker.

Ohio State over Wisconsin—Badgers have the same kind of attack as the Dodgers... poor to nothing.

Nebraska over Colorado—Cornhuskers stay unbeaten.

Also: Stanford over Illinois, Minnesota over Michigan, Missouri over Iowa State, Iowa over Northwestern, Oklahoma State over Kansas, Miami-O over Ohio U., Bowling Green over Kent State, and Western Michigan over Toledo.

The South

LSU over Florida—Tigers hand Gators their first licking.

Tennessee over South Carolina—Gamecocks out of their league.

Alabama over Vanderbilt—A breather for 'Bama.

Georgia over Kentucky—Bulldogs better all around.

The Far West

UCLA over California—Not even close.

Southern Cal over Clemson—Someone's in the wrong backyard.

Washington over Oregon—Home field and better offense.

Air Force over Colorado State—Falcons good one week, bad the next. They're due this one.

The Southwest

Rice over Texas—Owls due to win one of those close ones soon.

Arkansas over Wichita State—Little more than a workout for the Razorbacks.

Baylor over Texas A&M—Bears appear to be at least one touchdown better.

SMU over Texas Tech—Defense could decide it.

Also: Arizona over Utah, Oregon State over Arizona State, Brigham Young over New Mexico, San Jose State over Texas Western, West Texas State over New Mexico State and North Texas State over Southern Illinois.

Knickerbockers, Chicago Bulls Surprising League Fans

By United Press International

It's a tossup today whether the most surprised National Basketball Association fans are to be found in Chicago or New York.

Chicago fans, familiar with the pattern of expansion teams in other sports, were reconciled to a frustrating season of defeats for their newly formed Bulls. And New York fans, familiar with the history of the Knicks, were reconciled to a frustrating season of defeats through habit.

But both the Bulls and the Knicks are off and running like topflight teams—the Bulls with three straight victories to open the season and the Knicks with two wins in three games.

The Bulls made it three in a row Wednesday night when they downed the Western Division champion Los Angeles Lakers 134-124 while the Knicks scored their second straight Knickerbockers, 131-109, over the Baltimore Bullets.

Guy Rodgers scored 34 points to lead the Bulls, who held a lead of 18 points in the third period before the Lakers rallied.

Elgin Baylor scored 45 points played without the injured Jerry West.

Howard Komives and Dick Van Arsdale led the Knicks on a second-half drive that overcame the Bulls' 58-53 halftime lead. The Knicks went ahead 75-73 with 5:32 left in the third period and led by as much as 25 points in the fourth period.

Komives had 28 points and Van Arsdale 20 for the Knicks, while Kevin Loughery had 29

Communist Aims in 1966

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and probably America's foremost authority in communism, warns of the growing internal danger of the atheistic ideology in America in a message to all law enforcement officials. Hoover said:

A clarion call for resurgent, revolutionary action has been sounded by officials of the Communist Party, U.S.A. This policy switch was highlighted at the party's 18th National Convention in June in New York City. Clearly a move for mass agitation, the new strategy comes at a time when hard-core communist leaders sense a growing mood of radicalism in America, a time when they feel a bold offensive will meet little resistance.

Gus Hall, general secretary of the party, speaking with exuberance and confidence to the convention delegates, stated, "The party has started to grow in membership and influence. We are a factor in the left stream of each of the mass currents in the country." Emphasizing this point, Hall said the party must be the catalyst, the teacher, and the guide of the "new left." He called on the membership for a "move up to a revolutionary level... where you have a longer range goal, where you will now use the obsolescence of the old."

Hall gave special praise to those who worked to get Marxism and the viewpoint of the communists onto the campuses, and he was quick to label the response to these appearances at a protest against legal restrictions which have plagued the party. "Our concept of speaking to the millions," Hall concluded, "became a reality." A bouquet was also tossed to the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America, the communist-spawned Marxist youth organization, for successfully drawing increasing numbers of college youth into the party. Working hand in hand with the DuBois Clubs on the campuses are organizations such as the Students for Democratic Society, a militant youth group which receives support from the Communist Party and which in turn supports communist objectives and tactics. Hall has characterized it, along with the DuBois Clubs, as a group which the Communist Party has "going for us."

What does this open, all-out thrust for power and approval mean to patriotic Americans? It means that the revolutionary forces of atheistic communism, which in recent years have been on the defensive, are now working openly and defiantly to destroy our system of free enterprise and democracy. It means that those who choose to downgrade the internal threat of communism are sadly underestimating the zeal and dedication of hard-core party leaders. And it means that Americans, and all free people, must never relax their vigil against the foes of liberty.

Basically, the party's immediate objective is to gain acceptance and recognition as a legitimate political party. In reality, of course, the ultimate goal of the new communist offensive is still the same—the enslavement of the American people.

Citizens whose forefathers established a government of laws to preserve their freedoms should not be faced with dwindling legal means to protect that government from an announced attack by those dedicated to its violent overthrow.

Will the South Go GOP?

The so-called "white backlash" may have a different result in the South than was anticipated by some of the rabid advocates of compulsory segregation.

For there is a growing feeling that for the first time since Reconstruction days here will be a strong Republican showing in the Old South. The trend showed some in the 1964 election when several states in the South favored Goldwater over Johnson, and when a few Republicans were elected to Congress and to state legislatures.

However, now that Georgia Democrats have chosen Lester Maddox as their gubernatorial candidate, there is a strong sentiment toward Republicans. This is reflected in an editorial published in the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser, a Democratic newspaper published in the Alabama capital. It said:

"Both Gov. Wallace and Congressman Martin praised the victory of Lester (Ax Handle) Maddox in Georgia; since both hope to be the beneficiary of similar angry voting in Alabama."

"But it becomes Martin far less than Wallace to applaud an intemperate vote for a man totally unequipped to be governor of our sister state: It was of course a protest vote, the use of the Democratic runoff by Georgians to express their rising disgust with reverse racism and violence. Extremes beget extremes and Maddox is the direct product of black demagoguery and violent insurrection.

"He is no more than that—no hero, no savior who can right wrongs. He is creature and creation of wrongs and excesses, a symbol without substance. As human as the vote might have been, it was hardly a triumph of good over evil. Rather it was a blind expression of disgust which happened to settle on a raucous nonentity, who should make Bo Callaway, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, look mighty good come November."

"In Georgia as in Alabama, the only sane and meaningful protest at the state level is to elect a Republican governor. That will have the not entirely incidental effect of forcing the Democratic parties of both states to rebuild amid the total wreckage they find about them."

A Crewcut for Milady

A hairstylist told the recent Beauty and Harvest Festival at Charlotte, N.C., that the upcoming fashion for milady will be to wear the hair short during the day, when skirts are short, and longer at night (through use of hair pieces), when skirts are longer.

In other words, the length of the feminine hair will be fashion-co-ordinated with the length of the feminine skirt.

but it sure is going to seem funny to see women walking around practically bald in the daytime.

Viet Cong Spies Nest In Saigon

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
TAY NINH, Viet Nam (NEA)—Within three hours after your B-52s take off for a raid, we know at our (Communist military) headquarters here.

"It is enough time for us to prepare ourselves." The man had been an officer in the top Communist military headquarters for South Viet Nam, located near here under the command of Lt. Gen. Tran Nam Trung. The man this reporter was talking to had been responsible for a section of 70 officers and men at that headquarters.

(In the Delta region of South Viet Nam, Viet Cong reported they had two hour advance warning of B-52 raids. This gave them enough time to scatter, they said.)

The ex-officer said: "We receive the information by radio. We have a net of powerful stations. So there is no problem getting the information through." "One of our most powerful stations is just outside Saigon." "Our (Communist) military organization in Saigon is headed by a brigadier general. His deputy is a colonel. He has a staff of majors, captains and other officers, enlisted men and civilians."

"The general and the colonel keep changing their locations so they will not be caught. The other officers and men are in a headquarters."

"One of the major objectives of the Saigon headquarters is to infiltrate the Viet Nam military."

"I don't know all the methods, but one is to find promising young men who cannot afford to go to higher school and university. We then pay for their education. In return they gather information for us when they become military officers." "I know, for example, that one objective is to acquire officers loyal to us who are stationed at Tan Son Nhut airbase. I don't know how successful we have been."

"This infiltration is done by the military intelligence net."

"We have another net in Saigon responsible for buying medical supplies. This net includes many ordinary people. They are members of a secret organization."

"They go individually to shops and buy small amounts of medicine. This is collected at a central point and shipped by river or canal to our headquarters at Tay Ninh."

"There may have been other methods, too, for securing medicines from Saigon. We receive much medicine, pharmaceuticals and vitamins from Saigon one way or another. Some also come in from Cambodia."

"Many things come in from Saigon—tea, dried fish, salt, as well as medicines."

"Another Saigon net is responsible for terrorism." "Still another net handles military activities. It would be charged, for example, with organizing and executing an attack on the airplanes at Tan Son Nhut airbase."

"A political net is responsible for printing and circulating propaganda leaflets for the Saigon-Cholon-Gia Dinh area." "It is this underground structure which is so difficult to weed out even when Vietnamese or U.S. troops secure a city, village or province. No certain method for this weeding out has been developed to date, even in Saigon."

Hunt for Truth

By H. L. HUNT

WHY DESTROY THE REPUBLIC? The statement that patriots are far worse than communists, correctly interpreted, means "Communists are far better for our country than patriots." Many participating in the crusade against patriots are dupes, unwittingly contributing to the destruction of the Republic. Others participate for quite another reason, many for what they consider personal gain. The "question" is never raised in the minds of the destroyers. "What am I going to get out of it if the Republic form of government of the United States is destroyed?" Patriots fail to raise that question. Finally the destroyers are going to be brought to face this question to satisfy themselves. The answer is, "The rewards will be nothing and the loss will be total."

MONTESSORI

In 1896, Maria Montessori became the first woman physician in Italy. Upon graduation from medical school she was appointed assistant doctor at the Psychiatric Clinic in the University of Rome where part of her duties included visits to local asylums for the insane. At that time retarded children were kept in these institutions and treated the same as inmates. The young woman doctor protested vigorously. She was certain these children could be helped and began working with them and devising special methods and apparatus as teaching aids.

In two years these defective children were able to successfully compete with normal children in public examination. She was acclaimed enthusiastically as a miracle worker but Dr. Montessori's mind had turned to a more urgent problem. "Whilst everyone was admiring my idiots I was searching for reasons which could keep back the healthy and happy children of the ordinary schools on so low a plane that they could be equalled in tests of intelligence by my unfortunate pupils."

Her first opportunity to work with normal children came later when she was asked to devise some method of keeping six small, slim children occupied and out of mischief while their parents were away at work. She was able to observe, to test and expand her ideas. The results were astounding and led to some revolutionary conclusions about the growth of a child. The curtain rose on a new era.

She recognized that each child is different and will progress at his own rate. A child is capable of intense concentration and should be respected and left in peace when he is engrossed in something... that a child, given half a chance, will prefer meaningful work to play for the "work" of the child is to perfect himself. Perhaps this approach could be summed up as, show a child how to learn then GET OUT OF HIS WAY.

This remarkable woman and her insight into the life and learning of a child are the subject of E. M. Standing's book "Maria Montessori: Her Life And Her Work" published in paperback by The New American Library, New York City, N.Y. $.95. Included is a systematic and detailed presentation of the Montessori Method of education, illustrated with eight pages of photographs.

Though she is best known for her ideas as an educator perhaps Dr. Montessori should best be remembered for her contributions to the understanding of childhood. As Standing puts it "... her whole life's work could be summed up as an effort to end the age-long struggle which has been waged and is still being waged between the Child and the Adult, a struggle which is no less real because it is carried on unconsciously."

If you are looking for some stimulation and inspiration and a lot of sound ideas you have a treat in store. Good luck and good reading.

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

Dentists' Degrees Differ But Their Services Don't Many people ask why many dentists have a D.S. degree and some D.M.D.s. Do they represent special qualifications? Is a doctor of dental surgery specially trained to do dental surgery? Is a doctor of dental medicine specially trained to treat diseases of the mouth?

The answer to these questions is "no." These two degrees are conferred by our dental schools on graduates who have completed similar courses of study, of scientific achievement and clinical experience.

Then why two degrees? That's more difficult to answer. Some dental schools have adopted D.M.D. because they feel it more nearly represents their conception of the modern dentist and his expanded role in medicine.

They say that dentists now play a more significant part in preventing, discovering and treating disease. They believe this expanded responsibility as a member of the health team that's concerned with health of our whole body and not only teeth, is best represented by the D.M.D. degree.

Many general diseases are manifest in the mouth, and often the first indicators of disease in other parts of the body are found in the mouth.

Even though dental school deans accept and promote this new role of dentistry, agreement in the immediate future as to which degree would best represent this new era in dentistry does not seem imminent. Everyone agrees that dentistry has passed the "drill-em-and-fill-em" stage. Yet many educators maintain that since 90 per cent of dentists' chairside time is still spent in performing operative procedure, doctor of dental surgery is the more relevant degree.

At present D.D.S.s predominate. Of 47 dental schools in the United States, 41 confer D.D.S.

Pablo Picasso, now 85, has become a legend in his own time. Considered the greatest artist of this era he has been the subject of more books, articles, and films than such giants as Michelangelo or Titian. His success derives from the fact he is one of the great innovators. He creates Cubism, which many consider the greatest development in art since the Renaissance. Instead of depicting conventional images Picasso lets line, color and composition show what he is trying to achieve. Many consider his work baffling, but most art critics hail it as the work of genius. Maybe it is, but we wonder if it will be as highly regarded a century hence as the work of some of the old masters.

Nixon's Hope Is Periled By Wallace

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Richard Nixon's aspirations for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination may be seriously damaged by current and foreseeable political trends in the South.

The harm can come to him mostly from Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace and his all-but-announced plan to seek the presidency on a third party ticket.

Nixon is, of course, the darling of southern GOP conservative leaders whose prior allegiance was to Barry Goldwater.

Some of them have told this reporter they would favor Nixon for 1968 even if actor Ronald Reagan should win the California governorship big this year from Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Party professionals have been assuming for months that, if that sentiment holds, Nixon could take to the next convention a bloc of 250 to 300 southern delegates—a very formidable base.

Put together with other avowedly conservative strength around the country, and possibly augmented by upwards of 90 delegates which a "Governor" Reagan might hand him from California, this Nixon southern bloc would place him in major contention.

This delegate power could conceivably be his even if he chose to avoid all presidential primary confrontations against Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney, his evident top rival for 1968.

Yet in the new circumstances prevailing in the South, this whole conception is imperiled. The southerners' argument is that, leaving out the inexperienced Reagan, Nixon is the nearest thing they can find to the Goldwater they cherished in 1964. From this flows the further contention that Nixon is the Republican most likely to put some southern states in the 1968 election column.

That argument was used to good effect in the Goldwater campaign and he did indeed carry five southern states in 1964.

It does not exactly fall upon deaf ears because Republicans lately have accustomed themselves to picking up some southern support in presidential voting. From the first Eisenhower race in 1952 to the 1964 test, the GOP has managed to win from 4 to 7 Old South states.

The George Wallace third party candidacy, however, puts it all in grave doubt. Few southern politicians and observers question that the Alabama governor probably could win the electoral votes of the five Deep South states taken by Goldwater—Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina—plus perhaps one or two others.

Nixon might still do well in untypical Florida and Tennessee, but hardly elsewhere.

If this prospect is as real in early 1968 as it seems today, then southern Republicans' argument that "we need Nixon to carry the South" could collapse with a thundering crash. Forces pushing for Romney or some other moderate candidate simply would not give the southern viewpoint credibility. And the southerners' northern "Nixon allies" might be hard to hold within the camp.

Wallace today appears bent on promoting the collapse of the southern drive for Nixon. He told this reporter: "Nixon is unacceptable to me." In his present campaign for election of his wife Lurleen as governor, he slashes at Nixon far more vigorously than at any other Republican, including Romney. It is not by accident.

Jarvis of any writer in history. He used about 15,000 words. Most of the place names in the U. Florida alligators are in danger of extinction. Latest count shows about 300,000 of the giant reptiles still extant there, but last year an estimated 50,000 were killed by poachers... The Pittsburgh-Kansas HEADLIGHT carried a classified ad: "Another rocker for plump woman with cane seat." Plump women with cane seats aren't easy to find these days.

Country Editor speaking: "Remember girls, with those new mini-skirts it's not the initial length, it's the up-creep."

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

"In' Group's Indefinable Gauges NEW YORK (NEA)—Maybe it was spite and malice, or perhaps just plain boredom. But for some reason that escapes us now, we turned on the television pleasantly surprised to see an actress named Shirley Jones.

"We have always taken great delight in watching Miss Jones perform, remembering her as a very accomplished singer and dramatic actress in such movies as Elmer Gantry and The Music Man.

And in seeing her on television, it suddenly occurred to us how sad it was that she had never really made it.

"Never really made it?" the wife repeated in amazement. "Don't you know that Shirley Jones has won an Academy Award?"

Well, there is no arguing with that sort of sentiment. People who think that public recognition is the same thing as Making It cannot be convinced differently.

To our way of thinking, however, Making It cannot be reduced to any rules, regulations and criteria. It has nothing to do with prizes, victories, achievements, inheritances or talents.

Making It cannot be measured, tested, filtered or in any other way reduced to scientific analysis. On the other hand, there is no doubt that it exists—as real as Pike's Peak and as visible as the Nile in flood.

In that regard, Making It is one of the real triumphs of humanity over the laboratory. And we can demonstrate this phenomenon by a very simple bit of double-entry bookkeeping: Zsa Zsa Gabor has made It. There is no question whatsoever that Zsa Zsa Gabor has made It. But just how she made It—and with what ability, achievement or acclaim—is impossible to explain.

On the other hand, Rip Torn and Richard Kiley—for all their talent and names in lights—have not made it.

Being a millionaire is no guarantee of making it. True enough, J. Paul Getty has made it. But then, Huntington Hartford has not.

Being president of the United States does not guarantee one's making it, either. Roosevelt, Eisenhower and Kennedy made it. But what about Arthur, Harrison and Hayes?

On the other hand, losing the presidential race does not stop a man from making It. Take Adlai Stevenson. Take Wendell Wilkie. Take Barry Goldwater. Of course, losing the presidential race often does nothing for a fellow. Richard Nixon hasn't made it, and neither has Tom Dewey.

And as for inheritance—well, Bobo Rockefeller has made it but Winthrop has not. Ethel Kennedy has made it but Joan has not. Nancy Sinatra made it but Frank Jr. has not. Louis XIV made it but not XV.

Breaking a record doesn't guarantee making it, either. Babe Ruth made it but not Roger Maris. Pipe's Peak made it but not Mt. Whitney. Christopher Columbus made it but not Leif Ericson. And certainly not Amerigo Vespucci.

Sometimes making it comes and goes, depending on the time, the place and the setting. The Pinta doesn't make it. But the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria do.

On the other hand, the time, place and setting make no difference at all. Margaret Mitchell made it but not Grace Metalious. Anthony Eden made it but not Clement Attlee. The Rockies make it but not the Appalachians. Dean Acheson but not John Foster Dulles. The Nile but not the Limpopo. Bobby Kennedy but not Roy Cohn.

Rin Tin Tin, Lassie and Shirley Temple made it. On the other hand, Trigger, Flipper and Margaret O'Brien did not.

And as for Academy Award winners, we would have to say with considerable regret that Shirley Jones has not made it. "Really?" the wife said dryly. "But I notice that you're sitting in your living room watching her on the television. She's not in her living room watching you."
