VETERANS DAY 1966 — Doug Laramore plays Taps at the Veterans Day Parade of Flags in Memory Gardens Friday morning. The observance was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the VFW Ladies Auxiliary. Laramore is the son Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Laramore who live at 417 Magnolia.

Parade of Flags Honors Pampa's War Veterans

The VFW-sponsored Parade of Flags and memorial service at 11 a.m. today in Memory Gardens highlighted Pampa's observance of Veterans Day. Honor to veterans of all wars was paid in the principal address by the Rev. M. B. Smith, a Pampa High School teacher. At the stroke of 11 o'clock an Army Reserve unit raised the flag as members of the Pampa High School band played the national anthem. Service flags on staffs with name plates of deceased veterans marked the Avenue of Flags display on Memory Gardens' circle drive. Elsewhere in Pampa it was business as usual with the exception of City Hall and the U.S. postoffice. City Hall offices were closed with exception of the police department. Offices in Gray County Courthouse remained open and schools, banks and business places operated as usual. Main attraction tonight will be the final football game of the season out at Harvester Stadium between Pampa and Borger high schools. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Advanced Missile Program Disclosed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America will start a multi-billion dollar production program for advanced new Poseidon rockets designed to penetrate Russia's fledgling missile defense system. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed the impending spurt in the nuclear arms race in matter of fact tones Thursday after conferring with President Johnson in Texas. His comments to newsmen at the LBJ ranch indicated the government had ended a long behind-scenes dispute over whether Russia had started to build a ballistic missile defense system, a possible major new factor in the delicate power balance between the two countries. McNamara gave assurance that there was "absolutely no ability to get through Soviet defenses with both missiles and bombers. He said he and the President discussed actions Russia "is taking to initiate deployment" of an anti-missile system designed to destroy the warheads of U.S. ballistic missiles. He said there was "considerable evidence" of the Russian move and the "only safe assumption" was that deployment had started. The defense chief's discussion revealed that the first American countermove would be to begin production of the submarine-launched Poseidon missile, vastly more powerful and more accurate than the current Polaris missile carried by subs. Because of the super secret developments concerning its nuclear payload and "penetration aids" and the fact it is deployed at sea, the Poseidon is judged capable of overcoming missile defenses.

GOP Reverses 1964 Statehouse Disaster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Out where the grass roots grow Republican election gains nearly tripled their control of state legislatures and gave them a majority in one house of eight others. A UPI survey of state capitols today showed the GOP controlling 17 legislatures compared to the six where their majorities survived the 1964 election debacle. Democrats control 19 legislatures in the 45 states which held legislative elections this year. The survey did not include Nebraska's unicameral, nonpartisan legislative body. Of the five legislatures whose members did not go before voters this week, Democrats controlled four and shared control with the GOP in the fifth. Coupled with major gains in the U.S. Congress, and eight new governorships, the GOP victories at the state level will go a long way toward giving it patronage on which to build a presidential campaign in 1968. The GOP won 47 additional House seats, picked up three in the Senate, an added eight governorships, with another still in doubt in Georgia. Republicans won either governorships or Senate seats in 29 states with well over the 270 electoral votes needed to win the White House. The GOP elected top candidates in states with a total of 326 electoral votes. The Democrats won in 17 states with a total of 142 electoral votes. These comparisons cannot be taken as an indication of what would happen in a presidential race where national issues and personalities unquestionably would weigh in the outcome. But they are a definite political plus for GOP morale at all levels. And, GOP analysts said, the electoral gains for state offices

Millionaire And Bride Still Missing

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas (UPI)—California millionaire A. Otis Birch, 95, and his 205-pound bride of three weeks have left town to see a doctor. Mrs. Birch's brother said Thursday. He declined to say where they went or when they would return. Mrs. Birch, a practice nurse and ex-convict, is the target of several lawsuits filed by the family of Birch's first wife, who died last month at the age of 93. The family contends the new Mrs. Birch kidnapped Birch from his home in South Pasadena, Calif. S. H. Choate, brother of the new Mrs. Birch, said some X-rays were to be taken of Birch's broken hip. "He needs some attention," Choate said. A judge ruled recently that Birch was not being held by Mrs. Birch against his will; and that he was happy in Breckenridge.

showed important advances in the nation's big cities—the place where presidential elections can be won or lost. GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss reported the gains in terms of total seats won this year which, he said, makes the party "a very live elephant now." Bliss said the GOP gained 677 seats, just short of the predicted increase by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It more than wiped out the 529 seats the party lost in 1964. Party control was reestablished, the UPI survey showed, in eight states where legislative control had been split in 1964. These included Arizona, Colorado, Illinois, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Arizona's all Republican legislature was a first in that state's history. GOP control in Pennsylvania and Ohio—two of the nation's most populous states—dovetailed powerfully with gubernatorial victories there. In addition to Ohio and Pennsylvania, the GOP took most state offices in California, New York, and Massachusetts. In the latter two states, however, GOP governors would be working with legislatures where Democrats hold control of one house.

Shriners Ready For Ceremonial Tomorrow

(See Photo on Page 3) Pampa and Borger Shriners put finishing touches today to plans for their joint Shrine Fall Ceremonial here tomorrow. More than 600 Shriners and their ladies are expected for the day-long session to be climaxed at 9 p.m. Saturday with a receptional dance in the Shrine Sportsman's Club. Tomorrow's ceremonial observance, when between 35 and 50 Novices will be inducted, also will honor C. P. Buckler of Pampa and Arthur Furguson of Borger, two of the Panhandle's veteran members of the Masonic Order. One of the features of the day-long proceedings will be the street parade of all uniformed bodies of Khiva Shrine Temple which will move at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow from 200 E. Francis to Cuyler and south on Cuyler to Craven St. This will feature Khiva Temple Clowns and Motor Patrol. Registration of Nobles, Novices and their ladies will start at 8 a.m. in Coronado Inn, Camel Herder, K.O.B. and Yellow Dog degrees will be conferred on ring candidates between 9 and 10 a.m. at the Coronado. A barbecue will be served by Pampa Shriners at noon in the Sportsman's Club. Unit exhibitions and a band concert are scheduled in front of the club at 2 p.m. The second section will be from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the same place. First section of the Ceremonial will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. in the bull barn at the Rodeo Grounds.

Countdown Proceeds For Gemini Blastoff

Troops Counter Cong Offensive

SAIGON (UPI)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland threw the entire U.S. 1st Infantry Division into war zone C today to crush Communist attempts at a major winter offensive. About 25,000 GIs pushed through the jungle sanctuary in what a U.S. spokesman called the largest American action of the war. Some units of the "Big Red One" already had joined the 198th Light Infantry Brigade, units of the 2nd Infantry Division, the 173rd Airborne Brigade and Vietnamese ranger units in the massive sweep near the Cambodian border. But the entire 14,000-man 1st Infantry Division was ordered into the sweep today which already has accounted for about 900 Communist dead within the past week. Despite the pounding, U.S. officials estimate that about 6,000 to 7,000 guerrillas of the Viet Cong 9th Division are still in the thick, heavily fortified sector which they have dominated for years. U.S. troops hacked deeper into the jungles today and killed 20 more of the enemy, but resistance was scattered and light. An American Roman Catholic priest was shot and killed by the Viet Cong as he administered last rites to a dying GI, it was reported today. A spokesman said Father Michael Queally, 33, from New York City, went to aid the wounded and dying of a 1st Division battalion Tuesday in Operation Attleboro, when he heard the troops were under heavy Communist attack. He was the fourth American chaplain to die in the war. The spokesman said Americans reported finding and seizing more arms and ammunition stores and the size of the caches lends weight to Westmoreland's statement that a major winter offensive was in the works when the U.S. troopers moved in to frustrate it.

K&F Speaker Has Sure Blues Cure

A sure cure for a Blue Monday is the after dinner speaker Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club members will hear at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn. Newt Hiescher, from Shreveport, La., a humorist with a message, has been invited by members of the dinner club to be their speaker. It may be just by coincidence that the topic of Hiescher's address is "The Contagious Cure." But it isn't a medical talk at all, according to Roy Sparkman, K&F president. Instead it is a humorous - philosophical address that alternately has listeners laughing and thinking, Sparkman said. Hiescher has been an active participant in Boy Scout work for over 25 years and is a Silver Beaver Award winner. He is a deacon, a Sunday school teacher and a college graduate with two degrees. He is assistant manager of a sales training department and agency manager for a life insurance company. He is often in demand at conventions, sport banquets, general meetings, any and all kinds of events where people get together. (See SPEAKER, Page 3)

Cable Television Hookups to Start Within 60 Days

Hookups for cable television subscribers in Pampa are expected to start within 60 days, according to Al H. Williams, Pampa Cable TV manager. Williams, who arrived two days ago from Globe, Ariz., where he was manager for American Cable Television, Inc., said a full construction crew of cable installers was expected to arrive here today and start work immediately. "If there are no delays because of weather conditions," Williams said, "first hookups should be made in two months or around the first of the year." Williams said Pampa cable TV subscribers will be served with four stations — three from Amarillo and an independent station in Elk City, Okla. The service at the start also will include a 24-hour around the clock weather scan which will furnish time, temperature and weather conditions. Public service announcements also will be carried. Within a year, Williams said, the service will be expanded to include live studio productions from Pampa. Offices for Pampa Cable TV have been opened at 321 N. Ballard. An office staff of 8 or persons eventually will be employed, Williams said. Williams, who is married and the father of two children, has moved his family here and taken up residence at 1913 N. Nelson.

Weather Is Perfect For Delayed Venture

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—While "night owl" astronauts James Lovell and Edwin Aldrin slept, the countdown started today for an afternoon blastoff on their four-day Gemini 12 finale to the record-setting series. The space machines were primed and everything was reported "go" for the start of the twice-delayed space adventure. Weather at mid-morning appeared perfect. The full countdown of Gemini's Atlas-Agena target rocket got underway at 7:23 a.m. (CST) and was proceeding toward a 1:08 p.m. (CST) launch to start the wrap-up mission. Lovell and Aldrin were set to following pursuit at 2:46 p.m. (CST). Technicians prepared to start pumping thousands of gallons of high-powered propellant into Gemini's two-stage Titan 2 launcher about 1 a.m. CST to set the stage for the start of the final countdown later in the morning. Weather at launch time was expected to be good with balmy temperatures and mostly fair sky. Satisfactory conditions also were forecast for the ocean recovery areas. Lovell, 38-year-old Navy captain, is a veteran of the record 14-day voyage of Gemini 7 last December and a new individual endurance record awaited him when he reached orbit in Gemini 12. Aldrin, 36, is an Air Force major making his first spaceflight. The Gemini 12 mission was not expected to produce many "firsts," but it will be one of the most comprehensive of the entire program. And next Tuesday's planned Atlantic Ocean splashdown will clear the way for the first three-man Apollo earth orbital flight this winter. The shot also will widen the "space gap" between the United States and Russia. There has not been a Soviet manned launch since March 16, 1965, five days before Gemini 3 astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young opened the manned phase of Project Gemini. Like their predecessors, the Gemini 12 astronauts will lay more groundwork for Apollo manned lunar landing flights set to start in 1968 or 1969. Gemini 12's attempt to rendezvous with the orbiting Agena target rocket in third orbit amounts to a rehearsal for (See GEMINI, Page 3)

World War I Veterans Slate Sunday Meeting

District 18 Veterans of World War I from five Panhandle cities will meet here Sunday in the American Legion Hall for an all-day session. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Sunday and morning and afternoon sessions will be held. Veterans and their wives from Amarillo, Pampa, Dumas, Hereford and Childress are expected to attend. Business sessions of the World War I veterans and the auxiliary will be presided over by J. E. Beard of Pampa district commander, and Mrs. Mina Benham of Pampa, auxiliary president. Jack Graham of Pampa, Gray County service officer of the World War I Veterans, will be principal speaker at the district conference. Department officers expected to attend are Department Commander R. B. (Dick) Sneed of San Antonio; Department Quartermaster E. R. Bruce of Amarillo; Department President of the Ladies Auxiliary, Pauline Beard of Pampa; Department Sr. Vice President Eula Hudson of Lamesa; Department Jr. Vice President Belle Sneed of San Antonio, and Department Chief of Staff Zella Bruce of Amarillo. Commanders and presidents of other districts over the state also are expected as well as a large delegation from member barracks and auxiliaries. All Veterans of World War I and their wives are invited to attend the meeting and to bring a covered dish for the luncheon to be served at noon in the hall, Commander Beard stated.

Former Pampan Is Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross

A U.S. Air Force administrative supervisor from Pampa has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for his action as a volunteer "flare kicker" during a combat flight in Viet Nam. Staff Sergeant Franklin L. Littlefield Jr., 1950 Pampa High School graduate, received the coveted flying award and the Bronze Star Medal during a recent Altus AFB, Okla., ceremony. The sergeant — already recipient of two awards of the Air Medal for outstanding airman-ship — earned the cross for arming and precision - dropping of flares to light the area for friendly ground forces during a night battle near Chu Lai Air Base. Distinguished administrative service during his year tour at Da Nang Air Base earned the sergeant the Bronze Star Medal. He was especially recognized for outstanding professional ability in landing administration under combat conditions. Sergeant Littlefield, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Gattlin of 1502 McCauley, Sweetwater, is now a member of the Strategic Air Command at Altus. He is married to the former Betty A. Lottes of Eureka, Mo. If it comes from a hardware store, we have it. Georgia Governor Hopefuls Show Fatigue From Disputed Election

ATLANTA (UPI)—He ambled in at the end of another man's news conference. Suddenly he was the center of attention. Complete returns from Georgia's 1,893 precincts gave Maddox a 2,468-vote lead — 445,359 to 442,871 — with an estimated 10,000 absentee ballots in Fulton and DeKalb counties still to be counted. Former Gov. Ellis Arnall got 57,699 write-in votes — enough to prevent either Maddox or Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway from getting the majority necessary for victory. Georgia law provides for the legislature to elect a governor in the event no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast. A three-judge federal court was to hear arguments today on a suit contending the legislature is reapportioned and not legally qualified to act as arbiter and that the court order another election.

Red Zealots Upset China Production, Given Warning

HONG KONG (UPI)—Thousands of trucks carrying about a half-million singing and chanting Red Guards rolled into Peking for a giant rally Thursday. But the government warned the youths their zeal was interfering with production.

Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his heir apparent Defense Minister Li Piao appeared at the rally and watched the six-hour drive-by of banner-waving youngsters.

But neither spoke and the official government newspaper printed an editorial apparently timed to coincide with the rally. It warned Red Guards against "putting the great cultural revolution in opposition to production."

The rally was believed held to give Red Guard youths from provincial regions, who have been carrying the message of Mao to virtually every section of the country, a chance to see their hero.

Recent reports reaching Hong Kong indicated that Mao and other Peking leaders were becoming tired of the continual marathon-length rallies and concerned with Red Guard activities in rural areas that threatened industrial and agricultural production.

The editorial said that "at present the situation of industry and agriculture is very excellent." But its tone of urgency indicated serious concern that the wild rampages of the Red Guard groups was cutting back output.

"All units throughout the country must definitely carry out the great cultural revolution thoroughly to the end and simultaneously must also produce abundantly..." said the editorial, monitored here on a Peking radio broadcast.

The editorial said the Red Guards should refrain from attacking and criticizing farmers and factory workers.

Earlier reports from Peking said the youths and workers have clashed on several occasions throughout the mainland.

MINES EXPLODE

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Two Brazilian combat engineers were killed and 11 others were injured Wednesday when two antitank mines exploded during an army weapons class in interior Minas Gerais state, the eastern foothills of the Andes.

GOING UP, NOT DOWN is SM Sgt. Anthony Martino, demonstrating a new method of creating realistic parachute drops into the water. The drops are part of survival training for aircrewmembers of the U.S. Air Force Air Defense Command. At a signal from Martino, a powerful motor boat races away at full speed, lifting the parasail and the sergeant 300 feet above the water. From that height he releases from the boat and drifts down to a landing. The parasail, equipped with 54 aerodynamic holes, acts first as a sail to get the trainee airborne, then as a parachute to simulate a realistic emergency descent.

Chewing Machine May Show Why Teeth Are Lost

DALLAS (UPI)—A computerized chewing machine, invented by a Cleveland dental researcher, may help show why many people lose their teeth when they near the age of 55.

Dr. Theodore Messerman of Case Institute of Technology and research assistant in dentistry at Western Reserve College of Dentistry, told about his machine at the 38th annual meeting of the American Prosthodontic Society.

Messerman said his chewing machine "chews exactly like humans chew." He believes that by studying the machine's munching, he can find the destructive forces that loosen teeth in middle age.

"We may lose our teeth because of the way we chew when we eat," Messerman said. "Up to now, no one has ever been able to reproduce exactly the chewing process."

But he says his machine will do the trick.

"The mechanical dentures, guided by computer, can match the mouth action exactly. As a result, generations of the future may have their original teeth when they are 80," he said.

Of course, dentists can always tell their patients to chew, but Messerman said people will not chew in the dentist's chair as they do at the dinner table.

"So we came up with a device that could be inserted inside the mouth to reproduce on magnetic tape the exact, unconscious chewing process," he said.

"Then we fed —no pun intended—the tape into a computer.

Heart Group To Organize

Jim Rose of Houston, Texas Heart Association advisor, will be in Pampa Monday to organize a Heart Association for Gray County.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the First National Bank.

Gray County can help fight this nation's number one killer by organizing an effective Heart Association, Rose points out.

In return, it will help educate the people of this county, both old and young, in the risk factors of heart diseases and share in the tremendous research program going on throughout the state, he said.

A film titled "Why Heart Association?" will be shown followed by a discussion lead by Rose.

Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Author Visions Year for Riots

DALLAS (UPI)—Jeanne Dixon, whose book "Gift of Prophecy" became a best seller, predicted Thursday that "the year 1967 will be a bad one for Viet Nam and for racial riots. They will all get worse."

Mrs. Dixon, of Washington, D.C., said President Johnson's upcoming operation will be a success.

"What about the presidential prospects in 1968?" she was asked.

"Right now," she said, "I see the Republicans victorious in 1968. These mental telepathy vibrations are subject to change. But visions are the will of God."

'Average Protestant' Up Collection-Plate Giving

ST. LOUIS CASSELS—The Episcopal Church led denominations of more than a million members. Its members gave an average of $106.80 last year. That is a startling jump of $30.14 from the previous year.

The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod was close behind at $106.66.

Per Capita Figures
Here are the per capita giving figures for other large denominations. Christian Churches Disciples of Christ $85.91. United Presbyterian Church $67.75. American Lutheran Church $67.70. United Church of Christ $67.31. Lutheran Church in America $67.30. Methodist Episcopal Church $61.42. Southern Baptist Convention $59.22.

The report showed that, as the average church passed along only 13 cents out of every dollar to home and foreign missions, the support of church related colleges, hospitals and orphanages, and other benevolences.

The only denomination which came close to an equal was the branch of the Mennonite Church which has its center at Scottsdale, Pa. It earmarked 45 per cent of its total income for benevolences. The General Conference of American Mennonites devoted 43 per cent of its income to purposes beyond the boundaries of the local parish church. No other denomination earmarked more than 30 per cent of its income for benevolences.

World Data
Also, no comparable figures for a whole on Roman Catholic and Jewish contributions.

In the case of income tax figures, the American Association of Fund-Raiser Council has made an informed guess that total contributions of Americans to all religious bodies in 1965 was about $5.5 billion.

Considering the gaps in available statistics, the most significant figure in the yearbook's report is that which shows per capita giving—total contributions divided by total membership of the reporting denominations.

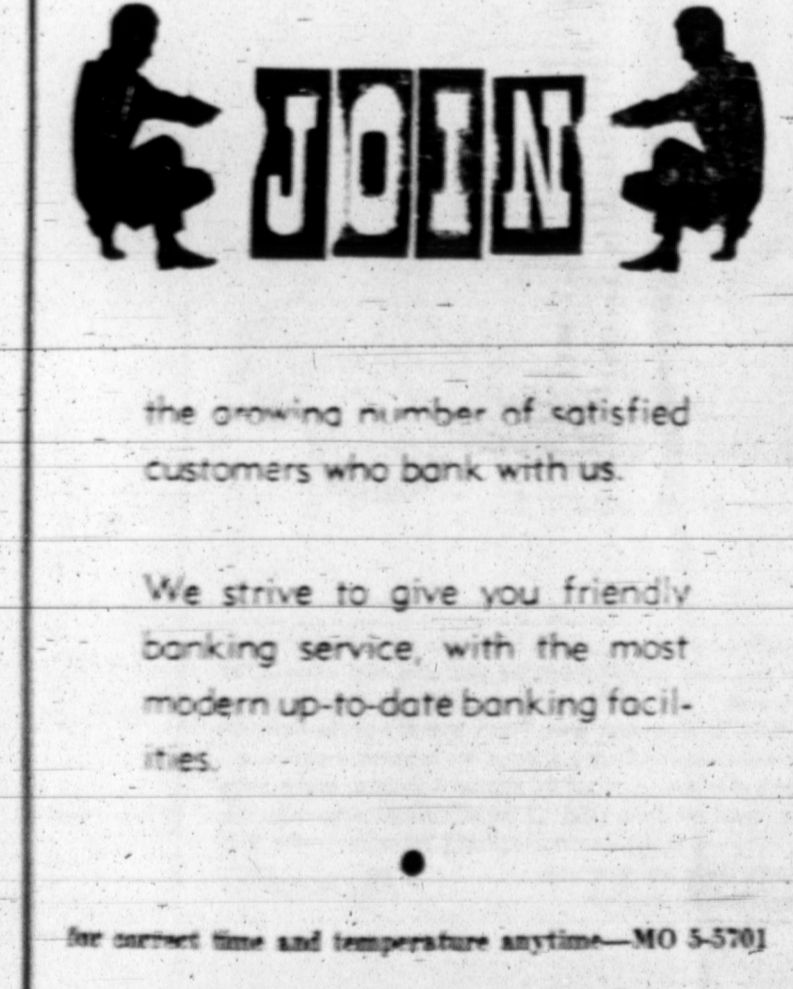

The fact that this figure inations were made public by year clearly indicates a substantial jump in over-all giving to churches last year.

Compare Denominations
Per capita giving figures also make it possible to compare the generosity of members of various denominations. Because of a difference in reporting standards, the Seventh Day Adventist Church was not included in the compilation. In the past it has ranked at or near the top in per-member contributions.

Leading the yearbook's list this year was the Wesleyan Methodist Church, whose 33,000 members gave an average of $200.48 each. The Evangelical Free Church of America, with 46,000 members, was second at $243.03.

59TH YEAR

Paul's Letters Continues as Text for Sermons

The 8th chapter of Paul's second letter to the Corinthian Church provides the textual basis for the Sunday sermon at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor, will preach at both worship hours. This is the second of two Loyalty Sundays. Members of the congregation will make their stewardship commitment for 1967 at the time of offering.

At the second worship hour, the sanctuary choir, under the direction of Tommy Neugent, will sing "Lead Me Lord" as the morning anthem.

From 8 to 8:15 p.m., the second in a series of Sunday evening meetings, entitled "Training in Discipleship" will be held in Fellowship Hall. The second chapter of the guide book, "The Lord of Christian Faith and Life" will be used as the basis for the subject, "Redemption Through Jesus Christ—or What Did Christ Do?" Child care for pre-school children, a special fellowship for children in the junior department, and regular evening fellowship meetings are planned during this time.

Rev. Manning Names Topic For Sunday
Rev. J. B. Manning, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday. For the eleven o'clock morning worship he has chosen "Suff Saviors Are Made Of," with a text taken from Acts 17:22 for his sermon subject.

Sam Allen, minister of music, will direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem, "Glorious Spirit, Swe" by Jolly. Miss Louise Lane, organist, will play "Praise the Lord, Ye Nations" by Lawrence for the offertory.

"No Man Cared for My Soul" is the topic. Rev. Manning will use for his seven o'clock evening worship sermon topic. He has taken his text from Psalm 124:4. The Chancel Choir will sing "And God Is Be" by Wesley and the organ offertory will be "A Blessing" by Robertson.

First Baptist will host to a miniature state Sunday School Convention Nov. 15 beginning with supper at 5:30 p.m. According to Philip Stovall, minister of education, state workers will be present to study conferences for workers of each age group. The meeting is association with a committee of churches in the Palo Duro Association in Garcon, Hutchinson, and Gray counties.

S. Wells.
The public is cordially invited to attend.
Prayer is offered for the sick when requested, according to Ruby M. Burrow, pastor.

South African Guest Speaker At Hi-Land
Titus Solomon, born and reared near Cape Town, Republic of South Africa, will be the speaker Sunday at the Hi-Land Christian Church, 1615 N. Banks.

He entered the Ozark Bible College in Japan, Mo., in 1952 and plans to return to Central Africa as a missionary upon graduation. Since coming to America, he has spoken at numerous missionary rallies, conventions and churches.

Solomon will preach Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. and will show slides of Africa missions at the evening service at 6:30 p.m.

Gene Seaman, minister of the Hi-Land Church, invites the public to attend these services.

Not Necessary To Be Successful All The Time
Too many persons fail to enjoy satisfying happiness because they are excessively concerned about having to succeed, says an author-pastor.

Stop fretting about missing the mark once in a while or being bounced around in a game, advises the Rev. Darrell E. Berg. "It is what the fellow does after he gets up off the floor that matters," he writes in the November issue of Together magazine.

Sometimes a person's life really begins on the other side of defeat," he adds.

"One hazard of success is that it causes us to expect too much from ourselves," observes the author of the book, "A Piece of Blue Sky," and pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Lincoln, Nebraska. "Sometimes it takes a good smashing defeat to release us from this burden of artificial perfection." He commends the "Together" article, "Careful But Carefree."

Pressure to succeed is the sickness of our century, Mr. Berg states. From childhood on, he points out, individuals are given to believe that a lot of money rests on every move or decision.

Adult "anxiety about success" and the concentration upon affluence rubs off onto their children, he continues.

Mr. Berg cites the findings of Sociologist Arthur Barron in a study of teenagers in Webster Groves, Missouri, is bringing in sharp focus the harmful effects of parental attitudes.

"There is little idealism" among the high-school age girls and boys, Dr. Barron reported, "he discovered that they think happiness is a big house, two cars, and a lot of money."

Parents over-emphasize grades as marks of success.

"Perfection is not a static condition," Mr. Berg writes in the Methodist general-interest magazine for families, "It is a plus which only God can give," he explains.

Turning to intimate relationships, he cautions that "there is no such thing as perfect love."

Tank No. 45 or 'Lord, Lord -

Text: Mathew 7:21 — "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven."

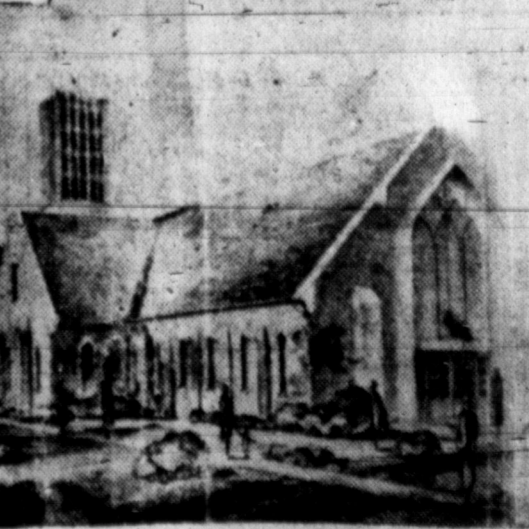

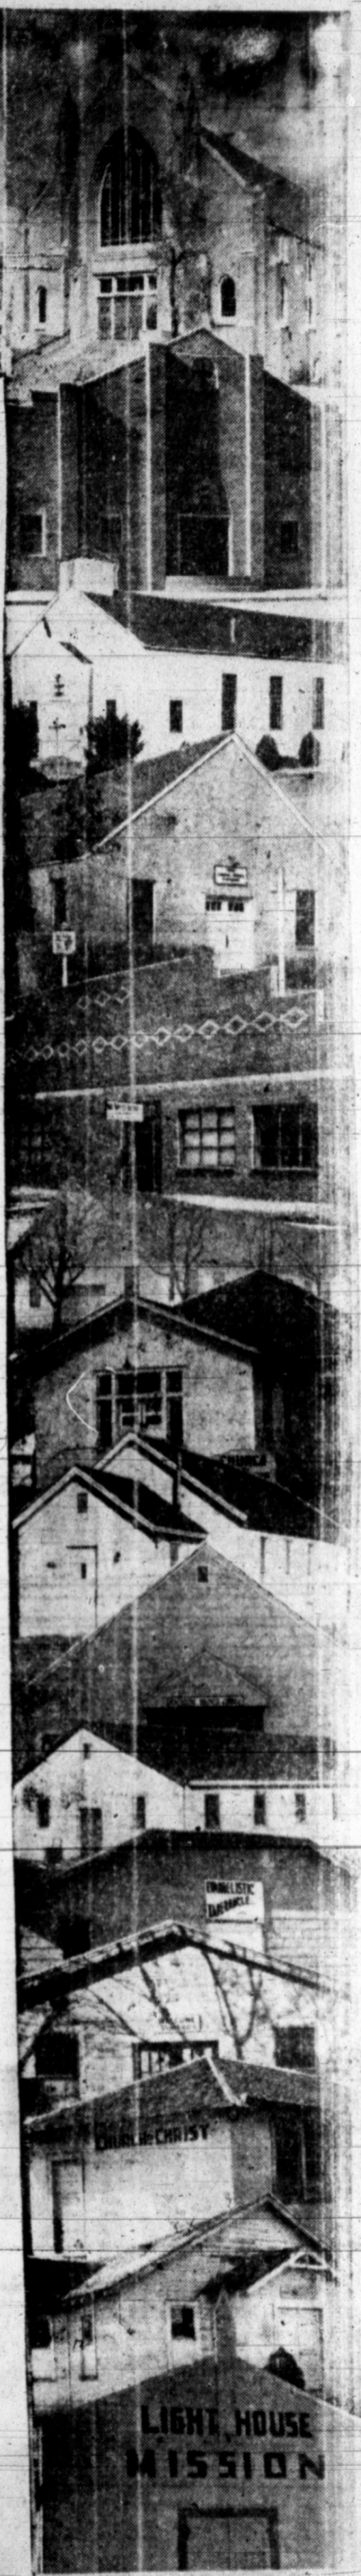

For ten years I worked in a little, red-brick office building. Historically it was the birthplace of the oil industry. My desk faced a window and about two hundred yards from that window stood Tank No. 45. It had another name. It was known as a Safety Tank. It had lines connected to all tanks of combustible products of the refinery. This Safety Tank was supposed to be full of water and in case of fire it was to be used as an extinguisher.

One beautiful, sunny October day I sat at my desk day-dreaming and happened to glance out the window toward the street where a city welder was working on a light pole. As tiny sparks fell from his welder's torch, they ignited a small puddle of oil at the base of the pole. Before I could move, flames danced along the ground until they came to the ditch around the bottom of old No. 45. In seconds the whole tank was a fire and as I stood up, the roof of the tank blew up into the air and landed back into the tank. The fire lasted five hours, a blazing inferno with heat so intense it melted the goosenecks of foam applicators, time and time again.

What happened? Well, it seems that this Safety Tank No. 45 was no longer a safeguard. Due to lack of storage space it had been filled with slop oil from the river. Names can be deceiving — it was no longer a Safety Tank! And slop oil can burn!

And what about the name Christian? Let us be true to our calling as followers of Jesus Christ, let our deeds match our profession of faith in Him . . . for He knew that everyone who says, 'Lord, Lord' . . . would not make a place for Him in their lives.

"I would be true, for there are those who trust me;
I would be pure, for there are those who care;
I would be strong, for there is much to suffer;
I would be brave, for there is much to dare.
I would be prayerful thru each busy moment;
I would be constantly in touch with God.
I would be tuned to hear His slightest whisper;
I would have faith to keep the path Christ trod."

Dear Abby....

Her Hubby's Got The Seven-Year Itch

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the retail business. I am strictly a wife and mother. There is a very attractive woman who comes to town and calls on my husband for business reasons. She stays at the hotel for several days at a time. When she's in town my husband doesn't even know he has a family. He has all his meals with her and keeps ridiculously late hours. This woman is married, has a family and is about 10 years older than my husband. Her husband must trust her implicitly to let her travel the way she does.

My husband seems "preoccupied" lately, and is considerably less romantically inclined. We've been married for six years and were very happy — until now. Do you believe in a woman's intuition? Or am I unjustly suspicious? I need advice, Abby.

LUMP IN MY THROAT
DEAR LUMP: Your husband

appears to have a premature case of the seven-year-itch. Do you scratch the "evidence." Let him know you are jealous, suspicious, and unwilling to put up with any philandering.

DEAR ABBY: We need help desperately! Last summer a few family moved into our neighborhood which is in one of the nicer suburbs of this city. These people are a disgrace! They let their yard go until the weeds were nearly three feet tall. They haven't washed their windows since they moved in. They have dogs, which they trained to use everyone's yard but their own. And to top it off, they hang their wash in their living room windows! They have no grapes, and it can be seen from the street.

This is a high class, respectable neighborhood, Abby. Everyone else takes pride in his house and yard. What can we do with people like this?

SICKENED NEIGHBORS
DEAR NEIGHBORS: First, call on these neighbors and rectify your complaints directly to them. If that doesn't bring results, ask a lawyer if these people have a right to impose that kind of eyesore and inconvenience (the dog!) on their neighbors. The lawyer's fee could be split up among the offended neighbors, and might be well worth it.

DEAR ABBY: If baby-sitters ever form a union, these rules should be included:

Make Way For Go-Go Cookery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roasting on the road is the newest wrinkle in go-go cookery.

A trade publication says a Canadian homemaker has developed a method for making pot roast on the exhaust manifold of the family car as it toots down turnpikes. Her recipe, as reported in the Alcoa Newsletter:

Season a roast (up to 3 pounds weight and 9 inches thick, and wrap in a large sheet of heavy-duty foil. Fold the edges to make a lock seam and anchor the meat securely to the manifold with wire or a coat hanger. Ride around for 3 hours, stopping after 1 1/2 hours to turn the roast.

The magazine adds two warnings: Turn the roast when you're in isolated country; you are pioneering a new art form, so resist the impulse to drive into a gas station and say "fill 'er up and check the roast."

And make certain that the meat is securely wrapped and tied. If the meat ever greases the fan belt, the engine could heat up and make a meal that wouldn't appeal to a hungry Hotentot.

Turn pockets inside out and give them a good brushing before storing clothes. Also brush out cuffs and any open seams on the inside.

Fresh green artichokes make a lovely centerpiece for a party. Pile them in a low bowl interspersed with some daffodils or daisies.

who come home later than they say they will (I don't mind if they're half an hour, or even 45 minutes late, but folks who say they'll be home "around midnight" and then trail in at 3 a. m. should pay some sort of penalty.)

(2) Nonmembers of the family who are "added" to the sitter's care at the last minute should not be looked after free. (This goes for neighbors and relatives who leave their children to "play" with those in the sitter's care.)

(3) Everything a sitter is expected to do should be spelled out. Sitters shouldn't be expected to do the ironing just because there is a basket of clothes to be ironed and the children have been put to bed.

If sitters and those who hire them had a better understanding of the above mentioned, everyone would be a lot happier.

AL Auxiliary Hears Convention Report

Mrs. J. M. Turner and Mrs. J. Ray Martin gave highlights from the American Legion Auxiliary District Convention held Nov. 5-6 in Memphis at the Tuesday evening meeting of the local American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Turner was hostess for the group in her home at 509 Yeager.

During the business session those present voted to give a donation to the Gift Shop at Amarillo Hospital to help purchase gifts for the shop from which patients will select Christmas gifts for their families. Announcement was made that there is now no waiting list at the hospital and patients are admitted without delay.

Plans were made to prepare a Thanksgiving basket for a deserving veteran's family. Food items may be taken to the Martin-Turner officer, 105 N. Frost, no later than Nov. 23. Mrs. Frank Shotwell reported that 104 Christmas "Ditty Bags" had been sent from the local Red Cross office to servicemen in Viet Nam and that 250,000 were sent from this area.

Housewife Scores Single-Handedly

By MIKE GREMAUD
United Press International
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mrs. Nancy Huskey is a 'housewife. She also is a master's degree candidate, the mother of three children, a nurse's aide, and is handicapped by childhood loss of her right hand.

Mrs. Huskey studies Mondays through Thursdays at St. Louis University for her advanced degree in medical records. Monday and Wednesday nights she attends biology classes at a junior college near her Belleville, Ill., home.

Friday and Saturdays off? No, she is a nurse's aide in a nursing home in Beeville.

"It's a really tough schedule, but all of us manage," she said. Mrs. Huskey said her eldest daughter, Nancy Jean, 13, does most of the washing and ironing. Patrick, 12, and Margaret Ellen, 7, also helps with chores. Husband George also helps with the housework, after he's through his job as a die-cutter for a St. Louis firm.

"We know all of this will be worth it. Now, my children tell me, 'Mommy, we're proud as punch to have you.'" The 34-year-old housewife said. Mrs. Huskey has a year and a half to go before she receives her master's degree. Will she stop there? "After I get my degree then I'll be able to go to work as head of a medical records department. It's beautiful work if you like medicine," she said.

Day To Seek World Peace

Today is set aside to salute the nation's war veterans. Originally called Armistice Day, Nov. 11, was a celebration of the end of "the war to end all wars." Now, one full-blown war later and amid almost countless conflicts all over the world, it has evolved into Veterans' Day when the nation pays tribute to veterans of all the Twentieth Century wars, large and small.

Until a year or so ago, Veterans Day had become just another day for school children and government employees to be excused from their daily activities and to go motoring to mountain or desert or seashore. But this year, there is more of an awakening of interest. It is not particularly because Americans are fighting an undeclared war in Viet Nam. It is largely because a minority of individuals have chosen to demonstrate in the name of "peace," but in a far from peaceful manner.

Many observers are calling the demonstrators such things as "sheep-like rabble," "kooks, commies and confused college kids." We do not know how many of the demonstrators are sincere. Obviously some of them are. However, their tactics of burning draft cards, trying to interfere with others' rights are the wrong way to accomplish anything except resentment.

The result has been far from satisfactory from their own standpoint. It has built up a counter-action in which thousands of sincere people are demonstrating — thus far largely peacefully — against the demonstrators. So, today's observances by veterans take on new meaning, a solemn declaration of support for the men who are fighting and dying in Viet Nam.

Notes from a Driver's Log.

A motorist who makes a practice of noting such things has returned from an extended tour with these observations: —Traffic is not only growing steadily heavier but steadily faster. Our traveler kept tab in one three-mile stretch of turnpike driving. Zooming along at the maximum legal speed, he was passed by 32 cars, three huge trucks and a bus. Some of them made him feel as though he was standing still.

—Frequent warning signs that the roads were radar-patrolled and that speed limits were strictly enforced were greeted with enthusiastic indifference by motorists. And on the entire trip, our man saw only two instances of drivers being stopped by state patrolmen.

—Women are driving just as fast and just as recklessly as men. This, our observer says, wasn't the case a few years ago.

—Only a few of the cars traveling at excessive speeds were new, expensive models. Most were small foreign jobs or low-priced models several years old. And they weren't all driven by young people.

—He was intrigued to find that time after time his steady, within-legal limits pace enabled him to catch up with hotrodders who had passed him with a whoosh miles back. He doesn't know how it could happen but it did.

—Many of the most reckless drivers he saw were mothers or fathers with kids in the car.

—The most common traffic annoyance he endured was tailgating — even on the turnpikes. It is definitely the "in" thing in bad motor manners.

—Our traveler returned home convinced that the one thing that could make motor travel more pleasant is a little more courtesy behind the wheel. He said it was wonderful to see what happened when one driver gave another driver a break — especially when it was accompanied by a smile.

—He might have added that the same formula works fine in other things, too.

Cash? Can't Remember It!

Bankers tell us it won't be long now until we'll be using a "universal automated credit card" in place of money.

Under this system, everyone will have a number and one credit card. Yes, ONE!

No cash, no checks. Just this single card which can be used for anything and everything — groceries, rent, clothes, entertainment, travel, loans, taxes, the works.

These self-appointed patriots had planned to blow up a few left-wing study camps in the state and for that noble purpose had assembled a fantastic arsenal of weapons. They also planned to sow racial hatred by distributing fake leaflets from nonexistent Negro extremists.

They're real Americans, they are. If the original Minutemen could see the kind of people who have stolen their name they'd wonder why they ever bothered to fight a war against the British.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

We have just finished reading "Interrupted Journey" by John G. Fuller (Dial Press), and we don't know if it's fact or fantasy, but it's the most fascinating book in years. Fuller, a columnist for the Saturday Review, was skeptical of the news stories he read about flying saucers and thoroughly investigated reported sightings in New Hampshire. That led to his current best seller "Incident at Exeter." While on that assignment he learned of Betty and Barney Hill of Portsmouth, N. H., who had an unnerving experience with a flying saucer. His newest book relates the incredible story of this ordinary couple, who may have been taken aboard an alien spacecraft, questioned and given physical examinations by intelligent humanoid beings — it would all seem pretty far-out if Fuller did not back up his story with complete transcriptions of the tape recordings the Hills made for a noted Boston psychiatrist and neurologist to whom they appealed for relief from psychic distress. After seven months of treatment, the psychiatrist said the Hills were not psychotic and had told him consciously and unconsciously what they believed to be the truth. You may doubt this book after you've read it, but we'll bet it will give you something to think about.

Today's smile: Just heard about the sheriff in a small town who also doubled as a veterinarian. One night he got a frantic phone call and asked: "Do you want me as a sheriff or vet?" The voice at the other end answered: "Both. I CAN'T get my dog's mouth open and he's got a burglar in it."

Thought while shaving: Never thought of it before, but the first names of the three Gabor girls ends with "a" — Eva, Magda and Zsa-Zsa. If you had any doubts that gambling is one of this country's biggest businesses, you can dispel them any time. Upwards of $328 million was wagered in Nevada last year, an increase of $33 million over the previous year. Wonder what the estimate would be for the entire country? There are more than 4,000 "pubs" in London, according to a recent count, but, unlike this country, they are not open all day and until the wee hours of the morning. Many open at 11:30 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. They reopen again at 5:30 and you can play darts, watch the telly and drink warm beer until the proprietor says "lights out" at 10:30. Fund-raising dinners for politicians during the recent campaign are really nothing new. When James G. Blaine was running as the Republican nominee for the Presidency against Grover Cleveland in 1884, many New York bigwigs, including Jay Gould and Andrew Carnegie, staged a dinner for him that netted $500,000 for campaign expenses. The Democrats used it effectively by calling the affair Blaine's Boodle Banquet. Personalized checks are the thing these days, but doesn't really matter who is elected, the result will be the same. Did Eisenhower reverse the trend to the welfare state that we associate with Roosevelt and Truman? Did even the famous 80th "do nothing" Congress bring about greater freedom for us? Did the election of the famous Max Baucus in California reduce or alter the course of the gigantic, tyrannical state education system in California?

If Ronald Reagan has been elected governor of California, I predict that the size of the state budget will be at least 25 percent larger within two years.

If Republicans somehow won control of the House of Representatives, I predict an increase in "defense" and "Great Society" costs.

And if neither of those two things happened, I predict the small results.

For 177 years, the nation has been leached in one direction — toward total socialism. The drift was slow at first, to be sure, but the momentum steadily gathered and I know of no politician who ever altered its course in the slightest. Today, we are in the final stages and no politician is going to stop it — because politics will always come first by the very nature of politics.

There is only one answer for the frustrated individual who recognizes the futility of politics: get out of the political arena and start investigating ways to protect your own life and property before it is too late.

The sum and substance of very careful analysis of the election returns must be this: no matter what your political persuasion, there is very little reason for new optimism or pessimism. For things are going to continue onward "as usual" — with little change in the drift of the nation.

As you review the election returns, do the above comments make sense to you? Do you get the same impression as I do — once you closely investigate the attitudes and platforms of the victorious candidates? I thought you would.

But perhaps I should tell you that this analysis was written November 1 — one week prior to the election. And yet I am positive that my conclusions will be borne out before the two-year period affected by the election is over.

For I am merely calling attention to the obvious — That it a Denver, Colo., bank goes a bit farther. They offer their customers checks with their name and picture on them. The Buffalo (N. Y.) COURIER-EX-PRESS reported in a story: "Zoo officials said the cubs were getting weaker because they could not adapt to powdered milk." Maybe it wasn't powdered with the right stuff.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Wide Variety of Medicine For Victims of Arthritis Q—I have osteoarthritis in a couple of my fingers. Some people advise me to rub the joints. Is that good? How can I prevent the condition from getting worse?

A—There is a strong hereditary factor in the development of the swollen finger joints of osteoarthritis. They are more common in women than in men and often start with the onset of the menopause. Such exertions as typing, piano playing, knitting, trying to open stuck windows or screwtop jars or carrying heavy packages may aggravate them. Excessive heat and cold should be avoided. Many housewives wash dishes in water that is much hotter than it needs to be or spend too much time rearranging the contents of a deep freeze.

Massage is not recommended. If the joints are acutely red and tender, an injection of hydrocortisone directly into the joint may be helpful. Beyond this and aspirin (if the pain is severe) the only treatment is to avoid the injuries mentioned and keep the hands warm in cold weather.

Q—I have a lot of pain in my legs. My doctor says I have osteoarthritis. How can he tell that it isn't osteosarcoma? A—The X-ray appearance of osteosarcoma, a form of cancer, is entirely different from that of osteoarthritis.

Q—I am 71 and have osteoarthritis in my arms. Should I take some form of calcium for it? A—Although calcium is of great value in preventing and treating osteoporosis (softening of the bones), it is of no special value in the treatment of osteoarthritis.

Q—My husband is taking Medrol for arthritis. Will it cause any harmful side effects? A—Medrol is one of the corticosteroid drugs. It should not be taken continuously over a long period. Your husband should report any unusual symptoms promptly to his physician.

Q—I am a widow, 85. I have been taking Tandearil and Compazine for six years for my arthritis. Will they cause any harmful side effects? A—Tandearil is a brand of oxyprenylbutazone. It is widely used to treat joint diseases. In some persons it may cause waterlogging and a rash. These symptoms can be controlled by reducing the dosage.

Prochlorperazine (Compazine) is a tranquilizer that is often given to persons with arthritis. In large doses it may cause tremors, headache and dryness to the mouth. Anyone who is taking either drug should have a periodic blood count.

Clean Dentures Do Not Affect Sense of Taste DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: It seems that ever since I started wearing false teeth, food has not tasted the same. Sometimes I can't taste at all. Is it because my palate is covered by a denture?

ANSWER — I've heard this complaint from time to time but don't think it can be blamed on dentures that cover the palate. There are no taste buds in the palate. Gourmets' claims to sensitive, delicate palates are figments of their imaginations.

Taste buds are located on the upper surface of the tongue. The rough appearance of this surface is due to presence of numerous bumps called papillae. These bumps contain taste buds or receptors which are stimulated by the four basic tastes — sweet, sour, salty and bitter or some combination or variation of these; then the message is sent to the brain.

But subtlety and complexity of taste are much more involved. Sensations can be altered by texture of food, contrasts in quality and quantity of tastes, drugs, disease, alcohol, visual effect and memory.

Sense of smell is most vital to taste. Flavors we recognize are dependent on smell. We all know that when we have a cold, our sense of taste is temporarily diminished, altered or completely lost. Continued loss may be due to polyps in the nasal passages that are so large they block receptors of smell in the nose.

If your sense of taste is lost, it would be wise to consult a nose and throat specialist through examination of upper areas of nose is indicated.

Dentures that are not kept clean absorb odors that may be strong enough to alter or distort taste of certain foods. But denture odors can be prevented by eliminating from the diet volatile foods, such as onions and garlic; brushing dentures at least once a day with hand brush and warm water and soap; and having them cleaned and polished at least twice a year by your dentist.

Cannel At Bay

'They' Hunted Down, Is 'We' NEW YORK (NEA) — This being the start of the social season in New York, we made appointments last week with our tailor and hatter. To our way of thinking, nothing makes a better impression on society than a man in a trim suit and snappy hat.

And as it turned out, the suit came back looking as good as new. But the hat — well, we have had that hat for quite a few social seasons now and loved it dearly.

It is (or was) a magnificence in brown velvet with a handsome broad brim suitable for John Barrymore or Gene Fowler. And so we were fearfully bereaved to find that the hatter had trimmed it down to a shape suitable for Oliver Hardy.

"Don't worry about it," the hatter told us gaily. "They're not wearing broad brims and high crowns nowadays."

"They're not?" we repeated dully, surveying the meager little thing.

"No," he said. "They're wearing their hats just like this."

And with that he turned to wait on another customer, and we went out the door trying to figure out who "they" are, and why we should be wearing "their" hat.

Now, this is not the first time that sort of question has come up. In fact, as we reflected on the matter, it has been a constant quest of ours over the years to find out who "they" are — or I find who, then at least where "they" can be found and confronted.

But for all our trying, they have remained hidden behind their mysterious pronoun. And we have never been able to understand why that should be as no other pronoun is difficult to unmask and identify.

As everybody knows instinctively, "him" and "her" are peagles.

"We" is Queen Elizabeth, Gen. De Gaulle, and this column.

"His" and "hers" are married people. "You" and "yours" are the wife and her mother.

"Us" and "ours" is us — and ours.

"One" and "oneself" are people of taste, breeding and judgment. "Himself" is not. "It" of course, is sex.

"Himself" and "herself" are Barry Fitzgerald and Maureen O'Hara . . .

But as to "they," "their" and "themselves" — well, we have never been able to find anybody to fit that description.

However, we must confess that whoever they are, they are certainly very powerful and have had a tremendous influence on the way we live.

They have invented the tuxedo, the irregular verb, the salad fork, cheese dip and napkin rings.

For them, we studied Latin, quadratic equations, Wilas Marner, and Casoilian Spanish.

On their say-so we pay $8.50 to see Broadway shows about neurotic midgets, $50 yearly to read novels about novelists, and easily twice that amount to see movies based on other movies.

For their sake, we keep our shoes shined, shower daily wear clean shirts whenever possible and have our suit shaven up each autumn.

And, basically, we do not mind if it makes them happy. However, it occurred to us that living their life is one thing. But having to wear their hat was an outrage.

And so, on that revelation, we retraced our steps to the hat shop and made a rather noisy scene, concluding with the demand that the hatter build us a new hat to the old specifications or we'd know the reason why.

"Certainly, sir," he said affably as we stormed out. But before the door closed behind us, we heard him tell the customers: "Well, it looks as though they're starting to wear broad brims again."

So, after all these years we have the answer to our question. But we must admit that it comes as a considerable and ungrammatical shock to find out that after all is said and done, they are we.

Question Box

We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.

QUESTION: "If I knew someone who registered and intended to vote a tombstone vote, would he be my approach to convince him the error of this act? I tried to talk to him of God and his immortal soul, but he does not want to listen. Maybe you or your readers know of some reference in scripture that will help open his eyes."

"I know that he feels that he is morally right even if it is wrong. Besides, he isn't really a bad person. I feel that if he is apprehended with proof of guilt, it could ruin the rest of his life."

ANSWER: If we understand correctly, a "tombstone vote" is the casting of a ballot in the name of someone who is dead.

The questioner already has given reasons such a vote should not be cast. We can only add that if the vote means anything, it is the personal property of the person. No person has a right to take property of another and using another's name is theft.

Aside from the fact that such a person would have his life ruined if apprehended with proof of guilt, he should consider that he has himself to live with, even if he is not caught. And he must be prepared to pay the penalty when and if he is caught in some future time. He also should consider that if he is

Sixteen Seniors To End Season

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters will end the 1966 football campaign beginning at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Harvester Field when they host the Borger Bulldogs.

Coach Eural Ramsey's grid-ers will seek their sixth win in 10 outings and if they pull it off will finish with the most successful record a Pampa team has compiled since 1953.

A victory would also let the Harvesters close out 1966 with three straight victories.

But Borger has the habit of beating Pampa and has done so the last eight times the two old rivals have met.

The Bulldogs can win a share of the north zone title in district 3-A with a victory tonight.

Shockers Trim Dons, 14-8

AMARILLO—Pampa's Shockers ended their 1966 football season on a successful note Thursday with their second consecutive victory and third in 10 outings.

The Shockers clipped Palo Duro, 14-8 with both scores coming in the third period. The score was deadlocked at 0-0 at halftime.

But the Shockers, coached by Ed Lehnick, took the second half kickoff and marched 80 yards from the three to score. Hal Clabaugh kicked the conversion to make it 7-0.

On the following kickoff Palo Duro fumbled, and Pampa recovered on the Dons 35-yard stripe.

On their first play from scrimmage Gary Parrish scampered around left end to score. Clabaugh again kicked good to make it 14-0.

Palo Duro scored in the final quarter on a 20-yard pass after recovering a Pampa fumble.

The Shockers threatened one other time, driving to the Dons six in the first quarter but fumbled the ball away.

Last week Borger trimmed Monterey, 8-7, and now have a 2-1 league mark, same as Monterey and are 4-4-1 overall.

Pampa is 5-4 and 1-2 in league play with victories over Perryton, 20-14; Dumas, 20-6; Plainview, 34-20; Lubbock Coronado, 30-14 and Caprock, 30-12.

Losses have been to Palo Duro, 22-0; Monterey, 7-6; Amarillo 35-24 and Wichita Falls Rider, 20-0.

Sixteen seniors will be playing their last games as Pampa Harvesters tonight and sorely missed they will be.

Halfback L. D. Rowden, quarterbacks, Larry Stephens, Gary Hyatt, Smisson Goodlett; Fullback Ted Heiskell, ends James Matney and David Martindale tackles Doc Cornutt, Terry Troxel, Jack Williamson; guards, Billy Scribner, David Smith and Larry Keyser; center Glen Lewis and halfback Sherman Mitchell will be donning the Green and Gold uniforms for the last time.

The Bulldogs won't bring quite as much experience to Pampa as the Harvesters have but they are of good size and speed.

Borger had depended mostly on the running of fullback Larry Alexander, quarterback Steve Puritt and halfbacks Jerry Billington and Mike Plumlee.

The Bulldogs have shown one of the best defensive clubs in 3-A and lead the north zone in total defense, having given up only 189 yards per game on the average.

Pampa has had a rushing offense with fullback Ted Heiskell being the prime ground gainer and halfbacks McCarrrell and Rowden being deadly on punt returns and kickoff returns and end runs.

Rebels Bump Reapers 12-6 In Season Final for Both Teams

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

Records have no bearing whatsoever when two Pampa Junior High team get together for a football game.

A good example is Thursday's game between Pampa Lee Junior High ninth grade teams.

Lee went into the game with a 2-4 record and Pampa Junior High ninth had a 1-6 reading.

But the Rebels had to fight for their lives before escaping with a 12-6 victory over coach Harold Moore's Reapers.

Two more cases in point would be the meeting between the seventh grade teams from each school won by Pampa Junior High Seventh, 8-0. PJH had a 4-0-2 record going into that game while Lee was only 2-4 and Wednesday when the eighth grade team met Lee was 1-5 and PJH, 1-5-1 and the game ended in a 1-1 tie.

Stars were plentiful in Thursday's game and it was evident in a couple of years Pampa could have a very fine high school club again.

Lee's hard-charging fullback Mike Heiskell, yep, there's another Heiskell coming up, a cousin of Ted's, scored what proved to be the winning touchdown in the last play of the first half.

With the score knotted 6-6 and Lee with a third down and 37 yards needed for a first, with eight seconds showing on the clock, Heiskell galloped around left end, hit midfield, was swarmed by three tacklers, but spun loose and ended the 63-yard run as time ran out.

The run try for conversion failed, but Lee had a victory at halftime, 12-6.

Lee, mostly a passing team all season, did it on the ground Thursday, moving 30 yards in 10 plays on their first possession.

Pass interceptions and penalties stalled drive for the Reapers, one in the first period. They had driven to the Rebel 41 where Willis had a pass intercepted.

Lee had a second period drive fizzle at the Reaper 14 when two straight passes on third and fourth downs went incomplete.

Neither team could move in the third period and in the last stanza the Reapers moved to the Lee 14 where a fourth down pass was intercepted, the end zone by Lee's Holman who ran it out to the 18 and the Rebels were able to kill out the clock.

Statistics didn't mean much in this one with Lee winning on first downs, 15-8 and yards rushing, 209-98.

Cards To Get Test Without Johnson

By United Press International

The outcome of the National Football League's Eastern Division race may hinge on the passing accuracy of quarterbacks Ron Smith and Terry Nofsinger.

These unheralded signal-callers, playing on the same gridirons once frequented by such fabled quarterbacks as Y. A. Tittle, Sammy Baugh and Otto Graham, won their positions by forfeit when injury ended the season prematurely for bigger names.

Nofsinger, forced into action last week when Charley Johnson suffered a severe knee injury, tossed the winning touchdown pass to keep the St. Louis Cardinals atop the East with the best record (7-1-1) in pro football.

After Bill Neisen was lost for the season with a knee ailment, the Pittsburgh Steelers turned to Smith, a journeyman quarterback who had failed in previous tryouts with Green Bay and Los Angeles.

Cards Position Shaky

Despite their lofty perch, the Cardinals are a statistical also-ran, ranking among the lower echelon on team offense, and can't afford another snag in their already stumbling attack.

Smith, however, has handled the Steelers well and engineered their 16-8 upset over Cleveland last week.

Rambling With Red

By RON CROSS

Showdown time has come for Wheeler and White Deer and they are to represent their respective districts in the playoffs they must win tonight.

It is also showdown time for Borger and the Bulldogs are going to run into a Horner's nest at Harvester Field tonight.

Last week was a poor week although we did pick the upset of the week in predicting Washington's upset of UCLA.

The season record is now 76-39-4 and some more upsets are in store this week.

PAMPA 35, BORGER 14—The Harvesters will go into the game seven point underdog but that's the role they like best. Watch Heiskell and Rowden.

AMARILLO 22, PALO DURO 0—The Sandies can set back and watch the outcome of the Monterey and Borger games then will the Dons on Saturday.

MONTEREY 20, CAPROCK 13—The Plainsmen aren't good enough to represent the north zone but should be good enough to stop Caprock.

TASCOSA 40, LUBBOCK CORONADO 13—It's on to the district playoffs for the Rebels and anybody want to bet they don't win state.

LUBBOCK 10, PLAINVIEW 8—When a couple of losers get together anything can happen and an upset is possible here. But the Dogs seem to want to play dead.

WHITE DEER 42, STRATFORD 0—So it is on to the district playoffs for the Bucks. Still unscored on defensively. A state trip in the offering.

CANADIAN 21, SUNRAY 10—The Wildcats have their first winning season in some time and break that four game losing streak in the process.

WHEELER 16, CLARENDON 7—This could go either way but the Mustangs handled McLean and they beat Clarendon. Which, doesn't mean a thing.

MCLEAN 30, GRUYER 8—The Tigers will be wanting to take out their mad from losing last week and Gruyer should make a good whipping boy.

GROOM 10, TULIA B 0—The Tigers might be thinking ahead to next week and their showdown with Lefors.

OKLAHOMA STATE 10, NEBRASKA 7—This is our upset of the week. The Cowboys might have been thinking about the Huskers last week when they played Texas Tech.

ARKANSAS 21, SOUTHERN METHODIST 7—The Razorbacks are still as good as they were last year. The Ponies have been playing over their heads.

OKLAHOMA 21, MISSOURI 10—The Sooners need this to make the Nebraska game even more important.

OREGON STATE 16, WASHINGTON 0—Another upset. The Huskies are fine against a big one like UCLA but the unexpected can happen.

TENNESSEE 16, MISSISSIPPI 10—The Vols are the best in the Southeast besides Alabama and who knows what might happen.

Patriots Eyeing Divisional Crown

By United Press International

The Boston Patriots, battling to stay in contention for the Eastern Division title in the American Football League, hope that Jim Nance, the league's leading rusher, has a full head of steam Sunday when they meet the Houston Oilers.

Boston lost the Eastern Division lead last week when the Denver Broncos beat the Patriots on the last play of the game.

Although Nance played in that game, he was not at full speed because of a bruised shoulder he had suffered in practice.

Nance, who has gained 773 yards on 174 carries this season, was held to only 20 yards on 11 rushes as the Broncos won 17-10.

Nance has carried the bulk of the load for the Patriots' offense. Boston quarterback Babe Parilli, who needs just 24 completions to run his AFL career total to 1,000, has hit on only 91 of 205 passes this year for 1,200 yards.

WD, Wheeler Eyeing Titles

The stakes will be high in many area football games with two teams seeking berths in district playoffs and others playing their final games in 1966.

White Deer takes on Stratford at Stratford and the winner will represent district 1-A in the playoffs. White Deer is 3-0 in the district while Stratford is 2-2.

Wheeler goes to Clarendon to try and claim the district 2-A title. The Mustangs are 3-0 and Clarendon, 2-1.

McLean hosts Gruyer of district 1-A and the Tigers are hoping this game doesn't close out the season for them. The Tigers are 3-1 in district 2-A and are hoping for Wheeler to be upset so the district would end in a three way tie.

Canadian hosts Sunray in a district 1-A contest and the Wildcats are hoping to break a four game losing streak and end the season at 5-4-1.

Groom hosts Tulia B in a warm-up for their Nov. 11 date at Lefors for the district 3-B title. Groom is 4-4 for the season.

Overseas Mail Will Get Airlift

Postmaster Lynn Boyd announced today that henceforth all first class mail, personal sound recordings (voice letters), and parcels weighing 5 pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be airlifted on a space available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas.

Second class publications such as newspapers and magazines published weekly or more often, and featuring current news of interest to the military, also will be airlifted from San Francisco to the armed forces serving in Viet Nam.

Postmaster Boyd explained that parcels weighing 5 pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth combined, paid at surface rates, will be moved by surface transportation within the United States from the points of mailing to the post of embarkation.

To speed up separation and delivery of these smaller parcels falling within this category, Boyd said all parcels should be clearly marked upon acceptance at the post office with the letters SAM (surface airlift mail).

This, he stated, will eliminate the task of reweighing and measuring the parcels at the San Francisco Concentration Center prior to dispatch to Viet Nam or other overseas military post offices.

Boyd also reminded mailers that Christmas parcels weighing 5 pounds and under, though they are given airlift priority from San Francisco to Viet Nam on a space available basis, should be mailed no later than Dec. 1. Airmail, he said, should

NEW YORK (UPI) Stanley Heller & Co. says it believes a minor consolidation of recent gains is now taking place in the stock market, particularly among blue chips used in the Dow Jones industrial average. It says it believes the investment climate is more confident that it has been for months in view of the market's "exceptionally mild" reaction to a series of potentially upsetting news items.

Bache & Co. Inc. says it would not like to see the market go too far forward in view of impending White House decisions on defense spending, taxes and military strategy in Vietnam. The analyst foresees a "more cautious mood" developing among investors as the year draws to an end.

The Cleveland Browns football team fumbled only eight times during their entire 1959 season.

Johnson May Find 90th Congress Very Difficult to Get Along With

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sharp Republican gains in Congress appear to have dissipated the consensus which gave President Johnson the most impressive legislative record in recent years.

The gains also showed the 1964 Johnson landslide that produced the consensus was as much a product of disaffection with Barry Goldwater as it was an endorsement of the President.

Despite White House disclaimers, Johnson's life with the 90th Congress was sure to be a difficult one as resurgent Republicans brought new conservatism to considerations of Great Society programs.

And Johnson's position at mid-term was the same as that faced by his predecessor, President John F. Kennedy, who found legislative progress in 1962 extremely slow.

The President's efforts to win passage of his programs could be the greatest test yet of his fabled legislative skills which, have produced for him the measure of his presidential success—accomplishment.

Nearly complete returns showed that the President would have 248 Democrats in the House while Republicans would hold 187 seats.

During the history-making two years of the 89th Congress, democrats held a 294-139 edge in the House which, on crucial Great Society votes, still brought passage of those measures by slim 20 vote margins.

While the President sought to stay aloof from the off-year election results, the dimensions of the GOP gains beyond these usually posted in such years prompted speculation the gains were drawn from anti-Johnson votes.

The mutations that the new Congress might place on Johnson's pursuit of the Great Society were yet to be tested in the votes of the session that opens Jan. 10, 1967.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By far the most alarming news I've heard recently concerns the plan to torment telephone subscribers with worldwide direct dialing.

It is reported that when this system goes into operation in about five years, the intercontinental telephone numbers will have up to 15 digits.

In case you haven't seen one, a 15-digit number looks like this: 851273745339065.

Now what odds do you suppose Las Vegas would give that you could dial that number without making at least one mistake? Nine-to-five—Three-to-one? Ten-to-one? A hundred-to-one?

I have no idea what the probability ratio is, but the chances of getting a wrong number somewhere along the line obviously are rather abundant.

Bear in mind that these 15-digit numbers will be used not just by Americans but by people in Africa, South America, Asia, Australia and other points around the globe.

Further bear in mind that the telephone systems in many countries are not as efficient as the one in the United States. France, for example.

Trying to complete even a local call in the city of Paris can become a life's work.

Further bear in mind that telephone dialers in most countries are not as skilled as we Americans are.

Through the process of evolution, Americans have developed an extremely nimble index finger. It functions as a dialing instrument with a minimum of misuses and low comedy bundling.

But in countries where the telephone is less commonplace, the index finger is still in a primitive stage. Frenchmen, for example, tend to have fat fingertips, possibly as a result of drinking all that wine. This inhibits dialing dexterity.

Finally, bear in mind that the world is divided into 24 time zones, some of which are quite different from our own. As different as night and day.

Consider all these factors together and you can instantly forecast what is likely to happen when a Paris wig-maker attempts to reach a customer in Morocco by direct dialing.

Unless you speak French, or he speaks English, there is going to be a truly scintillating conversation when you get out of bed at 3:30 a.m. to answer the phone.

In the marbled splendor of Addis Ababa's Africa House, foreign ministers and a handful of heads of state attempted to restore at least the facade of an African unity which really never existed.

In an Africa torn by jealousies and suspicion, there are few real friends among its leaders and many rivals.

And so it was at what was supposed to have been the annual summit-meeting of the Organization of African Unity (OAU).

President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, President Houari Boumediene of Algeria and President William V.S. Tubman of Liberia all had flown home in varying degrees of irritation.

President Sekou Toure of Guinea never did show up and from his capital in Conakry divided his rantings between the United States and that "stogie of the imperialists"—Ghana.

The quarrel which could mark the end of the OAU as any kind of an African rallying point after but three years of life, would have had its comic opera aspects if it had not also symbolized a chronic ill.

Place Under Arrest

On Friday, Nov. 4, in Accra, Ghana security officers dragged 19 kicking and screaming Guineans from a Pan American Airways plane and placed them under arrest. Among them was Guinea's foreign minister, Louis Lansana Bevgoue, enroute to the OAU meeting at Addis Ababa.

He would be released, Ghana's Lt. Gen. Joseph A. Ankrah announced, when Guinea released approximately 100 Ghanaians who, he charged, were being held against their will in Guinea.

That did it.

The mercurial Toure accused the CIA of engineering the plot and poured most of his abuse upon the United States rather than Ghana.

Undoubtedly, the Ghana action consisted of international blackmail on a rather grand scale.

A new legend in Early American furniture

KING'S ARROW COLLECTION
BY SPRAGUE & CARLETON

A highly individual dining group—scaled with boldness, fashioned with unstinted craftsmanship. The trestle table has a hefty two-inch plank effect top and pull-out ends which extend the table to a wonderfully useful 100 inches. The ladderback chairs are pure American in style with superb custom details: shaped rungs of varying widths, sausage turnings, woven rush-type seats. The cathedral hutch buffet abounds in lavish touches: leaded plate glass bordered with amber Flemish glass, specially-designed solid brass eagle pulls, doors with touch-latches and piano hinges, a drawer with a special silver envelope. Here is but an inkling of the infinite interest of Sprague & Carleton's King's Arrow Collection. You will want to see it all firsthand.
