DeGaulle Warns US To Leave Viet

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle bluntly told the United States today to get out of Viet Nam. He said the war will continue until Washington follows his advice.

In his most outspoken comment to date on the war in Southeast Asia, the 75-year-old De Gaulle, told a cheering

Carubbi Named To Post as Assistant Attorney General

Pampa attorney A. J. Carubbi today accepted an offer of appointment as assistant Texas attorney general. It was announced shortly before noon from the office of Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in Austin.

Carubbi, it was learned, had been considering the offer since early in August.

The announcement from the attorney general's office stated Carubbi will report Sept. 28 for his assignment in Austin.

The young Pampa attorney, who just recently completed a term as president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, more recently was a central figure in the Gray County race for the Democratic nomination for county judge.

After two months of litigation, a vote recount gave the nomination to incumbent County Judge Bill Craig. Carubbi had lost a runoff election with Craig by 8 votes.

Carubbi said today he planned to maintain a residence in Pampa, although his family would follow him to Austin later this year.

The assistant attorney general's post accepted by the Pampa today carries with it a $22,000 yearly salary.

Corporate Tax Bill Pushed by House
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strong support was building on Capitol Hill today for suspension of a corporate tax credit many economists believe is responsible for the most inflationary aspect of the nation's overheated economy.

Pushing through such a measure which would amount to a tax increase for most businesses—promised to be a tricky procedure at best, since the administration has frowned on such a move in the past.

"It's going to be hard to do without the President's help," said Senate Democratic Whip Russell B. Long, La., who keeps in close contact with the White House. "But we might get it."

The investment, the brainchild of Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler when he was serving as undersecretary during the Kennedy administration, was designated as a permanent part of U. S. tax policy.

90 Killed By Crash Of Airplane In Yugoslavia

Chartered Airliner Burns Near Runway

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (UPI) — A chartered Britannia Airways turbo-prop "whispering giant" airliner carrying 110 vacation-bound Britons and a crew of seven crashed and burned two miles short of landing here today. Official Yugoslav reports said 90 persons were killed.

A Britannia Airways spokesman in London said the death toll may be higher. He said the airline had been advised there were only "about 25" survivors instead of the 27 reported by Yugoslav authorities.

E. D. Williams, managing director of the airline, said in England that "we know of no circumstances which would explain the crash."

Reports from the scene said the plane burst into flames after crashing. Wreckage was scattered over hundreds of yards.

British and Yugoslav investigating teams were reported at the crash site, near the village of Komend.

A spokesman for Ljubljana's central surgical clinic said 25 crash victims were brought to local hospitals. He said 17 needed surgery. Two surgical patients died after admission and one was dead on arrival.

The clinic spokesman said three of the hospitalized victims were in serious condition. Most were being treated for burns.

"We have every hope that they will pull through all right. We just have to wait and see," the spokesman declared.

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said the crash occurred shortly after midnight 6 p.m. CST Wednesday near the village of Komend, about three miles from mountain-ringed Brnik Airport.

Britannia Airways said the four-engine plane went down two miles from the end of the runway.

The airline said it was impossible to speculate on the cause of the crash until an investigating team reached Ljubljana, the capital of Slovenia, one of Yugoslavia's six republics. The city is about 30 miles south of the Yugoslav-Austrian border.

J. S. Harrington, a director of Britannia Airways, said the plane was chartered to Universal Sky Tours. In London, a spokesman for the tour organization said all 110 passengers were bound for a 12-day package-deal vacation in Ljubljana.

"We believe all aboard were British," the spokesman said. "We are pretty certain there were no Americans or other foreigners on the flight."

The spokesman later confirmed that all 100 passengers and the seven crew members were British.

The trip, including air transportation and hotels, cost $102.90 per person.

Viet Nam Toll Of U.S. Dead Nears 5,000

SAIGON (UPI) — The toll of U.S. war dead in Viet Nam today approached 5,000, Military spokesmen said. American casualties last week totaled 687, including 87 men killed in action.

The casualty report for the week ended Aug. 27 brought to 4,919 the number of American troops killed in Viet Nam. In fighting last week 599 Americans were wounded and one was listed as missing and presumed captured.

For the second day in a row, Air Force and Navy planes carried the brunt of the war to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese on both sides of the 17th parallel and inside the no-man's land separating North and South. No significant ground action was reported.

Fly 97 Missions
American pilots flew 97 missions over the North while other U.S. airmen flew 388 sorties in the South. U.S. B52 bombers from Guam today struck twice at suspected Viet Cong base camps and infiltration routes in Quang Ngai Province, in one raid bombing inside the demilitarized zone dividing the two Viet Nams.

Air Force spokesmen disclosed that an F4 Phantom jet carrying two crewmen crashed Wednesday about 35 miles northwest of Dong Hoi, southernmost city in the North Vietnamese panhandle. The two airmen were officially listed as missing in action.

A U.S. Navy reconnaissance jet crashed earlier Wednesday in the Gulf of Tonkin only eight miles east-southeast of the port of Haiphong. The pilot was rescued 22 minutes later amid cannon fire from Communist junkies as an Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter crew pulled off one of its closest (See VIET NAM, Page 3)

U. Thant Announces He Will Quit Post

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant announced today he will quit the United Nations when his present five-year term expires Nov. 3, and that he will not be a candidate for a second term.

Despite the finality of Thant's statement it was considered certain U.N. diplomats would make an all out effort to draft him for at least a partial term rather than create a leadership crisis.

United Press International learned of Thant's final decision as he was certain that my unwillingness to be available for a second term will not be misconstrued by those who know of his faith in the United Nations and its "indispensability" to become an effective force to keep peace in the world.

He said the Security Council should now consider itself "unfettered" in its selection of a successor—the fourth man to head the world body in its 21 years of existence.

Thant said in a lengthy statement that he was "touched" by the support and appeals to him to remain in office coming from all corners of the world, including President Johnson.

He said his faith in the United Nations was "unshakable" and he expressed certainty of its "ultimate success."

"I have decided not to offer myself for another term as secretary general and to leave the Security Council unfettered regarding the choice" of his successor, he said.

RUSSIA BLAMES RED CHINA FOR PARTY SPLIT

MOSCOW (UPI) — The ideological war between Russia and Communist China was sharpened today with Soviet charges that Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese leaders merited full blame for the split in the world Communist movement.

In a resolution Wednesday, the Soviet Communist party Central Committee said Peking's tactics were a "big service" to the United States in Viet Nam and appealed directly to the Chinese people — over the heads of their leaders — for unity.

It was the first public party statement denouncing Chinese leaders personally since Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin took over from Nikita Khrushchev two years ago and marked a further escalation of the Sino-Soviet feud.

The statement condemned resolutions passed by the Chinese Communist party Central Committee earlier this month in its first plenary session in four years. Among other things, the Chinese branded the Soviet leadership "revisionist" and categorically rejected Soviet appeals for a united Communist front against the United States in Viet Nam.

Train Kills Young Miami Truck Driver

MIAMI — Forace D. Evans, 25, Wheeler, was killed Wednesday afternoon when the grain truck he was driving was struck by a Santa Fe railroad freight train inside the city limits here.

Evans was the seventh person to die at the rail crossing in the past five years. Five members of one family were killed last Easter.

Witnesses at the scene described the crash as "horrible," and one man said he waved at Evans, to try and let him know the train was coming. According to witnesses signal lights at the crossing were working.

The impact hurled Evans' body about 65 feet from where the crash took place. He died about 15 minutes after the accident in the same spot where he fell after being thrown from the cab of the truck.

A large chunk of metal from the grain-loaded truck was hurled about 25 feet and crashed into a relay station house damaging electrical equipment in the building.

A Santa Fe employee, D. L. Salters, had just parked his pickup by the building, saw the crash coming and managed to get out of the way.

Cab of the truck was carried about 150 feet down the track and pieces of it and the trailer were carried and thrown as far as 80 yards.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Paul Geiser said Evans apparently did not hear nor see the train.

Veterans Okay Correspondence

More than 200 career-building home study courses offered by International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa., have been approved by the Veteran's Administration under the terms of the new G. I. Bill of Rights, reports Bob Wilhelm, local ICS representative.

Eligible for ICS training under the G. I. Bill are veterans who were discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable, and who served on active duty for 181 days after January 31, 1955. Members of the armed forces who have served at least two years and are presently on active duty, and veterans who served less than 181 days who were discharged or released because of service-connected disabilities are also eligible.

The first step in applying for G. I. educational benefits is to obtain VA form 21E-1990 from a regional office of the Veteran's Administration. When this form is completed, returned, and processed, an applicant receives his Certificate of Eligibility. This tells him the educational benefits to which he is entitled.

To apply for an ICS course under the G. I. Bill, an applicant must fill out the regular ICS enrollment application and note his Certificate of Eligibility (C) number. Those who have not received their C number still can enroll for the ICS course of their choice and send in their C number when they receive it from VA.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation — nearing its one year anniversary without a director — Saturday faced a new problem, a request for a priority system for construction projects. The board strongly rejected a request by the budget board that it set up a system of priorities for construction on the next two years. Chairman Horace Cromer noted that the board will be one year old at the end of this month, and a "entirely new approach cannot be accomplished overnight."

Sen. Fulbright Questions Role Of U.S. Commitments In Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., claims the Johnson administration is not keeping Congress or the American people informed about the deepening U.S. military commitment in Thailand.

Fulbright indicated that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he heads may launch an investigation later this month of the implications of American action in Thailand, whose "independence and integrity" the United States is pledged to preserve.

The Arkansas senator raised the question during a Foreign Relations Committee hearing Wednesday on the administration's public information policies in South Viet Nam.

He told Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester, the Pentagon's public information chief, that he has been unable to get any satisfactory answers on just what the United States was doing in Thailand.

"Are we going to have another Viet Nam there?" he asked. "We ought to know what we are getting into."

Fulbright said he is sorry now that he did not hold full-scale committee hearings before the Senate approved the Tonkin Gulf resolution of two years ago.

The administration has cited the resolution frequently since then as authority for its actions in Viet Nam.

He told Sylvester he feared the Thailand buildup might be the beginning of a similar commitment which Congress would find itself powerless to stop until it was too late.

Sylvester did not comment directly on Fulbright's question, saying he would prefer to reply in closed session.

The first dispatch of American forces to Thailand came in May, 1962, when President John F. Kennedy sent 5,000 U.S. troops in response to a Communist Pathet Lao offensive in neighboring Laos which moved toward the Thai border.

The troops were withdrawn the following June.

But the dispatch of the troops caused such logistic problems that a major U.S. building program was launched in Thailand, in case American forces might be needed again.

Forces Cut Gets Cold Reception

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The proposal by Senate Democratic leaders for a "substantial" cutback in U.S. forces in Europe is not likely to be acted upon by President Johnson—but it may give America's foot-dragging NATO allies some long second thoughts.

At present, no reduction in U.S. troop strength is in view. In fact, an increase is now in progress to make up for a net withdrawal of 15,000 men from Europe earlier this year to fill Viet Nam war needs.

Thus the recommendation for a troop reduction, drafted by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee at seven secret meetings and introduced as a resolution Wednesday by Chairman Mike Mansfield, met with a chilly reception at the White House.

The White House said that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had "informed" Sen. Mansfield and his group that in the administration's opinion this would not be a helpful step at this time.

The outlook for later in this decade, however, is much murkier. Many military men sense, even if they do not know, that there will be a considerably smaller contingent on the continent toward the end of the 1960s.

The reasons currently cited for resisting manpower cuts are both political and military. Rusk and McNamara contend that weakening U.S. power in Europe could tempt the Russians into risky adventures.

Washington vividly remembers Russia's effort in 1961 when, miscalculating the Kennedy administration's resolve, it tried to force the Allies out of Berlin. The Johnson administration has no taste for inviting new pressures by cutting forces at a time when the Soviet threat, in terms of military power, is undiminished.

Politically, the argument against cutbacks is that the United States is committed in its own interest to the defense of Western Europe. Any

Price Briefs His Campaign Helpers At Amarillo Meet

Congressional candidate Bob Price promised to work "for the best interests of the district and its economy" and not to be "compromised by arm-twisting" at a meeting of campaign workers in Amarillo last night.

"If you'll help elect me to Congress . . . I will apply common sense, reason, and responsibility to my actions as your congressman and I will call for government to apply these same guidelines," the 18th District candidate told several hundred supporters meeting at Amarillo's Coronado Inn.

Price blasted the present administration for creating "serious problems" with the nation's economy—brought on primarily by unwise and excessive federal spending.

"The government seeks more and more power, yet exercises less and less responsibility. The cost of living has soared to the extent that the average American family will have to pay $900 more this year just to maintain the same standard as 1965," Price charged.

The Pampa rancher-businessman called the administration for trying to make farmers and housewives the "scapegoat" for rising prices.

"This is a smokescreen, just another phony argument to conceal the administration's inflationary spending policies—that have driven prices upward, yet still have not been fair to the farmer," he stated.

"The time has come for us to decide whether we want our freedom or a handout. With your help I hope to make some contribution toward retaining our freedom," Price concluded.

In 1935, one of the worst hurricanes to strike the United States ripped through the Florida Keys, killing more than 365 persons.

August Is 'Cool' Summer Month

Although August started off with the high maximum for the summer, 104 degrees on Aug. 1, the rest of the month was cooler than the preceding two summer months.

The next highest recorded high for the month was 95, reached on Aug. 12. In all, the high reached 90 or above on 14 days during the month, compared to 28 days in July.

The "lowest" maximum was 56, recorded on Aug. 23. Maximum temperatures below 80 were recorded on six days.

The "highest" overnight low was 72, also reached on Aug. 1. The low for August was 51, registered on Aug. 22 and 23. The low was 70 or above on only three days, and below 60 on five days.

Moisture-wise, 2.09 inches of precipitation was recorded in the Pampa Daily News' rain gauge—72 below the 2.81 inches received in the preceding month.

The most moisture, .70 fell on Aug. 22, with 82 on the 23rd, 40 on Aug. 21, .36 on Aug. 19 and 0.1 on the last day of the month. A trace was recorded on two other days.

Skies were covered with more clouds during the month, with fog being present on several days. As a result, there was less of the sunshine expected during the last full month of summer.

"What an audience the United States would find for such an action!" he exclaimed.

Miller said he will be in Pampa Friday, Sept. 9, for the opening of the Gray County Democratic campaign headquarters, 110 W. Kingsmill.

The congressional candidate from Amarillo also announced the appointment of Mrs. Margaret Guddy as co-ordinator of women's activities, and Mary Simpson as chairman of publicity and campaign literature.

Miller said he plans to spend all day in Pampa when he comes for the Democratic headquarters opening on Sept. 9.

Pampa Schools To Have Early Dismissal Friday

All Pampa schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Friday so that elementary teachers may attend the Basal Reading Workshop at 3 p.m. in Robert E. Lee Junior High School, according to an announcement from the office of school superintendent.

Buses will leave elementary schools at 2:30 p.m. then go to the high school to pick up bus students there.

Following the 2:30 Friday adjournment, schools will be closed Monday in observance of the Labor Day holiday and will reconvene at regular hours on Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Commissioners Transfer Funds

Gray County Commissioners, in session this morning in Gray County Courthouse, authorized transfer of $20,000 from the General Fund to the salary fund.

Payment was authorized, also, to the Cities Service Gas. Co. in the amount of $2,210.55 as reimbursement for expenses incurred in lowering and casing gas lines. These lines were involved in construction work improving US Highway 60.

Willison was cited for leaving the scene of an accident and not having a Texas driver license following the collision at 3:59 p.m. yesterday, in the 600 block E. Frederic, according to a police report.

The Maddox car incurred approximately $250 damages with the Willison car having an estimated $75 damages, police said.

Personal Injury Suit In Court

Katy N. and Wilbur Windsor filed a personal injury damage suit yesterday against Montgomery Ward and Co., Inc. in 31st Judicial District Court.

The suit, in the amount of $25,700, is the result of personal injuries incurred by Mrs. Windsor, when she was a customer in the store on June 19, 1965.

Holloway advised all residents who signed up for the medical insurance part of medicare and who have questions about how premiums are paid, to get in touch with the social security office in Pampa, without delay. The phone number is MOhawk 4-3381.

The Pampa Social Security office in the Hughes Building, 400 W. Kingsmill, is open every Thursday night until 8:45 p.m.

The first dispatch of American forces to Thailand came in May, 1962, when President John F. Kennedy sent 5,000 U.S. troops in response to a Communist Pathet Lao offensive in neighboring Laos which moved toward the Thai border.

The troops were withdrawn the following June.

But the dispatch of the troops caused such logistic problems that a major U.S. building program was launched in Thailand, in case American forces might be needed again.

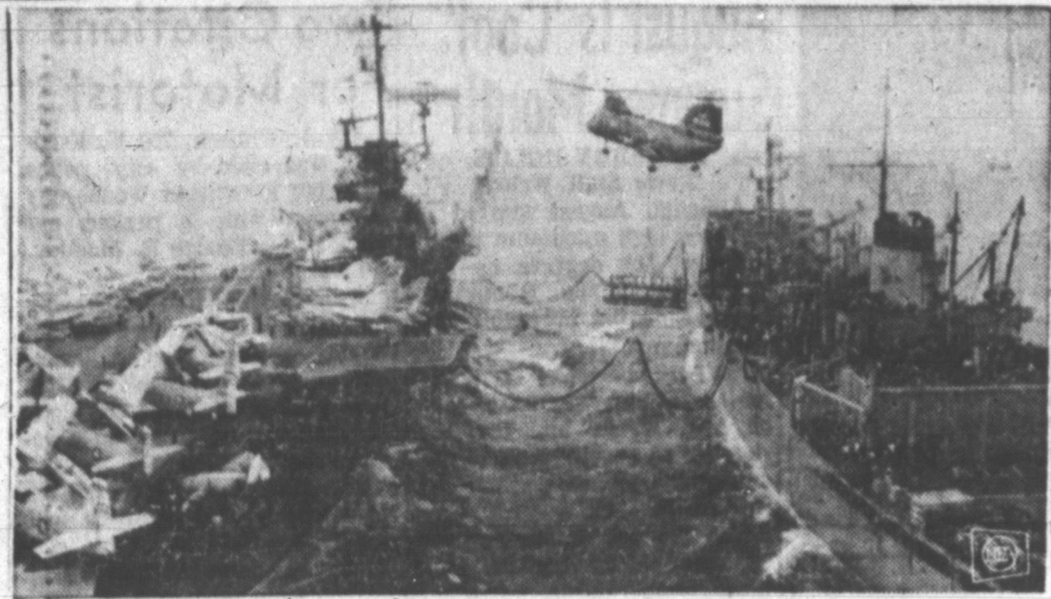

Forces Cut Gets Cold Reception

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The proposal by Senate Democratic leaders for a "substantial" cutback in U.S. forces in Europe is not likely to be acted upon by President Johnson—but it may give America's foot-dragging NATO allies some long second thoughts.

At present, no reduction in U.S. troop strength is in view. In fact, an increase is now in progress to make up for a net withdrawal of 15,000 men from Europe earlier this year to fill Viet Nam war needs.

Thus the recommendation for a troop reduction, drafted by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee at seven secret meetings and introduced as a resolution Wednesday by Chairman Mike Mansfield, met with a chilly reception at the White House.

The White House said that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had "informed" Sen. Mansfield and his group that in the administration's opinion this would not be a helpful step at this time

SUPPLY AT SEA used to be a complicated and time-consuming operation requiring a warship and its support vessel to cruise slowly side-by-side for hours as supplies were transferred by lines. Now, the bulk of the heavy work is being taken over by helicopters, which fly material between ships in a fraction of the time while ships maintain regular speed. Above, the carrier Hancock takes on fuel through hoses from the supply ship USS Sacramento while a Ch-46 copter speedily transfers aircraft fuel tanks overhead.

PEACE CORPS BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a bill authorizing the Peace Corps to operate for its sixth year at a cost of $110 million. Approval came on a 322-15 roll call vote. During debate on the Senate-passed measure, the House was told that Peace Corps volunteers were now at work in 46 countries and that there are more applications from foreign governments than can be filled. The 14,800 volunteers now on the job will be increased to about 16,000 during the next 12 months.

Tahiti Being Readied For DeGaulle's Visit

By JAMES BOYACK
PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — Paradise is being renovated for the coming visit of French President Charles de Gaulle.

The streets may not be paved with gold, but the newly laid coating of thin gravel and tar is a considerable improvement, as are newly planted flowers, freshly painted buildings and clearing of unsightly brush.

De Gaulle is due to arrive Sept. 6, four days prior to France's scheduled testing of its biggest nuclear device. Tahitians, who haven't seen "Mo' General" in years, are overjoyed.

De Gaulle's impending visit was prompted by the biggest "clean-up, fix-up" campaign in Polynesian history. Gravel, paint and flower seeds are at a premium as officials rush to manicure nature's already abundant gifts and to patch up local utilities.

Tahitians, striving to please the general's celebrated nose, have enthusiastically embraced the local government's new "flowered district contest"—an effort to cover every inch of De Gaulle's route with freshly planted flowers. The government has offered $6,900 in prize money to the districts which smell and look the prettiest, a considerable sum in Tahiti.

Above the floral delights, the islanders have assured the general magnificent views of Tahiti's lagoons. Brush and shrubs along the newly paved round-the-island road have been cleared to allow easy sightseeing.

Large crowds of Tahitians and delegates from the outer islands of French Polynesia will be carried to Papeete by ship, bus, truck and car to pay tribute to De Gaulle.

The French president will arrive in the evening and spend the night at Punaauia, a miles from here. He will inspect Papeete the following day stopping to lay a wreath on a monument to France's war dead and to make a speech.

De Gaulle will travel around the island Sept. 8, with a stop at a museum dedicated to French artist Paul Gauguin.

The next day he will fly to Mururoa, where two French atomic tests took place earlier this summer. He will board the "DeGrasse," command ship of the French atomic fleet.

If weather conditions permit, De Gaulle will observe the test of France's biggest nuclear device later this month.

He will spend the night at Hao and return to France the following day by way of Mexico.

Red Cross Plea Useless

GENEVA (UPI) — The international Committee of the Red Cross said recently it has appealed fruitlessly to both North and South Viet Nam to halt cruelty to prisoners.

The Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam have even rejected all contact with the Red Cross, an official report said, and refuse to accept emergency medical supplies despite the fact some prisoners "are sick and cannot receive the treatment their state of health demands."

The committee said it had sent medical supplies to Viet Cong delegates in Moscow, without receiving acknowledgement, and to the Red Cross in Cambodia for forwarding to the guerrillas.

South Viet Nam, the report added, was asked to stop ill-treatment of prisoners but replied only with a "file on atrocities attributed to Viet Cong forces."

In 1964, 68 persons were killed and property damage was estimated at $500 million as hurricane "Carol" lashed the New England coastline.

Police Forces Increase Salaries To Recruit Men in Department

By JOHN DROLLINGER
United Press International
Texas police forces are finding a pay raise means a lot, but many are losing men to better jobs and many policemen get off their jobs and go to "moonlight" at a part time job to make ends meet.

A United Press International survey of police departments showed, however, that some are doing fine. Those who are, attribute it to better pay.

Corpus Christi Police Chief R. T. Runyan said policemen are not paid enough. He said Corpus Christi has 1.7 policemen per 1,000 persons.

"We're 11 men short," he said and have only 237 men on the entire force. We need at least 90 more men to have an adequate supply of manpower."

Austin Police Chief R. A. Miles reported Austin is only one man short at this time. "Since the city announced two months ago that salaries would be lifted $35 per month, recruitment has increased substantially," he said.

Earl Chokiski, El Paso police chief, said, "we're 27 men short. At the last two recruitment exams, we were able to accept only seven men." He said policemen in El Paso will start at $4,824 the first year and increase to $5,964 over four years.

Port Arthur police said they have 12 men short. "We have about 1.1 policemen per 1,000 persons. San Antonio was authorized to have a police force of 785 men, but they are 85 men short. George W. Richsel, San Antonio chief of police, said, "our on-duty police force will average about 20 per cent of our total number of men." He said they need better pay and bonuses. "Most of our men are resigning for daylight jobs. We have about one policeman per 1,000 population."

J. T. Ally of Lubbock said his force was in "real good shape." He said that all the men's equipment is furnished by the city and "all the cars are air conditioned." Ally said he had a force of 194 men and this gave him 1.2 per 1,000 population. Lubbock city council has voted a pay raise for the police force effective Oct. 1. This is the second one in the last four months.

In Houston, the police force is at 50 per cent of best manpower, officials said. The force is 1,320 men. The National Safety Council standard is two patrolmen for each 1,000 residents.

The statewide recruiting drive started this week and has not done well. By Thursday, there were only eight who signed up and said they wanted to become Houston policemen. The Houston pay is $440 a month for a rookie, and rises to $516 a month in five years.

He said minority groups make the police their target and power lose morale because of it. Houston chief Herman Short said the defense buildup is cutting into police numbers.

Russian Paper Charges CIA Created Czarist Pretender

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet newspaper charged the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency

recently with "creating" a pretender to the Czarist throne of the Romanov family executed by the Bolsheviks in 1918. The mass circulation Komsomolskaya Pravda named the pretender as a "certain Col. Golyevsky" who claims to be Alexei Nikolayevich Romanov, son of Czar Nicholas II and potential heir to $400 million.

But in reality, the paper said, "This self-appointed man is nothing less than a sinister creation of American intelligence."

"He enjoyed the blessing of the chief of the CIA himself, Allen Dulles, who characterized him as an agent who was of incalculable help to the United States," the article said.

The pretender emigrated to the United States in 1963 and registered with the U.S. authorities as Alexei Nikolayevich Romanov, allegedly born at the Peterhof Imperial Palace in the suburbs of St. Petersburg," the paper said.

It said Golyevsky's claims to royal origin are rubbish. In one of the rare Soviet reaction to the variety of claims abroad of the survival of members of the Romanov family, Komsomolskaya Pravda told of the years old legal battle of Anna Anderson in Germany who lets she is Princess Anastasia.

Foreign Commentary

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet press is reporting Communist China's so-called cultural revolution in the same minor key it has used on Sino-Soviet affairs since the fall of Nikita S. Khrushchev in October, 1964.

The volume of news on the purge is much smaller than anywhere in the more serious Western newspapers and the comment is incomparably more guarded.

That is, where there is comment. In most cases the Soviet press has confined itself to reporting the bare facts of the highlights of the purge such as the removal of the mayor of Peking, or the breast-beating of academy president Kuo Mo-jo.

It also reported the Soviet official protest to Peking over attacks on the Soviet embassy in the Chinese Communist capital by youthful members of the Red Guard, an outgrowth of the cultural revolution, and threats to Russian diplomats.

No Editorial Comment
There has been no editorial comment, but in some of the news dispatches a laconic sentence has been used to the effect that the campaign for the "purification" of Chinese communism is incidentally exploited for anti-Soviet propaganda.

The more mature and sophisticated people of the Soviet Union who have experienced their own political and cultural purges however, need not be told much to appreciate the significance and the harm the Chinese-style campaign can cause in any country.

It is sufficient, for example, for the Soviet press to report in deadpan fashion recent Chinese fulminations against Russian and Western literary classics to make every literate Russian convulse with laughter.

"Shakespeare's ideas belong to the ideology of the upper classes ... and his plays contradict socialist collectivism, a Soviet press report recently quoted Chinese propaganda to have said.

And Leo Tolstoy, Russia's greatest 19th century novelist, in Chinese opinion "displayed revisionist conceptions."

Cut Up Ballet
As for another Soviet Sacred cow, the classical ballet. The Chinese were quoted as having said, "it urges reconciliation of the classes and teaches the bourgeois theory of humanitarianism."

It is only the Russians of the older generation who recall the primitive Soviet era of "prolet-cult" (proletarian culture) of the 1920s when some "proletarian" critics denounced Russia's greatest poet, Alexander Pushkin, as a romantic nobleman.

But even that was heaping Marxist praises on the aristocratic Russian poet compared with what the Chinese are calling Shakespeare and Tolstoy.

The older Russians also grimly recall the nightmarish past when Josef Stalin liquidated some of the country's greatest intellectuals as "enemies of the people."

But even the more recent and postwar Stalinist campaign against so-called "ruthless cosmopolitans" in Soviet culture appears relatively mild to Soviet minds compared to the indiscriminate Chinese condemnation of its own and foreign literary giants.

Older Russians Remember
The young generation may have forgotten it but older Russians remember when the sun rose and set with Stalin, when Stalin was the greatest genius of all time, the noblest man, the best friend of children widows and orphans.

He was never, however, a great swimmer and claimed no records of battling against the Volga current.

Stalin's "big leaps" were never as big as Mao Tse-tung's. Consequently Soviet propaganda need not cross the T's and dot the I's. It considers it enough to report what the Chinese press says about the "cultural counter-revolutionaries," the Soviet and Chinese revisionists and the genius of Mao Tse-tung.

And on dull days, of which there are plenty now, the Soviet press manages to regale its readers with other deadpan reports taken verbatim from the Chinese press. They are about how Mao Tse-tung's thoughts helped people win table tennis matches, raise bigger and better watermelons and solve the fertilizer problem.

But a full scale, serious, theoretical critique or evaluation of what is going on China remains to be written.

Doctor Notes Slayings May Have Effect

STORRS, Conn. (UPI)—A psychology professor said recently it was "certainly conceivable" that the wave of mass slayings in the United States might have prompted suspect Arthur Davis, to kill five persons in New Haven.

University of Connecticut Prof. Julian B. Rotter said "that people who have feelings of great hostility could translate their thoughts into actions just because of the fact that somebody else did it also."

Dr. Rotter said that such persons could also be motivated because publicity necessarily given to multiple slayings could in them prompt an unconscious desire for a similar place in the limelight.

Men's Fight for Fellow Female Worker Ends With Agreement

GARDINER, Ore. (UPI) — This small community's battle of the bulge — touched off by skin-tight jeans worn by a well-proportioned female mill worker — is over.

The end came Tuesday night when Pat Morris, 35, showed up for work on the graveyard shift in baggy blue jeans and a loose-fitting blue blouse.

A week ago, Miss Morris, whose figure measures 39-27-39, arrived for work at the International Paper Co. plywood mill here wearing go-go boots, tight jeans and a form-fitting blouse.

That spelled big trouble. She was sent home. Just too distracting for the male employees, charged her foreman. The men didn't think so, and they went home too — on strike.

The lumber and sawmill workers union called Miss Morris' dismissal an illegal suspension and said the strike must go on. The company countered with a federal court suit asking $4,262 a day in damages on grounds the strike violated contract provisions.

Management and union officials began meeting behind closed doors, and Tuesday the union agreed to send the rank and file back to work. Terms of the settlement were kept secret.

When the graveyard shift workers arrived Tuesday night, there was the 5-foot-6, 138-pound Miss Morris.

Obviously shaken by the fuss her dismissal caused in this coastal mill town, she declined to give a lengthy interview to waiting newsmen. But she did say she planned to continue working here.

Miss Morris had received both threatening and supporting letters during the strike. At one point — fearful that she might become a victim of violence — she even considered getting a gun permit.

STRIKE CAUSE at a Gardiner, Ore., plywood mill is Pat Morris. Some 300 mill workers walked out to protest her suspension because her snug-fitting clothes allegedly distracted other workers.

employs comics, acrobats and strip-teasers said Miss Morris can go to work for him any time.

More 'Marrieds' Today Can Celebrate 50th Anniversary

NEW YORK, N.Y. — This is the year—1966—in which Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower, and 160,000 other American couples, complete 50 years of married life and celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

This is also the year in which Pat and Luci Nugent, and about 1,850,000 other American couples, take their marriage vows and hope for the same luck and longevity that the Eisehowers have had.

In 1916, the chances that 24-year-old Dwight Eisenhower and his 19-year-old Mamie would live out 50 years together were only 1 in 6. In 1966, the chances that 23-year-old Pat Nugent and his 19-year-old Luci will live to celebrate their golden wedding are 1 in 3.

The dramatic improvement in a couple's chances of living out a half-century together is due to the progress in reducing mortality during the last 50 years, according to statisticians of life insurance companies.

As examples of the married life today's bride and groom expect — unless divorce or annulment intervene (in which case all bets are off) — the statisticians offer these examples: Both 22 at marriage — 43 years. Groom 30, bride 25 — 37 years.

Labor Day To Bring Reunion

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Mrs. Darlene Davis hopes to meet her father Labor Day for the first time in 32 years.

Mrs. Davis said her father, Logan Kinnison of Rising City, Neb., telephoned her Wednesday night. He said he had been trying to find her for many years.

She was adopted at the age of four, she said. Her father located her when several of her sisters and brothers visited a mutual friend of Kinnison's in Roscoe, Tex.

Mrs. Davis said she and her father now want to find her sister, Imogene, whose last known home was in Florida in 1961.

When the graveyard shift workers arrived Tuesday night, there was the 5-foot-6, 138-pound Miss Morris.

Obviously shaken by the fuss her dismissal caused in this coastal mill town, she declined to give a lengthy interview to waiting newsmen. But she did say she planned to continue working here.

Miss Morris had received both threatening and supporting letters during the strike. At one point — fearful that she might become a victim of violence — she even considered getting a gun permit.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) —Robert Johnson of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis says that for investors, the important thing to remember in planning long-term investment programs is that Americans have accepted inflation as a way of life and that further depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar is virtually certain.

Johnson says that this, rather than concern over the current level of stock prices or interest rates or immediate business prospects, should be the primary consideration of investors today.

Edward A. Viner & Co. says the growing tempo of selling points to an early, even if only temporary, reversal of the current downtrend.

Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. Inc. says that with the Dow-Jones industrial average down almost 72 points in three weeks and more than 6,000 net declines in this period, the stage may be set for a classic selling climax during the next session or two although this may be well beyond Friday's closing level.

NEW YORK (UPI) —Goodbody & Co. says that whatever the longer term course of the market, it believes that at present, after a 230-point drop in the Dow-Jones industrial average from its February peak, the least that can be expected is a rally of substantial proportions.

Stanley Heller & Co. says that while Dow-Jones guessing game is impossible to play at this time, it believes an uptrend correction will be forthcoming in the very near future. In all probability, the firm says, it will be stronger and more rapid than most now expect.

Kenneth B. Smilen and Kenneth Safian of Purcell, Graham & Co. say the market now seems to be in the final stages of the decline which has been in progress since last winter. The analysts say in terms of time the bottom does not appear to be far off — perhaps five to nine weeks — but in terms of stock prices, much more damage will have to be done before a major buying opportunity comes.

2 Reasons Why It's A Pleasure to Pay Him

FIRST, it's a pleasure to pay anyone who gives you so much for your money as does your newspaper boy. Every day he brings you exciting news, striking news-pictures, enjoyable features, famous columnists, top-flight comics, latest sports, newest fashions, thrifty store news—and a hundred other things to entertain the family or save you time and money.

SECOND reason is the boy himself: A young neighbor who is eager to succeed in his first business venture—and who shows his appreciation for your prompt payments by striving to serve you swiftly and dependably in all kinds of weather.

Balloonist Dies After Suffering Ascent Effects

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Nick Piantanida, a daredevil skydiver whose goal in life was to break the world free fall record, died this week in a Veteran's Administration hospital here from the effects of an ill-fated balloon ascent.

Piantanida, 33, suffered oxygen starvation when his pressure suit decompressed more than 10 miles above the Great Plains during an unsuccessful attempt on the record last May 1.

He never regained consciousness. A crew-cut ex-Marine unshaken by the dangers of high altitude ballooning, Piantanida lived in Bricktown, N.J., with his wife and three young children.

The fateful balloon launch from an airport in Sioux Falls, S.D., last May was his third attempt to break the free-fall record now held by a Russian. He had planned to ride the balloon's gondola to a height of more than 100,000 feet and jump overboard, falling nearly all the way to earth before opening his parachute.

But when he reached an altitude of 57,000 feet, something went wrong. His ground crew and his wife, Janice, listening on a two-way radio, heard him gasp, "emergency."

That was followed by a gush of air through the mouthpiece of his helmet and then silence. The ground crew cut the gondola loose from the balloon by remote control, and doctors said Piantanida was without oxygen for at least three and one-half minutes during the descent to earth.

Rescuers found Piantanida in a field in southern Minnesota and rushed him to a hospital at Worthington, Minn. He was later transferred to a Minneapolis hospital and then to the National Institute of Health in Washington, D.C.

He was brought to the Veteran's Administration hospital here only two days ago.

DENISON, Tex. (UPI) — A woman was found early Saturday sprawled in a street with two bullet wounds in her head and one in the throat. She was dead on arrival at a hospital. The victim was Evelyn Austin, 40, of Denton. Police said a witness heard three shots and called officers. They found the woman's body some 100 feet away from her auto, in the northwest part of town.

'Bobby Watching' Is Growing Fad

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Bobby watching in this political year is the fastest growing American spectator sport. It is a craze, a fad, sweeping the country like hula hooping, miniature golf or mah jong.

No equipment is necessary to play. The only rule is that the player must keep his eyes on and his ears tuned to Robert Francis Kennedy, junior U.S. senator from the state of New York, headman of the Kennedy family and the most implacable politician on the American scene.

Harry S. Truman played a tough game of politics. Truman learned politics at the knee of Tom Prendergast, the late unimpaired Democratic boss of Jackson County, Mo. Kennedy plays even tougher. This young man makes the old man look like a daisy chain prancer.

What is it that the Bobby-watchers watch? They watch the young man in the process of plowing under Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey like one of Henry Wallace's little pigs. They also watch Bobby cutting President Johnson down to size.

Some Bobby-watchers become detached from reality in the excitement of the watch. They begin to delude themselves that young Sen. Robert F. Kennedy may be on the way to seizing from Lyndon Johnson the 1968 presidential nomination.

This, of course, is nonsense. Kennedy would have to pass a miracle to accomplish that. A President seeking nomination for a second term will be nominated. Such a President and his political associates have iron-fisted control of nominating convention machinery.

If you doubt that, think back to 1932 when President Herbert C. Hoover was renominated. Any President can be renominated for a second term. So says experience and that is that.

All changes with respect to Hubert Humphrey, Johnson picked Humphrey as a ticket-mate in 1964, explaining that HHH would be best qualified for all to succeed to the presidency in emergency. A more candid explanation would have been that Johnson in 1964 needed to attract left wing Democrats — lefties such as Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). Humphrey was just the bait for that.

As it turned out, LBJ didn't need any help except from the Republicans to be elected in 1964. So he owes Humphrey nothing. Never did! Experience says emphatically that LBJ would drop Humphrey instantly if he were convinced that Hubert on the ticket might put the 1968 election in jeopardy.

So Robert F. Kennedy does have a chance to knock off Humphrey for 1968 and he seems to be working at it. But Kennedy misses no opportunity to boobytrap LBJ.

Lyndon-De Gaulle Visit Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield suggested recently that President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle arrange to meet soon after De Gaulle's current Asian DE. Gaulle's current Asian trip.

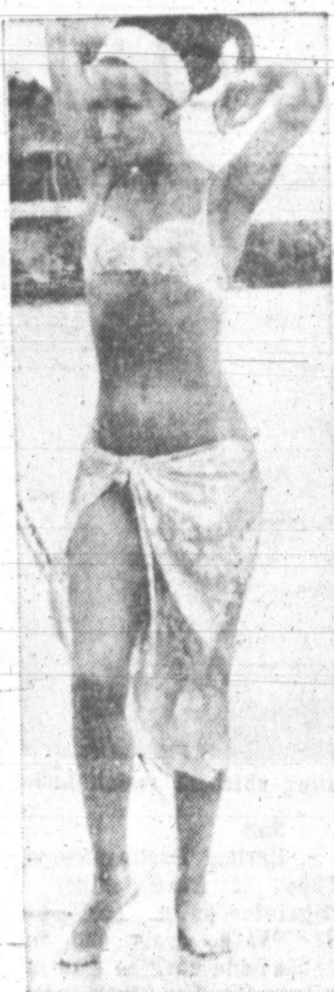

Mansfield noted that en-route home, De Gaulle would stop at Basse-terre on the French island of Guadeloupe in the Caribbean. That, said Mansfield in a statement, might be a convenient spot for a Johnson-De Gaulle meeting to explore possible Viet Nam peace moves.

The Montana Democrat said that what is "fundamental" in the Viet Nam situation is "the need to stop the conflict to dorestall its enlargement by whatever approach promises best to supply the first effective stop to the restoration of a peace at the soonest possible moment."

De Gaulle's forthcoming meeting with Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia could be of "profound importance to the world," Mansfield said.

In 1887, Thomas Edison received a patent for a motion picture device.

In 1932, New York City Mayor Jimmy Walker resigned after an investigation of corruption by the Seabury Committee.

Chinese Using Political Slogans As Street Signs

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Chinese Communists have started using political slogans as street names. Heaven forbid that the practice should become widespread.

Maybe the citizens of Peking can cope with an address such as "Struggle Against Revisionism Street," but that system would never work in the United States. We already have our hands full with the ZIP code.

It is, however, interesting to speculate as to what might happen if the new Chinese street naming method were adopted here. We certainly have enough political slogans to do the job if we wanted to.

New Address
I assume, for openers, that the address of the White House would be changed from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue to "1600 Great Society Street." Which is not to be confused with either "New Deal Boulevard" or "New Frontier Road."

I personally would want to live on "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too Terrace." I can understand, however, why others might prefer a home on "Remember the Maine Lane" in the newer part of town.

Extreme caution would have to be exercised in adapting political slogans to thoroughfares. Otherwise, there would be a lot of terrible traffic jams. You can easily imagine, for instance, what might happen if you were driving along "Get Out of Viet Nam Street" and came to the intersection of "40 or Fight Avenue."

Traffic would be backed up all the way to "Speak Softly and Carry a Big Stick Street."

Bad Intersection
Nor would it be prudent to stand on the corner of "We Shall Overcome Avenue," where it crosses "The South Shall Rise Again Drive."

On the other hand, "Ban The Bomb Boulevard" could run parallel with "Mothers for a Sane Nuclear Policy Parkway."

Motorists driving down "In Your Heart You Know He's Right Street" would find it posted with "No Left Turn" signs. "A Chicken in Every Pot" would be the name of a freeway. "I'd Rather Be Right Than President" would be a one-way street.

"Turn the Rascals Out Street," "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death Street," "Taxation Without Representation Street," "Make the World Safe

Texas University Holds Dorm Plans Because of Coed

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A proposed $350,000 women's cooperative housing complex at the University of Texas — stymied by a complaining coed in July — was passed for further study Saturday by the Board of Regents. The board voted to accept an administration recommendation to review the project from a design concept and settle the matter at a later meeting. The storm came at the last regents' meeting when pretty blonde coed Cindy Haistead of Dallas wrote a letter complaining that the proposed structures had "defects in design" in that the exterior will not blend with existing architecture and that downstairs windows in the new units are small and narrow and cannot be opened.

for Democracy Street" and "Keep Cool With Collidge Street" are other possible thoroughfares.

But "Back to Normalcy Street" would be a dead end. "He Kept Us Out of War Street" would be closed for repairs, and "Let's Look at the Record Road" would be a blind alley.

New Generation of Imperials for 1967

The 1967 Imperial, completely new in styling, body construction and chassis engineering, is viewed with approval by Lynn A. Townsend, right, president of Chrysler Corporation, and Robert Anderson, general manager of the Chrysler-Plymouth Division. Imperials for 1967 continue to be big cars—nearly 19 feet long and weighing more than 5,000 pounds—with improved interior dimensions contributing to superior riding comfort. Front and rear seats are higher, over-all height increased, front head room and leg room improved, front wheels more widely spaced and new equipment options added to the line. The body is of unitized construction, resulting in a stronger, more durable structure. Addition of a new four-door sedan increases the number of models to five in this new generation of Imperial cars. The 440-cubic inch V-8 engine is improved in performance and quietness of operation. Pictured above is the elegant Imperial LeBaron four-door hardtop for 1967.

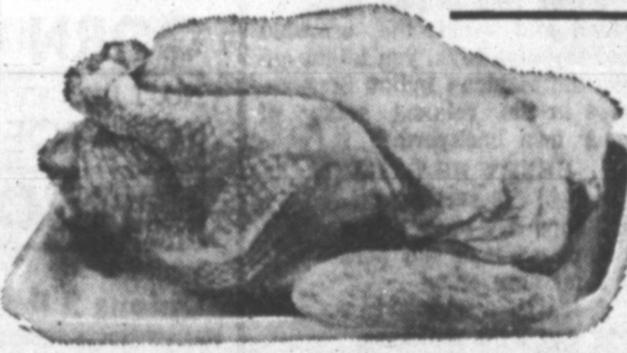

In 1965, Argentine President Juan Peron offered to resign to offer but was ousted and went into political unrest in the end. In 1939, World War II broke out as Germany invaded Poland.

Back-to-School Menus Highlighted by Easily Prepared Oven-Fried Chicken

OVEN-FRIED chicken topped with a delicate mushroom sauce is easy to prepare and will highlight any family meal.

Let the oven do the work during the busy back-to-school days. Tender, juicy oven-fried chicken topped with a delicate mushroom sauce will highlight any family meal. This easy recipe will awaken family taste buds whether served on the porch, patio or dining table. This chicken glows with fresh, springtime flavor and is especially grown to be plump and meaty.

When buying chicken gauge the amount bought by the appetites of those eating. If guests are expected to take seconds, figure how many servings are needed, not number of people eating.

If the meal is to be toted to a park, careful packing is essential. The mushroom sauce may be made early in the day and sealed, while piping hot, in a wide-mouth thermos. As soon as the chicken is cooked and while it is still hot cover tightly and wrap with several layers of newspaper. When the diners are ready, the chicken will still be crisp, golden, and hot.

The oven-frying method using butter and a careful blend of seasonings results in crisp, golden chicken, good in its own right. But for a special gourmet touch this subtly seasoned mushroom sauce will bring compliments to the cook.

Plump mushrooms, fresh green onions, and sweet cream, plus a dash of soy sauce, all combine to make a flavorful accompaniment to the oven-fried chicken.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

(Yield: 2 to 4 servings)

- 2 pound broiler-fryer, cut up for frying
- 1 stick (½ cup) butter or margarine
- Salt
- Pepper
- Paprika
- Mushroom Sauce:
 - 1 stick (½ cup) butter or margarine
 - 10 ounces fresh mushrooms, sliced cap through stem
 - ¼ cup chopped green onion
 - 1½ tablespoons flour
 - 1 teaspoon soy sauce
 - 1½ cups light cream
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon pepper

Melt butter in roasting pan in slow oven (325 degrees F.). Remove pan and arrange chicken pieces, skin side down. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Turn after 30 minutes and sprinkle second side of chicken with seasonings. Bake an additional 30 minutes. To make mushroom sauce, melt butter in fry pan. Sauté mushrooms and onions about 5 minutes or until onion is golden. Sprinkle flour over vegetables and blend well. Add soy sauce and cream slowly and cook until mixture thickens. Season with salt and pepper. Serve hot over chicken.

Pour a few drops of your favorite cologne in the rinse water for handkerchiefs. You'll like the lingering fragrance.

Food Buying Guide

(The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this coming weekend was prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.)

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The first shopping weekend of September is here. Summer's vegetables and fruits are still in good supply and in most places, quite reasonably priced.

Ground beef, roasts, and steaks are reported as plentiful in most sections of the nation. Hams and spareribs are the main pork buys.

Broiler-fryers and turkey still remain as the bargain protein buys for most areas. Eggs and peanut butter are also budget protein foods to be remembered during the weekend.

The plentiful vegetable list is as follows: Carrots, celery, sweet corn, cucumbers, onions, green peppers, potatoes, radishes and tomatoes.

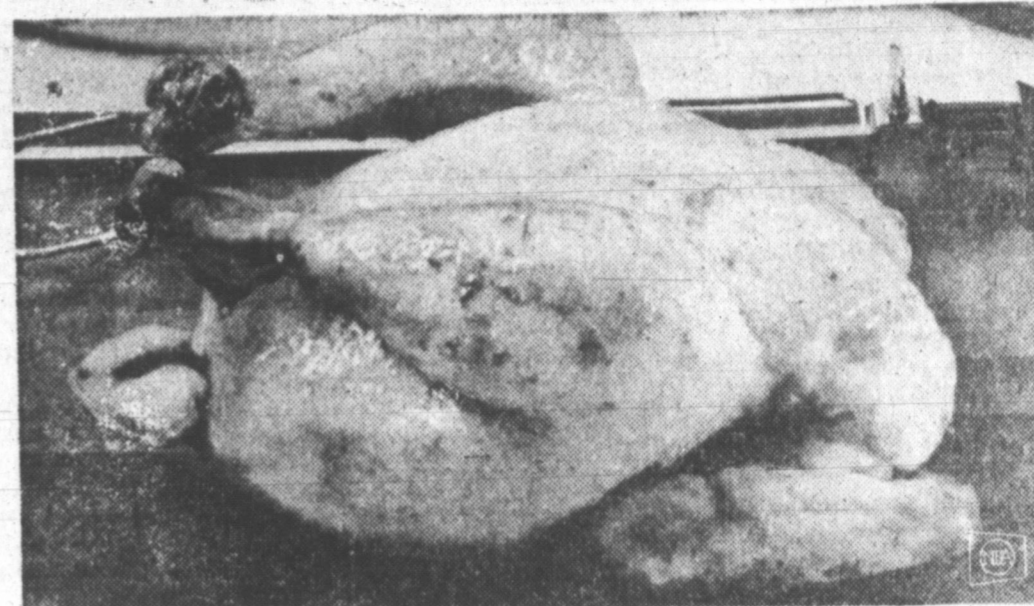

Plentiful fruits are: Apples, bananas, cantaloupes, grapes and pears. Watermelons are still in good supply in many markets.

Nationally, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna are the fish plentiful.

Don't Blow, Eat

Next time there's a birthday at your house, decorate the cake with edible candle holders. Thoroughly drain enough whole red maraschino cherries to accommodate the number of candles needed on the cake. Insert birthday candles in center of cherries and place on cake as BIG, PLUMP roasting chickens match Labor Day appetites.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Labor Day is the last long summer weekend. So celebrate with a bang-up party — lots of good food.

How about plump roasting chickens cooked on the rotisserie (indoors or out), basted with a special herb sauce. Big plump ones for a change, instead of broiler-fryers.

ROTISSERIED CHICKEN

- 1 or 2 roasting chickens, fresh or frozen desired. Children will love them and you'll avoid being out of candle holders at a crucial moment.

Salt Herbed Basting Sauce

Thaw, if frozen, either in refrigerator or in cool tap water. Wash, drain and wipe dry. Sprinkle cavities with salt. Tie legs together, then to tail. Skewer or tie neck skin to back. Hook wings back and under breast, if desired. Cook giblets and neck separately, as desired.

Follow manufacturer's directions for rotisserie. Or insert spit rod through body and neck cavities. Insert the holding forks into the ends of the chickens. Test for balance by rotating in the palm of the hands, then tighten screws securely. Brush the chickens with Herbed Basting Sauce.

Place in 400 degrees (hot) rotisserie. Cook chicken 30 to 45 minutes, depending on weight of chicken. Set temperature control at 350 degrees. Continue roasting until chicken is tender, about 30 to 40 minutes, brushing occasionally with basting sauce. Chicken is done when the thickest part of the drumstick feels soft when pressed with the fingers. Use a folded paper towel to protect fingers when testing. Let stand about 10 minutes for easier carving.

Russian Church Head Stands Up For Freedom

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government's highest official for religious affairs recently defended freedom of worship and pledged non-intervention in church affairs.

But he warned that no violations of strict Soviet law on separation of church and state would be tolerated.

Vladimir Kuroyevod, chairman of the government commission on religious affairs, said Soviet law guaranteed religious freedom and that efforts to suppress religion would be wrong.

In a lengthy interview with the government newspaper Izvestia he quoted Friedrich Engels and V.I. Lenin to back up his points.

"It has long been established that any kind of ban is not an effective means of struggling against religious ideology," Kuroyevod said.

"Atheist convictions," he told Izvestia, "like any other convictions, cannot be imposed by force, by decrees or other administrative means."

But Kuroyevod condemned a splinter group that has broken away from the state-registered Baptist-Evangelical Church.

A Moscow newspaper reported Aug. 23 that six members of the sect had been sentenced to prison terms for organizing religious processions, holding baptisms and running Sunday schools without permission.

Kuroyevod said the leaders of the sect were "ignorant and insolent."

The interview was in response to suggestions published abroad that new Soviet laws restricted religious freedom.

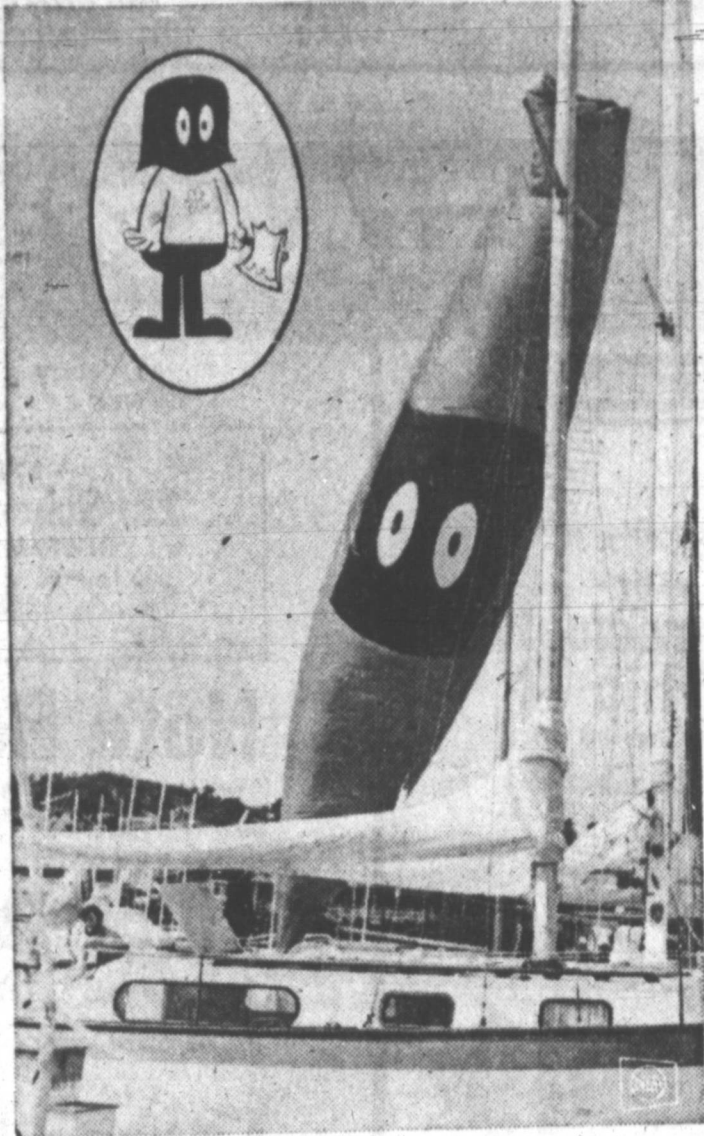

VETERANS' DAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, with special thought for U.S. troops in Viet Nam, issued a proclamation Wednesday designating Nov. 11 as "Veterans' Day."

"We honor those who wore (the uniform in days past and those who wear it today," the President said in a statement. "Especially this year our thoughts go out to the hundreds of thousands who are resisting the forces of aggression and violence in Viet Nam."

Tech Backs Establishment For Center of Land Study

LUBBOCK — A far reaching proposal by President Grover E. Murray to create and establish at Texas Tech an International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS) has found solid backing among Tech faculty and staff members.

Tech deans and department heads, many of whom will find themselves challenged with key roles in ICASALS, have responded warmly to the concept because they see national and international pre-eminence accruing to the 41-year-old state-supported institution as a direct result of the Center.

Dr. Murray's concept takes into consideration that: (1) one-half to two-thirds of the world's land surface is either arid or semi-arid and that the world's exploding population will result

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Never before now have the military and financial resources of the United States been spread so thin, so far and so dangerously. Over-extended is the word for it. This would be a good subject for congressional campaign discussion.

For example: The United States has formal treaty commitments to defend against aggression more than 40 nations. There is serious doubt that the United States has the armed might to carry out so vast a pledge. U.S. military power at this moment is awesomely extended in war against a small, backward, tenth-rate nation in Southeast Asia. Perhaps the Americans are over-extended there! Anyway, the powerful Americans seem not to be able to win that war.

Despite this, Secretary of State Dean Rusk now has pledged the United States to oppose aggression anywhere at any time without treaty commitments. This unlimited Johnson-Humphrey administration policy statement was made last week before Senate investigators into J.S. military preparedness. Rusk is a mild-appearing man, soft spoken, but of cave-man belligerence. He gave the senators something to think about.

The military spread is frightening enough. But the United States is spread thinnest financially, at home and abroad. The United States has maintained for 30 years a promise to redeem in gold on demand at $35 an ounce all American dollars acquired by foreigners.

The integrity of the U.S. dollar, its international acceptance depend absolutely on maintaining that pledge. To do so, the U.S. Treasury must be ready to pay out an ounce of gold on demand for each $35 in American money offered from abroad. There's the rub.

These short-term foreign holdings of U.S. dollars amount now to about $27 billion, the U.S. gold hoard amounts to only $13.3 billion. It is down from $23.2 billion in gold as of 1952. The United States is short about $14 billion of enough gold to match the gold-debt to foreigners. If all demanded their gold, the United States could not pay.

U.S. dollars continue to accumulate in foreign hands all over the world to become a charge against the shrinking U.S. gold reserve. Billions of U.S. dollars have been lost to foreigners because of unfavorable international trade balances. Foreign aid, the maintenance of armed forces abroad, as in Europe, and war, as in Viet Nam, also drain away U.S. dollars. That is why the Congress has become increasingly doubtful of the enormous foreign aid expenditures proposed by the Johnson-Humphrey administration.

The U.S. unfavorable international trade balance 1950 through 1963 was $29.7 billion. During those 14 years there was only one year of favorable U.S. trade balance; $500 million in 1957. This situation is dangerous, potentially worse than flood, fire or epidemic disease. Past presidents have not been able to cope with it, nor is President Johnson able to do so.

There has been vague administration talk of a Great Society for Southeast Asia. This is a spread-thinner project which scarcely could fail to make the American situation more hazardous.

Finally, there is the disgraceful financial mess in which the United States finds itself at home. The politicians have latched onto big-time government spending to keep deluded voters happy and to keep themselves in office. So the public debt grows day by day. The polis spend in billions beyond revenue, borrowing the balance. That undisciplined path must lead finally to disaster. We are on our way!

DONNA, Tex. (UPI) — A funeral service was held Saturday for Huey Todd, 75, who had been chief of police 25 years. Todd died Thursday in Valley Baptist Hospital. He moved to Donna in 1919 and was a trustee of the Donna Independent School Board 18 years. He served in the volunteer fire department as well.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — With hard work, determination and other such virtues almost out of fashion these days, it is nice today to tell you about Miss Bobbi Jordan, who not long ago was a waitress.

The young lady who is our subject has red hair, green eyes and an abundance of natural beauty, and this season, rather than carrying drinks to nightclub customers, will be a regular on ABC-TV's new comedy western series, "The Rounders."

For some years, Miss Jordan was a waitress at Hollywood's top night spot, P.J.'s and was unfailingly pleasant, efficient, charming and ladylike, with an undeniable trace of earned intelligence.

One wondered how long she would be content, with her qualities, to remain a waitress, but you wonder such thoughts about many persons in Hollywood, and so after a while you just stop wondering.

Well, I am happy to tell you that Miss Jordan was not discovered according to the Hollywood cliché legend. An agent did not come in to P.J.'s and say, "wow, you ought to be in films — here's a part in 'The Rounders.'"

It turns out that all the time she was being unfailingly and ladylike while serving drinks, she was also being intelligent in the best possible way — she was studying.

Though holding down a full-time job five nights a week, and caring for her two children, Scott, 6, and Bruce, 5, by a former marriage, she was studying in almost all the spare time she had.

Dancing since childhood, she continued to study in this field on her two nights off each week. Desiring to sing opera, she has been a voice student for five-and-a-half years. She also studied pantomime.

Ironically, the one thing she hadn't studied until after landing her role in "The Rounders" was acting. The young lady, who was born Roberta Carol Bartlett in Hardinsburg, Ky., and who later lived in Louisville and Chicago, where she attended Senn High School, was intent on a musical career.

For those with stage ambitions, however, Hollywood is not the best place to achieve stardom in that area. Despite the improvement in local theatre, New York is still the place for the stage. This is still basically a film town. Yet Miss Jordan's breaks did, uniquely, include a musical stage opportunity here.

It happened last year when Paul Raffles, host of P.J.'s and perhaps the smartest nightclub operator in the country, told her he wanted her to star in "Cindy," a musical takeoff on "Cinderella" that was to be put on in the small theatre adjoining the club. She recalls: "Paul threw me

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first annual Joe Miller Cup Match, which is a joke-telling contest, was held this week at the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

If that site strikes you as slightly inappropriate for such an event, I will remind you that the museum is the place where Bill Moyers of the White House staff dined the frug earlier this year.

Only on that occasion, the humor was unintentional. Furthermore, one of the fixtures in the museum is a marble statue of George Washington clad in a Roman toga and sandals. Which certainly sets a precedent for slapstick.

Besides that, some of the jokes used in the contest were definitely historical. They would be even more appropriate in the Museum of Natural History, where fossils are preserved.

The match pitted a comedy team from New York against a team of Washington humorists, most of whom were amateurs. The New Yorkers won, but the contest was somewhat unfair.

In Washington, amateur comedy teams have very little chance to develop their talents. They are constantly overshadowed by professional comedy teams, such as the Washington Senators.

The leadoff humorist for Washington bunted a few puns around the infield and then swung for the fences. He said the National Art Gallery has a snowstorm painting that is so realistic people have to look at it with their hats on to avoid catching cold.

A New York humorist said he gave his wife a feather duster and now she goes around dusting feathers with it.

A Washington team member said he once knew a rich man who called the girls "Sugar" and finally settled for a lump sum.

A New Yorker did a routine about progressive schools. He said that if the students misbehave, the teachers punish the principal.

A Washington player said she opened a fortune cookie in a Chinese restaurant. The message said: "Sell your fortune cookie stock immediately."

A New Yorker said he had a room on 58th Street with a bath on 69th Street.

At this point on his scorecard each team had no hits, no runs and three errors.

Sponsors of the match had invited President Johnson to throw out the first joke, but he wisely stayed in Texas. Instead, Vice President Humphrey sent over some of his "doodle" drawings.

One was a straight line identified as a "used popsicle stick." No wonder Humphrey is only No. 2.

SOMETHING NEW IN HELICOPTERS, this unconventional model uses rigid rotors instead of the hinged, movable blades of other copters. The change, according to the developers, enables it to dispense with the usual, exposed motor and long tailboom and rotor, giving it the appearance of an airborne sports car. Speed is said to be above 150 m. p. h., twice as fast as most light helicopters. With a price tag under $20,000, it is designed for business and private users seeking an aircraft easy to fly, reliable, inexpensive to buy and operate.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Are you enjoining college for the first time in September? If so, you will find it quite different in many ways from your high school experiences. The faster you understand and adjust to the new situation, the more opportunity you will have to profit and be successful.

What are some of the major differences for which you should be prepared? The University of Rochester, N.Y., in its new catalogue, points out several facts of academic life.

These are applicable to all college freshmen regardless of the college they will be attending. Read your own college bulletin and any other orientation material which you may receive.

In college you will probably find greater academic competition from your classmates than you did in high school. You as well as the other freshmen are a select group. You successfully completed high school and were able to meet the admission standards of the college. As a whole, the group will offer you some stiff intellectual competition.

The students in the college will come from many different areas and backgrounds. They will have a wide variety of interests, experiences and training. They will be studying many different courses. You will find many new and interesting friends.

As a college student you will be treated as a mature individual. You will be responsible for your own activities and work. Advance will be available but you will not be watched and led along each step of the way.

Rotary Hosts 'Philly' Guests

Some twenty-five members of Talmage Tours were guests of the Pampa Rotary Club at a noon luncheon meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Each of the group, most of whom were from in and around Philadelphia, Pa., introduced themselves and told their occupation. Following the meeting they toured the city of Pampa and vicinity.

John Braly was named Junior Rotarian for the month of September. He is president of the student council at Pampa High School and is a member of the Harvester basketball team.

There will be more than your time allows. Be careful to allow sufficient time for your studies. That is the basic and most important purpose of your attendance in college.

The method of teaching may also be quite different. Some of your classes may be taught in lecture fashion to as many as 200-300 students in a class. There may be very small discussion sections to discuss the lectures and your assigned readings. You will be expected to be fully prepared to participate in a thorough discussion.

It's The Law In Texas

"I Recognized His Voice"
"It is a case of mistaken identity," protested the defendant, accused of breaking into a woman's home at night and assaulting her. "She herself admits the house was pitch dark."
But the woman countered: "Even though I could not see him, I recognized his voice. I have known him for years, and I am certain he was the man."
May an accused person be convicted solely by the sound of his voice? In this case the jury believed the woman's story, and the court upheld its verdict of guilty.

True, a criminal is ordinarily identified by sight, not by sound. But his voice, even when not conclusive evidence by itself, may still play a key role in identification. The law recognizes that, in some circumstances, what a victim hears may reveal a lot more than what he sees.

Thus, identification-by-voice has been allowed not only in crimes committed in the dark but also in crimes committed by a masked man — or even committed over the telephone. A man who made obscene calls to a woman was convicted largely on the basis of her identification of his voice on the telephone.

But what if the criminal's voice is one that the victim has never heard prior to the crime? Even then, it may be distinctive enough to be recognized later with reasonable certainty.

In one case, a holdup victim noticed that the robber had a peculiar accent. This was held valid evidence in court that the defendant, who had a similar accent, was the guilty man.

In addition to a criminal's voice, other sounds he makes may also help to pinpoint his identity. The sound of a man's footsteps and the sound of a car's exhaust — both distinctive — have been held admissible in the courtroom.

Even the sound of a dog's barking has been held sufficient to identify him as the nocturnal slayer of a farmer's sheep.

Of course this kind of evidence, like any other, may be rejected if it is just too flimsy. For example, in a homicide case, a witness was notably hesitant in tagging the voice of the defendant as the voice of the killer. The court held that such evidence was not convincing enough to send a man to prison for murder.

"Conjecture," observed one judge, "is not proof."

Dear Abby....

Things Could Be A Whole Lot Worse

DEAR ABBY: I wish they would outlaw baseball! My husband is such a big sports fan he has two TVs going in separate rooms, and he carries a transistor radio around to keep track of a third game. When we go out for an evening he has to have the transistor plugged in his ear to keep up with a baseball game somewhere.

We can't go to bed at night until he finds out how the teams did all over the country. He ignores me completely, and we have been married only four months. I am not an old bag either. I am 36-24-26.

DEAR STRIKING: If Sports Fan ignores you during the seventh inning stretch and alter the lights are all in and the lights are all out, he could have bigger problems than you. Let me hear how you wind up the season.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who just loves to write letters. I think she must be a frustrated novelist. She will start a letter on Monday, add to it on Tuesday, keep adding to it every day until she finally closes on Friday. One of her letters can be 15 or 16 typewritten pages—single spaced.

She never has any news, it's just a lot of drivel. But what really gets me is this: She works for a doctor, and she uses his business stationery, his envelopes, and I'm sure his stamps and his time. To me, it's out and out stealing. Is there some tactful way to bring this correspondence to an end?

HATES TO WRITE: DEAR HATES: Yes! Don't answer.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married on the spur of the moment and we didn't have time to order formal announcements, so I wrote letters to our immediate family telling them about our new son-in-law. I also enclosed a picture of the couple taken on the day of their marriage.

Of the 11 letters I wrote, nearly five months ago, only one relative bothered to send my daughter a wedding gift. I have sent dozens of lovely gifts to those relatives for graduations, weddings, etc., so naturally, I was stumped.

My husband says they are under no obligation to acknowledge our daughter's marriage because we sent no formal announcements and had no wedding. Don't you think a handwritten announcement should have brought some acknowledgment?

SHOCKED: DEAR SHOCKED: An "acknowledgment," yes. A gift, no. Gifts are always optional.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "B" IN CLEVELAND: "Impotence" is not grounds for annulment in the state of Ohio. But "Unsound mind" is — so see a lawyer. You may have a case.

Paris Says, 'Vive Les Jeune Filles'

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

PARIS (NEA) — Paris has done a turnabout in its thinking on youth. And so fell the last stronghold of the mature woman.

Although London and New York turned over the keys to the kingdom to everyone between 16 and 20 in Paris old ladies of 30 were still considered more attractive than the young chicks. Teenagers were supervised closely by parents, dressed like neat schoolgirls and had a naive charm that was not competition for their older sisters' sophistication.

Their turn would come when they were grown up (remember GIGI?) and 16 wasn't grown up.

But now — quelle difference! Youth is a force to be reckoned with. Part-time jobs are being held down by school kids; parents are doling out bigger allowances; young people have money to spend and business is catering to them.

Boutiques designed just for young people dot the city. Clothes are sold for moderate prices and the styles are young.

In some the record player's beat would make you think you were in London's Carnaby Street.

Beauty salons have special departments for juniors where the dry comb straightens long hair and the price is right. At the three big drugstores (where everything from expensive shoes to china is sold) there are booths where youngsters gather to play and buy records of their favorite singing groups and everyone over 20 stays away.

There are no less than five teenage magazines which work hand in hand with these shops both editorially and in their ads to build up a teen market.

"We have great influence," said the editor-in-chief of Vingt-ans, one of these periodicals. "Right now there is no advertising on French television. Until it comes the kids look to the magazines for guidance on what's new and where to go."

And, of course, Elle is a fashion bible to les jeune filles.

Some Left Bank sidewalk cafes operate under an unwritten law of segregation, too. Except for an occasional tourist lapping up local color, you'll find only the very young at such spots as Aux Deux Magots on Boulevard St. Germain. A n.d., contrary to the belief that the French bring up their children on wine, these kids don't drink alcohol. Coffee, lemonade and soft drinks suffice while they settle the problems of politics, plays, books and fashion.

The stamp youth has put on its own is even more evident at some discotheques. Like Gaull, they are divided into three

Paris Look Confirms New York Is Fashion Capital

NEW YORK (NEA) — The fall '66 Paris fashion showings were a mite confusing to anyone looking for a fashion message.

Some hemlines were high, some medium, others low. It was a tossup as to whether pop art, nailheads or feathers were de rigueur pour la danse.

But the collections did make one thing clear: New York is now the fashion capital of the world. There wasn't a "look" in Paris that hadn't already been done in some version here.

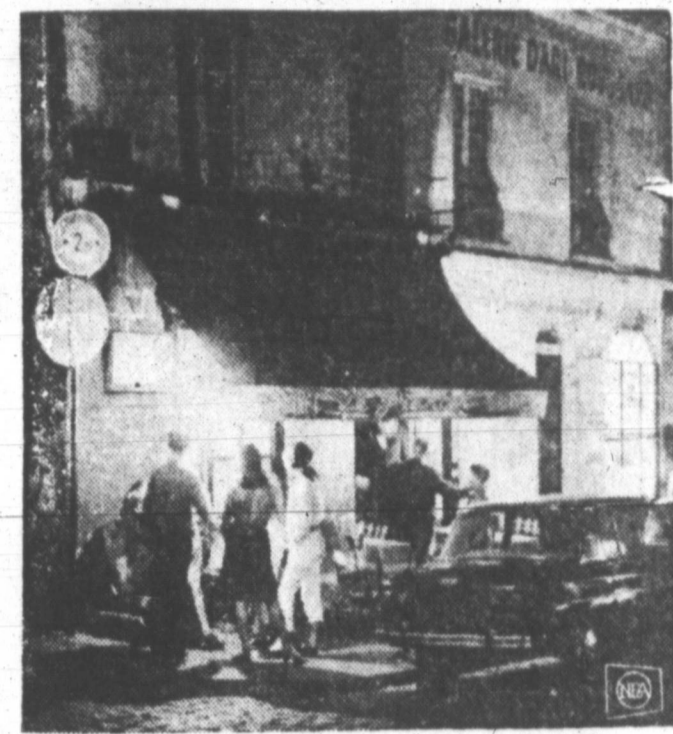

—St. Laurent's pop art dresses and Cardin's space girl outfits will be copied here in the inexpensive lines. If a big red jersey mouth outlined at the bosom of a dress or a flesh-tone nude covering one side from shoulder to hem appeals to you, you're home free. It's a cinch you'll be able to wear a St. Laurent copy, however badly done, at basement-level prices.

New York high fashion designers gave up on pop art. —Fit and flare replaced the shift in Paris, New York put shape into the fall lines shown here earlier.

—Dior's long coat wasn't a complete shock. Tiffau did a few of the same length in a recent collection in New York.

But there were three ideas executed by the Paris couturiers which will influence New York fashions soon. A revival of velvet. It was parts. At sidewalk tables the oldest sit to eat and drink while through the windows they can listen to a combo or records from the upstairs room where the aging 25 to 40 dance. In a downstairs room are records and another combo where youth prevails and no one who saw the light of day in the early '50s is welcome.

Yet, perhaps as a hangover from the former parental attitude that the voice of the young should be heard—but not necessarily adhered to, the young Parisians have good manners. And in spite of the fashion shockers we see from the eye-de designers the kids have good clothes sense, too. The uniform is a co-ordinated sweater and skirt; low chunky heels; clean, pulled-back or braided hair; little make-up and not much jewelry.

elvy, Mini-skirts are worn by a few but not the majority. But pants suits have caught on.

The teen-agers in Paris charmed me—perhaps because I never really looked at them before. I expected a French counterpart of the London mod, but the French innate knowledge of chic has apparently enabled them to know where to stop in dress.

Teenage spending promises to be a formidable potential in France, so it's well that it's being handled with good taste. With many countries trying to control the population explosion President De Gaulle encourages it. Maternity medical expenses are paid by the government, and a monthly allowance is made for each child born, plus a bonus for the third.

So everyone wants babies—and babies grow up.

For evening Mark Bohan of Dior favors a "Nanny" cape of downy wool over lustrous satin dress with new draped halter neckline. Ensemble is in two shades of geranium pink. Shoes provide the touch of silver-fashionable for coming season.

widely shown by the couturier and widely accepted by New York buyers.

—Silver, rather than gold.

For years, suit jackets have been buttoned. Then the industrial zipper moved in as a closing for sportswear. Now, high fashion has turned the conventional zipper into front closings for suit tops. Several such closings were used by Oscar de la Renta, designer for Jane Derby, Inc., New York.

Match instead of contrast the color of your lacy stockings to your costume. Red stockings for red coat, purple stockings for purple suit — it's the latest trend in the New York wholesale fashion market.

glitter on evening clothes. —Lavish use of fur trim on dresses, costumes and coats. —And boots at every length are back for another round.

There were many beautiful designs in the Paris collections but not much to be copied. This time it seems New York got there first.

Look for all shades of purple, from pale mauve, to deep as that traditionally worn by royalty to be strong in the fall and winter ready-to-wear.

Jewelry designer Kenneth Lane has glorified the lowly bug — many of his pins are stone and gold combinations shaped like beetles.

Senior Citizens Are Now Active In Non-Paying Jobs of Helping Others

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) —They're

senior citizens no longer active in paying jobs, but they're still busy. Their new job — helping others.

Volunteers are a part of Americana, but the senior citizen volunteers in numbers are fairly new to the scene.

One organization pioneering the idea of senior service hopes it will set a pattern other groups around the nation will adopt.

"We've been working with the elderly for many years," said Mrs. Joseph Willen, president of the National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW). "We'd sponsored recreational lounges and such. But we realized that just because a person is 65 doesn't mean he or she just wants to sit and rock, paint a picture or learn a folk dance. These people wanted to be of real help to others.

The result is the NCJW's senior service corps, open to all religions and races. Most of its members are the older people — a 91-year-old man is the oldest volunteer currently with the project. But Mrs. Willen said there's also a 16-year-old girl "senior citizen."

The basic idea, however, is to utilize older volunteers who offer a lifetime of skills and experiences to understaffed community agencies. They must be willing to volunteer regularly and accept some orientation before they start.

The first of the corps began in Philadelphia, in October 1961, organized by Mrs. Myron Barg, long a volunteer. She said during a visit to New York, "I just grew up in a family where the tradition was helping others."

Today, 14 corps are operating from coast to coast and three more are in the works.

The volunteers do a variety of jobs. In Essex County, N.J., a retired architect is advising an interracial group on building a church. A Washington, D.C. retiree acts as a counselor to a boys' club. Another volunteer gives dance lessons to retarded teen-agers in Stamford, Conn. A retired postman in Worcester, Mass., aids in the physical therapy department of a local hospital.

Mrs. Willen said the senior citizens volunteer in settlement houses, schools, with youth groups, in nursing homes, homes for the aged, recreation centers, mental hospitals, blood banks — you name it.

"No wonder," said the second man. "I've got two daughters, still in their teens, and you ought to see what those girls do to their hair — and have been doing for years. It's a wonder to me they have any hair at all."

"Between them, their hair has been so many shades in the last few years I'm not sure what color it is right now. Sometimes it's all one color and sometimes it's streaked. The only thing I can be certain of is that whatever color it happens to be it came out of a bottle."

"Both wear their hair straight but they both get permanent all the time. One says she has to get a permanent to straighten her hair (and her mother and I were so pleased to have a little girl with naturally curly hair). The other says she gets 'body' permenents. "I found this all out because I couldn't understand why had to finance so many permanents for two girls who wear their hair long and straight."

"In fact, there was even a period when they ironed each other's hair with a warm iron — and that's a fact. Before they used to comb their hair backward until their heads looked like bushel baskets."

"But whatever else they do to it, they always finish up by putting enough of that hair spray on it to make it feel like it's covered with glue."

Maybe there are other men who think wistfully of the days when a girl's hair was her crowning glory — instead of a dull, stringy, lacquered mess.

If so, if they'll just be patient, those days will come again. One of these days, a girl is going to discover that the head of undyed hair, kept shiny long and brushed to high luster makes men turn around and stare.

And then, the natural look, hair will once again be in.

Practice Is Set For Tot Golfers

By RON CROSS, News Sports Editor. With the course in near perfect condition personnel at Pampa Country Club were making final preparations today for the 29th annual Top O' Texas golf tournament, set Friday through Monday. Some 306 golfers are expected to trudge over the sprawling layout at PCC, which host pro, Hart Warren, figures is in top condition. The golfers began arriving today and will test the course Friday when practice rounds will be fired. Saturday play begins in earnest and a medalist will be known sometime Saturday afternoon. The championship and first flight golfers will play 18 holes Saturday and Sunday and wind things up Monday with a marathon 36 holes, which might mean that one of the younger set has the better chance of victory. Flights two through nine will play 18 holes match play Saturday and Sunday and the final four contestants in each of the

Pampa, Tulia Scrimmage Set

Through a little over a week of conditioning drills and padded workouts the Pampa Harvesters have come out of it all, injury-wise, good and bad. Head coach Eural Ramsey believes that injuries, or lack of them, will be the key to a successful or unsuccessful season. "We've been pretty lucky so far, with one exception," Ramsey said. "Losing Larry Stephens, who would have been our starting quarterback, hurt us, but the kids have really bounced back and are trying all the harder. Other than Stephens' broken arm we've just had the usual bruises and muscle aches," Ramsey stated. Come Saturday at 3 p.m. and the Harvesters will exercise just how much they've learned thus far when they scrimmage Tulia at Harvester Field. The Shockers, thin in number, will play the Tulia B at 1 p.m. There have been a couple of pleasant surprises for Ramsey and his staff in 180-pound James Matney and 175-pound L. D. Rowden. "Both have looked exceptionally good," the coach said, adding, "Rowden is going to pick up a lot of yards for us and Matney has been looking good on both offense and defense." Bruises and hard licks have slowed some of the players. Last week quarterback Smisson Goodlett was put down after being hit by Big Redder Ricky Goodwin, who was working out with the Harvesters and Gary Hyatt, who'll probably get the starting nod at quarterback, has an injured ankle along with Rowden, who is nursing a cut just below the shin. Goodlett is expected to be out of action for another two weeks but Hyatt and Rowden haven't missed a practice. "Actually all the boys, Cornutt (Doc), Heiskell (Ted), Lewis (Glen), Martindale (David), McCarrell (Gary), Scribner (Billy) and Williamson (Jack), of the boys who played quite a bit for us last year, have been looking better than we expected at this stage," Ramsey said. But those OU'ers know how to hit, don't they Smisson?

PIRATES HANDLE DODGERS

Drysdale Gets Bombed

By United Press International. The Pittsburgh Pirates are big believers in fan support, especially the paper variety. A local brewery in downtown Pittsburgh passed out a supply of paper fans to the 31,036 spectators who showed up at Forbes Field Wednesday night, and the customers put them to use in a successful attempt to distract pitcher Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers. The fan waving, which occurred in the fourth inning, did incur Drysdale's anger and possibly upset the big righthander's pitching since the Pirates jumped on him for six singles and four runs in the fifth inning en route to a 4-3 victory. The paper fans, which bear the slogan "Beat 'Em Bucs," contain a list of instructions on one side as to how to use the fan for purposes of "jinxing" opposing players. The Pirates and the beer company believe this is a successful way of incorporating more enthusiasm from the spectators. Drysdale thought it was bush league.

four frames. Blass, who failed to finish a game for the 23rd straight time, received credit for his ninth victory while Drysdale suffered his 15th loss. Willie Mays tripled and scored on a two-out throwing error by catcher Jerry Gote in the ninth inning to give Juan Marichal his 20th victory and keep the Giants deadlocked with Pittsburgh for first place in the N.L. Marichal tossed a four-hitter while boosting his record to 20-5. Jack Fisher, who allowed the Giants only four hits, suffered his 12th setback against nine victories. Richie Allen hit a homer, two doubles and a single as the Phillies bombed luckless Bob Bruce in the early innings. Allen's homer was his 33rd, a club record for righthanded batters, and his two runs batted in gave him 93 for the year, a career high. Chris Short coasted to his 16th victory while Bruce, who has failed to complete any of his 19 starts, took his 11th loss. Pinch Hit Homer: Art Shamsky's three-run pinch homer in the eighth inning off rookie Len Church enabled the Reds to win their eighth straight. Adolfo Phillips

NOW HE'S SIDARMER

Hoerner Good Man in Relief

By SANDY PADWE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn., NEW YORK (NEA) — It was during a pleasant summer evening in Burlington, Iowa, nine years ago and Joe Hoerner had just sprinted off the pitcher's mound to field the bunt rolling down the first base line. "I remember going for the ball," the St. Louis Cardinals lefthander said, "... and then I collapsed. At the hospital the first diagnosis was a heart attack." Joe Hoerner was 21 then, a pitcher for Davenport, Iowa, the White Sox farm team in the Class B III League. It seemed a shame that a promising career had to end so quickly and so tragically. During the winter, Joe entered the University of Iowa Medical Center for further examination and treatment. He told the doctors how he had been short of breath... how he experienced a quickened heart beat. They examined the young pitcher, took some tests and told him his trouble had been caused by weakened muscles around the heart. "They told me that pitching aggravated the weak muscles," Joe said. "I had the regular overhand motion, I didn't realize it was causing the trouble, but it was, especially when I threw a curve ball. "They gave me medication and by the spring (of 1959) I felt strong enough to try and pitch again. The doctors said all right." By this time, Joe had switched his pitching motion from overhand to sidearm to reduce the strain on the weak muscles. He still has the sidearm motion and basically uses two pitches, the fast ball and slider. "I didn't pitch much that year," Joe said. "I still didn't feel right. But by the following season, I felt much stronger. I seemed it was the medication, rest and the change in style. "Once in a while during the 1960 season (spent with Charleston of the Sally League) I had a recurrence, but it wasn't anything serious. I would just be short of breath or have a little rapid heart beat. Since then, though, I haven't had any big problems. Only small problems — like getting to the major leagues. Hoerner never made it to Comiskey Park with the White Sox, but he did have two brief trials with the Houston Astros, consisting of eight games. Last winter, the St. Louis Cardinals drafted him and from the beginning manager Red Schoendienst gave him a chance. "I didn't have a particularly good spring," Joe said, "but Red still used me and he has been using me since." The reason is obvious: Joe Hoerner has become the Cardinals' most effective relief pitcher. Nine years ago Las Vegas wouldn't have handled those odds.

Other NL Games

In other National League action, San Francisco edged New York 2-1. Philadelphia beat Houston 10-5. Cincinnati defeated Chicago 7-5 and Atlanta downed Chicago 8-5. Drysdale was so upset by the fan waving in the fourth that he refused to pitch until it was halted. The fans booted when the announcement was made over the public address system and promptly littered the field with the paper souvenirs. Drysdale was more upset next inning, however, when the Pirates kayoed him with six singles. Gene Alley drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single and Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell each singled home a run. The Dodgers got three runs back in the sixth on a three-run homer by Willie Davis, but Billy O'Dell came in to relieve Steve Blass and held the Dodgers scoreless the last

F. Robinson Smacks Homer on Birthday

By United Press International. That extra twinkle in Frank Robinson's eye wasn't from any birthday champagne. The Baltimore outfielder celebrated his birthday Wednesday night by slugging his 43rd home run as he passed from an "old 30" to a "young 31." It carried the Orioles to a 5-1 victory over Cleveland and snapped Baltimore's losing streak at four. But the home run and his 101st RBI had special significance for the former National Leaguer coming on his birthday. The trade from Cincinnati to Baltimore last December startled the baseball world but didn't shock Robby as much as the reason given for the deal. "Nothing personal to it," Cincinnati owner and General Manager Bill DeWitt said. "Robinson is not a young 30. If he had been 26, we might not have traded him." Robinson was livid.

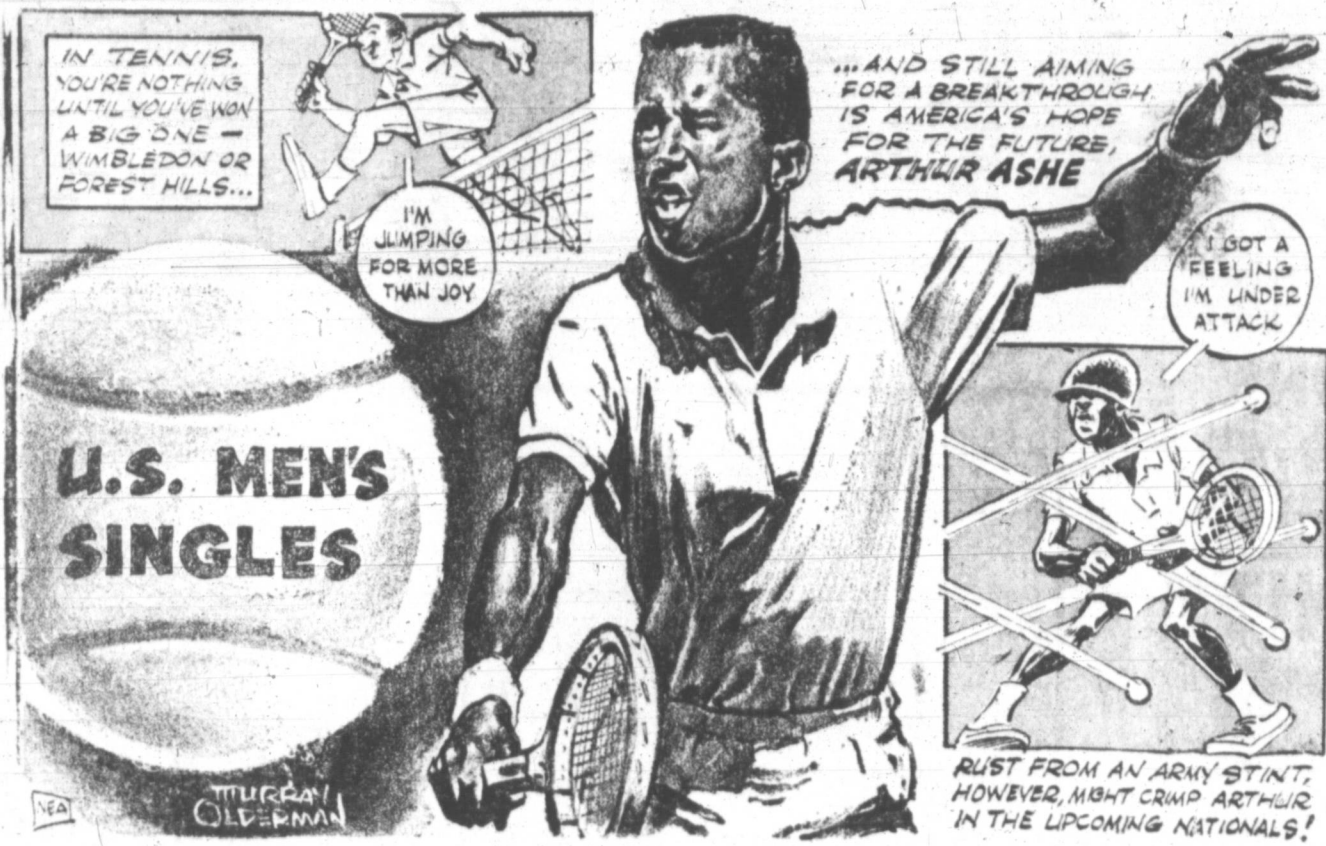

HARMON KILLEBREW. "I can't argue with DeWitt if he says he traded me to strengthen his ball club," Robinson said, "but that comment about me being an old 30 is hitting below the belt. It was uncalled for." Robinson couldn't help thinking Wednesday night about the statement of his former boss, who has been the subject of more finger pointing than any baseball figure since the trade was consummated. Frank used some of his youthful energy Wednesday night to rap out four hits, half the Orioles' total, and added some spice to the performance by stealing a base. The win left the Birds 12 games ahead of the Tigers who lost a pair to Chicago 7-6 in 12 innings and 3-1. In other A.L. action, Minnesota clobbered Boston 11-2. California shaded New York 5-2 and Kansas City split shutouts with Washington, losing 3-0 and then winning 4-0. Robinson homered in the eighth inning off relief pitcher Luis Tiant's first pitch after Indian starter Sam McDowell was forced out of the game by soreness in his left arm. While Frank rejoiced over his 31st, Jim Kaat collected his 21st. The Minnesota lefthander became the AL's winningest pitcher when he won his 21st game against nine losses with a seven-hitter over Boston. Bernie Allen, who contributed his fifth homer, Harmon Killebrew, Ted Uhlaender and Cesar Tovar batted in two runs each and Kaat had three hits himself. Tony Conigliaro slammed his 25th home run in the fourth to snap Kaat's scoreless inning skein at 28. Chicago's Tommie Agee, who had seven hits for the night, raced around to score from first base when Detroit loser Orlando Pena threw wildly on an attempted sacrifice bunt in the 12th inning. Gates Brown, Don Wert, Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash homered for Detroit. In the nightcap, Pete Ward hit his first home run of the year and Gary Peters pitched a three-hitter. Ward homered off loser Johnny Podres in the seventh after Ken Berry had walked. The Tiger run was unearned, lowering Peters' league-leading earned run average to 1.88. Kansas City rookies Paul Lindblad and Jim Nash combined for a seven-hit second game win after Washington's Mike McCormick allowed only four hits in the opener. Frank Howard backed McCormick with a two run homer in the first game and triples by Joe Nosssek and Ed Charles drove in three Kansas City tallies in the second game. Jose Cardenal and Joe Adcock had homers for California and Dean Chance stopped New York on five hits. Cardenal's 13th homer evened the score 1-1 and after Al Downing hit Jim Fregosi in the jaw with a pitch Adcock walloped his 16th. Chance (10-15) struck out six and Downing suffered his ninth loss in 17 decisions.

Tennis Battle to Start

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — A year ago he was just another good tennis player but when Spain's Manuel Santana surprised the U.S. crown last year, winner at Wimbledon in July and top-seeded in defense of his American title, the Spanish racquet artist oozes confidence as he opens his quest for another championship in a first rounder against John Sharpe of Canada.

Chiefs Choice to Upend Chargers for AFL Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Kansas City Chiefs have been tabbed a narrow choice to dethrone the San Diego Chargers as the American Football champions in the pre-season selections of United Press International's board of 27 pro football experts.

The balloting, which encompassed three writers in each of the nine AFL cities, made Buffalo a one-sided pick to repeat in the East and gave the Chiefs a 12-9 edge in first place in the West.

Buffalo was named at the top in the East on 22 of the ballots, second on four, and fourth on one for a 128 point total on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to fifth.

The condition of Joe Namath's celebrated knee is the No. 1 question in the Jets' camp. Weeb Ewbank's squad was picked to end Buffalo's two-year reign by two experts.

Clay Still Says He'll Retire

By United Press International
FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay repeated that he would retire from the ring if he loses to West Germany's Karl Mildenberger in his title defense here Sept. 19.

The 24-year-old heavyweight, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, said at a news conference Wednesday that he would retire from the ring if he loses to West Germany's Karl Mildenberger in his title defense here Sept. 19.

Clay, appearing much sharper with his replies to questions than on his arrival here Tuesday, forewarned Mildenberger to "be ready that night because I always am."

"Be ready, because it will be a good fight," Clay told the gathering of newsmen, photographers and cameramen. "My championship is on the line. There is no return clause. We can expect a real tough, rough fight."

Clay said he is fighting with the permission of his leader, Elijah Muhammad, and that he has many debts to pay back to so many people who gave him a start in his professional boxing career.

KOMIVES SIGNS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Howard Komives, a 6-1 playmaker who averaged 13.9 points per game and finished fifth in the league in assists last year, signed his 1956-57 contract with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association Monday.

Rug Salesman Leading In National Amateur

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI) — Roger McManus, a rug salesman who mastered the carpeting of the greens at the Merion Golf Club for a one-under-par 69, held a one-stroke lead going into today's second round of the U.S. Amateur golf championship.

McManus, 42-year-old veteran competitor from Hartsville, Ohio, said he was "just plain, flat lucky" in his sub-par 32-37 fine putting round Wednesday that gave him the slim lead over Ron Cerrudo, 21, of San Rafael, Calif., and Jerry Greenbaum, 25, Atlanta, Ga., who carded par 70s.

Nagle Holds 2 Shot Lead

BIRKDALE, England (UPI) — Australian Kel Nagle advanced into the second round of the $200,200 Carling Open Golf Championship today with a two stroke lead after complaints of slow play were sounded by several competitors and officials promised future rounds would be faster.

Nagle, who lost a 1965 playoff to Gary Player for the U.S. Open crown in St. Louis, carded a five-under-par 68 Wednesday over the 7,037-yard Royal Birkshire course. The sizzling tour gave him a two-shot edge over five-time British Open champ Peter Thomson, New Zealand's Bob Charles, and Peter Butler and Hedley Muscroft of England.

Billy Casper, the recent U.S. Open titlist and considered the pre-tourney favorite, took only 30 putts but couldn't find the greens and wound up at even-par 73.

The 45-year-old Nagle played an exciting nine holes after making the turn. After going out in straight par, the balding Aussie carried four birdies and an eagle, along with a bogey, for a five-under-par back nine and his 68.

The three were the only ones in the 150-man field to conquer or match par during Wednesday's hot, and humid first round over the demanding 6,599-yard course.

Those two strokes back of McManus at one-over-par 71 included fellow 28-year-old insurance salesmen Deane Beman, two-time amateur champion from Bethesda, Md., and Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y.

They were linked with Leonard S. Thompson, 19-year-old Wake Forest student, Mike Morley, Minot, N.D.; Dick Runkle, Los Angeles; Gerald McFejen, Jamesburg, N.J.;

Namath May Be Sitting on Bench

By United Press International
Ever think that quarterback Joe Namath may start the season on the bench because his understudy has learned the trade too well?

The New York Jets get in their last pre-season licks tonight in Mobile, Ala., against the Boston Patriots and Mike Tallafiero is expected back at the signal controls seeking a fourth consecutive exhibition victory.

Namath's playing status may be determined by a team physician's examination of his injured leg sometime before the game. A thumbs down verdict and continued spectacular play by Tallafiero may sway Coach Weeb Ewbank in favor of the former Illinois star in the season's opener next week. Tallafiero completed 13 of 29 passes for 205 yards against Buffalo last week.

The official American Football League season kicks off Friday night with the Miami Dolphins, newest member of the circuit, entertaining the Oakland Raiders in the Orange Bowl. Denver is at Houston Saturday night and the champion Buffalo Bills visit the San Diego Chargers in a nationally televised game (NBC) Sunday.

Sandies Could Win It All

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of nine articles dealing with teams from the north and south zones of district 3-4A, taking the north zone first. Tomorrow's team Borger.

By A Staff Writer
AMARILLO — The Amarillo Sandies received only one first place vote and 12 total points in a poll of district 3-4A coaches. But many people believe the Sandies could unseat favorite Monterey quite easily. The main reason is you never underestimate Warren Harper.

Harper returned to the Sandies in 1965 and guided them to an 8-1 record. Some say he did it with mirrors.

Harper has 11 lettermen returning this season and only two regular starters, including one, Malcolm Laing, who started at end last season but was out several games with an injury. He'll play halfback this year at 180 pounds.

The starter is linebacker Ricky Warren, a 180-pounder. Harper feels his squad is too green to pose much threat this season, saying that most of his lettermen have yet to prove themselves.

The Sandies will be strongest in the backfield with several fast backs in the lineup but the line and defense will have to be overcome with experience.

But then, you never know what this coach will come up with.

Robert Littler, Athens, Ohio, and Dick Siderow, Westport, Conn.

Robert Murphy 23-year-old defending champion from Nichols, Fla., shot a "terrible and disgraceful" round of three-over-par 73 while 18-year-old British Amateur champion Bobby Cole finished with an 80 and was in danger of being cut after today's round.

McManus, who admits to getting "butterflies" prior to the start of play, said he expected to be "very nervous" trying to hold the lead he fashioned with an unusual total of six birdies, three bogeys and one double bogey.

The field will be cut to the low 60s and ties after today's round for the final 36 holes.

Denver is at Houston Saturday night and the champion Buffalo Bills visit the San Diego Chargers in a nationally televised game (NBC) Sunday.

The National Football League ends its exhibition season this weekend with seven games, highlighted by a meeting of unbeaten Friday night when Minnesota (3-0-1) visits Dallas (4-0) in a National TV contest (CBS).

Baltimore (4-0) is at Detroit (0-3-1) Thursday night and St. Louis (2-2) plays at Chicago (2-1) in another Friday night encounter. On Saturday night, Cleveland (2-2) meets Pittsburgh (1-3) at Birmingham, Ala.; New York (3-1) tackles Gren Bay (2-2) at Milwaukee; Philadelphia (3-1) plays at Washington (0-3) and San Francisco (0-4) travels to Los Angeles (2-2).

Namath was injured against Houston early in the exhibition grind on a disputed play that had the Jets dashing madly for the movie projectors to find the cameraman who failed to follow the action after the ball was ruled dead.

New York claimed Namath was struck after the play was over, but Houston heatedly denied any charges of skull-duggery.
