DAUGHTER OF RALPH THOMAS IS VICTIM HERE

CAR DRIVEN BY HIGH SCHOOL GIRL ON BROWNING

The funeral service for Patsy Ruth Thomas, 7-year-old daughter of County Agent and Mrs. Ralph Thomas, 915 Fisher street, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon at the Methodist church, in charge of Dr. W. C. House, the pastor, and the Rev. L. Burney Shell, Presbyterian minister.

Pallbearers will be James A. Jackson of Amarillo, Clyde L. Carruth of Stinnett, and John E. Hesse, Olin E. Hinkle, R. C. Wilson, and Dr. R. A. Webb of Pampa.

Pupils of the child's first grade at Woodrow Wilson school will be honorary pallbearers.

In charge of the flowers will be the Friendship class of the First Methodist church.

Burial will be in charge of the Charlie Duenkel Funeral home at the local cemetery.

TOMORROW Patsy Ruth Thomas told her expression teacher, Mrs. T. F. Morton, "I may get to lead the band."

She was referring, with shining eyes, to the rhythm band of the first grade of the Woodrow Wilson school, in which she "played the sticks."

But "tomorrow" is today, and Patsy Ruth's still and broken body lies at Chas. Duenkel's funeral home at 321 North Frost. She was killed almost instantly about 3:45 p. m. yesterday on Browning avenue while going home from an expression lesson given by Mrs. Morton at 417 North Yager street.

Neck Is Fractured. The accident was about half a block east of the Woodrow Wilson school. As the child crossed the street, she stepped in front of a car driven by Miss Jean Gillespie, 15, high school sophomore. She was carried on the bumper for a considerable distance. She suffered a basal skull fracture and her neck was broken. She was dead before the Duenkel ambulance reached a hospital.

Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal of the Woodrow Wilson school, was one of the first to reach the scene, although there were witnesses to the accident. Patsy Ruth was bleeding and unconscious. Blood was flowing from her ears when Mrs. Daniels felt the feeble pulse. The teacher turned the child on her side to make breathing easier. As she did so, blood poured from the mouth. Within a few minutes Patsy Ruth was dead.

Excellent Pupil. The child was an "A" student in Woodrow Wilson school. With the other first graders, she was dismissed at 2:30 o'clock. Then she went to her expression lesson. The bell had been sounded for dismissal of other students at 3:45 p. m. when the accident happened.

Patsy Ruth would have been 8 years old next November 24. She had been taking expression two years and had shown exceptional ability. Her vivacious manner was well adapted to her studies in expression.

Learning Recitation. Yesterday she was learning a new recitation entitled "My Mother's Ma." "If goes like this: 'My mother's ma is at our house. With all her toes and trumpets. She's got the big room upstairs. That's kept clean for company. 'Course I know that I'm her granddaughter. And that she's ash to me."

FDR To Ask Tax For $620,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—A tax program designed to produce permanent receipts of $620,000,000 annually, with the addition of $500,000,000 to pay for this year's farm program and to be levied over a period of years, was outlined to newspapermen today by President Roosevelt.

The latter amount included what the president referred to as a "windfall tax" to recapture processing taxes which were refunded upon the order of the Supreme Court. He estimated it would produce $120,000,000.

In the category of permanent taxes, the president lumped $500,000,000 a year for the new farm program and $120,000,000 annually for payment of the bonus.

This sum, he said, would be sufficient to yield the treasury the entire cost of the bonus by 1945, the year in which it was due originally.

FRESH CRISIS IS RAISED IN TOKYO REVOLT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Information reaching Washington today said that at 6 p. m. Japanese time, the insurgent soldiers still were holding out in Tokyo, but had agreed to obey a command by the emperor to return to their barracks.

The rebels were reported negotiating as to when and under what conditions they would give in.

Loyal troops still occupied their positions throughout the area. The information said censorship on news sent abroad from Tokyo was relaxed Friday morning, but the privilege given to foreign correspondents to talk freely on the transoceanic telephone during the morning was rescinded in the afternoon.

Japan's insurgent soldiers precipitated a fresh Tokyo Crisis today, defying the deadline set for them to evacuate the capital, and the government met the challenge with "appropriate measures."

The nature of these "measures" was not immediately disclosed, a severe censorship controlling communications from Tokyo, but apparently reliable reports said the area about the rebel stronghold was being cleared for possible action.

Lieut. Gen. Koehi Kashii, assigned by the government to rule the city with martial law, proclaimed: "The several hundred soldiers who started the disturbance early Wednesday morning are still holding the Nagatacho (central) section of Tokyo, but the commander of the martial law administration is taking appropriate measures to deal with them."

These advances broke a long period of silence during the hours of the night and this morning while a severe censorship indicated the situation was becoming increasingly acute.

4,000 Troops Loyal
White Emperor Hirohito continued his efforts to conduct early Wednesday morning after still holding the Nagatacho (central) section of Tokyo, but the commander of the martial law administration is taking appropriate measures to deal with them.

No man contributed more to the development of West Texas during the past half century than did T. D. Hobart, who came to the Panhandle in 1886 as an agent for the New York and Texas Land Company, Ltd., to take charge of the disposition of more than five million acres of Panhandle land.

Mr. Hobart was one of the founders of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society, having been for four years its president, during which the museum building was constructed, and "no man," says L. F. Sheffy, secretary to the Historical society, "contributed more of his time, money, and energy to the promotion of the society and the museum."

Mr. Hobart was a true West Texan from the time he came here to his death. Once when on a visit to Mrs. Hobart in Michigan before their marriage, he was asked by a cousin if "he didn't feel in dread of his life when he was out among the terrible cowboys," he replied, "Cousin, I feel a great deal safer with them than I do here in your city of Manistee."

It not only felt safe here himself, but he had made it possible for others who came to feel safe. He was a civic leader wherever he went. He was a mayor of Pampa for a term. He surveyed the town of Mobeetie, metropolis of West Texas during the early days. For two years he served as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

The museum collection would not be representative of Panhandle and West Texas history without a picture of T. D. Hobart.

OIL WELL FLOWS
HUTCHINSON, Kas., Feb. 28. (AP)—Shell Petroleum corporation's No. 2 Reece well in center north line of 11-26-9W in the Lerado pool of southwest Reno county today flowed 305 barrels of oil the first hour after it was acidized for the second time. The well tapped the Viola lime at 4,152 feet.

R. MacKenzie and Joe Bryant were business visitors in Borger yesterday afternoon.

Retired

Relieved of his command of the Eighth Corps Area and the Third Field Army, Major General Johnson Hagood (above), has been ordered to his home at Charleston, S. C., on "leave orders." The action is interpreted as disciplinary because General Hagood criticized WPA funds as "stage money" when testifying before a Congressional committee.

PHOTOGRAPH OF T. D. HOBART IS GIVEN MUSEUM

Wife Gives Picture To Institution At Canyon

CANYON, Feb. 28.—An enlarged photograph of the late T. D. Hobart has been presented to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum by Mrs. T. D. Hobart of Pampa. The photograph will take its place in the Pioneer Hall with those of other Panhandle history makers.

CUT RAILWAY FARES TODAY IN NEW ORDER

PULMAN RATES ALSO COME DOWN IN DECISION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—In a five to four decision, the interstate commerce commission today ordered a reduction in basic rail passenger fares from 3.6 to 2 cents a mile.

The commission also ordered a reduction in Pullman rates to 3 cents a mile. These rates now average 4 cents.

Under the order, the new fares will be effective June 2.

The order revised the passenger fare structure throughout the country, but because western and southern roads already have instituted low experimental fares its chief effect will fall on the eastern roads.

With the exception of the Baltimore and Ohio, eastern carriers had vigorously opposed any reduction, contending a cut would seriously impair their revenue.

The commission's majority opinion, written by Claude R. Porter on whose motion the general fare investigation was initiated, dealt at length with the revenue situation confronting the eastern carriers, and expressed the opinion that they would be benefitted rather than injured by a downward revision of fares.

The present experimental fares in effect are:

Mushes to Dogsled Victory

Pushing his dog team until his huskies were in a state of complete exhaustion as they mushed across the finish line, 17-year-old Lloyd Van Sickle, of Ashton Idaho, won the annual American Dog Derby staged in his home town. Sponsored by the Porcupine CCC camp, in which he is a worker, Van Sickle and his team completed the run in 2 hours, 14 minutes, 4 seconds, even though slowed up at the finish by a crowd of exuberant friends, who blocked the course. Above the boy is shown leading his tired team across the line, and at left he is comforting his weary lead dog.

Twinkles

Fencing is becoming very popular, especially among the ladies. But the word brings to us only memories of fencing these wide, far spaces.

Even republicans must admit that the new deal has, at least, crowded crime news off the front pages for several years.

Western Oklahoma may secede, but in this Centennial year West Texas can hardly afford to join in the movement.

Maybe some day a speaker will fall to remind us that the young men of today are the leaders of tomorrow. But we don't expect to live to see it.

Congressmen certainly like to dance when the electorate makes demands, but detests having to pay the fiddler, with new taxes.

Musing of the moment: Seen—a calendar with two pictures, one a nude study and the second a hunting dog scene for pasting over the first if desired. . . Maybe we ought to write two columns a day, one for radicals and one for conservatives.

Brevitorials

THE CENTENNIAL period has arrived. Monday will be Texas Independence day. One hundred years ago Sam Houston, Texas hero and patriot, and his followers carried out the dreams of Austin and others who envisioned a new empire. Six official Centennial celebrations are set for March 2: San Antonio, Houston, Huntsville, Brenham and Washington-on-the-Brazos. Gonzales and Crockett. Schools will have hundreds of ceremonies. At Huntsville is the old home of Houston. A Texas Centennial stamp will go on sale at Gonzales. Go will the Centennial open. Thereafter the year will be eventful, indeed.

Things are not always what they seem, or do figures lie? Machines are blamed for unemployment. But the crafts and manufacturing business, wherein machinery is the most perfected show the least unemployment. In the printing trades, for example, employment is above the 1923-25 average. Yet printing is highly mechanized. Similarly, manufacturing of women's clothing, baking, and petroleum refining involve delicate and marvelous machines, yet employment is above normal. . . Machinery on the farms and in hand-labor activities shows a different picture. But it is unwise to blame the machine for all our employment ills.

PROGRESSIVE FARMER magazine is greatly worried about the cotton situation. It points out that the carry-over of cotton for the last 5 years, despite federal control has increased 57 per cent over 1929. Most other crops show decreases. Wheat stocks, for example, are 52.4 per cent lower than in 1929. Contemplated cotton acreage this year is said to be 10 per cent to 15 per cent greater than for 1935. . . Nothing but disaster is seen by the magazine if farmers plant as much cotton as their tabulations of "intentions to plant" indicate. But the wheat farmer is afraid that cotton acreage may be diverted to feed crops and that "cows in the cotton patch" will compete with cows on the range.

German-Americans will be honored at the Centennial and the people of the race throughout the nation are taking notice of the fact. A Texas county is named for Robert Justus Kleberg, who fought with Sam Houston. His descendants are well known downstate. . . The roots of Texas lineage extend to every state and to many countries. This makes the Centennial of interest to millions throughout the country and assures a large influx of visitors.

INCOME TAX DATA: Deductions for business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers and must have certain qualities to be allowed. Such deduction must be for an expenditure in connection with the

I Heard . . .

A Pampa woman, a mother, telling friends that every state along one of Pampa's streets on Wednesday she tried to pass two girls zig-zagging all over the street on bicycles and when she honked her horn, one of the girls turned and thumbed her nose at her and went on her way. Police Chief Art Hurst is preparing to put a finish for all time on bicycle and roller skate "jay-riding" on Pampa streets. He will seek cooperation of parents who are more to blame than their children, in most instances.

SBCAP to Seek Liberation of A Bottled Hen

DENVER, Dec. 28. (AP)—The happiness of Mathilda, the bottled hen, had state officials peering with concern into her glass house today.

"Her eyes look glassy," said William B. Wheeler and Dr. George Glenn, of the State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection.

"We personally think Mathilda is very unhappy."

Mathilda, a white leghorn, was pushed into a five-gallon glass jug a few minutes after she emerged from the shell six weeks ago. Owner Henry Willis said it was an experiment.

He bottled Mathilda to control her diet.

But, experiments notwithstanding, the state bureau seemed inclined to the belief that Mathilda is entitled to a more abundant life. They will decide today whether she should be released. Someone else will have to figure out how to do the releasing.

Tomorrow To Be Leap Year Day
NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP)—Tomorrow is Leap Year day, and that old friend of crossword puzzlers—Ra, the Egyptian sun god—had a lot to do with it.

The ancient pyramids once were used to measure the length of the sun-indicated year. Their shadows were shortest at noon at the end of the 365-day year, now Feb. 28.

Once every four years, Egyptian mathematicians found, there was no shadow. They did not know a solar year actually contains 365.24 days and that the pyramid shadows therefore were not exactly accurate.

'Satisfactory' Interview With Hines Reported

Road Questions Will Be Discussed at Meeting Here
Described as "most satisfactory" was an interview at Chillicothe last night between Pampa, Panhandle, and Borger representatives and Harry Hines, chairman of the highway commission.

The same group was to meet here at 2 p. m. today to make plans for following up suggestions received Thursday evening, March 5, at the First Baptist church.

To Chillicothe went George Briggs, Gilmore N. Nunn, Jim Collins, J. S. Wynne, William Finley, Fred Cullum, and Bob McCoy.

A hearing before the highway commission has been set for March 16.

The road question will be discussed in full at a chamber of commerce membership banquet next Thursday evening, March 5, at the First Baptist church.

This banquet, set for 7:30 p. m., will officially close the finance campaign and set in motion the interlocking advisory boards of chamber of commerce and Board of City Development.

WEATHER
WEST TEXAS: Fair tonight and Saturday, slightly warmer in southern portion tonight, colder in the Panhandle Saturday.

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 28. (AP)—Ethiopian government officials, informed of Rome rumors that Emperor Haile Selassie was sick or wounded, said today the emperor was in perfect health.

The rumors arose from Italian dispatches from Djibouti, French Somaliland, reporting the emperor's Swedish physician had been summoned suddenly to Dessye, near the imperial field headquarters.

ILLNESS TAKES SHEARN MOODY OF GALVESTON

Owned Diamond Club And Newspapers At Gulf City
GALVESTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Shearn Moody, member of one of the wealthiest families in the South and owner of the Galveston baseball club of the Texas league, died early today of pneumonia. He was 40 years old.

Moody had been critically ill since a short time after he returned from a business trip to New York and Chicago about two weeks ago.

Moody and his father, W. L. Moody Jr., owned a chain of more than 30 hotels in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Alabama and Virginia.

He and his father were partners in the W. L. Moody and company, bankers, unincorporated, owners of much real estate, an insurance company, the Galveston News and the Galveston Tribune, cotton companies, a compress and warehouse company, a hotel company, the Galveston Beach corporation and smaller enterprises.

The younger Moody, listed as a millionaire in his own holdings, also was vice-president of the American National Insurance company, one of the largest insurance companies in the South, and president of the Security National Fire Insurance company. Headquarters for both companies are in Galveston.

He and his father owned widespread ranching interests and a large hunting preserve near Port O'Connor. Shearn Moody was one of the most prominent sportsmen in the state. Although he frequently said he owned the Galveston baseball club for the money there was in it, he found great pleasure in that sport, as well as in hunting and fishing.

Recent additions to the Moody hotel chain were Cliff Towers, one of the leading apartment hotels in Dallas; and hotels in El Paso, Texas; Clovis, New Mexico, and the Thomas Jefferson in Birmingham, Ala.

Survivors include the widow and two small sons, the parents, a brother, W. L. Moody, III, rancher of Galveston and Junction, and two sisters, Mrs. Clark W. Thompson and Mrs. E. C. Northern of Galveston.

POWER STRIKE DRAWS CHARGE OF SABOTAGE

POLES CUT BUT UNION MEN DENY RESPON- SIBILITY

EL PASO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Sabotage was charged in the El Paso Electric company strike today as officers investigated short circuiting of power lines which plunged communities in the 80-mile long area between here and Hatch, N. M., into darkness last night.

M. C. Smith, president of the company, said wires fell to the ground after four poles were cut. Although the plant, manned by emergency crews, was in operation, the short circuits left Canutillo, Anthony, Las Cruces, Hot Springs and Hatch, all in New Mexico, without power.

J. C. Gallagher, business agent of Local 585, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared union employees had nothing to do with sawing the poles.

Contending that strikers had removed vital parts of machinery when power and distribution employees walked out early yesterday, company officials through their attorney, Volney Brown, prepared to take the charges of sabotage to the grand jury today.

Strikers, contending the company had failed to keep faith with the union, continued to picket the section near the power plant, as efforts were made to settle the labor dispute.

Although no violence had been reported, Texas and New Mexico officers were ordered to keep close guard over the strike.

E. L. Alexander, president of the El Paso Central Labor Union, asked a mass meeting of strike supporters for financial aid. He urged a "limited boycott" against the electric company, requesting all supporters not to ride street cars or patronize the power company in any way.

W. L. Ingram, vice president of the international union, predicted a "bitter, drawn-out struggle."

The strike is the second one against the company within a year.

Trade Moves in Better Volume

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP)—With the weather handicap considerably eased, business and trade moved in better volume during the past week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today in their weekly summary of trade conditions.

The rebound in retail distribution was especially strong, it was stated, "as fulfillment of postponed needs built up the best volume in three weeks."

In wholesale markets also, the summary said, activity developed under the pressure of deferred commitments for spring merchandise and reorderers for threshing of current stocks. And with the flow of both raw materials and shipments less impeded, improvement extended to most industrial divisions.

"The first extended break in the frigid weather in more than a month enabled most of the cities to report larger retail sales than for the week preceding. In some instances the gains ran as high as 15 to 20 per cent."

"The margin over the comparative 1935 week also was broadened the estimated average for the country reaching 4 to 8 per cent."

"Staples dominated the orders from many districts as renewed interest was accorded dry goods, printed silk fabrics, chinaware, curtains and housefurnishings."

Brazilian government experts are reported to have found oil in unknown quantities in the subsoil of the east central State of Bahia and in the far western territory of Aere.

Dialing In On KPDN

By The Radio Reporter

So many of our readers are anxious to know what is going on locally at the radio station, that we again took Bob Mack from his myriad duties long enough to tell us something about the goings on atop the Cuberson-Smalling building.

For example, "What are all these rooms, and how does KPDN compare with other stations?" was one of our first questions.

And here is Bob Mack's professional answer—"KPDN is the finest 100 watt radio station in the southwest, and we base that claim on the premise that it is the seventh high fidelity RCA equipped station in America, which embodies all the very latest technical developments the radio industry has produced to date. KPDN, like all of the more progressive and better known stations in the East, has incorporated as well ultra-modern studios, arranged in suites to insure not only good reception, but ease of broadcasting under the most favorable conditions. For example from where you stand here (and he directed our attention to the large double plate glass observation windows, which literally line the walls of the station's expansion observation lounge) you can witness all phases of any broadcast which might be underway.

"This can be done without disturbing the principals taking part in these programs, and our production man in turn, can see these principals as well, and is therefore able to direct their actions through the script. Such an arrangement of studios allows for the production of interesting and polished programs, since principals and technicians, work in plain sight of one another and not by blind cues as is often the case even in some of the larger and better known stations."

Power Restored In El Paso Area

EL PASO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Line crews restored power at 7:45 a. m., today in four towns which had been left without electricity last night by the sudden grounding of lines.

The towns affected were Las Cruces, Hatch, and Anthony, in New Mexico, and Canutillo, Texas. All are in the Mesilla valley, north of here, and are served by the El Paso Electric company, union employees of which suddenly struck yesterday.

M. C. Smith, company president, said four poles had been sawed down near Canutillo, short-circuiting the lines.

NOT SPEAKING
DALLAS (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bill Decker asked Police Radio Dispatcher Max Moore to broadcast a message to a sheriff's squad car. "What squad?" asked Moore. "Deputy Bryan Peck," Decker replied. "Sorry," snapped Moore. "He and I aren't speaking."

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor —and neighbor, it's your price!

The man you see toggled out to go outside is a neighbor who happens by pretty often. He thinks our Family's Whiskey is just about o. k. That's me facing him and my son-in-law Tom at the right.

Wait till you feel how easy
our Family's Whiskey
slithers down your throat!

Neighbors stopping by on a chilly night tell us there's nothing more comforting and grateful-like than a nip of our Family's Whiskey before setting out in the cold again. Being so extra mild and smooth I think our Family's Whiskey is specially suited for taking a swallow or two straight—without any water or anything. It took a whole lifetime of distilling experience to make whiskey that trickles down so nice and easy as this.

FOR EXPECTED TO SIGN FARM AID ACT TODAY

NEW TAXES TO FINANCE MEASURE TO BE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Officials awaited only a scratch of President Roosevelt's pen today before hastening to launch a vast new agricultural subsidy program applicable to every American farm and administered by a reorganized AAA.

Hurrying to beat the spring planting deadline, AAA men eagerly saw the $500,000,000 soil conservation measure complete its journey through congress yesterday. President Roosevelt was expected to sign it quickly, perhaps today.

After a white house conference last night, it was indicated President Roosevelt would ask next week for taxes to finance the program. These are expected to total about $500,000,000.

Authoritative sources said officials would call farm representatives into regional meetings to discuss details of subsidies the government will pay farmers for conserving soil by taking land out of commercial crop production.

The first of these, it was indicated, might be held next week at Memphis, Tenn., where the first major disclosures of Secretary Wallace's exact plans are expected to be made.

"The new program, replacing the AAA struck down by the Supreme Court, will be administered by an agency bearing the same alphabetical designation. The bill gives Secretary Wallace wide authority to make payments, either directly to farmers, or through cooperating states, for conserving soil and making other "economic" use of land. After two years, the grants would be made only in states which adopted farm aid formula acceptable to the federal government."

Some officials favor paying subsidies on two bases in the cotton belt—a flat grant for each acre customarily planted in soil-conserving crops, and a second payment based on value of cotton which would have been produced on land diverted to soil conservation.

Republicans have attacked the new bill as unconstitutional, while Senator Smith (D. S. C.), chairman of the agriculture committee, called it "the closest to a constitutional bill that can be written."

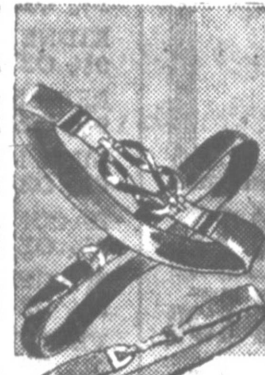

About 20,000 troops are stationed on the island of Oahu, Hawaii.

Spring Fashion Formula

Essentials and nonsense-ials you'll want

Boutonnieres are important for your suit. Flowers, or fruit.

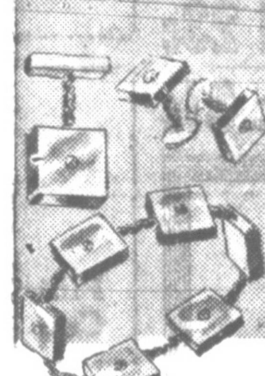

Belts in saddle leather, patent leather, or other novelties.

Rather large handkerchiefs patterned like men's, or floral.

Doorskin Gloves, white and colors. Gleaming patent leather bags.

Costume Jewelry with colored stones. The new Lapel Watches are here.

A real man-tailored shirt, "hats" and all. White or colors.

FEMINE ...

Charming jackets, in fitted lines, boxy, over dresses of matching print. Lingerie trims, and dainty jewels.

Left: the tunic jacket of this one is meant to be kept on, as the frock is sleeveless.

$10

The fitted, peplum jacket, with crystal buttons, and a lingerie bodice to the dress.

TAILORED ...

Slightly masculine, or more picturesquely Gibson. Girl inspired. Both tremendously flattering and vastly necessary this particular season.

Single breasted, man-tailored suit in men's wear woollens. Navy, grey, or London tan.

$1298 up

Herringbone tweed in the typical gardener's silhouette. Double breasted or fly front.

CASUAL ...

Free, swinging lines in the kind of clothes that make a man feel you can walk in his stride! Interesting enough to be completely essential.

Camel's hair topcoat, with overplaid pattern, and double breasted refer suit to harmonize.

$1975

The tuxedo suit, with a boxy coat, plaid faced, and a jacket suit of the plaid. Several colors.

SOFT ...

Feminine requisite, to prove how coy and gracious and dependent you really can be, out of your very tailored new clothes.

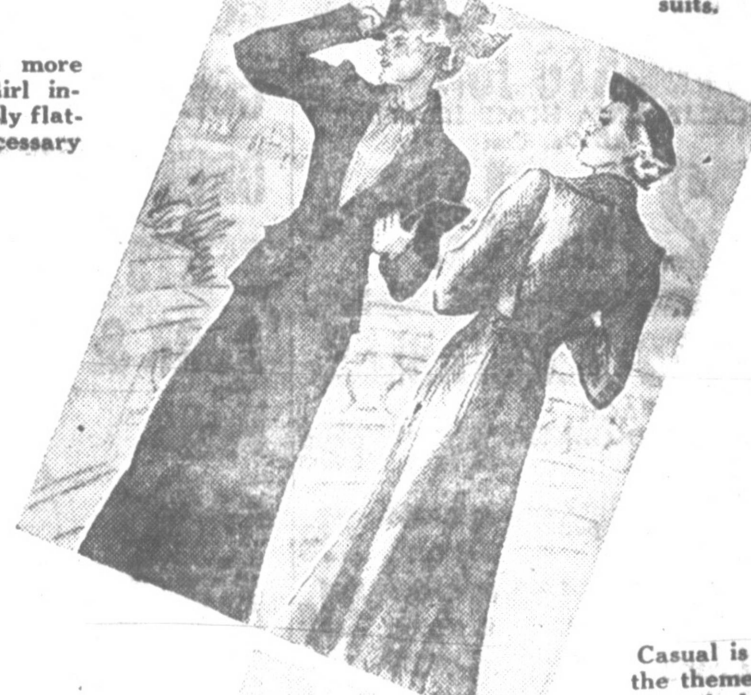

Double breasted bengaline jacket with a peplum-Gibson Girl version - dinner suit.

$1975

Afternoon redingote with pleated bodice to the waist, and colorful printed dress.

Feminine supremacy for daytime formality

Man-tailored trend in coats and suits.

Casual is the theme in wardrobe suits.

Soft fashions for afternoon and evening

Efforts Made to Curb Epidemics; Meningitis Fatal DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Death of two persons in East Texas of spinal meningitis led to increased efforts today to curb epidemics of various diseases all over the state.

Schools, churches, theaters and other public gathering places were closed at Kihore last night after physicians announced 7-year-old Nettie Lee Carter died of meningitis.

Dr. E. L. Jones, county health officer, said a quarantine would be made county-wide if spread of the disease was threatened. He said several persons had been exposed to the disease.

The first case of meningitis reported at Lufkin took the life of A. G. Agent. No other cases were reported in that section, but precaution was taken to prevent a spread of the malady.

A five-day quarantine on theaters and other gathering places at Texarkana was lifted today after health officials announced an epidemic of meningitis apparently had been curbed. The disease took seven lives in that area. School officials had under consideration plans to reopen schools there Monday.

Many other schools over the state remained closed and thousands of pupils were absent from schools still in session because of wide-spread epidemics of influenza, pneumonia, mumps, measles and other diseases.

FIRE PREMIUM GIVEN AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Raymond S. Mauk, fire insurance commissioner, today announced a 25 per cent fire insurance premium credit for Galveston based on a loss ratio of 21.1 per cent over a four-year period. Premium collections were listed at $1,600,789 and losses at $338,011. Premiums collected in 1935 totaled $41,901 and losses were $69,716.

January, 1936, was the coldest January for Greensboro, N. C., since 1918, records show.

Talmadge Scorns Discussions of An Impeachment ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28. (AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge ignored legislators' discussions of possible impeachment proceedings today as he figuratively fingered $2,000,000 and tried to estimate how far it would go toward running Georgia state business.

Members of the Georgia legislature have discussed impeachment freely in debating whether they could meet on their own call to straighten the financial tangle that followed failure of the last legislature to pass an appropriations bill.

Rep. Paul Lindsay said he believed the legislature could convene on its own call for impeachment purposes, but state Senator Allen Chappell, who demanded of Senate President Charles D. Redwin that a call be issued, replied to questions of ouster: "I don't want to say we will meet for impeachment proceedings because I don't know that will come up."

Redwine, known as a Talmadge follower, has not responded to the Chappell demand. The chief executive's new funds came chiefly from the state highway commission, which turned $1,850,000 to the governor and from a bank at Rome, the only state depository which has recognized the de facto treasury officials named by Talmadge.

One hundred sixty of Missouri university's 40,000 graduates live in the Orient, and more than 500 are in foreign countries, an alumni survey showed.

LABOR BOARD CHARGED WITH 'UNFAIRNESS'

UNFAIR PRACTICES BY ELECTRIC COMPANY ARE CLAIMED WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Charging the national labor board with "laxity" and "unfairness," a complaint brought before it by electrical workers now striking at El Paso, Texas, was withdrawn today.

The complaint was instituted last October 21. It accused the El Paso Electric company and contingent companies of unfair labor practices. In a letter to the board, copies of which were sent to President Roosevelt and Secretary Perkins, D. W. Tracy, President of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, asserted:

"Being convinced that this case is being conducted by the national labor relations board with laxity and with marked unfairness to our local union in contravention of the law creating the . . . board, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and its local union 585, El Paso, formally withdrew this case from the national labor relations board and the regional labor relations board.

"Our patience and the patience of those we represent in the city of El Paso is exhausted. We will undertake to protect our interests as best we can without the doubtful assistance of this board and its legal department."

Labor board agreement to indefinite postponement of a hearing on injunction applications and damage suits, failure of the board to reply to requests for information, and failure of board attorneys to keep promises were cited among reasons for the action.

Hagood Gives Up Office in Army WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The senate military affairs committee gathered today to consider a republican demand for a broad inquiry into the disciplining of Major Gen. Johnson Hagood, critic of new deal work relief. Informed sources said administration members on the committee were uncertain what stand they would take.

The committee must decide what to do about a resolution introduced by Senator Metcalf (R., R. I.) calling for an investigation of the general's removal from command of the 8th corps area at Fort San Houston, Texas.

Ordered removed after he had criticized WPA activities before a house committee, Hagood yesterday relinquished his post.

HARVESTERS TO PLAY 2 GAMES IN REGIONAL TOURNEY AT CANYON TODAY

BIG GROUP OF PAMPANS WILL WATCH GAMES

DELEGATION TO GO WITH BAND THIS EVENING

Determined to win the regional basketball championship, Coach Odus Mitchell and his tall, husky Harvester hoopers left this morning for Canyon where this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock they will clash with the tall, beefy Friona Chiefs in the first game of the tournament.

At 3:30 o'clock, the other two contenders for regional honors, Abernathy's man-sized Antelopes and Carey's elongated muscle men will play. The winners of the two struggles will play in the first game of the tournament at 7:30 o'clock, and the losers will play at 8:30 o'clock in the second game.

Last year, only three teams were well-matched, Lamesa, Crowley, and Pampa. Pampa, however, out of two games and Lamesa, out of one game. This year all the games are scheduled to be close, and the team that puts out everything until the final whistle is scheduled to win. There is no favorite. Each of the four district champions has a record sufficient to match the others.

However, Carey on paper is a slight favorite. The Cardinals won their district by bigger scores than any of the other district champions, and they swamped teams that the Harvesters nosed out. Their scoring is done by two forwards and the center and if Roy Lee Jones and Albert Ayer happen to meet those forwards it will be determined whether the Harvester guards are the best in the region.

The Harvesters will be watched by a large delegation of Pampa fans. Tonight the high school band, directed by Winston Savage, and the pep squad will furnish musical inspiration and yells for the Harvesters. If the Harvesters win both games today they will not play again until the finals on Saturday night. If they lose one game they will play again tomorrow morning. If they lose both games they will be eliminated. Scores of Pampans are planning to cheer the Harvesters on tonight.

Officials will be Julian Masters and Davis Hill, both of Amarillo.

Frogs Schedule Twelve Games for 1936 Grid Season

FORT WORTH, Feb. 28 (AP)—Texas Christian university's 1936 football schedule was officially announced today by Athletic Director Raymond "Red" Wolf. It embraces 12 games and will last just four days of running three months—from September 19, until December 19.

Following is the schedule: Sept. 19—Howard-Payne at Brownwood (night). Sept. 26—Texas Tech at Lubbock (night). Oct. 3—Arkansas at Fort Worth. Oct. 10—Tulsa university at Tulsa. Oct. 17—Texas A. & M. at College Station.

Oct. 24—Mississippi State at Dallas. Oct. 31—Baylor at Fort Worth. Nov. 7—Texas at Fort Worth. Nov. 14—Centenary at Fort Worth. Nov. 21—Rice at Houston. Nov. 28—S. M. U. at Dallas. Dec. 15—Santa Clara at San Francisco.

On the bench for 19 years, Judge Reese Tatum, of the 69th judicial district of Texas, with jurisdiction over seven counties, has never been opposed for election.

Braniff Airways now makes Amarillo the gateway to the great southwest!

Ride the famous "Texas Ranger" from Amarillo to Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Brownsville; the "Starlight Express" or "Legislative Special" from Fort Worth to Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Brownsville and return.

Arkansas And Longhorns To Play Crucial Game Tonight

Razorbacks Favored To Win at Least One Tilt

By FELIX R. M'KNIGHT Associated Press Sports Writer

The hammers are poised over at Fayetteville, Ark., for the rangy University of Arkansas Razorbacks to nail another Southwest conference basketball flag to the campus trophy pole.

It'll take just one of the two-game series with the second-place University of Texas Longhorns to start the hammers banging and Coach Gilen Rose says, just to make sure, he wants his boys to win the first game tonight.

"We've got to win that first game," was his only comment on the series. Towering H. L. (Honest) Like Poole, the Southwest's leading scorer with 107 points in conference competition, has recovered from a cold and will start for the Razorbacks at center.

The Porkers have won 16 straight home games in two seasons of play but have always been jinxed by Texas. In the last nine years the Longhorns have managed to win at least one game from Arkansas.

If they should beat the Porkers twice, thus taking the lead and muddying the race, they will be the first Longhorn team to win two games at Fayetteville since 1924.

Poole will have Jack Collins, lanky Steer pivot man who has averaged 81 points himself, to face in the two games. Texas will miss Jack Taylor, who managed for 55 points before being forced out with a leg injury.

The Arkansas defense, which has given up 241 points in 10 conference games for the lowest average of the circuit, will be led by Captain Jim Lee Howell, one of the greatest guards in Arkansas history.

Two other games are booked Saturday night. In a battle of the cellar Giants, Texas Christian visits Texas and M. at College Station and the victor will climb from the depths. Rice could slip into second place by defeating Southern Methodist at Houston if Arkansas trims Texas. But beating Southern Methodist has been a bit of a task this season, as Texas, less twice to the Mustangs, can attest.

Sports Roundup

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—This spot may well be called the winter baseball capital of the world. More ball players hole in here than in any other city in the country. Quite a few have bought homes and become free holders, with voting and fishing privileges.

A great many others show up around Dec. 1, "for a couple of weeks of golf," but seldom pull up stakes until time to head for the training camp. . . . In one respect, Sarasota's atmosphere is like the six-day bike race—it gets you. . . . There, you drop in for an hour, but stay all night. . . . Here, you come for two weeks and stay all winter.

The town's No. 1 baseball citizen is Lloyd Brown, the Cleveland pitcher. . . . Some of these days when Sarasota catches up with its golf and sunning, it will pay tribute to Lloyd in a big way.

He was the first ball player to buy a home here. . . . Since then, 20 others have rushed to follow suit. You can see Bill Jurgens of the Cubs sitting on his own front porch.

Also Butch Henline, Seattle catcher who owns a hotel; John Moore of the Phillies; Roy Spence of Baltimore and Bill Sweeney of Portland.

Wes Ferrell and Heinie Manush of the Red Sox are annual visitors. . . . So are Willis Eashlin, Cleveland's right-hooping pitcher, and Paul Waner of the Pirates. . . . The town claims the distinction of having been the site of the first golf course in the country. . . . and last month staged the first baseball players golf tournament.

Twenty entered and the only "furriners" were the celebrated Dizzy Dean, who winters at Bradenton, just ten miles up the road, and Babe Ruth, who came down from St. Petersburg to steal the show. . . . Dizzy is down here two or three times each week to golf and pop off.

Allen Son Will Ride Bench in Titular Battle

LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 28 (AP)—Dr. F. C. (Phog) Allen, university of Kansas basketball coach and U. S. Olympic quinet director, pulled his son Olymp of Kansas' starting lineup today because "he wouldn't take orders."

Milton Allen, Jayhawk forward, will ride the bench tonight, when his teammates battle Nebraska for a victory which would give K. U. the Big Six basketball championship.

"It's always hard for a coach to have his son on the team," the coach lamented, "but he's got to learn to obey like the other boys. This is the third year MIT has been taken out of a game because of his actions."

Father and son argued on the practice floor and Milton was ordered sulking to the showers.

Trial Horse

MYRIL HOAG, THE YANKEES' 60,000 EXPERIMENT WILL UNDERGO ANOTHER LABORATORY TEST THIS SEASON, WHEN MANAGER JOE M. CABIN WILL GIVE HIM A CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD AS A PITCHER.

HMB, WHO CAME UP FROM SACRAMENTO, HAS BEEN TRIED IN THE OUTFIELD AND AT THIRD BASE AND FOUND WHITING. HIS THROWING STRIKES FROM HIS GARDEN CAUSED M. CABIN TO BELIEVE HOAG COULD BECOME A RIGHT-HANDED HURLER.

Cunningham Is Beaten Out By School Master

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28 (AP)—Norman Bright, the reeducated California school master, is the latest victor over Glenn Cunningham, the champion miler from Kansas.

Running in the San Francisco indoor meet last night after several defeats on the Atlantic seaboard, Cunningham stayed ahead of Bright for 12 laps of the mile race only to be overtaken on the final dash around the track.

Bright, holder of the American two-mile record, finished two yards in front of the Kansan. His time was 4:16.3, considerably slower than Cunningham's record of 4:06.8 established two years ago.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

(By The Associated Press.)

PENSACOLA, Fla.—The Giants are beginning to hope Bill Terry never decides to take to umpiring. Instead of managing a ball club, Bill has severed as umpire in practice games here and he steadfastly refuses to call a fourth ball. The players have to hit or go out; they can't even get an intentional pass when the situation calls for one.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The opening of the Dodgers training camp today finds a large squad already on hand. Among those who arrived early were Lonnie Frey, Danny Taylor, George Earnshaw, Tom Baker, Fred Frankhouse, Walter Millies and Babe Phelps. Arriving yesterday, Phelps batted a couple over the right field wall in an informal practice.

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The Cincinnati Reds begin the last stage of their training today after traveling to Ponce to trim a local team 8-2 yesterday. After games here tomorrow and Sunday the first squad will leave for Miami by air Monday.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Johnny Mize, Cardinal rookie, has had plenty of work in a few days in training camp. Manager Frankie Frisch has had the former Rochester star taking a turn in the outfield as well as subbing for Jim Collins at first base. Frisch said he is highly pleased with the pep and smart fielding of his team.

AVALON, Calif.—Augie Galan of the Cubs is not enthusiastic over the proposal to shift him from left to center field but says, "I will do my best wherever Charley Grimm places me." Grimm was the first training casualty, getting two fingers on his right hand damaged by a foul tip yesterday.

PITTSBURGH—The first squad of Pirates, including pitchers Johnny Wasco and Mace Brown and Catchers Al Todd, Tom Padden and Spencer Woodill, leave for San Antonio tonight in charge of proxy Bill Ben-swanger. Manager Pie Traynor is reported en route from the west coast.

NEW ORLEANS—Steve O'Neil of the Indians says he is pleased with the condition of his men after less than a week in camp. Clint Brown, who is trying to prove he is a more useful pitcher than Al Milnar, Denny Galehouse and Walter Tauscher, has looked especially good.

SPORT SLANTS

To be a successful tennis player, the best training menu, according to Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., newest Davis cup possibility on the southern horizon, is a varied sports career — football, baseball, basketball, track.

"Probably the prime benefit, in addition to numerous others, is the old competitive spirit that issues from other sports," said Hendrix soon after he dusted off Bryan M. (Bity) Grant of Atlanta in the semi-finals of the fourth annual Miami Biltmore tennis championships.

"You can't play topnotch tennis, no matter how fast your service might be or how swell your backhand, until you get the feeling that you've got to win regardless of what else happens. A lot of tennis players get a couple of bum line calls get their 'nanny' and then quit trying to win.

"I wish an all-round athlete play tennis. He's in there battling until he's lost the last point, no matter how the breaks go, because he's had bad breaks before and they only make him try harder."

Hendrix, raiding the upper strata of tennis in a drive which he hopes will draw Davis cup attention, bowled over Wilmer Allison, No. 1 in the national rankings for 1935 at New Orleans, before taking the measure of Grant, new No. 3, in Coral Gables.

A rangy boy of 23 years, Hendrix played football, basketball and baseball four years at Southern College, Lakeland.

"Basketball, perhaps, is the best sport to coordinate with tennis," he continued. "It teaches you balance and timing, and they are two factors that come in handy on the tennis court. All the other sports build up stamina and, most of all, give you the will to play so hard that he's more difficult to beat at his tennis game."

Unranked nationally, Hendrix plans a stiff program this year before going to the national to try his skill in America's fastest tennis company.

"I've got a fair backhand," he remarked, "but my forehand's bad. I'm trying to change it with the hope of improvement, as I'll never get anywhere on grass until I develop a forehand I know, too, that I must have a decent grass game before making any progress toward the Davis cup team. I'll play the eastern grass circuit next summer, but am pretty pessimistic, because southern boys usually aren't any good when it comes to playing on grass court activity down here."

Hendrix's tennis formula served him well in the winter tournament, taking him past Grant, until he struck a jimmy foe—young Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., No. 17 in the new U. S. rankings.

Harris made it four straight tournament victories over Hendrix as he stroked the Lakeland youth out in the finals, 6-4, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2. Harris has been Hendrix's nemesis in the Dixie championships, Central Florida championships and Kentucky State championships.

King Plays Incongruous

King Gustav of Sweden, now in his seventy-eighth year, still plays a commendable game of tennis, but his partners seldom realize it until afterwards.

The king recently competed as plain "Mr. G" for the Royal tennis club against a rival club, and as he walked to the courts with his doubles partner, he said: "I hope you don't mind playing with an 'old un' like me."

His partner, not suspecting the identity of his fellow-player, assured "Mr. G" to the contrary. And his assurance became doubly warm as "Mr. G" with brilliantly placed lobs and tricky shots at the net, helped drive their younger opponents off the court, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Only after the match was ended did it become known that "Mr. G" was His Majesty King Gustav.

WACO GIRLS WIN

AUSTIN, Feb. 28 (AP)—The W. A. Holt team of Waco established itself as a contender for the women's basketball championship of Texas Amateur Athletic federation today by defeating Pasadena of Houston 33 to 26 in the opening game of the state tournament.

same number in the closing half. Windom made his extra points on free throws. Brother Slim Windom continued to assist in the scoring with five field goals, three in the first half and two in the second stanza.

The Harvester Profs led, 20 to 14 at the half and 30 to 22 at the end of the third quarter. In the closing stanza the Phillips guards started whamming the backboards and the forwards and center took advantage of their height and rushed in to take rebound shots. Then, when Monroe left the game, the Profs were robbed of their tallest man and the Phillips tree-tops had little opposition in reaching high for the ball.

The visitors played a steady game of ball, handling the leather well and taking advantage of all the breaks to get the ball into shooting position. Only two losses have been chalked against the Ollers this sea-

Deans Threaten To Retire If Salaries Aren't Hiked

'Dizzy' Says He May Enter Furniture Business

DALLAS, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Dean brothers of the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff have threatened to retire from baseball if their demands for salary increases are not met.

Jerome Herman (Dizzy) eldest of the pair, said the Cardinals offered him just $21,500 too little when they set the figure at $18,500 and he added he would consider going into the furniture business if he didn't get around $40,000.

Paul (Daffy) joined his brother in the threat to quit the game. He recently bought an 80-acre farm near Garland with the view of moving his father to it. Paul said he might take up golf seriously, manage his farm or do something else.

Dizzy planned to go to Houston today to visit his father before leaving for his home in Bradenton, Fla., to attend to business matters other than baseball.

"From Bradenton I intend to go to St. Louis and confer with R. A. Slack on a proposition to enter the furniture business," Dizzy said. "When I say I'm going to retire if they don't offer me a fair deal, I mean it."

Dizzy said he wouldn't be stubborn and hold out for the round $40,000 but that he was not willing to cut the figure very much.

Regionals Will Narrow Race to 8 Contenders

AUSTIN, Feb. 28 (AP)—Contending teams in the race for the University of Texas Interscholastic League basketball race will be reduced to eight Saturday when 32 quintets engage in eight regional tournaments.

Regional tournament winners will participate in the state championship rounds March 6 and 7. Roy B. Henderson, executive secretary of the league, said he was not advised as to parities in the regional meets and that several instances opponents would be drawn by lot immediately before the tournament.

Teams that will play in the regional events were:

Region No. 1, at Canyon—Priona, Pampa, Abernathy, Carey.

Region No. 2, at Abilene—Porsan, O'Brien, Crews, Mullan.

Region No. 3, Denton—Nocona, Denton, Dallas Tech, Waco.

Region No. 4, at Longview—Gober, Hughes Springs, Kilgore, Cushing.

Region No. 5, at Furrville—Bryan, Colmenseel, Jeff Davis of Houston, French.

Region No. 6, at San Marcos—Del-

'ONE-GRAND' PEAK SCALED BY UTE, WITH 1000 POINTS IN ROCKY MOUNTAIN COURT RACE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Bill Kin-ner, brilliant center on the University of Utah quinet, has shot his way into the "one-grand" class, the select circle reserved for the few basketball players who have scored 1,000 points or more in collegiate competition.

Registering 30 points in a Rocky Mountain conference game against Utah State, Kinner ran his total up to 1,003. He added 21 points in two games with Brigham Young U. and 13 in another series with Utah State, and at the halfway station in the conference campaign had 1,037 points to his credit.

He's All-Star Center

The big Ute, all-conference center three years straight, average 12 1/2 points in 83 games played since he first donned Utah togs.

He scored 144 points against conference opposition alone in 1933, 151 in 1934 and 169 in 1935 to win high-scoring honors each year for both divisions of the circuit. Many experts called him the finest basketball player in the mountain sector last season. In his first six conference games this season Kinner made 64 points.

Record disclosed that only two other conference players ever passed the 1,000 mark. They are Elwood Romney of Brigham Young, with 1,213, and Les Witte of the University of Wyoming, with 1,030. Romney now is coaching Western

Jacksonville in State Cage Finals

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Jacksonville college Jaguars were in the playoff for state junior college championship honors today after defeating Texarkana junior college last night, 42 to 29.

The Jaguars capped the district I title of the Texas Junior College conference by gunning Texarkana for the second straight night.

Ten minutes after the game started the Jaguars, paced by Clifford Dotson, center, had amassed a lead they easily held. The half-time score was 22 to 14.

Dotson hoped 16 points while Tom Williams and Grady Vaughn, guard and forward, accounted for nine each. McGraw, Texarkana forward, also tossed nine points.

Schedule for the championship playoff has not been announced.

ACCIDENT

But she says grandmothers are obsolete. Whatever that may mean, she says she has tried to get down. All raised around in little rows. And all her slippers have high heels.

City and county officers and attorneys began an immediate investigation of the accident. They were told that in and on the car at the time were Willard Roff, Travis Lively Jr., Aaron Hunter, Fred McLaughlin, and Alan Wise.

Miss Gillespie had stopped to pick up some of the boys, had passed the others and circled to pick them up, and was going eastward when the child appeared in the street.

Besides the parents, the survivors are the brother, Charles LeRoy, 11; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Strayhorn of Los Angeles and Mrs. C. O. Thomas of Plainville.

A court of inquiry into the death was believed likely this afternoon.

Officers were told that the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Darby was with Patay Ruth at the time of the accident, and that the boy saw the car and dodged back.

TROTSKY AVERS RED PRISONERS ARE TORTURED

Is Kept in Jail for Criticising
Regime

BY LEON TROTSKY
Former Commissar of War in the U. S. S. R. Now Living in Exile
in Norway
(A Statement to the Associated Press)

OSLONFOS, Norway, Feb. 28.
(AP)—During recent months and weeks I have received extremely important news, from authentic sources, relative to the terrible regime against political prisoners whose fidelity towards the soviet union is beyond doubt and whose only "crime" is that of criticizing the ruling bureaucracy.

Friends have requested me by cable to let them know the truth of this matter.

A short time ago, for example,
Doctor Anton Ciliga, former leader of the Yugoslavian communist party, arrived from the soviet union
where he spent more than five years in prison and exile as punishment for his critical attitude towards the leadership of the comintern.

In order to force his expulsion from the country, Ciliga began a hunger strike. He was then fed forcibly, and prevented from committing suicide. Thousands of expelled members of the ruling party are in similar circumstances, because they protested against the conditions of growing inequality, introduction of army-officer-titles,
disipation and autocracy.

Zinoviev and Kamenev, close collaborators of Lenin, are now imprisoned from a terroristic crime with which they had nothing whatsoever to do.

Kamenev, former chairman of the political bureau, is kept in a cell together with twelve others. Last year an additional five years was added to his original five year imprisonment for his alleged participation in plotting a terroristic assassination of Stalin.

Accurate and absolutely objective information by Ciliga, Tarov, and others prove increasing antagonism between the bureaucracy and the developing population. The bureaucracy is compelled to have recourse to the sharpest repressions, not in the interest of the soviet state, but of its own self-preservation.

It is indisputable that enemies of the soviet union and of its friendly relations with the United States, make use of such information for their own purposes. But the way to avoid such misuse is not to conceal the facts of the bureaucratic crime, but to put an end to the crimes themselves.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.
AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Just when it seemed the Railroad commission was seeking new records in long, tedious protraction hearings, it set one for brevity.

Cold weather, a leaky room and absence of controversial discussions combined to induce snappy testimony and quick adjournment of the February hearing.

Moreover, Chairman Ernest O.
Thompson was at Washington, the first meeting of his kind he had missed since assuming office. A telegram from him told of an increase in the estimate by the bureau of mines of market demand for Texas oil, which was what the operators wanted.

R. L. Hardwicke, Fort Worth attorney, who always starts the hearings with a motion that previous records be introduced, pulled a fast one on Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Lon Smith.

He made his usual motion, then two or three perfunctory ones, and concluded, loudly:
"And I further move that we adjourn. It's too cold in here."
Terrell grinned.

"I guess we'll just take one motion at a time," he said. "We'll save the motion to adjourn awhile."

When Chairman Thompson's visit to Washington became known his office declared he was in the national capital "tending to a few routine matters before the interstate commerce commission."

The visit on the eve of an important protraction hearing and with the demand for an increased Texas allowable growing stronger, didn't need an expert guesser to conclude the chairman probably would talk a little oil, as well as tend to routine matters.

The allowable always follows closely the bureau of mines estimate of the demand for Texas crude. The first step in increasing the allowable is to elevate the bureau's figures.

Major oil companies served notice they had not given up the fight to have production in East Texas proposed on an acreage-potential basis.

Only potential is considered at present.

They asked that previous records of testimony intended to show the desirability of considering acreage be introduced, but failed to say what they proposed to do thereafter. The commission has consistently turned down the acreage proposition.

The majors, holders of largest acreage, claim the potential basis discriminates against them. The opposition argues any other formula would discriminate against the little man.

The United States post office department plans to exhibit at the Texas centennial exposition the largest collection of rare stamps it thus far has assembled, with an estimated value of $1,000,000.

ber in North Carolina for 1936 will

WILENTZ WILL NOT OPPOSE A 2ND REPRIEVE

WILL STAND ASIDE AND LET HOFFMAN MAKE OWN DECISION

By JOHN FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer
(By The Associated Press.)
TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 28. (AP)—An authoritative source said today Attorney General David T. Wilentz chief prosecutor of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, will not oppose a second reprieve for the convicted slayer of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's first son.

Wilentz, the source said, will neither oppose the reprieve nor consent to it, but will stand aside and let Governor Harold G. Hoffman make his own decision whether to delay further Hauptmann's death sentence, without interference from the attorney general's office.

The attorney general will remain passive, on the governor's contention that more than one person was implicated in the crime, that the testimony of some state witnesses would bear closer scrutiny and that prosecution officials have withheld important information in the case.

Wilentz, the source, said, does not believe any new evidence has been developed in the governor's private investigation. Private disagreement with the views of the trial jury, the count of errors and appeals in the supreme court of the United States and the New Jersey court of pardons would not affect the decision in Wilentz's opinion.

Hauptmann's sentence will be executed the week of March 30, Governor Hoffman's reprieve of Jan. 16, came twenty-nine hours before he was to die in the electric chair.

The governor's latest attack on the identification testimony of J. Perrone, Bronx taxicab driver, who delivered the note to Dr. John F. (Jesse) Condon on the night of March 12, 1932, instructing him how to meet the kidnaper—elicited no comment today from Wilentz.

Olympic Games May Be Held in Japan in 1940

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP)—The question of where to hold the 1940 Olympic games is a simple one to Count Henri Baillet-Latour of Belgium, president of the international Olympic committee.

"It is politically necessary to go east to the far east," he said today as he carried here en route to Tokyo to appraise Japan's plans for seeking the 1940 games and to inspect the facilities for holding them.

The recent assassinations and revolt in Tokyo and the antipathy of some European countries toward sending their athletes so far from home disturb Count Latour not at all, he said.

"The Olympics are an international thing. They never have been held in the Orient. The Japanese bid is the first ever received from that area. European countries which do not wish to compete in Japan can keep their teams at home. They do not have to attend. But it is up to the nations themselves. I am absolutely neutral."

The count arrived yesterday from Europe. He declined to comment on military uprisings in Japan. He announced he would sail from San Francisco March 5 as he had planned.

New Type of Ice Refrigerator Is Shown at Store

The Pampa Ice Manufacturing Co. is displaying one of their new refrigerators at the Standard Food Market No. 1 store now and all next week.

"The new ice refrigerator is a big advancement over any models ever shown," says Walter Liebmann, manager of the ice company.

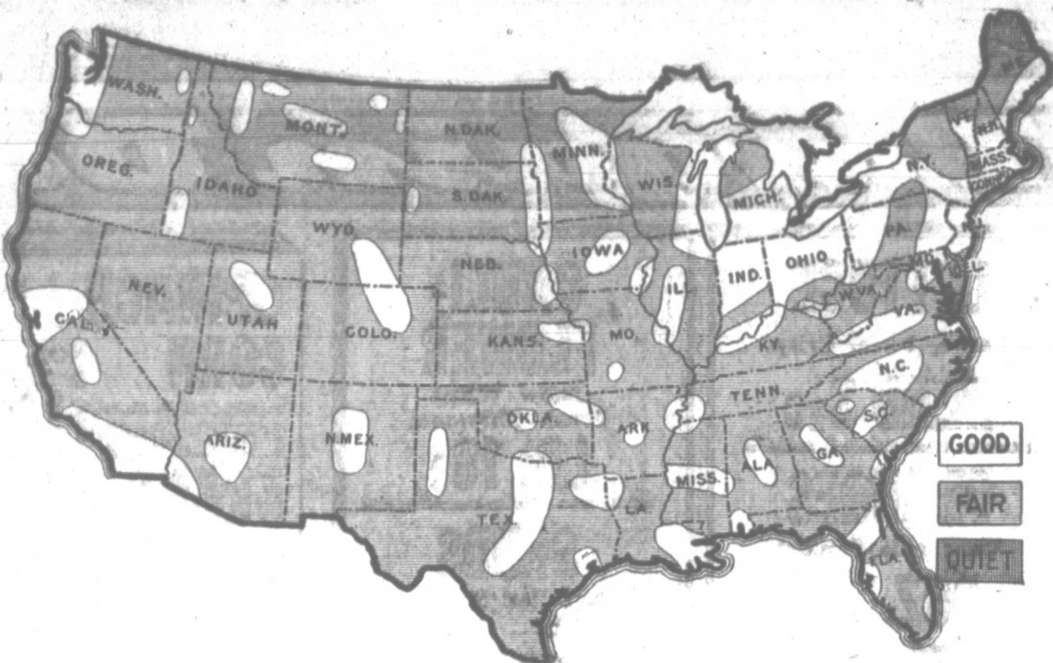

A new type of insulation and general improvements in the efficiency and beauty of the refrigerators are pointed out as advancements in the 1936 models.

Business Conditions of Nation as of February 1

This map represents business conditions in every state of the Union as shown in March, 1936, issue of "Nation's Business" official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

January witnessed some sharp contrasts. Early retail trade was good in city and country. Later, the voiding of the triple "A" intense cold and heavy snows retarded rural buying. City and town trade did not reflect this so sharply. Cold weather spurred urban buying of winter goods.

Most observers stressed snow cover as promising adequate future soil moisture for winter and spring crops. Commodity prices, particularly farm products, moved down. Stock trading was the heaviest since July, 1933; bond trading the largest since 1930. Security prices rose for the tenth successive month. Bank clearings and debts gained heavily over 1935 and divided pay-

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

Chapter XXIII
By morning Julia's head had cleared and she faced the world with more courage than she had been able to summon before Buchen's barrage of questions. She saw now that they had depended much on a surprise attack, hoping to uncover something. They had taken her after a hard evening at the White Club, when she was too tired to stand, much less answer questions.

In the light of morning she was able to tell herself that nothing could really happen to endanger her. She knew nothing of the intrigue aboard the Wood Nymph. It had been something which she had sensed rather than witnessed, and there was the added fact that she had accompanied Woodford and his party to Evergreen Island much against her will.

But what had Buchen meant by saying that Woodford had suggested the prosecuting attorney question her? Had Woodford simply given Buchen the names of his guests, or had he somehow suggested that Julia Craig was the most likely suspect? The thought chilled Julia, made her more than ever afraid.

Went into a stupor, Julia had been able to sleep—but poor Amy appeared at the breakfast table pale and heavy-lidded. The shock of Nesbitt's death had been difficult enough, but now with Julia dragged into the mess, Amy was almost ready for doctors and nurses.

"I'm scared, Julia. The morning paper tells of your being questioned, and that the police say they are putting—wait, I'll read it." She picked up the paper, and read, "Police told reporters they were putting considerable hope in the testimony of Julia Craig, better known as Nadine White, night club singer, who was aboard the Wood Nymph."

"That doesn't mean anything, Amy. And there's something I want you to do for me."
"What's that?"
"Don't mention that you knew Nesbitt. I told them that I'd known Nesbitt for some time before the yacht trip."

"But, Julia—that makes it just that much worse for you!"
Julia shook her head. "It won't. And there's no need of your being mixed up in this. Remember—you've got to stick to what I told them now!"

Amy's reply was prevented by a staccato knock which startled them both. Nervously Julia went to the door and opened it. The early-morning visitor was Smith Garland. "Sorry about the hour, Julia. Hello, Miss Sanders. He strode into the room in his dynamic manner, turned suddenly to Julia again. "If there anything I can do?"

"That's nice of you, Smith. But she smiles, weakly, "everything is all right now."
Garland looked relieved. "You'll be able to go on tonight at the club?"

"Of course. I don't think they'll call me again. And Peter Kemp is going to watch out for me."
"Kemp?"
"He's a young attorney I know. Garland's forehead deepened its lines. "If I were you I'd get someone like G. Williams Miller. He handles Payson's affairs. I'll speak to Tom about it, if you like. You never know what might turn up, and it pays to have good counsel, Julia."

Julia shook her head. "I've already told Peter I wanted him—if I need a lawyer at all."
The night club operator seemed still dubious. "All right, Julia. I know one thing. This young Buchen is out for blood. He'll hang this thing on somebody or know the reason why. If you're easiest."
His voice trailed into a meaningful silence.

Amy got up from the table, her breakfast untouched. "Julia, do you think you really ought to sing tonight?"
"She doesn't have to unless she feels perfectly all right," Garland said.

"I am perfectly all right," Julia assured them. "I'm not going to let them stop me now!"
Garland smiled. "Good girl!"

Payson called to take Julia to the White Club that night.
"Feeling all right after your ordeal?" I wanted to know when they had settled themselves into his roadster and started through the thickening night traffic.

She nodded. "At any rate, I'm feeling much better than when you found me last night. Tom, they could have hanged me, and I don't think I'd have had the strength to object."

"I know. His lips closed in a thin line. Then, "I'm going to remember this, Buchen. Payson turned to study Julia's sober profile. "You're a brick to stand up under all this. The fact is, I should be down there myself, I was on Evergreen Island."

"Oh, you mustn't tell them that!"
"Why not?"
"Woodford told them that someone tried to get into the radio room. Buchen asked me if anything else unusual happened on the island, and I had to tell him about your attempting to use the radio phone. But I said I didn't know who you were."

"I'm afraid that's bad, Julia. You see, I told Woodford that night my name was 'Payson'."
Julia's hand flew to her throat. "I'd forgotten that. Do you suppose Woodford remembered?"

Tom laughed easily. "After all, Julia, I haven't been exactly a recluse in this town, and that night when I stood before Woodford I had a sneaking suspicion he recognized me then."
"Oh, Tom. I wish I hadn't told them about it."

"You had to. Buchen knew it from Woodford and he was laying for you."
"But it looks bad, that I pretended not to know who it was."

Payson was silent a moment. "We'll have to wait and see, Julia, and I don't think we'll have to wait long. With Buchen at the helm, things will be cracking fast on the Nesbitt case."

"Let's not talk about it anymore, Tom. That's a good idea." He smiled down at her. "Let's talk about us, shall we? I haven't had a chance to tell you how sorry I am about what happened at the club the other night. You mustn't mind Theresa Davis. She has a vicious tongue."

"I wasn't Theresa Davis, I minded," Julia said quietly. "But she was speaking for your whole crowd. Tom, I could tell that."
He released one hand from the wheel, seeking her hand. "She wasn't speaking for me, Julia. That's what I want you to be sure about."

"I know. You've been grand, Tom. And I—I appreciate it." She laughed merrily. "It seems as if you're always getting me out of trouble, since the first day we met."
He was silent a moment, threading the car carefully into a faster

SENATOR LONG TAKES SILENCE AS HER MOTTO

New Gallantry Noted In Senate After Her Arrival

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The old custom of the senate that fledgling members should be seen but not heard has been adopted by Mrs. Rose McConnell Long as her guide.

Unlike her unpredictable husband who appeared among the senators when it suited him and left whenever he took the notion and who set records for talking, the junior member from Louisiana arrives early, stays late and says nothing.

She is called "Mrs. Long" by her colleagues, not "senator."
As a rule, she and grave Senator Norris and Senator Borah are the first senators to appear. In deep black and bare-headed, Mrs. Long comes in several minutes before Vice President Garner calls the senate to order at noon.

She carries a small black handbag, which she places on her desk beside the inkwell and snuffbox which form part of the traditional equipment of each senator.

Many senators stop by Mrs. Long's desk to chat; they say she is an entertaining and interesting woman. A new gallantry has been noted in the senate since her arrival.

The verdict of the spectators' gallery is "she's handsome." Many questions are asked gallery attend-traffic lane. "I think I get it, Julia," he said at last. "You appreciate it, but that's as far as it goes."

"What do you mean, Tom?"
"I mean I'm in love with you," he said quietly, not turning his head. "You haven't an answer for that, have you?"

"Not... not now, Tom."
He nodded. Then, suddenly, in a wholly different tone, he said, "Errr we are, Julia!"
Julia stared through the windshield. The doors of the White Club were scarcely visible, so great was the mob outside! They pushed into the entrance-way, overflowed from the sidewalk and into the street.

"Looks as if this is going to be bigger than the opening night," said Payson in an odd voice.
"I know... why," Julia answered. "It's—because of the publicity about—Roy Nesbitt." She turned to Payson quickly. "Turn the car around, Tom. I'm not going in there!"

He looked at her in astonishment. "Why, Julia?"
"I won't be stared at as a sensational curiosity! Most of them out there haven't come to hear me sing. They've come to see the girl who was questioned about the murder of Royal Nesbitt." She was sobbing now. "I won't be that kind of a success. I won't. Tom! I'll come back to the White Club when they've forgotten all this."
"I don't blame you," he said.

the close of the day, she will say "call tomorrow."
Mrs. Long left most of her husband's books at home in Louisiana, but she brought along his worn Bible, underscored from beginning to end in his handwriting.

Next to the United States, Canada is the most auto-minded country with one car to each eight persons.

Mrs. Long is acquiring a reputation among the press as the most inaccessible senator whereas her husband was one of the most accessible. She perplexes reporters by neither seeing them, nor refusing to see them.

Sometimes he will keep them calling during the course of a whole day, saying each time "come back a little later." Then, often as not, at

Oshkosh B'Gosh say... "We've made the World's Best Overall BETTER"

It sounds hard to do, and it was hard to do—but Oshkosh B'Gosh did it. For more than a year their mills worked constantly trying to weave a denim, even stronger than the long wearing, tight woven fabric for which Oshkosh B'Gosh are famous.

At last they found a new, and still secret way of twisting the long-staple cotton that made the yarn itself stronger and harder to break. Woven into fabric, this new yarn produced a denim far harder to rip, or snag and more wear resisting than any denim known.

THE BUSINESS OF LAW-MAKING

Writing in the Texas Weekly, Courtney Gray, representative of the 125th district, reviews the wide criticism of the legislators and its laws, and suggests some common-sense remedies.

He assumes two generalities. The first is that there are too many laws passed; the second that there has been a lowering of the quality of laws. Much of the blame rests on the practice of introducing and expediting scores of "local bills" without proper regard for what they may mean to other communities. The intent of legislators is one thing and the court interpretation of poorly written statutes is another.

School laws, according to Rep. Gray, are among the most poorly drawn. Many contradict each other. The courts have repeatedly remarked on the difficulty of interpretation. A thorough re-writing of Texas statutes by accurate workmen would effect a tremendous saving in time, money, and patience. Assuming that the laws could thus be simplified, the problem would be one of assuring better law-making in the future.

One school of thought, Mr. Gray points out, would reorganize the legislature, leaving only one house—a smaller, better paid one—and avoiding deadlocks. The other idea is that two houses, with conference committees to effect compromises and improvements, get the best results.

It must of course be remembered that our government is formulated upon a system of checks and balances, on the theory that radicalism of one unit begets conservatism in another. Moreover, there are specific duties imposed in each house, such as making one the grand jury, in effect, and the other the trial court in impeachment proceedings. The old argument that the upper house represents property is no longer applicable, although the longer terms which senators of most states enjoy may have a slight tendency in that direction.

Mr. Gray suggests that the senate should consist of not more than 25 members, the house of not more than 75. It is the observation of many that the Texas house is unwieldy and that a minority of the members do most of the work. A reduction in members would have the effect of reducing the number of bills submitted. And it is impossible for a member to study hundreds of bills—often as many as 1,500—as they should be studied before enactment.

In conclusion, we again quote Mr. Gray: "The legislator should be a man of the highest integrity, bound to no special interests or set of men, of wide information and mature judgment, with the courage to oppose a measure which his judgment tells him should be defeated. The annual salary should be sufficiently ample to interest men of the proper caliber and to compensate them for neglect of their own business. Lastly, those who prove their worth should be returned to the legislature from term to term as are the members of Congress, because experience ripens, matures, and broadens a legislator and better fits him to serve the people of the state."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The National Emergency Council was meeting a few days before the Monday when the supreme court was expected to hand down its TVA decision, and Roosevelt was asking one of his administrators about a certain court case.

"We're clear on that one," he was told. "The Supreme Court decided it didn't have jurisdiction."

"Well, well!" exclaimed the president, "I thought that was irrelevant now."

"Hey!" he demanded, suddenly turning to Dr. Arthur Morgan of TVA, "any of your people going to be working after Monday?"

Wisecracks will be heard in the White House as long as Roosevelt occupies it, even though all hands are taking life more seriously than they were. The latter fact is grimly evidenced by the increased care taken by the Secret Service in guarding the president.

On practically all occasions when Roosevelt comes in contact with any segment of the world outside, the guard appears to be practically twice as large as it would have been a year ago. Increase in the volume of threatening crank letters is responsible.

The official explanation of the new censorship over White House news photographers, permitting only posed pictures, is the correct one. Roosevelt was faced with a dozen or 15 cameras on his birthday and at least 50 flash bulbs exploded in blinding sequences a few feet from his eyes.

"Boys, you're burning my eyes out," protested F. D. R., as he ducked to cover his eyes.

Steve Early, press secretary, said that was enough pictures. But meanwhile a photograph had been taken which on being developed seemed to show the president in the last stages of despair and mental fatigue.

A caption-writer tagged the picture to the effect that here was Roosevelt after a conference on the agricultural program.

No wonder the White House was sore. So are most of the photographers. They expect the picture will be turning up as "evidence" in whispering campaigns. Most picture agencies refused to distribute the picture, as being unfair.

If the NRA had gone on unmolested, one thing you'd know by this time would be the amount of canned dog food consumed by human beings in this country.

Some of the ex-NRA employees who had to do with the dog food codes still wonder about it. An effort was made, chiefly by the Breeders and Veterinarians' League, to clean up dog food standards. One of the arguments was that people ate a lot of the stuff, made up of things the packing houses don't know what else to do with and in many cases unfit even for dogs.

"Your attention is called," wrote the league, "to the large amounts of canned dog food sold in areas heavily populated by white people of southern European and Mexican extraction and also in the colored sections of large cities—areas where a dog would be a luxury."

NRA also heard of dog food salesmen who would open up cans in front of prospective buyers and eat therefrom, just to show how good the stuff was.

"Full steam ahead" is slogan of campaign leaders. So that's what it is, steam!

Centennial Stamp Covers May Reach New High for U. S.

GONZALES, Feb. 28. (AP)—Orders for the first day Centennial stamp covers at the post office here neared 200,000 when the first mail today brought 60,000 addressed covers to be mailed with the new stamps on March 2.

It is predicted cancellation will reach 300,000, which would establish a new record for first day sale of special-issue stamps.

The ceremony of opening the Centennial sale will occur at 10 a. m. March 2, when Kari Crowley, collector general of the post office department, will sell the first stamp to Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul for mailing a letter of greeting to President Roosevelt.

State and federal officials will arrive here March 1 for the ceremony.

Two Governors Coming to Texas

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Governor of three states will help Texas celebrate the 100th anniversary of its declaration of independence and of Sam Houston's birthday March 2. A central celebration will be conducted at Houston's old home at Huntsville.

Visiting governors will be Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin and Hill McAlister of Tennessee. Governor McAlister was invited by Huntsville citizens to participate.

Governor LaFollette will be a mansion guest of Governor Allred during his visit here to deliver addresses at the University of Texas.

Governor LaFollette will be the main speaker at a student government conference Feb. 28-29. Officers of student governments in Texas colleges will attend for discussions of problems peculiar to those enterprises.

Jenkins Garrett of Fort Worth, president of the University Students' association, said about 70 representatives of similar bodies would attend.

BALANCING OF 1937 BUDGET IS FOR PLAN

RELIEF NEEDS TO BE MET IN LATEST DECISION

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—A tax bill of $500,000,000, or perhaps a little more, was foreshadowed today as administration leaders passed the word that President Roosevelt would seek to "balance the 1937 budget" except for the large and uncertain item of relief.

Tired congressional leaders, emerging early today from a prolonged White House conference, guardedly announced the president would ask next week for sufficient revenue to restore the budget to the shape in which it was submitted to congress in January.

Right-lipped as to details, they shied away from mention of any figure, and refused to even hint the nature of the proposed levies.

There were conflicts even in the few words newspaper men were able to draw from the reticent congressmen. But consensus of words and hints pointed to a tax bill sufficient to care for the new $500,000,000 farm program, with the leaders perhaps counting on revenue increases to pay eventually the cost of cashing the bonus.

It was the death of AAA, with its processing taxes, and the enactment of the bonus over the president's veto, which knocked the big holes in the budget submitted last month.

Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) of the senate finance committee, was the spokesman as newspaper men crowded around the conferees outside the executive mansion.

"The conference was a full discussion of the whole fiscal condition of the government," he said. "The president, informed the conference that next week he would send a message to congress on the necessities and needs of the government for further money, with a suggestion for raising revenue to balance the budget for 1937."

Asked if the balanced budget would include relief costs, Harrison replied:

"No. Of course, we can't tell what they will be."

"Is the bonus included?" he was asked.

"The recommendations will deal with the need for revenues caused both by the bonus bill and by the Supreme Court's decision invalidating AAA."

Harrison added the bonus cost would "not be a big item," but he left his listeners with the impression the tax bill would be considerably higher than the $500,000,000 originally contemplated.

However, another conferee, who did not want to be quoted by name, reported the bill would not be much above $500,000,000 and would include no taxes to cover the bonus.

"This left no other conclusion than that the president believed increased revenues, above estimates, would care for the additional cost of amortizing the bonus by 1945, the original due date."

ABOUT NEW YORK

New York—A night of trivia! Ancient a gag as it is, I should have known better. But, being a sofie, I stood stock still when I saw that old man making a selection from the vitruals molding in that garbage can.

He stood on the curb in Chambers street and plucked first a piece of bread, a half-eaten apple, several mildewed doughnuts and a suspiciously wrapped grapefruit.

The doughnuts he slipped into his pocket, but he found an old dirty sack for the grapefruit, the bread and the apple. By this time quite a crowd had gathered to watch his pathetic movements.

"You poor man," whispered a young woman, honest tears in her eyes, "are you so hungry?" She was fumbling in her purse for a coin when the big cop on that beat put an end to the charity.

"At it again, eh, Popper? I think I'll run you in this time."

The old man grinned rather sheepishly. He shifted from one foot to the other.

"Now, Popper, so that these people won't think I'm a brute, I want you to show them how much money you've got. No hiding out!"

Popper shrugged and ran a dirty hand into his pocket. It came out filled with bills and change.

"Away with you, and if I catch you again I'll give you a skulling!"

"Listen," said the big cop after Popper had disappeared, "that old man could buy and sell any of us. It's a gag with him to fumble in garbage cans. People give him so much money he doesn't know how to spend it. Last year his daughter graduated from Columbia university."

It happens, twice a night in the revue "Folies de Femmes," at the French Casino, and it causes such hilarity that people almost roll out of their seats.

It is just that several portrait painters, having no other equipment, use the backs of beautiful chorus girls as canvases on which to paint their pictures.

First the eyes, then the nose, then the lips, then the chin—after that tub-sized hat is placed over the head causing the effect of a fat-headed person staring naively at the audience.

Some of the girls have learned to manipulate their shoulders so expertly that the faces assume amazing characteristics. They express gravity, anger, delight, boredom—in fact, one lass, by hunching the right shoulder, can make the head on her back wink and flirt with celebrities in the audience.

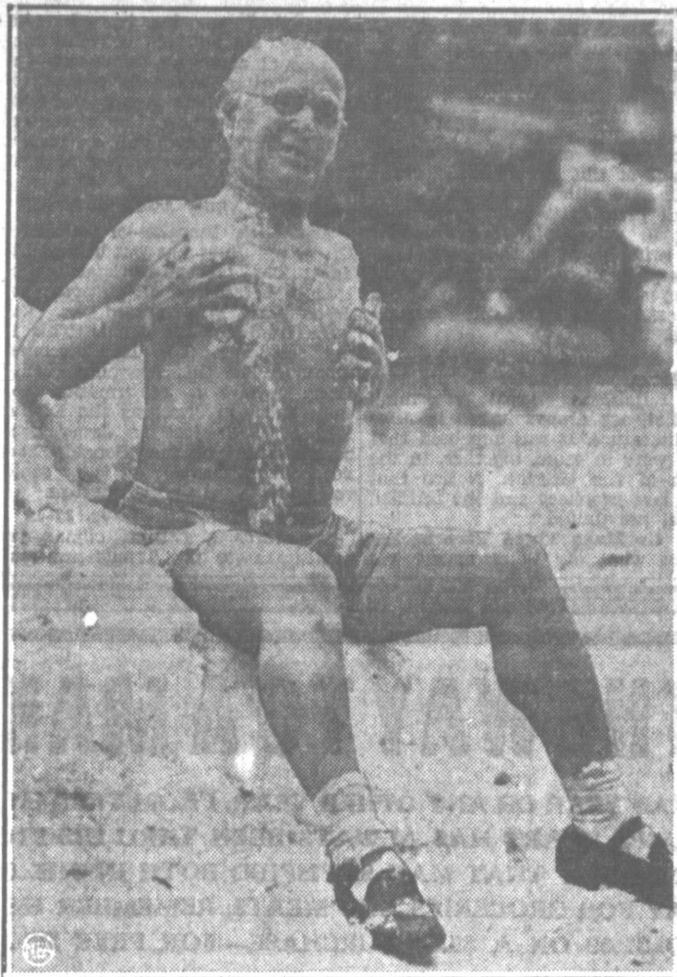

This doesn't happen every night—it took place just once. James F. Bender, who is a professor of psychology at City college, observed one of his students who had fallen into a sound sleep.

"ardon me," he said, after the fellow had been awakened, "but am I boring you? Maybe you would like to resign from the class?"

Crimson with embarrassment, the lad explained: "I drive a hack eight hours a day, Mr. Bender. I won't let it happen again."

"You deserve a nap," was the magnanimous response, "go back to sleep, and"—to the rest of the class—"anyone disturbing him will have an additional thesis to write."

"FURIOUS YOUNG MAN," by I. A. R. Wylie; (Little, Brown).

I. A. R. Wylie has been to Russia. She has returned, it seems, disillusioned. Now she has written a novel she calls "Furious Young Man" out of her disillusionment, and with a woman's sure instinct (or call it intuition if you will) she has chosen the weakest spot in the soviet armor to attack.

More profound thinkers than Miss Wylie have wondered about "freedom" in Russia. Miss Wylie feels that freedom purchased so dearly might not be worth anything, and that when freedom is paid for exorbitantly, and then turns out a specimen of verminous slavery, the sell is bitter and the fruit is sour.

Tor is a young Englishman who gets tight at the London Ritz one night, steps out of the door, sees a derelict, and becomes a Communist in a twinkling. He becomes also a zealot. Worse, he becomes insulting about it, permitting undoubted bourgeois stupidity to nag him into returning worse stupidity. But when the guidance of a Russian agent he kills a London bobby accidentally. Tor is translated surreptitiously to the party haven.

In Russia he can accept "freedom" at book value as long as he does not understand Russian. He "marries" the wife of the Russian agent, and begins life again under Russian auspices. He sees the faces "full of an ecstatic emptiness." He sees wife spying on husband, son on father. He sees a bedraggled old primicerius crucified, a relative of his own sacrificed when he comes to Russia to build a bridge under impossible restrictions. But the horrible filth, the dully rigid regime ruin Tor's dream.

Being an authentic novelist, Miss Wylie mixes her ideas with much realism, with love and other essential ingredients. Her mixture is the more potent because she does not fake tolerance. So that "Furious Young Man," which teaches that we cannot be forced out of ourselves even with murder, and mayhem, is the most effective anti-communist propaganda in many months.

"WITH NAPOLEON IN RUSSIA," from the Memoirs of General de Caulaincourt; (Morrow).

Now we have what, for people interested in the Napoleonic era, is probably the most important contribution to the history of that period in many years. "With Napoleon in Russia" is a record of the events preceding Napoleon's Russian disaster, the disaster itself, and the flight to Paris.

It is, in fact, the account of General Armand de Caulaincourt, master of the horse to Napoleon, and his companion on the Russian campaign. But it is much more than merely a new version of events, for on the still dramatic 2-week flight to Paris Caulaincourt was alone with his emperor, and his emperor chose to pass the time (perhaps to keep his mind off the holocaust) by talking day and night.

He talked about everything under the sun, mostly about France and his understanding of her, his generals, his family, the campaign to some extent, small personal affairs, traits of nations. It was an outpouring, an astonishing one, which sounds so much like Napoleon that Caulaincourt must be granted remarkable gifts as an amanuensis; as a matter of fact, he made his own copy of the book and began to correct them in 1822, before they had cooled too much.

Caulaincourt died in 1827, leaving two copies of his record. An uncorrected one was sent to Paris; one kept at his chateau in Picardy. This last had a romantic history, and at last was lost when the Germans mined the chateau in 1917. But it was found in August, 1933, by a gardener—and of course published. The author changes the Napoleonic picture at a number of points, too many to detail here. The series of tragic errors on the way to Moscow (especially Smolensk and the costly "Borodino" "victory"), the blunders at Moscow, the cruel retreat, all are magnificently illuminated by the memoirs. But the great picture is that of a defeated man banging across Europe in whatever vehicle he could find, pouring out his soul to his friend.

"REALISM AND NATIONALISM," by Robert C. Binkley; (Harpers).

It is a pleasure to report that the historical behemoth entitled "The Rise of Modern Europe" is progressing satisfactorily.

This 20-volume history was begun (so far as publication is concerned) a couple of years ago. The publishers are not issuing the books in chronological order, which doubtless saves them a lot of trouble. Each year two or three arrive, the latest being "Realism and Nationalism," by Robert C. Binkley.

The project is under the supervision of William L. Langer of Harvard university, and has been entrusted to a most unusual group of scholars most of whom contribute only one book, usually one which represents their special interest. Thus, the period from 1250 to 1450 has been assigned Edward P. Cheyney of the University of Pennsylvania, and the Renaissance to Ernest Nelson of Duke university. The time is ripe for a really comprehensive new survey of European history, and so far the survey has been accurately focussed.

Professor Binkley's book is a good example, one that can be read independently with profit. The period covered is from 1862 to 1871—at the beginning of what the author calls the "age of science" as contrasted to the preceding "age of philosophy." It is also the period of great internal revisions, of the unification of Italy and Germany, of Bismarck and of all what Bismarck meant.

Perhaps more than that, however, is the fact that Darwin and Faraday and Marx and Dickens and Lassalle and Wagner, and Verdi were alive and working. It is in the understanding of the social, scientific and artistic stirrings that Professor Binkley excels. He writes the new history, and not experimentally. That is, he has synthesized the various experimental efforts of the last few decades, and emerges with a method which makes his subject glow and move before the reader's eyes.

BORAH FLAILS FAVORITE SON DRIVE MOVES

Taft's SON SELECTED TO ENTER AGAINST SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The launching of a "favorite son" campaign in Ohio against Senator Borah's presidential candidacy today coincided with publication of a letter in which Borah sharply attacked such moves.

Not long after the republican state central committee of Ohio selected Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, to wage a primary struggle with Borah, the latter's letter was made public.

It did not, however, refer to Taft's candidacy particularly (it was written before the candidacy became known). Addressed to the Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Wash., which had urged Borah to attack the Roosevelt administration rather than his own party, the letter said:

"I am not attacking the republican party."

"I am insisting upon an open national convention, upon the selection of delegates by the voters as nearly as practicable rather than the old system in which the people were denied practically all voice in the selection of their president—the old system of uninstructed delegates, favorite sons, and bartering and trading for candidates at the convention."

Borah holds that the system under which delegates vote on the first ballots for "favorite sons" and often switch later to other candidates, enables the "old guard" to pick the nominee through "manipulation."

"That system has come near wrecking the party," Borah's letter said.

Taft, notified of his selection by Ohio republican leaders, declared he "deeply appreciated the honor conferred upon him."

While the republican pace quickened in Ohio, that state was one of those listed by Chairman James A. Farley of the democratic national committee as sure to go to President Roosevelt in the fall.

In a press conference yesterday, Farley predicted the president would win more electoral votes in November than he did four years before.

He declined to name all the states he claims, but did mention New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

Rep. Snell of New York, the democratic leader, declared there was no sense in that as anything else.

In Florida two republican leaders were reported to be taking different slants on presidential matters.

Walter J. Howe, twice candidate for governor, called on his followers to work for a delegation pledged to Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

John F. Harris, national committee-man, was reported to favor Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher.

Southern Girl May Be Match For Patty Berg

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—A capable southern girl, Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., unruffled by the prospect of meeting the youngest player ever picked for the United States Curtis Cup team, looked ready to extend Patty Berg today in the semi-finals of the South Atlantic Women's golf tournament.

Miss Cothran mastered the veteran Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, 4 and 3, yesterday while Miss Berg kept smacking her shots long and true to oust 17-year-old Hilda Livengood of Danville, Ill., 5 and 3.

In the other bracket Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., the Western and Trans-Mississippi champion, was paired with a dangerous foe, Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Iowa.

Miss Miley, winner of the South Atlantic event last year, rallied on the home nine yesterday to defeat Mrs. Lillian K. Zech of Chicago, 4 and 2. A 5 and 4 decision over Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., advanced Miss Robinson.

About 650,000 farmers own stock in federal land banks through their farm loan associations, while more than 200,000 farmers are connected with production credit associations.

DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:
THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries, if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

TEXAS HISTORY QUESTIONS PUT TO HIGHWAY PATROLMEN IN QUIZ

AUSTIN, Feb. 28 (AP)—Tricky Texas history questions were mingled with puzzles on law and departmental regulations in a recent civil service promotion examination for Texas highway patrolmen.

L. G. Phares acting director of the department of public safety, prefaced the history question with the reminder that patrolmen were ordered Oct. 4, 1934, to familiarize themselves with Texas and its history because of the Centennial.

Some of the questions were:

"How many persons survived the battle of Alamo? Who was Sam Houston? Where was the First Capitol of Texas located? Name the six flags under which Texas has been governed. Name the Mexican general in command of the Mexican army at the Battle of San Jacinto. Who was Sam Bass? Where is the only Indian reservation in Texas located?"

Correctness of titles of some officials was mixed in several questions on grammar.

Applicants for promotions were required to quote three specific general orders; describe procedure, according to rules and regulations, they would pursue upon finding a dead person on a highway; and state penalties provided by rules for a member of the department accepting any fee or compensation for services rendered in the performance of his duties.

Along with numerous other questions on departmental rules and their application, patrolmen were required to define phrases used in highway law statutes and relate instructions on certain bulletins.

Approximately 36 patrolmen took the examination to become eligible for promotion. Tests were given at Dallas, Austin and Abilene.

All employees of the department are under civil service.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic: The Transfiguration.

Scripture lesson: Luke 9.

28. And it came to pass about an eight days after these sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.

29. And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistening.

30. And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias:

31. Who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.

32. But Peter and they that were with him were heavy with sleep: and when they were awake, they saw his glory, and the two men that stood with him.

33. And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said unto to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias: not knowing what he said.

34. While he thus spake, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them: and they feared as they entered into the cloud.

35. And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.

36. And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone. And they kept it close, and told no man in those days of any of those things which they had seen.

37. And it came to pass, that on the next day, when they were come down from the hill, much people met him.

38. And, behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, look upon my son; for he is mine only child.

39. And, lo, a spirit taketh him, and he suddenly crieth out; and it teareth him that he foameth again, and bruising him hardly departeth from him.

40. And I besought thy disciples to cast him out; and they could not.

41. And Jesus answering said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you, and suffer you? Bring thy son hither.

42. And as he was yet a coming, the devil threw him down, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him again to his father.

43. And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God.

Golden text: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit. John 15:5.

Introduction

"If we are to see anything of the glory of Christ, or of Christ in his glory, we must go apart with Christ."—A. B. Davidson.

"In this world every mountaintop of privilege is girded by the values of lofty duty."—Henry van Dyke.

The account of the Transfiguration and the cure of the epileptic boy is found also in Matthew 17:1-20 and Mark 9:2-29. There are few variations, though Luke alone mentions the conversation about Christ's "decease," and that Peter "and they that were with him were heavy with sleep." (Ver. 31-32).

The Meaning of the Transfiguration

The Twelve were being trained, not only in Jesus' doctrine, but also in faith. "That they—through their three leading representatives—should have this experience was an essential part of their training. Jesus had just spoken (Ver. 23-27) those plain words that disabused his followers of all their hopes that he was the Messiah popularly expected; telling them that his way was henceforth to be an ignominious one leading to a cross, and that to go on with him would mean the loss of much that the world holds dear.

So, for their encouragement and reassuring, and the strengthening of their faith in him as the true God-sent Son of God, they get this vision of the glory that was his.

Peter, James and John would in time tell the others about it, and so it would be passed on to the whole church.

Jesus' Habit of Prayer

Luke makes the suggestive statement, omitted by Mark and Matthew, that Jesus' object in going up into the mountain was prayer. Repeatedly in critical and trying hours of his career Jesus availed himself of this resort, either alone, or, as here with chosen ones. Wonderful praying it must have been thus to effect his transfiguration and bring down to that mountain-top a piece of heaven. Prayer opens the eyes of the soul to many of our deepest, most heavenly experiences.

Moses and Elijah—V. 30

"Moses, the founder of the law, and Elijah, the great reforming prophet, are always linked in Jewish literature. It was supposed that they were to come, together, in the reign of the Messiah. Notice that here law, prophecy and the fulfilled gospel are united."

Let Us Make Three Tabernacles

Just what did Peter mean? We are told that he did not know what to answer, (Mark 9:6), that is to say, so "awestruck" were they. Jesus had been telling them of the cross that was looming so inevitably. He and his heavenly visitors had also been discussing the same matter. Peter feels that it would be pleasant to stay there on the quiet mountain. The whole experience is so delightful and inspiring to Peter that he cannot bear to have it pass.

Jesus' Divinity Attested—V. 35

Any such thought—of avoiding the cross—Jesus has put behind his back. The father's satisfaction in this steadfastness of purpose on Jesus' part is expressed in the voice from out the cloud, "This is my son," (V. 35). The disciples, moreover, in this heavenly testimony receive a confirmation of their faith in Jesus as the Divine Son of God: just as Jesus' own consciousness of that Sonship had been strengthened by the same voice and word at his baptism.

The Epileptic Cure—Vs. 37-42

It affords a fitting climax—or anticlimax—to the Transfiguration.

Phillips Brooks built up one of his most famous sermons around this contrast. A disillusioning sequel it was for Peter and his companions. We should not miss the point: The vision of the glory of the divine Christ and the ecstasy of that wonderful experience are only one side of the Christian gospel: The other is, the need and suffering of humanity in the presence of that gospel—and the pitifully small faith of men, even of Jesus' helpers.

"The mount for vision—but below the paths of daily duty go."

Mountaintop Experiences

Mountaintop experiences are a blessed, and needful, but they may not be expected to last very long. They are a schooling for service, a vacation-time of spiritual reinvigorations, a preparation for the cross journey.

These mountaintop experiences are also a shine and foregleam of what we shall witness when we get to be forever with our Lord. "The vision of the holy mount is a precious pledge that glorious things are in store for the People of God." (Bishop Ryle)

Cardui

Helped Three Times

At three different times, Cardui has helped Mrs. Ike Wright of Sealy, Texas. "I used Cardui, when a girl, for cramps, and it helped then," she writes. Next, after marriage, she reports having taken Cardui when she felt weak, nervous and restless before her children were born.

And during middle life, it helped her again. "I was miserable," she explains. "I did not have an appetite. I was very blue and upset. I remembered Cardui had helped me, so I took it again and soon began to pick up. I ate and had more strength. I kept up the Cardui and did not have any more trouble. Is it any wonder that I recommend Cardui to all my friends?"

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)
