

Catholic Bishops Terminate Meatless Friday Ruling For Choice

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Catholic bishops of the United States, after ruling that meatless Friday for the faithful is a voluntary choice, called on 47 million American Roman Catholics to continue some act of devotion to Jesus Christ, who was crucified on a Friday.

Fish-on-Friday, the 1,100-year-old law of abstinence and a hallmark of Catholic homes, was terminated by U.S. Catholic bishops Friday night at the conclusion of a five-day meeting.

They joined however, in a fervent plea for Catholics to "continue to abstain from meat (on Friday) by free choice," but also suggested that going without alcoholic beverages would be an appropriate form of "self-denial to practice on Fridays."

Other alternatives which they suggested included "doing volunteer work in hospitals, visiting the sick, serving the needs of the aged and lonely, instructing the young in the faith, participating as Christians in community affairs, and meeting our obligations to our families, our friends, our neighbors and our community, including our parishes, with a special zeal."

Abstinence from meat will continue to be a matter of obligation, rather than choice, on the six Fridays of Lent and also on Ash Wednesday the first day of Lent. However, even on these days, Catholics may excuse themselves from the obligation, without asking a formal dispensation from a priest, if they have "serious" reasons for eating meat, such as being sick or finding themselves in a situation where fish or some other substitute food is not readily available.

The new rules technically take effect on the first Friday in Advent, Dec. 2. But for all practical purposes, they are effective immediately, because U.S. dioceses generally have already granted special dispensations from the law of abstinence for the Friday after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said the 2,250-word statement outlining the new rules was adopted "with only a few dissenting votes."

The bishops emphasized that they were not "downgrading the traditional penitential observance of Friday" but on the contrary were "motivated precisely by the desire to give the spirit of penance greater vitality" by putting abstinence on a free choice basis.

Johnson Flies To Ranch For Rest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, assuring well-wishers "everything is going to be all right," bounced out of the hospital three days after surgery and flew to Texas Saturday to rest and work until early January.

The Chief Executive left the Bethesda Naval Hospital and dramatized his rapid recovery after Wednesday's dual throat and abdominal operation and held a brief, informal news conference in crisp 49 degree weather.

"We have a heart full of gratitude to the people of this country, the doctors and nurses who worked with us and prayed for us," Johnson said. He expressed appreciation to "the humanitarians around the world who were concerned about our condition."

Johnson's voice sounded somewhat husky as he talked to reporters. He told newsmen that his throat felt hoarse and there was "some ache" which would persist for several weeks.

He acknowledged that he would observe his doctors' orders to "take it easy" at his Texas ranch, and at one point Mrs. Johnson interrupted to say that her husband was "behaving pretty well."

The President, who boarded a helicopter on the hospital grounds, said that he planned to "get some sun" in Texas. But he added that he also faced "a rather full work load" and would be receiving frequent top official visitors.

"But at least we will be in surroundings that we like the most," he said before flying by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base outside of Washington.

The President displayed his recuperation by walking 300 yards or so in a brisk wind to the craft. He wore no coat over his suit.

Accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, his daughter Luci, and a White House physician, the President took off for Bergstrom Air Force Base, Tex. While he was planning to take advantage of the peace and quiet of his ranch, he expected to plunge into official business that includes consideration of a tax increase, work on next year's federal budget and preparing his state of the union message to the new 90th Congress in January.

It was possible that temporary White House operations may be set up in the Federal Building in Austin about 60 miles from the LBJ ranch. Elaborate facilities have been built there for that purpose.

But Rusk found little reason to hope Friday that the United States could cease its bombing of North Viet Nam as it did for 37 days after Christmas in 1965.

The secretary said in almost weekly efforts since January, the United States has not been able to get an indication from Hanoi on how it would reciprocate, should the raids stop.

"We do not like the circumstances of this man's treatment," Rusk said, referring to his arrest Oct. 31 on charges of high treason during an unscheduled stop of a Russian airliner in Prague.

Several supervisors from Cabot's carbon black facilities at Pampa have been temporarily transferred to the company's plant at Franklin, La., because of a wildcat strike there.

According to D. W. Bond, Cabot official, between 15 and 20 of the Pampa personnel have been shifted to help keep the Louisiana plant in operation until International Chemical Workers members of Local 483 return to work.

The strike, according to Bond, was called because of a safety eye-glass program in effect at the plant.

Under the program, Bond said, Cabot employees working in an area where there was a danger of eye injuries are required to wear special shatter proof eye glasses which are furnished by Cabot.

The program has been in effect in all of the Cabot plants for about a year, he stated.

Pampa's Cabot plant workers belong to Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union and are not affected by the strike in Louisiana. Bond stated that other than the personnel transfer, the Pampa plant has not been affected.

The strike was called at 7 a.m. on Nov. 15.

Cabot officials will meet with union and Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service representatives Monday in an attempt to end the strike.

Minimum annual pay in the highest salary classification would be raised from $10,512 to $14,112 and top pay would go from $12,530 to $17,784.

Connally said these are "top scientific and management jobs which represent only 2 percent of state employment and are responsible for the productivity of the state's thousands of other employees."

He estimated his proposal would require $75 million from all sources for the 1967-69 biennium, including about $26 million from general revenue.

The latest development in the Sino-Soviet split occurred as world Communist leaders ended a rare public debate in Sofia, Bulgaria, on China. The meeting was badly split and concluded with its participants divided on whether to call a Communist summit to denounce Peking.

Viktor Mayevsky, a leading writer for the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, led the mission to Peking which broke off its visit Saturday.

It had been in China since the Nov. 7 anniversary celebrations of the Communist revolution in Russia.

A Red Chinese "friendship" mission which came to Russia for the Oct. 1 anniversary of Communist seizure of power on the Chinese mainland toured the Soviet Union for a month without incidence.

The Tass report Saturday said the Russia delegation had to end its visit because the Red Chinese, "ignoring elementary rules of hospitality, the cooperation program and the reciprocity principle, put up every obstacle in the way of the delegation's normal work, exploited its presence for staging anti-Soviet provocations and made it the object of insulting and hostile attacks."

ATLANTA (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to give a speedy hearing to a suit seeking to determine the next governor of Georgia.

Supreme Court Clerk John F. Davis announced Friday the court "will accommodate" any request to give a speedy hearing to a suit aimed at settling the deadlocked governor's race.

Davis made the announcement shortly after Georgia Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton filed notice that he intended to appeal to the high court a ruling by a three-judge federal panel that the state legislature cannot decide the race between Democrat Lester Maddox and Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway.

A heavy write-in vote Nov. 8 for former Gov. Ellis Arnall kept Maddox or Callaway from winning the clear majority necessary to be declared winner.

The Georgia Constitution calls for a deadlocked governor's race to be decided by the legislature.

A citizens group, however, challenged the state Constitution in federal court and the three-judge panel ruled Thursday that the legislature was "malapportioned" and therefore could not decide the race without "violating the voters' right to equal protection of the laws" as guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

It was this ruling that Bolton will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

A spokesman in Saigon said contact in the Central Highlands battle was broken off about 8 p.m. Saturday. But he said fighting on the second sector northwest of Saigon was still going on late Saturday evening.

White Deer and Spur will meet in the first round of the class A state playoffs at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Plainview.

Tickets will go on sale Tuesday at the White Deer tax office and the Skellytown principal's office.

Bitter Fighting Erupts At Cambodian Border

AMERICAN SOLDIERS bow their heads in prayer for their dead comrades, the victims of Communist suicide attacks during a battle about 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

Destroyers Attack More Cargo Vessels

SAIGON (UPI)—Heavy fighting broke out Saturday between U.S. and Communist troops on two jungle fronts near Cambodia. Giant B52 stratofortresses struck in three bombing attacks supporting the U.S. infantrymen who at one point were fighting just 1-2 miles from the Cambodian border.

At another frontier point, about 50 Cambodian soldiers crossed into South Viet Nam, seized a civilian and 14 cattle and shot their way back across the border, Saigon Government spokesmen reported. The spokesmen said South Vietnamese militiamen suffered light casualties in a brief fight with the Cambodians.

At sea, U.S. Navy destroyers attacked a dozen more Communist cargo vessels off the North Vietnamese coast, destroying three and heavily damaging three others with their five-inch shells. The destroyers John R. Craig and Hamner also shelled a North Vietnamese radar site two miles above the demilitarized zone border in action that saw the warships fire about 200 rounds.

The ground fighting flared Saturday in the central Highlands 240 miles north of Saigon and in the "War Zone C" area 60 miles northwest of Saigon where the biggest American force of the war was sweeping against Viet Cong jungle headquarters.

The Central Highlands battle erupted when a company of troops from the U.S. Army 25th Infantry Division, hacking its way through dense jungle on patrol, ran into a Communist force at the spot where American troops killed 76 North Vietnamese in bitter fighting a week ago.

Almost immediately, more American infantry companies were thrown into the action, military spokesmen said. A Vietnamese military unit also leaped into the fight shortly before dusk.

A spokesman at Pleiku said the fighting started at a spot about a mile and a half east of the Cambodian border during a sweep known as "Operation Paul Revere IV."

American companies in the fighting were from the Third Brigade of the 25th Division. The exact size of the Communist unit was not immediately determined.

A spokesman in Saigon said contact in the Central Highlands battle was broken off about 8 p.m. Saturday. But he said fighting on the second sector northwest of Saigon was still going on late Saturday evening.

White Deer and Spur will meet in the first round of the class A state playoffs at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Plainview.

Tickets will go on sale Tuesday at the White Deer tax office and the Skellytown principal's office.

Scientists Scan Orbiter Photos

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists today were pouring over three "excellent quality" photographs returned by America's second Lunar Orbiter to help pinpoint where Apollo astronauts should land on the moon.

Lunar Orbiter 2 returned one medium resolution and two high resolution pictures Friday after throwing a scare into scientists at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The 850-pound photographic laboratory was snapping pictures of the first of 13 potential landing sites when telemetry data indicated an "irregularity."

Orbiter control announced, "a counter used to monitor shutter operations appears to have recorded twice the number of events called for."

After three hours later word came from Madrid that video engineers there had processed the first of 20 frames and "the quality of the photograph is good."

Later, a spokesman for Boeing, the prime contractor, said the irregularity was the result of a "false signal."

The fears of scientists quickly turned to jubilation as Orbiter took four pictures of site No. 2. Additional picture taking was in store for Orbiter today as it circled the moon every three hours and 28 minutes from a high point of 1,151 miles to a low of 29.6 miles. Its velocity at the low point was 4,284 miles an hour.

Preliminary examination of Friday's photographs indicated there are not enough craterless large areas to permit landing of a spacecraft.

To the layman the photos appeared to show relatively flat terrain pocked with craters, some as large as 500 feet in diameter and others as small as 20 feet across.

G.O.P. 'Summit' Meeting Centers On Gov. Romney

DORADO BEACH, P.R. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and other vacationing Republican election victors Saturday awaited the arrival of Michigan Gov. George Romney, around whom their Caribbean "summit" meeting will center.

Romney delayed his flight to Puerto Rico from East Lansing, Mich., until after Saturday's football game between Michigan State University and Notre Dame.

Expected for the meeting, which begins Sunday, were newly-elected Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafter and Charles Percy of Illinois and Edward Brooke of Massachusetts.

Rockefeller has been vacationing at a hotel owned by his brother, Laurence.

Romney said Friday for the first time publicly he would take a "long, hard look" at the possibility of trying for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, a Romney-for-President supporter, said Friday it would be a "bit premature" to discuss this eventuality at Sunday's meeting. But the New York governor's re-election sensation victory in the Nov. 8 elections definitely puts him in the position of "kingmaker."

Michigan commerce director Jack McIntosh, a top aide to Romney, announced this week he was to "begin work immediately to secure the 1968 nomination for George Romney."

Little Possibility For Yule Truce

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says a brief truce in the Viet Nam fighting during the Christmas holidays is a possibility.

Connally Proposes Hike of State Pay

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. John Connally Saturday proposed a $75 million pay raise for state employees. He said it would lift 6,000 of the lowest-paid workers over the $3,000 "poverty line."

The new salaries would range from $3,024 to $17,784 a year. Biggest increases would be in the highest brackets.

It was the first of a series of budget messages planned by Connally. In previous years the budget has been laid out in a single package, but this year Connally plans about six separate messages.

"The new compensation plan, which I am recommending is essential if we are to have effective and efficient state government," Connally said.

He said the annual turnover rate among state employees is at an all-time high of 31 percent and has been going up even faster in recent months.

Connally noted the Highway Department has a shortage of about 200 engineers, the Department of Corrections needs 125 more custodial officers, the Department of Public Safety is short 241 officers, mental institutions need 300 more employees and the state Health Department has 325 vacancies.

"Attrition and vacancies are a natural characteristic of any organization," the governor said, "but the rates the state is experiencing are not natural."

Even with the proposed increases, state salaries may not be competitive with those in the federal government and industry, he said.

The increase would affect about 40,000 classified state employees. Connally said about 6,000, or 17 percent, are at the minimum of $2,388 a year. The federal government considers $3,000 the threshold of poverty.

Minimum annual pay in the highest salary classification would be raised from $10,512 to $14,112 and top pay would go from $12,530 to $17,784.

Connally said these are "top scientific and management jobs which represent only 2 percent of state employment and are responsible for the productivity of the state's thousands of other employees."

He estimated his proposal would require $75 million from all sources for the 1967-69 biennium, including about $26 million from general revenue.

Soviets 'Insulted' On Friendly Visit

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet "friendship delegation" to Communist China abruptly ended a visit to Peking Saturday and returned home because of "insulting and hostile attacks."

The official Tass news agency said the Chinese "exploited" the presence of the Soviet mission to stage anti-Soviet demonstrations. The Chinese were accused of ignoring "the elementary rules of hospitality" and preventing the visiting Russians from going about their business.

Less than a month ago, Red Chinese demonstrators blocked the Soviet Embassy in retaliation for Russia's expulsion of Chinese students from the U.S.S.R.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

Q—Our teenage daughter has just graduated from college. Should I give the bank where she has her savings account my social security number for tax purposes?

A—No. Your daughter earned the money herself and must have her own social security number. Form SS-5, available at local IRS and Social Security offices, should be used to apply for a number.

Q—I've made a three-year pledge to a church building fund. How much can I deduct this year?

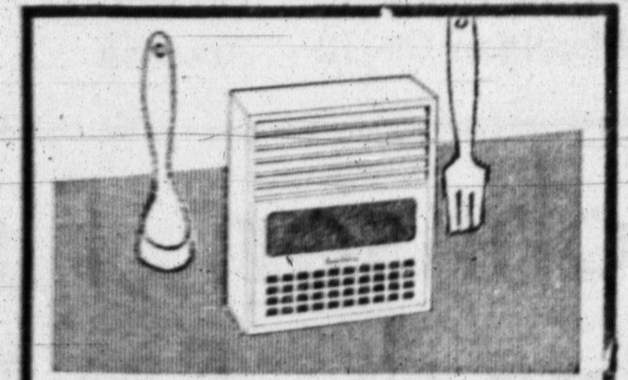

A—When you itemize deductions, charitable contributions may be deducted in the tax year they are actually made.

Q—My company is transferring me to another city and they paid for a preliminary trip for my wife and me to look for a place to live. When I was reimbursed for this trip, I noticed that taxes were taken out. Why was that?

A—The amount you received by not classified as a non-taxable reimbursement of moving expenses but as wages. When you actually move to the new location, the cost of transporting you, your immediate family and your household goods may well be a deductible moving expense.

It's A Family Affair

CBR's Keep In Touch

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

It's a friendly group... those members of the Top of Texas Citizens Band Radio Club. Friendlier folk would be difficult to find. There's always a pot of coffee or a glass of iced tea awaiting a new member, who might be passing through town on his way to some place else.

All he has to do is give call letters and identifying number. In the Pampa vicinity, he will nearly always be answered with a friendly invitation to stop by for a cup of coffee. When he accepts and arrives for the coffee break, ten chances to one, he will find not one but, perhaps, 10 to 30 other CBRs waiting to greet him, too.

Like for instance, the couple from Wichita, Kan. who were recently passing through Pampa. A few miles outside of town, they went through Federal Communication Commission's regulations of giving their call letters, their hometown and sought an answer. They got one from Mrs. Jim Miser. (Betty to friends, who lives at 1225 S. Sumner and has the local monitoring station for Pampa.) She invited them to come by for a cup of coffee. The vacationing Wichita couple arrived in a camper... had a cup of coffee... and visited for a while. A few more Top of Texas CBRs stopped by. The conversation became so interesting that the Wichitans were invited to plug their camper into an electrical outlet at the Miser home and stay a while. They did.

Being a CBR member is a family affair. Several times a year, the club has social gatherings where the children are welcome, too... at lake picnics, Christmas parties. Just recently the club had a "Coffee Break on Wheels". A caravan of about 40 cars took picnic lunches and toured the beautiful foliage trails around Canadian.

Some of the district members of the club will tell you that a mobile unit in your car is a mighty handy thing to have around when you want to ask hubby to bring home a loaf of bread from the store... or that devastating moment, when you are driving alone on the highway, a tire blows out... and there's no man around... in fact, no spare tire either!

Average range of a mobile unit under normal conditions is from five to 20 miles and members can legally operate their units within a radius of 150 miles.

Citizen Band radios are for individual use and not for the hobbyist as are other types of radio. Persons using CB are mostly people who want to stay in close contact with home or office or other units under the same call sign.

Federal Communication Commission does not require any CB Class D License to take an examination. Therefore, it is possible for anyone over age 18 to have a license and operate a radio.

The Top of Texas Club was organized in February, 1962 to work for the betterment of the community and to be of help to anyone in any way during time of stress, when other means of communication are not available. It has approximately 40 members now.

It isn't all fun and frolic... The Pampa club has been called upon to help during grass fires, to give motorists a helping hand, to assist law enforcement official in finding lost persons, and in establishing storm watches during tornado season.

Units can be used on land, on water or in the air... and they have been.

Any member will be quick to tell you that he or she is not an amateur policeman... or a Terry Duvall, president of ICW Local 483, told a News reporter in a telephone interview, that his members were not opposed to the safety glasses, but they did object to having the safety clause of their contract amended without an agreement on both sides.

Duvall said that the present two-year contract was negotiated in June 1966. He said that union and company officials had met in September and November in an attempt to change the safety clause in the contract. "We have no objections to a safety program," Duvall said, "but we do object to the company amending our contract unilaterally to put their program into action."

Local Barber Files Order Against Board

An injunctive order has been filed in 31st Judicial District Court by George M. Johnson, a local barber, against the state board of barber examiners.

The order is an outgrowth of a controversy between Johnson and the board, who charged him with a sanitary violation last summer. Johnson received a 10-day suspension at a September hearing before the board in Austin.

Johnson appealed the sentence and is practicing pending the outcome of the case. The injunctive order asks the court to restrain and enjoin the state board from suspending, revoking or attempting to suspend or revoke Johnson's license to practice barbering within the confines of the state of Texas.

It further requests upon hearing of the case that the temporary restraining order be dissolved into a permanent injunction on the same terms.

The statement said at this time it is felt any additional personnel in the Calgary operation will be employed from people already living in Canada.

In his current post, Chisholm has supervised Cabot's land department activities in 12 states, the Gulf Coast, Permian Basin, Rocky Mountains and Mid-Continent areas.

The chapter chairmen met in a session with Dick Strayer as director. Mrs. Eunice Hicks Beach directed the session on Red Cross volunteers, and Miss Bonnie McAfee from St. Louis, Mo. directed the session on services to the military. Author Files Suit Against GM For 'Hiring Seducers'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Author Ralph Nader, whose book "Unsafe at Any Speed" castigated automobile manufacturers, has filed a $26 million damage suit against General Motors Corp., charging harassment, intimidation and the hiring of girls to seduce him. Nader's suit, filed in state supreme court Wednesday, also named as defendants Vincent Gilgen Associates, Inc., and Fidelityfacts, Inc., private investigative agencies which Nader says were hired "to conduct a campaign of intimidating, smearing and otherwise severely injuring the plaintiff."

The suit said the agencies were paid fees above their usual rates "because of the unsavory nature of the work involved."

Nader's suit charged the agencies interviewed "under false pretenses" many persons who knew him, questioning them and "casting aspersions" on his sex life, political, social and economic leanings and use of intoxicants and narcotics. He said he was allowed everywhere he went, "for an unreasonable length of time without any legitimate or justifiable purpose."

"Unsafe at Any Speed" and the author's appearance before Congress were instrumental in producing the new federal auto safety regulations. While Nader was appearing before Congress, he received a public apology from GM President James E. Roche.

Roche apologized then for the investigation conducted on Nader, but said he was not personally aware of it.

A GM spokesman Wednesday said the corporation's attorneys have advised that the company "has no legal liability to Mr. Nader, and that in due course the courts will vindicate our position."

Four Army Men Approved For Medal of Honor

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson has approved the awarding of the nation's highest military medal—the medal of Honor—to four Army heroes of Viet Nam, two of whom died in action.

The president signed the Medal of Honor certificates Wednesday in his room at Bethesda Naval Hospital where he underwent surgery.

Posthumous awards will be made to Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas, N.M. who threw himself on a hand grenade to protect his companions, and 2nd Lt. Robert J. Hibbs of Cedar Falls, Iowa, who was killed while covering the withdrawal of his men when they came under heavy enemy attack.

The other two Medal of Honor winners were Spec. 5 Lawrence Joel, Fayetteville, N.C., a medic who continued to aid the wounded for 24 hours even though he was wounded in the leg and hip, and 2nd LV Walter J. Marm, Washington, Pa., who wiped out an enemy machine gun nest even though he was wounded.

Medicare Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE—This column of questions and answers on Medicare is provided by the Pampa Social Security Office and is published by the Pampa News as a public service.

Q—I am receiving disability benefits from social security and require frequent hospitalization. Do I qualify for Medicare?
A—No. One of the requirements for Medicare is that you must be age 65 or over. Since you are receiving disability payments, you are under age 65.

Q—Does Medicare pay if a person had some kind of illness previously, such as heart trouble, cancer, etc? Also, would it pay for surgery and other major items such as operating room expense etc?
A—Your previous or present health, no matter how bad, has no bearing on your entitlement to Medicare. Surgery is covered if you have elected the supplementary medical insurance since this would be a doctor's expense. The expense of an operating room would be covered.

Come Eat With MERLIE At The PAMPA HOTEL

ed under the hospital insurance benefits since this would be an expense incurred during a hospital stay.
Q—Am I correct in understanding that no prescriptions or medicines taken at home can be paid for under Medicare? I have a heart condition, and must take many costly pills each day—will I receive any help with this expense from Medicare?
A—No. The only medication that is covered under Medicare is that medication that must be administered to you by your doctor. This is covered only if you have elected the supplementary medical insurance. Under the hospital insurance any medicines you receive as an inpatient either a hospital or an extended care facility will be covered.

Notre Dame, Michigan State Deadlock 10-10

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Notre Dame's No. 1 rated football team overcame a 10-point lead seized by the No. 2 rated Michigan State Spartans Saturday, and the two giant of college football battled to a 10-10 tie in their "game of the year."

The Irish had two chances to win in the final seven minutes when Tom Schoen twice intercepted passes thrown by Michigan State's slim quarterback, Jimmy Raye, but their last effort broke down when Joe Azzaro's field goal attempt from the 31-yard line barely missed the goal posts to the right.

It was the first deadlock of the season for each team. Notre Dame previously had won eight without defeat to earn its top position, with a game remaining against Southern California.

Michigan State, national champion last year and unbeaten in nine games previously this season, closed its schedule, assured of its second straight Big Ten championship before the game began.

The Spartans were led all the way by Raye, a squirming runner and an adept passer who sparked the Spartans to all their points.

Raye started the Spartans' march with a 42-yard pass to Gene Washington to the Notre Dame 31, and then fullback Regis Cavender made the key plays for the touchdown, carrying three times from the 20-yard line and gaining all the yardage with a four-yard touchdown run.

Barefoot place-kicker Dick Kenney converted after the touchdown. The next time the Spartans had the ball he kicked a 47-yard field goal to wrap up the Michigan State points for the day.

That put the burden on the top-ranked Irish, and they were equal to it despite injuries which eliminated three offensive regulars from most of the competition.

Star halfback Nick Eddy never got in the game, due to a bruised shoulder. Star quarterback Terry Hanrahan suffered a shoulder separation in the first period and yielded the signal-calling job to Coleman O'Brien, and offense star George Goeddeke injured his leg in the first period and left the game.

O'Brien was rated by Irish coach Ara Parseghian as almost on a par with Hanrahan and proved the truth of those words.

The next time Notre Dame had the ball, O'Brien completed three straight passes, to Bob Gladioux for 11 yards, Bob Bieier for nine, and then to Gladioux for 34 yards and a touchdown.

Azzaro converted and provided the tying points on the first play of the last period with a field goal.

This drive started on the Irish 20, and O'Brien again was the key, completing passes of 9, 18, and 23 yards to get the Irish within scoring range.

When the drive bogged down on the Michigan State 11, Azzaro's field goal from the 18-yard line produced a lasting deadlock.

MSU — 0 10 0 0 — 10

ND — Gladioux 34 pass from O'Brien (Azzaro kick)

BOWL APPEARANCE LOST?

Raiders Upset Hogs, 21-16

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Tech, fighting for nothing but its own pride, sent sixth ranked Arkansas reeling Saturday with a 21-16 upset that all but eliminated the Razorbacks' Cotton Bowl hopes.

The Red Raiders went into the game with a 1-5 Southwest Conference mark and the league's worst defense, but they forgot their past record in this one—their first victory over Arkansas in the 10-game series between the two schools.

The decision dropped Arkansas to 8-2 for the year and 52 in SWC play, a half game behind Southern Methodist, which needs only a victory over TCU next week to win the title and the bowl bid outright.

Tech spotted the Razorbacks a 10-point lead in the first quarter, but rallied for a touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the third period to bulldoze the Prokers under.

Tech's pass-minded quarterback John Scovell found the going better on the ground against Arkansas. He ran for one touchdown, with most of the yardage on that and other Tech scoring drives coming on the running of halfbacks Roger Freeman and Jerry Lovelace.

The clinching Raider score was by Tech tackle Gene Darr, who deflected a Jon Brittenum pass, then gathered it in and rambled 20 yards, giving Tech a 21-10 lead in the fading seconds of the third quarter.

Arkansas got their scores on a 21-yard field goal by Bob White and touchdowns on runs of 9 and 5 yards by halfback Jim Whisenhunt and Brittenum. Tech went ahead for the first time on a 20-yard pass from Scovell to end Larry Gilbert, who was all alone in the end zone. That let the Raiders go ahead 14-10 and Darr's interception runback put the icing on the cake.

Thousands of partisan fans streamed onto the field at the final gun, which sounded with Tech in possession and marching again.

The Raiders worked their ground game effectively all the way, but were outshined at times by the Tech line, which turned in its best performance of the year.

Tech threatened to score midway in the first period, moving to the Arkansas 21. But a holding penalty pushed the Raiders back to their 37- and defensive halfback Gary Adams intercepted a pass and ran it 48 yards to put the Razorbacks in action.

After being penalized back to the 45, Brittenum found Harry Jones on the Tech 7 for a first, but couldn't move it in. Four plays later the Prokers settled for a field goal.

Just three minutes later, Arkansas took over on its own 9 and marched 91 yards in just five plays, with Brittenum connecting on two passes for 35 yards and getting 39 more on a pass interference call. Whisenhunt carried it over from nine yards out, and it looked like an Arkansas runaway.

After Scovell's one-yard touchdown plunge in the second quarter sophomore David Dicksey and Brittenum carried the Prokers to the fringe of the Raider goal, but a fourth down effort from the one fell short by scant inches.

Brittenum hit on 12 of 18 passes for 155 yards, considerably better than Scovell's 8 of 19 completions for 80 yards.

But it was Tech's ability to move the ball and keep possession that proved the difference.

Washington Sinks Wasn. State, 19-7

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Junior halfback Don Martin kicked four field goals and an extra point Saturday to give the University of Washington its eighth consecutive football victory over Washington State, 19-7.

A crowd of 33,800 watched as Martin set a modern Washington single game field goal record. He set the previous mark of three when the Huskies beat Stanford, 22-20, earlier this season.

Making good on all of his attempts Saturday, Martin pushed his season mark to 10 out of 11 attempts.

Washington State marched to a touchdown after taking the opening kickoff, then fumbled away its later scoring chances as a half a dozen Washington backs ground out yardage in drive after drive.

The win gave Washington a 6-4 season record and a 4-3 mark in Pacific Eight action. Washington State ended with a 3-7 record, matching coach Bert Clark's dismal start at WSU in 1964. The Cougars won one and lost three in Pacific Eight play.

HEREFORD — Apparently Pampa hasn't been reading their press clippings. Coach Terry Culley's "inexperienced cagers" opened the 1966-67 season with an easy 80-34 victory over Hereford Saturday night.

Four players scored in double figures with junior George Bailey and senior Rick Foster showing the hottest hands with 28 and 17 points respectively. Carl Long, the 6'5" junior center, chipped in with 12 points and senior Steve Williams, Pampa's only returning starter, added 11.

Hereford took a quick 1-0 lead but Pampa came right back and led 8-2 with 5:03 remaining in the first quarter upping it to 12-4 with 3:28 left and were on top 19-13 when the period ended.

COTTON BOWL NEAR

SMU Squeezes Victory

DALLAS (UPI) — Dennis Partee's 20-yard field goal with 15 seconds left carried Southern Methodist' Kardiac Kids to a 24-22 victory over Baylor Saturday and shot them into the undisputed Southwest Conference lead and only a step away from a trip to the Cotton Bowl.

Partee's kick, his second of the year under just such pressure situations, cancelled out a 44-yard three-pointer by Baylor's Bob Purvis with 2:43 left and gave SMU a 7-2 season record and 5-1 in conference play.

The victory, coupled with Texas Tech's 21-16 upset of sixth-ranked Arkansas at Lubbock a few minutes earlier, left SMU needing only a win or a tie next Saturday against Texas Christian for its first conference title since 1948.

Partee's kick stole some of the thunder from jetstar Jerry Levias' 100-yard second half kickoff return that seemingly moved SMU over the hump with a 21-0 lead and a downhill run for victory.

But that run served more as a red anger flag in Baylor's face than it did to subdue the Baptists, who promptly cranked up three touchdowns—two on one and 36-yard passes from Terry Southall to Paul Becton and another on a one-yard slash by Richard DeFee.

Baylor completely dominated the second half except for the fading moments when quarterback Mike Livingston and Levias teamed to move the ball 50 yards in two plays and in 45 seconds down to the three-yard line to set up Partee's winning boot.

Partee had beaten Texas with a field goal with 18 seconds and Levias had caught a pass with nine seconds left to beat Rice en route to its clinch share of the title.

Livingston's four-yard smash in the first quarter and Pat Gibson's 40-yard runback of a Baylor interception had given SMU a 14-0 halftime lead and set the stage for Levias' great run, which tied the league record.

Southall hit 29 of 50 passes for 350 yards in breaking the old league record of 26 completions, but he had phenomenal help from Becton, Tommy Smith and Jack Eisenhart, who pulled in passes off their fingertips all afternoon in Baylor's desperate battle.

Livingston, subbing for injured Mac White at quarterback, had a big day, himself, with 129 yards rushing with the 18-yard run to the three-yard line being the clutch play of the day.

Levias, who has made the "big play" for SMU season-long, had a 66-yard kickoff runback nullified by a clipping penalty, caught two passes for 100 yards and generally was a thorn in Baylor's sides as a decoy.

Michigan Crushes Ohio State, 17-3

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Michigan's hard running Jim Detwiler ripped Ohio State's defenses to shreds Saturday to earn the Wolverines a 17-3 victory in the traditional Big Ten season opener for both teams.

Detwiler, a senior halfback scored one touchdown and rolled up 140 yards in 29 carries to keep the Buckeyes' defense in continual hot water. His touchdown, an eight-yard smash earlier in the second period, iced the game for the Wolverines, who won their sixth in 16 starts against Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes.

Despite the televised "super bowl" game between Michigan State and Notre Dame, a chilled crowd of 83,403 showed up to see Michigan's well-oiled offensive machine hand Hayes his second losing campaign in 16 seasons.

The Buckeyes, needing a victory to prevent such a disaster, wound up with 45 over-all and 3-4 in the Big Ten. Michigan finished in the first division with a 4-3 league record and 6-4 for the season.

Michigan's second touchdown came on quarterback Dick Vidmer's 28-yard pass to end Clayton Wilhite in the third period to end a 56-yard march in six plays. Wilhite caught the ball on the 14 and ran untouched to give the Wolverines an insurmountable lead.

Michigan found the Buckeyes' disciplined defense no problem, especially in the first half when Detwiler piled up most of his yardage on a devastating off-tackle play that completely baffled Ohio State. He sat out the entire fourth period.

Purdue Dismantles Rival Indiana, 51-6

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Rose Bowl-bound Purdue, sparked by Heisman Trophy candidate Bob Griese, humiliated injury-riddled Indiana Saturday in their traditional "Old Oaken Bucket" football finale, 51-6, to complete its best football season in 23 years.

That gave Purdue an 8-2 season record, with losses only to Notre Dame and Michigan State, the nation's two top-ranked teams, and Big Ten athletic directors were expected to put their vote of approval Saturday night on the Boiler-makers' first trip to the post-season bowl classic.

Griese, an All-American as a Junior last year, passed for three touchdowns, plunged for two and added a field goal in the mismatch, the largest score day in their traditional "Old Oaken Bucket" football finale, 51-6, to complete its best football season in 23 years.

Purdue scored once in the first period and five times in the second for a 41-0 halftime lead and the hapless Hoosiers averted a shutout with just 28 seconds to go in the contest before a record crowd of more than 62,000 when sub-quarterback Mike Perry fired a 15-yard touchdown pass to halfback John Ginter.

Northwestern Hits Stunned Illinois

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Quarterback Bill Melzer led a parade of five Northwestern touchdowns Saturday in a rollicking unexpected, 35-7, rout of traditional Big Ten rival Illinois.

Northwestern, a definite underdog off, its so-so showing thus far this fall, looked like a new team on this final Saturday of the season and Melzer never looked better in flipping two touchdown passes and scoring one touchdown on foot.

The victory gave the Wildcats a 2-1 record in the conference and left Illinois, once a Rose Bowl possibility, with a 4-3-0 mark in the league.

Missouri Skims Past Kansas, 7-0

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Quarterback Gary Kombrink rifled a third quarter 54-yard touchdown pass to Earl Denny to give Missouri a rugged 7-0 Big Eight football victory over Kansas Saturday, preserved by a game-hearted Tiger defense in the fourth quarter.

Kombrink drove the Tigers 78 yards in nine plays before the game's only score on Missouri's first possession of the second half.

On a third and eight situation from the Missouri 46 Kombrink fired a strike to Denny who caught the ball on the run at the KU 35 and outraced two Jayhawk defenders down the right sideline.

Kansas rallied behind scrappy Bill Fenton, a scrambling 155-pound quarterback, late in the third quarter.

Fenton drove the Jayhawks from their own 20 to the Missouri nine in 12 plays before the Tigers dug in the tackle Bill Schmidt killed the threat when he crashed through to block Dave Bouda's 28-yard field goal attempt.

The win assured Missouri of a first division finish in the Big Eight at 4-2-1 and left the Tigers with a 6-3-1 overall record.

Kansas finished winless in the Big Eight, 0-6-1, and were 2-7-1 for the season.

A record crowd of 53,200 for the Missouri-Kansas series, fifth oldest in the nation, saw Missouri miss three scoring opportunities in the first half while the Jayhawks efforts were hampered by three clipping penalties.

Missouri defensive halfback Gary Grossnickle recovered a fumble and ran it 39 yards to the Kansas four but the ball was ruled dead back at Missouri 27.

With less than 20 seconds left in the half, Jim Whitaker, another Tiger defensive back, scooped up a Jayhawk bobble at the Missouri 49 and ran it all the way, but again the play was ruled dead at the line of scrimmage.

The only other Missouri threat came early in the second quarter when the Tigers drove 25 yards to the Kansas 31. Bill Bates barely missed a 47 yard field goal attempt.

The victory gave Missouri a 36-30-9 lead in the series. Kansas has not beaten the Tigers since 1906.

Rice Gives Coach Prize Game, 21-10

HOUSTON (UPI)—Rice defensive tackles Harlon Dearing and Gene Auldrige broke the big plays Saturday that handed retiring head coach Jess Neely, dean of the nation's football coaches, a 21-10 victory over Texas Christian University. Neely, who will end his 40-year coaching career next week at Baylor, left Rice Stadium for the last time as a winner.

W.T. Smashes Broncos, 30-7

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—Hank Washington, the nation's leader in total offense, paced West Texas State to a 30-7 victory over Western Michigan Saturday and ran his season total to a 2,180 yards rushing and passing.

Washington completed 15 of 20 passes for 164 yards and a touchdown and rushed for 64 more yards and another score.

Western Michigan made a game of it for the first two quarters, but the Buffalo defense shut the Broncos out in the second half.

West Texas' Eugene Morris scored his club's first and last touchdown on a 4 yard run and a 40-yard pass from Roy Winters. In between Washington ran 6 yards for a score, Tommy Fambrough kicked a 39 yard field goal and Washington hit Charles Henderson with a 16 yard touchdown toss.

The Broncos lone score came late in the first half on a 22-yard pass from Jim Boreland to Ken Woodside.

Morris, a sophomore, gave the Buffaloes something to look forward to when Washington graduates. Morris ran for 125 yards and picked up 63 yards on passes from Washington.

Dave Szymakowski, the nation's ninth-rated pass receiver, caught six passes for 74 yards for the West Texas State cause.

Washington ran into trouble in the first half with a sticky Western Michigan pass defense. Rick Trudeau picked off three Washington aeriels during the first two quarters.

Tennessee Snares Wildcats, 28-19

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Dandy Dewey Warren connected Saturday on four touchdown passes, including a 78-yarder to end Johnny Mills, to fashion a 28-19 Tennessee win over the fired-up Kentucky Wildcats.

Austin Denny snared a three-yard pass from Warren, and speedster Richmond Flowers Jr. picked up two seven-yarders to account for the Tennessee total. The game was viewed by 43,704 fans at Neyland Stadium and by a regional television audience.

The rangy, 6-3 Mills, playing his final home game for the Vols, set a Tennessee yardage record as he caught seven passes for a total of 235 yards, and also set school records for completions and yards gained in a season.

Kentucky's first score came with little more than eight minutes left in the first half when sophomore Dicky Lyons latched onto a Tennessee punt on his own 28-yard line, evaded a host of would-be tacklers, and romped 72 yards into the end zone.

Kentucky quarterback Terry Beadles punched another tally across from the one late in the first half and the third TD came about 10 minutes remaining in the game when Lyons raced in from the five.

Season-wise, the 185-pound senior, who missed game because of an injury, gained 506 yards rushing, 97 on kickoff returns, 178 on punt returns and 25 on pass receiving for 805 total yards for the season.

Rowden also passed four times, completed one for 36 yards. He scored a total of 40 points in 10 games for Pampa, to lead the Harvester scoring.

Rowden came on late in 1965 and just missed leading Pampa in scoring, totaling 18 points to finish just two behind quarterback Roy Harper.

Also in '65 Rowden picked up gained 147 yards on 37 carries, to finish third among Pampa rushers.

Fullback Ted Heiskell finished fourth in the league in rushing offense with 292 yards on 60 worst marks in Neely's 27 years at the Southwest Conference school.

Trailing 7-0 in the first quarter, Dearing pounced on a fumble at the TCU 28 and Rice kicked on the next play with erback Robert Halley passing to wingback Glen Hine in the end zone. The conversion kick failed.

Two minutes later Auldrige broke through to block TCU's punt. Dearing grabbed the ball and lumbered 23 yards with an escort of Rice linemen for the touchdown. Quarterback Robby Sheiton swept right end for the two-point conversion.

TCU scored its fifth touchdown of the disappointing season in the first quarter when halfback Ross Montgomery dashed 21 yards. The score was set up on the preceding play when lefthanded quarterback Larry Peel passed 59 yards to end Sonny Campbell—the longest Frog offensive play of the year.

Bruce Alford Jr. kicked the TCU extra point and kicked a 34-yard field goal in the second quarter.

TCU's loss dropped the Frog season record to 2-7.

The defense also set up Rice's third touchdown in the second quarter. Chuck Latourette intercepted a Peel pass at the Rice 42—and the Owls marched 58 yards in 12 plays with Fullback Lester Lehman bulging the final yard. Richard Parker kicked the extra point.

Seldom-used senior Jimmy Henderson picked off another Peel aerial late in the fourth quarter and ran it back 32 yards to the TCU 11. But the Frogs stiffened and stopped the Owls at the 6 with less than a minute left.

Neely was carried off the field by senior players after the game. The only other Rice win this year was a 17-15 upset of Louisiana State University in the opener.

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI)—Oklahoma State relied on a seldom-used passing attack Saturday to upend Kansas State on a 7-play scoring drive.

The Cowboys ground out their other score after taking the second half kickoff and marching 72 yards in 11 plays.

Johnson passed five yards to wingback Happy Settle to cap the drive.

The victory gave the Cowboys a 3-2-1 record in the Big Eight Conference and a 3-5-1 mark for the season with one game remaining.

Kansas State closed the season with a 0-9-1 mark. The Wildcats have not won in 21 outings.

K-State scored its first quarter touchdown on a 38-yard pass from quarterback Vic Castillo to end sophomore Dave Jones. The catch gave Jones a Big Eight record of 721 yards in pass receptions during a season.

Oklahoma State, normally a ground going team, went to the airways to pile up 237 yards although their running game was good for 210 yards.

Johnson, a 175-pound sophomore, had his best day passing. He hit 17 of 24 for 216 yards.

Ailing Badgers Win Last One Over Minnesota

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Wisconsin turned a Minnesota fumble into a fourth-quarter touchdown for a 76 victory in Malt Bruhn's last game as the Badgers' "riches to rags" head coach.

Bruhn, who resigned Thursday effective after Saturday's game, was carried off the field by the team, which was just about his poorest in a Wisconsin career that included two Big Ten championships and a pair of Rose Bowl trips. He got a farewell standing ovation from the crowd of 45,372 lowest of the season in Madison.

Wisconsin ended the season with a 3-6-1 record, lightly better than the fatal 1965 season which had started Bruhn on his way out at Wisconsin where he has been in charge for 11 years. The Badgers' Big Ten mark is 2-4-1.

Invitation To Cotton Bowl Never Comes

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Field Scovell, chairman of the Cotton Bowl Committee, was in Lubbock Saturday to offer a Cotton Bowl bid to Arkansas. But Texas Tech did not follow the script.

Tech upset Arkansas 21-16, leaving Southern Methodist as the likely host team for the Cotton Bowl game Dec. 31.

And although Scovell would not comment specifically on who would be the other team in the game, it appeared that no one else is being considered but the University of Georgia.

"We have not invited any team to play in the Cotton Bowl and do not intend to invite one until 10 a. m. Monday," said Scovell. "The NCAA has a rule that a football team cannot be invited to play in a bowl game until 10 a. m. Monday."

"I plan to go to Athens, Ga., Sunday," said Scovell. "Everyone should spend one Sunday a year in Athens. I plan to visit with the University of Georgia folks Monday while in Athen."

Buck Defense Scored On, But Tigers Fall, 37-8

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

White Deer and Spur will meet in the first round of the class A state playoffs next week at a site as yet undetermined.

The Bucks got a three touchdown effort from tailback Vernon Marlar and won their 10th straight football game, 37-8 thumping of McLean Friday night in Harvester Field.

McLean did spoil one White Deer record, becoming the first team this season to march for a touchdown against the Buck's defense.

White Deer had given up only two touchdowns all season, both on pass interceptions, before McLean fullback Raymond Baker went over from the one-yard line early in the second period. Baker ran across the conversion and McLean led temporarily, 8-7.

Baker's plunge capped a 63 yard drive that took nine plays and came with 9:24 left in the half.

Baker paced the Tigers in rushing as he has done all season, carrying the ball 31 times for 108 yards, an average of 3.4 yards per carry.

White Deer tailback Vernon Marlar outdistanced everybody, carrying 22 times for 124 yards, an average of 5.6 yards per carry, plus scoring 20 points.

McLean moved the ball well most of the time but a fumble stopped one drive and penalties were costly on several occasions.

White Deer themselves had a drive topped due to a fumble and also had some costly penalties.

After recovering a McLean fumble following the opening kickoff the Bucks marched to the Tigers 16 yard line where they fumbled on a fourth down play, recovered but lost yardage on the play.

The Bucks scored first, marching 45 yards in just six plays with Marlar covering the last 10 with 1:53 left in the first period. Gary Stewart kicked the point for a 7-0 lead.

But McLean didn't seem to be bothered and took the kickoff and marched for their lone score of the night.

After the McLean touchdown the Bucks took over on their own 36 and Marlar carried to the McLean 44.

John Paul Guinn sped the distance for the go ahead score. Halfback Randy Elliott ran across the conversion and with 7:52 left in the half the Bucks had a 15-8 lead.

A McLean fumble was recovered by the Buck's Beryl Pipes on the Tigers 22 yard line.

It took Guinn five plays to direct his team to the goal line with Marlar getting his second touchdown of the evening. An attempted run for the conversion failed and just 3:51 away from halftime the Bucks led, 21-8.

McLean drove from their own 33 to the White Deer 23 and had a first down when the half ended.

In the third quarter the Tigers gambled on a fourth and six at their own 49 and sub quarterback Dick Back gained only four yards.

The Bucks took over on their own 46 and scored 12 plays later when Guinn passed the final nine yards to end Ronnie Anderson. The big play in the drive came on a pass from Guinn to Anderson, the first time the Bucks had passed all night, that covered 26 yards after White Deer had drawn a 25-yard penalty.

A pass try for the conversion failed with 1:57 left in the quarter the Bucks led, 27-8.

White Deer added a safety one minute later when on a fourth down play the snap from center sailed over the kicker's head and was downed by a Buck player, making the score 29-8.

The final White Deer tally came following the free kick when the Bucks took over on the McLean 44 and marched the distance in five plays with Marlar going in from the nine after gaining 22 yards on three carries.

Marlar ran over the conversion to end the scoring with 9:26 left in the game, making it 37-8.

Groom Scuttles Lefors

By MIKE GERALD

(See Picture Page 9)

The Groom Tigers claimed their second consecutive 5-B crown Friday night as they scuttled Lefors 36-8 at Pirate Stadium. Groom also copied an opportunity to play Chillicothe in the first round of the state class B playoffs next week.

Sparked by the terrific ground trio of backs Jerry Littlefield, Kyle Black and Lynn King, the Tigers were never threatened as they piled up 142 yards total offense, of which 140 was on the ground. Groom now boasts a 6-3-1 record.

Lefors, led by alternate quarterbacks Dennis Keith and sophomore Jim Gilbreath, was able to build several long drives against the surprisingly tough Groom defense but were able to turn them into figures only once. The battle left Lefors with a 4-6 season after winning their last four straight games. Although Lefors only lagged behind the Tigers by 10 yards in total offense, they were hurt by a fumble, an interception and 60 yards worth of penalties.

The pint-sized, 140-pound Littlefield dazzled fans with his break-away ability and by putting 18 marks on the scoreboard for Groom.

Littlefield left the field early in the fourth quarter after being shaken up and received a strong applause from Tiger fans.

Black, another 140 pound senior, was hardly less spectacular as he tallied 14 points and appeared to be only slightly thwarted by the Lefors defensive line.

Littlefield quickly moved in for the first score of the game after Groom stopped the Pirates cold on their own 21 shortly after Lefors took the opening kickoff. Black ran a successful conversion to provide a safer 8-0 lead with seven minutes left in the first quarter. Littlefield's touchdown covered 10 yards.

Littlefield broke loose from the Pirate 44 to tally another six points with eight minutes left before the half. The Tigers easily ran the conversion again to bring the halftime score to 16-0 after Lefors and Groom each exchanged three unsuccessful drives.

Lefors stopped a brief Groom drive after kicking to them at halftime and began to click on a long, sustained drive which was climaxed with a TD by Gary Smith from the one with only four minutes remaining in the third quarter. Broome caught a deflected Keith pass for the two points.

Groom widened the margin again as Littlefield ran in another TD from the four yard stripe with two minutes left in the third quarter. A ground conversion attempt failed.

The Pirates fumbled away most of any comeback hopes left on the first play after receiving the kickoff.

Both teams were stymied by error in the fourth quarter as Lefors failed on three attempts to initiate pigskin drives a while Groom was stopped four times. Both teams were plagued with penalties. The final gun left the score 36 to 8.

Dodgers Hunt For Replacement Of Sandy Koufax

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sandy Koufax belonged to baseball history today but the sport went on and the Los Angeles Dodgers turned to the task of filling the gap caused by the retirement of the great lefthander. The club's executives said the famed hurler could not be replaced but the vacancy had to be filled, either from the ranks of younger men coming up or by dealing with other clubs. As he left the game after 12 years of major league pitching during which he posted records that may stand for generations, Koufax took with him the best wishes of his bosses—club President Aalter O'Malley, General Manager F. J. (Buzze) Bavasi and Field Manager Walter Alston. "I can't minimize the loss of Koufax," Bavasi said. "What we will try to do is get a pitcher who can win us 10 games or so. It's my firm belief that Don Drysdale will bounce back next season with 20 or more victories. That's the way I hope we can make up for the loss of Koufax."

Banquet Speaker Interesting Man

'Dub' Nelson will bring quite an interesting background and have a lot of interesting things to say when he speaks before the Pampa Football Banquet, slated Nov. 29 in the Pampa High School Cafeteria.

Nelson, born in Childress, is a tireless civic worker. He organized the Childress Quarterback Club and Kids, Inc. He was also the organizer of the Greenbelt Bowl Grid Classic, featuring All Star football players from Oklahoma and Texas.

Dub was a leader in the organization of the Childress Jaycees and served as charter director. He is very active in Lion's International, having served the Childress Lions club in every office with the exception of Secretary-Treasurer. He was chosen "Lion of the Year" in 1954.

Nelson has received many honors, but the things of which he is most proud are that on two occasions the Childress football games to him, both Bobcats dedicated imports that were won and he proudly keeps the game balls which were presented him.

In 1954 he was selected and received a special letter from both the football and basketball teams of Childress High School as their "Outstanding Fan."

AERIAL PHOTO of the playalake on the O. N. "Toby" Cunningham farm in Carson County. The horseshoe-shaped dike in the center of the picture with a canal-type tank around the outside of the perimeter of the dike collects rainwater and tail water, that in prior years, spread across the bed of the lake. He now irrigates both inside and outside the dike as needed. Pampa News photographer Ken Leach took the aerial photo from a Beechcraft one mile above the lakebed.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS
 In 1938 the mind of O. N. "Toby" Cunningham of White Deer, Carson County, gave birth to an idea that in 1966 is at last bearing fruit.
 As a young man of twenty-two, he decided that some beneficial use should be made of the water that collected in the 200-acre playalake on his father's farm.
 The immediate problem facing him was a mountain-sized one. He must find a way to convince his dryland farming, or oriented father to use the playalake water, before it evaporates, to irrigate the winter wheat that had been planted.
 There had been plenty of rainfall moisture to bring up the wheat. Immediately after coming up another long dry stretch began. The dry period moved on into the new year of 1939. Young Cunningham finally persuaded his father to experiment with some of the playalake water. An old John Deere tractor engine was harnessed to a makeshift lake pump and a few joints of old iron pipe were gathered up around the farm. A few more were borrowed from neighbors. It was a long way from the water, in the bed of the playalake, up the slope to where the wheat was planted. He and his father were able to irrigate only a few acres. The small irrigated area produced 35 bushels per acre he recalls, while the rest of the field produced about 3 bushels to the acre. That was all the profit that young Toby Cunningham needed to show that the experiment was a success.

Money to improve the irrigation project was hard to come by. The elder Cunningham was opposed to going into debt. The project was about ready to move ahead when the United States entered World War 11 to try and stop the rampaging Nazis under Adolph Hitler. Toby Cunningham soon found himself drawn into the war with the US Combat Engineers. He entered service in 1942 and graduated from Engineer School at Yale University as a lieutenant. In 1946 he was separated from military service as a First Lieutenant. By this time he was married and decided to follow construction engineering for a career.
 During the years following the war he felt he must get back to the farm and do something about the water in the playalake. However, there was not enough income from a dryland section to support two families and the return to the farm was delayed. In 1954 his father passed away and his mother put a big portion of the land in the soil bank program. This further delayed the return to the farm.
 Several years ago Cunningham with his wife and three children returned to the farm. By 1964 some of the land came out of the soil bank program — with the rest coming out in 1966.
 In the meantime Carson County had made the transition from a dryland farming county to an irrigated county.
 In January of 1956 the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3, South of the Canadian River came into being. Officials of the Water Conservation District encouraged the farmers within the District, which comprised portions of Potter, Carson and Gray Counties, to use the playalake water. Several years passed before much progress was made in this direction. Cunningham started getting ready to irrigate from his playalake before the land was released from the soil bank program. The playalake, when full of water, covered approximately 180 acres of the 518 acres in the farm.

 Most farmers in making use of the playalake water have dredged a channel to one edge of the lake and dug a tail-water type tank or pond at the edge of the lake. Cunningham decided he would approach his project with a different method.
 In the latter part of 1964 his project received a big assist at no cost to himself. The Gilvin-Terrill Construction Company was engaged in construction of the new U. S. Highway 60 through White Deer. The Cunningham farm adjoins the west side of White Deer. The construction company needed a place to dispose of the rock, gravel and dirt from the old highway road bed. Cunningham was glad to offer a place to dispose of it. He had the construction company to lay it out in the form of a levee or dike around a half mile portion of the lake bed. This gave him a good start on his project. He has since completed a horseshoe-shaped dike one mile in length around approximately 100 acres of the central portion of the playalake bed. He has dredged a canal type tank around the outside perimeter of the dike.
 The canal and dike serves the double purpose of collecting the water in a small area and of keeping excess water away from the 100 acres enclosed behind the horseshoe shaped dike. He has thus been able to reclaim this area for production of grain. The present canal is an average of 3-feet in depth with one portion used for watering cattle approximately 4 feet deep. The canal in collecting the water from the area of the lake outside the dike has also been profitably used for grazing.
 Current plans call for the canal to be dug some five feet deeper with the excavated dirt being used to make the dike higher. This will give added protection and storage in periods of excessive rainfall.
 During the 1966 crop season the area inside the horseshoe dike was planted to sudex grass and used for grazing. In the fall of 1965 with only a portion

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
 The November membership luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce honoring farmers and ranchers of the Top O' Texas area will be held Monday, Nov. 28 at 12 Noon in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.
 The program will be presented by local talent. Rex McAnely, manager of Moody Farms and chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will tell about the economic impact of the Cattle Feeding Industry in the Panhandle of Texas and specifically to Gray County.
 Lynn McDaniel, Soil Conservation Serv., will illustrate a colored slide talk based on areas of potential development of our Panhandle and Gray County resources.
 Agriculture is still the giant in economic influence in the Panhandle of Texas. Many people don't realize this. Did you know that Pioneer Natural Gas sells more natural gas to irrigation farmers than they do for domestic use in the cities they represent?
 A large portion of Phillips Petroleum Companies sales is to irrigation farmers in the form of anhydrous ammonia and dry, pelleted fertilizers.
 The Agricultural Sales Division of the Shamrock Oil and Gas has become a major item since 1962 when they installed their first plant to manufacture anhydrous ammonia. They have doubled the size of their plant twice and another expansion is planned. In a recent visit with Avery Rusch, executive in this company, he said direct agricultural sales would approach $10,000,000 in 1966 and they are just beginning to expand.
 If you are an employee of an oil company, a good portion of your salary comes indirectly from agriculture.
 Ed Myatt, president, Pam Tex Corp., says 25 per cent of their business is directly with farmers and ranchers. Indirectly, probably a major proportion is dependent on agriculture. He mentioned the fact that Best Fertilizer Company of Plainview was one of their best customers.
 We congratulate the officials of the Chamber of Commerce for recognizing the impact of agriculture to the economy of this area.
 Many times when I am out of town and identify myself, the remark is, "Those folks get behind agriculture."
 Farmers and ranchers in the area that would like to attend this meeting should phone the Chamber of Commerce — MO

IPAA Urges Commission To Limit Gas Imports

WASHINGTON (Sp) — Dan gers of over-reliance on imported natural gas supplies were cited today by the Independent Petroleum Association of America as it continued to press the Federal Power Commission to adopt policies limiting gas imports.

In a brief filed as intervenor in an application of El Paso Natural Gas Co. requesting authorization to import an additional 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, in two stages over the next two years, and larger volumes in later years IPAA argued that gas imports should be permitted to grow at a percentage rate no greater than the growth rate in domestic natural gas production.

Recommending such a "share the growth" policy to FPC, the Association said this would permit gas imports to rise at a rate of some 60,000,000 cubic feet daily per year.

In the absence of such a policy, which IPAA alleges says is necessary to prevent undermining of the security-based Mandatory Oil Import Program the Association pointed out that Canadian natural gas imports into U.S. markets have risen almost 400 percent within a six-year period.

The Association said uncertainty as to the dependability of imported gas supplies was reflected in a Canadian government action in mid-September which reversed the Canadian National Energy Board's approval of a so-called "transit" pipeline through the U.S. to move gas from Western to Eastern Canadian provinces.

Although the Canadian Government again changed its mind and reversed its decision killing the project, provided certain conditions are met, IPAA said, "We must face the possibility that the Canadian Government because of its priority responsibility to its own citizens, may at some time... find it necessary to interrupt or reduce the export of natural gas into the U.S. or impose a price condition on such export."

WOMEN OF PAMPA, wake up to your fashion potential! There are just as many lovely, well-groomed women in Pampa as in any of the larger cities percentage-wise. But so many have been lulled into a "don't overdress for Pampa" attitude, that one begins to feel that you are letting down on accepted fashion rules concerning proper dress for certain social occasions held here. You have been so "brain-washed" with the saying that "a suit is proper for any occasion" that you fail to realize that it means certain kind of suits which are in good taste for the explicit affair. One can see the most mundane, or sporty, or so-called versatile knit worn by a great majority to an 8 p.m. dinner where the speaker of the evening is in tux or formal attire. Suits, yes, but remember there are such things as costume suits, beaded or glitter trimmed knits, brocades and silks of the cocktail or dinner type which is generally meant when speaking of suits to be worn at dinner in the evening. Pampa's Coronado Inn is equal to any number of hotels in our larger cities, and one would certainly see the women entering those hotels for a special dinner wearing something other than their better street clothes. One gets the feeling that women in Pampa question the advisability of dressing for the occasion unless it is in the realm of some elaborate invitational party or dinner at the Pampa Club or the Pampa Country Club.

Mrs. Jerry Sims looked beautiful at the speaker's table at the Knife & Fork dinner last week in an emerald green brocade. Mrs. Rufe Jordan was lovely in a beige lace dinner dress with fur stole while Mrs. Tom Perkins arrived in an iridescent dark green silk cocktail suit. Miss Mary Iva Kay donned a gray-beige brocade suit when she accompanied her mother, Mrs. Roy Kay. A beautiful red wool-crepe dress, topped with a silver mink stole was the selection of Mrs. J. E. Kirchman. One observer mentioned that several others were spotted throughout the dinner crowd which met the stylish dinner ensemble; however, it was felt that the ladies, as a whole, were not as fashionably clad for dinner as they seemed to be some few years ago.

Newcomers to Pampa have also mentioned their surprise at the attire of the majority of Pampa women in attendance at the evenings spent at the Community Concerts. Even the male members of the Community Concert board, who greeted guests for several seasons in semi-formal attire, have all but dropped the custom. Women board members too have almost laid aside the habit of arriving looking as though they were expecting exciting things at an "evening at the concert". Let's not wait for a new auditorium to announce to the community and the visiting artists Pampa has as many beautiful, fashion-wise women as any place else in the United States! One would almost wonder if the visiting artists might not respond with their most excellent performances when facing a stylish, expectant, and cultured audience.

With the holiday season at hand, women of Pampa show the male counterpart of the community how the well-dressed woman should look on every occasion. Those husbands and gentlemen friends may grumble and say, "Wear anything, it doesn't matter", but there isn't a man around who doesn't swell with pride when the lady of his heart takes his arm looking like a queen. Honestly, now, he might ask you out more often just so people can gaze upon the "little woman" which by her very appearance says to the world—"Look what a success this man is!"

Now a word to our local merchants—if you want to dress these local women, dare to stock those things which should be worn and don't be caught showing a customer "that versatile knit suit" when she asks for something for a dressy occasion. Make your Christmas windows glitter with the truly lovely things which are available to be worn for dinner, concert, cocktails, and an evening of dancing. Mrs. Bill Root was seen shopping for that "holiday dress" this past week and, although charmed with a silver-glitter dress, was overheard asking the saleslady if she would be conspicuous. Many others could be named who have been excited by the latest glitter fashions but question about wearing them in Pampa. And there is the continual cry in Pampa—as well as nationwide—that all the fashions seem to be designed with the women-under-twenty in mind! There are other women purchasing wardrobes, with one would dare say more money to use for such, than the under twenty group. Women have been striking against grocery prices so why not send up a cry to be heard in the fashion centers that there are such things as women over twenty who expect to be considered. And women of Pampa, let's wake up to our fashion potentials! (Every other woman will have their eyes on you when you appear at the next social function.)

Might be fun, and create fashion-conscious interest if Pampa had a list of the ten best dressed women for all occasions. Some likely candidates could be Mrs. Leonard Hudson, Mrs. R. M. Hampton, Mrs. Rob Curry, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. George Cree Jr. and Mrs. D. F. DeWeese.

HEARD THE POTENTATE'S reception at the recently-held Khiva Temple Shrine Ceremony was one of the most elegant affairs held in Pampa in a long, long time. Shriners and their ladies are still discussing the beautifully lighted large, two-tiered silver bubbling fountain which centered one table. Hors d'oeuvres and other "goodies" were served from a table appointed with wine coolers bearing massive arrangements of bronze mums and pom poms while an unusual white ceramic five-branched candelabra, surrounded by the same flowers, decorated the coffee table.

Junior Service League's fourth annual Charity Ball a week ago last evening was the gayest and most romantic of them all. Dancing to the delightful music of Bobby Burns and His Orchestra of Amarillo provided an enjoyable evening for ball guests. Pampa Country Club was lavishly decorated with green and blue tulle topiary trees, with miniature replicas appointing guest tables. Other than many local residents, guests attended from Amarillo, Miami, Canadian, Bnaer and other area towns. A special guest at the ball was Elaine deKooning, New York City artist and guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Cree Jr. Mrs. deKooning, who was commissioned by the Kennedy family to paint the official portrait of the late President John F. Kennedy, has been in the area the past three weeks doing landscapes of the Panhandle. Fortunate are those persons lucky enough to receive an invitation by Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein to her home for coffee. Modern Study Club members and guests met recently with her for coffee and club meeting only to find a table centered with red roses and filled with small waffles, bacon, sausage patties, tiny sweet rolls, preserves, cheese rolls, and preserved fruits beside the steaming coffee! Her home is also most interesting with the decor ranging from formal French Provincial to Eastern Oriental to wide planked and pegged bare floors in the large den.

John Lee Bell was busy getting his boat serviced a week ago Friday and the family station wagon packed—it wouldn't take much to conclude that a weekend of boating was in store for the family. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell were off to Washington, D.C., Tuesday morning—and, of course Mrs. J. R. Frazier has been quite busy arranging for a luncheon and style show to be held at the Pam Cel hall in the near future.

Weather such as has been experienced this past week couldn't even be found in the so-called winter resort areas. Overheard lady shopper say she didn't need to purchase anything new to wear as she hadn't worn her new fall or winter clothes yet!

Sheriff and Mrs. Rufe Jordan will not only have their daughter and family in Pampa for the Thanksgiving dinner but Mrs. Jordan will prepare the traditional dinner for all members of the Sheriff's department and their wives and children.

The bride wore a fitted bodice with scooped neckline, long tapered point sleeves and miniature self-covered buttons fastening the back. The full bell-shaped skirt, embellished with lace appliques and seed pearls, swept to a chapel train. Her three-tiered shoulder-length veil of imported French bridal illusion with hand rolled hems, fell from a pillbox coil with a single tear drop attached to the lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations centered with yellow roses.

Attired in cocktail-length gowns fashioned of power blue with A-line styling featuring long fitted sleeves and scooped necklines, bridal attendants were Mrs. James M. Eaves of Dallas, the bride's sister, matron of honor, and Miss Norma Jean Balch and Miss Signe Ann McCavick, also a sister of the bride, bridesmaids. Prior to departing on a wedding trip to Six Flags Over Texas as the new Mrs. Balch donned a two-piece suit of powder blue weel accented by black accessories and the corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return the newlyweds will make their home at 845 E. North 18th, Abilene.

Pampa's City Improvement Plan Is Discussed at ABWA Dinner Meet

B. M. Wofford, city engineer, told of Pampa's city improvement plan Tuesday night at the monthly dinner meeting of the American Business Women's Association in Jackson's Cafeteria.

Mr. Wofford was introduced by Mrs. James Quarry. Mr. Wofford and his family moved to Pampa from Hillsboro. He was selected as one of the "Top Ten Young Civil Engineers of Texas in 1964."

He explained the bond issue enacted at this time and enumerated on the pavement assessment program in which the city will support approximately forty percent of the cost. Mr. Wofford stated that if a majority of the people wished paving on their street, the remainder would be assessed if they refuse to do it voluntarily.

The new sprinkler system in Coronado Park was explained on a chart, also the improvements to Hobart St.—Mr. Wofford said that Pampa had one of the most modern treatment of sewage disposal plants in Texas. He concluded that the city government is willing and he hopes is able to do the service that the people of Pampa wish done to beautify and help their city, and that an informed person is easier to work for and give better cooperation.

Nefertiti and the Aloe-Vera ton learned that ancient Egyptian embalmers used the gel as a preservative. Alexander the Great used it to heal battle wounds and Marco Polo found that the Chinese were using aloe for stomach disorders.

By January, 1953, Stockton had a product and the next problem he had facing him was to get it on the market. This cost money. He persuaded six friends to invest $25,000 and in Fort Lauderdale he opened the doors of the Aloe Creme Laboratories.

Dermatologists observed that this ointment cleared up rashes and blemishes. One dermatologist even suggested producing aloe-vera in lower concentrations and in liquid form for cosmetic use.

The laboratories' Aloe-Ointment has won the approval of the Food and Drug Administration as a burn treatment and their line of cosmetics now numbers 14. The cosmetics are sold in better drug and department stores across the country.

The aloe gel has passed through the Egyptian dynasties, Arabic literature, the Biblical period and the dark ages.

Queen Nefertiti used the gel to keep her skin clear and flawless. Today's "beauty queens" can use the same treatment and get even better results. Not only do they have the beauty ointment at their fingertips but a full line of cosmetics.

There are many things which have been lost through the centuries, but these aloe-vera have been within our reach for over 3,500 years.

Two Ceremonies Are Conducted by TOPS

An installation of officers and graduation ceremonies were conducted by Pampa Pound Pirates TOPS Club members when they met Monday evening in Lutheran Church Hall.

Mrs. Mary Sharp, installing officer, gave charges to Mrs. Peggy Fisher, leader; Mrs. Fran White, vice leader; Mrs. Etta Wallace, treasurer; Mrs. Jeannie Conway, recording secretary; Mrs. Vi Harris, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Nancy McDaniel, weight recorder.

Receiving miniature satin pillows holding KOPS pins, diplomas, ribbons and the club flower in graduation ceremonies were Mmes. Katherine Elms, Lou Reeves, Vera Fisher and Frah White.

A weight loss of 21 pounds and a 23½ pound gain was reported by club members. Mrs. Edith Jonas and Mrs. Donna Berry received the fruit basket for having lost the most weight the past week.

Mrs. Vi Harris, accompanied by her daughter, Janie, presented a vocal solo.

Mrs. Frances Hall, Mrs. Hazel Coffin, Miss Connie White and Miss Janie Harris were welcomed as guests.

Women of the area interested in losing weight and joining a TOPS club should call MO 5-4063 or MO 5-2038.

TO BE HONORED — Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cole of Wheeler will be honored at an open house reception next Sunday afternoon, commemorating the couple's golden wedding date. Mr. and Mrs. Cole were married Nov. 26, 1916, in Pampa. The honorees' children are hosting the event from 2 to 4 o'clock in Wheeler First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. Friends and relatives of the Coles are invited to attend and help mark the occasion.

NEW YORK (NEA) — About 24 years ago a sales engineer for a Chicago chemical company went to Florida on vacation and soaked-up too much sunshine too quickly.

Rodney Stockton's blistered burns festered and doctors could do nothing for his relief. A month's search for a cure for tropical sunburn got him nowhere.

Once again back in Chicago he found it impossible to give up thoughts of the search. He became a man with a mission. He quit his job and moved to Florida on a hunt that promised nothing but the search for the cure he knew he would eventually find.

Three years passed. Then one day a life-guard telephoned him to report that a visiting nurse friend told him about a Seminole Indian medicine man who had used a plant to heal the burns of a native child.

Stockton went right to the source, but the medicine man refused to give away his secrets.

After much perseverance, Stockton finally discovered it was the aloe-vera, a tropical, cactuslike plant that cured the Indian child.

The deep green leaves of this plant contain an inner gel that is moist, crystal clear, (I could read a newspaper through it) and odorless.

Intrigued by this plant, Stock-

Dear Abby... His Problem Is Merely 'Boyological'

DEAR ABBY: A girl telephoned and asked me if I would take her out on Saturday night to make her boy friend jealous. This girl is 18 and is very, very good looking. Long blond hair, terrific figure and she works! I had nothing better to do and thought it might be fun so I said yes.

I am 21 years old, have a new car and am not exactly a creep. Well, Abby, I fell for this girl, knowing all along that she was only using me. Is there something the matter with me?

DEAR FELL: If by "fell" you mean you became physically attracted to her, there is nothing wrong with you. You were only following your "boyological" urge—(more "boy" than logical.) You'll recover.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of those mini skirts?

DEAR WONDERING: They're all right if the girl doesn't have magna legs.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a mother who allows herself to be used by her daughter as an unpaid servant, and then turns around and complains to all her relatives? The woman happens to be my mother, and it is getting on my nerves. When my sister asks her to sit with her children for an evening, afternoon, or for weeks at a time while she and her husband go off on vacations, "Good Old Mom" can't get there fast enough. Then she complains to all the relatives about how hard the kids are to handle, and how dirty Sis' house was before she dug in and cleaned it up.

And worse yet, she says, "Never again!" But just let Sis ask her, and—"Good Old Mom" is over there working like a horse. Any suggestions?

DEAR DISGUSTED: Tell "Good Old Mom" that if she wants to sit, stand, or roll over for her daughter, it's all right with you. But you'd rather not hear any complaints about it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT UNDERSTOOD": From your letter I would suggest that you thank your lucky stars that your wife doesn't understand you. If she did, you'd be in more trouble than you are now.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box

Society Sets the Fashion Pace

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) —If you haven't learned your BYPs you haven't been doing your fashion homework.

ABCs you can forget. But a working knowledge of your BYPs is a must if fashion savvy means anything at all to you.

The Beautiful Young People, the "with it" jet set, call the fashion shots these days. And all you need to learn the "in" list is to go through a week's issues of your local paper in one evening and write down the names of the people modeling in fashion shows in your community. (Maybe you don't keep old newspapers. In New York we tend to these days. We're not sure any more that we'll still have a paper tomorrow. And yesterday's news is at least good for an evening of nostalgia.)

I can think of at least three reasons why the socialites play the lead in the fashion scene.

Once every girl on the streets copied movie personalities like Orbachs copies Paris designs. But we don't have anyone to copy any more. It was O.K. to look like Ginger Rogers with a long pageboy hairdo and a swirling dance dress. But today's extravaganza are preloved pieces and no one wants to look like an 1890 character.

And then, too, the gentry's changed. Today's socialites are a slim, good-looking, swinging set. The modern Mrs. Whatever III looks great in her Norell or Galanos. And the family diamonds no longer rest on a too-ample bosom.

A third reason society stays in the fashion limelight is the currently popular fashion show given for charity or community service across the country. America's top designers do the clothes for the shows, the models are beautiful socialites and the events are widely publicized.

At a charity benefit in Los Angeles, for example, the designers included Galanos, Jean Louis and Esteves; the models — Mrs. Clark Gable (no identification necessary) and Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale (department store and Diner's Club) and such.

In Dallas at the latest Texas State Fair the Chemstrand Award of Merit was presented to eight elegant women for their contribution to the culture of Texas. The women were all socialites, among them Mrs. Ethan B. Stroud Jr. of Dallas and Mrs. Amon G. Carter Jr. of Fort Worth. The gowns they wore were especially created for them by such leading Texas designers as Charles Dickey, Kay Felker of Clifton Wilhite, Peggy Kay of Donovan-Galvani and others of equal stature. There's little doubt that the news photos of the event have already set a trend in Texas fashions.

A few nights ago in New York another charity gala included a fashion show by the BYP. This was held at the Consulate General of India and again sponsored by the Chemstrand Division of the Monsanto Company. It benefited the Manhattan Society for Mental Health and the Indian Council for Child Welfare. Like all fashion shows when put into the capable hands of such hard working socialites as Mrs. Claude Newhouse (Maggie McNellis) who co-chaired the event and did the commentary, "A Night in India" was an elegant occasion.

Guests ascended the marble staircase to the colorfully decorated ballroom where on scarlet-covered tables were garlands of long-stemmed marigolds flown here from Bombay. The Indian-inspired fashions shown, in contrast to Indian custom, were made of ultra-modern stretch fabric, Actionwear. And they were designed by Bill Blass, Donald Brooks, Adele Simpson, Oscar de la Renta, Jo Copeland and John Weitz. Who were the models? You guessed it. Those unpaid lovelies, the New York socialites, who enjoy walking down the runway for sweet charity.

The designs were beautiful, the orchestra fine, the Indian menu excellent and the pictures dutifully cropped up in the next day's news. Once again the young socialite made fashion headlines and brought the message that Actionwear fabric can be used handsomely for anything from pajamas to formal gowns.

TC Cotillion Club Continues Study Of 'Treasurers from Other Shores'

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club members continued the year's study on "Treasurers from Other Shores" at their Tuesday afternoon meeting in the home of Mrs. Jack White, 120 W. 24th.

Mrs. Don Morrison, president, presided, and the Club Collect was led by Mrs. Buddy Cockrell. Club members voted to bring articles for a Christmas gift box to the next meeting that will be sent to the Abilene State School for the Retarded.

Mrs. Cockrell presented the "Art of Tole Painting" stating that it originated in 18th Century Europe as a less expensive substitute for the tremendously popular lacquerware coming over from the orient. Before long Tole was admired for its own sake which led to the development of faster quantity production methods of applying the decoration — the transfer and stencil. Soon after 1800 decorated ed tinware was introduced in America.

Mrs. Cockrell explained the method of Tole painting giving the various steps which included the preparation of the surface, painting or staining the background, choosing and applying the design, filling in the design with oil paints, and the last step, antiquing and varnishing.

Mrs. Don Morrison presented the "Carri Called De'coupage" which began in Europe, also as a substitute for the highly admired lacquerware from the orient, and received the name "Poor Man's Laquer". Mrs. Morrison continued saying that de'coupage is the art of cutting and gluing with a finish. She stated that the object to be decorated is prepared the same as for Tole painting, the surface sealed with shellac, picture or decoration glued on, and covered with many, many coats of shellac until the decoration takes on depth and has the appearance of porcelain. Mrs. Morrison had various pictures and boxes displaying this method of decoration.

Mrs. W. D. Price Jr. gave a demonstration on making paper mache purses. She explained the process as beginning with a small wooden box, covering the surface with a double thickness of newspaper cut into small squares, glued onto the box, slightly overlapping each one. Mrs. Price stated that the surface was then painted with a water base paint to the desired color swirling the brush strokes. A decorative pattern is then applied and outlined with string. The box is again painted with the background color and the design filled in. Mrs. Price continued saying the box was then varnished, antiqued, and again given several more coats of high gloss varnish. She stated the final step is adding hard- (See TC, Page 19)

Brightness Is in for Men's Formal Wear

MEN NEEDN'T BE PENGUINS ANY MORE, what with the great selection of formal wear from which to choose. Man at left wears a Paisley dinner jacket, available in several colors. Man at right displays the double-breasted tuxedo with suppressed waist, breast pocket, four buttons. Both are by After Six.

By ROBERT COCHNAR, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (N.Y.A.) — There is something to be said for the top-toe co-ordinated look in men's fashions. It provides a certain pleasing symmetry and assures the wearer that he's in good taste.

Yet matching A with B and C is not particularly imaginative or interesting. Anybody can do it if he follows instructions provided by the manufacturer or retailer. If everybody does, that old tradition of impeccable dullness will once again creep into men's fashions.

On the other hand, if clothing matches and mixes are made carefully, the end result may well be distinctive and tasteful at the same time.

Manufacturers of formal wear, long saddled with the criticism that their tuxedos were insufferably dull, have turned to brightness and imagination. And formal wear is now selling better than ever before.

In fact, it seems that the tux people are at least one fashion jump ahead of the rest of the menswear industry. This season's formal wear is really different.

After Six, for example, is offering dinner suits in handsome shades of blue, not at all like the so-called midnight blue which was slightly popular several years ago.

This firm's imaginative designers forgot their inhibitions when they produced a collection of separate dinner jackets which nicely complements even the most dazzling sequined gowns the ladies might choose to wear.

The rich fabrics include brocades and moire as well as Paisleys and woven prints in several choices of color.

Raleigh, another fashion-conscious formal wear firm, offers imported Bernberg silks, mosaics, boucres and luxurious brocades.

Though the traditional shawl collars are still widely popular, peaked lapels and double-breasted jackets are expected to be big sellers this season. For those who hate the bother of cummerbunds, several companies are offering a "built-in" cummerbund which is really a wide satin waistband.

Formally clad men, it is apparent, need no longer look like a bunch of uncomfortable penguins.

After Six has, however, introduced a new element into formal wear which ought to put men on their guards. It's the co-ordinated look. Now the party-goer can purchase cuff links and studs to match his tie and the bow on his evening pumps. He can buy a shirt with detailed stitching to match his dinner jacket.

Purpose of After Six, it's said, is to provide men's shops with formal wear boutiques so that the customer needn't go department-hopping for formal accessories. It's a good idea.

But the customer should try not to carry co-ordination to the point of boredom. The beauty part about the great variety in clothing these days is that it allows a man to be an individual.

A silk pocket square which doesn't co-ordinate with anything gives a man that subtle touch of distinction. A hand-tied bowtie which doesn't look too perfect sets a man a notch above his colleagues with the clip-ons.

Beta Delta Chapter of DKG Hears Program Presented on 'Open Mind'

"The Open Mind" was the program topic for the Nov. 12 meeting of Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Meeting in the City Club Room. Various sub-topical sessions were held to develop the program theme Mrs. Paul Bowers, program chairman, introduced group discussion moderators. Following the discussion session the moderator summarized the findings of each group.

Mrs. Dorothy McMurtry reported from her topic, "Developing Creativity in the Culturally Deprived Child," stating that this probably represents one of the largest untapped sources of talent. One possible help for this child is give him a wide range of experiences and aid in developing skills.

"Creativity in the gifted child often shows a wide range in different children, and mental ability is not always indicative of superiority in creativity," were some observations of the group lead by Miss Nova Mayo.

"Creativity is an instinct all people possess, an instinct which all children are born. It is the instinct we primarily use to solve and express life problems. A child would learn to use it even if he were not taught to do so," were the views expressed by the group led by Miss Reita Sue Durham on "Creativity in the Beginner."

"Motivation for creativity with the under achiever is easier in the realm of music, language, arts and crafts. Rewards for the teacher are great when this motivation is successful," reported Miss Barbara Baker, group leader.

"The emotionally disturbed child must be given more explicit motivation, in order to develop creativity. However, this child is often more imaginative and creative and often works well with his hands. Acceptance and relaxed surroundings are necessary for creativity for this child," according to the report given by Miss Geraldine Ramsey.

Following a business meeting of committee reports and the announcement of a joint meeting in December with Theta Delta Chapter, the meeting was adjourned.

Hostesses for the Saturday meeting were Mrs. Winifred Austin, Mrs. Evelyn Stout, Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, Mrs. Esther Ruth Gibson and Mrs. Betty Tom Graham.

Book Helps Problem Readers Score

By LYNN LANGWAY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Weber, 11, was being very patient with the adults swarming around him in the Plaza Hotel.

"It's really very easy. Last year, I didn't know anything, but now I know lots," he told the educator and newsmen. "I bet you could even learn to do it."

"It was a new remedial reading book, programmed for children—or adults—who can't read at normal age levels. And its creator, Dr. Allen Calvin, had brought 10 fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students from the East Farmingdale Memorial Elementary School on Long Island to demonstrate how the readers work.

Programmed instruction—in which information is "framed" by self-tests so that students must learn what's in front of them before moving ahead—has mushroomed from two per cent of all 1961 textbook sales to 15 per cent of text sales today, Calvin said.

Calvin, the psychologist-head of the Behavioral Research Laboratories in Palo Alto, Calif., said nearly five million students will be using programmed texts by the end of the year.

His remedial readers differ from the traditional "Dick-and-Jane" primers, he said, in introducing only one vowel sound at a time. The reader learns the "a" in Jane before hitting "ran" and "abroad." "Some children can't read because we've never taught them," Calvin said. "We've never taught them the relationship between the printed symbols and the words they know."

While Calvin and 53 other adults talked about linguistics and vowel-decoding, Frank Weber and his classmates worked happily on their reading—and gave much simpler reasons for liking programmed instruction.

"It's more like a game I play by myself—it has funny pictures. And there's jets and guns and not just silly old girls and boys," Frank explained, penning an "a" into "Nan wore a w-r-m hat."

Mrs. Janet Ohler, who teaches the Farmingdale remedial reading class, said the children "love" the system. "If we have any problem," she remarked, "it's that some of the readers have too much fun, and go through too quickly to retain. It's enthusiasm, though, so I guess it's a pretty nice problem."

Knife-Fork Sandwiches
Now that the weather will be getting nippier in many areas, consider serving the hot sandwich that's eaten with a knife and fork. Yes, that's the open-face sandwich that has a barbecue-type sauce or gravy on it. It's a wonderful way to use the slivers from the roast, heated in

Leather Fashions for Around the Clock

ANGOLA LEATHER, because it is supple and spot-resistant, now can be worn for all occasions, day or evening. Long white baby dress (left) by Viola Sylbert for Albert Alfus, has delicate eyelet cutouts on the sleeves

NEW YORK (NEA) — Leather lends itself to round-the-clock fashion this season because imaginative designers and hem. Anne Klein of Mallory does the V-necked pull-over and matching belted pants (center) in black or boot brown. Coat (right) by Highlander, is wrap-tied leather with luxurious collar of flattering silver fox.

You'll find full-length coats, lined in Paisley and collared in Argentine lamb. There are even coats trimmed with lavish silver fox in wrapped, belted styles reminiscent of the 1930s.

Other long coats are in mandarin style with small notched collars and deep, hand-hiding sleeves. And, of course, there is the trench coat.

In keeping with the military influence on fashion there is a doughboy suit in boot brown, a snowy white peajacket and an Eisenhower jacket.

Colors are beautiful, especially a new deep inky navy called Blueprint.

Pants suits make the leather scene, too. One in smooth leather is sewn in narrow combination strips to make a blazer. Matching pants have a long stripe. And there are dresses, skirts and miniskirts as well.

For evening, a long, white leather gown will be a conversation piece, demurely designed with baby sleeves and scalloped cut-outs.

Always Get the Most From the Moment

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
You might as well not waste your time—

Doing something for someone else; if you do it so ungraciously that your help is resented instead of accepted with gratitude.

Taking a child on an outing as a special treat, unless you are prepared to slow down to the child's pace, instead of hurrying him along and not giving him a chance to see and do the things that really interest him.

Going along with your husband on a hunting or fishing trip in an effort to be companionable if you are going to complain that you are tired or uncomfortable or that you have had enough long before he has.

Giving advice to anyone who is always asking for advice but never takes it when it is offered.

Having a party if the only reason for it is to get rid of as many obligations as possible—a party given in that spirit is never a success.

Buying a gift for a person unless you are willing to give it enough thought to choose something that you feel quite sure the other person would like to have.

Congratulating someone on his good fortune, if you can't resist adding some remark calculated to take him down a notch.

Taking on a volunteer job you don't want and know you will only do halfheartedly.

Arguing with someone when you know very well that you will not change his opinions and that he will never change yours.

Trying to please someone with whom long association has taught you it is impossible to please.

Some things are just a waste of time and effort.

Increasing Number of Students Are Finding Need for Analyst's Council

By WILLIAM BUCKLEY
 United Press International
 SEATTLE, Wash. — It doesn't carry the same glamour with the college crowd as with the Jet Set, but students in increasing numbers are finding a need for the analyst's council.

At the University of Washington, for instance, Dr. Gordon G. Bergy says emotional problems account for more students withdrawing from school than all other health problems combined.

Bergy, director of student health, believes Washington's case is the rule, not the exception.

The university tries to meet the challenge through its student psychiatric clinic, directed by Dr. Benjamin M. Taylor.

(Taylor will not discuss specific cases, nor will he comment on University of Texas student Charles J. Whitman who revealed his urge to kill to a school psychiatrist before shooting 14 persons to death from the tower on the Austin campus last August.)

Taylor has been with the clinic 10 years. In that period he has seen use of the clinic grow at a rate surpassing the increase in enrollment which has doubled over the past decade.

The clinic handled 1,153 referrals last year. Of these, 657 were "patients" with the remainder categorized "under consultation" or similar headings.

The clinic usually is booked full by fall quarter's end, although no one goes unattended, Taylor says.

More significant than the mere increased incidence of emotional disturbance, says Taylor, is the alarming growth of "serious" mental illness.

"When I first came here," he said, "we saw mostly problems of dependence."

Students approached the clinic with difficulties of newfound dependence from parents, novel social requirements and academic demands.

"We saw a lot of kids who were simply overwhelmed. They were just seeking direction," said Taylor.

"They were looking for direct support, encouragement, reassurance. They wanted to be told, 'everything will be all right.'"

All this has changed in the span of a decade.

"Now we see more specific and severe illnesses," said the clinic's director.

"We certainly see more psychoses. And the thing that really bothers us is the increased occurrence of depression."

Taylor defines depression as a general slow-down in function, a retardation even to the point of immobilization. Persons so afflicted harbor feelings of unworthiness and inadequacy, with disruption of sleep and appetite.

He mentions one more manifestation of depression: thoughts of self-destruction.

Robert Nelson, chief psychiatric social worker for the clinic, said suicidal tendencies are very strong among young adults and Dr. Bergy cited a current study indicating suicide as the

Mr. Nunez attended LeSalle High School, Havana.  ware such as hinges, closures, handle and decorating the inside with felt, mirror, and braid.

Mrs. Price concluded the program by showing the members several beautiful purses she had made, all at different stages of completion.

Members attending were Mmes. Thelma Bray, Jim Brown, Jim Campbell, Mac Christner, Buddy Cockrell, Harbord Cox, Howard Greenlee, Marvin Jones, C. R. Killins, Ralph McKinney, Doug Mills, Jr., Don Morrison W. D. Price, Jr., Tom Snow, John Spearman, Bill Atkinson, Gene Hall and the hostess.

On student suicides at Washington, Bergy said "one or two" a year is a "fair figure."

Dean of Men Reginald D. Root says four student suicides were confirmed last year, with another recorded already this year.

Dr. Taylor said another emerging trend is mounting student resentment toward the generally-held opinion that a college education is requisite for success.

He said the clinic occasionally counsels "taking a little time out" from school for getting one's affairs in order.

Nelson said the clinic has found little connection between the academic demands of the modern high-pressure university and the growth of serious mental illness among students.

Brian Keith's Two Lives —A Family Man in Both

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Brian Keith, the gentle father of the new "Family Affair" series, is really a tough ex-Marine with a quick temper and disregard for the trappings of stardom.

He met and fell in love with actress-ballerina Judy Landon when they retired from show biz after their marriage in 1954.

They have four off-springs: Barbara, 7; Betty, 6; Mimi, 5; Rory, 4. Their home is a big old white brick Georgian mansion in Bel-Air overlooking the golf course, although Keith doesn't play golf.

It is centered in three acres of rolling grounds with oak trees and a swimming pool, a fine setting for their collection of four dogs: Keith is the master of a miniature Schnauzer, two Keeshunds, Rocky and Tiger and a marmalade named Svelty.

There are also four cats in the family and a series of raccoons, hamsters, parrots and canaries who have passed through from time to time. The head of the household once owned a string of horses, but now keeps only one with a friend in the San Fernando Valley where he rides occasionally.

The Keiths are a close-knit family and seldom entertain. They have a housekeeper, but Judy does most of the cooking. On summer weekends Brian will stir up a batch of spaghetti or barbecue spareribs.

Despite his rich wardrobe on the CBS-TV series, Keith looks around the house in blue jeans and boots, savoring his off hours. He's up at 6 every morning to go about making his show. But, like Fred MacMurray, he has a guarantee that his role in the series will be completed early in the year leaving him free to pursue motion picture parts — his first love.

He has starred in dozens of movies, including an even 10 for Walt Disney.

A favorite past time of both Judy and Brian is haunting art galleries for paintings and other bric-a-brac for Keith's circular paneled library.

Keith's mother, now 75 and living in nearby Covina, is a painter and they own several

EDWARD VILLELLA

Ballet's 'Fleeting Moments' To Be Seen on Television

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Meet Edward Villella, the ballet dancer who is able to articulate why the demanding, self-punishing art is so rewarding to its expert practitioners.

"It's the greatest life," the dark, slight and handsome star said. "To do something pure that has the feeling of truth. To be able to control your movements. To be able to dance with freedom but still controlling the freedom."

"Ballet is only moments. A painter can achieve something that he can look at for years and years, but in ballet we can achieve only fleeting moments."

Villella is not only one of the best but also one of the busiest dancers. A star of the New York City Ballet, he will be seen on CBS-TV on Dec. 9 when the Nutcracker begins a 41-performance run at the New York State Theater, and the following Sunday, Villella will be making an appearance on The Ed Sullivan Show.

"TV is a difficult medium for a dancer," he said. "You are dancing on cement. The floors are slippery, the cameras are in the way and you are dancing for a machine, but it's a great medium for anybody because it's terribly lucrative, which one must face up to."

Despite the physical and mental strain of dancing ("Given the physical attributes, dancing then becomes 75 per cent mental. You have to have brains in your muscles," he said), Villella is enthusiastic enough to maintain a vigorous schedule.

Once he gave 17 performances of "Brigadoon" at the New York City Theater, danced in seven Nutcrackers at the New York State Theater, did two television shows and helped his wife move to a new home—all in two weeks.

The father of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" is now the father of "Smoky the Bear."

Johnny Marks, who composed the Christmas classic about the reindeer whose red nose helped Santa and his sleigh get through some bad weather, has now composed an hour-long television show about the Department of the Interior's Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires Bear.

The Ballad of Smokey the Bear, an animated musical, will be seen on NBC-TV on the G-E Fantasy House on Thanksgiving, Nov. 24. Then, on Dec. 4, Marks' animated musical, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, will be repeated for the third time.

There has been a special showing of Smokey's opus for members of the President's cabinet and the Department of the Interior and their children and they all seemed happy with the show. "Every inch of the show and the score had to be approved by the government," Marks said.

A man who likes to take his time composing a song, Marks nevertheless had only three weeks to compose seven of the show's eight songs. (He had written the bouncy title song months earlier, when there was initial interest in the project.)

"But I think one song, 'Anyone Can Move a Mountain,' may be the best I have ever written," he said.

School's Open For Snake Charmers

By R. C. PANDE
United Press International
NEW DELHI (UPI) — Snake charming isn't what it used to be but in a strange "school" at Morbund, a village about 15 miles north of New Delhi, they are doing their best to keep the cult alive.

For the last 60 years, Morbund has remained the mecca of snake charmers and some 50 families of professional charmers live there now, teaching the trade to their children.

According to Anokhe Lal, the ace charmer of them all, there are more than 50,000 snake charmers in India, but the species is definitely fading out.

"There still are plenty of cobras for us to catch and train," Anokhe Lal said. "But few tourists these days are interested enough to pay to see the snake scene."

The snake charmers of Morbund rear all types of snakes—cobras (the best "dancers"), kraits, vipers, pythons. But except for the cobras, the rest are mostly kept in closed wicker baskets are showpieces.

Snake in India are sacred. On "Naag-panchami" day (literally, the birthday of the serpent king), Hindu women feed milk to snakes and offer sumptuous tips to their charmers.

When the huge brass bells tolls in the nearby open-air school for the snake charmers children, the kids make a beeline for their baskets of snakes. Some of the youngsters quickly become adept, and Pyare Lal, the school teachers — a former snake charmer — sees a great future for them.

"They may not make much money when they grow up, but they still can do well taming snakes by luring them with their flutes," Pyare Lal said.

More than 10,000 persons die of snake bites in India each year, so the charmers still have a job to do.

In "Staircase" HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Willen Heckart, an Oscar nominee for "The Bad Seed," will play a school teacher in "Up The Down Staircase."

TV NOTES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Because NBC is hustling the new "Dragnet" half-hour police series to the air — starts Jan. 5 in the 9:30 p.m. Thursday spot — the network has revised scheduling on its new "World Premiere" concept in which feature movies made especially for first showing on television will be displayed. The two-hour "World Premiere" was to have offered a new feature motion picture, "Dragnet," inspired by the video series, as its second show on Dec. 13. The sudden spotting of the series at a date so soon afterwards made use of the movie at this time impractical. Hence, "World Premiere" Dec. 13 will offer another of the new movies made by Universal Studios for NBC, "Doomsday Flight," Van Johnson and Edmond O'Brien are among its stars.

Royal Shakespeare Company of Roy Thinnos of last season's Stratford-upon-Avon for tele-gram. The idea behind the new Shakespearean productions, two in the 1967-68 season and one in 1968-69. The plays are "King Lear," "Macbeth" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Paul Scofield will have the title roles in the first two. The productions will be filmed by the Royal Shakespeare Company.

NBC has set Jan. 29 as the date for airing "The Royal Palaces," a one-hour special dealing with Britain's royal palaces and their art treasures. Television cameras had not previously been allowed in these places.

The trend toward science-fiction series on television continues. ABC will introduce another in January under the title, "The Invaders," starring

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

WE CANNOT recall ever winning anything for free. So it was a thrill to receive in the mail the big red and black embossed announcement that "You Have Won a Flash Camera" PLUS a chance to win new plastic finished aluminum siding for the old home place.

The broadside was accompanied by a picture of the flash camera we had already won and the further statement that the number of the winner of the aluminum siding "already had been drawn." Possibly it could be us, too. We kept on reading and soon learned there were some conditions to be met before the camera would be delivered and before it could be determined whether we would also win the siding.

There was a card attached bearing our very own lucky number (11652). There were seven squares opposite statements designed to show why we thought our home should be selected for the grand prize.

BY NOW, we were growing more and more disillusioned about the camera we had won. In order to qualify it was necessary to check the applicable squares (any of which put us directly on record as being in need of plastic finished aluminum siding). After filling out the card with name, address, phone number and inviting a representative of the aluminum siding firm to "please come and take a picture of my home at no cost to me"—it was discovered we had to hurry in order to get the camera we had already won. The enclosed card had to be mailed within three days to qualify. Now, visions of ever getting the camera we already had won gradually were fading like the chances of a county judge running for a third term.

BY THIS time, there was complete confusion. We started reading the announcement all over again. It said: "Your Flash Camera Will Be Delivered to You Absolutely Free—No Obligation." And right below that: "One hundred per cent financing — No Money Down, Up to 7 Years to Pay — Monthly, Quarterly, Semi-Annual or Annual Payments — Loan Insurance Available." No obligation? Not being in the market for aluminum siding at the old home place, our chief interest still was in the camera we already had won. Is there anyone in the house who can tell us how to get the camera we have already won? That is, without having it delivered by the out-of-town aluminum siding salesman who would be carrying our old signed statement that the old home place was pretty much in ruins and really needed aluminum siding? Besides that if we could get the camera already won, there would be no need for the aluminum siding man to come all the way from Oklahoma City and take a picture of our house. We could do it ourselves with the camera we had already won.

THERE HAS to be some kind of a moral to the above dissertation. Certainly there are some hometown aluminum siding firms that can do just as good or a better job. Somehow or other we get the feeling that if we mailed the card we would eventually pay for the camera we had already won.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION: Could it be possible there is an inopportune beaver in our midst?

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER: No, we cannot confirm the rumor that Sherm Lenning and Bill Craig both were bedridden with shock on Nov. 9.

IT HAD been hoped the federal government's hand would be kept cut of Pampa's proposed municipal auditorium. But the federal aid suggestion already is in the box. Bureaucratic money has an almost irresistible lure and sets itself out as a golden apple that can be yours just for the taking. It becomes even more enticing when you see a neighboring city reach out and take a big bite. It takes leaders of principled stature to turn it down. It takes leaders who are aware that grabbing for a federal grant of any kind provides one more plank in the Big Brother Take-Care-of-Everybody program that is so rapidly swallowing us up. It is not morally right to take money from people in Bangor, Me., or Fairbanks, Alaska, and use it to build an auditorium in Pampa, Texas, even though some of our money may be taken from us — legally, but wrongfully — and be used to build an auditorium in Bangor or Fairbanks. The principle of right and wrong still must be reckoned with. The people of Pampa and Gray County, with the philanthropic aid of the M. K. Brown Foundation, should be able to build their own auditorium without government subsidy. One suspects Mr. M. K. would not have subscribed to federal assistance in any form.

ADDENDUM: Interested in what's happening to you? If so, the article titled "Big Brother Is Here" in the November issue of Readers Digest is highly recommended for your reading. —DFD.

Thoughts on Thanksgiving

By MILDRED PROGAR
With the Thanksgiving holiday approaching, thoughts turn to things of tradition... family gatherings, goodwill, charity, and the traditional feast of the good things representative of the harvest.

The annual celebration established by the Pilgrims after their harrowing experience in the new world of America has become a national holiday.

These traditions are symbolic of reasons for the emotions of gratitude and thankfulness. These reasons deserve some thought. Just a little thought on the subject will uncover the greatest reason for gratitude... and one too often minimized... the ability to think!

According to Governor Bradford's account, the settlers of Plymouth Colony were literally starving to death and had to think of a way to survive. It was necessary to analyze their plight and find a solution. Each individual had to put his mind to work for his own survival... and consequently accomplish ed what could not be done as a communal group. Each drew upon the power within himself to survive.

The rest is history... history which should be carefully studied and taught by all individuals. For here was the story of life as all who would truly prosper ultimately learn it.

It was necessary to survive that individuals use their natural mental endowments to survive the rigors of the world. They had to think!

Nature endowed man with a mind capable of controlling his life and circumstances. Application of the mind — man's ability to think — gives meaning to life. At any given time, the mind is the key to all that an individual is... to himself and in relation to others. The naturally constructive mind is the questioning mind... and mind alive — seeking learning and constructively expressing. Self-expression — honesty pursued and evaluated — leads to growth in understanding, natural discrimination, freedom of choice and moral thinking! The Pilgrims proved the point... enjoyed the rewards, and held a feast of Thanksgiving... they reaped the harvest of good constructive thinking!

Two Who Switched Lanes—

Message From the Voters

(The Wall Street Journal)
Post-election attention has quite naturally centered on the resurging Republicans. But to turn the picture around, the voters were also telling something to the Democrats.

For like most elections, Tuesday's contest must be considered partly a retrospective judgment on the incumbent's performance. The incumbent party lost 47 seats in the House, three in the Senate and eight governorships. In its clearest test to date, the Great Society was not defeated, but it fared poorly.

The reason for this partial repudiation probably rests in a "vague uneasiness" sensed among the electorate by both campaigners and those who traveled with them. The mood of the public is one of disenchantment with the reigning liberal orthodoxy. Doubtless it is an overstatement, but one defeated Democratic Senatorial candidate remarked, "the words Great Society and war on poverty are anathema to everybody."

Those who wish to write off the public's mood quickly mark it as not with them. Race-baiting was clearly a losing tactic outside the deep South, and was unreliable even there. In the North, the voters may have decided that the Negro should not advance at the expense of other groups. Negro prestige at the expense of the police was at stake in the civilian review board voted down in New York City. On the other hand, by electing Edward Brooke to the Senate from Massachusetts, the voters also made it clear they wish to put no limit on advancement based on the efforts and abilities of any man.

Part of the disenchantment mood probably arises from the Great Society's specific programs. In some cases those programs have been hasty, and the public can see the resulting waste and intellectual debility. Even so, the public has generally acquiesced in them. The disenchantment apparently has roots both deeper and more diffuse.

One of the roots, we think, is the feeling that comes from being misled too often on the road to the New Jerusalem. Most voters no longer care to be told that the Government's good wishes will substitute for initiative and hard work in reform and morality. These are the rewards of thinking.

The natural growth of the individual will reveal many things to his understanding that will cause him to be thankful. The grateful attitude will be natural to his way of thinking and living. Every service performed by him or for him will be viewed with a zest for life honestly expressed.

The thinking person will recopied every extremity as an opportunity to analyze, grow and accomplish. He will appreciate the power of his own natural mental ability to solve the problems of life.

The Pilgrims proved the point... enjoyed the rewards, and held a feast of Thanksgiving... they reaped the harvest of good constructive thinking!

ducing poverty. They do not want to be told that a new law will substitute for local leadership in bringing rebirth to the cities. They have seen how such things work out, and are no longer so enthusiastic about Government as a miracle machine.

Another root of the vague uneasiness concerns simple morality, and we mean neither crime in the streets nor Bobby Baker. We mean, for one thing, that the public resents being constantly misguided about the course of its Government and its leaders. In this respect, petty lies can gall even more than significant ones.

On the topic of morality, moreover, many voters may be starting to question, consciously or otherwise, the bloc-voting coalition which propels the Democratic Party. What is the essential difference, an articulate voter might ask, between taking a bribe from a 19th century robber baron and repaying labor's campaign contributions today by trying to void right-to-work laws? And is politicians-will-be-politicians really an adequate response when a judge or ambassador is picked for his ethnic qualifications? There is some of this in all politics, but in the Democratic coalition. It is not incidental but fundamental.

A final and obvious root of disenchantment lies in the overt manifestations of the Government attempting to do too much. President Johnson has tried to win a war in Asia while repressing any undesirable consequence at home. He had seemingly convinced himself that he could have both a full-stocked economy and stable prices. In due time, though, the costs appeared in inflation, credibility problems and discouragement over Viet Nam.

The electoral setback on Nov. 8, of course, was far from harsh enough to change the liberal orthodoxy overnight. That orthodoxy, for that matter, is too institutionalized to change quickly even if Democrats lost control of Congress. Still, in Congress they will no longer stand unchallenged: the voters have demanded moderation. The results would be even more beneficial if the latest message from the voters started Great Society liberals toward an intellectual self-examination. Certainly, no reassessment will make them conservatives. It might, however, make them a little more forthright and a little less cocksure.

Hotel, Brothel Is Hideout For Cong Subversion Units

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

SAIGON (NEA) — In a report not far from here, this town was escorted to a hotel used as a meeting place by the local Viet Cong apparatus.

There was nothing outside to distinguish it from other small local hotels. It was painted the same grab colors as nearby buildings.

The first floor was used as a brothel, so that men coming and going would not be noticed as out of the ordinary.

It was a small tired-looking hotel. But the inside halls were extremely clean. It is run by a Chinese, who, strangely enough, makes no secret of his pro-Communist leanings.

The Vietnamese this reporter was with keeps in close touch with what the VC are doing. He formerly lived on the second floor of this hotel.

It was in the morning we went there, so there was no activity. The doors on the first floor were all closed. The girls were apparently sleeping. The whole hotel was quiet.

We quickly moved up the stairs past rows of ordinary hotel rooms that looked no different from other rooms in other small local hotels in South Viet Nam.

Most rooms, in fact, were occupied by Vietnamese who had no connection with the VC. The owner rents rooms on a nightly or weekly basis the same as in any other hotel. This helps give the VC a cover.

Local Vietnamese consider the hotel very safe to live in. They believe the Viet Cong will not bomb their own meeting place. Therefore, the hotel has a strong attraction for those who worry about their safety.

The hotel is less than a block away from a "pick up" corner where girls of the street wait every night for U.S. soldiers.

The roof gives an excellent view of the major road and river traffic in the area.

The stairs to the roof are narrow and easy to defend.

Anyone investigating the upper floors or the back rooms could be stopped by a bevy of screaming prostitutes. This would give time for the VC to get away in safety, either through a neighboring building or out the back, depending on how tight the police net.

Communists in South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand locate their meeting points and headquarters in busy places, such as restaurants, hotels, brothels, bath houses, where it is normal for many men or women to come and go.

Otherwise the party's activities would attract undue attention.

The man who appears to be the chief Viet Cong agent here is stocky with a striking face in which the bones stand out prominently.

He dresses in brown robes that look like the robes of a monk or priest. But he is neither. He wears his hair long.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge is one of the world's few perpetual painting jobs. A crew of workmen are kept busy five days a week covering the 10 million square feet of the surface of the giant span. On a good day they may cover only 400 square feet, but they take great pride in giving the bridge its bright beauty. We learned the Automobile Legal Association, which is now nationwide, was founded in 1907 in Boston when a motorist was nabbed in a speed trap there for exceeding eight miles an hour. He took the matter to the highest court and won and then sponsored legislation to have all traffic fines paid to the state instead of the cities and towns.

Today's smile: A wealthy father, administering his son, said: "When I was your age I delivered morning newspapers for $5 a week." The son replied: "Gee Dad, I'm glad you did, because if it hadn't been for your perseverance and hard work I'd probably be doing that now."

This may not be the season for it in most parts of the country, but the cost of building home swimming pools is going down because of better construction techniques. And, builders say that within the next few years they will be the major additions to any American home. Costs today generally run from $1500 to $6000. The Do-It-Yourself addicts have a new gadget. It's a sawing rod that fits into any hacksaw frame and cuts materials that formerly had to be cut with special tools or diamond-tipped blades. The new tool has an abrasive surface made from hundreds of tungsten carbide particles that slice through glass, tile or tool steel.

Thoughts while shaving: You are really getting along if you can remember when Walt Disney called his prize rodent creation "Mortimer Mouse." But despite the name, Disney really built a better mouse and the erstwhile Mortimer has gained immortality as the lovable "Mickey." And, speaking of Hollywood, we once knew a film actress there who kept her figure by spilling four boxes of wooden matches on the floor every morning upon arising and then picking them up one at a time. We figured she did about 400 bending exercises in the process. The TV ads would have you believe that everyone desires bright shiny teeth. Yet there are millions in other climes than the U.S. who think it is fashionable to darken their teeth. That is particularly true of many of the Pacific islanders. They accomplish it by chewing betel nuts. If your boy tells you he'd like to grow up and become an oenologist, don't panic. He simply means he would like to be an expert on wines. So would we. The Denver (Colo.) POST headlined a story: "President's Barber Has Sheer Influence." He's the only guy in the country who can clip LBJ and get away with it.

Country Editor speaking:

"The youngsters say they are learning the new math but they keep bringing home the old marks."

ADA RADICALISM
Most of the talk about "extremism" still seems to revolve around groups and ideas called "right-wing," but a new booklet published by the American for Democratic Action (ADA) reveals the full face of radicalism on the far left.

The ADA is not isolated, insignificant group, but an influential, effective farleft organization whose members have for many years held high positions in our government. One of them is now vice-president of the United States.

Assuredly the ADA has to be taken seriously, and the radicalism of its recent statements will astonish all not thoroughly familiar with its past record.

According to its recently published booklet, the ADA wants to stop our bombing of North Vietnam immediately, without waiting for any concessions or withdrawal by the communist

Recent Break-Up of Russian Satellites over U.S. Called TEEST-OF Satellites' Bomb Delivery Potential

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is nothing accidental about the recent breakup of Russian satellites over the U.S.

Their shattering into a number of pieces was a carefully planned and controlled Soviet military-space experiment.

While intelligence authorities are still piecing together information on the sinister military implications of these Soviet tests, the North American Air Defense Command already has significant data indicating that Russia has scored a new nuclear-space breakthrough.

The development of MIRV — multi-warhead independent revolving vehicle — is strongly indicated in the Soviets' experiments, according to this analysis.

In non-technical terms, the Russians apparently have succeeded in separating inflight at a pre-determined time and location a "cluster of satellites," each capable of carrying a nuclear warhead.

Such a menacing accomplishment would enable the Soviet to launch a satellite set to reach a certain point over the U.S. and then direct nuclear bombs at targets across the country from New York to California.

Indicative of the range and danger of this possibility is the fact that fragments of the two splintered satellites were found in New York City, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Miami, Chicago, Omaha, San Francisco and Houston.

MORE SOVIET TESTS — These dire Russian experiments are only part of the Reds' satellite testing over the U.S. that is being intently followed.

The North American Air Defense Command and other space-tracking exercises have intercepted two-way radio transmissions via a large Soviet communications satellite now orbiting over the U.S.

These coded messages are believed to be transmitted by "illegals" — Soviet agents — operating in the U.S., Canada and Mexico.

These "illegals," who usually use couriers or short-wave radio to transmit information, are believed to be testing the use of satellites as a speedier and safer method of contacting the "Center," as their headquarters on the outskirts of Moscow is termed.

As a result of information given by Colonel Oleg Penkovsky, the Russian intelligence officer who worked for the U.S. until apprehended and executed, Pentagon and other authorities have been on the alert for the possible use of satellites for this purpose since 1962.

One Penkovsky report disclosed that a special room was set up in the Moscow headquarters of the GRU — military intelligence organization — to handle the satellite messages from agents in foreign countries.

The new espionage communication system was considered so promising by Kremlin leaders that General V. S. Sokolov, chief of strategic intelligence, was made head of it.

CHANGING COURSE — In addition to these satellite experiments, the Soviet has also in the past six months succeeded in altering the trajectory of an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) after it was launched over the Pacific.

Members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committee aggressors. The ADA "condemns as outrageous" the American intervention in the Dominican Republic last year which unquestionably saved that country from Communism.

Despite the Vietnam war, despite the recent horrors of the Red Guard, this latest ADA statement calls again for the diplomatic recognition of the Peking Government, admission of Red China into the United Nations, and unrestricted trade and travel to Red China. The ADA also recommends trade in so-called "non-strategic goods" with Castro's Cuba.

Domestically, the ADA is now on record in support of the fantastic idea of a "guaranteed income" for everyone, with or without work, at the level of $4,000 a year. The ADA wants all welfare programs administered and paid for by the federal government and federally enforced national standards in primary and secondary education.

tees, briefed on this new Russian missile development, were told it could nullify proposed U.S. anti-missile missile defenses. The operation of these weapons is now based on calculation of the normal curve of their trajectory.

"If this report is correct, and I have no reason to question it," said Representative L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, "then Russia has achieved a major missile breakthrough. We aren't even experimenting in this field."

NUCLEAR FLASHES — Red China's military strength is one of the main factors in discussions inside the Johnson Administration over intensifying the war in South Viet Nam. The President has asked the joint chiefs of staff for a new estimate of China's air power within a 200-mile radius of the joint border with North Viet Nam. . . . The Joint Congressional atomic Committee is making a study to ascertain if the recent nuclear explosion in Russia was underground. Preliminary reports indicate the amount of released radioactive materials approximately that of previous above-ground detonations. . . . Senator Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., member of the Armed Services Committee, contends that differences between Defense Secretary McNamara and the committee over putting the Nike-X anti-missile missile into production are basically clashes between theorists on the intentions of Russia and those who rely on known facts about the missile's capabilities. Thurmond asserts that McNamara, in testimony before the committee, opposed development of an anti-missile nuclear system on the ground nuclear warfare is as unthinkable for Russia as it is for the U.S. But Thurmond and other committee members are convinced the Soviet would risk a nuclear attack if it believed it could destroy this country's military might.

Editor: Having lived in Pampa for nearly a year, I have come to the conclusion that the local citizens are most friendly; generous, polite and helpful to their fellowmen until they get behind the wheel of a car and there they come on like "Gang Busters."

The rear-view mirror is for adjusting the hat or hair-do. A hand signal is strictly for drying nail polish and a redlight means "go" and to heck with the driver who has the right-of-way. A left turn from the right hand lane means they need new fenders and a paint job. The pedestrian runs for his life and a dog hasn't a chance.

I always drive for the other fellow as well as myself. But some of the tricks these Pampa drivers pull are beyond my expectations.

The D.W.I. gets arrested. But it's the cold sober ones who are guilty of these errors. There are a number of ways to correct these poor driving habits:

1. Publish the do's and don'ts for good driving.
 2. Attend the forthcoming driving school and pay attention.
 3. Pass a local law permitting citizens to make arrests.
- If the law is short-handed or short-sighted let the citizens arrest each other and invoke a fine in local court. A fine is much easier to pay than a funeral.
