Mekong Delta May Be New Troop Target

SAIGON (UPI) — The vanguard of the crack U.S. 9th Infantry Division landed in South Vietnam today, possibly to open a whole new chapter in the war by becoming the first American ground troops to challenge the Communists in their Mekong Delta stronghold.

American officials refused to comment on where the new troops would be stationed. But there was persistent speculation the division was headed for the rice-rich delta, the only area in the country without major American ground forces and one into which officials have said U.S. troops would soon go.

Carubbi to Get Executive Post On Martir Staff

AUSTIN — A. J. Carubbi of Austin, former Pampan, will be named to fill the newly-created post of staff legal assistant to the Texas attorney general next month when Crawford Martin assumes the office of attorney general, Martin announced here today.

The new post will be established to provide a staff attorney on the executive level who will be responsible to the attorney general for directing and supervising the complex and diversified legal operations of the department, Martin said.

"The state, and in particular the attorney general, will be fortunate to have the benefit of Mr. Carubbi's exceptional ability to work productively with others," Martin said.

Carubbi has been in Austin on a post on Attorney General Wagner Carr's staff after eight years of law practice in Pampa where he was senior partner in the law firm of Carubbi, Warner and Jeter.

Carubbi was graduated from Notre Dame with a PH.D. degree in accounting in 1952. Following the Army he continued his education at the University of Texas and received his law degree there in 1958.

Long active in civic affairs, Carubbi served as state president of Texas Jaycees last year. Under his leadership, the state Jaycees set up the partnership of Alliance Program for Peru and instituted a program in cooperation with the Texas Tourist Development Agency and the Texas Youth Council.

Romney Wonders Whether Johnson Will Run in '68

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Michigan Gov. George W. Romney is "beginning to wonder" whether President Johnson might decide not to run for re-election in 1968.

Romney, the leading current possibility for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, said his own decision whether to run for the White House would not depend on Johnson's plans in any case.

He made the statement during a television interview (Issues and Answers—ABC). As usual, Romney insisted he had not made up his mind about running and did not know how long it would take him to decide.

The question whether Johnson would run for a second full term—until recently considered a foregone conclusion—was raised in wake of a blunt suggestion by a Democratic governor that the President might do well to step aside.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri climaxed a round of criticism of Johnson by Democratic governors last Friday at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with the comment that "I would be less than honest to say we might not be better off with someone else" in 1968 if administration policies were not changed.

If taken literally, he contended, the standard would call for redesign and retooling of the floor structure, which would not be practical until the 1969 models. And he said that even so, there would be no improvement in real safety.

"It has been said that I have broken faith with Mrs. Kennedy; that I took advantage of her confidence in me and that I recorded too faithfully her words and emotions. I do not believe this to be so."

A car driven by Annis Hershel Sanchez of Pampa and one driven by Duane Harold Taylor of Cheyenne, Okla., were in collision at the intersection of Starkweather and Francis shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday, according to an accident report.

Police said the Sanchez car sustained $180 damages with the Taylor car incurring $120 damages.

Russia Exploiting, Hussein Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jordan's King Hussein today charged Russia with opening a campaign to disrupt and take over the oil-rich Middle East.

In a copyright interview with U.S. News & World Report, the young Arab ruler said, "I believe there is a new Soviet policy, and that this policy aims at control of the area."

King Hussein said the Middle East is important to the Russians "because they have suffered so many setbacks in the rest of the world—in Africa, in Asia. They also have a great deal invested here."

the king, whose country has been troubled with border incursions from Syria, said the Arab world is being inflicted with "divisions and gaps which can be exploited by the Soviets and by communism in general."

Across the Middle East from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean there has been increasing trouble, including the pipeline crossing its territory from Iran in an effort to force Anglo-American and French users to pay higher fees.

Russia and East European countries are also becoming increasingly important customers for Middle Eastern oil products. The Soviets in return for natural gas, have agreed to finance a steel mill in Iran.

Hussein said he believed that the Russians "are prepared to go very far in this matter (of extending their influence)—almost to the point of a confrontation with the Free World."

LBJ Says Five Per Cent Tax Increase Needed

WASHINGTON — President Johnson will ask the new Congress for an across the board tax increase "in the neighborhood of five per cent."

This boost will be sought for both individual and corporation taxes.

That is what the President has told the Democratic chairmen of the two tax-writing committees... Representative Wilbur Mills, Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Senator Russell Long, La., of the Senate Finance Committee.

In an unannounced White House meeting that lasted nearly five hours on Tuesday, December 13, the President informed the two legislators, "Defense spending is rising so sharply that a tax increase is absolutely necessary."

While indicating the exact amount is still under discussion, the President did say, "It will be in the neighborhood of five per cent."

Long and Mills were advised that projected defense spending for the fiscal year beginning next July will run at $77 billion—the highest rate since World War II. This will be about $10 billion above the current fiscal year.

Because of the soaring cost of the Vietnam war, the President reported he will send two supplemental appropriation bills to Congress in the next six months. The first will be for $9.7 billion and will go to Congress in January. The second will total $5 billion and be submitted in the spring.

Following the White House meeting, Representative Mills told members of his committee that the President had warned him and Senator Long that without a tax boost the government faces a $15 billion deficit in 1967. The contemplated hike would cut this deficit by more than 50 per cent.

HANOVER, N. J. — Methods of preventing bronchial asthma, an incurable disease of unknown origin, by detection and treatment in early life need no longer be a mystery to the physician, according to a report by a leading pediatrician in the November issue of The Physician's Panorama.

The author, Gifford M. Tepper, MD, assistant professor of pediatrics at Albany Medical College, points out that allergic diseases, of which asthma is the most common, are inherited in families.

Wherever the hereditary factor is identified, Dr. Tepper urges that the physician regard any infant suffering frequent colds, sniffles, and earache, as a candidate for bronchial asthma.

Once the probability of asthma is recognized in an infant, the mother can be educated to remove from the diet allergenic foods and from the household environment offending substances such as feathers, dog hairs and dust, Dr. Tepper explains. In discussing the preventive approach, Dr. Tepper places a great emphasis on co-operation between the physician and the mother:

"What we are doing here is educating the mother for the long pull. We are teaching her attitudes. This is more important than whether or not pleasurable is tolerated. Each month we give an additional list of foods.

"By such technique, we postpone the early introduction of such foods as wheat, eggs and citrus fruits. Nutrition is easily balanced.

"The mother is educated in the ever-changing ways of our food industry. Mixtures galore abound in the market. For instance, jarred bananas contain orange juice and most pear products contain lemon juice. You will find it in fine print at the bottom of the jar."

As early as the first six months of life the predisposed infant, Dr. Tepper finds, becomes sensitive to house dust, animal danders, molds and pollens — important agents in the onset of the respiratory allergies that lead to asthma. In this area mother education is equally vital, he notes.

Of all tell-tale signs of the pre-asthmatic condition, family history is the most important, Dr. Tepper says, and he reports that 50 per cent of children from marriages where one male is allergic will show allergies in the first 6 years and this percentage rises to 75 when both mother and father are allergic.

Peace Corps Trouble Rumored in Istanbul

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reports the Peace Corps was about to be kicked out of its second country in a month were denied here in Washington Saturday.

A Peace Corps spokesman said there was nothing to reports from Istanbul that the Turkish government has asked the United States to withdraw its 445 Corps volunteers from that country.

"On the contrary," the spokesman said, "our relations with Turkey have been very good. We have just completed negotiations for 215 new volunteers to be sent there next fall."

The Guinean incident was the first time the Peace Corps had been ordered out of a country although volunteers have been withdrawn from Ceylon, Indonesia and Cyprus by mutual agreement with the countries involved.

The Istanbul reports quoted a foreign office spokesman as saying that Turkey had asked the recall of the Peace Corpsmen because their presence there was "incon-

For Adventure or Look at Sin, It's Macao, Not Hong Kong

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
If in Hong Kong, and one seeks a certain amount of adventure or a close-up look at sin, it is common to take the ferry across the Pearl River estuary to Macao, 30 miles away.

If in a hurry, one even may cross by speedboat supplied by one of Macao's gambling casinos. If he is a user, he may even get a pipelod of opium for six cents or less.

Macao is a bulging Chinese city of more than a third of a million people, with the Chinese population outnumbering Europeans by more than 100 to 1. But it is owned by Portugal and is counted as one of its overseas provinces.

The Portuguese took possession in 1557, making Macao the oldest European settlement in China.

Between Portuguese Macao and the British crown colony of Hong Kong there is much in common.

Last Western Ho-

Between them they are the last remnants of Western colonialism on the China coast. China ceded Hong Kong to Britain in 1842 at the close of the first "opium war." And, as the great European power led by Britain and Czarist Russia imposed their wills on the crumbling Manchu dynasty through the next 60 years, the Chinese granted formal recognition to Portuguese claims on Macao in 1887.

Today, both cities teem with refugees from Red China. Macao's 100,000 are outnumbered only by those in Hong Kong.

Both cities exist only on sufferance of Red China which frequently reminds the British, the Portuguese and the Russians that the "unjust" treaties imposed after the Opium Wars someday will be rewritten.

For the Portuguese, at least, today, its biggest industry is the manufacture of fireworks, there is not much reason left for Macao.

Macao prospered for more than two centuries after the Portuguese took over. It became a leading port for Chinese foreign trade.

Lost Prestige
But gradually Macao fell upon evil days.

The harbor silted up and Hong Kong took over most of its commerce.

Today, its biggest industry is the manufacture of fireworks, of which about $1 million annually are sold in the United States. High up among its other activities are gambling, smuggling and the cloak-and-dagger operations of agents of both Red and Nationalist China.

And from the Red Chinese it has received another chill reminder that it lives only by the mercy of Red China.

Under threat of action from regular Red Chinese troops and gunboats and by the boisterous young "Red Guards" who seem to have taken over most of the mainland, the Portuguese governor has agreed to what amounts to a humiliating surrender of real authority. Henceforth, he will be taking orders from the Red Chinese.

And the British might well fear that as Macao goes, so goes Hong Kong.

By passing a beam of sunlight through a prism, Sir Isaac Newton showed that white light is a combination of the seven colors of the rainbow.

PROTEST VIETNAM

LONDON (UPI) — About 400 youths paraded through crowded central London Sunday in a peaceful anti-Vietnam demonstration.

They marched from the famed "speakers corner" of Hyde Park about a mile to the U.S. Embassy in Grosvenor Square where five of them handed a letter of protest to the embassy duty officer.

6 50TH YEAR

Dear Abby... Ten Commandments For Today's Wives

DEAR ABBY: Now that Christmas is nearly here, I want to air something that has irritated me for a long time. It's people who don't send Christmas gifts anymore. Instead they send you a tacky card informing you that "a gift in your name" has been sent to their favorite charity. That way they don't have to bother shopping for Christmas gifts, and all their "gifts" are listed as a deductible expense on their tax return. Pretty cute, if you ask me.

"WISE" IN NEW HAVEN
DEAR WISE: Sorry, but I disagree. I think one of the more civilized practices of recent years is donating to charity instead of sending extravagant gifts to people who already have more than they need.

Knowing that a contribution to a worthy cause had been made in my name would be "gift" enough for me. He who takes but never gives may last for years, but never lives.

DEAR ABBY: Seven years ago I did a terrible thing. I had an affair with a man. His wife sued him for divorce, but they went back together again.

My wonderful husband forgave me, and we moved out of town. I have found God now and am leading a good life.

I am a teacher's aid at school. When school started last fall I found out that the wife of the man I had the affair with is our student counselor. She can ruin my whole life by telling the other teachers about my past.

Should we move again? The dear Lord knows I have suffered enough for my sins. I am getting very nervous over this. Please answer soon.

DESPERATE
DAR DESPERATE: Hands off the panic button. Stay where you are for the present. In all probability she will not disclose your past because of her husband's role in it. Forget it and continue to lead the good life.

DEAR ABBY: We have some friends whose teenaged son was killed recently. Wanting to be of some help, I fried three chickens, wrapped them in aluminum foil and sent them to their home in a large cardboard box. I thought that poor mother had enough on her mind without worrying about returning a fancy platter or tray.

A friend told me that I should not have sent the chicken over that way — that it looked like I didn't "trust" the family to return my platter. Was I wrong?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: In my book you were extremely considerate to have sent the chicken in a disposable container. (Others could learn from you.) But I am wondering what kind of "friend" would be so unkind as to plant such a preposterous notion in your mind?

CONFIDENTIAL TO PAMELA P. — Wherever you are. Please contact your mother to let her know that you are well. She is sick with worry. No questions will be asked.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Highland Baptist Circle Meetings

WMC circles of the Highland Baptist Church observed the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions with four morning meetings and one evening meeting during the week of December 5-9.

MIKE LOPEZ CIRCLE met on Monday, Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Everett Cole for a business meeting and candle light dinner. Mrs. M.A. Powell read the Call to Prayer and offered the prayer for missionaries with birthdays.

The next meeting will be held on Jan. 9 at the home of Mrs. J. D. Ellis for a Royal Service Program.

Those attending were Mmes. Bob Hudson, M. A. Powell, Morris Belote, Buddy Jones, C. R. Bridges, Everett Cole and Richard Harrel.

ALTA LEE LOVEGREN CIRCLE met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. John A. Dawes, 1128 S. Sumner, for a circle program and covered-dish luncheon. The call to Prayer was read by Mrs. Carl Laffin, and the prayer for the missionaries was offered by Mrs. Jack Boyd. The December program "Medical Missions in Jordan, Gaza and Yemen" was led by Mrs. Laffin with Mmes. Dawes, Boyd, William T. Fain and Ray W. Jackson participating. Closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Dawes.

Five members and two visitors, Mrs. Bob Hudson and Mrs. Andy Webb, attended. The mission book for the October - November - December quarter, "Beneath the Himalayas," was taught by Mrs. Morris Belote to the combined circles of the WMC recently in a morning session.

To Go With
For holiday eating, try cheesy snacks. Prepare 6 prebaked frozen waffle sections in toaster or oven as label directs. Place on cookie sheet. Top each waffle section with a slice of American cheese and 1 teaspoon sweet pickle relish. Broil until cheese is melted, about 2 to 3 minutes. Cut waffles in half lengthwise. Serve hot. Makes 12 small snacks.

Never use nail polish remover to take off nail polish spills from rugs and carpets, remind Pennsylvania State University home economics extension specialists. The remover may dissolve the fibers leaving holes in the rug. Use a safe and simple solvent.

NOW YOU CAN MATCH HAIRSPRAY to the fragrance you're wearing. Capillaque (left) is beautifully scented in fragrances to match Guerlain's five great classics. In addition it gives the hair a lovely sheen while holding it firmly in place. Also just in time for the graceful gift demands of the holiday season (right), is a scent inspired by today's woman. This is the blend that embodies every nuance of the elusive magic that makes for a great perfume.

The first automatic gas water heater was made in 1889. Jack rabbits can take 20-foot leaps and run 45 miles an hour. The gas incinerator was first developed in 1909.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. G. J. BOYD
Many troops are planning

Christmas caroling as part of their troop activities this year. The largest caroling group being planned by Cadette troops for Dec. 22. Two previous planning meetings have found troops represented by two elected members of each troop making complete arrangements for the caroling. Each troop will have a different responsibility such as transportation, refreshments, hostess, clean-up, decorations, etc.

On Dec. 22, the girls will meet at the Little House, divide into groups and go caroling. Afterward the girls will again meet at the Little House for refreshments and more singing. The event has been planned and will be carried out by the girls themselves, under the supervision of Mrs. Richard Stowers, Cadette adviser for this event.

Girls eligible to be Cadettes, seventh, eighth and ninth graders, have the opportunity to meet new and challenging situations and to share their skills with new and younger Girl Scouts. The Cadette level of Scouting enables and encourages the girls to do more planning on their own and to be responsible citizens of their community.

The Girl Scouts of Pampa acknowledges, with sincere thanks, the help of all those responsible for the United Fund, with special mention going to John McCausland, chairman for the Girl Scout division. Much, much time and effort goes into obtaining the goal for this Fund representing so many agencies. Our thanks to all the workers and contributors, they have helped make it possible for many Girl Scouts to enjoy opportunities and activities through Scouting.

It is important for leaders to return the calendar proceeds to their neighborhood calendar chairman... deadline for this has passed. Troop-Christmas activities and personal Christmas shopping has evidently caused a few leaders to overlook the calendar sales deadline.

The Girl Scout office will be closed Dec. 19 through Dec. 26 to allow a Christmas vacation for the staff. Leaders are asked to attend to all business with professional and office staff before this date or wait until Dec. 27.

THE POEM "I Left the Dishes in the Sink" published in the Dec. - Jan. Bulletin could well be the epitaph of every devoted Scout leader. It sums up the deep satisfaction one feels in being a part of youth today. You may be sure while working with these girls, you will never grow "old". After some meetings you may feel exhausted, tired-out or perhaps relieved but never "old".

Musical Program Enjoyed by Club

The Pampa Business and Professional Club met in City Club Room on Dec. 13. Mrs. Virginia McDonald, club president presided.

The program was under the leadership of Mrs. Marguerite Nash and Mrs. Janice Meyers chairmen of the welfare and cheer committee of the club.

The members were entertained by several vocal selections by the grandchildren of Mrs. Meyers which included, Dawn, Julie, Pete, Lesa, Kelly and Terri Meyers.

Refreshments were served from a gaily decorated table in the Christmas theme.

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

Black power has arrived in the United Nations—big, bold and belligerent. It is on a take-over course whose end results must be awaited in apprehension.

On the international stage, black power has achieved much more than in national areas. But strangely enough, black power in the United Nations gets much of its muscle from black power in the United States. The Negro vote in U.S. ghettos is sufficient to require that the Johnson administration adjust its African policies to Negro aspirations.

So it is that the United States finds itself on the firing line in support of an economic boycott order against Rhodesia. The United States is acting in the United Nations in concert with Great Britain to penalize Rhodesia. Their preposterous complaint is that Rhodesia's year-old rejection of colonial status within the British empire is a threat to world peace, a breach of the peace or simply an act of aggression.

The U.N. Security Council has ordered economic sanctions against Rhodesia, an order supported by all of the big powers. These penalties would forbid member nations to export certain goods to Rhodesia but not oil. To have prohibited the export of oil to Rhodesia would have wrecked British trade relations with the Republic of South Africa. This would be an irreparable disaster for socialist Britain.

If the South Africans refuse to abide by export restrictions on oil or other goods, there could come in South Africa a war in which the United States has voted itself a standing invitation. President Johnson presumably would need congressional approval for U.S. participation in a South African war. Or WOULD HE?

The United Nations with Great Britain and the United States in the driver's seat are on a collision course with reality. To the north, northwest and northeast of Rhodesia and the Republic of South Africa the great dark continent is mostly an area of political chaos.

Rhodesia is a stable area. The United States and Great Britain have voted to topple the stable, white, minority government of Rhodesia which almost inevitably would extend the political chaos into that area. This would be accomplished by handing Rhodesia over to the unfit black African majority.

In other colonial areas where black Africa has supplanted white colonial rule, the Africans have demonstrated their inability to comprehend, much less to apply, the principles of democracy to which their freedom was dedicated. Anything more complicated than a primitive tribal organization appears to be too much for the majority of African natives to understand.

Black power will have its way with the United Nations, however. Rhodesia will be hanged after a fair trial. How fair was indicated last week when the peace-loving Zambian Ambassador to the United Nations denounced the proposed economic sanctions against Rhodesia as worthless unless they covered oil.

This peace lover told the United Nations that his government was doing its utmost to inflame Rhodesia's four million black Africans in an effort to create riotous conditions inside Rhodesia so that the British would be compelled to intervene with force. Who needs Rhodesia to menace world peace or to commit aggression, when there is handy-by the peace loving Zambian government?

Indiana Gas Truck Blast Kills Five

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A gasoline truck crashed in heavy rush hour traffic today, splashing flaming gasoline over several automobiles. Police said five persons perished in the flames.

Fingers of flame spread over the crash area and one witness said it was as though a napalm bomb had blasted the neighborhood. Flames shot 50 feet into the air. The crash occurred on the city's northeast side just across the street from St. Andrew's Catholic Church and school.

Police said they had not determined how the accident occurred. Sol R. Petruzzi told reporters he had just let his two children out of his station wagon at the school when the truck jackknifed, overturned and exploded.

Two Americans Plead Guilty To Currency Crime

LENINGRAD (UPI) — Two young Americans who celebrated their discharge from Army service by touring Russia pleaded guilty before a Soviet court today to charges of currency violations. They could be sent to jail for eight years.

Buel Ray Wortham, 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., pleaded "guilty" to the charges that he exchanged U.S. dollars for Russian rubles on the Leningrad blackmarket and stole an antique bear statuette from a Leningrad hotel room.

Craddock M. Gilmour, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah, also pleaded "guilty" to the currency violation charge which is punishable by an eight-year jail term.

Wortham could receive an additional three years on the theft charge.

Street Corner Transactions — The Americans made their pleas after prosecutor Alexander P. Borodankov finished his opening statement in which he charged that Wortham acting with Gilmour's knowledge and uneasy consent made three separate currency exchanges with Leningrad residents they met on the streets.

He accused both men of acting from "mercenary motives."

Gilmour earlier had pleaded not guilty to the indictment when it was presented to him after his two month interrogation. His admission of guilt this morning came as a surprise.

Both men were nervous but subdued as they stood and made their pleas. Wortham was first and whispered in an almost inaudible voice, "guilty" to the theft and currency charges.

Qualifies Answer — Gilmour faced the three-member Soviet court and responded in a loud, high voice, "guilty" — but only to the amount of twenty dollars.

The indictment accused both men of exchanging about $76 dollars in American and Finnish currency.

DOGS OBJECT — Ron Butfield, local inspector for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has outlined his Christmas tips for dog owners:

— Don't laugh at your pets. "It may be amusing for you to stick a funny hat on a dog's head — but they hate being made to look stupid."

— Don't give them over-rich squeaking toys "unless you want your pet to squeak for about four months afterwards."

— Don't give them over-rich food.

DOESN'T PAY — Fred Barth, 46, arrived home Saturday and found a message asking him to come to police headquarters.

In the spirit of citizen cooperation, Barth complied. He was charged with staging a $450 robbery and jailed when he said he could not raise the $25,000 bail.

Texas Retail Sales Topping Those of '65

AUSTIN (UPI) — The heavy Christmas shopping crowds are expected to push Texas' retail sales total to at least $16.2 billion for 1966, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The University of Texas-sponsored bureau said retail sales are running 7 per cent ahead of 1965 through the first 11 months, and Christmas crowds are reported running at least as heavy as last year, when a $1.6 billion monthly rate was reached.

"If December's sales are only as good as the average for the first 11 months for which data are complete, retail sales for the state will total roughly $16.2 billion," the bureau said.

"This figure would reflect an $0.8 billion or 5 per cent increase over the 1965 total."

However, the bureau said the month is expected to surpass the 11-month average and probably will set an all-time high for December.

The largest increase over year-ago figures is in the non-durable goods, where 1966 sales are 10 per cent ahead of the first 11 months last year. Durable goods sales are 4 per cent over last year's pace.

per cent from October, with the drop blamed on durable goods.

Accidents Raise State Weekend Death Count

By United Press International
The slaying of an elderly San Antonio woman and two multiple — fatality accidents in the Houston area Friday night sent Texas' violent death toll climbing this weekend.

A United Press International count that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday showed at least 35 persons died violently in the state. Of these, 26 persons died in traffic accidents.

The nude body of Mrs. Violet Rowland, 73, was found in her San Antonio home Sunday by her 27-year-old grandson, Jack Elliott.

Sunday's violent deaths included: Oscar Lee Ellis, 32, was shot to death in front of a Dallas tavern. Another man was critically wounded.

A one-car accident on U. S. 181 near Saint Paul killed Delia E. Martinez, 25, of Beeville.

A Kingsville Naval Air Station serviceman was killed and another injured when their car overturned one mile east of Kingsville. The victim was Mechanist Mate 2nd class Thomas J. Gaub.

Dee Maldonado, 47, died in a one-car accident on U. S. 283 near Lampasas.

Another one-car accident near El Paso killed one man and injured a woman. The victim was Alfredo R. Chavez, 22, of El Paso.

James Miller Davis, 44, of Dallas was killed early Sunday morning when his car hit an underpass support in the fog near Rowlett.

Two cars collided west of Gonzales, killing Carson Michael Fussell, 22.

Mary Elna Hernandez, 18, died Sunday morning from injuries she received when hit by a car Saturday night as she crossed a street in San Antonio.

Rhodesia May Be Settling Crisis

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith has contacted the Australian government with a proposal believed an attempt to settle the crisis over the rebellious colony before mandatory United Nations sanctions against it come into force, officials said here today.

The officials confirmed a proposal from Smith had been received in this Australian capital. Its contents were not disclosed.

Confirmation of the proposal followed widely circulated reports Smith had cabled Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt and New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake asking them to take a hand in attempting to settle the dispute.

Reports in the Rhodesia capital of Salisbury over the weekend — not officially confirmed — said Smith had asked Holt and Holyoake to nominate members for a proposed royal commission which would sample Rhodesian public opinion on constitutional terms acceptable to the people as a whole.

Many Rhodesian officials felt such a step, coupled with acceptance of eventual African majority rule which Smith already has pledged without setting a date, would clear all but legalistic stumbling blocks from agreement with Britain.

Wage increases are a built-in part of the general rise in food prices. Taking a check-out girl in a typical San Francisco supermarket as an example, Agriculture Department economists found the hourly wage up 52 cents during a five-year period, an increase passed on to consumers in higher prices.

Booklet Describing Careers With Texas State Highway Department Now Available

AUSTIN — A new 24-page booklet describing engineering careers with the Texas Highway Department is available now.

Entitled "Engineering Opportunity and Challenge," the booklet briefly outlines the organization and functions of the Highway Department.

Aimed primarily at the soon-to-graduate engineer, the booklet tells of the benefits, advancement potential and professional attainments possible with the Department.

Noting that the Texas highway network now totals more than 67 thousand miles of highways, the booklet adds, "The Texas Highway Department is not satisfied with yesterday's accomplishments. Emphasis is on tomorrow."

New scientific and engineering techniques, the booklet says, will be important in shaping the future highways of Texas.

"But most important is the need for men — men of vision who can see and grasp the challenge of the world before them."

Copies of "Engineering Opportunity and Challenge" are available from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P.O. Box 5064, Austin, Texas, 78703.

Yale, Vassar Thinking of Going Steady

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Yale and Vassar are thinking of going steady.

The trustees of the institutions are looking into the possibility of relocating Vassar college in New Haven, the home of Yale.

Vassar officials met Friday at the women's college campus in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and agreed to accept Yale's invitation for a joint study. Yale has been traditionally an all-male institution.

Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. said he was pleased that the study had been initiated.

"If further study indicated that Yale could make a contribution to the education of women at the college level," he said, "the coordinate college approach would be preferable to any expansion of Yale to accommodate women."

Vassar president Alan Simpson described the proposal as "most imaginative and exciting. The benefits to these two distinguished institutions might be tremendous."

Three Teenagers Shot to Death

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — school football star: Michael J. Three teen-aged boys were shot to death at a drinking party Saturday night. A fourth boy fought for his life today.

The four were shot after an argument broke out during a birthday party in a remote area, police said. Police arrested four suspects.

The victims were identified as Gary Ratliff, 18, a local high school football star: Michael J. Tinsleys, 17; and Joseph F. Michaels, 17. Steven Schroeder, 16, was in critical condition in St. Louis County Hospital. All were shot in the chest with a 25 caliber pistol, police said.

Arrested in connection with the case were Richard Otis, 21, St. Louis; Daniel McNamee, 18, and two juveniles whom police refused to identify.

Landry Proud Despite Bad Game by Cowboys

NEW YORK (UPI)—In a tense, emotion-packed tableau behind closed doors, a grateful football coach told his ball players he never was more proud of them even though they had just played their worst game of the year.

The coach was Tom Landry, the players he was talking to were his Eastern Conference champion Dallas Cowboys; the place was the visitors' dressing room at Yankee Stadium and the time was Sunday afternoon after a 17-7 victory over the New York Giants before a game else was allowed in.

Ordinarily, Landry is a rather unemotional man, but somehow he managed to sound a little like a college coach as he stood in the front of the room, not far from the rubbing table, and thanked his players for the first title in Dallas' brief professional football history.

"This wasn't your best game of the year," Landry said, and some of the Cowboys laughed because they knew he was being charitable, "but it was a good one to win."

Title Already Won

Win or lose, Sunday's game with the Giants didn't matter to the Cowboys because they knew they had clinched the division title in their hotel rooms Saturday when Cleveland smothered St. Louis.

"We played terrible," grinned Landry after it was all over. "I'm not worried, though. We'll be all right for Green Bay on

New Year's Day."

That's the day the Packers and Cowboys tangle in Dallas to decide not only the NFL championship, but also who will meet Kansas City or Buffalo of the AFL in the super-duper Super Bowl game on Jan. 15 in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The Cowboys won't have to worry about any super bowl game if they look the same way against the Packers as they did against the Giants.

They won't, though. That's because Jerry Rhyme and Craig Morton shared the lunch pail at quarterback for them against the Giants. Don Meredith, given the day off for that one, will punch his time card again when the Cowboys open for business with the Packers.

Meredith Resting

The Cowboys are an entirely different club with Meredith at the controls. He didn't play against the Giants because he still was feeling some of the after-effects of a fall on the back of his head as a result of a tackle by Washington's Sam Huff a week ago.

"While we were here, we had Meredith checked at Bellevue," said Landry. "They told us he was okay but if we didn't have to use him, not to. So we didn't."

Rhyme and Morton were merely so-so although Morton rolled out spectacularly on a fourth-period bootleg and hit

Bob Hayes with a 41-yarder for the touchdown that broke a 7-7 tie.

Meredith, on the sidelines but in uniform, said it all.

"This is one game I would have loved to have played in," he said later, "but I feel much better and I'll be ready to go against Green Bay."

That should make it an altogether different team and a different ball game than the one against the Giants.

Dallas, Packers Play January 1

By United Press International

Gruff Vince Lombardi, isn't the kind of guy you'd picture as Santa Claus.

But Lombardi's Green Bay Packers, who cut the Baltimore Colts out of a shot at a million dollar jackpot last week, Sunday gave the Colts some loose change as a consolation prize.

The Packers, who were listed as underdogs and were supposed to be suffering from a let down after winning their fifth Western Division crown of the National Football League in seven years, showed Sunday that Lombardi teams don't suffer letdowns by whipping the Los Angeles Rams, 27-23. That enabled the Baltimore Colts, who beat San Francisco, 30-14, to move into the Playoff Bowl in Miami on Jan. 6 against the surprising Philadelphia Eagles, who rallied to beat the Washington Redskins, 37-28.

The Playoff Bowl is a rather meaningless contest between the second-place teams in each division that was invented for TV and the pension plans and carries a $1,200 prize for each loser.

Complains About Pay

The Rams would have gone if they hadn't lost to Green Bay but some of the Colts aren't too thrilled about playing the game.

"It's senseless to go all the way to Miami for around 500 bucks," one Colt said.

But quarterback Johnny Unitas, who threw four touchdown passes against the 49ers after fumbling last week in the final minute against Green Bay to kill the last Colt title hope, said, "this will help to pay some bills."

Meanwhile, the Packers and Eastern Division champion Dallas Cowboys, who wound up with a 17-7 victory over the New York Giants, are concerned about being the best and are looking forward to their Jan. 1 NFL title game in Dallas with the winner going to the Super Bowl in Los Angeles Jan. 15. Both teams have a shot at $23,000 a player or about a million dollars for the team.

the Eagles got the Playoff Bowl berth since the Browns went more recently.

Cowboys Off Day

With the title wrapped up, Dallas admittedly had a letdown against New York. "I don't think you could expect them to be up after we clinched it Saturday," pointed out Coach Tom Landry. "I'm not worried about getting them ready for Grey Bay." With the score tied 7-7 in the final period and quarterback Don Meredith sitting out the game, Craig Morton tossed a 41-yard TD pass to Bob Hayes to win it.

But Lombardi didn't expect his team to let down after winning the title and tongue-lashed his players as the "disgrace" during the week when he thought the Packers

Buffalo Eyes Pot of Gold

By United Press International

The Buffalo Bills, wise enough not to look a $25,000 gift horse in the mouth, have joined the select quartet of teams preparing to follow the pro football rainbow to that celebrated pot of gold.

The Bills, presented with a thoughtful Christmas gift by the New York Jets only the day before, wasted no time in putting it to good use Sunday when they walloped the Denver Broncos 38-21 to nail down their third consecutive Eastern Division championship in the American Football League.

An enlarged copy of a $25,000 check made out to "John Q. Buffalo Bill, NFL-AFL 1966 champions," hung in a prominent place in the Buffalo dressing room after the game as an unnecessary reminder of the money at stake in the long-awaited Super Bowl at Los Angeles on Jan. 15.

were slacking off.

Green Bay responded by winning the game by a much more impressive margin than the score sounded as the Packers held a commanding 27-9 lead in the final period. Zeke Bratkowski, filling in for injured Bart Starr, hit on 13 of 27 passes for 245 yards and a TD and Bob Jeter ran an interception back 75 yards for a score to lead the Packers. The victory gave the Packers a 12-2 record, the best in pro football this year and best since their 13-1 record in 1962.

Unitas, throwing with an arm that "hurt like a tooth ache," fired TD passes to Ray Berry, John Mackey, Jimmy Orr and Willie Richardson to lead the Colts to the easy victory over San Francisco.

The payoff has been divided into two parts. Buffalo must beat Kansas City in the AFL championship game in Buffalo on Jan. 1 and then whip the National Football League winner to cart home an estimated jackpot of $25,000 per man. The Chiefs, who clinched the Western Division title several weeks ago, defeated San Diego 27-17 and the Miami Dolphins surprised the Houston Oilers 29-28 in two other Sunday games.

Although the hurdles faced by the Bills in their drive to instant wealth are formidable, nothing can happen to rival the events of the final weekend of the season.

The Boston Patriots, needing only a victory or a tie against the Jets to wrap up the eastern crown on Saturday, implausibly blew it all by a 38-28 margin.

Miners Nip Jayhawks in OT

By United Press International

Rule 5-Section 5 of the NCAA's official basketball rules reads in part, "playing time shall be for teams of college age, two halves of 20 minutes each." But some people just never learn.

Take, for example, Kansas and Texas Western. Last March, the Miners used a nerve-racking 81-80 double-overtime win against the Jayhawks to springboard into the finals and subsequently the winner's circle in the NCAA championships.

The two teams got together for the second time in history Saturday night and again threw rule 1-section 1 to the winds as No. 2 ranked Texas Western whipped the boys from the Sunflower State, 71-67 in (what else?) overtime.

But five other teams rated in the top 10 by the United Press Intrnational coaches rating board were able to settle things in the regulation 40 minutes, though not necessarily with the expected results.

Louisville Wins

Coming out on top were fifth-ranked Louisville, which beat Dayton 96-81, North Carolina, No. 8, which bombed NYU, 93-58, and 10th-ranked Cincinnati, which crushed Western Michigan 76-48.

Among the losers, fourth-ranked Kentucky fell to Florida, 78-75, sixth-ranked Brigham Young lost to Oregon State, 92-76, and New Mexico, ranked No. 7, was nipped by New Mexico State, 62-61 in another overtime clash.

And, of course there was ninth-ranked Kansas, which had Texas Western tied at 61-all at the end of regulation play, but then fell before a hot hand-by Nemvil Shed in those crucial five extra minutes.

Shed tallied six of the Miners' 10 overtime points and finished with 15 for the night, while teammate Willie Worsley chimed in with 18 to lead the Miners.

No slouches on defense, the defending NCAA champs held Kansas' top scorer, Roger Bohnstiehl, to 12 points, nearly nine below his average.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Manipulation and Prices

With proliferating commissions, associations, panels, symposiums and other varied and assorted groupings being formed to meet, discuss and investigate the why and whereof contributing to rising prices, especially those relating to items of food we wonder how many of those involved have gone to the trouble of taking a good look at the federal government's farm program and how that program, with its tinkering with the market place and the laws of supply and demand, is sparking the inflationary spiral?

On the one hand, the governmental wizards pay farmers for keeping land out of production—rewarding them, that is, for NOT growing food—thus drastically curtailing supply, while, at the same time, shipping millions of tons of food, practically free, to support tottering socialistic governments all over the world, thus further curtailing supply at home.

The result, with supply and demand thrown out of balance, is as could have been expected by anyone with a grain of common sense. Prices, responding to the artificially created scarcity and rising demand brought on by growing population, naturally rise. There is nothing mysterious about it at all.

On the other hand, the same government, as if dimly realizing the economic disparity its actions have caused, figures it has to do something to offset the harm caused by itself. So, what does it do? Does it discontinue the practice of paying farmers for not growing food or the foreign aid program, both of which contribute to the problem?

Don't be naive. Governments don't operate that way. Instead, it resorts to further manipulation of the market place by paying farmers a parity subsidy on produce grown on the land they are permitted to farm. Thus, it hopes, one must suppose, to artificially stimulate food production to offset artificially created shortages.

Rhodesian Sanction Threat

The attempt to force Rhodesia to swing to the anarchy of "one-man, one-vote" is now headed to the United Nations. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has sent his foreign secretary to the U.N. palace in effort to put the whole weight of the international organization against the orderly government of Ian Smith in Rhodesia.

If the U.N. joins with Britain in attempting to enforce sanctions against Rhodesia—and indications are that such action will be taken—it will mean that the U.N. has clearly gone on record as opposing independence for people with orderly government and in favoring independence for those who are disorderly, like the Congo.

Rhodesia says Wilson demanded "the unconditional and absolute surrender" of Rhodesia on four main counts:
—Control of the Rhodesian government.
—Control of all government police and law and order.
—Control of all government executive services including the civil service.
—Control of the national budget.

Obviously the Rhodesians, who declared their independence to Britain a year ago, are not going to bow to any such controls over them. And it appears that South Africa will continue to support their neighboring nation.

The big objective of Britain and the members of the Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. has been to require that Rhodesia grant the vote to all persons regardless of their ability to read and write or regardless of their evidence of ability to be self-responsible—a version of the one-man, one-vote idea.

Clever, These Chinese

A delegation of Russians representing the Soviet-Chinese Friendship Society visited China a few weeks ago to take part in observances of the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

They didn't find much friendship. One woman member of the delegation reported that she was shocked to learn, upon visiting a nursery in Shanghai, that among the first words children learned to speak were such slogans as:

the costs of the "soil bank" payments, the parity subsidies, and of foreign aid are all paid by the consumer, that's all of us, in the forms of increasing taxes, inflation (reduction of the buying power of the dollar), and rising prices.

Some of the bizarre results of the economy were brought to light recently by an Associated Press writer reporting from Portales, New Mexico. These excerpts from the AP report speak for themselves:
"Roosevelt County farmers, some of whom have been camping out in a government parking lot for more than a week, began signing up today for federal farm funds after finally agreeing who would be first in line."
"Fourteen farmers, two from each of the seven agricultural divisions in the county, voted ten to four Sunday to accept a waiting list of more than 175 names, stated Nov. 19, as the basis for determining the order of sign-up."
"Extra police were expected to help preserve order."
"The farmers are applying for funds under the 1967 crop-land adjustment program which provides payments for land taken out of production and not used for grazing. It's aimed (would you believe it?) "at reducing farm surpluses."
"Some farmers started a waiting list 10 days ago at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office."
"To stay on the list, farmers could not leave the area of the office for longer than two hours. Farmers camped out in pickup campers, trailers and cars at the service's parking lot."
"A dispute arose late last week when latecomers said they couldn't afford to leave their farms to wait in line."
"One farmer estimated he could get as much as $6,000 income a year for not growing crops on his land. Payment depends on acreage and estimated yield of land involved."
Readers at a loss to explain rising prices, please note.

Benjamin Franklin proposed 180 years ago that our newborn republic adopt the wild turkey as its national bird. Instead they picked the eagle and no one ever sees an eagle except on the back of a dollar bill. Historically, there is much to recommend Franklin's nomination of the turkey. It is a game bird, highly prized by sportsmen. It is indigenous to this country, although it is now familiar in other places. It served as food in colonial times when food was scarce. It was indeed a noble bird, whereas the eagle is not as noble as it looks, being a part-time scavenger.

Thoughts while shaving: The average motorist doesn't know how much he pays for gasoline, according to a one-state spot survey made recently in Virginia. Only one-half of all drivers buying gas knew the cost per gallon. And only 35 per cent guessed within one cent of knowing what the total state and federal gasoline tax was. However, men drivers were twice as hep as their female counterparts in knowing the price and taxes. . . . One of New York's smart shops recently held a "supermarket" fashion show that featured the kind of clothes women should wear when shopping for groceries. Because most of the food bought these days comes in tin cans, the clothing displayed was made of metallic, silver, gold and other space age fabrics. Makes us wonder how those fashions would look on some of the frowzy dolls we see in the supermarkets with curlers in their hair. . . . And speaking of fashions, you can expect to see paper clothing in the stores early next year. A leading paper manufacturer is licensing apparel makers in 16 cities to make house dresses that will retail for $1, men's shirts (75 cents), tuxedos for $12 and cocktail dresses for $10. What next? . . . Indianapolis claims to "have the largest Christmas tree in the world. The merchants there decorate a 246-foot high monument, surmounted by a huge evergreen tree. They claim the lighting can be seen by plane 100 miles away. . . . The Jacksonville (Fla.) FLORIDA TIMES - UNION reported in a story: "One commissioner has resigned his post and the other commissioner has been relieved of his duties." Without his duties, perhaps he's devoting more time to his duties.

Country Editor speaking: "It's impossible to get lost these days; someone will always tell you where to go."

Wit and Whimsy

A visitor to Pampa was talking to a native and commented on the lack of rain.
Mrs. Jones—Doesn't it ever rain here?
The native thought a minute and said,
Pete (the native)—Mister, do you remember the story of Noah and the ark, and how it rained 40 days and 40 nights?
Mrs. Jones—Sure I do.
Pete—Well, we got half an inch that time.

Antique Dealer—Here I have a very rare revolver from the time of the Romans.
Customer—But surely they didn't use revolvers?
Antique Dealer—Ah—that is why it's so rare.

Policeman—When I saw you driving down that road, I said to myself, fifty-five at least.
Woman Motorist—Well, you're wrong. It's this hat that makes me look that old.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

A lawyer, who devotes his practice to estates and trusts, told us recently the average person doesn't realize the many complex problems that can exist when someone dies without making a will, or with an improperly drawn will. He says an attorney is the only one who can help you execute this important document. In making or changing a will, he advises that you always consult an attorney. He says their fees are reasonable and by heeding their advice you can make sure that what you leave is used for the purposes you intend. Remember the old saying: "He who has himself for a client has a fool for a lawyer."

Today's smile: A modernistic painter was explaining some of his work to an admiring group at an art show and said: "Now, here's one I consider one of my best. When I started out, I had no idea what it was going to be." A cynic asked: "And when you had finished, how did you find out what it was?"

Benjamin Franklin proposed 180 years ago that our newborn republic adopt the wild turkey as its national bird. Instead they picked the eagle and no one ever sees an eagle except on the back of a dollar bill. Historically, there is much to recommend Franklin's nomination of the turkey. Only one-half of all drivers buying gas knew the cost per gallon. And only 35 per cent guessed within one cent of knowing what the total state and federal gasoline tax was. However, men drivers were twice as hep as their female counterparts in knowing the price and taxes. . . . One of New York's smart shops recently held a "supermarket" fashion show that featured the kind of clothes women should wear when shopping for groceries. Because most of the food bought these days comes in tin cans, the clothing displayed was made of metallic, silver, gold and other space age fabrics. Makes us wonder how those fashions would look on some of the frowzy dolls we see in the supermarkets with curlers in their hair. . . . And speaking of fashions, you can expect to see paper clothing in the stores early next year. A leading paper manufacturer is licensing apparel makers in 16 cities to make house dresses that will retail for $1, men's shirts (75 cents), tuxedos for $12 and cocktail dresses for $10. What next? . . . Indianapolis claims to "have the largest Christmas tree in the world. The merchants there decorate a 246-foot high monument, surmounted by a huge evergreen tree. They claim the lighting can be seen by plane 100 miles away. . . . The Jacksonville (Fla.) FLORIDA TIMES - UNION reported in a story: "One commissioner has resigned his post and the other commissioner has been relieved of his duties." Without his duties, perhaps he's devoting more time to his duties.

Country Editor speaking: "It's impossible to get lost these days; someone will always tell you where to go."

Wit and Whimsy

A visitor to Pampa was talking to a native and commented on the lack of rain.
Mrs. Jones—Doesn't it ever rain here?
The native thought a minute and said,
Pete (the native)—Mister, do you remember the story of Noah and the ark, and how it rained 40 days and 40 nights?
Mrs. Jones—Sure I do.
Pete—Well, we got half an inch that time.

Antique Dealer—Here I have a very rare revolver from the time of the Romans.
Customer—But surely they didn't use revolvers?
Antique Dealer—Ah—that is why it's so rare.

Policeman—When I saw you driving down that road, I said to myself, fifty-five at least.
Woman Motorist—Well, you're wrong. It's this hat that makes me look that old.

Communism Is Creeping In Thailand

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

NORtheast THAILAND (NEA)—The man had been a senior commander in Ho Chi Minh's Communist Laotian Front some years back. "You people don't know how deep our preparations run," he said. "Take this example. About 15 years ago, the Thai police let out the contract for building a border fort in this area. A certain contractor won the bid. He built the fort with 300 men. Two hundred of those workmen were Ho's guerrillas. We know the fort inside out."

"This is the sort of careful planning that has gone into the infiltration of northeast Thailand. "We've moved at this slowly. For 15 years our men have circulated in the northeast. For one thing, we've been looking for poor, unhappy farmers whose ties are closer to Laos than to Thailand. They're most susceptible. We've taken the most promising of these men back to work their own neighborhoods."

A Thai long-time northeast businessman—whose job gets him around much of the area—estimates a fourth of the far northeast's farmers feel a greater emotional attachment to Laos than to Thailand. He marks on the map in little circles the areas where the Laos emotional influence is strong. He points out the stage-by-stage growth of the Communist underground in this far northeast Thailand region.

This underground structure he describes has expanded slowly over the past 15 years from the Laos border across most of the northern part of the country. It has been a hop and skip growth, jumping from one circled area to the next and spreading like an oil spot out from the heart of each circle.

The former Ho officer says: "Our other major objective was the large Vietnamese community here, the families which moved to northeast Thailand during the war against the French. Most of them have not become part of the Thai community."
The Thai businessman makes another grouping of circles to show where these Vietnamese groups are strongest.
"Cities in this region stand out as islands in the circled Communist areas."
The businessman jabs his pencil at the circles. "Much of the business and money lending is controlled by Chinese merchants," he says. "They donate to our civic activities. But their sons go to Red China for schooling. No one knows how they leave Thailand. One day, suddenly a boy is gone. They also send considerable sums of money to Communist China."
"We know there are Peking agents among these Chinese merchants, but we don't know who they are. This Red organizing among the Chinese, too, has been going on for at least a decade."
The Chinese businessmen are all over Thailand. But the Vietnamese emigrants and the people emotionally oriented to Laos are concentrated in the extreme

Work More—Have More
Payment for not working is probably the main reason for the high and rising cost of living. A good example is the wage-pension practice in the steel industry. Average pay, including fringe benefits, in that industry is just under five dollars per hour, and one may retire on full pension after thirty years of service regardless of age.

Suppose a young man just out of high school begins work for a steel company at age seventeen. Thirty years later, at age forty-seven, he retires on full pension with "the probability that he may draw the pension for as many years as he has worked."

Steel is a basic commodity that enters into the cost of most of the things which we the people enjoy. The labor cost of steel to us is not only the five dollars per hour that the worker receives, but the pension he will continue to draw very possibly for as many hours as he worked. Suppose the pension amounts to a dollar and a half an hour. That raises the labor cost of the steel this young man helped to produce to $6.50 an hour. But that is not all. He will also draw social security benefits on a rising scale. He will draw more benefits under Medicare, which likewise will be subsidized by the public. He may even discontinue work for weeks or months at a time while drawing unemployment benefits.

While these various expense items cannot be accurately calculated, it is quite possible that the real labor cost of the steel this young man helps to produce will be somewhere between eight and ten dollars per hour. Under such conditions, how can we expect anything but rapidly rising prices and more and more inflation? Moreover, an increasing number of workers have cost-of-living escalator increases in their wage contracts, which add more to the labor cost of the product. For what reason do the American people subject themselves to the perils and punishment of inflation in an effort to get more and more for doing less and less? It does not require much brainpower to realize that if one wishes to work only half of his life, he must live at a scale of about half of what he could enjoy if he were willing to work a full lifetime. Of what advantage is it to retire in middle-life during one's best years at age forty-seven? Few men are happier in idleness at half pay than they were working at full pay. A work week of thirty or forty hours with frequent holidays, sick leave and long vacations still leaves ample time for recreation, hobbies and cultural activities. Perhaps someday it will dawn on the American people and other people as well that they will be much happier working more and living better. Some day they will learn that the way to have more is to work more.

Federal Government Aims At Control of Advertising

(Washington Report)
Private company advertising investments are going to be singled out for Government control, according to mounting indications in Washington.

It appears that the Justice Department is adopting the opinion that heavy advertising outlays help large companies enlarge their share of the market, thus increasing concentration and making it all the more difficult for other firms to compete.

This recurring view has been expressed in speeches and remarks by Donald F. Turner, assistant attorney general for antitrust, Justice Department.

Apparently, Mr. Turner would establish government control over advertising expenditures through litigation, although a legislative approach is not out of the question. If litigation were used, the Justice Department would seek a monopolization case where the court's injunction might limit a firm's advertising spending to a fixed percentage of sales.

Why advertising is a Government target is not known, but if there is an increase in a Washington school of thought which regards advertising as wasteful and as an unnecessary cost that merely raises prices, it spells trouble for companies that use it, agencies that create it, and the media that dispense it.

The fallacious Government agency reasoning seems to be this: Advertising is all right so long as the user doesn't become too successful. If advertising gives a company an edge over competitors, it must be cut back.

By this logic, similar restraints could be applied to many other factors that make a company successful. And if competitive success is to be penalized, then the result must be no competition at all, but instead a dreary equalization of enterprise that can promise only non-progress.

In anticipation of this battle over advertising expenditures, companies of all sizes should look upon it as another invasion into the strictly private affairs of business.

Businessmen should begin informing congressmen, senators and cabinet officers of business opinion on this threat before it becomes a reality.

National Chamber would appreciate receiving copies of any letter you write, and would like to receive any other comments you have on this impending new form of Government control.

Push-Button Toys Stifle A Child's Imagination

Toys should help children learn without knowing they are learning. Many modern toys stifle a child's imagination rather than stimulate his creativity. These are the toys that do only one thing, leaving the child nothing to do after he has pushed a button. Here is a list of some of the simple toys that have stood the test of time:
—Well-made building blocks in an assortment of shapes and sizes.
—Wood or plastic construction materials that fit together.
—Toys with which to play at being grown-up, such as dolls, stuffed animals (pets), dump trucks, doctor-kits, carpenter tools and chemistry sets—all geared to the child's age and attainments.
—Simple materials for artistic endeavors—crayons, paints, slates, modeling clay and beads.
—Costumes or puppets for producing plays.
—Games that encourage the use of numbers, such as dominoes, parchesi or a toy watch.
—Equipment for exercising, such as tricycles, bicycles, skates, swings, scooters and wagons.
—Educational toys of all kinds, including nesting blocks, geometric design equipment, color-matching games, magnets, magnifying glasses and ant farms.

This is just a partial list of the many fine toys that will help your child develop interests, many of which he will enjoy for the rest of his life.

For what reason do the American people subject themselves to the perils and punishment of inflation in an effort to get more and more for doing less and less? It does not require much brainpower to realize that if one wishes to work only half of his life, he must live at a scale of about half of what he could enjoy if he were willing to work a full lifetime. Of what advantage is it to retire in middle-life during one's best years at age forty-seven? Few men are happier in idleness at half pay than they were working at full pay. ## The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Q—What diseases do cats carry? I've heard they will lie on a baby's head and smother him and that swallowed cat hair will turn into worms.

A—Mysterious deaths occurring in apparently healthy babies—the so-called crib deaths—have been erroneously attributed to many causes, including malevolent pets. The real cause of some of these deaths is an allergy to cow's milk. Worms are caused by swallowing minute eggs, not cat hairs.

Cats make fine pets but their bites or scratches, like those of any other animal, can become infected and should not be regarded lightly. And then there is the disease erroneously called cat-scratch fever which is due to the introduction into a scratch wound (from a pin, thorn or claw) of a virus that was present on the skin at the time of the scratch. In the long run, human beings give cats more diseases than cats give humans.

Simple materials for artistic endeavors—crayons, paints, slates, modeling clay and beads.
—Costumes or puppets for producing plays.
—Games that encourage the use of numbers, such as dominoes, parchesi or a toy watch.
—Equipment for exercising, such as tricycles, bicycles, skates, swings, scooters and wagons.
—Educational toys of all kinds, including nesting blocks, geometric design equipment, color-matching games, magnets, magnifying glasses and ant farms.

REMEMBER BUDAPEST
Suppose our forebears had lost the American Revolution, suffering defeat instead of winning victory at Yorktown. How many, then, would have remembered Lexington and Concord and Paul Revere and the Declaration of Independence?

There is a nation in the world today which ten years ago had its Lexington and Concord, its Paul Revere, and its Declaration of Independence; and was then defeated and conquered. It behooves us who won our fight for liberty one hundred and ninety years ago to remember and honor those who so tragically lost their fight ten years ago, partly because we did not come to their aid.

The spontaneous popular uprising in Budapest at the end of October, 1956, was the first, and remains the only, major armed rebellion against an entrenched, well-established communist dictatorship. The Hungarian freedom fighters won their battle against their own home-grown dictators. They overthrew them completely and were ready to set up a free state. Then Russian tanks and Mongol infantry moved in. Budapest cried for help, and the free world did not answer.

It is said that today a secret slogan is passed from hand to hand in Budapest, now once more under the iron heel of Red rule. It says simple: "Ten years!" Those who fought have not forgotten. Neither should we. Their opportunity could come again; and if it does, this time we should be ready to help them.

Because freedom is perpetually threatened throughout the world by tyranny, a united freedom anywhere is a defeat for freedom everywhere. The Budapest martyrs died not only for their own cause, but for all.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bradbury K. Thorlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson says the posting of a valid recovery high by the Dow Jones industrial average would have as much bullish significance as the Dow Theory "bear market" signal last May. He believes that trend traders who have fought the rise since October probably would turn bullish almost overnight if the Dow should close at 830. He feels, however, the significance of the move is not expected to take place without a struggle.

Thomson & McKinnon says some of the recent market weakness has been attributable to investor recognition of continued evidence that various areas of the economy are showing diminished vigor. The company says that while such indications of economic softness should not be ignored, it is important not to anticipate weakness to any excessive extent.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW

Unlucky! Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The television networks haven't done much in recent years with children's shows, but their juvenile programming is almost incomparable.

One of the favorite network practices is to get a "classic" story for youngsters — a "classic" being almost anything that is purchasable — and convert it into an animated musical cartoon. Such a vehicle is then repeated season after season and is evolved by the network pitchmen into a "tradition." Thus are traditions born these days.

The latest entry into this area, "Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas," based on a story by the famous writer of children's tales, was presented as a half-hour special on CBS-TV Sunday night.

Apparently CBS-TV spent more than $300,000 on this cartoon, which is more than the yearly budget of some educational television stations. The large sum is of course quite flattering to Dr. Seuss and his charming stories for the young set, but it also makes one wonder why the networks, who are simply rolling in money, can't come up with modest totals for regular, daily children's series.

As for Sunday night's presentation, well, I am really pretty much at a loss over how to review a children's cartoon, and the truth is that I don't have much interest in improving myself in this area.

So far as I could tell, "How the Grinch Stole Christmas," which dealt with a villain who tried to stop the Yule day from coming to a village, was probably as good as most of the other holiday cartoons. I can't see why anybody would dislike it — unless perhaps some purist fans of Dr. Seuss might find a flaw.

The whole idea of the cartoon was that even though the villain stole all the presents and other presentations of Christmas in material form, the spirit of the day was still dominant over the commercial aspects with the people. I haven't read a great many of Dr. Seuss' stories, but it's always reassuring to meet an optimist, or at least an optimistic adaptation.

Change Of Pace.

Also on Sunday evening, NBC-TV's "Telephone Hour" reverted for one night from its new documentary format to its traditional style of musical presentation for a program with a Christmas theme. And coming as a change of pace, the hour was quite pleasant, in contrast to the monotonous chord it used to strike when it was presented in this general form regularly.
