Loss Of Charter Member Brings Sorrow To Congregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president today announced restoration of a gold embargo as a move to improve domestic commodity prices. This is the first step in the campaign he has undertaken to establish a controlled price level and controlled credit to counteract deflation.

The revival meeting at the First Christian Church is gaining in interest and attendance with each service. While sorrow has hovered over the congregation because of the loss of one of the charter members in the passing of I. D. Eddins, yet the membership seems to be inspired to greater undertakings because of this loss.

Sugar

There is no authoritative information yet as to what the commission will do. His recommendation will be sent to President Roosevelt shortly. The general assumption among the knowing sugar lobbies is that a change in the existing Cuban condition will be suggested. It is possible the Roper allotment plan will be endorsed.

Roper appeared February 20 before the commission. He listed the eleven Cuban companies he represented. The Cuban Cane Products, Inc. With him was a local attorney, Ellwood W. Rabenold.

Among Roper's conclusions were the following: "It is perfectly clear that the domestic industry does not need further tariff protection against Cuba. The present tariff in fact is so excessive that it no longer operates to affect the price of sugar."

These paying sugar Congressmen have also learned that the Cuban ambassador Dr. Don Oscar B. Cintas was formerly a business associate of Treasury Secretary Woodin. Their information is that Dr. Cintas was a director in subsidiaries of Woodin's company, American Car and Foundry.

Plan Devised To End Food Shortage Among Mexican And Negro Families

At a meeting Tuesday evening of representatives of various churches, held at the Eberley Funeral Home, a plan was devised to relieve food shortage among Mexican and negro residents of the city.

The plan, as outlined Wednesday morning by J. B. Collins and Prof. John R. Hutto is this: People of the city as well as restaurants and hotels, will be asked to save "crumbs from the table" that is edible food left over from the meals.

A Mexican or negro family will be assigned to each block. The person who will come to the houses each morning between 8 and 10 o'clock to get the food left for the family will be taken to the homes in the block by a member of the committee, that those giving food may know the person that should receive it.

The meeting was called when it became known that several small Mexican children had died for lack of nourishment. Mrs. Charles Eberley and Prof. Hutto, principal of the Mexican school, were among those who brought the situation to the attention of church leaders.

Cooperation of the citizenship was urged. It was pointed out that this plan, if followed properly, will provide food for these hungry families at negligible cost or absolutely no cost to the donors.

School officials are trying to arrange plans for the bi-district match. Harry Jordan and Joe Davis, winners of district 8 tennis doubles will meet the District 9 winners to decide the bi-district champions.

Official Hat To Be Designated Here For W.T.C.C. Convention

A meeting of dry goods merchants was held at 3 p. m. Wednesday to decide on some novel hat to be used as official headgear during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here May 11, 12, 13. The hats would be used to add to the gaiety of the occasion.

Houston Harts. Representing the clubs as aides are John E. Robbins Jr. of the American Business Club, Ed Blanton of the Lions, A. L. Turner of the Real Estate Board, Walter Duff of the Rotary, Jimmie Hollis of the Knights of the Round Table, Walter E. Yaggy of the Kiwanis Club, Bob Campbell and his two lambs also will aid.

Meeting of the committee will be called the first of the week to get the campaign program shaped up ahead of the convention in Big Spring May 11, 12 and 13.

Wholesale Merchants Oppose 30-Hour Bill

DALLAS (UP)—The Dallas Wholesale Merchants' Association, following a special meeting, called upon its members to petition Texas senators and congressmen to oppose the proposed 30-hour week law.

The consensus of speakers at the meeting was that the law is too drastic and will, at this time, cause a general rise in production costs. Scarcity of skilled help in some trades will slow down production if the law becomes effective, it was said.

Rev. E. T. Pollard Dies At Midland

MIDLAND—Death early Tuesday ended the ministry of the Rev. Foubes Taylor Pollard, 78, father of Fisher Pollard, deputy sheriff, and former Glascock ranchman. The minister, superannuated several years ago, had been ill and confined to his bed for three weeks.

Mr. Pollard was ordained by the Methodist Episcopal church, South, many years ago. He served several pastorate over Texas.

Corporation Would List Cost Of Assets To Issue Securities

WASHINGTON (UP)—A provision specifically requiring corporations to state the cost of assets in applying for securities registration has been written into the Roosevelt "blue sky" bill by the senate banking committee.

The bill, tentatively approved in revised form, is expected to be reported to the senate Friday. The provision, an outgrowth of the federal trade commission's utilities investigations, is intended to check the "watering" of stock by ascribing to assets value in excess of what they may actually be worth.

Dallas Beats Tulsa Oilers
Oklahoma City Take Cats Down, Pirates, Missions Capture

TULSA—Young Sel Gilatto was in rare pitching form here and let the Tulsa Oilers down with three hits in a Texas league game the Dallas Steers won, 3-1.

Gilatto let the Oilers hit but once until the ninth inning, when he weakened slightly and the Oilers combined a single, fielder's choice and triple to score their lone run.

Only 21 batters faced Gilatto. Dallas.....200 000 100-3 3 1

OKLAHOMA CITY—Oklahoma City's Texas league Indians came from behind Tuesday to down the favored Fort Worth Cats, 4-3, in the series opener.

The Indians found the long range, getting all four extra base hits made in the game. Harvel and Choleher smashed out doubles and Johnson and Theller got triples.

BEAUMONT—The Exporters and Bucs battled nine innings to a four-four draw Tuesday, the game being called to permit the visitors to catch a train. Elton Auker, Beaumont submarine hurler, was alternately the goat and star of the game. In the sixth inning he made a two run wild peg to third and in the ninth he developed a streak of wildness which caused his removal but offensively he drove in three of his team's runs, one with a home run over left field.

The Absolute Nadir

Kansas City's celebrated fighting robin, which for weeks has been assailing its own reflection in the window of a dentist, now has something to worry about. A Fort Worth redbird is stealing his stuff.

The Fort Worth shadow boxer baffled his own reflection for ten days, and somebody asked the humane society to do something about it. The society replied that there was nothing it could do.

The Society for the Protection of Newspaper Readers From Trivialities might be called in on the case.

We thought the absolute zero in inconsequentiality had been plumbd by the spider and the snake, but these fighting cock robins and redbirds are setting new lows.

From this point, probably we will go on to full reports of the antics of a housefly in the presence of a bald head.

POSSIBILITIES OF CURE IN CANCER

With the improvement in skill in the application of surgery and radiation to cancer, the cure of this disease has increased markedly in the last few years. Especially is this true in cancers which are located in places accessible to treatment and which can be detected in their early stages. Among the most favorable locations for early diagnosis and adequate treatment are those lesions of the skin, lip and nose, those in the breast and those in the female reproduction tract. Skin cancers, when treated immediately, offer approximately 80% cure. Cancer of the breast, when the growth is limited to the breast alone, yields a cure of approximately 60 to 70 per cent. Early cancer of the female genital organs offers a 60 to 80 per cent cure. The number of people who have been permanently cured of cancer and restored to useful lives is increasing annually. Even advanced cases of cancer, formerly considered as hopeless, are sometimes cured and are frequently relieved by the proper treatment. However, the best physician in the world can work no miracles in late cancer. His success depends upon seeing his patients when the disease is still local and when it can be removed or destroyed immediately and radically before it spreads through the body. The first step in cancer control lies with the patient himself. A neglected cancer case is inevitably fatal.

"In cancer, the earlier the discovery, the greater the chance for recovery."

BLACK AND WHITE IS POPULAR IN NEW SPRING HAT DESIGNS

These film players are wearing hats in keeping with fashion's decree for spring and summer. Una Merkel (left) wears a white tighorn hat decorated with a black and red enamel buckle. The hat worn by Jean Parker (left center) is of white satin. The under facing of the brim is of black satin. A flaring chenille-dotted veil adds a decorative touch. Black and white is strikingly carried out in the hat worn by Maurine O'Sullivan (right center). It is of black crystal straw with braided bands of white "angel skin" satin and a nosegay of flowers. A tailored sailor hat of rough straw is worn by Elizabeth Allan (right). The crown and a bow-trim at the back are carried out in black and white check silk. (Associated Press Photos)

One I Love

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Janet stood still. "But where are you going?" she asked.

"I don't matter," Rolf told her. "Anywhere! I just want to talk to you, that's all. I heard you were back and I've been wanting to see you."

"But Rolf—"

"Are you going to say you won't talk to me? Well, I hadn't expected that. Of course if you feel this way—"

She glanced at him, then looked away quickly. "But we can't," she said. "I mean—what did you want to talk about?"

"I can't very well tell you standing in the middle of the sidewalk, can I? Come on. We'll drop in at Stanley's."

Stanley's restaurant in the next block was one of the most fashionable in Lancaster. Betty Carlyn and her friends often lunched there. Janet knew she couldn't go there with Rolf.

His eyes met hers directly. "That's an excuse, isn't it?" he said. "There's some reason why you don't want to come. The same reason, I suppose, why you've been avoiding me for so long. I thought it was agreed between us that we were going to be friends."

Janet felt conspicuous standing there on the street. I'm on my way to take a bus.

"That's no answer," Rolf objected as they moved along, side by side.

She refused to meet his eyes. "Of course we're friends," she told him in a voice that was not as steady as it should have been. "At least I want to be."

He laughed rather unpleasantly. "Only you'd rather never see me, is that it?"

"You know that's not so, Rolf! It's just that—well, I think it's better for us not to see each other. You remember what Betty thought that night she came to the house? I don't want to cause any trouble!"

"So that's it!" There was a pause and then Rolf went on more seriously. "But I really do want to talk to you, Janet. It's important. I've got to talk to you. Listen, will you meet me this evening—"

"I can't do that!" Janet interrupted quickly.

The man went on as though he had not heard her. "Will you meet me at nine o'clock?" he asked. "I'll come to the oak tree back of the house."

"But you mustn't ask me to do that, Rolf. I can't!"

"At nine o'clock tonight," he repeated. "At the oak tree."

The yellow bus appeared at the corner a block away. Janet saw with a wave of thankfulness. "I won't be there," she told him firmly. "There's no use of your coming!"

He said, "I'll be waiting for you," and touched his hat as the bus came to a halt.

Janet stepped into the vehicle and found a seat. She knew that her cheeks were flushed and her heart was pounding furiously. "But I won't go!" she told herself over and over again. "If he comes I won't be there!"

Well, that was settled and settled in the right way, Rolf thought. He knew that it would never do for them to meet secretly. She would have wanted to talk to her about it. Not that it would make any difference. She reviewed the conversation, assured herself that her attitude had been the right one. But what was Rolf so anxious to talk to her about? A dozen times during the afternoon that same question arose.

Once back in the big brick house she felt secure again. There was no use denying that seeing Rolf had been a temptation. It was a temptation but she had risen above it. It was a comfortable feeling to know that she had been able to master the situation.

She could be very calm about the whole affair now. If Rolf came he would simply find that he had been foolish. Janet knew that she would spend the evening with Mrs. Curtis, either reading to her or possibly playing cards. There was a new game Mrs. Curtis had learned at Silver Bay of which she was very fond. Even if Janet had not decided against it, it would be quite impossible for her to meet Rolf.

And then something happened to foil her assurance. The evening began just as Janet had been sure it would. She and Mrs. Curtis had dinner and afterward their coffee was served in the living room. They were still sitting there when the telephone rang.

Janet said, "I'll answer," because it was Lucy's night off. She arose and went into the library. A moment later she was back to say that Mrs. Thornton was calling to ask if Mrs. Curtis would like to see the new Century. If she would the Thorntons would stop for her in 15 minutes.

"Why, of course!" Mrs. Curtis exclaimed. "Tell her—no, wait! I'll go myself."

At 10 minutes after eight the bell rang and Janet answered. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton entered and at the same moment Mrs. Curtis, wearing hat and coat, came hurrying down the stairs.

"I'm all ready," she said. "I'm so glad you telephoned! We'd better go right along. I suppose

Quality, Janet—

"They were off in a whirl of confusion and these persons and the heavy scent of Mrs. Thornton's cigar. Janet stood for a moment and watched the car drive away. Then she went back to the living room and turned on the radio.

A dance orchestra, playing one of the tunes she had heard often at Silver Bay, came on the air. Listening, Janet felt irritated and snapped off the switch. The song died in the midst of a plaintive tenor chorus.

Janet picked up a magazine and tried to read. The words paraded before her eyes were meaningless. She could not keep her attention on them. The house seemed quiet. So quiet she could hear the tick of the clock across the room. Janet glanced at it. Twenty minutes of nine.

In 30 minutes more Rolf would be there. Janet tried again to read. She mustn't think about Rolf. She wouldn't go to meet him, of course. That was out of the question.

She looked at the printed page and thought, "I didn't try to make things happen the way they have. It's not my fault."

But it would be her fault if she went out the side door and down the flagstone walk to the oak tree. There would be no one else to take the blame for that.

It was 18 minutes now. And now it. How fearfully quiet the house was! No, a sound except the clock. Not a sound! Oh, yes there was—there was the beating of Janet's heart. She could feel it drumming away so noisily that if anyone also had been in the room they must surely have heard it, too. The clock and the steadily pounding heart kept up a sort of duet.

Janet rose and moved about the room restlessly. She thought, "He said it was important. I wonder what he wants. Perhaps it really is important."

And then quickly, "But it can't make any difference! I told him I couldn't see him!"

Impulsively she turned to the radio again tuned in a noisy orchestra and let the brassy notes fill the room. It was hideous but it was better than the silence. The sound seemed to steady her. No, she would not go to meet Rolf.

It was 15 minutes after nine

Judges today were formerly connected as attorneys with various interests for years.

And in this case Roper and Woodin will have nothing to do with the sugar tariff.

Yet the Congressmen will, if forced on the sugar tariff, make plenty of whoopee with their information.

There is no tie or no politics involved in collection of the evidence.

Republicans probably will take the initiative in the attack.

Sacrifice—Woodin has never let it be known but he made the greatest personal sacrifice of any man in the government.

He has now severed every business connection he had with outside interests.

It cost him a pretty penny to part with some of his holdings at a time like this.

Other men would have done it. In fact many refused to do so.

Roper also made much more money outside the government than he does now.

Motive

The motive behind all this is the conviction—now shared by many leading New Yorkers—that business will not recover fast enough of its own initiative to cure unemployment conditions before they reach an open crisis.

Civil Suit To Jury After Long Hearing

Case of Howard A. Reed, et al vs. Magnolia Building and Loan association went to the jury in 32nd district court Wednesday afternoon after three days introduction of evidence and arguments.

Reid asks that a lien against property he possesses be declared invalid since it constitutes his business homestead. The defense presented an affidavit from the plaintiff alleged to have been made at the time $2,500 was advanced against the property declaring the premises in question was not a homestead.

On Federal Jury Panel

Steve D. Ford, Sr., and Libburn Coffee left Monday morning for Abilene to answer summons for jury duty in United States district court.

ABILENE—One mistrial had been called and a jury had deliberated at length without reaching a verdict in a second case as the federal court in Abilene neared completion of the pending criminal docket Tuesday.

Case of T. C. Oxford, Colorado, former school teacher charged in five counts with tampering with mail taken from a postoffice box, ended in a mistrial when Judge James C. Wilson dismissed a jury reporting itself unable to reach a decision. The body began deliberation at 9:30 Tuesday morning.

The case was argued before a jury after Judge Wilson declined to accept Oxford's plea of guilty. In testimony, Oxford recited a story of friendly relationship with Mrs. Guy Jeffrey, whose mail he assertedly removed from a Colorado postoffice box, opened, read and replaced; and told the court Mrs. Jeffrey gave him permission to do so. She vigorously denied he had the authority.

Another jury had not reached a decision late Tuesday in the case of Hardee L. Reader, charged with passing of counterfeit currency. Testimony in the case was completed at noon.

Recipients On Stand

Alfred Crager, assistant district attorney, introduced government witnesses who asserted Reader gave them spurious 10 bills. They included D. J. Neill, filling station operator at Gorman, who said Reader gave him a bogus bill for a gasoline purchase on the night of last November 11; and A. J. Champion, station owner at Rucker, Comanche county, who said he received a counterfeit bill the same night from a man in company with Reader.

Defense testimony was presented to show an alibi for the defendant, who reported in detail his activities of last Armistice Day. He said he did not stop at Gorman or Rucker that night, but spent the night at scenic Point, tourist camp near Ranger. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Martin said Reader was at their home near Mingus early in the evening; and W. E. Wagner said the defendant checked in at his tourist camp about 11:30 that night.

Two Notes Offered

The government had introduced two federal reserve notes, pronounced counterfeit by J. M. Penney, secret service agent.

The court disposed of another counterfeit money case Tuesday, accepting a plea of guilty to a charge of manufacturing and passing counterfeit coins from Joseph Thorp. Judge Wilson sentenced him to 150 days in jail and 15 months in the reformatory, suspending all the terms for two years.

On motion of the government, the charge was dismissed as to Jack Marion Owens, named in the in-

Yours, spring is back, and beach gear, but what has that got to do with Howard Whitehead showing up to a class late—late! Kaly, yours is a viper. I only mean that he has a wee bit of delay in reading William F. famous version of Purpy.

Well, all in all, there isn't much to do except to do around and pick up the victims who have passed out with—er—oh, I have it. Spring fever—and I nominate Willie Lloyd for the worst customer yet.

No Buckets has been going to see the Doctor lately? Well, now isn't that too sad. You know old Dr. Pepper—could he be changing drinks on us or—maybe the charming daughter. Alas! Mary has something to do with it. Surely she couldn't be guilty of giving him a pain in the neck or knots on his hair. It's all the same to this old when bucket guy. He's had them both, so I've heard.

So later! Being the mop—Francis Stockton had a sudden urge to rush to the office and in all her haste she plucked at the bottom of the steps and slid on to her destination—As a matter of fact, that flying lead ended up rather badly—You're heavy there. Haste makes Waste—Well, in this case it was almost Paste.

So Jack Gully gave a dance Friday night—Aw, everybody was there—you know John Wayne Brown. Nuff said.

Who Was Cheated It—

R. F. Walling now taking a chance on breaking all these young dimes' hearts—He walks girl! He walks; that is, he walks up and sweeps Minnie Bell off of her feet—No, dumbbell, he isn't a janitor—What's this he's been about Lloyd Forster chasing girls—we heard that he was running and the gas outa Johnnie's Machine to Society, alas!—getting to be sorta Blam—Billy Wiedmayer and Hazel Smith—Marguerite Tucker and Eva O'Neil, Mollie Cross and Hazel Fisher—But already Blam and Blam—Alta Mary Staloup, George and Wilbur Barnett declare that their rubber necks came in handy for once when they attended "Courageous Connie" and sat behind some dogs with an overgrown Eitzen. Hat Page is a viper again—I hear him on the average of a dozen times per day begging some fair guinea to break her date for the banquet with her ill' lambs Pie and accompany him—And is that "Rat" Rachel Ruth Williams rattling—Have you seen about Lloyd Forster?—Hazel Smith, another of little Ruth's latest Alligator Bait—...I don't know just how late this is but the way this LeVern Simms and John Vastine are going deserves special mention—Jack Haynes seems to be passing—Jennie Fay Felton and Tinsley are getting better words than our former Peck-Hill affair—My ideal beauty is Virginia Cushing—I hereby recommend that she dash off some beauty secrets to us Inc.—Margaret Wade has such changing ways—Why only last week, it was "Doc, you're in the only," and now it's "Paul, you're in the only"—A regular fellow who gives Cleo Lane a stop ladder when she attempts to dance with Jack Darwin—

All see you next Tuesday—Forget the desks—

Nonchalantly yours,
 Katy Keyhole.

Editor's Edicts

Wendell Bedichek, editor of the Big Spring Daily Herald, spoke in the high school auditorium, Thursday, April 13.

In the course of the Kiwanis Club's Vocational Guidance electives, Mr. Bedichek represented journalism and publishing.

"A reporter's life is not all that you have heard or seen about in shows. While there is quite a bit of excitement and thrills being a newshound, it is often hard, dreary work. Don't expect to enter with the thought of making a fortune. Once a reporter always a reporter. That is always true. You may branch into some other line of journalism or just as good as many do." These were some of the excerpts from his speech.

The unusual thing about the lecture was the fact that more girls attended than did boys.

Juniors Plan For Edition Of Wheel

Plans for the Junior edition of the Wheel which is to be presented next Wednesday have been begun. Dorothy Dublin has been elected editor-in-chief.

A staff will be chosen from the following students whose names have been submitted: John Stripling, Army Armstrong, Red Sanders, Harry Jordan, Joe Ed Davis, Marguerite Tocker, Modesta Good, Eva Mae O'Neal Virginia Cushing, Clara Allison and Mary Richards.

Mexican Students To Give Program

A program featuring fifty Mexican boys and girls will be held in the assembly period Thursday. These students will represent the Kate Morrison School.

Due to the shortness of the assembly period, the program will be brief. However, it will have many quite a few novelty numbers, spring songs, readings, drills by the group and patriotic numbers will comprise the program. Elmo Martin's Orchestra will furnish the music for the event.

The purpose of this program is to raise funds to send the cheer squad to the State meet. The price for the tickets will be ten cents.

Esdaile, The Star Gazer

Q—Was I the first girl to go riding in Bill's new car? Dorothy Gies Ford.

A—We had another impression, but since you insist, you were the first girl that went riding in it.

Q—Who doesn't Quivle Bea (King)? Red.

A—She is to Harris.

Q—Why doesn't Billie Francis (Grand) Army permission to come to see her? Babe.

A—May be she knows better.

Q—When is the fight between Prunella Bess and Johnny Baber over the Taylor going to come off? Fred Townsend.

A—When they catch each other.

Q—What charms should I use to captivate Herbert W? Minnie the Moocher.

A—What charms do you have?

Q—Why does Bill Thomas go around in a dress; is it Christine Robinson?

A—He was a wife before he knew her.

Q—What makes Hee-Haw grin so much in study hall? Cock Robin.

A—We laughed out loud the first time we saw you, so don't get mad if he just grins.

Q—Does Dot Payne think it still leap year? I saw her palting Homer's way on a ride at the carnival. W. and W.

A—It's always leap year when Dot and Spec are concerned.

Q—Do I have a chance to go with Billie Smith? K. R.

A—Everyone has a chance, but would you take advantage of it, it would be given you!

1933 Senior Play Set New High Standard For School Theatricals

This year's Senior play, "Courageous Connie" superceded all high school stage performances given in the past with the exception of "The Brat" presented in 1930. "The Brat" did not call for difficult characterization as did this year's dramatization.

Cast in the leading role, Ole Mae Hartman as Constance Carter, the persecuted heroine, displayed an unusual amount of dramatic ability in carrying out her heavy role. Opposed on all sides by Martin Mearns, the village's Simon Legree, played by Willard Barber, Connie rises to the heights of amateur theatrical perfection when she says with determination, "I will." And she does with the aid and assistance of the others.

Credit for the best impersonation goes to Howard Kyle, as Wade Benson, the well-known traveling salesman. This was not a leading role, but he nearly stole the show from the main actors with his sarcastic and witty comments.

R. V. Jones as the male lead portrayed the part of Connie's little brother in a manner becoming a little brother who loves his sister. As the mother of Connie and

X Marks The Spot

With the late stay of Winter's chilly blasts, Cupid, since he and Old Man Winter are enemies, hasn't had a chance to do his work in safety. And you know how anything icy knocks romance for a loop. But with the approaching moonlit nights, Dan will work over-time in doing his job.

In my last column I predicted that it was about time for a bust-up to occur. And in order to make this prediction come true, some good brother slipped the package to one who needed it, Lloyd Forrester. It is doubtful if he will be seen in the company of Laverne Stewart in the future. All of which Modest and Co. should like very much.

And speaking of Modest, I never did say anything about the "M" sweater which she is wearing, or rather did wear one time. But since Woodrow Wilson is to visit here this week-end, it is about time it received its due publicity. The good Stinson athletic god has dated with Caroline McCleskey on Saturday and Monday night, while Dot's rating isn't exactly known. However, she should come out of it with at least one date.

Personal nomination for the girl with the most original dress seen this week: Hazel Smith in a brown and white striped affair.

This should make Bill Stampfli feel as if Virginia does really care for him. This doubtful blonde, claims emphatically that neither good will she trifle with the affection of her lover, he'd better believe just that no less than four times since last fall, and each time has gone back on her word. But this time, from appearances and hearsay, she is siding by her devoted one's word. Time will tell.

Alta Taylor, just to show Johnny Baber that she doesn't care, had a date with Prentiss Bess last Friday night. And last Saturday night George Thompson of Sweetwater was the lucky guy. But she was heard to remark that if he wanted to be her, he'd better shell out. Which does remind one of Alta and Johnny a lot.

Frank McCleskey finds 'em smaller and smaller each time. He left Modests for Cleo and Mary last night. He has forsaken them for the seventh grade girls, which is not exactly a break for them.

R. F. Walling would go with Frances Stamper, but Forrester happens along at the wrong time, and Walling has to begin all over again.

With which I remain the indomitable Stool, Mrs. Pigeon's prodigy, who just now found out the reason that convertible coupes are so named is because so many of the people who get into them are converted.

Nominations Made In Favorites Contest Conductor By The Wheel

With the preliminary nominations for favorites and most exemplary student the Wheel took another step Tuesday in making the plans for the Senior edition.

The annual Wheel-school favorite contest, which is one of the highlights of the school year, was held Tuesday.

With a change from the ordinary selection of the most popular boy and girl, the students took a more active interest in the contest.

The contest was held at the third period and all the students in their homes rooms were allowed to vote by the Wheel ballot.

The returns were tabulated the same afternoon by a committee of the Wheel staff and Miss Pearl Butler.

The peculiar thing about the contest was the fact that the same persons led in both contests.

In the High School favorite selection for girls, the two leading girls had the same number of votes.

Results of the contest were: Most Exemplary boy and girl: Fred Koberg, 132; R. V. Jones, 70; Jane Tinsley, 129; Dorothy Dublin, 92.

For the boys Joe Edward Davis tied with Jack Dean for third place, and Cecil Reid was fourth. In the girls' division, Ole Mae Hartman was third; Hazel Smith fourth, and Ruth Millington fifth.

Results of the high school favorite voting: Fred Koberg, 145; Cecil Reid, 64; Jane Tinsley, 111; Modesta Good, 111; Hazel Smith, 63; Fred Townsend ran third and R. V. Jones fourth in the boys' group. Dorothy Dublin was fourth in the girls' race.

More than 40 students were nominated in each division of the contest. The two highest in each division of the contest will be in a run-off which will be held the first part of next week. The results of the run-off will be announced in the Senior edition.

Shots From The Showers

Going Youder

Cecil Reid; Yes sir, "Cy" held the limelight the past week by clocking a new District 8 record for the mile run.

The gangling miller hacked off four and one-half seconds from his old record of 4:48.3 set two years ago, lowering it to 4:42.5. Three other millers touched the tape under five minutes but were far in the rear when Reid crossed the line. Shannon from Merkel, last year's winner, staggered over the line in 4:54.2.

D. H. "Chubby" Reed, who I am sure never started in the mile run, is very optimistic over Cecil's chance in the state meet to be held in Austin May 4, 5, 6.

Monopoly On Fourth Place

Fourth place seemed to be a favored position in the rest of the events entered by the Steer team. George Neel trailed fourth in the 220 yard hurdles; Charley Vines in the 880 yard dash; Livian "Babe" Harris disputed fourth place with Mitchell of Wylie at 148 feet, 11 inches.

Eighteen teams participated in the scoring, from an entry list of more than forty schools. The points were distributed as follows: Abilene 30, Roian 20, Snyder 19, Baird 14-2, Albany 12, Big Spring 7-1-2, Hobbs 7-1-2, Roscoe 7, Dunn 6-1-2, Merkel 6 Putnam 6, Old Clifton 5-1-2, Truscott 5, Colorado 2, Porran 2, Ftuvanna 2, Goree 1, and Wylie 1-2.

Defending champions for ten events were present, but only four of them repeated—Ashley of Dunn in the hurdles, McClinton of Snyder in the low hurdles, the Abilene relay team, and Little of Putnam, who tied for first in the high jump. Those beaten were Ashley in the pole vault, Mitchell of Albany in the 440, Shannon of Merkel in the mile, Wade of Rotan in the broad jump, and Harris of Big Spring in the javelin. Stagner of Colorado, the tenth, did not enter the 880.

What's This

While bi-district plans are rapidly going forward, I should like to make a correction in behalf of our net coach, Wayne Mathews.

In Sports Palaver, published in the Abilene Battery, our tennis coach was referred to as a Mr. Hutto. After reading the young fellow's remarks I came to the conclusion that the only accurate statement was Big Spring played tennis.

Thank Goodness

For the present we seem to be rid of Bloddy Cross Abilene, San Angelo, and Texon have him going in whirle over the West Texas baseball proposition.

I have seen so much about baseball in the San Angelo morning and evening papers that if I live to be a century, I think I shall never forget the West Texas League, especially Texon.

Catholic Pastor Talks To Students

Last Wednesday in chapel Father Francis of St. Thomas Catholic Church spoke to the students of the High School on "Habits" that make and their breaking. Habits are made by repeating an action many times; good habits, by repeating good actions, and bad habits by repeating bad actions. It takes the same number of actions good or bad to break a habit as it took to make that same habit. One should be very careful in his actions, because it is so easy to form a habit before you are aware of it.

The talk was enjoyed very much by all of the listeners and everyone received material benefit from it. Father Francis' pleasing personality and voice added to the force of his message.

Tennis Trophy Won By Jordan, Davis Presented

The tennis trophy for the doubles team in tennis was awarded to Big Spring High School in assembly Wednesday. This was brought to Big Spring by Harry Jordan and Joe Edward Davis by virtue of their recent victory in the Abilene meet.

The Calves and Monkeys, the junior teams of high school, were also presented the rewards which they had won in the county meet. They took the county track and field meet for the third straight time. The reward for the county spelling contest was also presented to the students.

Typists Capture Colorado Honors

The Big Spring Typing team which went to Colorado April 8 to a district tournament and brought back a number of honors was presented with first place trophies in assembly Thursday. Mona Jean Turner took first place in individual honors. A Colorado girl took second, Jane Tinsley third, and Margaret MacDonald, fourth. Our team won first place in team honors and Colorado second. This is the second consecutive year that the team has won the beautiful plaque given to the winning team of district 14. If the team is successful next year the plaque will become the permanent possession of B. S. H. S.
