Hurricane Beulah Is Driving to Mainland

Western Cuba Target For Growing Monster

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Beulah, packing 85 m.p.h. winds and growing stronger each hour, threatened western Cuba today on a course toward the narrow Yucatan Channel that could box it in the Gulf of Mexico and make it a threat to the U.S. mainland.

The killer storm, regaining much of the punch it lost if a damaging sweep past the Virgin Islands, is expected to reach the warm waters of the Gulf after the next 24 hours.

"Once it gets boxed in, it practically has to make a landfall somewhere," according to hurricane forecaster Joe Pelissier. He predicted the storm could reach a velocity of 110 m.p.h. before it hits western Cuba in the next 24 hours.

Beulah, which left 18 dead and heavy crop damage in the islands to the southeast, is expected to move between Grand Cayman and Swan Island, threatening western Cuba from the Isle of Pines westward across the Yucatan Channel including the eastern shore of the Yucatan Peninsula.

At 6 a.m. EDT the center of Beulah was located near latitude 18.0 north, longitude 82.0 west, or about 100 miles south-southwest of Grand Cayman, 360 miles south of Havana and 550 miles south-southwest of Miami.

It was moving toward the northwest at 10 m.p.h., and no change in direction was forecast for the next 24 hours.

Hurricane Doria, carrying winds up to 90 m.p.h. began menacing the East and New England Coasts, causing rough seas along the coasts and shipping lanes, heavy surf and rising tides.

Gale warnings were hoisted from Provincetown, Mass., to Block Island, R.I. and small craft warnings were in effect elsewhere along the East Coast from Portland, Me., southward to Cap Hatteras, N.C.

At 6 a.m. EDT, ship reports positioned Doria near latitude 38.6 north, longitude 67.3 west or about 415 miles east of Ocean City, Md.

Doria was moving slowly northwest and is expected to become stationary late tonight and Saturday.

Hurricane Chloe, a 6 a.m. EDT, was far out into the Atlantic about 540 miles east of Bermuda and its 110 m.p.h. winds were no threat to any land mass. The storm was positioned at near latitude 32.7 north, longitude 55.2 west or about 540 miles west of Bermuda.

The first injunction issued in the Detroit area Thursday ordered 211 teachers back to class in suburban Crestwood.

Circuit Court Judge Joseph A. Moynihan Jr., in issuing the back-to-work injunction, warned the Michigan Education Association to "counsel and advise" its members to accept the order.

Moynihan's directive apparently was aimed at heading off any mass resignation by Crestwood teachers. Similar action was taken by 220 teachers in the Beecher district north of Flint Tuesday.

The Beecher teachers reached agreement Thursday on a contract.

Another suburban Detroit district, Birmingham, was seeking an injunction today to force 775 teachers to work.

The Michigan Supreme court earlier this week upheld the right of school districts to seek such injunctions.

James Hoffa Fails to Get New Hearing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Imprisoned Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, convicted three years ago of jury tampering, Thursday lost his latest bid for a new trial.

In a 2-to-1 decision, the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals denied the new trial appeal, based on "newly discovered evidence of alleged misconduct by the jurors" who convicted him.

Hoffa, sentenced to an eight year term in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., contended that federal marshals in his 1964 trial at Chattanooga, Tenn., obtained call girls and liquor for the jurors.

Hoffa's appeal also said U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson of Chattanooga made biased remarks during the trial and should have been disqualified.

The appellate court upheld Judge Wilson's decision that Hoffa's "misconduct of jurors" charges had no basis in fact.

MD Collections Gratifying In Local Drive

A sum of $1,552.52 has been collected by the Greater Plains Chapter for Muscular Dystrophy in their drive.

The drive, scheduled to end last Thursday, was extended until Tuesday and further extended until yesterday to allow time for all kits to be collected.

More than $900 had been collected by last Thursday night after the door-to-door drive.

"The door-to-door drive usually climaxes a local drive," a Pampa spokesman said, "but in this case we had to keep extending the drive in order to give time for all the kits to come in."

Three fourths of funds collected locally will go to the National Research Foundation for Muscular Dystrophy. The other money will be used locally to help victims in the Greater Plains area buy needed equipment. There are approximately 12 muscular dystrophy victims

STRIKE HANGS ON

Detroit Schools May Not Open Doors Soon

DETROIT (UPI)—It may be Thanksgiving before 300,000 Detroit children can go to school unless salary demands made by striking teachers are submitted to immediate arbitration, a factfinder in the dispute said Thursday.

Ronald Haughton, assigned to study the issues in the Detroit dispute—one of 13 keeping 400,000 Michigan children out of school—said the present negotiations, without outside help, "could well drift into an 8 or 10 week stoppage unless drastic action is taken."

New York Will Try To Demand Jail Sentences

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three officers of the United Federation of Teachers, whose 50,000 striking members have plunged the New York City school system into turmoil, appear in court today to learn whether they will be jailed and fined for criminal contempt.

The men, union president Albert Shanker, vice president George Altomare and treasurer David Wittes, could each be jailed for 30 days and fined $250 for disregarding a court order that teachers return to work.

A new state law that prohibits work stoppages by public employees also carries with it a $10,000 a day penalty against a striking union.

State Supreme Court Justice Emilio Nunez, who called the teachers' mass resignation a strike, ordered the men to appear without fail today, hinting jail sentences might be

Union, Ford Talk Today

DETROIT (UPI)—The Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers today begin the first full-scale negotiations since the giant auto maker was closed by a nationwide UAW strike Sept. 6.

Both Ford and the union seemed resigned to a long and costly walkout and today's bargaining was not covering the main issue, money.

Bargainers concerned themselves today with procedural problems and work standards. The union has demanded a "substantial" pay increase based on profit sharing and a guaranteed income plan was still on the table. Ford rejected the union proposal.

The UAW's 160,000 members walked picket lines in 25 states. They have lost more than $41 million in wages since the walkout began.

Today was the final payday for Ford workers and this week's check, the last for possibly many days, was an abbreviated one covering only the first days of last week before the strike started.

The damage to the nation's economy continued to mount with hundreds of workers in connected industries idled by the strike. The other major auto producers, General Motors Corp.

Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp., continued turning out cars uninterrupted. AMC's contract expires in mid-October, Chrysler and GM workers are working with a contract.

The strike is costing the UAW more than $4 million a week in wage, most of the money going to benefits to the strikers.

Before the walkout began the union had piled up a $67 million strike fund.

The union has called a special convention for Oct. 8 to levy a dues assessment on the UAW members still at work. It was expected those workers would be asked to contribute $1 a day to beef up the strike fund.

CONTROL SOON RESTORED

Rioting Moves Into South Chicago Area

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police battled window-smashing, rock-throwing Negro youths for eight hours Thursday night. Today they launched a full investigation into charges of police brutality, the apparent reason for the melee.

At least 11 persons were hurt, five of them policemen, in the south side disturbance which was brought under control with the help of street-savvy Negro youth gang leaders at about 11 p.m. At least 44 arrests were made.

Scattered sniper fire was reported in the disturbance, which began with a rally protesting alleged police brutality.

Members of the dispersing crowds were overheard saying they would return "in full strength to burn whitey's business and kill whitey."

A total of 265 police were poured into the area around Forrestville High School, an area where black power groups have held weekly street corner rallies.

The area was cordoned off and all businesses, except one grocery, were closed. Police, when not battling rock-throwing youths, moved up and down the streets using bull horns to urge residents to stay off the streets.

Leaders of Negro youth gangs helped in the effort.

The disturbance began at mid-afternoon when a Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee rally ended just as some students were leaving classes at the school. Persons in the crowd began stoning passing cars and city buses. Police were called and the missiles were aimed at the officers and patrol cars.

Larry Walton, 21, who was arrested, identified himself as a representative of SNCC. He said the rally was called to protest the alleged beating by police of Corrine Roby, 18, Thursday.

Unsigned, crudely lettered mimeographed leaflets were distributed before the disturbance, saying, "police Tom squad . . . beat and kick black brothers and sisters at Forrestville School. How long are we going to take this?"

"Black agitators from Chicago and outside of Chicago are stirring them up," said State Sen. Charles Chew, a Negro who was at the scene.

Church Council Lends Support to Milwaukee Riots

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Open housing militants demonstrated for the 18th successive night Thursday but stayed away from the city's "Mason-Dixon line," easing tempers on the near South Side where white rioting broke out the night before.

National Council of Churches representatives today were rallying to the open housing cause of the Rev. James Groppi and planned to have a sizeable delegation on hand for the weekend. White counter-demonstrators said they were going to expand their efforts tonight.

Riot-equipped police, walking 8 to 10 in a group and yelling through bullhorns at young whites to keep moving, kept order in a violence-scarred six-block area of south 16th street between National and Greenfield Avenues.

At least five persons were arrested Thursday. But there was no repeat of Wednesday night's battle between police and whites.

Negro entertainer Dick Gregory led the march. Father Groppi, a white priest who has sparked the marathon demonstrations which began Aug. 28, stayed at St. Boniface.

Rap Brown Stays In Virginia Jail On Arson Charge

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI)—An Alexandria judge has again refused to set bond for H. Rap Brown, leaving the black power militant facing the prospect of several weeks in jail while a Maryland extradition request is processed.

Corporation Court Judge Franklin P. Backus Thursday reaffirmed his ruling of the previous day that Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, is ineligible for bond under an extradition warrant.

Brown, who is being held in Richmond, Va., under the warrant, faces charges of inciting to arson and of riot in Cambridge, Md.

Backus deferred a ruling until Monday at the latest on a defense motion to return Brown to the Alexandria jail. City authorities testified Brown was moved to the Richmond jail because threats had been made against him and it was felt he could be better protected there.

U.S. spokesmen said Air Force F4 Phantoms, the fastest American plane in the war, streaked over the DMZ at low altitude and spotted the three missile launchers. One of the Surface to Air Missile (SAM) sites lay only three miles north of the DMZ. It was in an ideal position to hit the E52s.

The Phantom pilots blasted each of the three SAM launchers, clearing the way for the B52 raids today.

U.S. commanders rushed in one battalion and then another 800-man unit to reinforce the Americans fighting on the banks of the Rach Ba River. The battle raged throughout today, spokesmen said.

The 9th Division force the past three days killed 134 Viet Cong and suffered nine men killed and 21 wounded in its Operation Coronado drive. The Communists caught the battalion as the GIs were charging onto the banks from assault craft protected by gunboats modeled on the American Civil War Mississippi River craft.

Business Group Proposes Sale Jr. High Building to Chain

Pampa school trustees considered a resolution yesterday from the Downtown Business Association to sell Pampa Junior High School property, and build a new junior high school. Trustees set Sept. 28 as the date for a public, called meeting to discuss the proposal.

Ray Duncan, DBA president, explained a "large national chain department store has expressed an interest in the property as a location for its proposed new store."

Duncan stated a resolution explaining the store's offer was mailed to 175 downtown Pampa businessmen and property owners and received 92.6 per cent returns in favor of the sale.

Duncan explained "it would be more economically feasible to build a new junior high school if the present property could be sold for an equitable price and the land and improvements entered on school district tax rolls."

School trustee, Dr. R. M. Hampton, said the board did not want public support of a school bond issue to hinge on selling the property to one company and asked Duncan if building the new junior-high depended on selling the present property to one company.

Board President, H. C. Grady Jr., asked "What happens if we make this offer and you (Pampa businessmen and property owners) turn down our bond issue?"

Hampton added, "If we don't pass our bond issue, and have sold the land we won't have any place to go."

Duncan explained the "contract could be written to depend on the bond issue passing. If the bond issue is voted down, the deal is off."

Grady said the board had not planned to take immediate action on the resolution but would set an open, called meeting to consider the sale suggestion.

Other DBA representatives attending yesterday were Bill Monroe and Gary Baker.

U.S. Forces Repulse North Viet Invasion

SAIGON (UPI) — American forces smashed a major North Vietnamese invasion threat on South Vietnam's northern frontier, but near Saigon today Communist guerrillas caught an 800-man U.S. Army force in a machine gun and recoilless rifle barrage, military spokesmen said.

"They said a massive land, sea and air blitz thwarted plans by 35,000 North Vietnamese troops to sweep away U.S. Marine forces guarding the northern frontier. But North Vietnamese artillery fire has killed 21 Leathernecks and wounded 169 others the past three days in the border battle," the spokesmen said.

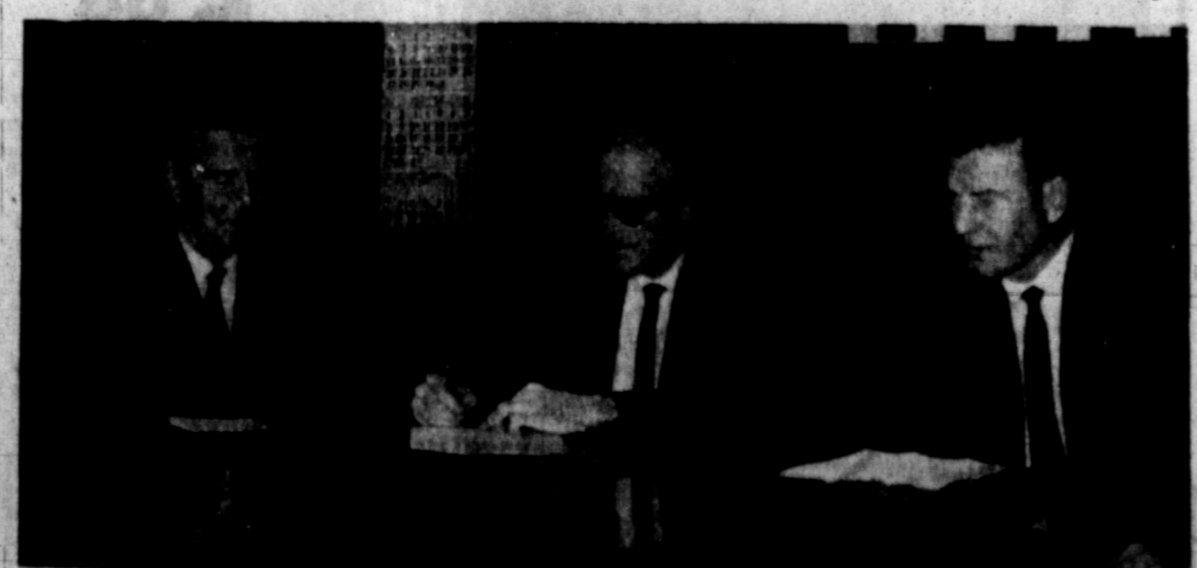

In the Mekong Delta, 45 miles southwest of Saigon, the guerrillas raked with fire a U.S. Army 9th Infantry Division battalion storming ashore in an anti-Viet Cong drive.

There was no immediate report on casualties.

U.S. commanders rushed in one battalion and then another 800-man unit to reinforce the Americans fighting on the banks of the Rach Ba River. The battle raged throughout today, spokesmen said.

The 9th Division force the past three days killed 134 Viet Cong and suffered nine men killed and 21 wounded in its Operation Coronado drive. DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and my wife is 45. We have five wonderful children, are quite well-to-do, and live in a lovely large home. Last summer we met a handsome lieutenant in church and invited him for dinner. Being a lonely bachelor, he soon became a regular dinner guest. Then week-ends, three months ago he left the navy and decided to locate in Norfolk permanently, so we invited him to live with us until he became established. Well, you know the rest. By the time I caught on, things had gone too far.

In order to save our marriage I sought counsel from our pastor and tried to reason with my wife, who insisted all along that the lieutenant was only a "friend" whom she loved "like a son." (He is 29!) Meanwhile he had ingratiated himself with our children, buying them gifts, etc. (He has money.)

Finally, we had a showdown, and I threw the lieutenant out of our home. Now my wife will have nothing whatsoever to do with me. She has turned "his" room into a "shrine." She sleeps in his bed and has pictures of him all over. She writes to him daily. (He left town.) I think they are planning something.

Abby, I still love my wife. I have stayed away from lawyers because I don't want a divorce, but no man should be expected to put up with this. What do you suggest?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: I suggest you see a lawyer, and tell him you don't want a divorce. In the meantime take your cues from your lawyer and play the waiting game.

Your wife may regain her senses. And the lieutenant may regain his, too. I'd bet against his taking on a 45-year-old mother of five permanently.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received an "invitation" to a surprise party, honoring another couple on their 25th wedding anniversary. It was to be held at a supper club, and on the bottom was written, "If you care to join us at your own expense, please call (Phone number) RSVP." The phone number happened to be the daughter of the "honored couple." She's no kid. She's a married woman. I have never heard of an invitation to a party at "one's own expense."

On MY 25th wedding anniversary, I had an open house, and I invited guests at MY expense. Would you call this "join us at your expense" type invitation proper? Or am I an old fuddy duddy?

AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: When one is "invited" to a "party" at his own expense, he is not a guest, he's a donor.

DEAR ABBY: My problem will probably sound like it's from a 6-year-old, but I am a married woman with two children. I have a terrible fear of dentists. I keep making appointments and canceling them at the last minute because of this awful fear.

I begged my dentist to put me to sleep for any dental work he has to do, but he says he can't put me to sleep just to fill a few cavities.

He gave me four needles once and I still feel the pain. Every time he comes near me with that drill I freeze up.

I have nice teeth, but I know I won't have them long if I don't get over this fear. Do you have any ideas?

PETRIIFIED

DEAR PETRIIFIED: Your dentist obviously is not trained in therapeutic hypnosis or he surely would have suggested it for you. Ask him to refer you to a dentist who is. I'm sure your dentist won't mind losing a patient who has consistently canceled out at the last minute.

School Board Plans Public Join In New Building Talk

Pampa school board members skipped several items yesterday in their regular meeting and plan to discuss them at an open called meeting at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 28. In the called meeting they will consider a suggestion to sell Pampa Junior High School for money to build a new junior high school building.

One of the agenda items omitted yesterday was discussion of plans to attend the 1967 annual convention of Texas Association of School Administrators and Texas Association of School Boards Sept. 24 to 25 in Austin.

They also may consider revision of school district policy and administrative procedures, construction bids for a wire fence around the football field and south exterior fence along Decatur St. and consider plans for adult night school classes at Pampa High School.

Trustees are also to hear report from Homer Craig, business manager, and James Truist, assistant business manager on delinquent tax collections and cafeteria operations.

Board members will also hear plans for the Division of School Accreditation, Texas Education Agency's visit to Pampa Schools in November.

In the meeting yesterday, trustees approved a request for a tutor for homebound student, and were advised by the two junior high school principals, Paul Payne and Jack Nichols, of the discontinuance of junior high school annuals.

Payne and Nichols explained the discontinuance is necessary because it is difficult to secure a teacher as sponsor, and a photographer to process the pictures. The board decided not to override the administrative decision.

Trustees approved Dr. John Damron, school superintendent's request to serve in visiting committees for Follett Schools Sept. 17 to 19 and for Abilene Christian College Oct. 31 to Nov. 2.

The board also approved substitute teachers for 1967-68, discussed driver education expenditures a request from approved Henry E. Trujillo of Pueblo, Colo. to intern four months on a Leadership Fellows program.

Dr. Damron reported the district has registered about 30 more students since the last enrollment count of 5,939 Sept. 8.

Five Named As Reading Specialists

Dr. John Damron, school superintendent, learned today five Pampa school representatives have received reading specialist endorsements from the School for Teacher Education at West Texas State University.

The five are Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, elementary education consultant; Mrs. Wilsam Hill, a Mrs. Cressie Hood, Sam Houston Elementary School PESO reading teacher; Mrs. Beulah Pyeatt, reading teacher at Larar Elementary School and Mrs. F. A. es Duncan, Travis Elementary School reading teacher.

The Pampa school representatives were among the first group to complete the requirements this summer at Canyon.

To qualify, they must have a master's degree, or pass an examination on reading methods, learning disabilities, testing and evaluation, and advance education psychology with emphasis on human growth and development.

In addition, they must have completed 12 hours of graduate study above the masters degree. The 12 hours would be in problems of teaching reading, diagnosis and correction of reading disabilities, supervision and curriculum development in reading. They must also participate in a clinical seminar and a practicum in corrective reading.

In the practicum, they taught this summer in Amarillo schools with supervision of reading specialists and also spent an hour a day in clinical seminars with several reading specialists from over the United States.

Kenneth M. Laycock, dean of the WTSU School of Teacher Education, said a certificate of the course will be sent to the Pampa specialists.

imposed. "Suppose I want to remand (jail) them immediately?" Nunez asked Thursday. "That is a possibility. I don't like to sentence a man in absentia."

Meanwhile, as prospects grew increasingly dim for swift settlement of the five day walkout that has disrupted the classroom schedules of more than 1 million public school pupils in the nation's largest school system, tempers of some parents were wearing thin.

Thursday night 12 Negroes were arrested when they condescended a sitpin at the Brooklyn office of Nathan Brown, acting school superintendent. The parents who were charged with criminal trespassing, met with Brown to demand more Negro parental control over schools in the city's ghettos and an active part in negotiations to end the current strike.

The angry parents grappled with police and shouted oaths as they successfully trapped the acting superintendent in his office for one hour before police could rescue him. The enraged parents refused an offer by Brown to drop charges if they would leave peacefully.

Shanker said if the union leaders were jailed, the already critical situation would worsen. He said the strike "could last a

Scientists to Study Matter Lesson Topic

The Bible lesson entitled "Matter," which will be heard in all Christian Science churches Sunday, emphasizes the importance of looking to God for guidance in human affairs.

These verses from Exodus, Ch. 20, will be included in the Bible readings: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Ye shall not make with me gods of silver, neither shall ye make unto you gods of gold."

Related selections to be read from the denomination's textbook will include the following: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity. . . . To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God." (science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy).

Apathy Is Greatest Barrier to Union of Protestant Churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Apathy rather than outright opposition may be the most formidable barrier to creation of a United Protestant Church in America.

Negotiations for establishment of such a church are far advanced among leaders of 10 major denominations. But they may find that they've moved farther and faster than their people are prepared to follow.

The merger talks have been underway since 1962 in a special forum called "The Consultation on Church Union"—COCU for short. COCU is a relatively small body; each denomination is represented by a nine-member delegation. It has attracted some of the ablest theologians, pastors and administrators in U.S. Protestantism.

It has now reached the point where further progress will require definite commitments by the national conventions which are the supreme governing bodies of the denominations concerned.

The first actual text will come at the general convention of the Episcopal Church, which convenes Sunday (Sept. 17) in Seattle.

Authorize Plan
Episcopalians will not be asked to say that they positively will become part of the United Church. The only step necessary at this point is formal authorization for COCU delegates to proceed with the drafting of a detailed "plan of union" which would be submitted to all of the denominations for ratification.

back out, but not without causing hard feelings.

Thus the Episcopal convention will be confronted with the question: "Are you really serious about this merger business or have you just been flitting around with the idea?"

Not one can foretell what the answer will be. Episcopalians have a reputation for embarking enthusiastically upon ecumenical ventures. And then getting cold feet when the moment of truth arrives.

If they do it again, it will not be attributable to any strong, organized opposition to the union proposal. The only articulate criticism of COCU has come from the extreme "high church" of Anglo-Catholic faction of the denomination, which is relatively small and which is usually heavily outvoted at Episcopal conventions.

What could sink the enterprise is an attitude expressed by the Rev. Warner C. White, an Episcopal priest in Chicago, in a recent letter to the editor of the Christian Century.

"I find that I cannot get excited about institutional union," said F. R. White. "I am more interested in the reform of our institutions than I am in their unification unreformed."

This attitude seems to be widespread, particularly among younger clergymen, not only in the Episcopal Church but in all the other denominations. Union proposals are viewed as a mere tinkering with institutional machinery—a device for achieving mere bigness rather than the radical reforms which are needed to adapt the church for effective service in the contemporary world.

Harrah Methodist to Start Series Of Films on 'The Life of Paul'

This Sunday night's evening worship service at Harrah Methodist Church, 639 S. Barnes, at 6:30 p.m. launches the fall program with the first in a 12 film presentation of "The Life of Paul" series.

This Sunday night's film is "Stephen, The First Christian Martyr," and is based on the scripture taken from the Book of Acts 5:12-42; 6:7-51 through 8:5.

Proceeding the film's showing, Rev. Walter G. White will preach on "Meet Stephen," and following the film there is to be audience discussion of both scripture and film.

Also for the first evening of this film series, the official board of Harrah Methodist Church will host an all-church fellowship dinner. They will furnish fried chicken, drinks and desserts, and the congregation will bring two vegetable dishes per family.

"Come for the film, and stay for the dinner" is the invitation Rev. White made to everyone.

Rev. White will preach at the morning worship service at 10:55 a.m. on the topic, "The Theology of Detroit." Ronnie Jones is the guest organist for the service. The public is invited.

Witnesses Change Time Of Meetings

Jehovah's Witnesses changed the time of their Sunday meetings to 9:30 a.m. beginning this week. The morning service will make it convenient for more people to attend the public talk, according to Charles Regal, presiding minister.

Roy Zetterburg, associate minister of the Shattuck, Okla. congregation, will deliver the address, entitled "The Meaning of Christ's Return."

"Jesus promised his followers he would come again and evidence is that Christ has returned. His return does not mean he physically comes to earth, so it will be of interest to see the Bible's view of how he has made a second presence," Zetterburg said.

Regal, in announcing the change of the meetings to 9:30 in the morning, urged those attending to prepare for question and answer coverage of the article, "The Way to Security," in the Aug. 15, 1967 Watchtower magazine. This study begins at 10:30 a.m.

Church to Elect Slate of Officers

LEFORS — New workers at the Baptist Church are being elected for the new church year, starting Oct. 1. Promotion Day will be observed then and a full corps of officers and teachers will be serving for the new year.

Revival time is also the first week in October. Bill Penland, pastor of the Skellytown First Baptist Church, will preach the services.

Rev. Ed Spivey was recently elected president of the Pan-Fork Baptist Encampment. Plans are being made for 1,000 or more persons to attend next year's encampment.

Mrs. B. J. Spradlin was guest to the WMS Ladies Sept. 5 for a supper and program in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Spradlin showed films and gave a talk on her stay in Libya, where her husband was employed by an oil company.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. Amos Harris
Pampa Chapel of Apostolic Faith
THE PRINCE OF PEACE

Peace seems only to be a hope in the world today. Because of the attitude of nations, wars and rumors of wars. Not only in the affairs of nations does peace seem to be impossible, but also in the lives of individuals, because of doubts, fears, unbelief, sins, uncertainties, family problems and pressures of life today.

Nations hope for peace and everyone longs for peace of mind. "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulder and his name shall be called, Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father and the PRINCE OF PEACE. Isaiah 9:6. Isaiah prophesied to his people and to the world, that some day a son would be born, which would bring Peace.

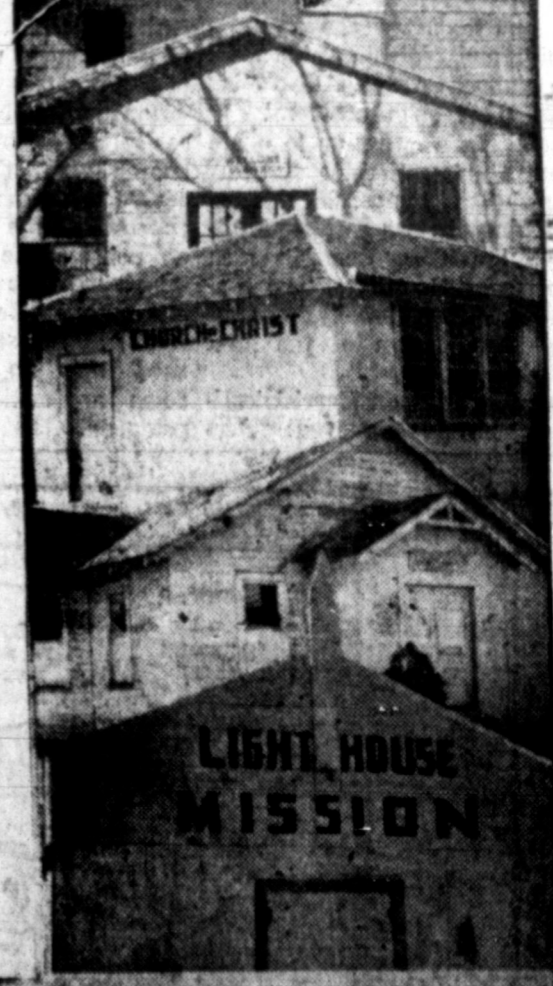

When Jesus was born, the angels proclaimed; Glory to God in the Highest and on earth, Peace Good Will toward men Luke 2:14. There can be peace of mind for the world, but only through the Prince of Peace. Jesus longs to bring Peace to you regardless of your needs, as you are on the sea of life. You have turned to every source but Jesus. Call upon Him and he will bring peace to you. "And He arose and rebuked the wind and said unto the sea, "Peace be Still" the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.

And He said unto them, why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith? Mark 4:29, 40.

Lord Give us the faith we need to believe thy word. "These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace, in the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world. John 16:33

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled neither let it be afraid. John 14:27.

Truly He is the Prince of Peace and will bring peace to you if you will only believe.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Happy Birthday!

As numbers go, 92 seems "betwixt and between"—two years past one benchmark and three short of the next.

Yet, in the life of a man, 92 holds marked significance. And this is especially true for James Cash Penney, who will observe his 92nd birthday tomorrow.

For Mr. Penney, 92 is important in and of itself. But more than this, 92 represents another step on the way to the century mark, which Mr. Penney fully expects to reach.

People inside and outside J. C. Penney Co. in the Pampa store and across the nation know that the founder of the department store chain is not going to stand still and wait for 100 to arrive, for activity continues to characterize his life.

While Mr. Penney has not been involved in direct management of the company for many years, he continues to serve as a director and is deeply interested in the firm's continued progress. His office in the 45-story Penney Building in New York City is for work, not show. There he works on his own business interests and maintains heavy correspondence with friends throughout the country. In addition, one of Mr. Penney's lifetime interests has been cattle-breeding, and he currently maintains a farm in upstate New York with an outstanding herd of purebred Angus cattle.

No, James Cash Penney definitely will not idly wait for 100 to get here. His current preoccupation as he approaches 92 is to make sure the year will be a full and satisfying one.

Government Book Control

When even the "liberals" begin to be concerned about the growing bureaucratic control of reading matter, it is time to sit up and take notice. It is a well-known fact that many if not most school textbooks and books placed in "public" libraries are written or selected to reflect the political line while downgrading the ideas of individual freedom and the free market economy.

Not so well-known is the fact that many books bought from public bookstores or newsstands, as well as those ordered by mail, have been secretly subsidized by the government and thus, their contents in varying degrees controlled.

Two government agencies, the USIA and the CIA, seem to have been particularly active in this field. And even the notoriously "liberal" Washington Post is beginning to show some concern. In an article written by Geoffrey Wolff entitled "Government Book Control—How the USIA and CIA Use Private Publishers to Influence Public Opinion," the post documented case after case of the government subsidizing, censoring, and influencing the contents and distribution of books.

"There is much evidence," Wolff wrote, "that books are used increasingly as engines of propaganda, that highly-placed persons are pre-censoring books they find repellent or embarrassing, and that they are commissioning and controlling the writing of books without disclosing the facts of such control."

Wolff then went on to quote Reed Harris, director of USIA Information Center Service, as admitting before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations that, "we control the things (books) from the very idea down to the final edited manuscript."

Commenting on Harris' testimony, Wolff observed: "Perhaps the books are accurate and valuable, perhaps they are self-serving or meretricious; what is certain is that they do not tell the reader what he surely wants to know: that they are works which the USIA admits would never have been written without government support and would not have been released by a commercial publishing house without subsidization—either because they were unworthy of publication or they were unmarketable."

The CIA, despite the fact that it is unlawful for this agency to operate in an intelligence-gathering of information-disseminating capacity in the United States, appears also to be deeply involved. . . in addition to the recent scandal about its financial support of the politically active National Student Association.

"Recently, for example," the Post article charged, "Mr. George Carver wrote for highly respected (sic) periodical Foreign Affairs an article supporting our official policy toward North and South Vietnam. Mr. Carver is with the CIA, but this crucial information was not related by Foreign Affairs. Worse, it is possible that it (the information) was not given to the magazine."

There was much more information in the Post article showing that, without doubt, the government is deeply and persistently involved in attempts at thought control using, of course, your tax money.

However, all of this is not really surprising. We should know by now that, when some people are given the power to appropriate the earnings of other people, the funds thus obtained will be used to expand and perpetuate the system while, at the same time, being used also to silence or play down any criticism of what is going on.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Harry Tammen, one of the colorful founders of the Denver, Colo., POST, was a boy at heart. He always wanted to own a circus and when he became affluent he bought the Sells Bros. show, then one of the nation's largest. The sports editor of the POST in those days was a fellow named Otto Floto. His name intrigued Tammen to the point where the circus owner changed the name of his three-ring extravaganza to the Sells-Floto Circus, and it toured the country for many years under the billing, Floto, of course, had nothing to do with running the tent show. . . . Incidentally, Sells-Floto once set an all-time record for paying a circus performer when they engaged Tom Mix, the movie cowboy, to tour for a season at $25,000 a week.

Today's smile: Two fishermen sitting on a dock with their lines in the water, made a bet as to who would catch the first fish. One got a bite and became so excited he fell off the dock. The other disgustingly reached for the bottle of scotch they had been nibbling, took a long swig, and said to his pal: "Okay, if you're going to dive for them the bet's off."

U. S. Senators are always pictured in the movies and cartoons as being inveterate cigar smokers. Yet, one of the rules of that august body forbids smoking in the elevators, corridors or passageways of the Senate wing of the Capitol. Somehow we think that is one rule that is never observed.

Thoughts while shaving: Herodotus, the ancient Greek historian, never had anything to do with our postal system, but he is credited with coining the well-known quote about mail carriers: "Neither rain nor snow nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." Lucky for Herodotus that he isn't living in this era of the zip code because he might very well change his opinion of postal efficiency. . . .

A health insurance executive reports that women are ill more often than men, but their illnesses are less important from the standpoint of endangering life. . . . Apple pie has long been acknowledged as America's favorite dessert, and according to a dietitian friend, there are at least 31 recipes for making it. She told us the first apple pie was made for George Washington by a cook at Mount Vernon. . . . Although you hear about the discomfort of hay fever sufferers, you seldom read about those allergic to poison ivy, sumac, or any of the other plants or vines that can cause human discomfort. It is estimated more than the million persons contract ivy poisoning every summer between May and October. ## Sending a Saddle Home

By BRANCH HEAD BALL
MY uncle Walt has always had a side saddle . . . up till now. He kept it in his store for a long time but he didn't try hard to sell it to nobody, because he just knows that "everybody ort to have at least one side saddle."

But the important part of it was the day I found out that the side-saddle didn't even belong to Walt in the first place. Turns out, he borrowed it because — like I said — he had been trained up to the idea by Grandpa Bill Grimes that you jest natcherly need to have a side saddle handy in case you need one and don't have none, so natcherly he had to borrow one. The fact he didn't have no horse, and not even no mule no more, didn't cut no ice with Walt. He jest couldn't stand the miserable thought of needin to have a side-saddle handy and not have none. So he had went across the river and he borrowed a side saddle from his Cousin Fess.

The way it happened that I found out whose saddle that side-saddle really was, was when I walked up to the store one Saturday and found Walt a-scramblin around in back of the counter draggin that ridin saddle down from off the peg where it hung on the wall. He took it on out on the porch and he started in a-cleaning and a-polishin it and he didn't say nothing. Jest set there polishin on that ole saddle. He didn't say nothing, not until I ast him what it was he was up to. . . .

"Uncle Walt, what you aimin to do with that ole side saddle? I said to him. And he said, "Im fixin to send it home, is what. And that's when I come into knowledge of the fact that he borrowed the saddle from Fess.

"How come you all of a sudden decided to send it home? I ast him. "Well, son, Ill tell you, he told me, "your Cousin Fess and I has always been mighty good friends, in spite of the fact that we was cousins. But now he has turned out to be a powerful bad disappointment to me. So natcherly I got to send his side saddle back home."

When I finally hand picked all of the facks of it out — a n d which Walt ain't never been no easy pickins — it come out that Walt was mad at Fess because he had gone found out that Fess had went and voted for that Republican named Goldwater in the last President votin election. . . . and natcherly he couldnt keep right on being friends with no man, or even no woman, which had shamed us all by not casting his vote Democrat. way it always has been — and I record it always will be — with the folks "up around this backwater. When I first sprouted a little sense and come back home to the land, I went and borrowed a climbin stepladder from Cousin Ted for my ole lady to use for washin off the windows, and it was when I took it back home that I found out I had done played it and ripped it both. Right off, Jed wanted to know what it was that I was mad at him about. And the more I tried to tell him the difference the more he wouden have it. He said he knowed I was mad, about somethin or other or else I wouden insult him by bringin back his climbin ladder all of a sudden.

I felt so bad about it that I finally brought the ole climbin ladder back with me and it still standin out yonder against my shed. The last thang I aim to do is hurt ole Jed's feelings. I guess that he has got more borrowed stuff around his place, and more stuff loaned out and lying arund other folks places than nearly anybody in the county. . . . He shore has got a lotta friends, that boy!

At a large banquet several long-winded speakers had covered almost every subject possible. When yet another speaker rose, he said, "Mr. BLAND—It seems to me everything has already been talked about, but if someone will tell me what to talk about, I will be grateful."

Nothing But the Truth

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Get 'Em Back on the Ground I have been reading some interesting opinions on baseball and rioting lately but I still like my own best because I had them first. Now in this matter of boozing aboard the big flying machines which carry the major league ball clubs hither and yon and mostly at night, I have been making book that one of these trips, one of those hulks is going to take one godawful divert out of some sleeping suburb or if you want to make your own conditions, let us say no suburb but some tinderbox tenement or a traffic jam on Broadway and 47th Street, when the theatres are just letting out.

I am not wishing that way as I am sure all Pegler-lovers will be glad to concede because to know me is to realize that I have a heart of gold. I love people so much it damn near makes them sick. I have to restrain my love of the Human Race as I am told Lydia Pinkham had to when she was totting that covered basket of hers with those bottles of wonderful compound. When I was covering the Ivy League of Yale-Harvard-Princeton, we had a merry, innocent roundelay which we used to sing on the trains after football. It ran, "Let us sing, sing, sing of Lydia-Pinkham, and of her undying love for the human race. How she sold, how she sold her wonderful compound; and the papers, published her face."

This was the anthem of Williams College for a long time but then some dirty-minded Yankee beatnik up at Yale had to sex it up and the next thing we knew there were lib suits against a parody which had Lydia Pinkham up to mischief with Lord Jeffrey Amherst and Eli Yale.

Can you imagine those Yankee whiskeroos scandalizing three of the noblest Americans in the beautiful, historic annals of clean, health-giving American

Major league ball clubs ought to travel by train again and I would regale you with many happy memories of fights in the aisles between New York and Pittsburgh and St. Louis and then Chicago and finally Detroit. But that was down on good old Mother Earth, not ten miles up.

All right, just wait. I have never traveled baseball by air. The planes came after I was washed out, but it still scares me silly to think of some of those wild, bloody, alcoholic fights ten miles up. Especially on Martinis! Gosh!

One of the many problems with inflationary government policies is that, sooner or later, they begin to work against themselves. To some extent, at least, that's what appears to be happening now.

Since late last year the Federal Reserve System has been sharply expanding the supply of funds in the nation's banking system. The evident assumption was that this would stimulate home-building and other industries, not only because more money was available but also because its price—the interest rate—was lower.

But things haven't worked out quite that way. Interest rates on short-term investments of various types have indeed declined, but long-term rates have either held firm or actually moved upward in the face of the Fed's efforts. The prices of the Treasury's own long-term securities, which move in the opposite direction from interest rates, are near the lowest levels ever recorded.

The reason is fairly obvious: Investors are simply uncertain about the future. If they commit their funds for more than a few months they insist on a return large enough to offset the risks they believe lurk beyond the horizon.

One of the largest of these risks is that no investor can be sure exactly how much today's dollar will buy two or three years from now. With the Federal Reserve persistently inflating the money supply and the government running rising budget deficits, however, investors can be pretty sure that future prices are likely to be a good bit higher than those that prevail now—and they set the price of their funds accordingly.

The higher rates naturally are discouraging some borrowers, so the nation's supply of housing, factories and the like probably is growing somewhat more slowly than it would be in an atmosphere of stable prices. Instead of stimulating the economy, in other words, inflationary policies at the moment may well be retarding it.

Federal planners long since have become callous to the troubles of inflation's more publicized victims, such as those who try to stretch fixed incomes to cover soaring prices. But you'd think that even they could see the folly of measures that frustrate their own manipulative aims.

Just the same, flying machines do have a habit of losing altitude, as the airman so gently put it, when one of those things drops about 35,000 feet of altitude in about one minute. It is their term for "falling down."

Heck, I have been on a few of them which tossed off at least a mile of altitude in a few seconds; particularly around El Paso where the downdrafts used to whoosh out of caves and toss those DC-3's from peak to peak, especially in the dark of the moon.

I was on one that did that over the Coast of Spain coming in from the Atlantic one time and we took a chimney off the Ritz in Madrid before the guy could bring it under reins.

You, you know very well the time has got to come when one of those aerial Queen Mary's is going to come in hard — and wham! It is terrible to think of, and the air people are always thinking of it and trusting it will happen to Pegler instead. But I am so nonchalant that I have even quit buying life insurance out of the machines in the airports. They say I am just stingy. Imagine that! It is a risk under normal conditions, but I am telling you that when you get about a dozen major league ballplayers loaded on martinis, which are served with the standard dinner without extra charge, and these players have done some practice dramming on the bus out of pocket size samples on the way to the airport, and a dozen great hairy aces; pitchers, outfielders, catchers and so forth get into a row about a booboo back in the eighth inning then a ton of such meat gets rolling in the aisle at 600 miles an hour and that ship is a dead sure bet to tip over. I will not take you beyond this point in my moody speculations today. There is an extra charge for that.

Major league ball clubs ought to travel by train again and I would regale you with many happy memories of fights in the aisles between New York and Pittsburgh and St. Louis and then Chicago and finally Detroit. But that was down on good old Mother Earth, not ten miles up.

All right, just wait. I have never traveled baseball by air. The planes came after I was washed out, but it still scares me silly to think of some of those wild, bloody, alcoholic fights ten miles up. Especially on Martinis! Gosh!

The Interest In Inflation

One of the many problems with inflationary government policies is that, sooner or later, they begin to work against themselves. To some extent, at least, that's what appears to be happening now.

H. L. Hunt Writes

WITH THE ENEMY

An announcement was made recently of the formation of the Committee to End Aid to the Soviet Enemy (CEASE). This committee protests the growing U.S. efforts to trade with the Soviet Union. The State Department is strongly opposed to this committee, fearful that it may harm relations between the two countries. It is, however, time that the American people spoke out against the growth of U. S. trade with the Soviet Union.

When the U.S. first sold wheat to the Soviet Union in 1967 much opposition appeared. Now, however, little dissent is heard to United States trade with Russia and other communist bloc nations, although we are now actively at war with communism in Vietnam.

Serious consideration is even being given in Washington to a proposal to allow the Soviet Union to bid on constructing a generator for the Grand Coulee dam. This startling news together with the insistence by the State Department and the President that U. S. businessmen promote closer ties with communist countries certainly does not serve American interests or fulfill our duty to our fighting men.

The United States seeks means to aid Soviet Russia, at the same time that the communists are using their strengthened economy to give additional aid to North Vietnam. It is now estimated that the Russians supply the North Vietnamese with 80 per cent of their arms, including all missiles and anti-aircraft weapons.

In view of the huge U.S. expenditure on the war in Vietnam, it is a strange sort of logic that urges economic aid which ultimately is used directly against the country that gave it.

For thirty-three years patriots have encouraged each other by one telling the other the "thinking" in our country is improving, but subsequent trends have always proved the "good news" to have been premature.

Now at long last, there are happenings which indicate the thinking is improving. It is probably so because the Communists Pro-Communists, Far Left, and demonstrators have forced it to improve and because it could not get any worse.

Israel, Arabs Seek Diplomatic Friends

By WALTER LOGAN
 United Press International

The Arabs and Israel launched new offensives on the diplomatic front today, each trying to win friends and influence world opinion for its position in the Middle East conflict.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was en route to New York today for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly next Tuesday. Eban will stop off in London for talks this weekend with British Foreign Minister George Brown.

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram today reported new diplomatic moves by the Arabs to explain the Arab position on the Middle East. Al Ahram said Saudi Arabia's King Faisal had recently contacted President Johnson to explain the results of the recent Arab summit conference.

It said the move was part of a large scale diplomatic maneuver by the Arabs to let the world know the Arab position before the U.N. General Assembly meets. The newspaper said French President Charles de Gaulle would be contacted shortly.

"No matter what the U.S. attitude is, it was necessary that all international circles be aware of the Arabs' united stand," Al Ahram said.

Eban had earlier sent messages to the foreign ministers of all countries with whom Israel has diplomatic relations detailing Israel's version of the events leading up to and including the June 5-10 war.

The notes also stressed Israel's determination to preserve the present cease-fire situation until a permanent peace can be achieved, informed sources said.

One of Egypt's leading editors Wednesday urged the Arabs to devote less time to denouncing Israel and spend more time trying to improve the Arab image abroad.

The editor of the weekly newspaper Al Musarr, Ahmed Bahaeddin, said Arab propaganda abroad had been suffering from a "serious deficiency, namely that its sole aim is to attack Israel or answer her allegations."

"When we present to the world the old and new Arab thoughts, science, arts, as well as all the current Arab problems and efforts to surmount them and contribute to man's modern civilization, it means we bring our case to the world from all openings and not concentrate on the single opening of answering Israel," the editorial said.

The Arab League wound up its annual fall meeting in Cairo Wednesday night and urged warring Arab nationalists in South Arabia to stop their feuding and work together for South Arabia's independent future.

The League urged the rival National Liberation Front (NLF) and the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen (FLOSY) "to stop fighting between themselves and refrain from shedding innocent Arab blood."

Foreign News Commentary

By K. C. THALEH
 LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has signed a new "treaty of friendship, cooperation and mutual assistance" with Hungary, apparently perpetuating the maintenance of four Russian divisions in that Communist country.

The new defense pact replaces a similar treaty, concluded on Feb. 18, 1948, between Stalinist Russia and the Communist regime in Budapest.

The renewal of the pact follows the pattern of similar treaties which Russia drew up for a 20-year period with her East-European allies after the war.

Army Removed Threat
 The case of Hungary, however, is a special one.

It was here that Russia intervened with tanks to crush the 1956 uprising.

The Russians, alarmed that their East European empire was threatened following the de-Stalinization by Nikita Khrushchev, left nothing to chance. They moved four divisions into Hungary which have been there ever since.

Eleven years have passed. The regime now claims it needs no bolstering up, that it is firmly established and sufficiently protected by its own army.

No Pullout
 The easing of the East-West cold war and especially of tensions in Europe suggested that a Soviet pullout from Hungary was virtually certain.

The Russians apparently had second thoughts and argued that the Vietnam war and the ensuing strained relations with the West did not warrant a unilateral Soviet military withdrawal from East Europe. So the four divisions will stay in Hungary.

Moscow has indicated that a withdrawal will now have to await a major East-West disarmament arrangement that will provide for an American pullout from Europe.

Governor Lurleen Visits Mrs. Connally In Hospital

HOUSTON (UPI)—Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama made an impromptu visit Thursday to the hospital room of Mrs. John Connally, wife of the Texas governor, at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute where both are patients.

Mrs. Wallace, who is receiving radiation treatments as an out-patient at the cancer hospital, stopped by Mrs. Connally's room after finishing her daily treatment. She was dressed in street clothes and Mrs. Connally in her hospital dressing gown.

They visited about 15 minutes. Their conversation was devoted to "women's talk," not politics, according to a hospital spokesman.

The spokesman said the two apparently are good friends, having met at governor's conferences and other political gatherings.

Mrs. Connally has been hospitalized since Sept. 6. A Benign tumor was removed from her neck last Thursday. She said she did not know whether she would be released from the hospital Friday or Monday and would not know until she talked with her doctors.

Mrs. Wallace was scheduled to fly back to Montgomery Friday and to return Monday. It was the first time the two had met since Mrs. Wallace returned for radiation treatments last Sunday.

Her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, and Governor Connally, had met earlier in the week in a hospital elevator.

HERE ARE THE CONVICTIONS THAT LED TO

OUR BELIEF IN A UNIVERSAL SINGLE STANDARD OF RIGHT

Open To Challenge
 See last paragraph

Before stating our belief in a universal single standard of right we want to make it clear that we invite questions on this belief. And, if we cannot answer without evasion or contradictions, we are not worthy of your confidence and will admit our error and change our belief.

Want Information

We believe that most of our political trouble comes from putting confidence in persons who continue to advocate government economic planning even though they can neither rationally answer questions about what they advocate, nor find anyone who can.

We know of no better way to learn and develop, and thus be able to be useful, than have our convictions questioned either privately or publicly.

The Pampa Daily News believes in a system of universal natural law.

It is our belief that every fact of existence—if it is a fact—is immutable, irrevocable and eternal.

That is — we believe that moral facts are no less concrete and timeless than physical facts. The law of gravity does not change with seasons; atomic behavior is not subject to the good intentions of man. For physical facts are not capable of change; else they would not be facts.

And so we believe it is with moral facts, which stem from the same source as physical laws.

Let's take two facts, one physical and one moral.

1. Water seeks its level.
  2. Stealing is wrong.
- It is commonly accepted that the first fact is not subject to amendment. A change in political administration, a vote of the people, a petition of the Society of Learned Mathematicians of the World cannot change it. It exists as a fact.
- The second law, we believe, is no more subject to amendment than the first. The majority might wink at it, try to reconcile it with some base or unsound conviction. But that does not affect the law — only the people who must live by it. Jumping out of a five-story building to flout the law of gravity will hardly bring about a suspension of that law. Neither will disregarding moral law bring about its abolition.

Guide To Morality

Now, we have outlined our convictions in fundamental moral law, or fact.

Next, it is incumbent upon us to state a single universal law or fact as we believe it:

Persons, groups and governments ought not threaten to initiate force or use it to attain their ends. This would certainly mean, Thou shalt not steal individually or collectively. If no person or group stole, there would be no murder, no false witness, no adultery.

To express the belief positively, all individuals or groups should get what they get in a manner that would be profitable to all. Then all would respect the private property of others 100%. That would be true liberty and voluntarism.

That is our interpretation of the Declaration of Independence. This is the universal single standard of right we use as our measuring device of morality — a yardstick of ethics.

Thus we believe:

1. That every man is born with equal unalienable rights to take moral action to make more secure his property which includes first his life, then his liberty and all he produces.
  2. That these rights are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of any government.
- Since we believe these facts are expressed in this guide of human conduct, we do not believe any man has the moral right to curtail the rights of his brother. That is, no man has the right to initiate force against his brother. Every man, to be sure, has the right to resist the initiation of force, but should not initiate it.

In all of recorded history, men have banded together for certain reasons — to hunt, to play, to trade, to build. In a voluntary association, such as the one that publishes this newspaper, each man exercises his rights through the group. BUT, simply because each man is the member of a group, he cannot morally assume rights he did not possess as an individual. And, neither does the group possess rights which the individuals in that group do not possess as individuals.

An example—John Doe is a shoe salesman. He does not have a right to sell shoes at gunpoint. Even, if 10,000 John Does in the shoe business form an organization, that organization does not have the right to sell shoes at gunpoint.

Rights and morality are individual matters. These moral laws do not make exceptions for groups. They do not say, "Thou shalt not steal except at the desire of the majority." They say, "Thou shalt not steal" Period. And a man's association with a group does not relieve him of the burden of these laws.

We believe, therefore, in a single standard of conduct. Thomas Jefferson stated the matter. He wrote: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

Immanuel Kant, another great student of morals, in his "Metaphysics of Morals" wrote: "... I ask myself only: Can I will that my maxim become a universal law?"

Single Standard of Conduct

Our belief in a single standard of conduct, and in the existence of individual rights, and in the fact of universal natural law, brings us to oppose all things in which an individual or group seeks to initiate force — that is, curtail the rights of any other individual or group.

We must oppose each brand of socialism, whether it is called Communism, Fascism, Fabian Socialism, New Dealism or New Frontierism.

We oppose socialism in factories, schools, churches and in the market place.

We do not believe there is any such animal as "good" political socialism, either on a local, national or international scale. We do not believe in initiating force for any reason, even though the cause is a "good" one.

We believe it is violating the rights of the individual to force him to support a school, church, industry, business or profession if he does not choose to do so.

Two men out of a hundred have no moral right to force the 98 to support a school or church. Neither do the 98 have the moral right to force the remaining two men to support that school or church.

If that belief is contrary to the above standards we want to be convinced. Repeatedly we have offered as much as $1,000 to prominent persons who advocate using collective initiated force to examine publicly the morality of using such force where each person would agree to answer questions as he would before a court. We earnestly seek to be shown any errors in our reasoning.

If six, 26 or 6,000,000 individuals voluntarily get together to establish a church, school, business or club—and if those people do not curtail the rights of anyone inside or outside their own group — we have no argument with them.

The majority cannot write moral law. Neither can the minority. But, neither does the majority enjoy any moral advantages denied the minority, or the individual.

We believe, therefore, in a voluntary supported government. The state, at best, exercises those powers which the individuals in that state voluntarily have turned over to the state for administration. An example: We prefer a private police force because we'd rather support a police force than wear a gun. But if some do not want to support a police force, they should not be forced to do so. Nor should they receive its services. The police force should have no powers denied any individual, and neither should the existence of a police force abridge the right of any citizen to defend himself.

We do not believe the state has any rights simply because it is a state.

Governments should exist only to try to protect the rights of EVERY individual — not to redistribute the property, manipulate the economy or establish the pattern of a society.

These are the basic elements in our belief and of our editorial convictions.

*Regrettably, we do not always follow this principle. We fall into error. Our humility perhaps, is not sufficient to the effort. But it is our belief to the degree a universal single standard of right is followed you will have a deeper understanding of your religion, greater freedom and security and more happiness and a higher standard of living. This belief will also benefit every person in the community, the state, the nation and the world. That is the reason it is our belief.

Chisox Stay Close

By United Press International
F-o-l-d continues to be a four-letter word for the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox again refused to fold Thursday night in the pressure cooker cauldron of the American League pennant race. But in the process they only set up another survival test—a three-game weekend series with the Minnesota Twins.

the Sox alive.

After four Sox pitchers blanked the Indians for 17 innings Wednesday night as Chicago escaped with a 1-0 victory, Cisco Carlos pitched a 10-inning shutout and Don Buford hit the first grand slam of his career in the 10th inning off Orlando Pena to give the Sox a 4-0 triumph.

The Sox couldn't afford another loss to a second division club if they were to remain in the race and they again staved off virtual elimination while playing in front of the Twins who'd already arrived in town for their weekend series which begins tonight.

"That victory has to give the Twins something to think about," White Sox manager Eddie Stanky said, "our guys had a chance to fold but they refused to. They came back with 27 scoreless innings after losing that doubleheader, Minnesota has to keep that in mind."

It was the only American League game played Thursday night and moved the White Sox to within 2½ games of first place with 14 games remaining. Minnesota and Boston, tied for first, all have 15 remaining.

In the only National League game played, the Atlanta Braves edged the New York Mets 5-4—with a big assist from Clete Boyer's wife.

Boyer was at the hospital because his wife was having their fourth child. Meanwhile, Mike de la Hoz filled in for Boyer and slapped a two-run single in the ninth which gave the Braves the victory. Hank Aaron hit a two-run homer and Mack Jones a solo homer for the Braves while Ed Kranepool hit a three-run homer for the Mets.

Oh yes, Boyer's wife had a girl.

JOINING THE CLUB of pitchers who have won 20 games or more in a season is Boston's Jim Lonborg, who has been a key man in the Red Sox battle for the American League pennant.

PHS Loses Close One

Despite only six days of work-outs the Pampa Junior High ninth grade played great defensive football in their opener at Spearman Thursday.

The host team tallied a score in the fading minutes of the game to eke out an 8-0 victory over Pampa.

Pampa had had only six days of practice, one of them held indoors before the Thursday contest. Spearman owned a 14-0 victory over Booker.

Spearman started their winning drive on the 50 with quarterback Stan Lipscomb going in for the score on an end sweep from 10 yards out. He then ran the same play for the conversion.

Pampa never got closer than the 30-yard line, that coming in the first half.

The Reapers intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble and never lost the ball. They stopped a Spearman drive in the first half at the nine yard line.

Child Killed By Bare Television Hook Wiring

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UPI)—Mrs. Furriss Urton turned on the television set last evening for the 6 p.m. news, then left the room. While she was gone, her 6-month-old son grabbed a bare wire leading from the set to the wall and was fatally shocked.

He was Daniel Lee Urton. His mother tried unsuccessfully to revive him with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Surveyor 5 Sits In Moon Crater

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Surveyor 5 is perched at a 20-degree angle near the top of a moon crater five feet deep and 30 feet wide, scientists disclosed Thursday.

"We're sitting on the inside wall of this crater fairly near the top of it," said a spokesman for the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here.

Scientists said they still were "trying to figure out" whether Surveyor 5 "moved and how much" when rocket engines attached to its spider-like legs were ignited in an effort to see if the exhaust would stir up lunar dust.

Two Found Dead In Lubbock Home

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The bodies of two Lubbock persons were found in a house near the downtown district Thursday morning. A justice of the peace ruled both died about a week ago from natural causes.

They were Sam Lightfoot, 77, and Eula Mae Mobley. Lightfoot had been bedridden for the past 15 years and had been virtually paralyzed the past 34 years from arthritis. Mrs. Mobley had been caring for him.

Rains Put Brakes on Most of Texas Harvesting Activities

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Last week's widespread rains boosted winter grazing prospects and aided late crops but put the brakes on harvesting activities. The continuing below normal temperatures are delaying the maturing of cotton on the High Plains and more are on the way.

The overall soil moisture situation in the state was greatly improved by the rains, said the Texas Agricultural Extension Service on Wednesday; however, spots in nearly all sections are still dry. Stock water is low in the dry areas and some livestock feeding is continuing, the service said.

Wheat planting in the Panhandle is making good progress with 25 to 50 per cent of the acreage north of the Canadian River seeded and 5 to 15 per cent seeded in the counties to the south. Planting is also increasing on the South Plains and land preparation for next month planting is active in the Rolling Plains. This same situation prevails in North Central Texas. Except in the moisture shy areas, pastures and ranges are showing marked improvement and livestock are beginning to pick up weight. Stock water is low in some western counties of Central Texas and in East Texas, the service said.

Cotton harvest was active before the rains as far north as North Central Texas and getting underway in far West Texas. The High Plains crop still needs warm, open weather to mature it. Soybeans and grain sorghum on dryland in that section have benefited from the cool and moist weather.

Second crop rice and soybean are making good growth in Southeast Texas and the rains have also improved soybean prospects in Northeast Texas.

Most fields in South Texas are too wet to work and vegetable planting has been delayed and weed control is becoming a problem. Ranges and pastures in that section are showing much improvement and livestock are gaining weight.

Marches Endorsed By Church Board

ATLANTA (UPI)—Open housing marches led by Milwaukee's Roman Catholic priest, James E. Groppi, were endorsed Thursday by the National Council of Churches' General Board.

The predominantly white board gave its "moral support" to Father Groppi and encouraged national congregations "to support efforts toward open occupancy in Milwaukee."

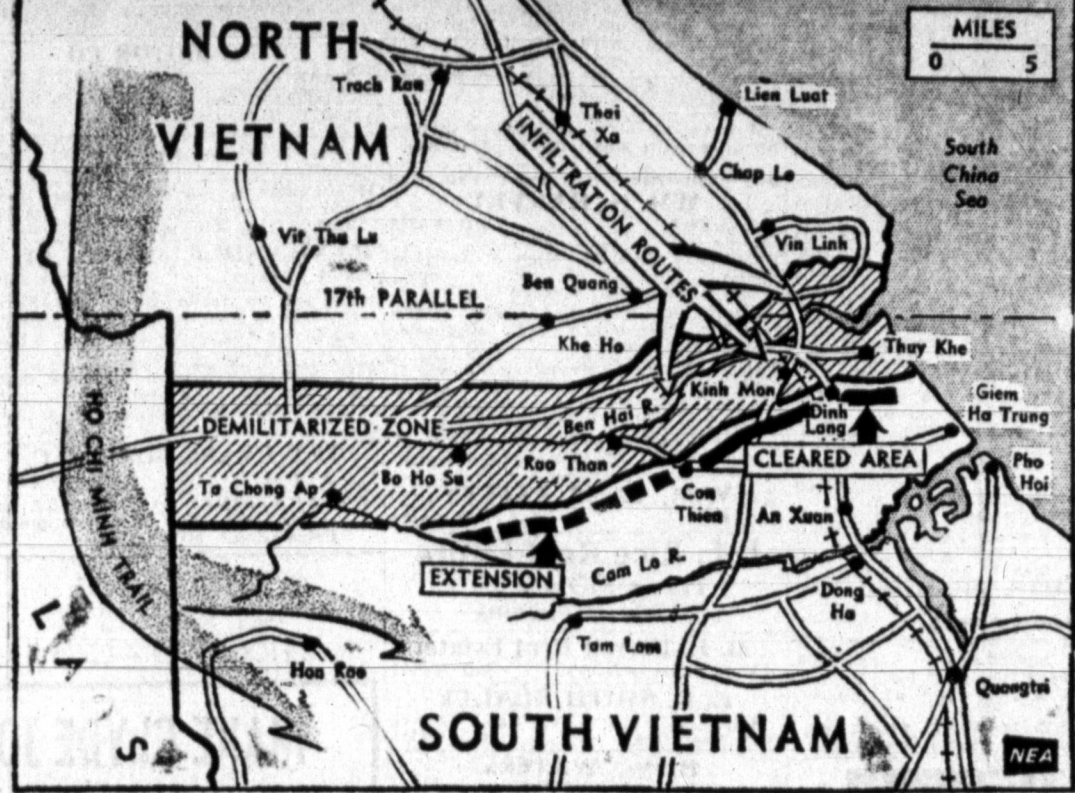

The endorsement was accepted without a formal vote. Objections from some of the 25 members on the General Board were expected later in the two-day fall business session.

The move did not bind the National Council of Churches (NCC) to financial support of Milwaukee's marches, which have run 17 nights and often have been marred by violence.

But a spokesman for the NCC said the moral support given Fr. Groppi could be turned into financial support and the sending of volunteers to join the marches if local churches follow the General Board's lead.

A second civil rights resolution urging the NCC to endorse economic boycotts by churches in support of civil rights was rejected by a 69-57 vote with many of the delegates abstaining. The same resolution has been defeated several times during the last two years by the General Board.

DEFENSE BELT TALK GROWS

The idea of forming a barrier cutting across infiltration routes from North to South Vietnam has gained support recently as the effectiveness and advisability of bombing the North comes under fire. A length of cleared swath to observe troop movements already exists 11 miles across the thin upper neck of the country, and plans call for an extension of it as indicated by the dotted line just below the Demilitarized Zone. To stop such movements entirely, however, it would have to extend into Laos to cut across the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Auto Workers Stay on G.M. Chrysler Jobs

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers union apparently has been successful in keeping its workers at General Motors and Chrysler in line during the strike against Ford Motor Co. which entered its second week today.

During the first week of the strike, which has sent nearly 160,000 Ford workers to the picket lines, the other two "big three" automakers have continued operations without reports of trouble.

The contract between GM and Chrysler and the UAW expired when the union's Ford agreement did, Sept. 6, but workers at the two companies have gone

Houston Population Gain May Soon Place It Fifth

HOUSTON (UPI)—In spite of its famous profusion of motors, Detroit probably will not remain ahead of Houston much longer in the national population standings.

Houston, the nation's sixth largest city, has only 10,000 people less than the Michigan metropolis, according to recent estimates. If its present growth rate continues, Houston should be substantially ahead of Detroit about their jobs without a contract. UAW president Walter P. Reuther ordered his workers at GM and Chrysler to continue working to put added pressure on Ford, the union's strike target this year.

the Drama of DRUGS

by Tom Beard

Early western days have been made popular by the Mavericks, Wyatt Earps and the Matt Dillions of T.V. and, in most of these early settlements was a doctor. These doctors had to be their own pharmacist as there were no drug stores in the early days. These pioneer doctors had to make his own medicines, pills and tinctures and carry them around with him. Equipment was meager; he prepared his own bandages from strips of muslin, often washing and using them over again as material was scarce. Medical fees in the early days were often paid in produce or promises and many other trades in order to survive. Dr. Murdock of Indiana physicians had to work at issued script to discourage creditor-patients. These were "good for one dose of medicine" and they became known as "puke pills" because the medicine they obtained was so distasteful that the patient rarely came back for more.

NAMED MAYOR

in the District of Columbia's new government is Walter E. Washington, making Washington, D.C. the largest city in the United States with a Negro chief executive if the Presidential nomination is confirmed by the Senate. Washington, 51, who has been chairman of the New York City Housing Authority, said he plans to emulate his former boss, New York Mayor John Lindsay, in walking the streets of his city to find out the problems firsthand.
