Years Are Kind To Uncle Billy

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

"By golly," said Uncle Billy Frost, using his favorite slang expression, "I'll be 104-years-old Tuesday and I don't know any more now than I did when I was four-years-old."

Slightly apologetic about being in a hospital bed in St. Ann's Nursing Home for the Aged in Pampa, he added "I'm not going to feel sorry about my physical health. I know that when the Lord wants to take me, he will. He is going to take me whether I want to go or not. In the meantime, I will try to make myself as happy as I can. He will take care of the rest of it."

William Banks Frost, known to his many friends in the Panhandle as Uncle Billy, has been in St. Ann's since early December recuperating from a hip injury incurred in November.

Still alert, charming and quick-witted, he has evolved the philosophy "laughter is one of the finest things in this world. When you try to make other people happy," he said, "you will be happy yourself. If we didn't have laughter once in a while, we would be in an awful shape."

"I've found," he continued, "if you live the life the Lord wants you to live, you will be surprised how well it turns out for you."

"But if you should hear someday that Uncle Billy has 'ticked off,' well, you can just make up your mind that he is in the care of his Lord and Savior."

Time has dealt kindly with the centenarian-plus-four, but since he tires easily and quickly his birthday celebration this year will be more subdued than in other years.

Uncle Billy's birthdays in the past were always cause for gala celebrations starting with his 96th one. Starting that year, as he edged towards 100, he held open house in his neat, white bungalow at 1005 Charles, and greeted friends who began calling early in the morning and continued throughout the day and well into the evening.

A birthday party that topped all celebrations was the one given on his 100th birthday in 1963.

Friends engaged the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. A huge birthday cake, with punch, nuts and candies, was served to several hundred friends who called during the afternoon. Telegrams poured in from all over the state of Texas and the nation, including ones from the late President John F. Kennedy, Governor John Connally and Congressman Walter Rogers.

A special guest at that birthday party was Uncle Billy's son, Charles Frost of Caney, Kan., who is now nearing 80.

Uncle Billy's birthday party in 1960 was postponed a few days, while he went to Caney to celebrate his son's and wife's golden wedding anniversary.

IN LAS VEGAS

Six Killed, 12 Hurt in Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Six persons were killed Saturday when an "amateur" bomb ripped open a modern three-story motel in this gambling capital, fragmentizing the bodies of victims and collapsing floors to the ground.

Burglar alarms set off by the pre-dawn blast rang a knell of disaster as police and firemen gathered the bodies of victims in large black bags.

Fifty-two persons were registered in the motel. More than a dozen were injured and six were hospitalized.

"It definitely was a bomb, no question about it," said Dist. Atty. George Franklin. "It was an amateur, not a professional job. A professional does not use too much of whatever he needs."

Police theorized the bomb was fashioned from 12 to 24 sticks of dynamite and was triggered on the second floor, possibly in room 214.

Motive Sought
Searching for a motive, authorities considered revenge or a suspicious husband.

"It definitely was homicide or suicide," Franklin said. "If we find anyone registered with the wrong wife or husband we'll have our first clue."

Police Lt. Paul Gulas said a complete check was being made on all registered guests of the motel. "We're not going to overlook any possibilities at this point. However, they all look like the regular weekend tourists."

The explosion ripped through the $250,000 Orbit Inn Motel about 1:30 a.m. The 147-unit U-shaped motel is situated on Fremont Street, the main thoroughfare in the downtown area.

Floors were collapsed to the ground, but part of the roof structure bridged over. Across the motel courtyard, other windows were knocked out and walls fractured by the blast.

Electric power was disrupted in nearby buildings, including the El Cortez Hotel and Casino, where an employee said "it felt like it (the blast) moved the building three inches."

Surviving motel occupants wandered in shock or bewilderment, picking up shards of glass. The bodies of victims, disintegrated into fragments by the blast, were scattered among the debris.

Council to Study Suit Against City
Pampa city commissioners will consider at their regular meeting Tuesday a $10,000 damage suit filed against the City of Pampa by Albert Phillips, a former employee of the city street department.

In a suit filed Dec. 21 in 31st District Court, Phillips charged that he was injured while driving a tractor-mower for the city. The accident, the suit claims, happened about 3:30 p.m., Oct. 5, at Tignor and Murphy Sts.

Phillips charges the clutch on the tractor failed and threw it into a guard rail causing injuries which caused him to suffer diminished capacity to perform labor now and in the future.

At Tuesday's meeting, commissioners will consider employing counsel to defend the suit.

Other business on the agenda will include appointment of members to the City Planning and Zoning Board and to the City Electrical Board.

Scheduled for second and final reading is an ordinance authorizing the reopening of Thut St. across the Santa Fe Railroad crossing.

Authorization to pay Roy Mosely $4,000 for two parcels of right-of-way for the Duncan St. paving project will be considered. A half dozen other routine matters are slated for action.

Lawmakers Arrive In Capitol for 90th Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawmakers hit town by the plane-load Saturday for the start of the 90th Congress, already tabbed a "review" session geared mainly to the Vietnam war.

President Johnson will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress within hours after it convenes. The White House announced Saturday Johnson would deliver the yearly address spelling out his legislative program at 8:30 p.m. CST Tuesday.

The first big controversy, officially may come Tuesday, shortly after opening gavels are banged at noon on both sides of the capitol. At issue is whether the House will punish Rep. Adam C. Powell.

What to do about the free-wheeling, big-spending, court-defying veteran from Harlem, whose knuckles have already been rapped by a House investigating subcommittee, was the main topic of conversation as returning and newly-elected House members gathered informally.

Democrats may discipline Powell first at a pre-session caucus on Monday. The action might save him from possible denial of his seat when the House convenes the following day.

After Powell, the pre-session talk ran to Vietnam, taxes, inflation, government spending and the draft. Once organizational matters are out of the way, those will be the big issues of the 90th Congress.

President Johnson was not tipping his hand in advance but members speculated he would ask at once for a $9 to $10 billion supplemental money bill to pay for the war in Vietnam; that he would proclaim some downhold on homefront spending; and that he would delay any request for a tax increase.

On the draft, many members had talked themselves out on a limb about "inequities" in the current Selective Service process. Now they were looking to presidential and congressional commissions, and the House and Senate Armed Services Committees, to come up with a way to instill equity into a situation where some men must continue to be sent off to war while others are allowed to stay home.

The lawmakers were promised a chance to vote, soon, for a hefty and popular increase in Social Security checks, with or without an increase in payroll taxes. But the session held out few such political plums.

State Legislature Opens Doors Tuesday

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Legislature, unique this year in more ways than one, convenes at high noon Tuesday for its 80th session. It faces more financial worries than a low-income worker with a bevy of high-spending daughters.

The money demands, though, are not what makes this upcoming session unique. It's the membership.

This will be the first Texas legislature which is not overwhelmingly rural oriented. The 1965 redistricting laws give about a third of each house to the states four largest cities.

The 60th legislature will have three Negroes—one senator and two representatives. They are the first members of their race elected to the body since the 1880's.

There will be 60 new house members and 10 freshman senators.

The state Senate will have its first Republican since the 1920's. Sen. Elect Henry Grover of Houston, a former Democrat, beat out incumbent Dem-

Fire Chief Asks Owners To Get Rid of Dolls

Six flammable dolls, which pose danger to their young owners, have been found in the Pampa area, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said Saturday.

"These dolls are dangerous," he said, "and should be disposed of immediately either by the parents or turned into the fire department."

Following an investigation of toy departments in local stores, Winborne found one store in Pampa that had sold quite a few of the dolls in pre-Christmas and Christmas sales.

The manager of the local store has stated that he will be glad to refund the money paid for the dolls bought in his store.

The dolls, Winborne said, are highly flammable with faces made with a nitro-cellulose base.

He said fumes put out by the burning of the nitro-cellulose are highly toxic. The dolls (See DOLLS, Page 3)

MANCHESTER WRITES:

Marina Upset Killer Night Before Tragedy

By FREDERICK M. WINSHEP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lee Harvey Oswald, a tortured personality at best, was driven over the brink of insanity when his wife rejected him to live with a woman friend the night before he assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

This factor, plus a feud among Texas Democrats that took Kennedy to Dallas against the advice of friends, emerge in new focus in the first installment of the controversial book "The Death of a President," published in Look Magazine.

In the serialization, to appear on newsstands Tuesday, author William Manchester writes that Mrs. Marina Oswald toyed with the emotions of her near-crazed husband on the night of Nov. 21, 1963. He said Marina's decision to move in with Mrs. Ruth Paine in Irving, Tex., was the straw that broke Oswald's slender hold on sanity.

Manchester writes that the political rhubarb plus Oswald's rejection provided the coincidental trigger that led Oswald to assassinate the President. Manchester concluded that Oswald acted alone in the murder but said he found "a disease of the spirit" in Dallas which had an effect on Oswald's thinking.

Quotes Letters
Manchester, in the first of four installments in Look, quoted letters exchanged by Marina and Mrs. Paine, an ordained Unitarian minister and mother of two who was separated from her husband.

"I am very hurt that Lee's attitude toward me is such that I feel each minute that I bind him," Marina wrote. Mrs. Paine replied: "If Lee doesn't wish to live with you any more... I would be happy to be as an aunt to you."

The next day Mrs. Paine wrote: "I love you Marina and want to live with you. I hope that you and Lee will agree." Manchester quoted Marina's reply: "See KENNEDY, Page 3)

Old Report
The assertion about Rusk revived an old report by Washington columnist Stewart and Joseph Alsop, denied at the time by former members of the Kennedy administration. Manchester said: "Aware that the

We've consistently s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d your electric service dollar to give you more!

Today, you pay less for an average kilowatt hour of electricity than you did in 1952. That's because you're using more, enabling us to use larger and more efficient generators. Through use of this more efficient equipment, we're able to offset the inflationary pressures that cause rising prices.

And, to continue to keep electricity costs low, without sacrificing dependability, we'll invest more than $20 million in 1967, in new construction. Electricity is still the biggest bargain in your family budget.

Kennedy

"Bobby (Sen. Robert F. Kennedy) had tentatively decided that once Rusk had left, he would ask to be assistant secretary for inter-American affairs," Manchester reported.

The condensation of the first four chapters of the book published in the current Look said Kennedy felt the trip to Texas was an "imposition" because Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson ought to have been able to resolve the "petty dispute" between Texas politicians himself.

At almost the same hour on Nov. 21, 1963, Mrs. Oswald was toying with the emotions of her near-crazed husband in the home of Mrs. Ruth Paine in Irving, Tex., where she had taken refuge from her unhappy marriage.

Manchester described Kennedy's attitude as "the thought that an American president would not go into any American city as simply unacceptable."

The allied force of some 5,000 fighting men that had hit the beaches Friday in the first joint amphibious assault of the Vietnam war advanced through the paddylands of the Thanh Phong Peninsula 60 miles south of Saigon for the second day without meeting any organized resistance.

Ironically, the U.S. Marines suffered their first casualties of the operation late Saturday by accident. A fragmentation grenade carried by a Marine accidentally exploded inside a helicopter just after it touched down on a landing zone a few miles inland from the South China seashore.

Another helicopter rushed the casualties back to the carrier Iwo Jima, flagship of the Marine task force spearheading the sweep by U.S. and South Vietnamese Marines and infantrymen who came ashore in amphibious vehicles, backed by 7th Fleet warships and U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers.

will prejudice how you act toward him... what he was really saying in the car was that he's going to run ahead of me in Texas. Well, that's all right. Let him.

Manchester said Kennedy agreed to go to Texas to cloak a rift between Connally, on conservative, and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a liberal, with a show of solidarity. Without a "truce," Kennedy and Johnson felt, "The national ticket wouldn't stand a chance there next fall in the 1964 elections," the book said.

Kennedy went to Texas forewarned of possible trouble by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, House Whip Hale Boggs of Louisiana, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and Texas Democratic National Committeeman Byron Skelton.

The book said the Yarborough matter was subject of loud discussion in a Houston hotel room after the first day of the Texas visit, but Manchester reported that precisely what was said is unknown.

"Mrs. Kennedy had withdrawn into the next room," he wrote. "Although she was aware of raised voices in the background, she was concentrating on her Spanish speech. Caterers and hotel servants, who were in and out, heard Yarborough's name mentioned several times. Johnson controlled his celebrated temper in his chief's presence but in the words of one man outside, 'He left that suite like a pistol.'"

The book contains such footnotes to history as Kennedy's displeasure with his Air Force aide, Brig. Gen. Godfrey McHugh, whose predictions of cold weather in Texas proved wrong after Mrs. Kennedy had packed a woolen wardrobe. The president was pictured as greatly pleased by his wife's enthusiasm over sharing the "campaign" trip and "he wanted her to enjoy the trip so she would make others."

The president personally passed on her wardrobe for the trip, telling her she would mingle with "all these rich Republican women... wearing mink coats and diamond bracelets," Manchester wrote.

Richard Arlen, the heart-throb of teen age girls of some thirty-five and forty years ago and a fellow whose screen work goes back to the "silent" days and to such "in the news" flicker favorites as the late Clara Bow, Jean Harlow, "The Blonde Bombshell," and handsome, sterling-hen men Buddy Rogers and Cary Grant, will speak to the Knife and Fork Club at its next meeting Tuesday evening in the Pampa High School Cafeteria.

During the past years, Arlen has been a leader in the war against crime and juvenile delinquency. It's the still - hand - some actor's belief that the nation's entertainment, including that which emanates from Hollywood, has terrific impact on the nation's society, the way people behave and in the lessening or heightening of crime.

According to Arlen there has been a let-down in the quality of wholesome entertainment through the years. He feels there are not enough of the "family" type productions, those that help to build character. There has been too much of the villain and torture type entertainment for America's own good, he indicates.

His subject here will be "Hollywood and Juvenile Delinquency." Tuesday's dinner meeting will be Guest Night with members invited to bring out-of-town and local guests by purchasing dinner tickets at Malone Pharmacy before the deadline 1 p.m. Monday.

Career Clinic Plans Underway

John Frank owner of Frankoma Pottery Co. in Sapulpa, Okla. will be the keynote speaker for the ninth annual Career Clinic to be held Feb. 15 in Pampa High School.

The clinic sponsored by the Altrusa Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce is designed to give students a preview of various professions and occupations in which they are interested.

Earlier this year students were offered a selection of 49 professions, ranging from fields of medicine and law to home-making mechanics and ranching. From these, they made two selections in occupations they would like to learn more about. Adults engaged in these professions have been invited to conduct roundtable discussions for the students.

Bucket Brigade Deemed Success

The charge of the bucket brigade at business sections in Pampa Saturday for the benefit of the March of Dimes drive was deemed a success by bucket brigade chairman, David Tucker. Members of local civic clubs collected $1,198.

He said the weather was a little cool but Pampa motorists warmly reponded by tossing coins and paper money into orange-colored buckets held out to them as they stopped at stop signs and lights.

The Noon Lions Club was credited with collecting $406.42 to edge out six other civic clubs participating. The Evening Lions Club collected $237.14 to come in second.

Other clubs assisting with the 1965 MOD brigade were Pampa Jaycees, Downtown Kiwanis, Key Club Optimist Clubs, and Top of Texas Kiwanis Club.

Tucker said drive chairmen were pleased with Saturday's response to the MOD cause which is concentrating upon minimizing birth defects through research and education.

"It's startling to realize that every two minutes in the USA, a baby is born with birth defects. It is a universal problem, but one that we always think of happening to the other fellow. Sometimes, it doesn't," he said.

to say that his has been a rich and full life... rich in the value that is the most important... being interested in his fellowman.

Born Jan. 10, 1863 in Tionesta located on the banks of the Allegheny River in Pennsylvania, Uncle Billy worked most of his life in the oil fields of Pennsylvania and Texas. There was a marriage to a young girl named Effie Jane, and the subsequent arrival of two sons and two daughters. Then came the passing of his parents; his wife, five of his brothers and three of his children.

He came to Pampa in 1929 and until retirement in September, 1940 was employed by Dunigan Brothers, oil and gas producers. Until his hip injury incapacitated him, Uncle Billy did his own housekeeping, a little help from a friend, cooked his own meals and took care of an assortment of cats.

He would step out occasionally, impeccably dressed, to PTA dinners, chamber of commerce functions and to parties at Senior Center where he was inevitably the "life of the party."

While he was a youngster of 96, on warm spring, summer or fall days dressed in his "roust-about" clothes Uncle Billy pulled weeds, mowed his lawn and climbed a ladder to prune shade trees.

Back when he was 100-years-old and getting ready for his birthday party at the Inn, Uncle Billy remarked, "By golly, with all I have booked to do today I don't know how I am going to get it all in. If I live through this day, I'll probably 200!"

Increasing Availability, Usage of LSD in Texas Brings Risk

59TH YEAR THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, JANUARY 8, 1967

AUSTIN (Sp)—“LSD” users are not only taking a tremendous risk in their use of the much-discussed drug, but they are endangering the lives of other citizens who might be affected by the drug user's unpredictable actions while he is under the influence of the powerful psychedelic drug,” declared Burke Musgrove, a new member of the Texas House of Representatives.

Musgrove pointed a finger at what he termed increasing usage and availability in Texas of “LSD” among amateur experimenters and college students—particularly those students in the “beatnik” or rebellious circles.

Legislation in this upcoming session of the Texas Legislature to classify LSD among those drugs already regulated by Texas' dangerous drug laws.

Representative-elect Musgrove, whose legislative district lies between Abilene and Fort Worth, said that legislators from Houston, Dallas, and San Antonio will join with him in sponsoring this legislation. If passed, the law would make illegal the possession, sale, and transportation of LSD and its related hallucinogenic drugs in Texas—excluding, of course, that used for qualified medical research.

Musgrove's office has conducted a preliminary investigation on the status of LSD in Texas that included discussions with law enforcement officials, officials of the Pure Food and Drug Abuse Control, and medical experts.

“Discussions with actual users of the drug uncovered some startling facts concerning the increased usage of LSD in Texas, and convinced us that the problem is certainly not one to be ignored in hopes that it will go away,” Musgrove said.

“Investigative assistants, who actually went through the motions of obtaining LSD, learned of a well-developed sales organization at one of the state's largest schools. Notes with information as to where the drug could be obtained—complete with price—were exchanged in designated library books of the school's library,” Musgrove revealed.

“We have also been given information on the establishment of a “psychedelic parlor” or house near one campus where the vision-producing drugs can be easily obtained and the effects of the drug, referred to as “trips,” experienced,” he added.

Musgrove said that a volunteer investigative assistant, a law student, had obtained much information from his purposely developed association with an 18-year old student who had taken “LSD” almost daily for nearly six months to help him escape reality.

“There is great danger in taking ‘bathtub’ or home-made LSD where there is untested strength or purity, and an overdose can produce permanent mental imbalance or can even be fatal,” Musgrove added. “It is an established fact in LSD circles that the drug can be obtained from morning glory seeds, a fungus often found on rye, or even produced synthetically by amateur chemists.”

“It takes so very little LSD to produce the effects that there is plenty room for error and chances of receiving an overdose.”

Musgrove referred to a report from the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control which states that one 280,000th of an ounce—a speck one can barely see without a magnifying glass—may, if eaten, inhaled, or taken by injection, drive a normal human being into a state of mind closely resembling insanity for a period from eight hours to several weeks—or perhaps even permanently. “According to this recently created federal agency,” he said, “one pound of LSD can be enough to render 4 million or more people at least temporarily deranged.”

Musgrove said that hundreds of cases on file with the Food and Drug Administration substantiate the erratic, unpredictable dangers of the drug. Among their files are cases where LSD users have had uncontrollable impulses toward violence, have attempted murders under the drug's influence, and where users have had permanent damage done to their minds. “There have been numerous cases,” he said, “where the effects and symptoms of the drug returned unexpectedly weeks and months later—even though the drug had not been taken again.”

Musgrove said he felt that misinformation about LSD's alleged good effects, coupled with student curiosity—without knowledge of the dangerous aspects of the drug—has contributed to the growing misuse of the drug.

“Without restrictive legislation and public awareness of the dangers of the drug, LSD will continue to remain in the hands of the amateur—experienced by the uninformed.”

Lysergic acid diethylamide, better known as LSD, is the mind-magnifying, vision-producing drug which came under fire this last year in U.S. Senate hearings. Several other states, including California and Nevada, have already passed legislation restricting amateur usage of the drug.

Musgrove said that he will in-

Poor Man Ends Up On Short End of Smoking Statistics

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The poor man found himself on the short end of the statistics again today.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) did the computing this time and revealed Wednesday that a poor man was more likely to develop cancer from smoking cigarettes than a rich man.

The reasoning according to Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond of New York, is based on a new study showing the amount of tars inhaled by smokers increases rapidly as the cigarette gets shorter.

And it naturally follows, Hammond said, that a poor man—finding cigarettes harder to come by—smokes his cigarette to a shorter butt than a rich man ordinarily does.

Speaking at the world premiere of "A Time for Decision," a film stressing the dangers of smoking, Hammond said tests showed that 30 percent more tar are received from one smoke to 30 millimeters length of 23 millimeters than from one smoke to 30 millimeters.

"The smoker should beware of the fact that if he smokes a 'low tar, low nicotine' cigarette down to the bitter end he may inhale more tar and nicotine than if he takes only a few puffs of smoke from a stronger cigarette," Hammond said.

Dr. Ashbel C. Williams of Jacksonville, president of the ACS, presided at the premier of the animated cartoon which will be shown throughout the United States. The 18-minute film said that smoking is not a social problem and it was critical of the great amount of cigarette advertising.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The eruption in 1965 of the Taal volcano in the Philippines was predicted by several geologists, says The World Almanac. The prediction was based upon the continuing number of minor earthquakes, the rising temperature of the mountain and the increasing amount of fumes coming from the main vent.

Foreign Commentary

It was the tiger—against the bogeymen—with the United States in the somewhat unwilling role as referee.

The tiger lost because the referee blew the whistle before the game started. Despite what would seem to be a light-hearted start, this is not a fairy tale, but deals instead with a tragedy that has befallen some 4.5 million people and is one of the grimmest in this hemisphere.

The bogeymen are the "Tonton Macoute," a 5,000-man force of plainclothes killers upon whom President-for-life Francois Duvalier largely depends for a continuation of his nine-year-old stranglehold in the republic of Haiti.

Heads Private Force
The tiger is a 49-year-old adventurer named Rolando Masferrer Rojas who at the head of his own private force called Los Tigres once was one of the most feared men in Cuba, a specialist in the elimination of suspected enemies of one-time dictator Fulgencia Batista. His force of several thousand vigilantes also was aid to include expert in such other activities as extortion and thievery.

Against this background, plus a record of having been wounded several times while fighting as a Communist during a switch of allegiance in Spain, Masferrer cast himself in the unlikely role of savior and planned to assault Cuba to take on Fidel Castro.

So well publicized in advance was his planned invasion that U.S. agents had no trouble at all in picking up Masferrer and most of his little band, seizing a small arsenal of weapons and casting most of the participant in jail.

So the game never really got started.

In his white palace in Port au Prince, "Papa Doc" as Duvalier likes to be known, lives in a splendor which contrasts sharply with the potholed streets, the nearly empty tourist hotels, and the political silence which is indicative of dictatorship and fear.

Sharp Contrast
Haiti is a beautiful land of greenery and high mountains and a people whose lethargy provides sharp contrast to the bright patchwork of their clothing which is a symbol of their poverty.

Tanks, anti-aircraft guns and some 1,500 soldiers surround a palace where a pistol seldom is out of reach of Papa Doc's hand.

In his years of dictatorship, per capita income has dropped to less than $80. Life expectancy is just over 32 years. The national budget is around $23 million against government income from visible taxes of around $10 million.

U.S. aid has been cut off except for malaria control and some excess food.

A Duvalier banner proclaims: "I am the new Haiti. To want to destroy me is to destroy Haiti itself."

Duvalier has survived other attempts at overthrow but his ultimate fall is not considered so much if as when then the question will be whether a new total chaos will be the rule.

"Is There A Doctor in the Barn?"—Elizabeth Yates; a day in the life of Dr. Forrest F. Teynn, D.V.M. who is often in the barn—sometimes as early as 5 a.m.—for many of his patients are farm animals.

"Lyndon B. Johnson and the World"—Philip Geyelin; a book certain to produce as many angry disclaimers from the President's admirers as anguished protests from his critics.

"The Mahogany Battleship"—David L. Lewis; a novel about the struggle between the military and civilian powers for control of the nation's security.

"Opinion of the Court"—William Woolfolk; a new appointee of the Supreme Court walks into a turmoil of official and unofficial pressures, in an explosive novel which the Washington Star calls the "best novel of life in Washington since "Advice and Consent".

"The Women at Pine Creek"—Allis McKay; in the early 1900's the Hollister sisters arrive at Pine Creek Landing in what is now Washington State to take up an inheritance of 50 acres of land and a rundown house. They soon become involved in a series of crises and incidents that test their mettle to the fullest.

"The House on the Cliff"—D. F. Stevenson; a delightful potpourri of laughter, love, intrigue and suspense.

"The Bogeyman"—Margaret Forster; a sea picture of domestic uproar, this is often scarily funny; as a study in mutual hatreds erupting into violence it is both perceptive and alarming.

"Everybody's Ready to Die"—Jocko Frederics; a young

"The Magic Grandfather"—Doris Miles-Disney; another first-rate suspense novel by a master of the genre. The setting is Connecticut.

Blout Assured
For Super Bowl
On Judge's Order

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Prospects of a 93,000-seat sellout for the Super Bowl game between Green Bay and Kansas City got a boost today from a federal judge's refusal to lift a local television blackout of the Jan. 15 world champion battle at Memorial Coliseum.

About 50,000 tickets—going at $12, $10, and $8—have been sold for the first game between representatives of the American and National Football Leagues, leaving 43,000 available on a first-come, first-served basis.

The decision permitting the local TV blackout was made by U.S. District Judge William Grey in a suit for an injunction brought by businessman-football fan Alan Milner.

Judge Grey said the blackout was justified on legal grounds although he personally felt it was discriminatory against fans in Southern California.

Lifts Writers Ban
In another development, aimed at shoving publicity for the game into high gear, Coach Hank Stram lifted a ban on sports writers at Kansas City workouts in Long Beach, just south of here. Stram said also he would hold a daily press conference at 7 p.m. CST at the team's Edgewater Inn headquarters, starting next week.

The Packers are due to set up West Coast training quarters at Santa Barbara, about 100 miles north of here Sunday, but their workouts will be closed to press and public, except this Monday, according to word received from Coach Vince Lombardi.

On Monday, sports writers and photographers will be permitted contact with the NFL champions on the practice field at the University of California at Santa Barbara. And Lombardi will make himself available to the press each day at lunch.

Predict Sellout
Thus, things were looking a bit rosier in the eyes of pro football officials who hopefully predict a sellout and have a large nut to crack. Mere expenses of staging the game were estimated by Commissioner Pete Rozelle at $300,000 and members of the winning team have been guaranteed $15,000 each, with the losers getting $7,500 each.

In explaining legal reasons for his decision in favor of the leagues and CBS and NBC-TV networks, Judge Grey said an individual seeking an injunction must prove he personally—not as a member of the public—would be harmed if the restrainer were not granted. Plaintiff Milner, the judge said, has several courses of action open to him—he could buy a ticket to the game; he could drive about 100 miles and see it on stations not blacked out; or he could watch TV returns after the game.

CBS and NBC will telecast the game jointly, having paid $2 million for the rights. The local blackout was in their contract.

UP AND DOWN goes Pampa's Bo Lang after a rebound Friday night against the Lubbock Westerners. Pampa won the game, 65-47 to break a two-game losing streak. Lang scored nine points, the first time this season he has failed to score in double figures. (See story, pictures, page 9).

Kreis Paces TCU
By Texas, 96-82

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Texas Christian "blew open a close game with 14 straight points mid-way through the first half Saturday and went on to smash the Texas Longhorns 96-82. The win put TCU on top of the young Southwest Conference race with a 2.0 mark.

The two clubs "ought a close battle early in the contest and with just over eight minutes left in the half the Frogs led 27-25. But Texas did not score for the next three minutes while TCU was picking up 14 points and the Frogs coasted in from there.

John Ed White and Wayne Kreis sparked the surge. White and Kris kept dropping in jump shots and lay-ups. Kreis finished with 23 points, tying for scoring honors with Neil Stout of Texas.

The Longhorns' Mike Gammon sparked a short-lived Texas rally in the second half with his ball hawking, but Texas could not get closer than six points.

TCU's rebounding played a key role in the game. The Frogs out rebounded Texas 51-42 with Mickey McCarty pulling in 14 and James Cash collecting 12. The loss brought Texas' league record to 1-1.

North Romps In Senior Bowl Game

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — The South failed to rise again Saturday when the North unleashed a herd of bruising backs and accurate passing to win the 18th annual Senior Bowl, 35-13.

It was the North's first victory in the post-season classic since 1960, and established a clean sweep for the Cardinals in four All-Star games this year.

Under threatening skies before a sellout crowd of 40,605 fans in Ladd Stadium, North quarterback Virgil Carter of Brigham Young and North Dakota's Coley Colehour led the Yankees to three touchdowns via the air and two on the ground.

World's 'Second Best' In Shot Sets Mark, Nips Randy

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Neal Steinhauer, the world's second best shotputter behind Randy Matson, set an indoor world record at the All American Track and Field Games Saturday night when he beat Matson with a heave of 66 feet, 6 3/4 inches.

Steinhauer, with an all time best of 67 1-2 outdoors, compared to Matson's world mark of 70-7, bested the old indoor mark of 64 1-4 set by Gary Gubner in 1962. The mark fell on Steinhauer's third throw.

With four more shots at the Steinhauer record, Matson came as close as 64 4-1-2 and then missed reaching 60 feet three straight times.

It marked Steinhauer's first victory ever over Matson who had come to this meet—the first dead set on beating Gubner's record.

Steinhauer beat everyone but Matson last year and Randy warmly congratulated the University of Oregon strong man on his indoor record.

SHOCKERS RUN WILD
Pampa Wins, 109-34

DARROUZETT — Pampa's Shockers, smarting from two consecutive losses, completely dominated the Darrouzett Fieldhouse Saturday as they ripped Booker, 109-34 for third place consolation in the Darrouzett tournament.

The Shockers, now 15-3, becomes the first Pampa B team in several years to break the century barrier.

Coach Bill Brown's cagers had lost to Forgan, Okla. in the opening round of the tournament, blowing a 15-point lead, then Friday night lost their first conference game, after leading at the half, to Lubbock's B squad.

Pampa had six players in double figures as they breezed to a 28-6 first quarter lead, stretched it to 44-21 at halftime and 79-22 at the three quarter mark, holding Booker to a single point.

Jim Hollis, who had 22 points for the night, not high for Pampa, scored the 100 and 101st points by driving down for a layup.

Mike Sublett, who played only two quarters, was high for Pampa with 23 points and Bo Bond, who also played just two periods added 22 with Gary Parrish scoring 14, Steve Walls, 10 and Buddy Newton, 10 for the Shockers.

In other games in the tournament Darrouzett girls claimed first place with a narrow, 41-39 victory over Sanford-Fritch with Kathy Howle hitting 22 points for the winners and Lina Moore 23 for the losers.

Darrouzett trailed by seven points with six minutes to go but came storming back for the win.

Miami's girls made it two straight with a 30-28 victory over Bako for first place consolation. Beverly Weiss paced Miami with 18 and Twanda Law had 15 for the losers.

Miami's boys fell 49-40 to Foltlett. Jack Evans and Ken Gill had 11 each for Miami.

Pampa's C team sank Spearman, 64-31 at Harvester fieldhouse Saturday morning. Ed Moltree and Jay Johnson had 14 each for Pampa with Billy Thomas scoring 13, Tom Gray 12 and Chris Gambelin 10 for the C teamers.

Darrouzett boys added another trophy to the school's already filled case with an easy 63-38 victory over Bako in the Saturday night finals.

Darrell Duke paced the winners scoring with 20 points while Jim Collingsworth added 16, Randy Phillips 11, Danny Tribble hit 10 for the losers.

Darrouzett trailed 10-9 after one period but jumped to a 0-15 halftime lead.

In the Canadian tournament Canadian girls and boys both won championships with the girls winning, 36-27 behind Sandy Brown's 17 points.

Rifa Butts and Edwanda Brown hit 10 each for Higgins.

In the boys contest Canadian goaled with 10 seconds to go for a 56-55 victory over Wheeler.

Johnny Walker paced Canadian with 21 points and John Chapman hit 19 for Wheeler.

In the girls consolation Wheeler fell to Allison, 42-41. Sue Richardson hit 25 in the Mustangs losing cause and Dianne Kelly hit 20 for Allison.

In boys consolation Kelton waxed Canadian B, 50-39. Melvin Hunt paced Kelton with 13 and Joe Milken hit 11 for Canadian.

Johnny Keane
Dies at Home

HOUSTON (UPI) — Mild mannered Johnny Keane, who burst into national prominence in 1964 when he managed the St. Louis Cardinals to the world championship and then resigned, died Friday night. He was 55.

Keane, who was named the manager of the team he beat in that World Series, the New York Yankees, but was fired last May, suffered a heart attack and died almost immediately about 10:30 p.m. CST.

Dr. Carl Young his physician said he had no previous history of heart trouble.

He is survived by his wife Lela his daughter Pat and two grandsons.

Funeral services have not yet been set.

Keane, who was hired recently by the California Angels as a special scout, lived a strange saga of a life that would defy most fiction writers.

Coaches Farm Teams
For the first five decades of his life, Keane toiled in the Cardinal farm system.

In 1964 in his fourth season in the job as Cardinal manager, owner August A. Busch Jr. became impatient with the Cardinal failures. He fired General Manager Bing Devine, who hired Keane as manager, and went looking for a new manager and had pretty much hired Leo Durocher for 1965.

But it turned out that Busch had given up on his team too early. The Philadelphia Phillies, who led by 6 1/2 games with 12 games left, collapsed and the Cards came on with a rush to beat the Cincinnati Reds and the Phils out by a game to win the pennant. The Cards went on to beat the Yanks in a seven-game World Series.

Busch quickly offered Keane a two-year contract with a big raise. But Keane walked into the Cardinal office the day after the World Series with a "Dear Mr. Busch" letter written earlier in the season that contained his resignation.

Keane said he never considered changing a word even after the Cardinals won it all. "My mind was made up," he said.

The following week, he received what used to be the best job in baseball—manager of the Yankees.

He took over a Yankee team in 1965 that had won five straight pennants and labeled it "the best team I've ever managed." But the Yanks were growing old, the front office hadn't gotten the replacements and injuries were to wreck them.

The unfortunate Keane became the fall guy. The team slumped to sixth place in 1965 and after the team lost 16 of its first 20 games last year, he was fired and replaced by Ralph Houk.

Originally a student for the priesthood, Keane started in baseball as an infielder in 1930 at 19 but his promising career was cut short by a beanball and he never played in the majors.

His wife, Lela, once described him best by saying, "Baseball was his only real interest."

Arkansas Edges Red Raiders
In Close Contest, 70-65

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas just happened to be ahead when time ran out Saturday afternoon, defeating Texas Tech in a see-saw game 70-65.

The lead changed hands five times in the first half. The largest Razorback lead was 7-4 a few minutes into the game.

In the second half the score was tied three times as the lead changed hands three times. Arkansas' largest lead was nine points, and Tec's was seven.

Arkansas pulled ahead on two free shots after being led 48-47 late in the game, and led the rest of the way.

Pro Football for Amarillo?

By RON CROSS
If you've lived in the Texas Panhandle over two days you have heard of Dory Funk, Dory Funk Jr. and Terry Funk.

If you are a professional wrestling fan you've heard of the Funk's even if you don't live in the Texas Panhandle.

Dory Sr. has stepped into a new profession, called football, to which he is by no means a stranger.

Both his sons busted a few opponents heads when they wore the football colors of West Texas State, same as they do now on the pro mat circuit.

Dory and White Deer banker Bob McBrayer are going to give Amarillo a professional football team if they can find a place to play the games.

A stadium that will hold a well packed audience is the only block in an otherwise sound plan to give the Amarillo and us area folk something to do on Sunday nights around 8 p.m.

area folk telephoned and wrote letters saying what a good idea they thought it would be.

Now the Chamber is all for it. According to Dory, who has apparently made a mint busting heads on the mat, he and McBrayer will foot the entire bill, which will run into more money than I've ever seen.

For instance you have to put up a $20,000 appearance bond, equipment costs about $7-8,000 for the best, and Dory will have nothing else, you have to pay the thus far is Price College Stadium, which seats only 3,500 and isn't near big enough.

Dory tried to get Dick Bivins Stadium where the Amarillo High Schools play but as he puts it, "The people said it would hurt the sod and were pretty wishy-washy about it."

But Dory has hit on an idea if the people who can, will do something about it.

Potter County Stadium, where the Amarillo Sonics play baseball to a rather small crowd, could be extended to accommodate baseball and football.

This is just an idea as yet but if Amarillo keeps growing there'll have to be more high schools and another playing field will be needed.

At present the Texas League, the league in which Amarillo would participate, has six teams but is expanding to a 12 team league.

Tulsa, Okla. was the 1966 champion and drew good crowds with Sherman - Denison Odessa and Omaha doing the same.

Odessa finished dead last, didn't score in their first six games and lost only $1,500. But they'll be back this year which gives you an indication the folk there must think it's a pretty good thing.

The proposal for this year is like we said for 12 teams. Oklahoma City has already joined, and have a north and south division and a play-off at season's end.

"I think, says Dory, we would have a tremendous drawing power with boys from Texas Tech, West Texas, other Southwestern Conference schools, and from the taxi squads of the professionals in the AFL and NFL."

Many of the teams in the league had players from the big boys this year, one of whom was Donnie Anderson, who was on Green Bays taxi squad for a while.

One thing that Dory and I can't understand is how Amarillo can spend something like $250,000 for ice for an ice hockey team, when such a sport has already failed once in that city.

"People like the action you have in football. The people in West Texas are football crazy," says Dory, adding, "we wouldn't be competing with anything except Sunday night television and there's not much to watch anyway."

Frankly he's right and many of the people we've talked to in Pampa and this area think it is a good idea and hope the team gets to Amarillo.

Cards and letters and telephone calls from folk in this area would be appreciated by Dory, he wants to know what you think about it.

Personally we think it's a great idea, after all Green Bay isn't as big as Amarillo. We don't have a stadium for you Dory, but you do have our good wishes.

PHS C Team Loses in Meet At Darrouzett

DARROUZETT — Pampa's C team, playing in place of the Pampa Shockers, found the going rough against Follett's varsity Friday and lost a 74-53 decision.

Billy Thomas pumped in 16 points in the losing cause and Darrell Wynn hit 34 for Follett. The Shockers traveled back to Darrouzett Saturday for another game in the tournament. (See results, page 8.)

In other games Miami bounced back from a Thursday night loss to rip Booker, 46-23 with Jack Evans pacing the scoring with 18 points while Lonnie Hughes hit seven for the losers.

The Warriors led only 8-7 at the end of the first period but stretched it to 24-9 at half.

Miami's girls also shook off the effects of a Thursday night defeat and whalloped Booker, 49-42.

Beverly Weiss paced the Miami scoring with 35 points while Shirley Meler hit 16 for Booker. Miami led 32-13 at halftime and played reserves the rest of the way.

Darrouzett made the finals in both the boys and girls division with a 50-48 victory over Beaver in the girls game and a 59-30 victory in the boys contest.

In the North Palms tournament White Deer's girls made the finals with an easy 47-29 victory over Clarendon. Jenny Hawpe paced the ladies with 19 points. Tina Moore had nine for the losers.

The White Deer boys also made the finals with a 44-40 victory over Adrian with Bobby Rapp scoring 17 for the Bucks.

Groom lost to Claude's boys, 46-27 with Jerry Roberts scoring seven for the Tigers. The Groom girls also lost, to Hedley, 40-31 with Pat Hunt pacing the scoring with 17 points.

Briscoe lost again, both boys and girls in the Wellington tournament.

The girls lost to Wellington, 49-35 with Dianne Dodd pacing Briscoe again with 27 points.

The Briscoe boys fell to Quail, 50-41 with Mark Moeke's 14 high for the Longhorns.

Williams Leads in Scoring

LUBBOCK — Pampa swung back to their usual good brand of basketball Friday night and remained tied with Lubbock Coronado for third place in district 3-4A, both with 5-2 records.

The Harvesters cooled Lubbock's Westeners, 65-47 for their 16th victory in 19 outings with little or no trouble in spacious Lubbock Coliseum.

But Pampa and Coronado, whom the Harvesters host Tuesday night, stayed behind first place Tascosa, 7-0 and second place Amarillo, 5-1 both of whom scored easy victories Friday.

The Pampa Shockers lost their third game in 17 outings, 49-41 to Lubbock B squad. The loss was the first in league play for coach Bill Brown's Shockers. Jim Hollis led Pampa scoring with 18 points in a game that saw Lubbock trailing by four points at halftime.

Pampa never trailed in the varsity contest against the last place Westeners (0-7) but did find themselves tied once. Pampa went out front, 2-0, then 4-0 only to see Lubbock tie it, 4-4. But Steve Williams, who led the scoring with 14 points and passed off for about 40 more, sank a jumper to give the Harvesters a 6-4 margin and that was actually the game.

Williams played his usual fine game on defense and had his best night of the year on offense as he set up basket after basket. Rick Foster scored 12 points for the Harvesters and George Bailey, still recovering from a cold had 11.

Center Bo Lang was held to nine points, marking the first time this season he has failed to score in double figures. Bo hit four of seven from the field but hit only one of seven free shot attempts.

A bright spot was the act that John Braly connected for eight points probably making him Pampa's 'fifth man' something coach Terry Culley has been seeking all season.

After the Harvesters took their 6-4 lead they stretched it to 13-4 with 2:01 left on the scoreboard as the Westeners went six minutes without a basket.

The Harvesters led 18-8 when the first period ended and led by 17 at 28-11 with 4:31 left in the half.

The Westeners Jim Sawyer, who paced his team in scoring with 13 points, hit two shots from under the bucket to cut it to 28-15 but Pampa went to the dressing room with a 34-20 lead at halftime.

Pampa hit just below their season average on field goal attempts, sinking 25 of 55 for 45.4 per cent, but reserves played much of the final quarter.

Lubbock couldn't find the range at all, connecting on but 18 of 52 for a cool 34 per cent. The Westeners did hit 11 of 13 free shots while the Harvesters hit 15 of 27.

Pampa had leads of 20 points several times in the last half but Culley substituted freely but even the Pampa reserves played the Westeners a good contest.

Pro Star Game Between AFL, NFL Proposed

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —An All-Star football game between outstanding players of the National and American Football leagues will be proposed within 60 days to owners of both leagues.

The announcement came Thursday from NFL Players Association President Mike Pyle and Jack Kemp, head of the AFL players group.

The proposed game would be played annually beginning January 1968, at a site to be selected. Exact date for the game also would be decided later.

Proceeds from the game would go partly for charity and the players' pension plan of both leagues, they said.

Pyle said the proposal has been on the drawing boards for several months now and had been discussed by the presidents and legal counsels for both associations.

Pyle was elected president of the NFL group Thursday. He plays center for the Chicago Bears. He succeeds Pittsburgh Steelers tackle Charlie Bradshaw.

Runnerup Bowl Due On TV Today

MIAMI (UPI) —With Green Bay and Kansas City waiting in the wings to put on pro football's super show next week, National Football League also-rans Baltimore and Philadelphia meet Sunday in the Orange Bowl in the annual runnerup game.

Baltimore is the slight favorite, but it shapes up as an anything-can-happen game.

For one thing, there likely will be a contest of opposite styles at quarterback with Johnny Unitas of the Colts exercising his careful ways of passing from the pocket against the Eagles' scrambling ace Johnny Concannon, Philadelphia's probable starter.

Unitas To Play Kickoff is scheduled at 11:45 p.m. (CST) before what could be a crowd approaching full-house of 72,000 with Unitas as the chief drawing card. Last year in this game, Unitas was injured and Tom Matte stepped in to lead Baltimore to a runaway victory over Dallas.

The game annually matches the Eastern and Western division runners-up.

The game offers $1,500 each to the winning players, as well as a chance to practice in balmy sunshine and be on hand for the annual player meetings and NFL player golf tournament. But nobody's forgetting the $8,000-plus that went to the Green Bay players who whipped Dallas in the NFL championship game a week ago, and the 15,000 at stake when the Packers meet the American League champion Chiefs in Los Angeles' Super Bowl game next Sunday.

Proceeds To Fund The biggest chunk of returns from ticket sales and television (CBS) rights to the runnerup game goes to the players fund. Baltimore and Philadelphia both finished the season with 9-5 records.

The old nemesis of the Borger Bulldogs rose up this week to upend previously undefeated Cock O Walk and knot the standings of the Pro Basketball League at the Pampa Youth and Community Center. It was ex-Bulldogs vs ex-Harvesters with the Borger Searchlights prevailing 41-39 in a hair raising game. Cock O Walk led 21-12 and 28-21 at various stages of the game but blew their leads when they ran out of gas in the final stanza. Borger substituted freely to gain a definite advantage. This left Cock O Walk and Borger at 4-1 for the season.

In the novice league no action took place this week so First National maintained its perfect record of 5-0 followed by Curtis Well Service at 4-1.

Griese Passes Lead North, 28-27

HONOLULU (UPI) — Purdue's Bob Griese, runnerup for this year's Heisman Trophy award, tossed three touchdown passes and kicked a field goal and an extra point Friday night to lead the North to a 28-27 victory over the South in the Hula Bowl.
Steve Spurrier, who edged Griese, tossed one touchdown pass and set up two other South scoring plays with long passes. A capacity crowd of 23,000 watched the 21st annual gridiron classic in Honolulu Stadium.

The North pulled into an early lead when Michigan State halfback Clinton Jones made a 79-yard touchdown run and Griese tossed a 37 yard TD pass to schoolmate Jim Finley in the end zone. Griese made it 16-0 with a 31 yard field goal.
Late in the second period Spurrier set up the first South scoring play with a 38-yard pass to Oklahoma's Ben Hart, and UCEA's Mel Farr took the ball over from the one. Spurrier came back seconds later hitting Hart with a 54-yard touchdown pass.
After leading 16-14 at half-time, the North fell behind, 20-16, when back Charles Brown of Missouri scored for the South from the three. The North came back quickly with Griese hitting the University of Washington's Dave Williams with 43 and 40 yard touchdown passes in the final periods.

The final effort by the South came after Spurrier tossed 68 yards to Hart and then Brown scored on an eight yard run with five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. A pass attempt by Stanford's Dave Lewis on the conversion failed. Brown, who was chosen the outstanding back of the game, led all rushers with 100 yards on 18 carries. Spurrier passed for 300 yards completing 16 of 32 attempts, while Griese picked up 263 yards on 15 of 22 tries.
Williams was named outstanding lineman of the game.

Air Pollution Panel Named

DALLAS — Appointment of a nine-man panel of experts on refinery operations to assist industry and public agencies in devising effective regulations and procedures to prevent air pollution has been announced by W. A. Landreth, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

The group will serve as the technical subcommittee on air and refinery effluent for the Association's Air and Water Conservation Committee.

Landreth said the committee's first assignment has been to study proposed regulation for smoke and particulate control as drawn by the State Air Control Board. Meredith will represent the Association at the Board's hearing.

"With the help of technical advisers of the calibre we have secured for this committee we believe the industry can implement the policies of cooperation and assistance expressed by the Association at its last annual meeting," Landreth said.

Crude Production May Hit High

DALLAS — It is possible that 1967 will see Texas crude all production reach the all-time peak it established eleven years ago, according to W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"A number of the large companies which provide a big share of the market for Texas oil are predicting a growth in demand next year in the range of three per cent increase over this year. If this proves to be the case, Texas should exceed the total crude production figure it reached with 1,107,806,000 barrels in 1956," Landreth said in a year-end statement.

The Association estimates that Texas production will hit about 1,077,896,000 barrels in 1966.

"The optimism generated by prospects for continued strong demand for Texas oil and gas is tempered by a number of factors," Landreth said.

"One is the widening disparity between the price of crude oil and continued increases in operating costs," Landreth said. He pointed out that although the volume of crude produced may reach the total set in 1956, the average price is still about 12 cents a barrel less than the top level reached in 1957 at $3.11 a barrel.

Landreth said that while there has been scattered price adjustments during the past year they rarely exceeded five cents a barrel, and that crude prices were still well under the 1957-59 price index used by the federal government to compare costs.

E. B. Davis, a pumper for Gulf Oil Corp., for 33 years, was honored at a dinner held recently in Borger.

He and his wife, Roxie, resided in Pampa since 1933. They recently moved to Durant, Okla., and will make their home at 1224 W. Texas St.

Before leaving, Mr. and Mrs. Davis were honored at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Yager, 209 Tignor.

Landreth said that while there has been scattered price adjustments during the past year they rarely exceeded five cents a barrel, and that crude prices were still well under the 1957-59 price index used by the federal government to compare costs.

AIME Slates Tuesday Meet

Daryl L. Smith, Supervisor-Production Evaluation Section of Northern Natural Gas Company, will discuss "Well-head Performance of Gas Wells in the Anadarko Basin" at the monthly meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME. The meeting will be on Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 8:15 p.m., at the Coronado Inn in Pampa.

Members are requested to make their reservations with John Gill, MO 4-4695 in Pampa or with Alan Evans, BR 4-1331 in Borger. Guests are invited to attend.

Pampan Has Entry In Stock Show

FORT WORTH — David Harris of Pampa will have short-horns in competition at the 1967 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Jan. 27 through Feb. 5.

Stock Show President and Manager W. R. Walt, reports entries for the 1967 exposition are still being counted. "We're hopeful 1967 will be another record breaking year for entries, of course it's still a little early to make a definite prediction," he said. Entries at Fort Worth have averaged over 11,000 in recent years.

The gas incinerator was first developed in 1909.

HASTY STORAGE of petroleum products in Viet Nam is made possible with units fabricated from synthetic rubber coated on nylon cloth. The 420,000-gallon capacity reservoir is easy to handle, transport and install, since the units can be folded into a 14-foot roll, five feet in diameter. A trapezoidal-shaped pit is dug to hold the petroleum and the lining is laid inside the pit to form the quick and temporary storage tank.

Shorts From Oil Facts

New York — Oilmen take good care of small oil wells because big ones are hard to find, according to Oil Facts.

Two-thirds of all the oil wells in the United States are classified as "strippers" — meaning they produce no more than 10 barrels a day each. There are 398,000 such wells in 23 states. Their total production in 1965 was 58 million barrels — one-fifth of all the oil produced in the nation.

Oil Facts says scientists and engineers are constantly seeking improved recovery techniques in order to prevent waste of the nation's petroleum resources.

Oil pipeline systems in the United States are expanding rapidly to help meet the growing demand for petroleum products. Oil Facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, reports that during 1966, nearly 2,400 miles of crude oil and product pipelines were completed at a cost of $82 million. Currently under construction are 2,000 additional miles with a price tag of about $94 million.

The first automatic gas water heater was made in 1889.

Jack rabbits can take 20-foot leaps and run 45 miles an hour.

REPORT TRAWLERS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The State Department of Fish and Game has reported that six Soviet fishing vessels are operating off the southern California coast.

The boats—five big stern trawlers and one service ship—are about 18 miles west of Point Conception, Santa Barbara County fishing for hake and rockfish.

The fish and game department said Friday the ships—all about 300 feet long—are operating well outside the 12-mile territorial fishing zone adopted recently by the United States.

Families May Apply For AFS Students

Applications from families interested in keeping a foreign exchange student in their homes for the 1967-68 school year are now being accepted by the Pampa Chapter of the American Field Service.

Information about the requirements and conditions involved may be obtained from Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr., chapter president, at MO 5-2243; Mrs. J. F. Elder, MO 4-6234 or Mrs. Eben Warner Jr., MO 5-5103, members of the Homes and Student-Family Adjustment Committee.

Mrs. Hiatt said the objective of the AFS is to offer the world's most promising young people opportunities to participate in realizing a world of peaceful existence through understanding. It is the objective of the Pampa chapter to offer this opportunity to local families in welcoming foreign exchange students into their homes. Knowing, associating, or living with a foreign student cannot but help to nurture an international-mindedness in every American.

The local AFS Chapter is responsible for raising $750 to match a like sum at national headquarters for each exchange student. The major portion of the money in Pampa is raised by the high school student council. Civic clubs, other organizations, and individuals contribute the remainder of the fund which is sent to the New York AFS Headquarters. Due to the cooperation and generosity of the Pampa citizenry, the local AFS Chapter can support two students next year.

Werayut Yoothongkam of Nakhorn Pathom, Thailand, this year's foreign student, is living in the Harry Vanderpool home with his American brothers, Pat and Phil.

"There must be a minimum of 10 adults attending in order to hold classes," she said.

Each class will be two hours in length and after tomorrow night's class, the remaining sessions will be held at the convenience of the majority attendance of a majority attending.

Another reminder of the Mother and Baby Care Class at Highland General Hospital Monday evening at 7 p.m. on the OB Floor. Both parents are in-

We were asked this week if there were canteens in Vietnam. We said we were sure that there were many canteens with clubmobile girls staffing them. We received this article in the mail this morning: Were it not for the ability of the clubmobile girls to adjust quickly to drastic changes, the six girl unit attached to the 1st Calvary Division in Vietnam would not have been able to carry on so well. The girls' first center location was two medium tents hooked together. Then they moved to a telephone exchange building and when this location was vacated, the ARC girls were homeless, or completely mobile for a short period.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMONSON

A NEW YEAR always brings with it resolutions, some to be kept and some to be broken. Hope the following Pampa citizens are blackeyed peas, hog jowl and cornbread on New Year's Day so the resolutions listed for them below, which were perhaps deep in their dreams on New Year's Eve, may become realities this year.

Resolved for Community Concert Assn. president, Mrs. MacField McDaniel, that the Municipal Auditorium will be well underway. Resolved that Pampa Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth will confer with Mother Nature and schedule the Top O' Texas Rodeo when no rain is in the making.

For Harry Vanderpool and E. H. (Smiley) Henderson we resolve that the Stage Band Contest may be set without so many conflicts.

For Fine Arts Assn. members it is resolved that an enlarged program will entertain Pampans this year, since the group had a good beginning last year.

Resolved for Knife and Fork Club members to put on their "Best Bibs and Tuckers" to entertain guests at Tuesday evening's banquet at which Richard Arlen, Hollywood star, will speak.

For the Downtown Merchants it is resolved that they will water the trees in planter boxes in front of business houses enough so the trees will shade parking meters by summer.

It is resolved that those residing on Somerville St., and many, many other Pampans, will appreciate the opening of Somerville onto North Hobart.

Resolved for Pampa Council of Garden Clubs to encourage more Pampans to grow the Pampa plant, the Pampas Grass.

Resolved that the Pampa school heads will get Bobby Stephens, PHS baseball coach, some pre-conference ball games with someone other than Borger.

For Capt. Robert Tritton and Salvation Army board members it is resolved that the upcoming financial drive will be an overwhelming success and that the new Salvation Army Chapel will be erected.

Resolved that the Coronado Inn Merchants will sponsor more gala extravaganzas for the public.

Resolved that the local Historical and Genealogical Society will at least make a start toward publishing the history of Gray County as was done in two volumes for Carson County.

For Jim O'Connor, we resolve that he will handle the traffic problem at the intersection of N. Hobart and Coronado Dr., with the help of the new signal light.

For Mrs. Fred Thompson, it is resolved that she, in cooperation with the M. K. Brown Foundation, will bring greater prominence to the museum in the White Deer Land Co. Bldg., and for Supt. of Schools John Damron it is resolved to bring nearer to reality the creation of an administration building for the Pampa Independent School District.

NOW FOR SOME resolutions that were self-made. Mrs. Otis Nace resolves to achieve happiness at every reasonable cost; to gain a measure of success if possible; but, most of all in 1967, not to bat her head quite so hard against Life's stone walls.

Mrs. Sam Anderson resolves to cook a meal with a complete new menu once a week.

Mrs. John Spearman resolves not to cut the long, thick locks of her daughters, Mary Margaret, 12, and Melinda, 10, despite their wails.

Mrs. Warren Fatheree resolves not to break her New Year's resolutions by not making any.

Mrs. Bob Price resolves to not only enjoy life in Washington, D. C., which everyone knows she will, but to help her husband represent the people of the district.

Jack Eubanks did not make any resolutions but changed his mind and resolved not to have any more birthdays after he was surprised at a birthday party Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Jack Miller resolves to be a size 10 again by next Christmas by instigating the formation of a "Walking for Exercise Club." (Know several local women who need, and probably will join her, including this columnist).

Mrs. Billy J. Willis resolves to work a little harder and be a lot happier.

Mrs. Jess Clay resolves to count to 10 before speaking.

Harris-Adkins Vows Are Pledged

Miss Karen Gail Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Harris of Abilene, and Jerald Glen Adkins of Waxahachie, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Adkins of 1924 N. Nelson, were united in marriage recently.

First Assembly of God Church was the scene of the Dec. 17 double-ring ceremony read at 8 p.m. by Rev. Charity Harris. Mrs. Barney Murray, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections and accompanied Rev. Mike Love, Miss Faith Love and Mrs. R. J. Harris as they sang "True Love," "With-er Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Vows were pledged beneath an archway entwined with greenery and white carnations. Two basket arrangements of white gladioli flanked by candelabra appointed the wedding scene.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal fitted gown fashioned of white crepe over taffeta enhanced by a lace bodice and chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from a flowered coil adorned with seed pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of gardenias.

Bridal attendants, attired in red velvet gowns and carrying white mum bouquets, were Mrs. Lynn Fletcher, macon of honor, and Miss Linda Adkins and Miss Rebecca Harris, bridesmaids.

Serving as best man to the bridegroom was Gary Rowden while groomsmen were Robert Byars and Jimmy Adkins, who also seated the guests.

Terry Lynn Fletcher attended as ringbearer and Miss Deborah Eason served as flower girl.

First Assembly of God Church Fellowship Hall was the scene of the reception held following the ceremony. An arrangement of white mums centered the bride's table. Mrs. Charity Harris served the three-tiered cake which was decorated with red sugar roses and Mrs. Robert Byars presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Mrs. Travis Harris.

The bride, a graduate of Electric High School, attended Southwestern Assembly of God College, Waxahachie. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School, also attended Southwestern Assembly of God College. He is presently employed by Plastics Mfg. The newlyweds plan to continue their educations at SAGC.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Travis Harris and Rev. and Mrs. Mark Cockrell of Waxahachie and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Murray of Enid, Okla.

Now the Gals Wear the Shirts

ONE CHIC NEW WAY TO WEAR a pantsuit is with a precisely tailored shirt massed with deep red, gold and white flowers. Lady Arrow's choice (left) is a blend of Avril rayon and cotton in durable weave. Avril rayon and polyester are blended in the striped fabric (right) in earth brown and white. A granddad style but by Gant Shirmakers, this shirt shows its heritage with proper white collar and cuffs.

By HELEN HENNESSY Women's Editor Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Apart from the big noise over mini-skirts there's a shirt making big news in Paris right now. It is a lady's shirt, tailored with traditional men's button-down collar and it's being worn by all the French gals who originate so much of the sportswear fashion news.

The poor boy sweater was their most recent export of note to the American scene and all we have to do is count how many we see here now to realize how important such a trend can become. If we follow the direction indicated at this moment shirts may well be the poor boys' successors.

In thinking of shirts we tend to visualize men's classics. Yet there's a whole new realm of shirt design developing. Imaginatively designed women's shirts, not to be confused with blouses, are being made by several traditional men's shirt makers. Quality is essential and fabric excellence a prime factor. Many of the finest new shirts are in fabrics containing Avril rayon.

Avril rayon is absorbent, which spells comfort for the wearer, yet it offers all the desirable easy-care qualities of cotton. (See NOW, Page 19)

Silver Meshed Trousered Wedding Gowns May Walk the Bridal Paths

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The pants, taking over in all other areas of women's apparel, now walk the bridal path.

In a departure from the traditional in wedding gowns, one New York manufacturer shows a trousered bridal gown for spring. The firm is the same one which within hours after the Laci Johnson-Patrick Nugent nuptials had copies of Mrs. Nugent's wedding dress in the works.

Now, Alfred Angelo, Inc., figures the space age is the big influence in fashions and that something is due besides all that satin and peas de soie.

The gown of the future is a floor length jump suit, pants with flared legs, and cut from diaphanous, silver mesh. Under it, the bride wears something resembling a jeweled body stocking, clear her piece goes traditional—a shoulder length veil of tulle.

The Angelo show of space age bridal finery just happened to coincide with a two-week series of shows of women's ready-to-wear and accessories from New York manufacturers.

The first, this current week, is under the sponsorship of the New York Couture Business Council, Inc., to be followed through January 13 with shows by members of the American Designer Group. The shows are held each January and July for visiting fashion reporters.

Angelo is not a member of either group. But one member of the couture council is Bianchi, whose show Thursday stressed traditional bridal dress.

There were the beautiful rose point laces, with tiny pearl beading embroidery on peas de soie, silk organza appliqued with re-embroidered lace, and tulle accented by peas, sash.

Tulle, cathedral trains and chauntilly lace all were for the day-of-a-lifetime.

The firm of Junior Sophisticates is known for its regular ready to wear, not for bridal fashions, but the finale of the firm's show Thursday emphasized the young look for which the firm is famous. The bride wore a short, ribbon embroidered lace dress, a copy of infant apparel, complete with a copy of baby's cap.

Kitchen Again in Limelight

SMALL KITCHEN TAKES on new personality with little expense. Homemaker (left) uses electric glue gun to secure potent-like black and white vinyl to cart previously on way to junk yard. The vinyl is added to tabletop in kitchen (right) with new brick pattern in cushioned vinyl. Black vinyl countertop frames a colored double oval sink. Venetian blinds are used to shut off utility area.

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—The kitchen remains the hub of the home. Since a homemaker spends many hours in this important room, the trend has been to put a great deal of thought into its decoration.

Builders find a well-designed kitchen in their model homes helps speed sales. Those who build luxury homes report that 90 per cent of the ones they build include space for dining in the kitchen.

Much remodeling starts in this room—in redecorating, designers advise working for an uncluttered look. This is especially necessary when the room is small.

If the budget is limited, a new paint job or a patterned wallpaper that you can apply yourself is a good start. Painted peg-board to hold copper molds, pots and pans is an inexpensive way to dress up a dull kitchen.

These decorative touches help when remodeling is a step-by-step process because of the family budget. After painting or wallpapering, look to the floor. If the budget allows, start with a new floor covering to set the color. Effective are the new cushioned vinyls that are comfortable to stand and walk on and also provide some sound reduction and insulation. A herringbone brick pattern (by Manning Mills) in antique red and white, for example, goes well with a kitchen that has a slight period flavor or may mix with sharply modern.

Another innovation in dressing up the kitchen, and aiding the homemaker are new kitchen sink designs. Colored sinks now come in oval, round and rectangular, and one, a sculptured double round bowl designed by American Standard, comes in colors to fit any decor.

Still with budget in mind, designers also suggest covering undistinguished pieces of furniture with a colorful vinyl print. A serving cart or handy work table may be dressed up with the vinyl bonded to it. You may want to match or co-ordinate a table with the countertop covered with a vinyl pattern.

The secret to good budget decorating of a kitchen is to collect pictures of kitchens you like. Those in color give an idea of what the total effect of a red or yellow room, for example, will be. Model kitchens also suggest storage ideas to adapt for your needs.

Here's Help For The Father-to-Be

LONDON (UPI) — Babies late bodily functions despite outside conditions: because a woman becomes more relaxed at night, thus bringing on labor, or because darkness in some way influences the onset of labor.

This was the conclusion drawn by Andrew Crowther, a medical student, after study of 1,331 births in two years. In a report in World Medicine, Crowther said the reason for early morning births might be because of the body's 24-hour clock which continues to regulate bodily functions despite outside conditions: because a woman becomes more relaxed at night, thus bringing on labor, or because darkness in some way influences the onset of labor.

Lovely Nails Do Make the Hands

BEAUTIFUL HANDS ARE NOT SOMETHING that just happen by chance. If your own nails refuse to grow, the "brushed-on" nail can help you through trying times. Broken, unsightly nails, (upper left) make hands unattractive. Nails with silver foil form attached, (upper right) show mixture after being applied. File nails horizontally (lower left) and then vertically. When the fake nail is dry, polish can be applied, (lower right).

By PATRICIA KING, Beauty Editor, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Beautiful nails are the most important facet of beautiful hands.

Well-manicured, well-shaped nails make fingers look longer and hands more graceful.

Examine your nails carefully next time you apply hand lotion. If they look as though they need repair, a good place to start would be at the cuticle. Then on to the nails. If you find you have nothing to work with, treat yourself to a new set of nails.

Each time you wash your hands be sure to push back the cuticles. This practice will keep them soft and easy to manage.

When you notice the skin getting rough, use cuticle cream and trim away the dead skin.

Continue to massage the nail gently with the cream. Then soak the nails in warm soapy water for a few minutes.

Now you are ready to apply make-believe nails.

Not only do these nails make your hands look beautiful but they also serve the purpose of letting your own nails grow stronger as they grow longer under the false nail.

The "Brush-on" nail is a mixture of powder and liquid that can be purchased at the corner drugstore or applied by your manicurist. It is, of course, applied to the whole nail (not just the tip).

Another plus for these make-believe nails is that they are good for nail-biters. They help break that awful habit.

After filing and thoroughly cleaning your own cuticles the "brush-on" nails are easy to apply.

Attach the silver foil form to the finger around the nail. The foil is designed in a semi-circle to shape the nail.

The nail mixture is then ap-

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: Contrary to what you might think, I wish my youngest child had some homework each evening. Her teacher doesn't believe in home work. Do you have any suggestions as to some constructive things she might do?

ANSWER: Sometimes I wonder who is demanding the overload of homework we hear so many complaints about. Your viewpoint isn't an uncommon one for the parent of a first- or second-grader.

I go along with your child's teacher on specific homework assignments for young children. There are a number of "fun" things your daughter can do, however, that may be termed "homework" if the label makes her feel more important.

First, encourage her to read, read, read, read—library books, her own books, children's magazines and any other suitable material. Let her read aloud to you or tell you her favorite stories.

Help her to write a simple book report to take to school, including the name of the book, the author, what the book is about and why she likes it. Or have her make a miniature picture book by folding a paper in half both vertically and horizontally and illustrating the four main events of the story in sequence. Encourage her, too, to write and illustrate her own stories.

If she's interested in science, let her perform simple experiments and keep a record of them in a notebook. She might also record the weather each day or keep track of the different kinds of birds she sees in the bird feeder.

Arithmetic flash cards are often fun and helpful, especially if small rewards are given for correct answers. You might also write down problems for her to work.

Half the fun of doing extra work is taking it to school. Be sure her teacher sees any projects she carries through.

Please be careful, though, not to dampen your daughter's enthusiasm by forcing unwanted schoolwork on her. Let HER set the pace. The love of learning in the primary grades is too precious to be tampered with.

Girdle Control

NEW YORK (UPI) — For longer wear and maximum figure control, immerse foundation garments frequently in warm soap or detergent suds.

The Cleanliness Bureau reports that girdles should be washed after each two or three wearings. Frequent laundering is important. After a few days, a girdle is apt to take the wearer's shape — rather than give the wearer its shape.

Slip-Blouse Combination Little girls will say flower fresh and always neat in a slip that is also a blouse. Prettyly embroidered with eyelet or dainty lace, some have long torsos bottomed with full skirts or tailored shift styles. Short or long sleeves for your little lady's preference.

Divorcee Has The Right to Entertain

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was to get married when she was 17. Two years later her husband left her and their small baby. The court awarded her maintenance support so that she could maintain her own apartment, which she did, until recently. She decided she wanted to take a practical nursing course at the vocational school, so I agreed to take care of her baby. It simplified matters by having her move in with dad and me.

Before she moved in I made a few rules. One was that she was not to entertain any male guests unless dad or I were home. The other night she had a male friend here, knowing we wouldn't be home. This upset me. It is a matter of principle with me. Do you think a 20-year-old divorcee should be allowed to entertain male friends alone?

CONCERNED: A "pats" is nature's way of telling us that something is wrong. To suppress the pain and ignore the warning, instead of going to a doctor to try to find out what is wrong and how to remedy it, is foolish, dangerous, and short-sighted.

DEAR ABBY: I go to the barber shop once a week. I'm tired of my hair and I ever need a little trim around the ears and a bit of clipping on the back of my neck, so I take my hair to exactly six minutes to give me a haircut. I pay the standard price, of course.

Now, the man who has a full head of hair and has saved up a month's growth takes about five times as much of the barber's time as I do, yet we both pay the same price for a haircut.

I think barbers should charge according to the amount of time they spend with each customer. I would appreciate your opinion, and the opinion of others.

AGAINST IT: Yes, she was wrong for having visited a "rule" she agreed to accept. But you were wrong for having made such a rule in the first place. Why offer your daughter a roof over her head and then raise it just because she wants to entertain her friends at home?

Where else should a respectable woman entertain? Either change that rule, mother, or tell daughter to change her address. You'll both be much happier.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been sickly ever since I can remember. It's either a "splitting headache," a backache, a pain in the stomach, dizziness, or something else. She eats "painkillers" like popcorn. She buys every kind on the market she can get without a prescription. If the directions say to take two, she takes four. I am afraid that one of these days she is going to take too many and never wake up. I can't convince her that this is dangerous to her health. Maybe you can.

She reads your column every day and thinks you have good sense. By the way, I am not a child who is imagining things.

BALD, BOTHERED AND BEWILDERED: Considering how much a haircut (even a little trim around the ears) does for a man's morale, it's a bargain at any price. Don't split hairs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BENNY IN WINONA: Better do a little checking. She sounds like the kind of girl who rides home from work.

POSSIBLE SITE FOR SLEUTHS is Chateau de Lucens in Moudon, Switzerland. Wife of curator of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Foundation and museum here believes there is a ghost.

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.
MOUDON, Switzerland (NEA) — There we were—nine curious tourists standing in a wisp of rain on a dark, chill night thousands of miles from home.

Overhadowing us (were the lighted battlements of the Chateau de Lucens a museum filled with memorabilia of Sherlock Holmes. In front of us the gate to the castle's drawbridge, scheduled to be open for a warm welcome, was barred. At the foot of the winding quarter-mile gravel road leading to the castle on the hill a bound bayed. Our only solace was the flickering flame of a cigarette lighter.

Unfazed though it was by the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Foundation, the introduction to the castle was perfect. The mood was set as we stambled back down the road toward the contact of an inn in this city. We were ready to accept "my mystery the townspeople might put on the table with the coffee and stinging Marc liquor.

We weren't disappointed. There are two mysteries currently surrounding the castle. One, will the members of the Sherlock Holmes societies around the world meet here May 1, a historic date for Holmes? Two, is there really a ghost in the castle? (An implied third mystery hangs over all—is Sherlock Holmes really dead?)

Plans are under way to solve the first but involved are international communications. The answer to the second question was closer at hand.

According to an authority on castles in Switzerland, the Swiss are "too practical" to have ghosts. "Perhaps this is why the apparition 'appears' to an Englishwoman.

Mrs. Ennis Foley, wife of the castle's curator says, "someone turns the water taps and lights off and on in the night." Pretty good for a starter. And he offhandedly admits these initial pranks are enough for her to prefer spending evenings far away from the fortification once used to protect the valley of Lucens near Lausanne.

However, her husband and son Charlie, who must ride a bike four miles to school, find the assignment fascinating. Foley is a cousin of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and wryly to the Doyle collection of books, letters, paintings, armor and the Holmes museum.

This makes the castle and its collection a "family affair" since the owner is Adrian Conan Doyle, Sir Arthur's son, who lives there several months of the year. He set up the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Foundation and opened the exhibition in April 1966, to the public.

Like so many steeped in the character of Holmes and his creator, Sir Arthur, Foley speaks of Holmes as though he will walk into the sitting room of 221B Baker Street reproduced here at any moment.

Certainly the picture gallery in the castle vaults shows how the movies help perpetuate the myth. These range from Alva Noosa, as Holmes in 1908, through Clive Brook, John Barrymore, Raymond Massey and Basil Rathbone to John Neville, the latest Holmes. He stars in "A Study in Terror" released this year in the United States.

Nothing took the edge off the visit to Lucens. The lozenge cape and deerstalker hat hung by the door of the famous sitting room reminds the visitor that the two friends are at home. The room originally was created in 1951 for the Festival of Britain.

On a cool, dark night in a strange setting, the adventures of Sherlock Holmes become as alive as the beheading ax, swords and torture collar in the armory peeped by knights up-hill in the castle or the final groan of a victim whose heart has been pierced by the shortest spike of more than 30 which makes the elusive Iron Maiden of Nurnberg one of the most terrible instruments of torture invented. She waits patiently in another wing of the castle.

Piano students of Mrs. Charles Parr were entertained recently at a party and recital in her studio at 1318 Charles.

Students enjoying the event and performing in the recital included Debbie Lehmich, Joy Howard, Debbie Sheehan, Tamara Wilson, Linden Seawright, Marcie Holcomb, Jeannine Menness, Jeanne Duncan, Jone Duncan, Janice Duncan, Steve Duncan, Lanetta Wing, Janise Wing, Lynette Wing, Gary Segroves, Carlene Segroves, Cara Tidwell, Renee Jennings, Judy Brown, Donna Fife, Jamie Sexton, Ronnie Love, Shelley Covalt, Raynetta Covalt, Randall Canwell, Lee Ann Cantrell and Jeanne Turner.

Debbie Harris and Cathy Parr were welcomed as guests.

Next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Northern Natural Club Room. All ladies interested in losing weight are invited to attend.

Attending were Mmes. Billie Stephenson, Mary McCloud, Ralph Fox, Scottie Cornelison, Anna Mae Thompson, John Simmons, Oscar Gould, Virgil Weaver, R. T. Davis, Shirley McKissick, Clifford Coleman, Gattie Lane, M. L. Mercer, Bill Campbell and Jimmy Davis.

Freshen Those Ash Trays
Freshen ash trays quickly. Sprinkle baking soda in them, let stand and wipe with paper toweling. Rinse and dry.

A new 7-calorie portable spoon whipped topping mix is made with an artificial sweetener. A box contains 2 envelopes, each of which makes 2 cups of topping when combined with 1/2 cup of cold water and 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla or other flavoring.

Instead of a stuffed tomato salad, serve cooked chilled artichokes filled with your favorite salad mixture: ham, egg, seafood or chicken. Before stuffing, remove the choke from the center of each artichoke with a metal spoon.

TEA AND BISCUITS await Sherlock Holmes and aide, Dr. Watson, in 221B Baker Street. Sitting room is authentically reproduced and exhibited in the Chateau de Lucens in Moudon, Switzerland. Castle is now Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Foundation.

Stained-Glass Prints Shine in Corner

IT LOOKS LIKE TIFFANY -- but it's really one of the wonderful new stained-glass printed fabrics brightening homes from coast to coast. It's easy to cover an umbrella frame and stitch a matching tablecloth to create a setting that's long on charm but easy on the budget.

By JOANNE SCHREIBER, New*Paper Enterprise Assn. After a 50-year rest, stained glass is back in style. The lovely old lamp shades that hung over round dining tables of golden oak are just as effective over Danish teak and the filtered, multicolored radiance is as flattering today as it was then.

So important is the return to stained glass that trend-minded fabric firms are turning out stained-glass prints, authentically colored and patterned to resemble the finest of the old-time designs. Creative homemakers have discovered that these luminous prints are wonderfully effective in modern rooms and are putting the new printed fabrics to all sorts of imaginative uses.

Here, for instance, a sawed-off umbrella is covered with a stained-glass print to create the effect of a Tiffany shade, complete with ringed edge and matching round cloth. This is a gay and inexpensive way to brighten up a tea-for-two corner and could be used in the family room, living room, dining room or even a youngster's room.

To make your own Tiffany corner, here are directions from Conso products, makers of the fringe which is indis-to hide gathering stitches, and add deep fringe to edge of shade if you did not do this earlier.

There are many ways to make a round tablecloth, but the easiest way is to make a square one first and then trim it to the correct shape. Measure from the floor up across the center of the table and down the other side. This will be the measurement for your square fabric. For a small table, such as this one, approximately 30 inches across and 26 inches high, your measurement will come to 82 inches or about seven feet of goods. By using a complete width for a center strip and splitting a second length, sew a seven-foot square of fabric by joining the three lengths.

Now find the center of your square. Thumbtack a string to the center and tie chalk at the end of the string. Make a circular sweep of the square. Cut out the circle you have drawn. Press seams, add fringe, and you have a perfect circular cloth. There's no need to hem the cloth, because a hem will pucker. A fringed trim is easier and prettier.

Prints such as this one are adding a whole exciting new

Royal House-Fixing Costs $560,000

By MARGARET SAVILLE, United Press International LONDON (UPI) — Few people can spend 200,000 pounds $560,000 on modernizing a house. Queen Elizabeth II is one of those few.

The house is her great red stone mansion of Sandringham that stands in a 16,000 acre agricultural estate in the country of Norfolk near the Eastern English coast.

King Edward VII bought the property in 1861, pulled down the hunting lodge that stood there and built a sprawling pinnacled house of 365 rooms which has been described as just plain ugly. It is imposing and surrounded by beautiful gardens, but looks pretty bleak in winter when a cold wind beats up from the marshy coast.

dimension to home decorating. Women who do their own sewing find these are easier to stitch than solids, simply because the print hides such natural hazards as skipped stitches or minor puckers, and the prints have never been gayer than they are this season.

with central heating and up-to-date domestic equipment.

Work also has started on reclaiming the derelict golf course on the grounds of Sandringham under the supervision of Prince Philip.

Sandringham is privately owned by the queen, unlike the Government-maintained state residence of Buckingham Palace, and therefore she has to pay for the modernization. But she is rated one of the richest

Attitudes Are Made, They Are Not Born

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It is rarely by chance—
That a husband and wife remain companionable through the years. (It takes a special effort on the part of one of them—usually on the part of the wife.)

That some people have many friends, while others go through life feeling lonely and apart. (The ones who have friends are the ones who take the initiative in making friends and keeping them.)

That a woman's friends think her husband is intelligent, generous, and easy to live with. (If that's the picture she paints of him, conversationally, it is the one that is accepted.)

That a teen-ager has a courteous and respectful attitude toward adults. (You can be sure that's an attitude his parents have been hammering into him since childhood.)

That some women seem to en-

ertain effortlessly, while others always appear to be harried hostesses. (The relaxed hostess has everything so well-organized in advance that her entertaining just looks easy.)

That an older woman has a pretty face. (It may be chance in a girl or young woman, but by the time a woman is past middleage her face reflects the kind of person she is. If she is a kind and gentle person her face will have a soft, appealing look.)

That a full-time homemaker has something to talk about besides her home, husband, children and local gossip. (If she can talk intelligently on a variety of subjects it means she has not let herself become completely bogged down by home making, but managed to keep well-informed about world affairs and interested in art, music and literature.)

A Pioneer of 'At-Home' Wear

LORI TILL (left) with her house model who is wearing one of Lori's designs — a hot pink and white polka dot shift with puffed sleeves and a high yoke.

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At 19, Lori Till designed sportswear and made a lot of money. She thought it would be fun to own a yacht, so she bought a 60-footer (Eugene DuPont was the former owner) and a yacht basin to go with it. Doesn't everyone?

She discovered that it took more than just "some money" to run the boat or even to keep it in drydock. She went bankrupt, sold it and went back to work.

For several years she continued to design sportswear and soon she had some money again. So, undaunted and ready for another adventure, Lori bought out Casino Classics, the firm she designed for, and continued to design beautiful sportswear.

Unfortunately, she discovered it took more than designing talent to run a successful business. She had little talent for administration and the eyes in the back of her head weren't developed. So garments disappeared before they were shipped. Piece goods and findings (buttons, trimmings, etc.) simply vanished. Shipments were late and payments were slow. Business was growing, but it died in spite of its growth. And Lori was broke again.

She threw in the sponge and closed the firm to switch her talents to designing robes and loungewear but this time she worked for someone else.

In adapting her feeling for sportswear to the robe and loungewear field, Lori revolutionized and revitalized the entire loungewear industry and was a pioneer in what is now known as at-home wear.

After three years of designing for three different firms, Lori Till decided to take the plunge again and go into business for herself once more. She rented space on Madison Ave., which is to the loungewear business what Seventh Ave. is to the garment industry. Today her firm is doing a volume of over $2 million a year and Lori is in the process of capturing a market.

Although her designs added a new look — indeed an entire new category — to the robe business, she is a wiser girl today and knows that that isn't enough. She has to keep one step ahead of the giants in merchandising and promotional ideas. And she's doing it.

What's the secret of her current success? "Don't be afraid of carrying out ideas in which you believe," she said.

"I won't let myself be talked out of them in my work or in my personal life."

Lori says she thinks it would be a wonderful thing if top Seventh Avenue designers would design loungewear and stay in the field. But so far she feels they have just gone in for one-shot attempts at loungewear design to spread their names across the clothes board. And she doesn't feel this helps the industry as a whole very much.

Her fashion philosophy is what made her so well-known a personality as an at-home wear designer.

"I believe that at-home wear should be naive, yet have a tiny trace of wickedness. It should be young, but designed so that a woman in her 40s can wear it as well as a girl of 17." And so she was the first to give the robe market a fashion image.

"A short time ago a robe was a robe was a robe," she said. "And at-home wear was either a housedress or a glamorous $500 hostess gown."

Now all that has changed and you can find many at-home fashions that are chic and pretty at moderate prices. And this whole trend is largely due to the influence of the often-bankrupt, now wiser and successful designer, Lori Till.

Return to Elegance For Feminine Beauty

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — "I keep it short, below the ear lobe and fuller," explained New York hair stylist John Bernard when talking about his new spring look for daytime.

As he sees it, a smooth, off-the-brow, soft look is desired, with everything leaning toward the romantic and elegant.

When it comes to evening and party time, Bernard said this versatile cut can easily transform a sportive but feminine hairstyle to one of great glamor.

This can be done easily with the help of a flowing hairpiece, cluster of curls or even a simple curl that can be pinned on at the most flirtatious spot. By adding a fall or hairpiece in the evening you can create a lovely frame for your face.

If you are fortunate enough to have more than one piece don't feel you can only wear one at a time. No, so, claims Bernard. If artistically and carefully arranged, you can feature two or three hairpieces at one time.

True, short-to-medium hair is most becoming and easy to manage for daytime wear. A good cut and, for some, a good body wave and continuous brushing should keep your hair looking its best. Hair must be cut regularly to maintain that healthy look.

Bernard insists, and rightly so, that the "hard cut" (short and blunt) is only for a certain few. A haircut should not only go with bone construction but also your personality. "The hard cut is an ugly style and is even more repulsive when it is worn with the miniskirt," says Bernard. "The unattractive area at the back of the knees and a chopped hairdo makes an utterly revolting picture."

FOR DAYTIME WEAR John Bernard designed casual, full-blown (upper) hairstyle. For evenings on-the-town this same cut with a different styling and combout has added a single curl (bottom), setting the elegant, romantic mood.

The Panama Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Who Controls The Market?

Who dictates prices? You do. You, the person reading this, the Great American Consumer, Mr. and Mrs. Buying Public with your likes and dislikes, your foibles, your preferences, your day-to-day economic decisions, choices and actions, have the power to bring the mightiest corporation to its knees.

What's more, you not only dictate prices, you also dictate quality, quantity, fashion, model, style, color, size; you name it you are the boss. In short, YOU control what will and what will not be produced. The company or corporation losing sight of this truth is doomed.

This, no doubt, will come as a surprise to many after several decades of high-powered propaganda for the need of government regulation and control of the market place which, has been, is, and always will be, controlled by YOU. It is precisely this fact: the fact you DO control the market place, that the bureaucracy, the ivory tower Socialist professors, the wild-eyed controllers, must resent. They yearn to move the control from your hands to THEIRS.

John Cunniff, financial writer, recently commenting on the current indecision in the automotive industry made it crystal clear where the real control of the industry rests and that the heads of the great automotive cooperations are well aware of it.

"The automotive industry," observed Cunniff, "is perhaps the most powerful industry in the world, but recent statements by its leaders — to say nothing of production cutbacks — reveal a growing caution beneath an overlay of optimism. This caution reveals a respect for economic signals, one of the most important of which is the uncertain mind of the consumer."

In other words, the automotive greats — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, American Mo-

Maybe we're not as healthy as we like to think we are. A sampling by the Public Health Service revealed that four out of five persons in the U.S., aged 65, and not living in an institution, have one or more chronic health impairments as against only two out of five under that age. . . . We're old enough to remember kerosene lamps and stoves, but it came as a surprise to learn that kerosene is one of the principal ingredients in this sophisticated age for the propulsion of our inter-continental ballistic missiles and space rockets. Not so many years ago more kerosene was sold in this country than gasoline, but times have certainly changed.

Today's smile: A bus driver entered a small church at the beginning of the service and sat in the first row. After the sermon the preacher asked him why he sat in the front all alone. "Well," said the bus driver, "I just wanted to see what you did to make everyone move to the back."

Driving on a superhighway we found ourselves following an automobile bearing a Minnesota registration plate and affixed to the bumper was a sticker that read: "Having Parking Problems? Back Planned Parenthood." Maybe that's the way to eliminate them. . . . A New Jersey resort is offering "low-cost vacations in miniature" for those who can't get away for an extended period of time. The idea is to give hurried individuals, or couples, a luxurious, 24-hour break from routine. The plan provides a deluxe room for two, welcome cocktails for each, dinner for two, dancing, breakfast in bed, free morning newspaper, free bouquet of flowers, and other emoluments of the high life. It has become so popular there's a waiting line for reservations.

Thoughts while shaving: A leading nutritional authority said recently that he believes the average span of human life could be increased by about eight years if folks consumed more vegetables, fruit and dairy products. . . . Just because you had to retire at 65 don't think you're too old to do anything else. At 80 Cato commenced the study of Greek and at 83 Tennyson wrote "Crossing the Bar," one of his greatest poems. . . . Never knew until now that the British Victoria Cross, sparingly awarded for the highest valor, and the German Iron Cross, Hitler's decoration of merit, look somewhat alike. Both designs employ the Maltese Cross, four barbed arrow heads with their points meeting in the center, which dates back to the Crusades. . . . Uncle Sam, who has no compunction about taxing tobacco and those who smoke it, awarded more than $2 million in grants and projects during the first half of last year aimed at discouraging smoking. . . . The San Jose (Calif.) MERCURY reported in a story: "Reagan was accompanied on his tour by Chuck Connors — television's 'Rifleman' — who plugged fellow actor Reagan every chance he got." Maybe it was only an act.

Country Editor speaking: "A censor is a fellow who likes to read and see things he does not think anyone else should read or see."

Labor Unions On Skids?

Labor boss controlled unionism, even with the coercion and force of political government on its side, may be headed for limbo if the experience of major Graphic Arts unions may be taken as a trend indicator. According to an article in the December issue of "Printing Production," the Penion Publishing Co.'s monthly production management magazine, "Membership in major Graphic Arts unions is not growing as rapidly as the printing and publishing work force."

Citing statistics compiled by the Master Printers Section of Printing Industries of America, the "Printing Production" article noted that, although the total number of production employees in the printing and publishing field increased from 557,500 to 619,000 (11 per cent during the period 1959 through 1965, printing trades' union membership increased only from 282,400 to 270,140, or 3 per cent, during the same period. . . . a loss, percentage-wise, of 8 per cent.

White Graphic Arts unions, as a whole, enjoyed a numerical gain in membership during the six-year period, more than offset by their percentage loss, even the numerical gain did not hold true for some of its member unions. The Stereotypers Union (ISEU) membership for example, dropped from 12,240 in 1959 to 8,990 in 1965 — a whopping loss of members, and the dues they paid, of 26 per cent. Another member union, the Mailers (IMU), apparently also on the skids, went from 3,610 to 3,500 a membership loss of 7 per cent, during the same period.

That, with the statistics coming from the NLRB is quite an admission! One would think, in the face of the evidence, that both labor bosses and the NLRB would quietly close up shop. A move which, it is safe to say, overburdened taxpayers and disillusioned union members would applaud.

Congressional GOP Leaders Get Advice for 'White Paper' On U.S. Rhodesian Policy from Former Target, Dean Acheson

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Time and events can make strange bedfellows.

They also do a lot to assuage once deep political wounds. A striking illustration is former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's remarkable harmony with Republican congressional leaders on foreign affairs.

Fifteen years ago the Truman cabinet member was a leading target of GOP-castigation and denunciation. Almost daily he was assailed for his defense of Alger Hiss, the high State Department official convicted for perjury, and for his handling of the Korean war. In the 1962 presidential campaign, Acheson was a major issue.

Now 73 and the head of a leading law firm with a flourishing international practice, Acheson meets regularly with House Republican leaders to advise them on affairs of the United Nations and Africa.

His views and suggestions are being incorporated in a "white paper" on "U.S. Policy Toward Rhodesia" which the House GOP Policy Committee will issue early in the new Congress.

Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., also has consulted Acheson in preparation for joining the House GOP in blasting the Johnson administration for supporting the mandatory economic sanctions voted by the United Nations against Rhodesia.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN — The former Democratic cabinet officer's new role as a Republican adviser grew out of a letter he wrote members of Congress forcefully challenging the legal basis for the UN action against Rhodesia.

In this detailed presentation, Acheson contended that "the threat or use of force against Rhodesia violated the very charter on which the UN was founded."

When House Republican leaders conferred last month on drafting a foreign policy position paper for the session that opens next week, Representative Melvin Laird, Wis., chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, called attention to Acheson's letter. Laird noted it was strikingly similar to the Republican position.

The other GOP leaders were equally impressed with Acheson's statement. After some discussion, Laird was authorized to get in touch with Acheson to talk over how the Republicans could best present their views to Congress and the public.

Laird and Acheson hit it off very cordially. The GOP leader found the one-time Democratic Secretary of State most cooperative and helpful.

So much so that since their initial meeting, Acheson has quietly continued conferring with Laird and other members of the influential Policy Committee and its staff. He has also been consulted by Republican members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Japan Story Is Guideline For Vietnam

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

TOKYO (NEA) — It is important at this time to evaluate the successes and failures of the American occupation of Japan after World War II.

A study of that occupation will have some bearing on what course the United States should follow in South Vietnam.

South Vietnam is independent. The United States doesn't occupy the country. But U.S. objectives are the same as in Japan — to create a viable self-governing nation able to maintain itself against subversive pressures.

This reporter lived in Japan before World War II. He was there during the occupation. He came back after 20 years. The conclusions that follow are the result of 67 interviews with Japanese businessmen, professors, students, newspaper editors, doctors, politicians, former officers.

It seems clear that the occupation can claim five major achievements:

— It gave equality to women. — It created a politically conscious class of small, independent farmers.

— It changed Japanese society so that there is a greater recognition of the worth of the individual.

— It destroyed the dominant position of the military in Japanese government and society.

— It produced a reformation of industrial management which has enabled more men with ability to rise even though they have no family "connections."

The occupation did poorly in two major fields:

1— It set up a complex of organizations and governing systems which largely ignored Japanese traditions. While it was wise to eliminate some customs, the heavy disregard of Japanese tradition set up forces which have slowly eaten away at the political economic system.

These mistakes are coming now to plague Japan in Tokyo's series of internal government crises.

— Though the occupation aimed at encouraging better education, the shifts instituted in the school system enabled teacher associations to take away the running of many schools from the administrators.

In too many cases these teachers particularly France and West Germany) may continue directly or indirectly to bolster the Smith regime. Only the force of properly organized public opinion can create the conditions favorable to the enforcement of sanctions.

This memorandum also indicates that the overthrow of the Smith regime in Rhodesia is only one of Inform's objectives, as follows:

"It is relative to note that any action taken by this organization in Europe and the U.S. will prepare the ground for propaganda against South Africa and Portugal in any subsequent campaigns that we may be instructed to supervise in 1967."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Oral and Local Treatments Available for Ringworm

Q — I have had a fungus infection under my nails for many years. You recently suggested using tetracycline phosphate with nystatin for this condition. What is the trade name for these products?

A — Tetracycline phosphate is sold as Panmycin, Sumycin and Tetrex and nystatin as Mycostatin. These drugs, obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, are of value only if the causative fungus is Candida albicans.

Q — What is the cause, prevention and cure of itching water bumps that occur only in summer on my hands and feet?

A — These vesicles may be caused by contact with some plant or chemical irritant to which you are sensitive or by ringworm which is a fungus infection that is most troublesome in warm weather. The treatment and prevention would depend on the cause.

Q — I have been using pramoxin with sulfur and salicylic acid for ringworm but it keeps coming back. Is there a medicine that can be taken by mouth that would cure it?

A — Griseofulvin taken by mouth has cleared up chronic ringworm infections but it must be taken regularly for several months to effect a cure. A newer drug for local application — tolnaftate (Tinactin) — is worth a try. Both drugs require a doctor's prescription.

Q — What is a yeast infection? On what part of the body would it appear? What can a person do to cure it?

A — There are a great many yeast or fungus infections and they may affect the skin, lungs, intestines and other organs. If you can identify the yeast I will give you more specific information about it.

Q — I have sciatic pains. Massage and aspirin help but I still have a lot of pain, especially on getting up in the morning. Can anything be done for this?

A — Sciatic pain is a symptom that is usually due to a protrusion of a disk between the vertebrae at the lower end of the spine. The disk then causes painful pressure on the nerves that supply the leg and thigh. When this is the cause and the pain is persistent an operation gives the surest relief.

The fact that your pain is worse on arising is, however, more suggestive of arthritis. A tumor in the pelvis is another possible cause. Unless the cause has been determined no specific treatment can be prescribed.

Jobs Vital To Cause For Negroes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Men in high administration circles think prospects for badly needed new Negro leadership would be materially advanced if private industry followed government example and named more Negroes to posts of major responsibility.

One view is that industry has been laggard, arguing incorrectly that men of sufficient talent and training for important executive functions are simply not available. Administration sources say their experience with top and second echelon Negro appointees refutes this claim.

It is contended for President Johnson that his behind-the-scenes battles on behalf of Negro diplomatic and other key government appointments represent just about the brightest part of his civil rights record in the White House.

Diplomatic appointments for Negroes have occasionally been resisted by the State Department. Sometimes objections have been raised by host countries, including African lands, which see in such appointments a gesture of condescension from a white man's government.

But the big thing is that these appointees and the numerous top or deputy level choices in various departments and agencies are believed by the administration to have won their medals as administrators and policymakers.

The argument is made that business and industrial leaders can recruit this kind of Negro executive talent just as readily as government can. If nothing else, says one administration man, they could hire away some of the proven executives presently in federal service.

The fundamental point of all this is that, in the judgment of some civil rights sources, new Negro leadership may have to come largely from men and women who have developed authority and power within the established white-dominated society.

As the argument runs, the important matters is not that such Negroes serve as token and symbol of what a troubled minority may achieve. It is that these influential figures may have sufficient "clout" or persuasiveness with their powerful white associates to do something substantial about crushing Negro problems.

Implicit in this contention is the notion that even the most responsible of today's Negro leaders are working, however earnestly, with diminishing impact.

The hot cries of the militants have made some of them seem like pale advocates in the face of baffling crises among both urban and rural Negroes.

The larger aspect is that most of the present roster of responsible rose to position as crusaders banging on the white man's door, seeking reaffirmation of basic human rights. Practice may still be deficient, but the law now does underscore those rights.

From here on, say administrators, the real pressures for fulfillment of those rights must be generated from within the gross society. The outer crusader needs to be replaced or augmented by Negro leaders working side by side with key white men at the governing levels of business and government.

It is suggested that only from the white-black association possible on this high executive plateau can come the kind of genuine power thrust which might produce significant progress toward more and better jobs, schooling and homes for millions of Negroes.

If there are any other reasonably new ideas kicking around in the civil rights field, they are not getting wide circulation.

Except for the notion here outlined, the Negro movement is on the worst dead center in nearly a decade and a half.

BEARERS OF THE BURDEN

Sometimes it seems these days in America that we are transported to a strange kind of fairyland all abloom with money trees, where anyone can pick the money that hangs invitingly from the branches. It is assumed to be always there, always free for the asking.

In each new session of the Congress, there are calls for "increased benefits" to just about everybody; to the "culturally disadvantaged," to sick industries, to unemployed workers, to retired persons, to any organized group with plenty of votes. If there is heavier spending and a threat of inflation, it is assumed as a matter of course that higher taxes are the answer.

On top of all this, several private and governmental committees are now proposing a "guaranteed annual income" for all. The income to be "guaranteed" started at $3,000 a year. Within weeks, the Americans for Democratic Action have recommended $4,000.

Every group is talked about, bled for and wept over, except one. That is the unorganized group which keeps all the rest going which produces the "wherewithall" which all the enthusiastic money tree pickers then proceed to hand out through the coercive powers of government.

The producers of America are the bearers of the burden. If the bureaucrats and the parasites think about them at all, it is with the casual assumption that they can and will continue to produce indefinitely, regardless of the burdens heaped upon them, not only at their present rate, but at a higher and growing rate in the years to come. But every burden-bearer, even beasts, has a limit.

er associations have forced their own political dogma into the classrooms. This abuse has led to a decline in educational standards in many schools and universities.

These are the gains which must be achieved in Vietnam. These are the pitfalls which must be avoided.

These are the gains which must be achieved in Vietnam. These are the pitfalls which must be avoided.

By FELIX W. RYALS

The qualified property tax paying voters in Director's Precincts No. 2 and 3 in Carson County and in No. 4 in Gray County, will be going to the polls on Tuesday, Jan. 10, to elect directors for the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District. Qualified voters may vote only in the Director's Precinct in which they live. Precinct No. 4 begins at the Gray-Carson County line on the west and extends to approximately two miles east of Pampa. All of the district in Gray County between these two lines and from the county line on the north to the county line on the south are in this precinct. Voters may vote at the Gray County Courthouse or at the Grandview School. Fred S. Vandenburg is a candidate for reelection in this precinct.

In 1964, the Texas Water Commission requested the Texas Research League to make a study of the operation of the agency and recommend changes to more effectively secure development of the State's water resources. Volume II of the League's study was published Feb. 17, 1965, and dealt with "water rights and water resource administration in Texas." This report was a scholarly dissertation of the problem and concluded that a water adjudication act was necessary.

Governor Connally supported a water right adjudication bill, which was introduced in the 59th Legislature as "House Bill 887." This bill was primarily drafted by the Research League with recommendations from the Water Conservation Association and the State Bar. As introduced, House Bill 887 was a "Wyoming" type adjudication with appeal from the agency's determination under the substantial evidence rule.

Reported out of the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee for the first time, House Bill 887 was amended to provide for strict "trial de novo" appeal. The 59th Legislative Session closed before further action was taken.

The State Bar Committee on Revision of the Law of Water Rights appointed two drafting subcommittees at its meeting in July of 1966. One subcommittee was instructed to prepare a draft of a "special water court" for adjudication of water rights. The other subcommittee was instructed to prepare a draft of an "Oregon" type water right adjudication. In Sept., 1966, the full committee met and by majority vote adopted and recommended to the State Bar Board of Directors a modified "Oregon" type water right adjudication bill.

The Legislative Committee and the Board of Directors of the Bar Association accepted the recommendation of the Standing Committee on Revision of Water Law.

The thinking of the State Bar Committee will probably be part of the proposed legislation to come before the current legislature.

Farmers End Year Well-Off

By BERT LOUIS CAMPBELL

United Press International

Texas farmers end 1966 with corn crib and smoke house full, but not overflowing.

C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma farmer and president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said, "1966 was generally a good year for agriculture in Texas, but with some notable exceptions."

"Strong consumer demands helped most livestock prices and grain; however broilers continued to be in oversupply," DeVaney said. "Cotton continued to be in trouble."

W. T. Crouch, Arlington dairyman and president of the North said, "We've had a good production year. We are in a little better position in relation to parity than we have been in years."

Mike Frost, McAllen farmer and secretary of the Farm Bureau, said, "Overall we had a little below normal year. Our winter vegetable shipments were off about one-third; our fall vegetable crop has been about average; our citrus is making a real good recovery since the 1962 freeze; our cotton was below normal."

State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White summed up the state situation as "a good year although not a record setter. Cash receipts were better than the past several seasons."

Weather — the farmer's traditional foe — ran wet and dry, helping or hurting depending on the type of farming.

Dairy farmer Crouch pointed out that the moisture in the winter and spring feed grass on into the summer, lowering feed costs and increasing milk production.

But Valley vegetable farmers lost approximately one-third of their winter crop because of heavy rains, Frost said.

A dry fall has cut into winter grass growth.

"We need moisture in all parts of the state, of course, but the situation is not critical," Commissioner White said. "Our production has suffered in the last couple of months

After nine months of a dull finished cattle market things began to pop all across the country on Friday, Dec. 30. One tucker tape report showed cow beef jumped as much as $3.50 per CWT. Without exception all markets across the country showed sharp gains.

This set off a chain reaction that has had its effect on the local feed, lot activity, stocker operation, and the future's market.

Monroe Rogers, assistant manager of Moody Farms, was reported to have sold eight loads of fat cattle last weekend. Most Panhandle feed lots are reporting all feed lots current, which means all the cattle that are finished have been shipped to packers.

Future's trading on August contracts jumped up to as high as $28.82, a little over a week ago August was bumping on $28.50, up over 50 cents from 10 days ago. If you remember a little bidie told us a few weeks ago that June was a good buy at $27.25.

In visiting with representatives from feedlots, buyers from packing companies, and others there is an air of uncertainty about where we go from here. Mr.ack Barton, Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston said at a Cattle Feeder's Conference at Lubbock the mold for the 1967 cattle market was cast in 1966. We personally think he had some very excellent reason for this analysis. Last year finished cattle hit the high in early March and was dull the last half of the year.

A predominate number of economist think the last half of 1967 will be much better than the first half.

It has been proven repeatedly that the futures trading of today is not an accurate forecast of what the market will be four, five, or six months hence. If there is anything that will prevent finished cattle from being extremely high the last half of 1967, it is cattlemen and others reading too many optimistic forecasts. Future's contracts trading on too high levels for June and August will encourage more placements of cattle on feed today. This, in turn, will push the market down when June and August get here.

Too much emphasis is being placed on a drop in cattle numbers in 1965 and an anticipated further drop on numbers as of Jan. 1, 1967. Most of the drop in cattle is in cows and heifers. Admittedly the 1966 calf crop was down by almost one million head. There is much that can be done to increase beef production and not increase cow numbers. If all cattle in the feed lots were fed 10 extra days this would increase beef production by about three percent. Hold them 20 extra days and you would increase the production by six percent.

Rex McAnelly says we should not forget the fact that housewives have the last say on cattle prices. If they go too high they will turn to chicken, pork, and other meats. This is something to think about.

1 Cord of Thanks

In memory of our loved one,

ROY M. HALL

What would we give to see you smile? To sit and talk with you awhile? To see and think of you. The things you used to say and do. We miss you now, our hearts are sore. As time goes on we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place. The show was sudden, the death so severe. To part with you whom we loved so dear. Wonder why you had to die. Without a chance to say goodbye. Many a lonely heartache. Often a silent tear. But always a beautiful memory of one we love so dear.

EUGENE MILLS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those who proved such a comfort during our bereavement. The funeral service for his inspiring and consoling message. To Dr. Ashby for his services, to the Carnation-Wheatley Funeral Directors for their impressive last rites. For the floral tributes and for the offering of messages of sympathy — for all deeds of kindness — we prayfully remember.

There's an open gate At the end of the road. Through which each must go alone. And there in light we cannot see Our Father claims His own. Beyond the gate your love one Finds happiness and rest. And there in comfort In the thought That a loving God knows best.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement. To Dr. Brown and Dr. Patterson and Carmichael-Wheatley Funeral Home.

Rising Production Costs Make Inroads In Income

HOUSTON — Rising production costs began to make serious inroads into farmers' and ranchers' net income as 1966 drew to a close — and the outlook for 1967 indicates more of the same.

Fal Weatherford, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, said today in a year-end statement that farmers and ranchers in Texas, which is served by the bank, will probably have about the same gross income in 1967 as in 1966 but their net may be off by as much as five percent.

The bank which Weatherford heads provides long-term real estate loans to farmers and ranchers throughout Texas.

"The prices of virtually everything farmers need will be up in 1967," Weatherford predicted. "Real estate taxes may increase by another five to seven percent; feed, fertilizer, labor costs, insurance, seed, livestock — all are likely to follow the same pattern."

The cost of money, upon which interest rates to farmers is based, was higher in 1966 than at any time in the bank's 50-year history, he said. This had an adverse effect upon the bank as well as upon its borrowers.

"The Houston bank is one of 12 Federal Land Banks which are owned by Land Bank Associations throughout the country," he said. "Collectively, we borrow money by issuing bonds and we loan this money to farmers. At one time in 1966 we paid as much as 6.14 percent inter-

FARM PAGE THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, JANUARY 8, 1967 59TH YEAR

Late Ginnings Show Low Quality Cotton

Cotton classed for growers in the Eastern Panhandle during the week ending Thursday, December 15, continued to reflect lower quality as harvesting neared completion reported the USDA's, Consumer and Marketing Service in Memphis, Texas.

The three main marketing factors of grade, staple length and micronaire were lower than any time this season. The 1966 cotton crop will not only show the smallest production but also the lowest quality in recent years.

During the week 15,000 samples were classed for a seasonal total of 89,000. Last season when 200,000 samples were classed the Memphis office had processed 81,000 samples at this time according to K. E. Voelkel of the local office.

Samples classed this week showed 99 percent in the colored grades. Only 1 percent of the cotton classed fell in the White grades. Light Spotted grades amounted to 23 percent; Spotted grades showed 51 percent; Tinged grades made up 22 percent; and 2 percent graded Yellow Stained. One percent of the samples classed were Below Grade. The predominant grade was Strict Low Middling Spotted with 27 percent. The amount of cotton reduced in grade because of Bark increased from 10 percent last week to 22 percent or more than 1-5 of all classing this week.

While the chief staple length continued to be 15-16 inch with 74 percent, the same as last week, the lengths of 29-32 inch and shorter increased, percentage-wise, and 31-32 inch decreased from that of the previous week. The distribution was as follows: 7-8 inch - 2 percent; 29-32 inch - 21 percent; and 31-32 inch - 3 percent.

Mike readings increased in the 3.4 and less grouping, with 31 percent reading 2.6 and below or Wasty. Other readings were: 2.7 - 2.9, 22 percent; 3.0 - 3.2, 19 percent; 3.3 - 3.4, 8 percent; and 20 percent read in the 20 points premium range of 3.5 - 4.9.

Cotton is still selling freely but chiefly mike readings 3.0 and lower and grades Low Middling Light Spotted and Strict Low Middling Spotted and lower. These qualities generally brought 50 points above comparable qualities in the CCC loan.

Cottonseed prices paid farmers ranged from $63 to $70 per ton.

CELEBRATE HISTORY
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Friday proclaimed February as "American History Month."
 Johnson issued the proclamation under a resolution approved by Congress last fall.

By passing a beam of sunlight through a prism, Sir Isaac Newton showed that white light is a combination of the seven colors of the rainbow.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax
Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—When will I get my tax forms in the mail?
 A—Distribution of the 1966 tax forms should be completed early in January. Forms will also be available at IRS offices, as well as many banks and post offices.

Q—Is a Social Security pension taxable?
 A—No it is not.

Q—I worked last summer to earn money for college but made less than $600. How can I get back what was withheld from my pay for income tax?
 A—File an income tax return to obtain a refund of any income tax which was withheld from your wages. The card Form 1040A may be the best, as well as the easiest, for you to use. Do not forget to put your Social Security number on the return and attach your W-2 Form. The W-2 shows how much was withheld.

Q—Has there been any change in the income tax rates for 1966?
 A—No. An individual's income for 1966 is taxed at the same rates in effect the preceding year.

Q—When can I expect to get my W-2 from my employer?
 A—Employers are required to issue Form W-2 by the end of January but many do so earlier.

Q—Can anyone use the figures for state gas tax deductions that are given in the 1040 instruction booklet?

 A—These figures are provided as a convenience for those taxpayers who deduct state gasoline tax when they itemize deductions. If you are entitled to claim this deduction then you may use the table instead of doing the calculations yourself.

Q—If my wife and I file separately instead of jointly, can one itemize while the other uses the standard deduction?
 A—No. Married couples filing separate returns must handle their expenses the same way. If one itemizes the other must, too. Married couples filing separately must also take the same type of standard deduction. If one takes the minimum standard deduction they both must take it.

DETROIT—Chrysler Vice

President Harry Cheesbrough, warning of the possible consequences if automobile suppliers could not meet the demands made necessary by proposed federal safety standards: "A failure in this area could shut down our assembly lines very quickly."

Are you going to offer assistance over the phone again this year?

Yes. Check the local phone directory for the number to call.

Does the law now require me to file my return with an IRS service center?

A new law authorizes the Secretary of Treasury to make such a request but it will not be required for 1966 returns. Check your 1040 instructions for the address of the office to which tax returns are to be sent.

CHOU DENOUNCED
 TOKYO (UPI)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was denounced in banners draped over Peking streets Friday night, Japanese correspondents reported Saturday from the Chinese capital. The newsmen provided no details on who posted the banners but they reported that authorities tore down the anti-Chou material at first light. Chou was believed to have weathered purge campaigns by the militant Red Guards because of his close ties with party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.
