

Death of Pilot Adds To Conspiracy Probe

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The case and was "one of the mysteries — we don't understand."

Garrison said his investigators, who had Ferrie's apartment staked out secretly "for some time," saw the lights go out at 11 p.m., an hour before Lardner said he arrived for his midnight interview.

The investigators left when they saw the lights go out. Chetta said death resulted from a blood vessel rupture at

JIM GARRISON — investigator

Chetta said Ferrie's death had to occur before 4 a.m., but Lardner insisted he had visited with Ferrie until that hour.

Garrison said the time of death estimated by the coroner, and the time that Lardner said he had visited with Ferrie until that hour, was a major inconsistency in the base of the brain, Garrison called it suicide.

A bottle of pills was found alongside Ferrie's body along with an unsigned note calling the world a "loathsome" place that would be sweet for him to leave.

The coroner's office, however, declined to be specific on what might cause the vessel to rupture pending the outcome of tests. Such tests sometimes take up to a week to complete.

Garrison described the dead man as "one of history's most important individuals" and said he was "involved in events culminating in the assassination of President Kennedy."

Garrison, at a hurried news conference, announced dramatically he now was not even accepting the theory that Lee Harvey Oswald killed Kennedy in 1963.

"I have no reason to believe at this time that Lee Harvey Oswald killed anybody in Dallas on Nov. 22," Garrison said.

The Warren Commission headed by U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren concluded Oswald was the assassin and acted alone.

Garrison said he had feared ending in announcing his office had been investigating for three months a conspiracy — to kill Kennedy hatched in New Orleans.

Ferrie's name was mentioned in the Warren Commission Report and he was questioned here shortly after the assassination. He came under investigation again in Garrison's new probe.

Ferrie said in a copyrighted interview Saturday with the New Orleans States-Item he was afraid he was suspected of being a "getaway pilot in an elaborate plot" to kill Kennedy.

Garrison said he had feared Ferrie might commit suicide. "Because of this . . . we had reached a decision to arrest him early next week," Garrison said. "Apparently we waited too long."

Found near Ferrie was an unsigned, undated, unaddressed note saying, "To leave this life is for me a sweet prospect. I find nothing in it that is desirable and on the other hand everything that is loathsome."

Garrison said Ferrie was a sensitive man, capable of "great intellectual accomplishments" and a "man of surpassing intellect in scientific areas."

New Orleans police detective Frederick S. O'Sullivan testified before the commission he and another police officer inspected Ferrie's airplane to see whether it could have been used to fly Oswald to Dallas. But O'Sullivan said the plane was not in flyable condition.

Johnson Signs 25th Amendment

Kennedy Offers 5-Point Program To Change Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., today offered a five-point program to overhaul the draft and announced an investigation of the Selective Service System's "discrimination" against American youth.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Kennedy charged that the draft was failing to meet its national responsibilities.

"Our present system is neither fair, nor equitable nor just," he said. "Its policies are discriminatory."

Kennedy said the Senate subcommittee on manpower, employment and poverty would soon conduct hearings on the effect the draft has on young men.

A resolution requesting specific changes in the draft was also introduced by Kennedy. It would be up to President Johnson to implement the changes.

Kennedy proposed: — Elimination of individual states' quotas in favor of a national registration system for the draft. He said, "some cities draft 19-year-olds while others draft 22-year-olds; married men are called up in one state while many thousands of single men remain untouched in another."

— Random selection of draftees similar to the fish bowl or lottery system of World War I. "It would be based on equal chance and would reflect our national commitment to equality."

— Limited deferments. "The extreme hardship deferment would be retained as a necessary element of compassion and flexibility," he said. A college student would be permitted to postpone service for a maximum of four years under current conditions but not in the event of a national emergency.

— Calling the youngest eligible men. "This would greatly reduce the uncertainties which presently cloud the lives of young men of draft age," Kennedy added.

President's Disability Procedure Is Provided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson signed the 25th Amendment to the Constitution today, completing the final step in the ratification procedure that began in July, 1965.

Johnson "certified and attested" to the presidential disability amendment in a formal ceremony in the East Room of the White House.

The amendment which spells out the procedure to be followed when a president is disabled, actually was added to the Constitution Feb. 11 when Nevada became the 38th state to ratify it.

But Presidents traditionally have affixed their signatures to the fancy, ribbon-bedecked parchments on which the official copy is engrossed.

The amendment fills two significant voids in the Constitution by setting down the presidential disability procedure and providing a method for filling a vacancy in the office of vice president.

In many ways, the 25th Amendment's disability procedure is similar to the agreement President Eisenhower worked out with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Subsequent agreements were placed in effect by President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and President Hubert H. Humphrey.

But the agreements, however well-intentioned, did not have the force of law.

CITY SECRETARY SAYS:

Three Neglect To Sign Loyalty Oath

Only three of the six announced candidates for city offices at Pampa's April 4 municipal election had qualified up until noon today, to have their names placed on the ballot, it was learned from City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden.

With only a week remaining before the March 3 filing deadline, the city secretary said today only Commissioner Clyde Carruth, seeking re-election from Ward 4, and candidates Joe Taylor and Fred Carothers, candidates for commissioner from Ward 3, had qualified so far.

Mayor Jim Nation and Commissioners Dr. M. McDaniel and Hugh Burdette, all three running for re-election, each neglected to sign the loyalty oath required by law, Chittenden stated.

Chittenden said the three had filed with him on Jan. 24 their intentions of candidacy on a two-page form given to them at a city commission meeting that day.

The city secretary said he discovered later that Nation, McDaniel and Burdette had signed only the first page of the filing declaration and apparently had overlooked the second page, Commissioner Carruth was the only one to sign both pages.

The second page, a real important one, contained the oath of loyalty to the United States government which all candidates must take before they can qualify for public office.

Chittenden said he was sure it was an oversight on the part of all three candidates because they had signed it before when they ran for office.

According to law, Chittenden said, he cannot print the names of the three officials on the ballot unless they take the oath and sign it before the March 3 filing deadline.

Chittenden said although he is not required to do so, he planned to remind the three officials of their apparent oversight. If the lack of the oath signatures had not been discovered until after the deadline, Chittenden said, the names of Nation, McDaniel and Burdette could not have been placed on the ballot.

Today's revelation came when a reporter asked the city secretary how many candidates had qualified for the upcoming election.

When he replied that only three of six had qualified, the next question was: "What about the other three?" And that uncovered the existence of the loyalty oath oversight.

The News was unable this forenoon to contact any of the three officials involved.

Committee Unveils Plan to Seat Powell But Thin His Wallet Some

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A panel of fellow congressmen today unveiled a plan to seat Adam Clayton Powell, censure him, then "hit him where it hurts most" — in his wallet.

The nine-man special committee planned to tie up the loose ends of the disciplinary package it hoped to sell to the House before holding an afternoon news conference to formally announce its recommendations for dealing with the Harlem Democrat.

The conference was scheduled for 2 p.m. CST. Powell, officially a representative-elect, was blocked from taking his seat and beginning his 12th term in the House on opening day, Jan. 10. The special panel was named to investigate his "fitness" to serve.

The committee devised a formula it claimed was constitutionally sound yet severe enough to silence insistent demands for stern action against Powell. The plan had the support of both the Democratic and Republican leadership.

In addition to seating Powell, it was learned the committee planned to propose to the House that it: Dock his $30,000-a-year salary over the next two years to reimburse the government for his alleged payroll padding and unauthorized travel. The sum to be taken was reported to be somewhere between $30,000 and $40,000.

This would represent about 18 months worth of the $20,000-a-year salary Powell's estranged wife was drawing as his top aide while allegedly doing no work and living in Puerto Rico.

It would also include the numerous pleasure trips the high-flying lawmaker and his pretty secretary and traveling companion, Corrine Huff, were alleged to have taken to Miami on the taxpayer while en route to the Caribbean island of Bimini.

—Formally censure him for his alleged misconduct. —Drop him to the bottom of the seniority ladder.

The key feature of the plan was the forced reimbursement. A source close to the Republican leadership said one reason the GOP hierarchy favored this approach was that it would hit Powell "where it hurts the most."

Despite strenuous efforts of Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., the committee's recommendations were not unanimous.

Bill to Exempt State From Savings Time Given Long Look

AUSTIN (UPI) — Controversial legislation to exempt Texas from daylight savings time got a thorough working over in a sometimes conflicting and often confusing committee hearing before being sent to a not-too-friendly subcommittee in today's early hours.

The general consensus of the testimony was that someone is going to be hurt economically or inconvenienced no matter whether the states goes under the federal uniform time act or not.

Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont, sponsor of the measure, produced witnesses from the restaurant, bowling, theater and farm industries who said daylight time would be a blow to their businesses.

Walter Cavin, an Austin attorney, led witnesses for airlines, television, railroads and stockbrokers who testified they would suffer if the state passed Smith's bill.

After 5 1/2 hours of testimony, House State Affairs Committee Chairman R. H. Cory of Victoria sent it to a subcommittee of Bill Clayton of Springlake, Charles Jungmichel of La Grange and James Clark Jr. of Dallas. Clayton has not voiced an opinion on the measure, but said he wanted to "take a long look at it." Jungmichel is for it and Clark is reportedly against it. Smith charged that the uniform time act was simply an attempt "by eggheads from Washington and Wall Street to jam this thing down our throats."

"If daylight time passes we will be serving the east coast and the stock market, but we won't be serving the people of Texas," Smith said.

J. B. Hance of Lubbock, speaking for restaurant owners, said daylight time would eliminate about 30 per cent of his industry's evening business due to the late darkness. "Let's not make Texas the land of the midnight sun," he said.

John Reed of Austin, representing theater owners, said daylight time would cost drive-in movies 25 to 30 per cent of their business, and another theater witness said it would probably force drive-ins in smaller towns out of business. The bowling proprietors estimated a loss of $1 million per year in business, following the line of earlier witnesses that no one would leave their house if the sun did not go down until 9 p.m.

On the other side, Cavin said his plea was for one of uniformity.

"Not more than four or five states will exempt themselves from the federal act," he said. Cavin said Texas was not exempting itself from daylight time, under Smith's bill, but from "going on Central standard time." He said there will be no daylight time in the federal act, which requires that each state take action to exempt itself or automatically join daylight time.

"Texas would be going under Texas time or non-daylight time or whatever you want to call it if you pass this bill," he said.

"We seek uniformity and this bill seeks to destroy it," he added, noting the problem in scheduling trains and airlines and voicing a worry about the safety element in running the railroads under several different times.

Troops Open Huge Assault

SAIGON (UPI) — The most massive military operation of the war, including the first large-scale American combat parachute jump since Korea, drove through the main Viet Cong stronghold today in an effort to catch an entire Communist division in a horse-shoe-shaped trap.

A Communist division numbered up to 6,000 men. The offensive was launched against the Communists in the heavily-jungled War Zone C near the Cambodian border, about 57 miles northwest of Saigon. It is the headquarters of the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

The operation involved as many as 25,000 American combat troops, plus tens of thousands of support elements, including planes and artillery. The drive was kicked off Tuesday as U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon reported that American servicemen last week suffered their heaviest death toll in more than a year.

They said 172 American troops were killed but in the same period there were 2,092 Communist deaths—the worst loss rate of the war for the Reds.

The U.S. combat death toll, reflecting the massive operations in the northern provinces, was the second highest for any one week in the war. It was topped only by the 248 men killed during the Ia Drang Valley battle in November, 1965.

The spokesmen said another 802 American servicemen were wounded in action last week while 10 more were listed as missing.

Other Allied troops, not including the South Vietnamese, lost 40 killed and 76 wounded last week.

South Vietnamese casualty figures were not immediately available. The paratroop assault was the biggest of the war—it was more than four times larger than the airborne assault several months ago into the U Minh Forest area of the Mekong Delta by Vietnamese paratroopers.

The dense jungles of War Zone C encompasses the headquarters of Communist guerrilla operations, the Viet Cong radio and the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong. The jungles also are the southern terminus of the Ho Chi Minh supply trail from North Vietnam.

Gen. Suharto Now Indonesia Prexy

JAKARTA (UPI) — Military strongman Gen. Suharto is now legally the acting president of Indonesia, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

Maj. Jusuf Sirath said he believed President Sukarno voluntarily "inactivated himself" when he surrendered all governmental power to Suharto Wednesday night.

Sirath's interpretation came as Suharto, waiting to disclose the next chapter in the decline and fall of Sukarno, indicated the moon-faced "Bung Karno's" (Brother) Sukarno's collapse was complete.

Suharto was making a major "policy speech" to the nation tonight in the wake of Sukarno's surrender of all government authority. The soft-spoken Javanese general was expected to indicate whether Sukarno shall be exiled, retired or fired and tried for treason.

Sukarno turned over all executive powers to Suharto Wednesday night. His signed statement did not mention a resignation and most Jakarta newspapers all critical of Sukarno, viewed the move with reserve. "Nothing new actually happened," one said editorially.

Radio Jakarta said Suharto summoned all military leaders to a meeting in Jakarta today and told them Sukarno had decided to surrender his powers "only after the political situation had deteriorated" to a point beyond any Sukarno return to dominance.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Howe. (Adv.)

PRESIDENT SUKARNO of Indonesia has surrendered his last vestige of power in the sprawling nation. He held absolute control for about two decades, but for the past several months had been largely a figurehead president with power centered on military strongman General Suharto. In giving up his struggle, Sukarno said he hoped his stepdown would end recent conflict and turmoil in the nation "for the sake of the people."

Communists Victors In New Delhi

NEW DELHI (UPI)—A Communist-led front Wednesday won an overwhelming victory over Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and her ruling Congress Party in Kerala State, the first region to return conclusive results in India's national elections.

It was the second time in 10 years that Communists won control of assembly seats in the tropical Kerala State at the southern tip of India.

Early returns from other regions indicated Mrs. Gandhi's party would receive additional setbacks in the weeklong elections. With returns received on 72 of 133 races, the Congress Party had won only five seats. The majority of the others were won by the seven-party front led by E.M.S. Namboodripas, chief minister of the Communist government of Kerala from 1957 to 1959.

CoC Group Hears Report On New Bills

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Legislative and National Affairs Committee heard an "inside" report here today on the problems and bills pending with state legislators in Austin.

During the breakfast at the Coronado Inn, three committee members, Don Lane, Bill Power and W. A. Morgan, reported on "Infocade, 1967," a West Texas Chamber of Commerce workshop held Feb. 15 in Amarillo.

Lane said his subcommittee studied suggested changes in the Texas Criminal Code and adopted the report of the Dallas Crime Commission.

The chamber's legislative and national affairs committee approved the subcommittee's vote on the commission in a resolution to write Pampa's state and national government representatives.

Morgan, reporting on "Inside Austin," said "one of the continuing problems of the legislature is that everybody wants to spend the money, but not all think about how to provide it."

He named ways the Texas legislature is considering to raise the state revenue.

"The governor has suggested we raise the gasoline tax one cent a gallon and the cost of the sales tax on liquor. Both of these would bring in millions of dollars," he said.

"Another revenue builder suggested would be to pass the parimutual betting bill in Texas, but I don't think it has a good chance yet," Morgan said.

"The city sales tax has been an issue, is out of the committee

59TH YEAR

Dear Abby... There's a Nose in The Wrong Place Again

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of this situation? Elsie is 34. Her mother is 52. Herman is 37. Herman has been dating Elsie for 10 years. Elsie lives at home with her mother and Herman has a room somewhere, but he practically lives at Elsie's.

These three have gone on long trips together, and have been seen at movies and all over town together, but get this: Herman has been seen with Elsie's mother alone (marketing and driving around) nearly as much as he has been seen with Elsie. There is something peculiar going on here.

At present Herman is unemployed and is mooching off these two women. The mother is a widow and should be looking out for herself. As a friend of the family, I would like to see this relationship terminated. But how?

INTERESTED PARTY
DEAR INTERESTED: If Elsie, her mother and Herman are happy, I can't see why the relationship should concern anyone else. As I see it, what should be "terminated" is your pre-occupation with somebody else's business.

DEAR ABBY: What would make a 36-year-old man suddenly start wearing elevated shoes?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: He probably wants to be on "she" level.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy is visiting a girl at her house and the girl walks him out to his car, should he walk her back to the door? My boyfriend thinks he should, but I don't.

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: If you want to be absolutely proper, say your final goodnight at the door, and let the boy walk himself to his car.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has been overweight ever since we have been married, which has been 10 years. She has kept her weight a secret—even from me. Last week a college friend of mine was visiting us and the subject of weight came up. He asked my wife how much she weighed, and she said she'd tell him "later"—but not in front of me. Then she called him into the kitchen later and told him. After he left I asked her how much she weighed and she refused to tell me.

What do you think of a wife who would keep her weight a secret from her husband, but would humiliate him by revealing it to a stranger?

MAD
DEAR MAD: Your wife, conscious of her overweight, may not want to humiliate herself in front of you—and perhaps invite your critical comment. She needs your help, not

PAMPER YOUR FEET
After a few weeks of holiday shopping and partying, your feet undoubtedly are due for a bit of pampering. Soak your feet in a pan filled with a warm mixture of half water and half baby oil. It will soothe and relax your tired feet and soften the skin, which will help prevent the formation of little callouses.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM, COMFORTABLE, TOO

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girde constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a stimulating action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girde will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girde itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It's so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girde and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at

Beautiful Beef--Standing Rib Roast

"Beautiful Beef" describes a standing rib, roasted to perfection and awaiting the touch of the carver's knife. Brown on the outside and rare in the middle, this handsome roast allows the diners a preference in doneness.

The two, three or four rib roasts are the most popular sizes; Martha Logan, well known meat expert, recommends one-half pound per serving as the amount to buy. For a gracious dinner you may want to increase the amount per serving to allow for second helpings or unexpected guests. Should there be some left, cold sliced beef rib roast is every bit as elegant as when served hot.

The weight of each roast depends on the number of ribs and the length the roast measures from chine (back) bone to rib tip. The quality of the beef is another important factor in the success of the roast beef dinner. At the meat counter the shoppers guide to highest quality is the brand carrying the two most trusted words in meat.

A roast meat thermometer is the most accurate guide of doneness. It registers the internal temperature of the roast so that you know when it is rare (140 degrees) or medium (160 degrees). A standing rib is seldom cooked to well done (170 degrees) because in the group there are always some who like at least a touch of pinkness. They receive the center cuts of the roast while others who prefer more well done beef are served the outside cuts.

Every hostess has her own favorite accompaniments for roast beef. When guests are invited, casseroles are popular because much of the preparation can be done in advance. This well-seasoned noodle combination is a tasty example.

How To Roast: Place Rib Roast of Beef fat side up in a shallow pan. Do not cover. The rib bones form a natural rack to hold the meat out of the drippings. Insert point of roast meat thermometer into center of meat. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until the thermometer indicates the desired degree of doneness. To roast a 6 pound standing rib roast, allow about 3 1/4 hours for rare (140 degrees), 3 3/4 hours for medium (160 degrees). To roast an 8 lb. roast, allow 3 1/2 hours for rare and 4 1/2 hours for medium. These time schedules are based on a short cut, 6 inches from tip of rib to the chine (back) bone. If cut longer than 6 inches, roast will take less time.

STANDING RIB, roasted to perfection, is meal-time delight for family or guests. Serve with a well-seasoned noodle casserole, the recipe for which is found in the accompanying article.

In timing the roast, plan on removing it from the oven 15 to 20 minutes before the meal is to be served. This allows the meat to "firm-up" and makes it easier to slice.

NOODLE CASSEROLE

(Yield: 9 servings)
8 ounce package noodles
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cloves garlic
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 1/2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons salt

Cook noodles according to package directions, adding chicken bouillon cubes and garlic to water. Drain noodles. Place half of cooked noodles in 1 1/2 quart casserole which has been rubbed with butter. Spread sliced mushrooms and half of shredded cheddar on top of noodles. Cover with remaining noodles.

Beat together eggs, sour cream and salt, mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Pour over noodles. Top with remaining shredded cheddar cheese. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes.

Food Buying Guide
(EDITORS NOTE: The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Highlights on the weekend food shopping scene will generally be various cuts of beef, broiler-fryer chickens and an assortment of winter fruits and vegetables.

Citrus—both oranges and grapefruit—are still in the spotlight at fresh produce counters, along with plenty of apples and bananas. Vegetable bins will feature generous supplies of cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes.

Meat counters will offer plenty of beef roasts and steaks, ground beef, pork roasts and bacon. Chicken is a top bargain in main dish fare. Canned salmon is generally the leading fish buy across the country.

To be sure that the meat and poultry you buy are the quality you expect, watch for the USDA grade shield, your guarantee that the product has been checked for quality by graders of the consumer and marketing service. The round mark of federal inspection assures you the product is wholesome and safe to eat.

Fruit-milk Drink
An unusual hot milk drink is flavored with cherries and coconut. Combine 1 (4-ounce) jar of red maraschino cherries, undrained with 1/2 cup of flaked coconut and 1 cup of milk in electric blender container.

60TH YEAR

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 27-year-old Frenchman with U. S. merchandising ideas is cashing in on the American appetite for pancakes.

Jean-Pierre Campo says that the French-financed franchising firm he represents will open 10 French Breton crepe restaurants in the United States this year and 40 by the end of 1968.

Four restaurants already are operating in New York, two are in the building stage in Philadelphia and New Haven, Conn., and others are in the planning stage in San Francisco and Los Angeles; Boston and Cambridge, Mass.; and the resort of Aspen, Colo.

Breton crepes differ from traditional French crepes suzette, which are small, thin dessert pancakes served with flaming orange and brandy sauce. The Breton crepes are thin, lacy-looking pancakes about 18 inches in diameter with either a main dish or a sweet filling.

"In Brittany they're called galettes, and Bretons eat them for any occasion — for wedding breakfasts, at lunch, any time," said Campo, in an interview. "Every family has its secret recipe. They're made mostly at home, but some restaurants — family-owned — make them, too."

Campo added that a few of the 50 main dish and 10 dessert fillings featured at La Crepe restaurants are traditional in Brittany — including asparagus; seafood fillings such as crab meat and lobster; and raspberries. Others such as caviar with egg, ice cream with hot, sweetened apples, and eggs and bacon, are improvisations. A third category takes in other French regional specialties, including ratatouille, Nicoise, a vegetable dish from southern France.

The first crepe restaurant was opened in New York in October, 1964, by Countess Maya de la Roche. Campo, who is executive vice president of the General Franchising Corp., said she worked with his firm in developing recipes to be used throughout the chain.

Crepe a la Crepe
To make 6 to 18 (12-inch)

crepes from La Crepe's recipe, sift 2 cups of sifted flour with 1/4 teaspoon each of salt and sugar. Add slowly 2 beaten eggs mixed with 1 cup each of milk and water.

Beat until smooth and creamy with wire whip or rotary mixer. Let batter set 2 hours at room temperature. Add additional water before baking if necessary to make batter the consistency of unwhipped heavy or whipping cream. Use a filled 1-3 cup measuring cup to pour batter onto hot 12-inch griddle or heavy skillet that has been lightly buttered with a cheese-cloth swab dipped in melted butter.

Tilt utensil to spread batter quickly and evenly over entire surface. Use back of pancake turner blade to facilitate spreading if necessary. Brown quickly and lightly; turn to brown other side. Remove to warm plate and keep warm while making other crepes. To serve, divide filling evenly among crepes, fold in edges and envelope-style and place folded sides down, on warmed plates.

For ratatouille filling: cook 1 pound of seeded, diced green pepper until soft but not brown in 2 tablespoons of olive oil in large, heavy skillet. Remove to bowl; add a little oil if needed and 1/2 pound of diced, unpeeled eggplant. Cook until soft but not brown and remove. Add a little more oil to pan and cook 1 pound of onions, peeled and sliced thinly, until soft and lightly browned. Return peppers and eggplant to pan; add 1/2 pound of zucchini sliced 1/4 inch thick, and 2 pounds of tomatoes, peeled, seeded, drain-

Dutch Almond Cookie Recipe

For the next baking mood you have, here's a good cookie recipe for your file.

DUTCH ALMOND COOKIES
1 1/2 cups melted butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs, beaten
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup blanched, chopped almonds.

Combine melted butter and sugars; add eggs and beat. Sift together, 3 times, flour, cinnamon and soda; add to first mixture and blend well. Mix in almonds. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes until it can be patted into rolls. (Dough will still be sticky.) Wrap in waxed paper and store in refrigerator overnight or until ready to use. Cut into 1/4" slices; place on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes 100.

Easy Lunch
Chive cottage cheese salad makes a delicious, nutritious main course for lunch. Combine 1 pound of dry cottage cheese with 1/2 pint of dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon of dried chives, 1 teaspoon of basil leaves, 1 cucumber, peeled and diced, 1/2 teaspoon of ground black pepper, 1 teaspoon each of salt and dried tarragon. Arrange on salad greens. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

ed and diced. Cover; cook slowly for 20 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste.

WHO SAYS women are reluctant to talk about ages? That's all a group of gals were doing out at Lorene Locke's home on Chestnut Monday evening. In fact, they're so proud of a particular age they're going to throw a gala birthday party and invite lots of their friends to celebrate when Altrusa Club International becomes 50 years old in April. The Pampa club, which is an affiliate of the almost 50-year-old international women's service club, is only 14 or 15 years old, but during these few years, it has piled up an enviable record of service to the community through its weekly parties for Senior Citizens, its co-sponsorship of the Career Clinic, and its sponsorship of the Tru-Teens, a high school girls' service club just to name a few of its better-known accomplishments. It also gives two scholarships annually, one in its own name and another through one of its esteemed members, Inez Carter, so when April rolls around, members will have something to celebrate. It was contagious enthusiasm at the steering committee's planning session Monday at Lorene's shared by Van Vanderberg, Irene Smith, Floy Heath, Flossie Anderson, Emily Coston, Lora Dunne.

HEAR THAT Floy and Mark Heath really had a Ball in Harlingen recently when Mark went down for a golf tournament. In addition to a beautiful sterling silver serving tray, as one of the tournament prizes, they brought back lots of pleasant memories of Harlingen hospitality while there, they were houseguests of the Ralph Julliards. He's a former Pampan and a former Pampa Daily Newsman, who's publisher of the newspaper in that southern Texas city.

REMEMBER HOW much fun Treasure Hunts were "in the olden days" well, they still are. And to prove it members of the Pampa Fine Arts Association are going to recreate one for the benefit of art treasure lovers. Not too sure of all the particulars at this writing, there was a meeting this afternoon in Fanny Cree's home to work out details, but it sounds like an exciting idea and will be part of the Fine Arts Association's Spring Festival while on the subject of this organization, which embraces all the cultural arts (all but writing, that is, alas!) everyone is so pleased with the auspicious start the first rehearsal for "The Messiah" received with so many singers checking in 150 voices, and maybe more will show up this Sunday that many voices raised in Handel's oratorio should make a memorable April 16. Hugh Sanders, Sam Allen, and Ted James will rehearse the singers in Central Baptist Church on the Sundays leading up to April 16. Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of the 375-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir in Salt Lake City Utah, is coming in as guest conductor for the actual performance.

YOU SAY you want to make a speech but have trouble being heard? Well, Frank Jr. and Buster Carter have just the thing for you... a portable lectern complete with built-in speakers and a microphone... and it's so light you can carry it right with you... and anytime you get near an electrical outlet... and feel a speech coming on... all you have to do is plug it in and speak away might be just the thing for our school board... mayor... and city commissioners candidates... in these pre-election days... what's more, the portable lectern is a hometown product... and quite a handsome unit... Red Wedgeworth has one in the chamber offices which he was demonstrating for Jake Webb, Jaycee president, one day this week... in deep senatorial tones.

WE DO hope time has melted the sadness of residents on N. Somerville, who sacrificed trees and a certain amount of privacy on their dead-end street... to make way for the handsome, wide, curved avenue that now makes easier access to and from town... traffic has certainly picked up on that street... and we tip our pretty Spring bonnet to those city planners, who made it possible... it cuts off about five or 10 minutes for those who must traverse N. Hobart on their way to work... and back home again in the evening.

CONDOLENCES TO Jean Power, who broke her wrist while skiing last weekend in Red River... and to Thelma Grantham, who broke both arms, while dancing either the watusi or the charleston... do not ask us how.

STAFF NOTES... speaking of breaking things, two notable records were broken in the editorial department last week... Tex DeWeese finally got around to exchanging a Christmas present last week... which should be a record of some sort... it seems he put the present in the back seat of his car just a few days after Christmas... fully intending to go then and exchange the gift... he got around to it the second week in February... but then you know how men are about mailing letters and things... the other record was broken by Ken Leach, who undoubtedly is the holder of the world's record for receiving the most thank-you notes in one day... there were over 100 of them... all from Betty Cain's seventh grade English classes at Pampa Junior High School... who chomped "thank you's" for the guided tour Ken gave them recently around the newspaper plant... but then he's a "pro" at guided tours... he once conducted a group of Japanese children on a tour of the air-

US Warships Will Not Use Ports In South Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. warships are not expected to use South African ports "in the foreseeable future," according to the State Department. Two U.S. vessels recently were involved in disputes over African racial laws. The carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt cancelled shore leave during a stop at Capetown, and the missile-tracing ship Sword Knot spent a week off the port and then was diverted to Mombasa, Kenya.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Three centuries ago, an English judge proclaimed that "a man's house is his castle." Almost two centuries ago, the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution forbade any "unreasonable search" of a private dwelling.

And today, the safety of a person's house from governmental intrusion still ranks as one of the most distinctive hallmarks of a free land.

But which "house" is the law talking about? Obviously it means a house that you own and live in. And it includes a house or apartment that you occupy as a tenant.

Summer cottage? House trailer? Hotel room? All these too, since they are places of dwelling, ordinarily share the constitutional guarantee of privacy.

The protection may also reach beyond the house itself. Courts have held it to include a householder's adjacent garage and a farmer's nearby barn in both cases, the courts felt that the constitutional shelter should cover all areas reasonably within the ambit of family life.

Does this mean that the home is a privileged sanctuary for crime? Not at all. A house may indeed be searched under proper circumstances — for example, if the police first obtain a warrant, or are in the process of making a lawful arrest.

For then the search is "reasonable," not forbidden by the constitutional ban. As a United States Supreme Court justice said in upholding rightful searches:

"The framers of the Constitution only intended to restrain the abuse, not abolish the power." But without such justifying circumstances, a house stands secure against the inroads of officialdom. An English statesman, Sir William Pitt, gave the doctrine its classical expression:

"The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the force of the Crown. It may be frail; its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter; the rain may enter — but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement!"

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The foreign news outlook:

Troop withdrawals: Whatever Washington may say, military sources in West Germany contend two U.S. Army divisions are expected to be pulled out of Germany this summer. They are the 8th Infantry Division, expected to be assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., and the 24th, expected to go to Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. Both would be available in an emergency to return to Europe via a massive airlift. The expected troop withdrawal coincides with statements by high ranking West German officials that the Bonn government no longer can keep up payments to offset U.S. costs.

Improves with age: Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's 63rd birthday is Tuesday (Feb. 21) but only a handful of Soviets who have desk calendars and read the fine print know it. With few exceptions, Soviet leaders do not officially celebrate birthdays. The premier's 63rd birthday won't even be noted in the daily press. But both foreign diplomats and sophisticated Russians have been noting Kosygin's new statesmanlike stature as shown during his British visit. Basically shy and unassuming, with little direct experience in foreign affairs, his image soared at the Tashkent conference last year where he mediated a Kashmir settlement. London, too, showed him to be well briefed, practical and businesslike with none of the arrogance and pretentiousness of his predecessor.

Peace Corps worry: The U.S. Peace Corps in the Philippines has one big worry these days. Its officials have noted increasing local publicity about an alleged statement attributed to an unidentified Peace Corpsman criticizing Filipino teachers as incompetent and lazy. They suspect a campaign may be underway to discredit the Peace Corps and are thinking of asking the Philippine Press Institute to investigate. Filipino officials consistently have landed the Peace Corps work in the Philippines and a thorough inquiry within the Peace Corps itself disclosed no evidence that any such charge ever had been made against Filipino teachers.

Dimming hopes: European sources believe the chances are dimming for British entry into the European Common Market. Germany, once strongly in favor, has shifted toward France in a move to strengthen the Franco-German alignment. Belgium also is reported to have second thoughts. It may be that finally, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson won't even go

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Parents often have some very specific problems which need immediate answers. Such problems are sometimes most difficult to handle when they occur.

It should be helpful to consider some of the more usual problems which parents face. The following questions have been sent by readers. Although the questions have been answered by letter, they have been raised often enough to merit response here.

Question: For the past few days my son, James, has not wanted to attend school. He is a second grader who has always loved to go to school in the past. He has used many excuses such as a stomach ache or headache. I am sure these are not true and something that has happened at school is the real problem.

He has refused to discuss the matter with me and insists he is sick. Should I force him to go or should I let him stay home?

Answer: The problem could have a very simple answer or it could be the indication of a more serious situation. You should take several steps.

First, do not overlook the obvious. Although you may be correct that he is not sick, why not let your physician make this decision. It wouldn't hurt to discuss the entire matter with him.

Call the teacher and explain the situation to her. She may be able to shed some light on the mystery. It might be a simple matter of fear (test or undue lessons or embarrassment over some incident in class.) Perhaps he has been threatened by some other boys.

Ordinarily if James is not sick, he should not stay at home. If you cannot uncover the cause of the problem it would be best to seek the assistance of the principal and the school psychologist. See that he attends school even if you must take him. The teacher or nurse can help by meeting you and taking James into the class.

Do not let the problem go unsolved. If you or your husband cannot find the answer, the school psychologist should be able to help.

Question: My daughter, 13, wants to attend a formal dance with a high school senior. I do not want her to go but she is very upset and insists that her friends are going with other boys and I am unfair. Should I

NEW YORK (UPI) — Edward Thomson & McKinnon says

A. Viner & Co. says January's dramatic rally in blue chips and growth stocks has been matched this month by demand for the smaller and more speculative companies. The analyst expects this trend to continue in the sessions immediately ahead.

It says that although current economic figures reflect some softening, basic sentiment already indicates a more optimistic view. The company believes the market is a leading barometer of the expected improvement in business later in this year.

Its owner has told police the bird admits it recognized the thief but refuses to turn stool pigeon. —When power failure trapped a group of women visitors in the pitch-dark state legislative chamber at Olympia, Wash., Rep. Paul Barden of Seattle rose to the occasion. "I know all the exits," he said. "Follow me, ladies," he said. Gratefully, they followed him into the women's rest room. —And in David City, Neb., the local paper carried this item: "To Whom It May Concern: A group of your neighbors wish to announce that the one-way frosted glass in your bathroom window is facing the wrong way." So what's with all this? Merely that in an age when so much of the news is of necessity related to war, economic problems, violence and distress items such as those may very well serve as effective, if unintentional, emotional therapy. Thank you, unusual people, for making unusual news which makes us feel better than usual.

Read This — Feel Better

A kind word — of a kind — has been uttered in behalf of today's young far-out dandies by an eminent historian. Our current crop of long-haired, pince-nez, fancy-shirted, sweet-smelling gay blades, he avers, are merely relatively tame models of a tradition of aggressive masculinity that goes back 500 years. Ever since the Renaissance, says Prof. J. H. Plumb of Cambridge University, elaborately attired young fops have been fighting, carousing and tom-cating through youth. "Give young men money," he observes, "and sooner or later they will dress like peacocks and behave like goats." And then comes the kind word. "Our own long-haired youths

Straight Out of Marx

An annual minimum income for all American families guaranteed by the Federal government, sounds ridiculous, but it nevertheless falls naturally into the framework of some of the programs that have been submitted to the U.S. Congress. The central economic proposition of Karl Marx, "from each according to his ability, to each according to his need," hasn't worked to improve the lot of mankind anywhere it has been tried. It has been tried in many settings—in religious communities, in socialist societies, in all the totalitarian nations under Communist rule; and, for a time by the Pilgrims at Jamestown and Plymouth Rock in the 1600s. It is now being put forth here in America as a method of insuring "full employment" in an economic system controlled by the Federal government. The plan requires that money to pay the guaranteed minimum income be taxed away

No Place Like Home

City folk who believe they've found an island of safety in a sea of smog when they enter their homes are in for a rude shock. The air inside an average home is actually more polluted than the air outside it," asserts Igho Hart Kornbluh, M.D., of the University of Pennsylvania, in an interview in the Health Bulletin. Though home air pollution has been with us since prehistoric times, usually in the form of smoke from open fires, today it is a greater threat because its sources are "both more sinister and more subtle." About 20 pounds of grease-laden moisture are given off each year in the average kitchen. This combines with other pollutants so that, according to Kornbluh, "the kitchen resembles today more a laboratory

Clutching At Straws

(Daily Oklahoman)

There is nothing that would please the administration more than an end to the war in Vietnam without capitulation on our part and without leaving a power vacuum which the Communists would fill quickly.

This quest for the best of all solutions makes President Johnson and his advisers grab at every straw. Yet as eager as the President is for a peace, he fears charges of a sellout more.

Latest instance is a reported "possible serious peace feeler" from Ho Chi Minh, the wary revolutionist running North Vietnam. There is no clear offer, no timetable, and no meeting place set, although many nations have offered their aid in arranging consultations.

Vice-President Hubert Humphrey is said to be parked and ready to go talk at any time. He is rather a high level emissary for preliminary talks. His presence would show a willingness to negotiate but also would suggest trembling anxiety in the contrast to the patience of the enemy.

We have made the world's strongest nation seem both timid and pleading with earlier peace overtures. Not only did they strengthen Red propaganda but gave assurance to the Communists belief that we would tire eventually and pick up our marbles and go home.

If a genuine truce talk is proposed let us NOT repeat the mistake we made in Korea. There should be no ceasefire until North Vietnamese withdrawals are made. The Red position has not changed. The Communists continue to insist that all the giving be on our side. We should demand a properly policed withdrawal of both sides at the same time. Otherwise it's the other man's game and he will continue to hold all the chips.

Many little-known historical facts about our nation's capital are uncovered in William Walton's interesting book, "The Evidence of Washington" (Harper & Row). Here are a few: Pierre Charles L'Enfant, who designed Washington, was self-taught in architecture. For his vast efforts in laying out the city he was paid only $1,394.20 by Congress. And at the time of his death his estate was worth $15 Thomas Jefferson was the first president to take his oath of office in Washington, in a house, a handful of government buildings, a few dozen stores, inns, warehouses and other business places connected by unpaved roads. President Jefferson would not permit any Washington building to rise above three stories and thus compete with the size of the Capitol. We highly recommend Walton's book. It's fascinating reading.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSIADT

Enlarging Heart Valve Now Is Standard Operation. It has been brought to my attention that I inadvertently gave the wrong address for the Arthritis Foundation in a recent column. The correct address of this worthy organization is 1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10006.

Q — When I was 22 I had rheumatic fever which damaged one of my heart valves. Is there any operation that could repair this valve?

A — The narrowing of the valvular opening between the chambers of the heart can be enlarged by an operation that has now become standard practice in clinics where cardiac surgery is done.

Q — I have a visible throbbing of the sides of my neck. What causes it? Is it serious?

A — Pulsations in the neck may be associated with enlargement and congestion of the liver, a leaky heart valve, toxic goiter or an aneurysm (ballooning of an artery due to a weakness in its walls). Since all of these conditions are serious you should have your doctor determine the cause and institute appropriate treatment.

Q — Can fluttering of the heart be caused by adrenalin?

A — True flutter of the heart is rare and very serious. If you have it you should be in the hospital. What you interpret as a flutter is more likely to be a series of premature beats—a condition that is common and not serious. Neither type of irregularity would be caused by adrenalin.

Q — Is rheumatic fever a childhood disease or can adults get it? How can one tell if he has it? What is the treatment?

A — Although rheumatic fever may occur at any age it is most common between the ages 2 and 30 with the greatest number of cases occurring at age 7. This disease is caused by a streptococcus and the diagnosis is confirmed by a battery of laboratory tests. Prompt treatment with penicillin or sulfa drugs will cure it but these drugs should be taken for several years after recovery to prevent a recurrence with its risk of serious heart damage.

Q — Is Rautrax a tranquilizer? Is it harmful to take it for a long period?

A — This drug is a combination of reserpine, a tranquilizer, and blood pressure reducer, with flumethazide, a diuretic. It can be taken for a long time under medical supervision.

Thoughts while shaving: Uncle Sam likes to make things convenient, especially when he is clipping you for dough. The latest gambit is a drive-in tax office in Tucson, Arizona, where you can pay and file your income tax without leaving your car. If it works out there the Internal Revenue Service will install them elsewhere... and at this season of the year, when you are struggling with your tax forms you begin to realize what the national debt really means. Sort of makes you wonder why we go on re-electing persons to public office who do nothing else well except spend our money. Like many other things we acquired from the Motherland, the sandwich is among the most popular items in our everyday life. It was invented by Britain's Earl of Sandwich, a noted card player who disliked to quit a game long enough to eat. He solved his problem by putting a piece of meat between two slices of bread. Darn near every American owes him a debt of gratitude for his invention. Brandy is not considered a medicine.

Backstage Washington

Questions are Raised by U. S. Making Middle East's Oil Resources Available to Soviet For First Time

WASHINGTON — The U.S. is helping Russia realize a long-sought goal in the Middle East by giving access to the vast oil resources there. With encouragement from the State Department, American companies with concessions in Saudi Arabia, Iran and Iraq have begun selling oil to Russia and the Eastern European satellites.

The multi-million dollar oil sales, arranged under the greatest secrecy last month, received the green light from U. S. authorities after Middle East governments began pressuring American firms to take advantage of the new market.

Under the concessions granted the firms, the Arab governments will reap millions of dollars in added royalties resulting from the increased production needed to meet the Soviet bloc sales. Other U. S. firms, operating in Kuwait and Libya, are reported under pressure from those governments to enter the Red market, but have not yet done so.

Already the Russians have worked out a long-range oil purchase agreement with Egypt, which is expected to become a major oil producer by 1970.

CHANGING RELATIONS — These unreported Middle East developments are considered by Administration insiders to be a direct outgrowth of efforts by President Johnson to seek a detente with Russia by offering to increase trade.

Similar to a chain reaction, pressure for oil sales to the Soviet bloc began to mount in the Middle East immediately after the President made his East-West trade pronouncement. After first checking with the U.S., Iran broke the ice by working out a long-range $100 million gas-for-oil deal with the Russians.

In giving its approval, the State Department helped Iran obtain the necessary financing among European nations and international organizations for the $200 million pipeline that will be needed to carry gas to the Soviet border. According to U. S. Intelligence authorities, Russia has both economic and diplomatic reasons for making the oil-purchases in the Middle East at this time. The Soviet is in need of additional oil to meet requirements of its own and other Eastern European nations.

by Britain's national health officials and any doctor who prescribes it for a patient is required to foot the bill himself. How narrow-minded of them!

The New York WORLD JOURNAL — TRIBUNE reported in a story: "She wears double-breasted open-work stockings." And on her something like that looks good, no doubt.

Country Editor speaking: "They say a lot of today's popular tunes will never die, but we hear them being murdered every day."

Although their oil production has been greatly increased during the past 10 years, the requirement of the Soviet bloc is now out-pacing these gains and shortages are developing. The tremendous upsurge in these communist oil needs was recently highlighted by one of Poland's top economists, Stanislaw Abinowski, in an article appearing in Warsaw's weekly, POLITYKA. Abinowski forecast the Soviet bloc, including Russia, would be forced to import large quantities of oil before the end of 1967 to meet growing requirements. Also, he estimated 100 million tons of Middle East oil would be needed by 1970 in addition to production within the Soviet bloc.

SIDE EFFECTS — Still unresolved among U. S. officials is how Russia or other Soviet bloc nations can be kept from shipping the Middle East oil to North Vietnam, Cuba and North Korea.

Although there is no evidence that the initial shipments were destined for these countries, Russia as chief oil supplier of these Red regimes is expected to use future oil purchases from the Middle East to meet these commitments. This development, when it occurs, could touch off a major political storm in the U. S., especially if the shipments are to North Vietnam while that conflict is raging.

CIA OPERATORS — The two Central Intelligence Agency officials in charge of handling funds provided student groups and private foundations are Cord Meyers, former head of the World Federalists, and Tracy Barnes, a career employee.

Meyers, a close friend of the late President Kennedy, is in charge of the CIA's unvoiced funds, the money the agency is not required to account for to either Congress or the Budget Bureau. Barnes, a veteran CIA employee, has been in charge of the Intelligence agency's contacts with groups within the U. S. since 1961.

In addition to students and foundations, these contacts included universities, law firms with foreign branches and refugee organizations, including Cuban exile groups.

These are some of the unpublished details of the CIA's international operations gathered by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee during periodic checks of the agency in recent years. In one instance, a subcommittee investigator discovered that Dr. Walt Rostow, foreign policy adviser in the White House, received a CIA grant in 1954 while at Massachusetts Institute of Technology to make a study of communist China.

Significantly, Rostow in his report forecast that Peking's economy would collapse before 1970, bringing internal strife and possible aggression against China's neighbors. Should a U. S. China war develop, Rostow recommended against the U.S. adopting a policy of "unconditional surrender," contending that the existing structure of government would be needed to govern that country.

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

"I TOLD YOU SO!" The Soviet Union and USA were a team supplying planes, ships, armaments and ammunition in preventing a 90 percent Moslem populace from over-coming Communism. In addition, Sen. Frank Graham extracted hundreds of millions of dollars from American taxpayers for Sukarno. I was often quoted as saying, "This alleged neutralist is the second most dangerous man in the world to the cause of Freedom", when Khrushchev was first worst.

The U. N. stripped the Netherlands of their possession, New Guinea, declaring the natives would decide who would govern them. Sukarno saved the people, including the tiny Papuan, of the chore of deciding. He provided the natives with such a "friendly" dictatorship as only he could supply.

October, 1965, Sukarno ended the aid of Communist China to overrun Malaysia. The long-distance letter writers who persuaded the Dominicans not to restore Juan Bosch, formerly ousted for subversion, to the Presidency, turned their attention to ousting Sukarno hoping if successful there, to pay their respects to Fidel Castro.

Indonesian students, encouraged by "Red" Baborn's rejuvenated CIA, staged an uprising, playing 600,000 plus Communists. This required General Suharto and other generals to strip Sukarno of his "President for life" title and the misrule of the third-ranking nation in the world in natural resources.

Attempting a comeback, Sukarno vayed a copy of PLAYBOY Magazine containing an H. L. Hunt interview as evidence that the USA was robbing him of his reign.

His celebrated Christmas gift to Indonesians failed of welcome. The Indonesian Parliament decreed Sukarno must face trial for treason and expropriating the country's finances. Confronted with Sukarno's charge at Christmas time, I was proud to admit I had been trying to oust Sukarno since 1959. Today I enjoy the luxury of "I told you so!"
